"IN DEBT OVER MY HEAD" — John Max Cranford of Pampa, right, is shown with Perryton policeman Less Crain as he was being placed in the Perryton jail yesterday afternoon after he told officers that he had robbed the Follett National Bank earlier yesterday. When asked why he took the money, he stated, "I was in debt over my head. I had been waiting five years for a break and when it didn't come, I tried to make one." (News Photo)

Debts Given As Theft Reason

$21,240 Is Recovered After Robbery Of Bank In Follett

By FRED M. PARKER
Pampa News Staff Writer

Officers yesterday afternoon recovered $21,240 from a package at the Darrouzett post office which John Max Cranford of Pampa, who admitted robbing the Follett National Bank early yesterday morning, had mailed there. The money was found wrapped in the clothes that Cranford wore when he robbed the bank.

The package was recovered after Cranford, in making a confession to officers in the office of Ochiltree County Attorney Jack M. Allen, stated that he had stopped in Darrouzett and mailed the package containing the money and his clothes to himself in Pampa. Also found in the package was the .22 caliber automatic pistol which Cranford used in the robbery. The pearl-handled automatic was found in the pocket of Cranford's coat.

"I was over my head in debt," Cranford gave as his reason for robbing the bank when interviewed by newsmen. He stated, "You know how it is when every time you go to the post box you find bills. I was hoping for a break for the last five years. One didn't come my way, so I tried to make one."

While being placed in the Perryton jail, Cranford was concerned about his four children and asked Sheriff Ray Phagan of Perryton to send the approximately $80 he had in his pockets to his mother-in-law in Pampa for his children.

Cranford, who is an oilfield roughneck, confessed to officers in Perryton late yesterday morning after he was stopped at a roadblock one mile east of Perryton.

The cashier and assistant cashier of the bank were brought to Perryton and identified Cranford by his red hair and a gold tooth in the front of his mouth. They reported that it was hard to make the identification because Cranford had changed clothes.

Cranford had passed through a roadblock at Booker which was manned by Lowell Bowdle, deputy sheriff. At the time Bowdle stopped him, Cranford's description and the description of the car he was driving had not been given officers blocking the road throughout the area.

Bowdle reported that when he stopped him in Booker, Cranford appeared perfectly calm. Bowdle made a note of the license number and when he learned that this was possibly the man being sought he radioed the information to other officers.

At the time of the robbery the car driven by Cranford did not have license plates, witnesses in Follett reported.

The description of Cranford's two-tone '54 Oldsmobile was given by a Follett businessman who saw it driving away. Additional information as to the direction taken by Cranford was given by Miss Dell Cookman, bank secretary, who saw the car traveling north on a muddy street at a high rate of speed as she was going to work. She reported that she noticed the car because of the high rate of speed and the manner in which it turned west onto the Perryton highway.

By the time he was stopped at the Perryton roadblock, Cranford's description and the description of his car was known by the officers, and they reported that they believed that they had the man when they saw his red hair and gold tooth.

The officers said that Cranford was not nervous when stopped but when told to get out of the car, "He turned as red as a beet."

Deputy Sheriff Doc Binion stated. Walter Frazier, assistant cashier of the bank, reported that Cranford appeared from nowhere as he was entering the bank. He stated that Cranford followed him into the bank and "demanded the money."

Frazier gave him a tray containing about $300, used for after hours business, and the lone bandit told him "It isn't enough" and told him to open the vault.

"Alfalfa in particular," according to Swain, "was being hurt by the weather, however, throughout much of Wheeler County, by a lucky chance, there was a lot of seeding done between the first and last rainfalls, and that has done a lot for the hopes of the farmers planting that crop."

Swain added, however, that the rains will be of limited value, although he did concede that a little bit of green goes a long way. "We'll need more," he said, "but this was real nice. It came slow and went right into the ground." In Ochiltree County, things were rather bright too, with the farmers in that area rather optimistic. The rain was falling all day yesterday which added to the outlook for some.

In spite of all this, however, the rains were still a little too late for most wheat crops, although most farmers were quick to admit that any crop at all, would be better than none, and that the rains had definitely helped in that regard.

But with the average yearly rainfall, to insure an adequate crop, somewhere in the vicinity of 20 inches, there will still have to be many more wet days, before farmers can start spending their money.

Reports from agricultural agents in many of the area towns show that the dampness has attributed to much of the estimated foot-and-a-half of moisture which has penetrated the ground in most places.

Ralph Thomas, Gray County agricultural agent, said that he had "never seen such happy farmers."

He reported that although the moisture itself was late for a lot of our wheat, it has been very good for the county. "It has been just about the best rainfall," Thomas added, "that we have had in the last two years."

Bryan Swain, Wheeler County agricultural agent, said that the outlook was "pretty good right now."

He reported that in Wheeler County a large per cent of all the moisture falling due to the cloudy nature of the weather, had gone straight into the ground. Even the winter grass, he said, will be helped by the moisture.

The change in small grain throughout the Panhandle has been very evident. Most of the area's agricultural agents agreed that prior to the first sign of moisture the small grain had been "breathing its last breath"; however, they added, as a result of the recent downpour, a change for the better has been evidenced.

Rains Boost Outlook For Panhandle Crops

By BOB PEREZ

A brighter outlook on the farm scene has been evidenced lately with the smile on many a Top O' Texas farmer's face as he waded through mud, inches deep in many places, and as he put his chains on to leave the farm for a shopping tour in the city.

The recent downpour of rain in the drought-stricken Panhandle area has, in most cases, justified that smile.

Reports from agricultural agents in many of the area towns show that the dampness has attributed to much of the estimated foot-and-a-half of moisture which has penetrated the ground in most places.

Ralph Thomas, Gray County agricultural agent, said that he had "never seen such happy farmers."

SHAMROCK — The body of an unidentified man was found in a '57 Chrysler three miles east of the Wheeler-Gray County line on highway 86 at about 9:15 this morning.

A wrecker was called from Shamrock and the car was taken to a body shop there without moving the body of the man. This was done so that the officers could closely check the body and the car, they reported.

A briefcase was found near the car and the officers reported that a diamond ring, which they estimated to be worth approximately $500, was found in the briefcase. The briefcase was near a partly opened door of the car.

The man who discovered the body notified officers in McLean and R. C. Parker, highway patrolman, went to the scene. The officers reported that the man's throat had been cut from ear-to-ear.

Buck Haggard, Gray County deputy sheriff, also went to the scene this morning to take fingerprints of the man in an effort to learn his identity.

The officers reported that the body was in a brown '57 Chrysler, which had dealer plates from a firm in Santa Fe, N.M.

Under Program, States Would Assume Some Responsibility

By GAYLORD P. GODWIN
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower asked Congress today to approve an expanded drought relief program with states required to pay 25 per cent of the cost.

Under the President's program states also would be responsible for administering disaster relief to provide necessary local guidance and supervision.

In a special message to Congress, Mr. Eisenhower asked for authority to expand existing drought and other disaster relief programs. The President gave no estimate of the cost of the new program, either to the federal government or to the states.

Accompanying his message was a letter to the President from Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson proposing new drought and other disaster relief measures, based on the report of the special drought conference at Wichita, Kan., Jan. 14-16. The report also was included.

Mr. Eisenhower "strongly" urged "prompt consideration and adoption" of Benson's legislative proposals.

"Many of the proposals in the report bear directly upon the current drought situation," Mr. Eisenhower said. "I feel strongly, however, that in this appraisal of the federal government's participation in the program."

ROBBERY

While they were waiting, "He bummed a cigarette from me and made me light it and place it on the counter," Frazier stated. "He was very nervous and kept pacing the floor while we were waiting."

After Robertson arrived, Cranford made them tear out the phone wires in the vault and handed Robertson a brown paper sack and told him to "fill it up."

After the sack was filled, the bankers reported, Cranford closed the door to the vault while they were still inside, but did not lock it. After a few minutes they were able to open the vault by using an inside mechanism and Frazier went to a nearby business and called Lipscomb County officers and the FBI in Amarillo.

Cranford explained to reporters that he did not lock the vault because "I didn't want to hurt them. That's why I didn't lock the vault. I was afraid they would suffocate."

At the time of the robbery, most of the officers in the area were attending a peace officers convention in Amarillo. FBI agents and Texas Rangers accompanied officers from the area back to Perryton and aided in the questioning and obtaining of Cranford's statement.

Sheriff Ray Phagan of Perryton, who was in Amarillo, told newsmen "I'm not going to another peace officer's convention or anything else that will take me out of town."

FBI agents and Rangers left Perryton at 6 p.m. yesterday with Cranford for Amarillo where charges were to be filed in Federal Court against Cranford for "robbery of the Follett National Bank."

Light Rain Falls On Panhandle

By UNITED PRESS

Thunderstorms and brief but heavy rains hit sections of the Texas coast today and light rain fell from the Panhandle eastward along the Red River.

Heavy clouds over the Top of Texas yesterday gave Pampa 22 of an inch of rain to add to amount already received here during the past two weeks. The amount of moisture received yesterday was recorded by the rain gauge located on top of The News building.

The rain, which began falling early yesterday morning in the northern part of the area, continued to fall throughout the day and added to the mud on streets and roads throughout the area.

Motorists on some roads in the area were finding the traveling of the muddy roads extremely hazardous and in some instances they became stuck.

A brief thunderstorm hit the Port Arthur area early today and thunderstorms were in deep South Texas around Brownsville. Nearly half an inch of rain fell at Brownsville and the storm area later moved into the Gulf of Mexico.

Light snow fell in the Panhandle Monday night back of a weak cold front. Colder air circulating lack of a low pressure system covered the northern regions of the state today.

Light rain was reported early today over the Panhandle and along the Red River to Abilene. Some intermittent rain or drizzle was expected along the Red River.

Investigation Continues In Theft Of $3600

(Special to The News)

SHAMROCK — Authorities have accounted for $990 thus far in the theft of $3600 which was hidden in several tobacco sacks in the basement of the home of an 80-year-old Shamrock woman.

The money had been discovered by the woman's granddaughter, who reportedly took several hundred dollars and then informed her boyfriend who in turn admitted helping himself to $600.

A total of $2600 still remains unaccounted for as local authorities continued their investigation which could lead to the implication of several other youths.

The boyfriend, 19-year-old Truman Shivers of Shamrock, and the girl have been booked on charges of theft of over $50 by the sheriff's department of Wheeler County.

Teenagers admittedly bought two cars with the money they took. Authorities are still investigating the case in an attempt to find out the case in an attempt to find out how many persons are involved and what happened to the remainder of the money.

23 In Senate Race

By UNITED PRESS

Twenty-three candidates for the U.S. Senate had four weeks left today in which to grab the most votes for the April 2 special election.

The number of candidates was officially certified as 23 Monday by Secretary of State Zollicoffer Steakley who sent an alphabetical listing to county clerks.

The ballots in the different counties may not necessarily appear in alphabetical or the same order. County clerks may place the names in different orders if they draw the names by lot in open meetings.

Six Shy Of Previous Election The list of 23 candidates is only six short of the 29 who took part in Texas' only previous special U.S. Senate election in 1949.

The names of those certified for the ballot are Martin Dies, Searcy Bracewell, Ralph Yarborough, James P. Hart, John White, Elmer Adams, W. R. Currin, Hugh Wilson, Curtis Ford, Walter Scott McNitt, Clyde Orms, M. T. Banks, Charles W. Hill, J. Cal Courtney, J. Perrin Willis, H. Frank Connally Jr., John C. Burns Jr., C. O. Foerster Jr., Ralph W. Hammonds, Jacob Berglofsky, and Frank G. Cortez, all Democrats, and Thad Hutcheson and Herbert J. Antoine Sr., Republicans.

Steakley said he was honoring a request from interim Sen. William Blakley that his name not be placed on the ballot. Former Attorney General John Ben Shepherd had sought to file Blakley's name on the ballot.

The absentee balloting period for the special election, held at the same time of many municipal elections across the state, will be from March 13 through March 29.

Story Of Communist Spying Attracts Very Little Attention

A UNITED PRESS EXTRA
By LYLE C. WILSON
WASHINGTON (UP)—The story of Communist spying in the United States rambles on, generally attracting less attention than last year's fashion in women's wear. Whether there was much, little or no Communist infiltration of government during the Roosevelt and Truman administrations has become more a matter of political record than a matter of fact. The dispute to date suggests that the infiltration was considerable and effective, although the record still falls short of persuading many persons that such was the fact. Former President Truman, for example, does not see it that way at all.

HST Backed White
This Communist infiltration of government scarcely figured in the 1956 presidential campaign, but Mr. Truman was induced to discuss it on Labor Day during a Milwaukee television interview. The news index, "Facts on File," attributes to Mr. Truman on that occasion a statement that the late Harry Dexter White was not "guilty of anything."
White had been accused in congressional hearings during Mr. Truman's administration of aiding the Communists. White notably figured in the 1948 disclosures of Elizabeth Bentley and Whittaker Chambers as a source of information which was passed on to espionage agents of the Soviet Union.
Three days after White appeared before congressional investigators in 1948, he died under somewhat mysterious circumstances.
Caused China's Downfall?
Comes now, however, the report of a subcommittee of the Senate Internal Security Committee with a report on testimony taken last year. The committee and the subcommittee are creatures of a Democratic Congress, for whatever significance that may have in view of their judgment of White, who served a Democratic administration.
The subcommittee reported that a Communist underground apparatus of Harry Dexter White had brought about the economic destruction of Nationalist China. It said that White "and his fellow conspirators" held back millions of dollars in gold shipments to China during World War II.
White's associates were named as Frank Coe, Solomon Adler and Irving S. Friedman, Secretary of Treasury Henry W. Morgenthau Jr. served under Franklin D. Roosevelt and under Mr. Truman. The subcommittee reported that Morgenthau approved a shipment of $200 million, gold, to China in 1943, but that only $29 million had gone forward two years later. The investigators said Morgenthau was hoodwinked by his man, White.

Teacher Is Man Of Hour In Hollywood

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press Hollywood Writer
HOLLYWOOD (UP)—A Minnesota college teacher who made a ten minute $80 movie is the man of the hour in Hollywood.
Supercolossal productions in booming stereophonic sound, glorious color and wide, wide screens are the business of the day at most of the Hollywood movie studios. Last night many producers, directors, writers and actors gathered at 20th Century Fox studio to give a gold medalion to Allen Downs for his little film.
The 42-year-old teacher turned out a one-reel documentary, "The Swamp," with the help of two of his students in his photography and design classes at the University of Minnesota. The Screen Producers' Guild judged it the best campus-produced motion picture for the scholastic year of 1955-56 in the Guild's fourth annual inter-collegiate awards.
Downs' price-winning movie, selected from 18 submitted by amateur movie-making classes in colleges all over the country, tells about a beautiful section of swampland near Minneapolis. During a period of "three or four years" Downs photographed wild life at the site "because I wanted to show my class how the movie camera could record pictorially, and not just theatrically."
"Then one day they began to fill up this beautiful place with garbage, and I had an ending to my story," explained Downs, invited here from his Minneapolis home. "So I edited all the film I had into a ten-minute story. Now I hope the city officials do something about the garbage."
"Second and third place in the SPG inter-collegiate competition went to films made at the University of Southern California, and honorable mention was won by the University of Illinois, the University of Nebraska, and Wayne State University.
"The Swamp" was the shortest film entered. The longest, 33 min-

Tim Carey Strangest, Wildest Star In Hollywood's Galaxy

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press Hollywood Writer
HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Anybody who thinks Hollywoodites are normal persons like the folks next door should meet Timothy Carey, the strangest wildest actor of them all.
Carey played the role of the creepy killer in last year's "The Killing," one of the best whodunits of many a season. In person he is creepier and makes Marlon Brando and Jack Palance look proper as Sunday school teachers.
"People are finally beginning to understand me," barked Tim. "The trouble is, people in Hollywood never saw a guy like me before. They think I'm a man from another planet."

A Mobile, Ala., theater man who saw the picture got so excited over Tim he produced his first movie, "Bayou," in order to star the 24-year-old Carey. Tim gets special billing in his next picture, "Paths of Glory," starring Kirk Douglas.
But before this success were years of troubles, apparently because of his inhibited behavior. Carey admittedly has been tossed out of every studio in town. He was asked to leave one picture because he got actress Phyllis Kirk in hysterics. He was boot-ed out of "The Wild One" because he made Brando nervous.
To get auditions with movie producers he three times broke into their offices, pulled out a gun and started shooting them and himself. The fact he used only blanks and was trying to show them he could act didn't make the producers any less angry. They asked him to leave.
He was expelled from five schools in his native Brooklyn, the Marine Corps and nearly every job he's tried while hitchhiking across the country. He's slept in vacant lots and cellars. Despite the fact he works regularly in Hollywood, he bought a four-room house 25 miles away in a poor section, was made at the University of Michigan. Other entries came from the City College of New York, UCLA, Dartmouth College, University of Oklahoma, University of Wisconsin, University of Indiana and Boston University.

Spring hair styles, graced by ribbon touches, show that hair, though short, can achieve completely different coiffures for day and evening. Chignon look is created (left) through use of hand of woven-edge ribbon decorated with bows of the same velvet. Hair is carefully shaped, kept flat on top. The 1930 hair style with a 1957 touch appears (center) combed smoothly back from the forehead and dipped into a deep wave over each ear. There's a flat, smooth velvet bow on top. For evening, hair is styled back from face without part and given fake chignon, which is covered by tiny cap of velvet ribbon.

There's something about springtime that creates a desire to start afresh in every possible way.

The drab winter's nearly over and most of us are irresistibly drawn to store windows featuring the new spring styles. We look forward eagerly to throwing off the heavy clothing we've been wearing for months. We want to meet the springtime looking sparkling and pretty.

And what more completely creates the illusion of being a new person than a new hair style?

The hairdos featured this coming season are simple and feminine. And they're easy to keep in place.

Short hair still holds first place in popularity because it's neat and manageable. Curls are out of the picture; soft waves are very much in again.

One hair stylist claims that the low, side part will be seen frequently, with the top hair combed softly away from the face, and deep waves at the sides and back.

Since many of the hats featured this spring are reminiscent of the 1930's, another new hair style is a short, fluffed, youthful coiffure that springs loosely from a low

Preachers' Wives Study Club's Topic

By MRS. SHERMAN CROCKETT

(Special to The News)

McLEAN — The Pioneer Study Club met with Mrs. Hickman Brown. An interesting program was given on "Wives of Pioneer Preachers," by Mrs. Jim Back, who is an authority on the subject since her mother, Mrs. Betty Moxley Featherstone, was the wife of a pioneer preacher. They lived in Comanche County, where it is still largely ranch country.

Her mother recalled vividly the days when fences were bitterly opposed. "One night Mr. Featherstone left his wife and family to stop 'wire cutters' around his property. He relied on the Word of God first, but found it necessary to fire several shots at the would-be wire cutters." "The wives of pioneer preachers had many hardships to endure," Mrs. Back said.

Refreshments of cherry gelatin salad, wafers, bonbons and coffee were served to the following members, Miss Billie Brown and Mmes. Sinclair Armstrong, Betty Allsup, Jim Back, Harold Bunch, J. D. Coleman, Jesse Coleman, Guy Heater, Forrest Hipp, Freeman Melton, June Woods, W. E. Bogan, Dale Parvin, Jack Riley (wife of Coach Riley), Hap Rogers, Earl Stubbfield, Clyde Magee, Jack

The program and menu were hand-painted Japanese fans.

The toastmaster for the evening was Dr. Aubrey Kelo. Invocation was given by Bob Irby, minister of music. Mrs. Stanley D. ### The Pampa Daily News Women's Activities

Ruth Millett

You don't break a husband to double harness by selfishly urging him to gallop off by himself for a good time.

That is what one reader of this column did with unhappy results.

When she and her husband were first married and the children small it was difficult for her to get away. She started insisting that he go along and have a good time and never mind her, she would be all right.

Right at first he protested that he hated to leave her alone. But the protests soon stopped. In a short time he didn't even have to be urged to leave his wife at home and go his merry way.

"Now after 10 years of marriage," says the wife, "it is almost as though we weren't married at all. He seems to feel no responsibility either for taking me anywhere or staying at home with me.

"I know it is my own fault. But that doesn't make me any happier. Is there anything I can do about it now?"

There's plenty you can do, if you are sure you have had enough of being the stay-at-home martyr.

Have a party, letting your husband know in plenty of time that you'll need him to play host that evening.

Get tickets to something you think you would both enjoy. Announce casually that you have tickets for such-and-such on a certain night.

Join a club that takes you out for an evening occasionally and ask your husband to stay home with the children. It may be a surprise to him how lonely an evening at home can be after the children are in bed.

Don't complain about how things have been. Just get busy and see that, beginning now, they are more to your liking.

You got yourself into the role of neglected wife. And you'll have to get yourself out of it.

A Lesson In English In Words Of One Syllable

By DOC QUIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP) — There is this show on the air where they have guests and a head man and they tell you how to talk right and write right and use the right speech.

The name of it is "The Last Word" and it is a good show and I like it quite much. But just a week or so ago they came up with a thought that gives me some pain in the neck.

I do not know just which one of the guests it was but it was a big man in the field of good speech that how to write right and he came up with the thought that the base of good speech is the art of apt use of one wee word on the tall of the next wee word in stark and drear march from full stop to full stop sans a big word at all.

A Hard Row to Hoe
The hint as I got it was that we should all speak and write and shove our thoughts at folks as if we want to whelm them with words of one... words of one... umm... words that have but one part to them—if you get what I mean. That is, nice words — not

NEW YORK (UP) — NBC will repeat on March 5 the "March of Medicine" one hour filmed show entitled "Monganga" which tells the story of Dr. John E. Ross, a medical missionary in Africa.

Marge and Gower Champion's filmed half-hour will begin alternating with Jack Benny in the 7:30 p.m. Sunday spot on March 31. Benny heads the firm that owns the new show.

Robert Montgomery has scheduled novelist Pearl Buck's second TV play, "The Enemy," for his NBC program in March.

ABC is installing in its Chicago plant three Videotape recorders made by the Ampex Corporation to be used this spring and summer to circumvent the time zone differences that will come with daylight savings. Live shows can be repeated via tape within an hour after their original presentation in the East.

NBC's comedian Jonathan Winters will do his show live from St. Louis on March 5. He'll be there this week filling a hotel supper club engagement.

the kind that come from the Picts and Scots and Jutes and which are not thought to be nice words at this late date.")

Well, I tell you now, as the judge in the trial of the twelve top Reds used to say, it is a hard row to hoe when you try to write a piece like this and use just words of one part. Just try it, if you do not dig me.

(And get this: The word "trial," the say I say it, "trile," is a word of one part. Ha ha, thought you caught me, did you not? Tee Hee.)

Heap Big Words
You take this bloke whose name was Bill who was a wright of plays back in Olde you know what land in the good old days. He is known as the top man in the field of speech in the tongue in which we talk. From time to time in his plays he would come up with speech made up of wee words like "what a piece of work is man."

But these were few and far un... few and just plain far, that is what they were. Old Bill, he came up with some heap big words in all his works and you must give a nod that he had a sound that was right good.

I do not think I could keep this up for too long a time, but ere we say ta ta, I would like you to think what a spot the folks in the land trans the sea would have been in if they had had to talk in words of one part when they brought up the pro and con of what they thought of antisestablishmentarianism!

A Look Ahead At Future Headlines

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent
United Press correspondents around the world look ahead at the news that will make the headlines.

No Dice?
Some congressional sources expect the administration to abandon its idea of asking for a five-cent charge for first class letters, instead of the present three. The reason: No enthusiasm for it in Congress. The administration hasn't made its stand known yet. But it is expected to send a postal rate bill to Congress this week.

Chill
Despite Speaker Sam Rayburn's pleas for prompt action, a bill to give ex-presidents $25,000 a year retirement pay is being chilled by the House of Representatives Civil Service Committee. The Senate passed it Feb. 4. The Civil Service Committee has done nothing about it since then, and has scheduled no hearings.

Arms Bid
You can expect Tunisia to ask for United States arms when Africa-touring Vice President Richard Nixon reaches there March 18. Tunisian Premier Habib Bourguiba said Saturday that he would turn "elsewhere" for arms if France doesn't speed up weapons for his new army. The French government is under strong pressure not to send the arms because Tunisia wants French troops withdrawn. Bourguiba's "elsewhere" means the United States.

Crisis?
The confused Italian political situation may blow up this month.

WASHINGTON, March 2 (UP)—Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-N.Y.) said Saturday he plans next week to introduce a $2.5 million bill in the interest of the "true national theatre."

What he would like to see, he said in a statement, is formation of an independent government agency called "A United States Arts Foundation."

The money would be used to give help to the performing arts—"living theatre, music and ballet, both professional and amateur."

Premier Antonio Segni is being urged by strong elements of his Christian Democratic Party and risk his future on an election which might give him a majority in parliament. LONDON'S MODERN LOOK—This is Skyport One, a sketch of an airport conceived by James Dartford for the Glass Age Development Committee. Although designed for the London of 2000 A.D., its designer believes it could be built today. It would be located in St. George's Circus, not far from Waterloo Station and would be 500 feet tall. Planes and hell-buses would use the platform atop the three tall, glass-enclosed elevator shafts through which passengers and crew members would be carried from street level. ## Value Of Things

Thanks to automation and the mammoth strides made in industry to reduce manual labor, things are better today than they were for our forefathers.

Our progress is related directly to our tools and our ability to create new tools. It is not related to either the coercion of government nor the violence of unions.

Since 1939, and despite the increase in both governmental and union activity, Americans have generally prospered. A true indication of our economic progress can be discerned if we abandon money as a means of ascertaining value, and relate value instead to the number of man hours it takes to earn some of the things we use in everyday life.

Money is scarcely a reliable guide to value since the government got into the business of manipulating it back in 1933.

So despite the rise in taxes, union power and both wages and prices, here's the way things look. In 1939 it took an average worker 28 minutes to earn a pound of turkey. In 1957 it takes 14 minutes.

A dozen eggs in 1939 cost a worker 30 minutes. In 1957 he works 25 minutes for the same eggs.

A haircut cost 50 minutes in 1939. This year it will cost the worker 43 minutes.

A pair of shoes took 5.2 hours of effort. Today it will cost 4 hours.

An automobile was priced in 1939 at 123 days. In 1957 the price has come down to 111 and 3/8ths days.

This nation has close to 170 million people, approximately 6.2 percent of the earth's population. Yet this relatively small number of people own 72 percent of the world's automobiles, one for every three persons, man, woman or child. In England there is only one car to every 20 persons. In Russia, only one for every 200.

America uses 55 per cent of all the world's telephones and an even larger percentage of inside plumbing that works. We also have 92 percent of all the bathtubs, not to mention showers, and 50 percent of all the world's hospital beds.

Americans live longer, eat better, work less and enjoy more things than any other people on the globe. Nowhere have so many achieved so much.

All of this production and better living is accomplished thru the use of tools! All of the tools are provided in an economy where personal risk is possible and where success reaps rewards.

It is impossible to know just how far we might have advanced were it not for the parallel advancement of predation in our midst. But it is safe to hazard that were it not for government and union interference with the economy, today's 14 minutes worth of turkey, might be available for only 9 minutes of effort. The dozen eggs, worth 25 minutes today, were it not for taxes and intimidation, might cost us only 5 minutes. And the shoes, instead of requiring 4 hours of effort, would probably require less than three hours.

While we have made progress on the one hand, thanks to our ability to invest and take risks, we have failed to make all the progress we could because of the curtailment of our abilities by the erosion of our freedom at the hand of the bully boys in positions of power and force.

As things stand now, American business must create three new jobs every working minute within the next ten years. To do this will require an estimated $360 billion in investment for new tools and for plant expansion. With the government skimming off up to 9 percent of profits, it is unlikely that business and industry can meet this challenge. Unless it does we will find ourselves working longer hours for the things we want and use.

The answer can only be found with a cut-back in government and union domination of our enterprise. If that cut-back can occur, we face a future filled with so many possibilities for good that it is difficult to project.

However, if the cut-back does not occur, a projection is relatively simple. We will regress in direct ratio to the new and continued imposts against us. And we can revert to a state of near-slavery, unless present trends are reversed.

The Doctor Says

By EDGAR P. JORDAN, M. D.

It is impossible to exaggerate the benefits which have been brought by the establishment of summer camps for youngsters with diabetes. There are a considerable number of such camps in the United States and Canada. Well over 2,000 children attend these camps each summer.

Children with diabetes can be, and usually are, entirely normal in every respect except for the results of diabetes itself. As long as this condition is under control by diet, insulin and other management, they are frequently able to participate in many of the same activities as other children. However, they must have special attention to diet and some of them must receive insulin by injection. Therefore the regular summer camps are unsuited to most of these youngsters.

These camps for diabetic children, however, with the medical management which can be provided, permit many youngsters to have camping experiences similar to that of their unhampered schoolmates.

Special care must be provided and this makes such camps more expensive. Consequently most have received gifts from foundations, service clubs, church groups, professional business organizations and individuals.

Favorite activities at these camps include swimming and water sports, tennis, volleyball, basketball, baseball, archery, riflery, dancing, singing, arts and crafts, and dramatics. Some camps have found it an interesting advantage to join the American Archery and American Rifle Association in order to give proper and official credits to those who become proficient. Also standard examinations and official credits may be given in swimming and diving, according to standards set up by the American Red Cross.

A list of camps for diabetic children is available from the American Diabetic Association, 21 West Forty-second St., New York 36, N. Y.

But this is not all. Camping experience can now be provided for more and more children handicapped in other ways. There are camps for those who are partially crippled and for others who are unable to participate completely in the activities of regular summer camps.

Most of these camps are not confined to the children of those who can afford the full fee but, through the generosity of the many who have contributed, there are numerous partial and complete camps.

I believe that an effort was made some time ago to organize a club but there was not enough interest.

You should contact the official organizer and have her start the ball rolling. You probably can get her name through the club you formerly belonged to.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

Why Tight Money?

One hears a lot from the politicians and the dreamers about tight money. Before we can discuss this subject, we'd better define money. In fact, we have practically no money in the United States today. We have a little silver but we're not allowed to use gold as money - the very item that would be used as money if the government had not made it a crime.

Real money must be something of value in itself. It cannot measure other things of value unless it has value itself, any more than we can measure distance unless we have a unit of distance to measure by.

What we are using as money is only paper. It was originally orders for real money - gold or silver. Real money, of course, is very scarce, and paper money is not scarce if we look at the total we now have of paper money and bank deposits, which are interchangeable.

The term "tight money" comes from the fact that interest rates are higher than they were when the government was borrowing money and increasing the bank deposits by so doing. Of course, the man who has paper money or bank deposits doesn't believe that money is tight or that interest rates are high. In fact, if he has inflation at 3 per cent a year, the man who gets 3 per cent interest is not even breaking even because he has to pay tax on his interest.

Why Money Is Tight - The real reason why money is tight is the federal government. There are two reasons why the federal government makes money tight for so many people. One is that it has made a lot of laws that permitted some 16 million employees to get a monopoly wage, a wage based on strikes or the threats of strikes. And these 16 million people have a right to set the wages for those people who know that fictitious, non-competitive, unearned wages lead to unemployment and destitution. And these non-competitive wages causing unemployment create so much misery and poverty and injustice that the government, in order to keep the bureaucrats in power, had to go off the gold standard. They could not borrow enough nor tax enough to have enough money to keep the government planners in control.

Therefore, they made it a crime to use gold as a medium of exchange. They made irredeemable paper "money" as a legal measure of value. This increase in bank credit and paper currency, of course, made prices go up. The politicians got scared about the increased prices so they attempted to check this increase in prices by reducing the amount of annual increase of deficit financing. Thus people who were in the habit of borrowing money at low interest rates found that the interest rate was creeping up. Not where it would be if we had real money, but higher than it was when the government was rapidly increasing bank credit.

Government's Take - Since 1913, when the graduated income tax was passed, the government has been constantly increasing its stake of the annual production of wealth. It takes this, of course, in the form of money. The more it takes, the less there is for private citizens to have to spend for consuming items or for capital items. This reduces the amount of money persons with large incomes have left for capital items.

For instance, when a man has an income of $50,000, the government takes $26,800. If he has an income of $100,000, the government takes $67,300, leaving him $32,680 for living expenses and investments in tools that will furnish jobs for other people. This applies to a single person or a trust.

The man who has $2,000 pays 30 per cent on his income between $2,000 and $4,000. He pays $400 taxes on the first $2,000.

This tends to dry up and make money tight that would be used in producing tools.

Inheritance Taxes - Now another means of making money tight is the government's tax on inheritance. It dries up the wealth that would go into additional tools to furnish jobs to young people going into the work field.

An estate of $1 million is taxed $325,000. A $5 million estate is taxed $2,468,200. A $5 million estate loses a little over 50 per cent. A $10 million estate takes over 60 per cent. In order to keep the government from getting so much of this wealth, many charitable trusts are set up. This keeps the money from going to the federal government, but it also prevents the income from these trusts from being used to furnish jobs for the increased population or to furnish better tools for all the present workers. This makes money tight.

Gift Taxes - In order to prevent the man of wealth from giving his money away during his lifetime, the government has a gift tax. If he gives away $1 million, his estate is taxed $244,275. The tax goes up to 57 1/2 per cent on an estate of over $10 million. What most people do not see is that this does not really materially hurt the heirs. It does hurt the men who have no tools and have to work for wages. It hurts them because it makes money tight and thus reduces the amount of tools and their efficiency that the workers have to use. Thus they produce less and thus can earn less.

Yes, money is tight because of our government believing it can plan men's lives better than the individual can plan his own life.

Evasion Of Truths In Statements Not Untrue

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

I have received the names and "affiliations" of a few more union bosses who were included in a motley of parasites entertained by the Navy Department aboard the carrier Antietam as a ceremonial tribute of the national government at the close of the recent debates of the AFL-CIO in Miami.

Charles S. Thomas, the Secretary of the Navy, through his official press agent, has admitted that the Navy "had as its guests approximately 135 members of executive council and executive officers of the AFL-CIO." He ignored a request for their names and the names of the unions which have the honor of paying their big salaries, without interruption during strikes or seasonal layoffs, and their expenses, which are in most cases outrageous.

I have dealt with the personal and political character of Joe Curran, the president of the CIO's National Maritime Union, whose inclusion among this mob was an affront of special poignancy to patriotic officers and men. They were required to come to attention as the senior officer "greeted and escorted the guests aboard ship." The "chief of information" of the Navy Department, striving to take Thomas off the hook, said the "honor" was shown to the uniform and the authority of the senior officer. That is an evasion of real truth although the statement by itself is not untrue. The fact is that this officer was put into the degrading position of having to show respect to Curran with his notorious record of pro-Communist activity and propaganda throughout the second war and to other unioners who are not averse to association and collaboration with Curran. For a line on the Navy's insulting indifference to the patriotism and dignity of those officers and men I refer to the fact that these other union parasites, knowing Curran's sordid record, nevertheless appointed him to their grotesque Committee on Ethics to cleanse the rackets of crooks and Communists.

The others thus far identified to me by a source outside the Navy include James Hoffa, the Detroit unioner who has muscled into the Teamsters Union alongside Dave Beck, the nominal president, and into other unions; Albert L. Hayes, of the Brotherhood of Electrical Workers of the AFL; Dave Dubinsky, perpetual president-dictator of the Garment Workers, and Joseph A. Beirne, of the Communications Workers.

Hoffa is a Johnny-Come-Lately to the unions, with a multiple record in the police archives of Detroit. However, he and others of his Detroit circle have remarkable influence with the cops and prosecuting authorities and he has enjoyed practical immunity. The case of Hoffa is now developing in the investigation of the McClellan Committee of the Senate into the financial mysteries of the Teamsters' Union. Thomas had no excuse to be ignorant of Hoffa's reputation when, by the Pentagon's order, this bunch was invited aboard.

There is no personal taint on Hayes, a fact which the others flaunt as a banner of virtue for the whole dirty game. However,

Some Liberal Democrats Are Trying To Smear Eisenhower

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON - A few liberal Democrats on Capitol Hill are seeking to smear the Eisenhower Administration with political oil in the current controversy over the new Middle East Doctrine. Combined with the emotional and acrimonious Israel problem, they believe that an overseas Teapot Dome "scandal" would win future elections.

Headed by Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney of Wyoming, the Democrats' trust-buster, they charge that Ike and Secretary Dulles are trying to protect the investments and profits of a few American petroleum firms with concessions in the Arabian area.

Indeed O'Mahoney maintains that oil influences and dominates our foreign policy. Others ask whether, under the Middle East program, American forces and money will be spent to save Standard Oil and associated interests.

The answer would be a flat "Yes." If official spokesmen dared to discuss the matter frankly, they would also add that Middle East oil is essential to the survival of the western world, and to eventual destruction of Moscow's dream of Communist supremacy.

Furthermore, every Administration in the last 50 years, Democratic and Republican, has based its Middle East policies on recognition of the vital importance of this supply.

The late James V. Forrestal, Roosevelt - Truman Secretary of the Navy, said that the United States could not win another global conflict, if Russia should ever be able to shut off this source of fuel for the fleet, the Air Force and industry. Our European NATO Allies depend upon the Middle East for 75 per cent of their annual consumption, and the percentage increases every 12 months.

If Britain and France had to rely on oil from the Western Hemisphere in peace or war time, American automobilists would be the principal victims, together with the homes and factories which use this form of fuel.

Oil and gasoline would have to be rationed more drastically than in World War II. In fact, experts predict that two - cylinder cars would be the most powerful that this country could afford to make. Today's long and luxurious automobiles would be uneconomic. Until atomic energy is developed for commercial use, our major industries would suffer seriously. The American way of life as we know it would disappear.

Ironically from the O'Mahoney standpoint, it was the Wilson Administration which first inspired overseas oil development. When the victorious Allies agreed to give France the German concessions in the Middle East in 1920, Bainbridge Colby, then Secretary of State, protested vigorously and successfully. He insisted on an "open door" policy under which American interests would get their share.

Not until 1922 was Charles Evans Hughes, Harding's Secretary of State, able to "persuade" the British to offer half of their holdings to American firms. Even then, it took six years of negotiations for final division of the petroleum concessions. Ten U.S. companies dropped out because of the cost and risk.

President Truman and Secretary Acheson pursued the same policy. When Mossadegh nationalized British oil in Iran, Washington supported the London boycott of the confiscated product. They ordered American tankers not to haul Iranian oil to market, and Mossadegh's regime was starved out of existence.

The late James V. Forrestal, Roosevelt - Truman Secretary of the Navy, said that the United States could not win another global conflict, if Russia should ever be able to shut off this source of fuel for the fleet, the Air Force and industry. Our European NATO Allies depend upon the Middle East for 75 per cent of their annual consumption, and the percentage increases every 12 months.

If Britain and France had to rely on oil from the Western Hemisphere in peace or war time, American automobilists would be the principal victims, together with the homes and factories which use this form of fuel.

Secretary Dulles inspired the formation of the northern tier defense structure - the "little NATO" order to prevent Russian access to this vast reservoir, which would almost assure victory to the Communists in an economic or military showdown. The Soviet now suffers from a short supply of oil.

We are, in short, fighting for oil among other things in the Middle East controversy. From the long-range viewpoint, it is a fight for national survival and security.

Singing To The Rich In Order To Give To Needy

By HENRY McLEMORE

ROME - She's known to her mama as Ada, to the International Set as Bricktop, and to Rome's poor as a Good Samaritan.

By night this colored woman from Alderson, West Virginia, gives with song at her night club on Rome's Via Veneto. By day she gives to the needy.

She makes others give, too. The rich and celebrated of five continents pack her smart club nightly, and there is a job among them, especially the men.

"Don't wear your best to Bricktop's," they say, "for you might leave without a coat to your back or a tie to your neck. Brick'll take it off you to give to someone who needs it a lot more than you do."

At an admitted 42, Bricktop is broad of beam, expansive of chest, and with a heart to match. The money rolls out almost as fast as it rolls in. Many a morning, as the sun opens the day over Rome, she opens the till and dispatches every lira of the night's carousing to one of her charities. A Boy's Town near Milan. A Rome orphanage. A family facing eviction.

A mixture of Ethel Waters and Pearl Bailey in style, and of nobility but herself in personality and appearance, Bricktop is hard to picture as a philanthropist as she socks out "That's What I Call Bailing the Jack" on the smoke-wreathed floor, or taps a number on feet still as agile as a girl's.

Early the other morning, when she had finished "I'm a Little Blackbird Looking for a Bluebird," in that lone voice of hers, she told her patrons she had to have 30,000 lire - something over $500.

"I got to have it to match what's in here," she said, walking to the cash register. She sprung open the register, counted lire until she had 300,000 in her hands, and the drawer was empty.

She explained that the Mother Superior of an orphan's home (orfanotrofio Femmine Sacro Cuore di Maria) needed that for decent kitchen and dining room equipment. And she explained in Italian, French and English to make sure all understood.

"If you folks can afford Bricktop's, you can afford to help. Come on."

She got the money to match her own, and a check was mailed then and there.

When it's clothes she needs for the needy, she often cajoles it off the owner's back, or draws a promise to send her a bundle of used clothing. Her place is a long stride from a shirt - sleeve club, but anyone who parts with his jacket is welcome to a ringside table.

Used clothes, a great many of them custom-made and of rich fabrics, come to her from all over Europe from customers who didn't forget to remember.

Ada Smith, to give Bricktop her full name, has been in Rome only five and a half years, less than a quarter of the time she was a Paris institution, but she already is as well known to the Roman mid-night-to-dawn set as the Spanish Staircase.

Her customers include all titles from kings down, and she takes nobility in her bouncing stride. Her special favorites are the sons of fathers who, in the twenties and early thirties, had part of their fling in her Paris club.

Youngsters are always saying to her, "Dad told me to look up you and your place when I got over here, so here I am."

She flips back the pages of her memory and tells the boys what fine, nice Dads they have, and sets up champagne for a drink to the "Old Man" when he was a young man.

Bricktop's going to America next month - and says she is 300,000 in her hands, and the drawer was empty.

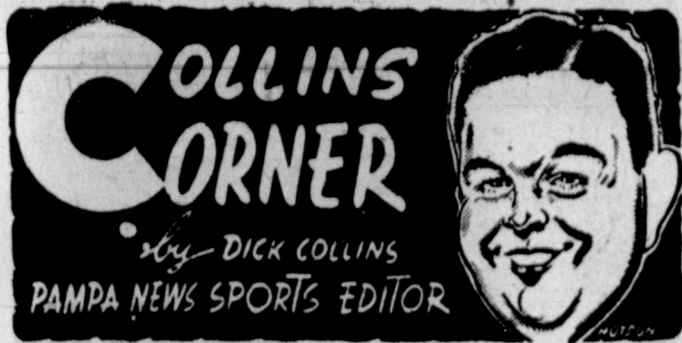

She needn't be. But the Statue of Liberty had better hold on to her robe. Brick's liable to talk her out of it to give to some unfortunate.

Harvesters Are Austin Bound

The Austin High School Maroons have been named as the opening-round opponent of the Pampa Harvesters for the Class AAAA state basketball tournament Friday.

Pairings were made Monday morning in the office of Dr. Rhea Williams, director of the University Interscholastic League. The UIL sponsors the tournament each year.

The Harvesters left for Austin this morning at 8 and will face their first opposition Friday night at 9:25 in Gregory Gym on the University of Texas campus. Pampa will play the winner of the Port Arthur - Highland Park game if the Harvesters get past the home-town Maroons.

Finals in Class AAAA are scheduled for 3:45 Saturday afternoon and will be televised and broadcast by several Texas stations. Pampa station KPFD will air the Pampa-Austin game Friday night. If the Harvesters win their first game, KPFD will also broadcast the final game. The class AAAA consolation game is 10 a.m. Saturday.

The Harvesters planned to spend tonight in Denton after working out in the North Texas State gym. From there they will go on to Austin to work Wednesday afternoon. The team will stay at the Mount Vernon Courts in Austin.

Pampa and Port Arthur are strong favorites in Class AAAA. The Harvesters will carry the finest Class AAAA record into the state meet. They have won 28 of 29 games with the only loss a one-point defeat. Port Arthur has won 31 of 35 games this season.

Highland Park must be re-bared highly because of their victory over Sunset of Dallas in regional play. Austin's Maroons will be making their 16th trip to the state meet, a record for any team.

Last year's champions were Laredo in Class AAAA, Palo Duro of Amarillo in Class AAA, Seminole in AA, Buna in Class A and Cuyahoga in Class B. Only Seminole and Buna are returning and the latter has moved from Class A to AA. Buna has won 64 consecutive games.

The Harvesters are the only West Texas team in the state meet, a reversal of previous seasons. Meadow will represent this region in Class B, Ropesville will compete in Class A, Seminole in AA, Buna in Class A and Cuyahoga in Class B.

Eight teams are entered in Class B while the other four classifications will have four each. The meet opens Thursday morning and concludes Saturday night.

Take On St. Mary's Tonight

Once-Potent Dons Seek NCAA Berth

By JOHN GRIFFIN
United Press Sports Writer
The San Francisco Dons "ain't" what they used to be," but tonight they can at least earn the right to defend the NCAA basketball championship they have held for two straight years.

The Dons, with an 18-6 record that is a far cry from their perfect 24-0 of a year ago, can clinch the California Basketball Association title and an NCAA tournament berth by beating runnerup St. Mary's of California in the season finale for each.

If they do, the Dons will move into a second-round NCAA game at Corvallis, Ore., March 15 against the winner of a first-round game between Idaho State and Texas Western. But, unlike last year when All-Americans Bill Russell and K. C. Jones were on the squad, the Dons won't be among the California Basketball Association title and an NCAA tournament berth by beating runnerup St. Mary's of California in the season finale for each.

Another NCAA berth may be settled tonight if Bradley, runner-up in the Missouri Valley Conference, loses to Wichita. That would give the league title and tourney berth to idle St. Louis, which already has clinched at least a tie for the crown.

And it undoubtedly would mean that Bradley would receive a bid to the National Invitation Tournament. Then the two remaining NIT berths are expected to go to Utah and either St. Joseph's of Philadelphia or Duquesne, which trounced Temple, 68-54, Monday night.

Pittsburgh became the 16th team picked for the NCAA's 23-team tournament Monday when it was selected as a "member at large." The Panthers (15-9) will meet Morehead St. in a first-round game at Columbus, Ohio, March 12, and the same program will feature a first-round between Miami of Ohio and Notre Dame.

Spartans Upset
Michigan State, which already had clinched an NCAA berth, failed to gain the undisputed Big Ten championship as well when it was upset by Michigan, 81-72, Monday night at Ann Arbor, Mich. The defeat dropped the Spartans into a final first-place tie with Indiana, an 84-76 victor over Illinois.

Two first-round games were played in the NCAA "small college" tournament Monday night. Jack Sullivan's 36 points led Mt. St. Mary's (Md.) to a 93-84 victory over City College of New York, the first tourney appearance by a CCNY team since 1950 when the Beavers won both the NCAA and NIT titles. Evansville (Ind.) College whipped Illinois Normal, 108-96, in the other first-round.

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (UP)—Ernesto Figueroa of Mexico City has been forced to pull out of his March 12 fight with Ike Chestnut of New York because of an injury suffered in training.

Twin Brothers On Class AA All-State Basketball Team

By UNITED PRESS
In an unprecedented vote, the Texas Sports Writers Association has honored twin brothers with places on one of its mythical all-state basketball teams.

The rare honors went to Pat and Don Stanley, the mainsprings of a great Buna team that won the state Class AA championship two years ago.

They won the two forward spots on the 1957 AA team with Pat gaining 103 of a possible 105 votes to edge his identical twin in the balloting.

Rounding out the first team with the Stanleys were center Steve Smith of Marlin and guards James Davis of Webster and Bennie Carver of Bowie.

Smith, the tallest player at 6-5, also was the top scorer with a 27.3-point average, while Pat Stanley averaged 21.2 and Don 18.8. Both are 6-2. Davis, 6-11, averaged 17.7 and Carver, 5-9, averaged 19. All five are seniors.

The second team was made up of Dallas Christian of Stamford and Bill Brown of Devine at forwards; Elvis Wiese of Donna at center; Mike Pinkham of DeKalb and Donnie Wilson of Seminole at guards.

On the third team were forwards Jimmy Duffer of New Boston, John Keller of Terrell and Wayne Mahone of DeKalb, forwards James Lee of Wellington at center, and Paul Hinds of Ranger and Johnny Bryant of Burk Burnett at guards. There was a tie for the second forward spot.

Wheeler and Samnorwood Play Tonight
The Wheeler Mustangettes will be trying to win the second bi-district basketball championship for their school tonight when they take on the Quail girls' team.

Wheeler won the District 11-B title two weeks ago and has been waiting for the bi-district playoffs. The winner of tonight's sudden-death game will advance to the regional tournament in Canyon Friday and Saturday.

Qualify won the 12-B championship in a four-team tournament. The Samnorwood boys also won the district title in the same meet but was later defeated by Wheeler's Mustangs in bi-district play.

The game tonight begins at 8. Admissions are 50 and 25 cents.

The two teams have played twice this year. Qual beat Wheeler, 60-43 in the first game and the Mustangettes won the second game 52-47.

Bolo, Newman Take Win In Mat Match

The Great Bolo and Leo Newman needed only two falls to beat center and Dizzy Davis in the Pampa Shrine Club's wrestling main event last night.

Davis was disqualified in the first fall in 8:01 after he tried to take off Bolo's mask. Dizzy had the mask partially off when ref Frankie Murdock stopped it.

Newman came back in the second fall to pin Davis in eight minutes with a reverse cradle hold. Davis had a cradle hold on Newman and when he rocked him back toward the ropes, the Lion's partner grabbed Dizzy's foot and held it while Murdock counted Davis out.

Bolo and Newman used a piece of metal to take the advantage in their main event contest. The metal could never be found.

Gunkel and Bolo wrestled to a 20-minute draw in the opening match. Prof Roy Shires and Don Curtis battled to a draw in the semifinal event. Shires won the first fall in 9:52 with a body press. Then Curtis took the second with a body press following a series of slams and drop kicks in 12:43.

The two falls to pin each other in the third fall as time ran out and Murdock called it a draw.

Jacobys On Bridge

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service
If you don't like to lead away from a king, look at the West hand and shudder; you have all four of them to lead from.

Suppose you select your best lead — the deuce of trumps. Declarer should win that trick, take his ace of trumps and throw you back in with a third trump lead. That will force you to lead from another king since you will be out of trumps.

Meanwhile your partner will have had a chance to make two discards and should have helped you by dropping the deuce of clubs and either the six or seven of hearts as an invitation to try that suit.

Now you lead the three of hearts. Your partner's queen forces the ace and a low heart is led back to you. You go up with the king and lead the nine of hearts. Declarer wins with the jack and plays the four of diamonds. You play low and he fineses dummy's jack. It holds, he takes the ace of diamonds, and leads a third diamond. You are on lead for the fourth time and while you have three tricks, that is all.

If you lead a club, declarer makes his ace and queen. If you lead a diamond he trumps in dummy and discards his queen of clubs.

Hortense Evans of Chicago found a way out of this dilemma in the Winter Nationals. Instead of leading the three of hearts when she was put in with the trump, she played the king. Declarer could still have fixed her by letting this hold, but he made the mistake of taking that trick.

This let East in with the queen of hearts. He led a club — whereupon Mrs. Evans made her king of clubs, exited with another club and eventually made her king of diamonds to set the hand.

At Hukill and Son experienced, competent, reliable mechanics make all repairs and adjustments by using the most modern equipment. Drive in today — and drive in soon to Hukill & Son for your Texas State Safety inspection. Beat the April 15 crowd.

"Gee, but it's great to save money on tires and auto repairs!" You can say that after you have your car checked by Hukill and Son Automotive Electrical Service, 315 W. Foster, MO 4-6111. Hukill has just installed a new Bear equipment to assure you of the most complete and efficient car service. This equipment includes the front end machine, the Telaliner, the only one like it in this area.

Safety Inspection
Hukill and Son, your official Texas Safety Inspection Station, features auto tune ups, electrical work, starter and generator repairs, brake repairs and adjustments, transmission work, universal joint and differential repairs, carburetor repairs and adjustment, muffler and tail pipe replacements, front end adjustments.

Men who will help you in your tune up headquarters in Pampa include F. A. Hukill, Max Hukill, and competent mechanics: Ken Belcher, K. E. Steele, Bill Edwards; Front End Man D. L. "Connie" Sanders; Mrs. F. A. Hukill, bookkeeper; and Jack Baker, utility man.

All of these are trained and experienced in their jobs. For instance, they are trained in schools like the Rochester Carburetor School.

New Bear Equipment
F. A. Hukill, in the automotive repair business since 1926, has established his service on his conscientious work. Max, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hukill, has been working with him since 1948.

To help you to safer and more economical driving they have installed the Bear Machines for wheel balancing, front end alignment — the Bear Telaliner, the headlight adjusting machine.

Wheel Alignment
Wheel alignment in the automotive field today may be defined as a system of interrelated angles of the axles, wheels, tires and component parts thereof to permit easy steering, safety and freedom from tire and front end parts wear.

To allow a car to steer straight down the road and to turn a corner without causing either front wheel to skid sideways all the wheels, axles and other front end parts are set at various angles, all interrelated. When any of these angles is disturbed through wear, bad bumps or accidents, wheels may be thrown out of adjustment so that they no longer roll true but rather drag or scuff. This is what causes tires to wear.

A tire dragging sideways, say only 30 to 50 feet every mile, is having the tread scrubbed off just as much as if you were slicing it off with a big knife.

Front End Alignment
Because all of these angles are interrelated, one angle slightly out of line has a tendency to disrupt others and put additional strain on every part making up the front end system. When the strain continues too long it results in abnormal wear of these parts. When parts are badly worn they become loose, and it is almost impossible to keep the car properly aligned.

Hitting curbs and chuck holes

WASHINGTON—Secretary of the Navy Charles S. Thomas in a letter of resignation to President Eisenhower:

"I feel that I am leaving the Navy Department well organized and in a high state of morale, and it is therefore a propitious time for me to turn these arduous duties over to someone else."

WASHINGTON—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy favoring a "simple resolution" warning Russia against in the Middle East because he believes the pending proposal puts too much power in the president's hands.

"I do not believe the palace guard can be counted on to be tough when the chips are down," too hard probably are the most common causes of misalignment. Often knee action units are knocked back and the wheels drag or scuff. Then the tires quickly wear out.

A bent frame may prevent back wheels from following the fronts in a parallel position. Again wheels are forced to skid, drag or slide as they roll. Rapid and premature tire wear is the result.

It must be remembered: it doesn't take an accident to throw a car out of alignment. Ordinary driving conditions will do it. Sudden stops or starts, hitting bumps at high speeds place a strain on your car chassis.

Wheel Balancing
Rapid tire wear cannot be stopped unless the tire rolls smoothly. Getting a smooth roll is the job of wheel balancing, an integral part of a complete wheel alignment service. If a wheel is in balance, all portions will exert an equal pull from the center as the wheel is revolved. If it is not in balance the heavier portion will exert a stronger pull from the axle or spindle. This force increases with the speed of rotation.

There are two out-of-balance conditions: static and dynamic. Static imbalance causes a car to vibrate vertically — to bounce along the road. Dynamic imbalance causes a car to vibrate horizontally, a shimmy condition.

In addition to causing cuppy or spotty wear in the tire tread, imbalance of any magnitude will cause breakage of the steering mechanism, change wheel alignment, injure shock absorbers and generally shake the car to pieces.

Semi-Annual Check
In no other phase of automotive service is the old adage, "a stitch in time saves nine," so true. Wheel alignment and wheel balance are preventive services. By correcting poor alignment and imbalance before tires and chassis parts are worn out and conditions created dents, motorists may not only save which may lead to serious accivaluable tire rubber and steel replacement parts, but also their lives.

Under ordinary conditions cars should be checked for alignment and wheel balance at least twice a year or every 4,000 miles, starting when the car is new.

Hukill's new Bear Telaliner makes possible faster, more accurate detection and correction of wheel alignment conditions. You see the results yourself on the easy-to-read Telaliner's screen. Come in soon for a demonstration.
