U. S. Highway 60 Group
Outlines Program Of Work

In a program undertaken by the U.S. Highway 60 Association, of which Pampa is a member, in an effort to get more traffic on the highway and in effect bring more business to the city of Pampa, the following program of work has been set forth:

Texas Farm Bureau Takes Stand Against Subsidies

FREEDOM'S FIGHTERS — Echoes of Hungary's fight for freedom crashed in Communist East Germany when thousands of anti-Red demonstrators stormed the Soviet sector of Berlin. They carried a Hungarian flag bearing black crepe streamers. Crowd was composed of both East and West Berliners who earlier had rallied at West Berlin City Hall to protest Soviets' brutal suppression of Hungary. Above, Red police battle the demonstrators.

HOUSTON (UP)—The Texas Farm Bureau wound up its convention Wednesday night by taking a stand against farm subsidies and cash foreign aid, rejecting a state sales tax plan and electing J. Walter Hammond to his 18th term as president.

Other officers elected to serve with Hammond, of Tye, Tex., were J. H. West of Bishop, vice president to succeed C. H. Devaney of Coahoma, and secretary-treasurer Loyd D. Barbour of Iowa Park. All directors were re-elected.

The sales tax plan caused the most debate at the convention. The resolutions committee offered a proposal stating that the cost of education in Texas "is rising out of proportion to the revenue derived from ad valorem taxes and other sources, therefore be it resolved that the Texas Farm Bureau actively support a consumers general sales tax when needed to provide additional funds for the support of an adequate educational system in Texas."

Discussion Tabled

Some 25 persons spoke for or against the proposal. But after about 35 minutes of discussion, the proposal was tabled on a close vote.

The TFB didn't flatly reject subsidies on farm products, but its resolution said "we favor removal of all guarantees or other forms of subsidies now in existence as rapidly as research can develop techniques which would permit such action without disrupting our economic balance unduly."

It added the Farm Bureau opposes "all legislation and governmental programs favoring any segment or group in our society that will tend to move our country any closer toward socialism and its companion, communism."

On foreign aid, the TFB said that "the present program of monetary aid should be discontinued as rapidly as it can be accomplished in the best interests of foreign relations and international trade. 'We favor the use of surplus agricultural products instead of tax dollars as the basis of foreign aid loans.'"

TFB Charges Rights Ignored
The TFB also charged that the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service "continues to ignore the rights of individuals, particularly farmers and farm workers in border areas, although Congress has repeatedly rejected proposals to broaden its powers."

"Personnel of this agency concern themselves with farm wages. Braceros are frequently questioned on wage matters and on some occasions citizens of the United States. We strongly protest the flagrant misuse of an armed guard to intimidate our citizenry or that of any friendly nation."

The bracero resolution asked that the secretary of agriculture

be given "full responsibility for all matters concerning farm labor."

The resolution also urged that farmers and ranchers be allowed voting representation "at any and all negotiations for a farm labor program and that ports of entry nearest the need be used for the entry of Mexican workers." It also called for simplified entry provisions, elimination or reduction of governmental supervision and adherence to the prevailing wage standard.

Other Resolutions Listed

In other resolutions, the Farm Bureau:

1. Recommended establishment of a state livestock and poultry disease program and a continuous poultry disease reporting system. Also establishment of animal health inspection stations at all Texas ports of entry.

2. Favored a law giving the Fish and Game commission power to set open seasons and bag limits with the exception of those counties which now are regulated by law.

3. Recommended that all bridges on hard-surface roads be widened to accommodate two-way traffic.

4. Recommended that the state should open and keep open passes all along the Gulf of Mexico into the bays for the protection of fishermen.

Look how much the Big M has grown for 1957—in size, power, weight—in everything that counts in a car!

NEW WIDTH—Notice how THE BIG M's new breadth is dramatized by a massive new Jet-Flo Bumper. The oval shape of this graceful new bumper design is as functional as it is beautiful. It acts as a double bumper—provides both high and low protection. Notice the matching "twin"-styled rear bumper (right).

NEW OVERSIZED INTERIORS—There's more comfort in the front and back seats of the new BIG M. There's new hip room and leg room. As much shoulder room, for example, as in many of the most expensive cars. The floor is now recessed between the frame. The result: more headroom than ever before.

NEW LENGTH, NEW WHEELBASE—CLOSE TO TWO-TONS BIG. Every important dimension is bigger. In addition to the new length, wheelbase is a big 122 inches. And the 1957 Mercurys are up to 225 pounds heavier, too. A far lower center of gravity gives you an amazing sense of "nailed-down" stability on curves and corners.

NEW POWER—UP TO 290 HP

A 255-hp Safety-Surge engine is standard. A 290-hp Turnpike Cruiser V-8 is optional. And there are two Mercury engine "firsts." A Thermo-matic Carburetor controls the temperature of air the engine breathes. The results: extra power and economy. And, in the Montclair series, a Power-Booster Fan coasts when not needed for cooling—saves horsepower.

NEW DREAM-CAR DESIGN

1957's most advanced styling—a clean-cut, dynamic look that makes other cars look old-fashioned. The roof is gracefully slender—sweeps back over the rear window to provide extra headroom. The tail-lights have an imaginative V-angle slant. Here's America's first production dream car—styling that will influence the shape of cars for years to come.

DRAMATIC NEW FEATURES

Everywhere you look there's a new idea: an exclusive 7-position Keyboard Control that outdates ordinary, push-button transmissions, an exclusive Floating Ride with a cushioning action you have to feel to believe. You can even get a power seat that "remembers"—turn a dial and it finds your favorite seat position. But see everything. Stop in today.

We invite you to see this straight-out-of-tomorrow car today at our showroom.

Refugee Onrush Expected Here

VIENNA (UP)—American authorities expect a "stampede" of Hungarian refugees who want to go to the United States, U.S. Consul R. L. Heacock said today. He said that finding the 5,000 the United States has agreed to accept will be easy.

Heacock scoffed at suggestions that red tape has snarled President Eisenhower's goodwill gesture toward the victims of the Hungarian uprising who fled across the border into free Austria.

"The only difficulty is to prevent a stampede in our direction," Heacock said.

The U.S. Refugee Relief Act under which they will be admitted expires Dec. 31.

Heacock said U.S. doctors have been giving the necessary medical examinations to nearly 300 persons a day among a list of candidates submitted by U.S. welfare organizations.

Local Police Get 'Thanks' From Borger

(EDITORS NOTE: The following letter was received by Jim Conner, chief of police, from the Borger Police Department thanking local officers for assistance given the Borger department.

"On behalf of the city of Borger and the Borger Police Department, I would like at this time to extend our thanks to you and your department for your consideration in furnishing men to handle the police duty the morning of November 2, 1956, while our department was attending as a group the funeral of our fellow officer, T. F. Howe.

"We feel that it was a fine and unselfish gesture on the part of the Pampa Police Department to volunteer their services to a neighboring city under those circumstances. Also we have heard several commendations from sources outside of the department on the service rendered to us by your department.

"Again we want to express to you our sincere appreciation and at any time that we can be of service to you, please do not hesitate to call us.

The above letter was received as a result of several officers of the local police department volunteering to work patrol duty in Borger during the time of the funeral of Officer Howe who was killed in the line of duty. The officers from Pampa volunteered to give this service to the Borger department on their own time.

U. S. May Go Ahead With Plans To Help Europe

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States is reported likely to go ahead with emergency plans to help Western Europe meet its oil shortage once the UN police force stabilizes the Middle East situation.

The plan, previously announced by the Interior Department and the Office of Defense Mobilization, would go into effect at the discretion of the administration.

Officials said the administration probably will give a go-ahead for the plan when the new UN police actually secure the Suez Canal and stabilize conditions in the area.

The plan allows 15 American oil companies to pool their resources to help meet British, French and other Allied oil shortages created by the blocking of the Suez Canal. All oil tankers from the Middle

The final class was devoted to the investigation of a simulated crime scene. James Shaw, instructor, acted the part of a real estate salesman who had his safe burglarized.

The scene was investigated by Dennis Roan, sergeant, and Bob Crouch, patrolman. Other officers in the department acted the parts of various suspects and other persons who had been in the real estate office.

The investigation revealed that the real estate salesman was actually the guilty party and that he had staged a fake robbery.

Local officers reported that they had learned valuable information from the course and that they believe that they will be able to do a more efficient job as a result of the training which they received.

With him were 50 Colombian soldiers under command of Capt. George Mendes, a veteran of the Korean War. The Colombians and a flight of 50 more Norwegians boosted to 192 the number of U.N. "policemen" in the war zone.

The urgency of the Middle East situation was given another reminder Thursday night when Soviet Prime Minister Marshal Nikolai A. Bulganin said Great Britain, France and Israel should pay compensation to Egypt for damages caused by their invasions.

He made no mention of previous Soviet threats to send in "volunteers" but he was reported to have warned Israel that its actions threatened the existence of the state—a warning he made in an earlier note.

Library Of Congress Is Putting On A Magic Show

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP) — The Library of Congress is putting on a magic show.

When a body wanders through the north gallery of the main library building these days, he comes upon a bundle of knowledge laid out in an exhibit entitled "The Art and Craft of Magic."

Like the exhibit of Malleus Maleficarum, called "The Hammer of Evil-Doers." It was a code used by Pope Innocent VIII in 1484 to suppress witchcraft.

There are, in addition a lot of fascinating things about the business of sleight of hand.

It's old, old

For instance, I didn't know until this very moment that lifting a woman into thin air had anything to do with props. And it seems that, so long ago no man can remember, folks were running around the world pulling the rope deal, not to mention getting out of escape proof cells and handcuffs. Things that magicians have been doing since magic was "invented" back in the era of the Romans and Greeks.

The exhibit here at the biggest library in the world produces specimens on "magic, legerdemain, occult sciences, and related subjects." That takes in a lot of acres. Most of the material came from two collections. One is a gift from the John J. and Hanna M. McManus and Chesley V. Young library of some 20,000 books, manuscripts and poets and scrapbooks. These were given to the library this year. The other is the collection of Erich Weiss.

I'll bet you a nickel you can't identify Mr. W. He was so slight of hand he always went around under an assumed name. He called himself Harry Houdini.

Well, I've had a little mystery with these sleight of hand folks myself.

I remember one time — I think it was in St. Louis — when I had a date to talk with a gal who was supposed to be the world's champion lady sleight-of-hander. Her name was Del O'Dell. I sat on a davenport in her suite; she sat a few feet across from me on a chair.

I took some notes and she talked. I bade her adieu and went down to the lobby to meet my wife. It was pay-off day and I had promised a nice dinner.

Opps, The Tie
"Where's your tie?" the Mrs. asked.

My shirt was buttoned. But the tie was gone.

I turned a little red in the face and ran back to the 10th floor. Del O'Dell was not there.

Mrs. N. and I walked too blocks to the office, where I always kept a spare neck piece. Ahead of us had come a Western Union lad with my own tie, with a nice note from the lovely Mrs. O'Dell.

Don't ask me how she did it. Very few magicians give away any of their secrets.

Arab 'Summit' Meeting Ends

BEIRUT, Lebanon, Nov. 15 (UP)—Nine Middle East Arab nations ended a "summit" conference here Thursday with a demand that Anglo-French and Israeli troops withdraw from Egypt immediately and unconditionally.

A joint communique warned the Arab nations would take "effective measures to the maximum of their capabilities" to enforce such a withdrawal.

Such action, it said, could include economic boycotts under the UN charter for "legitimate defense" as well as military intervention, if necessary, under the Arab defense pact.

The top level delegates from Saudi Arabia, Syria, Lebanon, Iraq, Jordan, Libya, the Sudan, Yemen and Egypt finally agreed Thursday on a communique promising "maximum" effort to enforce compliance with the UN Middle East cease-fire.

The communique said that if Anglo-French and Israeli troops fail to withdraw at once without conditions "all Arab states represented at this conference will immediately enforce clause 14 of the United Nations charter for legitimate defense."

Article 41 deals with measures short of armed force and can include economic boycott and interruption of rail, sea, air, postal and telegraphic communications as well as severance of diplomatic relations.

Railroad Would Cancel Service

AUSTIN (UP)—The Texas Railroad Commission today set the state's December oil production allowable at 3,442,952 barrels daily, a near-record level that topped the present statewide allowable by 75,805 barrels a day.

The commission, following a two-hour prorated hearing, placed the state's fields on a 16-day producing basis for December, one day above the present level.

Commission Chairman William J. Murray, Jr., pointed out that if it becomes necessary, the commission has authority to issue an emergency order to boost allowables.

Most oilmen urged a "hold-the-line" policy on the state's allowable. Despite the Middle East crisis, it was pointed out, above-ground oil stocks in the United States are now at an "excessive" level.

'A Balanced Life' 1st Baptist Topic

Dr. E. Douglas Carver will use the topic "A Balanced Life" as his sermon for the 11 o'clock worship hour. This will be based on Revelation 10:2. At the Sunday evening worship hour, Mr. L. P. Fort will bring the message. The Chapel Choir will have its regular rehearsal at 5:30. Sunday School begins at 9:45 a.m., Training Union at 6:30 p.m., and the evening worship hour at 7:30.

On Monday the Y.W.A.'s and Intermediate G.A.'s will meet at 4 o'clock. The Junior G.A.'s will meet at the same hour on Tuesday. The Superintendents of the Sunday School will meet Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock at the church parlor. Plans for the Stewardship Campaign will be discussed.

On Wednesday the Teachers and Officers will meet at 7 p.m. along with the R.A.'s and Sunbeams. The mid-week service will be held at 7:45 p.m., and choir rehearsal at 8:30.

The graded choirs will meet at 3:45 Thursday afternoon.

Last Wednesday evening at a church-wide dinner, the church adopted the budget for 1957 which totals $124,960.00. There were approximately 280 people present at the meeting and heard the budget presented by Mr. A. C. Troop, Chairman of the Finance Committee. The church also set the date of Dec. 2, as "Victory Day" when the budget will be subscribed.

It was also announced this week by Mr. Joe Whitten, minister of music, that the church choir will present Handel's "Messiah" on the night of Dec. 16.

The Vada Waldon Junior Girls' Auxiliary will give a pantomime, "We've A Story To Tell to the Nations," at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in the church. They will present the same pantomime at the district 10 convention of the Women's Missionary Union in Amarillo Nov. 20.

EVANGELIZERS—This mixed quartet of evangelizers, together with their pianist and manager, will present a program in the First Assembly of God Church of 500 S. Cuyler at 7:30 p.m. now underway and continuing through until Nov. 18. The group was chosen from the musical organizations of various Christian schools and colleges. They are from left to right: Jim Carlton, Nola Capps, Mary D'Angelo, Dick Simpson, and, (seated) Hazel Crabtree.

Christian Science Service

How Christ Jesus healed sickness and discord of every kind will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

The Master's healing of the woman who had "a spirit of infirmity" eighteen years, and was bowed together, and could in no wise lift up herself," (Luke 13), will be included in the scriptural readings in the Lesson-Scripture entitled "Soul and Body."

From "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, the following selection will be among those read (210:11-16): "Knowing that Soul and its attributes were forever manifested through man, the Master healed the sick, gave sight to the blind, hearing to the deaf, feet to the lame, thus bringing to light the scientific action of the divine Mind on human minds and bodies and giving a better understanding of Soul and salvation."

Women In The Church

By MARY FOWLER

In Algeria, where, as in other Moslem lands, it is said converts from Islam to Christianity can be counted almost "on the fingers of one hand," three Moslem women recently were baptized into the Methodist Church. A mother, her daughter and her granddaughter were converted after several years' contact with Methodist missionaries at Les Oudhias in central Algeria, where the Methodist Board of Missions maintains a dispensary and an evangelistic center. The Rev. Lester Griffith, Methodist missionary from Mason, Ohio, conducted the baptisms.

Members of local Woman's Societies of Christian Service and Wesleyan Service Guilds of the Methodist Church participated during the last week of October in the Week of Prayer and Self-Denial for mission projects of the Woman's Division of Christian Service of the Methodist Board of Missions. This week has been an annual observance since the organization of the Woman's Division and the offerings during these years total over four million dollars. Home and foreign mission projects chosen as recipients of the 1956 offering are: Holding Institute, Laredo, Texas, and the training of Christian leaders in Burma, the Philippines, Sarawak (British north Borneo) and Sumatra (Indonesia).

Miss Carol Ann Pierson, of Godfrey, Ill., an active member of Elm Street Presbyterian Church, Alton, Ill., has been elected national president of Future Homemakers of America. She will be chief executive of the organization for a year and will represent junior high and high school home economics students at numerous conventions, forums and meetings. Carol is 17. She is immediate past president of the senior high Westminster Fellowship group at Elm Street Church and teaches in the church school nursery class. She is an honor student in Alton High School.

A contest to choose "Miss Methodist Student Nurse" has been announced by the National Association of Methodist Hospitals and Homes and the General Board of Hospitals and Homes, 740 Rust St., Chicago, Ill. Deadline for entries is January 15, 1957. The purpose of the contest is to select a student in a Methodist hospital school of nursing who will be representative of the caliber of young person who follows a Christian vocation in a church-related institution.

United States Files Protest Over Shooting

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States has protested to Mexico over the wounding of an American shrimp boat captain in the Gulf of Mexico.

A State Department spokesman said the United States expressed its "surprise and concern" over the incident and demanded that Mexico make "a full report" of the case.

The American, Capt. Tom Wilson of the shrimp boat Pescador, was shot twice when the Mexicans seized his boat in the Gulf of Mexico Monday night. The boat was taken to Tampico on a charge of "poaching."

Mexican officials claimed the shooting was an accident. But Wilson said on his return to Brownsville, Tex., that it was no accident — "they were shooting to kill."

The State Department spokesman said the United States made its diplomatic representation to Mexico late Wednesday.

"We have expressed to the Mexican foreign ministry our surprise and concern at the shooting of an American shrimp boat captain yesterday," he said.

The incident was the latest and most serious of a long series of incidents in the Gulf of Mexico "shrimp war."

The trouble stems from different territorial water claims of the two governments.

The United States recognizes a territorial limit of only three miles but Mexico claims waters in the Tampico area extending nine miles. The United States is trying now to determine the exact location of the Pescador incident before taking any stronger action against Mexico.

Real Tip

Despite popular belief, Cape Good Hope is not the southernmost tip of Africa. Cape Agulhas has that distinction, being 33 miles nearer the South Pole.

Largest Crater

Kilauea, on the island of Hawaii, has the largest active crater in the world. It is three miles long, two miles wide, and from 200 to 700 feet deep.

Methodist Home Month

Throughout the states of Texas and New Mexico, December will be heralded as "Methodist Home Month," with thousands of Methodists concentration their efforts for the Methodist Home at Waco, Texas, on Sunday, December 9, 1956. Two thousand Methodist Christmas offerings to raise this year's goal of $500,000 for the Methodist Home.

The Board of Commissioners of Methodist Home said the much-needed funds would be used to meet operating expenses for the continuation and ultimate expansion of the Home's child service program for Texas and New Mexico. Mr. Hubert Johnson, Superintendent of Methodist Home, which carries the now famous "Heart of Methodism" slogan, said that the Home is currently providing and caring for more than 400 children.

Mr. Johnson said that it is "imperative to combat the rise of juvenile delinquency by helping these homeless children who have no outside benefit or support."

"Only through proper care, spiritual guidance and vocational training," he added, "can we transform today's children into strong and worthwhile citizens of tomorrow."

The Junior Choir will sing for the 8:30 service and the Sanctuary Singers will sing for the 10:55 service under the direction of Roy Johnson with Mrs. Roy Johnson at the organ. The Youth Choir will sing Sunday night.

One of the most active men in the First Baptist Church, which supplied this week's "Layman," is A. C. Troop.

Troop was named by Dr. Douglas Carver, pastor of the First Baptist Church, for his activity in most of the works in the betterment of the church.

He is currently the chairman of the Finance Committee, which just recently presented the budget and program of work to a meeting of over 280 members of the church. He is an usher, and a general secretary of the Sunday School, besides being an ordained deacon.

Troop is manager of the Fox Rig and Lumber Company and lives on 923 Rham with his wife. He has two sons, both of whom are married.

Reverend J. L. Minnich Receives Highest Degree

James L. Minnich, pastor of the Church of the Brethren, 600 N. Frost, will be installed in the pastorate at a service on Sunday, Nov. 18 at the 11 o'clock service.

The Rev. Minnich and his wife will be installed by the Rev. Archie Patrick, executive secretary for the Church of the Brethren for the Oklahoma and Texas Districts. Rev. Patrick who is here for a series of Every Member Canvass training sessions this week, will deliver the sermon, "Admiration Is Not Enough" following the installation service.

At the 7:30 p.m. service the Rev. Minnich will be ordained to the Eldership, which is the highest degree of ministry in his denomination. The Ordination service will be conducted by the Rev. L. M. Baldwin of the Clovis, N.M., Church of the Brethren, who will deliver the evening sermon.

Rev. and Mrs. Minnich and their three children moved to Pampa on Sept. 1 of this year, from Freeport, Ill. The parsonage is located at 709 N. Frost. Both Mr. and Mrs. Minnich are alumni of Manchester College in Indiana, where he received his Bachelor of Arts degree.

After 10 years in the business world, Mr. Minnich entered Bethany Biblical Seminary of Chicago, where the degree of Bachelor of Divinity was awarded him. He was pastor 4 years at the Freeport Church of the Brethren before coming to Pampa.

The Minnich family visited the Pampa church in June on their way home from the denomination's annual conference at Eugene, Ore.

Catholic Youth Meet In Groom

GROOM — (Special) — St. Mary's Sodality was host to the fall convention of the North Plains District C.Y.O. Sunday, Nov. 4. The day was enjoyed by Catholic teenagers, priests and sponsors from Dumas, Amarillo, Borger, White Deer, Panhandle, Pampa, Canadian, and Groom.

The theme of Catholic Youth Week, "Trust in Youth", was stressed throughout the day's spiritual and social activities. St. Mary's C. Y. O. of Amarillo was admitted into the district, and the district banner was approved unanimously. The idea of a master calendar was accepted. St. Laurence's C. Y. O. placed the only bid for the spring convention and it was accepted.

Some of the activities which the C. Y. O.'s of this district reported are as follows:

"Get out the vote" campaign; of Holy Communion in a body once a month; daily recitation of rosary during the month of October; appearance on TV and radio to discuss Catholic Youth Week, donations to parish funds, attendance at local discussion classes, and promotion of the idea "Put Christ back into Christmas."

The decoration of St. Mary's Hall collaborated the themes "Star of the sea" and "Mary Queen of youth." The stage was a quick eye-catcher because of the spiritual and artistic beauty of the Blessed Virgin atop a rock surrounded by water and towering rocks with stars glistening above. The ceiling was decorated with white and blue crepe paper springing with silver stars while stars with lines from the Litany of the Blessed Virgin were suspended from various places. Sister Mary Angelita, a teacher in St. Mary's school, did a beautiful piece of work in her decoration of the stage.

4,126 Texans Enter Service

AUSTIN (UP)—A total of 4,126 Texans entered the armed services while 3,850 were leaving active duty during October, state selective service headquarters reported today.

Col. Morris S. Schwartz, state draft director, said only 848 Texans entered the military forces through the draft boards. The rest went into uniform "by enlistment or other voluntary means," he said.

Come to Church

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

REV. RONALD E. HUBBARD
First Presbyterian Church
Pampa, Texas

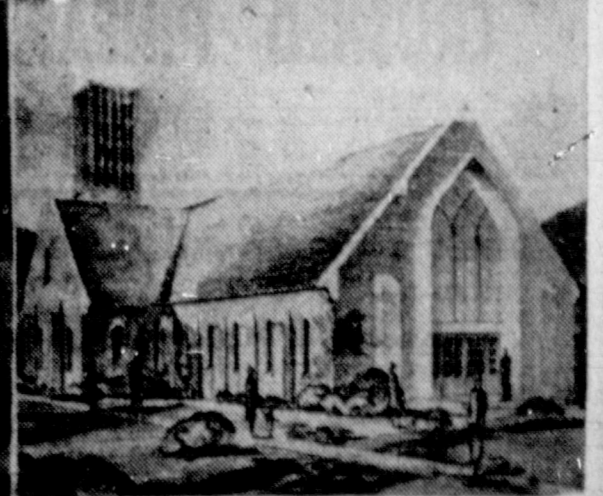

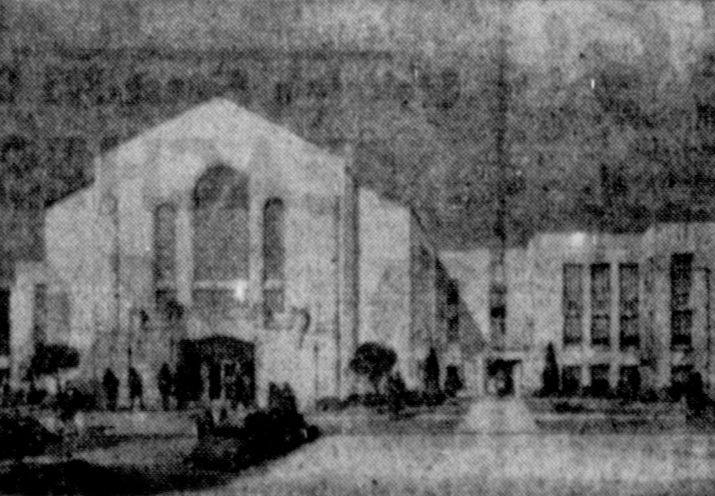

"Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be Thy name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done, in earth as it is in heaven."

When hard pressed by a questioner or by their own conscience, some 98% of the people of our nation will say, "I do believe in a Father in heaven or a supreme being." Often times we think that stating such a belief makes us as religious as we ought to be. Jesus of Nazareth, whom Christians call Lord and Savior, did not consider such a statement sufficient. When He taught His disciples how to pray, He did not stop in saying that there is a God in heaven. He inferred that if this belief in God is genuine it most certainly would be followed by:

(1) Worship. "Hallowed be thy name." We humans, wrapped up in every day busy-ness, will think ourselves God unless we worship and hallow the name of Him who created us. The Spirit of Christ tells us that our vague belief in God is a false one and a self delusion except that we regularly, humbly and reverently worship, and adore and give thanks to Him.

(2) Discipleship. A disciple is a learner and follower. The natural outcome of Jesus' worship was "I came to do the will of Him who sent me." In His prayer He leads us from belief in God to worship of Him and then inevitably to seek after His way and His will. "Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven." This seeking after God's kingdom upon earth and the doing of His will is a sham and farce except that it is the constant and serious aim of all our endeavors. When it is spasmodic, postponed or relegated to a minor part of our living, it is useless.

As God's spirit moves us to worship Him, we are always moved to realize our great need of Him. We are given light to see that we have worshipped everything but our Father in heaven and that we have desired our own kingdom upon earth — not His. With this realization, and only so, can we truly pray "Our Father . . ."

Jacoby On Bridge

When you cannot defeat a contract by force, you may be able to do so by deception. The principle is illustrated in a hand defended by Jim Gelfuss, one of the regular players in the Milwaukee U.M. C.A., where the Jacoby Individual Tournament was held recently.
Gelfuss opened the four of clubs, and dummy won with the ace. At first glance it seemed that declarer had no problems. He would lose two spades and a heart, but would easily make the rest. This was, however, not the way things turned out.

Fifth Homecoming Held At Mobeetie

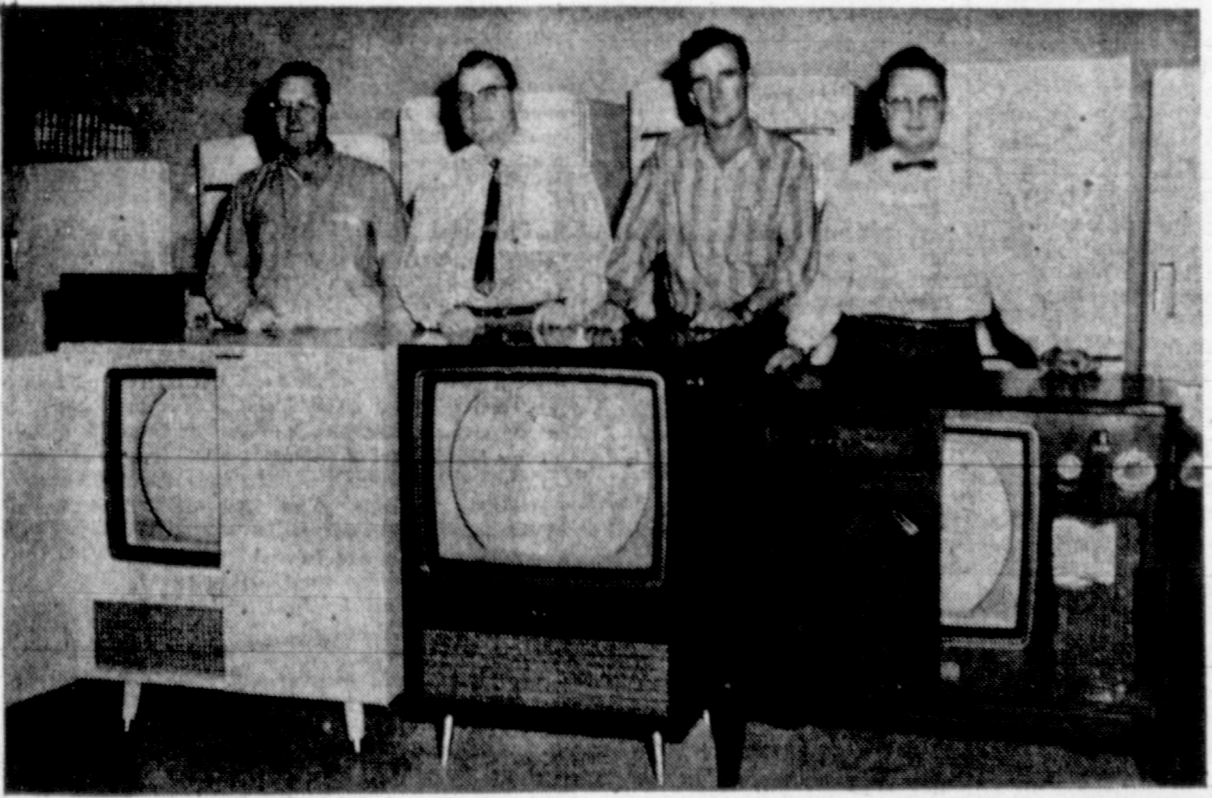

MOBEETIE — (Special) — The fifth Annual Homecoming was held recently at the Mobeetie High School with an informal meal beginning at 4:30 p.m. in the home-making department.
At 6:30 the Mobeetie Ex-ees assembled in the High School study hall where Mrs. Jess Patterson, president, presented the welcome address and conducted the business meetings.
Officers for the 1957 Homecoming were elected. They are: Lester Leonard, president; Mrs. George B. Dunn II, vice president; and Mrs. Winifred Quarles, secretary. to draw those held by West. This was exactly what Gelfuss had been planning. As soon as hearts were led, Gelfuss could put up the ace of hearts and take the setting trick with the king of clubs.
At the second trick, declarer finessed the jack of spades, losing to the queen. Gelfuss calmly returned the five of clubs. Assuming that the king of clubs was in the East hand, declarer played low from the dummy. East naturally played the jack, and South ruffed.
Declarer next led the king of spades, forcing out the ace. Once more, Gelfuss underled his king of clubs. South could have covered the ten of clubs with dummy's queen, but he didn't dream that West would have the nerve to underlead the king of clubs so consistently. There would be no advantage in playing the queen of clubs from dummy if East had the king, as South supposed, so declarer played a low club from dummy.
South had to ruff again, and had to use up all of his trumps in order

Ex-teachers present were: Mrs. Willard Godwin, Mrs. St Marchbanks and Mrs. Mayme Williams.
The largest family present, who had attended the Mobeetie schools were Mr. and Mrs. Willard Godwin and six of their seven children. They were: Mrs. Norman Dysart, Amarillo; Mrs. Travis Patterson, Mrs. Jerry Simpson, both of Pampa; Bill and Drew Godwin of Amarillo; and Jay Godwin, a Mobeetie Senior.

Money, Money

The word "economy" appears on its way to becoming obsolete.

The idea of cutting expenses, particularly in government circles, appears today to be about as far fetched as references to the dodo.

Let's see what the American taxpayers are up against.

Back in 1936, although even then few politicians seemed to woo reduction in expenditures, the federal tax collector took an average of $30 from each person. The state tax collector picked up $21 and the local merchants of loot siphoned off an additional $32. This came to an average total of $83 per capita, and even then we were spending money like the proverbial intoxicated tar.

But the forward march of government expenditures was in its infant stage then, although few suspected it. By 1946, the federal collector grabbed off $286, the state took $45, and the local government got $39. This brought the average take per capita up to $370.

But in 1956, Washington is taking $439 per person, while states on an average grab $90 and the local governments are content with $79. Thus Mr., Mrs., or Miss America pays $608 this year. And there is little indication that any political office holder is the slightest bit interested in reducing this figure.

Now one of the ideas lurking in the minds of our founding fathers when this nation was established was that the various governments would be competitors. And it was assumed that thus, the governments would strive each against the other to keep expenses to a minimum, since minimal expenses are always beneficial to the people themselves.

But, since 1936 it is apparent that the spirit of competition, while invoked, is heading in the opposite direction. Great and loud are the claims being made by state and local tax men that they are in competition with other states and with other cities, as well as with the national government. . . . not to keep taxes down, but to get as much as they can. The competition is working, all right, but in precisely the wrong direction.

Economy is obsolete. Debt is the new style, with wild and orgiastic spending as the height of fashion. All of which adds up to this gloomy picture. This year, the total tax take in the nation will exceed $100-billion for the first time in our history. Few, if any of these dollars will be used to actually reduce indebtedness.

While some loans will be retired, others are being contracted for at a pace which nets a loss to every American. Add to this inescapable fact the item that the American people privately have gone on the cuff for something close to $700 billion this year, which when added to our federal, state and local debts will top the trillion mark.

Financially speaking we are following in the footsteps of the prodigal son. Our freedom is being squandered as more and more Americans clamor that the government must subsidize them or their activities. And the inescapable fact remains that those who control the purse strings, control us.

We are far gone. The only chance we have is to renovate the term "economy" and put it into practice. Otherwise we may go down in history as the land of the knave and the home of the tax squeezer.

Allan Has Chance

Titular control of the Democratic party rests with Sam Rayburn and Lyndon B. Johnson, who are really trustees in bankruptcy for the principal owner, Walter Reuther. The party doesn't amount to much these days, and Reuther is not politically respectable; so Lyndon and Sam seem to have found their proper level.

There remains only the interesting fight between Allan Shivers and Lyndon B., and the outside chance Allan may get one last lick at the Lonslider.

If Price Daniel would get off the dime (probably a nickel of it belongs to Lyndon) it might be possible for Shivers to become a U. S. Senator just long enough to help reorganize the Senate for the Republicans. That would be a hard lick at Lyndon but sweet revenge for the governor.

The no-strings resignation of Daniel would clear the way for Shivers to resign as governor and be appointed by Lieutenant Governor Ramsey to fill out Daniel's unexpired term. There are 49 Democrats in the Senate and 47 Republicans. Democrat Frank Lausche of Ohio has said he may vote for the Republicans.

If Lausche crossed the aisle and Shivers were on the Republican bench, that would give the GOP a working majority for organizing the Upper House. Republicans would be appointed to the committee chairmanships, and Lyndon's influence would be more and more confined to the coterie of Liberals who look on him as the Great White Hope of the South. Most of these live in the North.

When the special election is called to name Daniel's successor, a Republican just might become the junior senator from Texas. The law provides that in a special election there is no run-off. The high man on the ticket wins.

If four or five Democrats ran for the office against one Conservative Republican, the GOP entry might win. Whether the old gang — Yarborough, O'Daniel, Dies and Cyclopedia — manage to split the vote enough for a Republican win, remains to be seen. If the legion is great enough, they may nullify each other's strength.

A Republican senator from Texas would be another thorn in Lyndon's crown.

As for "Mr. Sam" as he is affectionately known to people who don't know him very well, he is hanging on to his seat in the House by the skin of his head. If the Texas legislature gets around to redistricting this next term, Sam might find himself in a Conservative district; and the Conservatives would gladly retire dear old Mr. Sam from politics, and put him to picking nuts with Cactus Jack.

We can only wonder how much Price Daniel owes Lyndon Johnson. We have a growing feeling that the wily Mr. Johnson has sacked up Daniel very neatly and there will be no resignation from the Senate until Mr. Johnson is sure Allan Shivers won't be filling the unexpired term.

My Youngest Grandson

When I heard about my youngest grandson's recent act, I drew the conclusion of the similarity of how this 2-year-old grandson figured he could bring about what he wanted to accomplish.

He hooked a wagon back of his tricycle and put eight or ten bricks in it. Then he couldn't make the tricycle go up a grade. So he screamed, evidently believing that that would help him get up the grade. Undoubtedly he got this idea because his older brothers or his sister or his parents had helped him satisfy his wants when he adopted that method of getting what he wanted. Of course his screaming had nothing to do with getting the tricycle up the grade he was trying to navigate. His means worked in certain cases, under certain conditions, but it did not work when it came to putting the law of action and reaction into operation.

Planners Following Similar Tactics It occurred to me that our agents in the government were using about as irrational means to promote peace and goodwill and an ever-increasing standard of living as my grandson was in trying to get his tricycle up the grade.

Their means is to scare people into believing that if the individual does not unspoonily obey and support these government planners — locally as well as nationally and internationally — we will have chaos and we will become slaves to Russia or some other Communist tyranny.

And my grandson was about as rational as labor union leaders are in their contention that they can raise wage levels and improve the standard of living by using seniority and keeping the wrong man in the job and limiting apprentices and by strikes and intimidations and getting laws through that give them special privileges over their fellowman.

In other words, they are about as rational in their contention that we can have more by limiting working hours, limiting production, taking away from each individual his right to use his initiative without the consent of the majority or the labor bosses and by repeating and repeating falsehoods, that they can raise wage levels, as my grandson was in screaming to get his tricycle up the grade.

Of course, the grandson is to be excused by being the youngest child and screaming to get the assistance of his brothers or sister or parents, but grown men that profess to understand human relations should not be using such irrational means of improving the lot of man as collective bargaining that takes away from each and every individual his right to develop his faculties by using his right to choose.

These labor leaders pose as omniscient, but none of them is wise enough that they will attempt to answer questions. They all have to hit and run, just as anyone who is violating natural law has to put up a fence to keep from being cross examined.

Surely the means used pre-empting the results. If the means used are wrong, the results will be wrong or evil.

The Doctor Says

INFLAMMATION OF KIDNEYS CAN BE ACUTE OR CHRONIC

The question of nephritis — inflammation of the kidneys — or Bright's disease in children has been brought up by several readers. One says her 15-year-old son had acute nephritis about a year ago. The other, Mrs. B. G., says her five-year-old grandson has nephritis and is doing fine, but she understands there are several kinds.

It is true — there are several kinds of nephritis. For the purposes of this discussion, however, I shall confine my remarks to that which is most common in children and young adults — glomerular nephritis. This, in turn, may be conveniently divided into acute nephritis and chronic nephritis.

Most cases of acute nephritis follow infection of the upper breathing passageways with germs of the streptococcus family. This acute nephritis is frequently associated with sore throat, tonsillitis, the common cold, sinusitis, rheumatic fever, scarlet fever and similar disorders. Sometimes such definite infection cannot be identified as a forerunner of acute nephritis.

The line of attack on acute nephritis is therefore aimed at the precipitating cause, if one can be found. If a source or focus of infection such as diseased tonsils is present, the nephritis can be treated. In addition, bed rest during the acute phase of the illness is generally desirable, as is the attention to diet and to medication.

Since some of the antibiotics, like penicillin, attack certain streptococci, the treatment with such substances is often considered. The evidence for their value in many cases of acute nephritis is conflicting, but they are frequently given nevertheless. A high proportion of those who have acute nephritis recover completely.

Chronic nephritis, or Bright's disease, is a horse of a different color. Some develop chronic nephritis from the acute variety, but most are never aware of having had an acute attack. Among the common signs of chronic nephritis are the gradual accumulation of fluids in some of the tissues (edema or dropsy), recurrent headaches — often associated with some high blood pressure — and perhaps

THE NATION'S PRESS

UNITED NATIONS "FORCE"

(The Wall Street Journal)

The General Assembly voted early Sunday for the Secretary General of the United Nations to draw up a plan for creation of an "emergency international United Nations Force" to "secure and supervise" the cessation of hostilities in Egypt. The vote was 57 to 0, with nineteen abstentions.

Mr. Pearson did not make very plain the purposes of the Canadian resolution which the U. N. Secretary General must now try to make effective. Nor did the United States delegation, which supported the Canadian proposal, have any explanation to offer, either of exactly what the resolution contemplated or of its possible effects.

Indeed, we are baffled by the language of Mr. Pearson's plan. The resolution says whatever proposal Mr. Hammarskjold conjures up must obtain "the consent of the nations concerned" for whatever force is decided upon. If this phrase means the consent of those concerned in the fighting in Egypt, it means that a U. N. force will patrol the area after hostilities have ended, and that is one thing. But if it means that the consent of nations must be obtained before they are sent into the Middle East to knock some heads together, it means an entirely different thing.

If it means the latter, it is fair to ask the question: How will a United Nations force "secure" the cessation of hostilities in that area if the hostile nations do not agree to cease fighting? There is, so far as we know, but one way under such circumstances. And it is not beyond chance that if those are the circumstances, and Americans do comprise a share of that U. N. force, we shall end up fighting the Egyptians, the Israelis, the French and the British, or some combination of those forces.

And it is difficult to see how any U. N. "police force" could be effective without United States forces; at least the evidence of Korea suggests such a view. The United States' contribution to the South Koreans comprises about ninety percent of all United Nations' efforts. And the United States with its Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean, is the only great western power in a position to form the keystone of the United Nations force at the moment, unless, of course, the U. N. is counting on Britain and France who are already on the scene.

It may be that Mr. Hammarskjold's "force" will turn out to be moral persuasion, economic pressures and diplomatic sanctions. It may be that if he contemplates an actual "police" force of troops and guns and ships and planes to stop a war among four nations by perhaps broadening it to include a dozen others, he will find some difficulty in getting volunteers. Nineteen nations in the U. N. refused to vote for the "force."

No one can predict now what will be Mr. Hammarskjold's plan any more than one can say exactly what Mr. Pearson meant when he offered his resolution.

shortness of breath. It is not at all unusual to discover the presence of chronic nephritis by finding albumin in the urine, in the absence of any of the aforementioned symptoms.

The chronic form of Bright's disease requires special attention. Accurate diagnosis of the damage to the kidneys and the stage of the disease is the first step. Avoidance of overfatigue is always important. Depending on the symptoms and signs, it may be necessary to institute dietary restrictions or measures to promote elimination of excessive tissue fluids.

are also consumers and it must be remembered that under the tariff reduction or abolition policy in question they would also be able to buy far more goods than under the tariff regime. That which serves the consumer is beneficial to all of us. It means we have more. Any tariff for other than revenue purposes means that consumers have less. The way for all of us to have the greatest quantity of goods is under a free-trade regime in which the people of all countries would devote themselves to making that which they can produce the cheapest and most efficiently. We need not fear that idleness would result in our country because merchandise from other countries would undersell ours, for no country could sell merchandise to our people unless it likewise bought the equivalent thereof from our own industries.

No nation would sell us goods for which we did not pay, and in the long run the only means we would have to pay would be to sell our own goods in return for what we purchased.

The net result of free trade would mean vastly more goods for the people of all countries engaged therein. A certain amount of inconvenience would be encountered in making the adjustment but the gain would be manifold — a vast advance in the standard of living everywhere.

Uniformed Military Leaders Demand More Recognition

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The three military services have finally recovered from the sense of inferiority inflicted upon them by untoward happenings in the postwar years. Their uniformed leaders, even in the face of opposition from Army, Navy and Air Force civilian heads, will demand greater recognition on Capitol Hill at the January session.

The incidents which have hurt the Pentagon establishment, in the order of their rated importance, were (1) the McCarthy-Cohn investigation of Army integrity, (2) the death march of Marines at Paris Island and the court martial of Sergeant McKee, (3) the censorship imposed on officers by Secretary Wilson and Admiral Arthur W. Radford, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and (4) Truman's abrupt recall of General Douglas MacArthur.

It is a matter of irony, and a fact on which military men frequently comment when they pour forth their grievances, that this downgrading for the most part occurred in the regime of the first professional service President since Ulysses S. Grant.

As recently noted here, the United States Army Association has been reorganized so that it may combat more effectively proposed cuts in defense appropriations. Its new directors are ex-Pentagon figures no longer in the service, and therefore free of the Wilson-Radford censorship.

The shift resulted from word that the White House and Budget Bureau have ordered the heaviest cut in defense funds since immediately after the World War II demobilization. The three services asked for $48 billion and fixed $44 billion as the minimum requirement. The Administration has pared the figure to $37 billion, with the Army's aerial units suffering most severely.

Whereas officers still in uniform cannot protest publicly without chancing a reprimand, their buddies in the reorganized Army Association will fight their battles before Congress and the American public.

The three services have also begun a publicity campaign to improve discipline by exalting the importance of "rank," including both commissioned officers and non-coms. The Marines especially feel that a postwar letdown in "rank" relations was partially responsible for the fatal maneuver at Paris Island. McKee's men had become "sloppy."

Periodical speeches, official statements and orders from the higher-ups have recently warned laxities on the part of both the "brass" and the enlisted men. The carelessness toward regulations was a natural hangover from World War II and Korean conflicts, when soldiers of all ranks must live on more familiar terms.

While these commands do not refer directly to the McKee incident, demands for snappier discipline began to issue immediately after his trial.

Many prominent military spokesmen will also support the anticipated Congressional drive to cut down the number and size of our forward outposts now scattered around the world in more than 50 countries.

The men and their dependents dislike foreign service, which becomes boring and wearisome after the novelty of a strange countryside wears off. And, as do many members of Congress, they begin to question the need or efficacy of overseas bases and "brush fire brigades" for the long future, in view of Moscow's satellite indignation.

Like so many civilians and Administration officials, shocked by the Allied split over the Egyptian crisis, the military has responded to "isolationist" and "Fortress America" complexes.

havoc. The old Rotterdam was a hodge-podge, a centuries-old ramble-jumble of crooked, narrow streets, and ancient buildings which, while handsome with age, were all but unsuitable for commerce or living.

Roads have been widened and straightened, parks laid out, narrow streets, and ancient buildings erected. Enough of the old Rotterdam remains to entrance the tourist, but there is also enough of the new to handle the city's new energy.

Bombing is a stringent cure for any ill, but in many ways the destruction from the skies was a blessing to Rotterdam. Rotterdam's port is its heart. Today that port is the most modern in the world, it being the only major port in the world that was completely blasted away, and required reconstruction from the ground up.

The port authorities took us for a boat ride around the harbor, from the mouth of the Rhine to the open sea, and even to one who barely knows the difference between a stevedore and a crane, it was an exciting sight. Huge liners in their berths. Mountains of lumber from Scandinavia, hides from the Argentine, coal from the Ruhr and U. S. and freighters flying the flags of every maritime nation in the world.

Giant tankers, squat Rhine barges, and men-of-war berthed for miles. Traffic as thick as that on Fifth avenue. The whang-clang of shipyards and repair docks. Along the docks the dress and languages of scores of countries. Restaurants serving the native dishes of three-fourths of the world. Everything moving. Cranes, engines, ships and cargo.

In the heart of the city the streets are crowded with automobiles of every make. Handmade stores, shining windows, with displays of goods ranging in price from half a gulden to a small fortune. Furs, woolsens, jewels.

The Rotterdam of today really is a bigger, brighter, better, more handsome city than the one on which the enemy wrought

TURNING A NONDESCRIPT wallflower into a Thanksgiving belle-of-the-ball is a challenge that turns Max Factor into a Pygmalion. What it takes to route the stog line to a mousy miss — putty-like hair and usually blue or green eyes — is to enliven her coloring. That's the first step, says the Hollywood expert.

A GIRL going to her first formal party is too young, Factor warns, to dye her hair or employ the clever dodges that older rebels use against drabness. But the right make-up effects will enliven Miss Sixteen's mousey coloring like a 150-watt bulb brightens a lamp. A pure pink make-up will be as enlivening as a bright pink light bulb, Factor adds.

If you'll use a fluid make-up foundation in high fidelity colors, lustrous sheen will join your brightening effects. Also needed for routine drabness are pastel cheek rouge, a clear, clear red lipstick (with no lurking blue in it), green or blue eyeshadow, brown eyebrow pencil and lash make-up.

If your hairline is a vague blur, define it by carrying your wet brush from lashes to downy fuzz and to faded wisps of hair. If you have a widow's peak (Glory Bell) make the most of it. Then step back, and see how well this accent works to enliven your face.

What dress colors for this Gela-tex whom Max Factor counsels? In a run-down of those best to wear under color-draining lights, he lists the blue - greens, cloudy pink, Alice-Blue-Gown blue, aquamarine and chalk white. Jewelry settings of yellow gold, he says, are best for sparkle. Gems that will flatter most are turquoise, zircons, ice blue "diamonds", sapphires, tourmalines.

Another sharp observation from Factor: "A mousy girl is usually not advised to wear black. But I'll wager if she chose a stunningly simple dress with a black jersey top and a billowing white chiffon skirt, she'd dance away from that wall with the captain of the football team."

While you're making yourself a target for admiring eyes, he says, see that your hair-do is more interesting than the next girl's. Let your bob be a bouffant affair, or pile curls up in a charming Em-pire style, is Factor's advice.

NICEST thing that ever happened to scrawny chests and bony shoulders, says Max Factor, is the witchery black lace and chiffon are spreading over them with this fall's shadow-and-substance fashions.

For sheer flattery above the Thanksgiving table, Factor offers these timely suggestions:

Under peek-a-boo lace yokes or chiffon tops, wear strapless bras and slips. The veiled top will be robbed of its seductive appeal by a network of straps.

If skin is blemished, camouflage the defects with make-up. Even freckles can be spied through a veiled top by the gimlet-eyed. Don't overlook the enticing effect pink skin has under black lace, even if you have to use pink make-up all over your chest and shoulders.

There's a make-up blender you can use that won't rub off on your pretty black dress.

The real test of a happy marriage is what happens to it when the last child leaves home.

Some marriages that seemed happy enough when husband and wife had the children as a mutual interest, have little to offer except dreary routine when this later period arrives.

In such marriages the husband turns to his work as the answer to his loneliness. Or he may start spending more and more time on interests and hobbies that don't include his wife.

And the wife tries desperately to fill her days with bridge and club meetings.

Each is lonely. But neither senses the other's loneliness or tries to establish again the "oneness together" they had when they were first married.

The marriages that stand the test which comes when the couple is once again just a couple, are the ones where husband and wife look to each other for companionship. They start making new plans and welcome the chance to have time for each other, once again.

In these marriages, having the children leave home isn't the end of shared interests but the beginning of a new kind of sharing.

The husband urges his wife to do more things with him, to go along on his business trips, to take up hunting or fishing or whatever happens to be his main enthusiasm. He makes more of an effort to share his life with her.

And the wife sees the need for making herself companionable. She doesn't let herself think that things are too much trouble or that she isn't really interested in her husband's enthusiasms. She doesn't let herself feel that she can't change her stay-at-home pattern, established when it was necessary to make a full time job out of keeping house.

It is a wonderful thing when a husband and wife who have reared a family find that they are just as companionable as they were in the early days of their marriage.

But it doesn't just happen. It takes effort on the part of both.

Beauty on a budget means investing your pennies in beauty care you can bank on. Start with soap-and-water, the basis for all beauty treatment, whether budgeted or luxurious. For satiny, shining hair, use a hair brush dipped in lather when you give yourself a shampoo. The brush will dislodge stale make-up around the hairline. Suds-pack facial (center) is real beauty budget item. It's done with rich soap lather and warm water. The warm water opens the pores and helps the suds to carry off stale make-up, dirt and oily skin secretions. Once in a while, treat yourself to your favorite cologne or toilet water and use it after your shower. It's worth the investment for the feeling of luxury (right) that it gives you.

Brand-New Cologne Program On Mental Disorders Is Given At Meet Of 20th Century Culture Club

By ALICIA HART

NEA Beauty Editor

In Europe, both men and women use cologne. Frequently, it's the same cologne. Europeans cologne tend to be sophisticated. They are considered essential to good grooming and are used more lavishly than we use them here.

Most Europeans spnish themselves from head to toe with cologne when they step from the shower or bath. They feel that cologne is ideal for daytime use. Men use cologne for evening, of course, while European women switch to the headier perfumes.

New to this country is a French cologne meant for both the men and women on your Christmas list. It comes from a famous French designer known for his lovely perfumes. Sophisticated, and bottled in a black-and-white tweed effect, it's based on a fresh flower odor.

It's a clean, floral fragrance that will produce a springtime feeling in the holiday season.

French arrival in this country in time for Christmas giving is a new cologne in the European sophisticated cologne tradition. The scent is based on fresh springtime flowers.

Mrs. Edward R. Eaton presented the program, "Preventative Measures For Mental Disorders" at the meeting of Twentieth Century Culture Club in the home of Mrs. Myles Morgan.

"One of the greatest current medical problems is the treatment of the patient with emotional illness," Mrs. Eaton explained. "It has been estimated that over 70 per cent of those who consult their doctors over aches and pains have emotional basis for their problems."

She went on to tell how the Romans and Greeks recognized fully the powerful influence of unhappy emotions on the mind and body, which was lost during the 18th and 19th centuries when the advent of the microscope and test tube caused man to be treated as an "organic machine." This period was marked by a materialistic conception which viewed man's mind and body as separate things, she stated.

MODERN ATTITUDE
"The modern physician thinks of man as a unit, a mental - physical unit," Mrs. Eaton told the women. "When this more rational concept began to prevail and the physician began to be aware of the patient as an individual unit, his healing art made miraculous advances. Illness he learned could be caused by emotional maladjustments which gave rise to morbid fears and hatreds, and, in that way, caused actual changes in the body's chemistry. Indigestion, abnormal functioning of the heart, high blood pressure, asthma, chronic fatigue, as well as nervous and mental breakdowns may be due primarily to emotional and spiritual maladjustments, the inability to feel secure, to love, to find one's proper place in the world's scheme — to have faith."

She went on to emphasize the importance of a sick person's mental attitude to his illness, to his chance of recovery or length and nature of his convalescence.

RELIGIOUS FAITH
"Religion has traditionally provided men with a profound underlying meaning for life," Mrs. Eaton pointed out, "but a growing number of persons in modern society have apparently lost religious convictions. With real meaning departed from their lives, these same individuals, it is contended, lose their mental and emotional stability and develop some type of personality disorder. Religious faith has secured remarkable results in correcting nervous stress and anxiety and has brought peace and power to many distraught lives."

MENTAL HOSPITALS
She stated that while psychiatric knowledge has advanced rapidly in the past several decades, state hospitals for the mentally ill do not differ greatly in their physical equipment or major practices from those of half a century or more ago.

Attending were Meses. J. L. Chase, C. W. Conley, G. L. Craddock, J. R. Donaldson, E. R. Eaton, J. W. Edminister, H. H. Hahn, L. H. Hart, Warren Hasse, E. L. Henderson, V. L. The Faith Class of the Central Baptist Church held a Thanksgiving social Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Vaughn Pittman.

Opening prayer was given by Mrs. J. H. Reeves Jr., and the devotional, following a Thanksgiving theme, was presented by Mrs. James Lancaster. During the business session, led by Mrs. L. C. Bevel, president, plans were made for a Christmas party. The meeting was closed with prayer by Mrs. Wayne Cobb.

Vital Investment For The Budget-Minded Is A Clean, Well-Scrubbed Complexion

By ALICIA HART

NEA Beauty Editor

A clean, well-scrubbed complexion that reflects the glow of health can make all the difference in the effectiveness of even the most flattering cosmetics.

An attractive hairdo and skillful make-up are, of course, necessary to a good appearance. But it's nice to know that cleanliness, beauty's most essential factor, costs so little.

We'd all like to emerge regularly from an exclusive beauty salon "a finished picture." But the busy housewife and the average career girl would have difficulty finding the time or the money that this would require.

The girl with the just-stepped-out-of-the-shower look is always the object of admiring comment, and, fortunately, a glowing complexion and healthy, clean hair are as easily within reach as the bathtub and wash basin at home. No hair style is lovely unless the hair is clean. And a good place to wash it is in an invigorating, sudsy shower. It saves time and assures a complete rinsing.

If you have healthy skin, free from infection, here's a nightly routine that, followed diligently, helps wash away oiliness and blackheads as well as grime.

Fill the basin with hot water. Work your pure complexion soap into a lather and with an upward motion, apply it to your throat and face. Take special care to get at the chin and the lines around the nose and mouth. Rinse carefully with warm water, then splash with cold and pat dry. Costs practically nothing and you've given your face the best beauty insurance available. It's best done just before you go to bed so that you can follow up with your favorite night cream for lubrication.

WHAT WOULD BE A BETTER WAY to start a new column than sticking my neck out right at the start? So, with only three more weeks of football left and a batting average of 1,000 I'm predicting football games as a starter (with apologies to Oscar Fraley and Carl Lundquist.)

One good thing about waiting until the season is almost over to predict football scores is that your batting average has a better chance of staying up there after its completion. Also, it's much easier by this time to distinguish a trend in the game. With those thoughts in mind, here goes nothing:

The Panhandle area:
Harvesters 34, Lubbock 27.
Stimmet 41, Panhandle 27.
McLean 20, Lefors 6.
Groom 13, Stratford 7.
Perryton 35, Shamrock 6.
White Deer 20, Sunray 0.
Canadian 13, Memphis 7.

OVER THE NATION:
Texas A&M over Rice, 34-20. The Aggies, knowing that they cannot play in the Cotton Bowl game because of an NCAA penalty, will be trying harder to win the Southwest Conference. The nation will remember them as a champion unable to show what else it could do and not as a Cotton Bowl winner or loser.

SMU over Arkansas 21-19. This is going against the public choice. The Mustangs have shown their power in other games and should do it Saturday.

Texas over TCU, 27-21. Reports of ill will on the TCU team appear to be true. The Horned Frogs were once capable of winning the SWC

Shockers Gain 7-7 Tie With Yannigans

The powerful Amarillo Yannigans had to battle a thrusting Pampa defense to come from behind in the fourth quarter for a 7-7 tie with the Shockers in Harvest Stadium yesterday afternoon.

The Shockers were by far the outstanding team on the field in the chilling game played before a small gathering braving the 30-mile per hour winds. The Pampa team took a 7-0 lead in the third quarter and was going for another quarter as the clock ran out.

The Shockers led easily in the statistics department and controlled the ball a good part of the time. Fumbles on the four and again on the five yard lines prevented the Pampa B squad from scoring two more touchdowns.

The two teams battled to a scoreless tie in the first two quarters. The Shockers recovered a Yannigans fumble on the Amarillo 33 and Freddy Watkins, Gary Wilhelm and Charles Snyder drove to the four where the ball was fumbled. The Shockers again got the ball on the Pampa 21 by a pass interception and Jess Engle took the ball on the first play from scrimmage to the Amarillo five for a 74 yard run. The Shockers fumbled on the next play.

A pass from Wilhelm to Engle set up the Shocker touchdown in third period. The aerial went from the Pampa 44 to Amarillo's seven. Engle caught it on the 28. Bobby Smith made two tries for a touchdown and went to the two where Wilhelm plunged it over. Engle went over left guard for the extra point.

Amarillo took over in the fourth quarter when the Shockers failed to make a first down with a fourth-down situation on the Shocker 44. Quarterback Dale Alexander spearheaded the drive to the two where he plunged over with four minutes left in the game. Chris Cadenhead caught a flat pass in the end zone on a fake kick play for the extra point.

Pampa drove back shortly and when things were looking rough, Wilhelm connected with a pass to Engle that carried the ball to the Amarillo 13 with 20 seconds left. Two more attempts failed as the clock ran out.

Texas Denies Leahy Hired

AUSTIN, Tex. (UP)—University of Texas officials today denied a report that former Notre Dame Coach Frank Leahy's appointment as athletic director here would be announced soon.

Claude Volles, vice chairman of the university board of regents, said "there is absolutely nothing to it."

At Midland, Tom Sealy, chairman of the regents, called the report "absolutely unfounded." He said that Leahy "was contacted by some of our alumni — and I can tell you that some of our alumni have contacted other prominent coaches — but nobody, including Mr. Leahy, has been officially contacted."

The report originated with Sports Editor Naylor Stone of the Birmingham, Ala., Post-Herald. Stone said Thursday night that an announcement of Leahy's appointment would be made within 10 days and that his information came from "a high-ranking University of Texas alumnus" who has a "prominent part in selecting athletic directors and coaches at that school."

Sealy said he was "a little tired of such reports." He said that some 50 persons had been suggested as possible successors to athletic director Dana X. Bible, who is stepping down at the end of the school year, and to football coach Ed Price, who resigned, effective at the end of this season.

Stone said his informant told him Leahy has "verbally accepted the post" and would come to Austin "next week for the official signing."

But both Volles and Sealy emphasized that the former Notre Dame coach had not been officially contacted. Sealy said his name "is just one of those in the pot" that will have to be checked.

The regents, Sealy said, have not yet decided whether the athletic directorship and the coaching job can be combined. That, he said, will depend upon the person hired and other factors.

Harvesters Close Out Home Grid Season Saturday

Lubbock Here At 2 p. m.

Two of the outstanding offensive teams in District 3-AAAA collide in Harvest Stadium Saturday afternoon when the rejuvenated Pampa-Harvesters take on Lubbock's Westerners.

The two teams will be fighting to break their deadlock for fifth place in the district. Both have won one of four conference games this season.

Pampa's first 3-AAAA victory came last week with a 54-8 victory over Plainview. The Westerners lost by a 35-20 count to Amarillo last week.

Saturday's game, which starts at 2 p. m., will be the final home game of the season for Pampa. The Harvesters close out the campaign next Saturday at Borger.

The Westerners, coached by Wilford Moore, former McMurtry College mentor, will come into the game boasting a per-game average of 351.5 yards in district competition. The Harvesters have averaged 248.3 yards per district game. Amarillo and Palo Duro are the only other teams in the top four category. Those two are among the top winners in the district this year.

In other district meetings, Monterey plays at Plainview tonight while Amarillo plays at Borger. Palo Duro has an open date. The Sandies are in the title lead with four victories and no losses. Palo Duro has won four of five district contests while Borger has lost one of four.

Pampa's biggest job Saturday afternoon will be trying to stop the one-two running punch of Charley Moore and Tom (Red) Roberts. The two have gained 931 yards in rushing in four district games. Quarterback Dickie Mauldin and fullback Robert Langford are the top pair of ground-enterers for Pampa with a combined total of 525 yards. Harvesters Jesse Ring, Bobby Dehis and Don Bigham have also added plenty of yardage to the Pampa total this year.

The Westerners rank sixth in the seven-team district in defense and that's what Coach Jack Lockett, his assistants and players will be trying to capitalize on Saturday. Lubbock has had 1,165 yards gained against them in district play while allowing over 20 points per game. Pampa has allowed only 22.5 yards per game.

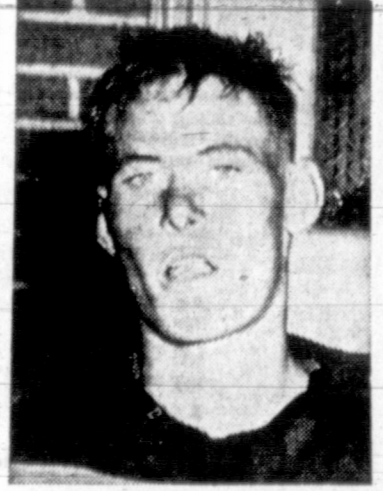

Lockett plans only one change in his starting lineups this week. Left halfback Harry Ward will replace Don Bigham. Ward made one touchdown and played an outstanding game against Plainview.

The probable Pampa offensive lineup:
Ends — Dale Lake, 155, and James Weathered, 153.
Tackles — Glen Howell, 173, and Don Jonas, 177.
Guards — Gene Devers, 163, and Gary Peterson, 162.
Quarterback — Jerry Bonsal, 163.
Quarterback — Dickie Mauldin, 157.
Halfbacks — Harry Ward, 150, and Bobby Dehis, 145.
Fullback — Robert Langford, 165.
The probable Pampa defensive starters:
Ends — Devers, Weathered; tackles — Jonas, Bill Kirbie; middle guard, Peterson; linebackers — Hopkins, Langford; cover men — Mauldin and Gary Heiskell; halfbacks — Lake, Dehis.

The probable Lubbock offensive lineup:
Ends — Coolidge Hunt, 176, and Charles Hall, 155.
Tackles — George Smith, 185, and Jerry Runnels, 200.
Guards — Frank Williams, 165, and Joe Henderson, 174.
Center — Bill Stovall, 186.
Quarterback — Eugene Holt, 153, or DeWitt Weaver, 165.
Halfbacks — Charlie Moore, 165, and Loren Langston, 170.
Fullback — Tom Roberts, 163.

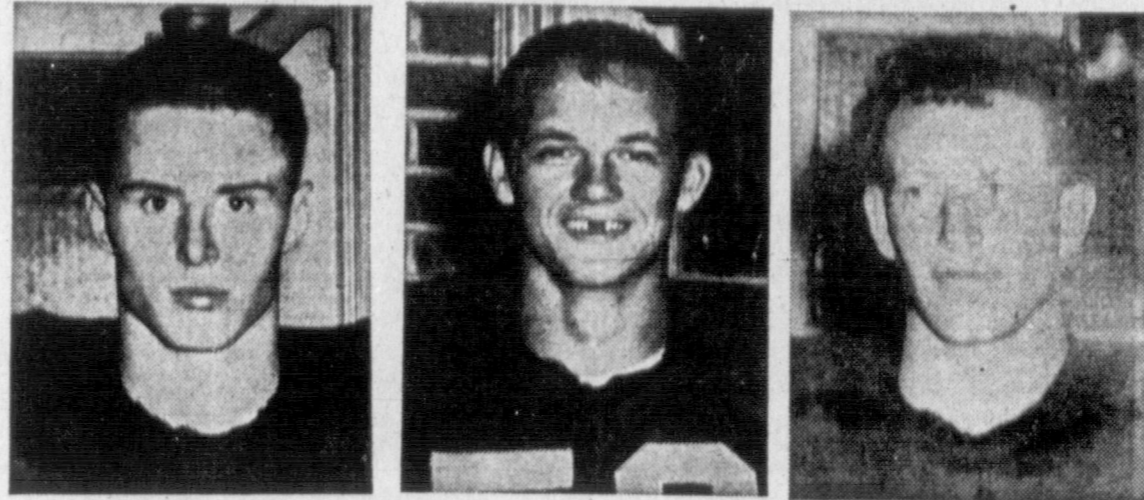

The probable defensive lineup:
Ends — Delton Mayfield, 173, and Runnels; tackles — Williams, Henderson; guards — Smith, Ronnie McClellan, 169; linebackers — Hall, Bob Brackett, 144; halfbacks — Hunt, Moore; safety — Holt or Weaver.

Battle Lines Are Drawn As Teams Start Battling For Bowl Berths

By JOHN GRIFFIN

United Press Sports Writer
Clemson risks its Orange Bowl berth in that very arena tonight when it tangles with an aroused University of Miami team anxious to take out its own bowl-frustration on somebody—a big game touching off a big showdown weekend in college football.

By the time the last goalpost is torn down Saturday evening, the battle lines could be pretty clearly drawn for the Rose, Sugar, and Orange Bowl games—but the Cotton Bowl set-up undoubtedly must wait another week.

Right now Clemson figures to get an Orange Bowl berth for sure if it beats Miami, and probably still would get it if Miami won in a close game.

But a Clemson debacle against the unbeaten and angry Hurricanes — whose bowl hopes were wiped out when the NCAA maintained their suspension could make the bowl promoters mighty unhappy about having the Tigers back again on New Year's Day. Clemson is expected to finish atop the Atlantic Coast Conference, but that loop ballots for its "most representative" team as its bowl nominee and might be induced to switch to another team in this case, with indications pointing to Duke.

Colorado Orange Bowl Pick
Colorado is virtually certain to represent the Big Seven in the Orange Bowl, unless Missouri stages the upset of the decade Saturday and beats national champion Oklahoma.

Both ends of the Rose Bowl could be clinched Saturday, but the odds-men don't think it will happen. They figure Oregon State will clinch the Pacific Coast Conference berth by clobbering Idaho, but Iowa, which can clinch the Big Ten berth by beating Ohio State, is a six-point underdog.

Tennessee reportedly has the Sugar Bowl sewed up since its 6-0 thriller over Georgia Tech last week, but nobody's saying anything yet because rugged Mississippi meets the Vols Saturday. The Rebels are seven point underdogs but, led by slammung fullback Paige Cothren, have the potential for an upset. Georgia Tech and Duke are among those reported under consideration for the other berth, but strong Northern and Western teams are not contenders this year because of the segregation issue.

Optimist Boxing Cancelled Tonight
The intra-team fight card which had earlier been scheduled for tonight at the Gray County Community Building, according to Pampa Optimist officials, has been cancelled.

Four teams were scheduled to fight as a tune-up for the Guyton matches next Friday night. The bouts were cancelled because of the big dinner meeting of the hotel association tonight.

"RED BLOOD CELLS"

Less than four and one-half million red cells (per c.c.) for women or five million for men is supposed to indicate anemia. The truth is that red cells vary greatly in their concentration in the blood. Exercise, high altitudes, and elevation of the temperature (such as Texas is famous for), profuse perspiration and diarrhea, will all increase the red cell count.

Exercise, elevation and heat cause the spleen to contract, which forces extra red blood cells into the blood stream. Mountain dwellers sometimes have a red cell count Dr. G. Miller D.C. of eight million. What figure would be considered, say, borderline anemia in the mountains?

What intricate body mechanism directs the contracting and relaxing of the spleen or speeds it up, or slows it down? The fact that these things happen inside us indicates that our nervous system is functioning as originally intended. Suppose there were an interference which altered these nerve messages and that instead of contracting as directed, an organ or gland would sort of go into reverse and relax? The individual would display certain symptoms of disorder but no evidence would be obtainable showing lesions, etc. The age old remark of "we find nothing wrong, go home and forget it" would be given again.

Our tests are designed to locate nerve interference and take the mystery out of these many ailments of no-visible cause. Consider this case from our files.

A forty-nine year old man came to us suffering from stomach trouble, gnawing pains, burning, belching, and timorous feelings. Ulcers had previously been diagnosed. In addition, he complained of nervousness, dizziness, constipation and low blood pressure.

He came to the Miller Chiropractic Clinic for spinal analysis and spinal X-rays which located some trouble in his central nervous system causing his symptoms. Corrective adjustments brought improvement and when his comparative examination was made, the correction was evident and all his symptoms had vanished, No. 413.

Men occasionally stumble over the truth. Most of them hurry off as if nothing had happened. A few will investigate and benefit.

Bowl-Less Aggies Seeking Title Tie

By ED FITE

United Press Sports Writer
Mental reactions to defeat will play a tremendous role in all three Southwest Conference football games Saturday as Texas A&M seeks to wrap up a sure title tie and Texas Christian and Southern Methodist try to stay in the running for the Cotton Bowl berth.

All three will have to show bounce-back tendencies if they hope to accomplish their immediate goals.

For Texas A&M, however, it will be a matter of overcoming the effects of defeat in a conference room and not on a football field.

The Aggies might be either futile or furious against Rice at College Station in the wake of Tuesday's decision that left in effect an NCAA ruling barring them from post-season play even if they win the title.

The bowl prospects might be enough to spark TCU and SMU back to the victory trail against Texas and Arkansas, respectively, despite the drubblings administered to them last week by Texas Tech and A&M.

Rice, too, will have the problem of recovering from a sound beating dished out by Arkansas, while it will be an old story for Texas, which lost its seventh game of the season last week against Baylor.

Baylor, incidentally takes to the high road for an interlocking get together with Nebraska at Lincoln, Neb.

The odds-makers have installed the Aggies as 15-point favorites to wallops Rice, made Baylor a 12-point choice over Nebraska, TCU nine over Texas and Arkansas six over SMU.

Aggies in Top Shape
The Aggies, hale and hearty physically except for a crick in the neck of quarterback Roddy Osborne, have won four straight league games in compiling a seven victory-one tie record and need only to defeat Rice or Texas to clinch a share of the championship that has eluded them since 1941.

On the basis of remaining schedules, TCU should be the favorite to emerge for a second straight Cotton Bowl trip. The Frogs still have Texas, Rice and SMU to face, while SMU has Arkansas, Baylor and TCU.

Championships Hanging In Balance This Week

By UNITED PRESS
Thirty-two district championships and as many playoff berths will hang in the balance this week as two divisions of Texas schoolboy football — Classes AA and A — wind up their regular schedule and title games are set in some AAAA and AAA districts. Of all the crucial titles, however, only one game will match two of the 21 perfect record teams left scattered throughout the four divisions that play to state championships.

That one sends George West to Three Rivers for the district 29-A crown.

Two of the showdown battles involve Class AAAA teams — Pasadena at Baytown in district 12 and Corpus Christi Ray vs. Corpus Christi Miller in 14 — and another involves two teams in AAA — Fort Worth Brewer at Garland in district 5.

Possibilities Listed
In addition, Tyler in 8 and Alice in 16 could sew up AAAA playoff spots, as could Andrews in 2, Kilgore in 7, Waco University in 9, Nederland in 11, and Mission in 18 among the AAA teams.

Yaleta in 1-AAAA, Bryan in 10-AAA and LaMarque in 12-AAA already have clinched playoff spots. Showdown games in six districts in AA will springboard the winner into the playoffs — Olney at Burkburnett in 8, Commerce at Bonham in 13, Georgetown at Belton in 20, Giddings at LaGrange in 21, Boling at West Columbia in 26 and Edouch-Elsa at Mercedes in 32.

In addition, Crane in 5, Lewisville in 10, DeKalb in 14, Brady in 19, Deer Park in 25 and Sinton in 29 can make the grade by winning. A three-way tie looms in 2-AA between Spur, Abernathy and Lockney.

Canyon in 1, Perryton in 2, Stamford in 4, Coleman in 7, Hamilton in 8, Seagoville in 11, Terrell in 12, Gilmer in 13, Hillsboro in 17, Crockett in 18, Lockhart in 22, Navasota in 23, Liberty in 24, Floresville in 27, Devine in 28 and Hebronville in 31 already have won their spurs.

The George West-Three Rivers tilt is one of five showdown games in Class A. The others are Panhandle at Stinnett in 1, Eldorado at Sonora in 8, Rockwall at Plano in 14 and East Chambers at Warren in 23.

Victories would also send these teams into the playoffs: Farwell in 3, Crosbyton in 4, Big Lake in 7, Holliday in 11, Wilmer-Hutchins in 13, Chapel Hill in 17, McGregor in 19, Timpson in 22, Humble in 24, East Bernard in 25 and Weller in 30.

Girardello Beats Cotton
MILWAUKEE (UP)—Joey Girardello relaxed his fists and began gazing towards a shot at the midweight title after his unanimous 10-round victory over Charlie Cotton Thursday night.

The Philadelphian had to contend with Cotton's turtle-like defense for most of the fight, and consequently was unable to pile up an advantage until the final three rounds.

Olympic Games Site Is On Cricket Grounds

(Third of four dispatches on the Olympic Games written for NEA Service and the Pampa Daily News.)

By FRANK SAMPSON NEA Special Correspondent MELBOURNE — (NEA) — The outstanding achievement in connection with preparations for the Olympic Games was the development of the Melbourne Cricket Ground into the main arena. The Cricket Ground is to Melbourne what the leading coliseum or baseball park is to any major American city. Designed primarily for cricket in the summer, it is the mecca of Australian-rules football fans throughout the winter.

It has held crowds of 98,000 at the annual Grand Final League football matches. It is only a half mile from the center of the city, which has a population of 1,375,000.

The new, enlarged Melbourne Cricket Ground has a capacity of 110,000 for the Games, Nov. 22-Dec. 8.

Last September, bulldozers and power shovels tore up the hallowed soil of center wicket, where top batsmen and bowlers of England and Australia for 50 years have battled for the mythical Ashes, the crown of victory in the biennial cricket Test matches.

Contractors took out 15,000 tons of soil in a gigantic earth-moving job to correct a seven-foot slope. Underground cinder drains and porous earth filling provide an almost weather-proof footing. A three-inch running service was laid down.

Olympic Park covers 25 acres and surrounds the Melbourne Cricket Ground. Three new arenas and a swimming stadium are closely grouped. There is a hockey field and a velodrome with a 33.3-meter track of New Zealand pine. Two velodrome stands seat 9,400.

In addition to the main arena and the Olympic Park sites, there are 54 training areas, covering every sport and all within 10 miles of Olympic Village in suburban Heidelberg.

The swimming stadium is constructed in novel design. There are two highly-unorthodox features — the roofing and the sloping sides which have tiers of seats. This method eliminates the need for pillars. The pool is heated and the air-conditioned stadium, accommodating 5,000, cost $800,000.

In the Melbourne Cricket Ground layout, care was taken to see that sprinters, high jumpers and pole vaulters do not have to run or jump into the sun and to avoid shadows.

Track events will be started by standard pistols with electric contacts imported from Switzerland in time to give starters experience in their use.

For staggered races, such as the 200-meter run, there will be a small loudspeaker beside each runner, each connected to a lapel transmitter in the starter's coat. Thus his command and the sound of the pistol shots will reach each competitor simultaneously. Similarly, the starter's signal will be transmitted to the timing devices.

A timer accurate to 2.3 millionths of a second, to be used in the sprints, is located in a special tower 80 feet above the finish line. This furnishes a photographic record of the arrival and time of every competitor to the 100th of a second within 90 seconds of the finish.

Results will be flashed to an electrically operated scoreboard by teleprinter and announced in English, French and Spanish through the public address system.

They also will be flashed around the world.

EARLY SIGNING—Dan Hodge of Perry, Okla., was one of the first U.S. Olympians to arrive at Melbourne—and he was immediately put to work scribbling autographs for youngsters.

Shot Put Champion Uncertain Of Plans

By OSCAR FRALEY United Press Sports Writer MELBOURNE (UP)—L. Parry O'Brien of the U.S. Air Force is fairly certain what he'll be doing the next three months but after that his plans are up in the sky like the shot put he heaves regularly to astounding world records.

Current developments are certain. First he'll sleep the next few weeks in the middle of a littered equipment room, because only there can he find privacy from the disturbing snores of his Olympic teammates.

Next he'll set a new Olympic record in the international games, breaking his own 1952 mark of 57 feet, one and one-half inches. This is a cinch, because only two other men have shaded 60 feet in the shot put while Parry has bettered 62 feet a total of eight times—and tossed it a fantastic 63 feet, two inches.

After that he'll make a tour of the Far East for the State Department and then he'll go home to get discharged from the Air Force.

"My wife, Sandra, and I live in a trailer," Parry said. "First of all I'm going to get some rest, play some golf and try to break 80, do a bit of horseback riding and try my hand at driving in some sports car races."

What happens then is anybody's guess, said the blue-eyed giant who stands six-feet-three and weighs 230 pounds.

"I might go into selling," he said, discarding the night mask he wears to keep light out of his eyes while sleeping. "Or maybe public relations."

But there are those who think the former University of Southern California athlete might go into professional football.

Six Area Football Games Set Tonight

Six football games are scheduled for the Pampa area tonight to close out the 1956 regular season. Two of the contests will be played to decide district champions and they include the Panhandle-Stinnett game at Stinnett and the Groom-Stratford event at Groom.

In other games, McLean plays at Lefors, Shamrock hosts Perryton, White Deer plays at Sunray and Canadian goes to Memphis.

The winner of the Panhandle-Stinnett game will decide the District 1-A title while Groom seeks the District 1-B crown with a win over Stratford. All four teams are unbeaten in district play. Winners will advance into state bi-district competition.

NOT A FOOTBALL COACH—Hockey is so fast that the attack has to be improvised, but Coach Phil Watson goes to the blackboard to show the New York Rangers' center and playmaker, Dave Creighton, what to do in a given situation.

FIGHT RESULTS

By UNITED PRESS MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Joey Girardello, 199½, Philadelphia, outpointed Chazley Cotton, 158, Toledo, Ohio (10).

LOS ANGELES—Nick Turner, 169½, Columbus, Ohio, outpointed Ruben Hernandez, 187, San Francisco (10).
