WHY SO GLUM? - With only ten days left until Christmas, Cindy Hearn, of 911 Twiford, finds it very hard to get into the Christmas spirit as she eyes the empty bed of her six-month-old blue-gray Persian cat which ran away from her and her brothers a week ago when they took it with them to visit some friends. Cindy's parents had earlier launched a house-to-house hunt for the pet and have offered a reward for its return; all in an effort to put a smile back on Cindy's face before Christmas.

FOR THE TIME BEING—It just can't be all work and no play for anyone, and middleweight champion Ray Robinson is playing the plano during a music break at his training camp in Greenwood Lake, N. Y. Sugar Ray was training for his Jan. 2 title defense against Gene Fullmer in Madison Square Garden. Trainer Harry Wiley has joined the fun with his guitar.

RIGHT ON THE MARK—William "Pete" Blemenshed is pointing to the bullet hole between the eyes of a 210-pound black bear he killed while deer hunting near Cavendish, Vt. The bear eyed Blumenshed threateningly as the hunter was dressing the deer he had shot, right. He aimed at the animal at a distance of only 50 feet, dropping the huge beast where it was standing. Blumenshed works in a nearby factory where he'll probably be known as "dead-eye Pete" in the future.

shoot suit — Any sportswoman will be pleased with this new outdoor suit in wellmannered brown and green glen plaid. The tailored jacket, with self-slotted belt and low flap pockets, tops matching slacks whose cuffs are rolled high to reveal heavy wool stockings.

FINDING THE RANGE—Leading American light heavy-weight contender Chuck Spieser, left, finds the range early with a right to the head of Germany's Willie Hoepner in Milwaukee, Wis. Spieser knocked Hoepner out in the second round at 2:29, marking his 19th win and 14th knockout in 24 pro hattles.

GOING STRONG—Having played golf for 52 years, 97-yearold Charles Hurd is still at it in Wilmette, Ill. He's getting in some putting practice while his great-granddaughter, Susie Clarkson, four, acts as caddie. Hurd has played 18 holes two or three times weekly since he took up the sport in 1904.

TAKING OFF—Chicago Cardinals' Ollie Matson, left, is going around the end for a nine-yard gain in the first quarter of a game with Green Bay Packers in Chicago. Running interference for him is Joe Childress, right, Cards fullback.

LIVENING THINGS UP—Some pretty majorettes and plumed bandsmen are members of one of the ten high school bands massed to play at a football game in Auburn, Ala. The football helmets lined up beside the field indicate that someone else is resting while they work.

MIDDLE MAN—A hopeful U. S. Air Force Academy cadet—about 15 years from now—is lined up with two of the school's football players in a preview of things to come near Denver, Colo. The young hopeful is the team's mascot, three-year-old Marvin Jenkins, son of the Air Force Academy end coach. Tom Jozwiak of Detroit, is at left, and Charles Rodgers, of St. Paul.

AMERICAN TOUCH—Something new has been added to the ancient Basque sport of Jai Alai, as played in Dania, Fla. Instead of the traditional ball boy, shapely Billie Leavitt has been hired to serve as the game's first ball girl. Players Ondarra, left to right, Urreta, Urquidi and Luis seem to approve.

JOY AND SORROW—Holy Cross fans have raced out onto the field in Boston to embrace Nilly Smithers, in center, after he threw a 21-yard touchdown pass with 40 seconds left in the game to defeat Boston College, 7-0. Henry Sullivan, captain of the Boston team, looks mighty forlorn and neglected at left as he crosses the field by himself.

KNICK IN TIME — Ken Sears, in center, of the Knicks is outjumping Fort Wayne's Larry Foust, left, for a rebound despite Foust's restraining handclasp, during an NBA double-header at Madison Square Garden. Bob Houbregs (10) of the Pistons is looking on. The Knicks snapped a three-game losing streak, 105-98.

HITTING THE ICE—Montreal goalie Jacques Plante's eyes seem to be glued to the loose puck after he made a save on Red Wing Ted Lindsay's shot during the Red Wing-Canadien tussle in Detroit. Plante didn't stay seated very long on that ice.

Jacoby On Bridge By OSWALD JACOBY Written for NEA Service

One of the most important figures in European bridge for the last 20 years has been Baron Robert de Nexon, president of the European Bridge League. He will serve as non-playing captain of the Italian team, champions of Europe, when they play in New York next January for the world's championship.

Nexon's own skill is shown in the way he played the South cards, shown here. The bidding may not Dainty details, Regular $5.95. be to everybody's taste, but the final contract was certainly logical enough.

West opened the three of hearts. and East put up the queen, What should South do?

Suppose South wins with the ace and ruffs a heart in dummy. He will be allowed to get to his hand with the ten of diamonds and can then ruff another heart in dummy Now South gets tangled up and will eventually lose two clubs, the ace of diamonds, and a diamond ruff.

Nexon solved all of his problems by simply refusing the first trick! East returned a heart, but dummy ruffed and cashed the ace and jack of spades. Declarer could now lead a low diamond to the ten in order to draw the rest of the trumps. He could continue with the diamonds, and still had the ace of hearts to control that suit and thus make sure of his game contract.

WONDER OF WONDERS, Peg has been so ambitious this year that she has actually addressed all her Christmas cards . . that is not to say that they are mailed . . . but at least they are labeled . . . that in itself is a miracle last year it was nearly the day before the holiday that Peg licked the last stamp and fought the liner at the Post Office . . . this may yet be the best Christmas

RECENTLY WHEN Lucy Walker's sister was visiting here, Lucy's husband was thoughtful enough to leave them plenty of time to themselves to chat and talk together . . . and Peg got to thinking that it is nice how many sisters live right here in Pampa so that they have lots of opportunities to visit . . . for instance . . . Betty Dunbar and Esther Culberson . . . Loren Fite and Pauline Quible . . . Helen Dixon and Lucille Friauf . . . Mary Lane and Margaret Dial . . . Ann Hicks and Florence Jackson . . . brothers that are around town.

WELL THAT ABOUT WRAPS it up this time . . . no reference to Christmas was intended, but it looks as if the reference crept in in spite of that fact . . . the holiday season has many contagious "diseases" including a preoccupation with wrapping and tired feet . . . let Peg be the first to wish you

A Merry Christmas

Ham and eggs in a delightful creamy new setting - a deep dish pie with buttered popcorn border. Here is a meal you can prepare with one hand tied behind your back - and it is as expansible as a rubber band. Just keep adding to the ingredients as new guests show up. It's a "quick-'n-easy" you can prepare any time.

HAM 'N EGG DEEP DISH PIE WITH POPCORN BORDER

1 tablespoon butter or margar-3 tablespoons flour 1/2 teaspoon salt 1/2 teaspoon pepper teaspoon grated onion 6 shelled, hard-cooked eggs 2 cups diced ready-to-eat ham

2 cups buttered popcorn tablespoon minced parsley Melt the butter in the top of a double boiler over boiling water. Stir in flour, salt, pepper and grated onion. Slowly stir in milk and cook, stirring until thickened. Slice eggs, saving 6 or 8 perfect slices for garnish. Add remaining egg slices and diced ham to sauce. Pour into a 9" x 2" square shallow pan or a 2-quart shallow casserole. Sprinkle popcorn around the edge to form a border. Decorate with reserved egg slices and

Clean Fence Rows Conserve Moisture

Have you ever stopped to think board. These plans were for the brush in the farm fence rows cost? Weinheimer, A. H. Walker, extension range specialist, says a recent study show. The supervisors accomplishments of the Gray Coun-The farmer on whose farm the study was made reported that the tree cost him $9.10 a year. He averaged a half bale of cotton to the acre on his other cropland but got nothing from the area around the tree. He stopped and did a little figuring and for less than five cents killed the tree. On another farm, Walker said, no crops were growing for a distance of 90 feet from a brushy fence row. In one mile of fence row the farmer was losing 10 acres of cropland. Countywide surveys have shown that in many counties upwards of 5,000 acres of cropland are not producing crops because of fence row thieves. Walker says if fence rows, trees and brush are not controlled, the farmer would at least save his planting seed, time and labor by not trying to produce crops close to brushy fence rows. This he adds would be a waste of good cropland and not very good manage-

Now is the time of the year to apply chemicals to these moisture and soil nutrient robbers. Walker says research and many farm demonstrations have shown that best control is obtained by spraying cut-off stump, the trunk base or by applying a solution in frills to the standing trees. The accepted chemical is 2,4,5-T which should be mixed with diesel oil or kerosene and applied with a hand or backtype sprayer. For the hard to kill trees, Walker recommends a pound of the chemical in six gallons of oil. For easier to kill trees a pound to 12 gallons of oil is sug-

Rattlesnakes, Oysters Are Feeling Drought

ROCKPORT, Tex. (UP) Rattlesnakes and oysters were added today to the mounting list of victims of Texas' prolonged

C. W. Reid, director of coastal fisheries for the Texas Game and Fish Commission, said the drought is forcing some dryland rattlesnakes into the salt water

His assistant, Bob Kemp, reported that lack of rain was cutting the flow of fresh water into shallow coastal bays and raising the salt content to the point where young oysters were dying.

Reid quoted game warden supervisor Pug Mullinax as expressing concern over the rattlesnake situation on Matagorda Island, a windswept sand spit off Texas' Middle Coast, and cautioned fishermen to be on the lookout for snakes in cover growth at the water's edge.

Mullinax reported rattlers were noving to the surf in "unusus numbers," and related that at Cedar Bayou a fisherman unintentionally hooked a five-foot rattler 'as big around as a man's forearm" when he cast over it as the knake lay motionless in shallow

The game warden supervisor said the snake put up a "flerce fight" tackle. on the fisherman's light

Kemp said the lack of rain had almost doubled the salt content in some coastal areas.

You Can Do It Better

Whenever something that is an individual's own responsibility is turned over to the state he is inviting the 'push around" from some bureaucratic public employe. The state government's have taken it upon themselves to guarantee individuals an income during times when they are not employed. In order to finance this socialistic scheme, employers are forced to pay into the state fund a percentage of each employe's salary. None is taken from the employe directly, although

The Nation's Press

THE BIG FALLACY (Christian Economics)

Under capitalism, Marx claimed labor does not get all it produces because something goes to management and the owners of factory and equipment. For the moment, let us ignore the fact that management also is labor.

Marx certainly did not propose to give each worker the full value of his production. His motto was om each according to his abil ity, to each according to his need." The man who needed more than he produced would receive it out of the production of others. These others would receive something less than they produced.

If the laborer is cheated by reason of the so - called "surplus value" theory of Marx, then he is cheated far more by the principle of Marxism just referred to. Trying to compel everyone to produce at maximum rate (and of course that is not possible) and then taking from the better producers enough to provide for the needs (and who determines needs?) of the less able and more unfortunate workers, would in the beginning take more of the production of the able worker than now goes as reward to management and to owner of tools, and would lead to less production on the part of the able till all drifted toward a subsistence level. The main appeal of socialism is that the worker will get more than he produces, that is, he will get something from the production of others. He will receive in accordance with his needs, and his needs are always greater than his production. This is something for nothing and it cannot long endure for many people,

Under such system the more able workers would be discouraged, and could not possibly be driven to produce as much as under the incentive system. On the other hand, feeling that they would receive anyway, the less empetent workers would put forth less effort while at the same time indulging in the luxury of larger families. The result would be much less — very much less—

The way to obtain maximum production is to protect each man in the enjoyment of the fruits of his labor. That will stimulate extraordinary effort.

The free market, without government intervention or special privilege for anyone, is the only way to achieve this goal. The signal fact that wealth has increased almost in inverse proportions to the amount of control government has exercised is irrefutable proof that freedom produces prosperity and that government intervention destroys it.

WANT TO WIN A BET?

(Industrial News Review) Citizens Public Expenditure Survey suggests that "if you want to win a bet, bet your neighbor he can't tell you how much taxes he pays in a year." The odds are overwhelming that he can't cause of the vast number of hidden, indirect, and so - called "painless" taxes that exist. Here's the way the tax bill works but, according to a recent authoritative computation. If you make $67.30 a week, you pay $1,-043 a year in taxes. If you make $86.54 a week, you pay $1,425 a year, And if you've got a job paying $7,500 a year, the tax collectors will get $2,637 of it more actually every cent the employer is required to pay will reduce the amount the employer has available to pay his workers or will increase the amount the employer must schemes, the employe would be able to save sufficiently to take care of himself in his times of stress.

he is out of work

this unnatural practice of government to care for everyone is stopped as soon as possible. When the people learn that they can take care of themselves better than that impersonal government can, and that they are paying out of their own pockets for something they may or may not get, then we will start returning to sanity in the United States.

The Doctor Says By Edwin J. Jordan, M. D.

In order to comment on an interesting recent report it is necessary first to say what I am talk-

Most readers are familiar with the disorder known as angina pectoris. This is a rather common afmore frequent in men than in

It is ordinarily the result of some narrowing of the blood vessels which supply the heart muscle so that at times the heart does not get sufficient quantity of blood, CORONARY thrombosis coronary occlusion or, as it is commonly called, a "heart attack," is a related conditon. But in these cases there is a sudden closure of one of the coronary arteries or their branches so that a portion of the heart muscle is completely deprived of its blood supply,

I should like to add that the outlook for many patients with either of these conditions is much better than we used to think and many recover to a remarkable degree.

These two together make up the principal call "coronary heart disease." And in spite of the improved outlook they are still responsible for a large number of deaths

WHAT I WANT to discuss is recent report from the United States Public Health Service which found the death rates from coronary heart disease in different parts of the United States to be twice as high in some states as in others. For example, the lowest death rates among white men of all ages in 1950 were in New Mexico, Arkansas and Kentucky, The highest rates were in New York, Rhode Island and the District of Columbia. The other states occupied positions in between. The differences were even greater for

This remarkable observation arouses tremendous curiosity as to the reasons for these geographic

Actually, a good reason is still to be discovered, though possible explanations include differences in diet, exercise, hereditary factors, stress, and physical characteristics of the people in various parts of the country.

IT MIGHT also be interesting to know whether there are large differences in smoking habits or in exposure to industrial fumes or to

At the present time we can take our choice of possible reasons since it is pure guess work,

As the Public Health Service well knows, and states in its report, this is just the beginning. It will be necessary to analyze carefully whether there is a variation between residents of one part of a state and another. It wil also be necessary to find out whether there are really any great difference in living habits in the smaller units.

It will probably take years to get the necessary information but when it is obtained we may well have an imporant lead to certain aspects of the origin and course of coronary heart disease.

By R. C. HOILES

I have a letter from Bob Shuler, Jr., Pastor of The First Methodist Church of Santa Ana, California, who writes, "Have you thought more about what you would substitute for majority rule

Rev. Bob Shuler, Jr. criticizes my idea of trying to use the Golden Rule and the Commandments as a guide to determine right from wrong. ize contends they have been superseded, they are inadequate. He wants to substitute his interpretation of the love of Jesus Christ. He believes that Jesus showed his love by initiating force in driving the moneychangers out of the Temple.

It is my contention that He used delensive force but never, in all His recorded statements, advocated that people use aggressive force. It is beyond my conception how a man can demonstrate his love by starting a fight. That is, by using aggressive force or initiated force. Of course, love is personal and so is not as safe a guide as moral law.

Now, instead of using man-made laws as a guide, as the Reverend does in determining right from wrong in America, I would use the Commandments. When a man attempts to use the majority as a guide of human relations, he certainly does not understand the First and Second Commandments.

Remember, the First Commandment, according to the Protestants, is "Thou shalt have no other gods before me. And the Second, "Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image, or any likeness of anything that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth: Thou shalt not bow down thyself to them, nor serve them: for I the Lord thy God am a jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children unto the third and fourth generation of them that hate me; And showing mercy unto thousands of them that love me, and keep my commandments."

These two Commandments are Commandment No. 1 to the Catholic numbering.

When one asks the question, what would you substitute for the majority rule?, he shows that he is attempting to serve another god. He gives evidence that he is a polytheist rather than a man who believes in one god. That he is a worshiper of idols.

These Commandments are eternal and do not change with time or place. Man's laws are fliction in the older years and transitory. They are not a guide when they violate God's laws. And it is because we have atempted to serve other gods rather than God, as Rev. Shuler seems to advocate, that we have had long periods of unemployment, irredeemable paper money, everincreasing debts, protective tariffs, immigration quotas, class legislation, strikes collective bargaining that takes away from an individual his right to make an individual bargain, increasing crime and almost continuous wars. To the degree we use the Commandments as a guide rather than the majority or their agents do we develop our faculties and promote peace, goodwill and prosperity among mankind.

God is "visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children unto the third and fourth generation of them that hate me" when preachers pretending to represent Jesus Christ bow down and worship majorities rather than eternal God Of course, a man who violates this Commandment also violates the Coveting and Stealing Com-

The man who violates the First and Second Commandments has never been born again. He becomes a law unto himself. He can set down no moral principle that he attempts to live by. It is indeed strange that a man who professes to be a minister of the Gospel should be asking the question, what would you substitute for majority rule? And this preacher does not seem to perceive the meaning of the First and Second Commandments or Peter's and the other Apostles' statement. "We ought to obey God rather than man." (Acts 5:29)

It is beyond my conception how man can be steward of his life and serve God if he must first serve the majority or man. Any individual who advocates any form of aggressive force to get something another has produced against that person's will, whether done individually or collectively, is denying the essence of the Jewish and the Christian religions. He is an idol worshiper sailing under sheep's clothing. He cannot tell the difference, other than in degree, between the amount of aggressive force he wants the government to use to take from one to give to another, and that used by Joseph Stalin. He dare not attempt to answer certain questions The pathetic part of it is that Shuler's being a minister has so hallucinated him that he apparentdoes not comprehend that man is incapable of loving without first obeying the Commandments.

strike. For several days, this strike closed down all seaports from Portland, Maine to Brownsville, Texas and strangled the import-export business of the nation. It is true that the Government secured a ten day injunction, under the provisions of the Taft - Hartley law, which forced the union to order its members back to work. It is also true that under the same provisions the injunction has been exten ded to a maximum of eighty days.

But what if the strike is not set tled during this eighty day 'cooling off' period? The answer is that the union, if it so chooses, may again close down the seaports from Portland, Maine to Brownsville, Texas.

In other words, the Taft-Hartley law does not alter union's monopoly power. Under labor laws of the land, it was perfectly legal for the longshoremen's union to shut down the entire seacoast, thus disrupting our economy and endangering our national safety. Under the law it will be entirely legal for the union to repeat this process after the eighty days have expired.

All of which should serve to high light the necessity for strengthening the Taft-Hartley law. Certain ly, in the interest of fair play and a sound economy, the unions should be just as much subject to the anti-trust laws of the nation as anyone else.

As it is, we have seen entirely too many instances where industrywide bargaining and monopoly unonism have resulted in a virtual labor dictatorship, wherein the union bosses have ignored the general welfare and the safety of the nation in an effort to strengthen their own power. This has happen ed in the case of the coal mines, in the case of the steel mills, in the case of the railroads and in the case of other national unions controlling industries which are vital

The anti-trust roe awlosg d The anti-trust laws are good laws. As much as any other one thing, perhaps, they have been responsible for the great difference between the enterprise and pro gress of the American industrial system and those of other industrial nations of the world where cartels and monopolies are either government sanctioned or govern-
