Warnings Of Snow Posted In The East

By UNITED PRESS
Heavy snow warnings were posted early today for eastern New York and much of New England as two separate storms began moving through the northern one-third of the nation.
Meanwhile, a state of emergency was ended last night in the Erie, Pa., area. The emergency was declared after a Thanksgiving Day storm dropped two to three feet of snow along a 150-mile stretch of Lake Erie's southern shore.
Light amounts of snow and rain fell early today from the upper and middle Mississippi Valleys through the Ohio Valley and the Great Lakes to New England. Despite the wide area of precipitation, both rainfall and snow accumulations were quite light.
A storm in southern Ohio spread light snow through the Great Lakes, the Ohio Valley and much of the Mississippi Valley, with some rain in Tennessee.
The second storm — which was to breed the heavy snow accumulations along the East Coast — spread rain early in the morning along the Atlantic Coast north of Philadelphia to southern New England and snow into eastern New York and western New England.
Weathermen said there was a possibility of the Ohio storm combining with the eastern storm front as colder, air moved eastward to the coast.
Accumulations would probably be around six inches in the New York and New England snow areas, weathermen said.
Residents of the Lake Erie area returned to normal work schedules today as bus service was restored. But they kept an eye on the weather and a snow shovel close by as weathermen predicted about two to four more inches of snow for Pennsylvania's third largest city.
Most school districts in the Erie area remained closed because ice and sub-freezing temperatures made driving dangerous. However, all major and secondary highways of the area were open.

Bombers Set Record

By JOHN W. FINNEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP) — A group of B52 jet bombers have demonstrated with record-breaking, non-stop flights of up to 16,000 miles that they could strike deep within Russia from bases in this country and return.
The Air Force put on the demonstration over the weekend, keeping eight of the giant jet bombers aloft for periods ranging from 26 to 31 hours. The flights, covering from 13,000 to 16,000 miles, were the longest ever made by the planes that will carry the H-bomb if it ever has to be used.
The Air Force called the flights a "routine training mission." But it went out of its way to publicize them even though it usually keeps flights of the Strategic Air Command bombers highly secret.
The demonstration obviously was a warning to Russia of the intercontinental striking power of the $8 million B52. The flights were more than twice the approximate 6,000-mile distance from U.S. air bases to the Soviet Union.
The B52s, which have a range of 6,000 miles, were refueled in the air by tanker planes. The Air Force would not say how many times.
During the demonstration, one group of four B52s took off from Loring Air Force Base in Maine and another from Castle Air Force Base in California. Both circled the northern United States and Canada carrying out simulated bombing attacks, and all but two returned to their home bases.
Test New Plan
Those two landed at Friendship Airport in Baltimore, testing a new Air Force plan to use civilian airports as dispersal points for its planes in case of enemy attack.
The pilots of these two B52s received their instructions to land at Baltimore during their flight and without advance warning. It was the first time a plane the size of the 140-ton, eight-jet B52 had landed there.
The runways proved long enough even though the planes had to use help through the planes to a quick-weigh stop.
The bombers flew at altitudes of above 35,000 feet at average speeds of 800 miles per hour.

On Mindszenty Fears Stirred By Communist Attack

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent
VIENNA (UP) — New attacks by Hungarian Communists on Josef Cardinal Mindszenty and the United States fomented new fears here today for the safety of the Roman Catholic prelate of Hungary.
Mindszenty, who was released by Hungarian freedom fighters after eight years in Communist captivity, took refuge in the U.S. Legation when Soviet tanks and troops launched their surprise offensive on Budapest Nov. 4.
Hungary remained in the paralyzing grip of a "total strike." There were few indications workers would respond to the mixture of threats and promises voiced by the Soviet-backed Janos Kadar regime. Kadar's promises, including broadening of the government to include non-Communists, all hinged on an end to the strike and restoration of "peace and order."
Newspaper Attacks Cardinal
The official Hungarian Communist government newspaper Nepszabados Sunday accused Mindszenty of being a tool of the "reactionary forces" in Hungary. It was the most bitter attack against the Cardinal since his release during the early stages of the anti-Communist revolution.
The newspaper described Mindszenty as a "typical representative of the Horthy fascism" who "wanted to end Socialist construction and the people's power." The reference was to Adm. Nicholas Horthy, former regent of Hungary, who brought the country into World War II on the side of Nazi Germany.
A charge that the United States had advanced knowledge of the anti-Communist rebellion in Hungary and in fact helped to foment it was made by Soviet puppet Premier Janos Kadar. Kadar said a statement by Allan W. Dulles, "head of American intelligence and brother of the secretary of state," indicated that "not only in the uprisings, Kadar did not cite the alleged statement."
Fear Long Confinement
Sources here feared Mindszenty may be confined indefinitely within the U.S. legation in Budapest, which is protected by diplomatic immunity.
The Soviet-imposed Kadar regime, however, already has indicated its contempt of international law in the kidnapping and arrest of former Premier Imre Nagy.
Kadar insisted again that Nagy asked for asylum in Romania. He made no mention of the fact that the government betrayed a safe conduct pledge given Nagy before he left refuge in the Yugoslav asylum.
The Romanian government professed no knowledge of Nagy's arrival. One West Berlin newspaper said he was flown to Moscow to stand trial as a traitor.

Firefighters Trapped In Forest Fire; 11 Are Killed

By ALBERT W. WIESE
United Press Staff Correspondent
RAMONA, Calif. (UP) — Eleven firefighters were burned to death last night when they were trapped by a sudden change of wind, the U. S. Forestry Service reported.
The Forest Service identified the victims as seven prisoners from a nearby honor camp, three U. S. Forestry Service men and a guard from the honor camp. Names of the victims were withheld pending notification of next of kin.
Walter Tuhn, supervisor for the Cleveland National Forest, said 10 men, six of them prisoners, fled to safety when the ill-fated firefighting crew became surrounded by flames in the Boulder Creek area of Cleveland National Forest in San Diego county. The prisoners were volunteers from the nearby Vieja Honor Camp brought in to fight a 25,000-acre brush and oak timber fire.
"The survivors escaped by running like the wind out of the flaming area," Tuhn said. "The bodies of the victims were found on a charred slope near the San Diego River."
Tuhn said the crew was moved into the rugged area earlier in the evening to build a fire line. Tuhn said at that time the fire was moving up a canyon and the men were working at the edge of the blaze in a heavily covered brush and oak timber section.
James G. Reed, supervisor of the camp, was a member of a crew which brought out the bodies early today.
"It was extremely rough terrain and I don't believe the men had a chance when the wind changed," he said. "They were trapped in a ravine and unable to get out in time."

The survivors reportedly were not burned. The six prisoners were returned to the prison camp while the forestry personnel survivors were taken to the U. S. forestry camp headquarters. Tuhn said "the men need rest and will not be available for comment until later today."
It took several hours to reach the victims. The bodies were carried out on litters to a highway where ambulances removed them to a morgue in nearby San Diego. "I don't see how the men got out," a Forest Service spokesman said. "The entire area was red hot even when we arrived some hours after fire swept the area."

Demo Party Heads Gather In Washington For Meeting

By HERBERT FOSTER
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP) — Democratic Party leaders, digging out from under the Eisenhower landslide, gathered today for their first meeting since the Nov. 8 election.
The Executive Committee of the Democratic National Committee was called into session to discuss specifically the party's future strategy and how to pay off a $1 million debt growing out of the recent campaign.
But these other matters were expected to come up:
—A bid by party leaders from the West for a larger role in party affairs because their area gave Democrats their greatest gain in the election.
—A demand from the same Western group for a more liberal party program, turning left from the middle-of-the-road policies which Democrats, and particularly Senate Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, followed during the first Eisenhower term.
—A possible move to oust Paul M. Butler as Democratic national chairman despite Butler's announced declaration that he does not intend to resign.
—A discussion of what role the party's twice-defeated presidential candidate and titular head, Adlai E. Stevenson, will play in the drive to pay off the campaign debt and in charting the party's future.
There was no advance word on whether either Stevenson or his running mate, Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), would send a message to the committee. Some party leaders want Stevenson to help clear the atmosphere with an early announcement on his future political plans.
Stevenson has promised such an announcement but has not said when it would come.
As for wiping out the party's campaign debt, the tried-and-true solution of fund-raising dinners seemed likely to be used again. But some powers in the party hope to bring in a new set of speakers instead of the familiar faces of Stevenson and Kefauver.
These leaders want to use some of the party's "new faces" such as Sen-elect Joseph Clark (Pa.) and John F. Kennedy (Mass.) — a move to help promote new leadership as well as new funds.

Syria And Iraq Hurl Words Over Middle East Problems

By DANIEL F. GILMORE
United Press Staff Correspondent
LONDON — UP — Moscow joined Egypt today in attacking the United States' stand on the Suez Canal dispute.
The canal, however, was not the only center of discord in the troubled Middle East. Syria and Iraq, both allied with Egypt in the canal dispute, exchanged angry words among themselves over the weekend.
Syria accused Iraq of "collusion" with Israel against her and of supplying arms to would-be revolutionaries in Syria.
There were predictions that Syria, with arms supplied by Russia, would move new forces into tiny, neighboring Jordan to forestall a similar move by Iraq.
U. S. In-The-Middle
The United States found itself the man-in-the-middle in the Suez Canal dispute, under verbal attack by Moscow and Cairo and criticized by British conservatives, its normal allies in Britain.
Conservative member of parliament F. A. Burton suggested in a speech that with the "unwilling cooperation of America," United Nations Secretary Dag Hammarskjold had made a deal with Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser which would throw "not only the British but Western interests down the canal."
But opposition leader Hugh Gaitskell again decried the blow to Anglo-American cooperation and called again for withdrawal of Anglo-French forces from the canal in accordance with a UN resolution.
Reds Claim U. S. Convinced
Radio Moscow charged that the United States is "convinced" to keep the Anglo-French forces in Egypt.
It cited as proof U. S. support of a UN resolution which omitted mention of "grave concern" that Britain, France and Israel still maintained their forces in Egypt.
Meanwhile, Israel reported that Arab "fedayeen" night raiders blew up a well near Tel Aviv early today, injuring one person, and that a vehicle had been blown up by a land mine in Cairo, the Middle East news agency reported that an Egyptian reconnaissance patrol penetrated about 35 miles into Sinai desert positions still held by "Zionist gangs."
Egypt May Reject Proposal
Also in Cairo it was reported Egypt will reject an American proposal to start clearing the Suez Canal while British and (See RUSSIA, Page 4)

Longshoremen In Return To Docks

NEW YORK (UP) — Longshoremen returned to their jobs today after a nine-day strike which cost an estimated $180 million.
Federal mediators met to plan a resumption of bargaining talks between the International Longshoremen's Association (I.L.A.) and the New York Shipping Association.
The 60,000 striking I.L.A. members were ordered to return to work Saturday night under a 10-day Taft-Hartley injunction obtained by the government in federal court here.
Begin Unloading
Ten thousand longshoremen start loading and unloading cargo on the piers here today. They were to be joined in other ports by dock workers scheduled to return to work this afternoon.
The vanguard of the strikers Sunday worked 47 of the 107 ships tied up at New York and New Jersey piers. Many expressed resentment at the government intervention.
Capt. William V. Bradley, I.L.A. president, was gloomy about the chances of a settlement of the dispute with the 178-member shippers association within the next 80 days.

Mindszenty Hit By Red Newspaper

(EDITOR'S NOTE: U.P. Staff Correspondent Russell Jones is the only American correspondent still in Budapest.)
By RUSSELL JONES
United Press Staff Correspondent
BUDAPEST (UP) — The official Hungarian government newspaper Sunday charged Josef Cardinal Mindszenty with being a tool of the reactionary elements in Hungary.
The article was distributed in London by the official Soviet Tass News Agency.
The attack by the Nepszabados was the most bitter against the cardinal since freedom fighters released him from house arrest in Felsopentny. He sought and was granted asylum in the U.S. legation here Nov. 4th and has been there ever since.
The newspaper said the cardinal was a "typical representative of Horthy fascism" who "wanted to end socialist construction and the people's power." It charged he expressed the "aims of the counter-revolution" in a speech Nov. 3, the day before the Russian army attacked Hungary for the second time in 10 days.
"Mindszenty was made cautious as were other politicians of the bourgeois restoration by the presence of the Soviet army on the outskirts of Budapest and by the news arriving of more Soviet troops entering Hungary," the newspaper said.

Hughes Hits Government For Slump

OKLAHOMA CITY (UP) — Discrimination by the government in favor of big business is responsible for the home building slump, Richard G. Hughes, Pampa, Tex., past president of the National Association of Home Builders, charged in a speech here.
"The home builder is the whipping boy of the government's campaign to control inflation," Hughes said in a speech before the state convention of Oklahoma home builders.
He blamed the shortage of mortgage money on a 1954 tax law, which he said channeled investment money into industrial plants.
Hughes said interest on FHA loans will increase from the present 4 1/2 per cent to 5 per cent within the next two weeks. This will not provide a solution.
He pointed out that wages, materials and industrial profits are up but that home building has slumped 24.4 per cent in the past 18 months.
Hughes proposed that FHA laws be changed to require a down payment of only 15 per cent and that the government establish a central mortgage bank for home builders.
Hughes is a former member of President Eisenhower's advisory committee on housing.

U. S. Marine Kills Self; Others Dead

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (UP) — A U. S. Marine on sentry duty at the Naval Air Station shot himself fatally early today and when officers went to his apartment they found another Marine and a young woman there dead of bullet wounds.
The Marine who was found fatally wounded at his sentry post at the Naval Air Station's south gate was identified as PFC Charles T. Crawford, 20, of El Dorado, Ark.
Investigators did not immediately disclose the name of the other Marine or the woman who were found dead in Crawford's apartment, near the gate where he had been on sentry duty.
The investigators had gone to Crawford's apartment to notify his girl friend of the shooting when they discovered both the girl and the Marine dead.
Crawford shot himself at 3:25 a. m., investigators said, and died at 4:25 a. m. in the Naval hospital.

Charges Are Prepared In Conspiracy

OKLAHOMA CITY (UP) — County Attorney Granville Scanland prepared conspiracy charges today against three Oklahoma City bootleggers who are being questioned about a two-state gangland plot to assassinate four of their competitors.
The three, free on $2,000 bond each, were to appear before District Judge Clarence Mills today in a writ of habeas corpus hearing. They were released Saturday after officers were unable to hold them on vagrancy charges.
However, Scanland said he would file new charges today of conspiracy to commit murder.
The three were identified as Grady King, 37, currently believed to be Oklahoma City's most powerful liquor merchant, and two of his associates, Jay Dee Wilson, 36, and F. W. (Dude) Wilson, 31.

Eisenhower Leaves For A Vacation In Georgia

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press White House Writer
WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower flew to Augusta, Ga., today for a week or 10 days of golf and rest.
It was his first vacation since August.
Plans for the trip remained tentative until about an hour before the take-off because of the tense world situation. When 9 a. m. arrived with no new international complications in sight, Mr. Eisenhower gave the word and the White House announced the trip was definitely on.
He and Mrs. Eisenhower and a group of White House aides flew south in the government plane, Columbine.
Ho Stays a Week
Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said Mr. Eisenhower would remain at Augusta for "a week or 10 days."
Until Hagerty's announcement, officials had held out the possibility that a last-minute change in the international situation might force Mr. Eisenhower to cancel his trip and remain here.
Mr. Eisenhower went to church services Sunday at the National Presbyterian Church, then returned to the White House for a conference on the situation in the Middle East and Central Europe.
The Chief Executive met with Acting Secretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr., just back from a conference with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles in Key West, Fla.; Douglas MacArthur III, State Department counselor; Col. Andrew Goodpastor, White House staff secretary, and Press Secretary James C. Hagerty.

New Patrolman Arrives In Pampa

W. A. Richardson of Amarillo has been assigned to Pampa by the Texas Highway Patrol and will begin his duties here on Saturday.
Richardson recently completed a 10-week course for new Highway Patrolmen in Austin. Prior to joining the Highway Patrol he had spent three years on the Amarillo Police Department as a solo traffic patrolman.
Royce Logan, highway patrolman who has been working the Pampa area by himself since April 1, reported that he was glad to have a partner to assist in traffic enforcement on the highways in the Pampa vicinity.
Richardson reported that he would move to Pampa as soon as he found a place for his family to live. He stated that he needed a two or three bedroom unfurnished house by Friday so that he might move in before going to work Saturday. Anyone having a house to rent is requested to call the residence of Officer Logan at MO 5-5262.

Kremlin Power Struggle Reaches New Fierceness

Editors Note: Apparently conflicting Soviet policies in Hungary and Poland have coincided with increasing indications of indecision within the Kremlin itself. Now comes the appointment of old-Stalinist Vyacheslav M. Molotov as minister of state control. Kenneth Brodney, former United Press manager in Moscow, analyzes the most recent development in the following dispatch.

By KENNETH BRODNEY
Written For The United Press
The power struggle inside the Kremlin has reached a new stage of fierceness with the appointment of Vyacheslav M. Molotov as minister of state control. The move, coupled with Communist Party boss Nikita Khrushchev's growing belligerence and continuing pressure for freedom both inside Russia itself and in its satellite empire, shows a mounting Kremlin desperation. The Poles have just won sweeping concessions in running their own internal affairs. The Hungarians, bloody Hungry, ravaged by starvation and disease, remain unbowed. Less visibly to the outside world, the Russian people are increasingly restless themselves and are expressing their discontent more and more openly. Laying Down The Law. Just before the announcement of Molotov's new and powerful ministerial post, he was reported laying down the law to all Soviet writers, painters, musicians, and other intellectuals. Khrushchev sharply warned Russian university students that if they didn't immediately stop their public expressions of discontent and disapproval of the government they would be thrown out of school, and worse. The Kremlin struggle is fundamentally over which of two policies shall prevail to stop the digression: Grant the growing demands of Russia and satellite peoples, or crack down hard with new controls and punishments. For the Kremlin, the one seems almost as bad as the other. If concessions are made, as in internal controls of the Russians and to the Poles, more concessions will be demanded. If crushing force is used, as against the Hungarians, the people become more embittered and stubborn. Molotov Leads One Group. The obvious answer, according to some leaders is to go back to his techniques. The leader of this group is reported to be Molotov, and he seems to be winning the battle. But not necessarily the war. Because the counter-argument is that it was precisely Stalin's technique that created the hatreds, discontents, and disloyalties that are now rearing up and kicking the Kremlin in the teeth. And this argument—supposedly the Khrushchev argument—is that the basic disease must be cured if the Soviet empire is ever to have any lasting strength. The Molotov appointment could signal the forthcoming downfall of Khrushchev. But it could just as easily represent a squeeze-play, with Molotov himself being prepared as the Stalinist scapegoat.

Texas Gets Cold Wind

By UNITED PRESS

A deep low pressure system over the Great Lakes region pushed cold, strong northerly winds across Texas today and brought freezing or below readings over the western section of the state.

Dalhart had a 21-degree low this morning for the lowest in the state. Amarillo had a low of 24, Lubbock 27, Salt Flat 28 and El Paso and Presidio 30.

Low clouds moved into the extreme northeast portion of the state around Texarkana early today, but forecasters said they would drift eastward during the day. Clouds hung over eastern Oklahoma into Arkansas and over northern Louisiana today.

Northerly winds up to 20 and 25 miles per hour whipped across much of the state overnight and were expected to continue throughout the day. Some blowing dust was reported in West Texas.

Little temperature changes were expected through tomorrow, but winds were expected to begin diminishing by tonight. High temperatures Sunday were mostly in the 60's and 70's, with Laredo's 76 the highest in the state.

British and French troops are withdrawing from Port Said.

Khaled Mohieddin, former aide to President Gamal Abdel Nasser, termed the proposal made Saturday by U.S. delegate to the United Nations Henry Cabot Lodge as "just another maneuver on America's part to satisfy both sides in the dispute."

"This is a strange way to ignore aggression," Mohieddin said in the newspaper Al Misra.

"If both operations (clearing the canal and Anglo-French withdrawal) should start simultaneously, which is to end first?"

Clear Passage

British authorities announced Sunday night that they already have cleared a passage in Port Said harbor large enough to allow three Yugoslav ships to bring in the first United Nations troops transported by sea.

The three ships, all under 10,000 tons, will land 700 Yugoslav soldiers Thursday.

Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, commander of the United Nations Emergency Force, worked out the landing agreement with Anglo-French military leaders in Port Said Sunday in a move designed to speed up the replacement of British and French forces in Egypt.

Gen. Sir Hugh Stockwell said Burns and the Allied command discussed only the U.N. build-up and not the Anglo-French withdrawal Sunday. But British government spokesmen have said the British and French forces will move out as the United Nations troops move in.

Stockwell said the original plan to have U.N. troops patrol in joint units with Anglo-French soldiers had been scrapped. He did not say why, but both the U.N. and the

Overseas
Children
Get 'Packets'

Dedication of 39 "Friendship Packets" for children overseas took place during 11 a. m. service yesterday of the Church of the Brethren, Mrs. Russell G. West, children's superintendent, presented to the congregation the story of starting ledge from the primary classes; how enthusiastic the children have been. Each packet contains washclothes, soap, pencils, paper or notebook, crayons, hard candy and some small games. Packets will be Center at New Windsor, Md., where they will be packed and sent overseas to areas of displaced or homeless families.

Many of the children making up the packets enclosed slips with their names and addresses hoping that they might receive letters from some of the overseas children.

The packets were brought to the altar for dedication by Mrs. Don Ellledge, representing the nursery; David Irwin and Denise Wheeler from the kindergarten classes; Cynthia Heinrichs and Larry Elthis project several weeks ago and Velda Rose, Richard Minnich and Cheryl Wheeler representing the junior classes; Jeanne Lee, Larry Minnich and "Corkey" Godfrey for the youth classes. Rickey McCloskey and Merlin Rose lit the altar candles.

Also included in the shipment to New Windsor will be several hundred pounds of relief clothing which the women of the church have been storing, repairing and packing for relief in war-torn or drought-stricken countries.

was arrested at Wichita Falls and four other suspects were being sought in Dallas.

Norris was once connected with Orville Lindsay Chambliss, Oklahoma City bootlegger who has been missing for several months.

Police Chief Roy Bergman revealed details of the two-way double cross murder plot, which was uncovered after three weeks of investigation. He said the plan backfired when a Dallas gunman decided to make a "shakedown."

Payoff Reported

Bergman said evidence indicated a group of county bootleggers met with Dallas gangsters in October and agreed to pay $3,000 a head for the murder of four other local bootleggers — Red Holt, Seth Stone, Ray Rainey and Harold Ford.

However, Bergman said, the gunman hired to do the killing made a deal with the intended victims. They were to disappear, he would collect the money and split it with them.

Anglo-French command have been trying to avoid any suggestion of "fraternization" that might compromise the neutral role of the United Nations.

Stockwell said the exact role of the UNEF troops in Port Said was one of the subjects discussed Sunday in the three-hour meeting between Burns and Anglo-French commander-in-chief Sir Charles Keightley.

Girl Scouts

During the meeting of the 'Top of Texas' Girl Scout Council this morning, E. L. Layne, president, announced Mrs. N. G. Kadingo will assume the duties of Girl Scout executive Jan. 1.

She will replace Mrs. Marian Osborne, who has resigned her position and who will remain several months to orient Mrs. Kadingo.

Mrs. Kadingo has resigned her position as women's editor of The Pampa Daily News, which has not, as yet, named her successor.

During the meeting, Mrs. Calvin Duncan of Skellytown reported on leadership training given during the month. Mrs. John Holt Jr. reported on the regional GSC conference held recently in Oklahoma City, Okla., and on plans for Day Camp. Joe Wells expalined improvements made at Camp Mel Davis.

It was announced the annual Council banquet and installation of officers will be held Jan. 24, in Pampa High School. The group was also told that the Sam Houston, Horace Mann and Woodrow Wilson Neighborhood Associations will enter floats in the Santa Day parade.

It was decided to hold a meeting of incoming and outgoing board members Jan. 4, in the GS Little House.

Attending were E. L. Layne, Joe Wells and Mmes. John Holt Jr., Marian Osborne, Bob Andis, E. J. Griffin Jr., Calvin Duncan, and R. E. Dobbin.

Fined In Court

Two persons pleaded guilty to charges of driving while intoxicated and one person pleaded guilty to a charge of swindling with a worthless check in County Court Saturday.

James L. Cauble of Sidney, Neb., and James Walton Cook of Dainierfield pleaded guilty to charges of driving while intoxicated and were fined $100 and costs each by the court and were sentenced to three days in the county jail.

Cauble was arrested by city police at 2:30 a. m. Saturday in the 300 block of W. Kingsmill after being observed by the arresting officers.

Cook was arrested by the sheriff's department on Friday.

Mrs. Arlie Dunn, Pampa, pleaded guilty to a charge of swindling with a worthless check and was fined $1 and costs and made restitution of the check in the amount of $13.06 which was given to Ward's Super Market on Aug. 2, 1956.

Two Are Fined
After Knifing

George Oliver, 104 S. Gray, and Leola Perkins, 429 Harlem, were tried this morning in Corporation Court on charges of disturbing the peace and were fined $10 each by the Court.

The charges resulted from a knifing affray at the Legion Drive Inn, 709 S. Gray about 1 a. m. yesterday when Leola Perkins reportedly slashed Oliver with a knife, the investigating officers reported.

Oliver was treated at Highland General Hospital for a cut on the forehead, a cut near the right eye and a cut on the thumb. Following the emergency treatment he was released from the hospital.

Gag Signs On Sport Cars Is Latest Fad In Hollywood

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press Hollywood Writer
HOLLYWOOD (UP)—The latest fad in the land of the wacky and wonderful is gag signs on sports cars.

What this proves about sports cars or southern Californians is not known, but those little foreign and American autos these days are decorated with such notices as "Made in Rhode Island by Midgets" and "Made in the Semi Valley by Simians."

The favorite laugh-getter is the sign for the little German Volkswagens: "Made in Der Black Forest by Elfs."

The originator of this movement turns out to be Stan Davis, who comes by these jokes naturally. He used to be a gag writer for Jimmy Durante, Danny Kaye and other comedians.

A year ago invading cars from Texas appeared around Hollywood with the signs, "Made in Texas by Texans for Texans." Stan's young son, Tom, and his pals decided to spoof the Texans' state spirit by hanging notices on their sports cars, "Made in Siberia by Slave Labor" or "Made in Africa by Ants."

48th Year
Davis snuffed a money-maker and began printing the signs for a novelty company he owns, Stan Davis Enterprises of West Hollywood. Now the signs are standard equipment in automobile accessory shops and even show up on grown-up cars as well as the pint-sized models.

Jane Powell hung a card on her Thunderbird that says, "Knitted in Pasadena by Little Old Ladies."

Actor Jack Kelly decorated his sister's Swedish car with the sign, "Made in Sweden by Anita Ekberg's Father." Other favorites in this light-headed literary hobby are "Made in the Crimson Gardens by Good Fairies" and "Woven Under Water by Venetians."

Apricot Bran Crisp--Autumn Dessert

Snappy, colorful, autumn days require foods with crisp textures and sharp flavors. Such a pudding is Apricot Bran Crisp Dessert—a combination of crisp, crunchy, sugared whole bran cereal, tart apricots, and instant vanilla pudding. Busy homemakers will like this quick and easy way to make a scrumptious, last-minute dessert. It's the sugared whole bran cereal that gives this dessert its unique flavor and texture. If preferable the sugared whole bran cereal and the pudding mixture can be prepared earlier in the day and then combined just before serving time. If combined too far ahead, the maximum crispness of the sugared bran will not be retained.

Sugared Whole Bran Cereal
 1/4 cup brown sugar 2 cups whole bran cereal
 1/4 cup butter or margarine

Melt sugar and butter in large skillet over low heat. Add whole bran. Mix carefully with fork until bran is evenly sugar coated. Spread cereal on waxed paper to cool. Separate the cereal particles. Yield: 2 1/2 cups.

Apricot Bran Crisp Dessert
 1 package instant pudding mix 1 cup drained apricots, canned
 2 cups cold milk or cooked, dried
 2 cups sugared whole bran cereal

Prepare pudding mix with milk as directed on package. Add fruit. Mix. Chill 5 minutes. Fill sherbet glasses by alternating 3 layers of sugared whole bran cereal with 2 of pudding-apricot mixture. Start and end with layer of sugared whole bran cereal. Yield: 6 large servings.

Are you still carrying out the resolution made during September Better Breakfast Month to serve your family a good breakfast every day? Doctors and dietitians recommend a basic breakfast of fruit, cereal, milk, bread and butter—which provides 1/4-1/2 of the daily nutritional requirements—as a good pattern to follow for the morning meal.

Graying or yellowing of nylon lingerie may be caused by inadequate washing and rinsing. Occasional machine washing of white nylons, provided the seams are constructed to prevent fraying, is a good idea.

Be sure not to throw away the washing instructions from garments that need special care. These should be tacked up near the washing machine and labeled with a description of the garment to which they refer.

Accent Hot Mince Tarts With Cheese

Some like them hot, some like them cold, but everyone will like mincemeat tarts on Thanksgiving Day especially when they are dainty and served with wedges of Gouda cheese.

MINCEMEAT TARTS (6 - 8 tarts)

1 9-ounce package condensed mincemeat
 1 1/2 cups water
 2 tablespoons sugar
 1 recipe pastry

Break mincemeat into small pieces. Add water and sugar. Place over heat and stir until lumps are thoroughly broken. Boil briskly for one minute. Cool. Line small tart pans with pastry. Spoon cooled mincemeat into them.

Moisten edges of crusts with water. Cut pastry for top into half-inch strips and arrange in latticed pattern over the tops of tarts. Press ends of pastry strips against lower crusts. Bake in hot (425 degrees F.) oven until crust is golden brown.

If the tarts are to be served hot, let them cool a few minutes before serving them. If reheated thoroughly just before dinner, let them stand in the warm kitchen until dessert time so that their temperature will be just right.

Be certain to remove the needed amount of cheese from the refrigerator at least one hour before the dessert is served. The smooth, full-bodied richness of the Gouda cheese flavor and aroma is at its best when served at room temperature.

Place one wedge of Gouda beside each mince tart on the tray, with a cheese server at the side.

Two Naturals — Coffee And Apricot Torte

COFFEE is a natural when it comes to committee meetings—it seems to be the one thing that everyone can vote for before adjourning. And we think that Apricot Torte is another real natural that you can serve with coffee when the committee comes to your home.

Apricot Torte will most likely be the focus for your recipe-minded members. No wonder—everything about it is different and enticing. Its apricot tang is complemented by almond flavoring and sour cream. The torte's crunchiness is something special too—it comes from that old breakfast standby, shredded wheat. Accented with a ring of whipped cream; the handsome dessert, served with fragrant coffee, will surely help to make your meeting stimulating and successful.

Apricot Torte

5 shredded wheat biscuits 1/2 cup dairy sour cream
 1/4 cup sugar, divided 1/4 teaspoon mace
 1/4 cup melted butter or margarine 1 tablespoon almond extract
 1 No. 2 1/2 can apricot halves 1 teaspoon sugar
 2 eggs, slightly beaten 1 teaspoon cinnamon

Crush shredded wheat biscuits to fine crumbs (1 1/2 cups). Combine with 1/4 cup sugar and melted butter. Pat about 2/3 of crumb mixture on bottom of greased 8-inch round cake pan or spring form pan. Arrange apricot halves on crumb layer. Combine eggs, sour cream, 1/2 cup sugar, mace and almond extract; pour over apricots. Combine remaining crumb mixture with 1 tablespoon sugar and cinnamon and sprinkle over top. Bake in moderate oven, 325°F., 25 minutes or until set. Cool. Remove from pan. Garnish with whipped cream if desired. Cut in wedges to serve. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Spark Menus With Turkey Turnovers

Make Banana Turkey Turnovers for the cleverest trick with left-over turkey in a week of Thanksgivings. The trick consists in tucking half a banana inside the pastry turnover along with savory turkey filling. When baked, the banana mingles its tropical fruit flavor with the turkey in a fashion completely delicious.

You'll find this a wonderful change of pace for second-day turkey servings, and don't forget that bananas add important nutrition to a meal with their well-rounded supply of vitamins and minerals and their high food energy. For cooked banana dishes, use the less ripe, all-yellow or slightly green-tipped banana that stays firm during cooking.

BANANA TURKEY TURNOVERS
 Pastry for 2 crust pie
 2 cups cooked, diced turkey
 1 cup cooked rice
 2 peeled bananas, all-yellow or slightly green-tipped
 1 cup undiluted condensed mushroom soup
 2 tablespoons grated onion
 2 tablespoons melted butter

Make up pastry and cut into four 4-inch rounds. Mix together turkey, rice, mushroom soup, onion, melted butter. Divide turkey mixture over pastry rounds placing mixture on one half of each circle. Cut bananas into halves crosswise. Place a half banana atop each mixture. Fold pastry over mixture, being moistened edges together and seal. Prick tops of turnovers with fork. Bake at 375 degrees F. for 30-35 minutes. Serve with Curry Sauce, Mushroom Sauce or Turkey gravy. Yields 4 servings.

Note: If a high gloss is desired on pastry, brush top of each turnover with lightly whipped whole egg mixture.

Biscuit Mix Rated Aid For Holidays

Looking ahead toward the holidays?

Do plan to include fluffy biscuits with honey or butter for part of that menu on Thanksgiving.

No, it isn't too much work, especially if you're familiar with the ever ready and quick Homemade Biscuit Mix.

Let Reba Staggs, well known home economist, give you a clue. Quick breads make a meal. Lard makes them especially tender and tempting. This mix is easy whether you use it for plain biscuits, shortbreads, dumplings or coffee cake.

HOMEMADE BISCUIT MIX

8 cups sifted enriched flour
 1/4 cup baking powder
 4 teaspoon salt
 1 cup lard for soft wheat flour or
 1 1/2 cups lard for hard wheat flour

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in lard until mixture has a fine even crumb. Cover closely and store in the refrigerator until ready to use. The mixture will keep at least a month in the refrigerator. Yield: 10 cups biscuit mix.

To make biscuits, add 1/4 cup milk to 2 cups of Biscuit Mix. Turn onto a lightly floured surface and knead gently for 1/2 minute. Pat or roll 1/4 inch thick, and cut with a medium-sized biscuit cutter, dipped in flour. Bake in a hot oven (450 degrees F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Yield: 10 to 12 biscuits.

Formula For Creating "New" Salads Is Derived From Two Old-Time Favorites

If you've ever thought you'd like to create a new salad, here's a formula you can follow with sure success: simply take two favorite salads, such as Waldorf and coleslaw, put them together, add a new flavor touch or two and presto, you have a deliciously different dish that's inviting and appetizing. That's essentially how today's salads were developed and when you've tried these, you'll agree they make wonderful eating. Both are timely now—when red and green cabbage is in good supply and apples are at the top of the list of best fresh fruit buys. When you're shopping, check the cabbage leaves for crispness and be sure to select a tender, juicy eating apple variety like the broad-shouldered red Delicious from Washington State which may be shouldered red Delicious from used without peeling.

FRESH APPLE, CABBAGE PIMIENTO SALAD

4 cups finely shredded cabbage
 2 red Delicious apples, diced
 1 slice pimiento, finely chopped
 1 tsp. onion, finely chopped
 1 tbsp. parsley, finely chopped
 1 cup mayonnaise, thinned

Combine cabbage, apples, pimiento, onion and parsley and mix lightly. Add thinned mayonnaise and toss well. Sprinkle with walnut meats, if desired. Serves 4-6.

RED APPLE, CABBAGE & CHEESE SALAD

4 cups red cabbage, finely shredded
 3 tbsps. vinegar
 1 pkg. cream cheese
 1 tbsp. cream
 1 tsp. sugar
 1/2 tsp. dry mustard
 1/2 tsp. salt

Red Delicious apple, diced, to make 1 1/2 cups
 Place cabbage in large bowl and sprinkle with 1 tbsp. vinegar. Cover with ice and water and let stand 1 hour. While cabbage is crisping, soften cream cheese in small bowl. Add cream and remaining 2 tbsps. vinegar, a little at a time, beating until smooth. Season with sugar, mustard and salt. Drain cabbage and dry well in clean towel. Combine with apple in salad bowl. Pour dressing over and toss well. Garnish salad with additional apple slices. Serves 6.

Ike, American Taxpayers Will Break Record This Fiscal Year

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower and the American taxpayer will break some records in this fiscal year. And that is not good for the President or for the American taxpayer.

Mr. Eisenhower is the spending-est peacetime president, ever. The treasury figures will substantially support that claim to fame when the 1957 fiscal year books are closed at midnight next June 30.

The treasury now estimates that the government will spend in this fiscal year about $69 billions. If so, Mr. Eisenhower will have spent in the four years of his responsibility nearly $270 billions, which is more than government cost in any other four peacetime years.

The American taxpayer is a sturdy animal. The treasury expects him to come up in this fiscal year, one way or another, with nearly $70 billion. Approximately half of the bite will be on individual income taxpayers. About $30 billion is expected from levies on corporation income.

1956 Taxpayer Did Well
The American taxpayer did quite well in the 1956 fiscal year when the treasury's take was more than $68 billion. All of these figures are too large for the comprehension of ordinary persons, taxpayers, for example.

They can be put in perspective, however, by comparison with other years. Forty years ago World War I was blazing hot and the United States was not yet in. Government in the year 1916 spent $713 million. Not billions, millions!

The income tax had been in action for only two or three years and the levies were low. All of the treasury's 1916 income added up to only $782 million. It was a surplus year with $48 million for debt retirement or whatever. The national debt was a mere $1.2 billion compared to today's debt which soars toward $300 billion.

This fiscal year the treasury will pay out in interest alone on the national debt nearly seven times as much as the sum of the entire 1916 debt.

FDR Years Show Deficit
That's how things have been going at the treasury which has been in the red more often than not since 1930. President Roosevelt racked up a perfect score of deficit years from 1933 when he took office until 1945 when he died.

President Truman had somewhat better luck, with some notable assistance by the Republican 80th Congress. The Eisenhower administration balanced the 1956 fiscal year budget and expects to be in the black in fiscal 1957.

The 1957 fiscal year surplus may be around $700 million. The Democratic leadership of Congress is expected to try again to reduce taxes, probably by raising individual exemptions by $100. Mr. Eisenhower will resist that and probably oppose tax cuts of any kind next year. He is committed to substantial national debt reduction before further Republican tax relief.

Hard water causes soap to form a scum which is hard to rinse out of a white nylon garment. When nylon clothes are washed in hard water, it's wise to use a synthetic detergent or a water softener.

When you buy carpeting, remember that quality is cheaper in the long run. Best rule for judging quality is the closeness of the tufts and the number of rows of tufts.

Washable fabrics that will not fade are labeled "vat colored" or "vat dyed." These will hold their rich color and not fade on the wash tub or the ironing board cover.

Mechanic Tells Of His Flight From The Soviets

Editors Note: A 30-year-old mechanic who led 35 men in their fight for freedom against the Communists in Budapest was among the first group of refugees to reach the United States. Adopting the new name of Imre Nediert to protect relatives still in Hungary, he has written for the United Press an account of his experiences. His story, translated from Hungarian, follows.

By IMRE NEDIERT
Written For United Press
CAMP KILMER, N.J. (UP)—I have no money. The only clothes I own are on my back. I do not know the fate of my parents and sister in Hungary. But I still had 100 times more reason to be thankful on my first Thanksgiving Day than most Americans.

I am thankful to be alive in a country where there is more freedom than anywhere else in the world, and where I can go out and earn a living and live at last like a free human being.

If I had not fled from my homeland, I'm certain I would be dead by now. Thousands of Hungarian men have been deported by the Russians to Siberia, but if I had stayed, I don't think they would have bothered to send me away. I would have been shot on the spot. My sins against the Communists were too great.

I was the leader of a 35-man rebel group that fought against the Communists. The Russians had me under arrest for 26 months, and almost killed me once. Their aim was not so good, however; they only wounded me in the ankle. My companion was shot in the chest, even though we were unarmed at the time and carried white flags.

My trouble with the Communists began in July, 1954, when I was struggling to make a living as a typewriter mechanic and repairman. I was overheard to say that it was impossible to earn a decent living under such a regime, with so little pay and food in such difficult conditions.

For that I spent over two years in a "political camp." I guess it was really a concentration camp. It was surrounded by wire and men armed with machine guns. I was released last Sept. 27 and had been free for less than a month before the anti-Communist rebellion started. Now I am going to be free for the rest of my life.

Jane Talk

By JANE KADINGO

Pampa News Women's Editor

MAYBE IT'S ONLY A SIMPLE MATTER of wanting him to be on time when he meets you that starts you thinking of giving a watch to that all-important man in your life. Whatever the reason, you will find that watches are most welcome gifts on any occasion. This is especially so today with the new and beautiful American style trend towards the thin, thin watch.

WHEN selecting a watch there are a number of things to keep in mind: Accuracy, construction, design, suitability for wearer, and price.

The most important prerequisite of any watch is accuracy — one a man will consider extremely vital. You do not have to buy a very expensive watch to obtain this quality, but be sure you choose a well-known brand name sold by authorized dealers. For this will help to assure accuracy backed by guarantee.

As to construction, you should ask if the watch is shock-resistant and has an unbreakable lifetime main-spring. These qualities spell reliability that he will appreciate, for no matter how beautiful the watch is, it is useless if it is in repair most of the time. Remember, too, to look for a well-known brand name, for a manufacturer's name and reputation guarantee reliability.

Design is another important factor. In order to be in high fashion, a watch should have the new, expensive, ultra thin look. There has been an ever increasing tendency to thinner watches because of their beauty as well as utility. Up to the present, these very thin watches have been found only in expensive lines costing several hundred dollars each.

Suitability becomes more personal. You will have to think of what type of clothes your man wears, what colors he likes, and what kind of business and social life he leads.

Does he wear tans and brown? Blues and gray? Is he a fashion follower of newer colors in men's clothes? This will help to decide your choice of leather or suede strap, expansion band, white or charcoal dial face; shape and thickness of the watch.

Finally, it all comes back to the price. What can you pay for your gift watch? Can you find one with all the important features you want for the money you can pay?

Don't forget that watches have joined the style parade, and to be up-to-the-minute, your gift watch must answer all of these specifications.

There is a man's wrist watch of this type now available in the new Bulova "President" — a wafer-thin watch with a lifetime unbreakable main-spring. This miracle of thin, thin watch design also embodies all the important features of a sturdy, long-wearing timepiece. Best of all, it comes in a price range suited to the average pocket-book.

Such a watch may be worn to help achieve the executive look in business; or for afternoon or evening dress wear. Eight variations of the "President" watch feature a variety of expansion bands and

For Deluxe Version, Add Stuffing To Pork Chops

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Market Editor
Stuffed pork chops with a prepared stuffing mix, onions and celery added, or with fruits added to stuffing, make delicious autumn specials.

So let's start cooking.
Like all fresh pork, chops should be cooked thoroughly until there is not even a tinge of pink. To test for doneness, use a knife and slit the meat near the bone.

Baked Stuffed Pork Chops
(Yield: 4 servings)
Four rib pork chops, cut 1-inch thick, salt, pepper, 1 cup prepared stuffing.

To make pocket for stuffing, slit each chop from bone side almost to outside edge. Sprinkle inside and out with salt and pepper. Fill each pocket of chop with ¼ cup stuffing.

Place in baking pan; cover. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 1 hour. Uncover and bake 15 minutes longer.

Skillet Shoulder Chops Hawaiian
(Yield: 6 servings)
Six pork shoulder chops, about ½ inch thick, salt, pepper, 1 can (20 ounces) pineapple chunks, ¾ cup water, 1 tablespoon flour.

Sprinkle pork chops with salt and pepper. Brown slowly in hot fat in skillet about 10 minutes on each side. Drain off fat. Drain pineapple syrup and water; measure ¾ cup of the liquid. Add about ¼ cup of the measured liquid to skillet. Cover and braise over low heat about 50 minutes, adding more of the measured liquid as it cooks away. Remove chops; keep warm. Spoon off clear fat; return 2 tablespoons to skillet. Add flour; stir to a smooth paste. Add remaining pineapple-water mixture and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Add chops to gravy; top with pineapple chunks. Cover and simmer 15 minutes longer.

EMPLOYER... provides good jobs for 700 of your neighbors who earn $336,766 a year — and spend most of it here in Pampa.

TAXPAYER... pays $31,507 a year in local taxes alone — enough to cover the cost of educating 127 Texas grade school children for a year.

BUYER... buys thousands of dollars worth of supplies and services from Pampa firms.

Today you can call 10,045 telephones in Pampa homes and businesses — more than twice as many as just ten years ago.

G. N. NEWBERRY, Manager

A telephone is valuable only because it keeps you in touch with other people. The more people you can reach with a local telephone call, the more valuable your service.

Today, you can reach more than twice as many telephones in Pampa homes and businesses as you could just ten years ago.

This is partly due to Pampa's growth, of course. But one big reason for the bigger value you get today is the fact that more families today want and can afford telephone service. Ten years ago, only 3 out of every 10 families here had telephones. Today 7% out of 10 have telephone service — pretty conclusive evidence that it's a good bargain.

A lot of work and planning go into the job of making telephone service a bargain — and a lot of money, too. That's why a sound, healthy telephone company is important to practically everyone in Pampa. A company that can be confident of earning a fair profit can afford to plan and build ahead to give you more and more for your money.

A Panoramic View Of Melbourne's 16th Olympic Games

This sequence of pictures shows some of the highlights of the 16th Olympic Games now being held in Melbourne, Australia. At left is Karen Anderson who went to the Olympics with plenty of ammunition. The 18-year old Lansdowne, Pa., high school student was America's best bet in the women's javelin throw. Next is the Russian 400-meter team playing follow the leader over the hurdles in workouts. Third picture shows Glenn Davis of Clinton, Ohio, right, clearing the last hurdle on his way to win first heat in 400-meter preliminaries. In same picture at left is Australia's David Lean who finished second. Davis later won finals. At right is Abilene Christian's Bobby Morrow who won the 100-meter finals with a time of 10.5 against a 10-mph wind.

Giants And Bears In Pro Grid Lead

By UNITED PRESS
Harlon Hill, ignored by the All-America selectors when he played for Little Florence (Ala.) State Teachers College, made two spectacular touchdown catches Sunday that may affect the outcome of both National Football League division races.

The Bears, highest-scoring NFL team, trailed the New York Giants by 17-3 in the closing minutes when Hill again showed the receiving skill that has led veteran pro football men to compare him with the great Don Hutson of the Green Bay Packers. Hill scored on a 79-yard play with less than seven minutes to go and on a 66-yarder in the last 65 seconds to give the Bears a 17-17 tie.

Hill's feats stunned an inspired New York team, thrilled 55,191 Yankee Stadium spectators and enabled the Bears to hold their half-game lead over the runnerup Detroit Lions in the Western Division. His catches cut New York's Eastern Division lead over the second-place Chicago Cardinals to one-half game because the Cards whipped the Pittsburgh Steelers, 38-27.

The Washington Redskins, who invade New York Sunday, moved to within a game of the Giants by rallying to edge the Cleveland Browns, 20-17.

The Baltimore Colts pulled the biggest scoring spree in their history to crush the Los Angeles Rams, 56-21; and the San Francisco Forty-Niners rallied to tie the Philadelphia Eagles, 10-10, on Gordie Soltau's last period field goal in the other games.

The Lions and Packers were idle following Green Bay's 24-20 upset triumph at Detroit last Thursday. Both the Redskins and Colts have four more games while the 10 other clubs have three apiece.

Schoolboy Grid Play Continues

By UNITED PRESS
Five of this week's 22 games in the Texas schoolboy football playoffs will be rematches between teams that already have met once this season, but most of them are packed into the Class AAAA division.

Classes AAAA and AAA will be embarking upon their first, or bi-district round, while Classes AA and A will be pounding into the second round after bi-district play last week.

Three of the rematches are in AAAA between Amarillo and Fort Worth Paschal, won 36-7 by Amarillo in the first meeting; Houston Lamar vs. Houston Sam Houston, won by Lamar 28-21; and Baytown vs. Beaumont, won 13-7 by Baytown.

Only one is in AAA, where Nederland romped over La Marque 27-0 in regular season play and now faces the same team again; and one other is in AA, where Coleman and Crane are rematched after an earlier 27-0 Coleman victory.

In Class A rematches last week Stinnett downed Clarendon 37-7 and 33-6 and Groveton beat Corrigan 24-0 and 20-6. But, Cross Plains had beaten Eastland 7-6 only to lose the playoff game 28 to 7, the Mart lost to McGregor 20-13 then turned around and beat the same club 19-13 when the chips were down.

Abilene, Snyder, Stamford and Stinnett ruled the championship favorites in their respective divisions, while there are no defending titlists in AAA, which was won by Port Neches, and A, won by Deer Park.

Port Neches lost out in its own district to highly-regarded Nederland, while Deer Park graduated to Class AA and is a prime favorite to make it at least to the finals against Stamford.

Only a scattered few favorites fell by the wayside last week as Classes AAAA and AAA completed their bi-district brackets and the small school divisions plowed through the opening round.

Galveston in AAAA, Kingsville in AAA, Hamilton in AA, and White Oak in A were the chief casualties of last week's play.

Abilene, Amarillo, Highland Park and Wichita Falls in the northern bracket, Houston Lamar, Baytown, Corpus Christi Bay and San Antonio Jefferson in the southern half will be favored to move into the second round in AAAA this week.

In AAA, the choices are Littlefield, Snyder, Garland and Kilgore in the top half, Bryan, Nederland, San Antonio Edison and Robstown in the bottom half of the bracket.

In AA, it's Stamford, Coleman, Terrell and Bonham in the top half, Brady, Navasota, Deer Park and Sinton in the lower division.

In A, Stinnett, Sonora, Henrietta and Linden in the north and Mart, Groveton, Hondo and Hallettsville in the south.

U.S. Widens Lead In Olympic Games

By LEO H. PETERSEN
United Press Sports Editor
MELBOURNE (UP)—Tail Tom Courtney of Livingston, N.J., a Yank who simply wouldn't be beaten, spurred from behind and won the Olympic 800-meter run in record time today as the U.S. widened its lead over Russia in the unofficial team race with three more gold medals in two sports.

The Rev. Bob Richards of LaVerne, Calif., retained his pole vault crown with an Olympic record leap of 14 feet, 11 1/2 inches and weight-lifter Tommy Kono of Sacramento, Calif., won the light heavyweight title with two world records. However, one other American champion was dethroned.

Cy Young of Modesto, Calif., lost his javelin title to husky Egil Danielsen of Norway who set a new world record of 281 feet, 2 1/2 inches — nearly 40 feet past Young's Olympic record and nearly seven feet past the world's previous best. Young was buried under an avalanche of others who broke his old record and failed to qualify for the final round.

10 Medals For Yanks
The three gold medals in the afternoon boosted the U.S. total to 10 — seven in track — and put the Yanks out in front by a wide margin in the team race with a total of 137 points to Russia's 97.

Courtney's tremendous victory in the 800, however, was the high point of the day for the 110,000 wildly cheering fans in the huge arena. The former Fordham flash had the race won, then almost lost to a complete outsider, Derek Johnson of Great Britain, then came on again with a last moment spurt to win by a stride in 1:47.7.

Johnson was second, Audun Boyesen of Norway was third, Arnie Sowell of Pittsburgh fourth, Michael Farrell of Great Britain fifth and Lon Spurrier of Delano, Calif., was sixth. Courtney's time bit a good-sized chunk off the Olympic record of 1:49.2 set by Mal Whitfield of the U.S. in 1948 and tied by Mal in '52.

Pole Vaulters Help
Other contributors to the soaring American point total during the afternoon were Bob Gutowski of LaJolla, Calif., and George Mattoe of Santa Cruz, Calif., who finished second and fourth in the pole vault; Isabelle Daniels of Jakin, Ga., who picked up a fourth in the women's 100-meter dash won by Betty Outhbert of Australia, and by weight-lifter Jim George of Akron, Ohio, with a third in the light heavyweight lift.

The favored U. S. basketball team piled up the highest score in Olympic history by whacking the Philippines 121-53 for its third straight victory. Bob Jaegerstar of Wilmette, Ill., former Colorado star, led the Yanks with 21 points but as usual it was San Francisco's Bill Russell who drew the most applause from the crowd though he played less than half the game.

Russia, beaten by France in its previous game, downed Singapore 91-42 and stayed "alive" for a possible title showdown against the U. S.

In rowing, the U.S. qualified six of its seven crews including Yale's eight-oared shell for Tuesday's rowing finals. The only crew eliminated today was the four oars with coxswain, a group from the West Side Rowing Club of Buffalo, N.Y.

Upset by Australia and Canada in its debut last week, Yale's plucky crew barged back with a semi-final victory over Australia, Russia and Japan in its heat today, eliminating the later two.

Handsome Jack Kelly of Philadelphia, on his third try to duplicate his father's 1920 Olympic victory, qualified for the single sculls final. The American paired oars without coxswain, pairs with coxswain, double sculls, and fours without coxswain all qualified for the finals.

In track preliminaries, defending champion Andy Stanfield of Jersey City, N.J., Thane Baker of Elkhart, Kan., and Bobby Morrow of San Benito, Tex., each won two heats in the 200 meters to qualify for Tuesday's semi-finals. Bill Dellinger of Springfield, Ore., was the only qualifier at 5,000 meters.

It took a desperate rally to save the 800-meter medal for the U.S. but Courtney was equal to the task. He was off the mark on top but was content to let Sowell set the pace as they headed into the back stretch on the first of two laps and thereby apparently saved an extra ounce he needed so sorely at the finish.

Briton Springs Surprise
It was Sowell, Courtney, Boyesen and the unheralded Briton, Johnson, running in that order with Spurrier fifth on the back stretch of the final lap. Heading into the turn, Courtney made his bid for the lead and he ran shoulder to shoulder with Sowell as they straightened out for home.

But midway down the stretch, the amazing British star struck between the two Yanks with a sudden spurt and grabbed the lead by a yard with less than 50 more to go. He seemed to have the gold medal within easy reach but Courtney wouldn't quit. Husky Tom put on one last blast, caught Johnson and inched ahead by a stride as he hit the tape with his face contorted and arms flung high.

Richards had little difficulty defending his pole vault crown. He and Gutowski put on a two-man show after darkhorse George Roubanis of Greece went out at 14 feet, 10 1/2 inches.

The bar was raised to 14-11 1/2, a fraction over the Olympic record Richards set four years ago and Gutowski went out. Richards, too, missed his first turn at that height but made it on the second though he brushed the bar as he floated across.

Vols In Middle Of A Tug Of War Between Sugar And Orange Bowl

By TIM MORAERTY
United Press Sports Writer
A tug-of-war was developing today between officials of the Sugar Bowl and the Cotton Bowl — both would like to entice Tennessee to their annual New Year's Day carnival.

Both berths remained open for the Gator Bowl, with unbeaten-undefeated Wyoming heading the list of candidates that also includes Duke, Syracuse, Pittsburgh and South Carolina.

In other weekend bowl developments, George Washington and Texas Western were named opponents for the Sun Bowl, Mississippi Southern emerged as West Texas State's rival in the Tangerine Bowl, and Compton College was selected as the Western representative for the Junior Rose Bowl game.

Iowa warmed up for its Rose Bowl appearance by whipping Notre Dame, 48-8; Georgia Tech rambled to a 28-0 victory over Florida, and Johnny Majors once again paced Tennessee to a comeback 20-7 triumph over Kentucky.

Pittsburgh, knowing it had to win "big" to clinch a bowl berth, had to settle for a 7-7 tie with Penn State, while Duke rolled to a 21-6 victory over North Carolina and Baylor enhanced its bowl chances by blanking Southern Methodist, 26-0.

Top-ranked Oklahoma rolled up 656 yards in the air and on the ground in making Nebraska its 39th straight victim, 54-6, and Clemson clinched its first ACC crown in edging Virginia, 7-0.

Other conference champions crowned included Yale (7-0), Ivy League; West Virginia (6-0), Southern; Texas Western (6-0), Rocky; Montana State (5-0), Border; and Wyoming (7-0), Skyline.

NAKED REVERSE—Jimmy Thompson of Georgia Tech couldn't keep his shirt on against Alabama—he was too busy scampering 48 yards for a touchdown. Shirt was ripped off him by would-be tackler.

Aggies, Longhorns To Battle Thursday

DALLAS (UP)—The Texas Aggies' efforts to shatter a three-decade-old Memorial Stadium hex on Texas Thanksgiving Day Thursday steals the Southwest Conference football spotlight this week.

Cosch Paul Bryant's Aggies, resigned to an NCAA ban on post-season play, have pledged to make the Texas game at Austin their "bowl game" of the season in an effort to give a Texas A&M team its first victory in Memorial Stadium and an undisputed conference title.

Sixteen times Aggie teams have gone growling into the Austin horseshoe since it was first used in 1924, several times just as prohibitive a favorite as they will be this week.

Yet, the best effort in all that 32-year span was a 14-14 tie in 1948.

After the Aggies and Longhorns have had it on Thursday, there still will be a couple of other conference matters to settle at Waco and Dallas on Saturday.

Cotton Bowl-bound Texas Christian, apparently back in form after a mid-season slump, goes after its seventh victory of the season at Dallas against Southern Methodist—a victory that could possibly earn them a co-championship with Texas A&M if the Aggies fall Thursday.

And, Baylor—out of the Cotton

For Every Smile—Millions Of Tears

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer
MELBOURNE, Nov. 26 (UP)—In the Olympic Games all that glitters is gold—and it's heart-break alley for those who fail.

There's a wondrous light which shines from the eyes of the winner when he mounts the Olympic rostrum and receives his gold medal while the band plays his national anthem. It's a moment the victor can cherish forever.

But for every winner there are dozens of losers.

They're the ones to whom your heart goes out. They made the big try and they didn't have it. Sure, they had the spirit and the hope and their dreams were bright and gay until reality hit them.

Like little Mary Leela Rau of India, vivacious Margie Kyle of Ballymena, County Antrim, or even two pretty rugged kids named Harry Smith, out of New York, and Chomik Mapekawa from Hawaii.

There are hundreds of others who tried and shed disconsolate tears as they lost. They come from just about every place you can name.

But these four stand out as the games roll along today.

Take the case of the dusky little beauty from India. Three days ago her hopes rode the mountaintops after a 4,000 mile trip from Calcutta. She was one of the beauty queens of the Olympic Village and she visioned herself winning the 800-meter crown.

But those dreams died in the brick-colored dirt of the Olympic track Saturday. Mary Leela, the only representative of her nation's 180,000,000 women, took a half dozen strides out of the starting blocks—and fell flat on her face.

She lay there unmoving as the field swept on toward the tape she had dreamed of snapping. They carried her off and her head still hung down, eyes avoiding the stares of 100,000 spectators, her tears dripping into the dust, her spikes had trodden so hopelessly.

UP AND AT IT—Joan Haanappel, 15, of the Netherlands, is demonstrating her skill on skates as she is caught by the camera in this leap during a skating competition in London. The Dutch lass was among skaters from seven nations which took part in the event.

MOUNTIES—As Canadian as the Maple Leaf is the colorful spectacle of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police doing the Musical Ride in Calgary, Alberta. First given in 1876, the precision performance was condemned by newspapers who claimed the Mounties were more interested in entertaining than in maintaining order. Now the Ride has become a Canadian institution.

THE SKI'S THE LIMIT—It's certainly the right time for winter sports, but Miami Beach seems to be the wrong place for them. Shapely Elaine Deming is trying to do some practice ski jumps from a big sand dune on the beach. She's wearing ear muffs to help get into the true spirit of the thing, but it's doubtful if Elaine really succeeded.

TOUCHDOWN OVER POLIO—Norm Mendlinger, center for the Tilden High School football team in New York, holds the leg brace he takes off when he plays. Norm was stricken with polio last year and spent four months in a hospital. Back in school last month, he became team manager. Norm can't run a sustained distance so he took over at center where he's doing a mighty efficient job.

KNIT WEAR—As knit-conscious as her mother, this young fashion plate is ready for some good, hard play in that bulky wool-knit pull-over with blazer stripes around it. A rolled collar frames the V neckline. Harmonizing mittens and a slim knitted skirt keep her warm and pretty while playing.

THE SEASON'S ON—Bondi Beach, a short drive from downtown Sydney, Australia, becomes popular about this time of the year. The summer season is beginning there as the Olympic Games also start to get under way.

A ROMP FOR PENN STATE—Penn State back Bruce Gilmore picks up a first down as he is tackled by Boston University players Johnny Maio and Frank Chiers during the first quarter of their game at University Park, Pa. The Pennsylvania team, one of the football powers of the East, managed to sweep over their rival team with a final score of 40-7.

GRIM SYMBOLS IN A PLACE OF PEACE—At first glance this Budapest park presents the aspect of peace and quiet one might expect. But the view is made grim by the lone grave of a freedom fighter in the foreground and the man in background, carrying a sack of potatoes. They are symbols of the death and hunger that have descended on Hungarian capital.

Population Shifts To Allow New Solons

By VINCENT J. BURKE
WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 (UP)—Population shifts will allow California, Florida, Michigan and Texas to select a total of 14 additional Congressmen in the 1962 elections, a survey has indicated. Unless present trends are reversed, these four states also will have more to say about who is elected President in 1964. This is so because each state gets one Presidential electoral vote for each House seat and one each for its two Senators.

The survey indicated that losses in Congressional representation will occur in the Northeast and in Southern and Midwestern farm states where population has declined or failed to grow as fast as the national total.

These indicated changes would produce shifts in the relative voting power wielded by differing economic groups. This, in turn, would affect, ultimately, in the federal government's domestic policies and programs.

For example, present trends would curtail the voting power of farmers who favor high price supports and give a bigger voice to retired "old folks" who make up a sizable percentage of the voters in California and Florida. House seats are apportioned among states every 10 years upon the basis of population. The present seats are based on an April 1, 1950 census. House seats will be re-apportioned again in additional Congressional elections on the basis of a census to be taken April 1, 1960.

The Census Bureau gave an indication of the significant changes in prospect by making public last week estimates of each state's population, as of July 1, 1956.

The United Press projected the population changes over the intervening three years and nine months before the next census, assuming that population changes in each state would continue to occur at the same rate as in the first six years and three months, an assumption which may not turn out to be correct.

But using that assumption, an unofficial calculation indicated that the following states would gain additional House seats:

California, which now has 30, would be entitled to 37. Florida's eight would be boosted to 11. Texas with 22 and Michigan with 18 would each get two more seats.

States which would gain one additional seat and their present number of seats are as follows: Indiana 11, Arizona 2, Ohio 23, Oregon 4, and Maryland 7. Oregon and Maryland are "borderline cases" in which the gains appear to be less likely than in the other states.

Using the same assumption, there would be losses of two House seats each in Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Arkansas which now have 30, 16 and six, respectively.

States which would lose one seat and their present number: Iowa 8, Alabama 9, Illinois 25, New York 43, Maine 3, Minnesota 9, Mississippi 6, West Virginia 6, New Hampshire 2, North Carolina 12, Kansas 6, Oklahoma 6, and Virginia 10. The last five states were "borderline" cases.

If the projected changes materialize, there is one consolation for residents of small states such as New Hampshire, which would have its representation in the House cut from two to one. And for Maine, which would have its three to two.

A voter in those states can console himself with the thought that he still would have far greater representation in Congress than a voter in such populous states as New York and California. This is so because every state gets two Senators, no matter how small its population.

Fifth Time Was A Charm

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 26 (UP)—Four times Robert C. Walsh, 24, and Joyce Ann Pinkham, 23, were ready to get married and four times Miss Pinkham changed her mind. Each time Walsh tore up the marriage license.

Friday, they had a fifth license in their hands and were ready to go through with the marriage when Miss Pinkham backed out again. Walsh tore up their marriage license a fifth time.

While waiting for a bus to go back to their homes in Peoria, Ill., the couple had a cup of coffee and talked things over. They decided to try it again.

Apparently unwilling to spend the time and money on another marriage license, Walsh gathered the pieces of the one he had just ripped up. He took the pieces to magistrate William D. Conway and asked if they could "use this thing."

Conway fastened the license together with some tape and performed the ceremony.

This time, Miss Pinkham did not change her mind and became Mrs. Walsh.

1957 Tax Forms Available Soon

Federal income tax forms for the preparation of 1956 returns will be available about Dec. 3 in reasonable quantities to accountants, attorneys and other professional personnel, James Z. Pearce, administrative officer of the Amarillo office of the Internal Revenue Service, said today. The Internal Revenue Service has provided order blanks to the 3500 North Texas tax practitioners who have, in most cases, already submitted orders. These orders are being packaged and shipped starting December 3.

Individual taxpayers on record will receive their forms and instruction booklets through the mails on the same schedule as last year, during late December or early January, Pearce said.

There are very few changes in the form other than minor revisions for clarity and simplification. The instruction booklet which accompanies it has been changed, however, to provide a line-by-line series of explanations, keyed to the arrangement of the form and its sequence of entries.

New type faces have been used in both form and booklet, Pearce said, and should, with the simplified treatment and explanations, make preparation of a return much easier than in past years.

The Internal Revenue Service will sponsor the printing of 185 million copies of Form 1040. Taxpayers were advised to begin study of the tax instructions as soon as possible since a good understanding of the tax instructions will mean money in the taxpayer's pocket when he files his tax return.

Farm Exports May Set New Record

By BERNARD BRENNER
WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 (UP)—American farm exports may boom to a new record in the 1956-57 marketing year if exporters can find ships for their cargoes, the Agriculture Department said Sunday.

The value of U.S. farm exports rose from $3.1 billion in the 1954-55 year, ending June 30, 1955, to $3.5 billion in the year ending last June 30. Exports in the current year may top the previous record of $4.1 billion, department economists predicted.

About half of this trade will be financed by American taxpayers under several foreign aid, credit, and export subsidy programs, the economists said.

Rising exports of farm products like wheat and cotton are cutting into the surplus stockpiles which moved into government hands under the farm price support program.

Villain Is Surprised
Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson has pictured the surplus stockpile as the number one villain on the American farm scene. He has maintained that the surpluses forced farm prices down and required the government to impose rigid production controls on farmers.

Official forecasts of another increase in farm exports this year were hedged by the phrase "assuming the availability of shipping."

A department transportation expert said a pinch in ocean shipping facilities began early this year and grew tighter after the Suez crisis produced a general rush for sea-going transport.

Martin J. Hudloff, the shipping specialist, said the ocean freighter pinch "might have a tendency" to slow up farm exports "but I don't think it will hurt too much."

Released Freighters
Hudloff pointed out that the Federal Maritime Administration recently released 30 "mothball fleet" government freighters to carry coal and another 30 to move farm cargoes.

Export prospects are bright because of "continued prosperity abroad" and heavy commitments under foreign aid and subsidy programs, Agriculture Department economists said. The Suez crisis also has increased European demand for several American farm products, including cotton and vegetable oils.

Prospects for major commodities:
Wheat — Foreign production is above last year's level, but with most of the increase in the Soviet Union. A reduced crop in Europe will step up imports to that area and U.S. exports may total 414 million bushels or more compared to 34 million last year.

Cotton — The government's curtailment program, with prices 10 to 15 per cent below last year, has already sold more than 5.6 million bales for export compared to 2.2 million last year.
