VOTERS HAND DOWN THEIR DECREE TOMORROW

Weather May Be A Factor In Results

Rally Slated Here Tonight Despite Continued Rains Franchise holders of Howard county will join a million other Texans in a trek to the polls Saturday, to make a selection on public office holders, from governor to constable.

Record Poll Seen It will be democratic primary day, and voters will be called upon to mark one of the longest ballots in the history of the state. To add to the work of precinct judges and counters is the prospect of a record turnout of voters, estimates of the total in Howard county ranging from 5,000 to 5,500. Democratic leaders and precinct judges joined in an appeal for the electorate to vote early, and arrangements were being made to complete the count as early as possible.

The weather may have a bearing on the vote total, however. Rains which have continued intermittently all week were due to continue tonight and tomorrow, according to the official forecast, and election day may be a wet one.

The rains also threatened tonight's final political rally. Although County Democratic Chairman Grover Cunningham said the speaking, at the courthouse lawn, would go on as scheduled at 8 o'clock, if at all possible. If the weather interferes, the meeting will be moved into the district courtroom. Madison Smith will be in charge of the speaking program, and all candidates will have an opportunity to say their last say to the voters.

From district officers for the Texas liquor control board came the reminder that beer sales are prohibited on election day, and there will be no brew dispensed between the hours of 7 a. m. and 8 p. m. Polling hours will follow the customary schedule, from 7 a. m. to 8 p. m. Banks also will be closed Saturday in observance of election day. It may be a busy day for candidates, however, as they pass out cards to people on their way to the polls.

Mercury Groomed For Return Trip

PORT WASHINGTON, N. Y., July 22 (AP)—The British pick-up plane, Mercury, was groomed today for its return flight to Ireland after opening a new and significant chapter of transatlantic air travel. Capt. Donald C. T. Bennett brought the Imperial Airways experimental craft down here late yesterday, convinced he had demonstrated the feasibility of launching heavily laden planes in midair. The Mercury brought a 1,000-pound cargo in addition to its pilot and radio operator Albert Coster to the airways terminal a little more than 25 hours after its takeoff from the back of a mother plane off the coast of Ireland.

FIRE SPREADS LIKE THIS

With under brush afire, flames spread to tree tops, then the wind carries embers to other trees and fire races across a forest, faster than fighters can keep up with it. This is a view near Seattle, where thousands were fighting flames which had spread over a wide area in the Pacific northwest states.

Jr. Medalist Is Defeated

Sindorf Loses To Green, Two Local Boys Advance Major surprise of first round play of the West Texas Junior Golf tournament, completed this morning at the Municipal course, came when Harry Sindorf, medalist and heavy favorite to win the championship laurels, lost to a fellow Midlandite, Herman Green, one up. Sindorf had set a course record Thursday in qualifying with a 77.

Other opening round results saw two Big Spring youths advance into the quarterfinals. Jim Brigham defeated Guter Garland, Station 3 and 2, while Wimpy McGuire was rolling over George Tippin, Lubbock's only entry, one up. In other matches Jack Vaughn, Lamesa, advanced when Josh Billings, Sweetwater, defaulted; Jack Johnson, San Angelo, defeated Dub Prescott, Big Spring, two up; Monk Collins, Midland, triumphed over Robert Wheeler, San Angelo, 3 and 2; Ray Verthuren, San Angelo, ousted W. C. Waggoner, San Angelo, 3 and 2; and Cecil Wilson, San Angelo, trounced Nick Day, Big Spring, 2 and 1.

The night club operator appeared before the United States commissioner at Galveston, Texas, and, after a hearing, was ordered committed to the custody of a U. S. marshal pending removal to New York for trial on federal charges of conspiracy to import, possess, conceal, transport and sell narcotic drugs.

Maceo, along with 73 other persons, some of whom have been tried, was indicted on the narcotic conspiracy charge in the southern district of New York.

The southern district of Texas denied Maceo his discharge and he appealed to the circuit court.

French Fire ON AIRCRAFT

PERPIGNAN, France, (AP) The Spanish Frontier, July 22 (AP)—French anti-aircraft batteries fired today on six airplanes which flew over the French border from Spain at Ome Ja, near Bourg-Madame, 50 miles west of here. After three shots had been fired the planes swung about and returned to Spain. Border guards said they believed the planes were insurgent craft which, according to border reports, bombed several towns and villages in northern Catalonia during the afternoon.

150 WORKERS TO BE DISMISSED Sabotage Is Charged Following British Columbia Fire Loss

SEATTLE, July 22 (AP)—Sabotage in British Columbia and in-ondarism in Washington state and Oregon were the chief obstacles today for thousands of men fighting forest fires in the Pacific northwest. The situation throughout the Pacific northwest was reported the "most critical in recent years." Low humidity and rising temperatures added to the difficulty. British Columbia forestry officials began sending out groups of men they termed "inspector-ol" fire fighters after 1,000 feet of fire line was made useless by long knife gashes. Vancouver Island's 20,000-acre blaze menaced vast stores of cut timber. Provincial Police Constable M. McAlpine told forestry officials that Forbes Landing, resort destroyed by the fire yesterday, might have been saved if a lone pump there had not been put out of commission by sugar in its gasoline tank. C. J. Hadden, chief forester in the Vancouver district, said no arrests had been made. At least 150 firemen will be dismissed and sent back to Vancouver, Hadden said. J. M. Ferguson, Oregon state

Brady, Menard Face Flood Threats As Rains Put Streams On Rampage

Showers Bring More Moisture To This Area Traffic Halted At Some Points As General Rains Continue BRADY, July 22 (AP)—Floodwaters from normally small streams, made raging torrents by rainfall measuring up to nearly 10 inches, again threatened the Southwest Texas sheep country today.

Creek On New Rise Ominous situations were reported at Brady and Menard, both leading wool centers. Brady, where a small creek fed by seven inches of rain threatened to inundate the town yesterday, today went on a fresh rampage and climbed to within nine inches of yesterday's high mark, which was less than a foot and half from the top of a protecting levee.

The stream rose slowly this morning, and merchants stood ready again to place their stocks on higher shelves. Two and a half inches of rain fell last night, bringing to nearly 10 inches the total fall since Tuesday.

From Abilene came a report that the main street at Menard was a running stream and that low residential areas were evacuated as the San Saba river, normally at about a two-foot stage, went on a rampage.

The information came from the dispatcher of the West Texas Utilities company, who reported the company's Menard substation was water deep in water. He said, however, that it was believed the flood crest had passed since the stream had fallen a few inches this morning.

Highway traffic in some sections was halted. A bridge approach on highway 9 between Brady and Melvin was out, and all traffic between (See RAIN, page 5, col. 1)

SEC CHARGES COMPANY WITH VIOLATION OF PUBLIC UTILITY HOLDING ACT OF 1935

Move Is First Action Of The Commission NEW YORK, July 22 (AP)—The securities and exchange commission, in a bill of complaint filed in the U. S. district court here today, charged the Associated Gas & Electric system with violation of the public utility holding company act of 1935 and the securities act of 1933.

The SEC action arose as a result of the system's efforts to extend the Associated Gas & Electric corporation 5 1/2 per cent convertible investment certificates which mature November 15.

Attorneys for SEC sought a preliminary injunction against the utility company.

This is the first action of its kind since the 1935 holding company legislation was held constitutional by the supreme court in the Electric Bond & Share case.

The SEC complaint was divided into three parts: 1. It charged the utility system with violation of the 1935 holding company act, in that it did not ask the approval of the commission before it sought extension of the investment certificates. The company seeks to extend the certificates from 1 to 5 years.

2. The SEC further charged that the plan for extension of the certificates is, in effect, a plan for reorganization and must be filed with and approved by the commission. This, the complaint said, was not done by the Associated Gas & Electric company.

3. The third section of the complaint involves the securities act of 1933, charging the company with selling securities without registering them with the commission, as required by the act.

GILMER LEADER DIES

GILMER, July 22 (AP)—Walter O. Barnwell, 78, prominent in business, civic and agricultural circles of this section, died today. He was survived by his widow and a daughter, Mrs. Loran E. Haggood of Henrietta and Dallas. Funeral services were planned for tomorrow.

FD PARTY HEADS TOWARD STRANGE GALAPAGOS IS.

Aboard U. S. Houston, Enroute to Panama, July 22 (AP)—President Roosevelt's vacation fishing cruise led him today toward the Galapagos Islands, locale of one of the strangest mystery death stories ever to come out of the tropics.

A voyage of 1,500 miles lay ahead of the Houston when she left Clipperton Island yesterday, her refrigerators overflowing with the fish the President and his party caught in a five-hour expedition.

Also aboard the warship was new information concerning the location of Clipperton, 675 miles off Acapulco, Mexico, but one mile southeast of its present chartered position, according to observations taken by Captain G. M. Barker, commander of the Houston.

The weird death story of the Galapagos, lying along the equator 500 miles west of Ecuador, involves a supposed paradise once ruled by a German baroness, whose regal garments were a sun tan and a pair of pink silk panties.

In 1934, the bodies of two men who had died of thirst were found on black Maricopa Island, one of the Galapagos group.

All Aspirants Are Claiming Leadership

Final Appeals To Be Made At Rallies This Evening

By The Associated Press The first phase of Texas' current political campaign drove toward a heated finale today, with candidates claiming leadership, continuing to lambast opponents, and planning final summations of their virtues in climaxing addresses tonight.

Over A Million How good prophets they are, and how well does their work, will be decided tomorrow when the Texas electorate, estimated at more than a million, turns out for the democratic primary.

The spotlighted race for the governorship, with its twelve entrants, DALLAS, Tex., July 22 (AP)—The weatherman predicted today that a majority of Texas voters would go to the balloting places tomorrow under cloudy skies, and that many in scattered sections might have to raise umbrellas to keep off local showers.

In east Texas, he said, it will be unsettled with local showers in the south portion. For west Texas he predicted it would be mostly cloudy, with local showers in the south portion.

W. Lee O'Daniel, the Fort Worth four man, claiming a land slide victory, took his campaign to Minola today and planned to close at Kilgus tonight. William McCraw, who resorted to the radio when a park speech was rained out at Houston last night, came to Dallas, his home town, for a final rally. Karl Crowley hopped off to close his campaign at El Paso. Tom Hunter came to Dallas for a broadcast, then went to Fort Worth for rallies, and P. D. Renfro spoke at Orange in the afternoon, then planned to close at Lufkin his birthplace, tonight. Thomas Self was to end his campaign at Crockett, his home. Ernest Thompson was to close at Greenville.

What They're Saying McCraw at Houston concentrated on his labor record, his plan to simplify old age assistance, and his program to advance the cause of Texas education.

He promised, if elected, to raise the standard pension of the aged well above the average of $12 paid (See Voters, page 5, col. 2)

Arbitration Asked On Mexico Seizure Of U.S. Farm Lands

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—A request for international arbitration with the seizure of American farm lands by the Mexican government went to Mexico today from Secretary of State Hull.

Hull, in a strong note to the Mexican ambassador, Francisco Castillo Najera, termed expropriation without just compensation "confiscation." He invoked the Inter-American treaty of arbitration signed here in 1923.

Involved are an estimated 1,000,000 acres of land, taken since 1927. The moderate-sized farms alone are valued by their owners at $10,132,388.

Although pressing for adequate prompt payment for the agrarian holdings, the American note ignores the question of the American oil properties expropriated in March by Mexico.

Japan Not To Force Issue

Five Destroyers Are Reported In Area, Threats Denied TOKYO, July 22 (AP)—Statements of Japanese official spokesmen tonight indicated Japan had no intention of forcing the issue with Soviet Russia over soviet troops' occupation of a disputed district near where the borders of Soviet Russia, Japanese Korea and Manchoukuo come together.

Nevertheless the Tokyo press continued to report concentration of soviet military and naval forces near the danger zone.

Takao Kawai, the foreign office spokesman, denied Japan ever had threatened to use force to eject the Russian troops from the Changkufeng district, occupation of which July 11 provoked the bluster crisis.

General Kunikida Koles, former commander of Japan's Korean army, also minimized the Changkufeng incident on arriving in Tokyo from the continent.

Koles, a former chief of staff of Japan's army in Manchoukuo and considered Japan's foremost authority on the Russo-Japanese military situation, scoffed at the military importance of Changkufeng.

"If fighting started all the soviet troops in that area would be rate in a trap, since the sea is just behind them," he said.

Domei, the Japanese news agency, reported five Russian destroyers had entered Fossil bay, southwest of Vladivostok and near Changkufeng. Domei also reported heavy soviet troop movements from Vladivostok to Novokuznetsk.

Weekly Total Here Nearly Four Inches

Residents of the Big Spring area looked out on cloudy skies again Friday, watched slow drizzling rain, punctuated by intermittent showers boost the rainfall total for the week to almost four inches. There was a prospect that more moisture would fall. Partly cloudy weather, with probable showers, was the forecast for tonight and Saturday.

Ranges of West Texas were helped tremendously by the showers, and plentiful grass and stock water was assured. On the agricultural side, observers agreed that a good feed crop was made for the county. The moisture also has helped cotton, but the late crop in Howard county now was considered to be in need of hot, dry weather. Nearly all sections of the county shared to some extent in the moisture.

Friday's slow drenching had accounted for .88 inch, according to the department of commerce in Texas; criticized the sales tax as "a tax on poverty" and promised to hold tax increases to a minimum. An enthusiastic caravan greeted Tom Hunter at Wichita Falls, escorting him, as he entered the city, to his home town rally.

He re-emphasized his public service record, his old pension program, and his labor stand. W. Lee O'Daniel, told a Fort Worth, homecoming rally, he had been informed $1,000,000 would be spent Saturday to keep him from being elected.

The statement should be "seriously considered," he said, but he did not believe the citizens of Texas, will be misled.

"End It Saturday" He said he believed the people would "end this thing Saturday" and appealed for a smashing victory.

F. D. Renfro, speaking at Galveston, pledged if elected an administration of efficiency and honesty, declaring that at no time in its history had Texas needed more a governor who could conduct affairs of the state in a businesslike manner.

Ernest Thompson, speaking at a ball park at Tyler, urged listeners to elect him that he might make over Texas for Texans.

The state must now begin a great era of industrial development," he counseled.

In connection with controversies over the matter of other persons who have moved to Texas from other states, Thompson said: "Good Texas welcomes good people from other states to Texas who come here and who take the full responsibilities in our citizenship."

Karl Crowley, in a speech at Dallas, bore down on his plan to tax corporations, explained how he would define old folk to receive $30 monthly pensions, and hurried the political feud between McCraw and O'Daniel.

Defends Advocacy Of Helium Sale

LAKEHURST, N. J., July 22 (AP)—Commander Charles E. Rosendahl, U. S. naval expert on airships, today defended his advocacy of the sale of helium to Germany with the assertion that high governmental officials, including Secretary Ickes, have held the same opinion.

The commander of the naval air station here answered in a lengthy statement the charge of the secretary of interior that Rosendahl changed his mind about the military importance of helium after being "wined and dined" in Germany. Rosendahl expressed confidence that a "conscientious and full comparison of my airship talks and articles with my recent book on the subject will show my stand to have been entirely consistent."

"It is true that I believe the zeppelin was an effective weapon in the world war; but times and weapons have changed with the result that the big airship today does not fit into the military picture to a worthwhile extent in Europe."

or "rebutted the presumption of probable cause of guilt arising from the finding of the indictment."

The circuit court decision, written by Judge Edwin Holmes, asserted a review of the district court hearing showed Maceo presented four witnesses besides himself and added that "none of them testified to anything to support the allegations in the petition."

"He (Maceo) testified to very little in addition to denying all connection with the conspiracy and denying his identity as one of the defendants named in the indictment," said the opinion. "On cross examination, he declined to answer many questions regarding his various occupations and the sources of his income during the period covered by the indictment x x x."

"Aside from the question of identity, which seems to us to be clearly established, the evidence in this case," said Judge Holmes' opinion, "when boiled down, consists of the indictment on the one hand and the relator's general denial on the other."

"The relator's testimony was not frank enough to convince either the committing magistrate or the court below of lack of probable cause. Neither does it convince us."

TO HIGHEST MARK

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—Carloadings reached a high mark for 1938 during the week ended July 16.

The Association of American Railroads reported today that loadings totalled 602,900 cars compared with 588,864 in the week ended July 3—the previous high for this year.

Officials attributed the increase largely to heavy movements of farm products, especially grain, and miscellaneous freight and merchandise in less than carload lots.

THE SPORTS PARADE By HANK HART Is Going Back

"Sure, I'm going back to play professional football," says Tilly Manton, ex-Texas Christian university great and now a member of the New York Giants of the National Professional Football league...

The place kick artist intends to leave around August 1 for the Giant training quarters to get in shape for another season. He runs, blocks, tackles and does all the things a good back should do...

Tilly is remembered best in this sector for his great play in the Southwest conference, especially in the final battle of the 1935 season with the Southern Methodist university Mustangs...

Of Hugh Manton thinks he'll go back into football and as a player for the Washington Redskins. Manton has been "holding out" of late with President George Marshall of the Redskins insisting that he has a rosier career in professional baseball...

Even Pro Harold Akay was surprised at the large field in his first annual West Texas Junior Golf tournament which started at the Moxey course Thursday.

With any sort of luck next year Harold can expect to double that figure if the tournament is established on a permanent basis here and that is the present plan.

Harold has been approached several times to stage a senior invitational tournament in mid-August. Personally the observer thinks it would go over great.

Too, the affair would help the country club's September Invitational. Shirley Robbins, manager of the country club, expects this year's starting field to better the one of last year when 131 stick wielders paid their entry fees.

Lou Ambers Is Confident Of Victory Says He'll Still Be Wearing Crown After Armstrong Fight

By EDDIE BRITZ NEW YORK, July 22 (AP)—Lou Ambers is a cocky, confident little fellow who honestly believes he's going to spill a lot of dope and lick Henry Armstrong August 12. At his Summit, N. J., training camp today Ambers said: "If I ever bet on fights (which I don't) I sure would grab some of those July 3 to 4 odds they are tossing around Broadway... I am going to win this fight... I want to lick Armstrong just about as badly as Louis wanted to trim Schmeling... I'll do it, too... I may not knock the fellow out but I'll give him a boxing lesson he'll remember for a long time and at the end of 15 rounds, you'll hear the announcer say: 'The winner and still champion, Lou Ambers'."

Another guest at Madame Bey's famous training resort at Summit is Tony Galento, the Newark night stick. He is getting ready for his first in Philly with John Henry Lewis, the light heavyweight champion on July 26. Not many smart fight men believe Tony can lay a hand on John Henry (who is the best boxer in the ring today) but he agrees that if he does it will be good night for John... Which would mean that Galento would be right up there in the big money class and able to dictate his own terms to Mike Jacobs and everybody else... Galento can't fight a lick, but he can hit as hard as a mule kicks and once he connects the birds start singing for anybody who may be on the other end of the stock.

Our new skimmer goes right off to Charlie Grimm who wouldn't quit under fire... They have been after the boy for years but he didn't give up until they made him... Grimm is a grand fellow, a good baseball manager and a swell friend... Everyone wishes him all the luck in the world... Phil Wrigley stuck by him a long time too... Now that his number is up and he's got to go, they couldn't have made a more popular choice with every fan in Chicago and every other National League city... If he doesn't go like a million dollars, you can sue me along with a thousand other Hartnett rooters... all of which brings up the question, where does Tony Lazzeri stand on the coaching line?

Barnabemen Return Home Saturday 3 Players To Be Given Tryout

MIKE COCHRANE FRANTICALLY SEARCHES FOR HURLER AS DETROIT DROPS ANOTHER Hamlin Shuts Out Chicago Bruins, 1-0

By SID FEEDER Associated Press Sports Writer A Washington baseball writer, taking relief from the heat outside, an into Mickey Cochrane browsing around among the mummies in a capitol museum a couple of mornings ago.

"What," asked the astonished scribe, "are you doing here, Mickey?" The Detroit Tigers' manager glanced cautiously over each shoulder, sh-b-b-ed the scribe with finger to lip, leaned over and whispered, "I'm looking for a couple of pitchers."

And there, boys and girls, you have the newest and deepest of the blues—the Cochrane chant the meanest that accompanies the Tigers' drop from fourth to sixth place in two weeks.

It was a tough break that Mickey lost a lot of his power when Roundwater Rudy York was sent to a hospital yesterday, hit on the head by one of Monte Weaver's pitches while the Senators were twisting the Tiger's tail, 4-3.

Bridges Inactive But a tougher dose to take in that the pitching, pride of the American league only a couple of weeks ago, in a "consortium" to the rest of the loop right now. Schoolboy Rowe is gone—back to the minors. Tommy Bridges hasn't started a game since June 28. Roxie Lawson's luck has run out. And Vernon Kennedy, who looked like the extra dividend on that White Sox deal, has lost three in a row—hasn't won, in fact, since June 22.

On top of that, Mickey, who thought he was weeding out the whackiness by trading Gerry Walker to Chicago, and who thought he had a lot of pitcher in Poo Fofenberg, is having a rude awakening on both counts.

For Poo still has something to learn about the pitching business, but has graduated with honors and a master's degree from the field school. He disappears for daffy school. He disappears for days at a time; his training ritual just left, and he forgets to cover first when the other fielders are busy. Quite a lad is Poo. It got so bad yesterday Mickey had to send him home—but before they could get around to giving him his ticket, Poo had disappeared.

Nip Phillips, 5-4 Over in the National league, the Pittsburgh Pirates maintained their game-and-a-half lead by nipping the Phillies, 5-4, but Lee Handley's triple with the bases loaded in the ninth. The Giants stayed in the thick of things by trouncing the Cardinals, 5-2, on Carl Hubbell's five-hit pitching.

The Chicago Cubs, celebrating Gabby Hartnett's debut as manager split a twin bill with the Brooklyn Dodgers. Clay Bryant tossed a four-hitter and the Cubs took the opener, 5-2. In the nightcap, Luke (Hot Potato) Hamlin got hot, set the Cubs down with two and the Dodgers won, 1-0.

The Tigers-Senator game, for the second straight day, was the only American league tilt, everything else, including the crucial Yankees-Indians doubleheader, being rained out.

Vincent Picks South To Win

DALLAS, Tex., July 22 (AP)—Al Vincent, Beaumont manager, who will pilot the South's All-Stars league's drama game at Oklahoma City Saturday, has announced the batting order of his squad.

He said he would place Joe Vallenti, third baseman, Shreveport, in lead-off position, then Joe Vitter, second base, Shreveport; Harold Epps, centerfield, Houston; Pete Fleming, Shreveport, right field; Les Fleming, Beaumont, first base; Frank Secoy, Beaumont, left field; Sig Gryksa, San Antonio, short stop, and the battery, to be selected.

Vincent said he figured the game should be a toss-up, but the South should win its third consecutive all-star game.

A SMILE FROM GABBY

There was a big smile on Charles Leo (Gabby) Hartnett's face as he listened to congratulations on his appointment as manager of the Chicago Cubs. Mrs. Hartnett is with him.

Rookie Leads OC To 2 Wins Babe Didrikson And Wrestler To Wed

By the Associated Press Texas league batmen went slugging last night while Oklahoma City's new outfielder-recruit, Gordon Houston, brought joy to the hearts of his employers as the Indians downed Houston 5-4 and 3-2 in a double bill.

San Antonio's Missions and the Dallas Steers served up 23 hits and 24 runs in an affair which the Missions won 14-10, and Shreveport's Sports whipped league leading Tulsa 16-6 in the first game of a doubleheader.

The Oilers came back to reverse the picture, however, shutting out the Sports 2-0 in the nightcap. Beaumont and Fort Worth had their doubleheader rained out, and planned two games tonight.

NAAU AQUATIC SHOW UNDERWAY

Blonde Katy, heroine of many a swimming meet and winner of some 28 titles during her career, was due to defend her grueling one mile free style title, and the 200-meter medley title.

With forty-one girls and young women entered in the three-day meet, and observers predicting the detroning of several champions, plans were made to handle a capacity crowd of 1,800 spectators today.

POFFENBERGER SUSPENDED BY TIGER CHIEF

DETROIT, July 22 (AP)—The Detroit American League baseball club announced today the suspension of Cletis Kilwood (Boots) Poffenberger, its "problem child" pitcher.

No time limit for the suspension was announced, nor did club officials comment on possibility of a fine or other additional penalty.

3 Players To Be Given Tryout

Park's Grounds Is Being Improved, Dirt Hauled In Although continued rains have stymied the Big Spring Barons in their current road trip (they have not played since Sunday) developments have been many around local headquarters.

The Big Springers return home Saturday afternoon to oppose the Clovis Pioneers in a game scheduled to begin at 4 p. m., then move on against the Pioneers again Sunday in a twin bill.

When they come home they will find a vastly improved playing field and at least three new players awaiting them. The club directors have not been idle.

Negotiating for the lights to be moved in from Monahans, the officials have dispatched a battalion of workmen to the grounds and the infield and gardens are being filled in and leveled.

More than 100 truck loads of dirt are expected to be hauled into the grounds before the work is completed.

That some of the regulars are going to have to fight to retain the places on the team became assured when three players from Central Texas began practicing for a tryout. Getting their chance on the recommendation of E. L. Newsum, one of the directors, the boys may be tried out in Saturday's game. They are Huckleby, shortstop, McIlroy, catcher and outfielder, and Miller, left-handed pitcher.

Otto Williams, local trucker, has given his employees orders to bring the light poles and reflectors back from Monahans when an agreement is met with officials of the Monahans school board. Directors expected the shipment to begin today.

The Barons will attempt to get into action again this evening in a twin bill with Wink on the Spudder grounds. The scheduled double header Thursday was washed away as was all the other games in the league.

AMERICA'S RELIEF PROBLEM

Hodge-Podge Plan Suits No One; So What?

Everyone agrees that relief is a No. 1 American problem; not even the experts agree on a No. 1 answer. Here Morgan Beatty, in the last of three articles, discusses work relief vs. dole, and surveys proposed ways out.

By MORGAN M. BEATTY
AP Feature Service Writer

WASHINGTON — Unemployment relief in the United States is a patched up job—patched up from expedients designed to meet the 1929 depression.

As a result, the relief received by a destitute family depends on the source of the money — federal, state, county, or city.

To have one group of 2,000,000 "relief cases" living on the comparative luxury of $3 a month each, which is itself below the minimum living standard set up by WPA cooperating with the United States department of labor. And you have another group of 2,000,000 getting an average dole of about $25 each a month.

That's generally recognized as a cock-eyed state of affairs, but the question of what other method or system should be adopted is still unsolved.

Cheap—At A Price
If you are asking which is cheaper, most authorities reply the dole costs less, because with it you do not have to pay for materials that go into WPA work relief. Thus the dole apparently would save the taxpayer at least $26.80 per month per relief case. He would not have, however, thousands of local improvements that work relief has accounted for.

But if you are asking which is better, you've opened up a dark labyrinth out of which no debater has come with a whole skin.

Obviously Director Harry Hopkins and his WPA staff are sold on work relief and they can cite statistics and facts by the yard. On the other hand, many a critic barks that work relief costs too much, that it is making bums out of citizens or that it's all rotten politics anyway. The critics cite the "coercion" of relief votes by political supervisors. They tell you how Harry Hopkins himself endorsed a candidate for the senate in Iowa recently. They say "reliefers" are forced to wear buttons and get out the vote.

Arguments at either extreme seem a little too pat.

They Are Not Bums
So let's turn to a sharp critic of WPA, who also is a recognized authority on relief and get his opinion on two points, work relief vs. the dole, and the character of relief

The man is Charles P. Taft, the lawyer, who is chairman of the public welfare committee of Cincinnati, and a national figure in private relief enterprises. Taft is a Republican.

Here is what Mr. Taft had to say early this year:
"There are many business men who have not come within squares of either public or private welfare agencies, who say . . . 'All reliefers are bums.' That is not true. It never has been. At the time of the depression there was a 10 percent turnover in relief clients, which means 100 percent in a year. We have got a soggy mass at the bottom. It has constantly changed. Somebody goes off and somebody comes on. Reliefers are not bums."

"Those who are not on relief are so utterly confused and shaken by the new spectre of depression that they are permitting treatment of fellow human beings that can only be described as cruel. They are confused about work and relief. They are told the WPA is now employing all employables who need help. This is not true today. And it never was true.

What About Politics?
"Don't mistake me. WPA is a good work program, but it costs twice as much as it needs to . . ."

And what if the federal government and the states pooled their money into one system, supervised by the federal government but handled by the local authorities?

"In November of last year," was his reply, "my guess is that if (the money) would have been spent for direct relief in the homes (the dole). My experience in my own community, however, since that time, convinces me that there is a tremendous pressure for work relief . . ."

So apparently leaders in both major parties agree that work relief is the kind of relief the public wants.

As for politics in relief, it is impossible to settle that issue. People have been dismissed from WPA for political activity, so there must be some dirty work at the cross roads. But nobody has yet uncovered a national scandal. And there are different ways of interpreting any disclosures made.

As for alternatives to the present patch work of emergency relief, they are difficult to put into practice because most of them require a highly centralized administration, presumably from Washington, which would invite critics to shout that the country had a relief dictator.

No Easy Way Out
The most prominently mentioned plan is the Republican suggestion that the federal government match dollars with the states. That is, perhaps 75 percent could be paid by the federal government, and 25 percent by the states and localities. For every local dollar put up in a state, three federal dollars would be sent to match it. In addition, a special fund for poor states would be set up, and the federal government would supervise the standards of relief administration to be used, just as it does in the case of social security.

Other plans call for a single, vast dole, with or without a public works program to furnish employment, not for relief workers but for idle workers generally.

While you are thinking over the relief problem, and what ought to be done about it, here are a few facts Harry Hopkins, the federal relief administrator, suggested to the senate the other day:

"The unemployment relief situation will never correct itself automatically. We have a constant increase in the working population. Since 1935, we have had an increase of over a million. There is a net increase every year of 500,000 workers. They are coming in (to the labor market) 700,000 each year, and you lose by death and other reasons 200,000, leaving a net increase of half a million workers every year in America."

FAITHFUL PUP "DIES IN LINE OF DUTY"

NEW YORK, July 22 (AP)—They wrote a modest little epitaph—"Died in the line of duty"—for Rex II at the No. 5 firehouse today.

That didn't tell the whole story, of course. It didn't tell how Rex, the station's dog mascot for three years, loafed on the sidewalk or scurried with Sparky the tomcat, waiting for action. At the sound of the big bell he would listen for the eighth stroke before leaping to his place on the rear of the truck.

Wednesday he rode to a fire, leashed to the truck, as usual, but somehow the collar slipped and the Dalmatian was run over. He died yesterday.

Public Welfare Grants Total $8,552,500

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—The social security board reported federal grants to Texas for public assistance during the fiscal year ending June 30 totaled $8,552,500.

The entire sum went to old age assistance, as the state was not qualified to receive federal aid for dependent children and the blind. Texas ranked fifth among all other states in the proportion of its population 65 years of age or older who received assistance. Of every 1,000 such persons in the state, 294 got help, as compared with a national average of 214 out of 1,000. In April 1937, Texans received payments averaging $13.74 each, compared with a national average of $19.29.

The board's figures also showed Texas had, as of April 30, a total of $23,141,402 to its credit in the national treasury for unemployment compensation payments. During the fiscal year ended June 30 the state received federal grants totaling $1,800,000 for administration of its unemployment compensation laws and employment services.

CORRIGAN SAYS HE'S FLIER, NOT LOVER

DUBLIN, July 22 (AP)—Douglas G. Corrigan served notice on girl admirers today that he is a flier, not a lover.

"I am not having any feminine entanglements in my young life," he added, as his fan mail grew into a huge stack. "He is 31."

RE-ELECT C. V. TERRELL RAILROAD COMMISSIONER

(Democratic Primary July 23, 1938)

The need for continuing the services of an experienced man on the Railroad Commission of Texas, should insure the re-election of C. V. TERRELL, its present Chairman. His policy of oil and gas conservation has added millions of dollars to the permanent school funds, and should not be disturbed. His successful efforts for lower freight rates on livestock, cotton, and other commodities have greatly benefited Texas. Thousands have profited from his orders lowering gas rates to the consumer. His honesty and efficiency in office are unquestioned. His devotion to the cause of Texas education has characterized his entire public career. 95% in favor of organized bus.

A MATTER OF JUDGMENT

As a parting reminder that the responsibility is up to the voters to choose officials who will yield the best return in good government for the next two years, The Herald reprints the following from an editorial in Thursday's Fort Worth Star-Telegram:

"It is well enough to welcome entertainment on hot summer evenings by gamblers and carnival barkers on the political stump. But what we have got to think about is the day in and day out job of lifting and showing waiting for the man we select and which he must perform if he meets the needs of Texas and its people.

"It is all right, at the proper time, to allow ourselves to be lulled by words and music, while we dream of pie in the sky. But hiring a man for governor is no dream business. It is a matter of hard-headed, practical judgment—the sort of hiring you would be up against if you were hiring a man to do a job of work for you privately. It is a matter in which we need all our common sense about us and to be entirely free from wishful day-dreaming.

"The citizen who has been around long enough to know how things go in this world will not be lured to the ballot by loud talk, vaudeville shows, or mountain music. To get his ballot there must be evidence of both intention and ability in the part of a candidate to perform on the job itself. It takes both a man who does not promise more than he can reasonably expect to achieve and who has shown capacity for making good on the promises he does make."

Which brings us down to the fact that, despite the long list of candidates whose names appear before the voters tomorrow, there are few who meet the requirements and who stand a chance of winning. There are some worthy men on the list, but they are men whose standing in the state is not sufficiently known to attract an appreciable vote. There are others who have come forth with such fantastic campaigns that they have adroitly concealed their failure to show ability or experience and their failure to submit any working program for this state. These are the ones who definitely should be rejected at the polls tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Smith are to leave Sunday morning with a vacation trip to various parts of Colorado.

For the best interest of the most people, vote for G. W. Eason-Pol Adv.

ABit o' Thinkin' ARGUMENTS

A fistfight is an argument gone lawless. Arguments often grow into fist fights when one party shifts ground. Take Democrats and Republicans. One party finally says, "Aw, what do you know about it?" The other says, "I know more than you do! You're just plain ignorant!"

"Ignorant? Why, they had to learn the school to get you out of school grades, they argue competitive ignorance, and a fight is just around the corner. If we want peaceful arguments, we hold ourselves and our adversary to the subject.

THE FRANCO-BRITISH ALLIANCE AND THE GERMAN REVOLUTION

PARIS, July 22.—The King and Queen are in Paris and perhaps it may sound like conventional rhetoric to say that their visit is the o u t w a r d sign that there has come into being a Franco-British alliance for the maintenance of European peace.

But, Europe being what it is today, this is not conventional rhetoric. To a degree which one can hardly imagine unless one has known it at first hand, the peoples of all of Europe are conscious that they are threatened by a war more devastatingly destructive than any which mankind has yet had to endure. No one doubts it. There is no sane man on this Continent, certainly no informed and responsible man, who does not realize that all over Europe the guns are loaded and the triggers cocked; and that even if every government desires peace, there is no certainty that an assassination or a brawl engineered by a conspiracy of reckless men will not touch off an explosion.

I know that this sounds alarmist. But the danger is real. It is not imaginary. The nervous tension is so great that the only way to maintain a cool and collected opinion among the peoples is to keep them convinced that their governments do not underestimate the danger and are not failing to prepare against it.

The primary phase of the preparation is what is known as "rearmament." The purpose of rearmament is to make it impossible for Germany or Italy to deliver a knockout blow by a sudden attack on England or on France. It has been the fear of such a knockout blow which has paralyzed British and French diplomacy since they retreated before Mussolini in the Ethiopian affair. Until they felt certain that they could not be defeated suddenly and before they had time to mobilize their much greater resources, the British and the French have not been able to resist aggression or even to deal with Berlin and Rome on terms of equality.

Though there is still a great dread of what the bombardment of London and Paris might mean, rearmament has reached a point where it is no longer necessary to retreat on all fronts. The period of Franco-British impotence under the menace of a knockout blow came to an end in April of this year, and the end was marked by the creation of what is in everything but the name an alliance. This alliance was tested in the Caschlovak crisis of May 21 and survived its first severe practical test. It has been tested again in the Spanish affair where thus far it has proved to be impossible for Mussolini to persuade Britain to put the Anglo-Italian agreement into operation while he refuses to negotiate a similar agreement with France.

The question then is whether this alliance, assuming it must exist that it will endure, is in truth an instrument of peace or whether it is a coalition that aligns Europe into two camps, and leads certainly to war. All that any one can say in answer to that question is that the soberest and most sincerely patriotic men in Europe believe that there is now no other way to prevent war except by such an armed union.

Why do they think that? Or to put it in another way, what do they hope for as a result of this armed resistance? It is often said that Hitler will not start a war if he is certain that Britain, France and Russia will be against him. Most men take this view. But what then? Is this the best that Europe can look forward to, that there should be an angry stalemate of armed powers? A stalemate would, of course, be better than a war. But it is a poor prospect indeed.

There are men, very responsible men, who allow themselves to hope that something better might come out of a stalemate. They reason in this way: They say that Germany is undergoing a revolution which is as deep, as dynamic, as thorough as the French Revolution of 1789 or the Russian Revolution of 1917. We are in the presence, they say, of the German Revolution. They then say that great revolutions in spite of all their superficial differences, follow the same underlying pattern.

The revolutionists, having seized power, find it impossible to realize quickly the promises of the revolution, and confronted with the disillusionment at home which would shake their power, they enter upon a career of foreign conquest. The French Revolution produced Napoleon who was not stopped till Waterloo. The Russian Revolution started to conquer Europe and was stopped at the gates of Warsaw. The German Revolution already has applied over the German frontier into Austria, and it is in full intervention in every country of central Europe.

According to this view a great revolution reaches its crisis only when its leaders can no longer make conquests abroad. The Russian Revolution, they say, reached Man About Manhattan by GEORGE TUCKER. OLD LYME, Conn. — It seems strange that of the 28 members of the Art Association here only five should be New Englanders. The others come from every section of the country, and one even hails from Russia. This is Ivan G. Olinak, noted for his fine portraits. His daughter Tosca is here, too, but she was born in Florence, Italy. Tosca likes to paint flowers. Among the established painters here is the familiar name of Ogden M. Pleisner. Last year I ran into an exhibition of his in New York and wrote a column about it. I was very much interested in his work because the whole exhibition, some 30 watercolors, was devoted to fresh-water fishing. Pleisner is a hard-worker who combines business with pleasure—that is, he paints whatever he likes to do. For instance, right now he is in Wyoming serving as a guide to pack trains, and on the walls of the Association gallery is one of Pleisner's canvases, showing a pack train picking its way through the treacherous, tangled wilds of the Western hill country. Another name you are certain to recognize is William S. Robinson, who likes to paint boats. As a boy he used to hang around the wharves of Gloucester, skinning mackerel, and it was there the fascination of the sea and of boats took such hold on his imagination that forever after he has been painting them. When I visited the gallery I was struck by the luxuriant, tropical vegetation in certain oils and watercolors by Will Howe Foote. They were of natives in tropic backgrounds, and the banana trees seemed so real you wanted to reach up and pluck off a leaf. "Where is that supposed to be, Cuba?" I asked Edwin Norwood, who was showing me around. "Why don't you ask Mr. Foote himself?" he grinned, "here he is now." I turned to find a rather slight gentleman in immaculate linen with a pair of the most amused blue eyes I ever saw. He was very friendly and talked enthusiastically after he had been painting them. Pineapple and sugarcane plantations, where the paintings were done. Mr. Foote has spent six consecutive winters in Jamaica, but will try new scenes this winter. He plans to go to Old Mexico, probably in December, and remain until spring. Another fine artist is Winfield Scott Clime, who prefers to paint landscapes more than anything else. Frank V. DuMont frequently devotes himself to canvases of salt-water fishing. Bertam G. Brustle of Yale, is an ornithologist and paints pictures of birds. Louis Paul Desmar is a painter of sheep. Eugene Higgins invariably devotes his oils to the forgotten man. And so it goes — birds, sheep, ships and tropic vistas. You could write a history of the lives of these men and their exploits—if you had time. But there isn't time. There is never time in this quiet byway where the sound always summons you for a swim and Fran is preparing another of those lobster dinners.

Sights And Sounds by ROBBIN COONS

(Our Mr. Keavy, in Hollywood, writes a letter about the new pictures of our columnist, Robbin Coons, who has gone fishing.)

DEAR COONS: You missed the big splash they made for "Marie Antoinette." I know you will regret taking your vacation when you did because you like splashes of all sizes so well. I went to the premiere (Boy, was I surrounded by glammer!) and enjoyed myself because the picture is so good. You must see it. It brings Norma Shearer back to the screen, after two years, and I believe she is more radiant than ever before. Our friend Woody Van Dyke, who directed, did an inspired job. Not only is Norma better handled than ever before, but the picture has a swing that many costume films lack. Credit "Speedy" Van Dyke for that.

I think you'll like the rest of the cast, actors all. Best of them is Robert Morley, playing the dauphin. John Barrymore, as Louis XV, in his old self again. Joseph Schildkraut, Gladys George, Tyrone Power (opposite Norma, as Count Axel de Persen), Anita Louise, Henry Stephenson and Reginald Gardiner are some of the others.

The screen play is from Stefan Zweig's biography and folks who have read it say the M.G.M.'ers did a faithful job.

There were several other new ones this week (keeping me up until all hours), best of which is "Shopworn Angel." Ten years ago, Paramount made this with Gary Cooper, Nancy Carroll and Paul Lukas. M. G. M. demonstrates that a shopworn plot (of a reckless show girl who falls in love with a buck capture trip to various parts of the globe) is supplied with the throaty-voiced sophistication of Margaret Sullivan and the ingratiating shyness of James Stewart. The combination makes it a genuine delight. In this version, Walter Pidgeon (a comedian) has the Lukas role.

"The Affairs of Annabel" pokes fun at Hollywood's wackiness. (Better see it.) Jack Oakie (42 pounds lighter) is teamed with Lucille Ball. It's full of wisecracks, mostly by Oakie, who also is literally back in his old form. I had my dose of melodrama in "Little Tough Guy," which leads to "Dead End" kind of tough adventures in the tenements. Lots of shootin' in this. You like shootin'?

If you want to see one about a bored millionaire, catch "I'd Give A Million." The bored one is Warner Baxter, who trades clothes with a tramp, Peter Lorre. (Say Lorre's a good comic, isn't he?) When Majorie Weaver trips onto the screen, it is only too evident that she will love Baxter for himself alone.

Bring me a fish. Hubbard Keavy.

Revival Meeting Nearing Close

The Church of Christ revival meeting is nearing its close. The service on Sunday evening will be the concluding service. Last night Evangelist J. P. Crenshaw spoke on "Rightly Dividing the Word of Truth," using as a text II Tim. 2:15, in which the Apostle Paul wrote to Timothy: "Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed; rightly dividing the word of truth."

Mr. Crenshaw said in part: "Rightly dividing the Word of Truth is one of the very first prerequisites in coming to an intelligent understanding of the sacred scriptures. Just to say that one believes all of the Bible does not mean that all of the Bible is binding upon the human family today. God commanded Noah to build an ark, but no such demand rests upon us in this dispensation. God commanded the Jews to keep the Sabbath, but no such command is binding upon God's children in this present era."

The evangelist then took up the books of the Bible in order showing the purpose and design of the author. There will be no service Saturday morning, but regular evangelistic services will be conducted this evening and Saturday evening at 8:30 p. m. On Sunday, Bible study begins at 9:45 a. m.; morning services begin at 10:45 a. m. and the evening service begins at 8:30 p. m. You are always welcome at the Church of Christ.

LOVE ON THE RANGE

Chapter 13 HUBBARD KEAVY

"For a man to be sure that a thing is so, is one matter; for a man to be sure that a thing is so and then be forced to listen to some woman's corroboration of that unpleasant fact is quite another. In the days that followed Betty Struthers' revelation that Lee considered him a gun man, Ankrum rode the range with bitter thoughts and somber countenance. His glance took on a colder inscrutability, his lips an unhappier twist. As foreman of the Rafter T he got the ranch work done, but his manner of getting it done warped the playful dispositions of his men and left them saturnine as he was himself. As Alkali one day put it to Windy Jones, "Ridin' for this Streeter waltz is sure gonna keep every drop of the milk of human kindness from my system, Windy. I keep it up much longer. F it wasn't for Mis Lee, by cripes, I'd tell that dang slave driver a thing or two an' pull my picket pin an' drift."

"I expect you'd pull your picket pin, all right," Jones grinned. "But if you went to handin' Streeter any gas I don't reckon you'd do a heap o' driftin'." If Ankrum realized his growing unpopularity with the men, he must not have cared, for he gave it no attention nor modified his treatment. As much as possible he kept away from them, taking many long rides into the surrounding country. Visits to the home ranch were made no more frequently than absolute necessity demanded, and then were brief.

Two emotions swayed him—hurt and anger. He was hurt by the knowledge that to Lee Trone he was in much the same category as a bonnet—a thing of use to be discarded when its use was ended. His anger had been aroused by a number of things, but chiefly by the discovery that Lee's reported opinion of her hired hand could so effectively throw him out of stride.

To be sure, he had repeatedly reflected, her opinion of him was deserved. It was practically his own estimate of himself that first night of his arrival when they'd sat in the touring car together in the darkness of the stable. At that time, however, she had rejected that estimate; had protested vehemently against it, and he—blind fool—had believed her protestation sincere. He had taken pride in thinking that the only barrier to a friendlier relationship between them was the barrier raised by himself. That Struthers' dame was right: what he knew about women was best left unmentioned.

Ankrum's Code He could quit the ranch, of course; he could throw this job in old Trone's face and go his way. That is, he could do so, had he not passed his word to see this unknown business through to the end. In Ankrum's code the moral acceptance of a commission was binding as the strongest contract; his given word was a thing by which he had always abided, and he must abide by it now.

It was early afternoon one day about a fortnight after his illuminating conversation with Betty, that Ankrum came riding in to the home ranch to find Lee Trone leaning against a post of the veranda. Then she called him softly. To his surprise he found his horse moving toward her. Chagrined he suddenly swung the buckskin's head around and rode him in the opposite direction, dismounting stiffly by the pole corral.

Later he was eating a cold snack the cook had grudgingly got together when a shadow darkened the shack door and, looking up, Ankrum found Lee Trone's green eyes upon him oddly. In silence he continued eating. Let her stand there. He'd be damned if he'd speak first!

HAMILTON GANG ACCUSED OF ABDUCTION

DALLAS, July 22 (AP) - J. M. Newell, 28, Fort Worth salesman who was abducted, robbed, and spent most of yesterday lashed to a "T" mot having any feminine officers here he believed his abductors were Floyd Hamilton and Ted Walters, fugitives from the Montague county jail.

He released himself about 6 p. m. yesterday, staggered to a highway, hailed a passing motorist, then telephoned University Park police from a nearby tavern.

Two men who he picked up in Fort Worth as prospective buyers of an automobile he had advertised lashed him to a tree in the thicket after one of them had produced a pistol and robbed him of $18.00. Newell told officers.

His abandoned car was found about 6:45 p. m. on a side road near Dallas. Newell identified a picture of Walters as the man who drove the car, and tentatively identified a police photo of Hamilton as the other man.

'Crime School' Is Offering At The Ritz

Humphrey Bogart And 'Dead End' Kids Featured

"Crime School" is the featured offering at the Ritz theatre Friday and Saturday, a picture which draws interest because of a true-to-life story with wide social implications, and which promises full value in entertainment because of the appearance of that gang of young toughs called the "Dead End" boys - those who played the street walks in the drama of that name.

The boys, however, get the spotlight. They demonstrate that their work in "Dead End" was no accident, by giving fine performances in the newer picture which presents them as typical products of the slum streets arrested for petty crimes.

"Crime School" tells the story of these boys, sent to reform school, where political graft and corruption is rampant. Bogart appears as a new commissioner in charge, and there is depicted the story of his efforts to improve the institution and the boys who are there. There is melodramatic excitement, and at the same time there is the unfolding of an important theme - the eventual fate of juvenile delinquents under contrasting systems of penology, that of the old, brutal, maladministered, grade-A reformatory, and that of the modern corrective institution.

Three Mesquiteers' In New Adventures In Lyric Feature

Gaining popularity with each new release in the series of western adventure photoplays which feature the "Three Mesquiteers" - Bob Livingston, Ray Corrigan and Max Terhune. The boys are in a new outdoor melodrama at the Lyric Friday and Saturday, an action thriller called "Riders of the Black Hills."

The plot of the new picture revolves around the mistaken identity of a famous race horse, with the Three Mesquiteers becoming involved when they are found with a horse which closely resembles the race horse which has been kidnapped and is being held for ransom.

Bob Livingston is again the dashing member of the trio who manages to get the boys into one scrape after another because his romantic soul won't let him pass a pretty feminine face - in this instance the face of lovely Ann Evers. Ray is the strong, silent man and Max Terhune offers several comedy interludes.

Roscoe Ates is at his stuttering best as a small town sheriff who almost always gets his man - in his own imagination.

Other members of the cast meriting mention are Frank Melton, John Lang Fitzgerald, Tom London and Jack Ingram.

CITIZENS LEND COOPERATION

(Editor's Note: This is another of a series of articles showing how Texas cities are dealing with traffic problems in a campaign to defeat unnecessary injury and death.)

AMARILLO, July 22 (AP)—Facing an ever-increasing flow of traffic, police and citizens of Amarillo are working unceasingly to reduce the rate of accident injuries and fatalities.

Their efforts the first six months this year succeeded in cutting the general total of five deaths the first half of last year to four in 1938, but city officials and civic clubs are far from satisfied.

Among other safety measures, the police-department stations at least one traffic officer at each school throughout the year and

Higher Prices for Farm Products
He is for all sound programs designed to raise the prices of farm and ranch products. The farm must be given an even break with industry. Will lead the influence of the Governor's office in co-operation with all agencies seeking to better farm prices and further the conservation movement.

Month's Highway Deaths Total 115

AUSTIN, July 22 (AP)—Drinking drivers and pedestrians topped the list of causes of 1,028 highway accidents in June, state police revealed today.

Col. H. H. Carmichael, public safety director, said 99 crashes involved drivers and walkers who had been drinking. Ninety-four others resulted when operators ignored laws governing right-of-way, 78 because cars were too near the center of the wrong side of the road and 72 because of excessive speed.

Fatalities for the month totaled 115, or 44 less than the same month last year. For the first six months this year 130 fewer persons have died from traffic injuries than for a comparable period last year.

PERMIT ISSUED FOR CHURCH RESIDENCE

Permit was issued Friday by the city to the First Presbyterian church, for construction of a residence to be used as a manse. Work is already under way on the structure, located at Park and Lancaster streets in Edwards Heights.

The home, to cost approximately $6,000, will be a six-room, one story brick veneer.

CUTTING IN

ST. LOUIS, July 22 (AP)—There's competition brewing for St. Louis county's lucrative "Gretna Green."

Free cooking lessons with every wedding were promised today by Justice of the Peace John Soutie, who frankly admitted he was seeking some of the business that keeps self-styled "Marryin' Justice" George R. Hart busy day and night.

"A man has to make a living, and this looks as good as anything else," Soutie grinned as he hung over his door a sign reading: "This place will be a marriage parlor after August 1. Free cooking lessons for brides. Always open."

ASKS UNITS TO IGNORE NLRB

PHILADELPHIA, July 22 (AP)—Warner D. Curry, president of the Philadelphia central labor union, representing American Federation of Labor units, said today he has advised all affiliated organizations to ignore the National Labor Relations Board. "The board," he said, "has shown itself hostile to the A. F. of L."

Texas Election Bureau, Furnishing Returns For Herald On Saturday Night, Has A Big Task Ahead

The Texas Election Bureau, which will furnish the returns Saturday night for The Herald and KBBT, is expecting to find this year's election a real test of its recognized speed and efficiency. The bureau is a state-wide co-operative organization of Texas newspapers which has established a reputation as one of the most efficient gatherers of election returns in the country.

R. L. Johnson, new bureau manager, expects more than 1,000,000 votes to be cast in the first primary. Complicating the collection of returns will be the heavy list of entries in state races, including a record field of 13 seeking the governorship.

"To get in the vote on election night, when it's news, will be the bureau's aim," said Mr. Johnson. "Returns must come in quicker than in 1936 in order to maintain the speed set in that election. This will be because of the longer ballot."

The 1938 ballot in the July primary carries 53 state candidates with contests. In only one office—that of F. L. Hawkins, judge of the court of criminal appeals—is the incumbent unopposed. Two years ago there were only 30 state

Connally Talks; Luker Re-elected To Presidency

FORT WORTH, July 22 (AP)—United States Senator Tom Connally told the Texas Rural Letter Carriers association here yesterday that romance and adventure have gone into the development of the rural free delivery service.

"From the very crude beginnings, rural mail carrier service has become one of the fastest forms of motor transportation in the world, and you should be proud to be a part of such a system," Connally said.

"Your patrons regard you as representatives of their government and as a personal friend."

Phil Luker of Throckmorton was re-elected president of the Texas branch of the National League of District Postmasters at the joint convention with the carriers organization.

Other officers, also re-elected by the postmasters, are Mrs. Pauline Bogatto, Lamarque; J. G. Simms, Valley Mills, and Miss Olive Eates, Mountain Home, vice president, and Mrs. Ruth Norman, Morgan, secretary-treasurer.

Problems facing rural letter carriers were discussed by C. W. Long, postoffice inspector, of Dallas at the carriers' meeting. Abilene, Port Arthur, El Paso and Austin are inviting the carriers' convention for 1939.

Otis White is planning to leave Friday night for a business trip to San Antonio.

Mexico Shipment Of Gold Large

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—The commerce department disclosed today Mexico had shipped more than $10,000,000 worth of gold to the United States in the last three weeks.

The disclosure apparently confirmed rumors in New York financial circles that the Bank of Mexico was shipping a large percentage of its gold reserves to the United States for deposit under earmark.

If earmarked, the gold would remain the property of the Mexican government and would provide no dollar credits. While on deposit in this country, however, the metal would be available for ready conversion into dollars or possible as security for a loan.

Prepared To Handle Election Returns

AUSTIN, July 22 (AP)—The secretary of state's office will be open all night Saturday and until 1 p. m. Sunday to receive unofficial election reports from county democratic executive committee chairman as required by law.

Assistant Secretary of State Martin Sandlin said arrangements had been completed to receive the reports by telegraph and telephone for tabulation. He said the chairman had been mailed instructions and blanks.

Sandlin said the returns, so far as he knew, played no significant part in the election but were required by the legislature probably

Faces Quarantine

AUSTIN, Tex., July 22 (AP)—Many agriculture products from gulf coast states east of the Mississippi faced a quarantine in Texas today. Agriculture Commissioner J. E. McDonald said the embargo was an attempt to keep the dread white-fringed beetle out of Texas.

POLICE HEAD IS ARRESTED FOR CONTEMPT

AUSTIN, July 22 (AP)—Col. H. H. Carmichael, state police director, was free under $500 bond today on habeas corpus proceedings following his arrest yesterday on a warrant citing him for contempt of court.

The supreme court granted his application for writ of habeas corpus and set hearing Sept. 7. M. L. Peterson, proprietor of a trucking line, claimed state officers continued to stop and weigh Peterson's trucks in violation of the injunction.

Menard Streets Under Water

ARLENE, July 22 (AP)—The West Texas Utilities company dispatcher at Menard reported late this morning to headquarters here that the main street at Menard was a running stream and that low residential areas had been evacuated as the San Baba river rampaged.

Hope that the flood crest had passed were expressed at 10:30 a. m. when the river had fallen a few inches.

The Menard sub-station of the utilities company was waist deep in water, the dispatcher reported.
