Bomb Threats Disrupt Flights

NEW YORK (UP)—False bomb threats disrupted flights of four airlines Tuesday at airports throughout the East. The phony bomb warnings caused delays in flights of Trans World, American, United and Delta airlines planes while they were searched in New York, Philadelphia, Newark, N.J., and Jackson, Miss. Six Airborne TWA planes made emergency landings at airports as far south as Baltimore and as far west as Detroit to permit searches. No bombs were found on any of the planes. The excitement began when an anonymous caller, sounding like a teen-age boy, told a TWA reservation clerk: "There's a bomb on your plane. You had better get it off."

Nine Seamen Rescued By Coast Guard

BOSTON (UP)—A Coast Guard cutter Tuesday night rescued nine frostbitten seamen from a two-day ordeal in a waterlogged open boat 175 miles at sea. The men, crew members of the 151-foot coastal freighter Patricia Sweeney of Yarmouth, N.S. drifted helplessly in near freezing temperatures for 44 hours. Their coal cargo shifted and capsized the vessel during a howling gale Sunday night. They were unable to give a distress signal and barely had time to scramble into their lifeboat before the ship "went down like a stone."

Entry to the car was obtained by breaking out the window in the left front door.

Police Seek Bicycle Owners The police department and the juvenile officer are holding three bicycles which have been recovered in Pampa and are unable to locate the owners.

Jim Conner, chief-of-police, reported this morning that the police department has two girls' bicycles that the owners may recover by identifying them. He reported that one of the bicycles has 26-inch wheels and is fairly new. He reported that the other bicycle is an old one.

H. A. Doggett, juvenile officer, also reported that he is holding a bicycle. This one is a boy's model and the owner can obtain it by describing the bicycle.

The police department also has a cast iron wash pot that was found in the yard of a local citizen. The officer would like for the owner to claim this item.

Highway patrolmen and sheriff's deputies joined in a search for the eight fugitives still at large. The search centered on rural roads in the vicinity of the hospital and near the Nashville Municipal Airport.

The mental patients sawed their way through bars of a third-floor window of the criminal division hospital and lowered themselves to the ground on rope made of sheets tied together.

Hospital Supervisor D. E. Hines said he did not know how the inmates got the hacksaws with which they made their escape.

CHARGES

(Continued From Page One) was lying in her grandmother's cellar. In fact, investigating officials pointed out, it would seem that over nine-tenths of the young people around Shamrock knew of the money, and that was a standing joke among them that they were going down to "Grandma's" cellar to get some "peaches and cream."

Only Needed $100 One of the boys admitted making several trips to the cellar and taking over $650. Another boy who had been told went down one night and helped himself to $100 in ten-dollar bills. This boy told officials that he could have taken more, but at the time that was all he needed.

The first boy, who had taken over $650 already, said that he went down one night to get some more money and found that it was all gone. He said that at that time he became panicky and ran away, jumping over a fence, ripping his pants on the way. There were still many others being questioned, and charges are still to be filed on some of them.

Sheriff Bus Dorman has said that he is checking on various leads, some of which point to as far away as New Mexico. However officials have only managed to account for approximately $1100 of the missing $3600.

'Playhouse 90' Snares Some Of Hollywood's Top Movies

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press Hollywood Writer

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — While the movie industry burns, CBS' "Playhouse 90" has been snaring top properties from under Hollywood noses.

Both the public and show business laughed when CBS sat down to try television's first 1-1/2 hour live dramatic show last fall. Yet "Playhouse 90" has not only survived but has been snaring top dramas that the movies are planning to do.

Thursday night the highly-rated program will present "The Last Tycoon," F. Scott Fitzgerald's last Fitzgerald fans will be happy to hear from "Playhouse 90" producer Martin Manulis that his "The Last Tycoon" starring Jack Palance, will stick closely to the book.

"Fitzgerald died before finishing the novel but he left a lot of notes," explained Manulis. "He apparently planned the ending to include a melodramatic double murder but Don Manciewicz, who did our script, wrote a different ending."

Procuring the story of blues singer Helen Morgan was an even greater triumph for Manulis. He heard a rumor that Warner Studio "for some reason" failed to nail down the TV rights when it purchased the movie story of Miss Morgan's life.

"I called New York on a Sunday and found out the TV rights were available," said Manulis. "The next day we signed Lulu Morgan, Helen's mother, to give us the story."

Miss Blyth and Newman already were in their jazz age costumes doing the movie when they heard CBS would get its story starring Polly Bergen (one of the losing contenders for the movie role) on TV first. But, as they say in television circles, that's the way the cookie crumbles.

Glancing away from the road for just one second at a speed of 40 miles an hour is like driving blind for 58 feet.

Farm Counties Are Fighting Poverty

By BERNARD BRENNER
WASHINGTON, March 12 (UP) — Local leaders in more than 50 low-income farming counties are "pioneering on a new frontier" to wipe out rural poverty, the Agriculture Department reports.

Leaders in "pilot counties" in the Eisenhower administration's rural development program are "planning and directing balanced economic development in rural areas... whose resources have long been underdeveloped," the department said in a special progress report.

eight areas of two or more counties in 24 states enrolled as "pilot" areas in the rural development program. Officials have said the lessons learned in these areas will be used to expand the program in later years.

Federal and state agencies have an important share in the program. But in most pilot counties, local people take the lead through rural development committees, agriculture department officials said.

The pilot counties include about 111,000 farms, 81 per cent of them with sales under $2,500 a year. For some of these farmers, the road to better living lies in expanded farming operations, department experts said. For many others, however, the answer is help in finding off-farm jobs.

What are the pilot counties doing?

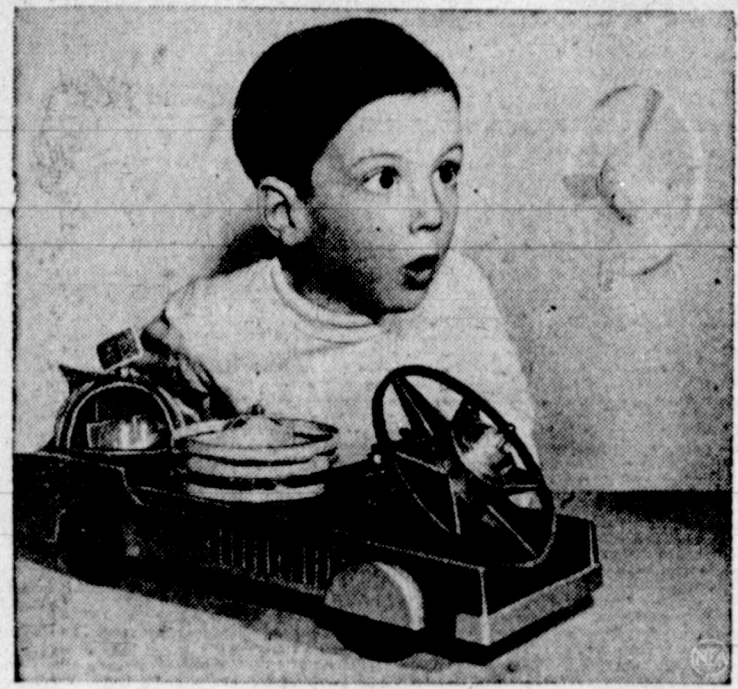

The agriculture department offers these examples:

In Tippah county, Miss., a labor survey showed more than 500 farm women wanted off-farm jobs. Local people remodeled a building and a small clothing factory moved in to employ 250 people. Money raised by businessmen and the more prosperous farmers financed a milk receiving plant which will employ county workers and provide a new market for dairy farmers.

committee found a pressing need for recreation facilities for rural youth, and went to work in that field.

In Perry county, Ind., the committee spurred an industrialization drive that has brought four new industries to the county in recent months.

These wrinkles that sleep presses into your face can be banished in the morning before you apply your make-up. Start (left) by steaming your face over the washbowl after your shower. The water should be very hot. Then, dip a small towel or washcloth in water as hot as you can stand it and gently rub across the creases. Rinse with cold water and then (center) finish by rubbing an ice cube wrapped in the same cloth over your entire face. You're now ready for make-up. The result: a smooth and pretty face (right). Once you get into the routine you'll find it takes just a few minutes each morning.

(Special To The News)
WHITE DEER — In a formal service held in the Baptist Church here recently, Miss Linda Baten, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Baten of White Deer, was crowned Queen of the Intermediate Girls Auxiliary.

Background for the coronation ceremony was a large GA emblem of green, gold, and white. Branched candelabra and tall baskets of white roses and yellow stock were used. Miss Baten knelt on a pillow of white satin as she was crowned by Rev. L. V. Ratliff, local pastor.

Mrs. W. B. Franklin, of Pampa, conducted the service.

Miss Baten was attended by Norma Robertson, crown bearer; Misses Joyce Baten, Pampa, and Carolyn Crawford were flower girls.

Other members of Girls Auxiliary who participated in the service and received honors were Misses Paulette Burns, Lulu and Elma Milton, making their "Lady-in-Waiting" steps; and Misses Fern Phillips, Linda Jo Crowson, Sammy Kaye, Barbara Osborne and Sharon Lister, making their "Maiden Steps." The advancements and coronation of the Auxiliary are part of an individual improvement program which includes reading, participation, and memory work.

Following the program, presented by the members of the Auxiliary, the prayer of dedication was given by Mrs. Rick Hamming, local W.M.U. President.

Counselor and co-counselor of the Intermediate GA group are Mmes. Clifton Kelly and Glenn Reed. Mmes. Kenneth Lister and Bill Guber are counselors of the Junior group.

Early Morning Sleep-Pressed Wrinkles Are Banished With Quick Beauty Duty

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Efficiency is essential to holding any job, yet equally necessary is a pleasing appearance. No matter how capably you perform your duties, if you're careless about the way you look, chances are you'll be passed by when a promotion is in the offing.

Cleanliness, as we all know, is the basic factor in good grooming. But it isn't enough just to be clean.

Your hair should be worn in a style that you, yourself, can always keep in place. Get a good, professional-haircut—that you can care for at home.

For a bright, glowing complexion, use plenty of soap and water—and if your skin is dry—a good lubricating cream.

If you wake in the morning to find that your pillowcase has left creases in your skin, there's a trick for getting rid of them before you leave for work.

After you shower, steam your face over the washbasin. The water should be very hot. If you have an automatic gas heater, the temperature should be turned to 140 degrees or higher. Just bend over the basin and let the steam bathe your cheeks.

Then dip a washcloth in water as hot as you can stand and gently rub across the creases, working outward. Repeat this until the lines fade.

Then rinse with cold water. Finish by rubbing an ice cube over your face, rubbing outward.

You'll then be ready to apply your usual make-up for the office, which should be just enough to give nature a lift.

No matter what your job is, dressing for it boils down to two things—common sense and good taste.

Some of us err by placing too much emphasis on comfort. It isn't necessary to wear flat, sloppy shoes because your feet hurt in high heels. It isn't difficult to find a medium-heeled, smart shoe that will be comfortable and attractive. A foundation garment of some type is a must for most women. If you don't need a heavy-boned girdle, don't get one; there are lightweight girdles to be had. You'll find their firming support comfortable, and you'll look better, too.

Overdressing is another mistake. No need to turn up for work looking as though you'd really intended to go dancing and arrived at the office quite by accident. Frilly clothing, ankle-strap sandals and jingling costume jewelry are distracting and out of place in business.

It's not hard to be well-groomed for your job. A trim, neat wardrobe, a simple hairdo and a

"NERVOUSNESS" NOT IN TEXT BOOKS, CURABLE

Gynecology textbooks are concerned with the diseases of women but you will search in vain for that disorder so common among women and generally termed "nervousness."

Nervousness is a word that means a general debility that affects not only the activities of the organs of the entire body, but also changes the personality and habits of the luckless man, woman or child suffering from its debilitating influences.

Its unfortunate sufferers are told to take up golf, sewing, or just any old hobby that will get them out of the office of their puzzled family physician.

They have about as much chance forgetting nervousness as they would ignoring a cancer or broken leg!

There is hope, however, for this lost legion.

A lady thirty-six years old, could remember back when she was five years old and she said she was nervous even then.

With a tight shaky feeling in her stomach she couldn't take a full breath, nor could she relax nor sleep at night. She had frequent headaches, poor appetite, indigestion, and constipation, female trouble, with painful irregularity, and sinus trouble, all of which were rapidly growing worse when she was told by her family doctor to forget it or take up a hobby. She knew she was really sick so she took a friend's advice and came to the Miller Chiropractic Clinic for an examination.

Our regular spinal analysis and spinal X-rays located a trouble affecting her central nervous system which resulted in faulty function of several organs.

After completing her required period of adjustments, she said, "Sleep okay now, tightness gone, stomach and bowels back to normal, and all other symptoms gone. Feel fine." No. 2949

Why don't you take your friend's advice and investigate? You have nothing to lose except bad health . . .

You Can Do Something With Weather

AUSTIN — If you think you can't do anything about the weather you're dead wrong. Ask the State Health Department. They'll tell you all of us, assuming normalcy, are constantly doing something about it.

We are all equipped with our own private thermostat. When atmospheric temperature rises or falls from 98.6 degrees which is normal body temperature, the thermostat goes into action.

This built-in regulator is a tiny maze of nerve cells in the mid-brain. If the day is hot, it re-routes blood from internal organs to skin capillaries, dilating the flow with fluids drawn from skin and muscle tissue and from the liver. Sweat glands on skin surfaces dilate and exude perspiration. Body temperature is reduced by the dilution of blood and exudation of sweat. When the sweat evaporates your skin cools off.

If the day is cold the thermostat concentrates the blood and diminishes the flow through skin capillaries. Sweating is minimal and the blood coagulates through internal organs deep within the body. Result: you feel cold and have to put on a coat or an extra blanket to stay comfortable.

As a fact of human physiology, body temperature of warm-blooded animals remain unchanged at 98.6 degrees, even though the air temperature might vary from zero to over 100 degrees.

Provided the air is perfectly dry, a man can maintain normal temperature in atmosphere that will actually grill a beefsteak. There are experimental cases on record where human subjects, by drinking great quantities of water to sustain perspiration and stripping to the waist to facilitate evaporation, have withstood temperatures up to 260 degrees for extended periods without ill effects.

But the subjects would be in serious trouble if they tried to endure 120 degrees in a damp, humid atmosphere. Sweat evaporation is influenced by the extent to which the atmosphere is already saturated with moisture. In high humidity sweat merely drips from the skin and in no way increases heat loss.

As a Texan, accustomed to hot weather, you are probably most comfortable when the humidity is about 65 per cent — that is, when the air is 65 per cent saturated.

The fatter a person is the better he can withstand cold. Fat acts as a blanket. Conversely, fat people suffer more in hot weather.

And if you're a man you're more susceptible to cold than your wife. You both have insulating layers of fat but hers is naturally thicker. Therefore, while it may be socially gallant it is physiologically foolish to relinquish your coat to your wrapless lady when you are both caught out in the cold. You need it worse than she does.

Gomulka Seems To Be In Trouble

Foreign News Commentary
By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Polish Communist leader Wladyslaw Gomulka appears to be in serious trouble.

His independent Communist regime is under attack by Polish Reds who oppose his breakaway from Soviet Russian domination, by Polish non-Communists and by Moscow propaganda organs.

At the same time, the negotiations in Washington for economic and financial aid which would strengthen him in his fight for national independence are bogging down.

It is too early to say that Gomulka's control of the Polish Communist party and government is in actual danger. But it could be before long if the present situation continues.

Two-Way Difficulty

It is increasingly evident that Gomulka is having difficulty in both maintaining his present independence and in avoiding an open break with the Russians.

One big reason is that Soviet leaders are fully aware now of the danger that any move toward independent Communism presents to their domination of Eastern Europe.

Another reason is that strong elements in Poland, both Communist and non-Communist, want Gomulka to take an even more independent attitude.

One result of the situation is that Gomulka and Premier Jozef Cyrankiewicz have been compelled to restore to government jobs most of the Stalinist leaders who fought Gomulka's return to power last October during the surge of revolt in satellite countries.

But Cyrankiewicz and Gomulka are being attacked also by those Poles who want him to go farther toward independence.

Premier Denounced

Cyrankiewicz was openly denounced in the Polish Parliament on Feb. 27 by Antoni Wajtylak, a non-Communist who is also director of the agricultural college at Breslau—or Wroclaw, as the Poles call it—in Polish-occupied Eastern Germany.

Wajtylak said that Cyrankiewicz was responsible for all the abuse of power by the Communists during Josef Stalin's dictatorship.

Some members angrily tried to shout Wajtylak down. Others applauded him. It was necessary to suspend the session for 10 minutes.

On March 1, eight leading editors and writers of Trybuna Ludu, the newspaper organ of the Polish Communist Party, resigned in protest against the policy of the ruling Politburo. These eight men resented what they regarded as a trend toward a new Stalinist policy.

U.S. Invited Talks

The Washington negotiations were invited by the United States which thought it wise to strengthen Gomulka by relieving Poland's economic difficulties.

But the negotiations have run into a snag. For one thing, the so-called Battle Act passed by Congress rigidly restricts the giving of aid to Communist countries.

To get around this, Secretary of

Panel Agrees US Women Unhappy

TOKYO (UP)—A panel of Japanese men agreed today that American women are the unhappy women in the world.

For example, one of the panelists said, "In order to humor the men, they have to go on diets and dye their hair."

Newspaperman Hiroo Mukai said American women are unhappy because they have promoted equality of sexes so much.

"They can't expect men to pamper them any longer," he said, "so now American women are trying hard to make friends with men and be attractive to them."

State John Foster Dulles has ruled that Poland is not under Russian domination. That ruling permits some aid. But it also has been found that the government has disposed of most of the farm surpluses which were available to foreign countries.

Gomulka almost certainly will get some help from the United States. It will be nowhere near the $300 million he seeks in economic and financial aid, however.

LEPORS — A contract with Southwestern Bell Telephone Company has been made by the Lefora City Council to install five special phones in the homes of volunteer firemen. It was announced at the council's regular meeting Monday night March 4.

Power Of Judges

We have previously mentioned the incredible power of the court respecting matters of contempt. The American system of jurisprudence, based as it is on both English law and English precedent, has it that the power of the court is traced directly from the crown. There is a certain royal prerogative which still clothes our judges which prerogative is considered to flow directly from the monarch.

While we do not question this, insofar as British law is concerned, it seems to us a travesty on American Independence that American law still contains a holdover from the alleged "divine right of kings."

It is particularly noticeable in matters of contempt, since a judge is deemed a law unto himself and can, if he so chooses, cite an individual for contempt of court even when that individual is not in court and not a party to the matter at trial.

The recourse to be had by the cited individual is meagre. He cannot be heard before a jury. He is given a chance to present his defense under oath, but decision of the judge is final and the power of the judge is so great that the luckless citee can find himself fined or imprisoned simply because he exercised what he presumed to be his constitutional right of free speech.

Now it does happen that on at least one occasion the Supreme Court of the United States decided that cases of contempt against citizens not in the court nor privy of the courts' findings, could not be valid. This matter was reported in some detail in U. S. News and World Report for February 15 under the heading of "How Much Power Does a Judge Really Have?" It makes interesting reading.

None the less, while the Supreme Court did reverse itself in this one instance, there is no reason to believe that it would do so again, and some steps ought to be taken to curtail this unbridled display of power.

Fortunately, others than ourselves have noted this latent potential for tyranny. The honorable John J. Flynn, Jr., a representative to the nation's Congress from Georgia, has recently introduced a measure in the House which, if approved, would serve to curtail the unbridled use of force which presently pertains.

In presenting his measure, Congressman Flynn stated, "Nothing in the bill is designed or intended to prevent any court from summarily punishing for contempt any person guilty of a contemptuous act or otherwise creating any disorder in the courtroom or in the presence of the court."

It does not take away from any court or any judge the right to maintain order and decorum within the courtroom nor does it deny to such court or such judge the right to punish willful violations of the terms of any order, mandate, writ, process, rule, decree or command of the court.

It does, however, provide that no American citizen shall be fined or imprisoned or both for an act of contempt of court committed outside the presence of the court and involving a proceeding to which he was not a party until a legally qualified and impartial jury passes upon the question of his guilt or his innocence."

Congressman Flynn is to be congratulated for making the proposal he has. While we owe much to British law for our understanding and functional employment of due process in an effort to attain justice, we owe nothing to the British crown, nor should any of our laws or regulations be based upon a presumed inherent right of the crown to decide arbitrarily against a citizen who may differ from the opinion of the judge in a given case.

We were particularly pleased with this statement, also from Congressman Flynn:

"The test of all legislation is not what a good and wise man might do with it; the necessary test to be applied is what a bad man can do with it. Absolute power whether vested in an executive officer or in a judicial officer is a dangerous thing and would most certainly destroy our framework of government and the basic guaranties of individual liberties which are spelled out in the Constitution of the United States and I believe in the constitutions of all 48 states."

We have great hopes that the Congress will pass this needed revision to the powers wielded by courts. It is completely contrary to the spirit of our laws that any man, regardless of his office, shall have arbitrary power over another man simply because the one may choose to criticize the other. We hold the right to criticize an inviolable portion of freedom of both speech and press.

THE NATION'S PRESS

PENALTIES ON EFFICIENCY

(Industrial News Review)

We Americans are paying billions more for freight transportation than we should—because obsolete government policies have encouraged inefficient freight carriers and penalized efficient ones. That is the substance of an extremely well documented article by Gilbert Burck in the January issue of Fortune.

Mr. Burck compares the situation to the European cartel idea, which restrains production and progress, and raises prices. The cartel has always been viewed with the utmost mistrust in this country. "Yet," Mr. Burck writes, "the fact is that government regulation has not only caused inefficient carriers to be subsidized and promoted at the expense of efficient carriers, it has given nonregulated carriers unfair advantage over regulated carriers and so has encouraged the maintenance of a larger transportation plant than the nation needs." In the case of the railroads, he adds, regulatory policies have prevented them from competing for traffic that they could haul profitably and economically, and so has forced them to maintain higher rates than they would otherwise have maintained. Mr. Burck's article runs to many thousands of words, and is buttressed with all manner of statistical and other factual evidence. He plays no favorites, and deals with past policies of the railroads and other carriers which he regards as short-sighted and bad. But that is water over the dam, and the problem now is to get the kind of regulation that will give the public the best service at the lowest cost.

The way to do that is found in laws now pending in Congress, based upon the exhaustive report of the President's Cabinet committee on transportation policy. The main goal is to bring about great freedom in competition—including price competition—and to permit and encourage each carrier to make the most of its inherent advantages.

Inflation And Fools Budget Figures

The general belief seems to be that the fiscal budget, beginning next July and ending July '58, is $71,800,000,000. That figure is not correct by any means. Before I go into that, however, I want to quote what Percy L. Greaves Jr. writes in "Christian Economics" under the heading of "Budget Blunders: Some Big Ones." This is the way he puts it:

"The budget billions bandied about in the headlines are truly colossal. But even these unbelievably high figures do not reveal the whole truth about the dollars our Federal Government intends to spend in fiscal 1958."

Fear Of Inflation

"We live in an age of political intervention and inflation. The most redeeming feature of our times is perhaps the general fear of inflation. In most other inflationary eras, only a few were aware of the threatening dangers before it was too late. Despite the prevalent fear of inflation, there are many today who still believe that our complicated economic activities rest on a sound political philosophy that can and will prevent the agonies and personal hardships of a disastrous depression."

"Our political administrators are aware that our wealth-producing machine can slow down. However, they seem to have faith that they possess powers which, if properly used, can easily reverse any downward trend in business activity. They fail to realize that their stimulating powers are primarily different forms of pain-killing palliatives, the essential ingredient of which is inflation. Such inflationary policies can only stimulate economic activity when they create an illusion that hides the real fact of economic life—the perpetual shortage of savings needed to produce what we want but cannot have without sacrificing something else that we prefer."

"Under certain conditions, inflation can encourage men to launch projects for which sufficient labor and materials are not available, unless they are bid away from the other projects that consumers consider more important. Whenever inflationary policies thus misdirect economic activities, corrections must, sooner or later, be made. It is these corrections that hurt so many innocent people."

"Constant reminders of possible inflation are extremely valuable, but they will not save us unless we first know what inflation is. We cannot correct any error, until we first recognize it. Inflation is not actually as complicated as most people believe. Inflation is merely an increase in the supply of money and/or money substitutes, including an artificial expansion of credit. All we have to do to stop inflation is to stop increasing the available supply of money and/or artificial credit."

"A slight inflation can result from the use of more gold or silver as money. However, our great danger from inflation comes from an entirely different direction. It comes from the political sanction and endorsement of the artificial expansion of paper money and/or bank credit. Such actions provide the first recipient with something that neither he nor the provider of the funds has earned. All such expansions are highly dangerous. The Federal Reserve System is the current source of all such injurious inflation. Consequently, only our political and Federal Reserve System can put an end to our inflationary plague."

Now let's divert from this article to show how impossible it is for the Federal Reserve System to put an end to increasing the quantity of credit.

When the Federal Reserve Bill was passed some 40 years ago, Senator Elihu Root told exactly how the Federal Reserve would work. This is what he wrote:

"This is in no sense a provision for an elastic currency. It does not provide an elastic currency, but not an elastic one. It provides a currency which may be increased, always increased, but not a currency for which the bill contains any provision compelling reduction. With the exhaustless reservoir of the Government of the United States furnishing easy money, the sales increase, the businesses enlarge, more new enterprises are started; the spirit of optimism pervades the community. Bankers are not free from it. They are human. The members of the Federal Reserve Board will not be free from it. They are human. All the world moves along on a growing tide of optimism. Everyone is making money. Everyone is growing rich. It goes up and up until finally someone breaks ... and down comes the whole structure. I can see in this bill ... no influence interposed by us against the occurrence of one of those periods of false and delusive prosperity which inevitably end in ruin and suffering. For the most direful results of the awakening of the people from such a dream are not to be found in the banking houses ... no, not even in the business houses. They are to be found among the millions who have lost the means of earning their daily bread."

His predictions have been coming true and the end is not yet. (To be continued)

Editors:

On the front page of the Long Beach, Calif. Local 148, UAW-CIO-AFL paper, the "Air Scoop," March 5, under the heading, "A Company Representative Talks About 'Free Riders,'" is this statement by Elinore Herrick, personnel director of the New York Herald-Tribune (1954): (One of the leading Republican papers in the Nation):

"Hardly a day passes on my own job that I am not aware of how much trade unionism has done to raise the wage level, to protect workers from unjust discharge, and to improve working conditions. Because so much of the present well-being of the workers is due to the efforts of the unions through collective bargaining, I do not really like 'free riders' myself."

First, it should be said that union leaders and other members while holding plenty of other monopolies, have yet been unable, by strikes, laws or otherwise, to gain the monopoly on being dupes. Members of management and other non-union people can be and often are just as easily deceived and confused by union propaganda as to gains made for workers, and by the false "free rider" charge. The latter is confusing, and the ONLY deceiving one by which a few, BOTH union and non-union, are duped into believing that the compulsory membership (Union Shop) demand is justified.

Elinore Herrick's definitions of "collective bargaining" and "free rider" were not mentioned. The reason is obvious. There isn't a definition of "collective bargaining" which she or anyone else can ever explain as being fair if it includes the legal privilege of only ONE of the parties to use strikes and picketing if it is unable to gain its bargaining demands by other methods.

As to the definition of "free rider," how else can Elinore Herrick define it correctly other than being one who is a non-union employee subject to the provisions of a union contract? If she doesn't "really like 'free riders,'" is she the type of person who REALLY likes workers who join a union and use strikes and picketing to "raise the wage level" if fair methods fail?

There should be no more dispute with one's statement that trade unionism has done much to raise the wage level than there would be with a statement that other groups, people or "isms" have made immense gains. How about Communism, for example? If the method used to raise wages or gain other things is not important, or is not to be questioned or discussed as being fair, then it is true, in the history of our country, that great gains have been accomplished by people, groups and ISMS, using robbery, theft, embezzlement, fraud, deceit, monopolies, and numerous other methods.

How much would trade unionism have done to raise wages without using of "bribe-taking" strikes? Yet no one can explain why this method is fair. If it can only be claimed to be legal, and perhaps necessary in order to gain certain wage raises, as an excuse to use it. The excuse that it is the "only method" can be used for any practice, fair or unfair, if it is the only method which will cause surrender to demands.

If strikes are fair, will those supporters, defenders and users of them agree that all groups and people should be as equally free as is the union to use them? If yes, can they explain any purpose for our civil court system? It is a serious matter of disagreement as to whether the un-

The Doctor Says

By EDGAR P. JORDAN, M. D.

Mrs. J. and several other correspondents have requested a discussion of Parkinson's disease. She asks about relief from the symptoms and is particularly curious about the possibilities of surgery.

In recent years a number of surgical procedures have been tried for Parkinson's disease. Some of them have not received general acceptance.

However, the prospects of successful surgery for properly selected patients now seems somewhat brighter and everyone hopes that the new methods will become firmly established.

PARKINSON'S DISEASE is also called paralysis agitans and "shaking palsy." This is a common disorder of the nervous system originating in a particular part of the brain.

There are two generally recognized kinds of paralysis agitans. One is that which develops in men and more often in men than in women, for some unknown cause. It is probably related to the aging process.

Occasionally the symptoms appear immediately after some emotional shock but the real cause is probably something else.

CERTAIN INFECTIONS, especially that called epidemic encephalitis (which is a virus infection of the brain sometimes spoken of as American sleeping sickness), is responsible for the second variety.

When Parkinson's disease develops from this cause it comes about as frequently in women as in men. It also may occur in youth.

In both varieties the symptoms usually begin gradually, often with typical shaking of one hand. A loss of muscular strength and stiff feeling may be the first signs. The voluntary muscular movements become less rapid and more difficult to carry through.

The trembling movements at rest are not long delayed. Lack of expressiveness in the face is also characteristic.

LONG PERIODS of improvement are the rule. The disease is almost always very slowly progressive. Pain is absent and the mental functions are generally unimpaired for many years.

People who have either kind of paralysis agitans are usually advised against becoming overworked. A reasonably active life with some work is good for most, but strenuous exercise is usually forbidden.

Cold water treatments, special exercise, sun baths, massage and vitamin preparations have all been tried without too much success.

Several drugs are reasonably successful in controlling the shaking but there is no treatment which cures the condition. Most people get along with Parkinson's disease for many years without serious difficulty though a few become seriously incapacitated.

Aid Program Of Fairless Commission Meets Deaf Ears

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The permanent, expanded and costly foreign aid program recommended by the Fairless Commission falls on cynical ears on Capitol Hill. It comes at a moment when Congress is in a mean and rebellious mood toward huge Federal spending at home and abroad. Collectively and individually, it wins at this proposal that $8 billion be spent overseas annually for an indefinite period. It would eventually pauperize the United States.

The Fairless document is condemned generally for other reasons, especially its apparent narrow and lopsided nature. Although imputing no selfish motives to its banking and industrial members, critics note that heavy industry and financial interests would benefit chiefly from the proposed revisions and expansions.

Despite Administration spokesmen's secret testimony to the same effect before Senate-House Appropriations Committees, Congressmen loathe to appease constituents with tax cuts, gave only minimum importance to their forecasts. But they doubt whether President Eisenhower will dare to reject the advice of his own advisory commission after its two-month inspection of our overseas structure.

Congressional adoption of this foreign WPA-PWA program, it is agreed, would wipe out all hope of tax cuts, balanced budgets or even a picaresque attempt to pare the vast public debt. It would have a short-term inflationary effect, but with threat of a serious depression and deflation in the background, it would put Uncle Sam in hock to the world.

Its world-wide political effect would be harmful at this particular time, in the opinion of those who have studied the report closely. It recommends that future funds go chiefly to the nations within the "collective security" pacts, meaning our military alliances.

This would be broadcast by Moscow as confirmation of Communist propaganda that our overseas objectives are aggressive and warlike. Moscow will interpret it as a guns-and-dollars deal, as will Prime Minister Nehru and Colonel Gamsi Abdel Nasser, as they have done with respect to the Middle East Doctrine.

Moreover, the principal contributors to the collective security system are nations well able to help themselves—Britain, France, Holland, Belgium, West Germany, Italy. It is on this sector that we are concentrating our main military strength.

It is pointed out pungently that continued military shipments to this area will mean profitable orders for American industry—steel, trucks, machinery, road-building equipment, planes and tanks—and demands for loans from the bankers.

The report also proposes that private investment be relied upon for aiding undeveloped countries. But these are the very areas which offer no field for bankers' loans or industrialists' credits. Their economies and governments are too unstable.

And yet it is these backward areas—Africa, the Middle East, Asia, the Orient—which are the most susceptible to Russian and Chinese Communist subversion and infiltration. The Fairless group, however, covers this situation in a manner that will not appeal to Capitol Hill cynics and critics.

It suggests that Uncle Sam might "guarantee" these private loans. In its present mood, Congress would not underwrite an advance to the Bank of England.

With protests against foreign grants and demands for tax easement pouring in from the Middle West, farmers will find no satisfaction in the program. It criticizes the Benson effort to export surplus products at reduced prices on the ground that it interferes with "normal markets." On this basis, the South would be another loser.

Arab People Touchiest In The World Since Nationalism

By HENRY McLEMORE

TRIPOLI — Arab Notes From An Old Date Book: With the nationalistic spirit at the boiling point, the Arab people are the touchiest in the world right now. Example: A group of our State Department people are holding a series of conferences in the hotel where I am staying, and a Marine Sergeant in dress blues was assigned by the American Embassy to guard the conference doors.

Today he walked out in front of the hotel for a breath of air and a smoke, and ten minutes later there was a call from the Libyan government asking this question: "What's wrong with our policemen as guards? There is no need for your Marines." The Marine switched to civvies.

Another example: In Saudi Arabia the government objected violently to the flying of our flag on our base there. It stayed only because the commanding officer was smart enough to point out that the flag was not planted in Saudi soil, but was sunk in concrete, and that certainly there could be no offense in putting cement in the ground.

Still another: Tripoli is a photographer's paradise, but you have to be careful when and what you take pictures of. I was at the public market, aiming my camera at mountain-high loaves of bread piled on barrows, when I was stopped. There is no taking pictures of colorful but ragged citizens, except on the sly. Only the clean and the beautiful are graciously sanctioned.

Take away the automobiles and the bicycles, and this country would look exactly as it must have looked in Christ's time. The donkey and the camel are still the main means of transportation, and the shepherds guard their flocks with Christmas-gaunt crooks. . . . of living was higher in Biblical days. . . . There was more irrigation, more inland farming, and a more grazing room.

Our engineers are now working on irrigation problems here, and when they finish their surveys, they invariably choose the dam sites selected by the Romans in the first and second centuries.

Tripoli must be the best policed city in the world, if the number of cops count for anything. . . . A Tripoli businessman said he is quite sure there is a policeman for every two inhabitants. . . . I can make no report on the beauty of Tripoli women as most of them are veiled, and show only one eye. . . . This one eye is all that a Tripoli husband sees of his wife until he marries her. . . . Over here, it seems, the eyes have it.

The American NCO Club here, which was founded by the Marines, has the appropriate name of The Shores of Tripoli. . . . GI's stationed here at Wheeler Air Base are very happy with the place, except for one major drawback—the scarcity of girls. . . . There is no dating Arab girls, and there aren't anywhere enough Italian girls to go around. . . . Not even tennis courts, unsurpassed beaches, golf courses, and historic Roman ruins quite makes up for the absence of dames—er, I mean the weaker sex.

I thought that I had seen the world's most massive belly dancers in Cairo, but Tripoli's Oriental Club has several who need only the addition of funnels to double for the Queen Elizabeth or the Queen Mary. . . . This form of dancing must be the healthiest profession in the world, judging by the ages of some of the dancers. . . . One of them is old enough to have celebrated two golden wedding anniversaries, yet she shakes her pougeuse with tireless verve.

FOR REFLECTION
With JAMES C. MOBERG
President, Spiritual Mobilization

Dr. Arthur F. Burns, now back at his post of professor of economics at Columbia University after four years as chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors, reportedly said the other day: "even a balanced budget can have inflationary effects. . . . We economists have paid too much attention to the mere existence of a surplus or a deficit. . . . The Government is a different kind of buyer."

All this, of course, is the truth. And I should like to particularly emphasize that last statement: "The Government is a different kind of buyer."

This is true for a number of reasons: (1) Most of what the government buys is non-useful goods, in the sense that it is not consumable by productive private citizens. (2) The government, as such, does not produce the funds which it spends. It takes these funds from its productive citizens.

Thus, a nonproducer takes from producers and spends for goods which, for the most part, have no direct value to the producers. This clearly makes government "a different kind of buyer." Its expenditures are not, as sometimes said, "a prop to the economy." They are, on the contrary, a hidden river, tending constantly to undermine the economy's very foundation. And common prudence warns that this river should be kept as small as possible—not allowed to become a ravine torrent incapable of being controlled.

Sam Condo On All-Tourney Team

AUSTIN (UP) — A Port Arthur schoolboy basketball team that won its first state championship in history today placed three players on the Class AAAA all-state team chosen by the Texas Sports-writers Association.

The Yellow Jackets' Carroll Broussard, a unanimous choice, was joined by teammates Jerry Franklin and Walter Sharp. Steve Strange of Highland Park also was a unanimous selection, while Pampa's Sam Condo rounded out the mythical team.

The tourney lasted from Thursday through Saturday of last week.

Conference AAA had no unanimous picks, but Ira Ephriam of Pecos, a Negro, missed by only two ballots. This conference had seven men chosen because of a three-way tie between Leo Runnels of Smiley, Jimmy Hammel of Edison (San Antonio) and Monroe Brewer of Nacogdoches for the fifth position.

Bill McLaughlin of Edison and Lewis Qualls of Smiley hit high among the ballots, while Billy Simmons of Pecos captured the No. 4 spot.

The team:

CLASS AAAA — Steve Strange, Highland Park; Carroll Broussard, Fort Arthur; Sam Condo, Pampa; and Jerry Franklin and Walter Sharp, Port Arthur.

Honorable Mention — Bob Dowd and Doug Funk, Austin; Jerry Pope, Dick Mauldin and Bill Brown, all of Pampa; Charles Pace, Highland Park, and Ollie Shipley, Austin.

CLASS AAA — Billy Simmons, Pecos; Leo Runnels, Smiley; Bill McLaughlin, Edison; Ira Ephriam, Pecos; Lewis Qualls, Smiley; Monroe Brewer, Nacogdoches, and Jimmy Hammel, Edison.

Honorable Mention — Eugene Walker, Pecos; J. B. Watson, Smiley; Bill Spars, Nacogdoches; Claude Feste, Edison; Jerry Graham, Smiley; Bill Holloway, Nacogdoches, and Dick Beard, Smiley.

Phog Allen To Speak At Harvester Banquet

Dr. Forrest C. (Phog) Allen, former University of Kansas basketball coach and a longtime developer of the game, has been named as the speaker for the Pampa-Harvester basketball banquet March 29.

The announcement was made yesterday by the sports and recreation committee of the Chamber of Commerce. Art Attergut is chairman of the selection committee.

Allen stepped down as coach of the nationally-ranked Jayhawks this year because of the age ruling in Kansas state schools. Before that he had rolled up a spectacular record for Kansas in his 39 years as Jayhawk coach.

Allen, who now devotes most of his time to radio and TV commenting as well as practicing medicine, is famous for his banquet speeches and he is noted for his outspoken manner of speech.

The banquet, which will start at 8 p.m., will be held in the high school cafeteria. An estimated 400 tickets are expected to be sold for the annual event. Tickets are $2.50 per person.

The fete will honor the Harvester basketball team and its coaches. The Harvesters finished up the season Saturday by gaining the finals of the state tournament in Austin. They finished with a season record of 28-2.

Game Will Climax Grid Drills Friday

The Pampa Harvester football team, faced with only two more days of spring drills, stressed defense in their workouts yesterday.

Coach Jack Lockett and his staff scrimmaged against the graduating seniors yesterday, working mostly on defense.

The team will work out today and tomorrow and a game with Harvester exes will climax the 21 days of practice Friday at 3 p.m.

Lockett was pleased with the team's work Monday. Several players are injured and the team has had to work inside several days.

The first team will go against the exes in the first quarter of the game Friday and the second team will take on the third team in the second quarter. The teams will rotate in the last half against the exes.

Starters expected for the Harvesters Friday include DeWayne Glover and Paul Brown, ends; Bobly Arthur and Gary Peterson, tackles; Gary Matlock and Wesley Crites, guards; Dickie Watkins, center; Gary Wilhelm, quarterback; Jesse Ingle and Don Biggam, halfbacks; and Mert Cooper, fullback.

PHS Volleyball Team In Action

The Pampa High School girls' volleyball team will play the Panhandle High School team there this afternoon as a warm-up for the big 12-team Plainview tournament this week end.

The Pampa team, coached by Betty Riddle, has been matched against Nazareth in the opening game to be played Friday at 8 p.m. The winner of the game will play the Kress-Plainview B team winner Saturday at 8:30 a.m.

Finals are scheduled for Saturday night in the Plainview High School gym. Teams entered include Pampa, Plainview A and B, Nazareth, Kress, Phillips, Big Spring, Littlefield, Hart, Canyon, Lamesa and Levelland.

The Pampa team recently entered the 21-team Big Spring meet and lost in the semifinals of the consolation bracket to Imperial. Pampa won the sportsmanship trophy and Sandra Walsh was named to the all-tournament team.

Members of the team are Carolyn Dieger, Pat Weatherly, Jan Dyer, Carolyn Shaffer, Kay Layne, Darla Brown, Alicia Heli, Joy Vandenberg, Sandra Walsh and Sherry Thygerson.

Game Will Climax Grid Drills Friday

Henry Mitchell, Freddie Watkins and Robert Langford will replace Glover, Crites and Wilhelm on defense. Cooper is the only junior-high player on the starting team.

Among the Harvester exes are Don Jonas, Bill Kirbie, James Weathered, Glenn Howell, Gary Pinson, Gene Devers, Jerry Bonnal, Jesse Ring, Dickie Mauldin, Bobby Dehls and Harry Ward. Gary Dearen, who is injured, will serve as coach of the exes.

Pampa Baseballers Open Slate Tuesday

Coach Deck Woldt put the Pampa Harvester baseball team through its paces at Oiler Park yesterday in preparation for the season opener next Tuesday.

The Harvesters finished second in the district last year, winning nine of 12 in conference play and finishing the season with a 17-5 mark. Only three lettermen are returning this year to help fill seven positions left vacant by graduation.

The team began drills Monday at the high school but switched to Oiler Park yesterday in order to have more practice room. A diamond is being built on the practice lot north of the high school and is expected to be ready soon. Most of the home games will be played there.

The Harvesters open at home Tuesday against Berger's Bulldogs in a non-conference game. The contest will start at 3:30.

Fourteen boys worked out yesterday and several more will probably be ready by the first game. Woldt expects approximately 10 more players when spring football drills conclude. They will include Robert Langford, an infielder-catcher and one of the three returning lettermen. Others include catcher John Lee and shortstop Bill Brown.

Those working yesterday included Brown, Lee, Ray Stephenson, Benny Sparks, Larry Cruise, David James, Ronnie Burlingame, Bill Conway, Kirk Smith, Bobby Gindorf, Kent Terrell, Mike Conway, Larry Stokes and Dewey Hutchinson.

Harvester Golfers Beat Amarillo, Berger Teams

The Pampa Harvester golf team overcame a strong wind to take top honors in a three-team match yesterday at Berger's Huber Country Club winning over Berger and Amarillo.

The Harvesters, paced by medalist Bill McLeod's seven-over-par 79, had a 336 for 18 holes to beat the Berger team by two strokes. The Sandies finished third with 343. High winds kept the scoring up.

Tarheels, OCU, Canisius In First-Round NCAA Victories

By NORMAN MILLER
United Press Sports Writer

The 1957 NCAA basketball tournament was sticking mighty close to its tradition of "no Cinderella champion" today as top-ranked North Carolina paced the advance into Friday's second round.

There wasn't an upset to be found in six first-rounders played Tuesday night at three different sites, or in the other first-rounders played Monday night. Now the deck is cleared for these pairings in the four "regional" eliminations starting Friday night:

At Philadelphia: North Carolina (28-0) vs. Canisius (21-5); Syracuse (17-8) vs. Lafayette (22-3).

At Lexington, Ky.: Pittsburgh (16-9) vs. Kentucky (22-4); Notre Dame (19-7) vs. Michigan State (15-7).

At Dallas, Tex.: Oklahoma City (18-8) vs. St. Louis (19-7); Kansas (21-2) vs. SMU (21-3).

At Corvallis, Ore.: California (20-4) vs. Brigham Young (18-8); Idaho State (25-2) vs. San Francisco (18-6).

North Carolina overcame what Coach Frank McGuire called its "worst first half of the season" to down Yale, 90-74; Canisius took advantage of West Virginia's "jitters" for a 64-56 win; and Syracuse staged an amazing rally to beat Connecticut, 82-76, in first-rounders at New York's Madison Square Garden Tuesday night.

At Columbus, Ohio, pint-sized Don Hennon's 31 points led Pittsburgh to an 86-55 win over Morehead and Notre Dame led all the way to down Miami of Ohio, 89-77.

At Oklahoma City, Oklahoma City U. avenged a regular-season loss in whipping Loyola of New Orleans, 76-53. The Monday first-rounders saw Idaho State beat Hardin-Simmons, 68-57, at Pocatello, Idaho.

North Carolina ran into an inspired team in Yale's Ivy League champions and were held even for 20 minutes. Then the taller Tar Heels pulled away from the worn-out Elis as All-American Lennie Rosenbluth look scoring honors with 27 points to 25 for Yale's Johnny Lee.

Here's how the other first-rounders shaped up:

At New York: Jittery West Virginia lost its game to Canisius in the first half when it sank only eight of 35 shots and was out-rebounded, 35-14. Canisius led, 24-18, at halftime as West Virginia's All-American Hot Rod Hundley had scored only four points. West Virginia closed to 52-60 later, and Hundley wound up with 17, but Canisius had enough left for a strong finish. Syracuse trailed Connecticut, 65-55, with eight minutes left, but put on an all-court press and ran away from the badly-rattled U-Conn. Gary Clark had 26 points and Vinnie Cohen 23 to pace the Upstate New York-

A Shirtwaist Dress Boom Is Expected This Summer

By GAY PAULEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
DALLAS (UP) — Dallas manufacturers expect to strike oil in the fashion industry this summer with the shirtwaist dress.

This classic of the American woman's wardrobe is pouring from production lines in a veritable gusher, and in nearly as many variations as this fabulous style has oil wells.

"The shirtwaist unquestionably is the number one silhouette," said a spokesman for Lorch Manufacturing Co., the oldest fashion firm in Dallas, and one of the 26 manufacturers previewing their summer collections for visiting reporters from across the nation. The shows are sponsored by the Dallas Fashion Center.

Basically, the shirtwaist is a simple, casual style, with buttoned bodice and open throat. This spring, we women will be wearing it with lacereffes up the front (this is called the sissy shirt-waist), with narrow skirt and kick pleat; or full skirt with unpressed pleats. Lorch featured one shirt-waist with voluminous skirt — accomplished with pleats within pleats, or stack pleating.

The shirtwaist comes with full length, three-quarter length, above the elbow sleeves, or sleeveless. Its trim ranges from beigns, shown on a slim dress in beige silk linen from Designer Charles Dickey, to rhinestones featured in several lines. One sophisticated version of the shirtwaist is in champagne-colored silk, with organza chiffon tie at the throat. This one was from Jean Thomson, a former custom designer in Chicago, now producing her first collection for national distribution.

One of the hits of the shirtwaist group is made by Donovan Manufacturing, in pure white cotton,

God is our refuge and strength, very present help in trouble. P. 138 40-1.

She would not want the ones she loves to grieve for her today. We must not say that she is dead. Away upon a journey she has taken. To a land that's bright and fair, and though we will miss her here we know she's happy there. And memories of her will bring new comfort every day. As we recall, she's not dead. For she is just away!

Mrs. Henry C. Link

We take this means to express our sincere appreciation to our many friends for their kindness and sympathy at the time of our sorrow in the loss of our loved one who so suddenly passed from our midst March 5. To Gray Ladine, the Civic Culture Club, The First Methodist Church membership, our good friends and neighbors for the lovely flowers, prepared food and other thoughtful deeds in our behalf we are indeed grateful. We want to express our deep gratitude to Rev. Woodrow Adcock for his comforting message and to Mrs. Roy Johnson who furnished the music. We thank those who served as pall bearers and to Buckner Carmichael Funeral Home for the impressive last rites. God's richest blessings be with you.
