NOW! PROOF that brushing teeth right after eating with

COLGATE DENTAL CREAM HELPS STOP TOOTH DECAY!

Exhaustive Research by Eminent Dental Authorities Proves How Using Colgate Dental Cream Helps Stop Tooth Decay Before It Starts!

NOW! Dental science offers proof that brushing teeth with Colgate Dental Cream right after eating is an effective, safe way to help prevent new cavities, greatly reduce tooth decay!

More than 2 years' continuous research at leading universities—hundreds of case histories—makes this the most conclusive proof in all dentifrice research on tooth decay!

For now—the same toothpaste you use to clean your breath while you clean your teeth—brings you a proved way to reduce tooth decay! Colgate Dental Cream has been proved to contain all the necessary ingredients—including an exclusive patented ingredient—for effective daily dental care. No risk of irritation to tissues and gums! And no change in Colgate's famous flavor, foam, or cleansing action! The Colgate Dental Cream now at your dealer's is the same formula used in these exhaustive tests.

Regular visits to your dentist are necessary for complete dental care. No home method can help everyone; nor can it stop all tooth decay or help cavities already started.

Mother's! Children Love Colgate's Flavor! It's Easy To Start Them On The Colgate Way To Reduce Tooth Decay!

Don't wait another day to start your children on Colgate's Dental Cream. Teach them the importance of always brushing their teeth right after every meal. They'll love Colgate's flavor, so it's easy to get them to use Colgate's correctly, give them all the benefits of this safe, proved way to reduce tooth decay!

X-Rays Show How Proper Use of Colgate's Helps Stop Tooth Decay!

Under the direction of eminent dental authorities, one group of college men and women always brushed their teeth with Colgate Dental Cream right after eating—while another group followed their usual dental care. The average of the group using Colgate's as directed, and using Colgate's exclusively, was a startling reduction in number of cavities—for less tooth decay! The other group developed new cavities at a much higher rate.

Modern research shows that tooth decay is caused by mouth acids which are at their worst right after eating. When you brush your teeth with Colgate's as directed, you help remove mouth acids before they can harm enamel. And Colgate's penetrating foam reaches crevices in teeth where food particles often lodge.

Always Use Colgate's To Clean Your Breath While You Clean Your Teeth—and Help Stop Tooth Decay!

TOOTS CASPER

CASPER, SOPHIE HOOPER SAYS THE COLONEL IS GOING TO TALK TO MR. PLUNKER YOUR BOSS, TODAY ABOUT A RAISE.

OH, SHE DID! DID SHE? WELL, I'LL PUT A STOP TO THAT, TOOTS!

I'M THE GENERAL MANAGER OF THE FIRM AND IF COLONEL HOOPER WANTS A RAISE, HE SHOULD CONSULT ME. THEN I'LL GO TO THE BOSS ON HIS BEHALF.

I'LL HAVE TO CLAMP DOWN ON THE COLONEL. I'LL TAKE A LITTLE WIND OUT OF HIS SAILS.

CASPER, I'M GOING TO DUCK IN AND HIT THE BOSS FOR A RAISE.

NO, YOU'RE NOT, COLONEL. IF YOU WANT A RAISE IN SALARY, YOU SHOULD GO THROUGH THE PROPER CHANNELS. YOU STAY AWAY FROM THE BOSS.

THAT'S WHY I'M GENERAL MANAGER-- TO TAKE CARE OF SUCH THINGS. I'LL GO RIGHT IN AND TALK TO THE BOSS.

HAVE IT YOUR WAY, CHUM-- BUT I WANT ACTION.

HOLY SMOKE! THAT'S WHAT I CALL QUICK ACTION-- HERE COMES CASPER BACK ALREADY! HM-M-M HE LOOKS UNHAPPY.

WHAT HAPPENED, CASPER? DID I GET MY RAISE?

YOU DID NOT-- AND HE CUT MY SALARY BECAUSE OF MY POOR JUDGMENT IN THINKING YOU DESERVED A RAISE!

I'M HUMILIATED-- HE CAN'T TREAT ME THIS WAY. I'M GOING TO PEN HIM A LETTER OF RESIGNATION RIGHT NOW!

YOU'RE A LITTLE LATE, BROTHER.

WHEN HE CUT MY SALARY, HE FIRED YOU!

THE LONE RANGER

MY MEN ARE FOLLOWING. THEY'LL KILL YOU FOR ABDUCTING ME.

I HAD TO DO THIS, COLONEL. YOU WOULDN'T BELIEVE WHAT I TOLD YOU ABOUT CAPTAIN BLAKE!

HEY, BOYS! THAT MASKED MAN'S BRINGIN' THE COLONEL! TAKE 'EM BOTH PRISONERS.

WITH THE COLONEL IN OUR HANDS, WE CAN JUST ABOUT RUN THINGS AROUND HERE!

DON'T KILL 'EM, BOYS. I WANT 'EM ALIVE!

THESE AREN'T SOLDIERS? WHO ARE THEY?

THEY'RE THE CROOKS I TOLD YOU ABOUT!

CLOSE IN, BOYS! THESE MEN ARE CROOKS!

GET 'EM, BOYS!

THE ARMY

FORGIVE ME, COLONEL. I HAD TO CAPTURE YOU, SO YOUR MEN WOULD FOLLOW US!

I'M GLAD YOU DID IT!

THIS CROOK WORKED WITH THE WAREHOUSE KEEPER. THEY STOLE OUR NEW UNIFORMS.

THEY PLANNED TO CAPTURE EVERYONE IN THE FORT, A FEW AT A TIME, AND THEN TAKE OVER THIS PART OF THE COUNTRY! IT MIGHT HAVE WORKED IF THE MASKED MAN HADN'T SPOILED THEIR PLANS!

WHO IS THAT MASKED MAN?

I THOUGHT YOU KNEW, COLONEL! HE'S THE LONE RANGER!

WHO, SILVER AWAY--

Prince Valiant

IN THE DAYS OF KING ARTHUR
BY HAROLD R. FOSTER

Synopsis: YOUNG GEOFFREY IS THE ONLY ONE WHO CAN GUIDE THE NOISY BOLTAR TO HIS OLD SHIPMATE, PRINCE VALIANT; BUT GEOFF IS FORBIDDEN TO SET FOOT ON BRITAIN'S SOIL... SO BOLTAR FILLS TWO SACKS WITH THE SOIL OF CALEDONIA, AND THE MEETING TAKES PLACE.

THE RIOTOUS GREETINGS ARE FURTHER COMPLICATED BY A STRANGE VOICE CRYING: "ARF, ARF, MY BOY, THAT AWFUL WOMAN IS GONE. YOU ARE FREE TO COME HOME!"

BOLTAR IS NOT PLEASED WITH THE INTERRUPTION. "ARF, ARF!" HE MOCKS, "IS IT A DOG BARKING? TAKE YOUR NOISE TO THE KENNELS!"

"DO NOT JEST," ANSWERS THE STRANGER, "FOR I BRING GOOD TIDINGS TO MASTER ARF, SON OF SIR HUGO GEOFFREY, WHO WAS DRIVEN FROM HOME BY A CRUEL STEPMOTHER."

"SHE WAS YOUNG AND FAIR OF FACE BUT SELF-WILLED AND SELFISH AT HEART. SHE COULD NOT ABIDE SHARING SIR HUGO'S LOVE WITH HIS SON."

"SHE CAUSED ARF TO RUN AWAY FROM HOME. A FEW MONTHS LATER SHE WAS PROVED AN UNFAITHFUL WIFE. GALLANT SIR HUGO WISHED TO PRESENT HER WITH A HEMPEN NECKLACE BUT SHE DISAPPEARED!"

GEOFF, OR RATHER ARF, FEELS A GLOW OF HAPPINESS. HE IS, AFTER ALL, LITTLE MORE THAN A CHILD AND HOME IS A PRECIOUS PLACE NOW THAT THAT WOMAN CAN NO LONGER TROUBLE HIM.

THEN HE LOOKS AT THE LADY ALETA TO WHOM HE HAS GIVEN HIS HEART, AT PRINCE VALIANT; HIS HERO, HIS FRIEND. HE SWALLOWS HARD, FOR HE HAS A DECISION TO MAKE.

NEXT WEEK - Arf's Decision.

'LADY TAKES A SAILOR'

Fun Is The Goal In Ritz Picture

"The Lady Takes A Sailor," the Ritz attraction for today and Monday, is strictly all in fun.

It co-stars Jane Wyman, who once cooked pieces of pie in a Los Angeles restaurant, and Dennis Morgan, who once cut trees in a Wisconsin lumber camp.

The current Ritz theatre attraction was directed by Michael Curtiz, an Hungarian who came from Europe almost 20 years ago and became an expert on Americana in the movies although he still garbles English somewhat, and even at the end of the picture was calling Miss Wyman something that sounded like "Jonese."

The producer is Harry Kurnitz, who is tall and gaunt and says almost as many funny things every day as Milton Berle. He also helped Everett Freeman write the script.

So like most motion pictures,

"The Lady Takes A Sailor" is the product of a great many varied talents, and in this case they were all aimed at one big target, same being the movie public's funny bone.

The picture had no more than started its riotous production course when the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences stepped in and picked Jane Wyman as the best actress of the year, thereby presenting her with the gold statuette affectionately known as The Oscar.

This impressive honor aroused everybody connected with "The Lady Takes A Sailor" to new heights of enthusiasm. It especially pleased Dennis Morgan, who allowed that it was going to be a delight to push the Academy Award winner's face in the mud. The mud scene is only one of many in the new Warner Bros. picture that presents Miss Wyman in a considerably different mood from the wistful sadness of her portrayal in "Johnny Belinda."

Although there has never been any doubt about Miss Wyman's versatility, she herself is somewhat cagey about this versatility, commenting succinctly that "it's nice to be called versatile, but most players are noted for one thing they can do better than anybody else."

ALL IN FUN—Dennis Morgan listens in on Jane Wyman's telephone conversation in this scene from "The Lady Takes A Sailor." It's a gay fun-piece showing today and Monday at the Ritz theatre.

FUN IN THE WEST—A western adventure with heavy overtones of comedy is "The Gal Who Took The West," which is booked at the Ritz theatre for Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The principals, pictured here in somewhat tense pose, are John Russell, Yvonne De Carlo and Scott Brady.

MUSICOMEDY—Another romantic tale of Tin Pan Alley is told in the Technicolor musical, "Oh, You Beautiful Doll," which is featured at the Lyric theatre today and Monday. June Haver and Mark Stevens are co-stars.

REPEAT SHOWING

Bergman, Bogart In 'Casablanca'

"Casablanca," the great Humphrey Bogart-Ingrid Bergman starrer which won the Academy Award in 1943 both for "best picture of the year" and for "best direction" (Michael Curtiz), is on the calendar again, and is featured today and Monday at the State theatre.

This prize-winning romantic drama tells the story of war-time intrigue in the colorful North African seaport. Bogart is the owner of a cafe to which political refugees fleeing Nazi Europe come to wait visas before moving on. Ingrid Bergman is one of these and it is Bogart, with whom she was once in love in Paris, who aids her to escape.

It is also in Casablanca that "As Times Goes By," the nostalgic song is revived. The supporting cast is one of the strongest ever assembled including: Paul Henreid, Claude Rains, Sydney Greenstreet and Peter Lorre. This is a Hal B. Wallis Production.

Seal Is Reliable Weather Prophet
SAN PEDRO, Calif. (AP)—Sunny the seal is acquiring a reputation as a weather prophet among harbor workmen here. He's a reliable sun and smog detector.

On foggy days harbor men keep an eye on Sunny. When the sleek, semi-tame beast pops out of the water to his favorite piling, they know that the sun is about to break through. He usually anticipates it by half an hour.

But if eye-smarting smog is in the air, Sunny refuses to leave the water, even for the lure of a sun bath. He just swims around, snapping up choice morsels his human friends toss to him.

Radio for Business
WASHINGTON, (AP)—The Capital Transit Co. has installed radios in 16 of its snow fighting trucks — but not to amuse the drivers. The radios will be shortwave sets by which the company will direct the trucks here and there to dump sand.

The Bob Crosby Show will be heard each Saturday from 8 to 9 p.m.

METROPOLITAN OPERA
The Metropolitan Opera broadcast next Saturday, beginning at 1 p.m., will feature "Lucia de Lammermoor." The cast will be headed by Lily Pons as Lucia and Jan Pearce as Edgardo.

ORTEGA STARRED

Ortega, who has been featured on two ABC documentary broadcasts, "Communism—U.S. Brand," and "Berlin Story," in which he served as narrator, also is well known for his portrayals of such outstanding radio sleuths as Inspector Queen, a role he held for eight years on the Ellery Queen series, and Charlie Chan, an old-time favorite in which he played the feature role.

"MUSIC WITH THE GIRLS"
A gay Mexican medley starts "Music With the Girls," off on a lulling note today at 5:30 p.m. over station KBST and ABC. The songs from south of the border include the haunting "Cielito Lindo," and the beautiful "La Golondrina." Also three old native folk dances that have been adapted as popular songs—"Mexican Hat Dance," "La Cucaracha," and "Chapane-car."

"Music With the Girls"—the only program of its kind on the air, featuring musically talented ex-service women, offers several current day favorites, as they play Bessey Smith's bright new hit, "The Old Master Painter," "Jamboree Jones," and a gay novelty tune from England, "I've Got a Lovely Bunch of Coconuts."

Tense Drama Unfolded In 'The Window'

With its dramatic plot revolving about the plight of a boy whose curiosity places him in a position of peril and terror, RKO Radio's "The Window" stars a quintet of players in a most suspenseful mystery plot.

"The Window" is the Ritz theatre's Tuesday-Wednesday feature. Barbara Hale, Bobby Driscoll, Arthur Kennedy, Paul Stewart and Ruth Roman have the stellar roles in the film, much of which was filmed at the locale of the story in New York City. Young Driscoll plays the part of the boy who, sleeping out on a fire escape one hot night, sees a murder committed in an adjoining apartment. Horrified, he tells his parents about it—but they, aware that he is given to telling tall tales, dismiss the matter as mythical. He goes to the police, but they uncover no facts to bear out the boy's story. However, by this time the two killers realize the boy knows too much, and that they must put him out of the way.

Their campaign against him builds up to a most exciting climax as they trap the youngster in an abandoned loft.

Miss Hale and Kennedy have the roles of the parents, Stewart and Miss Roman play a murderous couple.

Second Cup Of Coffee Conversation Begins Television Show For Kathi

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP WRITER
NEW YORK, Jan. 7. — The trouble with television, the armchair experts say, is that it hasn't built any of its own personalities.

But a pretty, blue-eyed brunette named Kathi Norris may turn out to be one. Miss Norris presides over one of the few successful television shows specifically aimed at women and their interests. "Your television shopper," Miss Norris' hour-long, daily television show on Dumont now has after a bit more than a year on the air a double handful of sponsors.

Miss Norris has developed a formula peculiarly adapted to television. She shops around, picks up good buys, new gadgets and interesting gimmicks. She shows them to her television audience. If fans like the article, Kathi's office will order for them. A staff of seven helps her shop and answer mail.

Kathi is easy-mannered and has a gay air. Her critics — and television is loaded with critics — say she's perhaps a little too coy. She also calls her husband, television Producer Wilbur Stark and a daily participant on the program, "Sweetie." That, however, is a popular cafe society term of affection and is used by several husband-and-wife radio teams.

Until a couple of years ago, Kathi was a Roslyn, L. I., housewife, concerned with raising a very young daughter. The Roslyn experience gave her the idea for the program. Every morning the neighborhood wives would gather for a second cup of coffee and some conversation.

"And all we ever talked about was shopping — what we'd seen or what we'd like to buy — and the children," she said. "My program is built with the idea that I'm dropping into people's houses with the kind of conversation women are interested in. It's a service program of a kind you couldn't do in radio or anywhere else."

In the old, unsponsored days, Kathi had a fine time. She'd pick up odd, useless or just silly gadgets and show just how they were money-wasters. One day she found a fancy grapefruit sectioner that was almost impossible to operate. She chased a half grapefruit around a table with it, then whipped out an old fashioned curved knife for a demonstration, complete with a ringing eulogy on its economy. Nowadays that's not so easy, with all the sponsors. She spends more time on serious demonstrations of snow-suit bargains, suede gloves, easy-hook brassieres or a three-piece rayon suit.

In any ad lib show there are apt to be unhappy slips and Kathi is a girl who can carry them off well. One awkward incident involved demonstrating a sponsor's unbreakable glass. She demonstrated by dropping a sample on the floor. It scattered into a thousand pieces. "Well," said Miss Norris, "I guess every factory turns out a lemon once in a while. But I wish they wouldn't send their lemons to me."

You Ought to do it!

You ought to put into real action that long-felt desire to do something that will help others.

We all have that desire—all but the very selfish. We would like to serve. But where? How?

One of the contributions which our churches make to the life of this community is in providing countless opportunities for valuable service.

Can you sing in a choir? Teach a class? Lead a youth group? Visit a shut-in? Pack a gift basket? Paint a Sunday School room? Mend a choir gown?

These are humble, yet valuable services. They won't make you famous, but they'll make you a better person. And they'll help others discover the true riches in life.

You ought to do it! You ought to join a church . . . and find the service that you can render!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his sake of his children's sake. (2) For the sake of his community and nation. (3) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Contest Announced For Young Texas Musicians

DALLAS, Jan. 7. (AP) — For the sixth consecutive year, the Civic Federation of Dallas is giving serious young students of music over Texas a chance to compete for cash prizes and presentation in solo recitals.

The deadline for entries in the Civic Federation young artist competition has been set for Jan. 19. The contest is open to serious students of piano, voice and strings, between the ages of 18 and 25.

Each year there are four or more winners. Last year, for example, there were 24 entries in the voice classification, 18 in the piano division and three in the strings group. Three winners were pianists, two were singers and one was a violinist.

Each winner receives $50 and is given a solo concert in Dallas the following year. Winners last year are being given recitals at the Civic Federation's Scott Hall, in Dallas, this year. This year's winners will have their recitals next winter.

And each winner will be eligible to audition March 3 for the G. B. Dealey award of $250 and an appearance as soloist with the Dallas Symphony Orchestra.

In Dallas, the Civic Federation holds youth forums, and adult education programs and sponsors diversified other activities for the promotion of culture and public enlightenment.

It inaugurated the young artist competition "to discover and encourage, through presentation under professional auspices Texas young people who have promise of achievement in concert careers."

The contest is open to amateurs only. They must be: permanent residents of Texas; legal residents of Texas studying outside of the state; or residents of other areas who will have studied in Texas at least one school year immediately preceding or including the time of competition.

Judges will be five persons from outside the state. These judges are selected by the Civic Federation's advisory board set up for this purpose. The advisory board is made up of 13 outstanding musicians and teachers of music over the state.

Preliminary auditions — for this year's competition will be held Feb. 27 and 28 and on March 1 the four or more winners will be awarded cash prizes and a solo concert in Scott Hall.

Abducted Women Kept In Pakistan

NEW DELHI, India. (AP) — Two thousand non-Muslim abducted women are being kept by government servants in Pakistan, the government of India claims.

Transport Minister N. Gopalaswamy Ayyangar told the legislative assembly that India had sent Pakistan a list of 7,520 abducted women still to be recovered from Pakistan, including "specific information" on 2,000 allegedly kept by government employees in the other dominion.

The abductions allegedly occurred in the wake of the Hindu-Muslim riots of 1947. Ayyangar said that India has recovered 12,000 Muslim women and Pakistan 8,000 non-Muslim women.

How To Make Life A Pleasure For Teaching Staffs

By DAVID TAYLOR MARKE AP New Features

Here's how you community can make its teaching jobs more attractive and give its schoolmarms a greater sense of dignity and self-respect.

According to Dr. Chaudos Reid, assistant professor of education at Teachers College, Columbia University, aside from raising salaries a community can make a teacher's life more pleasant and the profession more attractive, by:

1. Inviting teachers to homes in the community as individuals and not just as "Johnny's teacher."
2. Helping them to find good places to live. The community can make housing and apartment surveys for teachers, and give advance information before teachers arrive. Established citizens should introduce new teachers to the community and help get them settled.
3. Making a real effort to see that young women teachers meet eligible young men in the community.
4. Making cars—and perhaps drivers—available to new teachers to help them in errands, to carry bundles and furnishings, and generally to provide easy, quick transportation.
5. Giving teachers season tickets to symphony, concert and theatre programs. This especially applies to new teachers.
6. Giving them a year's membership in civic organizations—YM or YWCA's, golf clubs—thus greatly helping teacher morale.
7. Local industry turning over a day to new teachers. A small group of teachers could be the personal guests of executives in each industry. They could be taken through the plant, introduced to executives and office workers, entertained at a party and dinner. Women teachers might be given corsages. Thus citizens in business and industry will learn to know teachers as people, so that each learns to feel at home with the other.
8. Teacher substitutes should be provided so that every teacher would have time to belong to one active community organization.
9. Communities should reserve places on the boards of civic organizations for teacher representatives.

Harris, Bryant and Barbara, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Houston, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Gibson, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Cook, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Chaney, Marian and Wanda Wilkerson.

County Tax Office Readies For Rush

The county tax collector-assessor's office is girding for a busy three weeks.

If voters of the county act to protect their voting privileges as they have in the past, an estimated 4,000 will call at that agency's windows between now and Feb. 1 to obtain poll tax exemptions or receipts.

As of Friday morning only 1,307 polls and 48 exemptions had been obtained here. Normally, the voting strength of the county is more than 8,000.

Many Jap Shipwrecks In 1949 Reported

TOKYO. (AP) — Shipwrecks cost 5,410 vessels—mostly fishing boats—in Japanese waters last year—an average of almost 15 crafts a day.

The marine safety board blamed typhoons and other "irresistible forces of nature" for 40 per cent of the losses. Careless navigation was listed as the cause of 25 per cent, faulty design or obsolescence 15 per cent; and the remainder miscellaneous.

Mr. and Mrs. James Cheate, 1110 Main, left Thursday evening via plane for Chicago. Following a short stay there, they will fly to San Francisco, Calif.

Care For Your Nails With Good Implements

By BETTY CLARKE
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor
To clip or not to clip our cuticles is the question.
Some of us are of the dyed-in-the-wool "noclip" school. But it all depends on personal taste, and if your cuticles become ragged every few days, naturally, you will have to keep them smooth with a professional manicure that can be done at home.
If you are a cuticle snipper, and do your own nails at home, keep your implements in good condition so as to prevent infection. A rusty or dirty implement can cause serious trouble. Nail implements should be oiled after use and deposited in a moisture proof or clean container and kept away from dampness. Before using dip them into alcohol.
Many of us try to emulate our manicurists, but we really do not know how to go about a professional manicure. The next time you get a manicure watch your manicurist carefully, so you can do your nails at home on the occasions when you cannot get to a beauty parlor. A slip of the cuticle nipper can cause a tear in the skin around the nail that will give you trouble for months.

You can get combination pushers and nippers made of surgical steel, easier to handle than separate implements. Such gadgets, if handled properly, can give the same results as those used in the beauty parlor. Even if you do not cut your cuticle as a regular habit, you will have to cut those ragged little edges at the corners of your nails occasionally. Be careful when you do.

RIBBON RAMBLINGS

By Mildred Young

"Sometimes we ought to give ourselves a break! Sometimes we should give ourselves a chance. Sometimes we need to make ourselves a present of something we need. When that time comes it is not selfishness to remember ourselves."
We clipped this short quote from another's column because it brings out an idea not considered too often. We hear lots of stories about sacrifice and lots of sermons and bits of advice on why we should help other people. Many a hero got his recognition when performing an act which meant the difference between life or death for some other person. But did anyone ever tell you a thrilling story about someone who did something for themselves?
We're not thinking so much of presents as we're thinking of time and pleasure when we talk about doing something for ourselves. For example, we have a couple of friends engaged in a type of public service which involves not only their regular working day, but also a lot of what should be their leisure time. You've heard us say before that we think people should give more than what is expected to their task, that they should be willing to give some of their own time to a job when it seems the thing to do. But we also think that your job will have a better worker if you take some time for your own. The people to whom we referred, seldom take a vacation and never one of any length. Surely, one who gives his working and leisure time to a task 50 weeks of the year should give the other two weeks to himself. If you can give yourself nothing else. Give yourself a vacation from your work at least once a year. You don't have to go out of town, you know. There's an expression which makes the rounds about being "clubbed to death." That's true of a lot of people, men and women, too. They belong to so many organizations that it is almost impossible for them to spend an evening at home or with a group of friends. They'd like to go to a movie or just spend an evening with a good book, but some organization is calling for their time and energy. We don't believe in belonging to an organization if you're not going to give it your support. Whether it's a social, civic, cultural or church organization, don't join unless you're going to give it time, talent and interest. But don't rob yourself of needed relaxation. Organizations are not relaxation to all people. To some, they probably are. Don't rob your organization either, but if you haven't found the time to spend an evening devoted to your own pleasure in the last two weeks or maybe a month, we suggest you give tonight to yourself. (Or since it's Sunday, give an hour to your God and use the rest as you wish, but don't get "tied up.")
Some organizational leaders seem to think it a crime for a member to say "no, I won't be there." But if you're really doing your part, it may be a greater crime to yourself to say "yes."
"Sometimes we ought to give ourselves a break. Sometimes we should give ourselves a chance. Sometimes we need to make ourselves a present of something we need. When that time comes it is not selfishness to remember ourselves."

American Women Begin After-Holiday Diets

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP Newsfeatures Writer. People in their first week of dieting are the dreariest bores in the world. In their second week they are the most unhappy people alive. After that, they usually stop dieting. At this time almost every female over 25 in the nation is in the early throes of a diet. There's something about the holidays, egg-nog and family feasts that does it. On January 2, usually, we take a grim, weary look in the mirror and decide then and there to really do something about excess poundage. And we really do, regardless of what it does to everyone else around us. Non-dieters are subjected to long, very dull descriptions of our calorie counts, our exercise and our boasts. We can't resist a second helping without making an action about what an extra 150 calories can do. People who are not dieting, even if they are a little lean, feel like pigs when they eat a potato, put sugar in their coffee or try to enjoy dessert. In cases where the dieter is also the family cook, everyone in the family automatically has to string along with Mama's diet, and ease the hunger pangs by furtively nibbling cookies. I'm talking entirely about the self-starting dieter, the one who begins the period by saying "I'll lose ten pounds and then stop." People who are instructed sternly by doctors to go on diets seem to be a different type. They quietly lose their fat of lard or perspiration and go about following it as unobtrusively as possible. Still, at the first-week fun of dieting for the rest of us is talking about what we eat or don't eat. We also spend hours climbing on and off scales. Towards the end of that first week, we take joy in flat statements like "I lost five pounds this week." Of course, the poundage loss is always very much like the size of an angler's lost fish, but we love to say it. We also like to eat with non-dieters because it makes us feel so righteous to spurn shrimp creole or spaghetti in favor of a heart of lettuce squirted with lemon juice (no salt, thanks.) The second week isn't so good. In the first place, we get snappish, waspish and churlish. We decide maybe it's more restful to nibble lettuce in solitude. Our dreams get all cluttered with visions of napoleons, creamed potatoes, melted butter and hot fudge sundaes. The family is getting very tired indeed of broiled lamb chops and pineapple. Friends start dodging behind doors and into closets as we approach. Then toward the end of the week (the weight loss has slowed down so we can really see little progress) there looms what is known as a "special occasion." This is a situation which makes it mandatory to throw the diet overboard for a single meal. Well, by the beginning of the third week, a "special occasion" arises every other day. By the fourth week we have decided to be less strict, just "careful." The family is looking more cheerful by this time, too. And then, at the end of the month we have forgotten the whole horrible thing—and we come back from vacation next summer.

DISTRICT MAKES REPORT

Martin-Howard Soil Progress Reviewed

Progress of the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation district was reviewed and put in the District annual report by the supervisors at their regular monthly meeting in Stanton Tuesday.

Attending the meeting were supervisors Edgar Phillips, Joe Carter, Emmet Pittman, and E. J. Hughes, District Conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service. Other members of the board are Frank Loveless and Warren Skaggs.

The supervisors report shows 1289 farmers and ranchers have requested assistance from the district in planning a complete conservation program on over 1 1/4 million acres of land. The district has made the assistance of the Soil Conservation Service available to 956 of the land owners in planning and applying a conservation program on almost one million acres the board announced.

Highlights of the annual report are summarized in the attitude of cooperating farmers and ranchers in carrying out their planned program for the coming year. The board points out that "soil conservation" means good soil management to most farmers and ranchers who have studied needs of their land.

The use of adapted legumes and introduced grasses is attracting the attention of farmers and ranchers throughout the District. The supervisors recommend the use of such crops as sweet clover, rye, vetch, Dixie Wonder peas and other adapted cover crops in rotation with the commonly grown crops of cotton and grain sorghums. These soil enriching cover crops are needed in rotation to supply organic matter and nitrogen which is necessary to maintain soil in good condition. The fertility of the land and resistance to erosion from washing and blowing is largely governed by the presence of adequate amounts of organic matter and nitrogen, the supervisors state.

The board reported considerable interest in mechanical measures such as terracing, diversion terraces, deep plowing, contour farming, and tanking, but warned that

Price Level On Stock Exchange Zooms Again

NEW YORK, Jan. 7. (AP)—Low-priced stocks sent the price level upward again today.

Today sales zoomed to 1,330,000 shares, largest for any short session since May 1948.

In the last hour alone 900,000 shares changed hands.

The general price level climbed to a new peak since August 1946, individual gains ranged from fractions to a point or so.

Cheaper stocks were favorites. Many higher priced shares and many pivotal stocks traded rapidly without moving far on the price scale.

The Associated Press average advanced 4 of one point to 73, tops since 74.7 was scored on Aug. 27, 1946. The industrial group was strongest, followed by rails and utilities.

New highs for 1949-50 were established by 105 issues. None touched their lows.

Particularly in demand were radio-television, aircraft, liquor, and an assortment of industrial and other shares.

Radio Corp. took top place in the most active list with a rise of 1/4 to 13 1/2. Curtiss-Wright, third liveliest stock, gained 1/4 at 8 1/2.

Trading in bonds was also at a peak since May, 1948.

'Open House' at New Terminal Scheduled

Civil Aeronautics administration officials, leaders of American, Continental, and Pioneer Air Lines, and the general public have been invited to an informal "open house" at the new Municipal airport terminal next Sunday.

No program has been planned, but all facilities of the modern structure will be open to public inspection, City Manager H. W. Whitney said Saturday. Airlines started operating from the new headquarters Wednesday.

A Continental airliner was the first ship to taxi up to the new terminal at Munny airport as operations were initiated there Wednesday morning.

Flights of American and Pioneer Air Lines planes had also halted at the terminal before the day's activities were concluded. Station service facilities of Pioneer and American had been moved to the new structure Tuesday night.

The Continental agency was discontinued here with ticket sales and baggage services for that line being handled by Pioneer personnel.

Weather Bureau and Civil Aeronautics communications headquarters are still being maintained in the old terminal on highway 90 pending completion of installation of new equipment at the new location. Work is expected to be completed and the two Department of Commerce offices moved by Wednesday, City Manager H. W. Whitney said Saturday.

Traffic was light at Municipal field throughout last week with only a handful of Navy and Air Force ships landing. Civilian traffic dropped almost to a standstill. Airport officials blamed the lull on adverse flying conditions which existed over most of the Southwest. Practically all local craft remained grounded.

A Monahans airman whose identity was not ascertained made a forced landing Wednesday afternoon in the Garden City area.

Engine trouble forced the aircraft down in a clearing on the Marshall Cook ranch 10 miles west of the Glasscock county seat. The plane received slight damage in the landing, but its pilot was uninjured.

The flyer, enroute to Monahans from San Angelo, called friends in the latter city who came after him.

It's Basketball Time

There's no post-holiday boredom for Big Spring basketball lovers. Social and organizational activities may be "taking it easy," but the basketball season is in full swing.

Home games find good crowds attending and the interest is high. Both high school and junior college games are on the program. Official play was also opened by the YMCA basketball league Friday night. The Jayhawks, the college team, is fairly new, but the high school Steers have been giving fans thrills for years. This week, the Steers upset a Lubbock team on the local court, 43-38.

CENTER—Howard Washburn makes a try for score during the Big Spring-Lubbock game last week.

Sammy Baugh To Talk At Lion's Grid Fete

Event Planned For Jan. 26

Sammy Baugh, long the biggest name in professional football, will come to Big Spring the evening of Thursday, Jan. 26, to serve as principal speaker at the annual Lions' club football banquet for the high school team.

The event will take place at the Settles hotel, starting at 7:30 p.m. The public will be invited to attend the banquet. Duets will be sold for $1.50 each.

Even if Baugh had not gone to Texas Christian university and starred as a football player, then checked in with the Washington Redskins to make a name for himself, he would be a grid immortal, as far as local fans are concerned. In 1931, Baugh and the Sweetwater Mustangs spoiled the record of one of the greatest Big Spring schoolboy teams ever put together by achieving a 7-0 victory over the Steers. Up until the contest, Big Spring had not been scored on, but the Mustangs humbled the Steers and went on to win district laurels.

At the present time, Baugh spends his off-season time on a ranch near Rotan. He plans to go back to Washington again next fall for his 14th season as a pro. He is one of football's biggest wage earners.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Carl Coleman, the local high school football mentor, is now in a position to listen to offers for road games for his Steers. . . . Coleman has booked three non-district jousts as home games. . . . As of now, the Longhorns have open dates on Sept. 22, Oct. 6 and Oct. 20. . . . He would prefer two-year home-and-home contracts with schools he does sign. . . . The locals will open at home against Quannah Sept. 15 play Bowie of El Paso here Sept. 29, oppose San Angelo here Oct. 13, then start their 3AA league play Oct. 27, meeting Lubbock here. . . . After that, The Herd will oppose Midland there Nov. 3, Lamesa here Nov. 10 or 11 and Odessa there Nov. 17. . . . Coleman has had offers for games on Nov. 24 and Nov. 30 but will wind up the season on the 17th, if at all possible. . . . If the schedule works out as he plans, the Steers will play right on through without a break, once they start, and will be at home every other week. . . . Coleman found Pete Sika, the new Angelo mentor, a lot easier to talk business with than his predecessor, Red Ramsey. . . . Red demanded that the Steers return this fall, despite the fact that the Bobcats owed Big Spring a game. . . . All the non-conference games booked by Coleman to date compose parts of two-year contracts. . . . Scott McCall, who used to star on the gridiron for Masonic Home and TCU, is now mentor at Shamrock high school. . . . John Malaise, the former Big Spring high school cage mentor, was an interested spectator when Big Spring surprised Lubbock here last Tuesday night. . . . Malaise was over to chart a defense against the Westerners, a district opponent.

HCJC GYM SHOULD HAVE 1,000 SEATS

HCJC officials reportedly are trying to decide whether to make room for 750 or 1,000 seats in the proposed gymnasium, preliminary work on which will probably start in March. . . . The fieldhouse should be equipped to seat at least 1,000 persons, even though it might not be filled more than once or twice a year. . . . Basketball is rapidly gaining in popularity here and, of course, the community is growing. . . . Harold Davis, the HCJC coach, thinks he might have two or three more Louisiana boys on his 1950-51 cage team. . . . Melvin Norris and Frank Dunn of the present outfit are from the Pelican state. . . . Incidentally, Davis wasn't happy with the officiating in the HCJC-San Angelo J C game in Angelo last week. . . . He couldn't understand why the arbiters chased his stars, Bill Fletcher and Norris, so early. . . . When Fletcher was excited, it was only the second time that has happened to him in his college career. . . . Next time Davis takes his team to the Concho city, he'll demand out-of-town officials. . . . Judging from their appearance here, the Lubbock Westerners may win their district (3AA) but haven't too much chance, going back to the state meet. . . . Coach David Cook probably made a mistake in sidelining Jim Wilson in favor of smaller boys like Carl Ince. . . . Wilson was slow in reaching last year's form but the ability was there. . . . Ince is a fair hand but Wilson had the size to compete against the good clubs. . . . He scored a total of 307 points last season, 37 of them in the state meet. Ohio State university claims its athletic teams operated at a net loss of $64,508 during 1948, despite the fact that the Buckeyes' football income amounted to $1,174,136. . . . Odessa Junior college's basketball team won only one six conference jousts, that against Decatur.

PRO ACE ALMOST PULLED 'HOGAN' HERE

Cary Middlecott, the prominent pro golfer, almost pulled a 'Ben Hogan' while motoring toward Big Spring on his way to Los Angeles and that city's Open golf tournament recently. . . . Middlecott came near winding up in the ditch in a mishap east of here, had to stop here to have the brakes on his new Cadillac repaired. . . . The Jack Kramer-Pancho Gonzales tennis troupe, which has been touring England, will make an appearance in Amarillo the night of Feb. 15. . . . Frankie Parker and Pancho Segura will also appear on the program. . . . Duets to matches will sell for $1.20, $2.40 and $3.60. . . . LaVerne Roach, the Texas fighting man, is seeking a February match in Madison Square Garden, New York. . . . It's a bout time for the Texas interscholastic league to take another hay-maker at amateur flatieffing, now that the Golden Gloves season is at hand. . . . The TIL officials make no bones about disliking the sport. . . . Joe Cronin, the general manager of the Boston Red Sox, says baseball hitters like Charley Gehringer, Bill Dickey and Doc Cramer hold their bats level with the plate whereas fellows like Ted Williams, Babe Ruth, Joe DiMaggio and Jimmy Fox hold theirs up and down while waiting for a pitch. . . . He adds that the latter stance is probably better because the hitter gets more snap in his wrists and power in that snap, as well as being able to wait a bit longer on the pitch. . . . Sammy Sain, one of the top names in baseball here 15 years ago, recalls the time he faced Grover Cleveland Alexander, the immortal now hospitalized with cancer in Los Angeles. . . . Sain says Old Pete knew his weakness just by watching him take his stance at the plate and immediately threw to it. . . . Sain went up against Alex here when the ex-major leaguer was with the House of David.

BAYLOR BEATS STEERS, 49-43

WACO, Jan. 7. (AP)—The Baylor Bears got back on the winning trail here tonight, defeating the Texas Longhorns 49-43 in the Southwest conference opener for the Bruins before 3,300 partisan fans. . . . The lead in the closely fought game changed hands 112 times, with Baylor taking a final lead with 4 minutes to go in the game, on Odell Preston's goal. Preston added another free throw and with two minutes to go the Bears started freezing the ball. Then, talking advantage of Texas' personal fouls, the Bruins went on to win their sixth game in thirteen starts. . . . Don Heathington paced the Bruins with 17 points, before going out with five personal fouls with seven minutes to go. Veteran Tom Hamilton paced the Steers with 13 points. Guard Mild Dewitt also went out via the foul route for the Baylor team with three minutes remaining in the game.

CHIEF SPEAKER — Sammy Baugh, professional grid great and a former TCU player, will deliver the principal address at the Lions' club football banquet here the night of Thursday, Jan. 26, it has been announced.

Grimm Will Get Record Salary From Burnett

CHICAGO, Jan. 7. (AP)—Charlie Grimm, an affable Dutchman who has been virtually an institution with the Chicago Cubs, may net as high as $50,000 yearly as the new manager of the Dallas Baseball Club of the Texas League. . . . After a conference with Cub owner P. K. Wrigley, Grimm resigned yesterday as the club's vice president—a "brief case" job that threatened to add a wrinkle of worry to Grimm's usually bright and smiling face. . . . Grimm said he belonged on the field, not in a swivel chair. Dallas' millionaire oilman owner, Dick Burnett, is willing to grant his wish. The two will meet in Dallas Jan. 13 to certify the deal. . . . Burnett seems willing to top "Cholly's" Cub salary reported at about $25,000. Grimm also will receive a percentage of the gate and conduct an annual baseball school. Dallas set a Texas League attendance record last season of 404,000 in a fifth place finish. . . . Put it all together, and observers believe the Dutchman's take might be near $50,000. . . . Meanwhile, a few names have been tossed into the hopper as Grimm's successor as Cub vice president in charge of player personnel. Those mentioned included Bill Vecek, Bill Terry, Bill McKechnie, Steve O'Neill, Ted McGrew, Jake Flowers, Hollis Thurston and Fresno Thompson. . . . Vecek, who recently sold his Cleveland Indians and appears to be on the prowl for new baseball connections, and Terry probably would not be interested because of limited powers involved. . . . McKechnie and O'Neill, fresh out of Cleveland coaching jobs, may find an offer well timed. . . . McGrew and Thurston are top-flight Pittsburgh Pirates scouts. Flowers currently is general manager of Milwaukee in the American Association. Thompson is one of Brooklyn's best ivory hunters.

Baylor Seeking Football Coach

WACO, Jan. 7. (AP)—Bob Woodruff has quit—again—as Baylor University football coach and President W. R. White said "That leaves us at sea." . . . Woodruff last night signed a seven-year contract as head football coach and athletic director at the University of Florida. He'll get $17,000 a year. . . . Less than a month ago Woodruff left Baylor in a squabble with Athletic Director Ralph Wolf. After Wolf quit, a compromise settlement kept both men at the university. . . . Woodruff started a new five-year contract at Baylor the first of this year. He reportedly paid $12,000 a year. He came to Baylor in 1947 after serving as an assistant coach at the U. S. Military Academy, Tennessee and Georgia Tech. Last year Baylor won eight games, lost two and finished second in the Southwest Conference. . . . Dr. White said there had been no time to think of a new football coach, that Woodruff's sudden decision left "us at sea" on that matter. . . . Woodruff, who succeeds Raymond (Bear) Wolf, former assistant Texas Christian University coach, at Florida, will also head a newly created Department of Intercollegiate Athletics. As such he will be responsible only to the president of the University of Florida. . . . Woodruff is a native of Georgia. His parents now live in Atlanta. He played college football at the University of Tennessee, where he started his coaching career as an assistant in 1939. . . . Woodruff will be Florida's 14th head football coach in 45 years of football and his seven year contract is the longest ever given. . . . Although it has been generally assumed that a contract with the state university would be valid for no more than five years, Assistant Attorney General Frank Heintz said he believes a seven-year contract is valid. . . . The $17,000 salary given to the new coach is the highest ever paid any employe of the State of Florida—$3,000 more than the governor and the presidents of the two state universities.

Trav Tidwell Leads Rebels To Victory In Senior Bowl

Plainsman Ace Steals Show

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Jan. 7. (AP)—Travis Tidwell spun a football web of passes that carried his Rebel All-Stars to a 22-13 victory over the Yankees in the Senior Bowl game today. . . . Charlie Justice of North Carolina and Donk Walker of Southern Methodist lived up to their press notices, but Tidwell of Auburn was even better. . . . Tidwell tossed 19 times to connect on 13 for an amazing gain of 246 yards. End Art Weimer of North Carolina teamed with Tidwell to make a great combination. He fielded eight of those throws for 139 yards. . . . The losing Yankees also had a great passing team in Paul Campbell, Texas quarterback, and Jim Owens, Oklahoma end. Campbell threw 27 times, hit on 18 for 147 yards. . . . Only 20,000 fans turned out to see the All-Stars star. But they got a real show out of the 50 players. Besides the aerial fireworks was a demonstration of tough defensive line play by both walls. . . . Tackle Wade Walker of Oklahoma and Center Clayton Tomme-maker of Minnesota, both All America, led a Yankee line that held the Rebels to 46 yards by rushing. The Yanks could run for only 68 against a Rebel line that was tough from end to end. . . . The pass defense looked mighty weak in comparison. But it wasn't that nearly so much as the accuracy with which Tidwell, Campbell and Eddie LeBaron of College of the Pacific could drop that ball in the right spot. . . . Key kick returns by Justice and Donk Walker added to the thrills. Their first score with a runback. Walker started the Yanks off to for 57 yards. . . . Justice opened the way to Rebel touchdowns. He went 28 to begin the first drive and 29 to start the last. . . . Tidwell threw to Herb Rich, Vanderbilt back, for a 35-yard play that scored the first Rebel six pointer. On fourth down he set one in the arms of John O'Quinn, Wake Forest end, for 13 yards and the second. . . . one-foot smackover. . . . Dick Sheffield, Tulane, booted two extra points and the Rebels picked up another pair when Jim Duncan, Wake Forest, blocked one of LeBaron's kicks. . . . Before the Rebels got started, the Yankees held their scoring fire. Taking it from D. Walker's 57-yard runback, they moved 32 yards in a hurry. Lynn Chandnois, Michigan State, rammed over from the four. . . . Darrel Royal of Oklahoma, who played only defense because of a bad leg, started the Yankees off to a 76-yard scoring march with a pass interception—the only one off Tidwell's arm. LeBaron threw to Owens on a 46-yard scoring pass. D. Walker kicked one extra point.

HSU Frosh Rally To Nip Jayhawks

Howard County Junior college's Jayhawks led the Hardin-Simmons freshmen for 36 minutes and 36 seconds of an exciting basketball game here Friday night, yet lost a 54-53 decision. . . . Art Aragon hit from quarter court in the final two seconds of activity to send his team to the fore for the first time during the nerve-wracking evening. It was the first and only time the Buttons were ahead. . . . The dramatic shot served to protect the HSU freshmen's unbeaten record, which now includes seven victories. . . . Coach Harold Davis' defense was riddled when three of his lads exited from the game because of fouls. It was as bad as having his molars pulled when Davis saw first Sousa Stallings and then B. E. Lees banished. . . . But when Del Turner had to go for the same reason, Davis must have felt like putting his head in a sling. . . . For on Friday night, Turner was the heart and the soul of the Jayhawk basketball machine. He hit from every angle. He was death on free throws. And he turned in a remarkable defensive job. . . . When Big D departed, the Hawks boasted a five-point lead, which seemed gilt-edged. However, Aragon and his mates were not to be denied. The hoop drew their shots like a magnet. They couldn't miss. Dallas Pro Team Would Use Texans

DALLAS, Jan. 7. (AP)—If Dallas gets a pro football team it will be made up of former Southwest Conference stars and coached by a man "well known to Southwest Conference fans." . . . That's what Edward T. Dicker, the man who is trying to get a franchise in the National American Football League, said yesterday. . . . Dicker, wealthy construction and investment man, said he planned to meet Bert Bell, commissioner of the pro league, next week. He also said he had talked to Bell and that an application for a franchise was being mailed to him. . . . He said he and a group of Dallas businessmen are prepared to spend a "half million dollars" to get Dallas a pro football team.

Hogan 5 Strokes Off The Pace

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 7.—Ben Hogan moved his comeback campaign into contention today but he was still five strokes off the pace at the midway mark of the $15,000 Los Angeles Open.

The game little better from Texas blasted out a two-under par 69 in the second round of the tournament with a large tagging of a gallery of 11,500 tagging at his heels for a 36-hole total of 142.

The surprise leader proved to be little known but widely respected Jerry Barber of Pasadena, who shot a 68 to go with his opening round 69 for a total of 137. The 33-year-old one time farm boy from Woodson, Ill., a five-foot-five, 145-pound craftsman on the greens, played an even 34-34—68 for Riviera's 7,018-yard par 35-36—71.

Hogan, slipping a stroke off par with a spectacular 60-foot putting putt on the fifteenth hole and another with an eight-foot putt on the seventeenth, improved on his 73 fired yesterday.

Hogan climbed into contention with a 34-35—69 exhibition. He had two birdies on the first side and two coming home. His 60-foot putt was registered on a sharply slanting green and a putt that had to arch up and then drop down. He found the cup.

Ellsworth Vines of Pasadena wound up with 73 for 142, and Baltimore's Otto Greinertook a 72 for 143 at the halfway point of the tournament. Sam Snead also has 143.

Barber is launching his third year on the tournament trail. He played without singular success the past two years but is rated one of the more promising of the new-comer talent.

National Open Champion Cary Middlecoff from Memphis dropped back with a 76 for 149, and Willie Turnesa of Briarcliff, N. Y., fell further with an 80 for 153. Veteran Dutch Harrison shot a 73 for 147 to trail the leaders, and former PGA Champion Bob Hamilton, Landover, Md., took a 73 for 144.

ARCADIA, Calif., Jan. 7.—Solidarity, Mrs. Nat Goldstone's bargain buy, took the lead going into the back stretch today and outlasted Noor to win the $50,000 added San Pasquel Handicap at Santa Anita.

About 36,000 citizens watched the five-year-old son of Alibi and Gerry Bull beat out the favored Calumet Farm entry of Ponder and Fervent.

Ralph Neves rode Solidarity. He toured the mile and a sixteenth in 1:43 4-5.

Solidarity returned $14.80, $6.20 and $3.90 across the board. Noor, with Johnny Longden in the irons paid $6.50 and $4.10, while Ponder, a badly beaten third, kicked back $3.30.

PEEL SIGNED BY S-D TWINS

SHERMAN, Jan. 7.—Homer Peel, familiar Texas baseball figure, has signed as business manager and field manager of the Sherman-Denson Twins of the Big State League.

"We're fortunate to secure a man with Peel's experience," J. Tip Newell, president of the Twins, said. "We feel that he will be able to handle both jobs."

Peel was half owner and business manager at Temple last year. He sold out his stock at the season's end. He has been back in baseball since 1946 when he returned from the Navy to enter the game at Paris.

He was business manager at Greenville at the start of 1947, but bought stock in Wichita Falls and managed the Spudders. He purchased one half the Paris stock in 1948 and served as manager and business manager that year. He broke into baseball at Marshall in 1923.

In 1927, as player-manager of the Fort Worth Cats, Peel led the Texas League in hitting with .370 and managed his Cats to the Dixie Series title.

He replaces Pete Appleton as field manager and Joe Bratcher as business manager.

Don Barnes paced Knott's offense with 12 points.

Knott's girls managed to ek out a 20-13 decision over Stanton in an added attraction. Brigrance led the way with 11 points while Betty Bennett was high for Stanton with ten.

Yearlings Lose In Second Round

SAN ANGELO, Jan. 7.—The Big Spring Yearlings were beaten in the quarterfinals of the San Angelo Junior High school basketball tournament here Friday evening.

San Angelo's Crimson Tide vanquished the Yearlings, 48-32, after Big Spring had cleared the first round by stopping McCamey, 25-13.

In the San Angelo-Big Spring joust, Raymond Gilstrap scored 12 points in the Yearlings' losing effort. Frank Long came in for eight, Bobby Hayworth five and J. C. Armistead four.

Roger Siles counted 24 for San Angelo in the bout.

Armistead was a big factor in Big Spring's triumph over McCamey. He hit for a dozen points.

Local Fems Lick Forsan, 36-20

FORSAN, Jan. 7.—Coach Aral Phillips made liberal use of her substitutes as the Big Spring high school girls' volleyball team trampled the Forsan fems, 36-20, here Friday night.

Patsy Kiser and Susan Houser were outstanding for Big Spring. Kiser came through with nine points and Houser with eight.

Camp and Robertson were outstanding for the losers with four each.

Bovines Again Slug Midland 'Dogs, 39-22

MIDLAND, Jan. 7.—The Midland high school basketball regulars seem to give the Big Spring Steers far less trouble than the Bulldog reserves.

Whereas the Midland reserves fought the Longhorns off their feet before losing a 22-19 decision in the recent Midland tournament, the 'Dogs' A string for the second straight time were decisively beaten by the Big Springers Friday. Final tally was 39-22.

Midland held the Steers on fairly even terms through the first half but the Longhorns, improving with each outing, pulled away after the intermission. Howard Jones and Wayne Brown led the scoring parade, each with 12 points. Harold Rossen wasn't far off the pace with four field goals and a gift toss.

Midland gained an even break in the night's double header when the Bulldog B team outlasted the Big Spring Dogs, 24-18.

W. C. Blankenship, Jr., proved Big Spring's chief threat with three field goals.

The game was fairly close until Virgil Bennett fouled out for Forsan in the third period and James Suttles followed suit in the fourth, although Coahoma led all the way.

Steers Face Odessa Tuesday, Open 5AA Play Friday Night

Locals To Meet Ex-Coach's Club

The Big Spring high school basketball team opens its District SAA season in Brownwood Friday night, but not before it has taken care of some impending business in Odessa.

The Steers are booked for a return go with Odessa's Bronchos Tuesday night. In a previous collision between the two teams, Big Spring managed to roll to a 26-21 victory. In Odessa, where the one-time Big Spring coach Johnny Malaise is now chief instructor, it could be a different story.

Malaise has brought the Hoses along steadily to the point where they could be a factor in the District SAA race, despite the fact that only one letterman (Jim Gerron) returned to the club.

In Brownwood, the Steers will be meeting a club that marched all the way to the finals last year before losing a close one to Texas City.

The Lions have six members of that great club returning this year and could win SAA laurels without lifting too many eyebrows.

Big Spring plays a return game with Lamesa here Tuesday, Jan. 17, and then hosts Abilene in another important SAA go the following Friday.

Only three states are represented on the 1949-50 University of Arizona 21-man basketball squad—Arizona, California and North Dakota.

Ten members of Oklahoma's starting eleven during 1949 were natives of Oklahoma.

HAWKS MEET ODESSA WRANGLERS TUESDAY

They clear the decks for a basketball donnybrook here Tuesday night when Howard County Junior college and Odessa JC's Wranglers plunge into Western Zone activity at Steer gymnasium.

Yes, the contingents start playing for keeps after spending the last five weeks meeting the best in this area in junior college and senior college freshmen competition.

HCJC will carry the better record into the game. Whereas the Wranglers have been able to win but one game in seven starts to date, the Hawks have chalked up victories over Cisco twice, Weatherford twice, OCC's reserves and San Angelo while losing to HSU's frosh twice, Weber of Utah and Lon Morris.

Always capable of playing above their heads against HCJC and will probably make a thriller of it.

Coach Harold Davis of the locals has his team primed for the engagement. Too, the incentive to win will be there.

The Hawks will play at home again on Friday, meeting the rugged Amarillo JC outfit in another Zone game. They've never beaten the Badgers but might possibly have the guns to turn the trick this time.

The high school's B and C teams will also play Monday, going to Abilene for contests with the ACC Academy quintets.

Thursday, the B and C outfits will go to Colorado City to play the regular and B team, respectively, there.

The B team is also booked to compete in the Lakeview invitational tournament, which gets underway in that community Friday and continues through Saturday.

Local Baseball Men To Parley

There are a number of things to be settled at today's meeting of Longhorn baseball league directors in Abilene, which will attract Al Atton and Pat Stacey from Big Spring, among others.

For one thing, the Vernon club has recently been sold by R. E. (Bob) Huntley and R.C. Huntley to a group of Vernon business men. The directors must approve the transfer, considered a formality.

For another, opening day opponents must be worked out. Last year, Big Spring opened with Vernon here.

Then there is more than a hint that some of the club owners will seek a promotion of the league's classification from D to C. Judging from reports from some of the cities, they may run into too much opposition, however. Atton and Stacey will go along with the majority vote on that score, not especially caring, either way.

Exhibition games will probably be arranged at today's schedule. The league's officers will have to meet a little later in the year to agree on a schedule.

A Bible Thought For Today—

A diligent cultivation of the Infinite is a condition of the growth of spiritual power. We absorb His wisdom and strength and become more and more like Him. "Truly my soul waiteth upon God; from Him cometh my salvation."—Ps. 62:1.

Time To Protect Your Right To Vote In 1950 Elections Is Now

This is a subject on which we have held forth before, one that will bear further emphasis before Jan. 31 has passed. It has to do with your right to participate in the many important elections of 1950.

Less than one-third of those who should be able to take part in the selection of officials and the deciding of various issues have so far secured poll taxes or exemption certificates. Scarcely three weeks remain for attending to this responsibility.

A double reminder in order—one is that the longer the matter of securing a receipt or certificate is delayed, the greater the chance of losing a great amount of time in standing in line on the last few days. The other is the longer the matter is delayed, the more apt it is to be forgotten.

There is one other word of caution. Keep your receipt in a safe and handy place. Under new election laws, you can't vote without presenting it. Time was when all you had to do was to assure the election judge that you had paid your poll tax. But now you have to present the visible evidence and have the reverse side stamped each time it is voted. Naturally, the first step in good citizenship this year is to protect the right to vote. The next step is to give serious consideration to the appeals of those who offer themselves for office.

Ideally, the voter should subject each applicant to close scrutiny, arriving at a decision as to whom is best equipped by ability, experience, character and other attributes to administer the various offices.

Personalities undoubtedly will be the influence factors in most local races, but the disposition to turn votes on the basis of personal admiration or antipathy should be minimized. All candidates would appreciate votes, but most would honestly appreciate it more if the voters would spend more time in asking questions about their aims, their philosophy, and the specific things which they hope to accomplish or might have accomplished.

But there's no need to stop and talk to candidates or to discuss issues unless you will be able to vote. And the time to make sure about that is between now and the end of the month. If you don't, by the time politics warm up, your right to vote will be ice cold.

Death Of New York Sun May Be Regarded As National Disaster

NEW YORK, (U)—IT IS A SAD AND BITTER thing to see a great newspaper die. And that's the way it was last week when the famous New York Sun ceased publication as a separate entity after more than 116 years.

Bought by Publisher Roy Howard, its good will and name will live on as the merged New York World-Telegram and the Sun.

But the New York Sun as such—the Sun that Charles A. Dana made in a national institution—was dead. That is the way the men and women who put it out felt.

After the paper had been put to bed for the last time, they held a wake for it in a nearby bar. It was the quietest wake in newspaper history.

ONLY ABOUT A SCORE OF THE EDITORIAL staff of 100 attended the informal obsequies. The rest, stunned, had simply gone home.

An odd thing about the wake was that few of the men and women talked about how the shutdown would affect themselves, how hard it would be for most of them to find new jobs in an overcrowded field.

What they wanted to talk about was their paper, the New York Sun, which some of them had worked on for 35 to 45 years. For a newspaper staff, like an army, has pride of service. And the Sun had been America's first "newspaperman's newspaper."

"How could anything 116 years old die?" asked one reporter, unbelievably.

Pulitzer-prize winning Reporter Malcolm Johnson, who wrote the story of the Sun's sale, told them all he knew. He said the assignment was given to him by a 70-year-old Executive Editor Keats Speed, one of New York's best-loved editors. And he said Speed wept when he gave it to him.

JOHNSON WORKED ALL DAY IN SECRET on the story—so the Sun wouldn't be scooped on its last day. And when he handed the story, the city editor read the first page, and broke into tears. He asked Johnson if he would like a byline. "I told him that was a story no Sun reporter would want a byline on," Johnson said. And it bore no byline.

The men talked at the bar about some of the great Sun reporters of the past—Frank Ward O'Malley and Richard Harding Davis.

A few were bitter. They questioned the management explanation that the Sun's sale had been made necessary by rising production costs and falling circulation and advertising revenue. These factors have helped kill many metropolitan dailies in the last half century.

Others differed. There were many attempts at diagnosis. But postmortems don't bring anything back to life. The Sun had set. That was the numbering fact.

Truman's Speech Displays Fine Contempt For All The Realities

Mr. Clark Clifford must be right, and not merely modest, loyal, and self-effacing, when he says that in its final form the President's message is Mr. Truman's own work. For no ghost writer, unless he happened to be a dramatist of great genius, could have written a speech like this one for Mr. Truman to read, and have made it sound as if Mr. Truman meant it. The serenity, the perfect optimism, the relaxing confidence could not be the mood of any subordinate, doomed to struggle with the hard facts of administration and of politics. They belong uniquely to a man who is sitting on top of the world, and finds it comfortable and pleasant up there above the turmoil and the hubbub.

There is an undeniable charm about it, rather like that of noontime on a summer day when the air is soft and still, the sky is blue, and there are no long shadows. Then everything seems possible because nothing is entirely real. For an hour or two at least the worriers like Mr. Taft and Mr. Knowland will find it hard to be angry and righteously indignant and ideologically hot and bothered. For here, as the poet said, they are transported briefly "where all trouble seems, dead winds and spent waves riot, in doubtful dreams of dreams."

A closer study of Mr. Truman's poetic style shows that his technique is never to deal with problems but only with the excellent results that would be achieved if the problems had been solved. That is a good way to make this sorry world look easy. By the simple device of announcing only goals, objectives, and ends, in terms so general that absolutely no one can question them, the controversies about ways and means, which are the subject matter of almost all the struggles of life, disappear from sight. Mr. Truman has an enormous legislative program which, if it is enacted, will make a sizeable volume of new laws. But what he discusses in this message are not the laws he calls for but only the preambles to those laws.

It is, in fact, not strictly accurate to say that he discusses the preambles. His message is more like a table of contents of a book which names the topics that might be treated. Nothing is explained. Nothing is argued. Nothing is proved. Nothing is demonstrated. The text is a series of short declarative sentences which are merely asserted as if they were all equally true and self-evident. They do not meet criticism. They merely by-pass it, leaving the panting critic no target to shoot at, no antagonist to get hold of, only the thin air to thrash around in. No wonder so many Republican politicians exhibit the symptoms of being on the verge of a nervous breakdown.

He Should Write Headlines, Maybe

TORRANCE, Calif. (U)—How to abbreviate names like Pasco de la Estrella, Calle de Anda Lucia or Via Monte D'Oro? That is the problem facing city manager George Stevens who plans to install street signs in the suburbs.

Stevens figures the signs should be no more than two feet long with letters at least six inches high and proportionately wide. It only leaves room for 12 to 15 letters.

Sen. Taft Predicts 'Social State' Issue Will Not Be Decided Until '52 Election

WASHINGTON—For Republican ears only, Sen. Taft gloomily predicted that the GOP will not recapture Congress this November, and as a result the issue of the "social state" won't be decided until the 1952 presidential election.

Talking shop with GOP senators behind closed doors, Taft solemnly added that he himself didn't care to come back to the Senate "if the Republican membership is decreased."

Taft took the floor after colleagues hailed his re-election as the most important to the Republican cause. New Hampshire's tart-tongued Sen. Charles Tobey almost turned the meeting into a Taft rally with an emotional speech.

"The most important thing to the Senate and the country is to re-elect a man who has had guts to vote how he stood," rang out Tobey, who disagrees with Taft as often as any Republican in the Senate.

Tobey even offered to "talk to some of the people of Ohio—some of the humble people."

"All the people of Ohio are humble," chirped Taft's junior colleague from Ohio, "Handsome John" Bricker.

Taft then stood up and told applauding senators: "I don't want to come back if the Republican membership is decreased. I want to see all of you come back who are here now—and a few more. I don't expect the Republicans to get a majority in November, but the important thing is to win some gains. The whole issue of the social state won't be settled anyhow until 1952."

BARE GOP CUPBOARD
Main issue of the GOP senatorial meeting was whether to draft a statement of GOP "aims and purposes" for the 1950 campaign. Opinion on this was by no means unanimous. Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., astute Massachusetts blue blood, spoke for the majority when he reluctantly agreed to a statement of GOP aims. Normally he would be against such a statement at this time, he said, since both parties set down their aims in the 1948 platform.

"But in view of all the publicity," Lodge argued, "I might look as if we didn't want it." Lodge also pointed out that contributions had stopped flowing into the GOP campaign chest and suggested that a statement of aims might increase the flow.

Colorado's Sen. Eugene Millikin shook his bald and shiny head. "If you have a statement of aims to please not the little contributors, but the big contributors," he warned, "it would take us back not to the exact age but to the antediluvian age."

Maine's Sen. Owen Brewster broke in tauntingly that he had heard Lodge remark on a television program that he was in sympathy with only 90 per cent of the Republican platform anyhow.

Sen. George Aiken of Vermont then jumped up and announced he favored 90 per cent of the Republican platform—"probably more."

Around The Rim—The Herald Staff

Here We Go For Efficiency: A Perpetual World Calendar

Before the year gets so far along that everybody remembers to write "1950" on letters and checks, perhaps we ought to talk about the calendar.

In case you didn't know it, there is an organization called the World Calendar Association which is gaining a lot of strong support to change the present system of computing months and years (the Georgian calendar we have with us now) to a more uniform, systematized method.

The World Calendar people got their proposal before the United Nations General Assembly a few months ago, but were dismayed to see it put aside because of a crowded agenda. I take it that once the UN goes into this business of changing the calendar, the world may be confronted with a whole new fiscal set up.

This organization proposes a perpetual world calendar, and it would be something like this:

Four equal quarters. That is, each quarter begins on Sunday and ends on Saturday; each contains three months, or 13 weeks or 91 days.

Month-dates always fall on the same weekdays. Each month has 28 weekdays. Each year begins on Sunday, January 1; and each business year begins with Monday, January 2.

It is an unvarying calendar year. There are three regular kinds of months. Each quarter has three months, the first month of each quarter has 31 days, the remaining two have 30 days each; the first month begins on a Sunday, the second on a Wednesday, the third on a Friday. Quarters always begin on a Sunday and end on a Saturday.

Days and dates always agree from year to year.

Alright, now four quarters of 91 days each total up to 364 days. The World Calendar would take a special holiday, called Worldday, right in between December 30 and January 1 every year. It wouldn't have a number on the calendar, it would be just Worldday, and I assume would be the day for saying goodbyes to the old and hello to the new.

How about Leap Year? Well, if you thought each year was 365 1/4 days long, you sure are wrong. I thought so, too, until the World Calendar people advised me in a pamphlet that the year is really only 365.242216 days in length. But there's no use arguing about a few weeks per year, so let's just say that an extra day accumulates every four years. The new calendar would do another piece of sandwiching, creating the Leapyear Day in fall between June 30 and July 1. Another holiday, I take it.

So, Christmas would always be on Monday; July Fourth would always be on Wednesday; Labor Day would always be September 4; Thanksgiving November 23, and so on.

This sounds mighty efficient to me. The accountants probably would love it, being able to total up exactly what one quarter did against another quarter, etc.

The World Calendar people say our method of reckoning the years and months is in an awful mess right now, that there being 14 variations of calendar years, 28 different kinds of months, and days and dates disagreeing every year. After reading all this, I'm beginning to wonder what time it is.

On the other hand, a friend of mine who was talking about this World calendar said the other day that there had been enough regimenting already, and that there is some sort of anticipatory pleasure in trying to figure out every year just when Christmas and the Fourth of July would be.

He has an idea there. Besides, what would happen to the charming little phrase we all have to memorize: "Thirty days hath September," etc.—BOB WHIPKEY.

No Nightmare Is Too Horrible To Come True In Atomic Age

WASHINGTON—The case of launching another Manhattan District Project, in order to build a "super-bomb," seems at first hearing like a Walpurgis night dream of total destruction. Yet this case is being seriously made, at this moment, by important personalities on the highest government level. The worst nightmares have a way of coming true, nowadays. The essential arguments must therefore be set down.

In brief, it is theoretically feasible to build a hydrogen bomb with something like 1,000 times the force of the uranium plutonium bomb that fell on Hiroshima. It may cost anywhere from $2 to $4 billion, to build such a bomb in the shortest space of time. The real issue in debate—a bitter commentary on the state of the world—is whether such bombs can be surely delivered to their proper targets.

To be blunt about it, the vital centers of the Soviet Union are the obvious potential targets, whether for the hydrogen bomb of the future, or for our existing stockpile of uranium-plutonium bombs. Great distances, uncertain topography and other factors will always make it extremely difficult to hit targets in Russia with reasonable accuracy. And the chief attraction of the hydrogen bomb is that it will reduce the premium on accuracy in any bombing attack.

This is simply because such a bomb should theoretically devastate an area of from sixty to 100 square miles, in one ghastly detonation. Hence it should transform what would be a wide miss, even with a uranium-plutonium bomb, into a direct hit consuming a whole city. Even for conventional bombing, this is crucially important. Furthermore, its importance may later be increased very greatly, by the development of long-range guided missiles.

Provided a pilotless aircraft is the type selected, it has been possible to build the airframe of a long-range missile at any time since the war. The most talked-about design is a stripped-down, pilotless jet bomber capable of several thousand miles of flight, at just subsonic speeds and at very high altitudes. How to guide such a missile has always been the question.

In the last year, however, the basic obstacle to long range missile guidance has been successfully surmounted. As was reported in this space a "non-processable" gyroscope has been designed at M.I.T. This almost miraculous instrument is simply a gyroscope whose accuracy is not disturbed by friction. Because it is dependably stable, it provides the long-sought "brain" for missile guidance systems.

Dispute Over Formosa Is Only Part Of American Dilemma

WASHINGTON, (U)—THE DEMOCRATIC-Republican dispute over the defense of Formosa goes deeper than just a political wrangle. It's part of the whole American dilemma in stopping communism.

This country preaches a philosophy of "no imperialism," of political freedom for all people to choose their own government without outside interference.

At the present the U. S. is in a deadly struggle with communism. It's clear that if communism, which has an aggressive philosophy, can spread unchecked, then in time America will be an island in a Communist world.

Former President Hoover and Senator Taft of Ohio, two top Republicans, said only the other day they thought this country should keep Formosa from falling into the Chinese Communists' hands, even if it meant using the U. S. Navy to do so.

Thursday, President Truman harpooned this idea by announcing a hands-off policy toward Formosa, an island off the China coast where Chiang Kai-shek and his Nationalist government, driven off the mainland by the Chinese Communists, have holed up for a last stand.

Eventually, it's expected, U. S. Communists will try to take Formosa.

WITH ITS FRIENDS AND ALLIES turned into Communist enemies, the U. S. couldn't survive against the rest of the earth. So it has the problem of preventing that day's arrival. It could:

1. Use military force, march into a country threatened internally or externally by communism, and set up its defenses there.
2. Or, as it has done in western Europe and in Greece, it could send in economic aid or arms to help the government in power block communism.

If it did the first, it could be accused of acting contrary to its professed philosophy of letting other peoples choose their own government.

(On this one the U. S. could argue that, on the contrary, it was helping preserve political freedom in the country it defended with arms by keeping out the Communists.)

IF IT DID THE SECOND EVERYWHERE and every time there was a Communist threat, there'd be this problem: How long could the U. S. afford to subsidize the rest of the world without collapsing?

(The U. S. already is running into the red because of the money it's spending on national defense and help for Europe. That's costing about $15 billion now.)

IF WE SENT NAVAL FORCES THERE, it might discourage the Chinese Communists from cross-over—for the time being. When they gathered more strength they might try to take Formosa—possibly with the help of Russian bombers—even though that meant war with the U. S.

But—in the U. S. willing to go to war over Formosa? The President made his plain: No. At this moment the Russians may not feel ready for war. In a few years, if they can pile up atom bombs, they may be very ready.

So the U. S. may have only a few years—in which the Russians still are too weak for war—to take steps to stop the spread of communism.

But what will it do, if, between now and then, the Russian and Chinese Communists, by pressure short of war, try to gobble up the rest of Asia: Indonesia, French Indo-China, Burma, India?

Will it pour in economic help? Or arms or troops or what? Without some kind of American help, those places certainly will be under great Communist pressure, externally or internally.

As more of the world goes Communist, the U. S. will have to act. But how? That's the American dilemma.

Fall Of Formosa To Chinese Reds Seen Unless Nationalists Get U. S. Aid

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The island of Formosa has become the focal point of world attention in the Far Eastern conflict and an issue in the debate over American policy towards China.

It is by far the most important remaining bastion of the Chinese Nationalists, who have been practically driven off the mainland by the Communists.

With President Truman's declaration of a hands-off attitude, what are Formosa's prospects? Can Communists make good on their vows to conquer it this year?

Spencer Moosa, for many years an Associated Press correspondent in China, presents the answers of best-informed sources in the following survey.

By SPENCER MOOSA
AP Staff

TAIPEI, Formosa, Jan. 7. — If the Chinese Communists can conquer Formosa, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and his last-ditch Nationalists face the end, either by flight into exile or by capture.

Knowing this, they intend to hold this big island if they can, but they feel that they are doomed unless they get material aid from the United States. This view prevails despite the American hands-off attitude.

Typifying the opinion in all Nationalist ranks, K. C. Wu, Princeton-educated governor of Formosa, says the island can be held "forever—maybe," provided the United States "gives us moral and material encouragement."

If the Communists are unable to mount their invasion this coming spring and summer, in the interval between monsoon and typhoon weather, then Chiang and his followers will get a year's respite.

This is what they are hoping for. They believe that somehow, somewhere, something might happen to alter the seemingly inexorable trend of events.

A survey of the best available

Chinese and foreign opinion in this capital discloses these more or less common convictions:

1. The Communists at present do not seem to have the capability of undertaking an invasion;
 2. This picture could change quickly with active Soviet aid;
 3. There is little or no prospect of the Nationalists being overthrown by an internal revolt, despite dissatisfaction among the Formosan population of more than 6 million; and
 4. Unless projected reforms are carried out in the next few months, the Nationalists will be in serious economic plight.
- Invasion of this island will be a stupendous project. With good air reconnaissance, the defenders should have at least four days of warning, or so the military experts say.
- One foreigner believes the Reds would have to land 200,000 to 300,000 men in three or four days to make an invasion stick—"and I don't think they are capable of doing so, not this year, at least," he concludes.
- Everyone here seems to take it for granted that, if the Communists do take Formosa, it will become a Soviet air and naval base. This would threaten communication between Japan and the Philippines and to a large extent neutralize the American air base on Okinawa.

The Nationalist defense strategy for this island of 13,000 square miles (about one-third the size of Virginia), is simple:

Try to destroy the invasion fleets before they are able to leave the mainland;

Try to shatter by sea and air attack those who actually launch on the 100-mile voyage, and finally,

Try to contain and destroy any force that does land.

Success or failure could hinge on whether the invaders meet determined, loyal troops or demoralized ones who might quit.

Shaped like a tobacco-leaf, 264 miles long at its longest and a maximum of 90 miles wide Formosa has a range of rugged mountains running north and south. They cover most of eastern Formosa.

Much of the heavily-forested interior is unexplored, and is populated only by savage aborigines.

All the Nationalists discount the possibility of the Reds landing on the east coast, with its towering sheer cliffs.

Everyone also overrules the possibility of the Reds infiltrating into the mountains and establishing guerrilla bases. They would not be able to sustain it on that wild land.

No foreign or Chinese source here will substantiate recent Hong Kong reports that small parties of Reds already have landed.

Governor Wu says this story started last August and is "absolute nonsense."

The best landing site for any invader is the northwest coast between the Tansui River and Shichiku (renamed Hsinchou by the Chinese).

Shichiku is on the west coast railway and highway near excellent beaches.

Landings also are possible almost the whole length of the west coast, but would be relatively difficult because of extensive sandbars.

Takao (renamed Kaohsiung) on the southwest coast was once a heavily fortified Japanese naval base. It was a protected site of American landings which were discussed but not implemented during the Japanese war.

Experts doubt strongly that the Communists will try to use the Pescadore Islands as stepping-stones. Thirty miles west of Formosa, they are too small for an operating base and would be wide open to air and naval bombardment.

The Nationalists are erecting pillboxes and other defenses all along Formosa's perimeter and maintain an around-the-clock watch. Searchlights at night grope for any intruding craft. No one can come to Formosa without close "screening."

Everyone must have a residence permit and is subject to jail if he cannot produce it.

Despite these precautions, there is no question but what some Communist agents are around. No one can say how many, but Governor Wu says:

"One good thing the Japanese did during their 50 years of rule here—they indoctrinated the people against communism."

The governor denies Formosan discontent on the scale portrayed abroad and stemming back to the disorders of 1946.

Wu says there are three Formosan groups who differ largely among themselves: those who worked for the Japanese; those who were underground anti-Japanese revolutionaries; and those who worked on the mainland for liberation of their island from the Japanese.

Each faction feels it deserves a bigger voice, he says, while "I am trying to unite them and hope I'll succeed."

He insists the Formosans are essentially loyal to the Nationalists.

However, critics of the government see the possibility of disaster and eventual uprising, in the economic picture. They say the Nationalists are duplicating here the mistakes which lost the mainland for them; that there are differences at the top; that the navy and air force are independently; that Chiang Kai-shek still issues orders direct to troop units; and that the military establishment is so large it eventually will wreck the economy and in turn will be wrecked by the economic collapse.

These critics say the military establishment has 600,000 mouths to feed, whereas a really effective force of 100,000 would be enough to hold the island without ruining it.

Governor Wu says he cannot disclose the size of the armed forces, but remarks that the Japanese had 200,000 troops here before their surrender. He contends that with American aid Formosa could support its forces and be developed into a base for re-invasion of the mainland.

Foreign students of the economy agree that the island is self-sufficient in food and is in reasonably sound condition. They note growing inflation, however. The American dollar now is fetching nine Formosan dollars on the black market, compared with 7 1/2 three weeks ago.

Estimates of the Nationalist gold reserve range from $150 million to $200 million. It is expected to be exhausted within six months unless outside aid comes.

The American Economic Co-operation Administration program is small. It supplies raw cotton, sells cloth and yarn to help down rising prices, distributes medicines and provides oil and fertilizer.

A joint commission on rural reconstruction—an ECA subsidiary—has a bigger program of 60 to 70 projects.

A foreigner who recently toured the island says rural areas are equal and poverty-stricken. But he agrees with the Nationalists that the people are not so dissatisfied as to take up their pitchforks and revolt.

"Even if they did, they wouldn't get any place, as every village is well garrisoned," he added.

The Nationalists intend to hang onto Formosa if they can.

Mrs. HST Saved From Faux Pas

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7. (U) — There'll be no joint tea drinking Jan. 18 by Mrs. Harry S. Truman and the University Women's Club.

In fact, to save embarrassment all around, there won't be any tea drinking by the club itself on that date, though the affair once had been fully arranged and the President's wife had accepted an invitation.

It's all tied up with the row, in Congress and elsewhere, over civil rights for Negroes.

The club once was the majority group in the Washington branch of the American Association of University Women. It quit the national organization in a long fight over the Washington branch's rejection of Mrs. Mary Church Terrell, Negro leader, for membership. It took the new name and a minority group, which had favored Mrs. Terrell's admission, took over as the capital's AAUW branch.

Unaware of the long controversy, Mrs. James Helm of the White House staff announced on Tuesday of this week that Mrs. Truman had accepted an invitation to the club's Jan. 18 tea.

That produced some comment about the President's civil rights program.

"We just didn't dream it would be embarrassing," Mrs. Leslie Whitten, the club's hospitality chairman, said today.

She told a reporter that after she saw the comment she telephoned Mrs. Helm "rather than have her call me." She said she offered to withdraw the invitation if it would be embarrassing to Mrs. Truman.

The next day's mail, Mrs. Whitten related, brought a "lovely note" from the White House accepting the offer to take back the bid.

Mrs. Helm would say only that "the invitation was graciously withdrawn by the club."

With the first lady not coming, the tea itself was cancelled.

Former Marine Found Guilty Of Manslaughter

NTW YORK, Jan. 7. — DeWitt Combs, 23-year-old ex-Marine, will not go to the electric chair for killing his sweetheart's father in a blazing duel in the dark.

An all-male jury spared him the extreme penalty last night by finding him guilty of manslaughter. He was charged with first degree murder.

Combs blamed his 58-year-old victim, Francis S. Fay, for smashing his romance with Rita Fay, 20, and pleaded innocent by reason of temporary insanity.

The high-strung, red-haired youth pleaded at the verdict. He will not hear his sentence until Jan. 20. It could be up to 20 years in prison, or less, as the judge sees fit.

Last April 16—carrying a loaded shotgun—Combs broke into Fay's basement and doused the house-lights by pulling the master switch. He said he hoped to find Rita upstairs and talk over a reconciliation.

But instead he was challenged by her father, and the two men shot it out in the dark—Fay's pistol against Combs' shotgun. Fay's bullets went wide and he dropped from the shotgun blast.

Then Combs forced his slender, brunette girl friend into her bedroom and talked to her for half an hour until police forced their way into the house with tear gas.

He said she patted his cheek and called him a "sweet guy" during the tense interlude. She testified her arm "may have been" around the young killer.

The couple met in high school in 1941, fell in love, and exchanged letters all through the war. About Christmas, 1948, Fay began to cool toward Combs, however, and denied him the house after he found the couple kissing.

Combs said he bought the shotgun for self-protection after seeing Fay finger a pistol on one occasion.

Nassau County Judge Henry J. A. Collins will hand down the sentence.

Relationship Problem Worries Assembly

KHARTOUM, (U) — Former Secretary of State George Marshall isn't related to Dr. A. H. Marshall, city treasurer of Coventry, England.

Civil Secretary Sir James Robertson had to explain that to the Sudan Legislative Assembly the other day. The assembly was studying a plan for government reform prepared by the British Marshall.

A rumor had started among the assemblymen that if they approved the Coventry city treasurer's plan, the Sudan would get U. S. Marshall aid.

Jury, Defendant Weep Together In Stroble Sex-Slaying Trial

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 7. (AP)—The prosecution is nearing the end of its case in Fred Stroble's murder trial, which has been so harrowing at times that jurors and the defendant have cried.

Stroble, a 35-year-old grandfather, is charged with the sex-slaying of 16-year-old Linda Joyce Glusko, his granddaughter's playmate.

Emotional tension reached a high point Friday when Stroble's statement to the district attorney was read to the jury of 10 women and two men.

Stroble trembled and wept and several jurors were in tears when questions and answers regarding the killing were read. The prosecution claims that he strangled and hacked Linda to death with a necktie, axe, icepick and butcher knife when she resisted his advances last Nov. 14.

The questions asked of Stroble and his answers, read to the jury, included:

"Did you have any reason to kill her?"

"There was no reason. I don't know."

"Why did you want to commit suicide?"

"Well, there's nothing to live for, no more."

"Why isn't there anything to live for?"

"Anything that happened like that, a human being doesn't have no right to live."

At another point Stroble was quoted:

"When she started to holler, I got hold of her throat. . . then she got kind of quiet. . . it didn't take very long."

After the reading, a recording of Stroble's voice, giving the same statement, was played for the jury.

Upon hearing this his thin shoulders shook at times and he clenched and unclenched his hands.

Stroble has pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity. The prosecution expects to complete its case Monday when trial resumes.

Bennett Files Candidacy For Commissioner

W. W. (Pop) Bennett announced Saturday that he would be a candidate for the democratic nomination as county commissioner from precinct No. 2.

In making his announcement Bennett addressed all the voters in precinct No. 2, saying that "I am asking you to elect me your next commissioner. After 19 years in Big Spring and feeling competent to represent you in this capacity, I am offering myself as a candidate for the commissionership."

"I have been encouraged by so many good people to run, I feel it is my duty. I hope to be able to see all voters in the precinct and ask their consideration. But if I should be unable to do so, let me take this occasion to appeal for your vote and influence. I hope that you will feel that I can be of service to you as your commissioner."

Bennett is a long-time resident of Big Spring and has been active in many affairs.

AT SHROYER MOTOR CO.

1950 Oldsmobile Models On Display

Oldsmobile is introducing its new 1950 line of Sixes and Eights in dealer showrooms throughout America, and the new models may be seen in Big Spring beginning today at the Shroyer Motor company.

In the completely new "Futuramic Fleet" for '50' are nineteen models in three new series—the 6-cylinder "78" series and the new lower-priced 8-cylinder "88" and "98" Series entirely new in style and features. Highlights of the presentation are increased selectivity of advance design body types and colors, many notable mechanical improvements, and the provision for standard transmission cars at lower prices in all three series to supplement the optional Hydra-Matic Drive models.

Chief new items of the 1950 series center around a new low price for Series "88" models, a completely restyled Series "98"; the introduction of Oldsmobile's New Whirlaway Hydra-Matic Drive; the offering of Coupe steel top convertibles in three distinct price ranges; the continued use of the sensational "Rocket" Engine with no fundamental changes, but with some minor refinements promoting additional economy; and the widening of the market by making Oldsmobile's famous automatic transmission optional equipment at extra cost on new Series "88" and "98" models.

A new interpretation of Oldsmobile's traditional clean-line Futuramic styling has been given to each of the three new 1950 series, making it easy to distinguish between them. However, a uniform family resemblance is present in the massive front-end grouping of horizontal and gently curved lines. The new, broader grille slopes harmoniously into the lower fender corners and the wrap-around bumper and grille guards. Immediately above the grille and across the width of the hood is the name "Oldsmobile" in chrome capital letters of graceful design. This

G.M. division's well known world emblem is a centerpiece of beauty on the crown of the hood and below a modernistic rocket ornament.

Completing the front-end ensemble are the refreshing style elements created by a grouping of sealed-beam headlights, parking lights and direction signals, and ventilator grilles for the heating and ventilating system. Framed in the extreme outside of the fenders, test elements repeat the basic Futuramic theme of a clean combination of horizontal and curved lines.

Greater dividends in smooth power flow, maneuverability, and traffic dominance are promised by Oldsmobile engineers as a result of a brand new, improved "power package" in the 1950 Series "88" and "98" models. Teaming up with the 135-horsepower of the sensational 8-cylinder high-compression "Rocket" Engine is the New Whirlaway Hydra-Matic Drive, which was released for mass production after many months of laboratory and field tests. The New Whirlaway Hydra-Matic Drive gives greater smoothness and quietness on hills and in traffic. Engineers declare that the difference is instantly made known by the car's surging response to the traffic signal and its sure-footed mastery of today's crowded traffic networks.

Completion ratio of the highly successful "Rocket" Engine remains at 7.25 to 1, it was announced.

INGRID'S ATTORNEY SEEKS TO MAKE PATH OF TRUE LOVE BIT SMOOTHER

NEW YORK, Jan. 7. (AP)—A day-to-day conference is in progress here to try to smooth out legal aspects of Ingrid Bergman's problems-of-the-heart.

Her attorney, Gregson Bautzer, is meeting with her husband's attorney, Laurence E. Brinn.

The movie actress, now in Italy, has said she wants a divorce from her husband, Dr. Peter Lindstrom, so that she can marry Italian Film Director Roberto Rossellini.

The conference here was aimed at some kind of settlement.

John Vernon, a friend of Dr. Lindstrom and a former business representative of the actress, said Friday that "a sincere effort is being made by all parties concerned to settle the Lindstrom marital problems."

He said a divorce is probable.

Lindstrom, a Swedish brain surgeon, previously has been opposed to such action. He and the actress have a 12-year-old daughter, Pia. Vernon said that Bautzer came here from Hollywood for the conference with Brinn. The talks probably will last several days, he said, and no further announcement will be made until they end.

Local Building Permits For 1950 Total $86,900

Building permits issued for the first four days of 1950 amounted to $86,900, F. W. Bettle, city building inspector, said Saturday. Fourteen permits were granted.

Largest permit was for construction of a $49,000 sales and service building by McEwen Motor company. The construction of a $8,000 residence, and $8,000 duplex, and two $7,000 residences was also authorized. Permits were issued for the construction of business buildings valued at $1,900 and $5,500. Lesser permits were granted for remodeling and reroofing projects.

Two Martin County Polio Cases Reported

Two polio cases, both from Martin county, were included in the Saturday report of communicable diseases released by the Big Spring-Howard County Health unit.

Victims of the disease were Mrs. Tom O'Brian, Stanton, and Buster Haggard, Lenora. Both are in local hospitals.

Eighteen cases of diarrhea, 12 of pneumonia, three of chicken pox, and one of tuberculosis were also listed in the report.

Local TEC Makes 23 Job Placements

A total of 23 job placements were made by the Texas Employment Commission officer here during the past week. Leon M. Kinney, director, said Saturday.

The TEC made 23 referrals and received 54 new work applications. Twenty-seven new job orders were received. A total of 688 visits were made to the office.

The employment agency now has openings for typists, stenographer, bookkeepers, and accountants.

Health Films Will Be Shown City Students

All 8th grade pupils and high school girls are scheduled to view two health films as a part of physical education training in the Big Spring schools Monday and Tuesday.

Pictures will deal with tuberculosis. They will be shown by Louise Horton, public school nurse, and Mrs. Gerald Harris, nurse for the local health unit. The physical education classes have already seen eight films prepared and made available by the State Health department.

Two School Board Meetings Called For Thursday Here

Boards of two educational units will hold postponed meetings Thursday evening.

Both Big Spring Independent and Howard County Junior College district officials passed meetings last week due to conflicts in schedules.

The HCJC board is due to concern itself primarily with a review of building plans. While plans and specifications for the administration building are well along, the board will consider possibility of some alterations in other units of the half-million plant program. Last year voters provided $350,000 in bonds for the expansion, and the college district had on hand $150,000 to go with this. The new plant will be located on Birdwell Lane at Martha.

Progress of a classroom enlargement program, together with regular problems will be on the agenda for the independent school district board.

Dunagan Returns To Join Staff Of Wasson's Store

New member of the sales staff at Elmo Wasson's men's store is Cliff Dunagan.

Dunagan has returned to his native town to assume the position here. He was reared in Big Spring and graduated from high school here.

He was in the military service, and in addition has had a number of years experience in merchandising, working in the Rio Grande Valley and in Waco. He comes here from Waco, where he had been assistant manager of the Montgomery Ward store.

Hearing On Slusser Appeal Set Jan. 18

The state court of criminal appeals has set Jan. 18 as the date for hearing on an appeal filed in behalf of Phillip C. Slusser, who was found guilty of sodomy in 70th district court here last spring.

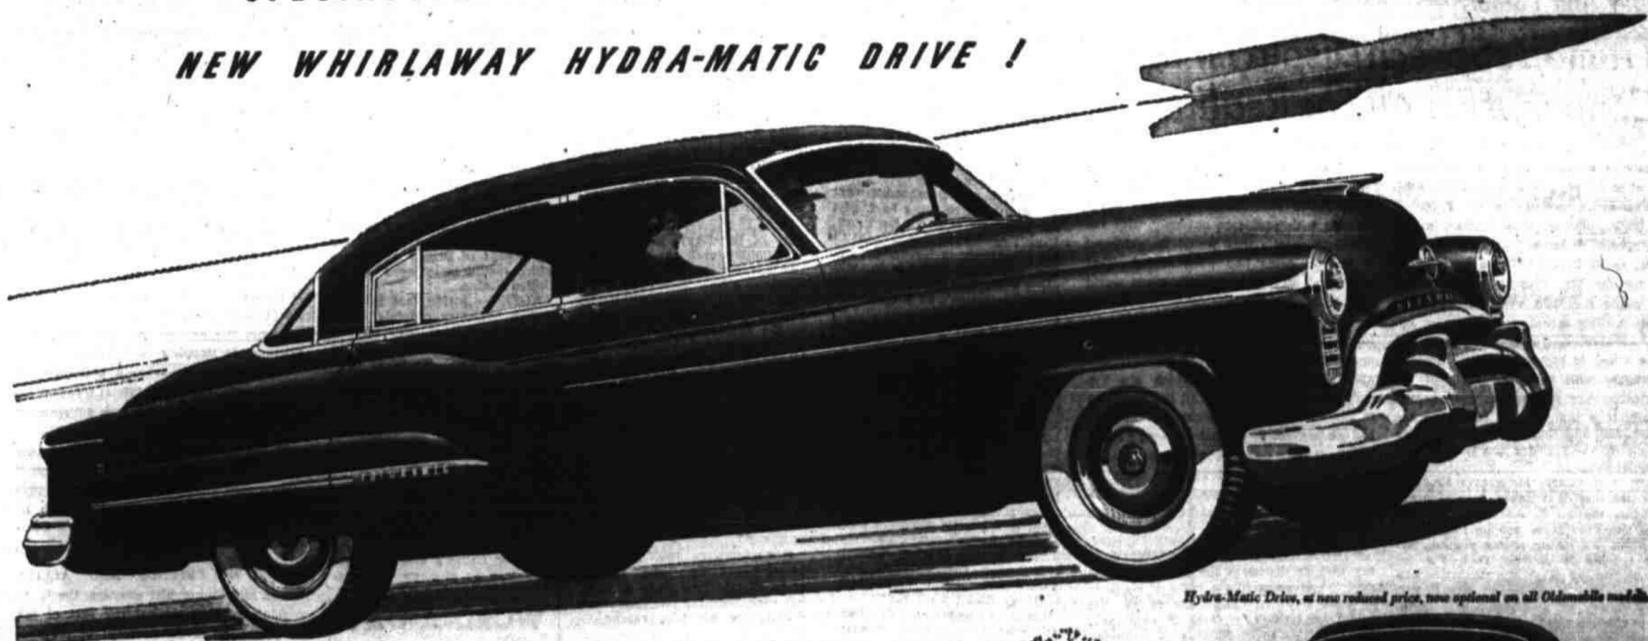

A previous appeal was dismissed in December, but proceedings have since been reinstated. Slusser drew a sentence of 15 years in prison, following his trial here last April 28.

Dixie Museum Lets Down Bars For 'Big Four'

RICHMOND, Va., Jan. 7 (U)—This might rock the cradle of the Confederacy—a little bit, at least. The Virginia Museum of Fine Arts is going to display a famous portrait of the "big four" of the Union forces.

You don't find many pictures of President Lincoln, Gen. Grant and Gen. Sherman down South. Statues either, for that matter. But the state museum figures if any taboo exists it's time to chuck it.

So the portrait that goes on display Jan. 24 not only shows President Lincoln and Gens. Grant and Sherman but Adm. David Porter of the Union Navy.

The picture has been lent by the White House, where it usually hangs in the state dining room. It was done in 1872 by George Healy, one of the nation's best known portrait painters of the nineteenth century. It shows the four as they sat in the lounge of the Steamer "River Queen" at City Point, near Hopewell, Va., in March, 1865, planning the final push that would lead to Appomattox a month later.

The picture is titled "The Peacemakers."

Freeman To Be Candidate For Tax Collector

B. E. (Bernie) Freeman issued his announcement Saturday that he would be a candidate in the democratic primaries for tax-collector assessor.

"In announcing my candidacy for re-election to the office of tax-collector of Howard county, I feel that the experience gained in having served one year of my first term in this capacity will help further to render efficient and courteous service to the people."

Freeman expressed gratitude for consideration of the voters in conferring the honor of office upon him. Within limitations of time, he said he hoped to contact as many as possible in person before the primaries.

Solon's Home Town Clothing Yugoslavs

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (U)—The people of the little Yugoslav town of Perlez won't have to be ashamed of their clothes any longer. They were so ill-clad when Rep. Harvey (R-Ind.) visited them last fall that they begged him not to take their pictures.

Harvey reported today that the citizens of his home town, New Castle, Ind., were so stirred by the story that they have contributed 700 pounds of good clothing for the ragged Yugoslavs.

Official Buried

MARLIN, Jan. 7 (U)—Last rites were held today for City Secretary David Russell Maxwell, 72, who died Friday.

Stallings Seeks Nomination As Commissioner

Arthur J. Stallings authorized Saturday the announcement of his candidacy for the Democratic nomination as county commissioner from precinct No. 3.

He has been a resident of Howard county for 42 years. In announcing, he said that he felt that not only the length of his residence in the county and precinct but his connections with various other undertakings in all parts of the county contributed to a varied and experienced background.

Stallings said that he would see as many of the voters as possible, but for those he might be unable to see and who do not know him, he asked that they simply inquire of those who do know him.

Stolen Automobile Reported In City

Police were alerted about 7:30 p.m. Friday when the driver of a new Chevrolet left the Snappy Service station on E. 2nd street without paying for $3.11 worth of merchandise.

Local authorities were later informed that the vehicle had been stolen in Merkel Friday afternoon. It had not been recovered yesterday, though police in all West Texas cities were watching for the car.

Auto Looted Here

B. K. Dillard, of Dallas and Snyder, reported to police about 2 p.m. Saturday that a quantity of clothing had been stolen from his car parked here. Dillard had left the car near the Club cafe. Thieves entered the machine by breaking a glass window vent.

Greatest Mock War Operation Set For March

NORFOLK, Va., Jan. 7 (U)—The troops were on the move Friday for Operation Fortex—history's greatest mock amphibious assault—which the Army, Navy and Air Force will stage in the Caribbean early in March.

The Army's first detachment of 3,500 soldiers set sail Thursday from Bartleson, S. C., en route to Little Creek, where rugged training for the assault gets underway Monday. Ultimately the Army will send a total of 15,000 men for training to the nearby amphibious base. In all, 80,000 soldiers, sailors, Marines and airmen will be utilized when the assault comes to a grand climax two months hence with a landing on the island of Vieques, off Puerto Rico. All will be trained at Little Creek.

Two rehearsal landings will be held before the fleet sets out for the Caribbean. The first will be on the Little Creek beaches. The second, an assault landing, will be on the beaches of Camp Pendleton, near here.

"Fortex" will be under the overall command of Adm. W. H. P. Blundy.

'Volleyball Debates' Helping People Out Of Their Troubles

By HERRILL SWEDLUND
AP Staff
INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 7.—What's wrong with all of us?

You can get plenty of answers to that from any number of psychiatrists like Dr. Jess V. Cohn, assistant superintendent of Indiana's Central State Hospital for the insane.

But Dr. Cohn has decided it's better to let people talk their own way out of their problems. The result is his pioneering work in domestic trouble-shooting forums. "Lectures are terrible," he said. "People may listen, may even solicit your help. But when they get up to leave, they think of all their objections to what you've said."

Dr. Cohn calls himself the "moderator and guide" in his psychological volleyball matches. He lost out an idea and the discussion group bats it around until everyone is agreed they've hit the right conclusion.

"There's the matter of spoiled brats," he suggested to a discussion group in an Indianapolis church. "How do parents let them get that way?"

"That's easy," someone said. "The parents were spoiled brats themselves."

"Oh, No," another protested. "That's not the way of it at all. A parent, spoiled when he was a child, will be selfish, unfeeling and intolerant toward his own children. It is an indulgent parent that produces a spoiled brat."

Of course, there's nothing new about such discussions. What makes Dr. Cohn's forums different is his procedure and the long-range goals he has set up.

"When the talk begins heading for some conclusion that a psychiatrist knows is wrong, Dr. Cohn steps in. Perhaps everyone has let his own emotions affect his reasoning, and the group backtracks to start over again on an objective basis.

Mostly, though, he finds groups arrive at "reasonably accurate conclusions." And the participants have been surprisingly frank, even on sex and intimate human relations.

Some of the sessions have gone on for 2½ hours, taking up any number of social problems.

"What I like about it is that the group discussions don't end with the formal end of the program," Dr. Cohn reported. "Parlor discussions pick it up from there and go on."

To start with, Dr. Cohn has concentrated on a discussion group of young people about to marry or recently married. Through them, he hopes for "better children out of improved adults."

Dr. Cohn himself, at 42, has been married only two years and has a year-old child.

The first series of four forums in the Indianapolis Hebrew congregation got such enthusiastic response that Dr. Cohn started arrangements for a 13-week broadcast series of the same sort over an Indianapolis radio station. He hopes to enlist the help of private psychiatrists and family doctors to spread the program to other age groups.

"If you ask any man in the street 'why did you marry?' you'll get any one of a hundred answers, none of which seems to make sense."

Dr. Cohn thinks his "group psychoanalysis" offers a positive substitute for popular quiz tests to grade a good, fair or poor husband or wife.

When you finish them, you haven't learned anything," Dr. Cohn said.

Dr. Cohn is no upstart in psychiatry. Before coming to the state hospital here a year ago, he worked in Cincinnati General Hospital, Bellevue Hospital in New York and was a private psychiatrist more than ten years in Miami Beach and Hollywood, Fla.

He has revamped the hospital's psychiatric department here, adding training for resident psychiatrists, laboratory work for a Butler University class in clinical psychology and a follow-up clinic for convalescent patients.

Schools Told G-A Working Well, But Needs Some Smoothing Out

By BO BYERS
AP Staff
AUSTIN, Jan. 7.—The Gilmer-Aikin program of school re-organization is working well, but many of its phases need smoothing out, Texas school men and women were told Thursday.

Seven men—six of them helping to run the Gilmer-Aikin program at the state level—told 1,500 school superintendents, principals, supervisors and teachers how the new system has operated the first six months of its existence. They also looked briefly at its future.

The survey was presented at the 17th annual conference of school administrators, L. P. Sturgeon, director of the Minimum Foundation Program of Education, said audits of school claims for state aid thus far have revealed discrepancies in "eight or 10 cases" which were "large enough to indicate there have been intentional errors."

Warning against such practices, Sturgeon said: "By gaining a victory you don't deserve, you will destroy the system we have worked so hard to get."

Pointing to $5 million increase in the annual cost of education under the G-A system, he prophesied: "If we don't show improvement visible to the public eye in this school year of 1949-50 we can not hope to maintain the level which we have reached."

Edna School Supt. Bazoom Hayes, who served until Dec. 1 to help impliment the minimum foundation program, found merit in the rapid consolidation of school districts under the G-A laws. He said it has meant greater economy of operation and has put many children in better schools.

He also said the minimum program, or educational floor, guaranteed by the state has given many schools these things which they did not have in the past: A school doctor, a school nurse, a librarian, special services teachers, supervisors, counselors.

A need for better informed local school board members was expressed by Dr. A. L. Chapman, executive director of the Texas Assn. of School Boards.

"If we can establish a climate for better education through well-informed school boards, I think it will be an important step in education," he said.

He reported 71 per cent of approximately 130 Texas school superintendents questioned about the attitude toward school boards felt there was a need for better informed school boards.

L. H. Griffin, state school transportation officer, said school reports indicate that 3,988 buses costing $17,492,000 will carry 330,112 eligible students to and from school this year at an operational cost of $12,273,962. The state will reimburse school districts for $10,843,764 of the total, he said.

Air Force Will Make Refueling Tests At Pole

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7. (U) — The Air Force is going to stage bomber refueling tests in the sky above the North Polar ice cap, within wartime striking range of Europe and Asia.

It announced last night that three refueling squadrons will go to Goose Bay, Labrador, to spend a week each on a "training mission designed to increase the efficiency of air-to-air refueling."

The squadrons will leave their bases at 10-day intervals, from Jan. 9 to Feb. 5.

In Fort Worth, Maj. Gen. Roger M. Roney, commander of the 8th Air Force, said the squadrons will be from the 509th Bombardment Wing at Walker Air Force Base, Roswell, N. M. The group is known as the atomic bomb group because it took part in the Bikini tests.

Roney said the refueling technique will be the same as that employed by the B-30 Lucky Lady on its non-stop global flight last year.

The Labrador tests will mark the first time such refueling has been done on a squadron basis, he said. The official announcement did not specify the type of planes participating in the operation, but only wartime-built B-29s have been equipped as tankers. The B-50s used in tanker squadrons are equipped to receive the nozzle end of a retractable "boom" through which fuel is fed from the tankers.

Tax On German Beer Is Brewing A Revolt

By DON DOANE
AP STAFF

MUNICH, Germany, Jan. 7. — There's a tax revolt brewing in Bavaria against the high tax on beer.

Here in this big south German state they brew more beer and drink more beer than any place else in the world.

Bavarians grumble that they can't afford enough beer to keep them healthy. And brewers can't sell enough to keep busy.

Why, last year, according to official statistics, the beer consumption in Bavaria was only 68 quarts per person.

You think that's high? In 1912 the average Bavarian drank 311 quarts a year — nearly a quart a day. As late as 1939 he drank 212 quarts.

A decline like that is both a social and a economic problem in this state which depends so heavily on beer for its calories and its income.

The breweries, just beginning to get on their feet again after the war, now are working at far less than capacity. Thousands of workers are losing employment.

Munich's famous Hofbrauhaus, and most of the quaint old taverns where Bavarians in leather pants and feathered hats used to hoist big stone mugs are nearly empty. Everybody is grumbling.

Brewers and consumers alike put most of the blame on the state government, which classed beer as a luxury, and slapped a stiff tax on it, like the taxes on coffee and cigars. The beer tax is 27 pfennigs a liter. That's about seven cents a quart.

The typical Bavarian insists beer is no luxury, but a necessity. He claims he gets a large share of his food calories from those foaming steins.

Dr. Josef Baumgartner, former minister of economics, voiced this argument on the floor of the state parliament in arguing for a beer tax cut.

"When the beer tax question is handled with the understanding that beer in Bavaria is no luxury, but rather a valuable food, then it will be better for the Bavarian breweries and for the Bavarian state as well," he said.

Brewing is big business here. Before the war, Germany exported more than $3 million worth of beer annually, most of it from Bavaria.

War wrecked that export trade. Now brewers complain the high tax is making their product too expensive for the foreign market.

There were no beer exports for a long time after the war. In fact, those starvation days following the surrender, Germans were forbidden to make the usual strong brew because the grain was needed for food.

The result was a weak, watery imitation. But even that poor substitute sold freely in those days of inflated currency when everybody had money and nothing to spend it on. In 1946 and 1947 Bavarian breweries were making 800 million quarts of beer a year.

When the ban was lifted last year, the brewers started making real beer again. Bavaria sold $16,000 worth of beer abroad last year, and $349,000 worth in the first ten months of this year.

But with the strong beer came the high tax — and domestic consumption has dropped even more than exports have grown. Now Bavaria is producing less than six million quarts a year — only three fourths of its 1939 rate.

Figures show why a Bavarian howls about the price of beer. A quart costs him one mark, which is 24 cents. That's not so high in America, but it's high here where wages are low. A quart of beer costs an hour's work.

Munich brewers, however, are confident that despite everything they can regain much of their old business.

"People all over the world," said one white-haired old brewmaster, "still remember Bavarian beer."

BLS Admits Methods Of Figuring Number Of Employed Are Unsure

NEW YORK, Jan. 7. —The man out of work knows it well enough. But to find how many there are in the country like him, and how many have regular jobs, you have to rely on three government guesses, subject to error.

The statisticians admit that last summer they were almost one million persons too high on actual employment totals.

The latest guesses just released are: 878,000 fewer persons had regular jobs in December than a year ago; the unemployed total increased by 80,000 from November to total 3,480,000 in December; jobless benefits hit an all-time high in 1940 of $1.7 billion. And it might be worse if all those out of work were actually counted.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics has confessed its methods of totaling up the employed have been erroneous, making its June figure almost one million too high, its 1948 guess too optimistic by about the same figure, and its 1947 total too high by more than a half million. The BLS is changing its methods.

How does the government arrive at these estimates—figures used by businessmen to judge future purchasing power and the health of business in general?

The BLS checks the monthly payroll rolls of 110,000 firms in 155 industries. It gets reports from various state labor agencies which gather job information from their areas. Its total of employment doesn't include the self-employed, domestic servants, family or farm workers.

Another, and quicker, check of the jobless is given in the weekly report on the Federal Security Agency's Bureau of Employment Security. It reports on the number of applicants for unemployment compensation. This, too, is not an inclusive figure, because only 33 or 34 million of the 59 million workers in the country are entitled to claim these benefits.

The third report is the Census Bureau's monthly report on the labor force. This uses a sampling technique something like the one used by the political pollsters in the last presidential election.

Each month, during the week with the 8th in it, the bureau sends some 500 persons around to 25,000 homes.

Germany Debates Unification

BERLIN, Jan. 7. (U)—The propaganda war between East and West German politicians last night centered on the issue of unifying Germany.

West German socialist leaders, winding up a two-day general strategy conference, warned against unification under Russian-inspired terms. The party's leaders said there was a tendency among some circles to compromise with Communist-led eastern zone demands for German unity purely for the sake of economic gains "of questionable common value."

In a counterblast, a member of East Germany's socialist unity (Communist) party politburo, Franz Dahlen, called West Germany's socialist leader Dr. Karl Schumacher a tool of the "im-perialists." He demanded that mines and factories belonging to "old and new war criminals" in West Germany be seized and placed in the "hands of the workers." The Socialists declared their task was to "exhaust all opportunities for a planned offensive aiming at creating a unified, free Germany."

The Communist tasks, as outlined by Dahlen, were to silence immediately the "war mongers and enemies of the Soviet Union" by new methods of agitation. He said the occupation in the West had become a threat to European security.

The Soviet-licensed news agency ADN said the Communist Party had drafted a 10-point program for Berlin, demanding a single currency for the city (instead of the east and west mark of unequal value being used) and "re-establishment of democracy in the western sectors."

The Socialist leaders earlier had drafted a six-point program for combating Communist influence in Berlin.

District Court Will Resume At Stanton Monday

STANTON, Jan. 7.—The January session of 118th district court will be resumed here Monday, with civil cases set down for the first part of the week.

Trial of Andrew Jackson, 30-year-old Negro charged with murder, has been set for Thursday. Jackson was indicted for the shotgun slaying of his father-in-law, Rubin Moore, which occurred last Oct. 31.

A petit jury panel will report Monday and will be available as needed for civil cases through Wednesday.

Mrs. FDR Wants To Write Novel

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7. (U)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, who has just completed a two volume autobiography, has a secret ambition—"to write a novel."

She let that out in a talk before the Washington Post's Annual Book and Author Luncheon Friday.

"I always thought it would be great fun to write a novel," she said, "because then you could write about fictitious people—but tell the truth about a lot of real people."

$25 Fine Assessed In Breaking Of Local Drug Window

A soft drink bottle, hurled from a moving car, crashed through the show window of the Walgreen Agency drug store at 3rd and Main streets Friday night.

Police said the window-breaking followed an incident which ended when three persons were ejected from the business place. Jesse L. Clark was fined $25 in Corporation court Saturday morning after entering a plea of guilty to charges of disturbance which grew out of the incident.

Another man was found not guilty to the same charge and a youth was transferred to the custody of Juvenile Officer Jess Slaughter. The altercation occurred about 7:30 p.m. Friday.

Smithsonian Gets Tiger From Truman

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7. (U)—Along with two gold fish-hooks and a nose ring from Colombia, the Smithsonian Institution now owns a stuffed tiger which it got from President Truman.

They were among the items trotted out by museum officials in response to a reporter's "what's news?" query.

The institution may have a white elephant in the stuffed tiger. "It is not prepared for exhibition," an official said, "and will not be displayed to the public."

The President got the beast from the Netherlands Embassy, which presented it on behalf of a major in the Royal Netherlands Indonesian Army.

The Smithsonian reported that since last summer it also has acquired such things as a Chinese embroidered silk robe, of an early Chinese dynasty; a very ancient ceremonial gong from southeastern Asia; several meteorite specimens from Kearney, Neb.; a wedding dress of the 1880 period and two evening dresses of the late nineteenth century.

Food at Cost Price

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 7. (U)—The government import-export agency said today it is selling 40 tons of food a day to Mexico City residents at cost price. The government owned company, the Mexican Import Export Company, sells rice, beans, sugar and coffee at legal prices in parks and markets in an effort to hold down the general level of retail prices.

Fire Damages School

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 7. (U)—Fire of undetermined origin today caused an estimated $20,000 damage to the Lorenzo De Zavala elementary school, a west side unit in San Antonio.

stop light from operating on the side where the turn signal is flashing; the body has been better sealed against dust and moisture; and the spare tire can now be removed without the use of any tools.

Extension Asked For Land Patents

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7. (U)—Legislation was introduced Friday extending another two years the time in which applications may be filed for patents to land along the western Oklahoma-Texas line.

The plan was sponsored by Rep. George Howard Wilson (D-Okla.). Congress passed a law in 1946 correcting a strip of boundary line along the western Oklahoma line. Property owners were given until November, 1948 to file applications for patents to the land.

Wilson said some western Oklahoma landowners informed him recently they had been unaware of the law until it was too late to file and asked an extension. His bill would extend this time until November, 1951.

Backward Riding Protects Against Crash Injuries

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7. (U)—Airplane passengers of the future may ride backward for protection against crash injuries.

The Air Force disclosed that volunteers "duplicating" planes crashes in a rocket-propelled sled have withstood tremendous forces by facing to the rear.

It said a number of these experimental "crashes" have been made at Edwards Air Force Base, Muroc, Calif. The tests have provided heretofore unobtainable information on just how much of the terrific decelerative force encountered in a crash the human body can safely withstand.

Apparently, with proper support, it can withstand plenty. The contraption used in the experiments was developed for the Air Force by Northrop Aircraft, Inc.

Dubbed a "human decelerator," it is a sled which is guided by railway tracks and propelled by solid fuel rockets into a series of mechanical brakes.

The brakes stop the sled with a force equivalent to that experienced in actual crash landings.

Six volunteer airmen, an officer and five enlisted men, have undergone decelerative forces up to 35 times the force of gravity while facing in both forward and backward positions on the sled.

That force is achieved by slowing the carriage and rider from a speed of 150 miles an hour to 75 miles in one-fifth of a second. The result is the same as if an automobile driver traveling at 75 miles an hour should stop his car within 9 feet.

The volunteers withstood a force of 35 G's with little difficulty. Facing forward, they had to be strapped in with a special harness.

The volunteer team is headed by Maj. John P. Stapp, an Air Force flight surgeon, who is supervising the aeromedical studies. He is a Texan.

Serving on the team with him is Master Sgt. Lawrence Lambert, Beckley, W. Va., who won the Cheney Award in 1946 for his testing of pilot-ejection equipment in an air force "Black Widow" night fighter. Other members in the testing group are Master Sgt. James F. Ferguson, 3rd, Desdemona, Tex.; Technical Sgt. William A. Rhea, Derby, Va.; Staff Sgt. Richard H. Allgire, Taloga, Okla.; and Corp. Raymond L. Leach, Point Pleasant, W. Va.

New-Style TV Show Is In Experimental Stage

By BETTY PROSSER
Associated Press Staff
CHICAGO, Jan. 7. — If you see a guy taking a nap on your television screen, it's probably Dave Garroway.

The "very low-pressure" Garroway is experimenting with a new-style TV show, based on his belief that entertainment slanted toward a few persons in a living room must be different from that aimed at thousands in a movie house radio studio.

The big, bespectacled radio and television star thinks insult-comedy and slapstick soon "will be as obsolete as a Mack Sennet custard pie."

"Two thousand people gathered together will laugh uproariously at a joke which couldn't drag a chuckle from an individual," he says. Dave's weekly TV network show, for this reason, has studio audiences.

Dave isn't a comedian, exactly. His "Garroway At Large" telecast at 10 p. m. (EST) Sundays by NBC, is a melange of quiet anecdotes by Dave, songs and dances by the cast, and trick props which evoke chuckles but no belly laughs.

"I don't try to be funny," Garroway says, "just interesting."

Dave has been interesting ever since he started Chicago with a slightly dicey show back in 1946. His use of words was unique—and either fascinating or nauseating, according to his listeners' temperaments. But it got him listened to, even from 12 midnight to 1:30 a. m., when his "11:00 Club" was broadcast.

Dave talked chummily to his audiences, many of whom acquired glassy stares after being addressed as "hi, old fabulous," or "hay, tiger."

His listeners have been "my ancient," "old scrupulous," "my is-some," "old delicate," "old doc," "old pungent," "old translucent," "old incandescent," "old fantastic," "old gossamer," "my tawny," "my benevolent," "old volentia," "my sliken," and "old frugal," plus others too esoteric—another favorite Garroway word—to mention.

Dave's audience heard records described, then played, and then partly replayed after Dave pointed out catches he favored.

Of one vocalist, for instance, he said, "listen how she holds that note—and then she forces her hands around it and sort of shakes it." Sure enough, she did it if the listeners were sympathetic. The others wanted to re-enact Garroway's description with Dave as stand-in for the note.

Another singer's voice was "rich and moist and has little golden filament—the girl really puts velvet between your vertebrae, doesn't she?"

Between records, Dave dished out advice, comment and purple prose. This sort of stuff filled the air waves five nights a week, and mushroomed. Housewives who couldn't stay up until "11:00 p. m." got a chance to hear the garrulous one's lush verbiage on a five-day-a-week afternoon broadcast. Then came a network radio show, now broadcast on Mondays at 10:30 p. m. (EST) over NBC. These shows, plus three others, left Garroway scarcely time to catch his breath by now expensive breath.

He added a five-day-a-week, 15-minute radio variety show, Monday through Friday, from 11:15 to 1:30 a. m. (EST) via NBC; his Sunday night-network video show; and a five-night a week local TV show, called "Reserved For Garroway."

(Garroway dropped this at the end of December because he found his schedule too tiring.)

Garroway has toned down much of the precocity which first gained him attention. On television, he's affable and relaxed, and only oc-asionally cute.

He still signs off with the benevolent statement, "peace," which has become a Garroway trademark. Even his Christmas cards had the single word in lower case letters in the middle of a plain white sheet. No name.

Garroway got into radio by accident. After graduation from Washington University in St. Louis in 1935, he got a job selling piston rings. In three months he didn't sell one. So he entered Harvard Business School.

By accident, he met a friend who mentioned that NBC had openings for page boys in New York. Dave applied for a job at Radio City. He became a guide, then a guide trainer, and took the network's announcer's course in his spare time.

In his first audition, he finished 23rd in a class of 24. But a few days later, he was hired by station KDKA in Pittsburgh. He remained there until 1940, when he joined WMAQ in Chicago. In 1942, he joined the Navy as an ensign and saw service aboard a mine sweeper and in Honolulu. He was discharged a lieutenant, and returned to WMAQ in 1945.

The 26-year-old, six-foot, two-inch Garroway lives alone on Chicago's near North Side. His one venture into matrimony, to Adele Garroway of St. Louis, ended in divorce. He has a six-year-old daughter, Paris.

His pet hobby is automobiles, and he owns five of them—a Jaguar, Model T, Lincoln Continental, Swallow, and Rolls-Royce. The Jaguar, which once won the grand prize for the most beautiful sports car in America, is upholstered in natural alligator. The Lincoln Continental, which Dave has stripped down and rebuilt, is done in Harris tweed. A good mechanic, Garroway does all the work on his vehicles, including the upholstery.

His great ambition is to save enough money by 1955 and live in Hawaii. With an income of between $2,500 and $4,000 a week, and an option on a piece of Hawaiian land, he ought to make it.

New Hearing Device Has No Receiver Button In Ear

They now enjoy songs, sermons, friendly companionship and business success with no self-conscious feeling that people are looking at a button hanging on their ear. Tiny Phantomoid fits so deep within the ear that it is hardly seen. Sound is relayed to it by an inconspicuous tube from a button concealed in the clothing. Diesel Engineer Dies In Wreck

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 7. (AP) — The national railways said today the Nuevo Laredo-Mexico City passenger train struck the caboose of freight train Thursday near San Luis Potosi, killing the passenger engineer.

The railway said no passenger was reported hurt. The train is the Asteo Eagle, which usually carries many tourists from the United States. The Missouri Pacific operates the train to the border at Laredo.

The Eagle engineer died as he was taken from the cab of the diesel locomotive. Twisted iron had imprisoned him three hours. The engineer was injured but may survive. The wreck happened just outside Begonia, about a third of the distance from the border to Mexico City.

37 Mental Cases Lose Lives In Hospital Blaze

31 Other Persons Burned Or Injured

DAVENPORT, Ia., Jan. 7. (AP)—A three o'clock in the morning fire that roared through the psychiatric ward of one of Iowa's major hospitals snuffed out the lives of 37 women.

Coroner C. H. Wildman said 37 bodies had been recovered, and a "piece of a body." He said the toll was being held at 37 until it was determined if the fragment was another body or part of one previously recovered.

The work of probing the debris was halted.

Screams of women patients in St. Elizabeth's Mental Ward Building of the 300-bed Mercy Hospital sounded the alarm as they awakened to find themselves trapped in "a flaming hell."

Within two hours only the charred shell of the building remained. Fire Chief Lester Schick said "I doubt if we ever find out what caused the fire." He said it started in a room on the east side of the building and spread into the hall, up a dumb waiter shaft, and then spread-eagled over the top of the building.

Barred windows prevented firemen from reaching many of the victims and they perished in their rooms.

State Fire Marshal Zack Cook said at Des Moines the hospital was last inspected about two years ago. He said that inasmuch as his department includes only five men, such inspections are made only on request of city or county authorities.

Sister Superior Mary Annunciate, head of the hospital, said 31 other patients were treated for burns or injuries. With 37 presumed dead, she said this accounted for the 55 women and three men known to have been in the destroyed ward.

All of the dead were women except Mrs. Anna Neal, 52, a nurse's aide, were patients. The three men escaped, two by leaping from windows.

The alarm was sounded at 3 o'clock when flames broke out on the second floor of the three-story brick structure.

St. Elizabeth's Ward is one of five hospital buildings operated by the Catholic order, Sisters of Mercy, on two blocks in the north-west sector of this Mississippi River city of 70,000.

Murray Francis, an orderly on duty in the nearby main hospital building, said he could hear screams of terror as he ran toward the burning ward.

Terror-stricken women could be seen huddling at the barred and wire-meshed windows of the psychiatric division.

While other hospital attaches called firemen, Francis broke open the ward building's front door. Two nurse's aides joined him in leading the first group of patients to safety.

The flames mushroomed through the wood interior of the 60-year-old building.

Josephine O'Toole, a nurse's aide awakened by the screams, was one of the first to escape. She ran down a smoke-filled stairway from her third floor room and escaped by a basement exit.

When firemen and police arrived of the interior was a swelling mass of fire.

"It was a flaming hell," said Fire Lt. Al Korando.

Firemen used axes and crowbars in their attempts to get through the steel latticework which held the patients imprisoned.

It was pitiful the way the patients waited for firemen to free them from the cell-like rooms," said Fire Chief Lester Schick.

Raids On Chinese Reds Stepped Up By Nationalists

HONG KONG, Jan. 7. (AP)—The Chinese Nationalists reported increasing air raids and guerrilla operations today against the Communists on the mainland.

The Nationalist defense ministry on Formosa announced its guerrillas had captured four county seat towns in the provinces Fukien, Kwangtung, and Hunan, all in South and Southeast China, recently overrun by the Reds.

It also said Gen. Hu Tsung-nan's remaining Nationalists were fighting the Reds southeast and southwest of Chengtu, southwest China city which was the last Nationalist capital on the mainland.

Earlier the Nationalists claimed they had used air power to smash a second Red attempt to invade Hainan Island, just off the south coast.

The Communist radio in Peiping said nothing of current operations but declared the southwest China campaign was "fundamentally concluded" Dec. 27.

The Nationalist government closed its Hong Kong office as a result of British recognition of the Red regime.

British shipping and air services between Hong Kong and the Nationalist capital on Formosa continued as usual, however.

Some Officials Of County Slated To Get Salary Raises

Salaries for county officials and deputies for 1950 are due to be set Monday, and indications are that some raises will be forthcoming.

The commissioners court is due to take up the salary question at its regular meeting Monday morning.

The stage already has been set for pay increase for certain county officials of about 10 percent, while some deputies might get raises up to 20 percent.

The court followed up the budget approval by publishing a notice of its intentions to adjust salaries.

Earlier, the court indicated that some office holders might get in excess of 10 percent, while some deputies might get raises up to 20 percent.

62,000-BALE MARK PASSED

County Farmers Look Ahead As Big Cotton Harvest Nears End

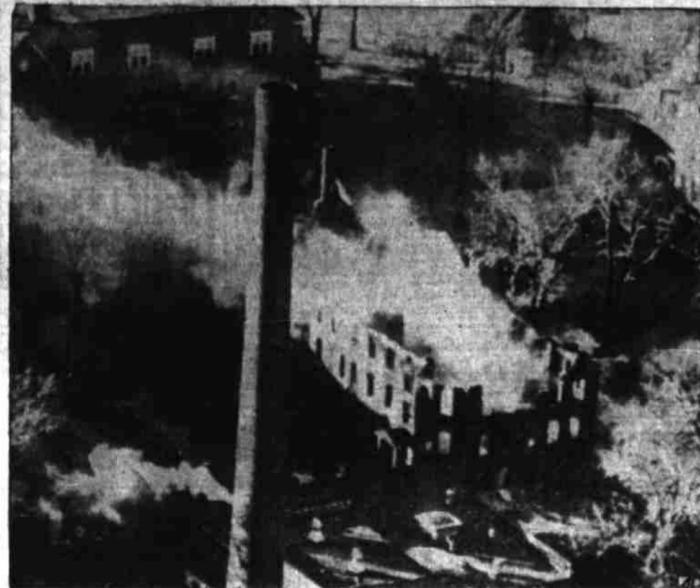

Howard county farmers are beginning to turn their thoughts toward launching new crops, as the cotton harvest for the 1949 season nears completion, except for scattered remnants.

Numerically, ginning figures in the county apparently had crept above the 62,000-bale mark by Saturday, and growers believe another period of four or five weeks will accommodate the scattered late harvest.

One gin manager said he hoped to shut down his gin about Feb. 15.

Although gins have been operating at a steady pace most of the time since Christmas, the volume has dwindled to a mere trickle, compared to that of a month ago.

The big volume is not forgotten

U. S. Plans New Attack On World Dollar Shortage

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7. (AP)—Secretary of State Acheson has given an urgent, top priority in the State Department to development of a new line of attack on the world dollar shortage, it was learned today.

The conviction is spreading among some of his top advisers that more billions for European and other foreign assistance will be required after the end of the Marshall Plan in 1952.

Officials say privately that the United States probably will have to consider continuing foreign assistance for an indefinite number of years. Eventually this idea may take the form of an administration proposal to Congress.

Acheson's personal preference reportedly would be to assure other nations of the dollars they need to buy American goods by further opening up American markets for their products. It is likely that he will throw his main emphasis on a tariff cutting, import expanding policy.

But his associates, and presumably Acheson himself, regard that as a slow process.

What the State Department expects is this: Unless the United States and allied nations begin preparing shortly for the end of the Marshall Plan, the cold war gains of the past two years may easily be lost.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week With Joe Pickle

Winter really arrived last week, but it failed to bring with it moisture that farmers and ranchers would like. Remembering that the record glaze storm of 1949 set in about this date, communications and transport operators were satisfied to accept the dry cold. Temperatures dropped 54 degrees overnight to reach a low of 15 for the week.

Construction got off to a good start in the initial week of the new year. Totals stood at $86,000, representing a $50,000 commercial job and the balance mostly in residential work. Outlook in this field is extremely bright for the year.

Sale of the rodeo grounds last week opened the way to extension of residential development in the southeast part of the city. Rodeo association officials, who said they put the 20-acre tract on the block in order not to stifle development, hoped to keep the association membership intact in order to seek a new location and perpetuate the show which has operated since 1933.

Financial picture of Howard county is sound, according to bank statements. Last week the two institutions showed deposits of $21,600,000, more than four times the amount of loans. Cash stood at $8,522,000 and bonds held at $5,819,000. This gave a liquid account of $14,411,000, not counting the $1,183,000 capital and reserve structure.

Sports fans are getting a generous menu of red-hot basketball games these days. Friday evening's HCC-HSU freshman game was a thriller. So was Big Spring's upset of Lubbock high school.

Speaking of athletics, Forsan threw a big party Friday evening on the occasion of dedicating its

MARCH OF DIMES NOTE County Polio Group Is $8,200 In Red

When the annual March of Dimes campaign gets underway here Jan. 16, the objective will be defined clearly.

The Howard county chapter is obligated to the extent of $8,200 for treatments incurred by polio patients during the past year.

Until this season, the chapter was able to carry a modest reserve. But during 1949 there were 37 patients treated here for infantile paralysis, 22 of them requiring assistance from the local chapter. Four of these cases are still under treatment.

Cost of treatment ranged from comparatively small amounts to as much as $1,700 in a single instance.

The Howard county chapter, explained C. S. Blomshield, was able to meet the unprecedented demands by reason of a $7,260 emergency advance from the National Infantile Paralysis aid fund.

As it can raise funds, the chapter is obligated to replace the amount drawn from the national emergency pool. In addition, Blomshield, chapter chairman, called attention to the need of a sufficient reserve to meet developments of this and succeeding years.

While there were scarcely more than two cases reported at any one week during the year, 1949, turned out to be one of the worst if not the worst polio year on record here.

Blomshield urged that the public begin thinking in terms of as liberal contributions as possible to the March of Dimes to meet the financial responsibilities of giving polio aid.

Vealmoor Paved Road Plans To Be Followed Through

The Howard County Commissioners court made preparations Saturday to follow through on plans for a paved road to Vealmoor.

A tentative estimate by the state highway department would peg the county's part of expenditures at $83,250, and the court voted unanimously to follow up on the proposal. The cost figure is really more of a "guess" than an estimate, members of the court pointed out, since no actual engineering survey has been made. After state highway department engineers make their survey, a definite estimate will be made and Howard county will post its part of the funds under the 75-25 program.

In addition to the estimate on construction costs, the county will be required to furnish right-of-way, while the highway department furnishes the engineering.

The proposal is for construction of a paved road from Vealmoor to intersect US 87 at Fairview, a distance of approximately 12 miles. The state highway department already has listed the project among its proposals in the 75-25 program for 1950.

PRIESTS AROUSE PEOPLE AGAINST 'HERETICS' Texas Protestant Evangelists Stoned Out of Italian Towns

ROME, Jan. 7. (AP)—Evangelists from the Protestant Church of Christ, including 11 Texans, said today they had been stoned out of Italy and that some of their number had been stoned out of four Italian towns.

The group of 13 evangelists, supported mainly by Texas churches, include six young married couples who began their work in Rome and surrounding towns just a year ago.

One of them, K. D. Pittman of Corpus Christi, said today: "Priests aroused the people against us." The population of Italy is overwhelmingly Roman Catholic.

Pittman and Mrs. Harold P. Paden of Lubbock, another member of the group, said the evangelists had been driven out of Rocca di Papa, Rocca Priora, Monte Compatri, and Castel Gandolfo, summer home of Pope Pius XII by crowds, mostly youths, who threw stones at them.

A Vatican source said priests in the Castel towns area had for several months complained that the Church of Christ evangelists were "teaching heresy." This source expressed doubt that the priests had aroused the townspeople against the evangelists.

The Castel Gandolfo incident, last month, climaxed the evangelists' troubles, said Pittman. It happened after the group had conducted Bible classes there for several weeks, while the Pope was in residence there.

Pittman said the evangelists were told later by Italians that priests had preached against them in the four towns near Rome. One of the Italians quoted a priest as saying to his Castel Gandolfo congregation at a Sunday service: "Why don't some 300 of you young men turn their heads over so they will know you do not want to become Protestants?"

Pittman, with Mrs. Paden, nothing condemnation, said there was a gang of youths waiting for them at Castel Gandolfo. The gang held the evangelists' jeep and began to fill it with sticks.

"Then they began to throw stones," Pittman said. "We got out of there. I don't know what would have happened in another moment."

In Washington, Rep. Ed Gossett (D-Tex.) accompanied a group of Church of Christ members to the State Department yesterday to protest Italian treatment of the evangelistic group, whose activities include operation of an orphanage at the Roman Castel town of Frascati.

At Abilene, Tex., Lynn Packer, prominent figure in Church of Christ activities in Texas, said today that four months ago a jeep belonging to the church's orphanage in Italy was dynamited.

"An Italian boy lost a hand in the explosion," Packer said. "We arrests were made. Our evangelists in Italy have been encountering opposition for months. The situation will only increase our need to do our work over there."

Packer is an official of the Christian Chronicle, statewide publication of the Church of Christ.

The Church of Christ at Brownfield, is sponsor of the Italian orphanage.

CED DIFFERS WITH HST

$2,250,000,000 Tax Cuts Said Feasible

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7. (AP)—The committee for economic development (CED) said today that tax cuts totaling $2,250,000,000 are feasible this year.

The planning organization of businessmen took a stand squarely opposite that of President Truman.

Mr. Truman asked a "moderate" tax boost. On Monday he will present a budget message for the fiscal year starting July 1 which, on the basis of forecasts, will show a deficit not importantly less than this year's $5.5 billion gap.

CED proposed a billion-dollar cut in excise taxes, a billion-dollar reduction in the double tax on corporation earnings, and possible other adjustments.

It offered a simultaneous program for federal cost cuts, including veterans' outlays, foreign aid, housing aid and national defense. It claimed this prospective result:

If business climbs back to its 1948 level, with unemployment down to about 2,500,000, the government's cash accounts (not the same as the presidential budget) would balance and there would be $3 billion in cash left over for payment on the national debt.

If business activity is slower and unemployment much higher, causing smaller revenues, CED's spokesmen said the government should not try to strike a balance. To do so, it was argued, would merely add to deflation.

Under the assumption of improved business, CED estimated the economies would leave cash income of more than $45 billion and outlays of $40 billion—thus making room for the $2 billion tax cuts and $3 billion debt retirement.
