Plane Falls In Shark-Infested Japan Waters In High Winds

By ROBERT MONAHAN United Press Staff Correspondent

TOKYO (UP)-A U. S. military transport plane with 67 persons aboard fell today into the shark-infested waters of Japan where winds of near-typhoon force lashed the sea into giant waves that hurled spray hundreds of feet into the air.

All aboard were feared dead. Brief hopes for the 10 crew members and 57 passengers aboard the huge C97 Boeing Stratocruiser were dashed when a sighted "life raft" turned out to be an overturned rowboat with a straw mat floating beside it.

PANHANDLE - Funeral services for Alton Price Moore, 49, of Panhandle are pending at the Duenkel - Carmichael Funeral Home.

Mr. Moore had lived in Panhandle for the past 11 years and operated the Ford agency there. He was found at his business at approximately 11 p.m. Wednesday and a coroner's inquest ruled that he had died as the result of a heart attack.

He had left home at about 8 p.m. and after going to a grocery store had apparently gone to the garage. He had placed his car inside and was found near the ofrice, according to a report from the Panhandle Herald.

TONSILECTOMY INVITES POLIO

Some time ago an out of town paper carried a UP dispatch from Minneapolis reporting that a University of Minnesota medical team had checked over 2500 polio cases to learn that the deadly "bulbar" type of polio definitely had an affinity for folks who had no tonsils. They concluded that higher incidence of the Bulbar type in older people had less to do with their age than the fact that more oldsters had lost their tonsils

Miller D.C.

The hot inflamed nerves in the upper spinal area that causes tonsilitis can also set the stage for inflammation in the spinal cord known as polio.

Research in thousands of cases prove that if all polio cases could receive immediate adjustments to remove the upper spinal interferences, the attending paralysis would be rare instead of common. One large Chiropractic Clinic specializes in polio cases.

Someday polio will be recognized for what it is, and that is the common cold type inflammation situated in the spinal cord instead of the nose, throat or tonsils, All of the "itis" diseases are simply in flammed areas which respond readily when nerve irritations are removed by Chiropractic adjust-

What is the vard stick by which compulsory medicine is legislated? If it only need be good for everyone, then we ought to pass a bill making adjustments compulsory, because the following case testifies that they really are good for you. From a neighboring town dis-

We were afraid that they had delayed too long. Their local physician had diagnosed it as dread bulbar polio case. We dropped everything and rushed through our spinal analysis and spinal X-rays and located the injury causing the trouble.

Within an hour the coma was broken and the child was crying normally, then dropped into normal sleep. Within five days he was up, walking and dragging one leg a little. Within two weeks, there wasn'e even a limp remaining. These results seem amazing to you, but are common under Chiropractic care.

Sore throats, colds, flu, tonsilitis, and polio all belong to the same family and respond equally well to Chiropractic, so let's get our Senator to introduce a "compulsory" bill for "good for you" adjustments.

For your own healths sake investigate now. You have nothing to lose except bad health,

The Way He Should Go

"Train up a child in the way he should go." How simple the words are! Yet how complicated they become when parents try to follow them. It seems so easy to train a child before we become parents only in parent-

There are three major educational institutions in the world. The home, the church, and the schools. The home is the most important and influential of the three. To strengthen the influence of the family and to help it endure in to-days crazed and confused world should be the main object of every home. Sound home training is the best and surest foundation for a good life here and here after.

Parents here is our greatest work in life. No other can be as important, of no other will you give as strict account to God as the account you must give of the souls you have brought into being.

Parents, Satan is on the prowl, seeking to devour your precious young people: what are you doing to defend them, to protect them from his snares and evil designs? The greatest storm of godlessness and reckless living is breaking upon our land there's danger and perilous times sweeping around this weary world you had better put your arms around your young people and guide them safely. To know God and love Him is the beginning of life. God should be just as much of a home as mother and daddy. You'd better face the devil and fight for your children, You'd better storm heaven and be violent in prayer. The salvation of our young people is the most important thing in all the world.

"Not by might, nor by power, but by the spirit, soith the Lord." One writer has given some good advice for training children: "Keep warm, ride close together: Remember laughter." Closeness and confidence in mother and daddy go a long way. Many a young person stays out of trouble because he can tell his parents his secrets and problems. It is up to us to keep the door open and let them know we will not let them down.

Then let us pray God to open our eyes to the peril of our young people give us a double partion of parent instinct to protect our children a concern that will break our hearts in importunate prayer.

KEOTANE . . . that's the magic word that makes Skelly's famous Power Pair even more powerful. Keotane, found only in Skelly Supreme Gasoline, dissolves the gum that holds wasteful carbon and lead deposits. It keeps new engines new, makes old engines perform like new. On top of the tremendous power and mileage increases which Keotane makes possible, is the reduction in friction losses which Skelly Supreme Motor Oil permits. It flows freely, even at 40° below, yet doesn't break down or burn away. With this team in your engine you can be sure you're getting all the power, all the economy that the factory built into your car.

Predator Like Taxes

ADVERTISING IS WONDERFUL!

By means of this colorful and helpful device, all of us receive much useful information. Only recently, because of advertising, we have been made aware of the calamity which befalls much of the human race simply because of a tiny parasite called the nematode. Farmers, ranchers and other growers know what a nematode is. Others may not, but ought to inform themselves.

It seems the nematode is so small that three or four can get on a pinhead without undue crowding. And these tiny organisms commit millions of dollars in crop damage. every year. They invisibly feed on roots, and their attack is so insidious that they rarely commit total destruction. Plants which suffer under their forays continue to live, but they do not thrive.

It is as though the parasite was gifted with sufficient acumen to realize that it must not destroy totally the body on which it feeds. However, it drains off sufficient energy from its host so that the host does not do well. Its growth is half-hearted. It achieves only partial stature and harvests are impaired greatly although not necessarily eliminated.

One advertiser who has discovered a chemical means to combat this organism had branded the nematode as the "pinhead predator with a billion-dollar bite." The phrase is apt

The taxing facilities of the federal government provides a parallel. In its horde of exactions against production the federal taxing service is a nematode both in ferocity of appetite and in its invisible presence.

Few realize just how serious a threat is posed by the taxes we all pay. Taxes are designed, whenever possible, to keep us, the host of the parasite, in ignorance of the size of the damage inflicted upon us. We are fulled into a sense of false security when local taxers, for example, prate in terms of a few mills tax on a percentage of valuation. We are like the uninformed farmer who, made aware of the presence of nematode, concludes that anything so tiny could not possibly hurt him

But like the nematode, taxes do not come singly or in pairs. They inundate by force of numbers. A few mills here, a few pennies there and some dollars thrown in are all we ever pay in taxes. But the result is to stunt our production, nullify our efforts, thwart our harvests and impoverish our land,

Like the nematode, the political taxing authority seems to realize that it must not destroy its source of supply. It freely drains us of all that we have above a given margin. But since we retain all below that margin, there are many who view the tax-eaters as harmless annoyances. Nay, some even claim that taxes are "good"; that they redistribute wealth; that they provide certain things we could not possibly get in any other way.

But the well-informed citizen knows that the taxeaters, like the nematode eaters, provide nothing but themselves. A field inflicted with this pest may raise an excellent crop of pests, but the excellence stops there. And no one has ever found a good use of nematodes, except other nematodes.

While farmers fumigate their soils and prepare to combat this dread scourge, the rest of us should busy ourselves with developing some kind of formula to eliminate the "pinhead predator" at governmental level. No growth is ever luxuriant while it harbors parasites.

The Doctor Says

By EDGAR P. JORDAN, M. D.

In almost all municipalities steps are taken to make sure that the water supply is safe for drinking. This, however, is not always the case elsewhere, even in North America.

Q-I have been boiling all our drinking water for some time as the water from my well tests five per cent bad. Some of my relatives and friends say that it is unnecessary to boil water for ice cubes as the freezing would kill all the germs. What do you think? -Mrs. B. T.

A-I do not know exactly what five per cent bad means. But presume it means that your water is contaminated with germs which could be dangerous to health. Until such time as safer water is obtained, boiling is the best procedure since this destroys disease germs. Experiments made years ago have shown that some disease germs can remain alive. and therefore hazardous, in ice for some time. Therefore the water te go into ice cubes should be boiled as well.

Q-I am suffering with what is called Weaver's Seat. Could you

A-Weaver's Seat or Weaver's Bottom, is a chronic bursitis on the location indicated and occurring principally in people whose cupations necessitate prolonged sitting on hard surfaces. Pain over the bursa near the bone is constant and may extend down the back of the thigh. In mild cases, beat and rest usually result in polief. Injections of a local anmetle are sometimes used. But is persistent pain, the burns has be removed by surgery.

Q-Would you please explain the following: My mother died a few weeks ago and on the death certificate the cause was given as coronary thrombosis - six hours - and hypertensive heart disease - five years. She was sick only such a short time I still can't understand it. - Mrs. C. D. A-I am sorry to hear of the loss of your mother. The death certificate indicates that she had been suffering from high blood pressure for several years, but that her final illness was a clot in one of the blood vessels supocclusion. Q-I am 56 years old and have high blood pressure. At the age of 53 I ceased menstruating and then a couple of weeks ago I suddenly began hemorrhaging quite profusely and this has happened again since. I feel my blood presmust have dropped, but wonder if there could be a tumor which could eventually turn to cancer? - Reader. A-Loss of blood will usually bring down the blood pressure. However, what is important is that there has been abnormal bleeding. This could be a sign of something seriously wrong, so you should not delay in obtaining medical advice. Q-I am a sophomore in high school. I have lumps in each of my ear lobes and pus comes from them. This started three years ago. Can you explain it? - R. A. A-This sounds like a chronic infection. It seems likely that you will have to have treatment by BETTER JOBS

I made a note that I was not able to find this in the Old Testament and would appreciate it if any reader would let me know where to find it.

I got the information from Mrs. Arthur Henderson. She said it was found in the Book of Tobit, which is one of the books of the Apocryphea. It was 4:15: "Do not do to anyone else what you hate." Getting this information from Mrs. Henderson reminded me of the old statement that if you want something done, go to a busy person. Mrs. Henderson is a mother of five children, the oldest 10 years old. Yet she had time to look it up and report to me. It took some time because it was not in Cruden's or Young's Concordance and had to be found by crossreferences. Thanks to Mrs. Henderson

The Labor Investigation

Frank Chodorov, in the March issue of the magazine, "Dawn," comments on the Senate's investigation of labor corruption, showng that it is a result of government making laws that make corruption legal. He puts it this way:

"Here is a how-do-do! Big shot labor leaders are thumbing their noses at the congressmen who made them big. They are 'taking the fifth'-just like the suspected communists-when asked by congressional investigators what they are doing with the pension funds to which the workers are compelled to contribute.

"Their arrogance is understandable. The laws by which the labor unions achieved monopoly position were passed by congressmen whom they either helped to elect or threatened with defeat if they did not vote for these laws. Congress is beholden to them for their seats. Therefore, it is presumptuous of Congress to question the ways of its makers. It is none of the business of a satellite Congress how the labor, unions are run. "If Congress has the will to escape its subservient condition it will take steps to abolish the laws which made the union leaders big and Congress small. Incidentally, if these laws are abolished-not amended-the entire country, including the enslaved workers, will be freed from the worst monopoly in the history of the country, the labor monopoly. The principal law that needs abolition is the Wagner Labor Act. If this law were abolto-work laws would vanish, for these state laws are made necessary by the monopoly-making act which Congress passed some years

Earlier Bad Labor Laws

It seems to me that Chodorov should have mentioned the Clayton Amendment to the Sherman Anti-Trust Law passed in 1913 as one of the laws that gave union labor the right to violate justice and moral law. Before 1913 it was a crime for labor unions and farmers to attempt to form a monopoly and boycott concerns that did not submit to their non-competitive demands. But the Clayton Amendment amended the Sherman Anti-Trust Law that made it a crime against all persons attempting to form a monopoly. This, it seems to me, was the first law that led to one law after another that will enslave the people of the United States unless people wake

Another law that favored labor unions was the Norris-Laguardia Act that made it a crime for employers to require workers to agree that they would not join a labor union that believed they had the right to disregard the Golden Rule and the Coveting Commandment and had the right to try to injure some people to temporarily and materially benefit other people. In other words, they had a right to establish some form of communism and socialism and not be guilty of a crime These are the laws that are bound to cause those who believe in this special privilege monopoly to use themselves as a standard of justice and righteousness and disregard all eternal moral laws and principles. We're reaping exactly what we have sown by these kinds of special privilege laws.
