

New Cloudbursts Cause Floods In Fort Worth Area

By ED FITE
DALLAS, May 25 (UP)—New cloudbursts of nearly six inches today forced 3,000 persons from their homes in Fort Worth and police went from door to door in low-lying sections of Dallas, warning of high water.

A crest of 37 feet was expected Sunday on the Trinity River in Dallas, where exactly a month to the day ago flooding caused 2,500 persons to flee from their homes.

The Trinity crested at 39.7 feet on April 26. It has been running at or near flood stage of 28 feet for more than a month of intermittent cloudbursts.

Forced Out Of Homes
At Fort Worth, water poured out of the banks of the West Fork of the Trinity, forcing 2,400 persons from their homes. It was at rooftop level in one residential area.

The Fort Worth Press, a Scripps-Howard newspaper, said it had counted 600 other persons driven from their homes by high water on the shoreline of Eagle Mountain Lake, north of the city and in fashionable Richland Hills, northeast of the city.

Fort Worth flood was caused by uncontrolled flood waters pouring six to seven feet deep over the spillway at Eagle Mountain Lake and by the flooding tributaries of the Trinity. The spillway flow was rising at a rate of three inches an hour tonight.

Prevent Looting
National Guardsmen armed with carbines and walkie talkie radios patrolled evacuated areas to prevent looting. They were augmented by policemen riding in motorboats.

Deputy Police Chief R. R. Howerton said an additional 200 homes in Westover addition were threatened.

There were no reports of flood deaths or injuries in Fort Worth or Dallas, but at Weatherford where a cloudburst dumped 5.68 inches of rain, a child was reported missing and feared drowned, Police Dispatcher Dick Yandell said.

Yandell said two houses were under water at Weatherford. There were no reports of flood deaths or injuries at Fort Worth or Dallas but near Weatherford, where a cloudburst dumped 5.68 inches of rain, five-year-old Daniel Glenn Butler was drowned.

The boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Butler of Brock, Tex., was standing on the bank of a flood-swollen stream nine miles west of Weatherford. The bank caved in, sending the boy into the swirling waters. His body was recovered early tonight two miles downstream.

Police Dispatcher Dick Yandell said the sudden deluge at Weatherford put two houses under water.

Some families were reported evacuated at Dennis, south of Weatherford but police said no one was trapped by high water. Isolated severe thunderstorms were reported at many points in Texas such as at San Saba, some 30 miles west of Lampasas which was flooded by a 10-foot wall of water earlier this month.

San Saba was drenched by 2.25 inches of rain in 30 minutes.

Helping Evacuation
At Fort Worth, the 600-man police force was expanded by 125 civil defense auxiliary police and Army and Marine reserves in helping out in the evacuation. Reception centers were set up in Will Rogers auditorium and evacuees stored their personal belongings in the adjoining livestock arena.

Officers in Dallas patrolled the Roosevelt addition, a many-times flooded area in the south part of the city, to tell residents of the danger from flood waters should the Trinity reach its expected crest.

The Press said the worst flooded area in Fort Worth was the Sundown addition near Carwell Air Force Base on the west side of the city. Water was rooftop deep in the area that housed hundreds of military personnel from the adjoining air base.

The Press said the Clear Fork of the Trinity was beginning to act up after Macy's Creek which flows into the river went out of its banks, flooding a plush area near the Colonial Hills Country Club.

The Press said that in many ways today's flood was worse than the 1949 disaster that pushed the Trinity to a two-mile width and put water up to the fourth floor of the big Montgomery Ward store on West Seventh Street.

Huge government dikes prevent ed water from flowing into that area this time.

But many residential areas of Fort Worth do not benefit from the floodway dikes that protect the main business area of the city.

Although, flood conditions continued over North Central Texas, it appeared that the tornado activity had reached a lull.

Twister Touched Ground
However, the Ground Observers Corps reported a tornado touched the ground in an open field nine miles southeast of Lipan, Tex. The twister was reported moving toward Grandbury, Tex., some 60 miles west of Fort Worth but apparently it disappeared.

Overnight rains of up to six inches in heavily-populated North Central Texas fell on ground so soaked by a month of cloudbursts that the new water had no place to go.

At Dallas, a total of $5.31 inches of rain had been measured up to noon today for the year, nearly an inch more than normal for a whole year.

Friday, tornadoes raked wide areas of the storm-weary South-west.

Cold Front
Meanwhile, a cold front brought clearing conditions to the Texas Panhandle and South Plains sections that bore the brunt of most of the 31 separate tornadoes that were counted in Texas, Oklahoma, Colorado, Kansas and Wyoming Friday and Friday night with a loss of only four lives near Lawton, Okla.

The same tornadic conditions that caused the deaths at Lawton may have been responsible for the crash of a B-47 jet bomber in the worst drought in history today are much like a series of marshes and swamplands.

A rash of thunderstorms, tornadoes and downpours which began lashing the state late in February has dumped more rain in many areas than fell in the past four or five years.

Vast areas of the state from the Texas Panhandle south and east 500 and 600 miles are a soggy, rain-saturated mass of pools, creeks and rivers.

Tons Of Water
Tons of water in streams built up by heavy downpours on top of downpours have flooded almost every stream in the state. The area from the Texas Plains east to the Louisiana border looks from the air like a continuous line of muddy pools, swift streams and swamped farm and ranch lands.

Muddy, irregular fingers of contact at 4:30 p. m. near Sayre, Okla.

Two of the crewmen were found alive today near Arnett, Okla., 61 miles north of Sayre and far off the normal course of the plane enroute from Tulsa to its base at Tucson, Ariz. Neither the third crewman nor the plane had been found. He was 1st Lt. Robert A. McIsaac, of Seattle, Wash.

The two crewmen, Capt. James B. Holden of Fort Dodge, Iowa, and 1st Lt. Casimiro B. Mallozzi of South Barre, Mass., were suffering from exposure after spending a stormy, wet night in the open.

Flood control reservoirs all across Texas and Oklahoma were in sad shape to handle the tremendous runoffs resulting from today's renewed rains. Most of them were at or near capacity with water pouring over spillways two to nine feet despite the fact flood gates also were open.

Civil Warfare Erupts On Divided Island Of Haiti

Army Units Have Artillery Duel In Try To Gain Control

By FRANCIS L. MCCARTHY
PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti, May 25 (UP)—Civil warfare erupted here today in a battle of two army factions for control of this divided nation.

An artillery duel began shortly after a group of junior officers headed by former Police Chief Col. Pierre Armand demanded in an ultimatum that army commander Gen. Leon Cantave step down from power.

When Cantave failed to respond to the ultimatum, besieging rebel forces attacked his headquarters, the Desaline barracks.

A one hour artillery duel followed, during which at least three rifle bullets struck the American embassy.

This correspondent and another United Press reporter came under fire.

Political Crisis
The bloodshed climaxed a five-month political crisis that began when former President Paul Magloir tried to extend his term of office last December. His effort was thwarted by a nationwide strike and he fled into exile.

Since then, two provisional presidents chosen in the regular constitutional order of succession were forced to step down by political strikes on the grounds they were favoring one or another of the many candidates for president in pending elections.

Early in April the warring factions agreed on a 10-man council to govern until the elections. Three supporters of candidate Francois Duvalier, later quit, charging the election machinery was being rigged against him.

Cantave then was asked to set up a military junta. Instead, he asked the Supreme Court to rule on the council's legality and upheld the court's 5-to-2 opinion that the council was the legal government. However, last Monday, when the council ordered him ousted as chief of staff, Cantave deposited it and took over the government.

Four Soldiers Killed
At least four soldiers were killed when an artillery piece blew up during the duel, which took place directly in front of the U.S. embassy. At least two civilians were killed by rifle fire.

The rebel forces led by Armand former police chief of Port Au Prince, had seized the city's airport and surrounded Cantave's headquarters this morning after issuing an ultimatum to the military ruler to surrender and leave the country.

Cantave, with 500 troops inside his fortress, refused. The insurgent forces mustered about the same strength outside.

Drought Area Now Marshes, Swamps

(Editor's note: Three United Press staffers, riding a chartered plane Friday to cover the series of property-damaging tornadoes that raked West Texas, were forced to land and take refuge in a storm cellar when a squall line headed their way. Here is their story.)

By KYLE THOMPSON
DALLAS, May 25 (UP)—Millions of square miles of Texas farm and ranch lands which three months ago were parched by the worst drought in history today are much like a series of marshes and swamplands.

A rash of thunderstorms, tornadoes and downpours which began lashing the state late in February has dumped more rain in many areas than fell in the past four or five years.

Vast areas of the state from the Texas Panhandle south and east 500 and 600 miles are a soggy, rain-saturated mass of pools, creeks and rivers.

For weeks, in the middle of the spring planting season, many farmers have been unable to get into fields to plant crops. Others who planted seeds saw them washed out by torrents of water.

To add to their woes, a siege of tornadoes has smashed the countryside with destructive, black fingers, leaving many dead, hundreds injured and millions of dollars in damage.

The weather bureau says more than 500 of the deadly twisters have been counted in the country. See DROUGHT, Page 3

Pampa To Make Survey Of Needs At Lake McClellan

Fred Brook, city manager, recently reported that the city and county will work together to see what the disposition of McClellan Lake will be. The Lake was recently offered to the city, free of cost, by the Forestry Service of the Department of Agriculture.

Brook said that a city engineering project will be ordered within the near future to see what can and should be done with the project of bringing the lake area up to the level that has been expected of it.

The announcement of the availability of McClellan Lake to the city was made at a meeting of city and county officials with members of the Forestry Service of the United States Department of Agriculture.

The Forestry Service representatives revealed that Pampa may receive, without cost, the McClellan Creek Land Utilization Project, an area covering 1,440 acres.

Beck Will Not Seek Election

By MAUREEN GOTHAN
WASHINGTON, May 25 (UP)—Teamsters President Dave Beck, accused of using his union position to enrich himself and his family, announced tonight he will not run for reelection at the union's convention this September.

The 62-year-old Beck already is under heavy fire within the union to resign as president. The move led to speculation that by not running for reelection he hopes to keep his post until September.

Beck also disclosed he will call a meeting of the Teamsters' executive board sometime next month. Informed sources have predicted heavy pressure will be put on him at the next board meeting to resign.

There have been reports that a majority of the board will try to force his resignation if he refuses.

Prospective Successor
Teamsters vice president James R. Hoffa, one of the union's strongest leaders, may be a front-runner in the scramble for Beck's post.

He was regarded as Beck's logical successor until recently. But he now has two federal indictments against him. See BECK, Page 3

City Engineer To Be Here June 1

Monroe Moore, 39, graduate of Texas Tech, will be the new city engineer to take over in the place of James Cowan who left recently for Sherman where he took over as city engineer, according to Fred Brook, city manager.

Moore, who is former city engineer for the city of Hereford, has worked in Lubbock and while going to college was employed at Midland.

Brook reported that Moore will start in this city on June 1.

Formosan Officials Offer Resignation Due To Rioting

By ROBERT BROWN
TAIPEI, Formosa, May 25 (UP)—The Nationalist Chinese government was reported to have offered to resign today as an apologetic gesture to the United States in the wake of anti-American riots which swept Taipei. But the proffered resignation was rejected by President Chiang Kai-Shek.

A few hours later, a midnight to 5 a.m. curfew was imposed. Traffic was brought to a standstill and the deserted streets gave Taipei a war-like atmosphere with troops at every intersection. The suddenness of the move also brought confusion, with many Chinese cars and buses halted in the first hour for inspection.

Neighbors Plow Fields For Sick Farmer Friend

A "good neighbor policy" on the local level was in progress in Gray County yesterday as friends and neighbors gathered on the land of Dick Walker, who farms east of town, and plowed over three hundred acres of the land.

Walker is recovering from a recent illness and is not able to do the plowing and other work necessary for the preparation of the land for the planting of crops this year.

Those engaged in the project yesterday were: L. L. Stovall, Keith Yeager, Ernest Crane, Charles Ellington, Emmett Osborne, Robert Reddell, Jack Benton, Johnny Welborn and C. V. Wilkinson.

Wilkinson was the ramrod of the activities and reported that helping friends when they were sick was not unusual among the group. He reported that Benton, who is 72, was returning a similar favor which Walker undertook several years ago.

Two other men, J. D. Skaggs and H. C. Graham, had previously plowed over 100 acres near Walker's house earlier in the week.

Wilkinson also reported that the men would be back next month to plant the crops and if any crops were made that they would harvest them when ready.

In discussing the help being given him yesterday, Walker stated, "There are two things that a person can't do without, water and friends. He can do without everything else but without these two items a person would be lost." One thing is for sure, Walker has plenty of friends.

Ike Commits US On Atomic Use

WASHINGTON, May 25 (UP)—President Eisenhower committed the United States today to a series of concrete proposals for easing the threat of atomic war.

He ordered disarmament negotiator Harold E. Stassen to return to London Sunday with "flexible" offers to lay before Russia, Britain, France and Canada in arms reduction talks resuming Monday.

The proposals were not officially revealed but guarded statements by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and other sources after a final White House meeting on disarmament indicated they included:

- A bid for voluntary worldwide agreement to limit possession of atomic weapons to the three present "nuclear powers"—the United States, USSR and Britain.
- Eisenhower's "Open Skies" aerial inspection plan, over as large areas of Soviet, U. S. and Allied territory as Russia will accept, and on an equitable basis.
- Reduction of present weapons stockpiles by padocking of equal amounts of Soviet, U. S. and other nations' munitions in depots controlled by international inspectors.
- Dulles said the proposals "will safeguard the vital interests of the United States."

Changes In Constitution Due For Vote

AUSTIN, May 25 (UP)—A record total of 12 proposed constitutional amendments were submitted by the 55th Legislature for a vote of the people.

The Legislature which ended Thursday set four measures for a vote next Nov. 5, and eight others will come before the people at the general election on Nov. 4, 1958.

Key proposals include annual sessions of the legislature and $7,500-a-year pay for lawmakers, a 200 million dollar water conservation plan, and a $2-a-month increase in the monthly maximum for old age pensions.

One From Record
The dozen proposed changes in the state constitution were just one less than the record of 13 submitted by the Legislature in 1919, and again in 1935. The 1933 Legislature submitted 12.

The four measures to be voted on at the polls next Nov. 5 are:

- Raising the ceiling on state welfare spending per year to 47 million dollars, and boosting the maximum old age individual assistance check from the present $58 to $60.
- Creating a 200 million dollar bond issue through which the state could aid local governments in financing water conservation projects, providing loans of up to one-third the cost of the project.
- Authorizing the state to accept federal medical aid for persons on the old age assistance rolls.
- Revising and broadening the retirement system for state employees.

Meet Called To Discuss Nursery

A special meeting has been called by the board of directors of the Pampa Day Nursery for Monday evening at 8:30 in Carver School.

The nursery, which was established to take care of children of working mothers, has been closed for several months. The purpose of the Monday evening meeting is to work out plans for re-opening.

The meeting is open to all those who are interested in seeing the nursery in operation again. Each interested individual is urged to attend.

Singing Convention Holds Meet Today

Regular, fourth Sunday singing will be conducted by the Gray County Singing Convention in the Church of God at Reed and Campbell this afternoon at 2 p.m., according to Art Abernathy, vice president of the organization.

Abernathy said that the singing will be started one half hour earlier due to the baccalaureate services to be held at the Pampa High School.

Sandy Ruff, president of the singing convention will be in charge of the singing and a business meeting will be held following the program.

The convention, which sings at different churches every Sunday, is planning a heavy schedule for the coming summer with a week-end get-together of singers planned for the end of June.

He Finally Pays Visit to Doctor

By ELMER WHEELER
After finding that hole in my hair, not due, of course, to the guy giving me treatments, but caused perhaps from old age, improper diet or moths, I made a decision.
It took me months of self-treatment as a fiasco before I saw my doc, so now after months of self-education, I again came to this lucky decision.
I say lucky, because it was, as you'll see.
Didn't the doc set me right on my calories when my homemade methods and listening to the tall tales of my friends had 'sided' in fact, I had put on an extra eight pounds.
Anyhow, I saw it was time (with holes in my hair, no less) to see him. I phoned for an appointment.
I explained that I had a large hole in my hair and needed some fast and expert advice before I ended up in a hair dolly factory.

"I guess you've been giving yourself some home treatments to save a doctor's bill, eh?" he smirked.
I assured him it was nothing like that. In fact, I was paying very expensive fees to a scalp specialist. I told him I had tried homemade remedies but if I could save a buck and get cured in a drug-store or barbershop, what of it?
"Didn't do much good," he said, "eh, son?"
No, it didn't. I admitted, otherwise, why in thunder would I be talking to him and getting insulted by the minute?
Besides, I told him that each minute he wasted talking to me I lost another 100 hairs.
"Yeah, son, I know, I know," he went on. "I just wanted to be sure you had been through the tonic stage, the barber cure, and the hair clinic stage and was ready for medical advice."
For three days I got madder and madder. First at the wife for finding the hole in my hair; then at the doc for snickering at me, then at myself for being a fool.
In the meantime the hair grew longer over the eyes of my sheep dog, and so I got mad at him for no other reason than his was a problem of getting weekly haircuts and mine was just the opposite.
That very afternoon the papers came out with a new cure for receding brows, supposed to be discovered in Africa where there are no bald heads. No heads, perhaps, but all with hair.
I read every line of what the guy said who talked with the fellow who personally visited the medicine man who told how his brother in the next battle area discovered the hair grower.
I told my doc the ingredients this African cure-all for the head had in it. He offered to mix some up if I went to the drug store and got the stuff.
He made up a whole bottle. It sure smelled bad but after all isn't that the basic requirement of good medicine, anyway?
I was so pleased with the results I phoned my doc to cancel my next appointment. I informed him the stuff was preventing my hair from falling out. "It's like it was stuck on me now," I assured him.

"I explained that I had a large hole in my hair."

"Have you combed it lately?" he asked. I hesitated. To tell the truth, I hadn't, but I would.

I called him back, sheepishly as my sheep dog, and said I had combed it. The comb was still laughing at me. He told me to come over.

"If it's a bottle you want, well, son, I've got a bottle here that I'll positively guarantee will keep hair on your head. In fact, the American Medical Association will back up my discovery."

I offered to run right over. When I got there, I shook with nerves like a guy going off dope. I reminded, "Where's the bottle? Where is it?" I screamed.

"Take it easy, son. Take it easy," he said. "It's right here. But don't you think we need a little examination first?"

I shouted no. I had diagnosed my condition enough. I wanted the bottle. THE BOTTLE!

"Well, here it is then," he said. "And guaranteed by the American Medical Association to keep what hair is left on your head ON your head."

He handed me the bottle. I grabbed it fiercely. I looked at the label. It was familiar. Very familiar to me. I had seen lots of them. Hundreds of them in my very own office.

It was a bottle of glue.

Proven Violence

The discovery, although it was not news to most of us, that Dave Beck had been living the proverbial life of Riley on slush funds black-jacked from his dues-paying members, brought the Teamsters Union into a certain amount of national disrepute.

One of the silliest reactions to date has been the posturing of the chiefs of the combined AFL-CIO as they pretend to the public to be concerned over these displays of corruption and illegality. Actually, there isn't a one of the major moguls of unionism who is guiltless, although it is quite true that each one's guilt varies from the guilt of every other one both by direction and degree.

However, there seems to be less of a furor over the continuing investigations made by the Senate committee, and so it might be wise to bring to additional light some of the current findings being disclosed as the various building trades and the teamsters are being probed, particularly in the Scranton, Pennsylvania area.

So let us ask these questions: Do unions seek to compel harmless business people to their will by a display of force? Do these acts of violence, if they occur, just "happen" or are they planned and staged under the direction of union insurrectionists?

To answer these questions let us turn to testimony recently given under oath respecting the Scranton investigations:

Here is Mr. Paul Bradshaw, a former steward for Teamsters Local 229 in Scranton:

Robert Malloy (business agent for 229) called me one morning and said: "Paul, we are meeting down at the lunchroom and we are having some trouble with a milk concern in Scranton." And so he said, "We're going to go out and give the guy a bad time."

"So we met at the lunchroom and it must have been about 15 or 20 of us altogether, and four or five got in one car and four or five in another car, and we all had instruction to get around each part of town."

"So we had two gallon cans filled with kerosene with us which Bob Malloy gave us and with instructions to pour it over the milk, the eggs and the butter in the truck. When we went to do that the man said he will join, and that was the end of that, and he did. He signed the slip to join the union."

Then Mr. Bradshaw was questioned respecting another job.

Mr. Kennedy: "You were working at Tobyhanna (a construction job at the Signal Corps depot) at the time?"

Mr. Bradshaw: "I was working at Tobyhanna at the time. I had orders to pull all the men off the job at Tobyhanna. The Teamsters pulled all their men, the Laborers pulled all their men, the Electricians done the same thing, and went up on this job. The Engineers did the same thing. We went up on the job, and I think the papers estimated the crowd to be close to 3,000 men."

Mr. Kennedy: "There were about 3,000 pickets?"

Mr. Bradshaw: "That is correct."

Mr. Kennedy: "So you had 3,000 pickets and there were about 45 employees?"

Mr. Bradshaw: "That is right, yes, sir."

Now here is Mr. William Ryan, a highway contractor of Clearfield, Pennsylvania.

Mr. Kennedy: "Did some of them (3,000 pickets) have clubs?"

Mr. Ryan: "Well, sometimes, through the goggles on, I saw them with clubs, and wire and iron rod."

And again Mr. Bradshaw:

"There was a crap table there, and every time some of the boys would bend over to pick up the dice, the guns would show, yes, sir, I seen them real good."

Does this answer the questions concerning the violence of unions? It should. And these statements culled from testimony under oath are only the beginning. It is common knowledge that the alleged strength of unionism is based on a use or a show of force. This includes the employment of dynamite, brass knuckles, black jacks, guns, clubs, chemicals and any and every item useful in warfare and sabotage.

Here is another question. What do you think of people whose way of life is violent and who uphold the use of violence against innocent people as entirely justified?

What do you think about scurrilous attacks on business and industry when the men responsible for these businesses and industries are performing useful chores by means of which many thousands of persons are gainfully and profitably employed?

What do you think of people who earn their living by supporting such actions?

The Doctor Says

otherwise she cannot be considered a desirable mother for her children.

Q—I read your article about myasthenia gravis and wonder if this is my trouble. I do not have pain but my eyes are weak and my neck looks wrinkled.—Mrs. I.

A—Probably not. It is extremely unwise to try to make such a complicated diagnosis on yourself. People who do this (even physicians) are usually wrong.

Q—I suffer terribly with trigeminal neuralgia. After three alcohol injections the doctor suggests an operation. What do you think?—Mrs. M.B.

A—Trigeminal neuralgia or the doloureux, is one of the most painful conditions known to man. New techniques of surgery have improved the possibilities of good results from operations for those patients in whom less radical procedures have failed to bring relief. The qualified nerve surgeons are thoroughly familiar with the various procedures possible in this field.

Q—Do you think an operation for a navel hernia is advisable or is a truss the best solution?—Mrs. W. F.

A—The answer depends on the size of the hernia, the age of the patient and several other considerations. Personally, I should usually favor operation as being likely to bring permanent relief, whereas a truss is merely a temporary measure or support. However, there are some, I am sure, who would be advised against operation by a surgeon if it seemed that operation would not be successful or would carry undue risk.

Q—Will you say something about a physician cap on the gall bladder?—Mrs. K.

A—This is a notch in the gall bladder visible in an X-ray film. The majority opinion is that taken alone this is not a sign of gall bladder disease.

There is only one sure conclusion that I can draw from today's first tragic letter.

Q—A young woman I know is having one of her spells. She is forging checks and charging in stores in four different towns. She has gone through this with all her relatives and relatives-in-law. The spells seem to come around pregnancies and the sheriff has saved her so far on account of the coming baby—they already have several other children. Can any doctor help?—L.

A—If this behavior occurs during pregnancy only there would seem to be some kind of medical problem involved. To my mind it is doubtful, however, that a doctor could "cure" the situation. If the behavior is restricted to pregnancy I think that this lady would have to be watched constantly at such times; if it occurs

More Questions And Answers With Member Of Board Of Education

For several years I have been trying to get a board of education member, or a superintendent of schools or a Protestant preacher holding a pulpit to answer questions as he would before a court to determine whether government schools were in agreement or disagreement with the Golden Rule.

Recently Al Miller, new member of the Santa Ana Board of Education, accepted the offer. The last few days I have been quoting from the interview. Here are more of the questions I asked:

"Is not giving any man or group of men legal authority to use aggressive force to compel others to study and help pay for books of their selection too much power to give to any fallible man or group?"

Miller's answer: "Yes, I'll agree with you on that."

I asked: "Can human rights be defended by violating them?"

Miller's answer: "No."

I asked: "Can the Golden Rule and the Coveting Commandment be upheld by violating them?"

Miller answered: "No."

I asked: "Do you believe that by joining the Communist Party you could change it so it would operate in harmony with the Golden Rule and Coveting Commandment?"

Miller did not answer this question but said: "I'm not joining the communist party. That's for sure."

Then I observed: "It's a parallel case. You're joining something that's poisoning the minds of the children, and you want to stop that poisoning."

Miller said: "Yes."

Then I observed: "I'll admit you want to stop that poisoning, but when it's based on aggressive force that might-makes-right, and it continues to do that, it is hard to stop something that's continuing to violate these things. It's the same thing as communism."

Then I asked: "Does not most of our trouble come from good but misguided people?"

Miller said: "I don't think most trouble comes from misguided people. I think they contribute some. I think they do, I'd just say, even myself. Let's be bold and frank about it, I may contribute too in a small way, but on the other hand, I do want to stop it."

Then I observed: "You've got a good reputation. And these people with good reputations are the kind of people they (operators of government schools) want on the board of education so that the people will continue to pay and they can bleed them and bleed them and indoctrinate the children."

Then Miller observed: "That's right. I agree with you on that one. But what are you going to do?"

My answer, which I'll expound later: "Try to stop it."

Then Miller asked: "How? Let us see how you're going to stop it. I'll go along with it."

Then I observed: "We're both trying to stop it. I'm trying to stop it one way and you're trying to stop it by being willing to think out loud. I don't see how we're going to learn unless we think out loud."

Then Miller remarked: "I think you've got to think out loud. I think that you've got to go to the source of the thing too, just like, let's say, a doctor. If you want to find the disease you've got to go to the cause. Well, that's what we have got to do."

Then I observed: "It's creating public opinion that will permeate good schools. That's what we are trying to do. Trying to create public opinion, and you and I are thinking out loud because we want to have a good educational system. I'm trying to get people to think. That's all I'm trying to do."

Miller then observed: "Yes, that is true, but what are you going to do? You can't do it alone. I can't do it alone."

Then I said: "Well, we hope that this discussion will get a few people to think. It is a slow, slow process, and anything that gets people to recognize a contradiction and to be able to reason, I can think of no better service than that."

Then I asked: "Is there anything more important than that we educate our children by example by living by the Decalogue?"

Miller's answer: "No, there is not anything more important."

Then I remarked: "Well, I think you have rendered a service to your fellowman by speaking out loud. Most people are afraid to think out loud."

In the next issue I expect to enlarge on my answer to Miller's repeated question: "What are you going to do about correcting government schools?"

Lots Of Clamor Being Heard For Cuts In Govt. Spending

By Thurman Sensing

Whether it will produce any real results or not, we are hearing lots of clamor for cutting federal spending.

Various reasons are advanced. Some say the federal government is just spending too much. Others say there is waste and extravagance in the federal budget. Others say they want it cut so they can get a reduction in federal taxes.

All these reasons are good—but there is a compelling reason as to why it must be cut, and that reason is that the states and local communities are going to lose their identity as governmental units if it is not cut.

Our population is growing rapidly. As it grows, we want to maintain our standard of living, even increase it if possible. This will take money.

Where is the money coming from? That used to be a very pertinent question, but in recent years it has fallen into some measure of disrepute due to the ascendancy of those who would have us believe that thrift and sobriety belong to the "horse and buggy" age and have no place in modern living.

A group of socialist members of Parliament told me when I was in Great Britain in 1949: "Don't be so concerned about where the money is coming from; just think of the great social benefits that we are now providing."

Regardless of all this, however, it is still a pertinent question: "Where is the money coming from?" The answer is that, in spite of all the attempts to hoodwink us or make us believe to the contrary, there is only one place it can come from— from those who earned it in the first place, from the people themselves.

The people live in the states, therefore the money comes proportionately from each state as provided by the people of that state. Which means, of course, that the federal budget is actually a budget superimposed upon the budgets of the various states, that both the state budgets and the federal budget are paid for with money furnished by the people back home. Certainly governments in a free nation in and of themselves have no money.

This also means something else that is easy to overlook, namely, that the federal debt is a people's debt and that the people of each state owe their proportionate share of the debt, depending upon the wealth of the state.

Therefore, whenever we see a newspaper or a chamber of commerce or a local government gloating over the fact that the community it represents has received a grant of federal funds—as we so often do—we cannot help but wonder if they simply do not realize where the money is coming from, if they blind themselves to the fact that they sent the money to the federal government in the first place, if they really think they are getting "something for nothing." Don't they know it would have been much better and much more economical to have kept the money at home in the first place and paid for what they needed with their own money?

But the trouble is, of course, that the federal government has been taking a larger and larger share of the people's taxes each year until now the local governments simply do not have enough money to do for themselves what needs to be done. It is for this reason, as we pointed out above, that this federal tax take must be cut so that government can return to the people where it belongs.

Just to show what has happened during the first fifty years or more: In 1902, the federal government collected $517 million in taxes, the state and local governments $860 million. In 1922, the federal government collected $3,656 million, the state and local governments $4,016 million. In 1942, the federal government collected $13,382 million, the state and local governments $9,612 million. In 1952 the federal government collected $63,909 million, the state and local governments $20,760 million. And in 1956, the federal government collected $75,112 million, the state and local governments $27,844 million.

A traveler who believed himself to be the sole survivor of a shipwreck upon a central ice hid for three days in terror of his life. Driven out by hunger, he discovered a thin wisp of smoke rising from a clump of bushes inland, and crawled carefully to study the tops of averages about it. Just as he reached the clump he heard a voice say: "Why in thunder did you play that card?" He dropped on his hands and knees, devoutly raising his hands, cried: "Thank the Lord, they are Christians."

Industrial Reorganization Reveals Internal Difficulties

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—The recent industrial and agricultural reorganizations in Russia, China and Poland reveal serious internal difficulties and a sharp clash between the classes which compose a Communist state, according to diplomatic and international reporting agencies. They suggest a struggle for power involving the Party politicians, the military and a new managerial faction of growing importance.

Khurshchev, Mao Tse-tung and Gomulka did not decree a decentralization of industrial direction simply for the sake of greater efficiency, although that was an admitted factor. Nor are they gradually releasing farms from their collective grip only because of severe food shortages. They have violated the basic canons of Marxism not only because their system of rigid centralized control has failed, but because regional industrial executives have demanded authority commensurate with their responsibilities.

The process was inevitable, even though disagreeable to certain Kremlin figures. After all, it is the managers remote from Moscow, Peking and Warsaw who must produce the goods and food for domestic consumption and export. They have discovered, and they have so informed the ruling politicians, that they cannot meet production schedules prescribed by arbitrary and nontechnical ideologists.

They have insisted that reason rather than a fixed but foolish politico-economic rationalization must govern their operations. They pointed out that human and regional differences—climate, geography, working conditions and capacity, transportation facilities, market considerations, etc.—made it impossible to conform to a single pattern of production.

In short, the monolithic state and economy established by Lenin and Stalin will not work as planned, industrially or agriculturally. Food failures forced China to abandon farm collectivization, which was the counterpart of industrial centralization. Poland's current request for American aid, which will include wheat as well as money and machinery, results from Warsaw's plan to return to a system of free farms and marketing. Both countries are suffering from crop failures and inefficiency. Like the industrial managers in Russia and China, the farmers have demonstrated their prejudice toward a centrally planned and directed agriculture. When it was in effect in China, they sabotaged it by withholding deliveries of food quotas. Although allowed to remain in a collectivized system if they wish, only a very small percentage have so chosen.

The Army's increasing power, a development frequently forecast by foreign observers of the Communist scene, forced Khurshchev to modify his original decentralization order. In announcing the shift, he applied it to every industry, light and heavy. There were no exceptions.

But protests from the military, especially from Defense Minister Zhukov, with whom President Eisenhower once had friendly relations, led the Kremlin to exempt factories engaged in producing weapons. They will remain under Moscow's rigid direction and control for obvious reasons.

Seemingly logical speculation among diplomatic experts at Moscow, London and Washington advances an additional reason for breaking up the great industrial agencies and organizations at the seat of government. As the post-Stalin years have shown, there is still a spirit of ambition and rivalry within the Soviet.

It may be that the heads of certain industrial ministries were becoming altogether too powerful in their own right. It is considered significant that the new manager of the Five Year Plan was elevated from an extremely obscure and unimportant post in the hierarchy.

Marx foresaw the day when the State would "wither away" after the achievement of perfect socialism. But these spectacular shifts seem to indicate that the Communist countries, and those the three largest and most influential, are still far from perfection. In short, after 40 years of groping experimentation, the Soviet now has adopted American methods of private enterprise and initiative.

It may foreshadow a revolution within a revolution, and the emergence of a more peaceable and tractable Russia.

London—When in Rome do as the Romans do, when in Lapland do as the Laplanders do, and when on the Isle of Wight do as the Isle of Wighters do.

All of us are familiar with these sound, old maxims and faithfully try to follow them. But no one has ever suggested that when in England it would be a wise move to do as the English do.

So I decided to give it a try. There would be nothing to lose—or so I thought. Where to begin? "Why not first thing in the morning with breakfast?" Mary suggested.

In the breakfast room I told the waiter to bring me, as nearly as possible, what Englishmen have at this meal. He did—and I might as well say right now that it isn't my idea of a smashing way to greet the new day.

The tea was fine, and the ice-cold toast not too bad, but the bacon and kippers are for men of stronger stuff than I. Englishmen don't like their bacon cooked. They like to chew it like gum. The bacon would take a lot of getting used to. So would kippers. Kippers, as far as I could make out, are little boxes of salt, shaped like fish, each having more bones than the Catacombs of Rome. The little boxes of salt are broiled and served without a glass of water anywhere near. And what a man needs when eating them is water! If I ever have them again it will be on the edge of the town reservoir.

Breakfast finished, I said to Mary, "What next?" "Go and have your umbrella furled." "I don't have an umbrella, and you know it," I said. "Then you had better buy one if you are going to do as Englishmen do while in England," Mary said. She was right, of course. Like arms and legs, umbrellas are standard equipment with Englishmen. But buying one in England is not like buying one at home. At home one just walks by a rack of umbrellas, picks out the cheapest one, pays and gets out—all in a matter of minutes.

Business Opportunity Knocks For Women

By GAY PAULEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP) — Business opportunity still knocks for the woman nimble with the thimble or creative in the culinary arts.

It also is there for the woman with other home-making skill or an unusual idea for a business service, reports the New York State Department of Commerce.

The department runs a unique counseling program for women who wish to turn their household skills into income, but aren't sure how to go about same. Its women's division was set up in 1945, originally to aid women returning from war jobs.

In the 12 years, its files have grown thick with success stories—such as the woman whose knack with doll costumes eventually was turned to design of children's clothes and a successful business. Or, the woman whose herb garden hobby was expanded and now includes herb farm, with greenhouse, highway salesroom, and a booming mail order business.

Now, the department has expanded its program with publication of a handbook called "Your Ideas Make Cents — and Dollars, too," available nationally as its mailing budget will allow.

"It is not as easy now as it was in 1945 to start a business at home," said Miss Barbara Yunker, assistant deputy commissioner. "Then, there was a shortage of consumer goods . . . almost anything in a pretty package would sell. Today, women are faced with a buyer's market.

"But there still are plenty of fields open, if the woman has the talent.

Man May Lose Teeth In Catching Bullet On TV

By WILLIAM EWALD
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 NEW YORK (UP)—Milbourne Christopher, a magician with first class teeth and a dandy set of gums, may have to replace the whole works next week.

In fact, someone may even have to replace Christopher.

The 43-year-old sorcerer is going to catch a bullet in his choppers, it says here, on NBC-TV's "Festival of Magic" next Monday night. It will mark an elegant "first" for American TV.

A student of abracadabra since the age of 12, Christopher has never attempted this particular caper before on stage. He has been practicing like crazy the past two months, against the better advice of his wife and dentist.

"My wife has begged me not to do it. You know, the danger factor is really quite high," said Christopher. "I've been practicing in open fields during spare moments and in my apartment."

In your apartment?

"Sure," said Christopher. "We have a corridor with thick walls and we shoot the rifle — it's a .22-caliber — at night when people have their TV sets on loud-est. So far I've tried the stunt 30 times, and so far, it's worked out 30 times."

Pampan To Teach Twirling

Lois Schneider, a twirler in Pampa High School for three years and in Junior High one year, will conduct a twirling school this summer.

Miss Schneider is winner of eight first places in twirling, has attended three schools of twirling and two twirling clinics and has taught private lessons and given group instruction.

Miss Schneider reported that the classes will be morning and afternoon sessions, held on the west side of the Pampa High School Band Room. Classes will last for one hour.

Instruction will be given in twirling and marching in the 10-day course. Classes begin June 4 with registration the day before at the school.

Left-Handedness Does Not Fit Into This Right-Handed World

By BOB PEREZ
Pampa News Staff Writer

While few of us have ever found occasion to worry about the plight of the left-handed person, one man, not too far from Pampa has made a complete study of sidedness and has become quite convinced that left-handedness is a thing that can be avoided and in fact should be. Oddly enough he is a left hander himself and has been one all his life.

His name is Herman Manning Wiley, a native of Wheeler, where he was county clerk for ten years and built an abstract plant. Today he and his sons operate a gas distributing concern which operates over a large area around Wheeler.

"It is the mothers' job or the nurses to make the child right-handed," Wiley says. "What I am trying to do is to get the little pamphlets I have made up to be accepted and put out by the government in their information on infant care. The information I am speaking of is the booklet on infant care put out by the United States Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

"In other words," Wiley said, "I am trying to prove that sidedness is not inherited and that it can be prevented before the child has developed a natural tendency to either side."

Wiley has carried his studies and surveys to all parts of the country. While it is an unusual study, Wiley says he first became interested in subject while "looking after he suffered from a heart attack a few years ago.

While he himself is a left-hander, Wiley claims that left-handedness should be discouraged at a very early age. On this regard he goes on to quote Dr. Fred T. Perry, an M.D. from Watonga, Okla., who says that right-handedness should be encouraged and left-handedness discouraged after about the first year. "The infant," according to Dr. Perry, "has no definite sidedness either left or right; he is ambilateral, not ambidextrous, and both sides are inept. A one-sided pattern begins to emerge at about 18 months and continues to develop for many years as one-sided skills are learned."

Wiley claims that we are living in a right-handed world, in that all handed tools are made for use in the right hand.

Aside from the practical factors involved in his theory, Wiley also claims that while 80 allusions to the right hand are found in the Bible, with a favorable connection; there is no honorable mention of the left hand of which reference is only made in 21 instances.

"The idea of crossing of brain control," Wiley says, "was correct. However, in 1925, by using improved measuring and weighing devices it was discovered that there is no difference in either the size or weight of the two brain hemispheres. We have two brain lobes of equal size," he continues, "just as we have two eyes, ears, hands and feet."

The whole preventative theory of Wiley's revolves around what he claims to be the fact that at birth the infant reaches out and holds with either hand with a 50-50 per centage. Soon, Wiley says, the two brain lobes start contesting for domination; that is, they struggle to determine which will send out the first impulse for action. There is no time in the life of an infant when it cannot pass a toy from one hand to the other. "If at this time," he reasons, "it is placed in its right hand, a tendency toward left brain domination is established. If, later, as the ability to switch a toy from one hand to the other develops, a preference is shown for the left hand," Wiley concludes, "a small sack or sock is tied on the left hand, the child will start holding and picking up with the right hand."

"You are thus," he says, "choosing for the child its handedness." Wiley maintains that a child is no more fitted to choose its handedness than choose its food, feeding or time of sleep.

"It takes one tenth the time," the former county clerk believes, "to make a right hander out of a person than to stop a child from sucking his thumb."

Some figures from a survey conducted by Wiley in 1956 covering 17,622 first to sixth graders in schools of Amarillo, Pampa, Borger and Wheeler County show the following:

Among the 48 first graders at Briscoe, Kelton, Kellerville and Mobeetie, the survey showed, there are no left handers. In Lela, one girl in the first grade was left handed. At Allison, one of the seven girls and one of the two boys were left handed. This is 22 per cent. At Shamrock, two of the 34 girls, 5.55 per cent and five of the 35 boys, 14.3 per cent; of the 69 boys and girls, 10 per cent were left handed.

At Wheeler, four of the 25 girls, 16 per cent; and four of the 18 boys, 22 per cent were left handed; of the 43 first graders, 18.6 per cent were left handed; of the 43 first graders, 18.6 per cent were left handed. And in Wheeler, 25 per cent of the teachers were left handed.

In the entire county, (in the first grade) of the 88 girls, 8 or 10 per cent were left handed. Of the 89 boys, 11 or 12.37 per cent were left handed; 19 of the 177 total in Wheeler County, or 10 per cent were left handed.

There was no separation of the boys and girls at Pampa, and there

LEFT HANDED CAMPAIGNER — Herman Manning Wiley, 75-year-old ex-county clerk of Wheeler County, who has carried on an intensive program of private research into the question of sidedness is shown above. Wiley firmly denies the theory of left-handedness being inherited. He believes that we are living in a right-handed world and that, therefore everyone should be right handed. He himself is left handed. (News Photo) was no survey of colored pupils. Of a total of 530 pupils, 29 girls and 33 boys were reported left handed. Wiley's study remarks: "Presuming they were divided 50-50, we would calculate 11 per cent of the girls and 12 per cent of the boys as being left-handed."

"From the above figures," the statement continues, "it is easy to see why we must have large numbers from various localities to secure a true picture of our left-handed predicament."

While Wiley does not hold the opinion of some that left-handedness "prevails among truants, criminals or neurotics," he does strongly maintain that this is a right-handed world, and say that his purpose is to impress on the minds of mothers the necessity for bringing right-handed in this right-handed world.

"I am simply trying to show the fallacy of the brain domination at birth idea and to drive home the fact that hand training must be done early in infancy before the child has picked a master hand, and that therefore the prevention of left handedness is the sole duty of the mother or nurse."

Officials Show Optimism On Disarmament

Foreign News Commentary By CHARLES M. MCCANN

United Press Staff Correspondent

The week's good and bad news on the international balance sheet:

Cautiously, but with evidently increasing optimism, American and other officials spoke of the possibility that the first step toward a disarmament agreement with Soviet Russia may be taken soon.

The hope was based largely on the belief that the Soviet government is about ready at last to agree to a system of inspection that would guard the Western Allies against cheating.

For one thing, Russian economy is suffering from the cost of maintaining an enormous arms budget. For another, conviction is growing that Russian leaders realize the catastrophe which would hit the Soviet Union as well as Western countries in an atomic war.

President Eisenhower said at his press conference in Washington Thursday: "There has got to be progress in some kind of disarmament or there is going to be no reduction in world tensions."

But Adm. Arthur W. Radford,

OIL PAGE

48th Year THE PAMPA DAILY NEWS SUNDAY, MAY 26, 1957 9

chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, voiced the pessimism of a strong group of officials in the armed forces and the State Department over the possibility of reaching any agreement which the Russians could not violate.

"We cannot trust the Russians on this or anything," Radford said. "The Communists have broken their word with every country with which they have made an agreement."

Guy Mollet, France's 22nd post-war premier, resigned after being defeated by a vote of 250-213 in the National Assembly, the dominating house of Parliament.

As the result, France seemed faced by a long period of extreme political confusion and instability.

Mollet's defeat came technically on an austerity law program. Actually it was a vote against his whole program, including means of ending the nationalist revolt in Algeria.

There appeared to be no prospect that any successor to Mollet could form a government which would hold a safe majority in Parliament.

Mollet, a Socialist, fell on the 34th vote of confidence he had been compelled to seek in his nearly 18 months in office as head of a coalition cabinet. His term had been longer than that of any French premier since the war had ended — if enjoyed in the right word.

In Italy, too, months of instability seemed likely. Adone Zoli, a 69-year-old lawyer, formed a cabinet consisting entirely of members of the Christian Democratic Party. It will be in a minority in the Chamber of Deputies, and must depend on other parties for support.

Zoli succeeded Antonio Segni, who resigned because the right-wing Socialists withdrew from his cabinet coalition.

Former Premier Giuseppe Peella was named foreign minister in the new cabinet in place of Gaetano Martino. One reason for Segni's fall was the criticism of Martino by Christian Democrats as well as members of other parties.

JOEL R. COMBS, managing editor

One of the most gratifying things to come about lately, I believe, is the good news that a storm warning siren will be installed here very soon.

Many, many people in "Our Town" feel the same way and it has been a topic of discussion in most any barber shop or cafe. It is another vivid illustration of the now-proven fact that when Pampans want to get something done, it is done in short order.

Have you ever stopped to think how many community interest projects have been begun and completed here within the last year?

There are really too many to list but here's a wild shot at a few. Remember the hotel campaign? And the student talent show to raise money for a youth center and Lakewood? And street paving projects, and park improvement projects, and the United Fund and a whole string of others?

It's a mighty fine record for a town our size.

And then, on top of that, comes the news that Pampa will be entered in the All-American City contest. I believe our city has a mighty good chance to come out smelling like a rose, too.

We have begun, as individuals and a group, to act like all-Americans. We have joined together for the common good in more than one situation in simply the spirit of good cooperation, not because we had to or leave.

Our city has been surrounded by a severe drought for years and years and it didn't even slow, or even hamper to a large extent, the progress made.

STAFF NOTES

FRED M. PARKER, staff writer

With the storm warning siren due here tomorrow and expected to be installed as soon as it arrives, the residents of Pampa will have a facility to warn them of impending danger.

But the use of this siren will not help the situation if the people do not respond to the warning in the right way.

Local officials are worried that there will be a similar occurrence in Pampa to what happened in Amarillo and other towns Friday as tornadoes played around those communities.

Instead of taking cover where they were, the people climbed into their automobiles so that they could drive around and see the storm. This resulted in a traffic jam, especially in Amarillo and Hereford, and if a tornado had hit the center of either of these communities the people would not have been able to get out of the way and possibly hundreds would have been injured or killed.

When the warning siren gives the alarm in Pampa, the residents of "our town" should immediately find adequate protection as near to them as possible. Above all, do not get into your car, stay where you are until the danger has passed.

A meeting is being held Tuesday night at 7:30 in the District Court room on the third floor of the Court House. The purpose of this meeting is to work out a better way of handling disasters in Gray County and all persons interested in either knowing more about the work or in helping with the plan are urged to attend this meeting. Sheriff Roy Jordan, Gray County coordinator of Civil Defense, has reported.

If a disaster does happen in Gray County, only authorized persons will be allowed into the disaster area. Jordan reported, and he urged everyone else to stay at home.

Remember, to insure your own safety when a storm approaches Pampa, stay where you are and find some type of protection. Above all, don't congest the streets with cars as emergency vehicles will not be able to move if the streets are congested.

City Golf Tourney Starts Next Sunday

Fred Woods, who graduated from Pampa High School in 1953, was named the recipient of the Billy Wahn Award at Rice Institute recently.

FRED WOODS
... gets award

Woods, who was all-state while playing basketball for Coach Clifton McNeely here, was the second Owl to win the award which is in honor of a former Rice cager killed in a Navy plane crash.

Pampans will remember him as an outstanding member of the state champion Harvesters in 1953. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Norvell F. Woods of 513 N. Faulkner.

Woods was honored at a banquet sponsored by the R Association in Houston.

He was the only senior on the Rice Institute team this year and shifted to guard after two years at forward, supplying the Owls with some vitally needed outside shooting.

Another former Pampa High School basketball star, Jim Bond, received special recognition at Pasadena College recently.

Bond, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bond of Pampa, was honored at the school's annual Sports Awards Banquet. He was selected as the team's "Most Outstanding Player."

The honor came to Bond in spite of handicaps. He was hampered throughout the past basketball season, first by a trip to the Olympics, which gave him a late start, and then by injuries.

While playing in only 23 games, he averaged 15.9 points and 17.9 rebounds per game to lead the school's cagers in both departments. The 6'5" junior has won all-American recognition for himself three times (twice while in Pampa High School, and in 1956 since going to Pasadena College).

and this past season was selected as a member of the Southern California Basketball Writers' all-Southern California team along with stars from UCLA, USC, Loyola and Pepperdine. He has won letters twice previously.

Joe Ogden, who has moved effective next fall, to the Phillips High School coaching staff from Perryton, is a former outstanding athlete at Lefors High School.

Ogden has compiled an outstanding record as assistant coach at Perryton, coaching the "B" squad in football and acting as head track coach.

He was an all-sports man at Lefors where he is particularly remembered for his brilliant track record.

Charles, Howard Vest, a senior at the University of Colorado from Pampa, and an Air Force ROTC Cadet Captain, was recently promoted to the rank of Cadet Major.

Vest is majoring in physical education at the school and will graduate in February, 1958.

A member of the varsity football team for the past three years, Vest was one of the first string team members who played in the Orange Bowl game last New Year's Day.

He is a graduate of Stamford High School, where he also participated in varsity basketball as well as football. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Vest of 1106 S. Wells.

Funk, Kola Head Wrestling Card

Dory Funk and Ivan Kola, a pair of rough-and-tumble wrestlers who are no strangers to the local scene, will headline the mat attraction at the Sportsman Club, on the Lefors Highway, Monday night.

Funk will pair off with Kola in the main event in the Shrine Club with a one-hour time limit.

The semi-final event will have Slave Girl Moolah, world champion girl wrestler, pitted against Bonita White Cloud. The two girl wrestlers will battle under a 45 minute time limit with the best of two falls declaring the winner.

The one fall, 20 minutes opener will see Tommy Phelps taking on "Farmer" Jones, who will undoubtedly bring along his pet pig.

The matches start at 8:30 p.m. with tickets priced at $1.50 for ringside; $1.25 for reserved seats; 90 cents for general admission; and 50 cents for children.

Third Legion Try-Out Today

Deck Woldt, manager of the American League Junior Baseball team forming here, reported last night that 14 boys had taken part in try-outs staged by the team Saturday morning and afternoon.

There were two try-out sessions, one at 9 a.m. and the other at 4 p.m., with 14 showing up for the afternoon session and one or two less in the morning.

Woldt pointed out that the team could get certification for 20 boys and urged any and all boys genuinely interested in playing to come to Oster Park at 3 p.m. today for the third try-out session.

Woldt pointed out that all the prospective players would need to bring along with them would be their personal equipment, such as gloves, uniform and shoes, if desired. Shower facilities are available.

Panhandle Pet. Golf Underway

The 8th annual Panhandle Petroleum Handicap Golf Tournament was scheduled to get underway yesterday in Borger and finals were to be held today.

The tournament is being held at the Huber Golf Course and Borger Country Club with all golfers whose occupations are affiliated with the oil industry were invited to take part.

Trophies were to be awarded throughout the courtesy of Dowell, Inc., Dwight's Oil and Gas Ref. Co., The Western Company, Texas as Panhandle Sample Log Service, Baroid Division, National Lead Company, Baker and Taylor Drilling Company, Schlumberger Well Surveying Company and United Mud Company.

Boys residing in the Pampa School district, and who are 16 or 17 years old and will not reach their 18th birthday by September 1, are eligible. Any boy who will become 16 within the next few months is eligible also.

Woldt said that the certification must be sent in this week and all boys interested in playing should come on out so they can be certified to play before the exhibition schedule gets underway.

Also expected to be on hand for today's try-outs were several former professional baseball players who will assist Woldt. They include Joe Fortin, Frank Kempa, Max Molberg and Foster White.

Brooklyn 'Comeback Surge' Ends As 'Gints' Take Win

BROOKLYN, N.Y., May 25 (UP)—Curt Barclay, sixth New York pitcher, halted a Brooklyn Dodgers comeback surge today and singled home the game-winning run in the ninth inning to give the Giants an 8-7 victory.

Barclay was called in when the Dodgers battled back from a six-run deficit to trail by only 7-6 in the eighth inning. He permitted a sacrifice fly by Junior Gilliam that tied the score, but stopped Mickey Vernon in the seventh and getting Ted Williams to hit into a double play in the eighth.

Williams walked twice but went hitless in two times at bat to deflate his league-leading average by seven points to .410.

Braves Club Cubs

CHICAGO, May 25 (UP)—The Milwaukee Braves used 21 men, everyone except Danny O'Connell and three pitchers, today to grab a 7-6 victory from the Chicago Cubs.

Hank Aaron's eighth inning sacrifice fly, which scored Bill Bruton from third, proved the deciding blow.

Ernie Johnson, the fifth of six hurriers for the Braves, gained the win. Turk Lowm, fourth of six Chicago pitchers, was tagged with the loss.

The major league record for pitchers used by one club in a nine-inning ball game is 24, set by the Brooklyn Dodgers against the New York Giants in 1948.

Indians Scalped

CLEVELAND, May 25 (UP)—Dick Donovan held the Cleveland Indians to only one hit—a second-inning double by Ed Robinson—and retired if straight batters in pitching the Chicago White Sox to a 4-0 victory today.

Neille Fox and Minnie Minoos each hit a home run and combined to drive in all of Chicago's runs. The triumph was Donovan's third and helped the White Sox preserve their three-game lead in the American League race.

Phillies Trip Bucs

PHILADELPHIA, May 25 (UP)—Chico Fernandez broke a 4-4 tie with a steal home in the fourth inning today and Stan Lopata followed with a two-run homer as the Philadelphia Phillies went on to defeat Pittsburgh, 6-6, for the Pirates' fifth straight loss.

The surge lagged Pirates starter Ronnie Kline with his sixth loss without a victory and hung the 12th defeat on the Bucs in their last 15 games. It was the Phillies' 10th win in their last 14.

The Pirates, hitting Harvey Haddix freely in the opening innings, led 4-3, after a two-run fourth inning. The Phils, who rapped Kline for three in the second, broke out again on singles by Bob Endicott and brought on R. G. Bowman and Fernandez, which ended Kline and brought on R. G. Smith.

A's Nip Cats

KANSAS CITY, May 25 (UP)—Lou Skizas and Bob Cerv hit homers tonight to power the Kansas City Athletics to a 5-3 victory over the Detroit Tigers, the A's fifth win over the Tigers in an

Coastal Fishing Getting Better

AUSTIN — Fishing conditions along the Texas coast are beginning to show improvement, according to the Director of the Texas Game and Fish Commission.

The waters are still very choppy from high winds. Muddy water, however, is clearing up rapidly. Night fishing on lighted piers has been reported very good, with many fine catches of trout.

Many more red shrimp are entering the waters, the director said. In a sample made by the department this week, one catch showed 4000 red shrimp, against six white shrimp and no pink shrimp. This indicates a heavy activity in offshore fishing within the next few days.

K. C. Athletics Sign 2 Players

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 25 (UP)—The Kansas City Athletics today announced the signing of two players for the club's minor league system.

Melvin Gene Wright, Amarillo, Tex., All-American centerfielder at Oklahoma State (formerly Oklahoma A&M), was signed by A's scout Buster Miller. Wright is married, six feet tall, weighs 180 pounds, bats and throws right handed.

Joseph Michael O'Hara, Dorchester, Mass., a shortstop, was signed by Bill Enos, Athletics New England scout. He stands six feet, weighs 187 pounds, bats and throws right handed.

Both men will report next week for assignment to minor league clubs.

Washington's Crew Wins

REDWOOD CITY, Calif., May 25 (UP)—Washington's crew, sparked by a dim hope that the NCAA may relent and admit it to the IRA Regatta next month, blew unbeaten Stanford out of the water today with a five and one-quarter length win in the varsity race after taking the jayvee and freshman events.

Al Besselink Is KC Open Leader

The annual City Golf Tournament is scheduled to get underway one week from today, June 2, and one of the most competitive tournaments in history is expected.

Dr. J. Foster Elder is returning champion and, as such, is one of the pre-tournament favorites. However, rugged competition is expected to develop in the appearance of several former champions and a low-scoring group from Pampa High School.

Pampa Country Club golf pro Hart Warren said Saturday that Max Hickey is another of the pre-tournament favorites amongst the "19th hole" crowd.

Members of the Harvester golf team, Burt Watkins, Bill McLeod, Melvin Chisum and Les Howard, are expected to provide plenty of stiff competition also.

Qualifying rounds will be played this week with qualifying in the championship flight scheduled for Saturday.

The tournament will be matched play with entries to play one match each week. The finals will be played on or before June 23.

Entry fee for the tournament is $5, as in the past, Warren said.

By CARL CHRISTENSEN

KANSAS CITY, May 25 (UP)—Big Al Besselink, cocky New York professional with a velvet putting touch, mastered Hillcrest Country Club's par 72 layout again today for a five-under-par 67 and a 204 total at the 54-hole stage of the $22,000 Kansas City Open.

Besselink's hot tour put him six strokes ahead with 18 holes to play Sunday. He started the rounds two shots in front.

Obviously undisturbed by a strong wind with gusts to 30 miles an hour, the 32-year-old Besselink seldom strayed off the narrow tree-lined fairways and hit his pitch shots close for birdie putts.

Had Eight Birdies
The handsome 210-pounder complained he should have had at least 65 because of two short missed putts. He went out in 35, one under, and breezed home in 32. He had eight birdies and also carded three bogies.

Defending champion Bo Winger, Odessa, Tex., moved into second place with a 210 total: He went out in par 36 and came back in 33 to clip three shots off standard for 69.

One stroke behind Winger was George Bayer, Los Angeles, former pro football player and golf long distance hitter, who fired today's hottest round, a six under par 66. His card showed two eagles, four bogies, six birdies and six pars.

The eagles came on par five holes where he reached the green in two and dropped his putts for three. It gave him a 211 total. Deadlocked at 212 were veteran Lloyd Mangrum, Apple Valley, Calif., Bill Casper Jr., Bonita, Calif., and Dow Finsterwald, Tequesta, Fla.

Mangrum, a former National Open champion was only two strokes off the pace at the start of today's round but slipped to a 216.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 25 (UP)—Paul Russo, 43, a grandfater, paced 14 qualifiers today for next week's 500-mile auto race.

Rain again played havoc with the time trials, leaving 10 positions still open for the 41st annual Memorial Day classic.

The trials are scheduled to end Sunday night, but a weather forecast of scattered showers might extend the sprints until Monday or even Tuesday.

Nine cars were qualified on the opening day last Saturday and Sunday was rained out. There now are 23 cars in the field, at an average speed of 141.680 miles per hour—more than one mile an hour faster than last year's starting race.

About 35,000 fans watched today's trials. They also saw two accidents, involving rookies Jim McWhitney, Anderson, Ind., and Jud Larson, Tulsa, Okla. McWhitney hit the wall in the north-west turn while warming up to qualify. He escaped serious injury but the car was out of the race.

Social Climber Winner In Californian

INGLEWOOD, Calif., May 25 (UP)—Social Climber, considered the lesser half of the Llangollen Farm entry with Porterhouse, closed with a big rush in the stretch today to capture the $116,800 Californian Stakes at Hollywood Park by a length and a half.

Social Climber and Round Table, only three-year-old in the mile and a sixteenth race, fought it out down the stretch but Social Climber under a strong ride by Jockey Willie Shoemaker gradually pulled away in the drive for the wire. Alfred Vanderbilt's Fire was third and Terrang finished fourth in the field of 12 starters as Porterhouse finished far in the rear.

The four-year-old son of your Host raced the mile and a sixteenth in the last time of 1:40 2/5 and the Llangollen Farm entry paid $4.40, 2.50 and 2.20 across the board. Round Table returned $3.40 and 2.70 for place and show and find paid $2.70 to show.

The Californian was held a few minutes after Round Table's trainer, Willie Moller, was ordered suspended at the end of today's racing program because a horse in his barn, Joe Price, was found to have been stimulated in winning a race last Wednesday although the California racing board in suspending Moller until June 27 said he was not accused of doping the horse. California racing laws hold the trainer responsible for the condition of horses in his care.

Although Moller had to rush from the meeting at which he was suspended to the saddling paddock to get Round Table ready for the race, the colt which had finished third in the Kentucky Derby ran a big race and but for having to be steadied around the first turn by jockey Ralph Neves he might have been closer or won the race.

Luster Off Relays With Morrow Out

By HAL WOOD

MODESTO, Calif., May 25 (UP)—Mike Agostini, diminutive sprinter from Trinidad and Fresno State College, won the 100 yard dash at the California Relays tonight in a photo finish with Orlando Hazley of Oklahoma A&M.

With Bobby Morrow, the Olympic champion from Abilene Christian in a late scratch, Agostini won in the very ordinary (for these men) time of 9.5 seconds.

As a matter of fact, Willie White, running in the state junior college meet, held in conjunction with this one, did better — setting a national J.C. record of 9.4 as he smashed the old 9.5 mark originally set 17 years ago by Hal Davis of Salinas Junior College.

Luster Removed
Some of the luster was taken from the meet by Morrow's withdrawal.

Oliver Jackson, Abilene Christian coach, sent a telegram this afternoon to Tom Moore, relays director.

"Sorry, Morrow unable to compete as he is slightly ill following the Coliseum Relays and he has three examinations Monday," the telegram read.

Hazley was clocked in the same time as Agostini, finishing only inches behind. Ken Dennis of the Southern California striders was third, and Terry Randall of Fresno State was fourth.

Occidental College's great distance medley relay team won today's event in 9:49 — cutting three tenths of a second off the recognized world record.

However, the Southern California striders already have been clocked in 9:42 this year. Running on the Oxy team were Dennis Bambauer, Dave Relabord, Ty Hadley and Larry Wray. Southern California was second and Arizona State was third.

Lee Calhoun of North Carolina College, won the high hurdles in 13.7 with practically no competition. Elias Gilbert of Winston-Salem was second in 14 seconds flat.

Tom Courtney, who set a world record of 1:46.8 in the 800 Friday night in Los Angeles, ran the 440 tonight and finished in front with a time of 46.5 — no world record, but still a good clocking. Second was Terry Tobacco, the Canadian running for the University of Washington who finished two strides behind.

Texas Sprint Team
The record smashing University of Texas sprint relay team, possibly tired from running two nights in a row, won the 440 relay in 40.3 tonight — fourth tenths pending world mark. Fresno State edged out Houston for a clocking of 41 seconds flat against a 41.1.

Abilene Christian College's sprint relay team, which was scratched from the meet earlier in the week due to injuries, has equalled Texas' pending 39.9 world record.

Olympic shot put champion Parry O'Brien of the San Francisco Olympic Club, still refusing to compete in his best event, won the discus with a toss of 179 feet 1-1/2 inches.

Texan Leads Sky Open

ASHEVILLE, N.C., May 25

(UP)—Wiffie Smith, Orange, Tex., a freckle-faced 20-year-old golfer who turned pro only five months ago, fired a 71 today to take a one-stroke lead over Beverly Hanson of Indio, Calif., in the Land of the Sky Women's Open.

Miss Smith had 215 and Miss Hanson 216.

Miss Hanson, who carded the tournament's low score of 68 in the opening round, today added up a two-over par 39 on the back nine for an 18-hole score of 75. The final round will be played Sunday.

Steady Miss Smith, playing steady golf throughout the tournament today shot six birdies to Miss Hanson's two. They both got a bogey of number two, and had three each.

Miss Smith didn't even stick around to find out that she had taken the lead, but left for her motel as soon as she had finished the round.

She is not known for talkativeness, and when she is on the course her expression rarely changes.

She looks like that rare individual, the nerveless golfer.

The girl who held the lead through the first two rounds, California's Beverly Hanson, seemed to be having trouble with her approach shot in today's round.

Moving up to a three-way tie for third place was veteran Fay Crocker who was in sixth spot at the end of the second round. Miss Crocker fired a four-under-par 70 to share the 220-mark with Jo Ann Prentice of Birmingham, Ala., and Joyce Ziske of Milwaukee, Wis.

In fourth place is Marlene Bauer Haggie, last year's leading money winner with 221.

The 70's, carded by Miss Ziske, Miss Crocker and Ronnie Colby of Hollywood, Calif., were today's lowest score.

Miss Colby is now in sixth place.

Advance in Singles Play PARIS, May 25 (UP)—Herbie Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., and Budge Patty of Los Angeles and Paris, the only two American men left in the field, advanced in singles play at the French Tennis Championships today. Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif., and Mrs. Dorothy Head Knode of Forest Hills, N.Y., won in the women's division.

Iron Liege Victor In Jersey Stakes

CAMDEN, N. J., May 25 (UP)—Calumet Farm's Iron Liege, the Kentucky Derby winner, turned back a bitter stretch challenge at Garden State Park today to win the $62,400 Jersey Stakes by a nose in the fastest running of the race.

Taking the lead shortly after the start of the mile and one-eighth race, Iron Liege held a commanding lead as the field of 11 three-year-olds entered the stretch. But Mrs. Adele L. Rand's Clem went after the Calumet Farm charger in the straightaway, and in a stirring battle that had a crowd of 37,783 screaming, Iron Liege just managed to sneak under the wire in a fast track.

With Bill Hartack in the saddle, Iron Liege, in scoring the second stake triumph of his career, thus gave Calumet Farm its second straight victory in the race and enriched its treasure chest with a winner's purse of $44,300.

John J. Kelley's We Trust, a 50 to 1 shot, was third, eight long lengths behind the first two finishers in the 18th running of the Jersey Stakes.

Then came One-Eyed King, Promised Land, Inside Tract, Harmonizing, Barbizon, Mister InJive and Bakht.

'No Comment' From Williams On Pigeon-Shooting Charge

BALTIMORE, Md., May 25 (UP)—Ted Williams of the Red Sox angrily refused to comment today on a charge that he has been shooting pigeons at Fenway Park in violation of Massachusetts state laws.

An official of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals charged Friday in Boston that Williams had been using a shotgun to help rid the Red Sox ballpark of pigeons during periods when the park was empty of fans.

When asked about the story prior to today's game against the Orioles, Williams snapped, "Hell, those were clay pigeons!" He did not elaborate. The Red Sox slugger then showed the newspaper clipping to manager Mike Higginson, who made no comment.

After that, Williams hastened to the batting cage for practice and after taking his swings, he ran out to the outfield.

He angrily told a reporter he did not care to discuss the matter.

Sources close to the club said they had noticed Williams with a shotgun in the clubhouse during the past week, but added they did not see him shoot.

United States Davis Cup Team Wins

CARACAS, Venezuela, May 25 (UP)—The U. S. team of Vic Seixas of Philadelphia and Bernard Bartenzen of Dallas, Tex., defeated Venezuela in Davis Cup tennis doubles today, 6-4, 6-3, 6-3, to take a 2-1 lead in matches in their best-of-five series.

The Venezuelan team of Iyo Pimentel, who had upset Grant Golden in singles Friday, and young Ricardo Lopez played spotty tennis, while the Americans maintained steady pressure and appeared confident of victory from the start.

The first set was well-contested, with the Americans getting the necessary service breakthrough as Lopez netted several overhead volleys, a shot which gave him trouble all day.

In the second set the Venezuelans went into a brief lead, but Seixas and Bartenzen, raising their game a bit, soon regained control and ran out the set.

Seixas and Bartenzen got away to a 3-0 lead in the third set before Venezuela rallied to tie at 3-3 in their last effort. The U. S. duo once again went into high gear and Venezuela was finished.

GREENSBORO, N. C. (UP)—Don Coker, high school football star who was banned from Atlantic Coast Conference athletics last summer for alleged recruiting violations, has been declared eligible for varsity football at the University of North Carolina this fall. ACC Commissioner Jim Weaver, exercising powers granted him by conference faculty representatives this month, handed down the ruling Wednesday.

2 Rookies Sign With St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, May 25 (UP)—The St. Louis Hawks have signed two more rookies, Mason Cope and George Mehafeey, for the coming pro basketball season, it was announced today.

That brought the total signed, all rookies, to three.

Cope scored 994 points in two years, averaging 20.1 per game to break every Kentucky Wesleyan scoring record. The 25-year-old backcourt ace has four years of naval service, where he scored more baskets than any other player in service history.

Mehafeey from Texas A&M, was an all-Southwestern Conference choice the past year and led his club in scoring and rebounding mark.

A&M's Ken Loeffler, who formerly coached the St. Louis Bombers, predicted Mehafeey "could develop into another Gola," one of his discoveries when he coached LaSalle to a national collegiate championship.

Pampa wrestling fans are due to see some new faces in the immediate future. Iron Mike's favorite sidekick is due in this territory May 30th; one Bulldog Plechas, 240 pounds, and every bit as unpleasant as Mike. The two form a remarkable tag team combination and believe me some of our local favorites had better keep in tip top shape when they face Iron Mike and his giant friend Bulldog Plechas.

Farmer Jones (Murdock), although not new will be back, pet pig and all. We also meet another new face, Major Ray Piret, 6-2, 215 pounds, the lean, wiry type. He hails from Laramie, Wyo., held heavyweight berth on the college team for Wyoming University, left college in 1942 to join the U.S. Air Force, where he became a pilot, saw most of his action over the Pacific. He was mustered out of service in 1947 at Fort Worth, and this is his first trip back to Texas since he started his rigid training for professional wrestling. When he was in college he was judged to be one of the best centers ever to play football for University of Wyoming. He is recommended highly as one of the best of the late comers. Bold Ruler Means More to Groom Than to Rich People Around Him

By JIMMY BRESLIN
NEA Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (NEA) — When Bold Ruler wins a big race, as he did the Preakness, and as many expect he will the Belmont on June 15, the throbs of a winner goes beyond the people who accept the flowers and trophies and honor the horse.

It goes beyond Mrs. H. C. Phipps, the owner; and Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, the trainer; and Eddie Arcaro, the jockey.

It goes all the way to Sonny's. Sonny's is a saloon at the end of a block at Howard Beach, N.Y., and Bob Bittroff and Lil, his wife, were sitting together over a few beers for the first time in months. Snag Bittroff, as they call him, hadn't won a bet on Bold Ruler. When he got on the van and went to the Preakness with the horse he had only 60 cents in his pocket. But he is Bold Ruler's groom and if the horse stands up the rest of his career it could mean big things for Snag.

Like Nashua meant for Aille Robertson, who made a name around racing people as the horse's groom and now is trainer for the west coast division of the big Mrs. Ada Rice Stable.

"I knew the horse would win the Preakness," Snag was saying. "He can run better than all those others. He'll win the Belmont, too."

"Do we need it?" Lil said. "We'll get a stake from Mr. Fitz for the Preakness. Eddie Arcaro pays off at the end of the year for all the races he wins on the horse."

They were talking with hope and it all centered on Bold Ruler and it seemed incongruous for a big expensive thoroughbred to have any meaning in a place such as Sonny's outside of a winning two-dollar bet.

You associate Bold Ruler with headlines and big breeders and millionaire owners. Not with Howard Beach, N.Y., a place where the creek comes into Snag's living room a foot and a half high at flood tide.

Bold Ruler goes with the Turf and Field Club at Belmont Park.

The last place you'd think of would be the lump of brown shingle at 23 Railroad Avenue. Just a shack, Snag was saying as he walked down the narrow catwalk over the creek toward the house. He is 43 and he makes $56.40 a week and with six kids and a mother-in-law to feed it is the best he can do.

Snag's house is a place on stilts above the canal and marsh grass.

He has a barrel of kerosene at the front door to serve the big stove standing in his bare living room.

A tiny television set stands on a table and there is a chair and a couch with a spread covering it. "I hold the youngest — Bobby, he's eight months — on my lap whenever Bold Ruler runs on television," Lil said. "I hit my leg so hard rooting for the horse I come out black and blue."

leading manufacturer of men's evening clothes, reports that since it has become the vogue for big time haters to sign contracts in full dress even the managers of second-raters are putting their Tuxedos on sundown.

Rich Garden State

The Garden State for two-year-olds, to be run at that New Jersey track in November, is a cinch to remain the world's richest horse race. In addition to the track's $100,000, already in the kitty is $19,950 from the 570 nominees and $43,200 from first eligibility payments of $100 each from 432 thoroughbreds still eligible. That's $183,150 with an added $2,250 still coming from each starter as well as possible $10,000 entry fees from possible supplementary entries. Brother, have you got a dime?

Freddie Corcoran says that the funniest thing he remembers in golf was election day in 1948 in a small town in New Hampshire. He gave Thomas E. Dewey a 12-lead over Harry Truman. Fred met Sam Snead that day on the 10th tee of the North and South Open, after Sam had gone out in 35.

"Dewey's leading," Fred told the slammer.

"He is?" Sam replied. "What did he go out in?"

Recent results would seem to indicate that the golfing grandpappies don't need any sympathy and that Hogan at 45 still is a solid bet. Jimmy Demaret won (at 47) at Hot Springs and Dutch Harrison came right back (at 48) to take the Greenbrier. Which means it the first time in history that a pair whose ages total 95 scored a consecutive slam.

Fashion Note: With dress manufacturer Emil Lence cutting out designs for promotion of a heavy-weight championship bout it points up the sartorial splendor which has come to the one-time rowdy boxing business. After six,

Panhandle Outdoor Life

By S. V. WHITEHORN

Last week Captain Jim Maggard related that he and A. S. Jackson were returning from the State Lake, the small lake above Lake Marvin, and after they had travelled about half the distance between the lake and the State Game Refuge he noticed something running through the sagebrush.

They quickly stopped the car, backed up just in time to see a raccoon run past a setting turkey hen. The Captain related that the last time they noticed the turkey and the coon that the hen was in hot pursuit of the fleeing coon with the hen flogging the coon every jump.

The Captain also related that a turkey hen setting on a nest of eggs probably would challenge almost anything in order to protect the eggs and he also said if a coyote happened to pass too close to the nest that the hen would be the loser in such a battle as they had witnessed.

Quail Prospect
Captain Maggard also related that Dick DeArmet, wildlife biologist at Wheeler, stated that bobwhite quail could be heard in all directions in the Hemphill County quail range, in the early morning hours. DeArmet has been doing extensive prairie chicken study in that area and as a result has heard calling of the quail at day light hours. Conditions couldn't have been any better for a hunter-bird-crop this fall than they have been so far this spring.

For the last few years, the rag weeds, as well as most others, have barely survived in a few places while this spring the weeds are really taking over in most places. In the low damp areas there has been a small amount of cover in the past while now even in the high places, miles from creeks, there are large patches of sunflower, blood weeds and others that are already knee high.

On a large amount of some of the central Panhandle ranches the quail stock is at an almost all time low but it is surprising how quickly these game birds can bounce back. The Eastern Panhandle is in good shape as far as seed stock counts. Had there been a bonafide quail management program put into effect, each ranch could have had an ample supply to stock the millions of acres of what will be choice quail range this fall.

It is true that much of the Panhandle has been about as adaptable to quail in the past few years as the Sahara Desert, but if each ranch had feathered a few pet coys, alone, the reward would have been astounding.

The Texas Panhandle is on the outer fringes of the bobwhite quail range which extends eastward to eastern coast. Typical of any game range of this nature is the high fluctuations in bird populations.

In the Panhandle, habitat improvement will pay off greater than in any other parts of the country due to the need for seed stock when the range is good. In

Qualifying For National Open Starts Monday

NEW YORK, May 25 (UP)—The first contingent in a field of 1,920 golfers starts qualifying play Monday for 143 berths in the 1957 National Open Tournament.

Only one out of every 13.3 qualifying competitors will win a place in the field for the tournament, which will be played at the Inverness Club at Toledo, Ohio, June 13, 14 and 15.

The entry total for this year's 57th U. S. G. A. championship was the third highest in history, falling only eight short of the record 1,928 entered for the 1954 tournament.

Eight professionals and one amateur will play 36 holes at Honolulu Monday in quest of the one tournament berth allotted to Hawaii. The 24 other sectional qualifying tests will be held on Monday, June 3. Qualifying will be determined by lowest medal score for 36 holes.

Defending champion Cary Middlecott is one of the 19 players exempt from qualifying competition. He will be shooting for a third Open championship to go with those he won in 1949 and 1956.

Big State Cuts Umpire Staff

ABILENE, Tex., May 25 (UP)—The Big State League umpiring staff was reduced to four today with sale of Wade Batten to the Western League and the release of Hilary Bothell.

League head Hal Sayles said the reduction was caused by the withdrawal of the Wichita Falls entry, leaving a five-clut league in operation.

Red Leg Report

A. S. Jackson stated that there are only two pair of Spanish Red Leg Partridges seen on the release site, north of Canadian, since the blizzard.

There were over 60 of these birds before the blizzard. Some of them were found in snow drifts after the storm.

THEIR MAN—Rain at Yankee Stadium didn't dull the interest of young Harvey Funt, left, and Joe Russo. They watched pitcher Whitey Ford warm up under the stands.

Stassen Moves Up In GOP

By LYLE C. WILSON

United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP) — The movement of Harold E. Stassen toward a new and important position within the Republican Party seems now to be an established fact. He has not reached it yet, but Stassen is moving.

The current issue of Newsweek relates that President Eisenhower's appointments secretary, Bernard M. Shenley, recently was discussing privately some of the Republican presidential possibilities for 1960. He mentioned several and added:

"You would make a big mistake to underestimate Stassen's ability as a campaigner."

Political writers who buried Stassen last year after his fluky effort to prevent renomination of Vice President Richard M. Nixon now are taking another look. Stassen still is a long way from a position which would enable him to make a substantial challenge for the 1960 Republican presidential nomination. He has powerful political enemies including most conservative Republicans and, especially, the partisans of Vice President Nixon.

Present Job Helpful
Stassen's return from political obscurity, of course, must come about wholly from his job as United States disarmament negotiator. For some weeks now he has been receiving headline credit for some of the progress toward an armaments agreement with the Kremlin. There has not been much progress, but even a little has been enough to give Stassen much urgently needed good publicity.

Stassen suddenly has what the public relations experts call a good press. The New York racks investigation of the mid-1950s created Thomas E. Dewey as a political figure. Television and an expose of links between local governments and gamblers lifted out of the crowd Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

Disarmament is pie in the sky, rich, flaky and far out of reach. Any American whose name was substantially associated with bringing that pie within reach of the voters would become a great political figure in the United States. He would be hard to beat in a national convention or in an election.

Could Be Stassen
Stassen could be that American. The odds are against him, if for no other reason than that he is dealing with the Russians. He may not bring it off, probably won't. But these thoughts surely are running through Stassen's mind. He is a politician and he is ambitious, twice an aggressive candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, three times elected governor of Minnesota. He is now 50 years old.

The word in mid-winter was that Stassen hoped to run next year for governor of Pennsylvania. It was not possible at that time to detect much or any Republican enthusiasm in Pennsylvania for Stassen's project. If Stassen appeared next year, however, in the role of the architect of substantial world disarmament the enthusiasm of Pennsylvania Republicans might be considerable.

A Republican governor of Pennsylvania, of course, would have a respectable claim on the 1960 Republican presidential nomination. Considering his record, that seems to be what Stassen wants. Stranger things have happened, although not often.

Peg O' Pampa

THIS IS THE SEASON of the year that, no doubt, fathers both enjoy and dislike . . . for it is the season for graduations . . . and for weddings . . . and while both call for happiness and joy, both also call for much strain on the old pocketbook . . . and while it is the province of the women, wives and mothers all, to work themselves to the bone planning wedding receptions and worrying about the dresses to wear . . . and so on . . . it falls to the lot of the husband and father to haul out the checkbook rather than the guestbook!

AND SPEAKING OF GRADUATION . . . some of the graduates are Jimmy Edwards . . . Virginia Irwin . . . Carolyn McLaughlin . . . Joan Prescott . . . Dorothy Ann Ayres . . . we get very mellow in mood when we think of all the goings-on there when WE were graduated . . . the parties . . . the feeling that now, at last, we were grown-up . . . ready to take on the world . . . the Senior play . . . the Class Picnic . . . the annual banquet and the reading of the Class Will . . . and the empty hollow feeling of the realization that from now on our lives would be different . . . no children anymore, we . . . no regimentation in school classes . . . for after all, college is for adults . . . not "school-children" and we are free to get as little or as much from classes as we are willing to work for.

SPRING luncheons which wind up the year of work officially, are in progress now . . . in all the church circles . . . wish we had got around more this week to tell about some of them . . . maybe we can round up more details later . . . at any rate . . . one of the luncheons we thought was super was that of the Women's Social Christian Service organization of the Methodist Church . . . where were awarded life memberships . . . symbolized by pins . . . to Mrs. Bob McCoy . . . Sue Johnson . . . and Della Hamm . . . Della has a wonderful hand with the bookkeeping . . . tremendous experience . . . everyone knows what a worker with and for music Sue Johnson is . . . this is quite an honor for all and well deserved, too . . . and the food was wonderful . . . so many good cooks who shine to best advantage at a Church supper or social . . . and the impressive service for the awarding of the pins . . . Spring is quite a season.

THE USUAL BITS AND PIECES . . . the library is showing in their foyer display case some of the artifacts and Indian arrow points collected by Keith Glasscock . . . picked up a recent copy of LIFE magazine while at the beauty shop and dogged if there wasn't a picture of Mona Pierce on every other page . . . in connection with the national meeting of some art organization and an exhibition . . . pretty dancers recently at the Country Club in a recital were Mary Helen Williams . . . Sami Cook . . . Katy Price . . . Sandra Braly . . . and Jo Foote . . . Betty Culley and Barbara Daugherty have been working with the girls for quite a while and have done a fine job . . . the Opti-Mrs. installation banquet the other night installed Joan Sims . . . Marilyn Lewis . . . and Martha Haralson as new officers . . . speaking of Martha Haralson . . . she certainly has two fine sons . . . and we hear she plays a wicked game of "Forty-Two" now and then . . . Randy Haralson is playing on one of the Little League teams this year . . . heard that the Bill Waggoners and the Carl Langs enjoyed their recent trip to Denver and Colorado Springs . . . from what we remember of the weather reports, they must have run into some rain and snow, though.

BASEBALL is the sport now . . . and some of the Little Leaguers and the Pony Leaguers are getting their teams set up for summer play . . . some of the boys are Myron Aftergut . . . Chuck Worley . . . Jay Osborne . . . Gene Storrs . . . Mike Morgan . . . Corky and Keith Dodd . . . Jimmie Brashears . . . James Strickland . . . Curtis King . . . Joe Jeter . . . Duke Garren . . . Dale Coffin . . . Johnie Caldwell . . . Anthony Malone . . . Bryan Prigmore . . . W. E. Poole . . . the season opens this coming week end and it is good fun to watch the boys play . . . we are rooting for the men who are managing the teams, too . . . such as Newt Secrest . . . James Lewis . . . Bobby Hays . . . "Slim" Jeter . . . Bob Banks . . . Harold Gregory . . . Hugh Hamilton . . . Bobby Seitz . . . Bob Horton . . . and Sharon Haralson, amongst others . . . it is a job which is very rewarding.

PET PEEVE DEPARTMENT . . . the rains that come just after the car has been washed and polished . . . the flies that always insist upon coming into the house uninvited . . . and have you noticed that almost invariably the wind will blow very hard for three days in a row and then the fourth day will be still and beautiful . . . and that something has been planned for out-door activity on the three windy days and that there is always pressing housework to be done on that beautifully still fourth day so that one cannot set out of the house to enjoy it . . . and another pet peeve is the advertisement on television that interrupts the midnight show just at the most exciting scene and then, when the movie is back on again, you have missed the crucial words in the scene!

A FEW ITEMS MORE for your perusal . . . Mr. and Mrs. John Lawler, their son, David, and daughter, Louise of California were visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lewis . . . all of them are planning to go to Florida . . . saw George McClure and Keith Robinson having coffee last week . . . and George also went so far as to admit his pretty wife to the Coffee Break once . . . in cafes, the coffee break seems to be the sacred province of the men . . . guess the women have their coffee at home much of the time . . . saw Jim King huddled over the Coffee Cup, too . . . Linda Andis . . . Bobbie Lu Andis . . . are members of the new Top o' Texas Girls Riding Club.

SOMEPLACE TO GO FOR A SUNDAY DRIVE . . . the road to Canadian is beautiful when you come to the "breaks" along the river . . . and the road to Lake Marvin is green, green, green . . . with almost the look of the Missouri Ozarks country with its huge trees and meadows.

THAT IS ABOUT ALL FOR THIS TIME . . . but just for fun, we'll add these: a fourteen-year-old's remark, "Father—you're so AVERAGE!" and a stranger in New York asked a real-gone bopster how he could get to Carnegie Hall. The reply was, "Practice, man, practice!"

And so goodbye, I'll go quietly
Peg

Installation of officers was the highlight of Parent Education Club's last meeting of the year held Tuesday morning in the home of Mrs. Robert Vail. Conducting the installation was a baseball theme, Mrs. Jack Foster, dressed as an umpire, completely equipped, gave instructions to each incoming officer on "Rules of the game, how the players functioned in the club, and what was to be expected of them." The officer on home-plate was then turned over to Mrs. Julian Key, who, attired in baseball uniform, "coached" her further as to her duties and then presented her with a small bat and a baseball cap in club colors. At the close of the installation session, Umpire Foster then called "play ball" summoning the new officers to take up their duties for the coming year. Incoming officers are Mmes. Homer Johnson, president; Warren Fathere, vice president; L. L. Garren, secretary; Myron Marx, treasurer; Tom Rose, parliamentarian; Harold Meador, reporter. A gift was presented to the outgoing president, Mrs. Tom Rose, in appreciation of her faithful service to the club. During the business session, Mrs. Julian Key, chairman of the project committee, reported that two pieces of equipment were being readied for fall installation for the use of exceptional children; one in Lovett Memorial Library; the other in Mrs. Ralston's room in Woodrow Wilson School. A letter from Altrusa Club was read in which that organization asked Parent Education Club to plan one program for the Senior Center next year. The group voted to do so. Mrs. A. L. Smalley's letter of resignation to the club was accepted with regret. Mrs. Jack Osborne was elected to membership. Mrs. Osborne, formerly was a member of Parent Education Club before moving away six years ago. At the call of "Water Boy" from the coach, Gene Key appeared in baseball uniform, carrying a bucket of iced Cokes. These were served with tiny sausage "hot dogs" to carry out the baseball motif.

Pattern Alteration Shown HD Clubs

LEFORS — Pattern alteration training was given by Miss Helen Dunlap, Gray County Home Demonstration agent, to representatives of the Merten, Hopkins and Lefors Home Demonstration Clubs recently in the Lefors civic center. The pattern was pinned on the members, using cotton twill tape to prevent the pattern from tearing in strategic points, such as neck, waist and hips, being fitted very tight in order to get the correct ease for personal defects such as stooped shoulders, etc; and also waistlines and skirts. Miss Dunlap also demonstrated the slight variances in patterns of different companies. Also, Miss Dunlap stated, new patterns of all companies are now standardized. For example, a size 18 pattern now corresponds with a size 38 whereas it was formerly 18-36. Materials were brought by those present, cut and basted, so that they might learn by putting into effect the things taught. A sack lunch was served at noon. Those present were Mmes. W. E. Milton of the Hopkins Club; Mmes. Jack Pather, A. M. Nash, and Jack Howard all of the Merten Club; and Mmes. H. L. Braly and J. D. Smith of the Lefors Club.

Twentieth Century Culture Club Takes Excursion And Installs New Officers

The Twentieth Century Culture Club met recently in the home of Mrs. E. L. Henderson for the final meeting of the season. Assisting hostesses were Mmes. H. H. Hahn, J. L. Chase, Jeff Bearden, and C. W. Conley. The members took an imaginary trip to Louisiana, stopping first for lunch at Antioch. The menu consisted of dishes typical to Louisiana. The tables were decorated with coral, shells, and sea weed, with miniature shrimp boats used as place cards. The guide, Mrs. Dudley Steele, guest speaker, began the excursion at the New Orleans docks, where the members met a boat out of the past. Embarking from the boat were many colorful and interesting figures, who played an important part in the history and legends of Louisiana; Belle Isle, the first white man to learn to speak Indian; six nuns, who paved the way to the founding of Ursula Convent; Andrew Jackson and Zachary Taylor (both presidents of USA); Stonewall Jackson and Jeb Stuart; the famous singer, Jenny Lind; P. T. Barnum of circus fame; Dorothy Dix, whose advice to the love-lorn was read throughout the world; Huey Long, the kingfish; Evangeline of Longfellow's poem; Felistus Christien, the gambling lady of Opelousas; Jim Bowie, who needs no introduction, were some of the Louisianians, whom the members met. But there were more, out of this colorful heritage of Louisiana: Jeff Davis, president of the Confederacy; General Beauregard and the famous pirate that played an important role in the history of the United States, too, Jean LaFitte. In keeping with the theme of the day, the new officers for the coming year were installed as officers of the ship, and as such were presented with a piece of ship equipment. New officers are Mmes. J. W. Edminster, president; Warren Hasse, vice president; E. R. Eaton, secretary; J. R. Stroble, treasurer; C. W. Conley, reporter; Michael Nelson, council representative; Dudley Steele, parliamentarian. Nineteen members and one guest, Doris Wilson, were present.

Officers Installed By Mrs. Laycock

The Top o' Texas Medical Auxiliary held its regular dinner meeting on Tuesday evening in Hotel Borger with the president, Mrs. J. Foster Elder, presiding. Following the business meeting, Mrs. Elder gave a report on the annual state convention of presidents and presidents-elect held recently in Dallas. Mrs. Raymond Laycock installed the officers for the coming year using a Maypole set in a bed of white daisies and fern, streaming with blue and white ribbons. Mrs. Laycock stressed that leaders must have the individual support of every member. "Leadership is a personal responsibility. It is an honor to serve in any capacity of leadership, an honor which has numerous co-partners, such as disappointments, hard work, and, also, joy untold, many rich and rewarding experiences. All of you have a part in making our auxiliary the younger it is today." Newly installed officers are Mmes. L. Stephens, president; Joe R. Donaldson, president-elect; N. Lynn Stroble, first vice president; Felix Vendrell, second vice president; W. Ann Wright, Dorothy Ann Ayres, and Carol Ann Griffiths.

J. H. Knowles, secretary; R. D. Prewitt, treasurer; J. Foster Elder, parliamentarian. Attending from Pampa were Mmes. J. Foster Elder, Raymond W. Laycock, Philip Gates, Felix Vendrell, Ed S. Williams, M. McDaniel, H. F. Fabian, Joe W. Gates, N. J. Ellis. Attending from Borger were Mmes. M. C. Kimball, J. H. Knowles, R. D. Prewitt, M. E. Ingham, Clarence Brindley, and M. Hamra. Miss Eloise Lane's Pupils In Recital The piano pupils of Miss Eloise Lane will be presented in recital on Monday evening at 7:30 in the Church of the Brethren. The public is invited to attend. Playing on the program will be Judy Hogan, Joy White, Jamie Murphy, Jo Claire Wilkerson, Carol Ann Stroble, Jane Hatt, Amy Earhart, Cynthia Reddell, Gwen Carver, Jimmy Newman, Beverly White, Barbara Vest, Zip Hall, Lynn Stroble, Shirley Wright, Ann Kennedy, Jane Nichols, Mary Ann Wright, Dorothy Ann Ayres, and Carol Ann Griffiths.

The Willing Workers Adult Training Union Class of Calvary Baptist Church held its quarterly social and business meeting recently in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Spencer, 524 S. Cuyler.

An opening prayer was given by Charles McGahan, class president, who presided over a short business session. A devotional on the "Love Chapter," First Corinthians 13, was given by Mrs. A. C. Brown.

Entertainment for the evening was directed by Mrs. W. E. Walker. Refreshments were served during the social hour.

Members present were Messrs. and Mrs. W. A. Baten, A. C. Brown, W. E. Walker, Nat Lunafor, Mmes. Bertie Humphries, Charles McGahan, Henry, Paul and Katrina Spencer.

Guild To Adjourn During Summer

The annual dinner of the First Methodist Wesleyan Service Guild was held in the home of Miss Ila Pool on Monday evening.

Mrs. W. M. Pearce, Lubbock, guest of honor, gave the invocation.

After the salad supper, Mrs. W. C. Hutchinson presided at a short business session. She introduced the new Wesleyan Service president, Miss Minnie Allen.

Miss Allen appointed the following committee chairmen, Mmes. W. C. Hutchinson, spiritual life; Irl Smith, status of women; Malcolm Demson, publicity; F. W. Shotwell, supply; Lillie Fowler, literature; Misses Inez Clubb, missionary education; Alma Wilson, Christian social relations; and Ila Pool, membership.

Mrs. Sherman White conducted an impressive pledge service on "What Is That You Hold In Your Hand?"

It was voted to disband the Guild for the summer. The next meeting will be held the first Monday in September. Several members are planning to attend the Guild Week-End in July.

Members present were Misses Minnie Allen, Lillian Mullinax, Ila Pool, Alma Wilson, Inez Clubb; Mmes. Sherman White, W. C. Hutchinson, Aubrey Jones, J. A. Knox, Lee Harrah, W. B. Fountain, Ben Ogden, Harold Wright, J. M. Turner and Irl Smith.

Civic Culture Plans For Picnic Tuesday

The Civic Culture Club met recently with Mrs. Emmett Gee, 417 Hill St., for a program presented by Mrs. C. F. Pennington on "U.N. W.H.O." This organization, set up by the United Nations, is for the purpose of preventing epidemics of disease in all parts of the world. The W.H.O. meets in May each year to decide policies and plan programs. The executive board meets twice a year for instruction on emergency measures. The W.H.O. is able to keep its finger on the epidemic pulse of the world and to keep its member-countries informed of conditions, and, thus, reduce the spread of diseases. A picnic has been planned for May 28 in the home of Mrs. A. D. Hills. Members are asked to bring a picnic lunch at 8:30 p.m. Two new members, Mmes. Jess Clay and D. L. Dorsey, were welcomed into the club. Other members present were Mmes. A. D. Hills, J. B. Townsend, W. C. Scott, Irvin Cole, Katie Vincent, M. M. Moyer, R. E. Dauer, C. F. Pennington, and the hostess.

RECENT VISITORS

Recent visitors in Pampa from San Jose, Calif., were Mr. and Mrs. John H. Lawler with their son and daughter, David and Louise. Miss Lawler, who is a soloist with the San Francisco Ballet Co., has just returned from a tour in the Far East with the ballet troupe. On April 28 Miss Lawler appeared on Dave Garroway's "Wide World World" television program, dancing atop the Round-tree Restaurant in San Francisco with the Golden Gate Bridge as background. The Lawlers with Mrs. Lawler's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe H. Lewis, east of the city, left Friday for Homestead, Fla., to visit with Farrington Lewis and family. The Lawlers will return to California the second week in June, when Miss Lawler will begin rehearsals for summer performances in Stern's Grove Amphitheater in San Francisco. (News Photo)

MISS FRANCINE GREEN

MARK, MRS. A. J. STIGGENS, AND DIRK

Mothers-Daughters Feted With Tea

(Special to The News)
PERRYTON — A mother and daughter tea was held recently in the Fellowship Hall of the First Christian church.
Each guest was presented with a ribbon and a ribbon for each of her children.
The special program was under the direction of Mrs. Roy Johnson. The Four Discords, composed of Misses Betty McCalvey, Claudia Tucker, Jo Nita Watson and Connie LaMaster, accompanied by Mrs. Calvin Cook, sang two numbers. Others were a solo by Miss Marion Riley and Mrs. Giltner LaMaster gave a short program on "Mothers of the Bible."
The tea table was covered with a white cloth and centered with an arrangement of tulips. Mrs. Joe Frederick presided at the punch service.
Approximately 50 mothers and daughters attended.

Grandmother Club Has Formal Fete

(Special to The News)
PERRYTON — The Grandmother's Club met recently in the home of Mrs. May Pettison, 1102 S. Baylor for a formal dinner. The serving table was covered with a white linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of lilies and a bird of prey. Each guest received a May basket filled with nuts and candy.
Guests were Misses Myrtle Kinney, Oklahoma City; Dovey Seeley, San Diego, Calif.; and Bobbie Hagemmaier, Los Angeles, Calif.; Seeley and Hagemmaier are sisters of Mrs. Pettison.
Members present were Misses Fannie Johnson, Osa Kerns, Lola Gray, Nancy Goodwin, Irene Mallett, Thelma Norm, Bertie Pribble, Laura Barnes, James Hardy, and Cora Harris of Gray, Okla.
Following dinner, a short business meeting was held. The remainder of the evening was spent visiting and getting acquainted with the guests.

Merten Club Plans Morning Meetings

Mrs. Buck Moore was hostess to the Merten Home Demonstration Club recently in her home.

During the business meeting conducted by Mrs. L. F. Watt, it was decided to have meetings in the mornings, instead of the afternoons, during the summer months.

Mrs. Jack Prather gave a talk on "Extension and Research." She explained that this includes our Texas Food Standard, that is used by 80 per cent of the state of Texas. She stated that research at A&M showed that there had been a greater change in our way of living in the past ten years than in the previous twenty.

Mrs. Prather concluded her discussion with a reading entitled, "I Know Something Good About You."

The program on flower arrangements was given by Mrs. Buck Moore.

She explained that the container is very important in the arrangement, as it should be patterned according to the shape of the container. Mrs. Moore went on to say that scissors should never be used to cut flowers, but a very sharp knife and the cut should be diagonally. She explained that for filling or foliage in your flower arrangements, any kind of greenery can be used successfully.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Do you remember when you felt in love?

If so, you remember an experience with what we call "wonder." It came suddenly. One moment your young man was just another attractive companion. Then he laughed or said "anywhere" to a taxi-driver — and you were in love. Without warning you'd become suddenly aware of his sexuality. In addition to his power to make you giggle, comfort you, know what to do about a missed train, you abruptly realized that he could also make love to you. You were filled with wonder — its promise of unexplored joys.

On the strength of this wonder, you now put up with his habit of spilling ashes on your slip covers. We women also experience wonder when we enter a baby's room in the morning. The sight of him sleeping, breathing, unbelievably ours, fills us again with the sense of unexplored joys. On the strength of this wonder, we squeeze orange juice, go without sleep, read Dr. Spock.

If we remember how we felt, we understand why children are so grateful when we encourage their experiences with wonder.

We are slow with accusations of "stubbornness" when Jimmy insists on standing at the window instead of coming when he's called. Aware that he may be wondering instead of stubborn, we join him. Sure enough, we discover that he's absorbed in watching raindrops moving down the window pane. He is lost in wonder at the way their tiny streams rush together, separate — and converge again.

My advice to be gentle with his wonder is not poetic but very practical. A child whose wonder has been called bad names like "stubbornness" becomes very irritable. He develops angry distrust of the pessimists who continually suggest that there are no unexplored joys for him. Denied wonder, he loses the happy expectancy that enables us all to put up with frustrations.

Psychoanalyst Rollo May calls wonder the attitude of "opening — heightened interest, response — the opposite to cynicism and boredom."

Commencement Set For PHS Seniors Thursday; Vespers Today

The Class, Its Activities; Members, Their Plans

By BILL ATKINSON

Approximately 225 seniors will end 12 years of schooling when they march down the aisles of the Pampa High School Fieldhouse to receive their diplomas at Commencement exercises Thursday night at 8.

Vesper services for the graduating class of 1957 will be held today at 5 p.m. in the Pampa High School Auditorium with Rev. Woodrow W. Adcock of the First Methodist Church delivering the sermon to the seniors and their parents.

Other Pampa ministers participating in the annual service will be Rev. M. B. Smith, delivering the invocation; Rev. Richard W. Crews, the scripture reading; and the Rev. William E. West, the benediction.

Completing the program will be the singing of "The Creation" and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" by the Pampa High School A Cappella Choir, conducted by William Hunt, The Harvester band, conducted by W. E. Tregoe, will accompany the choir on "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." The professional, "Pomp and Circumstance" and the recessional, "Tannhauser March" will be played by the PHS band.

After vesper services, the graduates and their parents will be treated to a tea in the cafeteria by the senior mothers, Committee chairmen for the tea are Mrs. Guy LeMond, decorations; Mrs. Crawford Atkinson, invitations; Mrs. Ray Goodnight, refreshments; Mrs. Malcolm Brown, Sr., setting and Mrs. H. O. Darby, general chairman.

Seniors may dress either semi-formal or wear their caps and gowns to the tea, according to J. M. Fitzgerald.

For the second time in three years at the graduation services there will be student speakers rather than a guest speaker. The speakers will be Jackie Bourland, valedictorian; Lu Koch, salutatorian and Senior Class President Jimmy Edwards. The invocation will be given by J. M. Gilpatrick of the Central Church of Christ and James L. Minnich, pastor of the Church of the Brethren, will give the benediction.

The opening address and welcome of the graduates and visitors will be given by Lu Koch, Jimmy Edwards will deliver the challenge of the future, "New Frontiers," Jackie Bourland will round out the program with a speech looking back over the three years of PHS life and activities.

Presentation of the diplomas will be by Knox Kinard, superintendent of school; L. J. Edmondson, principal of PHS; and Cameron Marsh, assistant principal.

Jimmy Goff will provide special music at the graduation exercises with a flute solo, "The Brook and the Wood." He will be accompanied at the piano by Mrs. E. B. Allman.

The class that is now about to leave PHS entered its halls three years ago as sophomores. The year, the future seniors watched the junior play, "I Remember the Day," starring Lee Ledrick and Dan Teed with hopes of one day being able to put on a production for the school. Following the junior play that year came the Class of '55 and their production, "The Curious Savage," with D. I. Wilkinson and Mary Walls taking the lead roles.

At all the football games, the class turned out in force as Ray Bonsal and Harold Lewis, co-captains, paced the Harvester football team, which won three games and dropped seven games during the rough season.

The Class of '57 was greeted by the Annual Howdy Week, sponsored by the PHS Student Council and was given a party to wind up the week of "howdy."

A sophomore was the first girl to win the title of Miss Flame, the girl who sets the torch to the annual Sammy Sandie bonfire before the Pampa - Amarillo football game. She was Mary Rogers. Two sophomore girls were also nominated for the title of Oil Progress

JACKIE BOURLAND ... valedictorian
LU KOCH ... salutatorian
REEVES KING ... high ranking boy

Queen. They were Nancy Moore and Rhona Finkelstein.

Marilyn Moore and Nancy Moore were nominated for the title of Miss Clean Sweep, official queen of a Jaycee - sponsored broom sale to raise money for the future Youth Center. Sophomores Nancy Moore, Mary Inmon and Marilyn Moore were nominated for the honor of Carnival Queen.

The future seniors of 1957 also witnessed the first Homecoming for Pampa High graduates and have watched it grow over the past three years.

For class personalities their sophomore year, the class chose Malcolm Brown and Jan Dyer, most talented; Dicky Mauldin and Nancy Moore, most versatile; Reeves King and Jackie Bourland, most studious. Favorites for the class were Rhona Finkelstein and Jerry Don Hopkins.

Class officers for their first year in PHS were Earl Cooper, president; Jerry Don Hopkins, vice-president and Rhona Finkelstein, secretary.

Another first for the class was the first public talent show given by the students. It earned $1,000 for the March of Dimes as 17 acts paraded before the public in the Fieldhouse.

For their annual assembly, the class presented a minstrel with numbers of the class performing for the upperclassmen, Edgar Ethridge was the interlocutor for the professional-type production.

The Harvester basketball squad marched to the State Basketball Tourney only to finish fourth with Gary Griffin and E. Jay McIlvain placing on the All-State Class 4-A team.

At the annual class party, a western party, the class had fun playing games and dressing like cowboys and cowgirls.

As the first year drew to a close, the class elected Earl Cooper to head the class that would soon be juniors. Rhona Finkelstein was named as vice-president and Wadene Thomasson elected secretary. The class looked back over the year of fun and laughter as it prepared for the new year ahead as juniors.

The opening of the 1956-57 school year found the new junior class playing hosts to the new sophomores. Just as they had been welcomed the year before when they entered PHS.

Elected to lead the class yells were Nancy Moore and Raul Ramirez. Nancy had been cheerleader the year before, along with Larry McWilliams.

Vying for the honor of Oil Progress Queen during the annual Oil Progress week were Mary Inmon and Rhona Finkelstein. Mary was also the candidate for the title of Miss Flame at the annual Pampa - Amarillo bonfire.

For the class play, the class gave "The Night of January 16th," starring Bill Atkinson, Tommy Strawn, Lu Koch and Cynthia Duncan. The play was a murder trial.

Another first for the class was the inauguration of Carnival King at the annual All-School Carnival. Juniors vying for the honors were Nancy Moore, Rhona Finkelstein and Mary Inmon, queen candidates; and Earl Cooper, Jerry Don Hopkins and Bill Kirbie, king candidates. Nancy and Bill were chosen as king and queen of the event.

Chosen as favorites for the class their junior year were Carroll Cole and Wadene Thomasson. Class personalities were Jan Dyer and Malcolm Brown, most talented; Sandra Walsh and Darrel Raines, most versatile; and Jackie Bourland and Reeves King, most studious.

Jimmy Goff and Tommy Allston were chosen to play in the All-State Band. Jimmy plays flute and Tommy plays clarinet. It was the second year for Tommy to play in the band.

For its annual party, the class held an ambition party. It consisted of prizes for the best costumes, a program and games.

The football team only captured one win. However, the class was backing them all the time. The class was also behind the basketball team which won the north-half of the district.

The class watched the seniors present their annual play, which was "Harvey." Ted Swindle headed the cast as Elwood P. Dowd and the future seniors longed for the day that they could take their places in the Senior Play cast.

Helping with the second school talent show, which was headed by Malcolm Brown and Bill Atkinson, were numerous acts in the Junior Class. The show netted $1,300 dollars for the future Youth Center.

Competing for the office of Student Body president for their senior year were Earl Cooper, Jimmy Edwards, Carroll Cole, Rhona Finkelstein and Jerry Don Hopkins. Earl carried the students' votes and won the office of president. Rhona was made vice-president and Cynthia Duncan was elected by the Student Council to serve as secretary of the Student Body for 1956-57.

To head the class its senior year, the students chose Jimmy Edwards, president, and Carroll Cole, vice-president. Sandra Walsh was elected secretary of the soon-to-be seniors.

Twelve juniors were elected into the National Honor Society. They were Bill Atkinson, Malcolm Brown, Jackie Bourland, Cynthia Duncan, Jimmy Edwards, Rhona Finkelstein, Delma Franklin, Tommy Gindorf, Reeves King, Lu Koch, Nancy Moore and Jeneane Price.

To head The Little Harvester, the official paper of the school, Miss Elizabeth Hurley, sponsor named Bill Atkinson as editor. Associate editors were Jeneane Price and Virginia Irwin. Malcolm Brown was named editor of the annual. Darrel Raines assisted Malcolm as associate editor and Reeves King was business manager.

In order to start off the school year 1956-57 with a real bang, the new seniors elected class cheerleaders and presented the annual Howdy Week assembly.

Elected as Senior Class cheerleaders to help out head cheerleader Nancy Moore were Jan Dyer and Leslie Howard. The class presented a gunfight melodrama, "Texas T-Bone" or "You'll Never Die Young" as the Howdy Week assembly.

The new class of seniors swept the honor roll of grades each six weeks throughout the 1956-57 school year by having the most students making all "A's" on their report cards.

Jimmy Goff was named to lead the PHS band through its marching activities during football season as drum major. Kenneth McWaters was elected band president by the members of the Harvester Band. Ruth Adcock was crowned Band Sweetheart at the Pampa-Plainview football game.

The Class of '57 watched the juniors present "I Remember Maand Sam Condo, co-captains. Named to lead the class scholastically were Jackie Bourland, valedictorian; Lu Koch, salutatorian; and Reeves King, highest ranking boy. Miss Bourland's average for the past four years is 96.46; the salutatorian's, 95.06; and the highest ranking boy's, 93.16.

Twenty-two seniors were elected into the National Honor Society this year. Those chosen by the teachers were Ruth Adcock, Tommy Allston, Dorothy Ayres, Bill Conway, J. B. Opland, Jo Crinklaw, Zelma Franklin, Sarah Lou Harnly, Evelyn Haymes, Virginia Irwin, Jeannine Leith, Kenneth McWaters, Ned Moyer, Tommy Murray, Judy Neslage, Tony Oates, Vicky Osborne, Gary Pinson, Martha Shewmaker, Beth Spencer, Wadene Thomasson, and Marilyn Jo Wells.

Co-captains Jerry Pope and Sam Condo led the Harvesters to runner-up position in the State Basketball Tourney. Sam Condo was awarded the Hustling Harvester basketball award at the annual banquet by Coach Clifton McNeely.

The Junior Class presented the Class of '57 with the annual Junior-Senior banquet which was named "City of Angels" in honor of the "angels sent from Heaven." Seniors frolicked at the annual Senior Mardi Gras in the cafeteria. Costumes were worn and Edgar Ethridge was master of ceremonies of the party that took place in the setting of New Orleans.

Now that graduation is near for the seniors, they will be saying good-bye to each other and taking separate roads of life. Many of the Class of '57 will be going to college while others will be going into the armed services or getting married.

Following is a list of the candid.

May 17 Was Commencement For Seniors At Kelton High

(Special to The News)

KELTON — Carolyn Ledbetter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ledbetter, has been named valedictorian of the Kelton senior class with a grade average of 93.8. She has been outstanding in basketball and volleyball for four years. During her high school days she has served as class president, secretary, secretary of student council, "Who's Who," Miss Personality and member of the Annual staff. Carolyn plans to attend West Texas State College this fall.

Jerry Lackey, salutatorian of the Kelton class of 1957 with a grade average of 90.5, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Lackey. Jerry has participated in basketball four years, baseball and track three years, served as class treasurer, president, member of 4-H Club, member of the Annual staff and elected "Who's Who" two years and had roles in all class plays. His plans are to attend Texas A&M.

Sharon Stiles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Stiles, is graduating with a four year grade average of 94.8 which is the highest average of the class; however, Sharon is graduating in three years rather than four and this disqualifies her from receiving honors as it has been a policy of the school to only allow students who have attended high school four years to receive honors. Sharon has served as reporter, F.H.A. president, student council secretary, editor of the Annual, had roles in junior and senior one-act plays, pianist of the choral club for four years, was chosen "Miss Kelton," Most Beautiful and "Who's Who" during her high school days. Sharon plans to enter Baylor University next fall where she will continue her work in music and plans to major in mathematics.

Lloyd Anderson has been outstanding as a member of the basketball team. Wednesday afternoon they enjoyed a trip in glass bottom boats and visited the Aquarena at San Marcos, then spent the night in Austin. Thursday morning they made a tour through the state Capitol, then began their journey home, arriving in McLean at 8:45 p.m.

Charlie Burrell, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Burrell, has played basketball and baseball four years and track three years. He has served as a member of the annual staff, had roles in class plays, elected class favorite, and most handsome boy. His plans are to enter Sayre Junior College.

Charlie Lang Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Lang has been active in basketball four years and baseball three years. He has had roles in class plays and served as member of Annual staff. Charlie has done outstanding work in 4-H Club for eight years.

Joe Jones entered the Kelton Class of 1957 late this year from San Lorenzo High School in California. Since joining the Kelton Class he has been a very active member and an outstanding baseball player.

Sammie Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Miller, has been active in sports, school plays and 4-H Club work for seven years. Sammie was chosen Mr. Personality one year and Class Favorite one year. He has served as reporter and member of Annual staff.

Karen Higdon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aubry Higdon, has a four year average of 89.8. She played basketball one year, served as class secretary, treasurer, active in school plays, member of Annual staff, and was chosen Miss Kelton, Most Beautiful and Class Favorite during her high school days. Karen plans to attend Business College.

Baccalaureate services were held for ten high school seniors and fifteen eighth grade students Sunday evening, May 12. Mrs. Myra Finch played the processional and recessional. Mrs. Tom Bryant gave the invocation, "Faith of Our Fathers" and "The Lord's Prayer" were sung by the Junior and senior girls chorus. The address was given by Tom Lawrence. A. G. Roberts gave the benediction.

His senior year he was chosen "laziest boy" in high school. He plans to get a job soon after graduation.

Billy Mundy is the nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Wright. He was born in Clayton, N.M., in March, 1938. Mundy has taken keen interest in all sports. He played football and basketball three years during high school. He was snapshot editor of the annual this year. He was class favorite his freshman year and was parliamentary F.F.A. his senior year. He was elected the "most unpredictable" senior boy this year. After graduation, he plans to find a job.

Geoffrey Caldwell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Caldwell of Mobeetie. He was born March 24, 1939, at Canadian, but has attended all of his school days at Mobeetie. Geoffrey was chosen F.H.A. favorite his junior year. He is president of the senior class and of F.F.A. He was chosen the "most athletic boy" in high school this year. His main interest is sports, with his favorite being football. He has been chosen to represent this district in the all-star six-man football game which will be played in Abilene some time this summer. Caldwell plans to attend West Texas State College this fall.

Mary Beth Kelley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde W. Kelley, was born July 22, 1939, in Dallas. She has attended school in Mobeetie all of her school years. She has been a member of the Pep Squad for four years, serving as cheer leader her senior year. She was chosen queen candidate her freshman and senior years, being chosen princess her senior year. Her junior year, Miss Kelley was chosen as Mobeetie's candidate in the Irish Colleen contest in Shamrock's Irish Day Parade. She was chosen to go to Girls State last year. She has been a member of the F.H.A. club all four years, being club vice president her senior year. Her junior year she was voted the "friendliest girl in high school." She was annual editor her senior year. Miss Kelley is planning to attend college next year. Sue Derrick is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Derrick of Mobeetie. She was born May 17, 1940, at Ed Couch. She attended school for the first five years of her school life in South Texas. In 1949 she came to the Panhandle. At the end of the first semester of 1954-55, when she was a sophomore, she came to Mobeetie. Her senior year she was snapshot editor of the annual staff. Her freshman and sophomore years she was sergeant-at-arms in F.H.A. She is planning to attend Southwestern Junior college in Keene. She wants to major in Bible and minor in history. History is her favorite subject.

ter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Allen. During her sophomore year, Helen married Joe Seitz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Seitz. She attended school in Pampa and Odessa completing her schooling while in Odessa. Helen has asked that her credits be transferred to Mobeetie where she will receive her diploma with her former class mates.

The seniors plan to make a tour of the state of Colorado for their senior trip. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Scribner will accompany them on their trip. Mrs. Scribner, who has been in the Mobeetie school system since 1930, is the senior sponsor.

McLean Boy To Participate In Program

McLEAN — One Texas Senior, Pat Miller of McLean, along with 13 New Mexico high school seniors, has been selected to participate in the newly formulated cooperative program at the New Mexico Institute of Mining and Technology.

Announcement of the selections was made by Dr. Morris F. Stubbs, chemistry professor and coordinator of the plan, following the screening of initial applications. Other students will be selected in future screenings to fill the year's quota.

... in program

Students will start in the schoolwork plan on June 3. The cooperative program affords qualified students the opportunity to complete the work toward a BS degree, and at the same time earn all minimum expenses in coordinated, part-time work. The minimum hourly wage for the freshman year is $1.25. After the initial year, wages are regulated by academic and work performances. It is possible for a student to earn as high as $2 an hour during his senior year.

The program is made possible by the extensive employment opportunities offered by the Institute's research and development division. This division holds several government contracts covering project work for the military services.

STRANGE EQUIPMENT
CINCINNATI (UP) — William Stokes, 57, bishop of the Spiritual Church of God charged with carrying a blackjack, told police it was for the "protection of myself and my congregation." He said the bottle of gin he was carrying was for "sacrificial purposes."

Twenty-Six Graduate At White Deer Commencement

(Special to The News) WHITE DEER — Twenty-six graduates received diplomas in Commencement Exercises held last night in the High School Auditorium at White Deer.

Diplomas were presented by John Kotara Jr., president of the Board of Education of the White Deer-Skellytown School District.

Principal speaker of the evening was Dr. Morris S. Wallace, head of the School of Education, Texas Technological College, Lubbock. He was introduced and presented by Evelyn Laycock, superintendent of schools here.

The Processional, "Priests March" and Recessional, "Pomp and Circumstances" were played by Misses Suzanne Bates and Mary Buchanan, as a piano duet. The invocation was given by Rev. L. V. Peck, local Baptist pastor, and the benediction was given by Rev. Percy Godwin, pastor of the Community Church, Skellytown.

Special music was provided by the High School Mixed Chorus, under the direction of Hobart MacDonald. The group sang "A Graduation Prayer" by Yahres and "America My Cow" by Cain.

Preceding the presentation of diplomas, special awards were presented to graduates and other high school students. Valedictorian of the class was John Parsons, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delmer Parsons, Skellytown. Salutatorian was James Edward Smith, son of Mr. James Edward Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Smith, and high-point girl was Miss Peggy O'Neal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. O'Neil.

In addition, Brantley Laycock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Evelyn Laycock, was announced as recipient of the P.T.A. scholarship, presented annually by the State Executive Committee of the Future Teachers of America.

Outstanding citizens of the freshman, sophomore, and junior classes were named. These are selected each year by the school faculty. All of these awards were presented by Lawson Shaw, high school principal.

Mrs. Florette Burns, president of the Venado Blanco Study Club, presented the annual Venado Blanco Citizenship award to a member of the graduating class, Ann Dr. Floyd S. Ulrich, representing the Celanese Corporation of America, presented the Texas Chemical Award, and John Parsons was named winner of the annual Bausch-Lomb Science Award and Scholarship.

The annual Vesper Services of the graduation week were conducted in the High School Auditorium Sunday, May 19. Misses Bates and Buchanan provided the procession, songs, Earnest Reusch, Judith Ann Rhodes, Elenora Stephens, Gordon Ralph Stevens, James Edward Smith, Marquis Allen Smith, and James Garland Werley.

A choral invocation, "Blessed Are the Pure in Heart," was sung by the High School Chorus, followed by the opening prayer, given by Rev. Eugene Brand, pastor of the Baptist Church in Skellytown.

Dr. E. Douglas Carver, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Pampa, delivered the Baccalaureate sermon, and the program was concluded with a choral offering of the One Hundredth Psalm. The benediction was given by Rev. Marvin Menefer, local Methodist pastor.

Following the vesper services, Mr. and Mrs. Evelyn Laycock were hosts to the annual Senior tea, honoring members of the graduating class. The affair was held in the Homemaking Department, Mr. and Mrs. Laycock were assisted in entertaining by Mr. and Mrs. Lawson Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. John Driskill, Mrs. L. C. O'Neal and Mrs. Horace Williams. Mrs. Shaw presided at the register.

The school colors, blue and white, were used in decorations throughout the reception room. Punch and cookies were served from a lace-laid table, centered with an arrangement of blue stock, and a papier-mache owl, dressed in a mortar board, holding a diploma. Mrs. Driskill presided at the punch bowl.

About 50 guests, Board of Education members and their wives, faculty members and their wives and husbands, and members of the graduating class attended.

Members of the 1957 Class of White Deer-Skellytown High School are: Carolyn Anderwald, Joyce Ballard, Walter Beauchamp, Frances Canrell, Dwayne Clemens, Ruby Nell Cook, Wilma Dunivin, Ois Frost, Maynard Kotara, Anna Marie Kramer, Brantley Laycock, Norman Lease, Nancy Lester, Jerry Dean Mills, Lynn Morris, Claudine McCoy, Peggy O'Neal, Alice Fay Norris, John Charles Par-

Perryton Club To Sponsor Teen Town

(Special to The News) PERRYTON — Plans for a new Teen Town for Perryton were outlined by Troy Sullivan last week at the meeting of the 400 Club. He asked support of the club and gave in detail the plans that had been made.

The club voted to support the project but stated that present commitments on the Veterans Memorial Building must be completed first.

The proposed building for Teen Town is a 50 by 90 foot building to be located at the corner of Ash Street and 5th Avenue, just south of the county metal building. The county commissioners voted to give the 50 by 140 foot lot to the local youth center, provided the lot would revert to the county when it ceased to be used for youth activities. The estimated cost of the building is between $50,000 and $60,000 and the cost is to be met by public subscription.

As planned, the building will contain a snack bar, television set, pool tables and ping pong tables, a patio and meeting room, a meeting room for Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts and a smaller town-meeting hall.

The Teen Town Council met Monday night to start a series of fund raising projects and establish a building fund toward the new youth center. The Council will work with the 400 Club in helping to raise money for the center.

The Council made plans for three money raising projects. They will assist the 400 Club in an intensive membership drive with approximately 100 young people canvassing the town, seeking memberships at $1 per month.

The club hopes to raise the membership from 180 to several hundred. Plans were also outlined for a Slave Auction, with boys and girls offering their services for the day to the highest bidder. Bill Lance will serve as auctioneer for the auction, to be held Saturday, June 1. The other money raising project will be a Clean-Up Day to be held just before the North Plains Fair. The young people will be helping to have the town look-

UNPOPULAR POLITICIAN PHILADELPHIA, Miss. (UP)—A candidate for alderman has thanked the 12 persons who voted for him before he retired from politics. In a note published in the Neshoba Democrat, W. L. Houston said: "There's still one thing my friends should know, live or die, sink or swim, I won't be guilty of this thing again." It was signed: "W. L. Houston, the retired politician."

SOFT DRINK BOOTLEGGING FLORALA, Ala. (UP)—They're bootlegging soda pop here. Distributors cut off supplies of soft drinks in protest against a 16-cent-a-case city tax, but the dealers' coolers somehow have managed to remain fully stocked. Mayor A. H. Lurie said soft drinks would remain in plentiful supply all summer, tax or no tax.
