Ike Hits Price, Wage Controls

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower said today he vigorously opposes price and wage controls as a means of combating inflationary pressures.

Eisenhower renewed an appeal to business and labor leaders to show extreme restraint in price and wage increases.

He told his news conference that corporation directors should put price increases into effect only if they are absolutely necessary.

Labor leaders, he said, should restrict their demands for wage increases to corresponding increases in the productivity of individual workers or to cases where workers are suffering extreme hardships as to their pay.

Way To Socialism

The President said that if management and labor do not show such statesmanship then we would make come true a recent prediction of Communist Boss Nikita Khrushchev.

The President apparently referred to Khrushchev's prediction in a recent televised interview that the United States would eventually become a socialistic country.

Without identifying Khrushchev by name, the President said the Communist chief is certainly not any friend of ours. He said he himself was not going to take any part in turning their country socialistic, and that wage and price controls would be a step in that direction.

Eisenhower also said:

"There are not any plans now for a reduction of U. S. military forces abroad at any place other than Japan."

There are not any plans to ask Congress to change the atomic energy law to permit giving British nuclear weapons.

Discusses Court

One section in the report of a special commission on government employee security caused him to raise his eyebrows. The recommendation called for transfer of the visa responsibilities from the State Department to the Justice Department.

The Supreme Court is a great stabilizing influence and an essential part of the U. S. system of government.

New Rotary Prexy Is Floyd Watson

Floyd Watson was installed as president of the Rotary Club for the coming year at ceremonies held during a "ladies night" dinner last night at the Pampa Country Club.

He was presented the president's pin and the club gavel by Fred Brook, outgoing president. Brook was presented the past president's pin by his wife.

The installation was conducted by Dr. Ed Williams, former president of the club.

Brook became vice - president for the coming year. Roy Sparkman was chosen to be secretary and the asst. secretary will be Al Doucette.

New directors of the club are: Don Cain, Dr. Calvin Jones, Jack Edmondson, Jack Miller, Jimmie Thompson and R. E. "Dick" Batson.

The wives of members with perfect attendance records were presented corsages and the longer the attendance record, the greater the gift.

Highlight of the evening was a "This Is Your Life" program honoring Travis Lively Sr., co - owner. (See ROTARY, Page 3)

Reds Demand UN Cancel Decision

By ROBERT MONAHAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

PANMUNJOM, Korea, (UP)—The Communist high command demanded today that the United Nations cancel its decision to build up armed strength in South Korea to match that of the Reds in the North.

North Korean Maj. Gen. Chuk Kook Rok also declared "null and void" the Western Allies' decision to abrogate that part of the armistice agreement freezing the armed strength of both sides at what it was when the fighting ended.

The military armistice commission meeting then recessed for 30 minutes. The first session lasted 50 minutes.

Maj. Gen. Homer Litzberg of the U. S. Marines, senior Allied representative, told the Reds last week the U.N. Command was tossing out the arms freeze part of the agreement because the Communists had "flagrantly and willfully" violated it in building up their own armed strength.

The handsome North Korean general, his voice crisp, read a 15-minute statement protesting the U. N. action and denying the Allied charges. It was no military buildup, Chung said, since "we have only been engaged in peaceful construction in North Korea."

Allied intelligence said the Reds had beefed up the armed forces in North Korea by 100,000 men, built up a force of more than 700 jet bombers and fighters, imported hundreds of modern Soviet tanks and constructed a chain of 20 or more air bases above the 38th parallel.

The Allies made it clear they would match that arms buildup by bringing in swarms of jet fighter and bombers capable of carrying atomic bombs.

Chung said today this was part of "United States policy to prepare for an atomic war."

Ike Says Clean H-Bomb Coming

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower said today that American scientists have told him they can produce nuclear bombs with absolutely no fallout if nuclear tests are continued for another four to five years.

Despite the scientific arguments in favor of continuing tests, Eisenhower told his news conference that U. S. proposals to suspend them as part of a first-step disarmament agreement still stand.

As of now, the President said the world's fears require the U. S. to go right ahead with a conditional offer to suspend tests. This government, he declared, has no intention of withdrawing its proposal to suspend nuclear tests.

Fallout Diminishes

The President at the same time spoke out anew against a war in the nuclear age. He said there can be no such thing as a victorious power in a global war of the future.

He said scientists Ernest O. Lawrence and Edward Teller have told him they are producing bombs with 96 per cent less fallout than that of the so - called "dirty" H-bomb of 1954.

Eisenhower said the scientists ask for four or five years to test each stage of development, and they will produce an absolutely clean bomb.

This would mean, he added, that there would be no radioactive fallout to injure civilians outside the heat and blast area around a military target.

The President's remarks made it clear that there is no such thing now as an absolutely clean H - bomb. The Atomic Energy Commission's top test official, Dr. Alvin C. Graves, told a subcommittee recently that the absolutely clean H - bomb is impossible because it still requires an A-bomb trigger—and A - bombs are inherently dirty.

If scientists would perfect a way of triggering H-bombs without atomic heat, they presumably would be closer to solving the problem of how to tame the H-bomb's nuclear reaction for peaceful power.

Frogman Is Identified By British Coroner

CHICHESTER, England (UP)—A coroner ruled today that a headless, handless body found floating in the harbor here was that of Cmdr. Lionel (Buster) Crabb, British frogman who vanished last year while apparently checking a Soviet cruiser.

Crabb, a tough 46-year-old war hero, was last seen alive in Portsmouth in April 1956, during the visit of Russian warships that brought Soviet leaders Nikita Khrushchev and Nikolai Bulganin on a state visit to Britain.

Coroner G.F.L. Bridgman, after hearing evidence in the courthouse of this quiet Sussex town, said:

"I am quite sure that the remains found in Chichester harbor June 9, were those of Commander Crabb."

The coroner added that it was impossible to determine the cause of death and said he must return an open verdict.

The frogman's disappearance while making secret dives near the Soviet cruiser Orzhonikidze and an accompanying destroyer had developed into a major mystery of the cold war.

The investigation reached all the way up to then Prime Minister Anthony Eden, who refused to tell all to Parliament.

United Fund Quota Boost Is Announced

A proposed $10,000 increase in the 1957-58 United Fund quota was announced this week by B. M. Behrman, chairman of the budget and missions committee.

This year's budget is set for $60,000, and a fund drive will start in early fall.

"Due to Pampa's growth and the expanding services of the United Fund, we feel an increase is needed," Behrman said.

Clifford Whitney is chairman of the United Fund Board.

A drive committee has not yet been named for the fund campaign. However, a county - wide drive which will include calling on groups, businesses and individuals will be staged.

Member organizations of the United Fund will be notified in the near future to appear before the UP Board and turn in an estimate of their needs.

The Board then will allot to each organization an equitable amount of the $60,000, and USO.

The United Fund includes such groups as the Red Cross, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Salvation Army, Heart Fund, Milk Fund

Rodeo Plans Are Being Completed

Advance plans for the Top ' Texas Rodeo, Aug. 5-10, are now being perfected, according to E. O. Wedgeworth, Chamber of Commerce manager and Rodeo Association secretary.

The directors of the Rodeo Association are considering holding a calf scramble as a special event this year.

A sub - committee headed by Clyde Carruth is studying the plan this week and will work out details soon if the idea is accepted.

Boys over a six - county area headed by the Junior Livestock Show will be eligible to enter.

Mrs. Weldon Steward, rodeo office secretary, announced that merchants' complimentary tickets are going fast. She urged merchants interested to get their orders to her office immediately.

Any number of merchant tickets are sent to a business upon request, and then the merchant may send those to his customers. He is charged only for those tickets that are actually used.

A downtown rodeo office will be opened July 29 in the lobby of the Pampa Hotel for contestant registration and last - minute details. Mrs. Steward will be in charge of the office and Goat Mayo, rodeo producer, will handle contestant registration.

Mrs. Steward urged contestants to wait until the office was opened to register in order to eliminate confusion at the Chamber of Commerce office.

Five "booster" cars, filled with girls in western regalia, are slated to leave July 10 to put out advertising in the surrounding area. In the past, the Kit Kat Klub and the Sub Deb girls have gone on the trip and are expected to again this time.

The rodeo directors will meet in the Chamber of Commerce office next Tuesday to hear reports from all committees and to work out details.

CoC Magazine Goes To Printer

The Chamber of Commerce quarterly news bulletin went to the printer's this morning, E. O. Wedgeworth, chamber manager, announced today.

The official news publication will give news and items of interest about recent activities of the chamber.

It is expected to be sent out within a week, Wedgeworth said. Joel Combs, head of the publicity and advertising committee, was responsible for publishing.

Stassen To Deliver US Disarm Proposals

By WILLIAM SEXTON
United Press Staff Correspondent

LONDON (UP)—Harold E. Stassen will deliver today the American proposals for limiting the level of conventional armaments before the London disarmament conference, informed sources said.

The U. S. delegate resumes his "step-by-step" presentation of the American disarmament plan when the five-power U. N. subcommittee meets this afternoon.

As worked out among the Allies, the nations represented here would set definite quotas on major offensive weapons, such as tanks, artillery, planes, submarines and warships. All such conventional armaments in excess of the ceilings set would be mothballed under international supervision.

Stassen has outlined a similar plan for limiting military manpower during the past two meetings.

He proposed Tuesday the armed forces of the United States and Russia be reduced to a level of 1,700,000 men each in three successive stages. Britain and France followed with proposals for similar cutbacks in their armed forces from 250,000 to 450,000 men.

The Allies however made it clear that the last two stages of the manpower cutbacks would be dependent on the progress made in solving East - West political problems. These include the question of German reunification, the Korean dispute and the Formosa problem.

Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin did not reply to the proposals. Instead, he reserved comment pending definition of what the United States means by "improvement" in political conditions.

Man No-Billed By Grand Jury

The Hemphill County Grand Jury of the 31st District Court returned a no-bill yesterday in regards to the investigation of a shooting incident which took place in the residence of Franklin D. Shackelford in Canadian on June 11.

No charges had been filed in the case, District Attorney Bill Waters reported, and the grand jury was investigating the incident yesterday to see if charges should be filed.

Eugene Douglas Armstrong was shot in the Shackelford residence on June 11. Waters reported, and Armstrong is now in the hospital at Shattuck, Okla.

Galveston Beaches Pounded By Swells From Hurricane

GALVESTON (UP)—Hurricane Audrey sent tidal swells crashing against beaches of this famed pleasure island resort today.

Beaches were cleared of traffic, fishing camps closed in the face of possible flooding, deep sea fishing expeditions were cancelled and civil defense authorities advised evacuation of Bolivar Peninsula which divides the Gulf of Mexico from Galveston Bay.

CD Coordinator Liz Gritta recommended evacuation for fear of a washout of a connecting bridge at Rollover Pass. There are some 25 permanent homes on the low-lying peninsula but an estimated 1,500 persons from Port Arthur and other nearby Texas gulf points are vacationing at many fishing camps.

Texas, Louisiana Coasts To Catch Brunt Of Storm

NEW ORLEANS (UP)—The season's first hurricane, a "full-grown lady" named Audrey, headed toward the Texas - Louisiana coast today carrying 100 m.p.h. winds.

The Louisiana coast appeared to be the most likely spot for it to reach the mainland, but Texas remained alerted.

The New Orleans Weather Bureau said high tides and rough seas were expected along the coast today. Ships were warned to remain in port.

"Hurricane Audrey continues to move slowly northward and at 10 a.m. was centered about 400 miles southwest of New Orleans near latitude 25.1 longitude 93.3. High east winds are estimated in miles per hour near center and gales extend out 150 to 200 miles."

"Indications are for north or a little east of north movement at 7 to 10 m.p.h. with the center reaching the Louisiana coast late Thursday. However, due to the size of the hurricane, gales will start along the Louisiana coast to night. Tides are rising and will reach 5 to 8 feet along the Louisiana coast and over the Mississippi Sound by late Thursday. All persons in low exposed places should move to higher ground."

"Hurricane warnings are displayed along the entire Louisiana coast and storm warnings likewise from Galveston to Pensacola."

If it comes from a Hardware Store, we have it. Lewis Hardware. (Adv.)

Charges Are Filed On Oregon Man

Charges of aggravated assault and of driving while intoxicated were filed in County Court yesterday afternoon against Floyd Kerchman of Oregon.

The charges were filed by Charlie Clendenn, cofounder of Lefors, who arrested Kerchman at Lefors Monday night after Kerchman had driven off in a pickup belonging to another man.

After being placed under arrest by Clendenn, Kerchman broke free and ran down a street. Clendenn fired three shots at Kerchman from a .35 caliber automatic and one of the bullets struck Kerchman in the heel.

After a chase of nearly two blocks on foot, Kerchman tried to drive off a car and was apprehended a second time by Clendenn. During the breaking loose following the arrest and the subsequent apprehension the second time, Kerchman is charged with striking Clendenn.

The charges will not be brought to trial until Kerchman is released from Highland General Hospital where he is being treated for the wound in his heel.

Beer And Birds Are Stolen Here

Two burglary reports were received by the police department this morning, one of stolen beer and the other involving pigeons.

A delivery truck owned by the Eagle Distributing Company, 222 E. Atchison, which was parked at 1712 N. Hobart last night, was entered and six cases of beer were taken.

The investigating officer reported that entry to the truck was obtained by prying the lock from the back doors. The beer taken was near the doors, the officer reported, and the remaining contents was not distributed. The beer was valued at $22.50.

A total of 13 large white pigeons were taken from the chicken house of Mary Cole, 839 Scott, sometime during the night when the burglars cut through a screen on the chicken house. Officers reported that the pigeons were valued at $32.50.

Cues were being checked this morning in an effort to establish the identity of the persons responsible for the two burglaries.

Teamster VP Convicted Of Contempt

WASHINGTON (UP)—Federal Judge John J. Sirica today convicted Teamsters Union Vice President Frank W. Brewster of contempt of Congress.

Brewster, head of the Teamsters' 11-state Western Conference, was charged with contempt because he refused to give evidence early this year before the Senate Investigating subcommittee.

Brewster himself was not present to hear the ruling. He had waived his right to be there in order to attend the annual meeting of the Western Conference in San Diego, Calif., where he was reappointed chairman on Monday by Teamsters President Dave Beck.

Pampa Girl Returns From Junior Red Cross Center

Sylvia Grider, Pampa High junior, returned yesterday from a junior Red Cross training center in Goddard, Kan., in which everything from water safety to tornado relief was taught.

And she almost got to put that training to practical use when a tornado came within sight of the camp during the first few days. Fortunately it didn't touch ground and the only injury was a fractured ankle suffered by one of the instructors in a hasty flight to shelter.

Sylvia was elected by her classmates here to be the camp representative from Pampa.

There were 86 campers from nine states in attendance. Texas, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Iowa, Oklahoma, Florida, New Mexico and Arkansas were represented.

The instruction covered four general areas: disaster relief, fund campaigns, service to armed forces and families and public information.

Mrs. Beulah Miles of Nacogdoches spoke of her Austrian experiences in dealing with Hungarian refugees.

Sylvia said that numerous exhibits and displays were available.

A group of the representatives presented a skit entitled, "Around the World in 80 Minutes," depicting the different peoples of the world.

Also, some of the advanced swimmers went to a nearby town and helped crippled children learn to swim.

'Beards And Beauties' Are Discussed In Jaycees' Meet

Beards and beauties were the main topics of discussion at the Jaycees' weekly meeting yesterday.

The beard growing fad, started to boost the Top ' Texas rodeo to be held August 7-10, was of paramount importance at the meeting held in the Palm Room of City Hall.

Shaving permits are to be sold by members for 50 cents to all those who desire to remain clean-shaven. The rest must show proof of some sort of special facial growth.

A "dunking pond" in front of the La Vista Theater will be provided for those who do not cooperate.

Eldon Blumer, chairman of the beauty contest committee, announced that Pampa would be represented this year for the first time in the Miss Texas contest to be held in August.

The Pampa preliminaries are scheduled for July 11 and the finals for July 18.

Any business or organization may enter the name of one Pampa "Miss" in the contest.

Letters have been mailed to merchants and clubs explaining the rules.

Johnny Campbell, president of the organization, inducted Paul Caronis as a new member.

Jim Goodwin, was in charge of the program and gave an explanation of coin collection as a hobby.

Cabinet Crisis In Italy Getting Worse

Foreign News Commentary
By CHARLES M. McCANN

Gründed Press Staff Correspondent

Italy's cabinet crisis is getting worse instead of better as it enters its eighth week.

Mc It seems increasingly likely that a special parliamentary election, some year ahead of schedule, will be necessary to end the tangle.

Mc It seems likely also that sooner or later a showdown will be necessary on the constitutional powers of President Giovanni Gronchi.

Gründed's insistence on trying to play the part of a "strong man" in politics instead of acting as a figurehead, as he is supposed to do, has played a big part in the political confusion.

Socialists Desert Him

Premier Antonio Segni resigned May 6 after the tiny Republican Party and then the larger right-wing Socialist Party deserted his Christian Democrats and broke up the government coalition.

Adone Zoli, another Christian Democrat, formed a cabinet on May 20.

Zoli confined his cabinet to Christian Democrats, hoping to run the government with the support of other moderate parties.

Zoli managed to get a vote of confidence in the Chamber of Deputies for his cabinet. But there was a miscount of votes. When the count was checked, it developed that he got his majority only because the extreme right wing "No - Fascists" voted for him.

Zoli refused to accept a mandate which depended on extremist support. He resigned on June 10.

Refuses Resignation

President Gronchi called in man after man in a vain attempt to get a successor. Finally, Gronchi announced last Saturday that he refused to accept Zoli's resignation and told him to carry on.

Zoli went before the Chamber of Deputies today to make a new start. It was forecast that the chamber would let him remain in office for a while at least. But his Christian Democrats hold only 260 seats in the 590-seat chamber. Thus he is at the mercy of other parties.

The whole tangle stems really from the multi-party political system which has weakened a number of European countries for years and which made possible the rise of Benito Mussolini in Italy and Adolf Hitler in Germany.

Some Italian political leaders are talking now of the possibility of forming two strong parties by merging various groups. But it appears to be merely talk.

Too Much Speed Involved In Most Holiday Accidents

CHICAGO — Too much speed is involved in seven out of 10 fatal traffic accidents on holidays, although it is a factor in less than four out of 10 fatal mishaps the remainder of the year.

That was the warning to Fourth of July motorists issued today by the National Safety Council.

In a special study of holiday highway accidents, the Council lists eight principal circumstances of traffic accidents last Labor Day weekend, when 435 persons were killed:

1. Speed was a factor in 71 per cent of the accidents.
2. Drinking was a factor in nearly half the accidents.
3. Accidents were most frequent during evening hours.
4. Accidents were most frequent during evening hours.
5. Non-collision accidents were the most frequent type.
6. Eighty-two per cent of the accidents occurred in rural areas.
7. Single driver accidents were most frequent.
8. Victims were usually the drivers.

The Council study shows that the most dangerous period for the holiday highway traveler is while enroute to his holiday destination, rather than on the trip home.

In an attempt to prevent a holiday of tragedy for hundreds of persons, the Council is emphasizing holiday hazards as part of its year-round "Back the Attack on Traffic Accidents" campaign. Although travel is climbing, traffic deaths are below last year, and the Council hopes to continue this trend through public awareness of the extra holiday hazards and the extra caution needed to overcome them.

Accidents of all kinds took 8,500 lives last July, and the Fourth contributed substantially to the toll, the Council said.

Drowning is the second highest cause of death in Fourth of July accidents. Other causes are fireworks and firearms, sunstroke and heat exhaustion, food poisoning and falls.

Four tips that will contribute to a safe and sane Fourth are offered by the Council:

Driving — Remember speed limits. Start early and don't hurry. Slow down at sundown. Obey legal speed limits. Avoid abrupt stops and turns, and don't take a chance when passing. Keep your mind on your driving and expect the unexpected from the other fellow. Be patient and courteous in heavy and tiresome traffic.

Fishing — Choose clothes for protection, not glamour. Watch out for fish hooks. If snagged deeply by a hook, and a doctor is not available, push the point out until you can cut it off below the barb. Clean all wounds thoroughly, then bandage with sterile gauze.

Boats — Don't take chances with rough water or rough weather. Stay away from the show-off who thinks it is fun to rock a small boat. Never stand up in a boat. Go slow with power boats in strange water. Be certain of fuel supply and spare parts. If

McClellan 'Knew' About Hoffa's Spies

By MAUREEN GOTHLIN
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—Chairman John J. L. McClellan of the Senate Rackets Committee disclosed today he has known for some time that Teamster Vice President James R. Hoffa claimed to have several "spies" in the Senate.

But McClellan refused to discuss the matter or to say whether his committee has uncovered any evidence of such spies.

"I won't make any public statement on it at present," the Arkansas democrat told the United Press.

John Cye Chesty, the government star witness in the bribery trial of Hoffa, testified Tuesday the Teamster official promised him $18,000 to get a job on McClellan's committee staff and "feed" Hoffa information to enable Hoffa to prepare Teamster leaders for questioning. Chesty returns to the stand today.

Chesty, who tipped off the committee and FBI about Hoffa's offer, said the Teamster official claimed to have "triple coverage" of the committee's activities.

He said Hoffa mentioned "a fellow" in the office of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.), committee member who since has died. Chesty added "I didn't get the name." Defense attorneys for Hoffa told reporters Chesty had given a co-defendant with Hoffa in the bribery-conspiracy trial.

Missile Is Fired

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UP)—A large missile was fired from the guided missile test center here shortly after dawn today.

Witnesses reported that the missile took off with an ear-shattering roar that was louder than that made by the giant Atlas, the world's first inter-continental ballistic missile fired unsuccessfully earlier this month.

They said the rocket today appeared to be one of the largest ever fired from the top-secret test center, and speculated that it might have been either the Army's Redstone or Jupiter.

Officials at the base would not comment immediately on the firing.

One observer told United Press that it appeared to be one of the most successful launchings at the base.

"It roared off the ground with a terrific noise—louder even than the Atlas," he said. "It shot straight up in the air like an arrow, picking up speed very rapidly. Then at a high altitude its vapor trail disappeared and it leveled off and headed down range out over the Atlantic in a southeasterly direction."

He said that unlike most firings, today's test shot was observed by only a few persons. Generally the firing preparations tip off residents and they line the beaches.

He Was Only Four Months Old, But They Owe Him Their Lives

MADERA, Calif. (UP)—His name was Rover and he was only four months old, but Mr. and Mrs. Tyree White and their seven children owe their lives to him.

At 3:30 a.m. Tuesday the Whites awoke to find their puppy, half Doberman and half German shepherd, barking furiously and pulling at the covers. They shoed him away. But Rover persisted in barking.

Then the Whites smelled smoke. They realized the house was afire. When they began to stir, Rover darted into the children's bedroom, barking all the while to wake them up. He tugged at their bedclothes, too.

Once in the street, they heard Rover still barking inside.

But there was a note of terror in his bark. A beam had fallen across the doorway, trapping him. Soon, Rover stopped barking. Later, they found his body inside the ruined house.

Recruiter For Women Marines Visited Pampa

Sgt. Marie-Cecile Caussin, recruiter for the Women Marine Corps, stationed at Albuquerque, N.M., was in Pampa yesterday talking to prospective member of the Women Marine Corps.

Any woman between 18 and 30, who is a high school graduate, and interested in becoming a member of the Women Marine Corps can write Sgt. Caussin at the Marine Corp. recruiting office at 224 Third Street, N.W. in Albuquerque, for information about becoming a member of the corp, she reported.

Enlistments in the Women's Marine Corp are for either three or four years and "boot training" consists of eight weeks at Parris Island, S.C. At the completion of boot training the women will be given a 15 day leave before being assigned to permanent duty or to a specialist school for advance training.

Some of the types of specialist training offered to women in the corp are: aviation, communications, finance, stenographer, motor transport, supply, and personal administration.

Two Cases Are Heard In Court

One plea of guilty and one of not guilty were heard in County Court this morning.

Kirby Walters of Pampa, charged with aggravated assault, pleaded not guilty and made $300 bond. He allegedly assaulted a Pampa woman on June 24.

Charles Riggins of Littlefield was fined $1 and court costs plus restitution of a "hot check."

Riggins pleaded guilty to a charge of swindling with worthless check. He gave a worthless check to Tex Evans Buick Company March 2, 1957, for $40.14.

Generally, 33 years are considered a generation, thus allowing three generations to a century.

Graham Says God Relieves Escapism

NEW YORK (UP)—The American people are "filled with thousands of phobias and fears that they think they can relieve by sinking into a cult of escapism," evangelist Billy Graham said Tuesday night.

"It's bad enough that today we have 4 million mental patients in the United States," the Baptist minister said.

"What's worse is that millions of people outside the institutions worrying, phobias—you're trying to hide in an illusory, imaginary world," the revivalist said at a Madison Square Garden meeting.

"The psychologists and psychiatrists are doing a land-office business, so much so that they have to go to other psychologists and psychiatrists to get help for themselves."

"For real peace of mind you must leave your dream world and accept the reality that it is sin, a moral disease, that warps your life. It has given thousands of people psychological problems."

"Too many people's souls are empty, bitter, mixed up, confused, bewildered and miserable, so they hurry up and throw in the tranquilizers," Graham said. "But the something your souls want is God."

Graham called on his listeners to make "decisions for Christ" immediately and responded to his invitation, bringing the total number of "decisions" in the first six weeks of his New York crusade to 23,107.

Mishap Reported This Morning

Charlie Harris, a local taxi driver, ended up with the front of his car in a backyard fence this morning when he was reportedly forced off the street by a car approaching from his left.

Harris was driving south on Duncan Street when Danny MacPhillips, driving a '50 model Ford, entered the intersection going west on Kentucky. Phillips was reported to have passed a stop sign and forced Harris, in order to avoid collision, to leave the street and crash into a fence between two residences on Duncan.

Neither driver was injured. Misdemeanor driving charges were filed against Phillips.

Ernest Weir Dies At 81

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Ernest T. Weir, 81, who resigned six weeks ago as board chairman and chief executive officer of National Steel Corp., died in a Philadelphia hospital today, it was announced here.

A spokesman for National Steel said Weir died of "complications following a heart attack suffered in mid-January."

"Weir, who would have been 82 next Aug. 1, was elected "honorary-founder chairman" by National Steel directors in May.

On his recommendation the directors named the company president, Thomas E. Millsop, the chief executive officer but postponed the election of a board chairman.

Weir had told the directors he would recommend the election of an "outstanding man" as chairman and it is generally believed his choice was Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey, who has announced his intention to resign from President Eisenhower's cabinet.

Man Fined On 'Contributing' Charge Today

Lloyd Allen Davis of Pampa was fined $1 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in jail today by the County Court following his pleading guilty to a charge of contributing to the delinquency of minors.

Davis was arrested by city officers at 9:35 last night on Alcock when officers stopped a car. The officers were looking for the car following a report that it was driving in a reckless manner, they reported.

When the car was stopped, the officers reported, Davis and two local youths, one age 16 and one age 15, were in the car. The two youths had been drinking and admitted that Davis had purchased beer and had given it to them.

A hearing was held this morning in Juvenile Court in regards to the two youths. Judge Bruce Parker, juvenile judge, cancelled the drivers license of the 16-year-old for an indefinite period and stated that the other youth had already lost his license.

In addition, Judge Parker ordered the two youths to be at home and off the streets by 10 o'clock every night and also ordered 10-

Scanty Garb Is Biggest Problem

TOKYO, (UP)—A Japanese student maintained today that the "provocative" clothing worn by women during the summer is more of a world problem than atomic tests.

"Atomic bombs may be able to destroy our body but cannot destroy our soul," he said in a letter

Calypso fashions that can go dancing and take a trip to the beach, too, are just what teen-agers like. This teener (left) is ready to go dancing in her wide-skirted plaid Calypso dress that's a blend of dacron and cotton. Multi-colored beads add another tropical touch. These beads (upper center) can be kept fresh by swishing them up and down in a bowl of warm soapy water. Follow by two clear rinses and dry them on a turkish towel. Sun glasses get the same treatment. The plaid dress (lower center) washes readily, goes on a plastic hanger to dry. It needs little or no ironing. Now, she can wear it (right) to the beach with a change of accessories. She ties a bright silk kerchief around her head Haitian style and to add to the colorful Calypso effect, takes along sunglasses that are decorated with tiny banana clusters.

No Fun Lost In Drip-Dry Fashions As Play Clothes Match Teen-Age Verve

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Summertime opens wide a world of fun for teen-agers.

Swimming, sailing, square dances — all beckon. And what young girl doesn't dream of bright, colorful play clothes that will add to her beauty and sparkle.

This summer should bring to the teen-ager all she has ever desired from play togs. Calypso fashions with a bongo beat are making a gay splash in the play-clothes picture. And she doesn't need to have a worry in the world about keeping them fresh and clean with a minimum of effort.

There are one-piece Calypso drip-dry dresses in bold plaids and stripes as well as in solid colors. Made of a Dacron-cotton blend, these wide-skirted frocks can be worn with costume jewelry to a square dance one evening, swished through soap or detergent suds that night, and hung to dry for a trip to the beach the next morning. No ironing required.

Calypso skirts, colorful side-tied sashes and fringed midriff tops are all available for summer fun. Pretty beruffled blouses that will show off smooth sunbans can be worn with the sure knowledge that they will require little or no ironing.

A touch of the West Indies can be added to all of these colorful styles with five or six-strand white necklaces of lightweight lucite. And even the jewelry can easily be kept white and sparkling by sudsing, rinsing and drying on a turkish towel.

Cleanliness is the essence of good grooming. We all play harder in summer than in any other time of year, and until drip-dry fabrics came on the scene, it was a difficult task to keep our summer clothes fresh and clean.

However bright the color, no girl is pretty in a costume that needs to be laundered. But now that warm suds, a couple of good rinsings in clear water, and a plastic hanger to dry on are all that's needed to look crisp and neat all through the summer, there is no reason to shy away from the rufes, bright colors and full skirts that used to make summer laundry a nightmare.

Since the gay fabrics this season are so simple to care for, every teen-ager can look as bright and beautiful as the summer itself.

Manners Make Friends

None of her friends ever hesitates to offer to take her places because she is always ready and waiting when they drive up. The person who has no car and is dependent on others for getting to places should make it a habit to be ready on the dot.

Mrs. Richard Tenant Honored Guest At Post-Wedding Bridal Shower

(Special to The News)

LEFORS — Mrs. Richard Tenant was honored with a post-nuptial bridal shower Tuesday night, in the Lefors Civic Center.

As the guests arrived, they were registered by Miss Shiela Cable.

To open the affair a movie of the wedding ceremony and reception was shown by Mrs. Nina Wetzel, the photographer of the film. Hostesses for the occasion were Misses Becky Burress, Barbara Cody, Shiela Cable, Margie Nichols, Janie Nichols, and Mmes. Jeff Davis, J. B. Horn, Knox Nichols, Nina Wetzel, Monroe Boucher, Tom Florence, J. R. Sparkman, Bill Cody, J. J. Davis, H. E. Wetzel, R. R. Cable, W. B. Minter, Robert Howard, J. F. Morris, Claude Nichols, Larry Rider, and W. T. Braly.

A color scheme of orchid, pink and white was carried out throughout the receiving room. An arrangement of pink roses was placed on the piano.

A huge table covered in an orchid cloth displayed the gifts, which the honoree opened, assisted by her grandmother, Mrs. Leo Payne and Mrs. Jeff Davis. The gifts were registered by Misses Margie and Janie Nichols.

The honoree was presented a corsage of silver measuring cups and spoons arranged with orchid and pink ribbon and streamers.

The serving table was laid in a white lace cloth centered with a miniature bride and groom arranged on an orchid and white base and standing beneath an arch of pink roses. The candles were white trimmed in orchid ribbon.

The white cake decorated with pink roses was served by Miss Barbara Cody with Miss Becky Burress presiding at the punch bowl assisted by Miss Shiela Cable. Crystal dishes filled with nuts and candy mints were on either side of the centerpiece. Plate favors were tiny net bags filled with rice in harmony with the color scheme.

Those present were Misses Marlene Cates, Sylvia Tennant, Betty Fanno, Darlene Ford, Jean Stracener, Janis Dummam, Peggy McCarley, and Mmes. Earl Casey, Jack Prather, A. L. Michael, Launa Hill, D. S. SALMON CROQUETTES not only will make a culinary hit with guests but can be prepared and stored well in advance.

Salmon Croquettes Can Be Prepared Well In Advance

By GAYNOR MADDOY
NEA Food and Markets Editor

When company is expected to dinner, prepare as much food as possible in advance.

SALMON CROQUETTES
(6 servings)

CROQUETTES:
2 cups water
2 cups rolled oats (quick or old fashioned, uncooked)
2 cups flaked salmon (1-lb. can), drained
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon paprika

BREADING:
1/2 cup fine bread crumbs
1 egg beaten
2 tablespoons milk

CHEESE SAUCE:
1 can cream of celery soup
1/2 cup milk
1 cup (about 1/2 lb.) cubed processed cheese.

For croquettes, stir rolled oats into boiling water and cook slowly for 5 minutes, stirring frequently. Combine cooked oatmeal, flaked salmon, lemon juice and seasonings thoroughly. Chill; shape into 12 croquettes.

Roll croquettes in dry bread crumbs; then dip in egg wash (made by combining beaten egg, milk). Roll again in crumbs. Place croquettes in wire basket. Fry in hot, deep fat (375 degrees F.) until golden brown.

For the cheese sauce, place soup, milk and cheese in saucepan; cook over very low heat or in double boiler, stirring frequently until cheese melts. Serve hot over croquettes.

Tomorrow's Buffet Dinner: Salmon croquettes with cheese sauce, large bowl of mixed salad greens, oil and lemon juice dressing, basket of hard rolls, butter or margarine, fresh strawberry chiffon pie, coffee, tea, milk.

Alcoholism One Of Four Major Health Problems

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first in a series of dispatches on where we stand in the fight against alcoholism. It reports on the growing incidence of this affliction, and the scope of our efforts to control it.

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—Alcoholism today claims nearly 5 million victims in the United States. It ranks with heart disease, cancer and mental illness as one of our four major health problems.

America is spending millions to curb the other three diseases—and is getting results. But we have yet to launch an effective national fight against alcoholism. The number of alcoholics is growing at a rate of at least 100,000 a year.

These are some of the findings of a United Press survey into the status of the long-promised "counter-attack" against alcoholism.

The survey showed heartening progress in some areas—notably in new treatment techniques which today offer the alcoholic a bright prospect of recovery if he seeks competent help.

But it also showed that only a small percentage of alcoholics are receiving the treatment they need. There are still vast gaps in our knowledge about this affliction. And, in the words of Dr. William C. Menninger, the famous psychiatrist, "only a pittance of money is being devoted to changing the picture."

with it—are demonstrated in the following facts, supplied by the American Medical Assn., the National Institute of Mental Health, and state alcoholism agencies:

If you drink alcoholic beverages—and well over half of all American adults do—the statistical odds will become an alcoholic.

Medical Science now applies the diagnosis of alcoholism to a drinker who depends on alcohol to meet the ordinary demands of living and whose use of alcohol has begun to cause him serious problems at home or at work.

Others operate clinics and hospitals, and conduct research and public education services.

For the support of all of these programs, state legislatures last year voted a grand total of $3,823,100.

The number of patients treated by all state-supported facilities in 1956 was 22,906—or less than one out of every 200 of the nation's alcoholics.

drain, a human life that turns into a nightmare of hangovers, blackouts, broken promises and uncontrollable cravings.

But a minor part of the cost can be estimated. Wage losses attributed to alcoholism amount to 432 million dollars a year. When you add in higher crime and accident rates, law enforcement and medical expenses, authorities consider 1 billion dollars a year a conservative figure for the direct, countable cost of alcoholism.

And what are we spending to combat this menace? The one-word answer suggested by the United Press survey is "peanuts." Thirty-three states and the District of Columbia now have official alcoholism programs. Some of them exist mainly on paper.

Others operate clinics and hospitals, and conduct research and public education services.

For the support of all of these programs, state legislatures last year voted a grand total of $3,823,100.

The number of patients treated by all state-supported facilities in 1956 was 22,906—or less than one out of every 200 of the nation's alcoholics.

The research picture is equally bleak. A check of major federal, state and private agencies turned up a total annual outlay of less than $700,000 for scientific studies of alcoholism. This is only one-fifth as much as the Agriculture Department spends each year for research on foot-and-mouth disease in cattle.

Decision On Russia Is Sought Today

By BRUCE MUNN
United Press Staff Correspondent
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—Diplomats from 29 nations meet here today to decide whether to ask the General Assembly for further action on Russia's brutal suppression of the Hungarian revolt.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. invited representatives of the other 23 nations who sponsored last week's report on Hungary, along with spokesmen of the five countries who prepared it, to a meeting this afternoon.

Representatives of several nations, most notably Australia, have urged that the assembly be recalled to consider the revelations of shocking Soviet brutality contained in the 150,000-word report.

The United States is believed to oppose the recall of the assembly at this time, partly because a mid-summer session probably would attract only second-string delegates from most countries and partly because the propaganda value of a Hungary debate would be greater later in the year.

The U.S. feeling is said to be that new consideration of the Hungary situation should be deferred until about Sept. 1—just before the new assembly convenes—so that the foreign ministers who customarily attend the opening of an assembly session might be on hand.

Venom Of Cobra Is Not Pain Reliever

By DELOS SMITH
United Press Science Editor
NEW YORK (UP)—The "double blind" test, which is used by scientists in seeking unchallengeable truth, has tested the poisonous venom of the cobra as a pain-reliever in human beings and found it wanting.

It also provided additional proof that there is a quirk in human nature which permits people to "give up" their plans, in order to please some person who is sympathetic, understanding and trying to do something to help them.

For some 25 years there have been reports that a very little cobra venom had the magical power to relieve pain from such undoubted pain-causers as arthritis and cancer.

Defense Goes To Work In Trial Of Army Colonel

By WILLIAM TUCKER
United Press Staff Correspondent
HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (UP)—The defense attempts to show today that Col. John C. Nickerson had only the best interests of the Army at heart when he let out secret data about a missile flight.

His attorneys began presenting evidence to show mitigating circumstances in Nickerson's admitted violation of Army regulations against leaking secret missile information to unauthorized persons.

Nickerson pleaded guilty to a 15-count charge of violation of Army regulations Tuesday after the Army had withdrawn a charge involving espionage and perjury.

Light Sentence Sought
The much decorated veteran of World War II could be sentenced to anything from a reprimand to 30 years in prison, heavy fines and dismissal. The defense hopes to keep the sentence to the minimum.

"PIN" - UP GAL — Glamor-grandma Marlene Dietrich says she calls her famous legs her "safety pins." "They've held me at the top in show business for years." They were doing all right 'way back in 1950 (above) when she was celebrating 20 years in show business.

Roadrunners Nip Perryton Here, 3-2

Two Winning Runs Scored In Ninth Inning Rally

A two-run rally in the ninth inning gave the Pampa Roadrunners a 3-2 victory over the Perryton Pioneers last night in a game played at Oiler Park. The Pioneers took an early lead in the third inning when Roadrunner pitcher Frog Ramsey allowed one walk and two hits, allowing Perryton to score their only two runs of the game. Cecil Reynolds replaced Ramsey during the third and quelled the rally. In the seventh inning the Roadrunners pushed across their first run when third baseman Clark rapped a single, followed by Larsen who reached first base off a Pioneer error. Clark then scored the single tally on the ground ball hit by Molberg. Both teams were then held scoreless until the ninth inning when, with on out, Newt Sechrist gained first base on another Roadrunner error. Haynes, the next man up, reached first on a fielder's choice that put Sechrist out at second and considerably dimmed the Roadrunners' hopes for the needed runs. Pitcher Reynolds, however, proved to be the clutch hitter of the evening by pelting a single that brought in the tying run. Third baseman Jimmy Wanner then drove a hard ground ball and a momentary fumble by the Pioneers second baseman allowed Wanner to first and brought in the winning run. Pitcher Ramsey of the Roadrunners, when replaced, had 4 strike outs, 3 hits and 2 walks, and is charged with both Perryton Runs. In the remainder of the game Reynolds struck out 10, walked 1, and allowed only 2 hits. Charged with the loss for Perryton is Savage, who struck out 11, allowed 5 hits and only one walk during the game. Gaining hits for the Roadrunners were Taylor, Seltz, Clark, Parish and Ramsey, all with one hit each. For the Pioneers it was Urban, Hillman, Savage, Perkins and Keys.

This was the third game of the season for the Roadrunners and their second win. They previously defeated the Pioneers at Perryton 9-6, and dropped their second tilt to the Amarillo Coors, 15-11. Next scheduled game is Friday night when the Perryton team will again play the Roadrunners in Oiler Park.

Indians Crush Yanks, 11-2; Sox Regain Lead

Tried Everyone But Balboy, But They're Back In First

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer
The White Sox have tried everyone at first base but the batboy, so maybe it's only poetic justice that they're back on top again because of a guy who feels he should have been given the job in the first place.

His name is Walt Drogo, and chances are you've heard of him because they were comparing him with Jimmie Fox and Hank Greenberg when he first arrived in the majors way back in 1949.

Somewhat he never quite made it "big," however, and with the White Sox he was low man on the totem pole among three other first basemen this spring. But Tuesday night it was his two-run homer in the seventh inning that broke up a scoreless pitching duel between Bob Keegan and Dave Sisler and gave the White Sox a 2-1 victory over the Red Sox that enabled them to take over the American League lead again from the Yankees by half a game.

In a way, it was vindication for the 6-foot-5 Drogo, who has been forced to sit around this season while Jim Rivera, Dave Philley and Earl Torgerson were given a shot at the first base job. The homer run was his ninth of the season, one more than he hit all last year.

Keegan held the Red Sox to six hits in snapping their six-game winning streak. Cleveland registered its fourth victory in a row by crushing the Yankees, 11-2; Baltimore handed Kansas City its sixth straight defeat, 5-0, and Detroit rallied for three runs in the 10th inning to defeat Washington, 7-4.

Cincinnati climbed into a virtual tie for the National League lead with the idle Cardinals by beating the Giants, 3-2; Brooklyn blanked Milwaukee, 2-0, and Chicago climbed out of the cellar with a 5-3 triumph over Pittsburgh.

Southpaw Don Mossi checked the Yankees on eight hits while his teammates collected 12, including a two-run homer by Russ Nixon and a grand slam wallop by Rocky Colavito. Mossi held the Yanks at bay in every inning but the second when Andy Carey hit a two-run homer. Tom Sturdivant was the loser.

Ex-Dodger Billy Loes came through with a brilliant three-hit effort for the Orioles, retiring the first 16 batters in order. It was Loes' eighth victory against three defeats. Bob Boyd raised his batting average to .350 with three hits for Baltimore.

Reliever Harry Byrd, just brought up from the minors, was credited with the Tigers' victory when they hammered Tru Clevenger for three runs in the 10th. Bill Tuttle drove in the tie-breaking run. Teammate Charlie Maxwell hit two homers.

Klu Spels Ofference
Ted Kluszewski's pinch single off Red Worthington with the bases first and two out in the ninth boosted the Redlegs to within five percentage points of the Cardinals. Brooks Lawrence gave up only four hits, including a homer to Danny O'Connell, in registering his eighth victory. Until the ninth Cincinnati's only two runs off Giant starter Ray Crone were the result of home runs by Smoky Burgess in the second inning and the fourth.

Duke Snider's 18th homer in the first inning was all the margin rookie Danny McDewitt of the Dodgers needed to beat Lew Burdette. Both pitchers gave up only four hits, the Dodgers adding an insurance run in the ninth on Snider's single, Johnny Logan's error and a single by Gino Cimoli.

Jack Littrell's two-run homer in the second inning put the Cubs in front of the Pirates to stay and Dale Long and Walt Moryn followed with circuit blows for Chicago. All three homers came at the expense of Bob Friend, who suf-

Little, Pony League Results

Eastern Little League play yesterday afternoon the Cabot Carbon team defeated the Duncan Insurance Agency, 4 to 2. Batteries for Duncan Insurance were Langwell and Miller and for Cabot were Price and Fritz. Langwell was tagged for the loss and Price was credited with the win.

Western Little League play in the Utility Oil & Supply Co. team defeated the Wilson Drug Pill-rollers, 10 to 2. Batteries for the Pill-rollers were Hickey and Middleton and for the Utility Oil & Supply Co. were Matson and Stora. Matson was credited with the win and Hickey was credited with the loss. Three home runs were hit by Utility with Jesse Washington, R. L. Harris and Don Robinson showing the power at the plate.

Pony League
In Pony League play yesterday afternoon the Pampa Glass & Paint team defeated the Cree Drilling Company team, 11 to 8. Batteries for Cree Drilling were Stroud and Hazel and for Pampa Glass & Paint were Scott and Garren. Scott was credited with the win with Stroud taking the loss. Home runs were hit for Pampa Glass & Paint by Jim Scott and George Duke.

Teen-Age League
At Harvester Park yesterday afternoon the Celanese team defeated the C. R. Hoover Oil Co. team by the score of 14 to 8. Batteries for Celanese were Campbell & Eckroat and for the Hoover team were Phillips, Duke and Cox. Campbell was credited with the win and Phillips was tagged for the loss.

At Teen-Age Park the Atlas Tank Company team defeated the Pampa Daily News team, 27 to 0. Batteries for Atlas Tank were Williams and Conway and for the News were Glover, Brown, Dunham and Shipp. Williams was credited with the win, with Glover taking the loss.

Tom Rose Defeats Hoffman
In Farm League action yesterday Tom Rose downed Hoffman 13-12 in a game played at Lamar school field.

Gary Graves was winning hurler for Tom Rose, and Stone was charged with the loss for Hoffman.

Reliever Harry Byrd, just brought up from the minors, was credited with the Tigers' victory when they hammered Tru Clevenger for three runs in the 10th. Bill Tuttle drove in the tie-breaking run. Teammate Charlie Maxwell hit two homers.

fered his seventh defeat. Reliever Dave Hillman was the winning pitcher as the Cubs took over seventh place by eight percentage points over the Pirates.

Second Putting Tourney Set For Tomorrow Night

Pampa's second putting tournament, sponsored by the Ladies Golf Association, will be held tomorrow night at Pampa Country Club, announced Hart Warren, Country Club pro.

The first tourney, held last week, was especially successful, with 58 contestants competing. Both men and women competed in the first tourney and it is stressed that all are eligible and invited. Those competing should sign up before 7:30 at the latest, and contestants will draw for partners before play begins.

Winners last week were Don Prigmore and Jerry Poston, runners-up were DeLoa Vicars and L. E. Chisum. Consolation winners were Jim Harvey and George Casey.

BOSTON (UP)—The New York Giants and the Green Bay Packers will play an exhibition football game at Boston University Field, Sept. 7.

Magnolia, Lefors Win Softball Tilts

In Industrial League softball play Monday night Magnolia defeated Celanese, 3-2, and Lefors downed Sinclair, 8-4.

Winning pitcher for Magnolia was Martin Honig. Charged with the loss for Celanese was Truman Cooper.

Trailing in the sixth inning, Waycoff pitched a double that drove in the winning runs for Magnolia. For Lefors it was Collingworth on the mound to receive the win against Brown, who was credited with Sinclair's loss.

See actual road-test proof! DODGE outperforms "other two" low-priced trucks!

They're off! All three low-priced trucks are lined up at the bottom of a test grade equal to the steepest hill in San Francisco. The flag drops, and this grueling test of climbing power is officially underway. Dodge takes an early lead.

Halfway up. The extra V-8 power under the hood of the Dodge sends it quickly ahead. It's already two lengths out front. And there's a 1000-lb. test load on each one of these comparably equipped trucks. What's more, Dodge is still gaining!

Dodge flashes past the finish five lengths ahead of competition. Truck "C" and truck "F" just couldn't match that 204-hp. Power Giant. And this is just one of a rugged series of tests that prove Dodge is best of the low-priced three.

Your Dodge truck dealer has proof that Dodge leads in many ways. Come in... see other certified test-photo sequences... and take a demonstration ride!

Do-It-Yourself Town

For a bit of inspiration in this world grown dependent on big government we have only to turn to the town of Lawrence, Mass. This particular community, which one time prided itself on being the "woolen capital of the world," got itself into financial difficulties because of union manipulations.

The big textile mills in Lawrence employed at one time about 31,000 people. The community was known as a "one-industry" town. When the woolen trade was coming so did Lawrence boom. And when the doldrums overtook the industry, things lagged and grew static.

But, in recent years, with the textile unions grasping ever more strength and power, the ownership of the textile firms began to look about for some place in the country where textile operations could be conducted without such outright brigandage against them as they were experiencing. To no one's surprise, the management discovered that it could operate the mills in the South without quite so much aggressive violence against the operation. Consequently, after one particularly difficult assault with the labor bosses, the management up and pulled the textile mills right out of town.

The disaster to Lawrence can well be imagined. Its specialization in the woolen industry, in which it has at no time taken pride, now became its all too apparent weakness.

In this dilemma, many a politician would have run seeking the nation's capital, demanding that federal aid be forthcoming instantly. But some way, that sturdy New England spirit rose up and called a halt to that type of procedure. The people of Lawrence wanted to pull the town out of its financial slough without help from Uncle Sam.

This is not to imply that all the people of Lawrence avoided the federal route. Some tried to take it. But after a year of vainly ringing congressional doorbells the local businessmen gave it up as a bad job. Instead, they decided that they could lift the town up by its own boot straps so they took hold themselves. The consensus of opinion had it that all that was needed was some substitute industries to take the place of the now departed milling.

The chamber of commerce took a leading role in the promotional scheme and the city fathers themselves got behind the movement, although to their credit it is noted that while they did appropriate some tax money for the effort, the funds they thus employed were small and on hand for emergencies.

An advertising campaign was launched in national magazines. It was pointed out that Lawrence had available at once something like 12 million square feet of floor space in the silent mills, an abundant supply of labor, and bargain rates for the new firms. No tax exemptions were offered as bait, but the tax assessments on the quiet factories were toned down to make them more attractive.

The campaign began about 1952. A few firms came in and tested out the claims. Then a rush of firms to Lawrence began. Today there are more than 64 new industries employing thousands of workers and the unemployment problem has been reduced to a third of what it was. Meanwhile, still more industry is scheduled to move into the Lawrence area. A spaghetti manufacturer is about to move into one of the abandoned mills and the Sylvania-Corning Nuclear Corporation is expected to begin construction on a brand new $20 million plant which will employ at least 1000.

The future of Lawrence now looks very bright. Although the city is still listed as having a surplus of labor, the men who are working are generally finding that they are making more money now than they used to make in textiles, and they are getting it without quite so much union agitation.

Instead of being dependent upon a single giant industry, the reliability and steadiness of Lawrence is now related to its new key factor, diversification. Of course, the federal government is now thinking about spending some of our tax money to brighten the Lawrence picture.

But a good many of the citizens there are confident that they not only don't need that kind of help but quite frankly don't want it. Lawrence is thinking of itself as the "do-it-yourself" city. Would that there were more with the same type of thinking.

The Doctor Says

By EDGAR P. JORDAN, M. D.

Last year after discussing poison ivy, I received an interesting letter from Mr. T.

He said that when he was a boy he used to tease his playmates by whittling on a piece of poison ivy. If his friends came near they acquired the poison ivy rash. But it never affected him until his early 30's. Then he suffered badly from it on forearms and legs.

For treatment, he said, "I took an old case knife and scraped the little white blisters until they were all open. I had prepared a mixture of black gunpowder and sweet cream, skimmed off of fresh sweet milk and mixed it until it was a heavy liquid of almost the consistency of cold molasses. I smeared that on the recently scraped-open blisters.

"Naturally," he said, "it set me on fire somewhat."

This is interesting, but I should certainly not recommend such treatment to anyone else. The question of what to do about poison ivy, poison oak and poison sumac is a recurring problem to thousands and possibly millions of people each year. A bad case is no joke. Indeed, it has been estimated that some 350,000 people get into trouble with poison ivy each year. The total time lost runs around 6,000 days.

My first recommendation is that everyone should learn to recognize poison oak, ivy and sumac. Sensitive people should stay away from these plants, even the smoke when they are being burned. Those who think they are not sensitive should also be careful because they never know when their apparent resistance may leave.

If there is much chance of accidental exposure, clothing should be worn on those parts of the skin which may be exposed. This includes the use of gloves. Incidentally, the poison from these plants often rubs off on the clothing in sufficient quantities so that the clothing itself can cause skin trouble.

There are ointments or creams which are said to give a certain amount of protection, though I have no personal information on them. If one knows of exposure immediately, probably the best thing is to wash the exposed skin carefully with soap and water several times. Follow each washing with careful rinsing. If this is done soon enough after exposure it may prevent more serious difficulty.

BETTER JOBS

"God's Psychiatry"

I am indebted to a reader, Mrs. Cecil Hamilton, for sending me a copy of "God's Psychiatry" by Charles L. Allen. As the name implies, the book deals with the soul or mind or will of God.

In sending the book she said it was her birthday. That she would rather give gifts than receive them on that day. That certainly is a lovely spirit.

This book contains The Twenty-third Psalm, The Ten Commandments, The Lord's Prayer and The Beatitudes. It quotes them and clarifies the different parts of these great moral laws.

I never appreciated The Twenty-third Psalm as much as I did when I read Allen's explanation. He painted a very vivid picture of the parable of the Lord "being my shepherd." One cannot get the beauty and clarity of this Psalm unless he better understands the nature of sheep and the environment that led to The Twenty-third Psalm.

For instance, he explains that the real meaning of "He leadeth me beside the still waters" is that sheep will not drink in running streams if they can drink where water is still. They are so afraid and timid that they prefer to drink by the side of still waters.

In the Commandment "They shall not make unto thee any graven image," he points out how we tend to make God a God who doesn't care what we do. It seems to me that that applies to a lot of people who want to disobey the Decalogue.

He says we turn our backs on God, who said, "Whoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap." (Galatians 6:7).

Mr. Allen further says: "It has been well pointed out that Christ was not crucified because He said, 'Consider the lilies, how they grow,' but rather because He said, 'Consider the thieves, how they steal.'"

I am not able to find this part of the author's quotation crediting Christ with saying, "Consider the thieves, how they steal." If anybody can find it, I will be under obligation to them.

The nearest I can find anything that might justify that statement is John 10:8: "All that ever come before me are thieves and robbers: but the sheep did not hear them."

It seems to me that the quotation above is not a very accurate interpretation of John 10:8.

I was rather disappointed in his explanation of The Lord's Prayer. It did not seem to bother him that his translation requires the man repeating The Lord's Prayer to ask the Lord to "lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil." It is always hard for me to believe that man should be petitioning his God not to lead him into temptation.

I much prefer the translation in the New Testament by George M. Lamsa of The Lord's Prayer. He makes this petition read: "And do not let us enter into temptation, but deliver us from error." That, it seems to me, puts the blame of errors on oneself rather than on God.

He has a couple of gems under the "Thou shalt not steal" Commandment. He explains the vice of thinking only of oneself by a little verse quoting a little girl who said:

"I gave a little party this afternoon in all, just I, myself and me. Myself ate up all the sandwiches, while I drank up the tea, and I was I who ate the pie, and passed the cake to me."

He explains in this Commandment that we are really stewards of our property. And he explains how we give reverence to God for this stewardship in this manner: "But how can I give to God what is rightfully His? There is only one way; that is in service to others. So, the positive meaning of 'Thou shalt not steal' is consecrated service, both of my material resources and of my life. Bernard Shaw once said, 'A gentleman is one who puts more into life than he takes out.'"

Bernard Shaw certainly did condense man's responsibility to his fellowman in a concise manner.

Congress Gaining Back Power Lost Under FDR

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Capitol Hill is now engaged as rarely before in a battle with the White House for control of public opinion on problems normally reserved for Presidential action and guidance — Federal finances and foreign affairs. It marks a radical change in the relationship between the two arms of the government.

Congress, and especially the Senate, has discovered that it possesses a weapon grown rusty through long disuse in recent years. The great nationally known and respected figures in the legislative body find that they enjoy as much influence on public sentiment as the occupant of the White House.

There have been many battles for public favor between the Congress and the White House in the past. But these have been conflicts over minor policies and personalities in most instances; they were only superficial trials of strength. They involved toe-to-toe debate and defiance. They were skirmishes.

AN IMPORTANT TEST — Today's controversy is entirely different. It is more serious, more subtle, more persistent. The outcome may have a lasting effect on the power of the President to control Congress through his prestige or his overhead appeals to the people.

Today's test is more important than previous jousts for other reasons. The legislators are defying President Eisenhower over the question on which he is supposed to be an expert — appropriations for national defense and foreign aid.

Ike has accepted the challenge by taking to television, by frequent public statements and by private exhortation with Congressional recalcitrants. As of today, however, it appears that he is fighting against popular and political odds.

VETERAN, EXPERT LEGISLATORS — Ike is learning that when a veteran like Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia declares for a huge budget cut, many people rely on the Senator's statements and figures. When other experts oppose the President on areas where they are recognized as authorities, they command respect and support.

The most striking demonstration at the moment is the growing demand for improved relations with Communist China — greater freedom for trade, if not actual diplomatic recognition and admission to the United Nations.

There is, of course, a deep prejudice against such a reversal of policy inside and outside the Administration. Led by Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, however, a relatively large faction of Democrats and Republicans has begun to exert pressure on public and official opinion.

STREAMLINED PROPAGANDA

They have devised and streamlined their own counter-propaganda system. They resort to radio and television on one or more of the weekly panels. They write regular letters to influential constituents, which is a fairly new development. They hold daily conferences with national correspondents or with friendly representatives from their home city and state newspapers. These regional press sessions are growing in importance and value.

Not is this strategy unplanned and unco-ordinated. The Congressmen interested in forcing a change in Administration policy meet regularly to arrange their attack. Each is given a subject to propandize on or off the floor, and a time for carrying out his assignment. There is no time waste or conflict or confusion.

Senator Johnson handles the work on the Democratic side, while Senator Styles Bridges, New Hampshire Republican, operates among GOP-ers. They do not always agree, but in general they line up against the White House.

PUBLIC REACTION TELLING ON ADMINISTRATION — They insist that they see signs of Administration weakening as a result of public reaction to their activities. Ike has made several concessions on his budget for military and diplomatic items. There have been official suggestions of a reconsideration of our China policy. In line with Congress — aroused sentiment, there has been a stiffening of our attitude toward Moscow.

In short, the era during which aggressive Presidential figures like F.D.R. and Truman dominated

BID FOR A SMILE

Abe Lincoln was a simple man with honest generous impulses. When he was a candidate for the legislature, it was the practice at that date in Illinois for two rival candidates to travel over the district together. The custom led to much good-natured rivalry between them.

On one occasion he had driven out from Springfield in company with a political opponent to engage in joint debate. The carriage, it seems, belonged to his opponent. In addressing the gathering of farmers that met them, Lincoln was lavish in praise of the generosity of his friend.

To feel themselves in the presence of true greatness many men find it necessary only to be alone.

The mountaineer abruptly withdrew his six youngest children from school.

He stormed at the teacher who came to investigate.

Mountaineer — You don't learn them kids nothin', that's why. Here read.

He produced a battered letter. It was from the dean of the college. "But it says, 'your son should make his mark in the world (reading aloud).'"

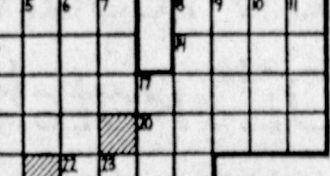

Father (shouting) — That's it! 'you see? Fourteen years of schoolin' and he can't even write his own name!

Junior — Pop, give me a definition for an efficiency expert.

Dad — That would be a guy who holds a toothbrush in his mouth while watching a tennis match.

American Drugstore, One Of Our Great Institutions

By HENRY McLEMORE

NEW YORK, N.Y. — As a returnee from a long stay abroad, I would like to tip my cap (as a deerstalker job which I picked up in London), to that fabulous institution, the American drugstore.

There is nothing like it anywhere else in the world, and I never really feel that I am back home until I go into one.

It is a typical of modern America as the general store was to our grandfathers, and about ten times as exciting.

I can think of no other institution in America that is so utterly and completely U.S.A. No, not even a ball park, or a movie theatre, or a Detroit automobile factory.

On display and for sale in most drugstores is at least one of about everything we have in this country. Name it and a clerk will find it. Medicine, soft drinks, bathing caps, automobile tires, clocks, seat cushions, flashlights, ham s and d, wiches, aspirin, greeting cards, ties, socks, handkerchiefs, perfume, shaving cream, fishing rods, and chewing gum.

Multiply that list by a thousandfold and you still would not have an inventory of a big American drugstore. We are a noisy people, and drugstores are noisy. We are a swift people, and drugstore clerks are swift, making a triple-decker sandwich in half a minute.

We are gregarious people, and a drugstore is a friendly meeting place. We're a busy people, and a drugstore is nothing if not busy.

Europe has nothing that comes close to approximating our drugstores. There, if you want drugs you go to this type of shop. If you want a soft drink you go to another.

Neuberger Wants Law To Eliminate Billboards

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Senator Richard L. Neuberger has offered a bill to permit the Secretary of Commerce to restrict highway advertisements, herein after called billboards, on a labyrinth of boulevards which the people of the states will pay for plus an impost of graft and nefarious waste inevitable to federal intrusion in affairs which are none of the government's business. The political juxtaposition of this remarkably vulgar fellow and a state already afflicted with Wayne Morse if poetic justice, although, as Morse bids his time, the White House cabal more and more vindicates his apostasy from the Republican party. The party elected him on his false pretense that he was a Republican, but Morse now may answer that the party was guilty of the same fraud. For proof, he may point to Eisenhower's choice of three Democrats for his cabinet so far and a stealthy apparatus of parasitic transom — workers, all from the leftward of Eleanor Roosevelt.

Ike has found ten thousand sinucures for as many such unemployed, all over the world.

Neuberger is a worthy heir of the ribald culture of the Roosevelt regime and household. His initial public address in Washington, delivered to a convocation of leathery veterans whose quails of taste and politeness long since had withered to the follicles, aroused in the national press club the first faint sensation of embarrassed modesty recorded in 25 years. So it is no over — statement to say that Neuberger serves Oregon right.

It is now alleged in a general way that sinister elements are opposing Neuberger's crusade to prevent greedy owners of land and vendors of wares from defacing the landscape with billboards. I am too abrupt to be called sinister, but saving his petty reservation, I join this wicked host.

There is not enough money in the whole country, including the national debt, to shut out the scenery of more than a petty fraction of the mileage of these highways. Moreover, these views are commonplace to the locals many of whom would prefer the billboards, the more so in consideration of the rents receivable from the outdoor advertising firms. This is their property and the billboards, as an esthetic whole, are things of beauty by contrast with architectural horrors which millions of baby — havin' husbandmen have strewn across the middle — country, especially Illinois. The red — and — yellow checkers er. If you want lipstick or shaving lotion you go to still another kind. Drugstore clerks, particularly those who work behind the fountains are a breed apart. Gossipy, friendly, chatty, they make acquaintances of strangers and friends of acquaintances.

Of all the places I have visited since I got home from Europe, none gave me the warm-all-over-feeling that I got from walking into a big drugstore on 42nd St.

Everything that was familiar was on display, the smell of the place was just as drugstores have always smelled and the sounds were as natural to my ear as that of wind in trees.

It was good to spin the paper-backed book stands, to see Two-for-One bargains in toothpaste and shaving lather and to be tempted by a thousand and one little novelties ranging from fishing knives to six-for-a-dollar ball — point pens.

The same gaudy signs advertising the day's food specials were there. Hot turkey sandwiches with mashed potatoes and cranberry sauce. Triple — decker cheeseburgers with cole slaw, and a special dinner of Virginia ham with raisin sauce, etc.

Tucked away back in the corner, barely discernible, was the drug counter that gave the store its name. The druggist didn't look as if he belonged in such a whirling place.

Everybody has made jokes about the modern drugstore and about how ridiculous it is for a drugstore to sell everything from plows to hair nets.

But just go away for awhile, to some place where there aren't such lovely, mad stores and you'll learn to appreciate them.

Children's Book Expert Plugs TV As Aid To Growing Youth

(TV-RADIO) By WILLIAM EWALD United Press Staff Correspondent NEW YORK (UP)—Sunshine, oatmeal and rich old uncles aren't the only things good for growing kids. TV is, too.

At least that's the word from Mrs. Nora Kramer, author, lecturer and adviser to publishers in the field of children's books. Mrs. Kramer, a member of the Children's Book Council of the Child Study Assn. of America, feels TV stimulates reading and provides a healthy release for small fry.

"Anyone who says that TV is killing off reading among children is just uninformed," bristled Mrs. Kramer. "Studies on this thing have been made in libraries all over the country and they show just the opposite.

"Nature and science books are very big now among children and much of this impetus comes from TV shows. Biographies are in demand by children because of their exposure to hero-type adventure stories on TV. Shows like 'Disneyland' and 'Robin Hood' constantly stimulate reading.

"Fairly Tales A Success "Up until this past year, tales of fantasy were moving very slowly. But suddenly fairy tale books have become hugely successful. Why? Well, in the past year TV has turned to many fairy tales for its spectaculars."

Mrs. Kramer, who has three children and five grandchildren, brushes off those who decry violence in children's shows. "I'm not a pussyfoot about it," she said. "I don't object to adventure stories with lots of action. Action provides a release for

An Approximate 93,000 Children Adopted Each Year

By GAY PAULEY United Press Staff Correspondent NEW YORK (UP)—Each year approximately 93,000 children are adopted in this country. But another 300,000 need homes.

Carl and Helen Doss, parents of a dozen adopted children, call these 300,000 the "lost"—because they are passed from one unwilling relative to another or placed in private schools, boarded out and forgotten.

"We cannot be smug and say that our present-day haphazard methods and laws of child care are adequate so long as they allow such tragedies to beset the lives of our future citizens," said the couple.

Their estimate of the number of children in need of parents is given in their new book, "If You Adopt A Child." Doss, a Methodist minister, and his wife took into their home 12 children considered "unadoptable" at the time, primarily because of mixed race. The children are six to 16 years of age and according to their parents have "brought...the greatest in gifts—love."

Book Tells Of Family They told of their own family in an earlier book. The Dosses, who live with their brood in Redlands, Calif., call their new work the only complete adoption guide yet to appear. Certainly the two cover the field—from the history of adoption in this country (Massachusetts was the first state to permit legal adoption with a law passed in 1851) to advice on where to turn if you want to adopt ("The agency nearest your home").

"They believe an adopted child should know his heritage "and he should be told as soon as he is old enough to understand." Close friends and relatives also should know.

"But otherwise," said the couple, "There is no more reason to go around declaring that your child is adopted than there is for you to go around declaring to all and sundry that you are married, a Democrat and member of the Masonic Lodge."

Man, when you've just got to use $480 to meet some unexpected expense, like hospital or dental or a car overhaul or something it can look like $480,000, can't it? But wait, now. Just get on your bicycle and get yourself down here, and let US consolidate those bills. We know all about your kind of troubles—we see 'em all day long. And LOOK: $24.85 is not a lot of money, is it? Well, $24.85 repays that $480 S.I.C. loan (24 months)—of course, subject to usual credit regulations. Man, hurry down, give out with your own—SOS-SIC S.I.C. LOANS Southwestern Investment Co. Phone MO 4-8477 201 N. Frost Pampa

COOL COWBOY—That's the name for this fearless hombre from Beverly Hills, Calif. Known in less western moments as Bobbie Schwartz, the boy has found a way to beat the "bad guy"—and the heat—to the draw.

Heavy rainfall is expected to pelt most of the nation. The northeastern section will have light rain, as will the southwest. Moderate precipitation is expected in an area extending from the Great Lakes down through the Carolinas to the coast, and from lower Texas to the California coast.

Six-Shooters Blazing Away On The Television Screens

By ALINE MOSBY United Press Hollywood Writer HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Six-shooters are blazing away on the TV range. Now that Hugh (Wyatt Earp) O'Brien has done rock n'roll on television, Jim ("Gunsmoke") Arness blasts that he thinks such antics are "disillusioning."

Lumbering, 6' 6" Arness once was under personal contract to John Wayne, resembles him and admittedly patterns his career after the veteran screen hero. That doesn't include stepping out of character to sing rock n'roll or calypso—or even endorsing kiddie merchandise, Arness says.

"It may be fine for other actors, and I don't mean to condemn them, but it's not for me," Arness said heatedly on the set where he's working in next season's CBS "Gunsmoke" series.

"If fans see you as a certain kind of guy, and if you suddenly come out and do something contrary such as rock 'n' roll, it shocks people," he said. "Producers may notice that this guy is versatile. But the fans say, 'What is Marshal Matt Dillon doing with rock 'n' roll?'"

"Did you ever see Wayne or Gary Cooper doing rock n' roll?" Handsome Arness, an ex-laborer, carpenter and salesman before he began working as a movie actor in 1949, only hit the big money after becoming the star of "Gunsmoke."

Although he has a wife and three children to support, he consistently turns down a small fortune in offers to appear on TV variety shows and to endorse commercial products.

The market is flooded with Elvis Presley lipsticks, Roy Rogers shirts, Gene Autry jackets and Wyatt Earp guns, but you won't find any Jim Arness or Matt Dillon items.
