Another 490 Traffic Deaths Are Predicted

New Figure Comes In Wake Of Record Christmas Toll

By UNITED PRESS

With the shock of the worst holiday traffic toll in history still fresh in the nation's mind, safety experts predicted another 490 Americans will be killed needlessly during the New Year's week end.

The National Safety Council said it is counting on the "shock factors" of the all-time record Christmas holiday traffic slaughter to help hold down the toll this week end.

The 490 figure is only 7 more than the normal rate of 420 deaths for a four-day period in December. The New Year's holiday begins at 6 p. m. Friday and ends at midnight next Tuesday.

All-Time Record Smashed
A United Press count showed 713 persons were killed in traffic crashes during the four-day Christmas holiday, smashing the previous all-time record of 609 set during last year's three-day Christmas holiday. The toll was well above the Safety Council's advance estimate of 660 fatalities.

Safety experts and law enforcement officials said they will continue their "all out" efforts to save the lives of New Year's celebrants, but apparently there was little more they could do.

Police officers, who gave up their holiday and worked themselves to the point of exhaustion, said they had done their best to prevent motorists from killing themselves. They blamed the motorists themselves for the Christmas massacre on the highways.

Pleas Go Unheeded
Safety officials said their constant pleas for caution in newspapers and over radio and television stations went unheeded by the motoring public.

Authorities in some states said they were through with showing violators any sympathy, and during the New Year's holiday they will drive home highway sanity with a rigid law enforcement program.

In California, which had the nation's worst Christmas traffic toll with 72 dead, Highway Patrol Commissioner B. R. Caldwell said "there's very little more we can do physically." He said his men "knocked themselves out" trying to control holiday traffic.

"We were without any remaining sympathy for violators and there will be even less during the New Year's period," he said. "Motorists who commit any violations can expect to be arrested."

Fatality Rate In State Short Of Prediction

By UNITED PRESS

Texas went into the second half of the 12-day Christmas-New Year holiday today with the fatality rate running behind predictions.

The State Department of Public Safety predicted that 205 persons would die violently during the 12 days. So far, the total is 97, less than half of the total predicted.

Of the 97 dead, 52 were victims of traffic accidents, less than half of the 115 predicted traffic deaths. Homicides and suicides claimed 29 persons and 16 met death in accidents other than traffic.

Until Wednesday, the death rate was about 17 per day. The number fell off as a slump between the two holidays took hold, but is expected to rise again as the weekend approaches.

The latest violent deaths reported: Hunter B. Cole, 60 of Iraan in Pecos county, a pedestrian killed near Silsbee Wednesday.

Stephen Theriot, 38 - year - old Houston dishwasher, shot to death.

A Lake View housewife, Mrs. Roy Shelby, 80, was burned to death Christmas Day when she fell from a wheelchair into a fireplace in her home. Texas A&M student David Curry, 19, of Dayton died of gunshot wounds while hunting near Dayton yesterday. The justice of the peace ruled his death accidental.

Employees Of County Get Raise

The Gray County Commissioners Court met in a special session yesterday afternoon at 2 p. m. and approved the raising of all county employees' salaries by seven per cent.

There were, however, several exceptions in the action. Among these exceptions were, Pat Broyles, whose salary was raised by $200 per year. The salary of J. D. Fish, constable of McLean, was not raised since he had received an increase of $50 per month last year.

Not included in this increase also are employees of the commissioners, nor does it include those county officials whose salaries have recently been increased, these being the County Judge, County Clerk, County Attorney, County Treasurer, County Tax Assessor, and Collector, County Sheriff, District Clerk and County Commissioners.

The meeting was called in order to have the bill on record in time for the payroll changes to be made by the first of the year.

One Fire Call Is Reported

A store room on fire at Skellytown yesterday at 12:15 p. m. resulted in an alarm for the local fire department.

The firemen who made the run to Skellytown reported that the store room and a chicken house were destroyed by the fire.

The cause of the fire was not determined.

Black Market Gold Seller Is Arrested In Houston

HOUSTON (UP)—A four-year search for a former New York state boxing referee who found high-living on the gold black market has ended in a Harris county jail.

Joseph J. Boyle, 52, charged in August, 1952, with selling some $5 million worth of gold into black market channels for smuggling to Europe, was arrested by Secret Service agents.

Agents Guy Garner and Earl Wilson disclosed that Boyle was picked up quietly last Friday as he stepped off a plane at Houston international airport after being deported from Mexico.

Ordered to Leave
The agents said Mexican officials ordered Boyle to leave the country as an "undesirable." No further explanation was made.

Boyle, a sartorially-correct, distinguished - looking man, was jailed on a specific charge of conspiracy to defraud the U.S. government in its function of regulating the importing and exporting of gold.

Boyle was arraigned Wednesday before U.S. Commissioner Ralph Fowler and ordered held in $100,000 bond for return to New York in a few days, agents said. Garner said Boyle and a man named E. Ray Trenary operated the Argentina company in New York city until 1952, when both were arrested.

Diverted to Black Market
The company was licensed to buy gold in 1949. Garner said the pair bought approximately $6 million in gold over a period of years and diverted it to the black market at a profit of $1 an ounce.

Boyle was one of 63 persons charged in 1952 with operating a $500 million - a - year gold smuggling racket. He posted a $5,000 bond in New York in 1952 and had been a fugitive since.

Boyle told agents he had spent a year in Mexico. He would not say why Mexican officials ordered him deported.

Boyle refused to talk to newsmen.

Graham Woman Is Killed In Accident Near Skellytown

A Graham woman was killed and her husband seriously injured yesterday when the '51 Buick she was driving turned over following a blow-out near Skellytown.

Mrs. James E. Dixon, 67, was fatally injured in the accident, which occurred approximately one mile west of Skellytown on Highway 152 at 1 p. m.

According to witnesses the Dixon car was travelling east when the right front tire blew out and the car swerved into the bar ditch along the right side of the road.

After travelling approximately 200 feet along the bar ditch the Buick jumped a ditch at a culvert and struck the opposite side, causing the car to turn over.

Mrs. Dixon was trapped in the overturned car but Dixon was thrown clear and was found in the field on the other side of the fence.

Mrs. Dixon was dead on arrival at Highland General Hospital. Hospital attendants reported that Dixon was in fair condition this morning.

DURING PRESIDENT'S TOUR

Great Plains Drought Conference Expected

WASHINGTON (UP)—The White House is expected to announce soon — probably within a week — that a special Great Plains drought conference will be held during President Eisenhower's tour of the drought area next January.

Administration plans for new or revised drought relief measures may come out of the conference. About 100 persons are expected to be invited. Mr. Eisenhower, Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson and Agriculture Department credit experts are expected to attend.

Site of the meeting will be revealed in the White House announcement. The announcement also is expected to give other details of Mr. Eisenhower's tour scheduled for the middle of January.

Administration officials said the conference will include farmers, ranchers, bankers, businessmen, and state college experts from the Great Plains drought area. They will be asked to study the government's drought relief programs and recommend any changes or new relief measures.

The Soil Conservation Service reported Wednesday that drought and poor moisture conditions in the southern Great Plains are the worst on record. Estimates made as of Dec. 1 indicated nearly 2 million acres already have been damaged this season by wind action in the Great Plains, with about one-third of the damage in Kansas. The Soil Conservation Service also said an additional 29 million acres are in condition to blow. About 85 per cent of these acres are in the Southern Great Plains states of Colorado, Kansas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, and Texas.

Based on Dec. 1 estimates, this season's land damage and land subject to damage from wind are considerable more than on the same date for the two previous years. These acreages were 27.2 million in 1954, 20.3 million in 1955, and 300 million in 1956.

Of the 29 million acres in condition to blow as of Dec. 1, nearly 25 million acres are in the Southern Great Plains. About 84 per cent of the total acreage is cropland — more than 21 million acres in the Southern Great Plains and 3.2 million acres in the Northern Great Plains states of Montana, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, and Wyoming.

Hungarian Communists Drafting Coal Workers

By CHARLES W. RIDLEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
VIENNA (UP)—Hungary began drafting peasant farmers into the coal mines today in a desperate attempt to get production going and save off a "national disaster," Radio Budapest reported.

The government's action in forcing farmers into the mines indicated it has had little success in its door-to-door appeal for "volunteers" from the idle factories.

Although the workers went back to their jobs today after the three-day Christmas holiday, production remained at almost a standstill for lack of coal and power.

In an earlier attempt to get the labor-short Pecos coal mines back to something like full production, the government switched miners from ruined uranium mines in the region. Some of the uranium mines were reported flooded to a depth of 40 feet for lack of proper maintenance.

Tens of thousands of Hungarians already are idled by the power shortages. Coal supplies were virtually depleted and there was little prospect of any early resumption of full production.

Only 4,000 of the 35,000 employees on the huge Csepel iron and steel industrial complex were on full pay. Another 17,000 were receiving half-pay just for showing up. The remaining 17,000 faced a long layoff.

as recently as two weeks ago in the area.

The coal shortage and the resultant lack of power has closed down virtually all of Hungary's industry. The government warned that as a result up to 200,000 workers would lose jobs "permanently" in the new year.

The warning was sounded while Hungarians faced up to the grim realities of life under the Soviet-imposed Janos Kadar regime after a three-day Christmas holiday respite. Hungarians were permitted to celebrate Christmas in the old way for the first time since the Communists seized power in 1948. The puppet regime was believed to have encouraged the festival in an attempt to divert attention from the nation's economic plight.

HUNDREDS EVACUATE HOMES IN FURIOUS MOVIE COLONY FIRE

By HARRY BOYLE
United Press Staff Correspondent
MALIBU, Calif. (UP)—Flames whipped by strong winds spread today over this movie colony resort area where one man has died, 50 homes have been destroyed and 20,000 acres have been blackened in a fast moving brush fire.

Fire fighters doubted the blaze could be brought under control for three or four days.

Hundreds were forced to leave their homes. Two firemen and 20 others have been burned.

Canyon Evacuated
Fire Chief Keith Klingler of Los Angeles County massed most of his 1,000 firefighters during the night in the Latigo Canyon area where some 50 homes were in the path of the leaping flames. The canyon was evacuated Wednesday.

Five bulldozers started cutting a firebreak Wednesday night from Malibu Lake to the coast in an attempt to cut off the fire endangering this movie colony located less than 25 miles from Hollywood.

The fire, second worst in the history of Los Angeles County, was burning over an 18 mile perimeter. On eastern flank near famed U. S. Highway 101, which runs along the coast, the blaze had turned Esccondido Canyon into a raging inferno.

Nearly 200 Homeless
Nearly 200 persons have been left homeless and the Red Cross set up emergency stations to feed and house those persons who lost homes. More than 1,000 persons were evacuated from their homes Wednesday but many were unable to return as flames swept away from the houses and turned inland.

Harvey Knox, the father of former UCLA football star Ronnie Knox, hurried his family out of Zuma Canyon when a neighbor woke him with a yell of "fire!"

"I got together our family—that's Ronnie, my wife, Marj, our 23-year-old daughter, Patricia, and our younger son, Montgomery Lee, 2-years old," Knox said.

"We could see the flames about 100 feet from our home. I'd estimate the flames were 50 feet high.

"The only thing I bothered to take with us was a briefcase with contracts, insurance policies and other valuable papers. Then we dashed out to safety."

A preliminary estimate fixed property damage so far at $2 million. Many fashionable homes were among those leveled by flames. The $75,000 home of television star Ralph Edwards was destroyed Wednesday along with the $20,000 home of Hugo Freed, brother and business manager of movie producer Arthur Freed.

Clare Booth Luce Ends Era As Successful US Diplomat

ROME (UP)—The Luce era ended today in Italy.

Mrs. Clare Booth Luce, the ambassador who stunned a whole nation just because she was a lady, wound up her affairs here after a spectacularly successful diplomatic career many persons had predicted would be an equally spectacular flop.

The Italian who viewed her with alarm four years ago bade her a warm farewell as she toured Rome for the last time as a diplomat.

Mrs. Luce spoke her personal goodby Wednesday night to the eternal city she has called her home and office for more than three years.

Standing before the sparkling green pool of the Trevi fountain she twice called out "arrivederci, Roma" (goodbye Rome) as she lightly tossed an American half dollar into the fountain — a gesture that for two centuries meant the thrower will return safely from his journeys in foreign lands.

The ambassador and her husband, Henry P. Luce of Time, Inc., were leaving today by plane for New York. Mrs. Luce will go to Washington for what the State Department calls a "debriefing" and to meet her new replacement, James D. Zellerbach, a Western industrialist.

Earlier Wednesday night Mr. and Mrs. Luce attended the gala initial performance of the Rome opera season, Mascagni's "Iris."

Local Youths Questioned In Barn Break-In

Juvenile authorities this morning questioned several local youths in reference to the break-in at the Show Barn at Recreation Park last night and shooting out several of the floodlights, Bruce Parker, county judge, reported today.

The judge reported, however, that all of the youths were cleared and that the juvenile authorities were unable to learn the identity of the person or persons that broke a window yesterday and gained entrance to the barn.

He reported that an air rifle or pellet gun had been used to shoot out most of the flood lights in the building.

As a result of the incident yesterday a new policy on the use of the Show Barn has been set up, Judge Parker reported.

All of the locks on the building are being changed and only certain persons will have keys to these locks. One key will be in the Judge's office for the use of other persons or groups who might be authorized to use the building, he reported.

In the future, children will not be allowed in the building unless they are a part of an authorized organization, he continued, and appropriate action will be taken against any juvenile caught in the building without authorization.

Little Billy Writes Letter To Friends

Little Billy, the county ward who is awaiting transfer to Boy's Ranch and whose fears of a damp and dim Christmas were lightened by many of the people of Pampa who turned both their hearts and pockets inside out and sent him many toys and gifts, yesterday addressed Geneva Parks, secretary to County Judge Bruce Parker, to write a letter of thanks to the people of Pampa on his behalf. Here is the letter as dictated by Billy to Mrs. Parks:

Dear folks:
I want to thank you for the many swell gifts of clothes and money and toys you gave me. It was really a wonderful Christmas. Thank you kindly.

Although the note is brief in text, it showed the boy's appreciation of the really fine Christmas afforded him when the people of Pampa would not let him go unremembered this Christmas.

The boy's mother died several years ago and his father was arrested on charges of abandoning him for several days and sentenced to 30 days in jail. Billy was then accepted by Boy's Ranch and will be transferred there as soon as they are able to accommodate him, which, the county has been notified should not be too long.

Man Fined On Liquor Charge

J. W. Hill, 25, of Plainview was fined $100 plus costs this morning in County Court after pleading guilty to charges of transporting liquor without a permit.

He had been arrested by liquor control board agents in 406 block of W. Brown yesterday at 7 p. m.

Six Texas Fugitives May Be Tried In Tennessee

DOVER, Tenn. (UP)—Six Texas fugitives may go on trial here in March on charges of armed robbery, a capital offense in Tennessee.

The six fled the Georgetown, Tex., jail last week and were captured here Sunday after a state trooper was wounded and a motel robbed. More than 100 persons took part in the manhunt.

Wednesday all six were brought here under heavy guard from Nashville for a preliminary hearing. Gov. Frank Clement led the motorcade which stopped off in Clarksville so Trooper James Billbreay could be honored by Clement.

Billbreay was wounded in the hand when he tried to arrest the men Sunday.

Bobby Dean Moore, 22, Austin, Tex., Kenneth Ward, 19, Marked Tree, Ark., James Long, 20, Bedford, Ohio, Robert Riviera, 24, Temple, Tex., and Fred Conklin, 17, Los Angeles, all pleaded guilty.

Karl Lautenschlager, 20, Kansas City, Mo., first pleaded innocent then changed his plea to guilty.

If indicted by the grand jury in March, the six probably will be tried that same month.

Another Charge Planned
Charges involving the shooting of Billbreay will be filed later. District Attorney General Reeder Parker said.

Moore acted as attorney for the group, questioning witnesses and warning one to "be careful that

Part Of Stolen Rifle Found
The remainder of a .22 caliber bolt-action rifle taken from Ogdens and Sons at 561 W. Foster Sunday night was found yesterday by a repair crew of the Santa Fe Railroad.

The barrel was buried in a culvert near where officers located the stock of the rifle while following the trail left by the persons responsible for the burglary.

Several loose .22 caliber rounds also found near the barrel of the rifle but officers reported that the remainder of the ammunition and the air rifle and pellet pistol taken in the burglary had not been located.

No Hungarian Children To Be Adopted

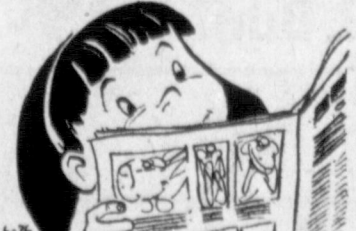

Several local persons have contacted Mrs. Libby Shotwell, local Red Cross executive secretary, asking for information about adopting a Hungarian refugee child.

Mrs. Shotwell this morning told The News that a letter from Red Cross area headquarters revealed that Hungarian children are not available for adoption at this time.

The letter states in part: "No unaccompanied children who could be released for adoption have come to this country. The few children who came alone have joined relatives already here. The majority of children who escaped to Austria from Hungary without their parents are being held in Austria in the hope that they can be reunited with their parents there. The agencies in this country who are particularly interested in the problems of these children are: 1) Catholic Committee for Refugees, 265 West Fourteenth Street, New York 11, New York; 2) American Branch of the International Social Service, Inc., 345 East Forty-sixth Street, New York 17, New York; and 3) United HIAS Service, 425 Lafayette Street, New York 3, New York."

Negroes Ask Defiance Of Bus Segregation Laws

By UNITED PRESS
Negro leaders called today for segregation laws in Birmingham, Ala., and Tallahassee, Fla., in spite of threats of arrests and an outbreak of violence.

In Birmingham, where 21 Negroes were under arrest for flouting segregation laws yesterday, integration leaders called for the biggest mass desegregation movement in the South's history.

Whites Rally To Fight Suit

HOUSTON (UP) — White forces headed by militant segregationist and oilman J. Mort Wren rallied today to battle a lawsuit aimed at the core of public school segregation in Texas.

The suit, filed by two Negro attorneys, asked for a three federal court to throw out three state segregation laws and annul a section of the Texas state constitution.

The suit was filed on behalf of two Negro children, Delores Ross and Beneva Williams, both of whom live close to white schools but from 14 to 21 blocks from the nearest Negro school.

Punched Negro Attorney
Wren, who last April punched a Negro attorney trying to lead a group of Negroes into a white cafeteria, immediately called a meeting of white citizens councils in nearby Jacinto City.

"We voted to protest this suit filed in federal court in Houston by a Negro attorney asking integration," Wren said.

"We mean to do all that we can to defeat this proposition, legally, financially and in every way possible."

"We are willing to raise money, to hire a lawyer and to help the Houston school board in any way we can."

Ran for Governor
Wren, an ardent anti-integrationist, was an unsuccessful candidate for governor of Texas in 1948. He was defeated for a state representative post in the last election.

The suit was filed by attorney Henry E. Doyle and attorney Francis Williams, president of the now defunct Houston chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The NAACP has been outlawed in Texas.

Judge Ingraham set a hearing on the temporary injunction for 10 a.m. Jan. 18.

Grand Jury Will Study Map Thefts

PITTSBURGH (UP) — A federal grand jury convenes today to learn how oil exploration maps worth potentially millions of dollars strayed from Gulf Oil Corp. headquarters here into the hands of oil pirates in New York.

The 19-member hold-over panel will be presented "an indictment and a set of facts," U.S. Attorney D. Malcolm Anderson announced.

"We hope to wind up the session in one day," he said.

Continuing a shroud of secrecy which has wrapped the case since Dec. 18, Anderson refused to name or number the witnesses to be called. He said only that "FBI personnel and certain witnesses" would testify.

Four Men Absent
Absent from the grand jury room will be the four men formally charged by the FBI with carrying the stolen maps across state lines to where they were found in a Bronx, N. Y., warehouse.

Implicated in the theft are Col. Odie R. Seagraves, 50, a Houston, Tex., oil speculator; Edward Lieberman, 30, president of the U.S. Tackless Corp., where the maps were found; Lieberman's brother, Emanuel Lester, 32, now serving a 2 1/2 year jail term for attempted extortion from slain financier and sometime oil speculator Serge Rubinstein; and John Marvin Lewis, 34, a geologist from Orange, Tex.

The four men face hearings in New York today on the FBI charges. Anderson requested the hearings be postponed pending the grand jury action here.

FBI Announces Arrest
The spectacular oil map piracy first came to public attention last Tuesday when the FBI announced the arrest in New York of the suspects.

The stolen maps represented Gulf's best scientific guess to the location of oil deposits in southwestern United States, Canada and the Middle East.

The charts — seismographic or sound readings of the layers of the earth — cost thousands of dollars to prepare. But Gulf officials point out the maps are worthless without scientific help and a great deal of capital. Industry sources say only one of 10 test shafts will strike oil and a single medium depth shaft costs at least $100,000 to drill.

Rotarians Hear Report On Christmas Funds

Pampa Rotarians yesterday heard a report by John Rankin, chairman of a committee to assist a needy family at Christmas, explain what had been accomplished by his group in rendering aid to a destitute family. Rankin stated that Rotarians had donated $209.25 for this cause and that $191 had been spent thus far. It was Rankin's proposal, which was accepted by the club, that the balance of funds should be used for dental examinations and work on the children in the family.

Fred Neslage gave a short talk on the necessity and procedure for keeping club membership at a high level, both in numbers and quality.

Visitors and guests for the day were John J. Frick, Aaron Meeh, Roscoe Elmore, Doyle E. Rogers, Ed Adkins, Charles Bradshaw and Foster Cook.

Horse And Mule Population Drops

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Census Bureau reported Wednesday the number of horses and mules on U.S. farms has dropped to the lowest point in the 146 years it has been keeping records.

Officials said there were only 4.1 million in the last count taken in 1954, compared to 25.2 million at their peak in 1930.

In 1940 when the first U.S. census was taken, such farm animals numbered 4.3 million. The number has declined by almost half since 1950 when they totaled 7.6 million. The decline is attributed to mechanization of farm work, largely by substitution of tractors for horses and mules.

Nixon Visits Refugee Camp

NEW YORK (UP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon visits the Hungarian refugee center at Camp Kilmer, N.J., today for a last survey before making a final report to President Eisenhower.

The administration is expected to use Nixon's reports — both from the center and from his tour of Austria — in asking Congress for the admission of more refugees, not only from Hungary but from other Communist countries.

The President already has ordered the Justice Department to continue processing of Hungarian refugees as the first step to admitting more than the present emergency quota of 21,500.

Nixon files from Washington to New York this morning. He will confer with former President Herbert Hoover before driving to Camp Kilmer. Mr. Hoover directed U.S. relief efforts in Europe after World War I.

Nixon was to join the presidential refugee committee, headed by Tracy Voorhees, at lunch in a refugee messhall. Any Army spokesman said Nixon and the committee will join the lunch line and receive the regular fare fed the refugees.

Nixon conferred with the President Wednesday to report on his tour of Austrian refugee camps. During the hour-long White House meeting he gave Mr. Eisenhower an eyewitness description on how the more than 150,000 Hungarians who have fled their country are being cared for.

Prisoners Are Held By Reds In Labor Camps

MAIZURU, Japan (UP) — The Russians are holding 1.3 million prisoners in "living hell" slave labor camps in the frigid wastes of northern Siberia, repatriated Japanese war prisoners said today.

The story of the horror prisons at Karyma was related by three of the 1,025 Japanese prisoners who were repatriated from Siberia Wednesday after 11 years in Soviet captivity. Takahiko Hase, Toshitane Ando, and Seichi Sato said they were imprisoned at Karyma until last October.

The three described the Karyma prison camps as "graveyards."

One Person Dies In Explosion

NEWNAN, Ga. (UP) — A smelter in an aluminum extrusion plant exploded here today, killing at least one person and injuring 13, several of them critically.

Four persons still were missing hours after the blast, which occurred at 3:50 a.m. east.

One worker was reported to have been thrown 100 feet by the explosion which shattered a large one-story frame building of the William L. Bonnell Co. The man was found beside a nearby railroad track. He was one of those in critical condition.

Police Chief J. P. Askew personally directed the search for victims in the shambles of the building. The search was made more difficult because the roof collapsed on top of the wreckage.

Ten of the injured were Negroes.

Chamber Manager To Attend Meeting

E. O. Wedgeworth, manager of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, will leave for Dallas Jan. 1 to attend a directors meeting of the Southwestern Institute for Chamber of Commerce executives, of which he is president this year.

The purpose of the meeting is the selection of the faculty, arranging of curriculum and correcting of details for the institute to be held in July of next year.

Wedgeworth is expected to return by Jan. 4.

One Collision Reported Here

A collision at 1:30 p.m. yesterday at the intersection of Hobart and Foster was reported to the police department.

Quincy O. Thompson, Bloomington, driving a '53 Buick, was in collision with Willard B. Stewart, 1524 N. Coffee, driving a '49 Ford.

Damages to the Buick were estimated at $125 and the Ford entered damages estimated at $75.

The Dixons, who had moved to Graham from Oklahoma City two weeks ago, left the home of a daughter in Dumas yesterday morning and were enroute to the home of a daughter, Mrs. G. L. Funderburg, at the Phillips Pampa Plant when the accident occurred.

Mrs. Dixon is survived by four daughters, Mrs. C. H. Matthews, Mrs. J. E. Morrison, Mrs. H. F. Magerburth, all of Dumas, and Mrs. Funderburg; and two sons, M. G. Mulanax of McLean and Doyle K. Mulanax of Graham.

Funeral arrangements are pending at the Richerson Funeral Home in McLean.

Air Force Plane In Alaska Crash

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UP) — An Air Force plane with eight men aboard crashed near Willows, Alaska, about 50 miles north of here late last night.

The wreckage of the KB-29 has been spotted on Bald Mountain and a ground party is on its way to the scene, a spokesman at Elmendorf Air Force Base here said. It was not known if there were any survivors.

The four-engine plane had left Elmendorf on a routine training flight. The identity of those aboard was not released.

Press Influences US Foreign Policy

SANTA ROSA, Calif. (UP)—Dispatches from American reporters abroad frequently have more influence on U.S. foreign policy than reports from the ambassadors themselves, Frank H. Bartholomew, president of United Press, said today.

Bartholomew appeared on a Rotary Club program arranged by radio station KSRO.

"It is the free and unfettered U.S. reporter, prying into all sorts of things which are 'none of his business' and 'not in the public interest' who turns up the shockers, and who brings home the horror of oppression and the penalty paid by an uninformed public.

"We have no press subsidy and we have no laws against 'disrespect' of public officials, as some countries have. The reporter is a free man. And he is a free man because he has demonstrated his responsibility and determination to get the truth out and to stand by the truth.

Get Truth Out
"We have reporters all over the world today facing with bravery and determination conditions which should appall a non-combatant. Why? To do what they've been trained to do and what they believe in. To get the truth out.

"Russell Jones of United Press stayed for 37 days in Budapest during the bloodiest days of the revolt and siege—as the only U.S. newsman there. He stayed voluntarily—to get the truth out.

"U.P. cameramen on the Austro-Hungarian border focussed by the markings on their rangefinders because their eyes were too misty to focus directly. These reports and pictures told more than a trainload of diplomatic pouches.

"Jones' stories to the outside world came by whatever method he could devise—by courier, by Telex to Vienna and over shaky telephone lines.

"His dispatches continued to present a vivid picture of the strife-torn and wrecked city. In one dispatch he wrote:

"Every shot from a sniper—and there are few but snipers left—brought an all-out barrage from concentrations of tanks, guns and automatic weapons. The wiping out of one rifleman might, and frequently did, mean the destruction of an entire apartment house or office building and the murder of scores of persons."

Interviewed Mindszenty
"Jones was among the few western reporters to see and talk to Cardinal Mindszenty.

"On Nov. 4, along with the Associated Press' resident correspondent—a Hungarian—and Ronald Farquhar of Reuters—he filed a pooled dispatch which gave for the first time some of the details of Mindszenty's imprisonment at the hands of the Communists.

"The Cardinal told them: 'I suffered torture in body and soul... it is God's miracle that I am here and am as I am.'
"A month later, Jones was expelled and filed his last dispatch from Budapest."

Bestor Interview

Dr. Arthur Bestor, who currently is filling the Harmsworth chair of American history at Oxford University, and is also the president of the Council for Basic Education, is getting to be a thorn in the flesh of those who persist in believing our governmental educational system is doing a wonderful job.

Bestor is the interviewee in a special report which appeared in the magazine U. S. News and World Report of November 30. And what Bestor has to say is plenty.

Are people getting their money's worth out of today's mass-minded educational system? Bestor doesn't think so. He says: "What's wrong is that the schools have lost their sense of purpose. Schools today are undertaking a large number of activities that aren't essential to education at all. The result is that these unessential activities are squeezing out the basic subjects for a very large number of our students."

He states with vigor that the emphasis in our schools on such courses have placed us right "behind the eight ball" in our position with other nations. He maintains that elementary schools should give a student a firm footing in reading, writing and arithmetic, which they don't. And he calls upon our high schools to get on the ball and teach history, science, chemistry, physics, geometry and foreign languages.

He points out that today more than half the nation's high schools offer no physics at all; about 25 per cent offer neither physics nor chemistry, and geometry is missing in about 23 per cent of the high schools.

What are the high schools teaching in place of the fundamentals, he was asked.

"Well, they say a student should be trained for his job. Or, that he should be taught what these people call 'life adjustment.' They say, for example, that instead of teaching a child history or geography, you should teach him how to act when he goes out on a date. This they call 'social studies.' Or, instead of requiring him to study literature, they give him pointers on how to select good radio programs."

And this, avers the professor, is the worst enemy of democracy, a grotesque parody of democracy.

The American people have heard from Dr. Bestor before. He is the author of a number of books and articles which are highly critical of our pragmatic, "progressive" educationists, who at heart are the sorriest of reactionaries. Two of his books, "Educational Wastelands" and "The Restoration of Learning," have received wide acclaim.

In this most recent interview, Bestor was asked: "Where did this progressive education idea originate? Was it at Columbia University?"

His answer: "A great many of the ideas stem from John Dewey, who was, of course, a professor of philosophy at Columbia and deeply interested in education. . . . Many educators . . . took his philosophy to mean that formal and systematic training in the fundamentals was not necessary, and all that was required was for the students to spend their time according to their own interests without direction from above."

Bestor concludes that on the whole, the American student is less of a student and less educated today than he was in 1900. That, in fact the government school system has retrogressed dreadfully and that something ought to be done.

He points out that modern educationists lump the blind, the partially seeing, the deaf and the hard of hearing, the speech defective, the crippled, the delicate, the epileptic, the mentally deficient, the socially mal-adjusted and the EXTRAORDINARILY GIFTED child all under the heading of "exceptional children."

Apparently, those who deviate from the average are "exceptional" regardless of the degree or the direction of the deviation. Thus the craze to educate everybody resolves itself into fining a level low enough to accommodate a majority of the children. All not included in the majority are "exceptional" and are suspect. According to Bestor the educational levels should be set for and by the better students with help given to those who fall behind.

We are delighted with Dr. Bestor's fearless and frank statements. If only more parents would realize just what their young hopefuls are getting in the way of education, the way might open to divorce the politicians from the school system. Only then can we find the path back to intelligence and true learning. And it is most sorely needed.

The Doctor Says

By EDGAR P. JORDAN, M. D.

A number of people, including N. E., have recently inquired about the annoying and common fever blister. Other names for this condition are cold sores and herpes simplex.

Most of us have had trouble with fever blisters from time to time, most commonly around the lips or nose. This must be classed as an ailment rather than a dangerous disease since rarely or never in this condition associated with serious complications or death.

A GREAT MANY people have recurring trouble with herpes simplex. For example, one young lady I know gets cold sores on her lips practically every time she catches a cold, loses sleep or stays out in strong sun too long. Most cold sores come rather suddenly and are associated with some infection or event which lowers resistance. They generally clear up without much difficulty. However, some are troubled by the herpes simplex which comes back again and again.

which causes the condition lies quietly within the cells but can at any time become active again if the resistance is lowered by such things as infection, fatigue or too much sun.

In particularly annoying cases X-ray treatments have to be considered. These will make most stubborn cold sores go away and also seems to make it less likely that another will come later in the same place.

ANOTHER TREATMENT that sometimes helps is smallpox vaccination. Smallpox is another disease caused by viruses (though much more serious, of course) and perhaps there is some relationship between the viruses not yet understood.

The treatment of an ordinary cold sore is simple. During the blister stage a simple drying application, such as spirits of camphor, or calamine lotion is usually helpful. When the blister has broken and a crust has formed, a mild ointment, such as a heavy cold cream, may help to soften the crusts.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

A Commandmentless God

Since I find that preachers in leading Protestant churches such as Bob Shuler Jr. of the First Methodist Church of Santa Ana are publicly contending in their pulpits that the Golden Rule and the Commandments have been superseded by the commandment of Jesus that his Disciples love each other as he loved them, and this spirit seems to be growing in the Protestant churches, I want to quote what Henry C. Link wrote in "Faith and Freedom" magazine several years ago.

He closed his article with a statement: "A God without Commandments is worse than no God at all."

Henry Link is the author of several religious books which had a circulation of around 4 million copies. They include such books as "Rediscovery of Man," "Return to Religion," "Rediscovery of Morals" and "The Way to Security."

It is, of course, difficult for any person governed by principles and axioms and moral law to conceive how a society can exist in peace and harmony without having moral laws such as the Ten Commandments as a guide of human relations. It is no more possible to conceive of such a society than it would be to conceive how there could be anything but confusion on the public roads if the only guides were love and there were no rules for driving. Or how can one conceive of a game of any kind that was governed by love without rules.

The pity of it is that most of the church members are conscientious, good and sincere people and they go to church with the idea of becoming better persons.

It is a catastrophe of the worst kind to have preachers advocating heresy in the pulpit, as such men as Bob Shuler Jr. has been doing. It is largely because leadership of the churches has been so heretical that we are rapidly losing our liberty and being in almost continuous war. These preachers, of course, hide behind the pulpit and will not answer certain questions. When they get into a dilemma and are faced with embarrassment that will show how heretical they are and how they are a law unto themselves, they then refuse to continue a discussion.

Under the heading of "A Plea For Religious Intolerance" and a sub-heading "Is a God without Commandments worse than no God at all?" the late Henry Link wrote:

"Jesus' great tolerance with people of all kinds was matched by a corresponding intolerance of evil. His tolerance was positive rather than negative, since it rested on an uncompromising belief in the moral law.

"Tolerance and broad-mindedness, often referred to as liberalism, has been the shibboleth of our intellectual age. The result is that we have almost lost our sense of right and wrong, that we are now drifting in a chaotic world without compass, sextant or map. . . . Even the churches have been too much concerned with being broad-minded or liberal and not enough with being right. Hence they have largely lost their great strength, the power of moral indignation and leadership.

"We have become so broad-minded that nothing matters much and so tolerant that we can be indifferent toward almost anything.

"Moral Issue in Politics
"The attitude of the Protestant Church until recently, has been that she must avoid interfering in political and economic matters. The Roman Catholic Church has been criticized by Protestants as concerning herself too much with political problems. The confusion is caused by the failure to distinguish between the political and the moral. Where moral issues are concerned, no church can afford to remain aloof or tolerant, no matter what the political involvement.

"A Proclamation"
"For example, when the Supreme Court of the United States rendered its unanimous decision permitting union pickets to make slanderous statements about a restaurant owner, it was the obligation of the churches to rise in unity and proclaim:

"The decision of the Supreme Court of the land stating that 'to use loose language or undefined slogans that are part of conventional game and take in our economic and political controversies like 'unfair or Fascist'—is not to falsify the facts' may be legally and technically correct. But, according to the moral law, such a practice is wrong and indefensible.

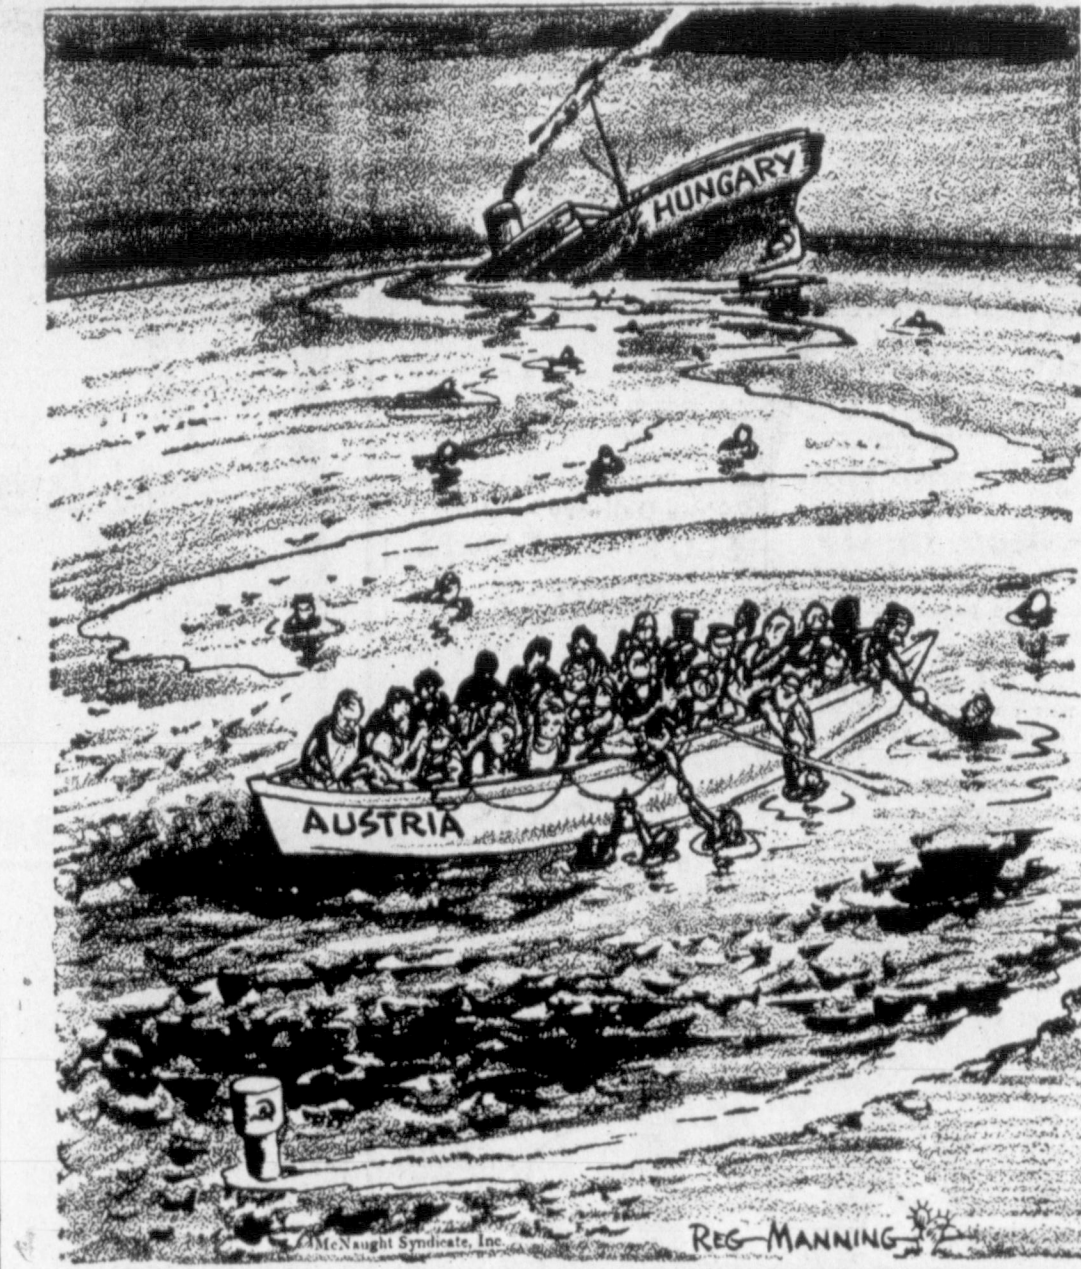

"The highest court may declare the use of such epithets to be merely the give-and-take of our economic and political controversies, as the terms 'kike,' 'dago,' and 'sheeny' are of our racial controversies. Nevertheless, a law higher than that made by any political court condemns such language whether used by unions, employers, or anyone else.

"Such practice is bad enough when indulged in by impulsive individuals, but is far worse when followed as the deliberate policy of a highly organized and legally protected group.

"The Congress of the United States may or may not change the law to rectify this immoral and unjust condition. In the meanwhile all churches and people loyal to the religious concept of man's dignity and the brotherhood of man, regardless of economic station or political beliefs, reaffirm their loyalty to the great law; Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor."

"When the Supreme Court finally condemned the sit-down strike

The Mystery Of Love Is As Elusive As That Of Dough

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK — Pension schemes of all kinds have segregated so much money that if these "funds" should be managed with the conscientious caution which they deserve the effect would be sterility in a large portion of our money. The beautiful mystery of love is no more elusive and sensitive than the mystery of dough. There are experts on the sweet agony who bat out books about emotions which, as the droll trade - phrase goes, can be expressed only in short pants, as easily as the rewrite desk clips out filler about unidentified man found dead in river.

There is a companion literature, done in dead-pan, mostly by lawyers of sallow and prurient mind and repulsive savants from Vienna which blames "frustration" and unappeased lust for cataracts, warts, and death in the electric chair. The fictionists referred to include notorious practical failures in marriage. The pseudo-scientific division is absolutely quack. But both schools get by because there is no science by which to score them.

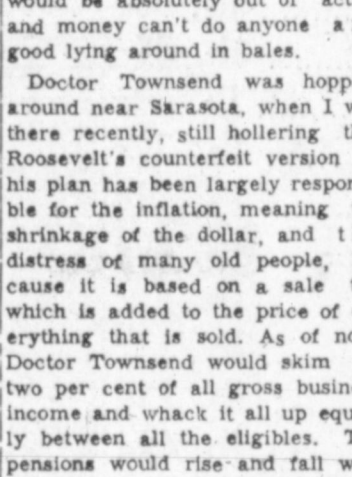

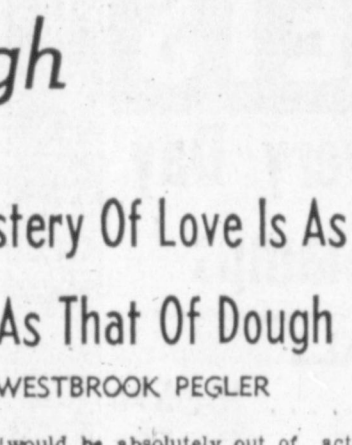

The same is true of money. When we concede the indisputable truth of that fact we come to a conclusion which should fill us with a terrible sense of futility and doom but doesn't because we prefer to think happier thoughts. Love and money are the greatest powers in our existence and nobody knows anything about them.

I have about fifty books on economics which cannot agree on a definition of money. A one-dollar bill is money, but how much? The printing on the bill can't say how much because inflation has reduced the buying-power of the dollar although we can't know how much because it depends in many cases on what we are buying. Moreover, much of the consumer's price of practically everything consists of taxes, including payroll levies which are sliced into pension funds which are either stolen, squandered or legally embezzled by the United States Treasury and replaced with interest-bearing IOU's.

When one buys a new automobile, one is paying not only federal, state and municipal sales taxes, but check-offs to countless individuals starting with the salesman on the floor and extending all the way back to the racketeer who plants the juke-box in the tavern where the iron-miner gets loaded on pay night. They all are covered by "Social Security," which the late Roosevelt pirated from old Doctor Francis E. Townsend back in the first New Deal. Social Security hasn't got a dollar in the damper and would be no better off if it had billions. Because if all those billions of one-dollar bills were baled up and stored in an old warehouse down around Wheeling they technique as practiced in the great automobile strike in Detroit in 1937, the churches should have acclaimed the decision as a vindication of the moral law. Indeed, they should themselves have condemned sit-down strikes at the time of their occurrence as immoral acts in the promoting of class warfare. (To be continued)

MOPSY

In New York, the Twentieth Century Fund, itself an aggregation of sterile money, is financing a "survey" of pension funds of "private business" which include some racket union funds. Twentieth Century says funds for employees' retirement amassed by "private business" now amount to $30 billion and are increasing about 3 1/2 billion a year.

Twentieth Century says, "we have little accurate knowledge of their sizes and types, how their investment policies are managed and who controls them."

Shall we speak of love again? After all, if a babe says she is nuts about you, do you ask her to state her reasons and prove that she is of sound mind?

On the face of the dollar bill the reading matter says "one dollar in silver, payable to the bearer on demand." But a dollar in silver will not buy any more than a paper dollar, so the music goes 'round and 'round — and it comes out here.

Nobody on God's green earth can tell you within billions how much money should be in the union welfare "funds" or how much there actually is in the kick. Dave Dubinsky can poke the "no sale" key of the garment workers and shoot a million for a hospital abroad or for political mischief by his parasitic Jake Lovestone-Irving Brown apparatus all over the world. No government authority gives a dam.

Americanization Underway But Lessons Are Unofficial

By HENRY McELMORE

MUNICH, Germany — Americanization of the thousands of Hungarian refugees passing through the Army's Safehaven Hotel here en route to the United States is well underway — but the lessons are strictly unofficial.

The miracle of chic was discovered rapidly as GIs passed out chewing gum to children whose parents were thinking of a better way of life for them when they risked death to slip them through the Iron Curtain into Austria.

I doubt if there's a Red Cross girl, female civilian Army employee, WAC or nurse in the area who has a tube of lipstick or a rouge compact left. When these little items were overlooked by the Army supply men, the girls came to the rescue and gave up their own. Maybe it's just my imagination, but the smiles of these young ladies who fled from Hungary appear even brighter now.

The Hungarian men have discovered the luxury of filter-tip cigarettes, and to show that they are as human as American pufflers, they aver that such smokers must be healthier. There's been quite a discussion among them as to the merits of double-edged safety razors against the injector types, both of which have strong proponents. But the eyebrow of all were raled in skepticism when an American interpreter told them of the wonders of electric shavers.

Hungarian youngsters who decanted milk and went for the coffee urn were turned back to the milk bar politely but firmly by a fatherly sergeant with kids of his own. The refugee children have yet to discover the thrill of a chocolate malted.

Popcorn, provided by a bunch of GIs who stopped by after a movie, made such a hit that the soldiers bribed the German attendant to keep the popcorn machine going almost constantly. They bought the entire output at ten cents a bag to pass on to the refugees.

Many of the Hungarians have been the guests of both GIs and German employees at local movie houses and, although few understand the dialogue, they are willing to underwrite Hollywood's claim that movies are better than ever.

The language problem here is not nearly as great as you might believe. Gestures and inflections usually accomplish the mission, and such words as "okay," "real cool, man," "that's for me," and "thank you" are quickly imparted in the minds of new arrivals. Unfortunately, though, I'm afraid many of them are going to think "machts nichts" — German for "it makes no difference" — is English, for the GIs use it incessantly.

Most of the refugees look astonishingly like American tourists, complete to rumpled suits and dresses, most of which were donated by American families. But one thing about them stands out in stark contrast to the appearance of American travelers — the Hungarians have virtually no luggage at all. I've been here two days and I have yet to see a refugee with more than a flight bag the size of a shaving kit. They literally came through the Iron Curtain with only the clothes on their backs, which had to be replaced because they were ripped and torn by weeks of living in the woods and crawling on the ground to avoid detection by the Russians.

The Hungarians were willing to face a new life in a strange world without even a change of clothes. I feel a little ashamed to think I came here for a short stay with a suitcase packed with 65 pounds of clothes I just couldn't do without.

Preserving Allied Friendship Main Idea Of Administration

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Increased defense and foreign aid costs, as well as American liquidation of the Egyptian and Hungarian tragedies, have definitely killed the last faint chance of a tax reduction in the next Congress. But President Eisenhower and Treasury Secretary Humphrey will have a difficult salesmanship task because of mounting Congressional indignation toward Britain, France and Israel.

Tentative estimates under discussion at Eisenhower's Augusta conferences with Defense Secretary Wilson and Pentagon officials call for a military outlay of $40 billion, and approximately $4 billion, possibly more, to bolster a sagging industry and economy.

This $44 billion may not be mentioned as a flat figure in Ike's January budget message to Congress. But requests for supplemental appropriations before Congressional adjournment will bring the total expenditure to that figure.

Britain's financial position is extremely weak, as revealed in London's request for deferment of interest on American and Canadian loans. Europe generally will have to shell out about $50,000,000 a month for Western Hemisphere oil, pending reopening of the Suez waterway, and the United States may have to foot that bill.

Even our efforts in Hungarian relief entail a strain on us, for the Military Air Transport Service estimates that it costs $480 for a round trip for each refugee. President Eisenhower has agreed to allow 21,500 to come to this country. And, of course, there are many other expenditures for food, military personnel, etc.

It is also believed that the U.S. will have to pay a large share of the cost of clearing the Suez Canal of such obstructions as sunken ships and collapsed bridges. The nations directly involved just do not have the resources for this task.

White House spokesmen recognize that the invasion of Egypt, especially as it served to offset the world's adverse reaction to Moscow's brutality in Budapest, has stirred ill feeling on Capitol Hill toward the prospective beneficiaries. But they will argue that this expenditure is an excellent investment from the standpoint of world relations and friendship.

It should help to dissipate Anglo-French anger at our lining up with Russia against them in the United Nations. It may ease their distress, which is real and widespread, over what they regard as the "national humiliation" they have suffered from us. It should contribute to patching up the almost shattered North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

American generosity, so the official attitude runs, will present a striking contrast to the Kremlin's Budapest barbarism and its trouble-making activities in the Middle East. It will win the increasingly important Afro-Asian block to our side—and that alignment now has a two-thirds vote in the U.N., or enough to block transfer of major questions to the General Assembly for consideration.

The first indication of the Congressional reaction will come when President Eisenhower asks Capitol Hill sanction for deferring payment of interest by Great Britain in January. In view of growing criticism of the Eden-Mollet action, the remaining "isolationists" some of whom demand that we quit the U.N., or seek the expulsion of Russia, will make Ike's request the occasion for a field day on foreign affairs.

Then will come the real test of our future relations with our greatest Allies in two world conflicts, and Allies which we may need in another such crisis. That is the prevailing thought in Administration circles.

4-H Girls In Groom Hold Dinner, Party

GROOM — (Special) — The Juliette 4-H Girls Club of Groom closed its year's activities with a party in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Latta.

Following dinner, games were played, under the direction of Miss Ellen Latta and Pat Thomas. Miss Shirley West led the group in the singing of Christmas songs.

During the business session, conducted by Miss Sandra Clark, the 4-H ritual was led by Miss Bonnie Terbush. Officers elected for a six-month term: Miss Donna Marie Smith, president; Miss Margielee Fraser, vice-president; Miss Nina Snyder, secretary; Miss Bonnie Terbush, treasurer; Miss Melva Asberry, reporter; Miss Alice West, ritual leader; Miss Sandra Clark, song leader; and Miss Ellen Latta and Glynda Harrell, junior leaders and council representatives.

It was decided to give a tea for members' mothers and new members in January. It was reported 14 food baskets were delivered to shut-ins and that a donation was sent to CARE for 22 pounds of food to be sent to Korea.

Gifts were exchanged, and the group went caroling. Attending were Misses Sandra Clark, Donna Smith, Margielee Fraser, Nina Snyder, Bonnie Terbush, Melva Asberry, Alice West, Pam Culver, Shirley West, Janice Corbin, Sandra Thomas, Ellen Latta; Misses Melvin Asberry, R. A. Snyder and Frank Terbush; and Mr. and Mrs. George Latta.

Guest In Skellytown Honored With Tea

SKELLYTOWN — (Special) — Mrs. Nance Egan Thompson of Healdton, Okla., a guest in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lillie Imel, was complimented with a tea in the home of Mrs. Howard Moore.

The honoree was presented a corsage by the hostess. Attending were Misses E. A. McCreary, Howard Wedge, Art Imel, John Banks, Jim Woods and John Gores.

Manners Make Friends

Once you have accepted an invitation, don't feel that you can change your mind. If you suspect you may not want to go when the time comes, then make an excuse for refusing the invitation in the first place.

Backing out after you have accepted an invitation is rude and inconsiderate.

The Hassells Are Host To Reunion

A family reunion was held during the Christmas holiday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Hassell, 390 S. Hobart. The entire family was present, for the first time in several years, except a granddaughter and her family from San Antonio.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Herman Gantz and family, Mr. and Mrs. Don Moen, James, John and Haldene, Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Gantz and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Garrett, Jimma and Robert, Miss Dorothy Gantz, all of Pampa; Mr. and Mrs. Dale Gantz, Kent and Sidney of El Paso; David Gantz, a student at West Texas State College; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gantz, a student at West Texas N.M.; Mr. and Mrs. Don Gantz, Mike and Bryan, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Stueben, Sandra and Eddie, Mr. and Mrs. Jerle Thompson and Debbie, all of Borger; Dr. and Mrs. Hallie Gantz, Charles, Gwen and Kay, and Mrs. Maude Baker, all of Tulsa, Okla.

Gifts were exchanged, and the group went caroling. Attending were Misses Sandra Clark, Donna Smith, Margielee Fraser, Nina Snyder, Bonnie Terbush, Melva Asberry, Alice West, Pam Culver, Shirley West, Janice Corbin, Sandra Thomas, Ellen Latta; Misses Melvin Asberry, R. A. Snyder and Frank Terbush; and Mr. and Mrs. George Latta.

The African Influence In A Swimsuit

There's an African inspiration for this new resort swim suit by Jantzen. Silhouette has a sleek, clean look and far-apart shoulder straps. This is a cotton print with spiral boning, backline zipper and completely interlined shorts. — By GAILE DUGAS, NEA Women's Editor.

Establishing Regular Beauty-Chore Habit Pays Dividends, Helps Avoid Sloppiness

By ALICIA HART, NEA Beauty Editor. Make a regular habit of your beauty chores if you want them to pay you dividends. Never pass up creaming your face and hands or brushing your hair because you're too tired.

If you do this once, you'll do it often and that's the beginning of beauty neglect. It's easy to start thinking that it won't matter just once.

But presently, you'll notice that your hair is drab and lifeless and your skin dry and tending to collect tiny wrinkles. At this point, you'll need to work twice as hard to regain lost ground.

Your shampoo schedule has to be adapted to the type of hair you possess and the area in which you live. If you have oily hair and live in a large city, where your hair gets dirty easily, then you probably need a shampoo at least every three days.

To be successful at shampooing your own hair, pick the shampoo that's right for your hair, follow it with a cream rinse and then by at least three rinses with clear, running water.

Give your hair a brisk towel-drying and then brush it nearly dry. Brush it into place, shaping it the way you usually wear it, before curling it.

If you've a hip problem, the most satisfactory thing to do about it is to reduce the measurements by exercise. But meanwhile, there are other things you can do to trim down your hips by optical illusion.

Always wear a good girdle and don't feel that you can go without it in pedal pushers, a housedress or blue jeans. You can't.

Keep your skirt colors darker than your blouse colors and stick to narrow belts. Stay away from tailored suits, short skirts and the sheath dress, full skirts or those with soft lines are better for you.

Chances are, you need a combination of diet, supervised by a doctor, and exercise to get your hip problem really under control.

With a little effort and some well-organized planning, you can set out for any gala holiday celebration knowing that you do look your best.

First, sit down and plan your wardrobe — from the skin out. Many of the lovely new formal fashions call for a different type of bra and foundation garment. You'll want the sheerest of sandal-footed hose, too. Remember to choose evening slippers that are comfortable as well as pretty. You won't be pretty at all if you have to hobble around the dance floor because you feel hurt.

You'll need an evening bag large enough to hold a small comb, compact, lipstick, perfume and a handkerchief. And when you plan your jewelry, don't overdo it. Simplicity is always more pleasing than gaudiness.

Start now on a diligent beauty routine. Even the prettiest dress won't look well if your skin is blotchy, your hair dull, and your fingernails broken. No matter how tired you feel, each night from now on, brush your hair 100 strokes, give yourself a thorough soap-and-water "facial," and apply your favorite night cream. In your evening bath, scrub your hands with a nail brush, then massage them with hand cream. It's a good idea to try on everything you're going to wear ahead of time so that you can correct uneven hemlines or other glaring defects.

Be sure to pamper yourself the day of the big affair. Bathe leisurely, and allow yourself enough time to lie down and relax before dressing.

Members of the Rebekah Lodge held their annual Christmas party recently in the IOOF hall.

Mrs. Carlos Beck gave a reading, "The Christmas Baby." Mrs. Carroll Pearson led the group in singing carols, accompanied by Miss Addie Fern Lick at the piano.

Mrs. Robert Marlar played several selections, each number representing some phase of the journey of the wise men on Christmas.

The refreshment table was covered with a green cloth and centered with a silver-sprayed pine tree decorated with small ornaments. Christmas gifts were exchanged. Sandwiches, salad and coffee were served by Mrs. Lyle Zmolony and Mrs. Walter Niver.

Attending were Misses Ross Neugin, Lott Lybrand, C. C. Hoskins, Carlos Beck, Miles Pearson, Ira Noble, C. C. Coleman, Fred Genett, A. W. Shubring, R. S. Marlar, J. W. Weaver, John Nickols, Fred Anderson, R. C. Heaton, Carney Estes, John Wyatt, E. E. Crawford, C. E. Hanna; Miss Addie Fern Lick; and Messrs. Carney Estes and E. E. Crawford.

The carriage Baby is entertained by watching. When he's taken outdoors for his fresh air, fix his carriage and hood so that he can watch the children playing or the leaves falling or the cars going by. Don't prop him for long periods before he can sit.

When starting Baby on whole fresh vegetables, as opposed to bottled junior foods, let the vitamins go by the board. Cook food in a lot of water to get a mild flavor. When Baby learns to like vitamin-less spinach, he can learn to like the real thing.

By BETSY WADE, NEA Staff Writer. By all means, keep Baby comfortable when he goes outdoors in chilly weather. But don't restrict him so he can't move, whether he's a carriage Baby or a toddler. Exercise helps keep him warm and healthy.

Infuriated by what she regards as our "unfairness," Ruth becomes a behavior problem for the next three days.

Unless we are prepared to supervise a child's obedience to a rule, we shouldn't make it. This knowledge is what trained child-care people have got that we haven't got. Through hard experience they have learned they simply can't afford the hostility and chaos that result from making inconsistent demands on children — and just don't make rules unless they are prepared to make them stick.

But we in our innocence think that wanting Ruth's bed made is having it made. Like the small boy who says he's killed a lion because he wishes he had, we want children's obedience without working for it.

If we are not ready to check Ruth's bedmaking every day, let's make her bed ourselves. Let's say to her, "You seem too rushed to made your bed properly on school mornings, so I'll make it for you. But on Saturday and Sundays, I'll expect you to do a terrific job."

It's New Year's Eve... that means party time. Nothing too unusual about a Dec. 31st party... that is until the second hand on the clock comes closer to 12 o'clock. Yes, New Year celebrations are the same from coast to coast. At midnight, noisemakers and bells resound through the night, new resolutions are made and all is right with the world.

If a party is being planned at your home follow the old proverbial saying, "always save the best to the last."

The best in an easy to serve meat, the one most favored by family and guests, is the standing rib roast of beef.

When you select the meat cut ask your meat retailer for a 3 to 4-rib standing beef roast. Have the chine bone loosened from the rib side. After the meat is roasted, the bone can easily be removed and the carving will be made easier.

Allow 18 to 20 minutes per pound for cooking a rare roast, 22 to 25 minutes for medium and 27 to 30 minutes for well-done.

To roast, place the standing rib, fat side up, on a rack in an open roasting pan. The roast will baste itself as the fat covering melts and runs over and through the roast.

To end guess work when preparing a roast, use a roast meat thermometer, so that you know exactly when the roast is done the way you like it. Insert the meat thermometer so the bulb reaches the center of the thickest section. Make sure the bulb does not rest in fat or on bone. Do not cover and do not add water. Roast the meat in a slow oven (300 degrees F.) to the desired degree of doneness. The roast meat thermometer will register 140 degrees F. for a rare roast; 160 degrees F. for medium and 170 degrees F. for well done.

Pointers for Leftovers
It doesn't take a culinary in the kitchen to figure out a way to use leftover slices from a beef rib roast. If you're pennywise and pound conscious, just try serving this Capser Sauce over those leftover beef slices.

It's a smart cook and a pleased family that will say thank you for these suggestions.

Capser Sauce
1 pound thinly sliced cooked beef
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 tablespoons flour
2 1/2 cups milk
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon paprika
2 teaspoons vinegar
1 small onion, thinly sliced
4 tablespoons capers
Melt butter or margarine and stir in flour. Add milk and cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Stir in salt, pepper, sugar, paprika and vinegar. Place beef slices, onion and capers in sauce and spoon sauce over meat. Simmer mixture until thoroughly heated. 4 to 6 servings.

Left-Over Turkey From The Holiday Feast Can Be Used In Varied Recipes

This recipe calls for two cups turkey (or chicken) but you can add more or less if you wish. The bland flavor of rice carries a and stretches the turkey flavor. Your family will love the little whole onions.

TURKEY LEFT-OVERS FROM THE SKILLET

Ingredients:
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup uncooked white rice
1 cup sliced celery
2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon black pepper
1 bay leaf
3 cups warm water
1-3 cup chili sauce
2 or more cups diced or shredded turkey or chicken
1 to 1 1/2 cups finely fresh cooked or canned whole onions

Method: Melt the butter or margarine in a large skillet. Add the rice and cook slowly, stirring occasionally, until the rice is golden brown. Stir in the celery, salt, pepper and bay leaf. Slowly add the water. Mix well. Bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat down. Cover and simmer 20 minutes or until the rice is tender. Add more water if the mixture is dry.

Stir in the chili sauce. Stir in some of the turkey and onions but arrange the rest over the top. Cover and simmer 10 minutes or until the onions are heated through. Add more water if necessary. Serve from the skillet if you wish. This recipe makes 8 generous servings.

This soup is thick enough to serve as a main dish. Since the rice and egg slices contribute top quality protein, the soup is a nutritious one. Add bits of leftover turkey (or chicken) if you wish.

Add 1 cup grated, sharp Cheddar cheese. When cheese is blended, serve the warm

Serve Endive, Eggs for Buffet Platter

Endive is in season and here is a new way to prepare it.
ENDIVES VINAIGRETTE D'OEUF
Belgian Endive Buffet Platter with Eggs
4 large heads Belgian endive
1 cup luke-warm water
2 tbs. lemon juice

1/4 tsp. salt
4 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
1/2 cup French Dressing
2 tbs. freshly chopped parsley
1/2 lb. cottage cheese, optional
Allow 1 large head Belgian endive or 2 small heads for each serving; more if desired.
Wash Belgian endive carefully; place in large shallow heavy pan; pour lemon juice over endive. Cover completely with luke-warm water; add salt. Place pan over medium flame; uncovered, cook vigorously 20 minutes or until tender but not over-cooked. Remove from flame.

Drain Belgian endive carefully; arrange heads on serving platter. Pour French Dressing over Belgian endive; allow to cool 15 minutes to room temperature. Garnish Belgian endive with chopped hard-cooked eggs; sprinkle with chopped parsley. Arrange hard-cooked egg slices on platter. Serve Belgian endive before garnishing with chopped hard-cooked eggs.

Belgian endive at room temperature with oven-heated French bread or thinly-sliced buttered rye bread.
OPTION: If desired, place small mounds cottage cheese over Belgian endive before garnishing with chopped hard-cooked eggs.
A lemon rinse not only adds highlights to your hair, but is one of the best known means of cutting the film left by soap.

THERE HAS BEEN SOME DISCUSSION the past few days about San Angelo and Midland moving from the Southwestern League to the Big State League, a move which would no doubt help the latter circuit.

Both leagues are of B classification. The Southwestern League, of which Pampa is a member, now has 10 members and it is reported that all of them may be ready to go next season. The Big State League, one of the oldest circuits in Texas, now has six members. ... Both fighters are brothers of veteran boxers who are among the Panhandle's top mittmen. Gary is the brother of Bobby Wilhelm, a Hamilton Trophy winner and several times a champion in the Amarillo regional Golden Gloves tournament. Manny is the younger brother of Pete Perez of Amarillo, a former state champion. The two younger fighters are top drawing cards, just like their brothers. Bobby and Pete fought four times and Gary and Manny will likely meet again in the regional meet in February.

THE LONG - FLANNED match between Pampa's Gary Wilhelm and Manny Perez of Amarillo is scheduled for Friday night in Amarillo. The two had been scheduled earlier and now it's an almost certainty. ... Tickets will go on sale through all Klwanians Friday. It should be a show really worth seeing.

THE HARLEM GLOBETROTTERS are coming back to Pampa again this year. The Trotters and their touring show always delights millions every year and it's a pleasure to have them here. Of course it won't be their No. 1 unit but they still have some fine players and most of them are just as comical as the top unit.

THE PAMPA OPTIMIST BOXING CLUB has scheduled two matches this week in preparation for its District Golden Gloves Tournament next month. ... The Pampa team competes against the Borger Optimist and Jaycee boxing teams at Borger Saturday night. Matches will begin around 7:30 p.m.

McDonald Guides North To 17-7 Win Over South
MIAMI (UP)—Jumping Tommy McDonald showed 39,181 fans in the Orange Bowl Wednesday night why he is an All-America as he led the North to a 17-7 victory over the South in the annual Shrine college all-star football classic. ... McDonald set up one touchdown with a pass and led the Yankees on an 86-yard drive in the closing minutes of the game which was turned into a 13-yard field goal by Michigan quarterback Jim Maddock.

Australia Retains Davis Cup From US

By LEO H. PETERSEN
United Press Sports Editor

ADELAIDE, Australia (UP)—Mighty Aussie Lew Hoad and Ken Rosewall started poorly and then crushed America's age-and-youth team of Vic Seixas and Sam Giammalva, 1-6, 6-1, 7-5, 6-4 today to retain the Davis Cup, symbol of world tennis supremacy. ... The triumph in doubles while a crowd of 18,000 applauded in hot, sunny weather gave Australia an unbeatable 3-0 lead in the best-of-five series and made Friday's final two singles matches meaningless. ... Immediately after the crushing defeat, U. S. team Captain Billy Talbert announced that he probably will give up that post. He said his retirement would be for "business" reasons, but admitted that America's future cup hopes are "not too rosy."

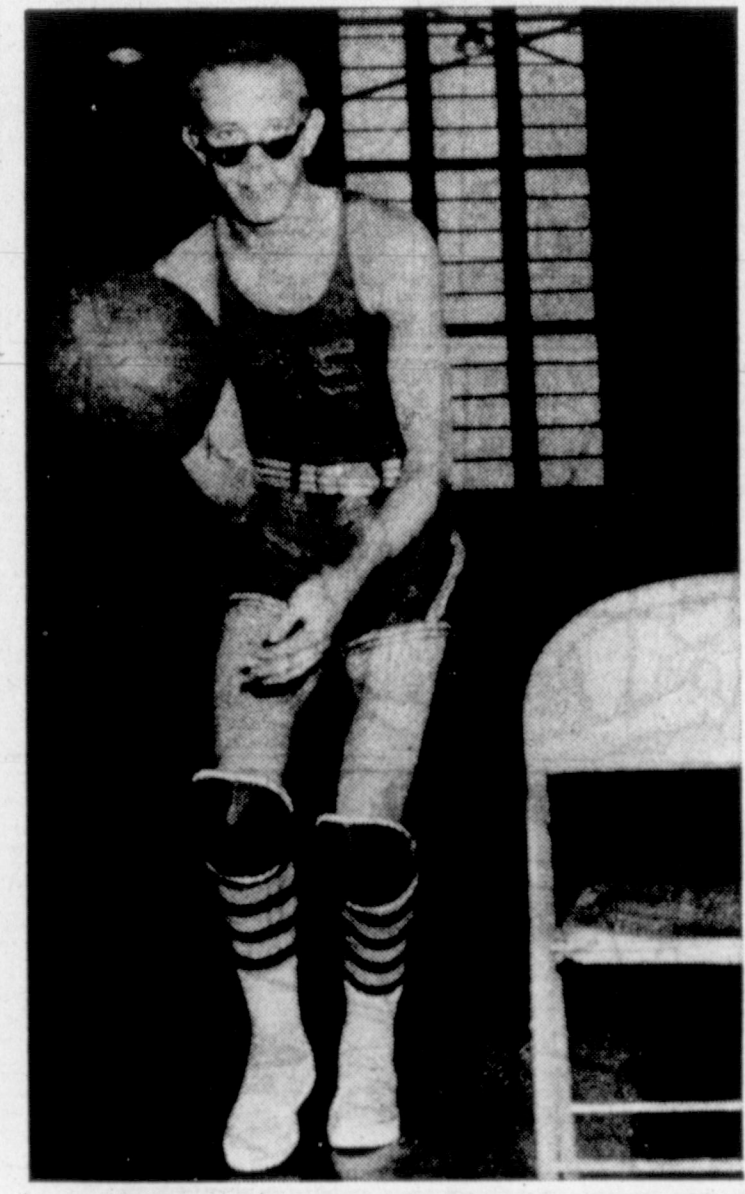

Midwestern Cage Coach Quits Post
WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (UP)—Basketball Coach Dallas Clynh, a former star quarterback at Midwestern University, resigned his coaching job Wednesday for "personal reasons." ... Dennis Vinzant, assistant football coach until football was eliminated from the school's athletic program two weeks ago, was named acting head basketball coach. ... Clynh had been head coach at Midwestern since 1952. He had a 2-7 record going into the EK's tournament in Dallas beginning today. ... Faculty athletic committee members will meet next week and it was expected that Vinzant would be a leading contender for the permanent post. ... Clynh quarterbacked the Indians' football teams during the 1947 through 1949 seasons, a period when the team had its most successful football record. ... Midwestern, formerly known as Hardin College, stepped up from a junior college to a full four-year school in 1945. University officials said the lack of local support was the main reason they dropped football in their announcement two weeks ago.

Kansas Displays Balance By Edging By Iowa State

By FRED DOWN
United Press Sports Writer

First-ranked Kansas retained its unbeaten college basketball status today because it has a good little man to go with its great big one. The "little fellow," by modern court standards, is 6-3 Gene Eistun, who sank a 12-foot jump shot with six seconds left to give Kansas a 58-57 victory over Iowa State Wednesday night and answer the question which has haunted Coach Dick Harp all season: Can Kansas win on a night when seven-foot Will Chamberlain is stopped? ... Eistun's "clutch goal" made the answer a ringing "yes" because big Chamberlain was stopped—but good. Triple-teamed by 6-8 center Don Medsker and forwards John Crawford and Chuck Vogt, Chamberlain was limited to three field goals and made only six of 13 free throws for 12 points — 23 below his average per game for Kansas' first six games. ... Kansas, favored to win the Big Seven Tournament at Kansas City, Mo., led 28-27 at halftime and the lead changed hands eight times during the second half. Iowa State led, 55-54, with 3:30 to go and went ahead, 57-56, with 13 seconds remaining. ... Manhattan Sinks Niagara
Guard Tom Deluca sank two free throws to put NYU ahead, 71-70, with 82 seconds left but he then was called for traveling and the Irish passed down-court to Devine for the winning basket. It

Fraley Picks Bowl Winners For Jan. 1

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UP)—Fraley's final follies of 1956 to give you the football bowl "winners"—and I never thought you'd have enough money to last out the year. ... Rose Bowl
Iowa over Oregon State—Here a guy could get highly technical about multiple fractured offenses and compound felonious defenses. That way, everybody would get mad at everybody else, nobody would understand what anybody else was talking about and they'd still have the Rose Bowl parade anyhow. To sum it up, — just happen to like Iowa? ... Cotton Bowl
Syracuse over TCU—This is a case of when an orange is not an orange and will it pack more safely in cotton. Syracuse, for some daffy reason nicknamed the "Orange," was squashed thoroughly in the 1953 Orange Bowl. But exhaustive research has shown that Horned Frogs (TCU, yuk-yuk) do not thrive on orange peels like Florida cattle. Now can you give me a better reason for picking Syracuse? ... Sugar Bowl
Tennessee over Baylor—Mother always kept her mad money in the sugar bowl, but that ain't the reason. Remember Davey Crockett was a volunteer. And remember what old Davey did to that thar 'bar in Tennessee. Let 'em carry Bowie knives in the second half and I don't see how Tennessee can lose. ... Orange Bowl
Clemson over Colorado. The Buffaloes picked up a lot of support when they did just that to mighty Oklahoma for the first half. Then the roof caved in—and now the walls come tumbling down. From a technical standpoint, each team will field 11 men. ... Gator Bowl
Pitt over Georgia Tech—This, undoubtedly, earns me the accolade as the idiot of the week. But I like my lines big, rough and armor-plated. That's Pitt. ... Sun Bowl
Texas Western over George Washington—This will be a tremendous encounter between two always-dangerous adversaries. How is that? ... Tangerine Bowl
Mississippi Southern over West Texas State—Cuz I like tangerines. And where else can you start the year with seven straight losers? ... wps Notre Dame's 18th victory in the 22-year-old rivalry. ... Manhattan went on a 60-per cent first-half shooting spree that rocked Niagara, 95-79; Ohio State fought off a late Temple rally for a 64-63 win, and Tom Steinkes scored 30 points to lead Brigham Young to an 89-75 triumph over St. John's of New York.

HOUSTON (UP)—Defending champion Southern Methodist took on Texas Christian to open the sixth Southwest Conference basketball tournament today with the best chance, on paper, of finishing on top three days hence. ... But the Rice Owls, with a 6-3 won-lost record, and Texas, with a 5-2 mark, were poised to contest SMU's 7-3 prestige and bid to win the crown for a third time. ... SMU was tournament victor in 1952, 1954 and 1955. ... Rice, in its last four games, beat Oregon and Oregon State but lost to Stanford and Oklahoma. Texas, expected to survive a 4 p.m. tilt with Arkansas (4-3) to meet Rice Friday, beat Oklahoma 68-62. ... Expected to Beat Baylor
Rice was expected to dispose of low-rated Baylor (2-6) in the final game at 9 o'clock tonight. Today's 7:30 p.m. game pitted guest team Navy, with a 5-1 pre-season record, against Texas A&M (3-6). ... All seven SWC teams, plus Navy, play a game a day in three days and nights of competition, affording fans the opportunity to size up the impending SWC double round robin title race. ... Rice, which won the tournament in 1953, sports the tallest rebound pair in the tournament in six-foot, 10-inch Temple Tucker, a junior standout, and six-foot, nine Tommy Robitaille, an ace at board fighting. ... Rice has averaged only 69.1 points per game but has held opponents to 65.3. ... High Scoring Average
SMU sports an 87.8 scoring average and a 65.9 defensive record, with veteran big Jim Krebs taking the best individual scoring mark—24.8—into the tournament. ... Raymond Downs of Texas follows Krebs at 23.9 points per game and TCU's Rick O'Neal, shooting for his third all-tourney selection, has a 20.6 mark.

BOWL ROUNDUP
Mental Block May Stop Horned Frogs
EDITORS NOTE: This is the seventh of a series on the teams in the major football bowl games. ... Martin had his defending South-west Conference champion status "high" early in the season and they were playing like super-charged touchdown machines as they ground under the opposition. ... The "old heads" on the TCU squad never recovered from that heartbreaker. They felt the pictures of the game showed they won with a touchdown that the officials didn't allow. ... They proceeded to drop games to Miami and Texas Tech and looked lethargic in doing so. They pulled themselves together briefly to nose out Baylor 7-6 in a game that ultimately got them into the Cotton Bowl. ... On top of this, there was a tendency among the Horned Frogs to second-rate Syracuse as a bowl foe after Navy failed to accept the bid. ... Precision-Like Peak
These angels have Martin worried as he tries to pep up the team to the precision-like peak at which it operated early in the year when Chuck Curtis was factoring and passing almost flawlessly. All-America Jim Swink was deceiving and blocking perfectly to slow his halfback teammate, Ken

IT'S THE LAW ★ IN TEXAS ★

Is That Christmas Gift Taxable?

Although it may come as a surprise to some people, the federal government levies a tax which applies to gifts made by one person to another. However the government has no desire to tax ordinary birthday and Christmas gifts. The law therefore excludes from taxable gifts the first $3,000 given to each individual in each calendar year.

The law also excludes from taxable gifts, gifts to the church, community chest, and similar charitable organizations, and allows each giver an exemption of $30,000, before the tax applies.

The tax applies whether the gift is of money or of property. If it is of property, the tax is computed on the fair market value of the property at the date of the gift.

The purpose of many gifts is to remove the property from the taxable estate of the giver at the time of his death. This may or may not be accomplished. The federal law provides that transfers made within three years before date of death shall be deemed to have been made in contemplation of death and shall be taxable in the estate of the one who dies.

It may be advisable to "look a gift horse in the mouth" for the gift may cost the one who receives the gift in income taxes as well as the giver in gift taxes.

For income tax purposes the cost basis of property received by gift is the cost to the giver regardless of the fact that the giver may have paid a gift tax on the gift. The other rule is that in case of property received by inheritance, the cost basis is the fair market value at the date of the decedent's death.

An example will show the application to the rules. Suppose a farmer acquired his land in the early days at a cost of $10,000. This property is now worth $50,000. The farmer wishes to retire and to escape estate taxes, so he gives the farm to his daughter.

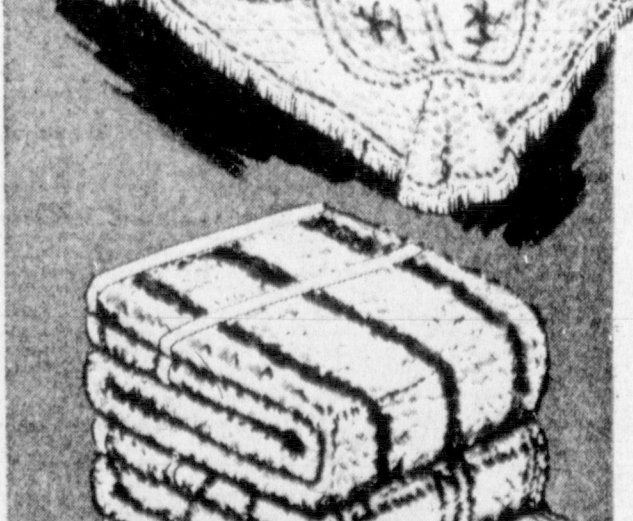

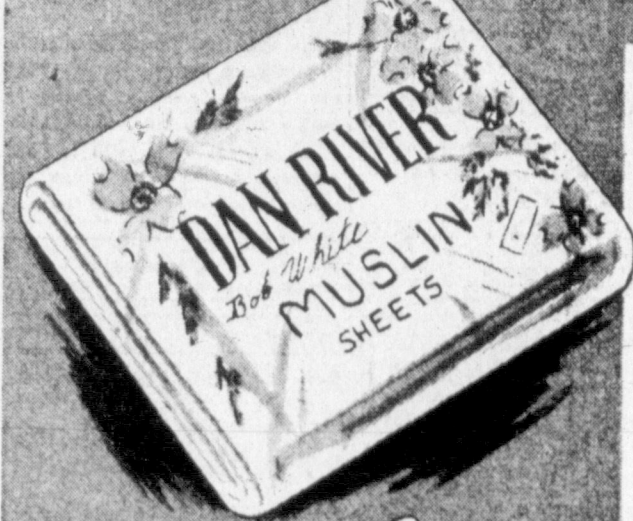

ODD JOBS DEPT.—An almost certain winner in any "unlikely occupation" contest would be these workmen at New York's Museum of Natural History. They are "dinosaur dusters" and are seen giving a vacuum cleaning to the skeleton of a prehistoric stegosaurus.

Although he may pay federal gift taxes totaling several thousand dollars, when the daughter decides to sell the farm for its $50,000 value, she still has to pay income tax on $40,000 profit (difference between the sales price and her father's cost of $10,000).

On the other hand, if the farmer had not given the farm to the daughter, but had left it to her under his will, he would have saved the gift tax. The daughter would have taken the property at a cost basis of $50,000 so upon the sale she would not have had to pay any income tax.
