

SAFER TIME—Did you know that the safest time to drive your car is when the traffic is heaviest? That's the surprising conclusion drawn by Dr. A. R. Lauer and C. O. Senate Probes Union President

By HERBERT FOSTER
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—Senate investigators hoped to end their investigation of the Bakery Workers' Union today by turning the heat on President James G. Cross about his reported loans from an employer.

Cross was ordered back to the stand this afternoon after as much as telling the Labor Rackets Committee Wednesday it had no business asking what "personal services" he received from an attractive brunette who had a habit of showing up at his hotel at union conventions across the country.

He said her name was Mrs. Kay Lower, that she was a secret organizer for the union in Los Angeles and that she was paid for her services to the union.

Has Police Record
Committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy said Mrs. Lower, also known as Mrs. Elsie K. Thorpe, had a record of arrests in Los Angeles for offering prostitution and living in a house of ill fame.

When Cross was asked if Mrs. Lower rendered any "personal service or accommodation" to him apart from union business, he told the committee the question was "not pertinent" to its investigation of labor racketeering.

The committee did not challenge this stand, which was apparently based on a Supreme Court ruling last Monday that congressional committees cannot engage in "exposure for exposure's sake" but must have a clear purpose for their questions.

Claims Expenses Honest
The committee charged that Cross, who was paid $17,800 last year, also drew more than $39,000 in expenses, much of it for "entertainment" not otherwise accounted for. Cross said all the money was honestly spent.

The committee planned to question Cross further about charges that he borrowed a total of $108,000 since 1948 from Martin Phillips Sr. of Zion, Ill., and his brother Herbert Phillips—and that the union tried to maintain a sub-standard contract this year for 125 of its members who work for Zion Industries Inc., Phillips' bakery and candy factory.

One Man Injured In Accident

Robert Harlan Bowling of Amarillo received injuries last night when the '56 International pickup he was driving was in collision with a '51 Chevrolet pickup, owned by Leroy Thornburg of Pampa, which was parked on Brown, 97 feet east of Somerville, with a flat.

The accident occurred at approximately 10:25 p.m. as Bowling was traveling west. The force of the impact threw him against the steering wheel, Bowling reported, and he received injuries to his face, leg and chest.

He was taken to Highland General Hospital for treatment and was later released. The full extent of his injuries was not reported.

The International pickup encountered damages estimated at $800 and the Chevrolet pickup met with damages estimated at $125.

Justice Department May Put Off Girard Appeal

WASHINGTON (UP)—Justice Department officials today considered putting off until fall their appeal of the Girard case to the Supreme Court.

They hoped to decide today whether to try for a fast or delayed decision.

Federal Judge Joseph C. McGarraghy has directed the government to give Gi William S. Girard a court martial rather than hand him over to the Japanese for trial on charges of killing a Japanese woman.

The ruling with its international repercussions came as Japanese Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi arrived here for important talks with President Eisenhower.

Justice Department officials and Defense Department legal experts held a lengthy huddle Wednesday to discuss strategy for an appeal. No decision was reached.

A Justice Department official said several points were considered including the impact of the case on U.S. foreign relations and whether the Supreme Court would act before it recesses for the summer next Monday.

A Justice Department official said that while a direct appeal to the Supreme Court is being strongly weighed, it is "doubtful" that the tribunal would act before it winds up for the summer.

The government already has filed a notice of appeal with the U.S. Court of Appeals challenging McGarraghy's ruling.

Youth Center Group Meets Tomorrow

Names of prominent Pampa citizens, who will be asked to serve on the Youth and Community Center committee, are to be brought up in a meeting of that group tomorrow afternoon.

Dr. Joe Donaldson, president of the committee, said that the members would decide on a list of names of persons who will be invited to an open meeting. The time of this gathering will also be decided.

The committee is scheduled to meet in the county court room at 4:30 p.m. tomorrow.

A location for the proposed center has already been obtained and a professional staff has made a survey of the situation here to determine the community's needs for such a center.

Suits Are Filed In Court Here

Two damage suits have been filed recently in the district court.

Actor Is Planning Appeal Of Jail Sentence

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Actor Anthony Franciosa today planned to appeal a 10-day jail sentence handed him by a municipal judge for assaulting a newspaper photographer.

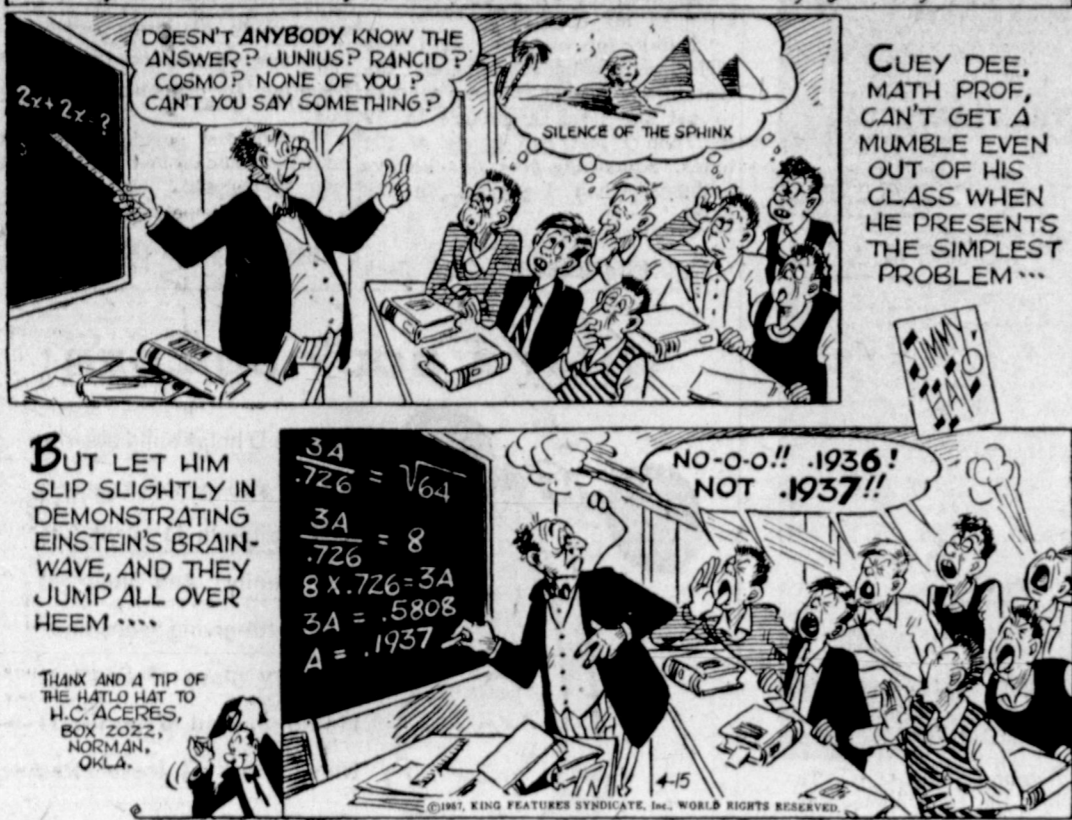

Judge Mark Brandler Wednesday sentenced the actor, recently married to actress Shelley Win- ters, to 90 days in jail but suspended the sentence on condition that the defendant spend 10 days in jail, pay a $250 fine in addition to paying for the repair of the photographer's camera.

Why Orient's Flu Epidemic Has Alarm Bells Ringing

By LOUIS CASSELS
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 WASHINGTON (UP)—Doctors call it "The Great Epidemic."
 It swept over the world in three lethal waves, starting in May, 1918. By the time the third wave subsided in the spring of 1919, it had claimed nearly 15-million lives. And it had instilled in the hearts of health officials everywhere a lasting fear of influenza.
 Nearly 40 years have passed since that "Pandemic," or world-wide epidemic, of "Spanish Flu." Many lesser influenza epidemics have come and gone. Medical science has developed vaccines against influenza, and antibiotic drugs to treat its complications. A whole generation has grown up which regards flu as an uncomfortable but relatively mild illness—not much worse than a bad cold.
 To members of this generation, it may be difficult to understand why the current epidemic in the Far East has started alarm bells ringing in public health offices the world over.
 "The probability of another 1918 is slight," said Dr. Carl C. Dauer, top influenza expert in the U.S. Public Health Service. "But we cannot assume that it is an impossibility."
 He reached into his desk drawer and brought out a formidable-looking official report, prepared in 1953 by a committee of internationally-famous scientists who conducted an influenza study for the world health organization.
 The report urged a constant global alert for any sign of an influenza epidemic comparable in scope or virulence to that which followed World War I.
 "We do not know what led to the policy of $5,000 with Traveler's Protective Association of America, and a $5,000 life insurance policy with Woodmen of the World Life Insurance Society, Omaha, Neb.

 TOKYO—Army Specialist Third Class William S. Girard when his brother told him by trans-Pacific telephone call from Illinois that a federal judge had blocked the government from turning him over to the Japanese for trial:
 "I sure feel good about it. I want to thank all the people who have been helping me—all the people who have done so much for me."
 The two statements, filed under a law passed by the recent 55th Legislature, were filed Wednesday. They were sworn to before a notary public on June 15. Daniel is now in Washington.
 Steakley listed ownership of 13 shares of stock in Great National Life Insurance Co., Dallas; 10 shares of stock in the Capital National Bank, Austin; and two shares of stock in Builders and Bankers Insurance Corporation of America, Austin.

AUSTIN (UP)—Gov. Price Daniel and Secretary of State Zolie Steakley today filed "code of ethics" statements with the secretary of state's office.
 Daniel listed ownership of two Mutual life insurance policies and 100 shares representing one-third ownership of the Trinity Publishing Co., Inc., at his hometown of Liberty.
 The governor showed ownership of an accidental death insurance appearance of this outbreak in 1918," the committee of experts said, "nor whether a similar one will occur again... the possibility of a recurrence is always present."
 So far, Dauer emphasized, there is "no indication whatever" that the present outbreak in the Orient will lead to "another 1918."

'Happiness Pills' No Answer For Anxiety Hail Downs Boys Ranch Feed Crop

By DELOS SMITH
 United Press Science Editor
 NEW YORK (UP)—Some husbands of women who are on their ways toward becoming mothers, are nauseated at the sight of breakfast even though their wives may be delighted to see the orange juice and eggs.
 Dr. Marc J. Musser, psychiatrist of Madison, Wis., cited this as a convincing and dramatic example of not only excessive anxiety but of misplaced and highly inappropriate anxiety.
 Lecturing a medical audience, he was engaged in an increasingly common psychiatric endeavor these days—trying to convince other and non-psychiatric physicians that happiness pills are no true answer for anxiety.
 "Attractive" as they are, they hold anxiety in check, whether it is excessive or normal. They don't cure excessive anxiety. Prolonged and difficult as it is, only psychotherapy can cure excessive anxiety, he said.
Seems On Increase
 There's a lot of excessive, misplaced anxiety loose in the land—and it seems to be increasing. It is a situation to which every physician of whatever specialty must face up and deal with effectively.
 "Anxiety is, to some extent, a factor in almost every illness and may significantly influence its course and outcome," he continued. "The major feature of all psycho-neurotic disorders, regardless of whether they are manifested physically or as disturbances of bodily function, is excessive and sustained anxiety."
 "An increasing amount of evidence exists to indicate that anxiety may play a causative role in a large number of specific diseases, some of which, such as essential hypertension, peptic ulcer, ulcerative colitis, hyperthyroidism and angina pectoris, may be disabling and life-threatening."
 That's what physicians must face up to, while keeping in mind that "there is a certain range of anxiety which is an entirely normal reaction to various life-threatening situations, and an essential asset for the protection and survival of the organism."
Has Devastating Effects
 "Morbid anxiety, however, has a much more complex significance. It is a state of excessive, frequently inappropriate, and sustained anxiety which has undesirable and often devastating effects upon the mental and physical health of the individual."
 "In the majority of instances, it is the result of an unresolved conflict which arises sometime during a person's life. In some cases, the conflict exists at a conscious level and can be defined by the patient. More often, because of its unpleasant and threatening nature, and the existence of elements not acceptable to the individual's concept of himself, the conflict has been repressed into the unconscious."
 Psychotherapy can — though often only after much effort—resolve the conflict, and that is the only cure. Psychiatrists can't handle all this work, and prospective work — there aren't enough psychiatrists. General practitioners and internists must learn to apply psychotherapy—that is their "responsibility" because of "the apparent increase of emotionally induced illnesses."
 The wheat and oats were ready to cut and the loss is irreplaceable this year. There is still time to replant the row crop but the financial loss to the Ranch and the boys is serious enough to reduce the number of livestock they will feed throughout the rest of the year.
 With a feed shortage inevitable, the boys are now figuring mighty close on the livestock they will raise from now on.

Walter Rogers Votes Against Statehood For Alaska Bill

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE 18TH DISTRICT:
ALASKAN STATEHOOD
 The bill for Alaskan statehood has been reported favorably by the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs. The vote was 24 to 6. My vote was included among the 6 opposed to statehood.
 This will undoubtedly prove to be a highly controversial issue again this year as it has been each year in the past. One of the amendments that barely escaped adoption in the Committee because of a tie vote will probably be the subject of more debate in the House than any other portion of the bill. The amendment was offered in Committee by Mr. Pillion, of New York. Its purpose is to provide for an election to be held in Alaska on the question of "statehood" or "no statehood", as a condition precedent to Alaska becoming a state when, as, and if the present bill is passed. One of the best arguments in favor of such an election is the fact that in a recent poll taken in Alaska, the vote was more than 2 to 1 against statehood. It has always been my position that under any and all circumstances, the people of Alaska should have the opportunity to approve or disapprove the issue.

THE BUDGET
 The budget continues to be a number one conversation item in Washington, and among the top subjects in the mail. To date, the House has considered and acted on 22 separate measures concerning the appropriation of funds for this government and its departments and agencies. It has not acted on the Public Works bill, which is sometimes referred to as the "pork barrel" bill, nor the Mutual Security (Foreign Aid) bill. As of June 3rd, 1957, the Senate had acted on 14 of these measures.
 Four had been signed into law by the President, while 6 were awaiting the President's signature. Four of the measures were subject to the action of a Conference Committee between the House and the Senate. The 4 that have already been written into law are appropriations for the Treasury Department, Post Office Department, U.S. Tax Court and the Second 1957 Urgent Deficiency bill. The Presidential request was for approximately $87 million more than the Congress allowed him in these 4 appropriation matters.
 The other measures, now on the President's desk for his signature, authorize expenditures of approximately $100 million less than the President asked. These cuts were very carefully weighed and it was the intention of the Congress to cut only those things that appeared to be in the nature of waste or budgetary fat. There are more cuts to come on the other appropriations. These cuts will be weighed in the same careful manner.
 The mail is bringing in many letters both for and against the President's budget. These are running about 50 per cent for and 50 per cent against. Many concern the Mutual Security (Foreign Aid) program. This is one of the bills we have not yet considered. It will be one of the most controversial measures because of the very nature of the program. Many feel that projects in this country which should be developed are being delayed because of the high cost of the foreign aid program. In keeping with this general thought, one of the newspaper columnists in this country, Mr. H. I. Phillips, wrote a poem entitled, AMERICA SPEAKS, which is as follows:
 To meet both ends I seldom can
 (But I'm a help to Pakistan);
 It's hard to keep my shirt and pants
 (But after all, I'm fond of France);
 I guess I'll have to break my lease
 (I must cooperate with Greece);
 Hedged in by debts quite vast I am
 (But I must not neglect Siam);
 The wolf from door I can't repel
 (Still I must help keep Burma well);
 By Tuesday I am out of dough
 (Malaya's, feeling better, though);
 My dollar very little buys
 (But Egypt's safer, I surmise);
 My own financial outlook's murky
 (But still my heart belongs to Turkey).

BE IT EVER SO MOBILE—Home is where the nest is. To the horror of Mother and Father Robin, the snug home they had so carefully built atop the brake cylinder of a C. & O. crew car in Grand Rapids, Mich., suddenly began to move. It was enough to scramble the three eggs. Somehow, the two birds managed to stay with the rolling nest. They survived the 150-mile overnight trip and next day continued their house-keeping in Traverse City, Mich.

Fans Of Elvis Presley Didn't Want The Haircut

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press Hollywood Writer
HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Elvis Presley was all shook up with gratitude today. Durned if his fans didn't keep MGM studio from chopping off his famous sideburns and bangs.
 MGM figured on giving Elvis a crewcut and shaving off those side-whiskers because he plays a convict in "Jailhouse Rock," the third movie on the agenda of the Presley steamroller through Hollywood.
 But this news caused the biggest crisis in the movie business since Lassie was exposed as a he. Four thousand post cards and letters from Presley fans poured into MGM, begging that the studio let their hero act with his original hair hanging around his sensual looking face.
Fan Letters
 A Fortville, Ind., mother wrote "We love him at our house. Elvis has had more criticism than anyone but his loyal fans stand by him—don't cut his hair. It's his trademark."
 Some fans threatened to picket the picture. A Missoula, Mont., girl wrote that "All of us are sick about the haircut." Letters arrived from the Rock 'n' Roll Kats fan club of O'Fallon, Mo., and the Presley Kats fan club of Syracuse, N. Y.
 "So now the studio has decided I'll wear a wig, a crew-cut wig, for the prison scenes," the victorious Presley announced today over lunch.
Hair Reddened
 "Otherwise my hair will look the same, except it was reddened because in black-and-white it photographed like a cap instead of hair."
 Elvis was having his usual lunch of mashed potatoes, bacon, sliced tomatoes and Coca-Cola, which he says is the nearest thing he can find around here to mama's Madison, Tenn., home cooking. His usual retinue of cousins and friends from Tennessee filled his MGM dressing room.
 "I never did want my hair cut," Elvis said. "I wear long hair and sideburns because some people look better with long hair. I do because my face is long."

NEW 'JOURNEY FOR MARGARET'—Margaret O'Brien, the onetime child star who won the hearts of movie audiences in "Journey for Margaret," way back when, is now 19 and plays "grown-up" parts. But that's thanks to the stage and TV—not to the movies. Hollywood just wouldn't let Margaret grow up. It tried to keep her a little girl—such as she was in "Meet Me in St. Louis," left. At right, she's being made up for a recent TV role, "Moonyeen" in "Smiling Through." Her latest grown-up part this fall will be as the star of "Maggie," a new ABC-TV series.

Reversed By Appeals Court

AUSTIN (UP)—The Court of Criminal Appeals in a split decision today reaffirmed its ruling which reversed a 10-year prison sentence assessed B. R. Sheffield of Brady in a veterans land fraud conviction.

The high court, in a majority opinion written by Judge W. A. Morrison, overruled a motion for rehearing sought by the state.

A dissent was written by Judge K. K. Woodley.

Morrison's opinion said the state relied on an exception to the best evidence rule that the official character of a public officer need not be proved by commission or other written evidence of the right of such officer to act, except in an issue directly between the officer and the public.

The majority opinion said the exception in the law was based upon public convenience, on the ground that the officer has acted in a regular and lawful manner.

"In other words, the state is here seeking to invoke this presumption which arises as an exception to the best evidence rule when the basis for the presumption does not exist," it said.

"This is because Doris Sayles, who gave the oral testimony upon which the state seeks to rely to show her official capacity, also admitted that she had violated the law in the performance of the duties of her office if, in fact, she was a notary public."

SEARCH FOR WEEDS

NEW YORK (UP)—Police were ordered Sunday to take an interest in horticulture.

sent to Congress a bill to reform or to re-organize or to pack the Supreme Court.

Roosevelt wanted to name some additional justices to assure a more friendly reception to his idea of a flexible constitution. Months of controversy ended in July, 1937, by Senate refusal to act on the Roosevelt court bill. FDR lost that battle, but he won the war.

Today's Supreme Court is just about what he had in mind.

ALL GROWN-UP—Viewers of "stone-age" television (1949-50) may recall this young lady and her "partner," Shirley Dinsdale was a ventriloquist then, appearing with "Judy Splinters" who is shown in this early picture with Shirley. Today Shirley's Mrs. Frank Layburn of Colorado Springs, Colo. She has a three-year-old girl, Patty, and a three-month-old son, George.

Oil Allowable For July Cut

AUSTIN (UP)—The Texas Railroad Commission has slashed the state's oil allowable for July 384,631 barrels a day, fixing permissive production at 3,033,604 barrels.

The commission put the reduction into effect by cutting two days off the number of state-wide producing days. July producing days were set at 13, compared to 15 being observed in June.

Representatives of both major oil companies and independent producers urged adoption of the 13-day schedule, the lowest figure in many years for Texas.

The commission, at its two-hour morning hearing, said the deep cut in allowable production was based on excessive above-ground stocks of crude oil in Texas following the Suez Canal's reopening, with a resultant lowering of demand in Europe, as well as a constant high level of imported oil.

Members of Morocco, who regard the bitter flesh of the argan as inedible, press the pits for cooking oil.

Easy Carpet Cleaning Discovery Hailed

What is said to be the easiest and "cleanest" rug cleaner, known as Blue Lustre, is available after years of research.

Blue Lustre leaves no foreign residue to cause rapid resoiling. The pile is left open and fluffy as the colors spring out like magic. So easy to apply with a long handle brush (like playing shuffleboard) and is safe for all types of carpets.

Use Blue Lustre to clean the entire carpet or remove spots and traffic lanes. It's economical as 1/2 gallon of concentrate cleans three 9 x 12 rugs.

Supreme Court Puts Quietus On Congress and President

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—Twenty years have passed and the U. S. Supreme Court again is buying in another branch of the government.

Moreover, the court is remodeling the social contours of the United States and stating dynamically new ground rules for the conduct of big business.

On its present course, the court is headed for controversy with both the other branches of the U. S. government—the executive and the legislative. The controversy with Congress was well joined this week in decisions stating abrupt limits on the conduct and authority of congressional committees.

Garraghy may have taken due note of this week's Supreme Court urgency to protect the rights of individuals in the area of Communism. However that may be, he ruled here Tuesday in defense of Girard's rights as an American citizen.

Called Constitutional Violation "The threatened action (to permit the Japanese to try Girard) is illegal and in violation of the Constitution and laws of the United States," McGarraghy said in his order forbidding the government to deliver the soldier to the Japanese.

That case will go to the Supreme Court where, on the basis of the record to date, the justices will rule against President Eisenhower and the State and Defense Departments who would permit the Japanese to try Girard.

That should arouse the administration considerably in view of the fact that the trial of Girard by a Japanese court evidently has become a major issue of foreign policy bearing on U. S. relations with the Asiatic nations.

The Girard case is a sensitive nerve end of American diplomacy, presumably much in the President's mind.

The court's trend, of late, and its challenge to the other branches recalls Franklin D. Roosevelt's notable dispute with the justices. They had held great areas of his first term New Deal to be unconstitutional. On Feb. 2, 1937, FDR

Still More Controversy
The controversy with the executive is just around the corner. In its decisions Monday the court boro down hard on the rights of individuals and against the authority of congressional committees and government prosecutors.

It ruled that congressional committees, on demand, must tell witnesses that the questions it asks are pertinent to specific purposes and must specify the purpose. It did so in throwing out a contempt conviction against Illinois union leader John T. Watkins, who had refused to name persons he had known in the Communist movement.

Far from all congressmen will object to that ruling and many will applaud it. There is a hard core of senators and representatives, however, closely identified with and well informed about the effort to expose Communism in the United States from whom the protests already are flowing.

The controversy with the executive is headed for the high court in the case of William S. Girard, the U. S. soldier who was ordered turned over to the Japanese government for trial on charges of shooting and killing a Japanese woman. The Constitution says U. S. citizens are entitled to a trial by certain stipulated processes. Federal Judge Joseph C. Mc-

William Holden Collector Commissioner Of Antique Sculpture

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UP) — William Holden, movietown's No. 1 tourist, is one actor who's made a second profession of lugging home "souvenirs" — a valuable collection of antique sculpture.

Holden has chalked up seven long trips overseas, and just finished his second trip around the world. From these journeys he's brought back a sculpture, pots, masks and other art objects, and now ranks among the top art collectors of Hollywood.

Holden concentrates on ancient sculpture. And while most other collectors buy their art objects at U.S. art galleries, the actor brings his home from his travels, "and that's part of the excitement."

Concentrates On Figures
"One has to have some degree of junk man in his blood to be willing to litter up his property," Holden confessed today as he led a tour of his possessions.

"Billy Wilder influenced me to begin my collection. I decided the coming appreciation of art will be in figures, not paintings, because modern homes are good settings for sculpture. You can't hang paintings on glass."

Holden's collection fills both his home and his dressing room-office at Paramount Studio. In his home is a 2,500-year-old Egyptian head, a Buddha head from Siam and pottery from ancient Greece. At first, he says, his children groaned at his purchases "but now they are starting to collect, too."

His dressing room boasts primitive sculpture from the South Sea Islands, an old Korean sundial, pre-Columbian figures from Mexico, 150-year-old Japanese puppets and countless other objects.

Most Recent Purchase
During our tour his secretary unpacked his most recent purchase, a 450 B.C. Greek wine jug. They were purchased on his round-the-world trip that began when he went to Ceylon to star in "The Bridge On The River Kwai" for independent producer Sam Spiegel.

In fact, on movie locations Holden is off between scenes shopping. While in China for "Love Is A Many-Splendored Thing" he bought a Chinese horse of the Tang dynasty. He picked up Mayan sculpture while a cting in "Boots Malone" in Mexico and the free trip to Japan for "The Bridges Of Toko-ri" gave him a chance to buy old figures of Kabuki dancers.

"I buy to satisfy my heart, not as an investment," Holden said. "These things satisfy an artistic expression for me, and they stir

To Get No Pay, Says Will

AUSTIN (UP) — The newly created State Board of Insurance cannot operate without a commissioner, and that commissioner will have to work for nothing until Sept. 1, according to a ruling handed down by Attorney General Will Wilson.

Wilson's ruling was made at the request of the present board. It also said the present board cannot function without a commissioner, but that commissioner can draw no pay since there was no such office when the appropriation bill was passed for the current biennium.

It meant the board in office now cannot operate in its last two weeks unless it appoints a payless temporary commissioner.

The present board, headed by John Oarrio and including Mark Wentz of Big Spring and Joe P. Gibbs of Seguin, goes out of office July 1. The new board appointed by Gov. Price Daniel of Gibbs, Judge Penn J. Jackson of Cleburne and David Irons of Fort Worth, comes in at that time.

on the international balance sheet: A 22-day French cabinet crisis was ended when Maurice Bourges-Maunoury was confirmed as premier in Parliament.

Bourges-Maunoury received a confirmation vote of 240-194 in the National Assembly, the controlling house of Parliament. He will lead a coalition cabinet based on his own Radical Socialists and the Socialist Party as successor to Socialist Guy Mollet, who was overthrown on May 21. Bourges-Maunoury's program is similar to that of Mollet. But it differs in one important respect. Mollet's solution for the Algerian revolt, France's No. 1 problem, was to insist on a cease-fire before he proceeded with plans for a large measure of home rule. The new premier proposes to proceed with reforms at once. But Bourges-Maunoury may not last long. He does not command a majority of votes in the 596-member National Assembly. Seventy-three members abstained from the confirmation vote. He could be overthrown at any time—and he is pledged to pursue unpopular policies, including an austerity tax program, which led to Mollet's fall.

There were several developments in the tangled Middle Eastern situation.

Diplomatic relations between anti-Communist Jordan and pro-Russian, anti-Western Egypt neared the breaking point. Jordan's young King Hussein ordered the Egyptian military attaché and the Egyptian consul general in Jerusalem out of the country. The military attaché was accused of plotting to assassinate "members of the royal family"—meaning Hussein.

Pro-Western, anti-Communist Premier Sami el Solh of Lebanon won a big victory over leftist, pro-Egyptian opponents. Government candidates won 19 out of 22 seats in a parliamentary election. The developments in both Jordan and Lebanon increased the isolation in the Arab world of President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt.

Russia received a slap, too. The United States, Britain and France sharply rejected a Soviet Russian call for a Big Four conference on the Middle East. The place for discussion of the problem, the Allied governments said in similar notes, is the United Nations.

Harold Stassen, chief United States disarmament negotiator, returned to London after conferring with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. His visit was due to complaints by the Western Allies that he had outlined new American disarmament proposals to Russia but not to them.

Stassen will try to straighten things out when the London talks are resumed early next week.

AUSTIN (UP)—Farmers were catching up on rain-delayed field work last week, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The USDA's weekly report said farmers were in the fields all of last week with the exception of a day or so in the plains and some central counties, where rain delayed action.

Wheat was in good condition all over the state, but high plains wheat needed hot, open weather. Rainy weather hurt the oat crop, and the USDA said much of the crop is down and can only be salvaged by grazing or turning over.

As farmers finished cotton planting they began to plan sorghum from Central Texas to the high plains. Sorghum planted earlier in central counties was in fine shape.

Peanut planting was underway in the Cross Timbers and North Texas. Rice planting was almost completed, and the USDA said "lots of hay," some too mature for highest quality, was baled.

Cotton, except in South and West Texas, was late but made good progress. Planting was pushed in other areas.

Vegetable field work was active, particularly harvesting. Most harvestable North Texas onions have been pulled and the East Texas tomato harvest was expected to continue through June.

Summer range and pasture feed was in good shape, but a heavy weed growth was dissipating moisture and weeds were getting tough and unpalatable, the USDA said.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—Lucille Doudy, 28, on her arrest for throwing a ham sandwich at a policeman from a moving automobile: "It was worth it. I always wanted to throw something at a cop."

Every now and then you hear rumors the world is coming to an end, but we don't believe them. Every morning, city crews sweep, vacuum and bulldoze the six miles of public beach at Hollywood, Florida."

Court Order Frees Woman

PERSON, W.Va. (UP)—Dorothy Kreuger Smith, appearing tired and nervous, was freed today after 4½ years in federal custody for the slaying of her colonel husband.

Mrs. Smith, daughter of retired Gen. Walter Kreuger, emerged from the federal woman's prison here in the company of another retired general, Adam Richmond of Bethesda, Md., and Mrs. Richmond.

She was released under a Supreme Court decision handed down June 10. All three remained in Richmond's automobile while Richmond, an attorney and friend of Kreuger, gave newsmen a statement on behalf of Mrs. Smith.

"Mrs. Smith is very grateful for the opportunity to return to a useful life," Richmond said. "She entertains no resentment whatever. The attendants and all the personnel of the institution have been kind and considerate during her stay."

"Due to many changes in her family condition, she is unable to formulate any future plans at this time," he added.

Mrs. Smith, a 44-year-old brunette, was convicted by a court-martial in 1953 of the fatal stab-

2 tablespoons lemon juice

Dissolve gelatin in hot fruit cocktail syrup; cool slightly. Add lemon juice, fruit cocktail, pineapple, nuts and cherries. Mix well. Chill until thickened syrupy consistency (about 40 minutes). Chill Carnation in refrigerator tray until soft crystals form in milk (10-15 minutes). Whip until stiff (about 1 minute). Add lemon juice; whip very stiff (about 2 minutes longer). Fold whipped Carnation into gelatin. Spoon into 1 1/2 quart mold. Chill until firm (about 2 hours). Unmold on lettuce. Garnish.

on the international balance sheet:

A 22-day French cabinet crisis was ended when Maurice Bourges-Maunoury was confirmed as premier in Parliament.

Bourges-Maunoury received a confirmation vote of 240-194 in the National Assembly, the controlling house of Parliament.

He will lead a coalition cabinet based on his own Radical Socialists and the Socialist Party as successor to Socialist Guy Mollet, who was overthrown on May 21. Bourges-Maunoury's program is similar to that of Mollet. But it differs in one important respect, Mollet's solution for the Algerian revolt, France's No. 1 problem, was to insist on a cease-fire before he proceeded with plans for a large measure of home rule. The new premier proposes to proceed with reforms at once.

But Bourges-Maunoury may not last long. He does not command a majority of votes in the 596-member National Assembly. Seventy-three members abstained from the confirmation vote. He could be overthrown at any time—and he is pledged to pursue unpopular policies, including an austerity tax program, which led to Mollet's fall.

There were several developments in the tangled Middle Eastern situation.

Diplomatic relations between anti-Communist Jordan and pro-Russian, anti-Western Egypt neared the breaking point. Jordan's young King Hussein ordered the Egyptian military attaché and the Egyptian consul general in Jerusalem out of the country. The military attaché was accused of plotting to assassinate "members of the royal family"—meaning Hussein.

Pro-Western, anti-Communist Premier Sami el Solh of Lebanon won a big victory over leftist, pro-Egyptian opponents. Government candidates won 19 out of 22 seats in a parliamentary election.

The developments in both Jordan and Lebanon increased the isolation in the Arab world of President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt.

Russia received a slap, too. The United States, Britain and France sharply rejected a Soviet Russian call for a Big Four conference on the Middle East. The place for discussion of the problem, the Allied governments said in similar notes, is the United Nations.

Harold Stassen, chief United States disarmament negotiator, returned to London after conferring with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. His visit was due to complaints by the Western Allies that he had outlined new American disarmament proposals to Russia but not to them.

Stassen will try to straighten things out when the London talks are resumed early next week.

AUSTIN (UP)—Farmers were catching up on rain-delayed field work last week, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The USDA's weekly report said farmers were in the fields all of last week with the exception of a day or so in the plains and some central counties, where rain delayed action.

Wheat was in good condition all over the state, but high plains wheat needed hot, open weather. Rainy weather hurt the oat crop, and the USDA said much of the crop is down and can only be salvaged by grazing or turning over.

As farmers finished cotton planting they began to plan sorghum from Central Texas to the high plains. Sorghum planted earlier in central counties was in fine shape.

Peanut planting was underway in the Cross Timbers and North Texas. Rice planting was almost completed, and the USDA said "lots of hay," some too mature for highest quality, was baled.

Cotton, except in South and West Texas, was late but made good progress. Planting was pushed in other areas.

Vegetable field work was active, particularly harvesting. Most harvestable North Texas onions have been pulled and the East Texas tomato harvest was expected to continue through June.

Summer range and pasture feed was in good shape, but a heavy weed growth was dissipating moisture and weeds were getting tough and unpalatable, the USDA said.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—Lucille Douty, 28, on her arrest for throwing a ham sandwich at a policeman from a moving automobile: "It was worth it. I always wanted to throw something at a cop."

SEATTLE—Teamsters President Dave Beck, denying reports that he has been under pressure to resign: "You hear all kinds of rumors. Every now and then you hear rumors the world is coming to an end, but we don't believe them."

Every morning, city crews sweep, vacuum and bulldoze the six miles of public beach at Hollywood, Florida.

Court Order Frees Woman

ERSON, W.Va. (UP)—Dorothy Kreuger Smith, appearing tired and nervous, was freed today after 4½ years in federal custody for the slaying of her colonel husband.

Mrs. Smith, daughter of retired Gen. Walter Kreuger, emerged from the federal woman's prison here in the company of another retired general, Adam Richmond of Bethesda, Md., and Mrs. Richmond.

She was released under a Supreme Court decision handed down June 10.

All three remained in Richmond's automobile while Richmond, an attorney and friend of Kreuger, gave newsmen a statement on behalf of Mrs. Smith.

"Mrs. Smith is very grateful for the opportunity to return to a useful life," Richmond said. "She entertains no resentment whatever. The attendants and all the personnel of the institution have been kind and considerate during her stay."

"Due to many changes in her family condition, she is unable to formulate any future plans at this time," he added.

Mrs. Smith, a 44-year-old brunette, was convicted by a court-martial in 1953 of the fatal stab-

Atomic Charge Changes Sub Warfare

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA)—Strange new words reveal a revolution in one of America's hitherto most vulnerable defenses.

Its lexicon includes such terms as "weapon alpha," "magnetic anomaly detector," "dunking sonar," "sonobuoy" and "hedgheg."

These words were used by outgoing Secretary of Navy Charles Thomas in a recent secret session of the House Armed Services Committee during which he made the startling claim, "We now have a weapon which will revolutionize anti-submarine warfare."

The specific weapon Thomas refers to, it can be revealed, is a devastatingly effective atomic depth charge. It was first successfully tested on May 15, 1955, and has since been greatly improved.

The development of an atomic depth charge, which can squash submerged enemy subs like rotten apples when detonated anywhere within several hundred yards of them, considerably softens the threat of Russia's huge sub fleet. But its effective use still depends upon all of the complex elements of anti-submarine warfare being in action.

Navy ASW experts, explaining Thomas' claims, point out that the first task is to locate the enemy sub. This is the mission of the hunter-killer group, composed of one or more aircraft carriers, four to eight destroyers, sea-planes, helicopters, blimps and submarines.

In war, hunter-killer groups will prowl areas most likely to be populated by enemy subs. During the recent invasion of Egypt, for example, a U.S. hunter-killer group rushed to the Mediterranean to prevent possible action by Russian subs.

Short of the atomic depth charge itself, improvement in sonar has been the biggest ASW improvement. Sonar detects objects in water by bouncing sound waves off of them, as radar bounces radio waves.

The destroyers and aircraft carriers all have elaborate sonar gear. Planes from the carriers drop "sonobuoys" which radio sonar messages back to the planes. The helicopters roam on a large arc around the hunter-killer group using "dunking sonar." While hovering they lower a cable with sonar gear into the water.

During World War II sonar only had an effective range of from 1,000 to 2,000 yards. Today it has considerably greater range and is far more precise in reporting the nature of the object it detects.

"Magnetic anomaly detection" gear locates a sub by noting changes which it makes in the earth's normal magnetic field. MAD gear hasn't the range of sonar but has other advantages. ASW planes also use radar to detect surfaced subs or the snorkel breathing devices which are found on most Russian subs.

When an enemy sub is finally located the group drops its hunter role and becomes the killer. For this part of the mission the group also has a versatile array of weapons, with the new atomic depth charge as the ace in the hole.

"Hedgheg" is one of them. Details of it are secret but it's a device which fires clusters of explosives over an area. Any one of the explosives can blow a hole in the skin of a sub upon impact.

"Weapon alpha" is a rocket-propelled depth charge. It's possible for weapon alpha to employ the nuclear charge.

A prime sub-killer is still the long-range torpedo. This is the most likely means of delivering an atomic underwater blast to crush enemy subs. They can be fired from aircraft, destroyers, carriers and other subs.

The submarine itself has been developed as a prime anti-sub weapon and plays an important part in the missions of the hunter-killer group.

It is the goal of a commander of a hunter-killer group to pinpoint the position of his target so that conventional explosives will destroy it.

Fixing his prey only in a general area, he uses his nuclear depth charge for the final kill.

Details of this atomic weapon's underwater range of destruction are secret. But it is of a magnitude never dreamed possible during World War II. It's as though the whole load of a large World War II ammo convoy would have been crammed into one depth charge to be used against a Jap or German sub.

That's why Thomas calls it revolutionary.

DEBT FULFILLED
GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (UP)—It took more than 40 years but the defunct Czarist government of Russia has fulfilled its obligation to Grand Rapids. City Treasurer Simon J. The U.S. government is paying bond holders with assets of the Czarist government that were frozen when the Communist revolution began.

Another Two May-December Hollywood Marriages Fail

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press Hollywood Writer
HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Another two May-December Hollywood marriages failed this month—leaving only two movieland unions of mature women to younger men that have survived.

This week Bette Davis, 49, filed a separate maintenance suit that appears to be the first step to dissolve her seven-year marriage to an actor 10 years her junior, Gary Merrill.

Sweetheart" celebrate 20 years of marriage this month—despite the fact he was 11 years younger than the famous star when they were married.

"They gave our marriage six months," Rogers declared.

"I can't put my finger exactly on why it's been a success—it just goes on. We work together, perhaps that's a reason. We get along well."

And the age differences? "It never has mattered," he said emphatically.

Norma Shearer was 36 and Arrouge, her skiing instructor, 28, when they were married in 1942. He slipped on her finger the same ring that her first spouse, the late producer Irving Thalberg, gave her in 1928. They are "very happy" in their marriage, their friends say.

Earlier, Ginger Rogers, who's 46 but looks 36, asked for a divorce from handsome, fast-rising actor Jacques Bergerac, 29, a hotel clerk and law student when she met him on a vacation in France.

Down the years mature film queens have tried to find happiness—or re-capture their youth—with men many years younger. But so far only two such marriages have lasted—Mary Pickford to Buddy Rogers, and Norma Shearer to Marty Arrouge.

Both wealthy ladies retired from the screen; both couples live apart from the giddy whirl of the movie colony.

I asked Rogers why he thought he and the onetime "America's

Jacoby On Bridge

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service
South liked his hundred honors and his nice, comfortable hand. He had 30 on score and was going to score game, rubber and the honors.

The opening lead of the ten of hearts and his first sight of dummy did not disturb him. He could stand some bad breaks.

He won the opening lead and led a second high trump. East showed out and South realized that he was down. In an effort to save something from the wreckage he tried the club finesse. That lost and a diamond came back. Eventually South lost three trump tricks, one spade, two diamonds and a club and was down three for a loss of 300 points less a hundred-point credit for his honors.

South certainly was unlucky, but as is frequently the case, poor South had succeeded in manufacturing his own bad luck.

South did hold the four top hearts. He bid the suit twice and his partner bid two other suits. South had four good spades and when North bid spades South should have raised him to three spades and given up his hundred honors.

North would have played the hand at three spades. A diamond opening and 1 club return would have given him a little trouble but he should make the hand.

He would have to win the club lead with the ace and start right after trumps. That way he would lose one club, two diamonds and a spade only.

If he tried the club finesse or started after the hearts early he would wind up in the soup, but not as deep in the soup as South did.

MATURE PARENT

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
After Charles' father died, his mother grieved and grieved.

As shock subsided, her resentment at death's arbitrary removal of her husband became resentment of all coercion. So she feared to put any on Charles.

If he wanted to delay bedtime, she let him. If he preferred playing to homework, she allowed it. If he wanted to change a college course in the middle of a term, she approved that.

But Charles, instead of appreciating this freedom, began to resent her for giving it to him. In school, when he was too tired to understand what his teacher was saying, he'd think, "Why didn't she make me go to bed on time last night?" When neglected homework ended in humiliating failure to get promoted, he blamed his mother for allowing the neglect.

Finally, when changing colleges lost him the degree he needed to get a job, anger at his mother made it almost impossible to be civil to her. For he'd seen that it had been selfishness, not love, which had left all control of impulse to a child who hadn't developed the strength to control it.

Now Charles has found a psychoanalyst who is helping him control the impulses that have been swirling him around like a weather-vane.

The psychoanalyst is a woman. Because a mother is a woman, she does not have to deny her child experience of discipline.

Though discipline is traditionally a father's job, a mother's appreciation of its value to children is womanly, not masculine.

Divorced and widowed mothers must hold on to this truth good and tight.

For the child guidance people have begun to issue warnings of the terrible maladjustments that are bound to afflict children who have no physical father around to create a "male image" for them.

These warnings carry the frightening suggestion that mothers can't exert fatherly discipline without losing their womanliness.

So lonely mothers must resist this untruth and remember that their exertion of discipline is really their womanly appreciation of fatherhood's importance to their fatherless children. Otherwise, they can become awfully scared.

'Carousel' Party Entertains Guests

"Carousel" was the theme of the second Kit Kat Klub's rush party given Thursday evening in the home of Miss Kay Baker, 2216 Charles. The carnival theme predominated in the back-yard decorations.

Rushees were greeted at the door by Miss Sheridan Sikes, Linda Bullard and Raina Storms and were given a name-tag shaped as a cotton candy-cane. They were escorted to the back-yard, where three booths decorated in red and white with striped red and white awnings served cotton candy, punch and pop corn balls, and candied apples.

After refreshments, a program consisting of a tap routine by Misses Pam Parker and Karen Hoover was given; these girls with Misses Jane Wells and Debbie Parker gave an acrobatic routine. Miss D'Anne Prince, vice president, outlined the club's functions to the rushees.

After introductions of members, sponsors, and ex-members, all of the girls went to Caldwell's Kid, die Land and rode the rides to carry out the carnival theme.

A business meeting was held following the festivities. A dance, which will be held June 15 at the Hobart Street Slab was discussed. Plans for the next rush party, which will have "South Pacific" as its theme, were made. The party will be held in the home of Miss Rhona Finkelstein.

The next regular meeting for the club will be in the home of Miss Prince, 628 N. Wells, on June 18th.

Engagement, Nuptial Plans Announced

(Special to The News)
McLEAN — Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Smith announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Vergie to H. V. Ballard, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Ballard of Poolville.

Mr. Ballard has recently moved here from Pampa and is employed by the Bell Telephone Co.

The wedding date has been set for July 6. The ceremony will be read in the Pentecostal Holiness Church at 8 p.m.

Friends of the couple are invited to attend.

RUTH MILLET

One of the housewife's biggest needs is to know how and when to say "No" and to have the gumption to go ahead and say it.

A friend recently told me, "I've got myself into more jobs than I can handle for the coming year simply because I don't have the courage to say 'No' when I should."

Most housewives suffer from the same lack of starch in the spine when it comes to saying "No" to demands on their time and energy.

Working women feel no compunction about turning down a job or an office on the grounds that they simply do not have time for it.

Yet housewives, many of whom work longer hours than a business woman, feel they can't plead "Just too busy."

Everyone seems to assume that a housewife can always find time for one more job and the energy to take on one more responsibility.

Because her time is supposed to be her own, she is made to feel selfish if she doesn't give unstintingly of it to every demand that comes her way.

So she weakens and says "Well, all right" when she should say "No" and stick to it.

Before long she is running around in circles, scurrying from meeting to meeting, job to job.

For spreading herself so thin she gets little thanks and few rewards. She is so busy doing what is "expected" of her she doesn't have time to do the things she would really like to do.

And all because she doesn't have the gumption to say "No" when she wants to.

Dennis Stillwell, Roy Sewell, Earl Casey, Ed Rallsback, O. A. Davis, Guy Andia, and W. S. Kiser, Mrs. Louise Sewell was welcomed as a visitor.

French Designers Aim Their Creations This Fall For The Budget Shopper

By GAY PAULEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—Two French designers, whose creations usually are extravagant in price, this fall for the first time will aim some of their designs for the budget shopper.

The two are Gabrielle (Coco) Chanel, who was tops in her field in the 1920s and '30s and in the last two years has made a spectacular comeback, and Christian Dior, who began in the 1940's and never went away.

Chanel's first ready-to-wear group will be reproduced by Sacony. Dior has turned to the junior field for the first time, in a collection of suits, and daytime and after-five dresses for David Crystal. Both designers for the first time are using their labels in the mass production market.

Four Coordinated Costumes
Chanel, whose casual "look" affects most fall collections on Seventh Avenue, made four coordinated costumes for exact reproduction here.

Sacony said all give an advance look at what the designer plans for her fall collection in Paris. Included are two suits—one with hip length jacket and four patch pockets, the other with cropped jacket banded at the waistline and featuring a stand-away collar. Both jackets, dresses and separates fit the body snugly in front but fall loosely at the back to give a long-waisted look.

The designer's love of warm, rich tones shows in the four colors she used for the group—Mexican pink, brown, red, raspberry and deep peach. Chanel made the group in wool, silk chiffon and crepe. But they will be reproduced in celanese yarn fabrics. Price range: around $11 for the blouses on up to $65 for suits.

Took Two Years
Crystal said it took two years of talks before Dior decided to enter the junior field. Now he will make three groups—summer, resort and spring, and fall.

Dior's collection is a direct opposite of Chanel's. It stresses the elegant, with rich colors and luxury fabrics. He builds in the shape with petticoats, and shows low cut necklines in the dressier clothes.

Most of the suits have short jackets, standing away from the figure rather than clinging. The price range is $75 to $125.

Manners Make Friends

No matter how courteous a man is to other women, he is marked down as lacking in the qualities of a gentleman if he is not courteous to his own wife. In fact, the easiest way for a man to become known as a gentleman is to treat his wife with courtesy, consideration, and gallantry.

Why don't more men understand that fine point?

Here's an idea for those who don't like to wear stockings in hot weather. Cut waxed paper size of shoe inner soles and insert in shoes. This simple gimmick keeps feet from sticking to the lining. Shoes also stay cleaner.

Storing similar kitchen items together has gone the way of the pot-bellied stove. Saving steps is the reason. Store at the sink those supplies and utensils which are used first with water. Items used first with heat belong near the range. Serving and measuring utensils should also be stored where they are used.

Red China Indicates Independence Shift

Foreign News Commentary
By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent
MAO Tse-tung, the Red Chinese leader, is establishing himself as the No. 1 spokesman on Communist doctrine.

In doing so, Mao is making himself increasingly popular with those who favor the independent Communism which President Tito has established in Yugoslavia and which Red Leader Wladyslaw Gomulka has been able to establish to a lesser extent in Poland. Consequently, Mao is making himself increasingly unpopular in Soviet Russia, which realizes that independent Communism is a threat to its own long-dominant position as the fountainhead of Marxian wisdom.

Mao's latest exposition of his views was broadcast Tuesday by the Peiping Radio—17,000 words of it.

The exposition was given in a speech which Mao made in Peiping on Feb. 27. Nothing was known about it abroad for two months.

One of Mao's chief points was that after more than seven years of Communist rule in China, there are still contradictions between the people and the government.

Everybody in both the Communist and the free worlds has known this all along, of course, and has known that the contradictions exist not only in China but in all Red-ruled countries.

But Mao's admission of this obvious fact has caused a big sensation in Communist countries whose governments do not dare admit that anybody but an evil-minded "diversionist" or "counter-revolutionary" ever disagrees with the party line.

Mao made his speech at a secret meeting of a "supreme state conference."

Parts of it started to leak out in Poland at the end of April after Polish Premier Josef Cyrankiewicz visited Peiping. Polish newspaper correspondents who accompanied Cyrankiewicz published parts of the speech in Warsaw newspapers.

The speech was important to Polish Communists because Mao gave strong encouragement to the desire of people in Red-ruled countries for some measure of independent thought and action. Mao also indirectly repeated his previous criticisms of Russia's brutal suppression of the Hungarian revolt.

It has long been known that Mao and his premier, Cou En-lai, openly supported the Polish revolt against Soviet domination and probably were responsible for its success.

Solon Balks On Foreign Aid Vote

WASHINGTON, June 19 (UPI)—Rep. Ed Edmondson (D-Okla.) told the House today he would not vote for "one more cent" of foreign aid until the government acts to care for flood victims in Oklahoma, Texas, Kansas, Arkansas and Louisiana.

"The rains and the floods are still continuing," he said.

Edmondson said that he did not mean his statement as "a threat."

He said in a House speech that his state is in "an unparalleled emergency" because of the floods and that in the five states damage exceeded 250 million dollars.

Edmondson said the government had generously found "billions of dollars" to build projects in other countries, but was "reluctant" to spend much smaller amounts on American flood victims.

"I think a lot of it is because the patients insist and there may not be an awareness on the part of some physicians that too much of this taking the edge off life isn't good," he said.

"Tension is a good thing, as well as anxiety, within limits," Dr. Felix said. "Anxiety within normal limits is an essential part of normal personality development."

Most people feel tension, loss of appetite, "butterflies" in the stomach and clammy hands when they have to make a speech or deal with a crisis in their lives, Felix said.

"This is part of nature's way of preparing you for combat or for contest, or for a stress situation," he said. "Tranquilizers, he added, 'are really defeating the mechanism that nature has provided for the normal person to meet periods of peak performance.'"

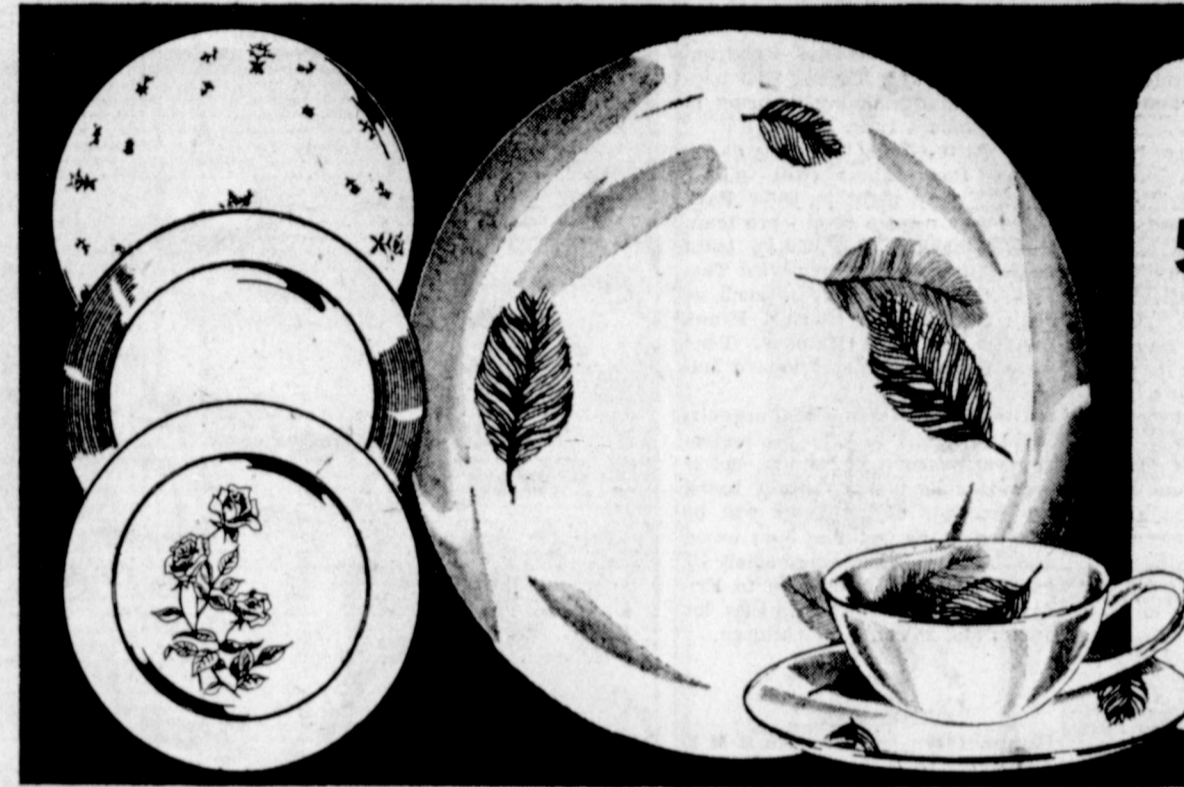

BAD CASE OF MEASLES—It's not the boys, but the house that appears to be suffering from a severe case of measles. Unique "poka dot" effect was achieved by Ray Frey, of Winston-Salem, N.C., who painted every nail head in his frame house gray as a rust stopper before giving the home a new coat of paint. Admiring Daddy's handiwork are Mrs. Frey, and the couple's three boys, Terry, 7, left; Ronnie, 10, center, and David, 4.

Hoak Boosts Reds To 4-3 Edge Over Brooklyn

Sox Down Orioles, 3-1; Yankees Crush Tigers

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer

The Brooklyn Dodgers can't figure Don Hoak. They gave him his first chance in the big leagues, cut him in for a full World Series share in 1955 when he was with them and did everything they could to make him happy. And now, look at the thanks they're getting.

He blasted a two-run homer Wednesday night that beat the Dodgers, 4-3, and snapped a four-game Cincinnati losing streak.

Only 11 days ago, Hoak belted a two-run homer off Don Drysdale to defeat the Dodgers, 3-1, in the opener of a double-header and then he clouted another home run off Ed Roebuck to help the Redlegs take the nightcap, 5-0.

On May 8 he came up with a three-run circuit blow off Don Newcombe to give Cincinnati a 7-4 triumph.

The Dodgers are hoping he gets lost somewhere.

Hoak's homer Wednesday night came in the seventh inning on the heels of a pinch two-run homer by Bob Thurman. That four-run rally spelled the seventh victory of the season for Tom Acker, Clem Labine was the loser.

Cards Sweep Two

The St. Louis Cardinals climbed to within a half-game of the pace-setting Braves by sweeping a two-night double-header from Pittsburgh, 5-2 and 5-1, while Milwaukee blanked the Giants, 6-0, and the Cubs beat the Phillies twice, 9-0 and 4-3.

In the American League, the White Sox stayed 2½ games in front with a 3-1 decision over the Orioles; the Yankees crushed the Tigers, 10-2; Kansas City clipped Washington, 6-3, and Boston beat Cleveland, 6-0.

Sam Jones and Lindy McDaniel registered the Cardinals' pair of victories over the Pirates. Jones struck out 10 and pitched a seven-inning shutout which was decided in the seventh inning when Joe Cunningham's pinch two-run homer highlighted a three-run rally that snapped a 2-2 tie.

The Cards got to Bob Purkey for three runs in the final inning of the nightcap, driving in three of the Cubs' four runs. Moose Drabowski was the winner, with help from Turk Lown.

New Pampa Roadrunners Defeat Perryton, 9-6

Pampa's newly organized semi-pro team, the Roadrunners, won their first game last night in Perryton when they defeated the Pioneers 9-6.

The Roadrunners were trailing 6-4 in the eighth inning, but staged a ninth-inning rally to bring across their final five runs to win the game. The last runs came in through the hits of Jimmy Wauer, Newt Secrest, Jerald Clark and Larry Larsen.

Pitching for Pampa was Cecil Reynolds, who turned in a good game with 11 strike outs, allowing 9 hits and only 2 bases on balls.

Charged with the loss for Perryton is Savage, who struck out 10, allowed 10 hits and also allowed only 2 bases on balls.

Power hitter for the Roadrunners was Travis Taylor, who tripled in the fifth inning to bring in 2 of Pampa's runs.

Next Game Is Friday

The Roadrunners will play again Friday night in Oiler Park when they meet a semi-pro team from Amarillo. The visiting team has on its roster former West Texas-New Mexico players such as John Brusca, Jim Clarich, Frank Benatis and Bob Ramsey. The team is managed by Leonard Davis.

The Pampa team was organized in an effort to keep professional level baseball in Pampa, but is organized on a non-profit basis. All proceeds of the game will be donated to the Optimist boys work, and the team is sponsored solely by gate admission. Admission to Friday night's game is 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children.

Joe Brown Confident

By GENE MEAKINS
United Press Sports Writer

DENVER, Colo. (UP)—Lightweight champion Joe Brown, radiating confidence after Wednesday night's marathon technical knockout of Cuban challenger Orlando Zulueta, said today he would fight highly-regarded Kenny Lane within 90 days if the National Boxing Association wanted him to.

Brown, starting slowly, rallied powerfully in the final three rounds at Denver Coliseum to smash Zulueta helpless with 21 seconds remaining in the 15th round.

Lou Viscusi, Brown's manager, said the champ would take about a month's rest and then fight some overweight matches. He said he had offers to take Brown to Milwaukee and Houston.

Viscusi said Brown would meet Lane within 90 days and abide by any other requests from the National Boxing Association.

Crowd Looked For Upset

The 28-year-old Zulueta, made a good, smart fight of it until the 11th and was ahead on judge Joe Illmer's card, to the delight of the small crowd of 5,000 who sensed an upset.

But in the 13th round the cham-

Wildness Costs Orioles

The White Sox took advantage of Art Ceccarelli's wildness to score two runs in the second inning, all they needed, on a pair of walks and run-producing singles by Jim Rivera and Bubba Phillips. Bob Keegan, making his first start since May 31, was the winner although Jack Harshman mopped up.

Gi J McDougald and Yogi Berra each hit homers in the Yankees' 11-hit attack against the Tigers. The Yankees clicked off their sixth straight victory behind Tom Sturdivant's eight-hit pitching and at the expense of Duke Maas. Frank House also homered.

The Athletics came up with three runs in the ninth off Russ Kemmerer for their victory over Washington. Reliever Virgil Trucks drove in the tie-breaking run with a single and Billy Martin then followed with his second homer for the A's since coming from the Yankees last Saturday. Jim Lemon and Hal Smith also homered.

Brown knocked Zulueta to the floor again with a right for a count of eight in the 15th. Referee Ray Keech called the bout at 2:39, with much booring from the crowd.

But the scorecards of the two judges and the referee showed the 2-1 favored champion ahead on points after 14 rounds.

Possible Feud With Weiss May End Casey As Manager

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UP)—The band will play on, but this could be the year when Casey goes out with the strawberry blonde.

The New York Yankees deny that there is a feud between George Weiss and Casey Stengel. But the once congenial atmosphere is tense and electric and old Casey is a proud man.

And Edna, Casey's strawberry blonde, has been after him to step down as a manager for several years now.

But it has become all too obvious that Weiss, the portly general manager, is the master of the marionettes.

There may have been some question, until recently, as to whether Casey helped pick his ball players. The general impression was that he did. This illusion, plus his managerial success afield, was enough to inflate and feed the long-hungry Stengel ego.

But when the Yankees swapped off Billy Martin to Kansas City in a four-for-three deal the window dressing was ripped aside.

Martin was Casey's "boy." Stengel had him at Oakland and brought him up to the Yankees. He had a vast, unbecoming admiration for the scrappy infielder and, having been a gay blade himself in the old days, could chuckle behind a gnarled hand at Broadway Billy's antics.

Coe, Everett Lead Trans-Miss Tournney

United Press Sports Writer

DALLAS (UP)—Ken Everett, a 33-year-old physical education teacher in a Denver elementary school, shared the spotlight with defending champion Charlie Coe and title contender Rex Baxter Jr. today as the Trans-Mississippi hit the second round.

Coe and Baxter are well-known in national, and international golf circles and they came through an expected Wednesday as the first round of match play cut the field from 64 to 32 in the championship flight.

But the quiet Colorado school teacher, playing in his first Trans-Miss tourney — and that by invitation only since he is normally a public links player, wasn't supposed to win against a formidable foe, Jimmy Powell, a lean Dallas youngster who was a kingpin of the talented North Texas State golf team.

Strong Rally

And, it didn't look as if he would win, Everett was five down at the turn, and still four down with four holes to play, when his game caught fire and Powell fell apart. Everett won the final four holes with two pars and two birdies, then promptly sent the highly-favored Lowell to the sidelines with a birdie on the first extra hole.

Coe and Everett were among the so-called "old guard" who moved into today's second round along with more than a dozen col-

The Final Payment

The recent fistic floor show at the Copacabana would have been shrugged off by Stengel. But it was the final payment on a ticket west for Martin as far as Weiss was concerned. "Uncle George" long has considered Martin a bad influence on Mickey Mantle, once ordering them to steer clear of the downtown lights.

So when Martin was labeled as one of the instigators in the Copacabana, Weiss took matters into his own hands — as usual.

Stengel didn't have much to say about the trade. But he indicated it wasn't his handiwork, nor that it had his approval.

Pony League Play

The First National Bank team defeated the Pampa Glass & Paint team yesterday afternoon by the score of 15 to 7. Batteries for First National were Mike Clark & Bill Langley and for the Pampa Glass & Paint team were Jim Scott, G. Duke & D. Garren. Clark was the winning pitcher with Scott being tabbed for the loss. The score by innings:
First National 102 30 2 1 0
Pampa G & Paint 141 0 0 1 0

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)

Raul Macias of Mexico and Donnie Uraua of the Philippines have completed their training for Saturday's 15-round NBA bantamweight championship bout. Both went through their final paces Tuesday and have been pronounced in top physical condition.

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Richard A. Jamieson, a star sophomore catcher at Bradley University, has been signed by the Pittsburgh Pirates for their Columbus, Ohio, farm club in the International League. Columbus has optioned him to Beaumont, Tex., in the Texas League.

ONCE OVER HEAVILY—The Giants' Willie Mays landed on his ear when he ducked a wild pitch thrown by Braves' pitcher Ernie Johnson during the New York-Milwaukee game at the Polo Grounds. The pitch still counted for a strike, despite Willie's gymnastics, as the ball tipped his bat for a foul strike. The catcher is Milwaukee's Del Crandall.

FAIR WARNING—Glenda Lamb, of Rutland, Vt., got all dressed up for some angling, but now she's not sure it's worth the effort. A property owner in Danby had posted a sign that warned anyone who cut his fence to do a little trespassing. It supposedly marks the resting place of the last fisherman who tried it.

BEACH PEACH—An orange and black print gives cover from head to hip atop a black wool jersey bathing suit. The Oriental-style wrap was designed by scholarship student Irene Tsukamoto, of Tokyo, Japan, and won a prize.

REALLY ROUGH—Spectators are shouting encouragement to their favorites as the bicyclists pedal furiously up a hill in Genoa during the 40th Tour of Italy cycling race. With the sun beaming down and the loveliness of the Italian Riviera providing a pretty background, this lap of the race was a breeze. Cyclists from seven nations were competing.

BAD LUCK—Lee Richardson, left, of Pepperrell, Mass., looks back as another rider passes him in a watery stretch of a rugged mud race near Bedford, N. H. Water and mud conquered all the machines in the race, but the driver of the last one to conk out was declared winner.

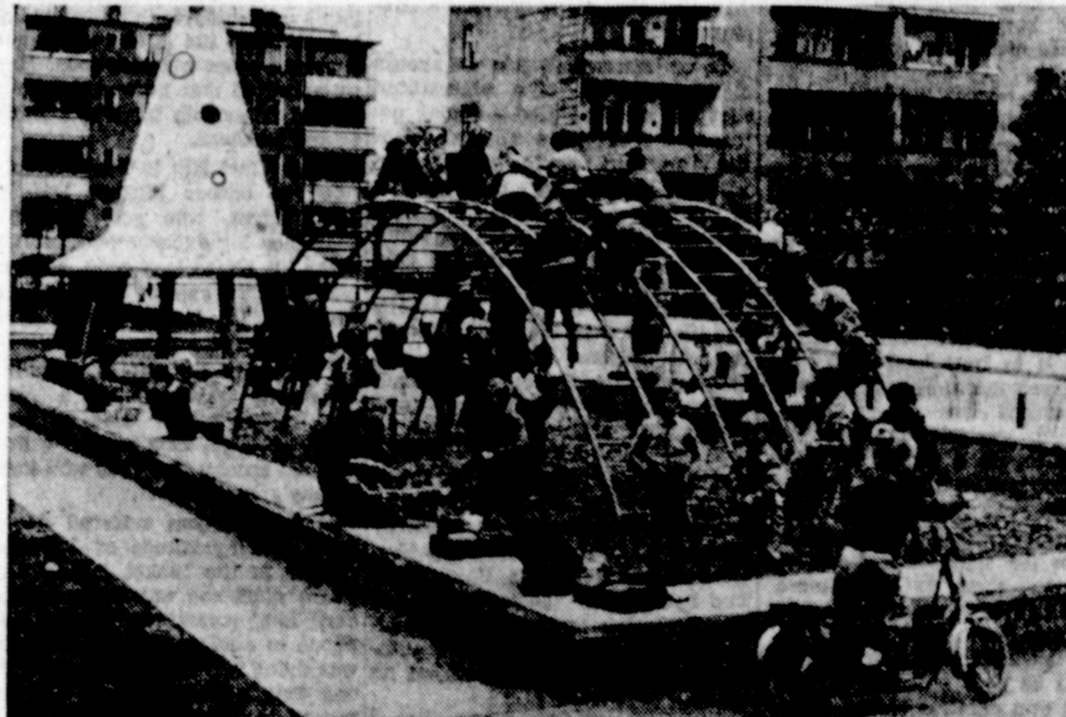

VERSATILE—One of the most prolific scorers in college lacrosse, All-America candidate Bill Hess now owns every Penn State scoring record. His season total of 49 bested his high of 41 goals last year.

JUMP BALL—Dancing on air, Willie Fernie, left, of the famed Glasgow Celtics soccer team, bangs the ball with his head as team captain Bertie Peacock tries to avoid a collision. They were practicing in San Francisco's Golden Gate Park for a meeting with a local all-star team during their current tour of this country.

LOST IN WONDER—Cincinnati Redlegs manager Birdie Tebbets sits and watches, left, and then scratches his head as his once league-leading team loses game and the lead to the Brooklyn Dodgers in Brooklyn. An Ebbets Field gatekeeper behind Birdie takes it all in with obvious unconcern as Tebbets becomes more miserable. Cincinnati took a 9-2 defeat.

JUST FOR TOTS—Some youngsters in the U.S. sector of Berlin have a playground which features modernistic monkey bars. The steel climbing network commemorates the famous Berlin airlift so well remembered by young and old alike in the former German capital.

GUIDED MUSCLES—With his fair lady lending encouragement and holding a trophy before his eyes, a young Hercules is striving to fulfill her expectations via some mighty muscle movement in Daytona Beach, Fla. His incentive was undoubtedly the fact that the National AAU Weightlifting Championships and Mr. America contest are to be held there.

TWO UP—Bing Crosby, who's been named "Fishing Father of the Year" by a sports magazine, is an ardent dry-fly fisherman. Crosby has fished all over North America and he's shown with two of his catches. The singer spends a lot of his spare time on his ranch in Oregon.

IDEAS OF THEIR OWN

TRYING THEM OUT—Jan Welles, a singer from Pittsburgh, Pa., is using the patio of her home in Forest Hills, N.Y., to polish her skill as a bullfighter, left. Jan has trained her collie to react to the cape like a bull because she places some meat on the stick. She has two Mexican bulls to her credit and is preparing for another fight in Juarez. At Daytona Beach, Fla., Alfred M. Droz, Jr., of Denton, Tex., is showing off the 250-pound turtle he bagged with a six-shooter, right. Droz was at the resort with his wife and claims that landing the turtle was easier than roping a steer.

Only Half As Many Polio Cases This Year As In 1955 Or 1956

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—Health authorities say there is every reason to hope that this will be a light year for polio. But it is still too early to be sure.
The polio season is just now getting underway. The number of cases usually climbs steadily from late June until August or September.

published last week showed 1,038 polio cases reported through the 22 weeks ending June 8, compared with 2,049 during the same period last year.
A spokesman said the figures "are not very significant" this early in the season. Some of the worst epidemics have begun in July or August after a comparatively slow start.
65,000,000 Vaccinated
The main reason for hoping that this year's record will continue to be good, he said, is that nearly three-fourths of the people in the most susceptible group have received some degree of protection from Salk vaccine.

By June 1, 65,000,000 Americans had received one or more Salk shots. Nine million of these were vaccinated during April and May.
Polio strikes hardest among youths under 20 and among pregnant women. There are 67,000,000 people in this group, and 54,000,000 of them have had one or more shots.
Although polio incidence declines above age 20, it continues to be a substantial threat to all ages below 40. Only 11,000,000 of the 42,000,000 Americans (other than pregnant women; between the ages of 20 and 40 have received shots.
Health Drive Successful
The American Medical Assn. and other health groups launched a nationwide drive last February to vaccinate everyone under 40. The response far exceeded expectations.
Within a few weeks, the "get vaccinated" campaign had stimulated such a heavy demand for vaccine that a backlog of 26,000,000 shots, built up during the winter, was exhausted.
By March 30, there was an acute nationwide shortage, and Surgeon General LeRoy H. Burney called an emergency conference to consider rationing. At that time, the national inventory of Salk shots stood at 3,200,000 doses—the lowest since the vaccine was released for use in 1955.

The March 30 conference decided to soft-pedal mass vaccination programs for adults until fall. In the meantime, communities were urged to give priority to young people under 20 and pregnant women. With these adjustments, it was felt that no return to voluntary rationing was necessary.
Decision Vindicated
Time seems to have vindicated this decision. Despite widespread vaccination programs for school children during the past two months, supplies have held up well. By mid-June, the national inventory was 9,200,000 shots, an increase of six million since March 30.
With manufacturers scheduled to release about 20 million more shots during July, health officials believe that supplies will be ample to meet all demands during the summer—unless an unexpectedly severe epidemic should develop.
The Public Health Service devoutly hopes that adults who have postponed getting their shots will go ahead with inoculations this fall and winter, when supplies again begin to pile up. The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and the American Medical Assn. plan to launch new adult vaccination drives then.
Until the great majority of adults, as well as young people, have the protection of the vaccine, polio will continue to be a threat.

Unwashed Actors No Longer Find Home In TV Playhouse

(TV-RADIO)
By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—TV actors have chocked the Marion Brando type (Symptoms: T-shirt, beer, tiger-under-the-skin) for the Ivy League type (Symptoms: Natural shoulder suit, martini, Jaguar-in-the-garage).

there must have been quite a run on black sweaters and peroxide.
"But now, thank goodness, we seem to be getting back to just plain people again. Actors are dressing just like anybody else along Madison Avenue—you know, like any man who might go into Brooks Brothers.
"They're wearing suits now and they look quite neat and dignified when they come in. Instead of trying to ape some other person, there is quite a large group of kids trying to develop something within themselves.
"And me? Well, I think it's all kind of funny what happened. You see, I run home every night from work and still change into blue jeans myself."

And Marion Dougherty is glad. Miss Dougherty, 34, is casting director of NBC-TV's "Kraft Theatre," a position she has held for seven years. She's the gal who picks the actors and actresses for each Kraft drama and, as such, she crosses swords with hundreds of aspiring youngsters each year.
"We've entered a new era," proclaimed Miss Dougherty with evident enthusiasm. "The great unwashed fad seems to be dying. One actor actually apologized the other day when he came in wearing a pair of blue jeans."
Lasted Two Years
According to Miss Dougherty, a keen student of the curious ways of actors, the Marion Brando era lasted about two years.
"The boys came in wearing T-shirts—preferably open, if they had any hair on their chests—jeans, rumped hair and sneakers, usually with holes in them.
"They were muscular types and came in looking like Stanley Kowalski even when they were supposed to read for dignified parts. They usually mumbled.
"This was about the time when young actresses were imitating Geraldine Page. They were all hesitant, quiet and tried to copy the inflections of her speech."
For a while, too, said Miss Dougherty, there was a brief vogue for the Jimmy Dean type. But that has just about run its course, too.
"For a while there, everybody seemed to be whispering at me. I could barely hear anybody. And all of them were introverted and introspective and very sensitive—you know, characteristics they thought peculiar to Jimmy."

"GARDENER"—Pert Pat Matteson isn't really gardening from her perch on a Chicago building—and those aren't atomic age asparagus stalks, either. Pat, chosen "Miss Asparagus of 1957," kept watch on the 23-foot-high stalks at a banquet for the National Assn. of Retail Grocers given by the Asparagus Club. The gentleman on the sidewalk scratches his head in bewilderment.

MINIATURE MILLINERY—Jane Blank, a freshman at Our Lady of Cincinnati College, has a unique hobby. She makes miniature hats for hard-boiled eggs. It all began several Easters ago when Jane decided she had had enough of bareheaded hard-boiled eggs. As the hobby expanded so did the models—her eggs are now the large plastic ones used to trick unsuspecting hens. Each egg stands on a paper collar, trimmed with a neck bow or net to match the touches on the hat. It takes Jane about three hours to whip up one of her Dache-like creations.
