

Powerful Sales Drives Underway For A New Community Hotel

GEORGE CREE JR.
... heads campaign

The general sales campaign for the proposed community-owned hotel for Pampa is underway. The campaign was opened with a kick-off dinner Friday night in the Palm Room of City Hall when a total of 202 members of the executive committee and general sales force met and received final instructions.

Those who attended the dinner Friday night fully realized the need of a modern hotel in Pampa with adequate banquet facilities. As one person said, "I now know how a sardine feels." The ladies serving the meal reported that they used every piece of equipment that the Palm Room had in serving the crowd.

George Cree Jr., chairman of the executive committee, acted as master of ceremonies and welcomed the large group. He introduced Ed Myatt, past president of the Chamber of Commerce and manager of the Men's Section of the general sales force, who told those present of the background of the new hotel campaign. He stressed the fact that plans proposed by the Hockenbury system call for a banquet room that will seat 400 people.

Myatt informed the group that the type of structure or the location of the hotel had not been decided and would not be decided until those persons who buy stock decide it for themselves.

Cree then introduced the special guest for the evening, George Finger, president of the Borger Hotel, and George Black, manager of Borger Hotel.

Finger told the group of the efforts in Borger to build a hotel which dated back to 1935. He stated that after World War II several businessmen contacted the Hockenbury System and had them conduct a campaign in which $422,000 in stock was sold. They then obtained a loan from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in the amount of $325,500 and a local loan of $87,500. Finger stated that under the terms of the RFC loan no dividends could be paid to stockholders until the loan was repaid in full.

He reported that the hotel opened without the necessary equipment and that office space was rented without air conditioning. They told the people that it would be air conditioned but they didn't know when they would get the money to do so.

As of Oct. 30, 56, a total of $117,138.18 of the debt had been retired and $92,432 in interest had been paid, Finger reported.

He also stated that the value of the hotel had been increased $55,000 since the hotel opened for business in October, 1935.

Finger reported that the largest stock sale was in the amount of $10,000 and most of the money came from "up and down Main Street."

Following Finger's statements, Black reported that several hotel companies in the country are qualified to operate the hotel for the stockholders. The hotel companies furnish competent management and set up the operation of the hotel on a sound business basis. The manager of the hotel works for both the local group and for the hotel company.

Following the discussion by the officials of the Borger Hotel, Hugh Burdette, a member of the executive committee, told the members of the general sales force of the problems they would encounter in selling stock.

He then told those present of Cabot's interest in the hotel. He informed them that Cabot had many employees in the Pampa area and that many people come to Pampa on business with Cabot. He stated that Cabot wanted to do something for the community to make it a better town and they thought the hotel would do that.

He also urged the sales force to use caution in selling the stock and not to sell stock in the hotel to people who could not afford to purchase it.

The next local person to speak to the group was Mayor Lynn Boyd, chairman of the original Chamber of Commerce group which did the initial work on the present campaign, who told the salespeople that it is not the plans to let any person overbuy. He concluded by stating that Pampa should build a hotel "that our heirs can afford."

Following Boyd's statements, C. P. Buckler, vice-chairman of the executive committee, stated that Pampa has grown from a "wide spot in the road" to its present size because Pampans have been behind every effort and project to better the community. He stated:

FRED NESLAGE
... sales manager

"We must pull (the hotel) over." Fred Neslage, sales manager of the general sales force, introduced the managers of the Men's and Women's Sections, Ed Myatt and Mrs. Rufe Jordan. Mrs. Jordan introduced her assistant, Mrs. Lynn Boyd.

These managers introduced the division managers who in turn introduced the group managers in their division.

One of the highlights of the evening was Mayor and Mrs. Boyd telling each other to "talk louder," when neither could be heard distinctly across the room.

Envelopes containing salesmen's materials were passed out to all of those present by H. W. Rohrer, assistant campaign director. He emphasized the importance of following the instructions on the envelopes.

He reported that a special meeting would be held at 3:30 this afternoon. (See HOTEL, Page 9)

$280,000 In Hotel Stock Is Subscribed

Members of the general sales force which is selling stock in a community-owned hotel subscribed to a total of $280,000 at a meeting of the sales group at noon yesterday in the Palm Room.

This total represented subscriptions signed by 108 of the over 240 salespeople within the group. Managers of the five work groups within the executive committee reported upon the personal subscriptions of members of the executive committee to date and the total reported was $159,500.

The total personal subscriptions for the two groups totals $174,500. With advance subscriptions of business and individuals obtained by members of the executive committee the grand total in subscriptions for the proposed community hotel for Pampa stood at approximately $280,000 late yesterday.

The total reported in subscriptions by Divisions was as follows:

- Div. A, a total of eight subscriptions totaling $2,000.
- Div. B, a total of 11 subscriptions totaling $1,500.
- Div. C, a total of 16 subscriptions totaling $3,800.
- Div. D, a total of 35 subscriptions totaling $4,600.
- Div. E, a total of 15 subscriptions totaling $1,400.
- Div. F, a total of 23 subscriptions totaling $1,700.

The only group to report one hundred per cent of the sales personnel signing up for stock was Group 24, Mrs. Nina Spoonmore, manager. This group was only organized three days ago.

Additional instructions were given to the group, including information on bank draft payments and payroll deductions. Cards authorizing the two local banks to authorize drafts are available and two firms, Cabot and Panhandle Packing Co., have agreed to let employees make stock payments by payroll deductions.

Man Burned In Fire Near Skellytown

SKELLYTOWN — (Special) — Welborn McGomery, age 30, an employe of the Sand Springs Home Co., received serious burns when a heater he was cleaning exploded about 11 a.m. yesterday on the Ware lease, southeast of the Skelly Crawford Camp.

Reports indicate that McGomery ran from the scene of the explosion with his clothes ablaze and jumped into a pickup which he drove about 40 feet. He then jumped from the truck and ran about one-fourth of a mile where he was found.

Witnesses reported that all of McGomery's clothing with the exception of his shoes was burned off.

He was taken to North Plains Hospital in Borger by a Pampa ambulance. No report on his condition was available late last night.

Shivers Okays Drought Aid In Telegram

In a telegram received Friday by Gray County Judge Bruce Parker from Governor Allan Shivers, the Judge was authorized to approve applications for a reduction in freight rates on hay and roughage to all farmers of the county.

The move came as acceptance of one of the enactments sought by Parker and several other leaders for the drought stricken areas of Texas.

Judge Parker had been in communication with Representative Walter Rogers and Governor Shivers since the beginning of the drought and in many of the communications had outlined suggestions and given the general situation.

Hotel-Now Or Never

(An Editorial)

The next ten days probably are as significant to Pampa's future as any like period in its history for, during this time, the drive to sell securities in a modern community hotel will receive maximum effort on the part of hundreds of townspeople.

There has been a great deal of publicity and conversation as to the many benefits a modern hotel will bring to Pampa and we are now at the stage when love of community and confidence in its future needs to be expressed in terms of dollars invested.

About 250 individuals are now in the process of contacting every prospective purchaser in town and this, in itself, shows the momentum of enthusiasm which is abroad in our city.

For the benefit of you, Mr. and Mrs. Prospect (and every adult citizen is, in the last analysis, a prospect), we are running on page 15 the projected financial picture of the proposed hotel and we seriously suggest you take time to examine it inasmuch as it will answer many questions which could be in your mind.

The time has come, as stated before, to act! The new hotel project is laying before the community as a challenge which has never before been faced. Its success portends a dynamic future and failure means Pampa will probably not see modern hotel facilities for at least a generation.

Remember when you are contacted by a member of the sales force that Pampa's future rests in YOUR hands and the purchase of securities will be a measure of your confidence and devotion to the city you call home.

Slated For Deportation

VIENNA, Nov. 17 (UP) — Russian troops Saturday rounded up more young Hungarians for deportation to slave labor camps.

The Soviet action spurred enraged Budapest workers to pledge continuation of their paralyzing general strike despite thinly-veiled Communist threats to starve them into submission.

Simultaneously, it was announced that the Communists regime of Soviet-sponsored Hungarian Premier Janos Kadar has agreed to let the International Red Cross control distribution of western relief for the shattered country, including $20 million in U. S. aid.

United Press Staff Correspondent Russell Jones reported from shattered Budapest that spokesmen for more than 100,000 workers there said the deportations now have become a major issue in the rebellion.

Cerebral Palsy Project Is Promoted Here

A group of Pampa citizens met Friday evening in the auditorium of the Central Baptist Church for the purpose of getting a mobile cerebral palsy unit to visit Pampa.

Charles H. Edwards, United Cerebral Palsy Association representative, met with the group, which is making an effort to get the mobile unit to visit Pampa and four other towns in the Panhandle once a week.

The unit carries necessary equipment for treatment and also is manned by trained therapists, teachers, vocational guidance workers and medical personnel.

The local effort is aimed at promoting a community project and would be affiliated with the Cerebral Palsy clinic at Amarillo.

Citizens interested in promoting the project told The News that the proposed project would be a demonstration of the need for such a unit in this area.

'Dag', Nasser End Talks On Mid-East

LONDON, Nov. 17 (UP)—United Nations Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold ended two days of talks with Egyptian officials on the operation of UN forces in Egypt Saturday night. Diplomatic sources said they believed the talks had been "satisfactory."

The UN chief held his final meeting with Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser Saturday night.

Neither Hammarskjold nor Nasser made any immediate statement after the talks ended. But foreign diplomats said the situation appeared "hopeful."

Hammarskjold will fly to New York Sunday for talks with leaders of Britain, France and Israel about the actions of the UN emergency force.

While he negotiated with Nasser Saturday, the first Communist troops—44 Yugoslav soldiers—arrived at Abu Suweir airfield to take part in the international peace mission.

Suit Is Filed After Wreck

A $151,165 suit was filed in 31st District Court yesterday morning by Betty Ray Williams and others against the H. Petry and Sons Trucking Company.

The complaint arose as a result of the collision Oct. 2 between a milk truck driven by Deane Osborne Williams, 21, of Shamrock, and a gravel truck driven by C. J. Rogers, in which Williams and another person were killed.

In the suit, Mrs. Williams, widow of the victim, and others sought damages for the death of her husband and the death of another person.

STAFF NOTES

JOEL R. COMBS, managing editor

One of the most exasperating (Apologies to the phone company. Please don't take your ads out lest I join the broad line.) things to come to Pampa recently is MO. Did you know that it takes approximately one second apiece to dial those two letters on your telephone? MO thrown in, the least amount of time you can expect to spend dialing a friend or business contact in Pampa is eight seconds. The most amount of time it would take you is 12 seconds (times checked on my trusty Baylor). That leaves us with a mean average of 10 seconds lost anytime you dial your telephone.

Did you know that many men and probably a woman or two can run 100 yards in that amount of time?

And now, on top of that, you gotta have a dime to make a call from a public phone booth starting Dec. 1.

It's gonna cost me at least a dime now to call the bank to see if I have saved up enough cash to buy a postage stamp in order to mail in my income tax.

George Newberry, manager of Southwestern Bell Telephone's Pampa district, assured me recently, however, that the time factor, anyway, will be taken care of pretty soon. He says that eventually all you will have to do to get another party on the phone is to pick up the phone and tell it your party's number! Let's hurry up that a little if we can, George.

JANE KADINGO, women's editor

Somewhere along the line my education was sadly neglected concerning what I still call "cows," meaning any bovine animal without differentiation between "steer" and "cow." In fact until I worked for the American Aberdeen - Angus Breeders' Association some years back I thought all black "cows" were vicious bulls, and I promptly took off for the nearest fence.

However, my heart went out to the poor little steer that braved the jungle of Cuyler Street last Sunday following the train derailment at being dragged from the free, open range into a closed-in "corral" on wheels which sometime later burst apart throwing him into an area of buildings, people and automobiles.

When my husband and I saw him, he was dashing aimlessly around the street. He evidently decided this was useless and soon just stood — right in the lane of traffic. As the cars advanced slowly toward him, he decided to move — right into the other lane of traffic.

Being public-spirited creatures, we did peer around the corner of the First National Bank to see where he went, after we'd parked the car. However, he evidently made a fast gallop toward the darker, and much-less populated area around, or east of, the post office, as he was nowhere in sight. Without a lariat, it is doubtful what we'd have done had he been standing there munching on someone's headlight, but we tried anyway!

DICK COLLINS, sports editor

I'm a newcomer to Pampa. Now don't get me wrong. Pampa is a fine city and a wonderful place to live, but I was just wondering the other day:

Is the insurance rate in Pampa higher than in other cities of its size? Do all cities allow right turns on red lights? And do life insurance companies pay double indemnity when a pedestrian is run down in the middle of a Pampa street?

I have asked myself, and others, these questions many times since I've been here. I have come to the conclusion that my only solution to stay alive in this fast-moving city is to stay right here in the office and rely on the telephone for information.

Since I have been in Pampa I have almost been run down twice while crossing the street at an intersection, come close to having my car scraped on many occasions by a wild driver making a right turn on a red light without stopping or looking, just missing a driver backing out of a parking place without looking back and, finally, almost plowing into an unlighted truck parked parallel on a narrow street that will barely allow two cars to meet.

What is the solution for this? I understand the city plans to abolish the right turn on a red light in the near future. Pedestrian walks should be painted at intersections, giving them the right-of-way. It's much easier to get across a street now by jaywalking. But that's illegal.

FRED M. PARKER, oil, farm editor; staff writer

Wandering around Pampa as I must do in the course of finding stories to fill the pages of this paper I see many interesting things.

One of the most unusual sights that I see on the course of my wandering through the seemingly endless offices in the Court House is found in the sheriff's office. Have you ever seen the sheriff of Gray County, Rufe Jordan, who is reportedly the largest sheriff in the state, holding the chihuahua dog that he and Mrs. Jordan own? It's quite a site. He claims that it belongs to his grandson.

After several weeks of trying to make friends with the miniature dog, and finally succeeding only a few nights ago, the first thing the "mutt" did was to try to take a chunk out of my thumb. I always heard that dynamite came in little packages.

While we are on the subject of unusual sights around the Court House we need to mention that 197 vintage Ford that Charlie Thut, county clerk, drives to and from work. I don't even have to go into the building to know if Charlie is at work, all I have to do is look out front and see if this antique is parked in its usual place.

I've often wondered what would happen around a certain Court House if he traded it in on a newer model, say one not over ten years old.

BOB PEREZ, area, church editor; staff writer

Saw an interesting film in the Cabot Auditorium the other night . . . on skiing; and, adventurous youth that I am, I said: "That's for me."

As I watched the skiers ascend the steep incline in pulleys or chairs, I couldn't help but think what sides they were, and I began to envision myself climbing that same mountain on foot in quest of some abominable snowman. As I heard instructions given on how to turn, stop short, and many other things connected with the alpine art of snow plowing, I remember nodding and thinking how elementary it all was.

It did not, I felt, pertain to me, so I continued on in the labyrinth of my own mind, long after the narrator had suggested I stop. Upon reaching the top, however, it suddenly dawned upon me that I must now descend. Coward that I am, I balked, and upon waking up, I decided to leave the pleasant sport to my friend, the more experienced John Hardy, and another Pampan who is quite an enthusiast in that field. . . John Bradley. It's not the long slide down hill I fear, but the sudden stop at the bottom.

TV Show Put New Grace Into The Life Of Vincent Price

By ALINE MOSBY
 United Press Hollywood Writer
HOLLYWOOD (UP)—To Vincent Price a hobby of more than 20 years has suddenly graced his life with new riches: He's become a sought-after star in Hollywood—all because he talked about art on a television quiz show.

The effect on any contestant of appearing on "The $64,000 Challenge" must be deep, but in the case of actor Price it came in the form of a career boost.

After the elegant actor fought a tie with Edward G. Robinson over art on the popular program, CBS-TV signed him to star in a mystery series about an art dealer. He was hustled onto the George Gobel show for a parody on the quiz program. He'll explain art to a home-stay questioner, Herb Shriner, on the Shriner show Nov. 20. And a plan is afoot to have Price give informal talks on art on CBS' popular Sunday program, Adventure.

But to Price far more important than the flood of job offers is the interest in art that the show aroused in the public.

"This TV show is a justification of 20 years of working in my community to interest people in art," he said. "For years I've had to beat my way to get anybody to listen. Suddenly to have an audience of 50 million, trembling at your every word!

"Anything I've ever done before has been negligible compared to this. Attendance at the Los Angeles museum tripled after Eddie and I talked about his collection being on display there. Book stores tell me the sale of art books has come up. It's wonderful!

"The letters I receive from people interested in art are fantastic."

Price started collecting art at the age of 12 when he put 50 cents down on a $35 Rembrandt etching in St. Louis. By now he and his wife have a collection of nearly 800 pictures (mostly by contemporary painters) sculpture, pottery, etc.

Most of their collection is constantly on loan to colleges and museums. As president of the art council at UCLA he is always busy arranging exhibits and lectures for students.

Marines Get New Leave Policy
 WASHINGTON (UP)—The Marine Corps is putting into effect a new leave policy which will give recruits an additional five days at home after completing basic and advanced training.

The corps announced Wednesday that recruits will be given 15 days leave rather than the 10 days currently authorized. This leave will be granted upon completion of 12-week recruit training and four-week individual combat training.

A BUFFALO NAMED SIOUX—Denver zoo eight-ton lifesaver.

Man's Best Friend In Denver Zoo Is Buffalo

By CHARLES GOODMAN
 NEA Special Correspondent

DENVER, Colo.—(NEA)—Denver zoo keepers say that man's best friend is not a dog—but a buffalo. One named Sioux.

The eight-ton prairie king has a lifesaving record that would make a St. Bernard ashamed of himself.

Sioux's fame comes from a long-standing disagreement he has with his eight buffalo cows in Denver's City Park.

These combative ladies have a horn-wagging dislike for swooping humans. Sioux is different. He likes people to visit.

More than once Sioux has saved a zoo keeper from sudden death on the horns of a mayhem-minded buffalo cow.

His most spectacular lifesaving performance came recently when a zoo keeper climbed into the pasture to move a water sprinkler. Cherokee, one of the temperamental cows, standing in the cool spray, didn't want the sprinkler moved.

The keeper, sensing her disapproval, backed away, slipped on the wet grass and fell. Cherokee charged in, head-down. She hooked horns under his body and prepared to toss the keeper over her shoulder.

The alert, human-loving Sioux snorted and came thundering down the full length of the pasture. The cow quavered, dropped the keeper and fled, while the bruised keeper, escorted by protective Sioux, limped quickly over the fence to safety.

Then Sioux trotted over to the feeding bin to get his usual reward—a big bag of juicy carrots.

Cancer In Schools

Since we have inveighed repeatedly against the evils in our politically dominated school system, we have been asked to suggest a positive remedy.

Despite our constant denials of intent to do away with education, our remarks against GOVERNMENT in schools are still interpreted by some to mean that we favor the abolition of schools themselves.

We never made a statement which would foster such a conclusion. Nor have we ever wanted such a thing to happen. Our aim is to IMPROVE our educational picture in America, not to eliminate it. And we point to government in the role of educator as a physician might point to a germ of cancer thriving in the human body.

The physician is not urging suicide for the victim of cancer. He recommends a cure, or at least an alleviation of the growth and damage done by cancer. So do we approach our government school system. We want a large and effective communion. We feel that government functioning within the educational body is equivalent to cancer in the human body. We recommend a cure, or at least a diminution of the effect from this virulence, not the removal of education.

Nor would this recommendation be greeted with surprise by those who know how sick our schools have become, if they were to review the case of our schools with an open mind.

Many symptoms of the virus are all about us. Our children are learning the fundamentals of reading, writing, spelling, arithmetic or common courtesy. They are not learning basic moral and spiritual principles. They are being entertained and amused, rather than instructed in the verities.

But this is only one of the symptoms. Another is the rise in taxes, which in inverse ratio marks the fall of scholastic standards. Still another is the costly rash of school buildings, rising like a plague among us, as the buildings and equipment and literary pap, were a solution to ignorance in themselves.

Some have recommended that what is wrong with the schools can be remedied without the removal of the source of contagion. Find better teachers, they urge. Compel the students to get the fundamentals. Collect more taxes and bring greater force to bear.

But isn't the disease caused by too much force already? And isn't the solution to be found in a removal of the compulsions and the violence which sit upon the neck of our tax-ridden schools? And how can you cure the effects of violence by advocating greater violence?

Cancer in the human body and government in the American educational system provide a deadly parallel. The cure in either case is painful, but not so painful as the disease itself. We recommend the removal of the government from the school system. This recommendation is made in the hopes and with the expectation that once the root of the evil is removed, the educational body will regain its health and flourish with new vigor.

We would not think of turning over our churches nor our homes to political control. Yet schools provide a sacred third to the basic institutions we must have if we would build a sound civilization based on morality, honor and integrity. Why, then, must we have politicians polluting our education blood stream with the cancer of government control and ever mounting taxes? Obviously, government is not needed in our schools. Our churches and our homes can and do flourish with an absence of political control. Why not our schools?

Tiny cancerous cells, also invisible to the human eye, can wreak havoc in the body. Tiny cells of violence and coercion in our school system are in the process of erecting a monolithic political arm of the bureaucracy from which all true education matter will be squeezed, and the result, a diseased and propagandized incubator filled with inert gray matter. The cure, tho painful, is not so bad as it at first may seem.

MORE REVERENCE FOR GOD (Christian Economics)

The California Christian Citizens Association has published a pamphlet in which it is pointed out that Attorney General Brown's opinion that the Bible may not be read nor prayers offered in the public schools of California is contrary to the spirit of the Constitution of that state and to the Declaration of Independence of our country.

The Preamble to the Constitution of California reads: "We, the people of California, grateful to Almighty God for our freedom . . . do ordain this Constitution."

These words acknowledge God as the source of our freedom and express gratitude to him.

The Declaration of Independence acknowledges God as Creator, God of nature, supreme Judge of the world, and divine Providence. It is He who has endowed all men with certain inalienable rights, among which are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. These are religious truths acknowledged by the great documents of our history and woven into the fabric of our civilization. Yet they may not be taught to our youth in the schools of many of our states.

Our calendar starts with the birth of Christ. Many of our official documents conclude with the legislative bodies with prayer. If prayer is appropriate in these places, why should it be excluded from our public schools?

Reverence for God should permeate the thinking of man from the earliest days of childhood. If it is left out of the child's life for the five days of the school week, it will be difficult to impress him with its great significance and importance.

The best solution is private schools in which religion can be taught in accordance with the wishes of the parents. An encouraging number of these are now springing up.

words, "done in the year of our Lord . . ." Taking the oath is a religious act which recognizes God: "Do you promise — as you shall answer to God . . ." "I do, so help me God." Yet the God to whom this appeal is made in our courts must not be mentioned in our public schools.

We employ chaplains to aid in prison and reformatory work. A little more of the Bible and religion in our schools might stop some of the traffic towards the prisons. We employ chaplains in our armed forces and to open sessions of our

"This Is A Democracy, 'I Am The Government'"

Dorothy N. Woodbury of Lima, Ohio, takes the policies of Freedom Newspapers to task for contending that when men have to pay for things they do not want to use that they are to that degree a slave. She so writes in "The Voice of The People" in The Lima (Ohio) News. She is a school teacher and, of course, defends government schools.

She errs in her belief when she says "I am the people," meaning that she is the government. She writes, "I am grateful to be a slave to myself."

Most people who believe in any form of collectivism like to contend that they are the government. That's the usual cliché in explaining democracy.

Isabel Paterson in her great book, "The God of the Machine," put it this way:

"But if the authority resides in the collective whole, it is evident that with the disagreement of even one person, the whole is no longer existent or operative; in which case no general action whatever could be legitimately undertaken. The prime presumption has vanished. In practice then democracy must abandon its own pretended entity of the collective whole, and rely upon majority. But majority is only a part; thus majority rule implies inconceivably that the part is greater than the whole. Furthermore, even majority is not always obtainable; only a plurality may favor a given course of action; in which case one minority must command several other minorities which if added together are greater in number or weight. Such is the inherent contradiction in the theory of democracy. In any event, personal liberty is wiped out at the very beginning, with the theoretic transition from particles to mass or from the unit to the sun. Slavery of a minority, or of 'foreigners,' is quite consistent with majority rule."

Then Miss Paterson has a footnote as follows:

"The modern cliché, 'This is a democracy, I am the government,' is nonsensical. Even as an agency, the government is a formal organization with an authorized personnel, of which the private citizen is not a member. When several persons employ an umpire, they are distinctively not the umpire, although he holds that office by their agreement."

If, as Mrs. Woodbury contends, she is the government, then she would have the right to sell or manage as she saw fit any of the things the government owned.

If John Doe would attempt to use aggressive force to make the government schools use the books and hire the teachers that he believed would best educate the people and thus serve humanity, he would be a lawbreaker. If he were not the government; that the elected officers in the state who determine what textbooks can be used and what teachers hired are the government.

Would Mrs. Woodbury contend that she was the government if she were in the position of Mrs. Mary Turner and Mrs. Mary Schoenheit who were driven out of California because they wanted to educate their own children?

One is now in Arizona and the other is in Missouri attempting to get out from under having the government have the final say as to what education is.

Will Mrs. Woodbury answer this question? Should the parents or the representatives of the majority have the final say as to how children should be educated?

Mrs. Woodbury is sorry that there are other parts of the Bible that Freedom Newspapers overlooked. She refers to the Good Samaritan and "Am I my brother's keeper?"

"We're glad she brought that up. The Good Samaritan did not even ask, let alone use aggressive force, to make other people help pay the expense of taking care of the man who had been beaten and robbed. He himself paid the bill and told the innkeeper that he would pay the balance.

Brother's Keeper

And when Cain murdered his brother and Jehovah asked him where Abel was, Cain evaded the answer by asking Jehovah, "Am I my brother's keeper?," knowing full well that if Jehovah answered he would have to say that he was not his brother's keeper, because to be one's brother's keeper is to have to control that brother, just as a jail keeper controls the inmates of the jail.

Being one's brother's keeper is an entirely different matter from being one's brother's helper or one's brother's brother. One is voluntary and the other is based on might-makes-right, that one man is so omnipotent and the other man is so unimportant that he can not be regarded as a human being and has no inalienable rights, so that he has to be kept like some keeps sheep or animals."

The sooner people being to learn that they are not the government when they are obliged to pay for something they do not want to use, the better we'll all be off. If we had followed the ideologies as set forth in the Declaration of Independence that governments derive their just power from the consent of the governed, then we would have a limited government and would not have to use aggressive force that degrades the character of the members operating the government. Even Lincoln recognized that politicians were different from men who were not politicians.

With Middle East Crisis May Come New Sort Of Isolation

By Thurman Sensing

Out of the present Middle East conflict may come a new sort of isolationism for the United States — and it may be all for the good.

This is not discounting the value of the United Nations in certain of its aspects, or the value of extending economic aid to other countries in particular cases, or the value of furnishing military equipment and making military alliances with other nations under certain circumstances. But it is discounting very emphatically the belief that too many people in this country have held since the end of the Second World War that any one of these things or any combination of them would assure peace in the world.

It has been apparent to a good many people all along that a strong United States of America, both economically and militarily, is the best assurance of peace in the world — and the Middle East conflict bids fair to prove that point.

The only force in the world that will hold the Soviet Union out of this war is not the United Nations, is not the nations engaged in the war, is not anything except the United States of America. If the Russians do enter the war and it develops into a Third World War, then the only force in the world that can win this war for the cause of freedom is the United States of America.

This fact should be pretty clear to most everybody by now, and of course it is rather distasteful to those who placed their reliance for world peace upon the United Nations or upon the foreign aid we have been pouring out since World War II or upon the so-called Western Alliance or anything else.

The United Nations has certainly not prevented wars. It is a good forum for world debate, but it has been foolish to depend upon it to preserve peace. Members of the United Nations were on opposite sides in the actual conflict of the Korean War; other members are on opposite sides in the present Middle East War. An organization able to preserve peace certainly would not have its members at war with each other.

As to our foreign aid, of which we have poured out $55 billion since the end of the Second World War, that has all been wasted so far as preserving peace is concerned.

Take the four nations presently engaged in the Middle East conflict, for instance. We have given Great Britain $8.9 billion in one form or another since the end of the war; we have given France $5.5 billion; we have given Israel $400 million since that nation was founded eight years ago; and we have given Egypt $116 million since it went on the free load list four years ago.

We undoubtedly strengthened these nations considerably by all these grants — but for what? So that they could go to war with each other?

It was our material equipment that enabled the Russians to survive the onslaught of the Germans during the Second World War — and now the Russians are the greatest enemy we have ever had. We defeated Japan and Germany during that war, and since then have rebuilt both these nations with American dollars and consider them our allies in the present ideological conflict — but can we depend upon them any more than upon other nations that we have aided and later turned against us?

We went to war in 1917 to save the world for democracy. The results were indeed dubious. As is now well known, we brought our involvement in World War II on ourselves. But we again took part — in order to save the world — and the results are now even more dubious.

If all this means that the United States may decide that the best service we can render the world is to remain strong ourselves, and go our own way then we can well hope that we have once more returned to the principles of our forefathers who came to this country in the first place to get away from the old world order — where they could service the cause of freedom, not the cause of war and intrigue which always breeds despotism and servitude.

MOPSY

FOR REFLECTION

...with JAMES C. INGEBRETSEN, President, Spiritual Mobilization

According to the York Trade Composer (house organ of the York Composition Co.), "Liberty is the privilege of being free from the things we don't like in order to be slaves of things we like."

Intended as a wisecrack, this rather wry statement contains, I think, considerable truth.

Seneca put it this way: "It is foolish to strive with what we cannot avoid; we are born subjects, and to obey God is perfect liberty."

To be free of detrimental things in order to be able to devote all our energies and affections to beneficial things — to become their slaves, if you want to put it that way — is, without doubt, the highest form of liberty. On the other hand, to be the servants of those things that are detrimental so that our loyalty and devotion to those things that are beneficial is incomplete is not to be free but to be enslaved.

He who is torn between two loyalties, who is pulled in two directions, cannot be free. Only he who is completely the servant of God is truly free, because, as Seneca said, "to obey God is perfect liberty."

West's Squabble Over Suez May Put Red China In UN

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — An offshoot outcome of the Western Allies' squabble over the Middle East problem, in which the United States opposed the Israeli - British-French penetration of the Suez Canal area, may be the admission of Red China to the United Nations at the current session of the General Assembly in New York.

The Peiping regime, which was closely allied with Communist Russia at its birth, has been kept out of the international organization in the past only through intense pressure and lobbying by the United States. In fact, the mere discussion of China's admission was kept off the agenda of the U.N. until after the November 6 election through an agreement between President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Anthony Eden when they conferred here last January.

Besides recognizing Red China, Eden favors her entry into the U.N. for practical reasons. He thinks that the regime of Nationalist China on Formosa is an American diplomatic fiction. Most of our European Allies agree with him. But the 1956 fall meeting of the U.N. Assembly was designed and deliberately fixed for November 12 so that these controversial issues would not be discussed before the election.

Eden agreed and promoted the postponement because of several Eisenhower favors which helped him with his constituents. The United States voted to keep the agenda of Cyprus off the U.N. agenda to strengthen Eden in his 1955 confrontation of British voters. He also went to the 1955 Geneva Summit Conference for the same reason, although he was originally opposed to this top-level meeting in the belief that it would accomplish nothing.

There are now 79 members of the U.N. and it requires three-fourths vote in the Assembly for admission of a new member after it has been recommended by seven votes in the 11-member Security Council. The United States has always been able to defeat a pro-Red China proposal in both bodies with the support of West European nations and units of the Asian - Arabian and South American blocs.

There are now 79 members of the U.N. and it requires three-fourths vote in the Assembly for admission of a new member after it has been recommended by seven votes in the 11-member Security Council. The United States has always been able to defeat a pro-Red China proposal in both bodies with the support of West European nations and units of the Asian - Arabian and South American blocs.

Now, however, the Asian - African bloc has 26 members, the Soviet group has ten, the Western European has ten, and the South American countries have enough to outvote the American anti-Red China faction. Despite their general sympathy with American foreign policy, they seem to believe that there can be no solid or permanent settlement of Far Eastern problems, which are possible causes of general war in that area, until Peiping is seated around the international forum's table.

The West European bloc, which has hitherto voted with us on this issue, may line up with Britain and France for further recognition of Peiping. They may feel, as do some American diplomats, that such a stroke would tend to disassociate Chinese Communists from the Russian brand. Mao Tse-tung has contributed to this conclusion by expressing formal sympathy for Poland's break with Moscow. In fact, he has behaved with surprising restraint in the current Middle East and Middle European crisis.

It would, of course, drive a hard bargain as a prelude to China's U.N. admission, possibly sufficiently strong to satisfy Republican Senate Leader William F. Knowland of California, who is nicknamed as "the member from Korea and Formosa." At the least, Eisenhower would demand Peiping's promise to abandon thoughts of aggression against South Korea, Formosa and the free section of Indo-China. Such a pledge, if kept, would make for stability in the Far East, possibly

The Doctor Says

By Edwin J. Jordan, M. D. "I am troubled with a dry, itchy scalp and with dandruff," G.R. writes. "I asked my barber about it, and he advised a hair tonic, but I wish you would discuss the subject."

The enormous variety of hair tonics and other preparations on the market for dandruff testifies to the great number of people who have such difficulty. A considerable number of chemical substances are included in these various tonics, and many people get a certain amount of relief from them.

However, there is no single one which seems to be satisfactory to all people. Furthermore, some are sensitive, or become sensitive, to various chemicals commonly included in these preparations. I am of the opinion that serious dandruff requires more attention than the simple use of a commercial preparation.

Dandruff, which is also called dry seborrhea or seborrhea sicca, is most common on the scalp, but it can occur on other parts of the body. Fine, slightly gray white or gray scales fall off whenever the hair is brushed — or even without brushing. Some itching is common. Men and women are equally liable to dandruff, and it is often associated with early loss of hair.

There is much to suggest that some kind of infection may be at fault, at least in some cases. No single germ, however, has ever been incriminated.

The condition frequently develops in people who are apparently in excellent health. Dandruff, however, may follow acute infections or chronic exhausting diseases. Constipation, indigestion, insufficient exercise, and the wearing of stiff, ill-ventilated hats possibly contribute to the development of dandruff, but this is pure guesswork.

Dandruff, which is a mild condition in itself, has to be distinguished from more serious diseases, such as psoriasis or seborrheic dermatitis. Treatment includes both internal measures and external applications. Iron is advisable when anemia is present. Sometimes people with dandruff are benefited by taking arsenic preparations, cod liver oil, tonics, and nutritious food. Open air exercise and sunlight are often advised.

The scalp itself should be treated first by the removal of the crusts and accumulated fatty material, and later by the use of stimulating applications. The removal of the crusts and scales at first may be accompanied by the loss of a good deal of hair.

The fatty accumulations are first soaked with some oily fluid to aid in removal. This is followed by thorough washing with soap and water. Ointments or lotions containing various chemicals are often prescribed, but as mentioned earlier, care in using them is needed.

The condition frequently resists treatment and tends to come back unless treatment is continued for weeks or months after the skin appears to be normal. Furthermore, fatigue and emotional upset, or physical disability may bring on a worsening of the condition.

ASKING THE IMPOSSIBLE (N. Y. Daily News)

Having won the recent National Labor Relations Board election, the International Longshoremen's Assn., is talking strike again — meaning a strike tying up all Atlantic and Gulf ports.

The walkout is threatened unless the I.L.A. gets a contract from the New York Shipping Assn. covering dock workers in all these ports. This, despite the fact that other port associations say they must bargain with their own workers.

On the face of these facts (there may be others, but if there are we can't dig them up), the I.L.A. is asking the impossible, and threatening to strike for something the N.Y.S.A. cannot grant.

It's hard to believe the I.L.A. leadership would carry through with such irresponsibility as that. We're convinced that if it does, it will have no public sympathy for any strike it may pull.

LITTLE LIZ

If brides wear white because they are so happy, why do grooms wear black?

It's funny. The very people who said it was "criminal" to sell scrap metal to Japan, now say it's okay to send aid to Tito. And Tito said, in the Moscow Stadium, on June 19, that he "marched shoulder to shoulder with Comrade Khrushchev toward the achievement of world socialism."

Poets Said It; Pampanos Proved It; Language Of Love Is Universal

NEW VISTAS—Laboring over his studies at the Holy Soul's School is the boy for whom an entirely new world opened up when a Pampano family sweated out the drawn out process of bringing him here from Japan. He arrived in Texas on April 29 of this year and started school in September. (News Photo)

By BOB PEREZ
Pampa News Staff Writer

"Dear Mother. . . I know you will be surprised to hear from me. . . but please excuse me for writing this letter to you. . . I hope with all my heart that you and me can be friends. I hope you understand and can read my letter full of errors like this. . ."

With these words started a chain of events which were to inevitably lead to the founding of a new life in a new world by a youngster who might otherwise have had to spend the rest of his youth in an orphanage in Japan. It also started the mechanism designed to bring his mother to these United States with him, and even more locally, to the Texas Panhandle.

However, perhaps it would be incorrect to say that the whole thing started with the letter. I think it would be better to go back to that afternoon in November of 1953 when Carroll Dean Bozarth, of Pampa, then with the 3rd Marine Division in Japan was introduced to June Sakazaki who was at that time working as an interpreter on the base in Camp Fuji, which is at the foot of Mt. Fuji. Carroll Dean was stationed there too with the 3rd Marines.

This was the real beginning, for out of this there ensued a courtship which might be hard for the average American person (save historians, travelers and lovers of Puccini's "Madam Butterfly") to understand. In short, it is this: Wars change many things. The greatest factor is that it brings into contact people who had previously thought of one another as the strangest creatures on earth. It eliminates the question of who is on what side of the cage, and in effect, makes that cage non-existent. Forced into this closer evaluation, the individual finds himself confronted with what professors of history the world over for centuries have been trying to impress upon students and that is the "universality of man." In short, this is what happened to Carroll Dean. When it became apparent that they were falling in love, June Sakazaki confessed to Carroll Dean that she had a son, whose father was an American who had returned to the states and had not communicated with her since. She tried to make the break then in an effort to spare herself and her heartache, which she might arise later on for both of them. But to Carroll, this didn't make a lot of difference. It was love, pure and simple. Shortly after she had told him of the boy, June received a telegram from North Honshu (Japan's northernmost island) where her home was, that the boy was ill. She left immediately, and at his own insistence, Carroll accompanied her.

When they arrived the boy was out in the street playing. It seems that he had had a cold, but was feeling better. At that time he was four years old. They took the child's clothes, and brought him down to Fuji with them. By now, unknown to Carroll, June had begun writing to his mother here in Pampa. Her letters were brief but amiable, in a genuine attempt at winning the heart of the mother of the boy whom she loved so much, and whom she hoped someday to marry. If the word "someday" seems rather ambiguous, it is rightly so, for what with all the red tape which is customarily imposed by the Marine Corps in any case of marriage between an alien and an American, the desire to marry is one thing, and the possibility of its being carried out is another thing. This red tape is supposedly designed to give the couple a sort of "cooling off period" during which to examine every aspect of the situation in the hope that, if they aren't already doing so, they will learn to reason with reason, rather than emotion. This, I said, is supposedly the purpose, for certainly it could not otherwise be explained.

However, it is not my purpose in the telling of this story to either justify or condemn this action, certainly there are those better qualified than myself who have done so on this practice of wrapping up the hearts of two persons in love, and filling them under Z. What I do want to point out, however, is the handicap which had begun to set into this whole situation from the very moment that these two people found themselves in love. From that moment on, a seemingly innocent affair turned into an international quadrangle with disjunctive tendencies. There were now persons on both sides of the world who had to be notified and who had to come up with references and documents of every conceivable nature. With this carousel of red tape started, the couple continued with their plans.

Then one day, the 1st of August, 1954, to be exact, while Carroll was on duty, he was informed by a few of his buddies that June had been in an accident and had suffered a broken back.

She had been one of thirteen persons, including the child, who were riding in the back end of a truck driven by a Marine corporal, when the truck ran off an 86 foot cliff. Stragely enough, she was the only one hurt. The boy had landed on top of a tree. As a result of the accident, June Sakazaki was taken to the U. S. Naval Hospital at Yokosuka after which she was sent to a civilian hospital. It was thought for a while that she would not live. She stayed at the hospital for a few months, after which she was sent to a sanatorium for convalescence. The little boy had stayed with her while she was at the hospital; but now that she was in the sanatorium, he was put in an orphanage. Her one worry was that he would have to spend the rest of his young life in the orphanage.

Throughout the whole ordeal she had continued her correspondence with Mrs. Bozarth, Carroll Dean's mother, here in Pampa; and when the local family heard of June's fear for the child, they offered to adopt him and raise him here in Pampa as best they could. Once more the huge bureaucratic machine started in motion and many letters were exchanged between officials in Japan, Father Miles Moylan, here in Pampa, (the mother had been a Catholic, and the child was in a Catholic orphanage), County Judge Bruce Parker, and Representative Walter Rogers.

After much hassling, and thanks to the eager hearts of the Bozarth that would not be dampened by the lengthy and discouraging procedures involved, the child, Jim Sakazaki, was finally brought to them in May of this year.

He was enrolled in September in the Holy Souls School, and for the short time he has been here, he has shown a remarkable ability in adapting himself to his surroundings. Hope has not been given up on bringing his true mother here, however, and Carroll Dean Bozarth still hopes to marry her, when and if she can be brought over. The process is a lengthy one, but it has been started.

There are still people working behind the scenes, in Pampa and Washington. There are still many letters being exchanged and special legislation being talked over in this regard. The boy, for his part, has not forgotten his mother, and there is not a day but what he does not mention her in his prayers, and whenever Mrs. Bozarth receives a letter from Japan, he is the first to notice it and starts asking of her.

In view of past developments, it seems likely that in the not too distant future, with the Bozarth's working as relentlessly as they are, and the local authorities cooperating as much as they are, that she will eventually be brought to the United States and be reunited with her son, and her fiancé. The story is far from finished.

Robler also informed the group that a total of 38 prizes were available to be awarded to various managers and salespeople throughout the campaign. These prizes have been donated by local business firms.

Cree then informed the group that members of the executive committee were offering a two-week vacation in the months of May or June, at Acapulco, Mexico, with American plan hotel accommodations in the amount of $300 and $100 for traveling expense to be awarded to the person who does the best overall sales job during the campaign according to the campaign directors.

Philo C. Dix, campaign director, reported the attendance at the meeting was the greatest he had seen in any of the 15 campaigns he had conducted.

At the close of the meeting, the sales personnel received the cards containing the names of persons they are to contact during the campaign.

The text of the telegram is as follows:
"Acting under the delegation of authority made by the United States Secretary of Agriculture, and following consultation with officials of the Texas County Judges and Commissioners Association, I am today designating as entitled to reduce freight rates on hay and roughage, as authorized in Interstate Commerce Commission Order No. 55, No. 56, as amended; and Order No. 57, those persons in counties of Texas designated as major drought disaster areas whose applications are approved by the County Judges of the several counties and who require the hay and roughage for use and not for re-sale. The import of this action is to extend the benefit of freight rate reduction to all feeders of hay and roughage and not merely to those who have been approved by Farmers Home Administration for Federal Government subsidy on such feed. It is my understanding that your office can obtain from the local FIA office the forms for use in certifying livestockmen as eligible for this rate reduction. Should livestockmen wish to purchase hay or roughage through a feed dealer, the dealer may take the certificate issued by you confirming the livestockman's eligibility for freight rate reduction, and serve the livestockman's eligibility for freight rate reduction, and serve as his agent. I am sure that all of your people who will benefit by this rate reduction will share my gratitude to you for your leadership in this important matter. Fred Walker, Allan Shivers, Governor of Texas."

Christmas Seal Sale Is Underway

The Annual Christmas Seal Sale of the Gray County Tuberculosis Association, is currently underway, Mrs. Paul Bowers, publicity chairman for the association announced yesterday.

Seals were mailed out Thursday, Nov. 15 to over 4,700 persons in the Pampa area, Mrs. Bowers said. The seals are sent out for the purpose of giving everyone an opportunity to invest voluntarily in strong community action against TB.

This year's sale marks the fiftieth such sale in the United States by this association. In these years the association has grown and extended its services throughout the country and its territories. The Association has provided for the proper care and treatment of those afflicted with tuberculosis. It has also, in recent years provided for the services of mobile chest X-ray units to give as many persons as possible chest X-rays.

All these activities are financed solely through the purchase of seals.

REDS

tions are discussed at a "summit" conference of the Big Four and India which later could be expanded to include leaders of all military pact nations in the world, including such non-pact nations as Burma and Indonesia.

In Washington, officials said Russia's shaky military position in rebellious Eastern Europe might have prompted the proposals, most of which have been made before. (Initial Washington feeling was that the acceptance of a modified open sky failed to close the gap between Russia and the United States on overall disarmament controls.)

The Soviet disarmament statement said Russia wants peace, it denounced circles "in certain countries" which are willing to plunge the world into war for profit.

The seven-point plan would:
1. Reduce armed forces over a two-year period to between 1 and 1.5 million men each for the United States, Russia and Red China, 850,000 men each for Britain and France and 150,000 - 200,000 each for all remaining nations.

2. Prohibit use and manufacture of atomic and hydrogen weapons within two years, order complete destruction of existing stockpiles and an immediate ban on nuclear weapons tests.

3. Order a one-third reduction next year of Big Four forces stationed in Germany, under "necessary supervision."

4. Provide a "considerable reduction" during 1957 of U. S., British and French forces from NATO countries and Russian forces from Warsaw Pact nations.

5. Liquidate foreign military bases in other countries within two years.

6. Reduce military expenditures during the two-year period.

7. Establish "rigid and effective international supervision possessing all the rights and functions necessary to this end."

Fines, Sentences Given in Court

A total of $7 in fines, and 60 days in jail was handed down yesterday in Gray County Court in the trying of four cases.

In two cases tried for theft under $50, David High Sutton and Jessie Joe Hefner, both of Pampa, were given 30 days in jail. Sutton, however, received an additional fine of $5.

The two men were arrested Friday night by local police officers when the officers noticed that the car in which they were riding had a wheel and tire that was stolen from a city-owned pickup Thursday night.

The two admitted the theft of the wheel and tire from the pickup which was parked in front of the residence of James A. Myatt, 720 N. Wells, who was using the pickup.

The other two cases were on charges of swindling with a worthless check.

In one, E. R. Hanes of 412 E. Craven was fined $1 plus costs and was to make restitution on a check dated July 15, 1956 for $1.55. He was also fined $1 and ordered to pay the balance of $1.55 on a check for $3 dated Oct. 4, 1956.

All four men had pleaded guilty.

Polio Chapter Holds Meeting

The Gray County Chapter of the Infantile Paralysis Board held its monthly meeting Friday at 8 p.m. in the chamber of commerce conference room.

At this time, Rev. Edwin L. Hall, campaign director for the group, discussed the possible program for the coming March of Dimes Campaign to be held the entire month of January.

Rev. Hill spoke on the various phases which would be undertaken by the group to interest all persons in all groups in this year's campaign.

of the dead man, charged negligence on the part of Rogers for failing to stop upon reaching the intersection of unpaved road with Highway 66 to permit the truck driven by Williams to cross in front of it; in driving the vehicle at a slow rate of speed upon said Highway 66 thereby blocking all the paved part of the road, and causing the accident which caused the death of Williams."

Also named in the suit was E. R. Carter, whose job it was to wave on the gravel trucks past the intersection.

Carter was accused of "failing" to stop the truck driven by Rogers and owned by the defendant Petrey in order to permit the vehicles coming along route 66 to clear the intersection; and in directing the Petrey owned truck to proceed into the path of the other truck."

In the ensuing accident, the truck driven by Williams was overturned, he was unable to escape from the cab and was burned to death.

The petition calls for $101,165 for Williams' widow, and $50,000 for his eleven month old daughter making a total of $151,165.

Sales Force For Proposed Hotel Is Made Up Entirely Of Pampans

By FRED M. PARKER
Pampa News Staff Writer
Who makes up the general sales force for the proposed community owned hotel which you read so much about?

This sales force is composed of Pampans. Residents of this community who are your neighbors and men the New Hotel Executive Committee began the work of securing a community owned hotel for Pampa they saw the need of a sales force composed of local citizens who were interested in securing a new modern hotel for Pampa. Realizing the need of a sales force that could fully do the job needed the members of the committee began to discuss the names of local residents who were qualified to head such a group and after many hours of discussion the committee came up with the name of Fred Neslage as the best qualified person in Pampa whom they could secure to head the general sales force.

HOW IT WAS FORMED
After obtaining Neslage's approval he was named manager of the general sales force and he immediately set about the job of selecting the necessary leaders for such an organization.

He recommended that E. O. "Red" Wedgworth be named as assistant manager of the sales force and help with the formation of the various groups.

These two men studied the set-up of the organization as recommended by representatives of the Hockenbury System who are directing the local campaign. After familiarizing themselves with the make-up of the sales force they set about securing the services of people to head the Men's Section and the Women's Section. Mrs. Rufe Jordan and Mrs. Lynn Boyd agreed to head the Women's Section, with Mrs. Jordan as manager. The man secured to be manager of the Men's Section was Ed Myatt.

The set-up for the sales force called for three divisions in each section with four sales groups in each of the divisions.

DIVISION MANAGERS
The men who agreed to head the three divisions within the Men's Section were: Don Cain, manager of Div. A; Dr. Joe Donaldson, manager of Div. B; and Warren Haase, manager of Div. C.

The women who agreed to head the three divisions within the Women's Section were: Miss Jean Chisholm, manager of Div. D; Mrs. Bob Curry, manager of Div. E; and Mrs. H. H. Hicks and Mrs. Louise P. Clarke, co-managers of Div. F.

A list of prospective managers of the 24 groups was prepared and the managers of the divisions selected names of persons they wanted to contact in an effort to secure the needed group managers. Cain secured E. E. Shelhamer, Louise P. Clarke, Norman Henry and Aubrey Steele to head for four groups in his division. Those secured by Donaldson were Floyd Watson, Frank Fata, Newt Secret and O. K. Gaylor while the four men who agreed to be managers of the four groups in the division headed by Haase were Joe Fischer, John F. Campbell, J. E. Wall and John L. Rankin.

In the Women's Section, Miss Chisholm obtained Frances Cree, Mrs. Dave Finkelstein, Mrs. Dudley Steele and Mrs. Louise McCree to act as managers of groups in her division. Group managers secured by Mrs. Bob Curry were Mrs. Ervin Pursley, Mrs. Kirk Duncan, Mrs. Paul Crouch and Mrs. Frank Smith. Mrs. Johnny Hines agreed to assist Mrs. Smith in the management of her group. Mrs. Hicks and Mrs. Clarke secured Mrs. Lillian Snow, Mrs. R. A. Hankhouse, Mrs. H. O. Darby and Mrs. Nina Spoonmore to be managers of the groups in their division. Mrs. Hankhouse is assisted by Mrs. G. H. Anderson and Mrs. Darby is assisted by Mrs. Libby Shotwell.

Separate lists of men and women were made up of those persons who would probably work as salespeople in the stock selling campaign. From these lists the group managers selected names of persons they would like to have work in their group.

The group managers were instructed that they needed a minimum of seven salespeople and that ten persons should be obtained so that three alternates would be available.

Most of the sales groups have the necessary minimum of seven salespeople. Ten of the 24 groups have the roster of ten persons filled while another six of the groups have over the minimum of seven persons in addition to the manager. The remaining group managers were working hard at the last report to try to secure the necessary persons to complete their rosters.

These 239 local residents have spent long hours in preparation of a sales force that will attempt to reach a goal of $800,000 in stock sales in a community owned hotel for Pampa by Nov. 23. They will not sell all of this stock as some will be sold by members of the executive committee.

WORK AND STUDY

Prior to the kickoff dinner Friday night in which they were instructed in how to approach prospective stock subscribers and in how to sell stock. They familiarized themselves with the working of the stock sales agreement and the prospectus for the proposed hotel for Pampa.

Each member of this sales group has already agreed to buy stock in the hotel and are firmly sold on the need for a community owned hotel in Pampa or they would not be putting in all the time which they have, and will continue to put in, in selling stock in the proposed hotel.

These local people are not receiving one cent for the time they are putting in. Each one is donating his or her time in the interest of civic advancement for Pampa. A lot of work has gone into the formation of a sales force to sell

HOW NOT TO SELL — Fred Neslage, left, and Ed Myatt, right, acting as salesmen are shown as they demonstrated how not to sell stock to E. O. Wedgworth, center, acting as a furniture salesman, at a recent meeting of the general sales force for the proposed community-owned hotel for Pampa. This was one of many methods used to inform the sales personnel of the way to sell stock and of the necessary information they would need during the campaign, which began Friday, to sell stock in the community hotel. ## Boycott Of Soviet Ships Is Proposed HAMBURG, Germany, Nov. 18 (UP)—The International Confederation of Free Trade Unions called on its 56 million members Thursday to boycott Soviet ships and refuse to handle Russian goods in a gesture of support for Hungary.

The call went to member organizations in 84 countries on six continents.

Confederation Secretary General Jakob Oldenbroeck told newsmen that 40 delegates representing his organization and the international federation of transport workers voted unanimously to support the boycott.

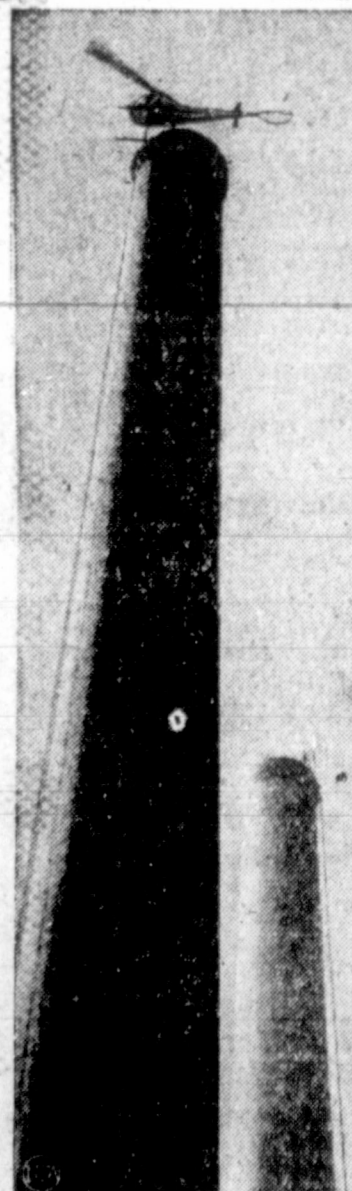

A special 12-man board, representing the organizations in session here and the International Metal Workers' union will meet in Brussels "early next week" to work out details of the plan, Oldenbroeck said.

He would not discuss the measures planned by the ICFTU, except to say they will be designed to "show the Russian people what free workers in a free world think of the crimes the Red Army committed in Hungary."

"We do not believe that what happened in Hungary was the wish of the Russian people," Oldenbroeck said. "We won't tell our enemies where and how we shall attack."

He said the aid the West has offered the Hungarian people so far was "tremendous, but not yet enough."

Baled Barricades
General Andrew Jackson used cotton bales as barricades in his defense of New Orleans against the forces of British leader Sir Edward Pakenham, in 1815.

THE EASY WAY—Placing a steeplejack and equipment on top of a smokestack more than 300 feet high is easy if you use a helicopter. With the aid of extensions of skid landing gear, a Bell helicopter in Dallas, Tex., deftly lands on top of the chimney by straddling it and putting steeplejack and equipment on the job. When repairs were completed, the helicopter returned to bring the worker back to earth.

THE PAMPA SCOUTING REPORT said: Stop Charlie Moore and Tom Roberts and you stop the Lubbock Westerners. That fact was known long before the scouting report came in. Those two muscle men of the Westerners had been dominating the District 3-AAAA statistics most of the season.

That report came true yesterday at Harvester Stadium. Without Roberts and Moore the Westerners would have looked just about as miserable as Plainview looked last week. Here's the facts: The Westerners gained 287 yards rushing yesterday against Pampa and of that total, 240 yards were made by Roberts and Moore. Moore, a 160-pound halfback, had 137 yards on 23 carries and Roberts, who weighs 190 and is said to be the fastest man on the Lubbock team, had 103 yards on 18 tries.

Moore, who is the rushing leader in 3-AAAA with 550 yards in four games not counting the Pampa contest, set a new Lubbock High School rushing record by nine yards. His mark surpassed that set in 1951 by fullback James Sides of the Westerners.

The Westerners used two quarterbacks against Pampa and neither of them showed the ability of Pampa's Dickie Mauldin. DeWitt Weaver Jr., the son of the Texas Tech coach, did most of the passing while Holt was on the running plays. They completed only three of 11 passes.

Many fans wonder during a game why Mauldin bobs and weaves in and out near the scrimmage line while carrying the ball. They believe that he could get more yardage if he just plowed through. They do not realize that his bobbing and weaving is part of the intricate Split T formation which is designed to keep the defense guessing as to whether he will keep the ball, pitch out or pass it. Quarterback Jimmy Harris, a master of the Split T, does the same thing for Oklahoma.

PANHANDLE AREA FANS can feel justly proud of the football teams in these parts. Four of the squads in the surrounding territory have won district championships and will go into bi-district play next week. Actually, there are only about a dozen teams ranging from six-man to Class AAAA football in the Pampa News territory.

Winning championships this week were the Groom Tigers, District 1-B; Mobeetie, District 1-B (six-man); Perryton, District 3-A; and Wheeler, District 1-B. Groom will play Wheeler next week in a game that should draw mixed reaction. Mobeetie meets Bula of the South Plains; and Perryton takes on Stamford at Cherryton. Stinnett, another team in the Berger area, won a district title by beating Panhandle in District 1-A.

HERE'S GOOD NEWS for those who claim that the Abilene Eagles are always rounding up the best athletes available. Foster Watkins, a former West Texas State player and later coach at Quanah

High School, has a 16-year-old son who has been setting the cinders afire this year. And he may turn out to be a fine football player.

Watkins has moved to Pampa where he is employed by Humble Oil Company. His son, who weighs 145 pounds, took first and fourth place events in the Junior Olympics held recently in Houston. He should be a fine Harvester. Perhaps in a year or two he will be able to beat the Eagles at their own game.

Notes from the corner file: G. E. Harris, 1920 Duncan, Pampa, fishing out of Cedar Crest Lodge, caught 14 black bass weighing up to two pounds on minnows at Possum Kingdom Lake last week. . . North Carolina State has already begun a second investigation of the Jackie Moreland case which brought a stiff penalty to the school from the NCAA. . . the Gator Bowl selection committee says it is no longer getting left-overs for its Dec. 29 bowl game. Among its top picks are Tennessee, Pittsburgh, Syracuse, Navy and Georgia Tech. . . Wes Santee, no longer an amateur athlete after being banned by the AAU for accepting excessive expense money, said in a magazine article that he could "decimate" the entire U.S. Olympic team by telling what he knows of rules violations.

Tulsa Nips Tech, 10-7
TULSA, Okla., Nov. 17 (UP)—Quarterback Charlie Wynes booted a 24-yard field goal and halfback Ronnie Morris scored on a 31-yard pass play to give Tulsa a 10-7 victory over Texas Tech Saturday.

Halfback Bobby Kyzar scored Tech's only touchdown in the third quarter on a screen pass play from quarterback John Riddle, good for 24 yards. The teams were almost evenly matched statistically in the rough defensive game before 12,200 spectators. The Tulsons dominated the first half but their offense was marred by fumbles. Wynes' field goal was set up in the first quarter when the Tulsa attack appeared to have mirrored down on Tech's 14.

Sooners Slaughter Missourians, 67-14

By ROBERT HAUGHT
NORMAN, Okla., Nov. 17 (UP)—Top-ranked Oklahoma disposed of Missouri 67-14 Saturday for its 38 consecutive victory and ninth straight Big Seven Conference championship.

Missouri's debacle ruined the Orange Bowl hopes for Don Faurot's squad and assured Colorado of a bid to the Miami extravaganza Jan. 1. Oklahoma cannot repeat in the Orange Bowl.

Coach Bud Wilkinson's Sooners, rolling at more than a point a minute, didn't allow Missouri to score until the final quarter when Wilkinson sent his third and fourth units into the game.

All-America candidate Tommy McDonald, playing less than half the game, led the Oklahoma ground drive with 196 yards in 11 carries to his credit. (The Albuquerque, N.M., halfback raved 22 yards for two touchdowns, passed for another and intercepted two Missouri passes. He was the favorite of the 57,000 who saw the game.)

His scoring twin, right halfback Clendon Thomas, got two touchdowns too. Sooner scores also were run up by right half Carl

Missouri fourth string quarterback Kenneth Clemensen passed to right half Fred Henger for one end George Boucher for the other. Missouri touchdown and to left and George Boucher for the other. Oklahoma rolled up 464 yards on the ground to Missouri's 201 and also led in the air, 138 to 122.

The Sooners, who have been weak on conversions this season, completed seven of 10 tries Saturday. Dodd ran one point after touchdown.

Score by periods:
Oklahoma 7 27 19 14—67
Missouri 0 0 0 14—14
Oklahoma scoring: Touchdowns — Thomas 2 (11, pass-run from McDonald and 8, run); McDonald 2 (23, run, 38, run); Dodd (8, run); Stiller (41, pass-run from Harris); Sandifer (7, run); Sherrod (8, run); Baker (20, run); Fellow (1, plunge); Conversions — Harris 3, Dodd 2, O'Neal, Rolle.

Missouri scoring: Touchdowns — Henger (2, pass from Clemensen); Boucher (7, pass from Clemensen); Conversions — Rash, Mehrer.

Harvesters Battle Lubbock To 14-14 Tie

Last-Half Comeback Gives Pampa Two TDs

By DICK COLLINS
Pampa News Sports Editor

Pampa Harvester halfback Don Bigham picks up two yards against Lubbock in the second quarter of their game here yesterday. Bigham has evaded two would-be tacklers and is being downed by Larry Jones (14). Gary Heiskell (22) and Jerry Bonsel (57) are shown coming in on the play. (News Photo)

The Pampa Harvesters turned what appeared to be a runaway by Lubbock into a close-fought contest in the last half to gain a 14-14 District 3-AAAA tie with the Westerners in the final home game at Harvester Stadium yesterday afternoon.

The dazzling duo of Lubbock's Tom Roberts and Charlie Moore started the ball to rolling for the Westerners on the opening kickoff and when the two teams went to the dressing rooms at the half the visitors held a 14-0 lead and a 211-47 yards rushing lead.

Then the fired-up Harvesters charged back for touchdowns in the third and fourth quarters and a powerful Pampa defense held the Westerners to only 76 yards in the final quarters of play. It was plain to see by the estimated 3,500 fans who sat in comfortable football weather that the Westerners dominated the first half and the Harvesters showed up as the finest in the last.

Moore, the 160-pound halfback who appears to be much larger than his program weight indicates, was top ground gainer of the day with 137 yards on 23 carries and in doing so he set a new Lubbock High School rushing mark by 11 yards. Roberts, his speedy 160-pound fullback teammate, did just about as well and between the two of them in the first half there was no stopping them.

Moore accounted for both of Lubbock's touchdown runs of 18 and 87 yards, both of those coming in the second quarter. Right halfback Bobby Dehn, who alternated at his post part of the game, accounted for both of Pampa's touchdowns on one-yard plunges.

The Harvesters failed to connect on a pass all afternoon. They attempted six Lubbock attempts of 11 and completed three of them for 44 yards. Lubbock led in first downs, 17-11.

The two teams went into the game tied for fifth place in the district. Each had won one of four district games and trailed Amarillo, Palo Duro, Berger and Monterey. The game will go down in the record book as one-half game lost for both teams.

The Harvesters close out their 1956 season next Saturday when they meet Berger's Bulldogs at Harvester's game, played before a crowd of 42,000.

Mississippi, fired up to try an upset, had only one big weapon—Ray Brown's passing—and it was a double edged sword. Brown's arm put Mississippi ahead right after the kickoff but after Tennessee had tied the score before the half, Brown had one intercepted early in the third period and Tennessee was off.

Score by periods:
Tennessee 0 7 14 6—27
Mississippi 7 0 0 0—7
Tennessee scoring: Touchdowns, Smith, 3 (1, plunge; 31, run; 12, run); Bronson (52, intercepted pass); Conversions, Burklow 2, Smithers.

Mississippi scoring: Touchdown, Brown (2, run); Conversion, Cochran.

Houston Topples Villanova, 26-13
By JOHN COLTON
HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 17 (UP)—Houston's Cougars, frustrated in the air but solid on the ground, turned a fumble and a pass interception into touchdowns to beat Villanova 26-13 before a meager crowd of 15,000 Saturday.

Villanova, while intercepting two Cougar aerials, scoring on one, was stopped cold after the first period but managed to break a Houston goal-line stand to score in the fourth.

The heavier visiting Wildcats were no match for the bowl-minded Cougars.

Halfback Harold Lewis of Pampa scored from the one for Houston after a pass interception had set up the play.

Mrs. W. W. Compton of Sheridan, Texas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Strong, 1613 W. Browning, Pampa, is shown with 50½-pound sea drum caught by her husband off the Gulf Coast recently. Mr. Compton, who with his wife were former residents of Skellytown, caught the fish on a small casting rod and reel.

Horned Frogs Crush Texas 46-0

By ED FITE
FORT WORTH, Tex., Nov. 16 (UP)—Jaunty Jim Swink whisked 72 yards for the first of four touchdowns on Texas Christian's first play of the game Saturday as he led TCU to a crushing 46-0 defeat of Texas and a long stride toward the Cotton Bowl.

The talented Ruak, Tex., rambler ambled to a new Southwest Conference rushing record with that play, then caught touchdown passes of 25 and 32 yards from quarterback Charles Curtis and plunged one foot for his fourth in a spectacular final home appearance of a brilliant career.

It was Texas' first blanking by a conference foe in 60 games. TCU last turning the trick 14-0 in 1946. It was also the Longhorns' eighth loss against one victory—the worst Texas record since 1938.

After the All-American halfback had stalked TCU to a 26-0 lead through the first three quarters, the defending champions rang up three quick ones in the final quarter with fullback Buddy Dike plowing four yards for one, reserve fullback Vernoo Hallbeck surging 10 yards for another and sub-quarterback Hunter Ennis flipping a 17-yard pass to halfback Albert Laaszer for another.

Keeps Frogs in Contention
The victory, before 20,000 fans kept TCU within range of a possible title tie with Texas A&M should the latter lose its final game to this same Texas club that took such a battering Saturday and set the stage for a likely return visit to the Cotton Bowl as the co-champion or runnerup.

Texas A&M is under NCAA prohibition and ineligible for the post-season task.

Swink, putting on his greatest performance of the season, gained 122 yards in 12 carries to run his three-year total to 2,492 yards to better the old conference record of 2,415 set by Bob Smith of Texas A&M in 1949-51. In addition, he caught two passes for another 87 yards, both for touchdowns.

Regain Early-Season Form
TCU looked like the sharpshooting club it was early in the season as it moved 94, 91, 64 and 71 yards for its scoring drives after Swink lit the spark with his opening foray. But, its defense still leaked except around its goal line in the opening half as Texas twice drove futilely inside the TCU 10-yard line with long ground surges.

The TCU victory margin was the largest in history against a conference foe and brought its season record to five victories against losses to Texas A&M, Miami and Texas Tech. It has only Rice and Southern Methodist left to play.

Score by periods:
TCU 6 14 6 20—46
Texas 0 0 0 0—0
TCU scoring: Touchdowns — Swink (72, run); 25, pass-run from Curtis; 1, plunge; 32, pass — run from (Curtis) Dike (4 plunge); Hallbeck (10, run); Laaszer (17, pass from Enis); Conversions — Pollard 3, Hallbeck.

Field Goal By TW Wins Over Buffs
CANYON, Tex., Nov. 17 (UP)—Texas Western freshman fullback Truman Hobbs kicked a 38-yard field goal in the final two seconds of the game Saturday to give the Border Conference champions a 16-13 victory over West Texas State.

West Texas had dominated play in the first half and led 13-0. The Miners came back with a touchdown in each of the third and fourth quarters and recovered a West Texas fumble with two seconds left to set up the winning field goal.

The victory gave Western, a top contender to be Sun Bowl host, a clean sweep of its border conference schedule and an 8-1 record this season. For West Texas, it was its second defeat in eight starts and gave it a 3-2 conference mark.

Ron Mills scored on an 88-yard run to give West Texas a lead in the first period. Tommy Coffey converted.

Early in the second period, quarterback Bubba Hillman threw a 10-yard touchdown pass to left halfback Dave Corley.

The Miners came to life midway in the third quarter and scored their first touchdown on a freak 44-yard pass play. Bob Forrest's pass had been intercepted by West Texas' quarterback Bob by Davis. However, Davis fumbled the ball when tackled and miner halfback John Maynard grabbed the loose ball and ran for a touchdown.

Texas Western tied it up with 10:18 left in the game. Bob Forrest, in the end zone. Berman Corpas to his twin brother, Dick Forrest, in the end zone. Berman Corbel kicked the extra point to tie the score.

Later in the quarter, West Texas stopped a Western drive on the two-yard line. The Buffaloes then drove out to the 28, where Hillman fumbled and Western recovered to set up the winning field goal.

Score by periods:
West Texas 0 0 6 10—16
West Texas State 7 6 0 0—13
Texas Western scoring: Touchdowns, Maynard (44, run on fumble interception), D. Forrest (18, pass from B. Forrest); Field goal, Hobbs; Conversion, Corbell.

Aggies Trip Rice To Clinch Tie

By LLOYD LARRABEE
COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Nov. 17 (UP)—The Texas Aggies clinched at least a tie for the Southwest Conference championship Saturday as they struck for three first-half touchdowns to defeat Rice 21-7 before a crowd of 36,000 in Kyle Field.

The nationally third-ranked Cadets, sparked by a fleet of hard-running backs headed by halfbacks Lloyd Taylor and John Crow and fullback Jack Pardoe, assured themselves of at least a tie for the championship that has eluded them since 1941.

The victory also was an especially sweet one for the Aggies as it was the first time since 1944 that A&M has beaten Rice in College Station.

However, the undefeated Aggies have been barred by the NCAA from competing in the Cotton Bowl.

A&M built up a 21-0 halftime lead, but were stymied by a Rice defense which rose up in the second half to thwart the Cadets.

Rice scored its lone touchdown midway in the third period when quarterback King Hill plunged over from the 1 to climax a 87-yard march. Jerry Hill converted.

The Owls threatened again in the fourth period, but the final gun sounded as quarterback Frank Ryan completed a 30-yard pass to King Hill at the Aggie 5. Pardoe plunged over from the 4 to score early in the opening period, capping a 63-yard drive which took 11 plays.

The hard-driving, 198-pound Pardoe scored again early in the second quarter, jumping over center for the final yard.

Center Lloyd Hale set the stage for A&M's third touchdown when he recovered a fumble by Rice halfback Ken Williams on the Rice 10.

Rice threatened late in the second quarter, but a pass interception by Aggie end Eugene Stallings, a defensive star, halted the drive at A&M's 10.

Taylor converted after each Aggie touchdown.

Score by periods:
Texas A&M 7 14 0 0—21
Rice 0 0 7 0—7
Texas A&M scoring: Touchdown — Pardoe (4, plunge); 1, plunge — Taylor (22, run); Conversions — Taylor 3.
Rice scoring: Touchdowns — Hill (1, plunge); Conversions — Hall.
35, Taylor circled his left end and sprinted 22 yards for the score.

Stinnett Beats Panhandle To Win District 1-A Title

STINNETT — The Stinnett Rattlers, who have become one of the state's grid powers in the last few years, took a 13-0 victory over the Panhandle Panthers here Friday night to win the District 1-A football title.

The Rattlers, who went to the Class A final last year, scored 13 points in the fourth quarter to take the victory with allstate nominee Larry Dawson sparking the drive. Stinnett bottled up Panhandle's Jony Hedrick all night but allowed Ted Addington to roam at large. Even then the Panthers could not penetrate the Stinnett goal line. The Rattlers ground out over 250 yards rushing and held Panhandle to 115.

Stinnett scored the first time it had the ball but the game was not handed to the Rattlers until their final counter in the last quarter. Fullback Dale Keagle went over from six yards out to give Stinnett its first touchdown and Dawson kicked the extra point. Dawson scored the final tally from the two-point conversion.

Stinnett's 10th straight victory, Panhandle finished the season with eight wins and two losses. Stinnett now meets Clarendon in bi-district play.

Mills Directs White Deer To 54-25 Win Over Sunray

SUNRAY — Halfback Jerry Mills galloped for three touchdowns to lead the White Deer Bucks to an easy 54-25 victory over the Sunray Bobcats here Friday night in a District 1-A contest. Mills, who was also the star of the Bucks' victory last week, made touchdown scampers of 33, 21 and 66 yards and he added two extra points.

The Bucks of Coach Otis Holliday jumped off to a 20-0 first-quarter lead and went out front 34-12 at halftime.

Alton Hill opened White Deer scoring with a 64-yard gallop in the first quarter. Mills converted. Don Essary then plunged over from the two-point conversion.

Canadian drove 72 yards in the second half for the go-ahead touchdown with Krehbiels going over from the one. Schoenhals carried over the extra point.

Pirates Rumble By McLean, 35-0

By DICK COLLINS Pampa News Sports Editor

LEFORS — (Special) — The Lefors Pirates needed only the first 45 seconds of their game with McLean to win their District 1-A contest here Friday night, but before the 48 minutes was over the Pirates had chalked up four more touchdowns and had another four called back to beat the Tigers, 35-0.

The contest, which sent the Tigers into the 1-A cellar and ended the season for both teams, was a runaway from the opening kickoff. Before it was completed, Coach H. Callan's Pirates had such a top-sided lead he sent in his entire reserve squad of 100-pounders to play.

Fullback Howard Bradfield, a 200-pound block of granite was offensive star of the night. Bradfield scored two touchdowns, had two called back and he was by far the leading ground gainer of the match.

Lefors took the opening kickoff, an inside boot to the Pirate 47. On the first play from scrimmage, Bradfield went over left guard and sailed untouched past the scrimmage line for 53 yards and a touchdown. Quarterback Tommy Johnson, a sophomore who played a good game, ran over the extra point.

Bradfield scampered 53 yards on the same play from the same line of scrimmage only minutes later but the play was called back. Then late in the first quarter, Bradfield went 34 yards for paydirt, again seeing the touchdown nullified by a penalty.

Just as the first half was drawing to a close the Pirates scored again with Bradfield going over from the one following a 77-yard drive. Johnson fumbled the ball over the end zone and then recovered it for the extra point and Lefors led 14-0 at the half.

In the third period Lefors scored three touchdowns in one series of downs but two of them were called back. Johnson went 14 yards and Bradfield went over from the one. Both were nullified. Then Billy Fulton went over left tackle from the one for the legal touchdown and James Wariner ran the extra point.

Johnson went over center for one yard and a counter midway of the third and Wariner carried over the extra point to give Lefors a 28-0 lead. Johnson passed to end Winfred Cates for 49 yards and a touchdown early in the fourth.

Arkansas Rips Past SMU For 27-13 Win

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 17 (UP)—Arkansas found a hidden lode of scabback talent Saturday and shook four different ball-carriers loose for long gains to beat Southern Methodist 27-13 before a crowd of 34,000.

SMU's final score was chalked up by the Mustangs' second string with less than a minute left in the game.

Arkansas ran from its usual zigzag-toed T formation but alternated into a single wing for the first time this year.

Arkansas scored twice in the second quarter and twice again in the third. All four touchdowns originated from pass interceptions.

Quarterback Don Christian went 30 yards for the first Arkansas score. Halfback Ronnie Underwood scored on a 43-yard run. Donnie Stone tallied on another 43-yard run and James Monroe scored from four yards out after setting up the touchdown with a 26-yard sneak up the middle.

Razorback guard Stuart Perry's tripping of SMU halfback Lon Slaughter, who was downfield for a pass, set up the second-quarter Mustang score. The pass interference penalty gave the Methodists a first down on the one-yard line and fullback Ray Masters capped the 17-play, 69-yard drive with a one-yard buck. Tommy Gentry converted.

Panhandle Outdoor Life

By S. V. WHITEHORN

The Panhandle deer and turkey season is now in full swing with the hunters having fair to good luck. There will be a great amount of competition for the number of bucks taken from these parts but probably there will be around 150 hunters that will bring home the venison plus a few turkeys to boot. The season on turkeys is somewhat different this fall from last fall due to the hunters being allowed only gobblers this season.

Turkey hunting will be on a decline this year as a result of a smaller number of these birds on the range. (In my opinion, there is only one turkey in the Panhandle now where there were three turkeys two years back). Probably due to poor hatches and lack of food, is my guess.

The possibility for increase of these birds is almost unlimited if the hunters will supply enough food for these birds. Regular food feeders filled with grain will do the trick if anyone is interested to spend the money required to feed these wild game birds. They will readily locate around any large food supply and spend the winter in the area. On one ranch a few years back I know of 110 fat turkeys that found their home around a creep feeder that was kept full of calf pellets. Of course a hundred or more turks will consume a great amount of feed but on the other hand they will make the winter with flying colors and be in good shape for the nesting season. A strong bird is much more able to cope with predators than one suffering from malnutrition, one that is too weak to fly over once or twice to dodge a cat or coyote.

The deer situation is different. The bucks killed in the Panhandle have always been in good shape and usually fat. This part of Texas furnishes some of the largest whitetail deer in the state. A buck that will field dress 150 lbs. is not at all unusual. Some have been brought in that will dress over 200.

The Panhandle will never furnish large amounts of deer but one interesting fact is that the deer found here are among the tops in the country.

A few years back some of the novice hunters were under the impression that once a buck was killed in the field all that was necessary, to comply with legal requirements, was to tag the animal, then dress the carcass out and head for home. There is a specific statute which states that the removal of evidence is strictly forbidden. In other words if you kill a deer then by all means leave the head and antlers attached to the carcass until the meat is processed. Only pronged horned bucks are legal also.

Many hunters have stated that it will be almost impossible to tell a this year's gobbler from an old hen. This might be correct, at least for a number of hunters, but if the hunter isn't sure of the sex of a turkey then the hunter simply should not shoot. An old gobbler is readily recognized as being such but I will admit if a person is in doubt, then he shouldn't shoot.

Quail Flight
According to best reports, bobwhite quail could use more assistance this year than in many. There is a fair amount of quail in the Panhandle at this time and the food and cover is the most critical it has been in years.

A Mr. Black, oilfield worker, related that many coveys of birds on his lease are feeding in quite different manner this year as a result of very short food supply. Mr. Black stated that usually quail feed in a covey, similar to a flock of sheep grazing but this year he said that the birds were spread out over a half - block area and frantically searching for food as they moved along.

Mr. Black also stated that he, although a quail hunter, had out several feeders and usually placed about 10 to 25 pounds of grain per week for the birds. Location of these birds is between Borger and Skellytown just north of the highway. This particular location is in some of the critical areas and the birds will have a much smaller chance of survival than quail located on live creeks where there is a larger amount of weed seeds. However, these locations are hard to find. Lack of rain caused a very small weed crop this year.

One of the Panhandle's most interested bird dog handlers, Myron Blackburn, is being transferred from Canadian to Winnboro, in deep East Texas. The Panhandle Bird Ass'n. will regret to hear of the transfer. Mr. Blackburn has been very instrumental in helping make the trails at Canadian one of the best in the state. The field trial boys in East Texas will have more competition as a result of Mr. Blackburn bringing his dogs to that area.

Strictly a setter man, Myron Blackburn has some of the best setters obtainable and usually takes his share of trophies at any meet.

Groom Wins 2-B Crown Over Elks

GROOM — (Special) — Halfback Gerald Hermes-meyer smashed for two touchdown runs and the magic toe of end Leon Anglin provided the winning punch as the Groom Tigers gained a 14-13 victory over the Stratford Elks here Friday night.

The victory for Coach Doc Bates' Tigers handed them the District 1-B championship. The two teams went into the game unbeaten in district play.

Groom now will meet the Wheeler Mustangs for the bi-district championship of 1B and 2B. Officials of the two schools are to meet Sunday to decide the site and date of the game.

A crowd of over 1,000 watched the contest.

Stratford went out in front in the first quarter with a 50-yard punt return by Richard McMinn and Mike Neal added the extra point for a 7-0 Elks lead.

Hermes-meyer pulled Groom back into contention later in the first quarter with a 15-yard touchdown scamper and Anglin tied up the game at 7-7 with his conversion.

The Tigers took a 14-7 lead before half ended when Hermes-meyer took off for 11 yards and a counter. Anglin again converted.

Stratford came back in the fourth quarter for its second touchdown when Carroll Wisdom caught a pass good for 20 yards and a counter. The Elks had a chance to tie up the game but failed at the extra point.

Rangers Meet Stamford In Bi-District
PERRYTON — (Special) — The Perryton Rangers will meet the Stamford Bulldogs Friday afternoon at 2:00, Nov. 23 at Childress in the bi-district playoff. Stamford is the champion of district 4-A-A and Perryton of 3-A-A.

The site for the game was chosen Wednesday when officials from both schools met in Childress. Attending from Perryton were Supt. Gilbert Mize, Coach James Peterson, C. W. Foose, president of the school board and Irvin Buchanan, manager of Station KEYE.

The Perryton Rangers will be playing in their first bi - district game since 1947, when they defeated the Canyon Eagles. Not so with the Stamford Bulldogs as they have been in the state playoff every year since 1950 and won the state championship last year. A sell-out crowd is expected to see this game at Childress.

Three-Team Race Likely In Pro Loop
By UNITED PRESS
The Washington Redskins will whip the New York Giants Sunday and turn the National Football League's Eastern Division into a three-team race if they keep up the pattern they have established in recent weeks.

The Cardinals (6-1) are seven-point favorites to maintain their one-game Eastern Division lead. But the Redskins (3-3) also were underdogs in their last three starts when they defeated the Cleveland Browns and handed the Chicago Cardinals and Detroit Lions their first 1956 defeats.

The Cardinals (5-2) fell a game behind New York when they lost to the Giants last Sunday but are six-point choices to get back on the victory path at the expense of the Steelers (2-5) at Pittsburgh.

Detroit and the Chicago Bears, tied for the Western lead with 6-1 records, are favored to win before home crowds. The Lions are seven-point favorites to down the Baltimore Colts (3-3) and the Bears are 13-point picks to defeat the Los Angeles Rams (2-5).

In Sunday's other contests, the Eagles (3-4) are five-point favorites to defeat the Browns (2-5) at Philadelphia and the Packers (2-5) are favored over the San Francisco Forty-Niners (2-5) at Green Bay.

Mooneyham opened up the scoring in the first quarter with a 39-yard run. Mooneyham again came back in the second with a 10-yard sprint and Tommy Johnson converted. Pearson carried over from the nine again in the second and Johnson converted. Carter added the other tally of the first half on a 39-yard sprint.

Mooneyham opened up again in the third quarter with a five-yard touchdown plunge and Pearson added the last one with a four-yard dive. Gaston Tarbet made the Shamrock tally on a four-yard run.

U.S. Olympic Stars, Davis And King, Best Records In Tryouts
By ALEX KAHN
United Press Sports Writer
BENDIGO, Australia (UP) — Jack Davis of Glendale, Calif., surpassed the world record for the 120-yard high hurdles and Leamon King of Delano, Calif., tied 100-yard mark Saturday in final unepup meet for the Olympics which start next Thursday.

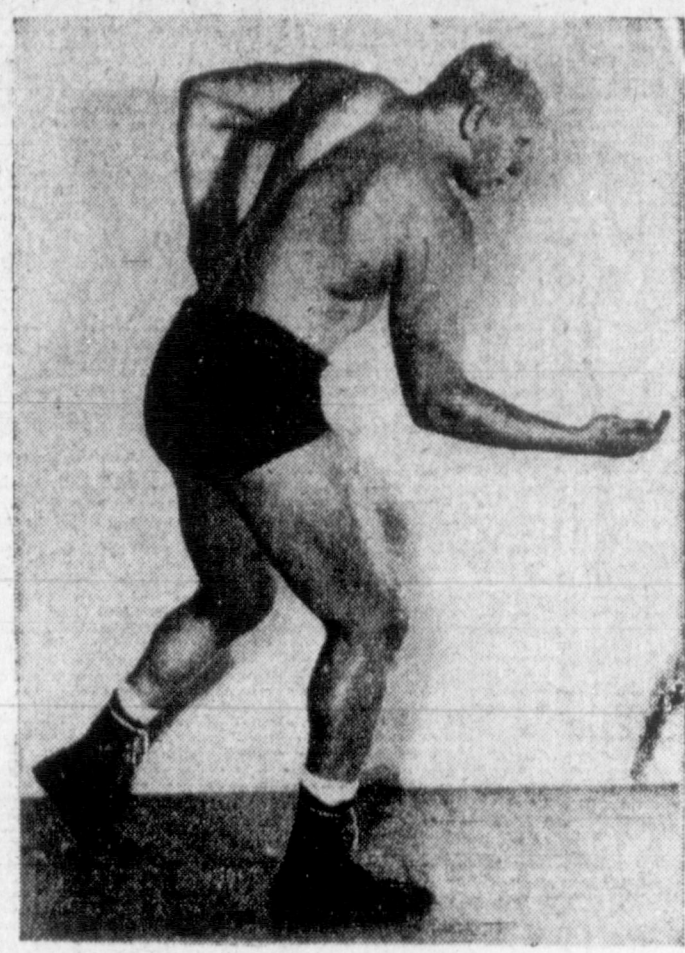

Neither feat is likely to obtain official recognition as a world record, however. Davis, timed in 13.3 seconds, ran on a grass course which is considered faster than cinders for shorter distances. The International Amateur Athletic Federation has been reluctant to recognize records set on grass. King's 9.3 seconds for the sprint was achieved with the aid of a wind.

American athletes, competing against athletes from Australia, Scandinavia and smaller countries, dominated this meet by winning nine of the 16 events.

Arnold Sowell of Pittsburg, Bobby Morrow of San Benito, Tex., and Parry O'Brien of Santa Monica, Calif., all set Australian records and a victorious American 440-yard relay team tied the Australian mark for the event.

Sowell finished first in the 880-yard event in 1:49.3; Morrow won the 220-yard dash in 20.9 seconds, and O'Brien threw the shot 80 feet, 85-8 inches. The U.S. relay quartet of Ira Murchison of Chicago, King, Morrow and Andy Stanfield of Jersey City, N. J., clocked in 41.5 seconds. Sowell was timed in 1:49.3 in

Wheeler Winner In District 2-B

WHEELER — (Special) — Wheeler's mighty Mustangs rolled to a 20-6 victory over the Matador Matadors here Friday night to win the District 2-B football championship after 20 years of trying for the title.

Dizzy Davis On Mat Card Minus Hair

Don't be alarmed when you see Dizzy Davis minus most of his hair at the Top of Texas Sportsman's Club wrestling matches Monday night.

Ol' Dix got his head sheared last Thursday in Amarillo when he lost his Southwest States junior heavyweight title to Dory Funk. The two had agreed before the match that the winner was to cut the loser's hair.

Davis will appear here Monday night on the card to meet the Golden Terror in a two of three falls, 45 minutes semifinal event.

Hans Schnable goes against big Bob Orton in the main event of the night. It's a two of three falls event with a one-hour time limit. To the winner of this goes the entire purse. The two met last week in a free-for-all dragnet battle which saw the referee disqualify both of them. Their purses were held up and Commissioner Pete Schmalz declared that the winner this week would take the entire purse.

Gory Guerrero is matched against Tommy Pheps in the 20-minute, one fall opening match. Alex Perez will serve as the referee.

The matches begin at 8:15 p.m. Tickets are on sale at Modern Pharmacy. Admission is $1.50 for ringside, $1.25 for reserved seats and 90 cents for general admission.

Oklaggies in 25-7 Win Over Detroit

By JIM WILLIAMS
STILLWATER, Okla., Nov. 17 (UP) — Jim Wiggins, sophomore left halfback, raced 82 and 90 yards for touchdowns Saturday to lead Oklahoma A&M to a 25-7 victory over Detroit and give the Aggies at least a tie for second place in the Missouri Valley Conference.

The victory, however, was A&M's first at home since a year ago when the Oklahoma team blanked Kansas State, 25-0. Should Tulsa lose to Wichita next week A&M would own second place outright behind Houston, which nailed down the title last week with a 13-0 victory over Tulsa.

The victory was a deserving one for the Mustangs and it was their eighth win of the season. The Matadors of the South Plains had dominated the district standings for several years.

The victory was an easy one for the Mustangs rolling up 319 yards rushing and 30 yards passing. They gained 16 first downs to the Matador's six. The Mustangs now advance into bi - district play against Groom's Tigers. The Tigers won the 1-B title Friday night by beating Stratford. Officials of the two schools are scheduled to meet Sunday to decide the time and site of the bi-district game.

Wheeler and Matador failed to score in the first quarter. The Matador had scooped up the ball on the Wheeler 12 and ran over. The extra point try was no good.

Wheeler came back in the second quarter to tie the game when Harold Crossland, one of the top stars of the night, passed to Jojo Jaco for 30 yards and the counter. The conversion failed.

It was a new team in the second half as the Mustangs rolled back for the winning score. Fullback Jim Porter went over from the drive. Harold Reid kicked the extra point and the Mustangs took a 13-6 lead.

Again in the third period Crossland took a keeper over the right end for 76 yards behind key blocks and scored again. Reid kicked the extra point from the six after a five-yard penalty.

Here's How You Can Help The Hungarians

Editor's Note—Many Americans have been calling newspaper offices and writing to government agencies in Washington asking how they can help the Hungarians. The following dispatch lists some of the major relief organizations and the type of public support they are seeking.

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (UP)—Americans can contribute through their churches, the Red Cross or any one of several authorized private agencies to relieve the suffering of Hungary's freedom fighters. Your contribution may be cash, clothing, food or blankets to be sent into Hungary by international Red Cross mercy convoys, or to be used in Austria by the relief agencies caring for the thousands of refugees who have poured across the Hungarian border.

Another way you can help is to act as a sponsor for one of the 5,000 Hungarian refugees who will be brought to the United States. That means giving assurances to the State Department, through one of eight recognized relief agencies, that you will see to it that the refugee is provided with living quarters and a job.

Here is a list of some of the principal relief organizations, and what they are accepting from the public.

RED CROSS—All local Red Cross chapters will accept cash contributions to be earmarked solely for Hungarian relief. Some, but not all, Red Cross chapters are collecting new or freshly-cleaned blankets. The international Red Cross is the only agency which the Russians have allowed to cross the frontier.

CATHOLIC RELIEF SERVICE—Donations of money, food or clothing may be made through local Catholic churches or directly to the agency's headquarters, 330 3th Ave., New York 1, N. Y. Those who can provide a home or job for Hungarian refugees should write to the Resettlement Division, Catholic Relief Services, 149 Madison Ave., New York.

CHURCH WORLD SERVICE—The relief arm of the National Council of Churches accepts donations of money, food or clothing, addressed to 110 East 29 St., New York 18, N. Y. Housing and job offers for refugees should be addressed to International Social Services, Inc., 45 East 46 St., New York.

AMERICAN — HUNGARIAN FEDERATION—Cash contributions or offers to help resettle refugees are accepted at its headquarters, 527 Mills Bldg., 17 and Pennsylvania Ave., Northwest, Washington, D. C.

INTERNATIONAL RESCUE

Paper Mills Working Hard

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 (UP)—United States paper mills in the week ended Nov. 10, operated at 98.8 per cent of capacity, compared with a revised rate of 100.8 per cent the previous week and with 101.8 per cent in the same 1955 week, American Paper and Pulp Association reported today. Mills producing newsprint exclusively are not included. Paperboard production for the week was at a rate of 95 per cent, compared with 96 per cent in the prior week and 102 per cent for the corresponding week last year.

Letter Reddens Faces

WASHINGTON (UP)—The State Department announced in a newsletter to its diplomats around the world it is considering granting an extra allowance to compensate them for the rising cost of living. Friday the department hurriedly corrected "loving" to "living."

Univac Plays Cupid Role; Couple Will Get Married

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press Hollywood Writer
HOLLYWOOD (UP)—A mechanical cupid named Univac has successfully matched up two strangers who, in front of millions of TV viewers, fell in love and decided to get married.
This atomic age engagement was revealed last night on Art Linkletter's television show.
As if the problem of picking a mate wasn't complicated enough, contestants have been publicly doing this on the program. The system sounds unerring to some viewers and light-headed to some critics, and most of the contestants take the idea a good way to get on television or win quiz money.
But not Barbara Smith, a 23-year-old switchboard operator who moved here two years ago from Chicago, and John Caran, 28, an advertising manager and another stranger to town from Detroit. On the NBC-TV program last night they confessed the robot as right—they're engaged.

In The Party Whirl At Nation's Capital

By PATRICIA AWIGGINS
WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (UP)—In the Washington party whirl: Mrs. Walter F. George, wife of the retiring senior member of the Senate, has this word of advice for wives of newly elected lawmakers heading for Washington for the first time: "Try to be your natural self."
Popular "Miss Lucy," celebrating her 34th year in the Capital this month, warns that "some people might think you're small-townish." But she claims she still is "small-townish"—and it hasn't hurt her one bit.
Miss Lucy and the Senator are just back from a trip to Paris where he will be President Eisenhower's special NATO representative. She bought three hats and "one or two dresses that look American to me—nothing to knock your eyes out."
Now it can be told: There was a car parked in the White House driveway during those last final days before the election, emblazoned with a Stevenson sticker.
No need for an investigation of White House staff members, though. It belonged to Miss Alla Clary, long-time secretary to Speaker Sam Rayburn. Miss Clary brought some friends over to see the White House and the Stevenson tags, which raised some eyebrows, came through the gate with her.
Capitalites are still talking about the big international race at Laurel on Monday, which brought prize horseflesh from all over the world to the track and top socialites to the international ball three nights earlier.
Capt. Christopher Soames brought to the race "Le Pretendant," entered by his father-in-law Winston Churchill. But "Le Pretendant" and others in the crowded $100,000 race lost out to France's "Master Boing."
"Twas just a happy chance that two days before the classic, French Ambassador Alphonse presented the Croix de Chevalier show," said brunette Barbara. "I thought it was a lot of fun. It's an unusual way to meet—but he gave me a diamond ring and he has a four bedroom house in Anaheim."
John said he decided it was true love when he found out she liked Roquefort dressing on her salad, too.
Couples on the program do various stunts to discover their suitability for each other. Once two men had to read to a little boy while the woman guessed which suitor would make the best father.

FROM BRITAIN—Sir Harold Caccia, who succeeds Sir Roger Makin as British ambassador to the United States, has presented his credentials to President Eisenhower.

This Week In Manhattan

By GAY PAULEY
NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (UP)—This week in Manhattan: The distaff side soon will have its own "Who's Who."

Wheeler Sammons Jr., associate publisher of the general "Who's Who" announced this week the weaker sex now occupies such a strong position in "business, government, science, politics and cultures" that a "Who's Who of American Women" was necessary. The first edition, scheduled for 1958, will contain 15,000 to 20,000 entries, he said. But he has no idea yet of some of the better known personalities to be listed. His firm will work with the women's archives of Radcliffe College, Cambridge, Mass., in compiling the volume.

Sammons said women currently listed in the general "Who's Who" are about 2,500—still will have a place there, but also may be included in the new volume. There is no charge for listing. "All we ask is the cooperation of the ladies in supplying the facts," he said. The facts do not necessarily have to include a woman's age. Said Sammons: "That's a secret she can keep, if she's sensitive about it."

After a talk with Wilfred Kelsey of New York, you wonder why we grownups don't just turn our money problems over to the children.

Kelsey is secretary of the Institute of Life Insurance Committee for Education in Family Finance. As such, he oversees a "school" for teachers—workshops to train them to teach children on money matters.

"Even a four-year-old can be taught something of money handling," said Kelsey. Kelsey, who has three children (all on allowances), said the program began in 1950.

Now, it operates in 12 universities and some 2,000 teachers have attended the workshops. Several cities also have organized such programs in the school system.

The theory behind the program: If a child learns how to handle pennies now, he will be better able to handle dollars later.

Oil Imports Quota Problem Is Shelved

(Weekly Oil Column)
By HARRY WILSON SHARPE
WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (UP)—Defense mobilizer Arthur S. Flemming has shelved the oil imports quota problem until peace is restored in the Middle East.

He had promised the domestic producers he would announce by Dec. 1 whether he would recommend import curbs to President Eisenhower. But the Middle East war and blocking of the Suez Canal have changed this.

"I can see no chance of action until peace is restored and the canal reopened," a spokesman for Flemming told the United Press. "As long as the canal is closed to oil from the Middle East—and this may be for many months—imports are no domestic problem. There just aren't any to measure against domestic production."

Surprised Producers
The decision caught U. S. producers by surprise. They had been banking on Flemming to act—war or no war—and cited a statement he made in late October. He said then that if planned imports for 1957 threatened the economic welfare of domestic producers he would "certify that finding to the President."

Assuming the big importing companies refused to cut back voluntarily, this was regarded as a tacit promise of import curbs. Flemming had asked the importers and other companies entering the import field to report their 1957 import plans to him by Nov. 28.

An industry spokesman said that unless Flemming can justify his position the long-standing dispute will again explode in Congress. He pointed out that "the problem will be with us again" as soon as the Mid-East crisis ends, hence Flemming should act now.

Congress Refused
The recent Congress refused to enact import quotas but wrote into the Trade Agreements Act a mandate to the administration to restrict imports unless they were held to 1954 levels in relation to domestic production.

Flemming has held off in hopes of voluntary action by the importers. Meantime, he held hearings at which domestic producers and the importers bitterly disputed whether "cheap foreign oil" gave the importers an unfair competitive advantage in the U. S. market.

Flemming called for the import plans after the hearings but they presumably will be held in abeyance until the Suez picture clarifies.

General counsel Russel B. Brown of the Independent Petroleum Association of America and representatives of 18 other producer organizations are ready to carry the issues to the new Congress in January.

"We are now in the court of last resort as to action by the executive branch of the government," Brown recently told the IPAA's annual meeting at Dallas. "Should the government decision on Dec. 1 further and finally demonstrate that imports will continue to be excessive... we should have the combined support of industry and government to go to Congress for clear authority as to the level of imports required."

It is expected that Flemming will issue an explanatory statement before the Dec. 1 deadline. It seems certain, however, that the dispute will land in Congress.

Everything's New including the View

In each '57 Buick—SPECIAL, CENTURY, SUPER, ROADMASTER

WE DON'T MEAN just new this or new that. We mean new everything.

We mean everything you can't see, as well as everything you can.

And even the "seeing" is new—for the new, wider, rakishly angled panoramic windshield with its 200 more square inches of glass area widens the forward view of all passengers.

Take other examples.

Its styling is new. Never before have you seen a Buick like this one—sleek and stunning, and low as a cat-crouch.

Its engine is new. Never has any Buick boasted so big, so powerful, so obedient an engine as the purring V8 engine that gingers every '57 Buick.

Its performance is new—and right here we mean new like nothing else you ever experienced before.

For now, there's a new advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo* so instant in action, so smooth and flexible throughout the entire "Drive" range—the need for "Low" is virtually eliminated.

But there's even more to the newness of every '57 Buick.

There's a completely new chassis that gives the car the lowest center of gravity in Buick history—for a steadier, safer ride. And a new kind of ball-joint suspension for surer handling, safer cornering, and a wonderful new leveled braking.

There's a new safety instrument panel, new dip-center safety steering wheel—even an ingenious new Safety-Minder* that lets you know when you reach the miles-per-hour you've preset for yourself.

Of course, the only way to get the whole, new wonderful story is to take the wheel and let this big new car do its own talking.

And that's something we'll be most happy to arrange first chance you get. Come in today.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special. Safety-Minder standard on Roadmaster, optional other Series.

Peg O' Pampa

THIS WEEK THE LEAVES finally decided that it was Fall, and time to change their leaf colors . . . the colors they arrived at are cheerful, if not the brightest we have ever had . . . and they rustle across the streets, hurried by the wind, just the same as in any other Fall season, so it is all right with us . . . personally, Peg loves to rake leaves, but she wouldn't dare admit it: it doesn't seem to be a popular opinion.

HAVE YOU SEEN ANY PHEASANT FEATHERS LATELY? It is not impossible, for the hunting season is upon us, and the menfolk have been bringing home the birds . . . we shouldn't be at all surprised to see a few hats around town sporting the long beautiful feathers . . . and we feel it would not be unreasonable to expect a few on the hats of the men . . . speaking of this, Esther Culberson has a hat with pheasant feathers on it.

CHATTER FOR THE WEEK . . . we're happy to welcome Viola Doggett among the walking again after her illness . . . her family must be very happy, especially as she will be able to superintend the Thanksgiving preparations . . . such as turkey and dressing . . . she makes absolutely unrivaled dressing . . . the Dan Williamses are busier than ever now that Dan is a man of leisure . . . he can spend more time on his civic interests . . . and help Mary with hers . . . Audrey and Doc Schwartz braved the recent blizzard in Colorado to go see the new grandchild . . . and they also took in the Oklahoma-Colorado football game . . . Sally Butler is redecorating her house . . . Mrs. Paul Crouch is adding to hers, and refurbishing . . . she and Sally are both bundles of energy and good humor . . . Thelma and Clarence Lutes will be moving into their new home in another month or so . . . The November issue of "Reader's Digest" will sport an article about two of Pampa's people . . . Keith (Pat) Glasscock and his wife . . . they are the ones who are so interested in anthropology, or archaeology, and have an extensive collection of Indian artifacts . . . Peg heard that Dorothy and Frank Ponce were in town a day or two, and that they are on their way to Amarillo for the winter, after a summer on their ranch in Colorado . . . we were delighted to see the Harvester Band Queen crowned at the game recently . . . Ruth Adcock, the queen, and her runners-up, Euleen Moore, and Betty Lou Overall, are such queenly young ladies . . . Mrs. John Holt Jr., Mrs. Bob Andis, and Marian Osborne were in Oklahoma City this week for a Girl Scout regional conference . . . Sondra Sullins and Sylvia Grider went along, we heard . . . and, not to leave out the men, the new members of the Elks will be busy from now on . . . Walter Donnell, Kenneth Croft, W. M. Castleberry, Aubrey Barton, Bob Perez, Vernon Heinrich, N. G. Kadingo, and Ernest Searle.

MORE ABOUT THE MEN . . . we don't think this column should necessarily be monopolized by the women . . . Peg heard that Pampa is acquitting itself well in the bowling tournament in Amarillo the past week or two . . . six or eight teams of five men have participated . . . Wayne Harrison is in first place in Class B singles . . . and Stanley Brake and Buck Riddle didn't do so badly in "rag-time doubles," with second place so far . . . among others who went, were John Kooz, Bill Ladd, Ray Stephenson, and Ray Browning and Jesse Smart . . . ask any husband to explain the bowling terms, by the way . . . don't ask me, Peg just repeats what she overhears.

SOCIAL CLUBS, high school variety, were active with a beautiful initiation tea (Sigma Delta Sub Deb) . . . with Sara Harnley a charming president, and Janis Foster, one of the very attractive initiates . . . and a charity ball (Sub Deb) with the theme "Stairway to the Stars" . . . Peg wonders if all teenagers aren't on a "stairway" to the stars . . . spiral . . . elevator . . . or escalator types.

SOMETIME YOU SHOULD SEE the Amarillo Civic Ballet . . . now that Pampa is represented among its company . . . Peg is proud of the beautiful dancers such as Anita Guidry, Carmelita Hogan and Ann Hoffess . . . girls who do ballet always seem to stand so tall and straight, and move with such grace . . . we should try to emulate their posture.

BRIDGE HAS BEEN taking the spotlight lately . . . there was the bridge benefit given by the Council of Clubs, where low prize was won by Mrs. Hugh Hamilton, and second-high by Mrs. Betty Richardson . . . Mrs. V. J. Jamieson was chairman, and Mrs. Dudley Steele assisted her . . . and at Geneva Briscoe's the most gorgeous bouquets ever seen were given as prizes . . . they were truly "creations in chrysanthemums" . . . Peg wishes she had won one, but felt happy for Jesse Newberry, and Nell Harris, who did . . . it is a very good idea to give such prizes . . . that way they can be used and enjoyed over and over again . . . but Peg thinks that such a bouquet calls for a party, and Peg has to many things to do just now to give any parties, so perhaps it is just as well that she didn't win one!

NEW INVENTION of the year is a small electric beater . . . it has, instead of the regulation beaters, a large wire that whirrs . . . put an egg on a sponge rubber cushion, gently press the wire into the top of the egg, and turn on the motor . . . the egg is beaten right in its own shell . . . then can be broken to use in cooking, or hard-boiled (with a piece of that waterproof tape covering the small hole made in the beating process) for people who don't like yolk or white separately in a boiled egg . . . when you stop to think about it, this contraption is pretty sinister . . . Peg calls it unconstitutional invasion of the privacy of any self-respecting egg to be beaten in its own shell . . . oh, the horror of it! Poor, helpless egg!

THIS IS "Harmony Week," so let's all be harmonious . . . and someone said that it is also "Optimist Week," so let us all be optimistic, and it is very difficult to be either or both, sometimes, isn't it? Anyway, yours in harmony and optimism . . .

Mrs. F. M. Culberson Discusses Charm During Meeting Of 20th Century Club

"The Woman of Charm" was the subject discussed by Mrs. F. M. Culberson at the meeting of Twentieth Century Club in the home of Mrs. Robert Sanford. "Real charm," said Mrs. Culberson, "is a projection to those around us of a pleasant personality. It must stem out of a spiritual quality of the inner woman." She gave some "do's" and "don'ts" to help in developing natural charm. Among them were: don't always think of self; don't talk about health, diets, problems; don't adopt every diet fad that comes along; don't dwell on age; don't pity self; and don't keep misfortunes running over in your mind. Some of the most important "do's" were maintain the right mental attitudes; remember that right now is the only time to be happy, so handle the average moment well; the really charming woman is charming to everyone; keep life simple and see the beauty in everything; avoid getting a knock in your motor; have a good hobby, work at it and broaden it; and learn to be satisfied. Stressing that posture, neatness and efficiency have a great deal to do with impression on others, Mrs. Culberson, using Mrs. Kirk Duncan as her model, pointed out the good and bad points of posture in standing, walking and sitting. In conclusion, the speaker said, "Charm is a woman's strength, as strength is a man's charm. Let's like people; meet our problems with decision; always be planning something; practice preparation for older times of life by expanding our circle of friends, hobbies and all interests." To do this she emphasized women must cultivate an attitude of enjoyment in the "right now." Mrs. G. F. Branson, a former member, was welcomed back into the club. During a short business session, led by the president, Mrs. V. J. Jamieson, it was reported that

GRACE FRIEND

Dear Grace Friend,
I enjoy your column very much and think you give some good advice.

The party in a recent column spoke of the punishment in rape cases not being severe enough. I too, think it's terrible for innocent women and children having to suffer. However, if the citizens had enough will power to leave drinking alone and women enough modesty to wear decent clothing there would be little or none of that happen.

B. M.

POLITICAL PARTIES

Dear Miss Friend
Could you tell me how old a candidate must be to be eligible to be president of the United States? And what are the nicknames of the two parties.

Jack

Dear Jack,
A man must be 35 years of age to be president and he must have been a resident within the United States for 14 years. He also must be a natural born citizen of the United States.

G.O.P. or Grand Old Party is the official nickname of the Republicans, and Bourbons is the nickname of the Democrats. Originally Bourbon referred to reactionary Democrats, nowadays it is used for the entire party.

BRIDESMAIDS' BOUQUETS
Dear Miss Friend
I know that it is customary for the bridegroom to pay for the bride's bouquet but I am not sure whether he should pay for all of the bouquets, corsages, etc. at the wedding.

As the mother of a bridegroom-to-be I should appreciate your answer.

Mrs. E.

Dear Mrs. E.
The bridegroom purchases the bride's bouquet and going-away corsage, corsages for her mother and for his mother, and boutonniere for himself, best man and ushers.

The bride's family pays for decorations in the church and the bridesmaids' bouquets, and of course for flowers at the reception.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Midgett of Denton announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Waldine, to Virgil D. Henshaw, son of Mrs. E. B. Davis and the late Rev. George D. Henshaw of Pampa. Vows will be exchanged Dec. 15 in Denton. The bride-elect, a graduate of North Texas State College, is teaching school in Pampa. The prospective bridegroom attended Arlington State College and Texas Technological College. (Photo by Clarence's Studio)

RUTH MILLET

Well, here it is November. For several weeks the postman has been crowding our box with fat Christmas catalogs, advertisements for Christmas cards and other such reminders that the Christmas "season" is about to begin. Every year the Christmas "season" starts earlier. It is already moved ahead to the point that Thanksgiving comes smack - dab in the middle of the Christmas rush.

But I refuse to get excited or to start worrying about my Christmas list while I am still watering the lawn and roses are in bloom. It is my old-fashioned notion that instead of lengthening the Christmas season any more we ought to admit that we've already stretched it to the breaking point. Then we should start telescoping it back toward the two or three weeks it used to occupy in our lives.

Christmas is a wonderful season. For many of us it's the best of the year.

But it loses some of its warmth and some of its feel of a very special season by being dragged out too long.

Christmas decorations shouldn't be up so long they look bedraggled by the time the great day arrives.

Mrs. H. H. Hahn Gives Book Review During Silver Tea

Mrs. H. H. Hahn reviewed the book, "Forty Odd" by Mary Bard during the silver tea presented recently by the Women's Association of the First Presbyterian Church in the educational building. The book began with the author's 40th birthday, which caused her great emotional upheaval. Following a suggestion by her husband for "positive action instead of negative acceptance," the author sets out to fill her spare time with activity in order to forget herself. Mrs. Hahn related the author's amusing experiences as a Brownie Girl Scout leader, a member of a Red Cross class, a member of a Great Books class and a piano pupil. At the close of the book, the author had resolved her emotional conflict and had again become a useful member of her family and her community.

Guests were welcomed by Mrs. John McCrery, Association president, who also introduced Mrs. Hahn. For the tea, the serving table was centered with a fall floral arrangement, flanked by cocoa brown tapers in silver holders. Refreshments of cookies, nuts and tea were served, with Mrs. McCrery presiding at the silver tea service. Hostesses were Mrs. L. W. Jolly, Kirk Duncan and Clinton Henry, all members of the house committee. Proceeds from the tea will be used to provide new draperies for the educational building. Background piano music for the tea was provided by Mrs. J. O. Miller.

Chaplain Is Named By KKK Members

Miss Cynthia Duncan was named chaplain at the recent meeting of the Kit Kat Klub in the home of Miss Joy Vanderburg, 1615 N. Russell. It was decided to establish that office during the meeting.

During the business session, led by Miss Jeanine Leith, president, plans were made for two bake sales, and the annual presentation ball, to be held late in December, was discussed.

The meeting was closed with prayer by Miss Duncan. Refreshments of soft drinks and brownies were served during the social period by the hostess, assisted by Miss Pat Gorman.

Plans were made to hold a bake sale No. 24, in the Hughes and Combs - Worley building and rummage sales Nov. 28 and 24. Plans were also made for giving a Thanksgiving basket to a needy family.

Tickets for the Lee Grable Magic Show, to be sponsored by the Shriners, were distributed. Club members decided to assist Pampa firemen with their toy drive this year.

In the absence of the chaplain, Miss Cynthia Duncan, the meeting was closed with prayer by Miss Carolyn Ford.

Refreshments of soft drinks and cookies were served by the hostess, Miss Marcia Monahan, assisted by Miss Kay Baker.

GRACE FRIEND

Dear Grace Friend — I was going with a boy 20 and I am only 15 and he is in college now and I am going out with other boys. I am a junior and I went out with a junior boy from my school and everyone likes him but my mother. He is part Indian. He has dark skin and dark hair but is very attractive. He is only 16 but acts older than most boys 16.

My mother said that she would rather not have me go out with him but she has never interfered before. He is a lot of fun to be with and we have the same things in common and we both like to dance.

If you would print this in the paper maybe my mother would read it and change her views of him. We are not really serious but like to be in each other's company. We have a lot of fun together. Ruth

Regardless of the boy's background, it is unwise for girls of 15 to go against their mother's advice in dating boys. If she feels that the boy is not for you, then you will be happier to do as she suggests. It isn't worth scenes at home to continue the friendship in the face of her displeasure.

It definitely would not be wise to see the boy secretly as her finding out later on that you have disregarded her wishes may destroy her trust in you and make her suspicious of you in the future and I know that you would not like that.

Probably she doesn't object to your being with the boy in groups or at parties. At least discuss that with her.

Remember that your mother has your best interests at heart and that her advice is based on what greater experience has taught her will be best for you in the long run.

CORRECT JACKET
Grace
Is it correct to wear a white jacket for fall and winter weddings?

My friends say a tux is correct but for some reason I would like to wear white when I get married next month. Jim

Dear Jim
White jackets are correct for spring and summer weddings, dark ones for fall and winter.

Hoe Down

By MRS. VERN SAVAGE

A lawn once established is the heart of any good landscaping program. It helps keep the house cool in the summer. It provides surface water control, and of course, it enables you to enjoy summer outdoor living.

Many lawns are neglected during the summer. Trying to rebuild them after the hot, dry weather is over is when the hard work comes in. If you plan a thorough, all-year-round program, you don't have any trouble.

Grass should be mowed as long as the growth continues. If allowed to grow, it becomes matted and delays growth in the spring. Do not mow too closely as this starves the roots. Grass must have its leaves to stay alive.

The best time to water a lawn is the early morning. At this time, there is less evaporation. The water must get down to the main root system. Merely wetting the Ordinarily fall rains take care of the watering better than you can, but if the ground is dry, get out the hose and soak the soil thoroughly.

Once I had a lovely garden. But weeds caught me off guard. Never give a weed an inch. Or it will take a yard. —by Dawn Flanery Parker.

SABOTAGE
Sabotage is a very serious crime. It is the act of willfully destroying, damaging, or obstructing property.

Somehow, many parents never seem to understand the clothing patterns of teenagers. It's not surprising, since a party of one kind calls for socks and knee pants, a party of another kind calls for a dressy dress. Yet the young lady of the house explains in both cases that she's going to a party, without differentiation.

One young lady had this problem to a very severe degree. With her mother, any mention of "dancing" called for gloves. She insisted that her daughter wear them when leaving the house. The young lady hid them in the bushes.

The mother was set in her ideas and the daughter made no effort to explain or show her different ones.

Other cases of this type include girls who feel they have to keep their party dresses at other girls' homes, girls who feel they need to scrub off lipstick before arrival home, teen-agers who peel off socks or hair ribbons on the way to school.

This is a tough problem. A mother's intentions are generally the best. She wants her daughter to look pretty. The girl wants to look like everyone else.

A possible solution is having the crowd over to your house so your mother may see the knee pants, or whatever, are commonly worn and not so bad - looking.

Sometimes the way to make a color strike a stunning effect is to use it discreetly. A touch of violet with beige or gray or black can be arresting.

Teenager's Attire Needs Explaining

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

"You're going out in that?" rates high on the list of questions teenagers wish their parents would never ask.

When I realized what I had just said, I laughed out loud. But it started me thinking.

We housewives always seem to be pushed for time. "There just aren't enough hours in the day," we tell ourselves.

Part of the reason why we are so often behind in our work is because we kid ourselves about the things we can do in "just a minute."

We'll interrupt our work to talk for "just a minute" to a friend. A glance at the clock when we start to dial and again when we have finally said "I've really got to get to work, goodbye," would often show us that "the minute" turned out to be anywhere from 20 minutes to half an hour.

We figure it will only "take a minute" to run to the grocery store. But on the way, we stop by a friend's house and decide to have a cup of coffee. The time slips by.

We are always doing things for our children which they are old enough to be doing for themselves because it will only take us "a minute." Besides, it is easier than trying to get the children to do the things themselves.

But the minutes add up. Any housewife who doesn't have enough time in any day to get everything done she feels has to be done should start watching her "minutes."

ALLEN TOWN, Pa. — (NEA) — A Bronx, New York City, home-maker visits Allentown regularly to go on a shoplifting spree — with the blessing of the Hess Brothers Department Store management.

"I enjoy my work tremendously," says Mrs. Mary Dragoti, wife of a Bronx locksmith and mother of a 14-year-old boy and an 8-year-old girl. "There's something new to learn every day and you've got to remain at least one step ahead of the fast-moving, quick-witted shoplifters preying on stores throughout the country."

That quotation is the key to Mrs. Dragoti's successful "shoplifting" career. She's an employee of the department store and her job is to instruct employees in the devices and tricks used by shoplifters. Her lightening work in the various departments is carried on to test alertness of personnel — if any employe catches Mrs. Dragoti in the act of shoplifting, he or she receives a reward personally from Max Hess, the store's president.

In classes, she wears a mask to preserve her anonymity. Mrs. Dragoti started her department store career as a salesgirl. Quick to spot shoplifters whose depredations cost retailers throughout the country a total of more than 300 million dollars annually, her sense of detection was responsible for her promotion to store detective.

That little bit of larceny that's said to exist in the best of us is responsible for much shoplifting, according to Mrs. Dragoti, who attributes the urge in many cases to the desire to get something for nothing.

Shoplifters can come from any walk of life, can be of any age or race, and whether they're rich or poor is seldom a factor, according to Mrs. Dragoti.

The greatest offenders are often the apparently "good citizens," she says, citing statistics to show that housewives, lawyers, government employes, students and even clergymen are among those who have been caught and convicted as shoplifters over the years.

Her course for store employes emphasizes this point: "Keep your eyes on everyone." She points out that "shoplifters will steal anything that's not nailed down," and cites the authenticated case of the rowboat that was stolen from a New York City department store not many years ago.

The first member of her family ever to work in the field of security and law enforcement, Mrs. Dragoti says that her children are very proud of her, and that her boy wants to become a policeman when he grows up so that he can follow in the tradition of law enforcement established by his mother.

The event is the branch's annual Thanksgiving dinner. Guest speaker will be Cameron Marsh, whose topic will be "History of Political Parties." Hostess will be Mmes. Easie Mae Walter and Myri Salmon and Miss Eloise Lane.

Manners Make Friends

If you agree to meet someone at a public place, make a special effort to be exactly on time. No one likes to be kept waiting under any circumstances. But it is worse if the one waiting is in a crowded, busy place where he has no chance to relax or accomplish anything while he is waiting. It's always better to be on time than to expect an apology for being late to make things right.

Girl Scout Activities

Intermediate Troop 36 met recently with 12 girls present. Members began work on Christmas corsages, to be made of pine cones dipped in wax and sprinkled with artificial snow. It was decided to adopt a family for Thanksgiving and Christmas, with the Thanksgiving basket to be delivered next Thursday. Five dolls were picked up from the fire station and the girls began work on wardrobes for the dolls.

Mary Lou Miller was welcomed as a new member. Refreshments of cocoa and cookies were prepared and served by Betty Kilpatrick and Anita Buske.

Jane Hiatt presided for the meeting of Brownie Troop 15. Calendar sales, Brownie secrets and Christmas projects were discussed. Following the meeting the girls worked on crafts, and refreshments were served by Frances Holt.

Members of Brownie Troop 12 were treated to a surprise party by their leaders, Mrs. Vernon Stuckey and Mrs. James M. Kimbaugh, in the Scout room of the First Presbyterian Church. The serving table was centered with a "doughnut tree," consisting of doughnuts and bags of candy tied to a tree branch which was anchored in a pall of sand. Favors were invested.

Games were played, and Mrs. Myles Kelley served soft drinks. During a previous meeting, Jean Kelley and Patricia Masterson were invited.

Brownie Troop 78 celebrated its third birthday with a wiener roast at the home of Mrs. Jack Vaughn. During the business session, Joy White was elected reporter. It was decided to bring broken toys to be given to Pampa firemen who will repair them and present them to needy children for Christmas.

A birthday cake with candles was served during the social period. Mrs. R. B. White is troop leader.

Brownie Troop 1 held a campout at Camp Mel Davis. Games were played, the flag ceremony was practiced and a candlelight investiture service was presented for Barbara Casey and Barbara Zimmerman. Refreshments of hot chocolate and cookies were served following the ceremony, and the evening was closed with a story hour. The second day included a hike before breakfast.

Leaders accompanying the girls were Mrs. John Holt and Mrs. Jack Seals. Girls attending were Kay Smith, Judy Stewart, Nancy Holt, Barbara Holt, Marie Engle, Barbara Zimmerman, Kay Fort, Barbara Casey, Kennie Sue McQuire, Nancy Hall, Janis Seals and Judy Seals.

Toenails Require Beauty Care, Too

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor
In Colette's novelette "Gigi," there is a scene concerning Gigi's toenails. Her grandmother delivers a lecture on the subject. Of course, Gigi's grandmother was not the kind of woman who reared a family and made a home, but in the business of being attractive, she was wise.

Most women's toenails are not pretty. In summer, when they present themselves, the sight is appalling. But in winter, when the toes are shut up tight in shoes for most of the day and then blown out in slippers or at bedtime, they're worse.

Toenails are generally harder than fingernails. They're hard to cut and hard to clean. The cuticle is horny. The surface of the nail is often decorated with dye from the shoes.

If a woman showers rather than bathes, she ought to devote some time to soaking her feet in hot water and soap. This softens the cuticle and the nail itself and of ten makes it possible to scrub off ingrained dirt.

The nails should be trimmed after their soak, when they are soft. A toenail trimmer is the best thing to use. It's strong and cuts straight across. Cuticle should be pushed back with a towel.

This routine is advisable once a week.

Pampans To Attend WMU Convention

A large number of women from Baptist churches in Pampa are expected to attend the District 10 convention of the Women's Missionary Union Tuesday in the First Baptist Church of Amarillo.

Pampans to take part on the program are Mrs. H. M. Stokes, president of the Palo Duro Association WMU, and Mrs. Chester O'Brien, general vice - chairman for district 10; Mrs. W. B. Franklin, district and Associational G.A. leader, along with several GA members.

The meeting will open at 10 a.m. and adjourn at 3 p.m. Its theme will be "Hold High The Torch For Advancement." Special speakers will include Miss Hannah Barlow from Japan; Miss Evla Mae Henderson of Dallas; and Miss Ruby Yat Min Cheung of China. Mrs. Tom Carmichael, district president, will preside.

Lunch will be served by the host church at noon for adults and children, and a nursery for children will be provided during the meetings.

REVISED SETTING

Few of us feel that we can re-furnish our homes at will - starting from scratch and getting everything brand new. Often we must depend for room change and uplift on revising the background colors, introducing new and novel decorative touches, and finding a few new pieces of furniture that will blend compatibly with our older belongings and at the same time give our rooms an up-dated feeling.

Forward-looking designers having long sensed this need for styling that had a kinship with the familiar forms of the past and yet was new in concept and design, have brought us a long-awaited group of interchangeable pieces that will fit into any setting with grace and charm. The living room sketched has been up-dated by painting the walls a soft beaver shade that exactly matches the wall-to-wall carpet.

Wall interest has been kept to minimum to emphasize the planter which extends the entire width of the mantel.

A new chest, an end table and a coffee table - all trim and uncluttered - were mixed with the older pieces. The result is an up-dated, comfortable room that is a joy to live in.

We offer you a new group of living room chests that will blend with modern or traditional furniture with equal dexterity. Simply designed pieces with individuality of character that gives them distinction and importance. You'll be delighted, we're sure.

Authorities feel that a child is more physically safe if he's learned to balance and climb as soon as he wanted to, rather than having been restricted on the basis of safety. They suggest letting Baby shine if he shows a desire.

Many Babies love the outdoors so much they raise an awful fuss at going in time. It may help to mention what's going to be indoors: Daddy, or juice and a cookie or going to see a friend. Baby doesn't care much about your having to cook, however.

Mothers who feel guilty about leaving a sleeping two-month Baby with a baby-sitter ought to remember they need the time out in order to manage better. They also ought to remember that the younger Baby gets used to sitters, the easier it is.

December Oil Allowable Is Announced

AUSTIN UP—The Texas Railroad Commission has set the state's December oil production allowable at 3,442,952 barrels daily, a near-record level that topped the present statewide allowable by 75,503 barrels a day.

The commission, following a two-hour prorator hearing, placed the state's fields on a 16-day producing basis for December, one day above the present level.

Commission Chairman William J. Murray Jr. pointed out that if it becomes necessary, the commission has authority to issue an emergency order to boost allowables.

Most oil men urged a "hold-the-line" policy on the state's allowable. Despite the Middle East crisis, it was pointed out, above-ground oil stocks in the United States are now at an "excessive" level.

Special field allowables set by the commission included: Fort Chadbourne, 13 days; Old Ocean (Armstrong), 15, and Headlee-Devonian and Dora Roberts Devonian, 16 days each.

Herman Pressler of Houston, speaking for Humble Oil and Refining Co., proposed 17 producing days for West Texas, and 19 days for the rest of the state.

The proposal came under heavy fire from other oilmen, who branded it as a "selective buying" plan which would depart from the commission's traditional "across-the-board" policy of setting allowables equally across the state.

Pressler said "we face an unusual and significant increase in demand for crude oil in Texas as an incident to the disturbances in the Middle East which have stopped movements through the Suez Canal and limited movements through the pipelines to the Mediterranean."

H. P. Nichols of Tyler, representing the East Texas Oil and Gas Association, said he was "amazed" at Humble's proposal, and called it "a step backwards." He expressed confidence that "we can take care of the Western European situation."

Christmas Seal Days Designated

UPDTT Nov. 15 11:22:40pm AUSTIN (UP)—Gov. Allan Shivers has designated the period from now until Dec. 24 as "Christmas Seal Days" in Texas. He called upon all Texans to "make a sound investment in health and happiness by buying and using Christmas Seals during the holiday season."

Sunday, Dec. 16, was designated as "chapel for the children" Sunday in observance of a project to provide a chapel for the 1,900 children at the Austin state school.

"Texas children, who live at the Austin State School, are mentally retarded to the extent that most will spend their lives in an institution. Yet, almost without exception, each knows he has a Heavenly Father," the governor said. Ministers over the state have been asked to ring their church bells from 9:30 to 9:45 a.m. on Dec. 16 in observance of the undertaking.

Marilyn Gets Self 'Limited'

LONDON (UP)—Movie actress Marilyn Monroe began a new venture in the financial world today with a fresh, crisp stock certificate to attest she is "limited."

The blonde film star, who financial experts agree is no slouch at figures, strolled into London's financial district Friday and set up a new corporation, Marilyn Monroe Productions, Limited, with herself as chairman.

At the same time, Business Manager Milton H. Greene set up a sister company in the United States, Marilyn Monroe Productions, Inc.

John Alden was the last of the 41 signers of the Mayflower Compact to die. His death occurred Sept. 12, 1687.

OFF TO A FRESH START—With the scars of her collision completely erased, the Swedish liner Stockholm leaves the Bethlehem Steel Company's New York shipyard for a test run. As a result of her colliding with the Italian liner Andrea Doria in July, the Stockholm's bow had to be replaced.

Destructive Corn Parasite Is Found In Carolina Fields

SMILES IN SAFETY—U.S. Ambassador Clare Boothe Luce chats with a group of American children evacuated from Egypt, upon their arrival in Naples. U.S. Navy and merchant vessels evacuated 1,300 persons in two convoys from the war-torn area.

(ON THE FARM FRONT)
By GAYLORD P. GODWIN
WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (UP)—A parasite more destructive than the European corn borer has been discovered in a few corn fields of the Carolinas. The pest is so new to this country that Agriculture Department scientists have not yet worked out control measures.

The common name of the pest is "Witchweed." Botanists call it "Striga lutea," or "Striga Asiatika."

Witchweed looks harmless. It seldom grows more than a few inches high. It does its damage below ground, penetrating the roots of the host plants on which it lives and depriving them of nutrients and water. The parasite also may inject into the host-plant roots some substance that interferes with normal growth of these plants.

The weed is a scourge of corn and sorghum in South Africa and a serious pest of rice, sugarcane, and other crops of the Far East. The Union of South Africa has reported that it does more damage to corn in that country than fungus diseases and insects combined.

Could Attack Many Crops
Department scientists believe that if witchweed became widespread it could destroy more corn in the United States than the European corn borer, which costs farmers more than $80 million a year. The parasitic weed also could attack summer-grown small grains, sorghum, sugarcane, rice, and pasture grasses in the United States.

Witchweed appeared for the first time in the United States a few weeks ago at more than 40 scattered locations in three counties in North Carolina and four counties in South Carolina. According to department records, this was the first appearance of the weed in the Western Hemisphere.

The weed caused severe damage in the few corn fields it infested. It was found also in fields planted to other crops, along roadsides, and on vacant land. It was observed, too, in tobacco, peanuts, beans, peas, sweet potatoes, and other crops not related to grasses. However, it did them no damage.

PRACTICAL BEAUTY — The latest appliance styles — built-ins, counter-top units, and steel cabinets — make this kitchen an eye-catching blend of the modern and traditional.

Intelligent Planning Is The First Step Toward A Modern Kitchen

You have picked the appliances you are going to get this Christmas. You know what you need, how the machines work and you have arranged to fit them into the routine of your home.

But have you planned the layout of your kitchen and laundry? A poor floor plan can destroy much of the value of the best appliances.

If you are moving into a new home or are doing a remodeling job on your kitchen, you probably have professional help. Architects usually work out floor plans, and remodeling of old kitchens often is handled by professional kitchen planners.

Dealer Has Plan Books
But this is your kitchen. And if you can have only one or two major appliances this year, you will want to plan ahead. What other appliances will you have in future years? Where will you put them, and how will they fit in with what you have?

You will see kitchens in other homes and pictures in your newspaper and other publications. Your dealer will have booklets on kitchen planning.

You have heard that some kitchens are so badly planned that a housewife spends much of her time walking back and forth across them. You can check a plan by thinking of a simple task like making a cup of tea. You take the teapot from the shelf. How far do you walk to put water in it? Now, how far is it to the stove? To the place where the tea is stored? To the teacups? To the place where you drink it?

Subject to Variation

You can ask the same question about other routines. Usually kitchen planners think of the kitchen as a group of centers. There should be centers for mixing, cooking, serving and cleanup. These can be combined or varied in a number of ways. Kitchen plans usually are thought of as being in the shape of a U or an L. There are also I or straight-line kitchens. And many modern kitchens save steps by putting some appliances, work surfaces and storage cabinets in an island or a peninsula.

Are you getting some of the new automatic appliances? If so, you will be less of a worker and more of an executive. You will need a desk or table as a planning center. Many homemakers find such a center useful even with the older type of appliances.

How tall is the person who is going to do most of the work in this kitchen? Most counterheight appliances and counters are 36 inches high. That is standard, but people are not of standard height. If the homemaker is very tall or very short, can you arrange to have these surfaces lowered into the floor slightly or raised on solid bases?

Have you work surfaces where you need them, or do you have to carry things across the room to use them?

How about shelves? You will find that there are spaces under low shelves and above high shelves that you can't see without stooping over or climbing up on something. These difficult-to-see spots will differ for people of different heights.

How high can you reach, comfortably? This, too, will make a difference as to where things are stored.

Little things can sometimes make a big difference. For example, do you have a rack at your eye level which will hold an open book? How about cabinets in corners? Have you planned revolving shelves in such hard-to-reach places? Is space lacking for a work surface where one is needed? How about a board which you can pull out or fold up or down?

Are you right — or left — handed? Most right-handers like to work from right to left? Does the work in your kitchen flow that way?

You will find many kitchen plans. You will want to choose one that fits your home and the work habits of your family.

In the same way, you can make your laundry job easier with a little planning in advance. Here the sorting, washing, rinsing, drying cycles are important. But these will vary according to the type of appliances you have to work with.

Experts will advise you to get professional planning to help if you can, but see to it that your kitchen and laundry fit your family.

Want Your Kitchen Out Of Dark Ages?

Want to get your kitchen out of the Dark Ages?

Then start redesigning your old kitchen or planning the one in your new home around ultra-modern built-in or stack-on ovens and elegant counter-top burners or surface units.

The biggest reason for the growing popularity of separate ovens is that they can be installed at a height convenient for you to use and clean without stooping or bending — a feature once found in high oven ranges but later lost as the streamlined kitchen with its cabinet-type range gained favor. Counter-top burners or surface units not only improve the appearance of a kitchen but eliminate the hard-to-clean space which formerly occurred between the range and the counter. They also are readily adaptable in a cooking island or peninsula, and counters surrounding the burners or surface units make splatter-guards unnecessary.

PERMIT FLEXIBILITY
Counter tops permit considerable flexibility in the number, kind and placement of the burners or surface units. Griddle, broiler and deep-well units are available. These can be arranged in any number of positions and controls can be placed at the front, back, side or on a neighboring wall.

One of the latest developments in this field is the "stack-on" concept, which bypasses the sometimes tricky problem of installation. Surface units or burners and oven come in separate parts, each resting on a base cabinet. They can be nestled among existing cabinets or employed in connection with an entire new set to give "built-in" appearance and convenience at lower cost. Servicing problems also are simplified.

CHECK THESE POINTS
With either built-in or stack-on ovens, certain points of construction and installation should be double-checked. Here are some of the things the Small Homes Council of the University of Illinois advises homemakers to watch for:

1. The oven should be well insulated. Check the manufacturer's literature for this information.

2. All ovens should be installed so that instructions regarding allowances for air circulation around the oven should be observed.

3. Precautions should be taken so that heat and moisture, escaping from the oven when the door is open, do not mar the surface above the oven. While the metal overhang above most oven doors helps to deflect the heat, use of stainless steel, copper, masonry, or ceramic tile above the oven is recommended.

4. Floor area of the kitchen should be adequate to accommodate a separate oven without sacrificing needed counter. This is an important precaution because a separate oven and a counter-top cooking unit require more floor area than a range alone. The separate oven takes up space which is otherwise usable for counter. Care must be taken not to reduce minimum counter requirements.

5. Counter space must be provided adjacent to the oven. A minimum of 24 inches is recommended. Counter in front of the oven is useless when the door is open.

6. Storage above the oven may be a safety hazard. This space is generally too deep and not easily accessible. If used, it should be reserved for large, lightweight articles, such as trays, or seldom-used utensils.

Planning For New Kitchen Simple, Fun

Thanks to the wide variety of sizes and styles now available in standard and special-purpose steel cabinets, remodeling an old kitchen or planning one for a new home is both simple and fun. Today's steel kitchen can be tailored perfectly to room size requirements, yet provide the advantage of economy because of mass production.

To get some idea of the variety possible, consider these specialty units:

Snack bars that serve as handy dining and work surfaces.

Handsome divider cabinets, with door openings on both sides, which can be used to separate the food-preparation center from a dining or laundry area. These units supply compact storage room for supplies, which can be reached from either area.

Special steel units to house waist-high ovens and provide storage space underneath.

Curved door and rounded steel shelf units which can be fitted at the ends of rows of standard base and wall cabinets to ease walk through passageways and add a clean decorative line to the kitchen.

All of these precision built cabinets help stylize the steel kitchen. Each unit, regardless of its design, blends with all others of the same make. This means that the multi-purpose kitchen, though made up of two or three centers for cooking, laundry, dining or other activities, can be fashioned into one coordinated work saver with a custom-tailored appearance.

Remember when planning for base and wall cabinets that the right height depends upon both the job to be done and your height, posture and arm length.

Here's how the Pennsylvania State University College of Agriculture Extension Service recommends that you find your best work heights for various kitchen chores:

STAND-UP JOBS

Stand at ease with your feet slightly apart and arms down at your sides. Raise your arms from the elbow until the palms of your hands arrive in a position where you could mix food without stooping. Measure the distance from the floor to your hands. This is the best working height for your food preparation or mixing counter.

SITTING JOBS

Sit at ease in a comfortable straight chair with a back support. Place your feet flat on the floor, arms down at your sides. From the elbow raise your arms until parallel with the floor. The distance from the floor to your waist is the right height for a lap-board.

Proper height of a sink is extremely important. If it is too deep or low, you will have to stoop, lean or slouch to do your work. The proper position is one that will enable you to stand comfortably erect and be able to place the palms of your hands in the bottom of the sink.

Color Treatments Carried Inside Some White Units

Whether or not you like color on the outside of your appliances, it seems possible that some of those you buy may not be white inside.

Some of the makers found costs mounting when they tried to match all the new outside colors inside their products. Last year they tried various ways of meeting the problem.

At least one manufacturer changed interior colors on both white and colored appliances. He thinks he has found a single interior color that goes well with both white and colored exteriors.

The idea has not moved far enough to establish a trend, but in the future there is a good chance the appliances you buy may have color inside whether they are white or colored outside.

Here's What To Do When Power Fails

What happens to a freezer full of precious food when the electric power goes off?

Cornell University specialists say there is little chance of frozen food thawing in the first 48 hours of power interruption, if the freezer is not opened.

They do, however, advise checking the food after 24 hours to make sure it is still frozen hard and has no sign of moisture.

FEELING LUXURIOUS? Then here's the kitchen for you. It's a French Provincial all-gas kitchen, with steel cabinets, wall oven and plenty of space for gracious, homey living.

You Need The Best Lighting Over Kitchen Work Areas

Here's a way you can have a more cheerful place. "snowflake" Christmas that literally will bring a flow of soothing, welcome whiteness into your life:

Tell "Santa" that this year you want lights for something more than the Christmas tree. Tell him you want "light for living" in the most important room in your house — the kitchen.

According to the American Home Lighting Institute of Chicago, studies have shown that better kitchen lighting makes kitchen tasks easier and requires less physical and nervous energy from the home maker.

For Maximum Efficiency

The Institute maintains that for maximum efficiency, there should be fixture light over every important work area in the kitchen — sink, range, and work counter.

Besides eliminating the frustration and irritation that go along with working in a badly lit kitchen, good fixture lighting helps decorate the room and makes it the front of the cabinet, a face-board is required.

Lighting over the sink can be concealed behind a faceboard so that the entire effect resembles a custom-built soffit, usually associated with smart remodeling jobs.

Your range needs adequate fixture lighting, even if it already has its own built-in lighting. The built-in unit is generally intended to illuminate only the range controls and is seldom sufficient to light up the cooking area.

A fluorescent wall bracket installed to illuminate the range can double as a condiment shelf if the top is covered with protective diffusing glass or plastic.

Advice Is Available

A similar wall bracket can be used to light up the kitchen dining table set against the wall. Or, if the table is placed out from the wall, a pulley-type light fixture can be raised or lowered to provide the correct area of down light needed for any purpose.

Information and advice on the correct light for your kitchen is usually available at no charge from your local electrical contractor, electrical distributor, utility, or department store.

Put White Christmas Into Holiday Meal

The weather man may not be able to provide a White Christmas out-of-doors. But clever homemakers can add the seasonal White Christmas touch to their holiday dinners with crushed ice.

The refrigerator of today, ready and able to supply this ice quickly and abundantly, joins with the range in helping Mom prepare the holiday meal.

"Ice can make an old-fashioned Christmas dinner sparkle with new eye appeal and appetite appeal," says the home economics institute of a leading concern. Their suggestions for use of ice are contained in the following menu they have prepared for the holiday feast:

- Frozen Fruit Juice Appetizer
- Roast Tom Turkey
- Walnut Dressing
- Savory Gravy
- Orange Candied Sweet Potatoes
- New England Browned Potatoes
- Spiced and Stuffed Relishes
- Cranberry Salad Stars
- Santa's Sundae-Special

Home economists suggests you use your favorite recipes for the turkey, dressing, potatoes, gravy and broccoli. Then use the following recipes for preparing and serving the other items on the menu:

Frozen Fruit Juice Appetizer — Combine equal amounts of unsweetened grapefruit juice, orange juice and pineapple juice. Pour into shallow container and place in freezing unit of refrigerator for one hour, stirring every so minutes. Serve in fruit juice glasses from a deep tray filled with frothy crushed ice.

Relishes Recipe
Spiced and Stuffed Relishes — Spiced apples, prunes or pears, watermelon pickles, sweet cucumber pickles and olives speared on toothpicks and tucked into a mound of crushed ice cubes or served on an ice-chilled platter make a different and delightful relish plate. For variety, add prunes or apricot stuffed with cream cheese and pineapple bits, olives stuffed cheese or nuts, and celery stuffed with peanut butter.

Cranberry Salad Stars — Wash two cups cranberries. Add one cup cold water. Cook until tender. Add one cup sugar. Cook for five minutes. Soften in 1/2 cup cold water one tablespoon unflavored gelatin. Dissolve in hot cranberries. Add 1/4 teaspoon salt. Chill until mixture begins to thicken. Add 1/2 cup chopped pecans and 1/4 cup diced celery. Mix thoroughly. Pour into individual star-shaped molds, lightly oiled, and chill in refrigerator until firm. Unmold on lettuce cups. Serve on salad plates or dessert dishes set in deep serving dishes of crushed ice.

Santa's Sundae-Special — a perfect dessert for topping off this White Christmas dinner. It's snow-white vanilla ice cream dressed up in red and green, and crowned with confectioners' tiny silver candy pellets. It's served in an ice surrounded by crushed ice cubes so that you can dish it ready for serving at the table before you sit down to dinner. Here's how you make the two sundaes:

For the Red Cherry Sauce, strain juice from 8-ounce can of dark red pitted cherries and add water to make 1/2 cup. Stir in 1 1/2 teaspoons cornstarch and 1 1/2 teaspoons sugar and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Cook over low flame 10 minutes, then add cherries.

Mint Same Recipe
For the green Pineapple - Mint Sauce, drain two cups canned, sweetened crushed pineapple and set fruit aside. Cook together over medium heat drained pineapple juice, one tablespoon cornstarch, 1/4 teaspoon salt, stirring constantly until thick and smooth. Remove from heat. Stir in crushed pineapple and one tablespoon lemon juice. Chill in bowl of ice water, stirring frequently until completely cold. Add a few drops peppermint extract and green food coloring.

Here's How To Get The Most From Freezer

Some women lose much of the convenience and some of the efficiency of a food freezer by failing to use it properly. Here is some advice on packaging food for the freezer:

1. Always choose cartons and wrappings that are moisture-proof and vapor-proof, easy to handle, seal and label. Materials should be flexible and strong enough to withstand handling at zero degree degrees.
2. Wrap all food tightly. "Freezer-burn," which appears as frost or grayish-white spots on frozen food, is caused by air pockets that are left between the product and the wrapping material. If containers are used, they should be filled to the recommended mark — usually 1/2 inch from the top for solids, one inch from the top for liquids.
3. For convenience each package should be labeled with the date of storage, kind of food and, when necessary, weight or quantity.
4. Use only table-ripe vegetables or fruits that are at the peak of maturity.
5. Fruit should be packaged in meal-size quantities, so there will be no left-overs. Defrosted frozen fruits loses its spallability if left standing several hours, and it should never be re-frozen. It is especially important for fruits to be packaged in containers that are leak-proof, firm, moisture- and vapor-proof.
6. Fruits that are to be used primarily for pies, jellies or preserves can be washed and frozen in dry packs without sugar or syrup. Fruits can also be frozen in a dry sugar pack or in a syrup pack.
7. Meats should be wrapped immediately after cutting, to prevent loss of juice and flavor.
8. When sheet material or plastic bags are used in packaging, use a box or pan as a form until the wrapped product is frozen solid. When the form is removed it leaves a regular-shaped and easily-stored package.
9. Keep small food packages in one large nylon bag. It makes them easier to find.
10. Freeze foods in meal-sized amounts to avoid de-frosting foods that cannot be re-frozen.

Color Brightens Kitchen

By HOWARD KETCHAM
 New York Color and Design Engineer

Since the housewife spends more time in the kitchen than anywhere else in the house during the day, it should not only reflect her personality, but it should be a bright and pleasing place in which to work. This can best be achieved by the judicious use of color for the background and for equipment, appliances and accessories.

Today, when the home owner is planning a new kitchen, colored appliances to match or contrast with the walls, cabinets and other fixtures are given the greatest consideration. In some instances, manufacturers are matching the colors of their appliances with the color of other equipment, although standardization has not yet reached the ideal stage. Much more has to be done to bring about coordinated colors for the kitchen in the appliance industry.

One solution for the housewife with a color-matching problem might be for her to sand the appliance or appliances in question and apply a special enamel finish coat in the color of her choice. According to the president of a large paint company, his firm has an excellent product, a triple-duty enamel, for this purpose. It can be sprayed on or applied with a brush. Another method of providing coordinated colors in the kitchen was evolved by a leading New York home furnishing store, when they were commissioned to do over many large apartments and homes after World War II.

The firm did over the kitchens with coordinated colors from the appliances right down to the pots and pans. To accomplish this coordinated color program in all its perfection and detail, they sent appliances to automobile painting shops to be sprayed with synthetic enamel in the exact colors they wanted to complement the kitchen colors.

It might well be asked what items are most likely to be difficult to get in a matching kitchen. Actually, nothing is hard to get today in matching colors. Paint manufacturers are producing as many as 1400 different colors, so appealing color schemes can easily be selected. Many manufacturers of paints, floor coverings and draperies are offering complete customized kitchen color plans free.

As to the choice of proper color for the kitchen, there is a wide variety of choice today, depending largely on personal preference. Many people, who are not housewives, seem to think that cool colors belong in the kitchen because psychologically they seem right. This does not always work out in practice. Surveys have indicated that women like bright cheerful color in the kitchen, with yellow and turquoise ranking particularly high. The colors should be functional and provide a happy, cheerful atmosphere.

Your Electric Water Heater Works Hard

Next to the housewife, the hardest-working occupant of any home is the water heater.

Day and night it labors away, producing hot water for hundreds of personal and household uses. If you have one of the new electric water heaters, you're in luck.

It has complete thermal insulation — top, bottom and sides. This reduces operation costs and avoids heating up the area in which it is installed.

And you can install your water heater anywhere because there is no flue or vent connection needed. A counter-high model can be placed right next to the dishwasher, sink or clothes washer where much hot water is used. This is a practical spot for the heater, incidentally, because the water will stay hotter if it doesn't have to travel so far through the pipes to get where it's going.

Electric water heaters are available with quick recovery-heating units. They supply hot water after draw-off at a faster rate and so provide increased hot water service from the same size tank. For best results to fit your needs, consult your local utility or electrical contractor.

In addition to their dependability and thrift, electric water heaters are now shaped to fit in with washers and dryers in laundry rooms or in the kitchen. They match in color and in height, providing extra counter space. And no housewife ever has too much of that.

Dishwasher Trick For Extra Payoff

Users of dishwashers find their machines so efficient that they need to wash dishes only once or twice a day. But they have found that some dirty dishes stored in the washers might give trouble with stuck-on food like egg or cooked cereal.

Then an experienced user came up with a trick to beat the problem. When more dishes are loaded into the washer, turn the machine on for a minute or two without detergent. Dishes rinsed in this way were found to wash well when a load was accumulated and washed.

itself would be an electric water heater.

Gas Supply Is Measured In Trillions

You may forget to buy coffee when you're out shopping. Sometimes you'll find yourself with no bacon to go with your eggs, or vice versa. You may even run out of potatoes — and discover it just before dinner.

But, says the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association, you're not going to run out of gas. You'll have plenty of gas to cook whatever food is available, morning, noon and night.

The nation's natural gas industry, GAMA says, has spent more than $5 billion on expansion of the natural gas pipeline system during the past decade in order to make more of the fuel available to homes and industries from coast to coast. What's more, further expansion which will cost another $1 1/2 billion is already under way.

Projects approved by the Federal Power Commission during 1956 alone were expected to add 2,385,200,000 cubic feet of natural gas to the daily delivery capacity of existing facilities and bring new or additional natural gas service to 123 cities of more than 60,000 population through 5,706 miles of new pipeline.

The rising demand for natural gas resulted in a record consumption of more than ten trillion cubic feet last year. But even while this record use was going on the industry discovered 22 trillion cubic feet of additional reserves to bring the proved recoverable reserves to an all-time high of 223.7 trillion cubic feet.

Obviously, GAMA says, the homemaker can use gas to her heart's content — for cooking, water heating, clothes drying or refrigeration. There's gas aplenty in the pipeline, and lots more where that came from.

While the popularity of gas for home use has grown by leaps and bounds, there is a plentiful supply of its miracle fuel for all purposes.

BEST FOR KITCHEN

Floor coverings best for use in the kitchen are linoleum, plastic, vinyl and wood if it's treated with penetrating oil sealer.

MORE than 90 million gas appliances valued at $16.4 billion are currently in use in the United States. Of this number, 71.5 million are served by utility gas and the remainder by LP or bottled gas. The 35 million gas-using families average almost three gas appliances apiece.

What They Mean

"Amperes" or "amp" denotes capacity. "Watt" is the amount of energy used. "Volt" is the level of pressure — the higher the voltage number, the greater the pressure.

Dealer Can Put 'Dream Kitchen' In Your Home

By LAWRENCE GRALLA
Editor, Kitchen Business Magazine

How many times have you heard the phrase "Dream kitchen"? That's how many housewives describe the spacious, modern, convenient and perfectly decorated kitchens they've seen in magazines, new homes and showrooms.

Too many of us are accustomed to using the term "dream kitchen" with the thought that we can always hope and dream to own one, but probably never will.

That type of thinking is outdated. It's now easier than ever to plan your own complete new kitchen, perfectly suited to your own living habits and requirements, to have it installed with professional perfection to assure lasting dependability, and to arrange payments over a long period of time with no money down.

Your First Question
Naturally, your first question is: "Who can I get to do all this for me?" The answer is: Your local kitchen dealer. You'll find him listed in the yellow pages of your local phone book under "Kitchen Cabinets." He'll give you plenty of free help and advice all along the way, and after you've made your decision and are ready to convert your "dream kitchen" into reality, he'll arrange the whole job so that you don't have to bother with signing contracts with many different tradesmen to have your new kitchen completed.

Here is a review of the services you may expect from your kitchen dealer.

First, he has one or several displays of completely equipped kitchens, to help give you ideas on better storage, cooking facilities, color combinations and layout for your new kitchen. At no obligation, he will spend minutes or hours showing you through the displays and fully demonstrating such features as decorator - correct color combinations, a variety of wall and base cabinets for all storage needs; built-in cooking equipment; automatic disposers that shred food waste and flush it down the sink drain; easy-to-clean work surfaces that require a minimum of maintenance; dishwashers that end forever that after-dinner drudgery.

Second, he will offer - again at no obligation - to measure and make a complete inspection of your existing kitchen. At this time he will question you on your needs, use of kitchen, size of family, and anything else that may have a bearing on what your modernized kitchen should include.

Will Show Plan
Third, he will make and show you a scale plan - or possibly a drawing - of what your remodeled kitchen should look like. He'll explain what's included, and how he has tried to combine sound, step-saving kitchen planning with your own individual preferences and tastes.

Until you accept and are fully satisfied with this plan, you are not obligated in any way. If you decide to go ahead, you will be surprised at the simple financing terms available. Your kitchen dealer will explain to you one or more plans by which, if you wish, you pay no money down, and stretch the payments to as long as 36 months, beginning after installation and approval of your kitchen.

The size of your payment will depend, naturally on the type and amount of equipment you select for your new kitchen, but you'll find the dealer quite cooperative in modifying his plans to fit your budget perfectly. Many dealers will sell and install a low-cost "starter kitchen" consisting of sink and cabinets, based on plans which enable you to add equipment as you desire at later dates.

Once you do approve layout and specifications for your modernized kitchen, the dealer has another service for you. If you wish, he'll

How Do You Know When To Buy New Refrigerators?

You may have trouble deciding when to get another refrigerator. Refrigerators are one of the oldest types of appliances. Yours could be on its last legs. Even if it is still doing good work, repair bills may be in the offing. And when the refrigerator falls there is inconvenience. Sometimes there is food loss.

On the other hand, appliances are sturdily made, and even if it is moderately old, your refrigerator may have years of good service left in it.

In that case you may ask yourself how it fits into your home. Are you content to go on at the same old grind of housework in the same old way, or are you ready to move ahead into new dimensions of effective living?

Some experts compare this home problem to the decisions that have to be made in American factories. In plant after plant, the managers are ripping out perfectly good machines which could have years of serving ahead of them. There are better machines today and the factories can do a better job with the new.

Today, there are new refrigerators, too. You have a much wider choice than you did when you got your last refrigerator.

Next To Santa, A Credit Manager Best Man To Know At Christmas

By OTTO LORENZ
Associate Editor,
"The American Banker"

A White Christmas is up to you! You can have that magical new range or refrigerator, even a complete new kitchen. Credit is the answer.

Credit for the individual American, lies at the heart of American life today. Without time purchase plans, we would not have the cars, the refrigerators, furniture, television sets and household appliances which characterize most American homes today. Credit for the individual American has become recognized as a proper way to help the family tide over financial emergencies or to obtain and enjoy good, hard, durable home appliances or improvements while saving the money.

To serve family needs and desires, banks and other financial institutions have come forward since the turn of the century. Along the way, we find department stores, furniture stores, credit unions and co-operatives, savings and loan institutions among the important credit grantors who honorably serve America's growing consumer credit needs.

SHOW 'EM OFF!
Many a gleaming gift pan or skillet lies hidden in the home. The Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association reminds that it's a simple matter to install fasteners which will give these shining beauties their rightful place on the wall. And, with the automatic top burner heat control of a modern gas range, every utensil, regardless of its size or shape, becomes automatic as well as ornamental.

Some have devices that permit the same door to open either way to your convenience. Your choice could make a big difference in the number of steps you take. It depends on your kitchen plan.

Another finding of the Ohio Study indicated that there is less dish breakage with an automatic dishwasher. As far as water consumption is concerned, it was found that about eight gallons a day are used in a dishwasher. This is less than needed to fill a deep sink.

Increased Capacity
As an added point, remind your wife that automatic electric dishwashers have come a long way to reach their present efficiency of action and attractive appearance. As a clincher, tell your wife that today's dishwashers show increased capacity - many models will hold complete service for eight. Improved drain devices and automatic timers assure longer service and better operation. Modern automatic electric dishwashers take most dirty dishes without pre-rinsing, and with the use of the proper detergent will get dishes sparkling clean. These machines do pots and pans, too, with a minimum of preparation.

You can show her models to suit any need and colors and finishes to match any decor. Enlist the aid of a dealer to help your wife decide whether a combination dishwasher and sink, a built-in under-counter model, or one of the new free-standing types is best for your home.

And after the dishwasher she finally picks out is busily handling the after-dinner chores in your kitchen - and your wife is curled up on the living room sofa - you can read the sports news with an easy conscience.

FREEZE LEFTOVERS
It's a good idea to cook double or triple portions of your favorite recipes so you can freeze whatever is left over for later meals. For a Christmas gift that keeps you young - ask Santa for a washer-dryer.

Now, where should a person go for money to finance his White Christmas? Here is a bit of advice:

Get acquainted with the credit services offered by stores, loan companies, banks and other financial institutions in your community. Find out how each one operates, how much you will pay for their services and just what those services are. Are they merely going to hand over some money or some goods? What will they do to you if things get tough? Will they help you? Will your payment record be appreciated?

You may not need credit or want to buy on time; yet, there are important reasons why you should establish a good credit record for yourself.

Who gets financial help fastest when he runs into a series of tough breaks? It's the person whose character, integrity and easy payment records prove that he is a good credit risk. If no such previous record is available, it is much harder to judge character and capacity to meet obligations.

It costs money to make these credit privileges available to you. And in some places these privileges will cost you more than in others. The cash you get and the total amount of the monthly payments will pin the cost down for you. After that, it's up to you to decide where you get the most for your money - where Santa Claus will help you make it a White Christmas at lowest cost.

Make Her Day Merry, Give Her Dishwasher

Hey Pop! This story is for you. Do you feel a vague uneasiness every night, right after dinner and just when you settle down in an easy chair to read the paper? Do you know why? Your conscience is bothering you.

Even though she never complains, you know your wife out there in the kitchen is dogtired. Deep down in your heart you know you ought to be out there helping her. That's why you can't really enjoy taking it easy in a soft chair reading the paper.

The obvious answer is an automatic dishwasher. Now before you can sell your wife on the idea there are important questions to answer. Just how much time will a dishwasher save? Will it get the dishes cleaner and more sanitary than hand washing? Does it step up water consumption?

Big Time Saver
You can tell her that these and a horde of other questions were answered by a study of hand versus automatic electric dishwashing methods known as the Ohio Study, made by the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, Wooster, Ohio, and sponsored by leading dishwasher manufacturers who are members of the Household Sink Units Section of the National Electrical Manufacturers Assn.

Most dramatic finding of the Ohio Study was that an automatic electric dishwasher cuts dishwashing time by about half - from about an hour and a quarter to an average of 35 minutes a day. You might add that dishes washed in a dishwasher were found definitely to be more sanitary than those washed by hand, with a much lower bacteria count, indicating an important contribution to family health. This is because recommended water temperatures for household dishwashers are hotter than the hands can stand in the dishpan.

Turn Holiday Into Old Fashioned Christmas

Let's make it an old-fashioned Christmas this year, one with the whole family sharing in the joy of the holiday season.

"Old-fashioned" doesn't mean "out of style." In fact, there has been a marked return in recent years to the traditional type of Christmas in which the family celebrates and worships together.

Whether it's gathering the evergreen tree from a forest or buying it at a store, whether it's planning a quiet but festive observance or entertaining the neighborhood—the family now enjoys doing it together more than ever.

And this tightening of family ties doesn't just occur any more with Christmas Eve and depart before New Year's. The Christmas spirit, more and more, is living the whole year around.

Why?

It's a paradox of our times that automation—an unhomelike world if there ever was one—is putting fresh meaning into family life.

With push-button equipment taking over many of the jobs that used to make the homemaker a drudge, she is freed to make many more personal contributions to the family welfare.

But modern appliances have their greatest appeal in making the kitchen the most lived-in room in the house.

To most home lovers, it's secondary that scientific advances have given them an almost unlimited staff of mechanical servants to do kitchen and laundry work efficiently and quickly with little human effort involved. What really matters to them is how the family is being reunited as perhaps never before.

Family Room Is Back

In line with this recognized trend, house planning has brought back the "family room." It's either a part of the kitchen area or next to it, separated only by room dividers or cabinets.

Gone are the cold, clinical-looking kitchens in which the housewife stayed only long enough to get the work done—And practically nobody else ever entered. Now kitchens manned by silent, untiring appliances, are centers of family activity.

In many of the newest smaller homes being built, there are no dining rooms on the blueprints. Instead, big kitchens are dining rooms—and living rooms, too.

Kitchens now include laundry, sewing center, hobby corner, workbench, children's play pen, food bar, breakfast nook—all blended into the decor and appliance layout with harmony and taste.

Again the kitchen is the heart of the home as it used to be in grandma's day, and on back in history. Home is where the hearth is, the modern American family is rediscovering.

So make it an old-fashioned—and new-fashioned—Christmas this year. Let the family have fun in the kitchen sharing the hundreds of happy things to do there.

The family can share, too, in its giving.

The best things come in big packages—modern kitchen appliances that made living happier for everyone.

Investment in Happiness

They arrive to the sound of sleighbells in the frosty, early morning air as Santa makes his rounds. Or the sound may be a truck's horn, as Santa's helper, your local appliance dealer, makes delivery. But in either case, the gift will make Christmas the gala occasion it should be.

Out-Of-Date Water Heaters Are Exasperating, Expensive

Here's a 30-second test to find out whether your home is supplied with an adequate amount of hot water:

Do you ever have to forego the pleasure of a shower when you want one?

Do you have to plan your household around your hotwater supply?

Do you sometimes have to postpone doing the dishes or the laundry because you lack hot water?

If your answer to any of these questions is "yes," then you have an outdated water heater. Putting up with it any longer will not only be aggravating, it's false economy. Overworking your heater takes years off its life. And it adds greatly to your operating costs.

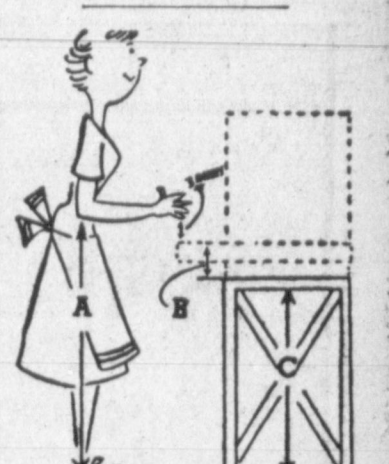

Increasing use of home laundry and automatic dishwashing equipment has brought with it a need for larger size water heaters in most homes—and more important, a need for hotter water. These appliances do their best work with water at a temperature of from 140 to 160 degrees.

When you pick out a replacement for your old water heater, plan for the future as well as the present. A properly sized tank is one which is large enough to provide a margin of extra capacity to meet maximum current as well as possible future demands.

Your final selection may depend on where you want to install your heater. The housewife today is no longer limited to a big white cylinder. Water heater manufacturers have become color-conscious. In many lines, the customer can choose from a variety of trim colors to fit the decor of the kitchen, basement or utility room.

If you want the heater in the kitchen, you can get an attractive counter-top model. If you want it out of the way in some odd utility room corner, you can buy a square one.

FIGURE IT YOURSELF: Here's how to find your best oven height: Measure A, the number of inches from floor to elbow. Subtract three inches, the distance to allow between forearm and open oven door. Subtract B, the distance between top of the opened oven door and lower surface of oven frame. These two subtractions leave you with C, the height to which the oven's receiving frame should be built.

Easy For Handicapped

Homemakers with physical handicaps are able to use automatic washers effectively and with comparative safety.

JUST DIAL IT— There's water as hot as you want it with a simple flick of the dial on your new gas water heater. It's right at home in the kitchen, too, alongside other good-looking home appliances.

Install New Ovens At Convenient Height

The main advantage of a separate oven is that you can have it installed at a height that means maximum comfort, safety and convenience to YOU.

How do you find exactly what that height is?

Cornell University Department of Economics of the Household undertook research to find the answer. They discovered that the convenience of a separate oven depends upon how easily you can lift food in and out, turn broiling meat over, and inspect cooking food.

After studies with 50 women, it was found that most could handle heavy loads such as a ham, a turkey or a large roast with least strain if the oven was at, or slightly below, their elbow height or "carrying level."

The researchers noted, however, that when the oven is placed low enough for comfort in lifting and turning food over, you may not be able to stand erect directly in front of the oven and see all of its contents. The Cornell researchers found two simple ways to avoid a bending: either pull out the oven rack with the food on it, or just step back.

In general, they concluded, it is better to place your oven so you do not have to lift too high, even though this means that you must adjust your body position for inspecting.

The most popular choice of the 50 women studied was an oven height putting the top surface of the opened door three inches below "elbow height."

If you want your oven installed

Top Of Range Controls Help Make Cook A Chef

The automatic thermostat controls which, years ago, turned baking into a dream, are now working similar magic on the top of the range.

The automatic device, operating on the same principle as the familiar oven temperature control, is being used on surface cooking units of both gas and electric ranges. More than 40 different manufacturers now offer automatic surface unit or top burner controls on their ranges.

The beauty of this development is that it eliminates much of the guesswork involved in the preparation of meals. Instead of following directions like "bring to a boil, reduce heat and continue moderate cooking until done," the housewife with automatic controls simply puts the pan on the stove, twists a dial, and walks out of the kitchen.

How It Works

Here's how it works: A "sensing" element has been added to the standard range top cooking unit. This element protrudes slightly above the center of the unit and is about an inch in diameter. This protruding portion "feels" the temperature of the saucpan, griddle or skillet resting on it. The element relays the temperature of the utensil to an automatic control which keeps the heat at full intensity, lowers it slightly, brings it back up, cuts it off almost completely—automatically does whatever is needed to maintain the temperature the housewife selected with the temperature control dial.

This scientifically accurate temperature control greatly lessens the possibility of burned, dried out or overcooked food, and practically eliminates the possibility of burned or scorched cooking vessels.

One of the side effects of the new control is that it converts any ordinary cooking vessel into an "automatic appliance." Your ordinary coffee percolator, placed on a cooking unit set at "low," will hold coffee at the correct serving temperature for hours. A frying pan becomes a temperature-controlled skillet.

Other Advantages

Here are some other advantages:

Pot watching becomes a thing of the past. Once the control dial is set for the needed cooking temperature, you may forget it.

Frozen vegetables, frozen soups and "a la king" dishes are gently thawed, cooked, or reheated.

Fresh vegetables cook with no attention from you.

The low, low temperatures provided are perfect for fussy sauces and those delicate and easily scorched puddings, or for rearming leftover mashed potatoes or holding them fluffy and light for as long as an hour.

Griddle cakes brown evenly, batch after batch, without the old uncertain fumbling with the dial. The thermostat maintains perfect temperature.

Provides Required Accuracy

Deep fat frying becomes no worry. The automatic heat control unit provides the heat flexibility and accuracy required. French-fried potatoes or doughnuts turn out a uniform golden brown.

Bacon can be fried to a perfect crispness with no danger of the fat overheating and smoking. It will stay that way for an hour to greet Sunday breakfast stragglers.

Pressure cooker foods can be held at the exact pressure required with no tiresome hand adjustments.

BIG REPLACEMENT MARKET

In 1955, 70 to 75 per cent of one billion dollars worth of refrigerator sales was in replacement of old units—indicating there is a substantial number of homes in need of new refrigerators.

HOME FOR CHRISTMAS— The whole family shares in the Yuletide spirit as it gathers around the table for Christmas dinner. The big moment comes when Grandmother makes her entrance with the turkey, roasted to a turn. Now it's up to Grandpop to rise to the occasion and do his best job of carving.

Here's Why Appliances In Demand

Here are facts and figures which explain why the demand for major appliances in America is climbing higher and higher every year:

AUTOMATIC WASHERS

A survey conducted by a manufacturer's home economics laboratory showed that a family wash of five eight-pound loads can be done by an operator of average skill in 27 minutes of the operator's time—5.4 minutes per load. This is only 10 per cent of the energy and 15 per cent of the time required by other home laundry methods. Tests also indicated that home-washed linens and clothing last from 33 1-3 per cent to 100 per cent longer than those commercially laundered.

AUTOMATIC DRYERS

The same survey showed that use of a dryer saves a total of three hours per week formerly spent in hanging, sprinkling and ironing clothes. It also eliminates labor involved in carrying 90 and 120 pounds of clothes to and from the clothesline. Dryer-dried clothes and household linens also last longer than those line-dried, with better retention of fabric color and texture, less loss of tensile strength. With drying time shortened and drying made independent of weather, fewer clothes and linens are required.

AUTOMATIC DISHWASHERS

The research showed that for the average family, about five minutes are required to prepare dishes and load a dishwasher, compared with 35 minutes needed to scrape, rinse, dry and put away dishes when the work is done by hand. Breakage of china and glassware is reduced. Use of dishcloths and dishtowels is almost eliminated.

ALL-AUTOMATIC— With a new electric range, you don't have to keep opening the oven door to check temperatures. An automatic electric meat thermometer records temperature of meat, turns off the oven and turns on signal light when the roast is ready. With this range, homemaker may bake and broil at same time.

Before Selecting Washer Decide On Family's Needs

When you see all the washers on the market today, how do you select the best one for use in your particular family?

It's true that all of them wash clothes. But each kind of appliance does the job in a different way. Sizes vary sharply. Some use more water than others.

First you have to answer these questions: How many in your family? How often do you want to do the family wash? Do you have an unusual amount of extra soiled work clothes? Do you have any other problems which would affect consideration of a kind of washer? With these answers in mind, go to see the various washers on display. Find out from the dealers what each can do, particularly in respect to the needs of your own family wash.

Perhaps you'd like to know some basic facts about washers before going to look at them. U. S. government researchers have prepared a bulletin, "Washing Machines, Selection and Use," which you can get from the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D.C. for 25 cents. You may find it helpful. Here are some of the major points it makes:

There are three classes of washers.

1. THE AUTOMATICS — These machines take a load of clothes and wash, rinse and take out excess water with one setting of the controls.

2. THE SEMIAUTOMATICS — These are like the automatics except that you must set the controls for washing, rinsing and water extraction.

3. THE NONAUTOMATICS — These machines continue washing action as long as they are turned on. Then you remove the clothes, usually either through a wringer or into a spinner to take out excess water.

Automatics and semiautomatics sometimes have to be bolted to the floor. Permanent hot and cold water connections and drain are desirable or necessary. A separate power circuit often is needed. Nonautomatics can be stored in one place, used in another. Automatics and semiautomatics are of two types, front opening and side opening. Front opening machines use less water and the top often can be used as a work surface, but you may have to stoop to get clothes in and out. Most have mechanisms that move clothes through the water. Others have cylinders that tumble the clothes. Less common are agitating baskets and modified agitators.

Most of the machines spin water out of the clothes. Others have a collapsible tub which squeezes out the water. Spinning takes out more water, but squeezing does about as well as a wringer.

Some machines combine a washer and a dryer in one unit. These take up less space than separate washers and dryers.

Different brands of washing machines operate in various ways. Some machines empty by gravity. Others have water pumps. Rinsing can be by overflow of water, spraying or agitation, with many varying combinations of these methods.

TWINS — Matched automatic washer and dryer provide complete laundering in just 25 inches of floor space. The pair can be installed side by side or stacked, built-in or free-standing. No stoop — but a lot of reach-in convenience.

WATCHDOG — While his mistress is away shopping, her inquisitive household friend keeps tabs on her electric dryer which has just finished work on the wash load finished by its matching washer (left). Automatic from start to finish, the dryer has four temperatures, guide light control, selective timer to 60 minutes and automatic shutoff when the cabinet door is opened.

Even Pop Can Iron His Shirt

Many housewives are so bedazzled by the automatic efficiency of the sparkling washer and dryer in their laundryroom they have forgotten that ironing plays a big part in gracious living.

Who can deny that a bed made with freshly ironed sheets has a look of luxury obtained in no other way? How much prouder do you feel when your guest towels have the crispness only ironing can give them?

You may be surprised to know that these symbols of a truly distinguished home can be obtained without a return to the drudgery that once was associated with them. A housewife who is determined to retain graciousness while protecting her own precious time can find the answer she searches for in an automatic ironer.

With an ironer, she can enjoy smooth linens and towels throughout the house with only a few minutes of extra work. These are flatwork items, which even a beginner can do quickly and perfectly on an ironer.

It is important to remember that flatwork can represent 70 per cent of a load of ironing in the average home.

For those who are willing to acquire a new skill, there is the further reward of being able to give all the family's clothing a professional finish with a minimum of work.

The most popular ironer is the cabinet style, with clean-looking enamel finish. Some have height casters adjustable to the height of the user. It is easy as pie to tilt back the hinged cover and swing out the ironing unit from its storage space.

Cabinet-style ironers have lap panels to support dampened articles before they go through the roll and one or two extension shelves for stacking folded items after finishing.

Also on the market is an ironer adaptable for use anywhere in the home. Of console design, this model comes in red mahogany or limed oak and has graceful wrought-iron legs.

Portable models, which can be rolled into storage spots when not in use, and table models also are available. Table models take little storage space, but must be carried and lifted to the table where they are to be used.

HUSBAND-PROOF — It's Christmas Eve and all through the house not a creature is stirring but this husband, trying out the new ironer he bought for his wife. He just wanted to make sure his gift would be the best. (P.S. When he finished ironing this shirt, he was convinced.)

Washday Woe Banished By Cleaning Aids

Back when a bar of yellow laundry soap was the household standard, washday was a dreaded family chore.

Today, the concept of "washday" has practically disappeared as the automatic laundry has replaced the washboard and scores of specialized cleaning products have appeared in place of the old-fashioned laundry bar.

Today's housewife can choose from any number of soaps and synthetic detergents in powder, granule, flake and liquid form. But she is often at a loss which to buy for washing dishes, nylon underthings or for use in her washing machine.

The term "detergent" can be confusing. A detergent is simply a cleansing agent which, in water solution, removes soil. So, both soaps and synthetic detergents qualify as "detergents."

However, synthetic detergents have certain advantages over soaps. They launder equally well in hard or soft water and leave no dulling soap scum. Some synthetic detergents produce fewer suds and are somewhat better for front-loading washing machines.

During the past 10 years, synthetic detergents have won quick acceptance and today outsell soaps by an overwhelming majority. Soap powders are still recommended for use in soft water areas. In a washing machine they do an excellent job on all types of clothing.

Mild soap flakes are especially suited for hand washing fine fabrics like nylon hosiery, lingerie, baby clothes, silk and wool. For best results in hard water, a water conditioner should be added to the basin or washer before the soap.

In hard or soft water, china, glass and silverware will sparkle when a dishwashing detergent is used. The liquid detergents in particular, have wonderful grease-cutting abilities. For dishwashers special detergents are available.

Save With Freezer

"Buy low and sell high."

That's a financial dictum on which many an American fortune has been made. It's as old as commerce itself and will be sound advice until the end of time.

You might not realize it but in running your household you can apply this ancient rule with just as happy a result as the Wall Street banker.

Food buying is the greatest single expense in the average family's budget. If you save money on food through wise buying and storing, you are saving in the budget category where it counts most.

Buy in Quantity
By installing a food freezer in your house, you can capitalize on the "Buy low — sell high" dictum. If you have a freezer, you can buy in quantity when the price of certain food is low and bring it to your table months later when the price is high. The price difference is money in your pocket.

Here is a "freezer calendar" worked out to guide freezer owners in realizing the greatest possible savings (along with convenience, of course) from their freezers:

What to Buy in the Spring

Although seasonal crop harvests vary with localities — in general, spring is the time to freeze and store pork, veal, broiling chickens, fish, asparagus, pineapples, some kinds of cherries, strawberries, rhubarb, peas, spinach and other greens, green beans, herbs.

What to Buy in the Summer

The summer months — late June, July, August — are ideal for freezing beef, frying chickens, fish, seasonal berries, sweet corn, lima or shell beans, broccoli, brussels sprouts, cauliflower, apricots, some peaches, some greens and some tomatoes.

What to Buy in the Fall

Lamb, seasonal fish and game, stewing and roasting chickens, squash, pumpkin, late garden vegetables, peaches, pears and plums, apples, grapes and other fruits are usually most economical in September and October.

What to Buy in the Winter
November and December are ideal months for freezing pork, turkey, ducks, seasonal game, cranberries and late fruits. Beef, lamb, poultry, fish, and citrus fruits should have priority in January, February and early March.

THE "OLD SYSTEM"

Early air conditioning "systems" installed by ancient Egyptian pharaohs and Roman nobles consisted of using slaves to bring blocks of ice and snow from mountain ranges to be placed on palace rooftops.

Home Laundry Moves Upstairs

Is your home laundry where you want it to be?

A majority of laundries today are still in the basement, but the trend is toward the combined kitchen-laundry in new or remodeled homes.

With modern appliances, cooking and laundry can be done at the same time and in the same room while the lady of the house is busy at still other tasks.

The new matched washers and dryers placed side by side give added counter top working space in the kitchen. And the colors can match the other appliances, carrying out your decorating scheme to the letter.

Beauty and Efficiency
Now that water heaters are coming in new shapes and matching colors, the laundry center as part of the kitchen can be a definite addition beauty-wise, as well as for efficiency. It's a good idea to have the water heater close to machines using the hottest water to prevent loss of heat as the water travels.

If you're planning a new kitchen, it's easy to work in your laundry. If you're remodeling an old kitchen, you may have a space problem. The new washer-dryer combinations are a big help for cramped quarters.

It pays to spend time thinking or just where you want your laundry. You can lose the time and energy the machines save you if they're installed without a thought to the convenience of the arrangement.

Keep in mind that the ideal home laundry should be divided into four work centers:

1. Preparation center: Basic equipment here should include a sorting table, mending basket, soaking sink and bleaches.

2. Washing center: Be sure this is near a source of plenty of hot water. Wash tubs, washing machine, soaps and detergents, bluing and starch are essential.

3. Drying center: The automatic dryer eliminates the need for outdoor and indoor drying space.

4. Ironing center: Plan this area so you can be seated while ironing, to eliminate fatigue. An automatic ironer saves time and labor.

SAVE YOUR ENERGY

Since studies have shown that it requires 8 per cent more energy to stand than to sit, the wise home maker does as much of her work in a sitting position as is possible.

MOST WELCOME — A gaily ribboned mobile dishwasher under your Christmas tree means a year-round holiday from laborious dishwashing chores. Since it's portable, it saves installation bill and can be rolled around the room like a serving cart to pick up "dirty dishes."

Switch On Current To An Electric White Christmas

If you plan to make it a White Christmas with an all-electric kitchen, you're switching on the current to better living for your whole family.

There's automation beyond belief. There's beauty, too — and thrift.

Do you know just what you're getting in an electric kitchen? Designers and engineers have improved today's electric kitchen appliances so greatly that they are far ahead of what went into kitchens just a few years ago.

Take electric ranges. They offer clean, fast, dependable automatic cooking. New built-in models lend themselves to aesthetic kitchen design — a much wanted feature in today's homes. The oven can be installed in one location and the surface units in another, wherever most efficient and desirable.

Many New Features

Electric ranges now come with many other hitherto unheard-of features — such as ovens in which baking and broiling can be done at the same time, ovens equipped with rotisseries in addition to their automatic, controlled-heat features, surface units that fold back into the wall when not in use, ovens that can be raised or lowered mechanically to suit the height of the users.

There are remarkable innovations too in electric refrigerators: models which are installed on the wall and sectional models where the refrigerator and freezer section, in separate units, may be installed waist-high at counter level, mounted atop each other or beneath a work surface.

In addition, electric refrigerators now offer sliding and turning shelves for easy access to foods, built-in water and fruit-juice dispensers and other handy items.

For all the household utilities requiring hot water — and the figures are practically astronomical — there's the electric water heater. It supplies all the hot water you need, with safety, dependability and economy. It's easy to install and may be placed wherever is most convenient.

Coming in various shapes, sizes and colors, the water heater is an attractive — and necessary — addition to your kitchen or laundry center.

Now You Can Do It Yourself

If your husband is not afraid of work — and is handy with tools — you may be able to get that dream kitchen for a lot less money than you'd think.

Today's emphasis on built-in, stack-ons, and dozens of other short cuts to "tomorrow's kitchen" is made to order for a man with "do-it-yourself" inclinations.

Some dealers have recognized high costs of professional installation are a drawback to sales and have launched all-out campaigns to encourage homeowners to tackle installation themselves. Much of it can be done by non-professionals — at substantial savings.

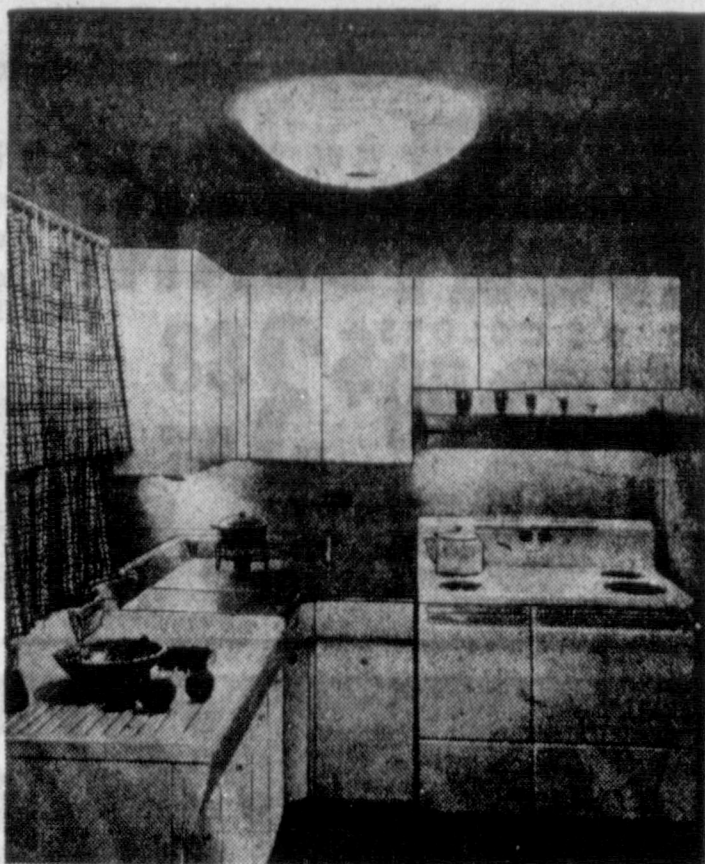

But don't try any "do-it-your-

Speaking of laundry, the trend is toward making the laundry a part of the kitchen. Some kitchens combine a range, dishwasher, a food waste disposer and a combination washer-dryer, all under one seamless stainless-steel counter top. In others, the washer-dryer and hot water heater are placed side by side to give extra counter space.

They Are Time Savers

Washers and dryers come separately or as a unit — attractive, easily operated time-savers for the busy housewife.

When you think over just what your new electric kitchen will mean to you and your family in happier, healthier, better living, you'll be glad you made your White Christmas electric.

LIGHT-CONDITIONED — Here is a kitchen with the right kind of light provided where it is needed. The recessed ceiling fixture has been replaced by a plastic diffuser containing three 75-watt bulbs. It has been moved closer to the sink. The wall bracket over the stove shields a 25-watt fluorescent tube. The countertop gets its illumination from two 60-watt shield incandescent bulbs.

Wiring Vitrally Important

In the excitement of planning your new home you may have overlooked thinking about its housepower or electrical capacity.

Yet in terms of day-to-day living, housepower is among your home's most important features — as important, say, as the quality of construction, or the size of the rooms or the color of paint or wallpaper.

Electrical industry experts and economists say that in 10 years you likely will be using three times the amount of electricity you are using today. This is all part of your effort — as a home owner — to live better electrically.

What About Future?

Surveys point up the 10-year prediction, and so do the growing rate of appliance purchasing and the many new types of appliances now on the manufacturers' drawing boards.

In spite of all this, the prospective home buyer usually neglects to look into the housepower of his dream house. He doesn't find out if there's enough wiring or if there's a sufficient number of circuits of the proper size and capacity to give him all the electricity he needs for his appliances, lights and other electrical equipment he's set his heart on.

Many new homes barely have enough wiring to carry the electrical load required today. There are any number of homes built only five or seven years ago that are getting along with 30 to 60 ampere service. Yet even 100 amps are barely sufficient today.

What are these home owners going to do in five or ten years?

When housepower is low, fuses blow at the plugging in of a toaster, and circuit breakers — sort of automatic fuses that don't have to be replaced — they trip with disconcerting frequency. Lights dim or the TV picture flickers when the refrigerator turns on or another appliance is plugged in. The refrigerator starts with an asthmatic wheeze, toasters take an eternity to toast, mixers don't mix as fast as they should.

Better Make Sure

So if you're looking at a new house, question the salesman closely about its housepower. Be sure there is sufficient wiring to take care of both present and future needs.

Here are five points to ask about:

1. Are outlets or plug receptacles of the proper types conveniently placed, so that need for the "octopus" (cube taps inserted into a single plug outlet) is eliminated?
2. Is each circuit capable of supplying the full current for which it is rated? (Also, each circuit should have 20 per cent spare capacity over and above the probably maximum load. On general-purpose circuits — from which smaller portable appliances are operated — the load shouldn't exceed 80 per cent of rated capacity to leave room for temporary portable equipment.)

3. Does each major automatic appliance — range dryer, refrigerator — have a separate and individual circuit?

4. Does the wiring system comply with the safety provisions of the National Electrical Code? (Even with allowance for load

48th Year
The Pampa Daily News
SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 1956

growth, the "load-matched" wiring adds a safety plug to the system.)

5. Are switches and outlets and other on-off controls positioned carefully and in sufficient numbers to fit the family's living habits?

Perhaps your insistence on these demands will cost a little extra money. You can figure it's worth it. At the time of construction, putting in extra wiring circuits costs little. If you wait for a few years until the need is urgent, the cost of reworking could run into hundreds of dollars.
