Dave Beck Gets Ouster

Car License Increase To Aid Highways

AUSTIN (UP) — Gov. Price Daniel predicted today legislators would finance a highway right-of-way purchase program by increasing automobile license fees 10 per cent.

The proposal, now in a conference committee, would add about eight million dollars annually to the highway department revenue. It would be used to pay 50 per cent of the costs of highway right-of-way now paid in entirely by cities and counties.

The governor told a news conference there was "a possibility" the legislature will act favorably on more than 90 per cent of his recommendations before the 55th session ends this week.

He said that 32 of 50 recommendations have been finally enacted by both houses; six have been passed by both houses and are now in conference committee or awaiting concurrence; four have passed the Senate and now await action by the House; and six have passed the House and now await action by the Senate.

Two of the recommendations have failed to pass either house. These are a proposal creating a state-wide law enforcement commission, and legislation providing for registration of persons representing others before state agencies.

The governor said he saw no reason why the legislature cannot complete its work this week, probably by Thursday night. But he said much important work remains to be done. He said this included approval of a two-phase multi-million dollar water program.

One measure, creating a 200 million dollar loan to aid local governments in constructing water conservation projects, has come out of conference committee and only awaits concurrence by the Senate.

France's Pineau To Reopen Suez Canal Dispute With UN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP) — French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau arrives here today to reopen the entire Suez Canal dispute in the United Nations Security Council this afternoon.

Arab nations called the French move a "provocation" that would raise new tensions in the Middle East and Egyptian sources accused France of reviving the issue in a desperate effort to save the government of Premier Guy Mollet.

Before leaving Paris by plane Pineau said France's intention was simply to force the United Nations to clarify its position on the "one-man operation" of the canal since France does not consider the present status as definite.

Egypt, which is counting on the Soviet veto to protect it from any anti-Egyptian moves, took the position that France's move was a "desperate attempt to increase Middle East tension" and enable France to "divert attention from its internal weakness."

Egyptian sources also accused France of conspiring with Israel to send an Israeli ship to the Suez Canal Zone "in order to provoke Egypt." Official spokesmen insisted that Egypt would not permit passage of an Israeli ship.

A Jerusalem dispatch indicated Israel would uphold any test until after the Security Council debate. But the dispatch said the Israeli ship Atilit was en route to the port of Eilat via the Gulf of Aqaba which Arab nations also have declared closed to Israeli shipping.

French sources indicated France would seek to have the Security Council reaffirm that the canal must be operated under the six principles laid down by the council last fall before the three-nation invasion of Egypt. Chief of these was the insulation of the canal from domestic politics. Another is non-discrimination against the shipping of any nation.

Gray County Sheriff Rufe Jordan, who also acts as civil defense coordinator for our area, told The News this morning that he "hoped to have" a storm warning siren for Pampa within eight to nine days.

The announcement by Jordan this morning was the climax of a great deal of interest generated in Pampa through an article in Sunday's paper. The article was in the weekly column, "Staff Notes," and was written by Joel R. Combs, The News' managing editor.

The column commented on the need for a storm warning system in Pampa and pointed out that the need was greatly emphasized by last week's tornado in Silverton, which came after many of the city's residents were in bed asleep and unaware of the impending disaster.

A number of Pampans told The News' reporters this morning that they agreed with the column and hoped that such a system could be set up.

Sheriff Jordan also agreed. He said he was going to call a meeting of Civil Defense representatives soon. The date is expected to be set tomorrow.

Pampa already has good organization for disasters, after the year come. The need is for a warning system in order for Pampans to know to take cover when a storm or other danger is imminent.

The new siren, which will be a completely different alarm than the existing fire alarm, is expected to be one which "can be heard from five to seven miles," according to Jordan.

The only avenue open for warning at present is the fire siren on the downtown fire station.

Fire Chief Ernest Winborne said this morning that the alarm could not be heard by over half the residents of Pampa if it were used. He said he would check today to see what arrangements could be worked out to use the siren or some other warning system in case of emergencies. He said the present siren was not in official use to warn of impending storms at this time.

The present "setup" to warn of storms is for county, city and fire department vehicles with two-way radios to be dispatched to the outskirts of town to alert the police.

'Ace' Carter Facing Trial
BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UP)—Ace (Ace) Carter, who claims support of "thousands" in a white supremacy campaign but got only a handful of votes in a recent city election, faces trial today on two counts of assault with intent to murder.

'Gross Misuse' Of Funds Is Charged

AFL-CIO Leaders Boot Union Prexy

By MAUREEN GOTHLIN
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP) — Teamster President Dave Beck was ousted as an AFL-CIO vice president by the AFL-CIO high command today on grounds of "gross misuse" of union funds.

The action came shortly after Beck refused at a closed-door AFL-CIO trial to answer charges that he had brought the labor movement into "disrepute."

Meany announced that the 25 members of the executive council who were present today had unanimously voted Beck's ouster — an unprecedented action.

"There is not the faintest question in our minds that he is completely guilty of violating" trade union laws through his use of union money which is "a sacred trust," Meany said.

Meany said the question whether the 62-year-old Teamsters Union chief was guilty of violating federal or state laws involving "theft of embezzlement" was not the concern of the executive council of which Beck had been a member since August 1953.

Beck had appeared before the council this morning for only half an hour. During his appearance, Beck refused to accept his previous suspension as an AFL-CIO vice president and council member or answer the charges against him.

Meany said Beck's removal from the executive council and the vice presidency could be appealed by his union at the AFL-CIO convention next December.

Charges Against Beck
The charges against Beck were based on the Senate Rackets Committee investigation disclosures and charges that he had used more than $300,000 of union funds for personal matters.

"Whether Beck stole the funds or borrowed them," Meany said, "the record shows he look advantage of his position as a trade union official to use money belonging to dues-paying members for his own personal gain and profit."

Asked if reports were true that Rossellini is living in Bombay with Mrs. Sonali Das Gupta, a beautiful 27-year-old model and mother of two small boys, Miss Bergman said, "I don't think there is much truth to it."

She said she first heard the gossip from Rossellini himself during frequent telephone conversations with her 51-year-old husband who has been in India for some time. She said Roberto told her someone is trying to hurt him.

Miss Bergman, who is starring in the Paris production of the play "Tosca and Sympathy," said, "You can see I'm not taking those reports very hard and I'm quite relaxed about it."

Dispatches from India said Mrs. Das Gupta had separated from her husband, Hari Das Gupta, who directed the movie "The Rib." She is in Bombay where Rossellini is visiting and Das Gupta is in Calcutta.

The New York Daily News said in a copyrighted dispatch Mrs. Das Gupta and Rossellini were staying in adjoining rooms at the luxurious Hotel Taj Mahal and that she was expecting a baby, as Ingrid was almost eight years ago in her torrid Stromboli romance with Rossellini.

"I have not only God's word for it that the end of the world is in sight," he said, "but I also have the word of the scientists who are arming to the teeth, and we are told that in a flash — in a moment — it is possible to destroy New York with the push of a button."

Graham addressed an overflow crowd of 19,000 — his largest yet in New York — in the fifth night of crusade.

The 38-year-old evangelist said the crusade here was "the biggest and most important mission of my life." At the close of his sermon 931 persons came forward to make "decisions for Christ."

Graham said the Apostle Peter "points back to the destruction of the flood and says there was a time in history when God destroyed the entire human race except for eight people."

He indicated that as God destroyed the world and most of the human race once because of their sins and iniquities, that God will do it again, but this time by fire.

The revivalist said he said hydrogen and atomic bombs may be the instruments for destruction of the world by fire and that scientists and intellectuals "scoffed at the Scriptures until the first atomic bomb fell on Hiroshima."

"Now it is the scientists who are predicting the end of the world," Graham said.

Also present at the affair were Rev. Myles Moynihan, pastor of Holy Souls Church, and Rev. William Horan, assistant pastor. Commencement exercises will be held Sunday at the church.

Commission To Canvass Election Votes

The official canvass of the votes in last Tuesday's special runoff election in Ward 4 for the election of a commissioner for that ward will be made at the start of the City Commission tomorrow morning.

Following the canvassing of the votes on the new commissioner of Ward 4 the commissioner will be sworn in.

Unofficial tabulation of the voting last Tuesday indicated that Robert D. Olson received 73 votes and Glenn Radcliff received a total of 49 votes.

Following the swearing in of the new commissioner, the City Commission will discuss city business.

Bids for the purchase of a new truck for the city will be opened at 10 a.m. These bids will be for pickups and other trucks needed to replace equipment several years old.

A discussion will also be held in regards to contracts with the Santa Fe and Fort Worth and Denver Railroads in regards to the city running water and sewer lines under the tracks of the two railroads. These lines are a part of the new water and sewer system being installed in Pampa.

Other items to be discussed will be the third reading of Ordinance 473 dealing with the placing of temporary wooden buildings less than 80 feet from a two-story building; the report of the insurance committee in regards to insurance on city owned buildings and vehicles; and the request of Jess Hatcher for permission to operate a train concession in Hobart Street Park.

KILLDEER, N.D. (UP) — Soil conservationist R. M. Davis used the word "smirt" to describe the mixture of snow and dirt whipped into the air by winter gales in these parts.

Tulsans Return To Their Homes

TULSA (UP)—Thousands of persons were returning to their water-logged homes today in the wake of Oklahoma's greatest disaster.

Another round of thundershowers was forecast for all of the state the next 24 hours, but for the present the worst danger appeared to be over from the floods that had already caused an estimated 25 million dollars damage and claimed nine lives.

At Tulsa and Bixby, the Arkansas River, which caused an estimated $6,000 to flee from their homes, was back within its banks. Flood victims were also moving back at Pauls Valley on the Washita, and Dover on the Cimarron, as muddy waters slowly receded.

Crisis Passed
The crisis was passed at noon Sunday in Tulsa where thousands of volunteers, including 1,500 school boys, had worked 48 hours stacking 140,000 sandbags along the river banks.

Their work plus the fact the river crested about five feet below predictions was credited with saving hundreds of homes in Tulsa from major flood damage.

The tired group was near the exhaustion point when Civil Defense Director Joe Morris announced:

"The worst is over. The good Lord was on our side."

Damage at Bixby
Farther downstream at Bixby, Highway Patrol Lt. Bill Mayberry estimated 800 residents actually suffered flood damage to their homes. The entire city of 2,300 was ordered evacuated over the weekend in anticipation of greater flooding.

River forecasters credited the optimistic side was Harwood E. Stassen, President Eisenhower's special disarmament adviser. He said on his return here Friday from London disarmament talks that this country and Russia are "closer to agreement" on first-step moves for aerial inspection and arms reductions. But he warned there are still many difficulties to be solved.

Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles both have spoken recently with guarded optimism about prospects for a first-step arms limitation-inspection deal with the Soviet Union. The President told his news conference last week he believes the Russians "are now growing more serious" about disarmament, partly because of an economic pinch.

However, two American radio amateurs in Boston said they monitored a message from a Santiago "ham" saying "Everything okay now." The Americans were James J. Donohue of Framingham, Mass., and William Hawthorn of Wayland, Mass.

(At the same time, two amateurs in Honolulu reported they intercepted a message from the Tahiti Nui denying it was in any trouble. They said it gave its position as 550 miles south and west of Juan Fernandez Island.)

WASHINGTON (UP)—A serious split within the Eisenhower administration on a possible disarmament agreement with Russia appeared to have broken into the open today.

On one side was Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff. He told newsmen Sunday he does not think Russia "can be trusted" to carry out disarmament agreements, and indicated he will battle for "fool-proof" arrangements before agreeing to any "open skies" disarmament inspection plan.

All except two of the members were present and one new member, Mrs. Elizabeth Newman, from Germany, joined the class. Mrs. Rosa Brewer served refreshments to the group.

The Citizenship Class is being sponsored by the Pampa Lions Club with John Evans as chairman and is being taught for the purpose of helping to naturalize all foreigners as they become eligible for citizenship.

The class will hold its next regular meeting Sunday at Baker School with L. C. Davis, teacher at Cabot School, as the instructor. His topic for study will be "Putting the New Government to Work."

All persons who are not American citizens, and who have a fair speaking and writing knowledge of the English language, have been invited to join the class at any time. The course is free with all books and materials being furnished by the Lions Club.

If any alien desires more information about the class, he is urged to call Mrs. Renata Flenniken, president of the class. Her phone number is MO 4-4647 or MO 4-8177.

SANTIAGO, Chile (UP) — A Chilean frigate steamed today to the help of five men who reported their 33-foot bamboo raft breaking up in a storm after drifting six months across the Pacific from Tahiti. But there was some doubt whether it was in trouble.

Radio amateurs in Chile, France and Switzerland picked up the messages from the raft Tahiti Nui Sunday.

The frigate Baquedano put out from Valparaiso Sunday night and Chilean "ham" Luis Desamara reported it had made radio contact with the raft, commanded by French navigator Eric de Bisschop.

Rossellini Reportedly Jilting Ingrid Bergman

PARIS (UP) — Actress Ingrid Bergman, who gave up her home, her family and her career to marry Roberto Rossellini, scoffed today at reports he planned to divorce her and wed the wife of an Indian film director.

"I think the whole thing is made up," she said. "Somebody started this whole thing and now it is blowing up out of all proportions. I think someone is trying to hurt my husband."

Asked if reports were true that Rossellini is living in Bombay with Mrs. Sonali Das Gupta, a beautiful 27-year-old model and mother of two small boys, Miss Bergman said, "I don't think there is much truth to it."

With time-saving cooking gadgets around, many housewives still kill more time with pots and pans. They store them in inconvenient places. The rule of thumb is to store kitchen utensils where they will be used. Hang as many as possible rather than putting them in a drawer.

Attractive Women Get The Plums

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Whatever it is you want most from life will come to you far more readily if you are attractive. It may be a job or a man or both. This doesn't mean that you must be a raving beauty to achieve happiness. As a matter of fact, many great beauties have known very little happiness. It means that careful attention to figure, hair and skin can make you into a lovely person even though you do not possess true beauty at the outset. Any girl who envies other women their good looks is the girl who says she never has time to exercise or diet or brush her hair daily. She does have time to loll about eating candy or watching TV endlessly. She has a lot of time in which to feel vaguely dissatisfied. She won't take the time to do something about her dissatisfaction. And so the rewards go to other women.

The best time for a teen-ager to get after a case of acne is while it's still mild. Don't let it set in; it may become really serious. And getting rid of acne takes discipline, self-control and accuracy. You must keep your skin scrupulously clean. Wash it at least twice a day with mild soap and warm water. Don't use make-up other than a little lipstick. If you must powder your nose, use clean cotton balls for each powdering. Don't touch your face with your hands, ever. And do drink lots of water and get lots of rest. You know that you must avoid rich and fatty foods. Be out in the sun as much as you can. Get plenty of exercise, which will help your circulation. And don't let up on your program for one single day if you hope to see improvement.

Rouge is the part of make-up effect.

Police Capture One More Of Escapees

KANSAS CITY (UP)—Half a dozen police cars surrounded an apartment building today and captured 23-year-old Isaac Sanders, one of five men who escaped from the Jackson county jail Sunday. Sanders, a federal prisoner who had been held on an alcoholic tax violation, was taken in a third floor apartment.

Police rushed to the apartment after receiving word that a woman in a hysterical condition had escaped from the building where she reported that a man was armed.

Sheriff Arvid Owsley identified the two escapees still at large as Le Roy Andrews, 28, a previous trouble-maker who was awaiting transfer to serve a 20-year robbery sentence and Eugene (Indian Joe) Walker, 30, held for burglary, larceny and robbery.

Santa Fe and Electronics

New electronic methods keep constant check on all freight cars moving over Santa Fe rails

New electronic wonders are contributing to precision railroading on the Santa Fe.

Take freight car locating, for instance. With our Red Ball service, we can "put the finger" any time on any one of many thousands of freight cars moving over the 13,150 miles of Santa Fe rails every day.

Information on these cars is recorded on cards which are fed into electronic machines. These "electronic brains" process the cards as fast as 2,000 per minute—and tell us within a few seconds where every car is, what it contains, where it is going.

This information is immediately available for our customers. Shippers of produce may take advantage of any changing market conditions and divert their shipments while en route to other points where markets may be more favorable.

With this advice, consignees know in advance the time of arrival of their shipments. This facilitates their plans for delivery of shipments or scheduling of production.

This method of locating freight cars is only one of the many electronic tools now employed by Santa Fe. Some of the others are microwave, two-way radio, and superonic rail detectors.

Something new in the science of railroading is a daily objective on the Santa Fe—the railroad that's always on the move toward a better way.

Butler was taken to Highland General Hospital where he was treated for lacerations on his face and was released later in the night.

According to investigating highway patrolmen, the accident occurred when McHone slowed in preparation to make a right turn onto Price Road from the Borger highway. The Chevrolet driven by Butler struck the left side of the back bumper of the Mercury and caused the Mercury to turn over.

Butler and a passenger in his car were not injured when the car turned over.

The Super-Adult

All the world is made up of children, adolescents and adults.

Chronologically we have no means of knowing when an individual passes the boundaries of childhood and enters adolescence, nor do we know the precise moment in which an adolescent becomes an adult.

The terms are applied loosely in time, but are otherwise accurate.

The problem seems to relate to the element of time. Some children stop being children at an early age. Some never seem to pass out of childhood altogether. There are, for example, the habitual criminal, the savage, the perpetually immature, who remain childlike however long they live.

We could concede that something is wrong with them. They do not follow the characteristics of maturing grace.

But it can be observed that children, whether they are chronological children or not, must be governed and controlled. The principal characteristic of a child is that he is unable to govern himself. Thus, someone, a parent, a guardian, or if necessary a policeman or a teacher—must govern him. Without such government the child will run wild to the detriment of peace and order.

The adolescent normally is chronologically older than the child. In fact the adolescent is a maturing child who can, if he will, govern himself. And it is a matter of observation that the characteristic of the adolescent, aside from the fact that he can if he chooses govern himself, is that he has a burning passion to govern others. Having been ruled through childhood, the emerging personality wishes to demonstrate his own ability to dominate others.

And similarly to the child, age does not clearly segregate the adolescent. There are some who grow old and die never having passed beyond adolescence. Others seem to pass through the stage with great rapidity. But those who find a permanent home in this stage of their own development are characterized by their occupations and their desires. Endemic of the group are politicians, military men, policemen and labor bosses. When the desire to rule others becomes a dominating compulsion, the person, regardless of age, is in his adolescence.

The rest of mankind is composed of adults. An adult is neither a child nor an adolescent. He has grown in mental and emotional maturity to the place where he neither has to be controlled by others, nor will he desire to control others. He wishes to be let alone. He wants to be free. He wants others to be free.

Pessimistically we might wonder just how many truly adult persons there are on this whirling old globe. But in any case, it is characteristic of the adult that he will rebel if he is treated like a child, and that he will seek to find an adolescent to govern the children in his stead.

It is in this final sentence that the crystallization of our problem appears. For the adult calls upon an adolescent to organize a government for him so that the perpetual children within society, i.e., savages and criminals, can be controlled.

But the adolescent, knowing only small maturity, is rarely content with exerting his influence and power solely upon the children. Behind the mighty facade of government, the adolescent turns about and rules not only the children, but the adults as well. Thus, the adult is caught up in his own device. Not wanting to rule, not wishing to be controlled, he assists in creating a mechanism which is supposed to leave him free while at the same time arresting the chaotic nature of the criminals and savages. Instead, like Frankenstein's monster, the mechanism is never able to delineate its victims. It preys alike on young and old under the guise of protectionism.

It is readily seen, then, that what is needed is the super-adult. The person who simply wishes off his problems on another is not completely mature. The totally developed adult will resist the temptation to hire an adolescent by means of government, so that a mechanism is created which can ultimately destroy him, too.

Fortunately, the discovery and development of super-adults is not at all impossible. All that is needed is an education based on principles and an individual willingness to shoulder each our own responsibilities, whether these responsibilities fall into the world of children, the world of adolescents or the world of adults.

THE NATION'S PRESS

FULL IN YOUR HORNS, DOC (N. Y. Daily News)

We respect Dr. Albert Schweitzer as a philosopher and an expert on Johann Sebastian Bach, and are willing to take—though with a dash of salt—the stories of the wonders he has wrought, as a medical missionary in Lambaré, French Equatorial Africa. But when this 82-year-old gentleman calls on the world at large to stop tests of nuclear weapons, we are not impressed. The good doctor issued such a call in a long-winded epistle broadcast in some 50 lands and six tongues. The letter repeated the stale Communist propaganda about how nuclear fall-out is a fearful danger to the human race. It flouted the assurances of most nuclear scientists that fall-out from test explosions at the current rate is not dangerous at all. And primarily, Schweitzer failed to suggest a way to make sure that Soviet Russia (which has blown at least five bombs thus far this month) would live up to an agreement to stop the tests. Dr. Schweitzer is not a nuclear expert. Hence, his views on nuclear matters are worth no more than any other amateur's. Let us laugh off this Schweitzer manifesto as just another striking proof of the old saying that a shoemaker should stick to his last.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. MOILES
Limits Of Tolerance IV.

Here is the last installment of Dr. F. A. Harper's "Limits of Tolerance" as published in the May issue of "The Freeman" magazine. Under the heading of "Proper Intolerance" he writes:

"Why all this concern about moral codes and human rights? It is because any consideration of intolerance must begin there. Any consideration of controls, from which taxes arise, must begin there. Of what conduct should we be intolerant? The question is entirely one of good and evil, or rights and violations of rights. Not all intolerance is evil, per se. How could intolerance of evil itself be evil?"

"If this analysis of good or evil is sound, so that we can identify human rights and human wrongs, we thereby have a basis for identifying proper social intolerance: Social intolerance is justified against all violations of basic human rights; against violations of the Decalogue and the Golden Rule, as embodied in human rights.

"The greatest intolerance of all should be directed to one's own conduct in violation of this moral code. For in starting as we did by saying that man is free, that he has a moral nature involving choices, that he is responsible for his own conduct, then one's own conduct is surely his first order of business.

"Even at the risk of preaching beyond my ability to practice, I would ask: Is not one's own conduct his sole task? Perhaps one should not waste his time trying to do anything about the misconduct of others until his own attainment in this respect has become lily white. And isn't that a full-time task for us all? Such a rule would change our way of life considerably; and if we were to abide by it the whole problem of taxes would be resolved at once.

"By going through the moral code and listing of rights step by step, anyone can see that taking care of one's own conduct is a challenge to the best of us. Who among us has any license to concern himself at all with the task of controlling or changing the conduct of others, if he must perfect himself first, in order to obtain that license?"

"Defensive Intolerance"
"But perhaps this is too strict a test. Perhaps we have a perfect right to be intolerant of the misconduct of others under certain circumstances. Take, for instance, the murderer or thief who may be attacking you and your property. Surely you have the right to defend yourself, the right to protect and retain that which is yours. That right, I assume, is really a part of the right to life and property in the first place. You have as much right to keep life and property, or to recover property lost to have had them at the outset."

"I see no reason for questioning your right, then, to defend yourself and that which is your own; to recover your property, if you can; to co-operate with any other person or persons in such endeavors, insofar as all participants individually accept the co-operation and the terms of the arrangement, as separate and free persons.

"But at the same time, I would strongly emphasize that no one person has the right to force participation in these endeavors upon another person if it is not freely acceptable to him. A good end does not justify an evil means. Human rights cannot be defended by violating them; morals cannot be upheld by their violation.

"Let me illustrate: You and I may fully agree that a person has a right to life; that it is wrong to kill; that it is proper to restrain acts of murder. Now suppose that I say I am going to Africa to kill a person who is going to kill somebody. I ask your support, but you refuse me. Would I be justified in stealing from you to finance my trip? I think not. It seems to me that you have a perfect right to resist my theft of your property; that in resisting theft you do not become a murderer, in failing to finance my project.

"Such are the limits of justifiable intolerance, as I see it. One may properly be intolerant of all violations of the basic moral code embodied in the Decalogue and the Golden Rule. He must first take care of his own conduct in these respects as a part of protecting himself, his dependents, and his property. He may also co-operate with others to this end, employing his own time and means to do so."

"There can be no question about the ability of PG&E to handle the job. It has a long and successful record in the area that it serves. Moreover, it already has cooperative arrangements, such as it proposes in its Trinity River offer, with Federal Government, cities, irrigation districts and other local agencies. Some of these have been in effect for more than 25 years. Such cooperation has made many water projects possible, reducing both the cost of water and the tax burden. Further, it has created tax revenues for Federal, State and local governments. Still further, it has provided additional sources of electric energy for consumers in Northern and Central California at reasonable, state-regulated rates.

It seems to this columnist that the public power proponents have not one single valid argument as to why Federal Government should generate the electricity of the Trinity River Project. On the other hand, there are many arguments, as outlined above, why all hands will benefit by accepting the Pacific Gas and Electric Co's offer.

On April 17, Representative Hubert B. Scudder (Rep., Calif.) introduced a bill in Congress, H.R. 6997. This bill would authorize the joint development by the Federal Government and the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. of the Trinity River Project—as recommended by Secretary of the Interior, Fred A. Seaton.

Postman Always Rings Twice

The American Way

GEORGE PECK

THE TRINITY RIVER PROJECT
By GEORGE PECK
It's no secret that California needs more water. The Federal Government has taken upon itself a job to help meet the shortage. It is known as the "Trinity River Project." When completed, water will flow out of the mountains of Northern California through huge tunnels to cope with the water needs of those to the South.

As this water drops through these project tunnels, a natural by-product is the production of electricity—and, if properly handled, such production can help to pay for the product, with resultant saving to the sorely-harassed taxpayer.

The Pacific Gas and Electric Co. has made an offer to take on this job, but the public-power zealots are at it again, insisting that Federal Government handle the electricity production. Should the latter prevail, not only will Californians be the losers thereby, but every taxpayer throughout all the other states will experience one more attack on his pocketbook.

If the offer of the PG&E is accepted, there would be an immediate saving to the taxpayers of $56 million, the cost of building the power facilities. In addition, PG&E would pay $145 million in additional taxes, over the project repayment period, on its power facilities and operations—$83 million to the Federal Government and $62 million to State and local governments. Instead of being a tax burden as it would under Federal Government development, under PG&E development, it would be a tax-paying enterprise.

The Secretary of the Interior, after careful study of these two alternatives, has recommended to Congress that it adopt the PG&E offer. Here follows an excerpt from Mr. Fred A. Seaton's report: "I am also conscious of the fact that the basic purpose of the reclamation program is the development of irrigation water supply and the reclamation of land. Electric power is generated as an incident to the basic purposes of the program."

"It seems to me that the development of the Trinity River division under a joint proposal such as that offered here would mean that power would become a better partner of irrigation development in the Central Valley Project than under all-federal construction."

There can be no question about the ability of PG&E to handle the job. It has a long and successful record in the area that it serves. Moreover, it already has cooperative arrangements, such as it proposes in its Trinity River offer, with Federal Government, cities, irrigation districts and other local agencies. Some of these have been in effect for more than 25 years. Such cooperation has made many water projects possible, reducing both the cost of water and the tax burden. Further, it has created tax revenues for Federal, State and local governments. Still further, it has provided additional sources of electric energy for consumers in Northern and Central California at reasonable, state-regulated rates.

It seems to this columnist that the public power proponents have not one single valid argument as to why Federal Government should generate the electricity of the Trinity River Project. On the other hand, there are many arguments, as outlined above, why all hands will benefit by accepting the Pacific Gas and Electric Co's offer.

On April 17, Representative Hubert B. Scudder (Rep., Calif.) introduced a bill in Congress, H.R. 6997. This bill would authorize the Opponents of right-to-work laws (which simply say that a man can join a union if he wants to and can refrain from joining if that is what he wants, and that in either case he can work at his job free from coercion by union official or employer) argue that they are anti-labor, and that those who advocate them are trying to undermine the labor movement.

In this connection, a remark by Sen. Goldwater is apt. He recalled that the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, who was one of the greatest friends of labor ever to occupy the White House, stated his absolute opposition to the requirement that a man must join a union, and characterized it as "a Hitler tactic."

And that is precisely what it is.

Cost Of Living Today Not Much Higher Than Before

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The cost of living is not much higher today than it was before World War II. In view of the time and money-saving devices that have lifted American standards to undreamed-of levels. These gains can be measured in actual dollars and cents, according to government experts on human living. They disagree entirely with the slide-rule economists who warn of a depression that "will curi your hair."

They hope that the House Agriculture Subcommittee, which is headed by Representative Victor L. Anfuso, the Brooklyn farmer, will include these factors in its current investigation of living costs, especially food. Otherwise, they will present only one side of the picture, and that, a dark and distorted canvas.

According to this theory, it is not only the customers' demand for grocery parking lots, trading stamps and luxuriously packaged goods that have boosted all retail prices.

American families are getting more for their money on every product they buy, from vegetable to television sets and automobiles. They actually save money in the long run, when the advantages in human comfort, leisure, health and enjoyment are weighed against their investment in living.

It will require a more authoritative body than a Congressional Committee to study and explore all the implications of the postwar revolution in living costs and standards.

Chairman Anfuso should call as witnesses some of the unknown and minor officials from Agriculture, Commerce, the Public Health Service and the Bureau of Standards, if he wishes to present a true balance sheet of American life today.

However, a few examples will suffice to explain and even to itemize this theory:
An electric icebox, for instance, costs about $100, as against $50 for the old-fashioned wooden thing of long ago. But the operational cost will run about $1 a month instead of $5 to $12 for melting ice.

And there is no comparison between the service rendered — ice cubes versus icebergs. With the modern equipment, however, the housewife can buy prepared foods of all kinds, obtaining them at bargain sales and preserving them in her freezer. She can prepare meals in minutes instead of hours. Instead of a winter diet of root foods — potatoes, turnips, beets, carrots — which will have lost their vitamin content from long storage, a family enjoys the finest and freshest of nutritious vegetables every month in the year.

Both greater leisure and possible longevity, two of life's most valuable assets, result. Other contributions to ease and enrichment of living are all the other seemingly expensive household appliances — electric vacuum cleaners, washing machines, mechanical dishwashers.

Thanks to these gadgets, the United States has become almost a maidless economy. And maids now earn from $30 to $40 a week at Washington for an eight-hour day. Their salary, allowing for other costs, exceeds in a year the investment in all these maid-saving devices. And that is without any allowance for the value of a housewife's time!

Television and radio sets come high for their initial cost, although they last for several years. But the money saved in 12 months on free home viewing of World Series and Bowl Games, the best of actors and actresses, operatic stars, educational and travel films more than balances the expenditure. Broadway has been brought to Main Street.

Automobiles are costly. But the shift to pleasant and healthful suburban living makes them a relatively inexpensive form of transportation. Without them, there could be no eight-hour day or five-day week, or the extended vacation which contribute so much to national utility.

These are only a few of the actual dollars-and-cents benefits of the economic revolution which no mere Congressional inquiry can measure.

The Doctor Says

By EDGAR P. JORDAN, M. D.

Mrs. E. P. and B. J. have recently asked for a discussion of the disorder known as trench mouth or Vincent's infection. Mrs. P. added that for the past four years it has been present in several members of her family.

This is not uncommon and in wartime, for example, many soldiers were crowded together, perhaps in weakened general health, and exposed to severe weather, trench mouth often caused a great deal of difficulty.

This is a rather extraordinary condition since two microbes are almost always found: a cork-screw-like one known at Vincent's spirachete and a germ shaped something like a dumb-bell narrowed at both ends. Which of these, if either, causes trench mouth is still uncertain. It is certain, however, that the disease is contagious and can be spread from one person to another.

WHEN TRENCH mouth starts suddenly, pain is always present. The mouth and tongue burn and excessive salivation is the rule. Sometimes the saliva has a bloody appearance. The breath has a foul odor and there is a metallic taste in the mouth. In children, sore throat, fever, pains in the muscles and joints, difficulty in swallowing and the appearance of severe illness are frequent.

The lining of the mouth in a ulcerate and sometimes a membrane forms which can be convulsed areas around the gums and throat and are inflamed, tender and bleed easily if pressed or scraped.

Erupting teeth, or teeth in poor position, ill-fitting dentures, poor oral hygiene and interference with nutrition of the gums often bring on trench mouth.

CERTAIN VITAMIN deficiencies, particularly of vitamin C and B, chronic malnutrition, some blood diseases and several disturbances of the digestive tract also enter into the picture. Treatment is complicated and generally takes quite a long time.

Labor unions should be required to submit to this principle, like all other American institutions. Cincinnati And White Sox Showing Heels To Rivals

By FRED DOWN
United Press Sports Writer
 The Cincinnati Redlegs and Chicago White Sox don't have much in common but it's an academic point today because they're showing only their heels to their chief pennant rivals.

Both opened two-game leads in the major league races Sunday, the Redlegs outslugging the Pittsburgh Pirates, 8-7 and 5-4, and the White Sox scoring a 6-2 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

Tom Acker gained credit for both Cincinnati wins although he hurled a total of 2 1-3 innings in relief. He came in to retire one batter in the ninth inning of the opener and was returned the winner when George Crowe's fourth hit drove in Johnny Temple with the winning run in the bottom of the frame. In the nightcap, he allowed one unearned run in the last two innings and picked up the victory when Wally Post snapped a 4-4 tie with his eighth-inning homer.

Fischer Paces Chisox
 Bill Fischer won his second game for the White Sox although Paul LaPalme came on to hurl the last two innings. Larry Doby knocked in two runs with a double and a homer.

The New York Giants knocked the Milwaukee Braves two full games off the Redlegs' pace with a 6-3 victory and the Brooklyn Dodgers scored seven runs in the ninth to whip the St. Louis Cardinals, 10-3, in the other National League games. Philadelphia and Chicago were rained out of a double-header.

The Yankees moved into a second-place tie with the Indians when New York ended Cleveland's five-game winning streak, 6-3, and the Detroit Tigers took over fourth place in the American League with a 6-1 triumph over the Washington Senators. The Baltimore Orioles routed the Kansas City A's, 10-2, and then played a 5 1/2-inning scoreless tie ended by rain.

Ray Katt singled with the bases filled in the eighth inning to break a 3-3 tie and enable the Giants' Johnny Antonelli to pick up his third win over his ex-Milwaukee teammates. Willie Mays tripled in the sixth to stretch his hitting streak to nine games.

Jim Gilliam hit two doubles and five other Brooklyn hits and a walk broke open the Dodgers' close game with the Cardinals. Don Newcombe, who hasn't lost to St. Louis in six years, went the distance for the Dodgers to score his third victory. Stan Musial and Wally Moon homered for St. Louis.

Johnny Kucks rescued Bobby Shantz in the ninth as the Yankees took advantage of three Cleveland errors and a wind-blown double that started a rally. Shantz was aided to his third win by Mickey Mantle's seventh home run. Rocky Colavito had three singles and a homer for the Indians.

Duke Maas, who didn't win a game for Detroit last season, scored his sixth straight with a five-hitter that sent the Senators to their fifth loss in a row and their 16th in 19 games. Charley Maxwell led the Tigers' nine-hit attack with three safeties including a homer. Chuck Stobbs lost his eighth straight decision of this year and his 13th in a row dating back to his last triumph in 1926.

Tito Francona walloped two homers and knocked in five runs to spark the Orioles' attack that gained Billy Loes his third win. The nightcap was halted by rain with Hal Brown and Rip Coleman involved in a scoreless duel.

SMASH SPLASH—Things are looking up for pretty Cypress Gardens, Fla., junior water skiers as, with summer coming, the popular water sport gets in full swing throughout country.

Sam Snead's Festival Won By Harrison

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W.Va. (UP)—E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, who has been a professional golfer since 1920, posted "one of the best rounds in my life" in his come-from-behind victory in the Sam Snead Festival tournament.

The towering Harrison came through the final round Sunday with a near-record 62—eight under par—to snatch victory by a two-stroke margin.

Deadlocked for second place at 268 were tournament host Sam Snead and the young man who, up to the final round, had threatened to take it all—Paul Harney of Worcester, Mass.

Ben Hogan, hungering to win this one in preparation for the National Open, just didn't have it on the final round. The 45-year-old Texan, his legs tiring and his back ailing, "just didn't play good" and had to take a 71 for a 269 total. This tied him with Peter Thomson of Melbourne, Australia.

Ballinger Moves Up In S'Western Loop

By UNITED PRESS
 Ballinger was in second place today in the Southwestern League after a night that featured the wildest game of the season in a circuit in which double-figure scores are the rule.

Carlsbad outlasted Midland in 12 frantic innings, 26-22. Ten hurlers walked to the mound and gave up a total of 54 hits. Carlsbad won it with 6 runs in the top of the 12th when Midland could only muster two.

The runs came in bunches. Carlsbad enjoying three six-run innings, Midland a five-run and two four-run innings.

Seven Miscues
 The teams managed to make seven miscues and five homers were poked, the biggest being Roy Niccolai's three-run blast in the 12th for the Potashers.

Ballinger reached second place by pulling El Paso out of that position with a 6-4 victory. Ballinger scored its winning two in the fifth.

Jockey's Priceless Gift Is His Ability To Rate Horse

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (UP)—Horsemen agree that a jockey's most priceless gift is the ability to "rate" a horse so that he won't wear himself out.

The little man with such a talent as said to "have a stopwatch in his head." All the great ones had it—from Tod Sloan on down the picket line—and the racing fraternity holds that this is the main factor in separating the men from the other mites.

This sense of pace is what made Eddie Arcaro the greatest stakes rider of all time. Of that there can be no question. Arcaro led the stakes-winning jockeys for 10 years. For six straight years, from 1920 through 1925, he scored more stakes triumphs than any other little man in silk.

The major reason, they'll tell you around horse highway, was because of his ability to "rate" a horse.

So Saturday, at old Pimlico, Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons watched Eddie was boosted aboard

Ruler for the Preakness. Then the veteran trainer told him: "Just let him go, Eddie, don't try to rate him."
 He might have added: "Just be sure you don't fall off."
 Because with Eddie sitting up there as if he was in a rocking chair, Bold Ruler took the bit in three-sixteenths race all by himself. The colt led from gate to wire and Eddie just held the reins and fetched him a few whacks now and then to keep his mind on his business as Bold Ruler took the run for the black-eyed susans by a fat two lengths.

"It proves that I lost the Kentucky Derby by trying to rate him," Eddie admitted after it was over. "The colt has a tender mouth. When I tried to hold him in at Churchill Downs I hurt him and he simply lost interest and wouldn't run."
 Horsemen agree that the ability to "rate" a horse makes a great jockey. But with the likes of Bold Ruler, Arcaro feels like a motor-man on an escalator.

Twenty-Four Places Open For 500 Run

INDIANAPOLIS (UP)—Twenty-four positions remained open today for the annual 500-mile Speedway auto race, promising a hectic final two days of qualifications next week end.

Intermittent showers washed out Sunday's time trials, and about four hours of qualifying time was lost by rain Saturday, when only nine drivers managed to complete their four-lap 10-mile tests.

Fastest of the qualifiers was handsome Pat O'Connor, North Vernon, Ind., who roared around the "brickyard" at an average speed of 143.5 m.p.h. to nail down the coveted pole spot in the Memorial Day classic.

Rookie Eddie Sachs, Allentown, Pa., an alternate in last year's "500," was the second fastest qualifier at 143.822. The others, in order of their speeds, were: Troy Ruttman, Lynnwood, Calif., "500" champion in 1922, 142.772; Fred Agabashian, Walnut Creek, Calif., 142.102; Jimmy Reese of Indianapolis, 142.006; Ed Ellsian, Oakland, Calif., 141.777; Al Keller, Greencastle, Fla., 141.398; and Elmer George, of Indianapolis, 140.729.

Five Injured In Stock Car Crash

MARTINSVILLE, Va. (UP)—Five persons were injured, one critically, when a stock car crashed over a concrete retaining wall and into a group of spectators during the second annual "Virginia 500" Sunday at the Martinsville Speedway.

Alvin Heilsbeck, 30, of Germantown, N.C., suffered a fractured skull when he was struck by a piece of concrete knocked from the retaining wall by a car driven by Bill Myers of Germantown.

The other victims were treated for minor injuries. Track officials said they had been "in a section where they had no business."

She just went in for a check-up. She is tired and is going to rest for a few days."

CLINTON, Tenn.—High school principal D. J. Brittain Jr., on the request for police guards when the first Negro student graduates from Clinton High tonight: "It just takes one crackpot to cause trouble."

NEW YORK — Budget Director Percival F. Brundage on President Eisenhower's record peacetime budget of nearly 72 billion dollars: "It is wide of the mark to conclude that this budget was 'irresponsible' or had been carelessly prepared."

Do it with ceramic tile installed by the Holland Tile Co., 513 Doucette, MO 9-9222.

Imported and American With the Holland Tile Co. select your tiles from American products or imported Italian Quarry Tiles with their high glaze; or imported English and Spanish Tiles in their modeled, marble-like glazes.

Culberson Chevrolet To Tune Your Car For Happy Motoring

TIRES TRUED AND BALANCED BEFORE VACATION—Johnny Wheelchel trues this tire on the modern Elam True Buff Tire Machine at Culberson Chevrolet, 212 N. Ballard, MO 4-4666. Next Wheelchel will balance the wheel on the Hunter Wheel Balancer to give the motorist a perfectly rounded tire and perfectly balanced wheel for smooth riding. You will pack more motoring fun in your vacation by having Culberson's true and balance your tires. This truing and balancing team adds miles of life to your tires, reduces vibration and resulting front end wear, and cuts driver fatigue. Come to Culberson's for this service today.

You get that w-car zip, zing and purr when Culberson's tunes up your automobile for summer driving.

Culberson's is the complete automobile and truck service center at 212 N. Ballard, MO 4-4666.

Men, Tools, Equipment There you have skilled, experienced mechanics, the use of the parts and tools recommended by automobile manufacturers, the use of all the latest, most efficient equipment to make precision adjustments on all moving parts and to cut down the amount of time to do the tune-up.

With the higher compression ratios, improved electrical systems and other advances in automotive engines and designs, today's engines have become more sensitive to usage and operative conditions. All these factors have a decided effect on power and performance.

Because the modern engine is so sensitive to adjustment, a means has been devised to put back into the engine the standard of performance and economy of which it is capable.

It seldom is advisable to attempt an engine improvement by correcting only one or two items. You normally will save time and will achieve lasting results by having Culberson's Service Department make ALL adjustments affecting power, performance and economy.

Culberson Checks, Experience Culberson's makes the visual and mechanical checks and adjustments using all the latest Sun equipment.

Culberson's mechanics — with about a century of experience here — are ready to use their skill, genuine parts for your make and model of car, and Culberson's most modern equipment to put the out-time hum in your car. They include: Archie Bullard, James Schaub, Joe Cook, Henry Kolb, Bill Oler, Keith Russell, Hank Roberson, Floyd Pysatt, mechanics; Perry Franklin, an experienced mechanic and service manager; and Jack Scott, a service salesman.

Culberson's front end man, Johnny Wheelchel, has earned his reputation as one of the best front end men in the Southwest. In body work Rusty Golden and Jim Seegid are two of the most skilled men.

Latest Equipment, Training These men use the latest labor saving machines like the Sun Distributor, Generator and Motor Testing Machine, the Bear Frame Straightening Machine, the Hunter Wheel Balancer, the Merrill Electronic Balancer, the Elam True Buff Tire Truer; and special tools recommended by automobile manufacturers to speed work on automobiles.

Another Culberson policy that assures better automotive service is the continuing training plan. Mechanics here participate in the General Motors training courses conducted in 30 training centers throughout the country. The centers are staffed by expert teachers and supplied with the newest tools and training aids to provide the most competent instruction in auto maintenance and repairs.

The training center in Oklahoma City provides Culberson's mechanics with all the new methods of maintenance and repairs.

Recently Johnny Wheelchel, front end man, studied at this course to make sure of the latest methods and aids in front end work.

Let Culberson's service your car, and while it is here let Culberson's lubrication man, David Meek lubricate your car, and let Alvis Sanders polish or porcelainize it.

Watch all of the Culberson men work on your car. Then you will realize the importance of Culberson's maxims: "The good job we do for our customers is fundamental to all the progress we have ever made or can ever hope to make."

Drive in today: 212 N. Ballard, MO 4-4666. Be sure of your car and be safe in it.

Art Carney Placing Sewer In Mothballs

By ALINE MOSBY United Press Hollywood Writer

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Now that the cast of the Jackie Gleason show is scattering, Art Carney plans to put his sewer-cleaning stooge character in mothballs and become a star himself.

Since 1950, Carney has been playing second fiddle, and a hilarious one, to the rotund Jackie on his weekly CBS-TV show. The program folds next month, leaving Carney minus his Department of Sanitation job.

He figures that, having collected three Emmys on the program, it's time for the fellow who's long been a comedians' stooge to start being a "top banana" himself.

Dr. Cavert said a main purpose of the meeting is to determine "how much consensus of doctrine we actually have on which to build a united church."

Starring in dramatic shows and a spectacular, "Charley's Aunt," this past season has spurred him to standing alone more often — possibly on a monthly show of his own.

Carney already has branched out to singing and dancing, which he'll demonstrate as a guest on tonight's "Dinah Shore Show" on NBC. But he'll have competition from Boris Karloff who'll drop horror for herp and do a rock 'n' roll step.

Carney also is mulling over several movie offers, although he'd rather do a Broadway show "if the right script comes along."

"Whatever I do, I won't play the Ed Norton character from the Gleason show. That would be a big mistake. That character belongs on that show only. I hope to work with Gleason occasionally next season. I like working with comical Morgan, Bert Lahr and Morey Amsterdam."

Carney is not particularly interested in stage roles in series at this stage of the game. "It is the way the modest, and somewhat shy Carney puts it."

"However," adds the comic who always has had the protection of working with other comedians, "I'm not particularly interested in stage roles in series at this stage of the game. It is the way the modest, and somewhat shy Carney puts it."

VIENNA, May 18 (UP)—Europe's first automatic "book-store" has been put into operation.

A large vending machine, offering a choice of 20 works, has been installed at one of Vienna's intersections. Through a press-button system, a reader can get literature ranging from Goethe to Agatha Christie, with the selection changed at regular intervals.

Churches Predicted To Move To Heal Divisions Of Christendom

By LOUIS CASSELS United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—Two pioneers of the Protestant ecumenical movement predict that American churches will take historic steps soon to heal the divisions of Christendom.

They predict groundwork will be laid at a 48-denomination meeting at Oberlin College, Ohio, Sept. 3-10.

Dr. Samuel McCrea Cavert and the Rt. Rev. Angus Dun said in separate interviews that the "North American Faith and Order Conference" at Oberlin will rank as one of the most important meetings ever held in the long, slow effort toward Christian unity.

Dr. Cavert is U.S. executive secretary of the World Council of Churches. The Rev. Mr. Dun is Protestant Episcopal bishop of Washington. Both are wheelhorses in the reunion movement which churchmen call "ecumenism" (from the Greek word for "drawing together.")

At Oberlin, 400 representatives of major U.S. and Canadian church bodies will talk over the specific differences in doctrine, ecclesiastical organization and policy which keep Protestants divided into a multiplicity of denominations.

The Rev. Mr. Dun, who is chairman of the committee on arrangements for the conference, said no one expects the Oberlin discussions to result in an immediate wave of denominational mergers. But he is confident that the meeting will lead to "profound progress in mutual understanding, friendship and respect" and thereby lay the groundwork for later attempts to work out actual schemes of reunion.

Dr. Cavert said a main purpose of the meeting is to determine "how much consensus of doctrine we actually have on which to build a united church."

Starring in dramatic shows and a spectacular, "Charley's Aunt," this past season has spurred him to standing alone more often — possibly on a monthly show of his own.
