Congressional Opposition To Measure Is Growing

By WALTER LOGAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Threat of immediate sanctions against Israel faded today in the face of growing U. S. congressional opposition.

U.N. diplomats accepted the fact that if the United States does not back a move to punish Israel for its failure to withdraw from Egyptian territory, any move to have the assembly vote sanctions is doomed in advance.

President Eisenhower was meeting congressional leaders in Washington today to discuss his future course in the Middle East crisis, and a United Press survey showed he would find congressional leaders overwhelmingly opposed to sanctions.

Naval Force Proposed
Israel was banking on this support and of London reports that Britain would urge Commonwealth and Western European delegations to vote against sanctions. France also was working against the Arab move to punish Israel.

Israel threw its support behind a Canadian proposal that a U.N. naval force patrol the Gulf of Aqaba to enforce freedom of passage there, a condition Israel demands before it pulls its troops out of the area.

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower conferred with congressional leaders on the Middle East crisis today and the White House announced it would make a nationwide radio and television address tonight to discuss "the present situation."

Syrian Premier Sabry Kasabl said Tuesday night in Damascus the Arab states are prepared to use force to drive Israel from the Gulf of Aqaba and the Gaza Strip.

There was a stir. Many heads turned toward the direction of the earth-shaking explosion, which tore a five-foot hole in the ground outside. But it did no other damage and no one was hurt.

'Satchmo' To Continue His Southern Tour

By WILLIAM E. CLARK

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UP) — Negro trumpet player Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong refused to interrupt his southern tour today because of a racial bombing targeting his concert here Tuesday night.

"I've been playing the horns for 44 years and never had any trouble before," Satchmo said, commenting on the blast set off outside the auditorium in city-owned Chilhowee Park.

House Faces Budget Test

WASHINGTON (UP) — The House today faced this year's first test of its budget-cutting zeal.

The first appropriations bill of President Eisenhower's record $71.8 billion peacetime budget came up for a vote.

The bill would appropriate $3,884,927,000 to operate the Post Office and Treasury departments and the U.S. Tax Court.

The House Appropriations Committee approved it last week after shaving $88 million from postal funds and $22.3 million from the Treasury Department — a total of about 2 per cent.

Some committee members were apologetic for not cutting deeper. But the administration wants more than half the postal cuts restored.

Tuition Proposal In House

In The State Legislature

By O. B. LLOYD JR.
United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN (UP) — A proposal doubling tuition at state supported colleges and universities had a toothhold in the House today while a $200 million water program and a $50 million ceiling on old age pensions and other welfare payments received the blessings of the lower chamber.

The bill by Rep. Murry Watson of Mart to boost resident tuition fees from $50 a year to $100 received tentative approval with a 101-42 vote on the second reading Tuesday. It was not enough to suspend rules to place the bill on final passage.

His bill would also hike non-resident fees to a uniform $400 a year, from the present $150 to $300. Medical and dental school tuition would rise from $50 to $400 per year. Non-resident, medical and dental school fees would take effect on a sliding scale, with $50 increases per semester over two years.

It also provides a scholarship fund for needy students, with the money not used in scholarship going for teacher pay raises and additional teachers.

Water Program Sweeps Through
The water program, sponsored by Rep. Leroy Saul of Kress and cheered by Gov. Price Daniel, swept through 147-1 and the welfare proposal, authored by Rep. Amos Martin of Paris, passed 132-10.

Kress' bill would set up a $100 million Texas water development fund, with provision that the Legislature could increase the amount to $200 million by an enabling act which has already been passed by the lower chamber.

The amount would be fixed at $200 million if the voters approve the constitutional amendment. It would make loans to aid construction of local water projects, such as dams and reservoirs.

Martin's measure boosts the ceiling on welfare payments $8 million, from the present $42 million, from the present $40 million to $50 million. The maximum individual old age assistance payment would be upped from $58 to $60.

It was increased on an amendment by Rep. Ben Ferrell of Tyler, who said it would permit an average hike in old age assistance checks of about $5.25 per month. Another amendment, by Rep. Ted Myatt of Cleburne striking out a provision in the constitution allowing the Legislature to provide for public inspection of old age assistance rolls, was adopted.

Prison For Insurance Crooks
A bill was introduced in the Senate by Sens. Searcy Bracewell of Houston and Floyd Bradshaw of Weatherford providing two-to-10 year sentences for insurance company officials accepting premium payments or selling a company policy when they know the firm is insolvent or in a "failing condition."

The Senate approved tentatively a proposed constitutional amendment to allow state advertising of Texas' tourist and industrial attractions.

A resolution by Rep. Ben Atwell of Hutchins was approved by the House asking for the states to join in seeking an amendment to the U.S. Constitution defining states' rights more clearly and to resist illegal encroachment of the states' powers.

Sen. George Moffett of Chillicothe introduced a measure to make Midwestern University and Hardin junior college at Wichita Falls a four-year, co-educational, state-supported institution.

Still Hope For Insurance Co. Attorney Says

AUSTIN (UP) — The ICT Insurance Co. of Dallas today was on the brink of liquidation but its attorney, battling to keep the company from the hands of a receiver, said "where there's life there's hope."

The stock firm and casualty insurance firm, alleged by the State Insurance Commission to be $4,460,000 in the red, was placed in temporary receivership Tuesday by District Judge Charles O. Betts. The Insurance Commission also rejected its charter to do business in Texas.

BULLETIN
AUSTIN (UP) — The House of Representatives voted today to investigate the collapse of the ICT Insurance Co., and called it "the greatest failure this state has ever observed."

Commission Chairman John Osorio said the company had received adequate time and had failed to get a solid offer to prevent it being put out of business. J. D. Wheeler, state insurance liquidator, was named receiver.

President James G. Cage earlier sought another 10 days and told of an offer by Pioneer Fisher and Associates of Dallas to put money into the firm. But Assistant Attorney C. K. Richards told Judge Betts the state opposed continuing the temporary restraining order, issued Feb. 7, for additional time.

J. M. Oster, Dallas attorney representing the firm, said "that almost $200,000 has been raised in $1-per-share contributions by ICT stockholders. The attorney said he believed the $1.5 million needed to make the firm solvent could be raised.

"Where there's life there's hope and considerable progress has been made and we feel that the present management — which showed a $149,000 underwriting profit in the last six months of 1956 — can pull the company through."

One Fire Call Is Reported

A mattress on fire in the residence of R. R. Smith, 701 Lowry, at 6:40 p.m. resulted in the only alarm received by the fire department yesterday.

Firemen answering the alarm reported that damage was limited to the mattress.

Hotel To Occupy Whole Block

The site committee of the Community Hotel Company of Pampa announced this morning that the hotel company will not purchase less than one city block, equal to approximately 90,000 square feet, for the site of the community-owned hotel.

The decision was reached at a meeting of the committee yesterday afternoon. The action was taken after considering the recommendation of the building committee as to the amount of space the new hotel building would occupy.

The committee also secured the services of Quentin Williams, on a flat fee basis, to help procure such a site for the hotel.

Hugh Burdette, chairman of the committee, announced this morning that anyone having the required amount of land for a sale may contact Williams or the committee, in care of Hugh Burdette, Box 1101.

Members of the site committee are: Burdette, chairman; Crawford Atkinson, Lynn Boyd, Ed Myatt and Dr. M. C. Overton.

Patients were moved into the new wing at Highland General Hospital this morning and latest reports indicated that only two of the 20 rooms on the surgical floor were still vacant. All of the 20 rooms on the medical floor were filled.

The transferring of the patients began at 7 o'clock this morning and was completed by 11 o'clock according to hospital personnel.

With the new wing in use, a total of five patients were still in the hallways on the medical floors of the old part of the hospital.

Patients Fill New Addition To Hospital

Patients were moved into the new wing at Highland General Hospital this morning and latest reports indicated that only two of the 20 rooms on the surgical floor were still vacant. All of the 20 rooms on the medical floor were filled.

The transferring of the patients began at 7 o'clock this morning and was completed by 11 o'clock according to hospital personnel.

With the new wing in use, a total of five patients were still in the hallways on the medical floors of the old part of the hospital.

One person at the hospital reported this morning that it "looks like we will have to order more beds and convert the rooms in the new wing into double rooms instead of the private rooms now in use."

Several hundred persons inspected the new wing during the open house yesterday afternoon between 2 and 5.

Those visiting the wing were shown the new equipment in each room and the modern facilities and equipment throughout the two floors of the wing which will be used for the treatment of patients.

One item that received comment from the visitors was the new communication system installed in the new wing. By the use of a special type communication system the patients can talk to the nurse at the desk on each floor.

Fog And Mud In Panhandle Visit

Fog blanketed Pampa and most of the rest of the Panhandle last night and today as Pampa residents battled mud and mire and nearly enjoyed it.

Dirt streets in Pampa have been muddier the last two days than for several months before as a result of rain, snow and sleet that have been falling. The moisture was welcomed to the dry Panhandle, however.

The total amount of precipitation for the Top o' Texas during the last three days totalled 1.41 inch and today and still more was expected. The rain gauge atop The News building measured .12 inch since mid-morning yesterday.

The forecast for Pampa and vicinity for tonight and tomorrow is mostly cloudy and continued cool, with occasional rain, through tomorrow. The low tonight is expected to be 35 degrees with tomorrow's high predicted to be 42.

The moisture in Pampa was given as the cause of a power failure which resulted in the Court House being without electricity for over three hours last night.

According to repairmen of Southwestern Public Service, water filled a junction box under the street between the Court House and City Hall. The water seeped inside the insulation, and shorted out the wires on the 2,400 volt circuit supplying the court house.

A generator was used to supply lights in the sheriff's office from 7 to 10 p.m. while the repairmen completed necessary work needed to restore the current.

The heating in the Court House is controlled by electricity and the failure resulted in the building being without heat during the period of the failure.

COWBOY CINDERELLA—Mrs. Sam Begert's fifth grade students at Sam Houston School presented a play, "Jimmy Cinders", during assembly recently. The Cinderella story was westernized with Jimmy, played by Robin Vail, as the poor cowboy with no boots, guns, lasso, nor horse, having to stay at home and clean the bunkhouse, while his "brothers" go to the rodeo. Everything is made right, though, when the Golden Ranger, played by Mark Stiggins, appears on the scene. Excessive Avoirdupois National Problem
And Cause Of Heart Attacks Increasing

(Editor's Note: Here's the fourth of a six-part series in a new concept of weight control — re-education of eating habits instead of tricky diets, an every-day program of nutrition instead of fads. Working with NEA's food editor for this article is Dr. Norman Jolliffe, New York City's nutrition director and author of a best-selling book, "Reduce and Stay Reduced.")

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor
NEW YORK (NEA) — Too much fat on the table as well as too much fat on your body can be dangerous — especially if you hope to live a long time, according to Dr. Norman Jolliffe, forthright and controversial director of nutrition in New York City's Department of Health.

"Any sound reducing diet should get less than 30 per cent of its calories from fat. Nevertheless, our per capita consumption of fat in the United States is now over 41 per cent of our total calories," he stated.

That high fat consumption may very well explain why obesity has become a national problem and why our deaths from heart afflictions are so disproportionately high, he added.

Jolliffe, a fellow of the American College of Physicians, associate professor of nutrition at Columbia University and formerly of the Food and Nutrition Board of the National Research Council, is one of an increasing number of leading American scientists who believe obesity and over-consumption of fats constitute our No. 1 health problem. They do not necessarily recommend a low fat diet, but they positively do recommend a diet not too high in fat.

evidence that high fat diets are associated with a high prevalence of atherosclerosis — the cause of coronary thrombosis. In the United States, which has the highest fat consumption in the world, more men between the ages of 45 and 65 are afflicted with coronary thrombosis than in any other country in the world.

"Certainly, the high fat diet now used by most Americans must be changed to one of 30 per cent or less of total calories from fat if the national waistline and life span is to be improved. A sizable fraction of those calories should come from marine and unprocessed vegetable sources (not butter, margarine, etc., the so-called "hard" fats, but from the liquid, unprocessed fats such as oils from soybeans, corn, peanuts and olives)."

He advised further the restriction of fat milk consumption, such as whole milk, condensed and evaporated, to use in coffee and on cereal.

"Don't think you are committing an unpardonable nutritional sin by cutting down on milk," he added. "No single food is absolutely necessary. Many more people are living in good health who haven't tasted milk since childhood than there are those who regularly use two glasses of it daily," he explained.

In his office, proofs of the second and revised edition of his bestselling guide to the overweight, "Reduce and Stay Reduced," covered his desk. He is a man of action, in his early fifties, slender, amiably pugnacious and enjoys his family and social life. But he cautions the social drinker, particularly if he is overweight.

In order of increasing importance, Jolliffe listed his compelling reasons for recommending a diet not too high in fat.

1. Butter, margarine, cooking fats and table spreads in general are so high in calories that careless use of them can lead to a pound of extra weight in a short time.
2. Fat calories from these foods are mostly "empty" calories. They do not supply their share of essential nutrients. Butter makes only a very minor contribution in vitamin A, margarine in A and D. Cooking fats and table spreads are devoid of these nutrients, all of which can be much better obtained in other foods. When a person eats large amounts of these "empty" calories, he becomes either obese or gets insufficient amounts of amino-acids, vitamins and minerals to constitute a balanced, adequate diet.
3. His most compelling reason: No prudent person can ignore the

Let's face it. Hard liquor — whisky, gin, brandy, rum — average about 100 calories to the ounce. The usual drink therefore adds about 130 calories to your daily total. That's about the same number contained in more than two slices of bread," he pointed out.

"Now this is what happens to the man or woman who likes a few drinks before dinner. Either he cuts down on food he would have eaten otherwise, thereby keeping his calorie intake as it should be. But this cutting down on food may result in an inadequate intake of essential nutrients and cause a deficiency disease. Or on the other hand, the alcohol may stimulate his appetite and increase his consumption of food calories, thereby adding to his obesity."

Before I left his busy office, he put his best advice to the overweight into capsule form:

Never, but never, eat beyond satiety.

Never, but never, go back to your old eating habits.

Never, but never, go back to a high fat diet.

Next: Figure-wise as well as figure-conscious.

This is a good time of year to clean out the kitchen cupboards and get rid of all food supplies you've had a year or more. This includes tinned spices. They lose their original freshness in that length of time.

SINUS HEADACHES

Nationally famous Scientists, in a recent popular book on headaches, wrote that when Sinus trouble lasts long enough, a pain develops in the back of the head, neck, and shoulders, in addition to the head and facial pains that usually accompany this inflammation.

No attempt was made in the book to explain why. May we throw some light in that direction. Simple pressure is made upon two nerves.

The Sinus headache up front always comes from an irritation of nerves in back of the neck.

The irritation and pain appears first in the end-plates located in the Sinuses. Later it spreads back down the nerves. It's as simple as that, and we prove it every day in practice! Four Suits Are Settled

Four settlements were turned in this week in 31st District Court as a result of suits against the Airspeed Oil Company in an accident occurring Sept. 4, 1956. In the first, which was settled last week, and which was thought to be the highest settlement reached in that court in some time, Gene Townsend and Clarence Townsend received a total of $72,500 for injuries sustained by the younger Townsend, reportedly permanent, when an Airspeed Oil truck ran into the rear of the car in which he and several others were passengers. As a result of the same accident, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Culberson, whose son, Jerry Culberson, died of injuries sustained, were awarded a settlement of $10,000. In a separate suit, Bobby Culberson received a total of $50 for bruises and injuries sustained in the accident. Ted Maston and Naomi Walls received a total sum of $10,362.30, of which Maston received $7,000 and Naomi Walls the remaining $3,362.30. Finally, a settlement of $300 was reached in the case of Jack Prater and Burley Prater vs. the Airspeed Oil Company. In this judgement, Jack was awarded $250 while Burley received $50. The total of the settlements reached in the case was $92,212.30. Another case, that of Earl Brown vs. the Air Speed Oil Company, was put off until May 6 during which time the defense will try for a hearing on a plea of privilege.

James Cowan Resigns Post

City Manager Fred Brook has announced the resignation of James Cowan, Pampa director of public works, who has been here four years. Cowan's resignation was received late yesterday. He had been here since before the term of former city manager B. H. Cruce. Cowan has accepted a similar position with the city engineer's department in Sherman. No definite date has been named for Cowan's departure, according to Brook. "He will remain here until things are squared away," said Brook. "We hate to see him go, but he's getting a better and more remunerative position. I don't blame him for accepting a better job," added Brook.

Two Fined In County Court

Gains Thomas Drennon, 50, of 237 Miami, was fined $100 plus costs and given three days in jail this morning in County Court after changing a plea of not guilty to guilty on a charge of driving while intoxicated. He was arrested by city police Monday night, and had previously entered a plea of not guilty. In the second case tried this morning in County Court, Ivy Ayres of Pampa was fined $25 plus costs after pleading guilty to a charge of aggravated assault. He had been arrested by officers of the sheriff's office on a charge of beating his wife, Neva, in their home.

Commission Tables Plan

The city commission yesterday tabled action on a theater television plan which would present feature films in Pampa homes at a monthly charge. The plan was presented to the group at a meeting yesterday. It will be discussed at a later date. If the special-circuit network is okayed, special programs could be televised into homes in this area at a nominal fee.

THREAT

(Continued From Page 1) which might lead to renewal of hostilities. The Israeli cabinet was awaiting the return of Ambassador Abba Eban to discuss his own position. Eban was due from the United States sometime today or tonight, and a cabinet session was expected immediately. Israeli officials discounted reports Eban was bringing a personal message from Mr. Eisenhower or that the United States had served a last minute ultimatum. Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion was meeting almost constantly with other government leaders and Israeli sources said his Mapai cabinet members favored every effort to avoid incurring U.S. wrath while insisting on the right of guarantees before withdrawal. The U.N. General Assembly is scheduled to take up the Middle East problem Thursday, but there were reports Israel would seek a postponement until Eban returns.

Jaycees Hear Barbershoppers

A Barber Shop Quartet serenaded the Jaycees yesterday at their weekly luncheon meeting which was held in the Palm Room of City Hall. The Barbershoppers, James Evans, Billy Haley, Barney McMullen and Hanford Ousley were the guests of Gene Holler who conducted the program. An announcement was made by Ray Duncan, president of the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce, that the Dale Carnegie Class 1 b e group had been trying to organize will be started Friday evening at 7 o'clock in Johnson's Cafe. He added, however, that there were still openings for more members in this class. In the only other business discussed, an announcement was made of the Junior Chamber stag party to be held Monday evening in the Elks Lodge.

Florists, Nurserymen Report Green Thumb Moves Indoors

By GAY PAULEY NEW YORK (UP) —Our green thumb has moved indoors. Florists and nurserymen report that the indoor gardening hobby in the last 15 years has shot upward like Jack's beanstalk. Today, women and some men are potting everything from ivy to African violets, from mother-in-law's tongue to orchids. The results of their hobby show alike in one-room city apartments and small greenhouses in suburbia. By far the greater increase has been in cultivation of green or foliage plants, rather than the flowering such as azalea or hydrangeas, florists said. Green plants last longer. One florist explained that "even with the worst care, they're good for at least six months. Plant Sales Doubled The first and only government census on the subject, issued in 1949, showed that 35 million "unfinished" and 29 million "finished" green plants were sold. Unfinished and finished are commercial terms to describe the degree of a plant's growth by the time it reaches the home. The unfinished are the smaller, less mature. The number of plants sold has more than doubled since that 1949 count," said Truman Fossum, a horticulturist and agricultural economist, who compiled the census. Fossum, now with a New York advertising agency, then was on loan to the Department of Agriculture from Cornell University's Department of Floriculture. He gave three reasons why more of us have turned "dish gardener" — his term for the indoor green thumbers who cultivate plants in containers ranging from decorative dishes to small wash tubs. Want Nature Around The biggest one is availability. Shipping facilities have been so improved that now tropical-type plants started in such warm areas as Florida and California are available in most parts of the nation. Read The News Classified Ads

March 6 marks the death date of Africa's Gold Coast as a British colony and the birth date of Ghana as a sovereign nation—and the first Negro one—within the British commonwealth. It will have equal dominion status with Canada and Australia. As the old Gold Coast colony, it was one of the richest of Britain's domains. Ghana is the name of an ancient Ashanti empire that flourished for 10 centuries, from 200 to 1200 A.D. The new Ghana includes the original colony along the coast, the back-country Ashanti province, the sparsely settled, heavily-wooded Northern Territories and a part of Togoland. In a 1954 election they adopted a unifying constitution, named an all-native legislative assembly and achieved complete home rule. The last link of colonialism will be severed with the independence ceremony on March 6. Colonial peoples all over the world will watch this new nation closely to see if the African Negro is capable of emerging from colonial rule to self-government as a free democracy.

Richards To Visit Middle East Within Near Future

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The ill-luck which has dogged every Washington effort to serve as peacemaker in the Israeli-Egypt controversy and prevent possible war in the Middle East persists.

Israeli spokesmen now charge that former Representative James P. Richards, named by President Eisenhower to plan execution of the new Middle East Doctrine, is prejudiced against Tel Aviv. The South Carolinian was formerly Chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, but did not seek re-election. His rank in his new assignment is that of Ambassador.

He will visit the Middle East as soon as Congress has approved Ike's program. It will be his task to decide where and how money for economic improvement shall be spent. But it is now feared that the Israeli attack on him will impair his usefulness, even though it may not be well founded.

The Israelis, the Administration's chagrin, have shown almost as much intolerance and intransigence during the current controversy as Colonel Gamal Abdel Nasser himself. For this reason, the selection of Richards may be another diplomatic mishap.

Richards is branded as frankly "anti-Israel" in a Zionist propaganda tabloid, entitled "Middle East and the West," published by the United Zionists-Revisionists of America. It says that he will receive "a warmer welcome in Cairo than in Tel Aviv."

The indictment consists of two counts. In 1956 debate over the Mutual Security Act, Representative Victor L. Anfuso, Brooklyn Democrat, introduced an amendment to divide American arms evenly between Israel and the Arab states, and the United States to guarantee Israel's borders and security against hostile action.

Richards, who was handling the measure on the floor, opposed the amendment only on technical and procedural grounds, and it was defeated. Oddly, the Anfuso proposal resembles the Administration's current suggestion for resolving Middle East difficulties.

The more serious charge concerns Richards' insertion in the Congressional Record of a bitter criticism of American Zionists' activities in this country. It was delivered by Representative Omar Burleson of Texas before the American Council of Judaism. This organization opposes Zionists' politico-religious activities and propaganda on behalf of Israel.

Referring to this movement, as well as to Roosevelt-Truman contributions to Israel's creation, Burleson said:

"I seriously undermined for our country the priceless high prestige we had always enjoyed in the Middle East. Tragically, this inestimable heritage of good will, built up over the years, was transformed in a few moments by our well-meaning but ill-advised action."

"What we achieved in the Middle East was to antagonize and embitter some 40,000,000 people — an important part of the vast number of undeveloped peoples, whose friendship and support are really the big stakes in the East-West struggle. And this bitterness to which we contributed was not missed by the Kremlin."

"The more part I became to the Zionists and Israelis, the more the Arabs found themselves turning to the Soviet Union."

It is understood that a full briefing on the Richards background, and especially on these two incidents, has been forwarded to Premier Ben Gurion by the extraordinarily active Israeli Embassy staff at Washington.

The Doctor Says

By EDGAR F. JORDAN, M. D.

Some parts of our anatomy are remarkably resistant to abuse. This is certainly the case so far as the tongue is concerned, considering all the substances with which it comes in contact, as well as the varying temperatures of such contacts. Nevertheless, things can happen to it.

Q — Six weeks ago my husband was troubled with his throat. On examination he was found to have a heavy brown coating on his tongue and down into his throat. The doctor called this hairy tongue. He has taken two bottles of vitamins and has used a gargle since that time without relief. Do you have any suggestions? — Mrs. C. C.

A — Black tongue, or hairy tongue, is rather well known but its cause in most instances remains obscure. It can arise from the use of penicillin. The condition is harmless and treatment is aimed at clearing away the offending growth by scraping, brushing or the application of a few chemical substances which are thought to be helpful. It is doubtful that vitamins would be of much value.

Q — Please say something about foot callouses. What causes them? Can they ever be completely removed never to return? — F. R. A.

A — There are several types of callouses. It is possible that they are the result of irritation from shoes. A callous may be from a broken metatarsal arch. What may be meant is the condition known as plantar wart. The treatment depends on the nature of the condition, its location, its size, and perhaps other factors.

Correction of shoeing may be needed. It is possible that X-rays or surgery are in order. But whatever is done should be employed only after study of the full situation.

Q — Will you please say something about the condition known as a sty? Is the result of a condition of the blood, as some people claim? — Mrs. M. A. G.

A — A sty is an inflammation of one or more of the oil glands of the eyelids. It is usually treated either by a small incision allowing the pus to drain, an ointment containing an antibiotic or a sulfonamide preparation, hot wet packs to the eye, or all these measures and perhaps others as well. If a sty such as chronic cystitis.

Q — I am 56 years old and have angina pectoris. I get eight hours' sleep at night and have developed a habit of taking a half-hour nap after each meal. Is that too much sleep and would these naps be beneficial or harmful? — W. W.

A — I am of the belief that you should take as much sleep as you want and that if you feel like taking these naps go ahead and take them. I do not know of any reason to consider that this program would be in any way harmful.

Q — Is there any danger that germs may be spread by the use of public telephones? — G. E.

A — I vaguely recollect that this was given considerable study years ago and that the danger is extremely slight. This is probably because germs and viruses dangerous to man live for such a very short time on a cold and insensible object, such as a telephone mouthpiece.

Prelude To Peace

The pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Santa Ana recently announced that he would preach a sermon on "The Prelude to Peace." Since I believe that it is lack of understanding of moral, political and economic laws that cause war, I attended the service.

The preacher used Galatians 5:22 as a text — "But the fruit of the spirit is love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness, self control." This, of course, is a good general statement for peace of mind but is not very specific as to the prelude to peace or the human relation acts that bring on war.

There, of course, is a definite cause for war. My idea of peace is absence of aggressive force or fraud being used by the government against any individual in its own nation and throughout the world. It is hard to conceive how we can have real peace when aggressive force is being used against individuals. There might be a truce but not real peace. In fact, it is doubtful whether any nation has ever had real peace where all men were equal before the government as they are before God.

The minister pointed out that peace was the byproduct of love, patience, kindness, goodwill, faithfulness, gentleness and self-control. There is not much question that if the individuals possessed these qualities we would have peace. If the individuals possessed these qualities we would not have protective tariffs or immigration quotas.

Frederic Bastiat, the great French philosopher, who explained the ill effects of protective tariffs in his great book, "Social Fallacies," contended that these goods do not cross borderlines because of protective tariffs, soldiers will. In other words, where we do not have a free market where goods are not exchangeable, we are bound to have war.

Ludwig von Mises, probably the greatest and best informed economist now living, has about the same beliefs.

I was so interested in getting more people to understand what causes war that one of Freedom Newspapers brought von Mises from New York to California, paying his transportation and his lecture fee and for the high school auditorium, to give a free lecture on the causes of war. It was his belief that protective tariffs were instituted by governments because the majority of workers did not understand the blessings that come from men freely exchanging goods and services; that they do not understand that if men try to produce all their own wants and did not specialize and exchange, they would perish in a short time.

They fail to see that they are both producers and consumers. They can see that if others are prohibited from competing with them and they have a monopoly on certain production that they can get a bigger reward for this production. What they do not see is that if they are protected others will demand protection and things then will be produced in countries not favored by the gratuities of nature and where labor is scarce, thus running up the cost for the consumer. Besides this, a great deal of labor will be wasted with government officials on the border checking goods that come into the country.

Probably the one belief that leads to protective tariffs and immigration quotas and thus to war is that too many people fail to see that in producing wealth the gain of one is the gain of all. Too many people think that in producing wealth the gain of one is the loss of another, just as it is in gambling, in war, in gifts and in fraud. There one man gains and another man loses. But on a free and unhampered market in production not only both parties are benefited but everybody in the world is benefited. And the corollary of this is that the loss of one in producing wealth is the loss of all.

The problem is to get people to perceive clearly, as Frederic Bastiat said, "that Liberty, Utility, Justice, Peace, are things not only compatible, but strictly allied with each other, and so to speak, identical."

We need more sermons, more discussion, more enlightenment on the prelude to peace or the causes of war.

Reprimand For Attributing Proposal Never Made

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK — Robert F. Grew, S.J., the president of Le Moyne College, at Syracuse, has dealt me a polite reprimand because I attributed to him a proposal which he never made concerning professionalism in college football, and then tore him limb from limb with objections which turn out to have been his own. But, like most other savants who have tried to deal with this pernicious affront to the simplest concept of honesty, Father Grew went other-handed toward the close and left himself agree with the dreary, weary old proposition that "perhaps it would be a good idea for the college to pay" the needy gladiator "the equivalent of what he could get working part-time." If that would not be paying him for playing football, then I think our friend ought to advocate the same deal for the double-domes of chess. I leave that to you.

On Dec. 4, Father Grewen hoped up about the conventional water-pitcher at the Syracuse Press Club and undertook to deal objectively with the subject of professionalism because his college is small and has no great athletic problem. He said the prerequisites of success in football were first-rate coaches and material and then laid it down that "no college can have first-rate material and keep the spirit of the N.C.A.A. of amateur competition."

"By legal, if you call it that, trickery," he said, "the letter of the law might be followed, but actually the whole spirit and idea is impossible to follow. Why? If a college goes out to get a particular high school player and the player is also worthy material, scholastically speaking, and offers him an athletic scholarship of tuition and books and so forth, and another college offers the same thing plus subsidization perhaps not directly by the college but through alumni groups, or a car or lucrative job, where does that leave the college that first approached the young man? That college can either give up the idea of a first-rate team or follow in the footsteps of the second college. If this is done, you certainly no longer have amateur competition but strictly professional."

He then dealt more gently than I would with the pathetic fraud of the "educational recreation program and physical education courses" — counterfeits devised to justify paltry degrees for mountains of meat whose work in life is to teach people to play games.

He says these courses have their place in certain conditions and I say the people who can't play games for the fun of playing and develop its own skills by natural aptitude is in a sorry fix. Our swimmers now splash less than the graduates of goose creek and loon lake did a hundred years ago and the grace and daring of youth on skis are marvelous to see. But they didn't have to roll their own, as it were, and I doubt that they have any more fun for all their skill.

I rather prize a book by the Rev. Charles Pegler, published by the Methodist Book House long ago, relating that at the age of 10 reaction and enjoyment for the student body as is possible, it will emphasize intramural athletics and de-emphasize intercollegiate athletics. I wish he had said a college "should" set itself that goal.

In this spirit, I would like to correct an error regarding the "last days" of Andy Furuseth, the heroic old Swede who formed the Sailors' Union and never took a cent more pay than the highest wage of the unlicensed swab. He had been living in penury while undeserving goons of unionism wallowed in luxury, but Silas Blake Axtell, chairman of a memorial society organized to "project" his principles, explains in almost reverent tones that the old blubber-eater never could break himself of a stinginess developed when he was really destitute. Actually, the late Charles R. Crane, of Chicago, instilled him to board and room in a nursing home his last couple of years and when he died his ashes were strewn on the Atlantic from the S.S. Schoharie out of Savannah.

Like A Sandhog Rising Directly To The Surface

By HENRY McLEMORE

ROME — The traveler should not come directly from Germany to Italy.

It is as foolish as for a sandhog to rise directly to the surface. Both trips are bound to cause the "bends."

In the case of the traveler who leaps, say, from Frankfurt to Rome, as we did, the "bends" he gets won't kill him, but it surely will confuse him.

Germany, with all its postwar bustle, is orderly. People walk on the right side of the street, and cross streets at the proper places. Motorists respect red lights, citizens are generally not noisy and create scenes only when they can't escape it.

A price tag on an article in Germany indicates the cost. Workmen ascend ladders as if they meant to get to the top as quickly as possible, and a waiter goes straight to the kitchen with an order.

To hear a German sing, one must go to a concert, and to see one dance one must buy a ticket of admission. In Germany one always gets the right change.

A traveler in Germany gets accustomed to this national tidiness, and begins to believe it's this way all over Europe. There are no loose ends.

Then — presto! — one is in Italy where there are nothing but loose ends. No wonder that spaghetti, which is all loose ends, is Italy's national dish.

The change from the Rhine to the Tiber is like leaving a tournament of chess masters for the finals of a leapfrog tournament. The traveler from Germany should get off at the Italian border and walk slowly to Rome. By the time he got

I am a small independent oil producer, taxpayer, and a voting citizen and I feel that I have the right to make my views known. Almost every paper, since the price of oil was increased 25 cents to 40 cents per barrel, has been holding an investigation as to why the increase was authorized. Following is a request for an investigation that will be worthwhile to the American people, that is if the findings are honest and the people will know and understand them, not push them aside because their findings are adverse to what the investigators wanted to find.

Why doesn't Felix Wormser investigate the oil situation as a whole and find out how much oil we have in use above ground and how much oil in pipe lines all over the United States? This is classified as storage oil but is not available for use until the lines are abandoned. He will find we do not have the oil available for use above the ground. It might be well to investigate the supposed shut-in potential of 2,100,000 barrels per day. This amount of shut-in oil is a big joke. It is all on paper, not in the ground. I doubt very much if you could increase the production of the United States 500,000 barrels per day and hold it for 60 days.

Investigate the price in 1950 the producer had to pay for casing, tubing, line pipe, pumping equipment, drilling equipment, tanks, separators, cement and a thousand other types of equipment. Then investigate the price he has to pay now for the same material, plus labor and you will find a large increase in price. If you are honest in your investigation you will agree that oil should be $4.00 per barrel and gasoline 35 cents per gallon to be near the proper balance.

Investigate the increase in the price of steel and its products since 1950. You never hear anyone mention an investigation into the price raise of steel. Every increase in the price of steel is instrumental in a price increase for everything the American people use from a can of beans to a diesel locomotive and B-50 bombers, but no investigation.

Investigate the millions of dollars paid into unions every month tax free. What is done with this money and how is it used? Every time the steel workers strike their demands are met and up goes the price of steel. The steel workers get the increase in salary that the American people use from a can of beans to a diesel locomotive and B-50 bombers, but no investigation.

there he would be partially prepared for what awaits him. Your first impression of Rome is that no one knows where he is going. It is very likely to be your last impression as well. This applies to everyone on the streets, pedestrians and motorists alike. Also to the traffic cops — those paid employees of the city whose duty it is to see that the knots in tangles are kept tightly tied. If you want to be conspicuous, then the best way is to cross a street after waiting for the light to turn. You'll be all by yourself, and what is more, you'll be a better target for the cars and motor scooters. There is safety in numbers for the pedestrian, so he crosses in the middle of the block, or cuts diagonally across a square with his fellow men. This is the Eternal City, so the workmen take their time. No job is so important that an Italian allows it to interfere with conversation or a restorative rest. The man who chips a cobblestone works at it with the care of a Bernini doing a cherub's face, and the man who sweeps the street takes as much pains and time as if he were an artist in the employ of a Medici.

Even the centuries are disorderly in Rome. They don't march from the street to street, or from square to square, in chronological order. They are higgledy-piggledy, haphazard. B. C. leans against 1955, and you can go from Nero to Mussolini in half a mile or less. Germans take things seriously, or at least their faces do. Italians take things frivolously, or at least their faces do. Their smiles are as soft as their language.

They love to make noise, and are not particular how. If they feel like singing, they sing. If they feel like blowing their car horns for five minutes, they do. If they feel like arguing in voices that carry clear around St. Peter's, they cut loose. And anyone is free to join in.

Germans sell in stores, Italians sell anywhere they happen to be, and anything they happen to have on hand. Germans admire fountains from a respectable distance. Italians wash in them, drink from them, and, if the spirit moves them, wade in them.

One wonders how the Germans and Italians were ever partners in anything, even a war.

more exploring and discover more production. The large imports into the United States are responsible for the lack of available production to take care of any crises that may confront us. You are going to find out if the Suez Canal is closed very long.

If all the representatives of the people would spend more time in government instead of trying to find ways of getting votes, we would be much better off.

About all of our representatives in Washington are lawyers by profession. So far as knowing anything about business, they know less about business than the people who operate the business. The so called investigation should be made by men in the business world and not by politicians. When that is done we will get on an even keel and stay there.

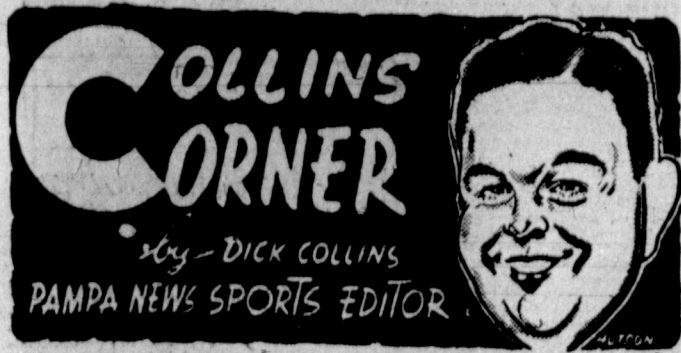

I cannot understand why the investigators don't find out what the oil industry means to national economy. The oil operators drilled a total of 21,838 dry holes in the United States in 1956. This was a total loss in dollars to the operator and is paid for by the operator with the production income he has. This loss amounts to more money than General Motors made in 1956. Out of the total dry holes, 13,084 were wildcat wells and $4 per cent were dry. This is a sample of the big high the oil operators take to supply the needs of the country. Without oil everything comes to a standstill. It is number one in the business world today and it gets the least consideration and the most criticism of any other type of business.

The oil industry has never been the first to hike prices. It always comes after steel has hiked the prices and made it necessary for the oil industry to follow suit.

Another thing which many people are wondering about is: With the great drought and the need of water throughout the West and Southwest part of the United States it behooves this nation to consider the welfare of its own citizens before pouring billions into foreign aid.

The recently proposed bringing of flood waters from the Mississippi and other large rivers across to the great dry plains in the West and Southwest for the purpose of bringing much needed water to the cities and for irrigation purposes would cost a great deal of money but if we would divert foreign aid from people who don't like us and whose friendship we cannot buy back to our own country for one year it would pay a great portion of the cost of diverting these waters and helping the health and welfare of millions of our citizens. This would also prevent flood waters in the lower Mississippi area.

Harvesters Roll To 73-60 Win Over Borger

By DICK COLLINS
Pampa News Sports Editor

LAST YEAR'S PAMPA OILER MANAGER, Allen Cross, came to terms with the club here yesterday. The agreement was made via phone to his Houston home. Terms of the contract were not disclosed.

Cross was well liked here and I'm sure he will do another good job for the Oilers. He led the Oilers to third place in the 10-team Class B Southwestern League. A. B. has been working for an automobile agency in Houston this winter while recovering from his leg injury.

Goose Goff Signs Oiler Contract
Jasper (Goose) Goff, a veteran of Panhandle baseball, was the third player to sign a Pampa Oiler contract yesterday.

Goff, 24, is a veteran of five years in organized baseball. The 6-2, 225-pounder came to terms with Oiler officials yesterday at the baseball office in the Pampa Hotel.

Goff first broke into Panhandle baseball with the now-defunct Borger Gassers of the West Texas-New Mexico League in 1933. He played for Pampa of the old Florida-International League and returned to play with Amarillo's Gold Sox in 1934 as a catcher and first baseman.

In 1935 he played for Yuma of Arizona-New Mexico League where he hit .318 and 29 home runs. Goff played semi-pro ball last season. Goff will probably be used as a catcher and first baseman with the Oilers; Pampa inked Henry Francis Jr. and Alex Triggs, a pair of rookies, to contracts last week.

White Deer Girls Topple Stinnett
WHITE DEER (Special) — The sizzling shooting of Mary Ann (Pokey) Freeman sparked the White Deer girls team to a 71-58 victory over Stinnett in the opening playoff game for the District 3-A title at Stinnett last night.

Miss Freeman, the team's leading scorer, made 45 points, hitting almost 90 per cent of her field goal attempts. Barbara Brittain had 23 for Stinnett. Marilyn Kotara had 14 for runner-up honors for White Deer.

The two teams play again at White Deer Friday night at 7:30. If a third game is necessary, it will be played here next Wednesday night. The winner meets McLean in bi-district.

Wellington Edges Perryton, 53-48
PERRYTON (Special) — The Wellington Skyrockettes took a come-from-behind 53-48 victory over the Perryton Rangerettes at Lefors last night to win the playoff for the District 3-AA girls' basketball title.

The Rangerettes led all of the way until the last of the game. Perryton held an 18-10 first-quarter lead. It was 28-21 for Perryton at the half and 37-33 after three quarters.

Then guard Linda Spence fouled out for Perryton and Wellington's Sally Jo Murphy hit six points in a row to put the Skyrockettes ahead. Murphy had 30 points for top honors. Sydney Stack made 25 for Perryton.

Perryton beat Shamrock last week in the first game after the three teams had ended in a three-way tie. Wellington plays Haskell in bi-district next week.

A bi-district basketball game with Poly High School of Fort Worth awaited the Pampa Harvesters today after the District 3-A AAAA champions helped history repeat itself with a 73-60 victory over Borger's troublesome Bulldogs in Canyon's West Texas State Fieldhouse last night.

For Coach Clifton McNeely's Harvesters it was their second consecutive playoff victory over the rival Borger school. Last night's triumph, not quite as easy as the 19-point win over Borger just two weeks ago, handed the Harvesters the district championship and gave them added hope for another shot at a state championship.

Pampa's march to the title was a carbon copy of the 1935-36 season when the two teams split in regular-season play and the Harvesters won in a sudden-death playoff over the Bulldogs at Canyon. Only this time the stakes were higher, Pampa gaining an outright title instead of a northern-half championship.

Time and site of Pampa's bi-district clash with the Parrots of Fort Worth are still in the talking stages. Officials of the two schools met last night following the game but could come to no agreement.

Two things are almost certain: (1) the game will be played on a neutral site and (2) the game will probably take place next Tuesday night. Superintendent Knox Kinsard of Pampa is expected to meet with Fort Worth officials later this week and work out an agreement.

Vernon and Wichita Falls are possible sites for the sudden-death contest whose winner meets the victor of the District 1-A AAAA and 2-A AAAA bi-district battle for the right to enter the state tournament in Austin on March 7-8-9.

Pampa's victory over Borger last night was a surprisingly easy one. The margin of victory was six points less than the one played at Borger on Feb. 1 in which the Harvesters took an 81-62 win. Earlier in the district campaign, Borger had stopped the Pampans by a 68-62 count in Harvesters Fieldhouse.

Borger's only lead of the game was a 4-3 margin with 55 seconds elapsed in the first quarter. Two minutes later the Bulldogs were able to tie the Harvesters at 8-8 but Pampa went out front 13-8 with 4:11 remaining and stayed out front the rest of the way.

Pampa's widest early margin was eight points at the end of the first quarter. It rocked from two to seven points until midway of the last stanza and then the Harvesters poured on the coal to take an 11-point lead with 1:59 to play. Pampa led 21-13, 37-31 and 54-49 by quarters.

Pampa's lead was cut to two points with 50 seconds gone in the third quarter, but the Harvesters rallied to take a seven-point margin in less than four minutes. The winners began double-teaming Tipton to hold him down some. Pampa started a semi-stall with 6:43 left in the game and kept it up at intervals until the end of the game.

The Harvesters rolled up several good leads and saw them fade when their rebounding went on the blink. Just when Borger would start hitting Coach Clifton McNeely's catch fire once again and regain their lost margin.

A crowd of over 3,000 partisan fans watched the important contest and they saw some of the finest teamwork, hustle and ball handling of the season displayed by the Pampa crew. Borger played one of its best games of the season, rebounding and hitting well, but the Bulldogs could not keep up with the fired-up Harvesters. All five Harvesters scored in double figures. Bill Brown, who put up a one-man show of dribbling and fancy (and sometimes unplayable) shooting, paced the scoring with 20 points on eight field goals and four free throws. The 5-11 junior guard made eight of 13 field jump attempts many of them driving layups through the entire Borger defense.

Big Tommy Gindorf, who did a fine job of scoring and rebounding, was second for the Harvesters with 16. Jerry Pope had 15, Dickie Mauldin 13 and Sam Condo 10. All five players made a fine showing and used teamwork to clinch the victory. Borger's standout center, Warren Tipton, paced the Bulldogs with 17 points. Frank Castleberry had 13, Jimmy Hines 14, Vance Moxom 10 and Elgie Seamster had six. Nealy Simpson, the only Borger reserve to play, failed to score.

Pampa made 38 of 52 field goal attempts for a 73 per cent percentage. The Harvesters hit 11 of 23 free throws. Borger made 23 of 35 from the field for a 66 per cent percentage and missed 14 of 18 gratis shots.

North Carolina Wins; Wallace Hits 27

By FRED DOWN
United Press Sports Writer

Every day in every way South Carolina's Grady Wallace looks more like the fellow who's going to win that spectacular five-man battle for the national college basketball scoring title.

The reason is simple: The 6-foot-4 shotmaker seems less inclined to encounter the "off guards" that have hurt the chances of such gifted rivals as Wilt Chamberlain and Cling Forpe.

Wallace ran into a chiding two-man defense against Furman Tuesday night, but still managed to approximate his season average by pouring in 27 points to lead the Gamecocks to an 85-77 victory. That total dropped Wallace's season average to 30.41 points a game—86 ahead of Columbia's Forte who plays tonight against Yale.

Forte Needs 46
But actually Wallace's position is stronger than it looks at first glance. To pass Grady, for example, Forte must score 46 points tonight and even then he would just shade Wallace with a 30.42 average.

Greenberg, voicing his annoyance from the Indians' spring training site in Tucson, Ariz., was the most outspoken against the Yankees over the deal they made Tuesday with Kansas City.

"It must be great to have your own farm system in the same league," he snapped, obviously referring to previous deals between the same two clubs in which such players as Johnny Sain, Tom Gorman, Eddie Robinson, Enos Slaughter, Lou Skizas and Bob Cerv figured.

"What are they all crying about?" Stengel snapped back from the Yankees' training quarters at St. Petersburg, Fla. "When we tried to deal with the other six clubs in the league, they threw out a boycott against us. Now they're all moaning because we dealt with Kansas City again."

Meanwhile, Stengel wasn't at all sure that the Yankees had hoodwinked the Athletics in the deal as a majority of baseball people seemed to think.

"Kansas City's got six chances to look good on that deal," Casey said, "and I got only two."

The "six chances" for Kansas City that Stengel meant were pitchers Mickey McDermott, Tom Morgan and Rip Coleman, shortstop Billy Hunter, outfielder Irv Noren and rookie infielder Mill Graf of Denver, all of whom went to the A's. Another player is due KC by April 15.

Regarding the two pitchers, right-hander Art Dittmar and left-hander Bobby Shantz, he inherited from the Athletics Stengel had this to say:

"I liked Dittmar the first time I ever saw him. But there's one thing I can't understand. We tried getting him a year ago after he won 12 and lost 12 and they say he's untouchable. So last year he's 12 and 22 and now suddenly they're willing to give him up."

"We know all about Shantz' arm condition. But we asked around and find out it's okay."

To get the highly-regarded Graf, the Athletics in an accompanying deal, sent first baseman Wayne Belardi and pitcher Jack McMahan to Denver which will get an additional player by April 15.

The University of Connecticut clinched the Yankee Conference title and a berth in the NCAA tournament when it walloped Massachusetts, 90-77. Billy Schmidt led the winners with 22 points as they won their ninth conference title in 10 years. Their overall season record is 14-7.

Fourth-ranked Southern Methodist scored its eighth straight Southwest Conference win, 71-55, over Texas A&M, and can clinch the title by downing Rice on Saturday. Bobby Mills' 21 points and Jim Krebs' 20 led the Mustangs.

Credit Rebounds For Big Victory

By BOB DIXON

"Our rebounding was the main thing that stopped them this time," remarked Coach Clifton McNeely after his proud Harvesters had just tucked away another district banner for the bulging trophy case.

"Borger was really hitting, but our boys outthumbed them. Actually, however, I don't think we got near as high tonight as when we played them in Borger," McNeely went on to say.

Assistant Coach Terry Culley agreed with McNeely that the rebounding was the main factor that cost the Bulldogs the win. "They were really hitting in that first half and kept the pressure on."

That Hines (Jimmy) was really hurting us," Culley further remarked.

The winners' dressing room was again a scene of jubilation but not as much as it had been over at Borger when Pampa won 81-62. All the players felt that they had the game all the way and were quick to agree that the Bulldogs were stiff competition. They also picked Warren Tipton, the Bulldogs' junior center, and Jim my Hines, a senior guard, as the outstanding players for the Borgerans.

Bill Brown, the game's leading scorer, said he thought that Borger was a good team but not quite good enough. "They just weren't pressing us as hard tonight as they did at Borger," Brown commented further. Sam Condo, Pampa's co-captain forward, said he didn't know what to say about the game other than he thought the Harvesters would win all the way.

"I think it was our defense that stopped them," was the way Dickie Mauldin, who shares the other guard position with Brown, summed it up. "That Hines was really hurting us with those jump shots of his," Mauldin went on to say.

Jerry Pope, Pampa's 6-1 senior forward, said the team was just ready for them and never let up. "We outthumbed them and got more than our share of rebounds which brought the win," Pope concluded.

Tommy Gindorf was in high spirit and said that he was really happy about the win and felt that Pampa had the game won from the start. "They really hit in the first half but slowed down in the second when we started clearing the boards," Gindorf remarked.

Over at the other side of the building the Borger gladiators were packing their gear for the last time for awhile as they ended the season with 34 wins and only four losses, two to the Harvesters.

Frank Castleberry, Borger's outstanding senior forward summed up his team's sentiments when he said that Pampa was just the better team. "I wish them all the luck in the world and hope they go all the way. I only wish it could be us though," Frank added.

Coach Tex Hanna said that his Bulldogs were really hot in the first half but cooled off considerably in the last half and that the Harvesters just didn't cool off. "They were really hot; we were matching them shot-for-shot but they pulled away from us in the second half and we were never able to get off the floor."

As he was going out the door Hanna remarked, "There's a sum of beans walking out of this place stopped over for the second year in a row." He was referring to last year's loss to Pampa when the two teams tied for the northern zone lead of the old District 3-A AAAA.

The winning Harvesters left the fieldhouse and went to a restaurant for a belated meal and then to a motel where they spent the night before returning to Pampa to start readying themselves for their next clash. That will probably come sometime next week when they tangle with the District 3-A AAAA champions, Poly of Fort Worth, at a site yet to be determined by school officials.

Elvis Tops List Of Undesirables

STRATFORD - ON - AVON, England (UP)—Three American names were highly unpopular in certain cultural circles of Britain today and Elvis Presley led the list.

The names of Presley and band leader Bill Haley were smeared in Liverpool on William Shakespeare's statue. The Liverpool won't come off.

In the college town of Eton, the name of Hamilton F. Forsythe, "the well-known American modern-expression painter," also was mud.

20 Years Since First Sit-Down Strike Used By Organized Labor

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—Twenty years have slipped by since the left wing of organized labor imported the sit-down strike technique from France and stopped the great assembly lines of General Motors.

Like Gettysburg, Stalingrad or Midway, the decisive battle of the CIO to organize General Motors generally is conceded to have taken place in Flint, Mich., in December-January-February of 1936-37.

On Feb. 11, 1937, GM signed the agreement which ended a 44-day Flint sit-down. From that agreement developed the United Automobile Workers of America (UAW) organization in GM. Sen. Pat McNamara (D-Mich.) in the Senate a few days ago said:

"Mr. President, 20 years ago this month, there took place in Flint, Mich., events that marked the launching of a new bill of rights for the industrial worker. From these strikes came recognition of the UAW by General Motors Corporation; and from that recognition was born true collective bargaining, a new standard of living and social justice for the workers in the auto industry."

No Quarrel From Reds
None is likely to quarrel with McNamara's estimate of that sit-down in the Flint Fisher Body works, the Communist Party of the United States least of all.

The Communists, in their national publication, The Worker, commemorated the Flint sit-down Sunday in a nostalgic account of events in the first year of the second Roosevelt administration when organizing labor had been heavily infiltrated and in some instances was being led by notable members of the Communist Party.

Wyndham Mortimer, vice president of the struggling UAW, was a Communist closely associated with Bob Travis, UAW leader in Toledo, Ohio. The Worker recalled in discussing the Flint sit-down:

"Who were the people (in the Flint strike)," the paper continued, "with initiative and leadership? They were mainly an active core that Mortimer and Travis had built up. But it was people with a Socialist consciousness and association with the Communist Party and the then-leftist Socialist Party of Michigan who stood out in key positions."

"While the major leaders at Fisher (a GM plant) were Communists, the group that led the sit-down at the Chevrolet plant were mainly Socialists. Later, the three Reuther brothers, then Socialists, came to Flint to join Mortimer and the other Communists in the leadership. (Walter P. Reuther now is No. 2 man in the merged AFL-CIO.)"

The sit-down strike was a device by which employees quit work but remained in the plants day and night, resisting eviction. It was a deadly effective strike weapon, especially if the courts and the executive, as in Michigan, rejected company pleas that their properties were being occupied illegally.

Placed in the appendix of the Congressional Record by Sen. McNamara is the UAW's own account of the sit-down background, as follows:

"There were sit-down strikes in General Electric before World War I; but the 1936 sit-down, you might say, began in France. 'Paris, France, was where the sit-down fever started that year. Leon Blum, France's Franklin Roosevelt, was premier. Reuther was in the air."

Garrison Urges Early Inspections

Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, prevailed upon Texas automobile owners to "do their shopping early" this year in an effort to reduce the last minute rush for inspection stickers at the close of the 1957 motor vehicle inspection period. The deadline is April 15.

On information received from George W. Busby, chief of the department's Motor Vehicle Inspection Division, the state police director said only one-third of the state's four million vehicle owners have obtained their 1957 inspection stickers to date. He urged motorists to have their cars and trucks inspected now, as a means of saving time for themselves and to avoid a last minute congestion at inspection stations throughout Texas.

Last year, as was true in most preceding years, vehicles overcrowded inspection stations during the last week of the inspection period. More than a million automobiles were caught in the last minute rush, resulting in a loss of even more millions of manhours for the owners of those vehicles.

Garrison called upon the motoring public to adopt a "shop early" policy in this year's inspection program as a means of saving time and to afford better convenience for the vehicle owners involved.
