OUTLOOK FOR 1957

Juvenile Delinquency Problem Threatens To Become More Acute

By J. EDGAR HOOVER, Director, Federal Bureau of Investigation

Written for United Press

The juvenile delinquency problem casts a stigma upon every community where it exists. No child ever was "born to be a criminal."

But the pathway from infancy to responsible adulthood is difficult. Thousands of children stumble every day; and all too many of these who make the journey successfully do so in spite of the adult community around them.

In 1955, the toll was tragic. There were 576,000 juvenile arrests, 11 per cent more than in 1954 while the number of 10 to 17-year olds in our population increased only three per cent.

And the problem threatens to become more acute in the years ahead.

This sacrifice of young people is not inevitable. There is much we can do to assure that every child receives the opportunity he so richly deserves to develop into a useful citizen.

Nothing will be accomplished, however, until America recognizes delinquency in its true light—not as a mere juvenile problem but as a product of adult failure.

The responsibility for providing moral guidance rests primarily with parents. By both precept and example, it is the parents' duty to make the child's life meaningful. Due to circumstances beyond their immediate control, some parents are unable to meet this obligation.

If there were the only youngsters who needed help from outsiders, our delinquency problem would never have become so acute. Unfortunately, however, thousands of mothers and fathers have constructed a barrier of neglect and disinterest between themselves and their children. Herein lies the core of the problem.

When the home has failed, help must come from other sources. Instruments for prevention of delinquency are available in every community, but America still lacks the enthusiastic interest which is essential to their intelligent use.

The church offers pure moral guidance to young and old alike. Yet, in how many neighborhoods does God truly abide? Schools can help teach the lessons of good citizenship. But how many are crippled by inadequate staffs and budgets? Youth organizations, both public and private, can channel young energy into constructive activities. How many of these, too, lack the necessary support?

Prevention of delinquency, like prevention of other human problems, can be accomplished only through unified action and a will to do the job. Parents may have the primary responsibility for their children's misdeeds; but each adult citizen must share the stigma of neglect when waves of juvenile vandalism and crime wash across his community.

IT WALKS—Since "perambulate" means to walk about, a Swedish inventor has come up with a perambulator that really does walk. As seen above, during demonstration in Stockholm, Wilhelm Peterson's pram has, instead of wheels, 20 metallic feet, fixed to the axle in spoke fashion. It "walks" up and down stairs and, on flat surface, the "feet" impart a rocking rhythm to the carriage, which should act like a lullaby.

Quotes In The News

NEW YORK: Helen Ladon, 20-year-old "maid of cotton," on any Hollywood film offers: "I don't care to live in a fish bowl."

KENNEDY, Tex.: Chuck Martin (of radio station KENN) describing the explosion of a propane gas truck which killed two persons: "The explosion blew me to the ground. That's when I started to run. The flames were overhead, like a big cloud, coming down to me. That's when I started the Lord's Prayer."

NEW YORK: Secretary of State John Foster Dulles on a proposed U.S. Middle Eastern foreign policy: "Recent events in the Middle East make it necessary that the United States should further develop its policies in relation to that area."

WASHINGTON: Syrian Ambassador Farid Zeineddine charging that the new "Eisenhower doctrine" for the Middle East is like British and French proposals aimed at continuing colonialism in that area: "That (colonialism) is exactly the thing which causes instability, upheavals and wide international implications."

Top Basketball Quintets Return To Action Tonight

By UNITED PRESS

North Carolina, Southern Methodist, and Baylor — champions in three of the biggest holiday basketball tournaments — return to the court wars in leading games on tonight's schedule.

North Carolina, the nation's No. 2 team with an 11-0 mark after capturing the Dixie Classic Tournament last week, is expected to have an easy time as host to Harvard.

But SMU, ranked No. 4 nationally with a 10-1 mark after winning the Southwest Conference pre-season tournament, faces a conference battle as host to Baylor. And Connecticut, winner of the Orange Bowl tournament, will be tested by Dartmouth's defending Ivy League champions.

The SMU-Baylor clash and a Texas Aggies-Rice game mark the opening of the official Southwest Conference league season. Also on tonight's program is the first round of the Senior Bowl Tournament at Mobile, Ala.

In leading games Tuesday night: Ron Kramer, Michigan's star football end, scored 20 points to lead the Wolverine cage team in handing Yale its fifth straight defeat, 75-62; six-six Frank Howard's 22 points and 21 rebounds led Ohio State to an easy 84-77 victory over Princeton; six-four Ted Guzek scored 20 of his 32 points in the second half as Butler rallied to down Denver, 72-68; and Georgia edged Florida State, 72-68. In consolation games in the All-American City Tournament, Montana State trounced Iowa College, 90-73, and Maryland edged Virginia, 43-39.

UN Ends Holiday Recess

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP) —The U.N. General Assembly ends its 10-day holiday recess today to take up the most pressing series of problems ever to face the international body.

The situations in Hungary and the Middle East remain foremost on the list of problems to be met during the New Year. Also slated for discussion at the earliest possible date are the British-Greek dispute over Cyprus, Algeria's demands for independence from France and a dispute between The Netherlands of Indonesia for control of Western New Guinea.

The future of Hungary was expected to be first on the agenda, although Asian and Arab delegates continued strong efforts to get priority for a debate on the Algerian issue.

A battle appeared to be shaping up for recognition of two Hungarian delegations to the assembly. Observers speculated that a delegation representing the Hungarian Communist government will challenge credentials of a delegation headed by Dr. Endre Sik later this week.

Govt. Reports Cash Received For Commodities

WASHINGTON (UP) — The government reported today more than 60 per cent of federal-owned farm commodities disposed of since 1953 brought cash on the barrelhead.

The Agriculture Department said in a year-end review of surplus disposal operations that the percentage of these dollar sales has gone up recently.

For the first quarter of fiscal 1957 (July through Sept. 30), dollar sales rose to 71 per cent of the total distribution. For the July, 1953-September, 1956, period, the dollar sales percentage was 61.

In addition to sales for cash, large volumes of surplus commodities moved out of the Commodity Credit Corp. inventory through special programs. These disposals were by sales for foreign currencies, barter, transfers to other agencies, and donations.

Department officials were jubilant over the dollar sales. In addition to reducing the surpluses which depress markets, the cash sales cut down on storage costs.

The department noted that largely through cash sales, CCC inventories of several commodities have been drastically reduced or completely depleted. There is a "solid out" sign on butter, cottonseed oil, linseed oil, seeds, and dry edible beans. Rice inventories are all committed for sale. Wool is being sold into market channels in steady volume. The same is true of cotton.

Barter operations have disposed of more than $300 million worth of farm commodities at export market value since July, 1953. Wheat has been the leading barter commodity, accounting for more than 40 per cent of the total on a value basis.

Treasure Trove

IPSWICH, Mass. (UP) — When frogmen discovered a strong box in the wreckage of a vessel on the floor of Ipswich Bay, they figured they had hit the jackpot. Bob Altherly and Ed Lyman couldn't wait to get the box open. It was filled with an excellent grade of mud.

ISRAEL WANTS GIANT OIL LINE—Israel has come up with a plan for a 30-inch, 275-mile pipeline through Israel to deliver Middle East oil to tankers at the Mediterranean refining port of Haifa. Its capacity is estimated at 20 million tons a year and its cost, for which Israel seeks financing, would be 60 million dollars. As map at left shows, the pipeline would run from the Red Sea port of Eilat to Haifa. This line would supplement an "emergency" eight-inch line Israel is already building from Eilat to Beersheba, from whence oil will go by rail to Haifa. Map at right shows how oil would be tankered from oil ports in Kuwait, Qatar, Bahrain and Saudi Arabia into the Red Sea and up to its east arm, the Gulf of Aden instead of into its west arm, the Gulf of Suez.

Year's End Report On Stock Market

NEW YORK (UP)—The 1956 stock market turned over 556,284,172 shares, third largest since 1933, valued at around $27 billion, and closed the year just about where it left off in 1955.

Industrial stocks gained 11.07 points in their average. This was more than knocked out by a drop of 10.04 points in the less heavily weighted rails. Utilities held the balance of power and their 4.38 point rise left the composite average up 1.36 points. On the basis of its weighting, the rise in the composite of the 65 stocks—30 industrials, 20 rails, and 15 utilities—showed a gain over 1955 of a mere 45 cents a share, hardly enough to compensate for a year's work. But that fluctuation was a modest one. Some stocks soared. Some had sharp declines. Lukens Steel, a late 1956 sensation, soared to $182.88 at the 1956 close, a rise of $137.38 over the 1955 close. Mahoning Coal Railroad fell $132.50 to $480. Du Pont lost $88.75. Bethlehem Steel gained $54.88. New Haven Railroad fell $15 to $14.25. Chrysler lost $16.50. The market during the year had many problems to contend with. There was the Eisenhower uncertainty first of all. The President announced he would be a candidate again on Feb. 29. The market went up and up until it hits its high on April 6 in the industrial average at $21.05. It fell until May 28 when support developed. Then it got another shock when the President contracted leitis and was hospitalized. His quick recovery inspired a new rally. Meantime there was a steel strike which was ignored by the financial district. When that was out of the way Col. Nasser seized the Suez Canal and a new uncertainly was injected. During the whole year the money market tightened and tightened until bonds were driven down to levels where they competed with stocks on a yield basis. Also affecting the market were such items as the Polish and Hungarian revolts, inflationary forces, a tightening of the vise on profits in industry, and the prospect of an eventual deflation brought on by tight money. This last was a problem as the new year began. Wall Street seers said the federal reserve operation of the money market would be a test of the ability of official forces to keep the economy on an even keel.
