City, County Seek Time For Decision

An extension of 30 days in which to give an answer to the US Forest Service on whether Pampa, Gray County, or the two governments together, will accept Lake McClellan was requested yesterday afternoon in a letter sent to the Albuquerque, N.M., office of the Forest Service by Bruce Parker, county judge, and Fred Brook, city manager.

A deadline of July 1 had been specified for an answer when the service originally offered to give the lake site to the City of Pampa. The city and county have been checking on the possibility of the two governments taking over the lake and operating it as a recreational site for residents of the area.

The terms of the gift of the lake by the government specified that the spillway and dam would have to be repaired. Considerable damage has been done to the spillway and dam by floods from heavy rains coming down a small creek that flows into McClellan Creek near the spillway and dam on the north side.

An engineer has been obtained by the city and county and is making a study of the damage and comparing it with original plans of the dam to determine the cost of making the repairs necessary to replace the dam in its original condition.

As soon as the report on the cost of the repairs is available, the City Commission and County Commissioners Court are to meet together to see if some arrangement can be worked out for the repair work and for the two governments to take over the lake site.

The request for the additional 30 days in which to make an answer was made so that a complete report could be obtained before a decision is reached by the two governments, Judge Parker and Brook stated.

Storm Signals Up At Disarm Meet

By WILLIAM SEXTON
United Press Staff Correspondent
LONDON (UP)—Reports that President Eisenhower might be having second thoughts on the wisdom of an immediate ban on nuclear tests sent up storm signals today at the London disarmament conference.

Harold E. Stassen was keeping the emphasis on conventional disarmament at today's session, but he was expected to put forth the American nuclear position soon.

Western delegates here received another firm warning Wednesday from Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin that any first step disarmament agreement must include a ban on tests.

Observers interpreted Eisenhower's latest declaration on the subject as an indication of a retreat from previous apparent willingness to meet the Russians on the issue.

Last week the President said he would be "perfectly delighted" to accept an immediate ban. Wednesday he appeared far less ready and emphasized instead the possibility of an "absolutely clean" H-bomb, that is, with no radioactive fall-out.

Stassen and his fellow Western delegates received a stern warning from the Russians about the Soviet determination to halt tests.

Norstad Blasted Again
According to a Moscow radio broadcast this morning Zorin told the delegates that "those who complicate the settlement of the question of ending atom and hydrogen weapon tests by various contrived conditions are, in effect, raising obstacles to and undermining the possibility of ending the nuclear arms race."

The Zorn statement was accompanied by another venomous Soviet attack on U.S. Gen. Lauris Norstad, the NATO commander, which outlined the Tuesday statements by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

Moscow radio said Norstad was a "cannibal" who spends his time dreaming "how to drop thousands of bombs on our country." It recalled that he was chief of staff of the World War II 20th Air Force which bombed Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

Bridge May Be Opened Next Week

The State Highway 273 bridge, five miles north of McLean, which was washed out by heavy spring rains, may be opened to traffic the latter part of next week.

According to highway engineers, the last bridge slab was poured yesterday. The approach slab is yet to be poured, however.

One piling and two bridge slabs plus the approach slab were washed out during the spring deluges.

The engineers allow the concrete to "cure" for seven days after being poured before traffic is admitted.

Glavin-Terrell Construction Company of Amarillo is doing the work.

This is the only highway bridge that is out in this area at the present. Several county bridges were washed out during the same rainy period, however.

JUST TESTING
Max Hukill (left) and George Whitten test their beards as a part of the rodeo booster stunt sponsored by the Jaycees. They will continue the facial growth until the Top of Texas Rodeo, Aug. 5-10. Jaycee members are selling "shaving permits" to those citizens wishing to remain clean-shaven during the period. Clean-shaven males without shaving permits are liable for a dunking in a pool to be installed soon. (News Photo)

Plant Identified As 'Poison Hemlock'

Marion E. Everhart, soil conservationist of the Panhandle area, was in Pampa today and reported that the plant taken from the yard of Mrs. Doty Warner, 1137 Terrace, on June 19 was definitely poison hemlock.

Everhart recommended that these plants be destroyed where found.

"It is not enough to just cut them, because the roots will produce another plant next year. They must be dug out," he said.

"It is very easy to confuse it (poison hemlock) with a native plant here — wild parsley," Everhart said.

Three Panhandle cities have reported hemlock plants this spring. They have been found in Pampa, Dalhart and Amarillo.

Juice from the hemlock plant can be fatal if the amount consumed is large enough. There is no known antidote for this poison.

The toxic danger is to children who chew on leaves or make whistles from the hollow stalks. One case was reported, according to Everhart, of two boys traveling through the Panhandle who made whistles from the stalks. They became so ill that they were taken to a hospital for observation.

Mrs. Warner's plant came from Colorado four years ago. It was very small until the rains came this spring, when it attained the height of about five feet.

The poison hemlock has no fuzz on the stem, and its green stem is dotted with small red patches. It produces a nauseous smell when rubbed together.

Tourist-Of-The-Day Program Is Set Here

The Tourist Development Committee of the Chamber of Commerce announced that a tourist-of-the-day program will be promoted August 7-10.

This is the date of the Top of Texas Rodeo.

During these four days, some lucky tourist couple will be "arrested" by the police or sheriff and be the guests of Pampa for a day.

Oliver Trimble, chairman of the committee, said that Pampa merchants had cooperated in the program and a number of free items and services will be extended.

The tourist for Wednesday, Aug. 7 will stay at the El Rancho Motel; have dinner at Johnson's Cafe; flowers from Clayton's Floral; have their car serviced at Trimble's Humble service station; and be entertained at the rodeo complete with free tickets, refreshments and dance passes. Wednesday's hosts will be Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Fite.

The agenda for Thursday will be: motel, Ranch House; dinner, Pampa Hotel; flowers, Parkers Floral; entertainment, Top of Texas rodeo; car service, Kitchen's Gulf; and hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Trimble.

Friday's schedule will be as follows: motel, El Capri; dinner, Poole's Drive-In; flowers, Robert's; entertainment, rodeo; car service, Vaughn and Roth Truck Service; and hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Crouch.

The concluding day will feature: motel, Murphy No. 2; dinner, Court House Cafe; flowers, Redman's Dahlia Gardens; entertainment, rodeo; car service, Bettis Texaco; and hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Carmon.

Barber Shop Burglary Is Reported

The burglary of the Hi-Way Barber Shop at 1011 Alcock was reported to the police department at 7:50 this morning.

The break-in was discovered by J. C. Schanzback, owner of the shop. He noticed that a window had been broken and reported it to the police.

Investigating officers reported that a coat hanger had been used to open a screen and that the window glass had been broken so that the window could be unlocked.

The officers reported that approximately $10 in change had been left in a drawer and that all of this change was missing with the exception of five dimes.

The officers were continuing the investigation late this morning.

Three Women Injured In Collision

Three women, one from Miami received injuries at 9:35 this morning when the two cars they were riding in were involved in a collision near the intersection of Highways 60 and 15 in Panhandle.

Injured were: Mrs. Cecil Gill of Miami; Mrs. Bell Nealey of Eldorado, Okla.; and Miss Sue Pearson of Peola, Okla. Mrs. Gill and Mrs. Nealey were passengers in a '55 Pontiac driven by Miss Oleta Gill of Miami, who was not injured.

Miss Pearson was a passenger in a 1949 Cadillac in which five other members of her family were riding. None of the others received injuries.

The three women were brought to Highland General Hospital in ambulances from the Poston Federal Home in Panhandle and late this morning were still being examined for the extent of their injuries.

The Justice Department tried to get around the ruling by an administrative order interpreting it narrowly. Attorney General Herbert R. Bownell Jr. instructed U.S. attorneys to make available only pertinent excerpts of pre-trial statements to the FBI by persons who had already appeared in court as government witnesses for the prosecution.

Several U.S. district judges have rejected this interpretation of the Jencks decision. Others went along with it or with modifications of it. New tests of its meaning are coming up nearly every day throughout the country.

French Mother Refuses To Give Up Girl Born To Another Woman

ROUBAIX, France (UP)—Mrs. Jeanne Plesset clung today to the seven-year-old girl a French court has ruled was born to another woman in a hospital baby mixup. She said she would never give her up.

The Lille Court ruled 12 days ago that the girl was born on Aug. 27, 1950, to Mrs. Derock Wahl and not Mrs. Plesset. Mrs. Plesset gave birth to a son, now being brought up by the Wahl family, and refuses to have anything to do with him.

Supreme Court Attacked As 'Aid To Commies'

By LEE NICHOLS
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—The Supreme Court was attacked today as an "aid and comfort" to Communism and defended as a co-equal branch of the government doing its part in safeguarding individual liberties.

The mounting controversy over recent court rulings brought with it new warnings of threats to law enforcement.

The FBI was reported ready to withdraw from prosecutions of espionage and certain other criminal cases if necessary to protect the secrecy of its files. The Justice Department urged laws to safeguard FBI files, and to establish new police procedures to prevent breakdown of prosecutions against hardened criminals.

Senate Debates On Court
The Senate exploded in debate on the court Wednesday. Views ranged from that of Sen. Strom Thurmond (D-S.C.) who charged the tribunal had "gone power wild," to Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.) who pleaded against "abuse of the highest tribunal of our land."

Rep. Donald L. Jackson (R-Calif.) in a speech prepared for House delivery today, denounced the high court's current course as "lending aid, comfort and assistance" to the Communist "enemy."

Ambering that June 11, when the high court ruled June 3, in the case of Clifton E. Jencks, a New Mexico labor union official,

The boy, Henri, and the girl, Viviane, were born in a maternity clinic the same night—the only babies born that night. It was not till the women reached home three days later did Mrs. Wahl learn that the children had been switched accidentally.

She started court proceedings immediately to win back her daughter, but Mrs. Plesset steadfastly refused to admit she had borne a son. The court proceedings dragged out nearly seven years.

two of the most disputed court rulings were issued, might be celebrated by Communists henceforth as a "red letter day." Jackson said Congress should protect its committees by special legislation or abolish them.

Jackson, a member of the committee on un-American activities, found himself sharply at variance with committee Chairman Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.).

Walter said Wednesday no new legislation is required to meet the Supreme Court's edict in the Watkins case, one of those delivered June 17. That decision said witnesses can refuse to answer committee questions unless the purpose of the inquiry is given and the relevancy of the questions shown.

Walter said recent San Francisco hearings of an un-American activities subcommittee showed the court's ruling could be followed without difficulty.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-N.Y.), in a speech prepared for the New York State Veterans of Foreign Wars convention at Rochester last so said it is "entirely practical" to guard against internal subversion while complying with high court rulings in the Watkins and other cases.

Fourth Chicago Youth Sentenced

CHICAGO (UP)—A fourth youth faced a lengthy prison term today in an apparent crackdown on Chicago teen-age killers.

Joseph Schwartz, 18, was sentenced Wednesday to 50 years in prison for the senseless bludgeon murder of a Negro boy.

Trial of Schwartz's 11 fellow gang members accused in the hammer slaying of Alvin Palmer, 17, began immediately.

Exactly a week ago, a Criminal Court jury sentenced three youths to terms ranging from 99 to 110 years for murdering a motel operator during a holdup spree.

and thus afforded him a Roman holiday for rummaging through confidential information as well as vital national secrets."

The FBI has not had to close shop yet, but Director J. Edgar Hoover and his staff are worried. If the Supreme Court edict stands and is interpreted broadly, they believe confidential informants will shy away from talking to the FBI for fear they will be quoted in court or called to testify.

If these sources of information dry up, the G-men will be seriously handicapped in tracking down federal law violators.

Federal narcotics agents, who work under Treasury Department supervision, also are appealing for legislation action to maintain the cloak of secrecy about their work. The Defense Department may be affected, too. Some lawyers interpret the ruling to mean the department must open up secret files of its counter-intelligence corps and criminal investigation agencies in loyalty, security and common criminal cases tried by court martial.

Hurricane Kills Ten Before Hitting Land

PORT ARTHUR, Tex. (UP)—Hurricane Audrey, which killed 10 persons before it ever touched land smashed into the Texas-Louisiana coast today. Its highest winds were estimated at more than 100 miles an hour.

It isolated whole towns with mountainous tides and crashing waves and knocked out electrical power in Beaumont and Port Arthur, two of the Texas Coast's largest cities.

The hurricane's center, according to the Port Arthur weather bureau, hit the Louisiana coast around Cameron shortly after 8 a. m. (cst). But hurricane-strength winds were reported as far west as Galveston, Tex., at least 140 miles down the coast from Cameron.

Crew Lost
As Audrey raged toward shore, it hurled a two-master fishing vessel, the Keturah, into an oil rig near Galveston. The Keturah went down with all nine crewmen on board. Another man was drowned Wednesday night off the Texas coast.

Deputy Sheriff L. D. Farrow at Port Arthur estimated that 50,000 persons either fled the city or took refuge in schools, churches and steel-framed buildings.

All except two families fled the little town of Sabine, Tex. — five stores and a population of 260 — south of Port Arthur. The two families, who lived south of the Keith Lake bridge, were cut off and officials were trying to get them out.

May Miss Triangle
The worst part of the storm appeared to be passing east of the rich manufacturing triangle of Beaumont - Port Arthur - Orange on the southeast Texas coast.

Maximum winds reported in Port Arthur were 72 miles an hour. At Galveston, the wind reached a velocity of 78 miles an hour. Waves were crashing over the seawall there and whitecaps were smacking against hotels.

Galveston is a resort city, southwest of the Beaumont - Port Arthur sector, where the worst hurricane on record killed 5,000-8,000 persons in September, 1900.

The weather bureau at Port Arthur said the wind would begin subsiding soon.

Hotel Locks Doors
It was feared, however, that conditions might be critical at Cameron, La., which was isolated hours before the center of the storm hit.

The storm terrified thousands of persons along the coast. One hotel in Port Arthur was so jammed with hurricane refugees that it couldn't hold any more and locked its doors.

The raging wind and rain stopped abruptly in Port Arthur for a few minutes and then started up again. The wind whirled tree limbs and huge pieces of tin across the streets. It blew the rain almost horizontally.

When power failed, all traffic lights went off. But few persons were out in the storm anyway. Only one radio station (KPAC) was in operation in Port Arthur.

It was taken over by the Civil Defense organization and broadcast nothing but warnings, messages and advisories.

Two Camps Isolated
Glass littered the streets at Galveston, more exposed than other cities along the Texas coast. Fleets of trucks were trailing residents out of a new residential area along the outer edge of Galveston Island.

Two refuge camps on nearby Bolivar Peninsula were isolated by waves and high water. A deputy sheriff reported by radio from the island that everyone was safe so far.

Text Of Hurricane Advisory

NEW ORLEANS (UP)—Weather bureau advisory No. 9 Audrey, 10 a.m.:

Hurricane Audrey moved inland near the Texas-Louisiana border. The center was about midway between Beaumont, Tex., and Lake Charles, La., near latitude 30.3 longitude 93.7 at 10 a.m. c.s.t., moving northward at 15 m.p.h. Lake Charles, La., and Orange, Tex., reported winds of 100 m.p.h.

Winds of 75 m.p.h. or better are expected to continue near the center rest of today as it moved northward along the Texas-Louisiana border, accompanied by 4 to 8-inch rains.

Tides will remain dangerously high along Louisiana coast and fall tonight.

All interests should continue precautions against these high tides. Gale, equals and seas will gradually subside along the coast this afternoon. Small craft from Corpus Christi to Pensacola should remain in port until wind and seas subside.

All warning will be lowered later today.

Cheasty Links Hoffa With NY Racketeer

By MAUREEN GOTHLIN
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP) Government attorneys planned to wrap up their main case against Teamsters leader James R. Hoffa today by concluding questioning of Senate rackets investigator John Oye Cheasty.

Cheasty gave testimony Wednesday linking the powerful Midwest Teamsters leader with New York racketeer John Dioguardia and the "sale" of a Detroit Teamsters local.

Hoffa and his co-defendant, Miami attorney Hyman I. Fischbach, are being tried on conspiracy and bribery charges for allegedly planting Cheasty as an $18,000 "spy" on the committee to slip them committee secrets.

Cheasty said some of the data he gave Hoffa from the time he started working for the committee Feb. 19 until Hoffa's arrest March 13 included:

—That Hoffa was a "friend" of Dioguardia (alias Johnny Dio).

—That Hoffa was "associated with" a mysterious "Peta and Joe combination in Detroit." Hoffa's headquarters. When Cheasty started to elaborate, he was cut off by government attorney Edward P. Troxell and a protest by defense attorney Edward Bennett Williams.

Postal Service To Be Extended
O. K. Gaylor, local postmaster, reported this morning that postal service would be extended on six streets Saturday.

Gaylor said service would begin in the 1800, 1900, 2100 and 2200 blocks of N. Nelson, 2300 and 2400 blocks of Christine, 2500 and 2600 blocks of Duncan, 1100 block of Seneca Drive, 2300 block on Rowewood Lane and 1000 and 1100 blocks on Crane Road, Saturday morning.

AUDREY

The wind rose to 78 miles an hour — three miles over minimum hurricane strength — at Beaumont. Thousands of automobile headlights punctuated the blinding rain as residents of Port Arthur fled to Beaumont.

Strikes Ahead Time They had heard that the eye of the hurricane would miss Beaumont, so they headed there. Actually, it looked as if the eye missed both places.

The hurricane struck sooner than it was expected. Two-month-old cocker spaniel named Frisky alerted families in Surf Side community on the beach, 45 miles southwest of Galveston.

Mrs. Faye Haygood said she was awakened by him whining at 4 a.m.

"I found him swimming in two feet of tidewater on the front porch," she said. "I looked out the window and saw stuff floating by the house — lumber, somebody's mackinaw, parts of boats, all sorts of things."

Houston Gets Wind They had been caught by the tide. Mrs. Haygood, her husband Horace, and his son Bryan got their two automobiles and plowed out to higher ground through two feet of water. They joined other refugees at Nixon's grill and Rick's grocery in Velasco, Texas, a few miles inland.

"We learned that the places that really caught it were driven cafes down on the beach," Mrs. Haygood said. "Several beach places were washed out into the gulf."

In Houston, the largest city in Texas, wind did heavy damage on the north, southwest and east sides. Giant limbs were blown out of trees. Signs and small trees were blown down. Heavy rain flooded out one overpass, but Houston escaped hurricanes strength winds.

The Coast Guard cutter Cahoon, only a few yards from the 86-foot Keturah when she went down, had to turn out to sea Wednesday night to escape the storm.

"In effect, she's trapped out there and can't now make it into Galveston," Commander Theodore Knoll of the Coast Guard said at Galveston. "She's still out there and there is always danger for a vessel her size."

Search Due Later "We haven't heard from her since midnight."

The skipper of the sunken Keturah was Sam Jingsley, 35. As soon as Audrey subsides enough, a helicopter and amphibious plane will leave to search the sea for wreckage.

Three hundred children in church camps on Trinity Bay, which joins Galveston bay, were taken out in school and church buses at 4 a.m. before the storm hit.

The wind reached a peak of 75 miles an hour at Baytown, near the camps.

The Coast Guard rushed life boats to Cameron to take out all whose lives are endangered. Larry Stephenson, Civil Defense director of Galveston parish county, La., called the situation at Cameron "an extreme emergency."

Need Medical Supplies He said Coast Guardsmen were attempting rescue operations in waters lashed by 50-mile-an-hour winds. The worst was yet to come. Stephenson asked for more tents, blankets, amphibious vehicles and medical supplies for Lake Charles and Sulphur, La., which was expected to be isolated when Audrey smacks deeper inland.

Audrey's path included some of the richest manufacturing areas along the Texas-Louisiana coast. The area is filled with refineries, chemical plants and shipyards.

More than 100 ships from World War II are moth-balled at Orange, Tex.

"Winds of 100 miles per hour or slightly higher and tides of nine to 10 feet are expected within the next few hours along the extreme upper Texas and extreme western Louisiana coasts," the weather bureau said in its 7 a.m. bulletin.

"Dangerously high tides with very rough seas are expected to continue today from the upper Texas coast to the Mississippi sound."

In addition, high winds and rains of up to eight inches were predicted today for western Louisiana and extreme eastern Texas, just recovering from two months of cloudbursts, tornadoes and floods.

Audrey was one of the earliest major hurricanes in history. Usually, the hurricane season starts in late August or early September.

Storm Far-reaching Audrey is a vast storm. Before she center hit the coast, squalls as high as 60 miles an hour were recorded at Baton Rouge, La., 200 miles to the northeast.

The weather bureau said that a push as far north and east as western Tennessee and Kentucky and as far west as southeast Oklahoma.

The Coast Guard cutter Cahoon was only a few yards away from the 86-foot Keturah when the fishing vessel went down. The cutter searched the heaving waters in an attempt to rescue the fisherman including Capt. Sam Kinaley of Pensacola, Fla., for several hours before temporarily abandoning the hunt.

Col. Says He Had To Tell Secret Data

By WILLIAM TUCKER

United Press Staff Correspondent HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (UP)—Col. John C. Nickerson Jr. tells his court martial today why he was impelled to release secret data on a weapon of the future—to make sure it would have a future.

Nickerson is not to be the day's first witness. But special civilian defense counsel Ray H. Jenkins promised he would take the stand after Julian Robertson of Salisbury, N.C., a World War II comrade of Nickerson in the 8th Infantry Division, testifies voluntarily in the defendant's behalf.

After Nickerson, 40 more defense witnesses were slated. Jenkins said none would stay on the stand long and predicted Nickerson's sentence would come next Monday.

Nickerson began the third day of his trial confident he would come out well, although he had pleaded guilty to 15 specifications of failing to safeguard military secrets.

He was buoyed by the testimony of Dr. Werner von Braun, who developed the German V2 rocket. Von Braun came to the United States at the end of World War II and now is a naturalized citizen.

Von Braun testified for an hour and 30 minutes in open court and for an hour and 45 minutes behind closed doors in an effort to mitigate the 41-year-old Nickerson's admitted guilt.

Fear for the nation's security rather than respect of it motivated Nickerson when he let secret data creep into communications to "unauthorized persons" protesting the Pentagon curb on Army missile work last year, Von Braun said.

'Machine' Rescues Coal Miners

By ORMOND KNIPPENBURG

United Press Staff Correspondent BLOOMINGDALE, Ohio (UP)—Five coal miners entombed for 14 hours by a cave-in were rescued Wednesday night through a shaft bored by a tremendous mine-digging machine.

It was believed the first time the machine, a giant auger developed to make coal mining more economical, ever was used in a rescue attempt.

The bit of the auger, 3 1/2 feet thick, and capable of boring 120 feet an hour, pierced 240 feet into the side of a Powhatan Coal Co. strip mine near here and hit "dead center" in a low chamber where the miners were trapped.

The men crawled to a safety through the hole, the third bored by the auger in the rescue effort, at 10:30 p.m. e.d.t. They had been trapped since 9 a.m. e.d.t. in a space 40 feet long, 4 1/2 feet high and 9 to 16 feet in width.

About 200 persons, including wives and children of the trapped miners, rescue workers and two priests, shouted joyously at sight of the rescued men.

"We never gave up hope, we knew that machine would get to us," said Kenneth Hamilton, 38, the first man out of the mine.

Behind him came Joseph Supinski, 29, Martin Kovalski, 40, Henry Horvath, 38, and Fred Sabie, 38.

None had suffered any injuries.

Von Braun testified for an hour and 30 minutes in open court and for an hour and 45 minutes behind closed doors in an effort to mitigate the 41-year-old Nickerson's admitted guilt.

Fear for the nation's security rather than respect of it motivated Nickerson when he let secret data creep into communications to "unauthorized persons" protesting the Pentagon curb on Army missile work last year, Von Braun said.

Mr. and Mrs. M. K. Griffith and Keith of Pampa visited Congressman Walter Rogers in Washington, D.C., recently.

Bob Bright of Lefors has been home on leave from the Navy. Bright, who has just finished an aviation machinist school, will leave Saturday for San Francisco, Calif., where he will be shipped to Japan. He has been in the Navy one year and will remain on active duty for two more years. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bright of Lefors.

Judge Writes To Governor Daniel

Gray County Judge Bruce Parker wrote Governor Daniel yesterday urging legislation on several issues of interest to people of this area.

Parker said that he favored legislation on salary for legislators, annual sessions, juvenile affairs and other items.

"I won't say which side I'm taking, I just want legislation," he said.

He did urge Daniel to try for laws to curb the oil imports from countries seriously competing with our industry.

One Collision Reported Here

The only collision within the city limits that was reported to the police department yesterday afternoon occurred at 8:17 at the intersection of Francis and Starkweather.

A '60 Pontiac, driven by Kenneth Eugene Fricks, 214 N. Gillespie, and a '53 Chevrolet, driven by Inez Beth Hall, 1165 Huff Rd., were in collision.

Damages to the Chevrolet were estimated at $65 and the Pontiac was reported to have been undamaged.

Search Parties Seek Wife Of Dead Tourist

CASTOLON, Tex. (UP)—

Search parties roamed over the vast, desolate Big Bend National Park today hunting for the wife of a tourist who was found dead in the barren wilderness.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford S. White of Houston entered an isolated area of the arid, rocky country Tuesday morning against the advice of Park Rangers. White, 45, was found dead late Wednesday, apparently of heat prostration.

Several miles away Rangers found the White's air conditioned station wagon, hopelessly bogged in sand. Mrs. White was missing in the shimmering, 114-degree temperature.

The search, by both ground and air, was forced to stop late last night by high winds and lightning.

Tried To Walk Rangers reconstructed the tragedy like this: When the car became stuck in the sand, White got out and started to walk the 15 miles back to the Ranger station at the tiny village of Castolon, near the Mexican border.

He died of heat prostration before he was half way to his destination.

They fear that when night fell and her husband had not returned, Mrs. White attempted to reach the Ranger station. In the darkness, she may have wandered off the dusty trail and become lost.

Rangers searched the entire trail with no results.

They have very little hope of finding Mrs. White alive in the wild country. Big Bend National Park, about 355 miles southeast of El Paso, contained 694,225 acres.

Mountain Lions The only vegetation for the most part is cactus and greasewood. Mountain lions, rattlesnakes and armadillos thrive there. Practically no water is to be found.

George Miller, Park superintendent, said the couple arrived Sunday and took a cabin in the Chisos Mountain basin area. They began an exploration trip Tuesday with an extra supply of gasoline.

The search began when they did not return to the Ranger station at Castolon, about 80 miles from the park headquarters in the Chisos Mountain Basin.

Joe Hood Rites Are Pending

Joe A. Hood, 70, born in Albertvill, Ala., died at 3:05 p.m. Tuesday in Highland General Hospital. Mr. Hood had been living in this community for 50 years and was a farmer and stockman. He lived at 203 N. Ward.

Survivors include one son, Dr. B. J. Hood of New Orleans, La.; one daughter, Mrs. Marie Jacobs of Brunswick, Ga.; four sisters, Mrs. Betty Taylor of Miami, Fla., Mrs. Mary Hallmark of Los Angeles, Calif., Mrs. Ruth Hooper of Albertville, Ala., and Mrs. Julietta McKay of Pinson, Ala.; two brothers, Andrew Hood of Lake City, Fla., and W. H. Hood of St. Petersburg, Fla.; and four grandchildren.

Funeral services are pending arrangements at Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home.

Drought To Flood In The Southwest

By RALPH MONCRIEF
NEA Staff Correspondent
DALLAS, Tex. (NEA) — As the Southwest went into its fifth year of the worst drought on record, a Texas rancher unloaded his parched and grass-starved cattle into an Arkansas ranch near the Mississippi River.

As local newsmen interviewed him about his move to Arkansas, an April shower began to fall. "You'll have to excuse me," the cattlemen said. "I've got to look after my cattle. They've never seen rain and they might stampede."

The following day a two-funneled tornado ripped across Dallas. And the rest of the month saw violent rains put an end to the Southwest's drought — at a cost which stands today at $9.7 million.

Between drought and flood, this part of the nation has been gored by the long horns of a dilemma.

Outside of the Texas-Oklahoma panhandles where rainfall has been just about what is needed for the principal crops — wheat, barley and grain sorghum — crops have been ruined or delayed from two to six weeks.

Nevertheless, optimism is high at farm association meetings. Ed Schmitz, a small-acreage farmer near San Antonio, who has a worked part time in town to hold on to his farm through the drought, put it this way:

"I'm looking forward to my first real crop. Year after year I've started out and watched my crops wilt and burn up. This time I hope I make something."

It is a desperate hope. Small farmers have gone deeply into debt throughout the drought to keep their land. For them, it's either this year's crop or never.

In Gruver, where the first wheat crop in seven years is almost ready to cut, banker R. L. Thom says the farmers may not have much left after paying up their debts. "But at least," he said, "they can start even next year."

In northwest Oklahoma, the situation is almost hopeless for many farmers and cattlemen, regardless of the rain.

Men whose land is adjacent to streams and rivers saw high waters cut away many acres of good topsoil only to deposit worthless soil on top of the rich land.

These men and others like them

HIGH AND DRY—Surprised by floods from the Brazos River in Texas after being used to scratching in drought-parched soil, farmer's chickens sought refuge on the roof.

While most farmers and cattlemen have escaped with their lives through the ravaging storms, however, it has been tragedy after tragedy in urban areas of the Southwest.

After one tornado, Dallas alone buried scores of people and sent hundreds to hospitals for emergency treatment.

Listen to Mrs. Lillian Ristow, a homeowner in San Antonio. She and hundreds of others bought their homes during drought years when real estate men could talk with assurance of "ample drainage."

Since the first of this year, Mrs. Ristow's home has been flooded 13 times. She estimates her loss at about $2,000 in damage and another $5,000 in lost value of her home.

Sam Granata, Public Works director of San Antonio, estimated that repair of storm-damaged streets, bridges, etc., would cost taxpayers $467,000. Within days, a new storm hit. And then another. The Public Works department is still trying to arrive at an estimated cost of repair.

While the heavy rains have opened the ranges to cattle again, all that is green is not grass.

Such of the native grass was killed during the drought and a heavy crop of weeds is retarding re-growth of these grasses. Some range experts say it will take four or five years of careful handling to bring ranges back to normal.

One result of the drought and the storms which always end them has been a renewed and vigorous attempt to curb the problem in the future with manmade dams and reservoirs.

Today, Oklahoma City's reserve lakes and reservoirs are brim full. Fort Worth's supply is running over. Dallas estimates its nowfull supply will see it through a five-to-seven-year period. And at San Angelo, Lake Nasworthy is filled to capacity.

Texas' Canadian River dam project is very much alive. And official lights burn late as the state moves to finance dams on many small creeks.

Much of the water caught in the recent floods is now being used to charge the underground water supply. Wet weather lakes — are draining into water-bearing sands, at the rate of a million gallons a day in one test spring.

Improved water conservation and farming methods have, for the most part, kept this past drought from being as destructive as the dust bowl of the 1930's.

And officials hope to make the next dry cycle even less noticed.

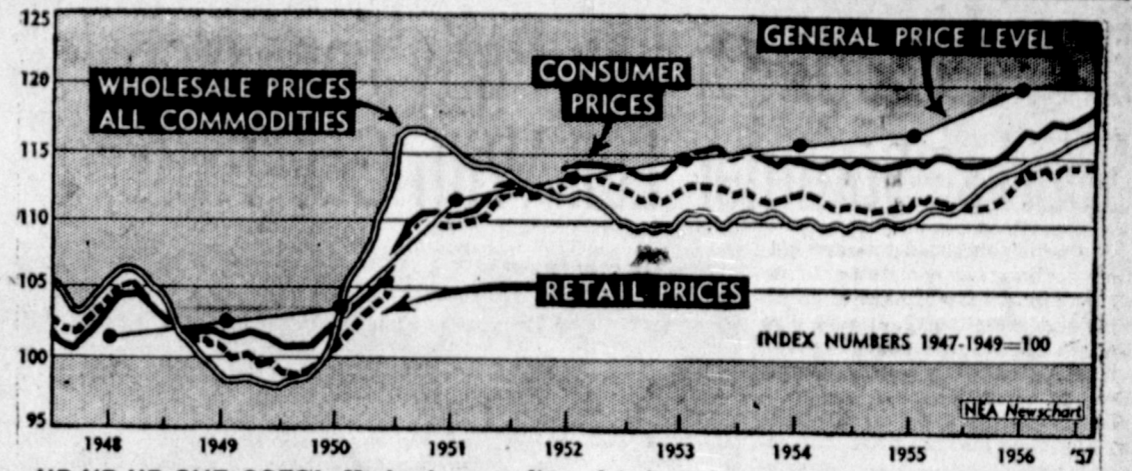

But from West Texas, the news is still grim. A spokesman at El Paso put it this way:

"All the floods and rains you have heard about have not ended our drought. So far this year, the rainfall in El Paso has reached 1.22 inches. Normal for the same period is 1.58 inches."

"For some reason, Jupiter Pluvius has neglected us boys west of the Pecos. We don't quite understand it. We are good boys out this way and far superior in every respect to those people of the effect East around Fort Worth, Dallas and Houston."

Groomed to Marry King

CAIRO, June 22 (UP)—The newspaper "Al Shaab" said today that the 17-year-old daughter of the Jordanian ambassador to Iran is being "groomed" to marry Jordan's King Hussein, 22. The paper claimed that the daughter of Sheriff Hamad Saad will be married to the monarch at the royal palace in Amman.

UP-UP-UP SHE GOES!—You've been reading a lot about the rise in the High Cost of Living (consumer prices) lately—and it's all true. But it isn't particularly new, as you can see on the Newschart above. It shows that the price trend for the past 10 years has been generally upward. Exceptions are the dip during the business recession of 1949 and a moderate decline in 1952. However, these are more than matched by the sharp rise during the Korean War period, 1950-51. We'd be in a very bad way except for one factor—since the turn of the century, per capita personal income has jumped 900 per cent while consumer prices rose only 250 per cent. Data from The Conference Board.

No Excuse For Bikini

TAIPEI, Formosa, June 22 (UP)—Nationalist Chinese police warned women today that the 90-degree heat here is no excuse for bikini-style bathing suits and transparent nylon dresses that allow low lingerie to show through.

Bright Fourth Of July Party For Tots Sparks Summer Lull With Gay Twist

If the neighborhood tots are getting restless for something to do as summer lulls on, have a bright Fourth of July party. It will give the youngsters something special to do and it can be quite simple for you.

Refreshments are sure to please if they have the gay twist that enchants children—many grown-ups, as well. To provide quick energy after playtime, serve crisp sugar cookies shaped and decorated as firecrackers and Liberty Bells.

Then for cool, satisfying refreshment, call on a tall, shivery Fourth of July Frost—a colorful combination of fruit ice, whipped cream and a topper of blueberries. It's as patriotic looking as a dessert could be and so easy to assemble.

FOURTH OF JULY FROST
1 teaspoon gelatin
2 tablespoons cold water
¾ cup Imperial Granulated Sugar

2 cups water
¼ cup plus 2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
¼ teaspoon salt
Red food coloring
1 egg white, stiffly beaten
1 cup cream, whipped and sweetened

Blueberries, fresh or frozen
Softened gelatin in cold water. Mix Imperial Granulated Sugar and 1½ cups water; simmer 5 minutes. Stir in gelatin mixture. Cool. Add lemon juice, lemon rind, salt and several drops of red food coloring to obtain desired red color. Four into freezing tray and freeze until mushy. Place in chilled bowl and beat until fluffy. Fold in stiffly beaten egg white. Return to tray. Freeze until firm, stirring occasionally. Makes about one quart.

To assemble Fourth of July Frost: Spoon into tall dessert glasses, parfait-fashion, alternating the layers of frozen fruit ice and whipped cream to achieve red and white effect. Cover top with whipped cream and blueberries (thaw if using frozen berries). Serve at once. If you prefer a more simple effect, fill sherbert dishes with frozen fruit ice, top with swirl of whipped cream and blueberries. Makes six servings.

FIRECRACKER and LIBERTY BELL COOKIES
½ cup soft shortening (use part butter for flavor)
1 cup Imperial Granulated Sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ teaspoon grated lemon rind
2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt

Blend together shortening and Imperial Granulated Sugar. Beat in eggs, vanilla and lemon rind. Sift together dry ingredients and parties and picnics

By Margaret Deeds Murphy

Prepare yourself for the emergency of unexpected evening guests with the makings of a quick and tasty dessert. Waffles a la mode Chocolate served with coffee sounds elegant, and is particularly good considering the little effort it takes on your part to achieve it. Keep several packages of frozen waffles and containers of vanilla ice cream in the freezer and canned chocolate sauce on the pantry shelf. With this combination and instant or regular coffee, you are all set to strut your stuff.

To carry the emergency idea to its logical conclusion, stock your cupboard with plenty of paper cups and dishes to use for serving both snacks and meals. This means that late hour or a next morning sink full of dishes will be past tense for you, as they are for many smart homemakers. Another emergency shelf idea is to prepare cheese sandwiches for grilling. Wrap in foil and store in freezer. When ready to serve, grill in skillet over low heat.

Dill Dish Designed To Delight Diners
Here's a recipe for Garden Dill Cabbage, makes 4 to 6 servings, which you can make from vegetables in your garden. Cook covered one medium-sized head cabbage, cut in wedges, in small amount of boiling salted water, 10 minutes or until tender. Drain. Meanwhile, combine one quarter-cup butter or margarine, melted, one tablespoon chopped dill, one tablespoon finely chopped parsley and one tablespoon lemon juice. Heat to serving temperature. Serve over cabbage and watch your family's eyes light up with delight when they take that first bite.

CARE OF CARVING TOOLS
Without a doubt the carving set in your household receives much use in the coming few weeks. To get full cooperation from your carving set, give it good care. Keep it separated from other cutlery so the knife will not be dulled or nicked. A good blade needs only occasional sharpening, but it should always be steamed before using.

Meat for Your Health
Meat in your daily meals furnishes the ABC's of good health. Meat at each meal of the day supplies you and your family with the B-vitamins and Vitamin A. Meat at each meal of the day gives you one of the best sources of complete protein. Meat also supplies essential minerals which are needed to keep the body in good working order.

Breaded Cubed Beef Steaks
An interesting variation for preparing cubed beef steaks is breaded cubed beef steaks. For 1 pound cubed steaks, use 1 egg, then in seasoned cracker meal. Add coated cubed steaks to frying-pan that lard. Brown on both sides, cover and cook slowly for 20 to 30 minutes or until done.

Roast, Not Braise
A roast, being a tender cut of meat, should never be covered in cooking—if covered, it is cooked as a pot-roast. Roasting is a dry heat method of meat cookery, braising is a moist heat method of meat cookery used for pot-roasts which are less tender cuts made tender by moist cookery.

Morton Food Firm Will Celebrate Silver Anniversary
Morton Foods, southwestern food processing firm, will celebrate its 25th anniversary with special TV, newspaper, and billboard promotion during June, July and August.

Founded in 1932 at the depth of the depression in Dallas, Texas, by G. C. Morton, a sandwich shop operator, the company has grown from a small business into a big one.

Known originally as the Morton Potato Chip Company, the company now operates three modern plants in Dallas, Fort Worth and Lubbock, Texas. Morton processes and distributes a wide variety of food products including salad dressing, mayonnaise, syrup, honey, tea, pickles, black pepper, sandwich spread, potato chips, extractions, barbecue sauce, and tamales.

Mr. Morton's policy during his 25 years of operation has been "to produce quality foods to give dependable service, and to keep products fresh," an anniversary brochure sets forth.

Olen Turner, active in the Mayonnaise and Salad Dressing Association and the potato chip industry, is executive vice president of Morton Foods.

Judge Gets Oath Of Office

AUSTIN (UP) — John A. James Jr., received the oath of office as district judge at Cleburne succeeding Judge Penn J. Jackson, chairman of the State Board of Insurance.

James was administered the oath by Associate Justice Ruel Walker of the Texas Supreme Court, in ceremonies conducted before the court.

Walker, also of Cleburne, told James he was entering upon one of the most important offices in state government and said James was well qualified.

The swearing-in ceremonies were conducted after morning arguments before the court in which James submitted arguments in a case appealed to the high court. Opposing attorneys in that case were among those who stood with James as he took the oath of office.

James, 40, a former district attorney at Cleburne, was named judge of the 18th judicial district by Gov. Price Daniel. James had previously succeeded Jackson as district attorney at Cleburne.

WATCH THE FISHIE!—When in Rome, do as the Romans do. Recommend New Airline Service

WASHINGTON (UP) — A Civil Aeronautics Board examiner recommended today that American Airlines be permitted to provide new non-stop service between Chicago and Mexico City.

Examiner John A. Cannon also recommended that American be permitted to provide intermediate flights serving Dallas, Fort Worth and San Antonio, Tex., along the route.

The Chicago - Mexico City run is one of seven authorized under a treaty between the United States and Mexico under which Mexican airlines also were granted seven new routes into this country.

Five of the routes already have been granted — three to Pan American and the other two to Western and Eastern airlines. An examiner has recommended that the sixth, between New York - Washington - Mexico City, also be granted Pan American.

Braniff Airways has contested American for the Chicago - Mexico City route.

Braniff in 1948 was certified to provide service between San Antonio and Laredo, Tex., and Mexico City, but it never flew the routes.

Cannon recommended that Braniff's certificate remain in effect. But he said it could not be used under the treaty if American gets the final award.

ing to the latest report, a Shirley Temple package (she'd host and act) is back in the running as candidate for the spot.

The major items on the CBS-TV schedule are 10 color musicals for series with a variety show called DuPont. CBS-TV will open up the "Crescendo" and it will follow up with "Junior Miss," "The Prince and the Pauper," "The Little Prince" and an S. J. Perelman version of "Aladdin."

Thomas in Series
CBS-TV also is counting its five special "I Love Lucy" one-hour shows next season as spectaculars. They'll be in black-and-white.

Lowell Thomas will front seven other special CBS shows called "High Adventure." They'll deal with such subjects as cave exploring and mountain climb and filmed visits to places like Nepal and New Guinea.

Completing the CBS-TV list are six Art Linkletter holiday spectaculars, "Persons and Places." Linkletter will herd the cameras through the nation as they explore such things as Thanksgiving dinners and Christmas shopping.

As an added bonus, CBS-TV may also repeat two past successes—Judy Garland's "Wizard of Oz" and Rodgers and Hammerstein's "Cinderella."

75 'Spectaculars' Set For '57-'58 Television Season

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP) — You've got a front row ticket next season for such shows as "Annie Get Your Gun," "Twelfth Night" and "Junior Miss."

Those are only three of the 75 spectaculars definitely set for the 1957-58 schedule. The specs promise to shoot some juice into a TV season that otherwise, shapes up as pretty droopy.

ABC-TV is the only major network not planning any spectaculars—unless you count two special one-hour Frank Sinatra shows. However, NBC-TV reports 51 special programs locked up and CBS-TV is touting 22 specs.

Among its special shows, NBC-TV will offer six by Bob Hope, six

A Blytheville, Ark., player writes: "My wife says that my bid of four spades is the worst bid she has ever seen. I know the result was unfortunate. I went down 300, while if I had passed East's four heart bid she would have doubled it and set them 800."

"I had a pretty good preempt and no defense against hearts and wanted to save the rubber. How bad was my bid?"

Not so bad as your wife says. In 30 years of competition I have seen more worse bids and must confess that I have even made some myself.

At the same time it was pretty bad since it definitely took your partner right out of the game.

When you bid three spades your wife must have heard you. She also must have known that your bid meant. A long spade suit and no defense against anything else.

I believe in preemptive bids myself and would have opened three spades just as you did but when my partner passed and East went to four hearts I would have passed like a shot. In fact it is a sound principle that a man who preempts should never rebid if his partner passes.

If your wife had some support for spades and little defense against four hearts she could and probably would have bid four spades. After all, she must have known your opponents were vulnerable.

Old Yankees Don't Die; They Just Have Kids At 84

WASHINGTON (UP) — Fatherhood at 84 is nothing to get excited about, according to an 84-year-old father.

"I'm not a celebrity and I don't want to be one," he protested to newsmen.

The modest octogenarian is James M. Pickens of Somerset, Md., whose 44-year-old French wife gave birth to a 6-pound, 8-ounce daughter at a hospital here last Thursday.

Pickens, who had one daughter by a previous marriage, was a mere 81 when he made his second venture into matrimony.

The story of this romance was a bit unusual. It began indirectly during World War I when Pickens was working in France with the YMCA. He met there a family named Poincenot and kept up a correspondence with them after his return to the United States.

In 1954, Pickens went to France for a visit and struck up a courtship with Edith Poincenot. He brought her back to America as his wife.

"I'm still going strong for one of my age, I suppose," he said.

HAND-TRIMMED—Frank Mauerman, 62, is blind, but that doesn't stop him from trimming his lawn—by hand. The Monroe, Wis., man, blind for the past 18 years, uses a jackknife, measuring the height of the grass with his fingers. He cuts about 1,000 square feet in 80 hours, then starts over again.

Truck Driver Killed — William Theodore Black, 38, a Midland truck driver, was fatally injured early today when his butane gas truck ran through a fence and turned over three miles southeast of here.

Recent Supreme Court Rulings Leave Washington In Turmoil

By LYLE C. WILSON
 United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—This city is boiling with discussion of recent Supreme Court opinions in the field of individual constitutional rights as opposed to federal prosecutors and congressional investigators.
 There has been nothing like it since the middle 1930's when the high court junked some of the key legislation of FDR's New Deal. Government prosecutors are appalled by the implications of the court's new version of constitutional law.
 This week's steamy discussion of the recent opinions is not a patch, however, on what may be expected shortly. Pending now before the Supreme Court and scheduled for quick disposition is the government's appeal against a lower court ruling that the United States must not turn over for trial by Japanese courts a GI named William S. Girard. Girard shot and killed a Japanese woman and is charged with manslaughter.
Hear on Administration
 The United States government has agreed that Girard shall be tried by the Japanese, an agreement which has aroused national controversy and turned considerable political heat on the Eisenhower administration. The Japanese people are equally, or more, excited. So much so that agreement to the trial of Girard by Japanese courts has the appearance of a move to appease popular opinion in Japan.

 The lower federal court here which forbade the Eisenhower administration to hand Girard over to the Japanese held that the Constitution guaranteed him trial by established American processes. Government lawyers appear to be genuinely confident that the Supreme Court will reverse that finding.
 They argue that the administration's right to deliver Girard to the Japanese is legally sound because it is by executive agreement between the two nations arrived at under terms of a treaty between the United States and Japan. It seems to follow that in signing that treaty, the United States signed away some of the constitutional rights of any citizen who finds himself in Girard's position.
Communists' Rights
 However just that may be, is a fact that the Supreme Court in the past fortnight has been dealing in spectacular fashion with the matter of individual rights, these were the civil rights of under the Constitution. Specifically, these were the civil rights of U. S. citizens. By chance, the citizens—and there were a number of them—were Communists.

 The Supreme Court reversed the convictions of some who had been charged as members of the Communist conspiracy. It ordered new trials for others. These actions were of a pattern with previous opinions in which Communists or their sympathizers found safe harbor in the Constitution's Bill of Rights.
 If the Supreme Court is unable to find for a young American GI as safe a Bill of Rights harbor as it has found for members of the Communist conspiracy, there is likely to be considerable popular uproar in the United States.
 The turning fork which gives A above middle C usually is taken as the musical standard, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.
 Streams and rivers of Michigan traverse 36,350 miles, or almost one and one-half times around the world.

Key West, Fla., at 24 degrees 33 minutes north latitude, is the southernmost city in the United States.

Greenland, with an area of 840,000 square miles, is the largest island in the world.

FIREMEN ARE FIREBUGS—These firemen not only put 'em out, they light 'em up. They're some of the 800 firemen from paid and volunteer departments throughout the state who attended the 33rd annual University of Illinois Fire College at Urbana-Champaign. The "students" got to set fire to two condemned houses—and then went to work and put them out. The world's first training course of this kind was held at Illinois U. in 1925.

IN THE SHADOW OF HISTORY—Even though it looks menacingly top-heavy, this ancient relic of the grandeur that was Rome suits these two youngsters fine as they study their lessons in its shade. Threatened by the future of expanding modern-day Rome in background, this link to the past is part of an ancient aqueduct. The domed structure in left background is one of Rome's newest churches, San Giovanni Bosco, which is still under construction.

Helpful Hints For Your Next Visit To Russia

By COLETTE BLACKMOORE
United Press Staff Correspondent
MOSCOW (UP)—The Soviet Union this summer is permitting foreigners for the first time to enjoy vacations in the country and spend a holiday crossing the Russian nation.
Not many Americans are expected to take up the offer but those who do will find an interesting contrast with the American road network of billboards, motels and speed traps.
Vast as this country is, there is no chance of the visitor getting lost. For one thing, he must stick to one of the two trunk highways. To make sure he does, an Intourist Agency guide will join him at the frontier and accompany him throughout the trip.

The highways especially the north-south route from Moscow to the Black Sea—are excellent by Russian standards and, in most places, good by European ones. They are three and sometimes four-lane roads with long stretches where you can put your foot to the floorboard.
Gas stations, repair shops snack bars and restaurants are to be found about every 100 miles. Hotels are spaced at reasonable distances and built right out on the highways in the remote Steppes.

Traffic is very light, consisting mostly of trucks and buses. There are no hitchhikers. When Russians travel, and they love to, they usually go by train. Few have private cars.
Whenever the foreign tourist stops in a village or small town, he will be surrounded by wide-eyed onlookers including knowledgeable young men commenting on the mechanical features of his auto.
Driving Rules Simple
Rules for driving are simple:
1. Stay on the right hand side.
2. Highway and traffic signs are pretty much the same as in Western Europe. One difference is that you can turn right on a red light.
3. Drivers must keep their cars clean. If a policeman spots a dirty, muddy car, he has the right to stop it and fine the occupants.
4. The speed limit in a city is 35 mph. On the open road it is unlimited.
Should you run out of gas between filling stations, put an empty can on top of your car. The next truck that comes by will know your trouble and offer to sell you some of his gas—at a profit.

Houstonian Will Take Over Appeal

TYLER, Tex. (UP)—Gloria Bradford of Houston notified District Judge Otis T. Dunagan today that she was going to take over the NAACP's appeal from a permanent injunction on its operations in Texas.
Although the NAACP's board in New York decided to appeal the injunction, it was having trouble finding a Texas lawyer to represent it.
Texas lawyers of the NAACP were reported to be satisfied with the injunction, because it allowed the organization to operate, so long as it did not violate Texas laws.

Suppose that you hire your neighbor's teen age son, Jimmy, to cut your grass, and he runs your new mower into another neighbor's hedge. The hedge is ruined. Are you responsible for the damages? Quite likely you are.
Or let us suppose that you find you need a loaf of bread for the evening meal. You ask a friend to take your car and run to the store for it. On the way, he runs down old Mr. Peabody, seriously injuring him. Can you be held responsible? It is possible that you can.
In both instances, an "agent" was acting for you. His acts while performing those duties are, in the eyes of the law, your acts. In legal terms, you are the "principal".
You may be liable despite the fact that you may have cautioned him to be extremely careful.
The average individual expects to answer for his own actions. He does not usually consider that he may be responsible for the actions of other persons. That, however is frequently the case.
Suppose you ask another person to do something for you, that is, to act as your agent. You may pay him, or he may be doing it without compensation.
You may ask him to buy or sell property for you. Or, his responsibility may be to negotiate an agreement for you with a third person.
If representations or warranties are made by your agent in performing the task which you assigned to him, you are responsible.
In a like manner, you are responsible for the contract made by him while he was acting for you.
You may be held responsible for the acts of a person who customarily represents you even though he entered into a contract for you without your consent or approval.
For example, you may have a partner in a business, and you and he have agreed that certain contracts shall be made only upon the signature of both of you.
Unknown to you and without your consent, your partner signs such a contract with a third person involving partnership business. If the person with whom this contract is made has no knowledge of the terms of your partnership agreement, you are responsible for the contract which your partner has made.
You may have agreed between you that neither of you would buy, without the other's consent, any items of merchandise costing more than $50. You did not give this information to salesmen who called on you. In your absence on a Thursday afternoon, your partner ordered merchandise for your store costing more than the $50 limit.
When the merchandise is delivered, you can not refuse to accept it because you can be bound by the contract of your partner. This is true in many situations, and the salesman is not bound by your partnership agreement because you did not advise him of the $50 limitation.
As the actions of your agent are considered to be your actions, you assume the responsibility of his doing them correctly.

Summer Fashions In American Cotton

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Women's Editor
NEW YORK (NEA) — Elegant cotton fashions by America's best-known designers favor supima cotton this summer.
Supima is the American-grown, long-staple cotton that comes from three states in the south-west: Texas, Arizona and New Mexico. While it's a strong cotton, it also has superior luster and a silky hand.
It comes in many forms. Designers work with it in sheers, woven novelties, broadcloth, georgette, cotton sateen, voile, chiffon and organdy. They use it for informal afternoon dresses, dance dresses, short evening gowns.
We show it here as two top American designers see it for evening and daytime. The evening version (left), by William Fox, is in white organdy with wide, round neckline trimmed in black satin. Bell skirt also has the black satin, this time used in form of lattice work.
The informal afternoon dress, by Claire McCardell (right), is cotton georgette in green with soft bow top and a pleated skirt with double belt at the waistline.

Mrs. Huckins Has HD Club Meeting

(Special to The News)
SKELLYTOWN — Mrs. Garrett Huckins was hostess to members of the Home Demonstration club in the Skelly Schaefer club-house recently. Roll call was answered with the name of your most used electrical appliance.
Mrs. W. S. Berry presided over a short business meeting. The club picnic date was set for July 19 to be held in Lions Club park.
Mrs. Hugh Wall was in charge of the program. Each member brought a dress pattern and was shown the proper way to fit it.
Sandwiches, chips, punch was served to Mrs. Elizabeth Tinkley, E. E. Crawford, Hugh Wall, Howard Wedge, W. S. Berry and R. C. Heaton.
Baby may be the new backseat driver. He has a new car-bed that snaps to become a chair. With specially designed legs, the car-seat is safe in front or back seat. Happily for Mother, the mattress is wetproof and sag-proof plastic. Just suds occasionally.
A "plumber's friend" often can unclog stubborn drainpipes. Try it before calling a plumber. First partially fill fixture with hot water. Then, with the suction cup over the drain, forcefully work it up and down. A commercial chemical may be the next step to clear up the trouble and avoid a plumbing

MISS JERRY MONTGOMERY

Mrs. Corene Montgomery and Roy Montgomery of Miami are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Jerry to Johnny L. Byrd, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Goldreyer of Amarillo. The wedding is being planned for June 29 in the study of the First Baptist Church, Canyon with the Rev. Straus Atkinson, pastor, reading the vows at 7 p.m.

Beasie Caudle and Mrs. Lois Bryant of Canadian. Forty members of the chapter attended.

Girl Scouts Attend Day Camp Sessions

(Special to The News)
SKELLYTOWN — The Skellytown Girl Scout Intermediate and Brownie troops attended scout camp at the John Allen ranch near Springcreek last week.
The two Brownie troops were day campers and the Intermediate troops held two overnight camps.
Visitors were welcomed Friday night and a program was held around an Indian council fire. The theme of the camp was Indian and each troop had an Indian name.
For the program each scout wore her hair braided and wore an Indian costume that was made while they were in camp.
The crafts on display were wooden scrap books, match boxes, woven hot pads, and shadow boxes. Troop 49 also had a pet shop. Mrs. Calvin Duncan and Mrs. F. C. Horner were camp directors.
Leaders and other adults attending were Mmes. A. D. Parsons, C. D. Werley, Virginia White, A. W. Shubring, Garrel Huckins, Fred Wall, R. C. Heaton, J. C. Jarvis, Floyd Eaton, Roy McKissick and Richard Payne. Calvin Duncan drove the bus.
Brownies attending were: Janis Smith, Becky Durning, Margaret White, Linda Green, Glenda Lockhart, Rita McAllister, Anita Werley, Donna McKissick, Torchy Beaver, Lillie Hassler, Carol Ogle, Beverly Harlan, Myrna Shubring, Emily Huckins, Pamela Blackmore, Pamela Lenning, Diana Parsons, Brenda Freeman, and Linda Johnson.
Intermediates attending were: Sharon Moss, Sharon Moore, Margaret Grange, Ann Duncan, Ann Burch, Gloria Huggins, Shirley Keach, Jean Fields, Joan Jarvis, Ann Harlan, Linda Payne, Melva Baison, Peggy Horner, Beverly Heaton, Rosalie McAllister, Donna Moore, Nan Harmon, Kay Hanna, Karen McKissick, Eva Jo Duncan, and Sharon Ogle.

MRS. CLEVE BRADLEY

Miss Audrey Faye Young became the bride of Cleve Bradley on June 2 at one o'clock in the Barrett Chapel with the Rev. Jerry Speer performing the double-ring service. Miss Young is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Robinson, 1045 Neel Rd. Mr. Bradley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Art Bradley, Greentree, N. M. Serving the bride were Mrs. Darlene Melton as matron of honor and Miss Joyce Young as bridesmaid. Ernest Moore was best man. Mrs. Charles Redinger, organist played traditional wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Jerry Speer as she sang, "I Love You Truly." Mr. and Mrs. Bradley will reside in Ruidoso, N. M., where the bridegroom is stationed with the USN.

Polish Leader Snubs Russ Appeasement

Foreign News Commentary
By CHARLES M. MOCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Polish "Independent" Communist Leader Wladyslaw Gomulka may win a new and important victory soon over Communist Russia.

It has been announced that Chinese Red Leader Mao Tse-tung, on one of his very rare trips abroad, is to pay a state visit to Poland accompanied by Chou En-lai, his premier.

Dispatches from Warsaw quote well-informed sources as saying Mao intends to pass through Moscow on his way without stopping to confer with Premier Nikolski A. Bulganin and Communist Party Chief Nikita S. Khrushchev.

It is said also that the Soviet government tried to induce Mao to visit Moscow first but that he refused.

There can be no doubt that the Russians will keep trying to get Mao to change his mind.

If Mao insists on visiting Poland, and visiting Moscow only on his way home, it will mean that he is administering an open snub to Soviet leaders.

Polish Premier Josef Cyrankiewicz invited Mao to visit Poland during a trip he made to Communist China in April.

It was taken for granted at first that Mao would stop off in Moscow on his way.

Later, the word was that Soviet leaders had tried to get him to do that but that he refused, on the ground that the Polish invitation came first.

Originally, Mao's visit was set for September. Last week Warsaw reported Mao would be there for the celebration on July 22 of Poland's "national day," the anniversary of the adoption of the new Communist constitution in 1952.

Delay Cause Unknown
Now it is said Mao may not arrive until the end of July, or possibly in August.

Whether this may mean the delay is of routine nature or that Mao is reconsidering his decision to give the Polish visit priority there is no indication.

Gas ranges were regarded as an innovation at the Philadelphia Centennial Exposition in 1876.

Giants Club Redlegs, 17-7; Phillies Wallop Cardinals, 11-4

10 Percentage Points Separate First Four Clubs In NL Race

By FRED DOWN
United Press Sports Writer

The team that eventually comes out on top in the chaotic National League struggle probably will go into the World Series with the lowest pennant-winning victory total in major league history.

A mere 10 percentage points separated the first four clubs today, with the St. Louis Cardinals maintaining a four-point lead over the second-place Cincinnati Redlegs after both were beaten Wednesday night.

The race tightened up to an almost incredible degree Wednesday night when the Philadelphia Phillies walloped the Cardinals, 11-3, the New York Giants clobbered the Redlegs, 17-7, and the Milwaukee Braves drubbed the Brooklyn Dodgers, 13-9. The Pittsburgh Pirates routed the Chicago Cubs 15-5, before the teams played an 11-inning, 5-5 tie halted by darkness.

The Chicago White Sox retained their half-game margin in the "runaway" American League race when they outlasted the Boston Red Sox, 7-5, and the second-place New York Yankees beat the Cleveland Indians, 3-1. The Baltimore Orioles defeated the Kansas City Athletics, 1-0, for their third straight shutout and the Detroit Tigers downed the Washington Senators, 4-1.

Simmons Beats McDaniel
The Phillies unleashed a 16-hit attack that included four hits by Chico Fernandez and a homer by Harry Anderson to hand the Cardinals their third straight defeat in four games. Curt Simmons pitched a steady nine-inning game to win his seventh game while Lindy McDaniel suffered his fourth loss.

The sixth-place Giants buried the Redlegs with a 20-hit bombardment that saw Bobby Thomson drive in five runs with a homer, double and two singles and Willie Mays knock in four with two doubles and a triple. Johnny Klippstein suffered his seventh defeat.

The Braves overcame a 9-4 deficit with three runs in the fifth inning and six in the eighth to snap a two-game losing streak. Hank Aaron, Eddie Mathews and Wes Covington tied a major league record by hitting successive homers in the fifth inning of a game marked by eight round-trippers. Matthews topped the Braves' best attack of the year driving in five runs with a pair of homers and a single as Gene Conley picked up his first win for Milwaukee and Clem Labine suffered his fourth straight loss for Brooklyn.

Dee Fondy and Roman Mejias had four hits each and Frank Thomas drove in four runs in Pittsburgh's 19-hit opening game attack that gave Vern Law his fourth win. The Cubs tied the nightcap when a walk, Bobby Morgan's triple and Jim Boiger's single produced two runs in the ninth.

Chisolm Get Third Straight
The White Sox scored their third straight victory and seventh in a row over the Red Sox this season when a fifth-inning homer by Bubba Phillips and Earl Torgerson's run-producing ninth-inning single helped them fend off the late Boston rally marked by homers by Billy Klats and Ted Lepore. Jim Wilson got his eighth win.

Relief star Bob Grim throttled a ninth-inning rally to preserve Johnny Kucks' fifth victory for the Yankees. All three of the Yankees' runs resulted from sacrifice flies—two by Hank Bauer and one by pinch-hitter Enos Slaughter—as STUDIOUS SLINGERS—Johnny Kucks frames Bobby Shantz with a bat as the New York Yankee pitchers keep a sharp eye on enemy batters from the safety of the dugout. Superior hurlers are alert while not in the box.

Wimbledon Enters 3rd Round

WIMBLEDON, England (UP)—John Lesch of Los Angeles drew the toughest assignment today as 16 members of America's tennis forces—nine men and seven women—entered the third round of the Wimbledon tennis championships.

Lesch, a comparative newcomer who is ranked 33rd in the U.S. national rankings, was pitted against defending champion Lew Hoad of Australia, who is expected to use this tournament as a springboard to a lucrative professional contract.

Budge Patty of Los Angeles and Paris, the 1950 champion, played Myron Franks of Los Angeles, and Hugh Stewart of Pasadena, Calif., faced Mike Green of Miami Beach, Fla.

The four other surviving Yanks were matched against seasoned international players. Vic Seixas of Philadelphia met Japanese champion Kosei Kamo, Herb Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., played Jacques Brichant of Belgium, Sid Schwartz of New York faced Sven Davidson of Sweden, and Gardner Mulloy of Denver played Bobby Wilson of Britain.

In the women's singles, top-seeded Althea Gibson of New Mary Helley of Australia, second-seeded Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., faced Florence de La Courte of France, and fourth-seeded Dorothy Head Knode of Forest Hills, N.Y., played Susan Partridge Chatier of France.

Other third round matches involving Americans pitted Mimi Arnold of Redwood City, Calif., against Rosa Maria Reyes of Mexico, Karol Fageros of Miami, Fla., against Angela Mortimer of Britain, Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif., against Mrs. L. B. Thung of The Netherlands, and Betty Rosenquest Pratt, a South Orange, N.J., native, against Daphne Fancutt of South Africa.

Sportsmen Defeat Utility, 9-8

In an extra-inning game Tuesday in Little League Farm Team action, the Sportsmen edged the Utility team by a narrow, 9-8.

From the second inning until the last of the sixth both teams were deadlocked at 7-2 with the Sportsmen leading. Then in the last of the sixth Utility rallied and tied the score to send the game into extra inning play. In the first half of the seventh the Sports pushed in 3 runs, but in the second half of the extra Utility rebounded with 2 runs, and with 2 out loaded the bases. The Sports pitcher, Jerry Parker, then clamped down and capped the game by striking out the final batter.

Battery mate with Parker for the winners was Addison Bobbitt, catching. Charged with the loss for Utility was Austen Fletcher pitching, whose brother, Ronald Fletcher, worked behind the plate.

Open Champion Defends Her Only Title In Golfing Career

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

MAMARONECK, N.Y. (UP)—Kathy Cornelius tees off today in defense of the U.S. Women's Open as the champion nobody believes—and you can't blame her if she hardly believes in herself.

One year ago, a complete unknown, slender, brown-eyed Kathy came out of nowhere to win the Open golf championship. She did it the hard way, too, taking a playoff from Barbara McIntire of Toledo.

But since then, the friendly Floridian with the soft voice and easy smile has gone back to nowhere.

"I haven't won a thing since I took the Open a year ago," she said soberly. "So I guess nobody expects me to do anything here at Winged Foot."

Now that Kathy, the mother of a 3-year-old daughter named Karen, has tossed in the sponge. Games Coming Together.

"I'm not saying I can't win it," she explained. "If I play well, I have a chance and I am encouraged by the fact that my game seems to be coming together again."

"But you just can't walk in against a field such as this," she added as she contemplated the 96 shotmakers arrayed against her, "and confidently expect to win first place."

Kathy, 24, started playing golf in the city recreation program of her native Lake Worth, Fla., when she was 13 years old. She played in her first junior tournament at 15 and in the National Juniors when she was 17.

Then she married Bill Cornelius, a Lake Worth golf professional, and he began to work on the game which carried her to the U.S. Open title last year. It was her first as a touring professional, although she had turned pro two years earlier, and she got a big lift out of winning the St. Petersburg tournament in February of 1956.

Second Putting Tournament Set For Tonight At 7:30

Pampa's second putting tournament, sponsored by the Ladies' Golf Association, will be held tonight at the Pampa Country Club.

The first tourney, held last Thursday night, was especially successful, and present plans are to make these a weekly affair.

Both men and women competed in the first tourney and is stressed that all are eligible and invited to compete. Hart Warren, County Club pro, announced.

Those competing should sign up before 7:30 at the latest, added Warren. Contestants will draw for partners before play begins.

Winners last week were Don Prigmore and Jerry Boston, with DeLea Vicars and L. E. Chism runners - up. Consolation winners were Jim Harvey and George Casey.

All-Star Polling Nears Completion

NEW YORK (UP)—Seven of the American League's eight starting positions in the July 9 All - Star Game were set today as the nationwide fan poll went into its final day.

The battle for third base apparently is going right down to the deadline at midnight tonight with George Kell of the Baltimore Orioles holding a slight edge over Reno Bertoia of the Detroit Tigers. Kell has 28,430 votes in the balloting announced today while Bertoia has 27,399.

Gil McDougald of the New York Yankees is a third contender—a complicating factor. McDougald ranks third in the third-base balloting with 23,482 but has played mostly at shortstop since the poll began. His votes were cast for third base because that is the position he started in the first game of a double-header on June 2—the day the poll started.

Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox led Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees into the final day for the honor of receiving the most votes. Williams has a 251-vote edge over Mantle—81,345 to 81,064.

Here are the leaders: 1B—Vic Wertz, Indians; 2B—Nellie Fox, White Sox; 3B—George Kell, Orioles; SS—Harvey Kuenn, Tigers; LF—Ted Williams, Red Sox; CF—Mickey Mantle, Yankees; RF—Al Kaline, Tigers; C—Yogi Berra, Yankees.

Mickey Mantle Pays Tribute To His Dad By Starting Fund To Combat Disease

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UP)—The memory of a sad day six years ago paid off for Mickey Mantle today in a merciful memorial to his father.

Mickey still thinks of that day in 1951 when, in the second game of the series on television of the World Series, he went flying across the outfield grass in pursuit of a fly ball. His spikes caught in a drain grating and Mantle went down as if shot, his knee twisted and his embryo future in doubt.

That night, the Mick was joined in his Lenox Hill Hospital room by his father, a victim of Hodgkins disease.

Watched Series Together
Together they saw the final games of the series on television from that hospital room. And young Mickey was able to make it back.

His father didn't. Two months later the elder

Mantle died of the dread disease and Mickey, remembering those days when they lay suffering together, began thinking of how he could do something to help eradicate the disease which had killed his father.

Last spring he was joined into action, Mickey received a letter advising him that St. Vincent's Hospital, which had been conducting research against Hodgkins disease, was about to give up its work because its funds were exhausted. His determination hardened when he visited a hospital and saw children afflicted with the disease.

The result was announcement Tuesday of the Mickey Mantle Fund for research in Hodgkins disease, which is cancer of the lymph glands. And the fund was led off by presentation of a $5,000 check to Mantle by Francis Cardinal Spellman.

Bank Downs Kist, 8-7

In Pony League play last night the First National Bank team downed the Kist Beverage boys by a narrow, 8-7, in an extra inning game.

Clark and Langley were batteries for the winners, and Duncan, with Mathis catching, was credited with the loss.

Only home run of the game was hit by Randall Cross for Kist Beverage.

Water Regatta To Be Sunday On Buffalo Lake

A Water Regatta featuring a wide display of water sports will be held Sunday, June 30 at 2 p.m., on Buffalo Lake, located southwest of Amarillo. The Regatta will be sponsored by the Panhandle Boat and Ski Club of Amarillo.

Highlighting the afternoon will be boat races, using both stock and modified motors, in fishing and run - about type boats. There will also be a hydro plane race.

Featured for the afternoon will be Buddy Shaw in a water skiing exhibition. Shaw was third runner-up in National water skiing competition in 1956.

There will be no admission and all the public is invited.

An Individual Affair

For be it from us to mount the podium either to extol or eulogize the vigorous and effective Billy Graham. Mr. Graham's work is saving souls and ours is saving freedom. In a way, the tasks may be related. And at least, at one point there is a most definite unity of thought. Mr. Graham's approach is to the individual. He calls upon the individual to confess his private sins, to reorder his private life, and to give himself, as an individual, to God. The approach is sound.

But now comes the Very Reverend Francis B. Sayre Jr., dean of the Washington Cathedral (Episcopal), to inform all and sundry via the Associated Press that Mr. Graham's approach to the individual is "terribly misleading."

It is a fallacy, says Dean Sayre, to suppose that individuals can do anything. "The salvation of the world doesn't come about by arithmetic." What is needed is a "social" consciousness. A mere repetition of individuals who take care of themselves is not enough. "There is a dimension of sin that goes beyond the individual. It infects the very society in which we live. The remedy doesn't rely on individual repentance."

The dean of Washington Cathedral may not know it, but he is mouthing diabolic materialism right out of Marx, rather than Christianity according to Jesus. When the Ten Commandments were enunciated, it will be noted that they are admonitions to individuals. Nowhere in the commandments is it advocated that man recognize himself as a social creature so that he can busy himself with "racial brotherhood, foreign aid, disarmament, peaceful use of atomic energy and immigration," which is what the dean suggests. Instead of improving himself, the dean is dedicated to the concept that some men had best be about the job of regulating everyone else.

In the Sermon on the Mount, Jesus makes his appeal to individuals. In his crusade in Madison Square Garden so, too, does Billy Graham. But not Dean Sayre. This individual business is too slow for him. He wants to reorder the world. And he makes no bones about it.

"Political leaders are cast in a prophetic role today," he says. "God can use them more effectively than He can use us preachers." Thus, he reveals that in his lexicon, the use of political force and coercion is justifiable, nay, is the very arm of God in getting things molded in a manner pleasing to the dean.

The dean has missed his calling. If he truly feels that politicians are more effective in doing God's work than preachers are, and if he has truly given himself to divine service, then it behooves him to doff his frock and mount the hustings where he can exhort the voters to believe in one world, atoms for "peace" and taxes for everyone.

We are astounded at the conclusions of this Very Reverend gentleman. How come individuals are no longer important? Since when did this world find itself divided by God into two groups, those who govern others, and those who must be governed by others?

Isn't the entire concept of Christianity, and all other major religions, related to the individual? There could be no moral purpose to any religion which simply advocates certain types of political action. Morality is always an individual affair.

We don't suppose that Mr. Graham despite his herculean efforts, can save the world, or even New York City. But if he is successful in causing even one person to change his way of living for the better, then he has at least performed that one useful service. As for Dean Sayre, even if he is successful in having all manner of laws passed to regulate everyone to his own image, how will this have aided in the establishment of true morality?

A moral world would be a world in which, despite all the choices available, each individual governed himself according to moral law. An immoral world would be a world in which some men, by law, governed all other men to such a degree that their choices were eliminated.

If we must choose between the Very Reverend Mr. Sayre and Billy Graham, we'll take Billy.

The "Bearing False Witness" Commandment

I want to quote from a book a friend gave me on "God's Psychiatry." The book was written by Charles L. Allen. He is a Methodist minister in Atlanta, Ga.

I thought he presented the Coveting Commandment in a very clarifying way. On this Commandment he writes:

"Of the Ten Commandments, the one we break the most is the ninth - 'Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor.' One reason for this is that we talk most about people. Those of great minds discuss ideas, people and of those of small minds discuss other people. Most of us have never made much mental development. Another reason we break this commandment is because it ministers to our own pride. It takes some of the sting out of our own failures if we can rub off the glitter of someone else's crown. It is a sure sign of an inferiority complex when a person tells of the faults of another. Back of much gossip is jealousy.

"However, hardly anybody feels guilty of violating this law. I have had people confess to me the breaking of every one of the Ten Commandments except this one. I have never heard a person admit gossiping. We say, 'I don't mean to talk about him, but...' and off we go. We assume a self-righteous attitude which we feel gives us license to condemn sin. But all the time we enjoy talking about the sin, and, in a back-handed way, brag of ourselves because we have not done exactly what the person we are telling about has done."

"Then we gossip just by listening. There cannot be a noise unless there is an ear to hear it. A noise is caused by the vibrations of the ear drums. And neither can there be a bit of gossip without an ear to hear. The law holds the receiver of stolen goods as guilty as the thief. It is really an insult to you for someone to tell you of the vices of another man, because in so doing he is passing judgment, not only on the subject of his gossip, but also on you."

Telling of the vices of another certainly is not gossip or bearing false witness if these vices are real and such as to not only injure the man himself but others. Of course before these vices are made public, there should be an effort made to get the party to see the errors of his ways. Then if these acts are of such a nature that they will not only injure him, but others, it certainly is not bearing false witness to give warning to others. Ezekiel 4:18-19 put it this way:

"When I tell the wicked, 'You must die,' if you do not warn him, if you say nothing to warn the wicked from his wicked course, in order to save his life, then that wicked man shall die for his iniquity, but I will hold you responsible for his death. If you do warn the wicked, and if he will not give up his wickedness and wicked course, he shall die for his iniquity, but you have saved yourself."

The author continues: "In a recent sermon I said the person who talks about one who sins is worse than the one who actually commits the sin. That is a rather extreme statement which I made extemporaneously in an off-guarded moment. I am not sure it is true. Yet I am not sure it isn't true. What do you think? Before you answer turn over and read the story about Noah getting drunk (Genesis 9:20,27).

"Noah was a preacher. Now, it is shameful for any person to get drunk, but for one who wears the royal purple of the prophet it is a double shame. Noah lay in his tent disgracefully naked. After a while his son Ham came and saw his father and he went out and told it. Noah's two other sons, Shem and Japheth, refused to look upon their father. Instead, they backed into the tent and covered their father with a garment.

"Many generations later, when the author of Hebrews writes of the great men of faith, he tells of Noah's mighty work and does not remember this fall against him (Hebrews 11:7). Undoubtedly God forgot it also. Japheth and Shem were blessed of God and they prospered. But Ham, the son who told of his father's nakedness, was cursed and was condemned to the life of a servant. Maybe, after all, he who actually commits the sin comes out better than he who tells about it.

"Jim was considered the bad boy of the community. He was blamed for everything. He took his whippings at school without complaint and with no tears. But one year a new schoolteacher came, and when something happened, naturally everyone blamed that boy. He expected the usual beating. Instead, the teacher said, 'Now, let Jim tell his side.' To the surprise of everyone, Jim began to cry. When the teacher asked, 'What is the matter?' Jim replied, 'This is the first time anybody ever said I had a side.' "One of my favorite verses of Scripture is: 'Brethren, if a man be overtaken in a fault, ye which are spiritual, restore such a one in the spirit of meekness; considering thyself, lest thou also be tempted' (Galatians 6:1)." "God's Psychiatry" is a book that would grace anybody's library.

Recent Supreme Court Actions Upset Leaders

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court's recent disregard of established precedents and constitutional standards has created confusion and turmoil throughout the nation's legal, judicial and law enforcement systems, according to complaints reaching the Department of Justice and Capitol Hill in tremendous volume.

The high tribunal has upset coronation lawyers, jurists, police chiefs, Congressmen and big-league baseball stars with seemingly inconsistent rulings on many major issues. No New Deal body has caused such social and economic disturbances as the group presided over by Chief Justice Earl Warren, the California liberal appointed by President Eisenhower.

Veteran Congressional leaders charged that it has struck down the only weapon which Congress possesses for exercising restraint over the Executive and Judiciary. In ruling that Congressional investigations must be confined to ascertaining the need for new legislation, it has left the legislators helpless to check arbitrary and inefficient bureaucrats, and to spotlight dishonesty within the government.

Although begun as a "fishing expedition," many Congressional inquiries have had an extremely beneficial effect, without leading to new or novel laws. This observation applies to the famous Teapot Dome and Harry Daugherty exposures, which disclosed widespread corruption in the Harding Cabinet. It took months of Senatorial digging in legislative fields before the truth led to the Secretary of the Interior and the Attorney General.

The sensational House study of America's aviation backwardness, where Billy Mitchell was the star witness, was not inspired by any need or demand for legislation. It was undertaken to show that earth-bound Generals and "battleship" Admirals were deliberately stunting and neglecting the airplane as a weapon in war.

Under the Supreme Court ruling in favor of Fifth Amendment Communists and fellow-travelers, it is extremely doubtful whether these two healthy and necessary exposes of Executive crime and negligence could have been conducted.

Unless remedied, the Supreme Court has stripped Congress of its authority to act as a watchdog for the public interest when it is in danger of being betrayed by other branches of the government.

Numerous lawyers also contend that the high tribunal has shown a spirit of what they call "flippancy" in several important rulings.

In freeing convicted Communists on technicalities, it may have endangered national security. In applying the Antitrust Act to "vertical" corporations for the first time, as in the du Pont-General Motors case, it has caused grave concern and misgiving throughout the nation's corporate structure.

In enforcing the FBI and every other police agency to open their files to defendants in criminal actions, the Supreme Court has helped to cripple enforcement and delay prosecution.

But the charge of "flippancy" is leveled most seriously against its seemingly contradictory handling of the school segregation and the baseball antitrust questions.

When the Court held that professional football was a business and not a sport, and subject to Federal regulation, it noted that an earlier decision had given organized baseball immunity from antitrust jurisdiction. But it added that, if there was any "error of discrimination" in these inconsistent findings, it could and should be corrected by Congress. It invited Congress to express its intent and viewpoint.

However, in the far more vital matter of school segregation, it did not show a similar consideration for judicial precedent or the attitude of Congress. In a two-hour session, it wiped out an historic ruling and upset the nation's social and educational system. It carried this revolutionary philosophy even further in the Girard college decision.

Naturally, many constitutional experts ask: Why should the Supreme Court be more solicitous of 40 baseball players and team owners than of the nation's millions of school children and parents and educators?

Nylon taffeta slips need a stiff starching to keep them in shape. Follow washing with a dip in starch or gelatin. Hang garment up dripping wet and do not wring. Nylon absorbs very little water solution, therefore the stiffening actually clings to the fabric surface.
