Segregation Bill Is Ready For Passage

AUSTIN (UP) — A measure aimed at maintaining racial segregation in public schools that doesn't contain the words "race" or "color" was ready for final passage in the House Tuesday.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Virginia Duff of Ferris, received preliminary approval in the lower chamber Monday. It provides for assignment and transfer of students in public schools on the basis of "qualifications, aptitudes, characteristics and motivations" of the students.

One section of the bill, which originally provided no child shall be compelled to attend an integrated school if his parent or guardian files a written objection to the local school board, was amended to add "if such be the decision of the local board."

Dual System

Miss Duff said her bill "sets up a dual school system which is racially non-discriminatory" and pointed out her bill contained no mention of "race" or "color."

She said it is a move "trying to remedy a situation brought about by the May 17, 1954 decision of the U.S. Supreme Court."

An amendment by Rep. Oscar Laurel of Laredo was accepted to provide school boards would not take into account as a factor in assignment or transfer of pupils any matter relating to the national origin or ancestral language of a student.

Laurel said that under the original bill German and Jewish groups and American citizens of Mexican descent could be segregated.

Factors Considered

Factors to be considered include available room and teaching capacity, availability of transportation facilities, "the scholastic aptitude and relative intelligence or mental energy or ability of the pupils" and the "psychological qualification of the pupil for the type of teaching and associations involved."

The House Monday also gave preliminary approval to a bill by Rep. Malcolm McGregor of El Paso seeking to give the State Highway Department more authority in construction of expressways and access roads.

FIRST DONATION—In advance of this evening's door-to-door campaign to raise funds for the study and treatment of cancer, which is being conducted by the Cancer Crusade Committee of Pampa, Mrs. Roy Kretzmeier, chairman of the door-to-door committee, is shown accepting a contribution from Mrs. H. M. Luna, at Mrs. Luna's home at 1312 N. Charles. Mrs. Kretzmeier will be assisted by 28 captains who will work all sections of the city, visiting every home, between 7 and 8 o'clock. (News Photo)

New Commission Attacks Work Pile

Four newly elected members of the City Commission assumed office this morning and tackled the stack of business awaiting action.

Members taking office this morning were Lynn Boyd, re-elected mayor; Ed Myatt, Ward 1 commissioner; Jack Vaughn, Ward 2 commissioner; and R. K. Parsley, Ward 3 commissioner.

W. D. Varnon, commissioner of Ward 4, was held over until a runoff election in that ward can determine if Robert D. "Bob" Olson or Glenn Radcliff will be commissioner.

The election in Ward 4 was set by the City Commission yesterday afternoon to take place on Tuesday, May 14. The setting of the date was made by the old commission following the canvassing of votes in last Tuesday's city election. No changes were made in the tally reported last Wednesday.

The first action this morning by the new commission was the appointment of three members of the Tax Equalization Board for 1957. Those appointed to the board are Gene Lewis, Vernon Hobbs and George Scott.

The engineer's estimate for the cost of construction of the new water pumping station by Foran Construction Company of Amarillo was approved. The estimated cost of the station was given at $5,156.06.

Options on water rights, located south of Pampa, were also approved by the commissioners. The options are a part of the city's curatorial attempts to locate adequate water reserves in a section located south of Pampa.

In other action the commissioners approved monthly bills of the city in the amount of $13,756.47 and library bills in the amount of $493.14.

Public hearings on proposed paving of dirt streets in Pampa was held at 10 a.m. Approximately 20 property owners affected by the paving program of 29 1/2 blocks attended the hearing.

Most of the questions made by the property owners concerned the approximate cost of the paving of the street next to their property. Only one person expressed any objection to the paving.

City officials explained that the cost quoted this morning was only an estimate and the actual cost would only be known when the contracts were let.

At last report this morning the commission was still in session and were discussing zoning ordinances applying to the city of Pampa.

The discussion came about when the commissioners read a report of the zoning commission in regard to one property owner constructing a garage apartment without a permit.

It was pointed out that city regulations specify that only one family can occupy a residence with 6,000 square feet of property and that 9,000 square feet of property is needed for a duplex.

Under these regulations a permit could not be issued for the garage apartment and it was the opinion of the commissioners that they should meet with the zoning commission to discuss the problem.

Solon Asks Protest Of 'Barbarism'

WASHINGTON (UP) — Rep. Albert P. Morano (R-Conn.) asked President Eisenhower Tuesday to make "the most strenuous protest" against the "barbarism" of the Communist puppet regime in Hungary.

In a letter to the President, Morano denounced the "show" trial in which a Hungarian court Monday sentenced three Hungarian "freedom fighters" to death.

"The news, although shocking, is nothing more than can be expected of the blood-stained puppets of Soviet aggression who now hold the freedom-loving people of Hungary in their iron grip," he said.

Morano, a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, urged Eisenhower to protest the court action through the United Nations and by direct diplomatic channels.

CoC Sets Membership Drive Starting April 15

The membership drive of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce was planned and the dates for it set at yesterday's noon meeting of the board of directors of the chamber with the thought, by Calvin Whitley, that one of the most important factors contributing to good chamber of commerce operations is adequate financing.

"As a rule," Whitley said, "a well-financed chamber is a successful chamber. This is one of the main responsibilities of your board of directors, and is something in which we can take the lead better than some others who are not as well acquainted with the chamber's program of work."

The campaign will last only five days and will be directed by Whitley who in turn will be assisted by two division leaders, Paul Crouch and E. L. Henderson. The division leaders will assign five captains each and those captains will have four workers, making a total of 53 persons actively participating in this drive. Minimum dues for membership in the chamber will be $10.

Beginning on April 15 and lasting until April 20, the campaign will officially start with a kick-off luncheon to be held in the Palm Room of the city hall on the first day. Check-in coffees will be held at 10 a.m. on Wednesday, April 17 and Friday, April 19.

The division leaders will meet with their captains on Friday, April 12, at 10 a.m. in the chamber of commerce conference room to divide the cards which will be used for the membership drive.

Upon completion of the drive, team prizes will be awarded as well as individual prizes.

The team having the largest number of points will be given a week end at the races in Raton or a week end of fishing, as preferred with expenses paid up to $25 per man.

Individual prizes for first, second and third place will be an Easter hat, a sport shirt, and a pair of neck ties in that order. Team captains having the highest number of points will receive the same prizes, as listed above, and the division leaders will receive an award.

Lake McClellan Is Talked In Washington

The latest move on the question of Lake McClellan was announced at yesterday's meeting of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce, when a letter was read by Jack Vaughn to those present from Fred Kennedy, regional forester of the Forest Service of the United States Department of Agriculture.

The letter read in part: "We have your inquiry of March 21 relative to the McClellan lake property in Gray County near Pampa, Texas.

"As you surmise, this property is under the jurisdiction of the Department of Agriculture and is presently administered by the Forest Service.

"We were interested to learn of your desire to take over the McClellan Lake project either on behalf of Gray County or the City of Pampa, and have taken up the matter with our Washington office, who we understand will consider the possibilities of such a transfer directly with the Department.

"In view of the local interest in the property that is indicated by your letter, we hope that favorable consideration may be given your request. We shall keep you informed of developments as soon as we hear further in the case which should be within the next couple of weeks."

Vaughn pointed out, however, that the letter was simple a matter of correspondence between the public improvements committee of the chamber of commerce and the various agencies as part of a study to see what might possibly be done to secure the proper building up and maintenance of the lake and its properties for the recreational use of local residents.

"He said that there was no information available at this time as to whether or not county or city agencies would be willing to undertake the responsibilities of such a project, but ended by saying that this was merely a "fact-finding board."

The question of Lake McClellan and its disposition had been brought up and discussed at last meeting of the board of directors of the chamber as a result of letters which had been received in the chamber offices protesting the appearance and general condition of the lake. Some going so far as to call it a "disgrace."

The public improvements committee is headed by Floyd Watson. A large segment of the spillway at the lake was washed away in floods in the spring of 1951.

Purchase Of Trees To Line Highways Okayed

Pampa's highway beautification program received an added boost yesterday when the board of directors of the chamber of commerce voted to allow $200 from the chamber's treasury for the purchase of trees to line the highway entrances into Pampa on either side of the road.

The measure was approved with the provision, however, that the Highway department accept the task of planting the trees and maintaining them. It was pointed out that while the idea itself was a good one, it would not pan out in the long run without proper maintenance and planting. Unless, the directors felt, a stipulation were set up before hand they would not care to venture into it any further.

However, if the highway department does agree to go along with the chamber on this project, the trees will be purchased and planted on either side of the highway 60 entrances into the city for a distance of approximately one-quarter of a mile on each side.

While no decision was made on just what kind of trees would be ordered, there was some mention of the possibility of planting red-bud trees.

While Highway 60 was chosen to be lined with these trees, it was pointed out at the meeting that this was only a start and that the program called for the eventual planting of trees on all the city's entrances.

The Pampa Garden Club is presently selling and planting red-bud trees to beautify highway approaches to Pampa on US Highway 70, along N. Duncan at the northern edge of the city limits.

Site Is Southwest Of County Hospital On Brown Property

The board of directors of the Community Hotel Company of Pampa voted at 3:25 this afternoon to purchase the property on N. Hobart, north of Gwendolyn, owned by M. K. Brown, on which to construct the new hotel.

This site is approximately one-quarter of a section and will cost the hotel company $125,000.

The directors voted to buy the property after over two hours of discussion which resulted in a vote on four possible sites.

These sites were the Brown property on N. Hobart; the east one-half of block 32 and the east one-half of block 25, both as one unit; two-thirds of block 32; and block 7.

The two half-blocks in block 32 and block 25, would have cost approximately $133,000. This is the half-block west of Your Laundry and the half-block south of Francis.

The two-thirds of block 32 would have cost approximately $112,500 and the purchase of block 7, located south of the library, would have cost $131,000.

A total of 17 directors attended the meeting and the secret balloting resulted in a total of 12 votes for the Brown property, four votes for the two half-blocks and one vote for the block south of the library.

Following seven weeks of intensive work by the site committee and Quentin Williams, real estate representative of the committee, a final recommendation was made at the meeting this afternoon.

The site committee, with Hugh Burdette, chairman, acting as spokesman, recommended that the hotel company purchase the property on N. Hobart owned by Brown.

The following is the recommendation of the committee to the board of directors:

"Under the circumstances, the committee is unwilling to make more than one recommendation at this time — that is, the purchase of the Brown property, west of Hobart Street, for $125,000. The committee makes this recommendation for the following reasons:

(1) A minimum of $200,000 should be saved on the cost of the site after selling the property not needed for the hotel as compared with building the hotel in the downtown area.

(2) A minimum of $100,000 should be saved in cost of building if the tower-type of construction is eliminated.

(3) If this is done, then we can build the facilities needed at the present time and expand when desirable. This should eliminate any serious difficulty in providing the necessary capital.

(4) There would be ample parking space which the committee feels is an important consideration as no one likes to be annoyed with parking meters.

(5) If the hotel is not located within walking distance of the downtown area, then it can choose its neighbors.

(6) The committee feels the location would make no important difference to the traveling man who will be the important customer of the hotel.

(7) If the corporation purchases the entire quarter section, then it can choose its neighbors.

(8) If the hotel should be built on the Brown property, North Somerville Street could be extended to connect with Hobart Street, opposite the entrance of the hotel, which would make access rather simple from the downtown area. The hotel then would be located on the north-south Highway 70 and will be one and one-quarter miles north of Highway 60 and three-quarters of a mile north of Highway 152.

"Obviously the main objections to the Brown property are that it is slightly more than a mile from the center of the downtown business district and it is not located on the main traveled highway (Highway 60). How much business the hotel would lose on account of these facts is very difficult to determine.

"We make the above recommendation based on what we believe is to the best interest of the stockholders. If the board deems it advisable, the committee is quite willing to continue its efforts to secure a suitable downtown location for the hotel."

Following the recommendation by the site committee, a general discussion developed that included strong opinions being voiced in favor of each of the sites.

A letter from the Merchants Activity Committee of the Chamber was read which indicated that this group wanted a downtown site and George Cree Jr., president of the hotel firm, reported that Hockenbury System was in favor of the half-block locations.

Cree pointed out that it was the duty of the directors to consider their obligations to the stockholders and that a hotel should be built for the future.

It was also pointed out that hotels located away from the downtown area were also successful and that the landscaping that could be used out of town would add atmosphere.

Following the discussion of all of the various topics and values of each site a motion was made that a vote be made on the proposal of the site committee. The motion met with opposition and was withdrawn in favor of the motion to vote on the four available sites and this motion resulted in the voting to purchase the Brown property.

WASHINGTON (UP) — Republican Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona scored President Eisenhower's budget Monday in one of the sharpest attacks on the President since his reelection.

Goldwater, former chairman of the GOP Senate Campaign Committee, charged that the President is "subverting" the national economy and accused Eisenhower of breaking his 1952 campaign promises to economize.

"No faithful public servant... would dare subscribe to such a breach of confidence," he said.

Moreover, he slammed Eisenhower's "Modern Republicanism" as a "splinterized concept of Republican philosophy" designed to have a "rather brief tenure."

Goldwater was the latest of a number of Republicans to attack the President's $72 billion dollar budget. Also, there have been other signs among a number of Republicans of disenchantment with the Eisenhower program.

Many Republicans teamed with southern Democrats in the House last week to cut appropriations for the Labor and Health, Education and Welfare departments. And only Monday the two top GOP members of the House Rules Committee — Reps. Leo E. Allen (Ill.) and Clarence J. Brown (Ohio) — joined with southern Democrats to block action in effect on the budget.

Carson County Sets Wet-Dry Election May 8

A total of 709 "wets" signed a petition which resulted in the scheduling of a wet-dry election in Carson County for May 8. The election was called by the Carson County Commissioners Court after reading of the petition signed by the 709 of which 678 were qualified voters.

Before any such election could be held at least 500 persons must have signed a petition. The petition handed in to the commissioners carried 205 more signatures than were actually required.

The last local option election to be held in that area was held on May of last year. At that time a close vote, however, with only 22 votes separating the factions.

The voting will be on a county-wide basis and the resulting popular vote will determine the wet or dry status of the four towns of Groom, Panhandle, White Deer and Skellytown.

Johnny Desmond Deserves Award For His 'Persistency'

By ALINE MOSBY
 United Press Hollywood Writer
 HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Johnny Desmond, one of eleven's biggest new singer-actors, deserves an award for the most persistent try of the decade—his four-year fight to get the story of Russ Columbo on the screen.

The handsome Desmond, who found success two years ago in a TV drama, "Hearts and Flowers," has been obsessed with portraying Columbo since 1943. But four years and at least $15,000 later, he has yet to see his long dream come true.

"My option on the rights to the story is up in two weeks — and I'm desperately hoping something can be arranged before then," he sighed. "So many times I've been tempted to say to heck with this project. People advise me to give up, but I've invested so much time and money in the idea."

Desmond's mother is a Columbo fan, and Johnny became interested in the records and the colorful life of the singer who was killed in a tragic gun accident. He met Columbo's sister and two brothers and, he says, "I've become close friends with them and they don't want the picture done unless I star in it."

Desmond bought an option on the Columbo story from an agent who acquired the rights from the family years ago. Johnny has flown from New York to Hollywood several times at his own expense to try to sell the story, but found no takers.

Hollywood already is up to its false eyelashes in movies about the '20s and early '30s. Twentieth Century-Fox is planning a story on Jean Harlow. Warner Studio recently finished "The Helen Morgan Story" and has "The Spirit of St. Louis" in release.

Further confusion developed when Johnny had a falling-out with the agent, and the agent tried to sell the Columbo story with Tony Martin as star.

"But I went to the song publishers and tied up the rights to Columbo's songs," Desmond said triumphantly.

Whatever its name, it was a whingünger. It starred Herbert Hoover, then secretary of commerce in the Coolidge administration. From the Bell labs at Whippany, N. J., the program also featured a male comic and a female monologist — the first performers ever to star on TV.

It had been a long time in the making. Back in 1924, the Bell labs had succeeded in transmitting a still picture from Cleveland to New York. Early in 1925, Dr. Herbert Ives, then director of elec-tropical research at Bell, outlined a research program.

'Rackets' Probe Is Beginning To Throw Scare Into Labor Movement

By RAYMOND LAHR
 United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate investigation of labor racketeering is beginning to throw a scare into the labor movement. Labor leaders fear that the hearings involving Dave Beck and the Teamsters Union, and other unions yet to be heard from may set off a fresh wave of anti-union feeling. The most feared result would be more state right-to-work laws and congressional demands for a national law outlawing the union shop and similar provisions in union contracts.

Eighteen states now have these laws. Until the Indiana legislature passed one this year, they had been limited largely to southern and sparsely populated states.

Image on Two Screens

By the end of 1925, Bell technicians had succeeded in transmitting a moving picture within a room. Early in 1926, a "live" image was sent from one room to another. A couple of weeks before April 7, 1927, the men at Bell ran some test runs between New York and Washington.

When April 7 rolled around, Hoover, some newsmen and Bell officials settled themselves in what had once been a funeral parlor in the capital. It is now a flower shop. In Manhattan, newsmen and officials gathered in the Bell building at 463 West St.

His image was projected onto two screens in New York — one, two by three inches; the other, about two by three feet. The small image was well-defined, the large one, a little unclear.

competing for new industry. Laws Were "Invited"

These laws were in a sense invited by a provision of the 1947 Taft-Hartley Act. That law outlawed the closed shop which required new employees to be union members before they were hired. The Taft-Hartley did allow the union shop, in which new employees are required to join a union within 30 days after being hired.

But it also explicitly recognized the right of states to outlaw the union shop and all other forms of "union security" contracts—even those for unions subject to federal law. Eighteen states have accepted the invitation despite opposition from the labor movement.

Labor And The Law
 The late Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio), who masterminded the Taft-Hartley law to enactment over President Truman's veto, accepted the right-to-work provision to keep southern Democratic votes in line.

Although the labor movement opposed this provision, it was much more concerned at the time about other parts of the bill. These included the closed shop ban, anti-strike injunctions, authorization for damage suits against unions, and the guarantee of freedom of speech for employees which labor feared could lead to intimidation.

In the last 10 years, labor has learned to live with what it once called a slave labor law. But it is no mood to accept tougher restrictions.

Blue Lustre is easily applied with a long handle brush, leaving pile open and lofty. No residue remains to cause resoiling. Very economical too, as 1/2 gallon of Blue Lustre concentrate cleans three 9 x 12 rugs.

Flying Is Statistically Safer Than Ever; Potentially More Hazardous

EDITOR'S NOTE: Government and industry leaders agree that U.S. airlines today are faced with increasingly serious safety problems. The following dispatch is the first in a series of five United Press reports on these problems and measures being taken to overcome them.

By ROBERT J. SERLING
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 WASHINGTON (UP)—Air travel today is statistically safer than it has ever been before. Potentially, it is growing steadily more hazardous.

The supreme irony of the serious air safety problems now confronting the nation is that they stem largely from past achievements in making it safer to fly.

Twenty years ago, the scheduled airlines flew 10 million miles for every fatal accident. In 1956, they flew 100 million miles for every fatal accident and carried 30 times more passengers—a 1,000 per cent improvement in safety. That is doubly impressive because it was achieved under the pressure of fantastic expansion.

Traffic Much Greater
 In that very expansion, however, lies the seed of potential disaster. The air age has grown too fast. The nation is now faced with an aerial traffic jam that will get worse before it gets better. Planes literally are flying too fast and too often for man to control their movement efficiently.

Airliners now operate in weather that 10 years ago would have grounded them. In effect, the airlines keep pumping more traffic into an antiquated system which had difficulty handling the traffic of only five years ago.

A modern commercial transport plane is the product of engineering genius, equipped with safety devices that turn what used to be emergencies into routine situations.

Safer Than Car
 Yet this same plane must fly

under a traffic control system 22 years old and into airports that are obsolete and inadequate.

It is a statistical fact that a passenger could fly around the world for 118 years before the law of averages—and an accident—caught up with him. You are five times safer, aloft in a scheduled airliner than you are driving your own car.

But aviation experts warn that today's mushrooming air traffic is endangering that safety record. In 1938, there were 345 commercial airliners flying 284 daily schedules in and out of 183 domestic airports—all under a traffic control system that was set up in 1935.

Today, there are 1,837 commercial airliners flying more than 3,000 daily schedules in and out of 549 airports—under what is basically the same system established in 1935.

The congestion problem would be serious enough if airports and airways had only the 1,600 commercial transports to handle. It reaches staggering proportions when you include the rest of the nation's airway users—42,000 military planes, 44,000 private planes and 19,000 aircraft, used by business and industry.

"Treat" For Teacher?
 ENID, Okla. (UP)—Capt. Roy C. Smith, of Enid Air Force Base, had to eat his theory that "there is no reason for a man to starve as long as the woods are full of insects and other animals." His survival training class Thursday gave him a farewell dinner of alligator soup, fried bumblebees, fried rattlesnakes, sauteed jumbo worms and hard-boiled quail eggs.

This Is Better?
 FORCALQUIER, France (UP)—A correctional tribunal fined five members of Pierre Poujade's anti-tax party Friday for failure to pay their income taxes.

Un-canny!
 MADISON, Wis. (UP)—R. S. Ellarson, wild life researcher for the University of Wisconsin, said today that eight years of study have convinced him that tree swallows don't like trees. They'd rather nest in tin cans, Ellarson said.

Union's Real Disease

To those who believe in unions as well as those who don't, the sorry spectacles that have been paraded before the public eye in connection with the Senate investigation of unions and union racketeering ought to have a sobering effect.

It is not sufficient to say that "as soon as we get rid of these rascals" that all will be well on the union scene for such is not the case. The mere "cleaning up" of labor unions, while long overdue, is not the sole requirement if we are to have the kind of an economic environment that will enhance the opportunities for the individual to advance in a framework of freedom.

Dave Beck, in his appearance before the McClellan committee, was almost an object to be pitied despite the fact that he is rolling in personal wealth obtained through the manipulation of union funds.

But supposing that the Teamsters' union throws the rascals out. Supposing that Beck, Jim Hoffa, Frank Brewster and the rest of the sorry lot are turned out—even sent to jail if it is shown that they have broken laws.

Does this "clean-up" the Teamsters union?

Unfortunately, the problem goes deeper than this.

To really clean up the unions we ought to be getting at the heart of the problem—which lies in various local, state and federal laws that permit or encourage the monopoly of power that today exists in the unions.

Certainly there ought to be "right to work" laws on the state books—under present day conditions. For without such laws the monopoly of power exercised and enjoyed by the unions is enhanced. But better still would be, not the addition of laws, but the removal of laws that have created a condition under which men feel that it is necessary to have a law saying that they have a right to work.

We only have to look backward just a little to see the extent to which we have drifted in granting monopoly power to labor unions.

We have reached a point today at which labor unions act in direct and open violation of laws that apply to other individuals and organizations and get away with it simply because they are operating as unions. No one can say in such a way as to cause "restraint of trade" but unions do it freely and openly. Boycotts are practiced with hardly a note of protest from anyone—particularly anyone in an official position. Control over the workers is achieved by such devices as compulsory union membership and those who object to such a scheme are quickly brought into line or by the direct application of physical force.

Not even the wild-eyed New Dealers of the F. D. Roosevelt period who are responsible for much of the primary wrong involved in unions ever intended such abuses and results as we have seen above.

Roosevelt, while still President publicly denounced compulsory union membership. Samuel Gompers, "father of organized labor," said that unions should be voluntary and that union membership should also be voluntary. Donald Richberg, legal counsel for the NRA under Roosevelt, is "gravely concerned that labor unions will destroy themselves by their own power. Less than two years ago Frances Perkins, FDR's Secretary of Labor warned of the dangers of uncurbed powers and controls by unions. And these are only a few of "union labor's friends" who are concerned about what has happened to the unionism they once fostered.

The truth is that in a broad sense; the American people were sold a basket of apples—they were had by a small group of con men who convinced them that there was some magical connection between labor-unions and a rising standard of living. All to few people were willing to ask how this could be true. It was a happy thought—that merely by having more and more people join labor unions and provide for the specialized power of the Becks, Reuthers, Hoffas, etc., that we would enhance the standard of living for all Americans.

Anyone who has given serious consideration to the suggestion can see that a higher standard of living is dependent upon, not unions, but production. We cannot have more than we produce. Anything which restricts or limits production is limiting or restricting our standard of living. If we are all to get a bigger slice of our national production pie we can only get it by increasing the size of the pie. Taking a bigger cut for one group can only result in less for another group unless there is an increase in the size of the pie.

But the basic tenet of unionism is restriction of trade and production which will create an artificial scarcity and bring about an artificial increase in price so that one small segment of our population will enjoy an artificially higher standard of living at the expense of other producers. If you have less, you have more, the union tells us, and that is the way to a higher standard of living.

Certainly the mess in higher ranks ought to be cleaned up. It is a festering sore that needs to be cleaned and eradicated. But the conditions disclosed by the Senate hearings are only the superficial skin eruptions that are the symptoms of the real illness that is eating away underneath. The real point of the hearings ought to be the manner in which they point out the possibilities of corruption at every level in unionism.

BETTER JOBS

Why Wages Rise

The Political Science class at the Santa Ana Junior College occasionally has someone come in and talk on political or economic subjects.

I talked to them last year on "What The Constitution Ought To Be" and this year one of the Students, who seemed to have the authority, invited me to talk on "Why Wages Rise."

That subject should interest most everyone, especially the younger people who have more life in front of them.

It is my belief, and I so contended before the class, that the question of what causes wages to rise resolves itself into a question of ethics, moral law, justice and what is right and wrong; that this was the idea of Jesus when he said: "Seek ye first the Kingdom of God and righteousness and all these things will be added unto you."

Of course the subject was real wages, not money wages. Real wages are what one receives for what his labor will purchase.

I explained that wages had to come from production; that total wages could not be larger than the total production; that each and every individual had to produce his own wages, that there were no funds from which wages come; that even the ranch hand added to the wealth of the employer if he was working in an orange grove by irrigating it, pruning the trees, bringing in the crop, etc., etc., that the rancher got from the sale of his product the money with which to pay the worker for what he had added to the value of the product; that one of the requisites of causing wages to rise was better tools and a larger market; that the more and better tools and the larger the market, the faster wages would rise.

I pointed out that if a pestilence hit the United States and only 100,000 people survived, the real wages of those who survived would be much less than at present because there could not be such a minute division of labor; that all income was really paid out in some form of wages; that profits were nothing but the wages of efficiency; that interest and rent were the wages of the use of tools and capital; that wealth that was produced with-ly had to be distributed in order to benefit its owner; that there was no known way of hoarding wealth that would give the owner a return on it. It had to be used and render a service to some other people and thus benefit other people in order to benefit its owner; that in creating wealth, both parties had to be benefited; that there were two profits in every transaction, or at least both parties benefited they were making a profit. Not only were there two profits, but every other person in the world was benefited. In reality, the gain of one is the gain of all in producing wealth. It is not like gambling or gifts or robbery or any form of socialism where one man gains because the other man loses.

Means Important

I explained that the means used to increase wages determined the results; that some of the means being used that, instead of increasing wages, were retarding the increase and if continued would cause a decline in real wages. Some of the means used that would result in retarding the increase or decline in wages were protective tariffs, labor unions that practiced collective bargaining and interference of labor; the government granting credits at a rate above a free market value; minimum wages, time and one-half for overtime and all forms of taxation; that in California a corporation had to earn, before taxes, $2.27 in order to have $1 left to invest in new and additional tools or to distribute to the owners of the corporation, and if this were distributed, the stockholders would have to pay on this distribution from 20 to 91 per cent; that another thing that retarded the increase in real wages was government schools that were operated by unprincipled persons on an unprincipled basis; (if any individual can tell me what principle or moral law government schools are operated under, I will be under great obligation to that person and would be glad to retract the above statement.

I tried to explain that business, in the final analysis, is simply an exchange of wages, the fruits of labor; that people did not really buy labor but only bought its products; that all individuals, no matter what they claim, did not like to work but all liked the fruits of labor; that the real price of anything was the fraction of a man's life and the discomfort required to satisfy human want.

I, of course, pointed out that wages were more than material things; that they included an opportunity to learn, pleasant and healthy environment, permanency of employment and future opportunities; that if anyone wanted the best opportunities to obtain a desirable wage they should associate themselves with employers governed by principles; that there was always pleasure in accomplishment that whether a man produced little or much, he should have that peace of mind and happiness that comes from accomplishment; that teaching people how to earn more wages was much better than making them a gift wage.

Discouraging

After the talk I attempted to answer questions. The questions asked were more evidence to me that the pupils had no conception of the meaning of the Declaration of Independence or the Golden Rule or the Commandments. And

$50,000 Per Year For Calling In A Monosyllable Answer

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

WASHINGTON — For a long time I had been planning to belly up to George Meany and ask the hyper-ethical president of the combined job-monopolies of the AFL-CIO: "If you are so honest and pure, what is your excuse for speaking into Sing Sing Prison in the dark of the moon to call on Joe Fay, one of the worst crooks in the union racket, who was formally catalogued as a betrayer of labor by the judge on the bench as he drew ten years for extortion as a vice-president of the International Union of Operating Engineers?"

I was going to, but I ain't. I ain't because after I had made a four telephone calls to Meany's office, to ask for an interview, his press agent called back and left this message: "The answer is 'no.'"

It is like the time in Paris five years ago when the Reader's Digest was building up Dave Dubinsky's European political agent, Irving Brown, as a hero of the barricades and I delivered a note by hand to his headquarters requesting an interview. The warrior was away on one of those Eisenhower holidays in some Austrian spa, but the next week I got a letter denouncing me fearlessly and refusing to have any truck with me whatever. By then he was back in Brussels where he was holding up lest some irritated froggie fetch him a slap in the snoot to see how he would react.

I did not track him to Brussels, but his ballyhoo in the Digest said how could they understand these things—when they are taught to believe that they can get an education in unprincipled schools.

Reuther's Hand Has Forced Meany's Move Against Beck

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — George L. Meany staved off a serious threat to his re-election as AFL-CIO president by his prompt action in demanding the disciplining of Teamster Dave Beck for his alleged "theft" of union funds.

Had Meany not called for Beck's suspension and investigation because of the McClellan revelations and Beck's Fifth Amendment plea, it is understood that Walter P. Reuther would have challenged New York man's leadership at the December convention, when present officers must account for their stewardship.

Reuther expects to head the AFL-CIO some day, but he plans to wait for Meany's retirement. However, had Meany tolerated Beck's alleged mismanagement of the organization's largest and most powerful union, it would have given the head of the United Automobile Workers an immediate and ready-made issue for the December convention.

The energetic and ebullient Detroit figure could probably count on the support of several influential anti-Beck leaders. With Beck's own union absent and not voting, assuming that they will walk out at his call, Meany might not have been able to command a majority of the December delegates.

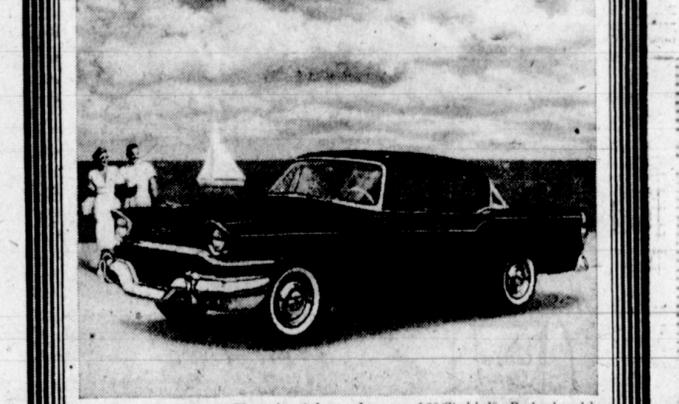

Aligned with Reuther against Meany, if the latter had not condemned the erring Seattle boss, would have been several sympathizers. They would have included James B. Carey, head of the Electrical Workers; David Dubinsky, president of the International Ladies Garment Workers; and possibly David McDonald, the steel workers' boss. All assailed Beck after his first day's defiance of the McClellan-Kennedy interrogation.

Meany stood on the toughest spot of his career. He reached his present eminence as a Building Trades product, and that union is uniquely vulnerable to Beck's dictates. Beck can assure construction workers a victory in a strike, if he observes their picket lines and refuses to haul materials for the struck corporation.

Conversely, he can break a strike by favoring the employer over the union picketing a plant or building project. The McClellan Committee has received many complaints of Beck's pro-employer tactics in the beer and aircraft industries, and is now investigating them. It will be several weeks before the field agents have completed their check on this phase of Beck's operations.

Moreover, Beck was largely responsible for Meany's advancement in labor movement. Teamster and Building Trade votes elected Meany as secretary-treasurer of the old AFL — before he became its president — and then the same unions helped him to become president of the merged AFL-CIO.

There is another sentimental tie that once bound Beck and Meany.

Pampa, Borger Open District Play Wednesday

Other 3-AAAA Teams Facing Action Today

A wide-open District 3-AAAA baseball race opened today with the Amarillo Sandies rated only a slim chance to repeat as conference champions—a title they have owned for several years.

Four of the seven 3-AAAA schools opened play this afternoon, one was idle and another game is slated for tomorrow when Pampa's Harvesters host the Borger Bulldogs.

Amarillo's Sandies, who won the title last year with a perfect 12-0 record, host the winless Plainview Bulldogs this afternoon while Palo Duro battles the Lubbock Westerners at Lubbock. Monterey has no district game scheduled but takes on Snyder in a non-conference skirmish. The Plainsmen's first 3-AAAA contest will be played here Friday when they meet the Harvesters.

Coach Deck Woldt's Harvesters and the Borger Bulldogs will carry the second best non-conference record into district play. Pampa has won two of five games this season for a 40 percent. Monterey leads the pack with five wins in 11 games.

Borger and Pampa follow Monterey with 2-3 marks. Amarillo has won four of 11, Lubbock has won two and lost seven, Palo Duro has won two of 10 and Plainview has yet to win in six attempts.

The District 3-AAAA race appears to be more wide open than in several years. Although Coach Sam Pecchia's Sandies are given a slight nod for the title, the seven-team battle could turn into a dogfight.

The Harvesters have looked good in their five games this year although the hitting has been off. Pampa boasts a fine defensive team and one that should greatly improve.

Coach Woldt, a former professional baseball player, will probably start right-hander Ray Stephenson on the mound for the Harvesters against Coach Bob Estes' Borger team. The game gets underway at 3:30 p.m. in Oiler Park. There will be no admission fee.

Stephenson has started three games this year and lost two of them, by margins of one and two runs. He started the first game of the season against Borger and was pulled out in order to rest his arm after three innings. David James will probably pitch against Monterey here Friday.

NEW YORK: Jackie Labus, 187½, East Meadow, N. Y., stopped Walter Cartier, 159½, New York (3).

NEW ORLEANS, La.: Ralph Dupas, 141½, New Orleans, out-pitched Vince Martinez, 146½, Paterson, N. J. (10).

Grapefruit League Title Just A Lot Of Fruit Juice To Milwaukee

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer

Milwaukee is out in front for the Grapefruit Circuit championship, a title that's just a lot of fruit juice to manager Fred Haney, who would rather see his men save something for September.

The Braves couldn't beat Brooklyn last fall when it really counted, but they clinched their spring series with the Dodgers by defeating them, 8-5, at Oklahoma City, Okla., Monday.

The Braves now have taken six out of eight games from Brooklyn this spring and they lead all major league clubs with an exhibition record of 18 victories and eight defeats.

Five In First
The Braves hopped on Dodger starter Roger Craig for five runs in the first inning and then clinched the contest with three more off southpaw Ken Lehman in the fifth. Ray Crone started for the Braves, allowed two runs on six hits in six and one-third innings and then gave way to Bob Trowbridge.

Left-hander Jack Harshman gave White Sox manager Al Lopez something to smile about when he hurled seven scoreless innings in a 3-0 victory over the Cardinals at Charlotte, N.C.

Veteran Dixie Howell held St. Louis in check over the last two frames. Rookie Jim Landis of the White Sox homered off loser Herman Wehmeier.

Burly Bob Nieman hasn't been hitting particularly well this spring, but he snapped out of it in Dallas, Tex., to drive in five runs and lead the Orioles to a 6-4 decision over the Cubs. Nieman hit a homer with two on, a single and two sacrifice flies.

Purkey "Gopher" Victim
The Red Sox snapped a seven-game losing streak with an 8-7 triumph over the Pirates in 10 innings at Fort Myers, Fla. Milt Bolling's homer off Bob Purkey in the 10th decided the game. Jackie Jensen and Jim Piersall also homered for Boston while Danny Kravitz connected for Pittsburgh.

Exhibition Baseball Results
The regional track and field meet will be held on the Texas Tech campus in Lubbock Saturday. A total of 27 schools comprise Region One. Class AAAA and Class AAA schools will compete in one division while Classes AA and A will compete together. The first two places in each event will enter the state meet in Austin.

Because of the new Texas Interscholastic League rulings this year, Pampa will have only two entries in the regional track meet. The first two places in each event in district competition go to the regional event.

Celtics, Hawks Meet In 5th Playoff Tilt Tonight

By JOE PHELAN
United Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (UP)—An undercurrent of ill feeling and tenseness ran strong as the favored Boston Celtics prepared to meet the St. Louis Hawks Tuesday night in the fifth game of the National Basketball Association championship playoffs at the Garden.

The pressure mounted steadily and inter-team relations dwindled as the two clubs, all even after four games, battled to the climax of the best-of-seven series.

NBA President Maurice Podoloff indirectly supplied the Celtics with added incentive by hanging a $300 fine on Boston coach Red Auerbach. The assessment Monday was for "unbecoming conduct" before last Saturday's game in St. Louis when Auerbach punched St. Louis owner Ben Kerner in the face after a hot argument.

The incident served to spotlight the bitter rivalry between the two divisional champions. It broke in to the open Friday when coach Alex Hannum of the Hawks allegedly made some unkind remarks about Auerbach and charged that his Celtics were "hatchet men" out to cripple the Hawks' ace Bob Pettit.

Mat Show Turns Into Big Brawl

A capacity crowd saw plenty of rough stuff in the three matches on the Pampa Shrine Club wrestling program at the Sportsman Club last night.

Durable Dory Funk and partner Rip Rogers survived some extra rough tactics to win the main event, but the semifinals were a moolah and one that should greatly improve.

Coach Woldt, a former professional baseball player, will probably start right-hander Ray Stephenson on the mound for the Harvesters against Coach Bob Estes' Borger team. The game gets underway at 3:30 p.m. in Oiler Park. There will be no admission fee.

Season Tickets On Sale Oilers To Open Baseball Drills

Season tickets for all Pampa Oiler baseball games are now on sale at the business office in the Pampa Hotel. The Oilers open play in the Class B Southwestern League on April 23 at Midland. The first home game is April 27 against Midland.

Season tickets are $40 a book of 23 tickets, or one-third season, sells for $15. Ticket reservations may be made by calling MO 9-9361 or MO 9-9312.

Season ticket books are now on sale at five local businesses, including Richard Drug, Hughes Building Barber Shop, Jay's Grocery, Post Office Barber Shop and Coca-Cola Bottling Co. Purchase of a season book allows the purchaser to save 27 cents on each ticket. The buyer saves 20 cents per ticket on the one-third season book.

The Oilers open spring work out Wednesday morning at 11, according to manager Allen Cross. The team will drill for about two hours Wednesday morning.

An estimated 12 to 14 players are expected to report for the opening day. Several other players will be here later in the week when contract agreements are met.

Those expected to be here for opening day include Bob Flores, veteran catcher-infielder; Alie Triggs, rookie outfielder; Henry Francis, rookie second baseman; Ken Post, limited service outfielder; Gerald Landrum, limited service outfielder; Goose Goff, veteran catcher and outfielder; Roy Sorenson, limited service pitcher; Walter Laurie, limited service shortstop; limited service pitcher Roberto Martinez; and Cross, a veteran infielder-outfielder.

Others expected to join the team include veteran shortstop Jackie Wilcox and limited service pitchers Rene DeHondt and Gene Sumnerlin.

Five Track Teams Race Here Today

Pampa was to host four other area track teams in a practice meet at Pampa High School this afternoon at 3:30. Entering were the Pampa Harvesters, Perryton, Panhandle, White Deer and Lefors.

White Deer, Lefors and Pampa competed in a three-way meet last Tuesday to practice for the Amarillo Relays last Saturday. Because of the additional experience gained by the meet, Coach Dwaine Lyon of Pampa invited the schools to participate as most of the schools get ready for the regional meet this week.

The regional track and field meet will be held on the Texas Tech campus in Lubbock Saturday. A total of 27 schools comprise Region One. Class AAAA and Class AAA schools will compete in one division while Classes AA and A will compete together. The first two places in each event will enter the state meet in Austin.

Despite the miracle-drug cure all publicity constantly on the front pages of our newspapers, many of us are half sick and half well all the time, in bed and then up again, barely able to drag one foot before the other, but grunting along and washing for health.

Does it not give you courage to learn that a lady past fifty, after coming to the Miller Chiropractic Clinic recovered from headaches, indigestion, ulcers, nervousness, and dizziness?

Perhaps the dramatic recovery from heart distress, tight breathless pressure around his heart, fatigue, sleeplessness, pains in his neck and tight feeling in his head, experienced by a father in his late thirties, after coming to the Miller Chiropractic Clinic, will encourage you.

Or, perhaps, the complete rapid recovery of an infant brought to us in a coma after a diagnosis of bulbar polio or the equally complete recovery of a six year old boy from frequent colds, fever, nervousness, headaches, and leg pains, will excite you into action.

Adjustments are good for children, but we don't want your Senator to introduce a Compulsory Chiropractic adjustment bill, because we feel that you are smart enough to recognize when something is good or bad for you. We just suggest you take a kind friend's advice and investigate.

You have nothing to lose except bad health. Investigate now.

Rock N' Roll Will Stomp Into Your Living Room In May

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP) — That peculiar art form known as rock 'n' roll will stomp into your living room next month.
It'll be ushered in by Alan Freed, a disk jockey who is largely responsible for the whirl the music has received over the past few years. It was Freed, now a deejay here, who latched onto the big beat in Cleveland back in 1951 and spun it to favor with the teen-agers.
Freed, a jockey with a shouting style, will take over two evening half hours on ABC-TV this May 4 and 11.
"We're going to make them bing, bing, bing type shows," said Freed today. "My whole aim in bringing rock 'n' roll into the living room is to help offset the hue and cry raised against it. I want to show that it's a healthy music, a normal music."
Freed, father of four himself, bristles at charges that rock 'n' roll brings out the beast in teen-agers.
"If there's one thing I am sure of," said Freed, "it's that the kids of today have taken affront at being labeled juvenile delinquents just because they listen to a certain type of music."
Bunnies Scarce
"Sure, there are kids who have caused disturbances at rock 'n' roll concerts and movies. But these are the kids who would be in trouble anyway. I call them 'bunnies.' And I find there aren't many bunnies around."

Chemical Industry Establishes Itself As A Basic Industry

The chemical industry, in the past forty years, has established itself as a basic industry, basic to the nation's economy and defense and basic to almost every other industry. It ranks fourth among all manufacturing industries in terms of total assets and fifth in terms of corporate sales. The chemical industry is the largest industrial employer of chemists and life scientists. New Jersey, being the top-ranking state in the production of chemicals, alone employs over 81,000 people and contributes more than $99,783,000 in salaries and wages. Texas is the third leading state employing approximately 67,000 and paying over $204,959,000 in wages.
The chemical industry makes hundreds of important intermediate chemicals which serve as building materials for the thousands of different end chemicals which are currently being made commercially. Abundant raw materials from mine, forest, sea, air, farm, oil, brine, and gas wells are converted into more than 8,850 compounds in more than 12,000 plants operated by hundreds of chemical manufacturers. Chemicals such as acids and alkalies, salts, organic compounds, solvents, compressed gases, pigments, and dyes are used by the chemical industry itself to produce explosives, fertilizers, paints, synthetic fibers, cosmetics, detergents and soap and many others. They are used by other industries in the production of durable and nondurable goods.
Chemicals have played an important part in fundamental human needs, such as health, food, clothing, shelter, transportation, communication, defense, and others.
One that is of great importance is the revolutionizing of United States agriculture. At the time of America's entrance into World War II, industry produced 50 basic chemicals used on U.S. farms.

Beating a Competitor
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UP)—Jake Friedman, executive of the Sands Hotel which is famous for its night club, wasn't a bit piqued at the opening of a new competitor in casino and hotel - packed Las Vegas. He won $50,000 at the Tropicana Casino's crap tables right after it opened.

Writing a "Sentence"
DES MOINES, Iowa (UP)—Neal Keasep, 41, was in jail today for drunkenness because, suffering from a strong dose of writer's cramp, he couldn't resist one little medicinal nip of whiskey. He got the writer's cramp writing "I am a fellow who can't take the first drink" 2,500 times in order to avoid a 30-day jail sentence for drunkenness.

Paper clips are dandy kid bait. If you drop one, pick it up right away.

Industry has made toward making a better life for all Americans. We need only to look around us to see these results. We, of the chemical industry, have a right to say with real pride, "I work in the Chemical Industry", and we have at our fingertips ample proof of our continuing contribution to a better America.

Home Owner Credit Position Secure

By ROBERT F. COLL
WASHINGTON, April 6 (UP)—The home owner is in a secure credit position today despite the ravages of "tight money" on the building industry.
The reason is the home improvement loan program. At the height of the credit shortage there was plenty of loan money for home improvements.
There are several types of loans which can be obtained from banks and building and loan associations. Perhaps the most popular is the loan through the "open-end" mortgage which is the common form of note since World War II. Under this plan the home owner can either increase his monthly payments or the length of time he will take to pay off his present mortgage in exchange for an improvement loan.
Advantages Many
The advantages are many and obvious. Improvement money is provided when the home owner may not be financially able to take on a new note—usually at the same rate of interest he is paying on his mortgage.
Government housing experts have estimated 70 per cent of the mortgages written today have the open-end prospective buyers should make sure their mortgages include it.
Next most popular improvement loan is the government-backed, FHA "Title I" loan under which the owner of a single home can borrow up to $3,500 for a little over three years to repair or renovate his house.

Another Alternative
Veterans have another alternative through the G.I. mortgage plan under which they may get aside a part of the government-backed loan for improvements. This loan is easiest to obtain and carries a low interest rate.
The home owner may supply an improvement loan to many changes that will enhance his home's life, value and comfort.
A popular improvement is re-space or recreational room, or construction of additions. Interior painting and redecorating also are popular.
