Rebels And Yankees Agree On Celebration

WASHINGTON (UP)—A couple of long-dead generals named Jeb Stuart and Phil Sheridan must be rattling around their graves.

A bunch of Yankees and Confederates in Congress have amicably agreed to hold a four-year celebration commemorating the 100th anniversary of the battles of the Civil War—bloody battle by bloody battle.

Only a week ago the North and South were snuffing at each other again. This time it was over the merits of Gen. Robert E. Lee and George Meade, the Confederate and Union commanders at the battle of Gettysburg.

President Eisenhower and British Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery had agreed that both Lee and Meade should have been sacked. The Rebel yell could be heard from Bull Run to Vicksburg.

But when a House Judiciary Subcommittee Monday held a hearing on proposals to create a commission to plan a nationwide centennial celebration of the great war's anniversary not a Rebel yell was heard.

However, there was one bit of disagreement: Who is going to pay the bill and how much?

The Confederate government obviously is in no position to pick up the check. That left the Union.

Tornado In Kansas Kills 35

Daniel Receives Check For Aid

AUSTIN (UP)—A check for one million dollars, representing a portion of federal funds being spent in Texas on flood and tornado relief was received Monday by Gov. Price Daniel.

The federal funds will be placed in the state treasury with payments to be made to communities on the basis of applications approved by federal state disaster survey teams.

CRUSADE FOR CHRIST—The candid camera catches Evangelist Billy Graham in three typical poses as he exhorts his listeners to come forward and "give their lives to Christ." Graham, internationally known revivalist from North Carolina, has been drawing near-capacity crowds to his New York crusade in Madison Square Garden. Biggest religious revival in the nation's history, the crusade will run for six weeks.

Kansas City Area Hit 230 Injured By Storm;

By WARD COLWELL
United Press Staff Correspondent

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UP)—A savage tornado, the worst of the year, roared out of Kansas and into two suburban Kansas City subdivisions Monday night, spreading death and destruction.

The twister left at least 35 dead, many of them still unidentified today, and 230 injured.

Martial law was declared and soldiers patrolled the ravaged areas, looking for more bodies. Police said that with the great amount of destruction, there could be "many more" bodies still in the wreckage.

The tornado cut a 75-mile swath across Kansas, killing six in that state, before it hopped over the state line and boiled into Hickman Hills and Ruskin Heights, two adjoining subdivisions just south and east of Kansas City.

The death toll in those areas was 28. Another man died at Martin City, a small town south and west of Kansas City on the Kansas border.

New Weather Warnings
Heavy equipment moved in today to clear the wreckage of an almost new shopping center, high school and church that were demolished at Ruskin Heights.

Meantime, the weather bureau issued new warnings of possible tornadoes for extreme southeast Missouri and northeastern Arkansas.

The tornado was by far the worst of many that have plagued the Midwest and Southwest this year. A tornado that ripped Dallas, Tex., on April 2 killed 10 and caused considerably less property damage. Another tornado killed 19 persons last Wednesday at Silverton, Texas.

United Press photographer Jerry McNeill of Dallas, who witnessed the tornado there and flew here Monday night to photograph the one here, said the Dallas tornado "was merely a baby compared to this."

"The Dallas tornado skipped through a sparsely populated area," McNeill said. "This one was more thorough. And while the path was only five miles long, this tornado caused much more destruction."

500 Homes Destroyed
Police and Red Cross officials estimated 500 homes destroyed. Families were separated and efforts were being made to set up an emergency clearance headquarters to find the missing—and to unite families.

Fears that many persons were trapped when the brick Presbyterian church collapsed were dispelled by Harry Brenner, an elder of the church, who said a group of about 60 persons huddled in the basement—and were saved when the floor kept the falling bricks from crushing them.

The twister rumbled into Ruskin Heights at a time when many suburbanites were shopping.

Children darted frantically through the rubble to search for relatives while the dust was still hanging over the area. Rescue workers were hampered by sightseers who rushed to the scene.

Formed At Ottawa
The tornado formed at Ottawa, where Mr. and Mrs. James Marsh were killed when the twister crushed their farm home. It also destroyed a drive-in theater, a motel and a cafe at Ottawa.

But committee members conceded that half the cost represented book-keeping or paper savings. They said it is questionable whether any big part of the slash will show up in enforced spending cuts in the new fiscal year starting July 1.

In a report to the House prepared by Rep. George H. Mahon (D-Tex.), the committee nevertheless made plain that it expects the military to put into effect on its own substantial economies in the President's $38 billion dollar defense plans.

Danger Lessened
The committee said the "nature and extent" of the military threat against the United States and its allies "appears in certain respects to have somewhat abated." (See HOUSE, Page 3)

Dam Breaks; 2,000 Persons Are Evacuated

STILLWATER, Okla. (UP)—Torrential rains of eight inches and a broken dam drove 2,000 persons from their homes in Stillwater Monday night and early today, and the weather bureau warned a new flood may strike the Tulsa area, where some 6,000 residents had just returned to their homes.

Stillwater residents, heeding the call of wailing sirens, scrambled out of bed at 1 a.m. when the dam at Sanborn Lake crumbled, sending a wall of water pouring through hundreds of homes in the north and northwest residential sections.

There were no known casualties in the early morning, and by 5:30 a.m. a Stillwater radio announcer described the situation as being "pretty well under control."

The new floods hit as thousands of residents were digging out from high waters of the past few days.

New Flood Crest
In the Tulsa area, where 6,000 persons were evacuated over the past weekend, the weather bureau issued a tentative forecast that a new flood crest would strike on the Arkansas River tonight or Wednesday.

The State Highway Department said the Cimarron River was rising a half foot an hour this morning at Perkins, upstream from where it pours into the Arkansas.

Weathermen said rains of nearly eight inches at Stillwater, six inches at Guthrie, five inches at Warrameno, and four inches at Cleveland, all of which feed the Cimarron and Arkansas rivers, were expected to push the Arkansas to at least 22 feet in Tulsa.

This would be three feet above flood stage, and nearly two feet above Sunday's level. The worst flood in history hit 22.8 feet in June, 1923.

25-Million Damage
The new floods formed in the wake of storms of the past few days that had already caused 25-million dollars damage and claimed nine lives in what was officially described as Oklahoma's greatest disaster.

A City of 30,000
At Stillwater, police credited private citizens, radio station KSPI and Civil defense agencies with aiding to prevent loss of life.

Citizens drove through the city honking auto horns, and fire trucks and police cars raced up and down the streets sounding their sirens to wake the sleeping city.

The storm warning siren on the city hall was sounded, and the radio station remained on the air all night.

The water was receding this morning, and residents were returning to their homes.

Water In Building
It was reported that more than four inches of water was standing in the basement of a two and one-half million dollar student union building at Oklahoma State University, formerly Oklahoma A&M College. The College is located in the northwest part of town.

New Push To Tax Cut Drive Seen

Tax Revenue To Surpass Eisenhower's Anticipations

By VINCENT J. BURKE
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—Congressional tax experts have secretly concluded that the government will collect more tax revenue in the fiscal year starting July 1 than President Eisenhower anticipated.

Their report—expected to be published later today—is likely to give a new push to congressional drives for an early tax cut.

But there was no advance indication of whether the report would forecast a bigger federal surplus than the $1,800,000,000 envisioned in the President's budget message last January.

And the amount of the surplus is the crucial point in determining whether a tax cut is possible.

More Spending Rumored
Rumors circulated in Capitol Hill that the report might predict that federal spending will exceed the $71,800,000,000 estimated in the budget despite congressional efforts to cut it.

The report was prepared by the staff of the Joint Congressional Committee on Internal Revenue after its annual spring review of the estimates contained in the President's budget message of the money the government will take in and the amount it will spend in the next fiscal year.

The committee staff's estimates of both revenue and spending have turned out to be more accurate in the last two years than the administration's original forecasts. Of course, the committee staff has the advantage of preparing its estimates more than four months after the original budget reaches Congress.

The President's budget message forecasts total revenues of $73,800,000,000 in the fiscal year starting July 1.

However, this assumed that present corporation income taxes and certain excise tax rates would decline to lower levels next April 1.

Open Bids On Trucks

Following the canvassing of votes this morning in last Tuesday's special runoff election in Ward 4, Robert D. Olson was sworn in by the city secretary as Commissioner of Ward 4.

With the completion of the new commission, work on items scheduled for this morning was undertaken by the City Commission.

Bids for the purchase of new trucks by the city were opened at 10 a.m. Only four firms entered bids on the seven pickups and four trucks and the contract for the supplying of the new trucks went to Culbertson Chevrolet Company who was the low bidder on each of the new trucks. The other firms entering bids were Hogue-Mills Equipment Company, Rex Rose Ford Company and Pursley Motor Company.

The authorization for the city secretary to pay the election officials for holding the special election last Tuesday was approved by the commission.

The date for the opening of bids for the purchase of a new street sweeper was set at 10 a.m. June 11. The new sweeper will be added to the present equipment and will be used to sweep the increased number of streets in Pampa.

The authorization for the purchase of an option on water rights to 3 1/2 sections of land located nine miles south of town was also approved. The city will pay Imel Urbanczyk a total of $50 for the option and the right to drill test holes on the land within the next 90 days. The commission also authorized the city secretary to advertise for bids for the drilling of the test holes on the land. The bids will be opened at 10 a.m. on June 18.

In other action the commission also approved the payment of the remainder of the amount owed Loyse Caldwell for right-of-way on Hobart Street. The city had previously paid him $5,800 of the $20,000 purchase price of the right-of-way and by paying the remainder the city saved a total of $852 on the total amount of the purchase price.

Mayor Lynn Boyd informed the commissioners that the commission was invited to a dinner at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the coffee room at the Court House. The dinner is representatives of the Federal Government in regards to what arrangements can be made in regards to Lake McClellan.

No report was made by the insurance committee this morning in regards to insurance on city owned buildings and vehicles. The committee reported that the final report should be ready by next Tuesday.

The third and final reading of Ordinance 473 was approved today. This ordinance will allow the placing of temporary wooden

Billy Graham Warns Man Needs Christ

NEW YORK (UP)—Revivalist Billy Graham Monday night depicted modern Americans as slaves to "materialism, worldliness, greed and lust" and the United States as a "nation of moral cripples."

"We don't live by the Golden Rule, the Ten Commandments and the Sermon on the Mount," Graham said, "and as a result we have no moral strength, we are helpless."

Like a stern, modern Moses, Graham warned an audience of 16,000 in Madison Square Garden that man is destined for doom and destruction unless he is "willing to receive Jesus Christ and let him make man whole again."

Following Graham's sixth sermon in his New York Crusade, an estimated 370 of his listeners came forward to make "decisions for Christ." So far, nearly 4,000 persons have made decisions and 100,000 have attended Graham's Madison Square Garden sermons.

Beginning June 1, Graham's Saturday night sermons in the Garden will be televised nationally in competition with Perry Como and Jackie Gleason on other channels.

Warning Siren Is Ordered For Pampa

A siren for the purpose of warning residents of Pampa of tornadoes or other disasters approaching the city has been ordered.

Sheriff Rufe Jordan, coordinator of Civil Defense in Gray County, reported this morning that a 7 1/2 horsepower Thunderbolt rotating siren was purchased yesterday from the George F. Calk Company in California.

The siren should be heard from five to seven miles in all directions, Jordan stated. Plans at the present time call for the siren to be installed by next Monday. Jordan reported that he hoped that the siren could be installed on the water tank near the fire station.

The siren will be used to warn residents of impending danger and the control box will be installed in either the fire station or police station, Jordan reported. He stated that the control box would be kept locked and only authorized personnel would have access to the key. The alarm will only be used when there is a danger to Pampa, he stated.

The siren is being purchased by the city and county with the help of the Civil Defense organization. The approximate cost of the rotating siren will be $620 with the Civil Defense paying 50 per cent of the cost. The city and county are paying the remainder of the cost on an equal basis.

Jordan stated, "I wish to thank the officials of the city and county for their interest in this matter and for making possible the purchase of the warning siren."

Jordan reported that the "All Alert" signal would be a continuous blast of the siren for three minutes. He urged all residents of Pampa, upon hearing the alert, to turn on their radios to the two local radio stations and listen to the

Meeting On Civil Defense Is Called

A meeting for the purpose of discussing Civil Defense will be held at 7:30 p.m. next Tuesday in the District Courtroom, located on the third floor of the Court House.

The meeting has been called by Sheriff Rufe Jordan, coordinator of Civil Defense in Gray County, for the purpose of discussing Civil Defense work in Gray County. The meeting will also take up the matter of what to do in the event of a disaster resulting from tornadoes or other storms.

Jordan stressed the fact that all citizens of Gray County are urged to attend the meeting and to present their views as to what should be done in Gray County in the way of Civil Defense.

He also reported that several firms and other organizations have

Progress On Rebuilding Of Roads, Bridges

County Commissioners reported progress today on the road clearing and rebuilding of bridges which were washed out or damaged in the recent heavy rains and floods which struck many areas in Gray County.

The commissioners, who are working together in the clearance, reported that roads and bridges in Gray County were being made passable and that the work should be completed within a very short time.

Much of the work involved is the filling in of approaches to bridges and the removal of trees and other debris which have piled up against those bridges which have not been washed out.

At least 34 bridges were reported as having been damaged within the county with the bulk of them in the McLean area. Oscar Tibbetts, commissioner from McLean, reported that he had 20 bridges washed out while Arlie Carpenter, commissioner from Lefors, reported that he had at least 12 and possibly more out. Two bridges were reported washed out by Commissioner Jim McCracken of Grandview while Nat Lundsford, commissioner of precinct 2 in Pampa, reported no bridges out.

Lundsford is, however, assisting the other commissioners in the various precincts with road grading and other equipment.

What To Do About Baldness

1. See a good M.D. (with no hair himself if possible).
2. Get "off the tonics bottle" except for hair grooming.
3. Stop looking at the comb! Condition yourself for future baldness. Toughen your morale.
4. Don't get an inferiority complex... quit admiring hair of your friends.
5. Find if your troubles are curable such as from poor washings, bad diet, disease or old-fashioned city nerves.
6. Keep hot off at all times. Hold in hands. No sense shaking friends when you take it off. That jars your morale.
7. Realize that "Curly" and "Baldy" are terms of endearment by friends and family. Your enemies have other words they call you.
8. Remember the only purpose of long hair is to pull you out of the water when drowning!
9. Lastly, read up on famous lovers. Nearly all were bald! Tell that to your wife or girl friends! Love is more valuable than hair!

Ike In TV Address Tonight To Boost His Aid Program

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower today asked Congress to appropriate $3,885,000,000 for foreign aid. He warned that any substantial reduction in his request in view of present world conditions would be "foolhardy."

The chief executive's request was about $35 million dollars less than he estimated in his January budget message which was needed for the program.

He said the saving was possible because of a reduction in spare parts requirements for military aid, based on experience in actual use of equipment overseas.

The President will take his case for foreign aid to the people tonight in a radio-TV speech. Congress has been aiming at foreign aid as a place to make sizeable cuts in the overall budget.

Eisenhower, recognizing the current economy drive in Congress, said that "all of us" are attempting to cut the cost of government and reduce taxes "when possible without injury to our country."

Clean-Up Week, Work Progresses

Forty-seven loads of trash were reported as having been picked up in connection with "Clean-up Week, Fix-up Week" here, according to officials of the city engineers office as the long put-off campaign got into its second week.

Pick-ups started in Ward 4, turned to Ward 3 and on to Ward 2 where pick-ups are being conducted at this time. Pick-ups will continue in Ward 2 today and tomorrow will move to Ward 1 Thursday.

Following pick-ups in Ward 1 the trucks will return to Ward 4 where work was not completed due to bad weather conditions.

House Whacks Budget

By FRANK ELEAZER

WASHINGTON (UP)—The House Appropriations Committee cut a whopping $2,586,775,000 off President Eisenhower's request for new defense funds today and called for a general belt-tightening in the military.

But committee members conceded that half the cost represented book-keeping or paper savings. They said it is questionable whether any big part of the slash will show up in enforced spending cuts in the new fiscal year starting July 1.

Sizzling New Bald Boy Stories Have A Laugh-Packed Message For the Balding

Not long ago, Elmer Wheeler started losing his hair. This event was not new to the world but his Bald Boy stories about his experiences are. Starting Wednesday The Pampa Daily News will bring you each fun-filled, hair-by-hair account of Elmer's battle with baldness. These 18 chapters are exclusive before book publication.

The Bald Boy offers a refreshing outlook on a subject familiar to all readers. True, baldness is quite a problem for some people and far from funny. But to Elmer it becomes a calamity, a thing of monstrous proportions. Elmer resolves, "If Hillary can conquer Everest, a guy by the name of Wheeler can conquer baldness."

But before Elmer has this good fortune, he goes through the tonic stage, the barber cure and the hair clinic stage. Finally he goes to the family doctor. Here he gets the medical low-down on "the only thing guaranteed to stop falling hair," the floor, and "the only thing guaranteed to keep it on the head," glue!

There is a serious side to The Bald Boy, too! In a recent personal interview Elmer said, "I want to educate men who are approaching baldness and those already bald to keep their hats off in public. They should let the ladies admire those beautiful shining domes. I want to remind them that Caesar was bald and so is Yul Brynner."

In this hair-raising story you will read about the effects of disease on hair, vitamins, minerals and a lot of popular misconceptions. Did you know that the hair grows about a half inch a month and is alive only a short kind of confidence that can only come from feeling comfortable in front of a camera.

Small Town Work
For youngsters who want to crack TV, Betty advises at least a couple of years' work in a small town radio or TV station or in a community theatre.

Once in New York, get a telephone exchange to take your messages," she said. "It's a necessity. Then get a list of producers and directors and start phoning. You will only get one response out of five or 10, but it's something you have to do."

"If you do an audition, do a monologue. And don't do something that's been done recently on Broadway. You may suffer by comparison. Another thing—no matter how small a part you're offered, take it."

distance from its actual root? Moreover, did you know that contrary to popular belief, the cutting of a person's hair does not have any effect on its rapid growth, such as when you cut the lawn?

You'll also learn in The Bald Boy, about such curable causes of falling hair as disturbed glands, emotional disorders and just plain "worry." Elmer also claims, "I can't tell a bald-headed man how to grow a new crop of hair but I can make him proud of being bald."

The statistics of baldness are huge! It is estimated that some 15,000,000 men are overweight, while 60,000,000 men (and their wives) are worried about their hair. Should the practice of hair tinting become popular among men—and some say this is the trend—what will the baldies do with nothing to tint?

These are just a few of the problems confronting the bald boys of the nation. So brace yourself for the best in baldness. You won't want to miss the next 18 chapters of The Bald Boy beginning Wednesday in The Pampa Daily News.

He cited the increased mail volume in support of his plea for the full budget appropriation and for a postal rate increase to wipe out part of the annual deficit in carrying the mail.

"The more business we do—or, saying it another way, the more service we furnish to the American people—the more money we lose and the greater the deficit incur for the taxpayers," Summerfield said.

"And yet our deficits are really the result of national gains in personal income and prosperity. The nation is better able than ever to pay its postage bills and postage rates should be adjusted before the 1958 fiscal year—when we are faced with this huge increase in volume."

Summerfield, who waged an unsuccessful fight to have the funds restored, warned at the time that

Washington, May 21 (UP)—Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield, renewing his budget battle with Congress, estimated Monday the nation's mail volume will rise four per cent next year to an all-time high of 61,100,000,000 pieces.

He said this would require his department to deliver 1,400,000,000 more pieces of mail than it expected when President Eisenhower submitted his postal estimates to Congress last January.

Both the House and Senate have passed bills cutting the $3,250,000,000 postal budget for fiscal 1958 by 58 million dollars. The measures are now awaiting action by a conference committee.

Ochiltree County To Build New Jail

PERRYTON — In a meeting of the Ochiltree County Commissioners, May 13, they voted to go ahead with plans for construction of the new jail and law enforcement building to be financed with time warrants. A bid was also accepted Monday from the Columbia Securities Company of Dallas for these time warrants at an interest rate of 3.45 per cent. By financing the building with time warrants, it will not be necessary to vote a bond issue to finance the new jail.

William A. Townes, architect of Amarillo, estimated that it will cost $160,000 to construct a building in accordance with the plan being considered by the commissioners. The commissioners studied Townes' plans at a special meeting Tuesday night.

As the plans now stand, the jail will have offices and living quarters for the sheriff or jailer, offices for the highway patrol, radio room, kitchen, cell space for 32 prisoners including a section for lady prisoners, a juvenile detention cell, lobby and visiting rooms. The new jail is to be located on the southeast corner of the courthouse block, at the corner of South Ash and 6th Avenue, facing south. The building is to be a one-story building, in modern architecture design.

Advice To Women Automobile Drivers

By ALFRED LEECH
United Press Staff Correspondent
CHICAGO (UP) — A group of professional lady drivers came forth today with this advice to some of their less proficient sisters of the steering wheel:

"Keep your eyes open and your mouths shut."
The National Safety Council concurred, but had some nice things to say about women, too.
All nine of the women drivers queried on safety tips for womanhood competed in this year's Mobilgas economy run.

Driver Myra Buchanan allowed as how there are three things that "drive me crazy" about female drivers. She listed them as:
Her Pet Hates
Window shopping while driving.

Talking needlessly, looking at each other.
Putting on makeup behind the wheel.
Patricia Jones, a stunt driver for an auto thrill show, said streets and highways are no place for daredevils.

These sentiments were concurred in by the other economy run competitors — Mrs. Mildred Alsbury, Lorraine Bell, Mrs. Marilyn Miller, Ina Mae Overman, Marian Pagan, Mary Davis and Betty Skelton.

From their comments it would seem that women can be their own severest critics.
Men Turned Worse
But Paul Jones, director of public information for the National Safety Council, said men are greater highway hazards. He added, however, that women "can be a little uncertain in traffic."

"It may be true," Jones said, "that when a woman sticks her hand out the car window it means only one thing—that the window is open."
"She may be pointing at a hat in a shop window, waving at a girl friend or drying her fingernail polish instead of giving a stop or turn signal."
"But nine times out of 10 when you see a car jackrabbiting down the street, weaving in and out of traffic, burning up the highway or cutting fancy capers, the driver is a man."

Some Advice To Aspiring TV Actresses

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—Betty Furness, who has spent eight heady years opening doors on TV, hands out this advice to aspiring youngsters who want to open doors into TV:

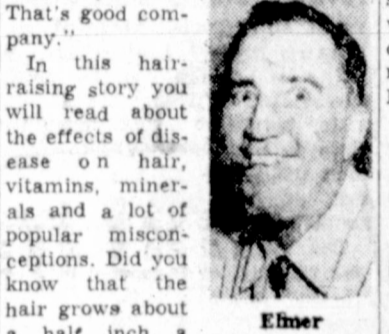

"Be prepared for the most heart-breaking, back-breaking, soul-shattering experience in the world when you start looking for that first job. And put this in capital letters—don't come to New York unless you have experience."

"People always say they're looking for new faces. They're not. They're looking for old faces. TV doesn't have time to experiment with anybody who doesn't know the business. They don't have time to tell anyone how to act or where to find the camera. They can't afford mistakes."

Eighth Anniversary
Betty, the first pitchlady of TV, may be the only star who achieved success by putting all her bananas in the refrigerator. This month she marks her eighth anniversary as spiceler of appliances on CBS-TV's "Studio One."

"Most of the letters I get," said Betty as she curled one purple-streaked leg over the other, "are from people who want my job. But I don't think there's any field in this business where you need more experience than in delivering commercials."

"It's the toughest job in the business because you're alone, absolutely alone. There's no one to prompt you or help you or cover you if you fluff. It takes a certain

Summerfield, Congress Renew Battle

WASHINGTON, May 21 (UP)—Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield, renewing his budget battle with Congress, estimated Monday the nation's mail volume will rise four per cent next year to an all-time high of 61,100,000,000 pieces.

He said this would require his department to deliver 1,400,000,000 more pieces of mail than it expected when President Eisenhower submitted his postal estimates to Congress last January.

Both the House and Senate have passed bills cutting the $3,250,000,000 postal budget for fiscal 1958 by 58 million dollars. The measures are now awaiting action by a conference committee.

Summerfield, who waged an unsuccessful fight to have the funds restored, warned at the time that

State Senate OKs Conservation Bill

By O. B. LOYD JR.
United Press Staff Correspondent
AUSTIN (UP)—The Senate today unanimously approved 200 million dollar legislation keeping a state-wide water conservation program.

The 39-0 vote came on adoption of a conference committee report previously approved by the House.

The multi-million dollar proposal calls for a constitutional amendment that will be submitted to the voters at an election next Nov. 5.

If approved, the 200 million fund would be apportioned in long-term, low-interest rate loans to aid local governments in financing water conservation and flood control projects.

Lock Supports It

The measure was sponsored in the upper chamber by Sen. George Parkhouse, of Dallas, and in the House by Rep. LeRoy Saul of Kress.

Concurrence in the conference from Sen. Otis Lock of Lufkin, committee report drew support who staged a miniature filibuster Monday to stall action on a second water conservation plan—one creating a 100 million dollar fund to purchase conservation storage space in federal reservoirs.

Lock has lambasted that proposal as being uneconomical, and charged it will impose both a state and federal bureaucracy on local water authorities.

However, he said the 200 million dollar loan program embraces the "principle of loaning money to local agencies for financing self-liquidating projects." That idea, he said, was "sound."

Lock, by talking two hours and at least a 12-hour delay in consideration of the proposal to purchase conservation storage space. His talking prevented appointment Monday by the House of a conference committee to give immediate consideration to the measure.

The Lufkin Senator took the floor at 4:30 p.m. but gave it up two hours and 40 minutes later when he was told that the House had quit for the day.

"I sense sentiment of the Senate has crystallized," Lock said and sat down.

Then the Senate by voice vote sent the measure to a conference committee.

In other actions, the House gave approval to a bill estimated to yield the state 12 million dollars over the coming two fiscal years, giving a boost to a proposed teacher pay raise.

HOUSE

It said excessive spending for defense itself can impair security. The committee therefore recommended a bill carrying $33,541,225,000 in new appropriations to finance the Army, Navy and Air Force in the 12 months starting July 1. The President had asked for $36,128,000,000.

Taken at face value, the cut amounted to 7 per cent of the President's request. The reduction brought claimed savings by the House or the committee so far this year to more than 4 billion dollars, and was certain to bring renewed demands for a tax cut.

Don't Mean Much

However, committee sources pointed out that cuts—even wholly authentic ones—don't necessarily mean much when it comes to reducing the President's spending, since he goes into each year with a fat bankroll of funds left over from previous years.

All but about $1,290,775,000 of what the committee chopped out today clearly fell into the book-keeping category, even by the committee's calculations.

But Mahon denied that the cuts were in any sense "phony." He said every cut the committee voted should have at least some economy effect.

Scout Circus Date Set For August

W. O. Prewitt, Circus chairman of the Adobe Walls Council, has announced the date of August 2 for the Scout Circus. The affair, originally set for May 11 at Borger, was cancelled because of weather conditions detrimental to the health and welfare of the boys.

The new date was set so that the affair could be held in conjunction with the Phillips Lions Club Fair at Phillips.

Tickets purchased for the May 11 date will be honored at the Circus August 2. Those desiring refunds on original tickets may obtain them by sending their tickets to the Council Headquarters, Box 718, Pampa. Plans are to award prizes on the original ticket sale based on unit reports. There is a possibility of a new sales contest with a new issuance of tickets.

"Circus participants have been notified of the change to the Phillips High School Stadium and are in the midst of preparation to make it "bigger and better."

Lefors Girl Second In Contest

Marilyn Delver of Lefors placed second in the Posture Contest held in Amarillo Saturday sponsored by the Texas Chiropractic Association.

The first place winner was Miss LeVina Beavers of Amarillo.

The contest was based on the straightness of the spine, which accounted for 60 points, and the remaining 40 points were given on a basis of poise, bodily proportions and personality.

The affair took all afternoon and the girls posed in both evening gowns and bathing suits.

Competing were girls from all cities and towns in the Panhandle District. Miss Delver represented the Pampa area.

"In this kind of gamble, American lives are just as much in the balance as American dollars."

Eisenhower told Congress that a substantial cut in defense assistance overseas by this country automatically would require a reduction in the strength of Allied forces and increase the risk of local Communist aggression.

And that, he said, would "sooner or later" require an increase in draft quotas "as well as a substantial increase in our own defense costs."

New Rules Expected To Safeguard Union Funds

By MAUREEN GOTHLIN
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—AFL-CIO leaders today appeared ready to lay down new rules to safeguard union funds against the abuses charged up against TEAMST President Dave Beck.

The leaders also considered rules to "guarantee democratic procedures" in unions to protect them against corrupt officers.

The AFL-CIO's 25-member Executive Council turned to the rules and other anti-corruption projects after tossing out Beck as an AFL-CIO vice president Monday.

A top item on the council's expected agenda was whether to suspend three small international unions accused - like the giant Teamsters Union - of domination by corrupt influences.

The three unions - the Laundry Workers, Distillery Workers and Allied Industrial Workers - were involved in alleged welfare fund abuses uncovered by a Senate

Day Camp objectives are: 1) to contribute to the physical and mental well-being of the individual girl; 2) to help a girl grow in her ability to be an accepted and adjusted member of a group; 3) to provide a happy, adventurous experience with new and interesting activities with opportunities for acquiring these skills especially related to the environment.

Scouts will be required to wear long pants and long-sleeved shirts over shorts and short-sleeved blouses. They are asked not to wear a halter or sunback blouses. Good walking shoes are a necessity, because sandals are not suitable for camping. A head covering and a jacket are, also, part of the required attire.

Pampa and Hopkins Fly-Ups will stay overnight at camp on June 14. Pampa-Hopkins Intermediates will have their overnights June 20 and 21. Parent visitation will be June 14 and June 21.

It has been announced that there will be a registered nurse or an advanced first aider at all times and a doctor on call. Camp cannot be responsible for doctor bills incurred by campers. Fire drills and disaster drills will be held at each camp.

Parents are asked to please pick up their daughter at the Little House, 716 E. Kingsmill, promptly at 3 p.m., the time the bus is due back in Pampa. There will be no provision for taking campers to their homes or for an adult to be in attendance longer than one half hour after arriving at Little House. Monday through Wednesday the bus will depart from the Little House at 8:30 sharp. Parents are asked to have their campers there by 8:15.

Many pleasant and interesting activities have been planned for the Day Campers this year, including six or eight hours of outdoor activities, cooking a meal, hiking, wading in a brook, resting under the trees, getting acquainted with birds and insects, and making a camp home. It's hoped by the Top

Do as you'd be done by if it were YOUR place.

When you're giving a party, keep your flower arrangements low. With lots of people circulating around, tall vases are easily tipped over.

Q & A On Big Sneeze Season

By WARD CANNEL
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (NEA) — For the seven million Americans who measure time in handkerchiefs, it's hayfever season again — and nothing sneezes at Allergies, including hayfever rank with heart disease and mental illness at the top of the nation's chronic ailment list. But while most disease is seriously publicized, hayfever and its sufferers are taken with laughter amid the wheezing. Even the man behind the handkerchief isn't sure what it's all about. To wit:

Q. I didn't have this boss till I was 23. How cut?
A. According to the American Foundation for Allergic Diseases, hayfever can spring up in anybody's life at any time. It seems to depend on whether there is a history of allergies in your family.

Q. Maybe it'll go away subside.
A. It can disappear. According to one of our leading allergists, Dr. A. H. Fineman, treatment can "make you practically well." Of course the allergy can reappear, perhaps in another form. Medicine makes no promise.

Q. No probe? Thed why bother to spend the budty?
A. Because uncontrolled hayfever can lead directly to asthma. At best asthma is debilitating. At worst it is fatal.

Q. Okay. What kide of treatred is there?
A. Sometimes it's simply a matter of removing the allergen. If you're allergic to cats, get rid of your cat. In one recorded instance, a fellow discovered it was his wife

A-AH-AH-H-CHOO—Baybe it'll go away subside.
The worst seasons for these folks are mid-May and mid-August to mid-September.

Q. That sounds like be.
A. For you there is a course of desensitizing injections — a series of shots to build your resistance to pollen and other allergens.

Q. I hate deadles. How about all those pills?
A. They're effective, too, up to a point. You see, medicine does not know exactly what causes hayfever. Doctors assume it is the reaction between the pollen and your own anti-bodies that secrete something which produces the irritating symptoms.

Q. Dever bide that. What about the pills?
A. There are several kinds of pills. The most commonly known are the anti-histamines which seem to neutralize the secretion.

to which you may be allergic and house dust. Air conditioning may help you somewhat. But the best solution of all is an ocean voyage from Aug. 15 to Sept. 15. There's no pollen at sea.

Q. You're a real cobediad.

FORT WORTH — Richard S. Haggard, Texas Christian University senior so crippled by polio that he must grasp pen or pencil with his teeth to write, has been named the outstanding student in the School of Business for the past year.

He was presented the Wall Street Journal Student Achievement Award at the annual banquet of the TCU Chamber of Commerce recently.

The son of S. E. Haggard, 4120 Sanguinet here in Fort Worth, young Richard is a graduate of Paschal high.

Legion Jr. Baseball Meeting Set Thursday

A meeting to help organize the American Legion junior baseball teams is scheduled for Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Legion Hall, according to Deck Wolcott, coach of the team. All baseball fans who are interested in helping with the team are asked to attend. The group will also discuss the offer from Doug Mills for Oiler Park this summer and the choosing of a nickname for the team. The Pampa Legion team will compete in a district with other Panhandle clubs. The Legion junior baseball program is played on a national level. Winners in district play later compete in the state tournament. After that comes the sectional meet and the regional meet. Top competition from the Panhandle district will come from the Amarillo Hanson Chiefs, twice state champions who win this district almost every year. Other

McBride Defeats Willi Besmanoff

NEW YORK (UP)—Heavyweight Archie McBride, the lightly regarded refrigeration machinist of Trenton, N.J., who froze contender Willi Besmanoff's winning streak at 13 straight Monday night, will get another TV fight at St. Nicholas Arena on July 1. McBride, the 13-5 underdog who won a unanimous 10-round decision over ninth-ranked Besmanoff of Germany, will be matched with Alex Miteff of Argentina for a return bout. Young Miteff outpointed 28-year-old Archie at St. Nick's on Dec. 10. Archie, weighing 186 pounds to Besmanoff's 195, gave the 24-year-old German a thorough body beating and shook him up several times with left hooks to the face. Willi's nose began bleeding in the third round.

Art Houtteman Promised Job With Orioles

Art Houtteman, who pitched only 51 innings for the Cleveland Indians since 1935, was promised plenty of work today by his new manager, Paul Richards, of the Baltimore Orioles. "Houtteman will be a starter with us," said the Orioles' boss. "I'll have him in the bullpen a couple of times first, though, because he hasn't done much pitching this year." Houtteman played under Richards in 1947 when Paul was managing Buffalo in the International League. In explaining why the Orioles paid the Indians an estimated $20,000 for the tall right hander, Richards said, "two years ago he was a real good pitcher... but he didn't pitch too much with the Indians since Herb Score came up because they are all the starters they can use and a couple of great relievers." In two other major deals Monday, the Indians signed veteran first baseman Eddie Robinson as a free agent and the Washington Senators purchased utility infielder Rocky Bridges on waivers from the Cincinnati Redlegs. To make room for Bridges, the Senators optioned shortstop Lyle Luttrel to Seattle of the Pacific Coast League, while the Orioles sent southpaw pitcher Don Ferrarese to Vancouver of the same league. A report that southpaw Harvey Haddix of the Philadelphia Phillies expects to be traded to the Cincinnati Redlegs was described as an "idle rumor" by General Manager Roy Hamey of the Phillies. However, if the Phillies are willing to trade Haddix, they could also do business with the New York Giants, who are still hopeful of making a deal before the June 15 deadline. Trade talks between the Giants and the Milwaukee Braves apparently broke down again Monday. The Braves still are trying to land Red Schoendienst but they obviously haven't met the Giants' demand for a polished first-line pitcher.

Vic Wertz Looking For More Baseball

By OSCAR FRALEY United Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (UP)—Vic Wertz admitted today that he still feels the paralyzing fingers of polio but the man who made it back farther than most make it forward still plans on "at least two more years" of baseball. The burly first baseman of the Cleveland Indians was stricken with the disease in August, 1935 and for a frightening week could move only his head. Yet Wertz battled back last year for one of his finest seasons. But his comeback, and his fast pace this year, are even more remarkable when you consider that even now he lives in the shadow of the nightmare. "It's all right as long as the weather is hot," he admits. "Then I don't feel any traces of it. But in cold weather I notice it in my back. When it's cool, the back stiffens up." The fact that he is 32 doesn't worry Wertz. It is, you feel as you talk to him, the impediments—such as the attack which laid him low two years ago. It was enough to finish the career of most. And he played again. Vic had his best year in home runs last season with 32 while knocking in 106 runs. Only a kidney infection late in the year whittled down his batting average to .264. This spring there was more trouble. He was bedded a week in the spring with influenza. Right now he is nursing a set of sore ribs because he "picked up a knee" while sliding into second base at Kansas City a week ago. Despite the aches and pains and cold weather stiffness, Vic is happy. He is doing what he likes and there is added satisfaction in his current .340 batting average. Plan To Produce "As long as I can play well and as long as I get a good contract, that's how long I plan to be around," Wertz analyzes. "But once I can't produce, you can bet I'm not going to stretch it out sitting on the bench." Yet even then Vic won't turn his back on the game. "I wouldn't want to coach," he says. "But I would like to maintain my interest in the game and stay in touch as a part-time scout or something along those lines." "After all," he adds slowly, "baseball has been good to me." And he, it might be added, has been good to and for baseball. Inspirational figures such as Vic Wertz don't come along very often in any sport.

Paul Pettit, Former Pirate Bonus Baby, Makes Comeback With Stars

By ALEX KAHN United Press Sports Writer HOLLYWOOD (UP)—One of the great comebacks in baseball was being fashioned today by a player who never quite made it to the top—Paul Pettit, the one-time $100,000 bonus pitcher of the Pittsburgh Pirates. Paul was signed by the Pirates seven years ago as the most sensational pitching prospect ever developed in Southern California. Scouts raved about his fast ball, declaring he could throw it through a brick wall. He had six no-hit games at Narbonne High School, three of them in a row and he averaged 18 strikeouts a game. But after a slow start Pettit had the misfortune in 1932 of having his arm go dead while farmed out to New Orleans. The Pirates moved him from one club to another that year and the next in the hope his arm would come back. It never did. Didn't Sit Back The youngster might have sat back and collected $10,000 a year for the remaining years of the 10-year bonus period and call it quits.

But Pettit in 1934, when he and Pittsburgh agreed his arm would never come back, asked if he could start at the bottom as an outfielder. He went to Salinas in the Class C California League and went to work. He played every day and drilled whenever he could at his batting and fielding. And the averages show how well he did. He batted .324, drove in 103 runs and got 20 homers. The next step was to the Class AA Mexico City club where in 1935 Pettit was even more sensational, hitting .382. But the critics said the altitude in Mexico City helped and they were cheap hits. But with that kind of an average, Pettit returned last season to Hollywood where he had played briefly as a pitcher with a dead arm. His batting average slumped to .236 with 10 homers.

Brooklyn And Leading Re's Meet Tonight

By FRED DOWN United Press Sports Writer Those "nine old men"—the fellows who won it last year—are still in the National League pennant race. That's the Brooklyn Dodgers' message today to the experts who were beginning to view the race as primarily a two-team struggle between the Milwaukee Braves and Cincinnati Redlegs. First the Braves reeled off 12 victories in their first 14 games and then the Redlegs mounted their 12-game winning streak. All the while the Dodgers had failed to put together more than three victories in succession and there were whispers in N.L. dugouts that the old champs had "had it."

So tonight they invade Cincinnati riding the crest of a four-game winning streak—their longest of the season—and fresh from two smashing victories over the St. Louis Cardinals. The Dodgers walloped the Cardinals, 10-4, Monday night to sweep the two-game series they opened with Sunday's 10-3 rout. Dodgers Move Up As a result, the Dodgers moved to within only a half-game of the second-place Braves and trail the front-running Redlegs by two and one-half.

Duke Snider, Carl Furillo and Sandy Amoros walloped homers in an 11-hit Dodger attack that also included doubles by Gil Hoages, Al Walker, Jim Gilliam and Furillo. Every member of the Brooklyn lineup hit safely except Don Zimmer and pitchers Don Drysdale and Clem Labine. Drysdale went the first seven innings to win his third game without a loss. Labine, making his 13th relief appearance in 27 games, rushed in from the bullpen when the Cardinals rallied for two runs in the eighth and closed it out. A couple of old-fashioned pitching duels marked the only two other games played in the majors Monday, the Washington Senators beating the Detroit Tigers, 2-1, and the Baltimore Orioles scoring a 2-0 victory over the Kansas City Athletics.

San Angelo Wins 1st Game Since Change In Franchise

By UNITED PRESS Nine home runs were blasted in one game last night as the Southwestern League saw another night of uninhibited hitting. Hobbs smashed five home runs and Plainview four, two by Ralph Wilcox, as Hobbs won 9-7 in 10 innings. Clovis lost a portion of its league lead with a loss to San Angelo, formerly Pampa. The Colts belted Clovis in a typically wild 17-13 outing, while Ballinger moved to within three and a half games of the lead with a 3-7 win over El Paso. Chico Valdez smashed a grand slam homer in the third inning to shoot San Angelo into a lead it never lost over Clovis. Chico Alvarez smashed two roundtrippers, one in the second for three runs and a solo blast in the ninth. It was the first win for the club since it moved to San Angelo Friday night. Alvarez counted his

DeBiase Wins By Disqualification

The rematch between Sonny Myers and Mike DeBiase turned out to be almost as rough as their first encounter last week when the pair tangled last night at the Sportsman Club. DeBiase won the main event by disqualification after the fans aided Myers by handing him a chair to use. Myers hit DeBiase with the instrument and he was disqualified after the two had divided the first two falls. Ivan Kola won the semifinal event over Jerry Woods. Kola took the first fall with a press and then gained the third fall by the same method. Woods won the second with a cradle. Tommy Phelps won over Juan Garcia in the opening bout. Next week's all-star attraction has Slave Girl Moolah, the world's champion female wrestler, returning to meet Bonita White Cloud. Dory Funk also makes another appearance here and will probably meet Ivan Kola. Phelps and Farmer Jones have been lined up for the first fall.

Price Of Foreign Aid

When the cabinet of the United States was originally formed, there was no department of foreign aid. But then, in those days so long ago, no one ever dreamed that American taxpayers would sit still for underwriting the costs of foreign despots.

After all, we had just fought a war and won it, against one kingly tyrant. Who in their right mind would ever have imagined that Americans would in a century and a half be pumping their money into the anemic bloodstream of European and Asiatic economies?

Today we have a foreign aid executive who occupies a position of such importance in our financial structure that his influence is equal if not greater than cabinet level. John B. Hollister is his name, but most Americans probably never heard of him. Yet he will spend some $4,400,000,000 of your money this year if Mr. Eisenhower has his way with the budget.

Mr. Hollister is not a lonely man. He has a staff of 8,620 assistants, 5,161 of which are Americans and speak English. He is involved in spending vast sums for hundreds of socialist schemes in 60 different nations. The payroll of this staff comes to $3,780,000 per month. And the billions poured out into various nations, presumably as a good will gesture, will create enemies, build pressures, insure jealousies, waste money and generally involve this country in a thousand squabbles all of which we could do without.

Indicative of the manner in which this foreign aid is handled is this fact. Last year, rather early in the year as a matter of fact, a letter went from Mr. Abbott K. Hamilton, then the top I.C.A. official, to President Eisenhower. The letter revealed that however fast the foreign aid department tried to spend the money that had been appropriated, the department was falling behind. Members of the department were urged to realize that at the rate they were going they would end the year with $1,200,000,000 of unobligated funds. If those funds were not obligated, the money would be "lost."

The term "lost" indicated that the taxpayers would have that much of a savings left over and presumably such a savings would have helped reduce the demand for large sums in future years. Thus, the department was in a dilemma. In order to prove its value, it simply had to get rid of all that money!

Orders went out that everyone was to start obligating those funds at a rate of $200,000,000 per month, so that by the end of the year it could be established that every dime that had been asked for had been desperately needed.

In truth, we need this foreign aid program to everybody else's government like we need a hole in the head. It has been responsible for more trouble and difficulty than our chief executive and the state department have as yet managed to cope with.

And as for ourselves, why do we have to be taxed to keep a crew of socialist politicians in foreign climes living at a standard to which we have rapidly accustomed them?

Take a $20 bill, three singles, a nickel and two pennies. Give them a good look. That is your share of next year's loot to be siphoned up by the tax collector and doled out by Mr. Hollister. With that money Afghanistan will have some new airfields, not necessarily for American use; Indonesia will experience a Madison Avenue economic survey (cost $3,680,000); and Korea will have a thirty million dollar fertilizer plant.

Share in helping keep socialism flourishing all around there's your wife. Take out another twenty, three more singles, another nickel and two more pennies. That is her share to these schemes which you will probably never see and certainly from which you will never benefit even remotely.

Do you have any children? Add the same currency and coin for each of them. That will be your family's share in helping keep socialism flourishing all around the globe.

Of course you have no use for this money, so the politicians know best what to do with it. Or do they? How long did it take you to get those twenties and singles together? A week? Two? But doesn't it give you a real kick to know that all these foreign sovereigns are taking your money? That makes them dependent on you. Don't you feel important?

If you have a few nagging resentments over this type of high-handed plundering and brigandage, you might just pick up a pen and some paper and let your elected tax-eaters in Washington know. There would be no better time than right now to cut out this foreign nonsense.

And remember that your Washington bureaucrats, including Mr. Hollister, want you to like them. They are dependent on you, too, first for your foolishness, second for your obedience. You might just let them know how you feel about it.

Why he asks for things the other minister never knew the Lord had. Minister — Are you sure you will say saddle sharp practice hereafter? Man — Positive. I've already taken steps in that direction. Minister — And are you going to pay all those delinquent taxes? Man — Now wait a minute, reverend. You're talking religion now; you're talking business.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

Why I Believe Labor Unions Are Harmful

I want to try to explain why I think labor unions are harmful to everybody and thus why I have to oppose labor unions. In the first place, if we would intelligently discuss any subject, we should define our terms so there is no misunderstanding as to what we are talking about. By labor unions I mean the only kind of labor unions I know exist. They are labor unions that insist on having a right to make a bargain for individuals who prefer to have another agent make a bargain for them or prefer to make a bargain for themselves.

I believe most people who think they believe in labor unions are talking about a labor union that does not exist. I believe they think as I do, that any individual has a right to have any agent make a bargain for him or a group that he wants to select as his agent. I do not see how any person could object to this kind of a labor union. But I know of no such labor unions, and I think no one else does. Since I know of no such labor unions since I believe all labor unions at present, by legal means or by the use of threats of the use of aggressive force, aim to try to make bargains for individuals who do not want them to be their agent, I have to oppose this kind of labor union—the only kind that I know of.

Since I believe all our progress comes from some individual rendering a better service for less than is being rendered, I am convinced that anything that interferes with human creative activity is harmful not only to that individual but every other individual in the world. It is especially harmful for the man or group of men who come to believe that they have a right to make decisions as to how another man can create wealth and exchange it. It exalts those people who try to interfere with an individual being free to select his own bargaining agent or bargain for himself. As the Great Teacher said: "He that exalts himself shall become abased."

About the only persons who believe in having the power to bargain for those who do not want to be represented are the brass hats of labor unions who are temporarily enriching themselves by fat salaries and expense accounts and having the great mass of workers being obliged to toady to them and ask them for favors. These brass hats love this power. They are usually not men who create wealth but men who get their power by misrepresentation, by coveting, by taking advantage of people who lack judgment as to whom to believe.

This insisting on the right to bargain for all people instead of those who want to be represented greatly reduces production. It keeps the wrong man in the job. It does this by seniority, by limiting apprentices, by jurisdictional disputes, by featherbedding, by keeping a lot of non-producers selling collectivism rather than a producing wealth.

These kinds of labor unions, of course, violate the Coveting Commandment and the Golden Rule. In fact, no believer in these kinds of labor unions dares answer certain questions because he would have to admit that he was an unprincipled person governed by no moral law, unless he makes the right be a law. On the other hand, those people who oppose these kinds of labor unions are perfectly willing and able to answer any and all questions on the subject without contradicting themselves or evasion. And remember again, the Great Teacher said: "Men do not light a candle and put it under a bushel." And also that: "Men love darkness rather than light because their deeds are evil." So those persons believing in this kind of labor unions have to refuse to answer questions as they would before a court.

One reason so many people are fooled is that, of course, if a labor group gets possession of producing a necessity, such as water or gas or food, they can increase their share of the total production way beyond what they are entitled to have for their share of production. This temporary increase for a certain group fools a lot of people. They do not see that they get this by lowering the take of other producers. Their gain is like any form of plunder or robbery — at the loss of somebody else.

Nor do these people who believe in labor unions of this kind understand that when any man produces wealth he not only benefits himself but he benefits everybody in the world. As the great economist, Frederic Bastiat, said some 100 years ago in free enterprise in producing wealth the gain of one is the gain of all. But labor unions try to sell the idea that producing wealth is like war or gambling — one man gains by another man's losing.

Yes, it is because labor unions attempt to take away from individuals their inalienable rights to pursue life, liberty and happiness that I am obliged to oppose such movement. It is a complete denial of dignity of the individual and a form of collectivism, that instead of being progressive is going back to the dark ages when men did not respect the inalienable rights of the individual. Our progress comes, as all progress comes, from respecting creative ability. We would not have long periods of unemployment, we would have a much higher standard of living than we have today if more and more people could come to see that creating wealth harms no one and benefits everyone. That is the reason I have to oppose these kinds of unions. I have no objection whatever to labor unions that only attempt to bargain for those who want to be represented.

The columns are open to any person who will answer questions to defend the right of any man or group to bargain for those who do not want his services.

Dump Truck?

The Doctor Says

By Edwin J. Jordan, M. D.

The exact diagnosis of leukemia is made by examining the blood under the microscope. This is done by taking a small drop of blood and counting the white cells. The blood is also smeared on a glass slide, stained with special dyes and examined under the microscope.

IT SHOULD BE realized, too, that there are several kinds of leukemia, depending on the particular variety of white cells involved, as well as whether the condition is acute or chronic. Victims of leukemia, particularly those with chronic varieties, often can be helped temporarily by blood transfusions, X-ray treatments over the spleen, or by certain kinds of arsenic preparations taken by mouth.

Other methods, including ACTH and cortisone, are being studied, though treatment of any kind is still far from satisfactory. WE DO NOT KNOW nearly enough about leukemia, either about its causes or its treatment. However, it is encouraging to note that an increasing amount of research is going into the study of this disease. For example, the Leukemia Society (67 Wall St., New York 5, N. Y.) has already made a number of grants to aid in the investigation of the disease.

Surely the day will come when we shall know more about the origin of leukemia and probably methods of prevention or treatment far superior to those available today. Also it should be mentioned that the peaceful uses of the atom have already included methods for investigating leukemia, which had not been available before the discovery of fissionable material.

It is not much like to discuss leukemia but it has to be done occasionally, both because correspondents ask about it and because it is an important disease which seems to be increasing in frequency.

It is thought that there are between 15 - 20,000 persons with leukemia in the United States at all times. Approximately 5,000 new cases of leukemia are discovered each year.

There are several kinds of leukemia. For the patient, what is important is whether the disease is acute and rapidly progressive, or chronic and slowly progressive. In both cases the white blood cells in the blood are abnormal and usually increased in numbers. Often the numbers of red cells are decreased, producing an anemia. The spleen (which lies in the upper left portion of the abdomen) is frequently enlarged in leukemia and changes in the bone marrow are the rule.

IN THE RAPIDLY progressive types of leukemia there is nothing much which can be done to slow down the course of the disease. In many cases, however, the disease passes into the chronic stage without any treatment at all, or perhaps aided by the treatment attempted.

Out of 100,000 men called last week by the Hooperating service, to the question, "Who are you listening to?" 75,514 replied, "My wife."

more people could come to see that creating wealth harms no one and benefits everyone. That is the reason I have to oppose these kinds of unions. I have no objection whatever to labor unions that only attempt to bargain for those who want to be represented.

Few Pay-Offs For Presidents Who Go To People On Policy

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA) — When a president of the United States "takes an issue to the people," he has usually lost it before he begins his delivery.

Thus Woodrow Wilson took the League of Nations issue to the people in 1919-20 and lost. Herbert Hoover took a defense of his record on prosperity to the people in the 1932 election and was defeated.

Franklin D. Roosevelt invented the fireside chat for taking his issues to the people. He was more successful than most. But even he failed to win support for such issues as his Supreme Court packing plan and his purge of the Senate.

So now comes President Eisenhower, taking to the people his fight for an expanded budget and extended foreign aid. Franklin D. Russia's Greatest Bluff Has Not Scared Small Countries

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Russia's greatest bluff since the Berlin airlift crisis has been called by the anti-Communist nations from Northern Europe to the Middle East, with a score of small nations daring to defy the Kremlin under the economic and military leadership of the United States. The current month of May, the Reds' period of proletarian festival, may mark a turning point in the 10-year-old cold war.

This defiance has coincided, and not accidentally, with this country's most martial gestures in peacetime since the days of Theodore Roosevelt, when he sent the "White Fleet" around the world as a warning to Japan and Germany. Diplomats everywhere attribute our apparent success in current difficulties to the Administration's audacity, although the drama is not yet ended.

President Eisenhower dispatched the Sixth Fleet to Eastern Mediterranean waters to preserve King Hussein's Jordan regime against "international Communism." It was also a move designed to stave off a local conflict that might erupt into a world conflagration. Temporarily at least, this gesture and economic aid under the new doctrine appear to have won over all Arab nations except isolated Egypt and Syria.

Simultaneously, Secretary Dulles announced at Bonn that the U.S. would provide atomic weapons to NATO members threatened by Russia. It had become known earlier that they are stored in volume at our overseas bases, which ring the Communist empire, and on certain warships. In short, we delivered the ultimatum that we will fight the next war with ultimate weapons.

Khrushchev and Bulganin fumed and fulminated against these aggressive actions. They sent sharp notes to every pro-Western capital, threatening them with possible atomic destruction. They underwrote these warnings by staging five atomic explosions in less than a month. With typical impetuosity, they produced several obviously phony offers of disarmament and aerial inspection. But the small nations did not respond to the stick or the carrot brandished in Moscow. In equally strong answers, they informed the Kremlin that the question of national security and the means to maintain it were nobody's business but their own. Finland, less than an hour's flight from Russian airfields, took this moment to elect its most rabid anti-Communist as Prime Minister.

These Kremlin inconsistencies — the threats and the peace proposals — convinced the State Department that a feeling of frustration has befallen the commissars, F.D.R. and Churchill and admittedly "babied" Stalin during World War II lest he make a separate peace with Germany.

Former President Truman stood up to the Reds when he found that Stalin would not keep his Potsdam pledges. He frustrated the Berlin blockade. With his various economic and military aid programs, he rebuilt our shattered allies. He resisted the North Koreans' invasion of South Korea.

But he sent no fleet or atomic bombs abroad as evidence that he would pit American power against Russian might. And there was always the chance — there still is — that an enraged Kremlin might seize upon our current intervention as a pretext for local or all-out war.

Eisenhower's bold policy has led to renewed diplomatic speculation on what might have happened if Britain and France had made similar gestures when Hitler occupied the Rhineland, when Japan first invaded China and when Mussolini bombed barefooted Ethiopians. Historians and statesmen have often argued that there would have been no World War II, if those bluffs had been called in the 30's.

I Remember My Years As A Bird Watching Enthusiast

By HENRY McLEMORE

LONDON — When I was in London the first time — I won't tell you how long ago that was but men wearing suits of armor were not uncommon on the streets — I joined a Bird Watching Club.

It wasn't one of the really exclusive clubs, but it had a comfortable clubhouse on Upper Down Street, and a membership of awfully nice chaps. Dues were modest, and during the six months I stayed in London, we went out on half a hundred really exciting watches.

As I say, it was a small club, but it did have one distinction. Its members annually discovered more "first nightingales of the season" and were the first ones to hear them sing than any similar club, large or small, in all London.

A few days ago, finding myself near Upper Down Street, I decided to walk to No. 12 and see if my old club still was in existence. I really didn't think it would be, with the passing of the years, the bombings, and all that.

But there it was, just as it was in 1934. I pressed the buzzer. I wondered if it would give off the old sound that was such a delight years ago — the cry of a wild plover. It did — and who opened the door but old Cuthbert, wearing the club livery or robin's-egg-blue and marsh hen-brown.

I wanted to hug him, but it was obvious he did not recognize me. The eyes that had watched ten thousand birds in their time were rheumy, and he stared at me as if I were nothing more interesting than a pigeon at Trafalgar.

But his memory hadn't faded. When I told him my name he knew straight away who I was.

"Forget you, sir?" he said. "How could I? How could anyone in the club? We still talk of the time you scared away the first nightingale of the season in Berkeley Square. Not that it was your fault, sir. It might have been any of us who sneezed and tripped over a bench. Welcome, sir. Come in."

I wished they had forgotten that night in Berkeley Square. I still shudder when I think of it. I had been a member only a few days when some other member reported that he was sure the first bird of the season was singing in a tree in Berkeley Square.

Most of the club went that night. We wore sweaters, dark clothes, and approached the Square, as stealthily as thugs bent on mischief. I had been placed alongside the club president, one of the most accomplished bird stalkers in London, so he could guide me.

Jacoby On Bridge

By OSWALD JACOBY

While Edgar Kaplan was winning the Life Master's Individual, Phillip Feldsman of New York was romping off with the Senior Master's event.
In today's hand Phil exercised admirable self-restraint and stayed out of an unmakeable grand slam.
When North responded to Phil's opening heart bid with a jump to three clubs, Phil hoped for a grand slam and rebid three diamonds as a starter in that direction.

Groom Catholic School To Close On Tuesday

(Special to The News)
GROOM — St. Mary's Parochial School of Groom will have graduation exercises on Tuesday evening, May 22, at the St. Mary's auditorium, beginning at 8 o'clock. School will be dismissed for the year on Wednesday, May 29.
Members of the graduating class are Elayne Kotara, Evelyn Conrad, Herman Koetting, Ann Levan and James Homer. A program of songs will be presented before the graduation at 8 p.m. and the public is invited to attend.

TOKYO (UP)—Men will not be able to escape women's voices even atop 5,160-foot Mt. Omine, forbidden to women for over 1,300 years, it was disclosed today.
A new telephone has been installed, linking the foot of the mountain with the peak. Postal officials ruled that women will be able to talk to Buddhist monks at the top even though females may not defile the summit in person.

WHY THE BOAT?
BATTLE CREEK, Mich. (UP)—A motorist with a boat on top of his car said he was stopped Sunday by a sheriff's deputy with a sense of humor. He said the officer wanted to know whether, in view of the heavy rainfall of the past few days the man was going fishing or just preparing for an emergency.

Tommy Manville Touch To Ike's Honeymoon With Big Business

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—There's a Tommy Manville touch to President Eisenhower's second term honeymoon with big business. Perhaps it never really was true love.
Big business, maneuvered by some smart politicians such as Thomas E. Dewey of New York, put up the brains, the money and the arguments to nominate and elect Eisenhower in 1952.
They yearned for a friend in the White House after long years of Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman. They got their friend in. Now many of the President's former supporters believe he has stabbed them in the back with big spending and high tax policies.
Congress Also Responsible
Anyone who knows a lick about government is aware that Congress, equally with the President, is responsible for the high rate of government expenditures now proposed, and for high taxes. Businessmen do not know much about government, however, nor do most voters. So Eisenhower is getting all the discredit for the proposed budget for fiscal 1958. It isn't fair, but it is a political fact with which the administration must reckon.
The symptoms of business disenchantment with Eisenhower were evident recently at the Hot Springs, Va., meeting of the Commerce Department's Business Advisory Council. More graphically, a top drawer General Motors official recently publicly rebuked Eisenhower.
W. H. Doerfler is general manager of GM's Steering Gear Division. A fortnight ago he wrote to the President protesting "your unsound monetary policies and your New Deal - inspired international WPA."

Chamber Also Miffed
WPA means Works Progress Administration, one of the multi-billion dollar relief and pump-priming projects associated with FDR's New Deal.
The United States Chamber of Commerce, which loved Eisenhower in 1952 and in 1956, doesn't love him any more. The chamber tagged the President the other day as the biggest tax collector of all time, so far.

Eisenhower's is an eye-popping spending record for an administration which won office on an economy platform. There's nothing new about that, of course. Only the old timers here recall that FDR campaigned in 1932 on an economy platform. He promised to trim government costs by 25 per cent—and he stuck to it for a month or so after taking office whereafter he, as has Eisenhower, began spending other people's money at a big rate.
WASHINGTON—Army Assistant Secretary Hugh M. Mason on the temporary suspension of six-month enlistments for a active reserve training.
"The program has really snowballed. We have achieved in four months what was expected in 18 months."
BAGHDAD, Iraq—King Saud of Saudi Arabia on his formal visit to King Faisal of Iraq.
"My feelings are that should anything happen to harm Iraq, it would have repercussions in all other Arab countries, especially Saudi Arabia."
WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower on warning that material cuts in defense spending would be a fearful gamble.
"I have seen unwise military cuts before. I have seen their terrible consequences. I am determined to do all I can to see that we do not follow that foolhardy road again."
WASHINGTON—Rep. Emanuel Celler (D - N.Y.), describing President Eisenhower as a "lackadaisical" leader.
"He issues a clarion call one day and then whimpers the next."

ILLUSION OF BEAUTY—Mary Lou Gonzales hasn't gone wading in that beautiful dress. She's balanced precariously on a float at Cypress Gardens, Fla. The idea is to convince you that bellies blossom even more beautifully than do water lilies in Florida sunshine.

Preminger Been At TV For 34 Years

By DOC QUIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—Otto Preminger, a tall, bald, blue-eyed gent who got into the theater at 17 in his native Vienna and has been going strong in it for 34 years, sipped a bit of black coffee in his hotel room, sniffed an inhaler for his cold, and sounded off suavely about what TV is doing to the movies.
What was going to happen to motion pictures during, say, the next half century? Preminger, an independent producer-director, drew a long sniff and opined that what is going to happen already has started happening.
Not so Critical
"The advent of television and the growing up of TV have actually put the movies in the same position that the legitimate theater got into when the talking picture arrived," he said.
"The legitimate theater, up to then, had more than 200 productions a season on Broadway. People went to them and they were not so critical about them."
"Then — the theater became a specialty. It either had to be first rate or die. Mediocre plays were taken over by the motion pictures."
Done Same Thing
"Now TV has done the same thing to the movies. And the ones that are going to survive now, in my opinion, will have to be produced independently, individually. I was one of the first to break away from the treadmill of wholesale production in movies because I believed what was required was individual effort. No one man, no matter how great he might be, can supervise 40-or-so outstanding pictures — they would even compete with themselves."
"Now audiences only go to a picture the way they go to a play: They shop for it. They shop, and they go only if it is going to be better than what they would see on TV."

North's second jump to four hearts did nothing to discourage him and Phil decided on a bid of five clubs rather than a Blackwood four no-trump.
