

Fourth Safe Burglary In Pampa This Year Reported

Car Firm Hit For $399.47

Safe crackers, hit the fourth safe in Pampa since the first of the year last night when the safe in the office of Reeves Olds Inc., 833 W. Foster, was opened and $399.47 was taken.

This brings the total amount of money taken from safes in Pampa to approximately $3,000 since January 1.

The burglary was discovered this morning when employees of the firm opened for business. The report was received at the police station at 8 o'clock and officers were immediately sent to investigate the scene.

Entry to the building was obtained by crawling through a window on the west side of the building. The officers reported that apparently the window had been left open because the glass was not broken and the latch was of the type that could not be pried open from the outside.

The door to the safe was peeled by the use of a hammer, chisel and screwdriver. The officers reported that the safe was in a glass cylinder on the inside of the door, was not set off by the safe cracker.

The contents of the safe had been scattered on the floor and the money was missing when a thorough check was made this morning. The other three safes which have been opened in Pampa since the first of the year are: Jack B. Perry and Company, 213 E. Tyng, in which approximately $1,700 was taken; Wards Super Market, 105 N. Hobart, in which approximately $665 was taken; and the Panhandle Lumber Company 420 W. Foster, in which $200 was taken.

The police department this morning was comparing evidence in the safe peeling last night with the previous safe burglaries to see if the same person could have been responsible.

The officers have been checking out several persons in Pampa and the surrounding area that they believed might have been responsible for the previous safe burglaries and were intensifying their efforts this morning.

Movie Firm To Visit Pampa

Walter Freed, representative of Alamo Pictures Inc. of Dallas will be in Pampa Friday, Feb. 8, on one of several visits to this and other Texas cities in what was termed a "routine check" of local color throughout Texas for the purpose of providing adequate information for filming.

Bill Taylor, public relations man of the firm, has stated that his company expects that there will be many pictures filmed in Texas within the next few years, and in keeping with this, they are sending representatives to this and other cities in order to have an accurate account of the various landscapes and cities in the event that they might be needed for locations of future filmings.

Upon his arrival, Freed will be shown about the city and the county by Coy Palmer, public relations chairman of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce.

Representative Claims Support For Proposal

By O. B. LLOYD JR.

United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN (UP)—Rep. Joe Pool today claimed a safe two-thirds support as the House prepared to open debate on his bill calling for a run-off in the special U.S. Senate election.

The Dallas lawmaker said his proposal would gain more than 70 votes necessary for immediate enactment, and predicted quick approval, "maybe in a couple of hours."

But he tempered his forecast of quick action with the comment that there were "several amendments, three or four at least," waiting to be tacked on his bill.

The measure would require a run-off between the two top candidates following the April 2 election if no candidate received more than 50 per cent of the total vote.

The Pool bill squabble was the biggest before the Legislature today after it heard Gov. Price Daniel call for a record $358 million budget. He proposed a natural gas tax if new leases are needed for a teacher pay boost and other state spending.

Daniel's budget would increase state spending by $141 million over the next two years.

Water Bill Gets Started
A House committee Monday approved enabling legislation for a proposed $100 million water program and indicated it will try to double that figure when the measure comes up for debate in the House.

Rep. Jerry Sadtler sponsored an amendment to the enabling bill to make it a $200 million program. "I don't want to have to come down here in special session to provide more money," Sadtler said.

The main water program is contained in a proposed constitutional amendment. The enabling legislation would allow the state to issue $200 million in bonds.

Legislation To Provide For Runoff If Necessary

AUSTIN (UP)—Gov. Price Daniel said today he will submit legislation providing for a run-off in the April 2 special U. S. Senate election as an emergency matter if it is necessary to obtaining immediate action in the Texas Senate.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Joe Pool of Dallas, was scheduled for House debate today.

Immediate enactment requires a two-thirds or 100 vote support in the House. However, Senate rules would require a four-fifths vote unless the matter would be submitted for emergency action. That would cut the required majority to two-thirds of 21 votes.

"I certainly wouldn't want to see a minority of less than one-third block the majority" in the State Senate he said.

The governor, meeting newsmen in a 30 minute conference, said he was opposed to a bill proposed by Daniel in the Senate nullifying Daniel's April 2 election call and continuing Sen. William A. Blakley, a millionaire Dallas attorney, in office until the November general election in 1958.

Blakley was appointed to serve as interim senator by former Gov. Allan Shivers.

Under the measure, sponsored by Sen. Charles Herring of Austin, Blakley would serve out the two years remaining on Daniel's original six-year term in the U.S. Senate.

"I think Mr. Blakley is a fine man," the governor said.

"But as you know, I've always been for an election so the people could select my successor. I said that long ago. He should have been selected before Congress convened and I certainly wouldn't do anything to delay it until the next Congress convenes."

Daniel was asked if he thought his call for the April 2 election could be withdrawn.

'Biggest' Livestock Show Is Scheduled

The Top O' Texas Junior Livestock show, scheduled for Feb. 18, 19, and 20, is expected to be the biggest yet, according to Clyde Carruth, superintendent of the show, with approximately 85 calves and 175 hogs entered.

The buildings and grounds are being put in shape for the annual event, and the sifting of livestock will begin on Sunday afternoon, Feb. 17.

The judging of all junior livestock will take place on Monday, Feb. 18, with the sale being held Wednesday morning at 9:30.

Stanley Anderson of Texas Tech will preside as judge and Colonel Walter Britten will be the auctioneer.

Man Returned To Face Charge

Jack Clifton was returned to Pampa late yesterday from Seminole, Okla., yesterday by Deputy Shirley Nickols to face charges of theft over $50. The charge was filed in District Court some time ago and the sheriff's department has been attempting to locate Clifton.

Sheriff Rufe Jordan also reported today that Deputy Buck Haggard left today for Fort Stockton, N. M. to return E. W. Dyer to Pampa. Dyer is wanted here for passing a worthless check over $30.

This charge was also filed in the District Court.

50 Teams In Judging Contest

More than 50 livestock judging teams have entered the judging contest which is scheduled for Tuesday, Feb. 19 in Pampa.

Over 40 head of breeding cattle have been entered in the show with sales to be held Wednesday, Feb. 20, at 1:30 p.m.

The party's treasury is as red as its emblem. It spent $1.5 million on bail and legal fees in the trials. It says it is running a $200,000 annual loss. The government raided its key offices last year, charging the party with owing back taxes.

The party's grip on trade unions, once a source of funds, is slipping. The Reds say they led one-fifth of the unions in the U.S. in 1942. Today, they say, it is only 3 per cent.

Drought Aid Bill Up For Debate

WASHINGTON (UP)—The House called up for debate and quick approval today a $50-million emergency aid program for ranchers in the drought-stricken Great Plains states.

The urgent appropriation was $26 million less than the amount President Eisenhower asked. The House Appropriations committee said it is enough to meet immediate needs.

While the House considered emergency drought relief aid, a Democratic bill to provide a long-range relief became bogged down in backstage maneuvering brought on by a dispute between House Democrats and Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson.

The House originally was to have voted Monday on a Democratic bill to pay ranchers $1 to $1.25 an acre to keep their cattle off parched grazing lands. But at Benson's request, it was withdrawn for immediate consideration until the administration could come up with its own program.

The bill would provide this aid for ranchers: —$15 million for immediate soil conservation programs to provide for deep field plowing and emergency cover to stop wind erosion. Mr. Eisenhower, who recently toured the drought-stricken states, asked for $25-million for this program—with $7-million to be spent next summer, fall and winter.

—$15 million for the disaster loan revolving fund to provide emergency feed and seed for farmers and ranchers. Mr. Eisenhower asked $25-million, but the committee said only $10-million is urgently needed now.

—$20 million for farm ownership loans. Mr. Eisenhower asked $26-million, but the committee said $20-million would be "adequate."

Pampa May Lose Hobart Underpass

The possibility of Pampa losing the Hobart Street Underpass was discussed this morning by the City Commission.

The commissioners discussed the dead-end reached by the city with several property owners on the obtaining of street right-of-way and the right-of-way for the storm sewer that will start on the north side of the intersection of Hobart and Alcock.

Representatives of some of the property owners met with the commission this morning and made known the amount of money they wanted for the right-of-way for the storm sewer. Some of the property owners want the concrete-lined ditch moved from the proposed route laid out by the highway department.

The payment that the property owners desire is prohibitive for the city to pay, according to Mayor Lynn Boyd. As one commissioner stated the property, "they want us to build them a new building."

G. K. Reading, resident engineer for the Highway Department, met with the commission and explained that the right-of-way could not be altered on the storm sewer.

The commissioners expressed the opinion that if the present problems are not solved soon the city might lose the underpass, and the state would transfer the money elsewhere.

In making this statement they reported that the Highway Department would not complete the plans and send them to Austin for approval until the resident engineer could certify that all of the right-of-way could be obtained. Each day time rush to "clean out the Reds" to frighten the daylight out of the American public. Some innocent victims were caught up.

The entire country now is taking a sober second glance at the conscience-wrenching problem of providing liberty yet security, of guaranteeing constitutional rights without risking the safety of the republic.

President Eisenhower's Department of Justice emphasizes that despite the long delays in board and court actions affecting Communists, it prefers this to any hasty infringement of civil liberties which would violate the Constitution.

In this calmer atmosphere, many Americans have forgotten that there are still Communists among them.

There aren't as many as before. Membership, down two-thirds in 10 years, has fallen from 80,000 to a mere 20,000. Sympathizers have diminished from 600,000 to under 200,000. The Daily Worker has suffered a "catastrophic" loss of ads and a dip in circulation from 38,000 to 10,000.

The party's treasury is as red as its emblem. It spent $1.5 million on bail and legal fees in the trials. It says it is running a $200,000 annual loss. The government raided its key offices last year, charging the party with owing back taxes.

The party's grip on trade unions, once a source of funds, is slipping. The Reds say they led one-fifth of the unions in the U.S. in 1942. Today, they say, it is only 3 per cent.

East German 'Plot' Foiled Says Commie

By JOSEPH B. FLEMING
United Press Staff Correspondent

BERLIN (UP)—East German Communist Leader Walter Ulbricht said in a speech released today the government had foiled a plot by East Berlin university students to overthrow the Soviet zone government in November.

Ulbricht told a central committee meeting that students at Humboldt University, who sympathized with the Hungarian rebels, planned "to go out into the streets" and begin "actions in Berlin."

He said only the vigilance of the Communist party, the workers militia and other paramilitary groups made the students and the counter-revolutionary groups drop their plans.

Ulbricht said the counter-revolutionaries were led by Wolfgang Harich, 32-year-old lecturer on Marxism at Humboldt University. Harich and three of his followers were arrested Nov. 29 on charges they plotted to overthrow the government.

Ulbricht told the central committee Harich plotted to "eradicate the leadership" of the Communist party and "sever the ties of the German Democratic republic to the Soviet Union."

He said Harich had been influenced by Hungarian rebels and Polish and Yugoslav national Communists. He attacked "national communism" and said East Germany rejected the Polish and Yugoslav theories.

Ulbricht said the student plot was led by veterinarian students at the Humboldt University on Anter-Den-Linden, only a mile from the West Berlin border.

Hotel Trip Is Tomorrow

Representatives of the Pampa Community Club Company will leave tomorrow for their visit to six cities in connection with the building of a new hotel in Pampa.

The cities visited will be those where new hotels have been built recently, or where the group feels they may obtain a better knowledge of the proper building and operational functioning of modern hotels.

The group of ten will leave tomorrow morning at 7:45 from Perry LaFors Airfield in planes provided by the Cabot Carbon Company and the Cree Drilling Company at no cost to the Hotel Company.

Hart To Visit Here At 9 A. M.

Judge James P. Hart, candidate for the US Senate, will visit friends and supporters in the County Courtroom tomorrow at 9 a.m.

Judge Hart, who will be accompanied by Mrs. Hart, is stopping here as part of his campaign in the special Senate election to fill Governor Price Daniel's vacated post.

Jimmy Thompson, local attorney, reported that Hart will probably be here for about two hours. Other Panhandle stops planned include Amarillo, Borger, Dumas, Dalhart, Shamrock, Wellington, Clarendon, Lubbock, Canyon, Hereford, Muleshoe and Littlefield.

Is Communist Party In The US Still A Menace?

(EDITORS: The second of three dispatches on the Communist party in the United States).

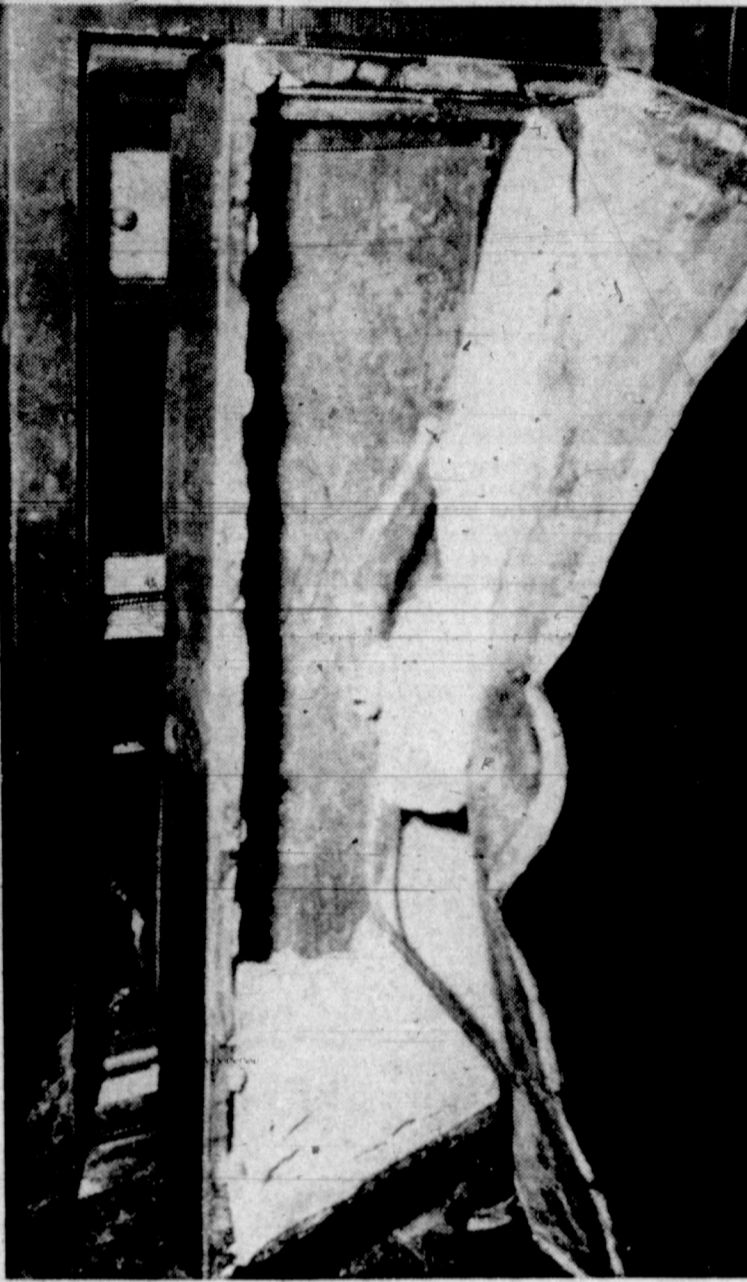

By ROBERT E. JACKSON
NEW YORK, Feb. 6 (UP)—Is the Communist party in the United States still a menace?

Many people ask that question in seriousness today. The subject of Communism in America, once in bannerlines every hour, has ceased to be a big story. Election issue or source of fear, the "scare" is over.

There are those who say that the pulverizing blows taken by the party on de-Stalinization and Hungary and the effective counter-action of the FBI have erased any threat to security.

But others, including FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover, fear the danger is still here in a new form.

Effective Program
In the late 1940s and early '50s, spurred by the sensational trials of Alger Hiss, the Rosenbergs and top Communists, a "crash" program turned up Reds in the government, in unions, in Hollywood, in the armed forces and in some places where there were none. A few men seized on the cold-war

Foreign Policy Debate Set Supreme Soviet Parliament Meets

By WHITMAN BASSOW
United Press Staff Correspondent

MOSCOW (UP)—The Supreme Soviet (parliament) agreed today to a major debate on Soviet foreign policy at its first session since the upheavals in Poland and Hungary.

Top leaders of the government and party, with one exception, were on hand for the opening meetings of both houses of the Supreme Soviet. The exception was Defense Minister Marshal Georgi Zhukov who is touring India.

Deputy Premier Lazar Kaganovich and Georgi Malenkov, and Foreign Minister Dmitri T. Shepilov, whose health has been the subject of considerable rumors in the West, attended the meetings.

Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist Party Secretary Nikita S. Khrushchev also were present along with other prominent party and government officials.

The two chambers met separately and adopted identical agendas, including "questions affecting the international situation and the foreign policy of the Soviet Union."

The first item to be considered is an amended five-year plan and the 1957 state budget.

More than 350 deputies were on hand when the Council of Nationalities met today.

Civil Rights Fight Pledged Capitol Hill News

By UNITED PRESS
WASHINGTON (UP)—A leader of the southern bloc in the House pledged today to fight against any civil rights legislation this year.

Rep. William Colmer (D-Miss) said the southern bloc will "do everything we honorably can" to prevent its passage.

A House Judiciary subcommittee scheduled its second day of hearings today on civil rights legislation. Colmer promised to try to extend the hearings past their Thursday cutoff date.

He implied that the longer a bill is delayed in the House the less chance there is of wearing down any southern filibuster in the Senate.

The subcommittee summoned persons from private and public life to testify today. They included Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Edward Scheidt, North Carolina motor vehicle commissioner, and several congressmen.

Other congressional news: Schools: A House Education subcommittee opened formal hearings today on a school construction bill. Chairman Cleveland M. Bailey summoned Marion B. Folsom, secretary of health, education and welfare, as the first witness. Bailey said his group will try to complete hearings within two weeks.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

MAN-MADE LAW?

Some people find confusing our different state and national laws dealing with the same things. In come tax laws for an example.

Surely, they say, you can have no real justice, unless there is some one "best way" to do each thing — to hold property, to manage traffic, to pay taxes, or, to enforce contracts.

So it bothers them. Why should Englishmen drive on the left side of the street? Why should married couples hold title under community property laws in some states and not in others?

Is law merely a man-made contraption?

Is it true that like good manners much law is man-made, growing out of custom or local problems. In card games you can play many different games with one deck. You merely change the rules. But as with cards and all games, the law goes deeper than convention into man's basic needs for order, for a grasp of the part he is to play, and for a way to settle disagreements.

Law provides an orderly way to do things so that people can make long-range plans and work together. Its rules help you to find out where you stand — your rights and duties. And last, law has binding ways of settling disputes if need be, first to keep the peace, and then win people over by dealing with them in ways that satisfy their sense of fairness.

You can find these trails of law in most groups from the most primitive to the civilized.

As man finds out more and more about himself and his world, as the psychological laboratories find out more about man's reaction times, his fears and faults, our laws about driving, for instance, may improve.

And here is another purpose the different kinds of laws may serve. You may look upon each as a sort of experiment. Some turn out badly, and some well.

But in the give and take of public discussion, these efforts may yet bring us more nearly to the

Inspectors Seek Cause Of Explosion

BISHOP, Va. (UP)—State and federal mine inspectors moved into this sorrowing coal town today seeking the cause of an earth-shaking explosion that entombed 37 men in an underground labyrinth.

An official of the Pocahontas Fuel Co., which operates the huge, highly mechanized mine on the West Virginia border, said it had been determined that a gas explosion killed the men early Monday.

"We know that," W. A. Fullerton, special assistant to the president, said. "But how it happened or what caused it we don't know."

Rescue crews located the bodies of the victims after searching most of the day through smoke and gas in the debris-choked tunnels and Monday night brought the corpses on a "death train" to the waiting relatives.

The crew used gas masks and oxygen tanks in their search and in bringing the 11-car, narrow-gauge train through five miles of winding dark tunnels to the surface.

"Some of the men were killed by the force of the explosion," Fullerton said. "Some were buried under slate rock and some died of asphyxiation."

The ill-fated members of the "graveyard" shift had been working 300 feet beneath a shaft entrance which the explosion wrecked and blocked in addition to shattering windows of buildings above the ground.

CHRONIC CONSTIPATION CAN BE CORRECTED

Constipation is nothing more nor less than partial paralysis of the muscles in the colon walls. We do the same thing for paralysis of bowel muscles that we do for paralysis of leg or facial muscles. The causative block or irritated nerve or nerves are sought and located so they can be corrected. When energy is restored to weakened bowel muscles, they come to life and then there's no more constipation.

Bear in mind that people who come to the Chiropractor have already tried everything and have turned to Chiropractic as a last resort. Chiropractic is not limited to correcting backaches but is an all-round health service. If your condition will not respond to the common treatments, usually effective, you should try the Miller Chiropractic Clinic. Don't just sit and suffer.

Here is an actual case from this files:

A young woman, 30 years old, came to the Miller Chiropractic Clinic complaining of alternate spells of constipation and diarrhea, headaches with nausea, dizziness, aching in back and neck, head and shoulders, was very nervous, blood pressure was low and she had nervous dermatitis.

X-Rays were taken and the spinal analysis revealed the cause in the spine. Corrective adjustments restored the spine to normal and when the patient was discharged, she had no complaints.

You have nothing to lose except your bad health. Why not investigate.

Studebaker-Packard matches the superior performance of its built-in Supercharger with the most effective brakes on the road.

Today's higher horsepowers, greater weight, higher speeds demand brakes with extra margins of safety. Here are four important ways that Studebaker-Packard gives you this additional safety:

1. Largest brake linings. 195.3 square inches of brake lining are carried by the Studebaker Golden Hawk—largest, safest brake lining area per pound of car of any automobile made today!
2. Air-cooled drums. Heat robs brakes of their effectiveness. Studebaker-Packard was first with specially "fined" air-cooled brake drums that actually double the effective cooling surface.
3. Self-Centering. The entire, oversized brake lining area is automatically brought into uniform contact with the drums. Reduces wear and assures unswerving, straight-line stops.
4. Self-Energizing. The forward motion of the car itself helps apply the brakes. You get greater safety, easier pedal action.

Better brakes, superior acceleration, surer handling add up to Cammand Performance. Drive the '57 Studebakers and Packards at your dealer's, today.

"I'll get a tenth cup out of this tea bag yet!"

TBD's Generally Commit Four Errors Which Ruins A Flavorful Cup Of Tea

To know whether you're a tea-bag dunker or not, you must first know what a tea-bag dunker is. Generally speaking, a "TBD" is one who doesn't give the tea bag a chance to make a really good cup of tea. For some reason or other, most TBDs simply cannot resist the temptation to grasp the paper label at the end of the string and, motion starting at the wrists, they dip the tea bag up and down, down and up, and so on ad infinitum until the boiling water has dropped to a temperature far below the ability to do the tea in the bag any good. And then they wonder why on earth they can't get a good cup of tea! The truth of the matter is that tea-bag dunkers don't give the tea bag half a chance and blame an insipid cup of tea on the bag rather than on themselves.

Tea-bag dunkers generally make 4 mistakes when they get a cup of pot of tea in front of them. Number 1: By dunking the bag up and down, they cause the water to cool off rapidly. To make a good cup of tea, the water must be absolutely boiling. It is the action of the boiling water that extracts the goodness and flavor from the tea bag.

Number 2: Tea-bag dunkers generally continue this devastating up-and-down motion until the water attains a certain color that is pleasing to the dunker's eye. Let it be known here and now — you can't judge a good cup of tea by its color. Some strong tea blends, strange as it may seem, color up very light, while on the other hand it's not unusual for a very weak to produce a very dark color. This leads us to error number 3: TBDs generally brew tea by the color instead of by the clock. It takes at least 3 minutes for the boiling water to take action on the tea leaves in the bag. Brew tea by the clock. . . 3 to 5 minutes. Error number 4 involves the greatest offender of the tea bag on record. TBDs are known to indiscriminately use the same tea bag over and over again. One pound of tea will make 200 cups of tea — averaging less than 1 cent per cup. How much can a tea-bag dunker expect to squeeze out of a tea bag?

If tea-bag dunkers had any idea of all the time and trouble that goes into the blending and testing and weighing of the tea leaves that follow these simple directions.

It is best to use an earthenware or glass teapot. Heat your teapot by rinsing it with boiling water.

come from half-way round the world, they'd have a little more respect for the modern convenience in tea-making that the little tea bag has brought to Americans, thus enabling them to enjoy tea more often with a minimum amount of effort. The amount of tea leaves, the size of the tea bag are all calculated with extreme exactness to give tea-drinkers a truly good cup of tea on the scale of one tea bag to every cup of boiling water. Enough room is left in every single tea bag to accommodate the expansion of the tea leaves in each packet. There are at least 20 and sometimes as many as 50 different kinds of tea in a single tea bag — especially selected for maximum tea-drinking enjoyment.

So — now that you know what a Tea Bag Dunker is and how he abuses not only the tea bag but his own palate, you might want to start a new reform. Thomas J. Lipton Inc., America's largest tea company, suggests you follow these methods for the perfect cup of tea, and the perfect glass of iced tea!

HOT TEA
To make the perfect cup of tea. Then put in one Lipton tea bag (or one spoonful of loose Lipton tea) per cup. Pour on fresh, bubbling, boiling water and steep 3 to 5 minutes. Sugar, milk or lemon may be added if desired.

ICED TEA
Follow hot tea directions, but use half again as much tea because melting ice dilutes strength. Then pour into glasses filled with ice. Sugar and lemon may be added if desired. Under certain conditions iced tea may become cloudy. To make it clear, simply add a little boiling water.

Manners Make Friends

If an acquaintance or friend offers to take you somewhere in her car, be sure to be ready to go out the front door the minute the car starts. Most persons with cars are generous about offering transportation, but they do hate to be kept waiting when doing someone a favor.

Promptness is always a social asset.

"BE IT EVER SO HUMBLE . . ."—Joseph Porcos, 48, poses in the wooden box that has been his "home" for the past two years. Police had been called to investigate an abandoned safe in the junk-littered yard of a Chicago apartment house and cheerful, clean-shaven Porcos strolled in. When questioned, he told the cops he lived in the wooden box. Porcos does odd jobs around the city. Says he likes his odd dwelling—it's tiny, it's cold, but it's home!

South took a chance on the heart suit when he bid three no-trump in today's hand, and his gamble appeared sound enough when the dummy showed up with strong hearts. Unluckily for declarer, West chose this moment to put up a brilliant defense.

West opened the five of spades, and South won with the king. The falsecard didn't deceive West, for it was clear that South had all three top spades.

South returned the queen of diamonds, and West had to win with the king. West could see that the diamonds were going to come in very quickly and that the spades were hopeless. The only chance was to knock the ace of hearts out of the dummy to remove the entry to the long diamonds.

South turned the queen of diamonds, and West had to win with the king. West could see that the diamonds were going to come in very quickly and that the spades were hopeless. The only chance was to knock the ace of hearts out of the dummy to remove the entry to the long diamonds.

West had to lead a heart—and not just any old heart. If West led a low heart, dummy would play low, and East would win with the ace and jack of hearts, both entries. West solved the problem by leading the queen.

British Broadcasting Corporation Televises The Birth Of A Baby

By JOHN D. PARRY
United Press Staff Correspondent

LONDON (UP)—The British Broadcasting Corp. televised the birth of a baby Monday night.

Most viewers agreed it was done with remarkable tact, but the dissenting tabloid Daily Sketch quoted a "father of two" today as saying BBC was turning television "into an ultra-sensational horror comic."

The BBC said early today it had only six telephone calls from the millions who watched the program around their firesides after most children were asleep. Four calls disappeared, two approved.

Doctors Voice Protests
The birth of the baby came as part of a program in which "natural birth" expert Grantly Dick Read defended his system whereby the mother helps guide the baby into the world—a system opposed by London doctors.

One of the doctors present said after the film, "I wouldn't like any patient of mine groping around trying to help her baby out." The doctors were not identified in line with British Medical Association policy.

The film showed the mother on her back, her knees up, the baby already half born. One of the two doctors guided the mother's hands and handed her the newborn babe as a smile of bliss spread over her face.

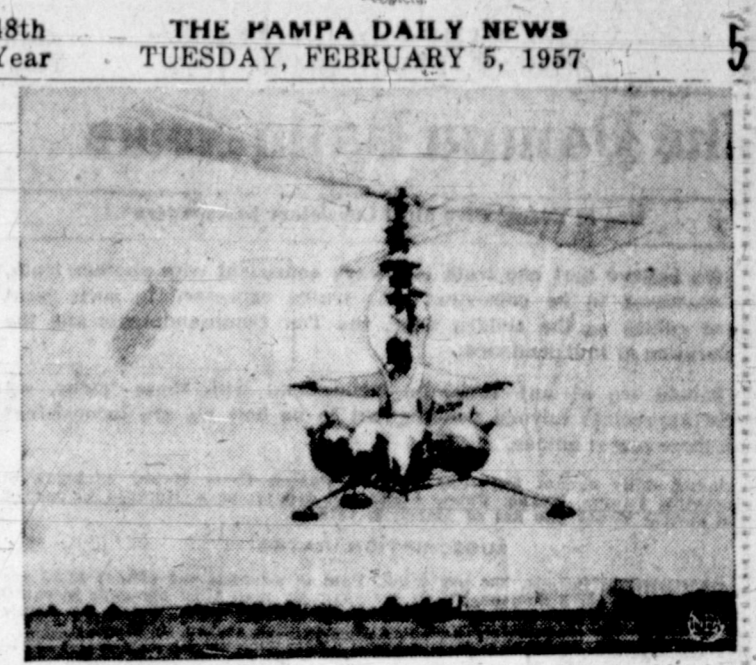

Mother Was Anonymous
The mother was an unidentified South African who volunteered when the film was made in Johannesburg last year. She agreed to its being shown anywhere in the world except South Africa.

The Daily Sketch was the only newspaper to protest. It carried a headline "Revolution—By A Father Of Two" over a story by Alan Gardner.

"Revolution! Beyond the pale! I condemn the BBC for the worst lapse of taste ever," Gardner was quoted.

"They showed us a baby being born in all its stark, primitive detail. All right. We were adult. So the children were in bed when the program was on."

"But there are some things which should never be shown on television and this was one of them. It sickened me. It sickened my wife."

MABEL'S STABLE—With arms outstretched, Norman Lloyd makes like a bird to demonstrate the inherent stability of "Stable Mabel," a new, one-passenger helicopter. First shown publicly at Philadelphia, Pa., the tiny chopper is powered by rocket engines mounted in tips of its rotor blade, and uses a hydrogen peroxide mixture for fuel.

Hoover Says Pressure Causes Waste

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 (UP)—Former President Herbert Hoover Monday night bemoaned "pressure groups" for the majority of unnecessary and wasteful expenditures by the federal government.

"There are probably more than a thousand of these pressure groups, working day and night, to get what they call 'theirs,'" said Mr. Hoover in an address before the third national reorganization conference.

"So far as I know there is not a name among the registered lobbyists whose purpose is to decrease public expenditures," he said.

Lid on Spending
Mr. Hoover warned that unless a lid is placed on government spending and inflation is curbed "old man economic law will return with a full equipment of hair curlers." The phrase echoed Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey's recent statement that unless spending is limited the United States is headed for a "depression that will curl your hair."

Mr. Hoover said that many of the lobbyists are listed on the federal register as required by law. "Others of them operate strenuously on senators and congressmen and the public in the field," he said.

South had a good idea of what was going on, but he couldn't help himself. If he won with the ace of hearts in dummy, East would save the king of hearts to capture dummy's jack. And if South refused the first heart trick, West would continue the suit to make sure of forcing out the ace. Either way, the entry to the long diamonds was sure to go.

This defense limited South to three spades, two hearts, and a three club. Down one.

people that each of you examine yourself as to whether you belong to any pressure group asking for federal spending," he said. "If you value your own safety and future peace of mind, just resign from it—and do it loudly."

Mr. Hoover said that despite the activities of pressure groups progress is being made on the government economy recommendations proposed by the Hoover Commission. He said he had no fear of a serious depression—if inflation can be stopped.

"The obvious sign of inflation is the advance of prices, wages, and the cost of living," he said.

Tax By Guess Work

When the 16th Amendment was passed in 1913, the American people lost their freedom. From that day to this, how much they earn, and how much they have in the way of money or assets, has become a matter of public record, rather than a matter of privacy.

In essence, the 16th Amendment is in violation of the 4th Amendment, which is still in force and forbids the government from unreasonable searches and seizures.

The dignity of man, sustained by our forefathers, went down the river with the 16th Amendment. Our children cannot quite grasp the distinction that comes when each man can hold up his head proudly and without fear, and put his best foot forward, knowing that his own money matters are distinctly and totally his own business. Our children never lived in such an atmosphere of liberty as this.

But the closing days of 1956 and the beginning of 1957 mark a new invasion by the predatory tax collectors empowered to plunder by virtue of the 16th Amendment. Up until these current days, the tax collector had to work on the basis of facts. Although he had the power to seize and confiscate your earnings almost without any limit whatsoever, his seizures and confiscations were related to the facts of your actual income. He could scarcely guess as to what you made. You told him and he took his rake-off.

The new departure in tax collections occurs as the federal percentage boys move into the area of collecting taxes on the basis of tips.

Currently in Denver, but scheduled to move throughout the state, the collectors of the income tax are leveling their legal efforts at waitresses, bus boys, bartenders, porters and all others who make a part of their living on the basis of afts rendered them by satisfied patrons. The new gimmick is that a tip is not a gift. It is according to the latest definition, an integral part of the salary paid.

Since it is manifestly true that waitresses and others keep no records as to what they receive in the way of afts, the federal tax agents ought to be stymied at the outset. But they are not ones to overlook an opportunity of waylaying a peaceful worker and making off with their cut. So they no longer say, "Tell us what you made, and we'll tell you what we want." Instead they say, "Don't tell us what you made; we'll tell you."

Thus the tax-men have moved out of the realm of fact and into the realm of metaphysics. Presumably equipped with accurate crystal balls they are hounding and harassing a goodly number of working people in the Denver area giving them what amounts to a fear psychosis engendered by a tax induced third degree.

Thus the original violation of the 4th Amendment, which prohibits unreasonable searches and seizures, is now expanded into an even greater violation. The federal boys don't even have to search. They just move in and announce what you owe, and you pay, or else.

This takes us, in time, back to the Middle Ages. Grand and petty tyrants throughout Europe were engaged in precisely the same practice. The king decided how much money he wanted. His collectors went out and got it. The collectors decided how much they would get and thumbscrew and rack were not unusual as tools to help get the reluctant subject to "confess" as to where he had hidden his earnings.

The establishment of our Constitution and Bill of Rights was accomplished to prevent things of this sort from occurring. But under the 16th Amendment, and the non-mathematical experts in the treasury department, the Constitution and the Bill of Rights are no longer effective.

We are totally at the mercy of the T-men and it's time we realized it.

"Be Prepared—
In This World, That Motto's Perfect"

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

Communist Economy
In Beta Hubbard's book, "Political and Economic Structures," he points out there are four economic structures. He explains that: "COMMUNISM IS A PRIMITIVE STRUCTURE. The earliest known form of economy is the communist structure. In the primitive anarchies, all wealth acquired by the individual became common property of the family of that individual. When men organized into tribes, communities, or nations, the common ownership of property by the family was extended to common ownership by the community or by the nation."

"Operating in a republic with no restrictions imposed by national or state governments, these communist ventures floundered because the economic structure they attempted to reintroduce to the world was reactionary in nature, wholly unsuited to modern civilization, and unable to survive in competition with a far superior economic system. Unaided by government, coercion or encouragement, the communist structure can thrive only among primitive peoples having no acquaintance with more advanced types of economy."

Re-Mold Minds

"In a frank statement of objectives, Andrei A. Zhdanov told the Soviet Eighteenth Congress, on March 18, 1953: '... people forget that our whole work of building socialism, our whole educational work, is designed to re-mold the minds of men. That is what our Party (i.e., Communist Party) exists for, ... that is why we are undertaking the tasks of communist development, namely to re-mold people, ... Having this blueprint of the Soviet educational objectives, this clearly presented the utility of the Russian weapon of conquest by intellectual subversion becomes apparent. 'Let us now consider the indirect sources of the Soviet campaign of semantic confusion. These sources in Russia comprise the government-controlled press and radio, the commissars of education, etc. In countries outside the Russian 'Iron Curtain,' the sources are the local Communist Party organization; with its affiliates and naive followers, and the embassy organizations of Russia and her satellites.'"

If re-molding minds is a mark of communism, United States by its tax-run schools is attempting to do the very same thing that they are obliged to do in every communist country — indoctrinate the youth of the land.

What Communism is Not
The author explains in the following manner what communism is not:

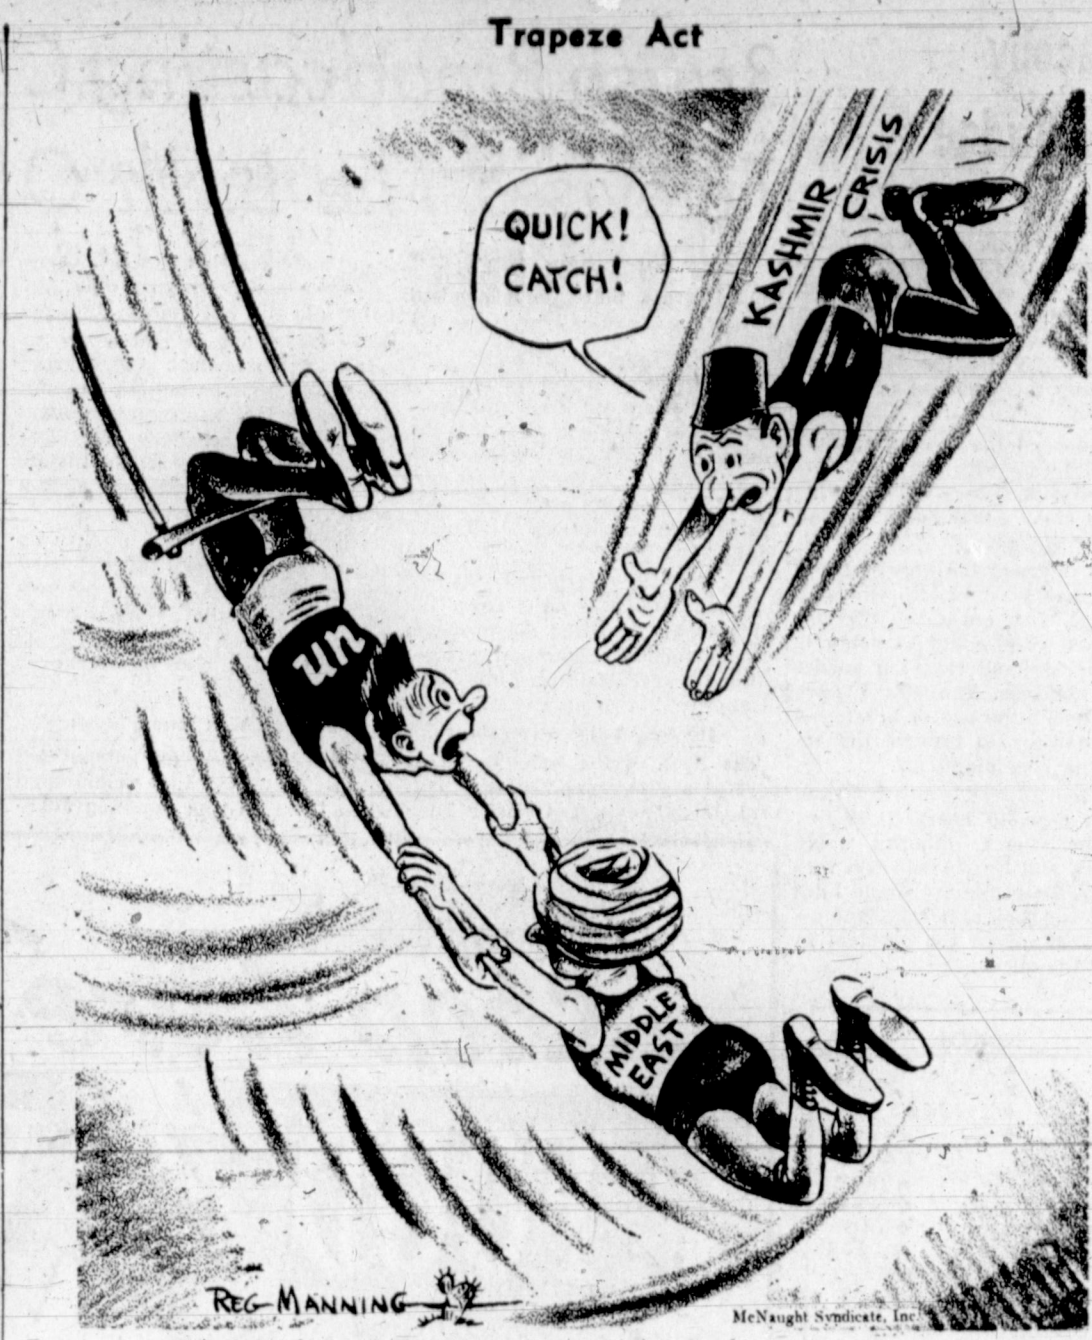

"One important result of this Russian technique of subversion has been general confusion of the mind as to the true nature of communism. Most people of the present generation do not know that communism is nothing more than an economic structure, and a primitive one, at that. They have been taught, even by many of our college teachers, to regard communism as something new and forward-looking, with which the Russians are 'experimenting.'"

"Communism has been described as 'progressive,' capitalism as 'outmoded' and 'reactionary.' Communism is frequently referred to as a social philosophy, which it is not. Various doctrines promulgated by Karl Marx and his modern followers have been described erroneously as 'communism.' This, the doctrine of the class struggle, taught by Marx, is not communism, or even a necessary accessory to communism. Marx's theory that communism must inevitably be preceded by violent overthrow of an existing government is entirely false, as any review of the history of communist economic would demonstrate."

"Our current legal definition of a 'communist' as one who advocates and teaches the violent overthrow of the U.S. Government is incorrect, and is a fair example of the mental confusion obtaining in this country as the result of many years of subconscious absorption of the Russian subversion campaign. The true pertinent definitions of a 'communist' are: (1) One who advocates the communist economy, or (2) The citizen of a nation operating on a communist economy. Many of the individuals in the United States who in recent years have been labeled or convicted as 'communists' have, in fact, been Russian agents, and most certainly should have been identified or convicted as such."

"The Communist Party U.S.A., in spite of denials, is an agency of the Russian government. This fact was known at least thirty years ago. As an official Russian agency, the American Communist party has the assignment of promoting and instrumenting in the United States the official policy of the U.S.S.R. This policy is political conquest by peaceful penetration and subversion. The Russian policy of conquest was first announced by Lenin, and has been confirmed by his successors in the Russian oligarchy. It is still in effect. As formulated by Lenin, the Russian goal is the destruction of all governments of countries with capitalist economy, followed by socialization of the economic system."

"Proof that this policy is still in effect is demonstrated by the pattern of Russian conquest and attempted conquest during the past twenty years. Three different techniques have been used: (1) conquest by military invasion; (2) conquest by infiltration and incitement to overthrow of government by violent revolution, and (3) conquest by peaceful penetra-

Once Denied Statements Are No Longer Held False

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

CHICAGO — A few days ago Maj. Gen. C. T. Lanham, formerly of Eisenhower's politico-military household in Paris and now hooked up with Leopold Silberstein, the refugee proxy raider, seemed to deny statements by Leslie Gould, of the New York Journal-American, about a purchase of 100,000 shares of Fairbanks, Morse stock through a Swiss bank. In a later interview, however, General Lanham admitted that a company controlled by his present chief did acquire 100,000 shares of Fairbanks, Morse through the Swiss bank.

Gould has said repeatedly that "someone" made one million dollars in this paper transaction and has harried the Securities and Exchange Commission to assert its legal authority to disclose all of the facts. My direct question to Lanham was "where does Silberstein's money come from?" The General took off on an interesting but unresponsive discussion of Silberstein's career as a genius of manipulation. His narrative seemed to support the formal statement of Fairbanks, Morse through Robert H. Morse Jr. president, that because of Silberstein's "record of buying companies through exchanges of stock and bank loans, his background is, in our opinion, that of a financial operator rather than a business administrator." It cited "unnamed sources in the accumulation of Fairbanks, Morse stock."

In the same letter to his stockholders, Morse wrote that, soon after Silberstein got control of an old industrial American firm called Industrial Brownhoist, Silberstein's board "created additional jobs involving salaries of $87,000 a year and elected four of themselves to these jobs — Silberstein at $45,000 a year." Morse said the Silberstein board also voted to lend $350,000 of Brownhoist stock to Silberstein's Pennsylvania, Coal and Coke and added that both of these ventures were given up under challenge when Brownhoist stockholders brought suits in the courts.

Gould published a statement that a New York stock firm bought 50,000 shares of F-M for anonymous clients of the Swiss bank, with Silberstein's son-in-law, Peter M. Cats, acting as customers' man, tion and intellectual subversion by propaganda. The record shows that up to September, 1954, the Russian government has succeeded in the political conquest and communication of all or portions of fifteen countries as follows:

- 1. By military invasion, Russia conquered Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, Poland, part of Finland, East Germany, East Austria, Hungary, Rumania, China and North Viet Nam. The last two were invaded by non-Russian puppet troops. A similar, attempted conquest of South Korea failed.
- 2. By infiltration and revolution, Russia conquered Albania, Bulgaria, and Jugoslavia. The latter subsequently declared its political independence. Attempted conquest of Greece failed.
- 3. By peaceful penetration and subversion, Russia conquered Czechoslovakia. Similar peaceful conquests in Spain and Guatemala were nullified by violent counter-revolutions, led by patriots.

Neighbor—What I really need is something that will do that in the prescription. Parson—No, I think you will find that impossible. Neighbor—The black crow thinketh her own birds white.

Silberstein lineup. However, Karr separated from Silberstein and went over to the side of Fairbanks, Morse although he is not on their payroll and seems to be without retainers.

Meanwhile Alfons Landis, a Washington lawyer, got into the act on behalf of a "committee" of Penn-Texas stockholders to oppose Silberstein. Landis recently joined this committee. Landis is a director of the American Standard Life Insurance Co., of Washington, D.C., which is a subsidiary of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, one of the richest and mightiest unions in the country. There are six officials of the union on the board of American Standard, including Joe Keenan, the secretary-treasurer, who is also a member of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor.

There is no indication, however, that the union or American Standard is concerned in the Fairbanks, Morse fight although that would not be a new wrinkle. The Teamsters' Union horned into the Montgomery Ward proxy fight and unions now have in the aggregate one of the greatest unregulated pools, rather say oceans, of money in the history of money.

Final Organization Has Antagonized Voting Powers

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The final organizations of Senate and House Committees by the Democrats has antagonized several powerful voting elements which helped to keep their Party in power for 20 years, but which shifted to President Eisenhower in 1952 and 1956 — the labor, liberal and colored blocs.

Before the Congressional majority — organized its committees, whose chairmen have virtually final voice over legislation, spokesmen for these three groups bracketed their fire on Senator James O. Eastland of Mississippi. Despite his seniority, they insisted that he be deposed as chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, where he has been able to block Civil Rights measures.

They also demanded another violation of the sacred seniority system. They asked that House leaders displace Representative Graham A. Barden of North Carolina as head of the House Committee on Labor and Education. Like Eastland, Barden has fought "liberal" legislation affecting labor, education and the desegregation movement.

The House Senate leadership, as expected, rejected these protests. As a matter of fact, the politically shrewd objectors did not anticipate success, for they recognize the sanctity of Congressional precedence.

But other committee selections have really shocked them. They are especially enraged at Senate Democrats' unexpected selection of Senator Strom Thurmond of South Carolina for the Labor and Public Welfare Committee. Thurmond was so exasperated by Harry S. Truman's New Deal Fair Deal program that he ran as a States' Rights Democrat in 1948, and carried four southern states. Had the Truman-Dewey contest been at all close, he might have turned the White House over to the Republicans.

Even more than Senator Eastland and Representative Barden, Thurmond embodies principles and ideas which the erstwhile Democratic elements oppose and detest.

Under the heading, "Senate Democratic Leaders Insult Labor," John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers Journal carries this "savage" comment.

"This insulting appointment, unanimously opposed by labor's representatives on Capitol Hill, could give the Democrat-Republican coalition in Congress control of a committee that for many years has been composed of Senate liberals."

"Senator Thurmond is probably the worst choice that could have been made for this post. He is an out-and-out anti-labor, Dixiecrat States' Rights, a racial bigot and he bolted the Democratic Party in 1948 to run for the Presidency on the States' Rights Party ticket."

"His appointment was made by the Senate Democratic Steering Committee, which is dominated by Senator Lyndon Johnson, Texas Democrat."

The Lewis publication also charged that the House Committee on Education and Labor, with Barden as chairman, will "probably be dominated by the Dixie-GOP coalition, as it has been in the past."

Negro newspapers have voiced similar criticism of the Democratic committees' composition, "with three importantly placed Southerners — Eastland, Thurmond and Barden — as their principal grievance causes. But the main victims of this bombardment are the two Texans — Senator Johnson and Speaker Rayburn."

Echoing these objections, too, are the liberal Democrats in the Roosevelt, Stevenson, Truman wings, as well as such colorful statesmen as the officers of Americans for Democratic Action.

In fact, it is understood that Truman could hardly be kept from writing another of those colorful midnight philippics to Democratic leaders on Capitol Hill, when he learned that Thurmond, his 1948 detractor and opponent, had been so highly honored by the Congressional faction of the Party.

The Russian Army Pulls Its Trousers One Leg At A Time

By HENRY McLEMORE

SCHWABISCH-GMUND — No one will ever tell Lt. Colonel Alpo K. Martinen that the Russian Army is an invincible one. Not and make him believe it, anyway.

This former chief of staff of a Finnish corps, now an American citizen and an officer in the Eighth Infantry Division, fought a good part of the Russian army in the Russo-Finnish war of 1939-45, and found that, like other armies, pulled its trousers on one leg at a time.

It is surprising that Lt. Col. Martinen doesn't undersell the Russians because never have so few killed so many as the Finns did the Russians. Finnish platoons fought — and whipped — Russian battalions, companies took on regiments, and regiments fought armies.

The Finns were not only outnumbered — they were outgunned; had only a scattering of tanks, and no air force to speak of. Yet they killed Russians at a 20 to 1 rate and humiliated the Soviet army more than Hitler ever did in the early days of his invasion.

Lt. Col. Martinen came to the United States in 1947 with fifteen other Finnish officers on what was then a very secret move. He served in our army, first as a private and then as a master sergeant, until he was commissioned in 1951. He is now the chief of Civil Affairs and Military Government for the Eighth, which recently came over from Fort Carson, Colorado.

The colonel doesn't think very highly of Russian strategy, and while he admits it has improved since 1939, he is not inclined to rate it as brilliant, no matter what changes have been made.

"They moved against us, a very small country, almost without warning," Martinen said, "and what happened? A great deal. I can tell you a great deal."

His eyes brightened at the memory. "After three months of fighting the Russian attack was repulsed at all points, and we had destroyed — completely wiped out — eight Russian divisions. We killed at least 200,000 men, and there were upwards of 300,000 wounded. The Finnish army had only 23,000 killed and 45,000 wounded."

I asked what accounted for this Finnish superiority as fighters. "That, and Russian stupidity," the Colonel answered. "They evidently had forgotten about our weather, or chose to ignore it. Also our terrain, which features thousands of lakes, marshes, and great forests.

"They came charging down the highways, and that's where they stayed. The snow kept them channeled on the roads. They were sitting ducks for our ski troops who, clad in white, and moving swiftly and silently, cut them to ribbons from all sides. The Russians bought skis, and even ski manuals, but the skis were of such inferior material that they burned thousands of them in our stoves. The same for the manuals. No one will ever know how many of the Russians froze to death."

I asked Martinen if the Russian soldiers were especially tough and mean.

"No, but their high command," he answered. "One of the divisions eliminated was the 44th, and we captured its commanding officer's order of execution. The reason given in the order from the high command was that the general had lost all of his 55 field kitchens to the enemy. On another occasion we intercepted a radio appeal for help from a Russian division commander who had been cut off in 80 degree below zero weather for a month. He was told to get out the best way he could."

Martinen said the only things the Russians seemed to have plenty of were huge pictures of Stalin. The Russians hung one from nearly every tree in the forests. They also used many women officers.

"Those Russian women" were something to behold," the colonel said. "The men would quit but the women never would."

None Hurt As Train Derails

WELCH, Okla., Feb. 5 (UP)—No one was injured Monday when 21 cars of a Missouri-Kansas and Texas freight train were derailed about a half-mile north of the Welch train depot in Craig county. A section of track about 100 yards long was ripped up. O.L. Crain, Parsons, Kan., superintendent of the MK&T northern division, said the accident was caused when a wheel on one of the cars became overheated and melted. The train had 134 cars. Other trains were routed around the damaged section, and Crain said service should be normal Tuesday.

Civil Defense Shift
Val Peterson is on his way out as federal Civil Defense administrator, Washington reports. He has an attractive offer for a non-government job. He has submitted his resignation to the White House. But President Eisenhower has asked him to remain until a successor can be found.

AMM Versus ICBM
Things are getting complicated in the missile field. You can look out now for the anti-missile missile (AMM). Experts believe it may catch up with the intercontinental ballistic missile. A host of bugs in the ICBM must be exterminated before it can join the arsenal as a dependable weapon. By that time, scientists—particularly those working with superfast electronic computers—may have perfected an anti-missile missile capable of countering the ICBM. It would be a sensational technological feat. But experts say it's neither impossible nor necessarily improbable.

Clouds Over NATO
Administration officials are worried over the future of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The reasons: (1) Britain is determined to cut defense spending. London says two of the four British divisions in Germany probably will be pulled out soon. (2) Germany's rearmament is lagging and a bit ter political campaign is shaping up. (3) France already has withdrawn most of its NATO troops for service in Algeria. Paris says it may ask Washington for aid in guided missiles so that the army can be further reduced.

Watch for a new farm battle. Farm congressmen from areas outside the Midwest corn belt are plotting to revamp the administration's corn bill, figuring it's veto-proof. They want to make it a "catch-all" measure, carrying new benefits and subsidies, which the administration opposes, for growers of other crops.

Some congressmen are peeved by one of President Eisenhower's immigration proposals. He has recommended that the attorney general—instead of Congress—be given jurisdiction over hardship cases. The idea is to cut the flood of private bills in which con-

Disagreement As To When Taxpayer Will Get A Break

By LYLE C. WILSON
WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (UP)—There is disagreement among officials who should know best as to when—if ever—the American taxpayer will get a break.

Moreover, the officials who believe a tax cut may come relatively soon are outnumbered and outbranded by officials who cannot see a tax cut coming for a long time.

President Eisenhower is among those who believe government spending may continue to climb, and, if he is correct in that, tax cuts are a long way off. Mr. Eisenhower is supported by Budget Director Percival F. Brundage.

Humphrey Pessimistic
Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey is fearful that the President and Brundage may prove to be right. Humphrey predicts economic disaster for the United States unless taxes and spending are reduced. He does not forecast disaster tomorrow or next day.

Humphrey's argument is that the long haul United States trend of high taxes and big spending will get the country into serious trouble in time. Budget Director Brundage estimated that tax reduction is three to five years away. That is a long time, perhaps time enough to put Humphrey's theory to a test.

Rep. Joseph W. Martin, Jr. (R-Mass.) is one of those who expects substantial tax reduction soon.

Expects Reduction
"It will come," he said recently, "because we will carefully screen our spending and eliminate waste and extravagance."

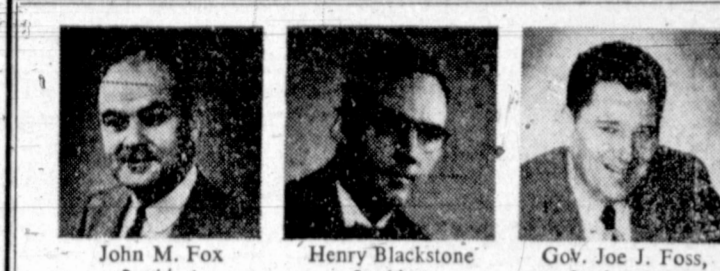

Martin has served more than 30 years in Congress. He is the Republican leader of the House, a former speaker, a powerful man. Martin should know what he is talking about, which may be some comfort to taxpayers. But, should the President, Humphrey, Brundage and others know, too.

Someone is wrong about tax cut chances. That is obvious. Obvious, too, is that Martin's prescription for careful screening to eliminate waste and extravagance from government spending would accomplish wonders. There is no assurance, however, that spending will be so screened or that waste and extravagance will be eliminated.

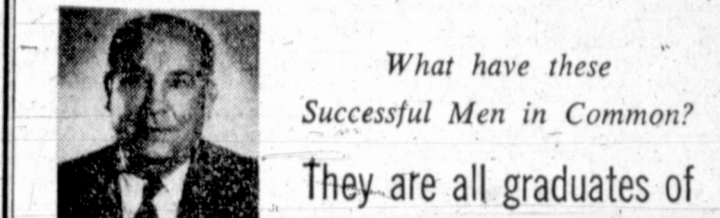

Five classes of wheat are grown in the United States: hard red spring, soft red winter, hard red winter, durum and white.

Winter wheat is sown in the fall and harvested the following spring.

SCHOOL DAZE—You may well ask "What is it?" and the answer is "It's a school"—or at least a model of one. It shows how the proposed George Washington Carver high school in New Orleans will look if the design is adopted. Two-story classroom wing is crossed at right angles by unit containing auditorium, cafeteria and gymnasium. It won top honors in the fourth annual Progressive Architecture Magazine design awards. It was designed by New Orleans architects Curtis and Davis.
