'Confidential' Defense Will Rest Case

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—The defense in the Confidential criminal trial today indicated it would rest its case within the next few days, suffering a setback in a final attempt to put a host of jittery movie stars on the witness stand.

Superior Judge Herbert V. Walker Monday rejected a final defense plea to allow more than 100 subpoenaed movie stars to testify whether lurid stories about them were "true or false." Walker ruled once again that only persons mentioned in a handful of Confidential stories read into the court record as evidence could be called as witnesses.

Defense Attorney Arthur J. Crowley as the trial resumed today denied the ruling hurt his case. However, Crowley said that Walker's action probably saved many stars from embarrassing moments on the witness stand.

The ruling is expected to result in a fast curtain on one of the most sensational trials in Hollywood history. Crowley said his final defense move would be to call "two or three" more surprise witnesses and then rest his case sometime this week.

Nearly four weeks of charges and counter-charges have begun to take their toll on the nerves of the principals. Fred Meade, a Hollywood research agent for Confidential, Monday uncocked a verbal blast at the prosecution.

"If the movie studios exercised their morality clauses, there wouldn't be any stars," Meade shouted from the witness stand.

Meade, a defendant along with his wife, Marjorie, lost his temper while being cross-examined by Deputy Dist. Atty. William L. Ritz. Meade claimed the magazine's stories could not have hurt such stars as Robert Mitchum, Maureen O'Hara, Corinne Calvet and Mae West. He maintained the celebrities involved brought on the articles by their improper conduct.

Syria's Neighbors Called On By US

By DONALD J. GONZALES
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—U.S. officials said today the United States hopes Syria's Arab neighbors will urge Syria to ease away from its pro-Soviet policies.

The most up-to-date official American view on the Syrian crisis was expected to be revealed by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. He called his first news conference since pro-Communist Syrian militarist leaders began tightening their hold on Syria's Soviet-equipped armed forces.

American officials doubt the United States alone can do anything to change the Syrian drift to the left. But experts hope that Jordan, Lebanon, Saudi Arabia, Iraq and possibly Egypt might have some influence with the Syrians.

Dispatches Trouble Shooter
Dulles dispatched his ace trouble shooter, Deputy Undersecretary of State Loy W. Henderson, to the Middle East last week end. Henderson at meetings in Turkey already has talked about the Syrian crisis with Turkish Premier Adnan Menderes, King Hussein of Jordan and King Feisal of Iraq.

State Department officials vigorously denied statements made in Syria and elsewhere that Henderson is trying to get some sort of armed action against Syria by members of the Baghdad Pact. They said Henderson's mission is to gather information from Syria's neighbors on how they view the Syrian problem.

Neighbors Upset
Syria's neighbors, Arab and non-Arab alike, are upset over the large number of Soviet arms and technicians pouring into Syria. The unusual activity has prompted fear the Syrians may eventually try aggression.

KING-SIZED CUCUMBER

Mrs. Bill Bertelsen, 1309 Hamilton, holds a 27 inch cucumber which grew in her back yard this summer. The "King-Sized Cuke" tops any reported in this area so far this year. Mrs. Bertelsen said the cucumber was a Quay and seeds for it came from California. But it had to be planted in Texas to grow that big. (News Photo)

Big Turnout In Wisconsin Primary Seen

By GEORGE ARMOUR
United Press Staff Correspondent
MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UP)—Party leaders expected a relatively heavy turnout of 800,000 Wisconsin voters today in a special election to name a successor to the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy.

A heavier vote probably would favor Republican nominee Walter J. Kohler in the race against Democrat William Proxmire since the state normally has more GOP voters.

Although the campaign was marked by apathy, party spokesmen said they observed a quickening of interest as the election approached and revised their voter estimates upward.

However, official state estimates still saw a top vote of 600,000 and said the total could be as low as the primary total of 460,000.

Three-Time Governor
Kohler, 53, a three-time governor, and Proxmire, 41, who lost to Kohler in two gubernatorial races, are the leading candidates in a field of five. Running independently are Howard Boyle, a "McCarthy Republican"; Mrs. Georgia Cozzini and Douglas Wheaton.

Boyle was given an outside chance of playing the role of "spoiler" for a second time.

He ran in the Republican Senate primary in 1956 as a backer of McCarthy and drew 18,900 votes. Boyle's total hurt the chances of former Rep. Glenn R. Davis, who lost to Sen. Alexander Wiley by 10,000 votes in that race.

Kohler, regarded as an Eisenhower Republican, and his supporters refused to recognize Boyle as a serious challenge, but look to criticize Boyle for entering the race.

The election stakes were high for both parties, nationally and in Wisconsin.

Disclosure Brings Doubts From America

By DOUG ANDERSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
Russia said today that it has beaten the world to the "absolute weapon" the intercontinental ballistic missile. U. S. sources were inclined to regard the Soviet claim as a bid for "victory through hot-air power."

The official Soviet agency Tass said in Moscow that a "super long distance intercontinental multi-stage ballistic rocket" launched somewhere in Russia recently reached an "unprecedented altitude," covered a "huge distance in a brief time" and "landed in the target area."

The results obtained show that it is possible to direct rockets into any part of the world, Tass said.

U. S. government experts said the United States came to this conclusion some time ago. The question is whether the Russians really have a weapon ready for production that can convert the possibility into reality.

Viewed As High Pressure
Western observers at the current arms talks in London regarded the Russian claim as an attempt to high-pressure other nations of the atomic "Big Five" into accepting Soviet proposals for disarmament.

U. S. senators shared the view that the Russian claim was intended primarily for propaganda purposes. Sen. Prescott Bush (R-Conn.) said the Tass report is "ridiculously vague... almost impossible to evaluate."

Sen. Harry M. Jackson (D-Wash.), of the Senate Armed Forces Committee said the claim appears to be "ballistic black-magic" along the line of Russia's recent threats to annihilate America's Allies with H-bombs in any new war.

"I don't think we can take this too lightly, but no doubt the Russians are going to use the announcement for propaganda purposes in the light of the situation in Syria," Jackson said.

Viewed As Same Line
"It is an attempt by the Russians to follow the same line they used before against Denmark, Norway and Britain. Now they are extending their sights and range a little to include other Allies and the United States itself."

In Miami Beach, Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) assailed the Eisenhower administration for "slowing down" its long-range missile program at a time when Russia may be forging ahead.

"Money is now being poured over national security," said Symington, who was Air Force secretary in the Truman administration. "I believe this is an inherent national tragedy because of life of the nation is at stake."

Even if taken at face value, the Tass statement is too indefinite to indicate the extent of the claimed Soviet achievement. Defense officials in Washington said "Money is now being poured over national security," said Symington, who was Air Force secretary in the Truman administration. "I believe this is an inherent national tragedy because of life of the nation is at stake."

Riding Club Practices For Performance

The Top of Texas Girls Riding Club held a practice session and business meeting last night, with 17 girls attending.

New members participated in the practice session and will ride with the club Saturday when they perform in Perryton. The new members were Jerry Hoty, Connie Koonitz, Linda Holt, Becky Walsh, Donna Walsh, Virginia Worrell and Grazia Louis.

The club will leave Saturday morning from the Pampa Rodeo Grounds at 8 a.m. and will ride in the parade at Perryton scheduled later in the morning. They will also present the grand entry at the rodeo and will perform their square dance on horseback.

After the practice session, the girls met at Pession's Drive-In, where a business meeting was held, with June Hopkins presiding. Linda Andis read the proposed by-laws to the group and they were approved by the charter members. Also approved was an application blank which members will fill out in applying for acceptance into the club.

Norene Urbanczyk and Verna Redwell were named to the club as honorary members. Directors attending were Russell Kennedy, Buck Hines, Mrs. Silar Hopkins and Mrs. Bob Andis.

Three Driving Cases Heard

Two cases of driving while intoxicated were processed in County Court yesterday afternoon and one this morning.

Fred Abel Hobart, Pampa, pleaded not guilty to the charge and made a $500 bond this morning. He was arrested by the Pampa police at 5:40 p.m. yesterday at the intersection of Decatur and Hobart streets.

Clifford Wayne Tillman of Wheeler pleaded guilty yesterday afternoon to the charge and was fined $125 and court costs plus a sentence of three days in jail.

He was picked up by the highway patrol on Aug. 3.

Merl D. Sanders, Pampa, also pleaded guilty to the charge. County Judge Bruce Parker levied a $100 fine and court costs on Sanders and sentenced him to three days in jail.

Sanders was arrested by the highway patrol last Sunday.

Asiatic Flu Strikes In Texas; 6 Cases

AUSTIN (UP)—Six laboratory confirmations of Asiatic flu in Texas were revealed today by a State Health Department spokesman.

There was no apparent geographical grouping in the cases reported thus far, he said.

Simultaneously, the State Health Department called "perfectly fair," a statement by a U.S. Public Health Service officer that there is "some evidence that a general increase in influenza" is occurring in parts of Texas.

The statement was made by Dr. C. C. Dauer, public health statistical director, at a special conference in Washington of health officers from all states and territories.

The two-day conference was called by Surgeon General Leroy E. Burney to prepare for a possible nationwide epidemic of Asiatic flu this fall or winter.

A State Health Department spokesman said influenza is not a "reportable disease" in Texas in the sense that county health do not list it in their regular weekly reports to the State Health Department — as they do polio.

However, the spokesman said "we have knowledge here of 781 cases, clinically diagnosed, of influenza reported during the week ending Aug. 24."

AFL-CIO Charges Hit Hoffa

WASHINGTON (UP)—The AFL-CIO's Ethical Practices Committee today filed a new set of charges against Teamsters Union Vice President James R. Hoffa.

The committee said the charges were based primarily on evidence against Hoffa uncovered by the Senate Rackets Committee. Hoffa testified four days before the committee last week.

The charges against Hoffa and other high Teamster officials previously named will be aired at a hearing late next week in Washington. The charges were not made public.

An AFL-CIO source said some allegations other than those made by Senate investigators are included in the committee's evidence against Hoffa, her apparent to the presidency of the nation's largest single union.

At a hearing May 6, Teamster President Dave Beck and Vice Presidents Frank Brewster and Sidney Brennan were named by the AFL-CIO as responsible for corruption in the union.

The union could face expulsion from the AFL-CIO if it fails to follow clean-up directives expected to be issued by the federation.

'Li'l Abner' Starts Running Feud With Comics Character

NEW YORK (UP)—A running feud was in full swing today between two of the nation's top comic strips.

"Li'l Abner" depicts a "black-hearted old nose job" named "Mary Worth" and the comic strip, "Mary Worth," includes a "fat-headed egomaniac" called "Hal Rapp."

So far, "Li'l Abner" has shown the "real life" Mary Worth as a noisy, milk-coated old battle-axe who is the mother-in-law of her creator, "Allen Flounder." As pictured by Al Capp, in the United Features comic strip, Flounder wants to get rid of her because she talks too much.

The creators of Mary Worth, Allen Saunders and Ken Ernst, have answered "Li'l Abner" in their own Publishers Syndicate comic strip.

Under guidance of the Saunders-

Open House Set At New School

The public is cordially invited to an informal Open House inspection of the newly completed Stephen F. Austin elementary school on Wednesday evening between the hours of 7:30 and 9 p.m., it has been announced by Knox Kinnard, city superintendent of schools.

New Campaign Opens To Clear Mystery

DALLAS (UP)—Sheriff Bill Decker and a Texas Ranger opened a new campaign to clear up the baffling, nine-year-old disappearance of Virginia Carpenter today after a lie detector test upon a central figure in the case showed "variations and reactions."

The central figure is Edgar Ray Zachary, 48, the last person to report seeing Miss Carpenter, 21, of Texarkana before she vanished from the campus of Texas Women's University in Denton. He was a taxi driver in Denton then.

Zachary claimed he took her from the railway station in Denton to the campus, where she exchanged greetings with two young men standing near a convertible. Zachary claimed he drove off then and never saw her again.

He was freed after a lie detector test then, but was arrested again about 10 days ago on a charging of raping another woman. He agreed to a lie detector test on the Carpenter case but not on the rape charge. He took the test Monday.

Decker would not say whether he passed or flunked the test, but he said it showed definite reactions and variations. He said the variations showed up after he was asked whether he had anything to do with Miss Carpenter's disappearance.

"He's in a better position to be questioned now because of the variations on the chart," Decker said.

US To See Russian Jets

WASHINGTON (UP)—Russia will show off to America next month two of its 500-mile-an-hour jet airliners.

U. S. officials admitted ruefully that the Soviets may realize some good publicity out of whisking the Russian delegation to the United Nations from Moscow to New York in the speedy planes. They will arrive at a time when the United States has hundreds of jet military craft — but no jet passenger planes in scheduled operations.

The flight to this country was authorized Monday by the State Department. It marked the first time Soviet passenger planes had been authorized to land in the U. S.

One of the TU104 jets will arrive between Sept. 3-7, and the other between Sept. 13-17.

Underpass Conference Held Here

Contractors on the Hobart Street underpass project met this morning with highway engineers to coordinate and outline a sequence of work on the project.

Discussion this morning seemed to indicate that work will begin very soon and possibly by Sept. 15. Ivan Dement, Amarillo contractor, Marshal Moors of the Austin Bridge Company and Murray Gray, a representative of Dement's company, met with G. K. Reading, senior resident engineer here of the Texas Highway Department.

Dement's company and the Austin Bridge Company are sharing construction work, with the Austin concrete work while Dement is responsible for paving, drainage, etc.

Murray Gray is to be superintendent of the project. The combined bid of Dement and the Austin Bridge Company was $1,124,412.57.

Civil Rights Passage Expected

By JAMES BAAR
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—Congress today threw a one-two punch at the major bills in the way of adjournment: Civil rights and foreign aid.

The House called up the new compromise civil rights bill for passage that was expected by mid-afternoon.

The Senate sought a final vote by tonight on the battered foreign aid appropriations bill — now restored to $3,025,860,000. That was $306,750,000 less than the amount called for by President Eisenhower.

At the same time, this was the status of other major bills with a chance for congressional action:

FBI Files. The House called up for debate its bill aimed at protecting the sanctity of the FBI files in criminal trials. The Senate Monday night passed another FBI files bill despite the FBI claim that the Senate bill doesn't go far enough.

Pay Raises: The Senate may act before the end of the week on two House-passed bills that would grant pay raises to 1 1/2 million postal and other federal workers. Republicans have predicted a presidential veto on both.

Postal Rates: The Senate also possibly may act on a House-passed administration bill boosting postal rates 500 million dollars a year but chances appeared slim.

Immigration: The House was expected to act on a Senate-passed bill that would ease refugee admissions under the Walter-McCarran Immigration Act. The bill does not affect the status of 28,000 Hungarian refugees admitted to the United States as parolees during the Hungarian revolt last fall.

Southerners thought they still might have a remaining weapon against the civil rights bill in the House — absenteeism caused by adjournment fever. It opened a possibility for delaying tactics.

But House leaders said the problem was licked. They put out a call for absentees to be present by this afternoon to speed the bill to the Senate.

The compromise bill would give the attorney general authority to use injunctions to protect voting rights. But it also would guarantee jury trials to persons charged with criminal contempt when judges seek to impose fines exceeding $300 or sentences of more than 45 days.

The Senate Appropriations Committee Monday restored $500,900,000 of the more than 800 million dollars slashed by the House from the foreign aid bill.

However, the administration's partial victory faced a possibly short life.

Congress 'Gets After' Bills Blocking Adjournment

Senate critics of the foreign aid program planned to try for at least one more slash at the bill as it moved through the Senate. And Rep. Otto E. Passman (D-La.), chairman of the House appropriations subcommittee that originally cut it, predicted the House would never go along with the half-billion increase.

Other congressional news:

TVA: Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla.) forecast that Arnold R. Jones-Eisenhower's nominee as director of the Tennessee Valley Authority—had a "50-50 chance, at best" of winning Senate confirmation. Democratic opposition continued to increase.

Public Works: The President signed reluctantly the $88,994,323 public works bill. The bill carried more than 18 million dollars less than he requested. But he complained it included many unbudgeted items that would drive up the cost in future years.

Oil: The Senate anti-trust subcommittee said the President may have approved an illegal plan to restrict oil imports by voluntary agreement during the Suez Canal crisis last year. The subcommittee majority said the oil lift organized to supply Europe during the crisis should have been handled by the government—not private companies.

Unknown Soldier To Be Given Medal Of Honor
WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate has passed and sent to the White House legislation authorizing the President to give the Congressional Medal of Honor to the "Unknown Soldier" of the Korean conflict. The unknown GI will be buried in Arlington National Cemetery under terms of a bill passed last year.

If it comes from a Hardware Store, we have it. Lewis Hdw., (Adv.)

Series On Jets Starts Tomorrow
EDITOR'S NOTE: On May 16, 1957, a graceful airplane with the streamlined body of a flying fish whistled off a British field with a howitzer voice that announced the era of jet passenger travel.

In the five years since there has been fought at the drawing boards, on the production lines and in the sales offices an international battle for the lead in putting jet and turbo-prop airplanes into regular service. Today the race is coming into the stretch.

United Press reporter Glean Stackhouse has inked with the top jet plane builders on the West Coast, gathered further information from U.P. bureaus in London, Paris and Moscow. His four dispatches on jet and supersonic travel will appear in this paper beginning Tuesday.

VIENNA (UP)—A Vienna newspaper reported that 1,500 Polish tourists have asked Austrian authorities for political asylum in the last few months.

Texas' First Toll Road Opens Today

DALLAS (UP)—Texas' first toll road opened today between Dallas and Fort Worth and business was good during the first few minutes.

The first two cars to enter the toll road from the Dallas end were driven by teenagers who had been parked at the gates since 1 a.m. in order to be first. One was driven by Dwayne Burson, 18, of Grand Prairie, and the other, a 1926 model car, by James Toier, 16, of Dallas.

The first fee was paid by B.J. Eddington, a Dallas city employee who entered the toll road at Grand Prairie. Tickets are given to drivers upon entering the road and the fee is paid upon leaving the road.

After the first rush at 6 a.m., when the road opened, cars were not lined up at the Dallas entrance but were reported going through rapidly. About 20 cars were waiting to use the road at 6 a.m.

Officials say cars can make the distance between Dallas and Fort Worth in 33 minutes, observing all speed limits.

Commission Accepts Bid On Wells

H. H. Heskell's bid of $28,500 for drilling two water wells, was accepted by the City Commission in its weekly meeting this morning.

Two other bids were offered. Heskell based his bid on a depth of 475 feet.

Director of Public Works Jiggs Cook was asked by the commissioners to look into getting a sewer line built to the Optimist Club's new recreational building for boys. He is to study the situation and then make recommendations to the commission. The building is to be located at Barnes and Craven.

Johnny Campbell, Optimist president, said this morning he thought the commissioners were "very receptive" to the project.

A paving estimated of $14,358.58 was given by Ray Boswell, local contractor, on the seal coating of several Pampa streets.

A time was set for a public hearing on the 1958 Pampa budget. It is to be held at 10 a.m. Sept. 17 in the city commission room in City Hall.

Automobile Inspection Time Here

Inspection time has rolled around again for more than four million automobile and truck owners in Texas.

The inspection period has been lengthened this year under a provision of a state law setting Sept. 1, 1957 until April 15, 1958, as the time in which all vehicles must be checked for mechanical defects.

Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, in announcing the opening of the inspection period, recommended that every owner have his cars and trucks inspected at the beginning of the period. This, he said, will enable vehicle owners to obtain inspection stickers before the holidays and before the last minute "log jam" at inspection stations.

Garrison said that more than 4,200 licensed inspection stations in the state would have stickers on hand by the starting date and would be equipped to check vehicles without delay.

This Week Is Critical For Texas Drivers

Texas motorists will face a critical period in driving this week as thousands of persons take to the highways for trips on the Labor Day weekend.

The Texas Department of Public Safety predicts that 33 persons will die in traffic accidents in Texas during the 72-hour period extending from 12:01 a.m. Aug. 31 through 11:59 p.m. Sept. 2. The prediction came from N. K. Woerner, manager of Statistical Services section of the department.

In accord with the prediction, Col. Homer Garrison Jr., department director, has alerted a state force to be prepared to cope with the increased highway travel. He said the department's enforcement program will be strengthened for the holiday week end in an effort to remove dangerous drivers from the streets and highways.

"This enforcement program," he said, "will be closely coordinated with local law enforcement in counties and cities throughout the state. Enforcement's greatest help will come from the drivers themselves who observe our traffic laws and safely operate their automobiles in accordance with traffic and other conditions they encounter."

The predicted number of deaths for the three day week end is four greater than the 29 killed for the same period last year.

URGES ATOMIC BAN
LONDON (UP) — Nobel Prize-winning scientist Professor Linus K. Pauling was quoted by Moscow Radio Sunday as urging an immediate start on the banning of atomic weapons. A Moscow broadcast heard in London said Pauling was "troubled" by the fact that "even the testing of atom bombs causes damage to the health of human beings all over the world from the radioactivity that is produced."

Ford Reveals New Creation

DETROIT (UP) — The Ford Motor Co. today officially dropped its elaborate shroud of secrecy around the Edsel, the new medium-priced car it hopes will win back for Ford the title it lost to General Motors in the 1920's — "world's biggest automaker."

The nation's second-ranking producer's completely new Edsel line will compete in the fast-growing medium price field with such makes as Buick and DeSoto and is expected to carry price tags ranging from $2,500 to $4,500.

It goes on display in dealer showrooms Sept. 4.

The Ford Co. is betting 250 million dollars in design and development costs that the public will like — and buy — the Edsel.

18 Models Available

The Edsel's second — ranking production line, making it competitive with other producers from the lowest to the highest priced lines. Ford hopes to sell 200,000 of the new cars in 1958.

Ford officials said the Edsel is the first new car to be introduced to the public through an entirely new dealer organization in about 30 years. A number of the Edsel dealers gave up General Motors, Chrysler, Studebaker, Packard and American Motors dealerships to handle the new Ford car.

Edsel, a flashy, powerful car, does not face an easy time of it on the retail scene. But Ford is confident the Edsel will make it, like Mercury did when introduced in 1938. The Edsels are streamlined and colorful, and feature some novel firsts.

Grille Distinctive

The most distinctive feature of Edsel's external styling is its grille. It consists of a vertical, oval air opening in front of the radiator, flanked by horizontal grillwork.

In the rear it has horizontal tail lights that sweep down on the trunk door. The rear fenders feature a concave scallop. Dual headlights are standard.

The four series of Edsels — Ranger, Pacer, Corsair and Citation — all have V8 engines which range up to 350 horsepower.

Grice Jr. of Pampa, Pakley of Purcell, Okla., Calvin of Houston and I. W. of Wichita Falls.

Services will be held Thursday at 3 p.m. in the St. Mark Methodist church, with Rev. Jonah Parker, pastor, officiating, assisted by Rev. L. B. Davis, pastor of the Progressive Baptist Church. Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery under the direction of Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home.

Corinne Says People Who Read 'Confidential' Are Sick

By VERNON SCOTT
United Press Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Corinne Calvet, her Gallic temper flaring, said today people who read Confidential Magazine are sick and should visit psychiatrists.

"There are no magazines like that in France," the petite beauty said. "Nobody would buy them."

"I know because I am a typical French girl as far as my outlook on human nature and sex appeal is concerned. Maybe the moral standards in this country are higher than in France, but things are more subtle in Europe."

She said she had read Confidential and was emotionally sick. They like to read these horrible stories because it makes them feel better about things they do themselves. They should see psychiatrists.

The curvaceous actress, luridly written about in the magazine, cradled her pert chin in her hands thoughtfully.

"Actually, nature made us men and women — and there's no difference all over the world," she concluded sagely.

Corinne has debated this question before.

In the summer of 1952 the French cutie engaged in a running battle with Zsa Zsa Gabor as to which girl possessed the bigger bosom. At the time she threatened to sue the Hungarian glamour girl for a million dollars.

Blood Pressure Zooms

Corinne's blood pressure zoomed when Zsa Zsa intimated the mademoiselle was, in truth, a flat-chested cockney.

In 1951 Corinne was selected by the Harvard lampoon as being the worst actress of the year.

Her answer: "My art is too adult for zee boys!"

Some three years ago the saucy Calvet doll, who borrowed her last name from a brand of French wine, separated from her actor-husband John Bromfield.

Happily married now to actor Jeff Stone, Corinne is the mother of a 15-month-old son. She says she has settled down to becoming a serious actress as well as a devoted wife and mother.

Woman Gets Second, Third Degree Burns

(Special To The News)

McLEAN — Mrs. Wayne McElroy, 100 S. Main, McLean was burned Sunday afternoon at 4:30, while trying to extinguish a skillet of grease which had caught fire on her electric range.

Mrs. McElroy was visiting a neighbor next door when she was summoned home by her 16-year-old daughter, Elaine, who had discovered the skillet of grease on fire.

Mrs. McElroy picked up the skillet and started toward the back door. The wind from the open door blew the flames toward her body and seeing she was aflame, she turned to the kitchen sink where she dropped the skillet and ran toward the front door screaming she was burning.

Her daughter caught her before she reached the door, threw her down on the divan and smothered the flames with a pillow.

The fire burned itself out in the sink and did not damage the kitchen except the congo wall was burned on the wall next to the stove and the cabinet and walls smoked.

Dr. Joe Suderman, who attended Mrs. McElroy, stated that her burns were terribly painful being from the hot grease as well as the fire. He said that she suffered second degree burns on her left side, neck, right hand and arm and possibly third degree burns on her left hand and arm.

Attractive Table Settings Don't Happen, They Must Be Assembled With Thought

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

The new homemaker who's gaining experience as cook and hostess should take a tip from experts and plan her table settings as her menus for her first dinner parties.

Simple, easily prepared foods, presented with a flourish against an attractive background, will contribute more to her poise and self-confidence than the complicated recipes which tie her to the kitchen until dinner is served.

Attractive table settings, however, don't just happen. They must be assembled with thought.

That's one reason why it's smart, before buying a particular pattern in dinnerware or flatware, to visualize it with other things you have or hope to have. Carole Stupell, a noted designer of table decor, suggests that you think of your table setting as a picture. The table cloth serves as background and your accessories and serving pieces represent a still-life picture in color.

Talking of color, the designer encourages the young homemaker to use it with imagination and boldness. But she adds this advice: "Make sure your colors are in the same key. Don't let them fight with each other."

"The same applies to your china and glassware. Keep your textures consistent and let harmony be your watchword."

If you favor contemporary design, you have a variety of exciting colors and shapes from which to select basic table pieces as well as accessories.

Bringing to modern tables a great deal of style at moderate prices is stainless steel, both imported and American-made. The combination of stainless steel and wood appears in many of the new serving pieces as well as in flatware and suggests a ready com-ination with contemporary patterned or bold-colored china. Stainless steel serving dishes are versatile in use. It's well to remember that their shining surfaces will reflect the tablecloth beneath. Often they show up to better advantage on a textured cloth rather than a patterned or plain white one.

Bright enamel linings in modern bowls introduce color to the table in a new way. These, too, are versatile enough to be used for fruit or flowers, salads, or hot cooked foods.

Many can go from oven to table. I'd advise, however, that before you put them in the oven, you find out definitely whether they'll stand the heat. In those I've checked, some will and some won't. And it's nearly impossible to tell by just looking at them.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Our 12-year-old Norma's Saturday morning chore is collecting soiled linen for the laundry.

She performs it slowly and reluctantly. Often we come on her sprawled on a stripped bed with a comic, soiled beside her. With exasperation, we say, "All worn out, are you? How would you like to be me? I'm so tired I could hardly crawl up stairs—and I've still got vacuuming to do and lunch to get before I can sit down. But someday, Miss Worn Out, you'll have to take responsibility!"

Will Norma take it someday? I can't imagine why she'd want to. Nor will you if you'll listen. We've told her that growing responsibility is crushing burden. We've told her we find our adult work as a homemaker intolerably unrewarding.

How, with this revelation of our resentment of responsibility, can we expect Norma to want any? How can we expect her to want to be anything but a perpetual baby whom other people serve?

The answer to the problem of a chore-resisting child is our acceptance of part of his chore. Right beside our comic-reading daughter we demonstrate our acceptance of responsibility. Without any criticism for her at all, we gather up the soiled linen next to her saying, "I'll put these in the hamper for you while you strip the other beds."

Today we hear a great deal of talk about making children "responsible." We forget that the root meaning of the word is "response." A child's sense of responsibility is his "response" to our attitude toward work.

For some curious reason, parents often feel a deep resistance to the idea of helping children with chores. Their training has somehow left them with the impression that such help is indulgent and weak-minded.

In this begrudgement of cooperation with Norma, we have the cause of her bad "response" to cooperation with us. To understand this is to be freed into action on these frustrating occasions.

And old trick of plaining to strengthen the hands is also good for the bust. It can be done while you are in the office or just sitting at home. Just bring hands together, then press fingertips against fingertips as if squeezing something between them. Flex and press fingertips again.

Preparing Material For Sewing Shown By Miss H. Dunlap

(Special to The News)

LEFORS — The art of stretching and shrinking cotton material was demonstrated by Miss Helen Dunlap, Gray County HDA Thursday afternoon, to the Lefors Home Demonstration Club at its regular meeting in the civic center.

In the first of a series of sewing instruction demonstrations, Miss Dunlap placed the material in very hot water, completely saturated it, then dipped in cold water and let drip, without wringing, after which she removed excess moisture with old newspapers until damp.

Placing the selvedge edges together, she smoothed the material out until exactly even, emphasizing the importance of a smooth start, after which the remainder easily goes in place. She folded the material in eight-inch folds, as she went, eliminating the need for extra space in which to work and dry the material.

"Shrinking and stretching materials before cutting is important to secure proper fit in the finished garment," Miss Dunlap stated. A short business meeting was presided over by Mrs. J. D. Smith, president. Work was started on the report of the activity in the home such as canning, etc. for the present year.

The next meeting will be held Sept. 12 in the civic center. Those present were Messrs. C. E. Vincent, J. D. Smith, L. D. Rider, B. J. Deihl, Charles Roberts and Miss Dunlap.

Birthday cake and ice cream were served to the following: Susan Nippa, Joy Cooksey, Coy Free, Jerry Matlock and Linda Lacy of Amarillo, Charlotte Qualline, Janet Lacy and Mmes. Judson Nippa, Frank Cooksey, Roy Free, R. H. Lacy, grandmother of the honoree, and Miss Virginia Lacy.

Hosted by Mrs. Barbara Fellows and Mrs. Velam Marx were hostesses for the event. Approximately 100 attended.

Soap-And-Water Clean Hands Helps Youngster Score On Good Grooming

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

In the heat of summer vacation play, the amount of old-fashioned dirt that can plaster an active child in a short space of time is nothing less than astonishing. Few mothers object to this inevitable accompaniment to healthy outdoor play, but it does focus attention on the clean-up operation. Instilling good grooming habits and a real appreciation of soap- and water-clean hands before meals is a slow process.

Some children, such as my own, follow the path of least resistance. The nearest towel is the one they use. If they can't put a hand on a comb or brush at once it seldom occurs to them to hunt one up.

Discussing the situation with a clever young homemaker with similar problems, I discovered her solution, a "scoreboard vanity" which she made herself. She adapted hers from an idea suggested by home service consultants of a paper towel company. It's easy enough to duplicate. And it does put grooming aids within reach of the most absent-minded child.

Her "scoreboard" for her six-year-old son hangs by the bathroom wash basin above an extra-large convenient wastebasket. The base is simply a large rectangle of hardboard or plywood about the size of a desk blotter.

Drill holes in the four corners so that the board can be screwed to the wall. A rubber cushion on each of the supporting screws holds the board slightly away from the wall, permitting juvenile toilet articles to be attached with such household hardware as screw-on clips, cuphooks, nuts and bolts.

The real fun comes when you paint the board with chalkboard paint in deep green or black. This gives a youngster the chance to keep his own chalked-on score of hands washed, hair brushed and so on.

Group all the toiletries together on one half of the board. A small mirror glued in the center of this half is surrounded by the following: a small plastic tumbler with toothbrush and toothpaste, supported by a large holder clip of the type usually used for broom handles; a comb on a tiny holder-clip; hairbrush on a larger clip; nail brush swinging from a cup hook; and a hinged-door type plastic soap dish, attached with short nuts and bolts to the board.

Two four-inch angle irons are bolted to the bottom center of the vanity. These support a shelf for disposable paper tissues. A sturdy plastic holder for paper towels is hung with nuts and bolts from the two angle irons.

The handiness of absorbent wet-strength paper towels, encourages the small fry to use them for routine wash-ups, saving both laundry and the grown-ups' clean towels. A big wastebasket directly underneath makes the neat disposal of used towels and tissues a cinch.

With several children in a family, variations on the vanity include smaller individual ones or a single jumbo-sized board to hold individual brushes and shared soap and towels.

Don't forget the scoreboard, however, where records of achievements can be checked off. Perhaps you can include an award for top score.

A housewife gets more exercise than a secretary because she is always pulling, pushing or stooping to do her housework. However, experts think Americans are too sedentary. No exercise usually cuts the appetite and allows excess fat to accumulate. Stretching in bed and deep breathing with some knee bends call for little effort. But you'll feel better.

Walking is excellent for the spirit as well as for the body. However, this doesn't mean shuffling along. To help hip and leg muscles it is necessary to stride along.

AROUND THE WORLD

MORE TO COME—It may be a cooling thought to know that pro football teams are training hard these hot days. At Hershey, Pa., the Philadelphia Eagles' back Jerry Norton bursts through a schedule held by Frank Kilroy, left, and Charley Gauer.

GOING LIKE 60—And that's exactly what Alan Bromberg is doing as he sails through the air at Cypress Gardens, Fla. He's traveling a mile a minute on a jump of 110 feet, so it's no wonder he's making that grimace. Alan was practicing for the World Water Ski Tournament in September.

WHEELING GOOD—Karen Soma, seven, is admiring the plaque she got for winning the singles title in the "Diaper Division" of the American Roller Skating Championships in Oakland, Calif. She's from Honolulu.

PITCHING PULCHRITUDE—Glamorous Jane Russell is all set to pitch some curves at a batter as she shows off her snappy diamond form during a visit to Wrigley Field, home of the Chicago Cubs. Jane is making personal appearances with her new film, "The Fuzzy Pink Nightgown," and claims she learned baseball during childhood playing with her four brothers.

ATTENTION GETTER—To call attention to the National Chess Tournament in Cleveland, Elwyn Carnes and his brother Lester staged an underwater chess game. They equipped themselves with diving gear and played in a tank where visitors could watch their maneuvers. Although surrounded by the stuff, Elwyn seems to be thirsty for a drink of water.

HARD HEADED—Dominiciano Cavem, of Portugal's championship Benfica soccer team, leaps high and bounces the ball off his head in New York as a member of the American Soccer League's All-Star team looks on. Cavem bounced the ball in for Benfica's second goal of the afternoon.

DRAMA AT HOME PLATE—Giant shortstop Darryl Spencer, on ground, is safe at home in the sixth inning of the New York-Brooklyn game at the Polo Grounds. As Dodger backstop Rube Walker lunges forward, umpire Jocko Conlon makes the call, and bat boy Eddie Logan, Jr., looks on. Spencer scored on catcher Valmy Thomas' grounder. Giants won, 9-4.

OFF TO AN EARLY START—After spending the night at Windsor Locks, Conn., some Girl Scouts and two leaders prepare to launch their five canoes. They were on an 80-mile trip on the Connecticut River from Greenfield, Mass., to Middletown, Conn.

IT'S A LESSON—Three aspiring drum majorettes are getting a lesson in high-stepping legwork from their instructor after registering at Butler University's baton twirling clinic in Indianapolis, Ind. They are Julia Kruger, left to right, and Judy Bretz, of Huntington, Ind., and Jane Evans, of Davenport, Iowa. They're all sweet 16.

WOW!—Gaila Shawn, left, and Antoinette Bisbini are not a new secret weapon of the Phillies; they're actually trapeze artists with the Ringling Bros. Circus which was playing at the Connie Mack Stadium in Philadelphia. The girls were using the club house for a dressing room and seem to have their costume and uniform mixed up after a fast change.

ANYONE FOR TROUBLE?—If they are, they'll get it because eight-month-old Nancy Austin isn't taking any back talk from anybody. This tot rides the range in her stroller out Cheyenne, Wyo., way, and she's ready to drop the first critter who crosses her. And that goes double during Frontier Days Week, when the town relives the rough-tough days of the past.

FISH STORIES

BIG ONES!—Little Benny Hooper, the eight-year-old lad who survived a 24-hour ordeal at the bottom of a well shaft in Manerville, N. Y., last May, is shown inspecting a catch, left. They're walleyes, caught in Gull Lake, near Brainerd, Minn., where Benny spent a vacation with his family, and they're big enough to inspire anyone to try his luck. In Port Washington, N. Y., 10-year-old Tommy Murray is giving the once-over to that shark, hanging by its tail. A patrolman saw the 10-foot fish about 100 yards off shore. He fired six shots into it and then hauled it in. It weighed 300 pounds.

White Sox Have Golden Opportunity As Yankees Move In For New Series League Gap Narrowed To 3 1/2

By JOHN GRIFFIN
United Press Sports Writer
The New York Yankees, badly mauled by that vicious Detroit Tiger, came stumbling into Chicago tonight to give the White Sox their golden opportunity of 1957. If the Yankees ever were ready to be "taken," they are now.
Their 5-2 drubbing of the Tigers Monday, thanks to Al Kaline's three-run homer, was their fifth loss in the last seven games; their league lead over the Sox now is down to 2 1/2 games—lowest point since Aug. 1; and their pitching isn't ready for the big three-game series opening under the Chicago aces tonight.
Instead of having an Allie Reynolds ready to hurl, manager Casey Stengel is calling Art Ditmar, last year the losing pitcher in the league, out of the bullpen to face either Jim Wilson or Gerry Staley. Out of action are ace lefties Whitey Ford and Bobby Shantz and the rest of the Yankee mound corps is wobbling.
The White Sox, riding a six-game winning streak, were idle Monday while the Tigers were beating the Yankees for the second straight day. Mickey Mantle slugged his 33rd homer in the first inning with a mate aboard to put New York ahead, 2-0, but Frank Lary shut out the league leaders the rest of the way.
Kaline slammed his 17th homer of the year in the first inning with two on to put Detroit ahead to stay and give him 13 runs-batted-in during the last four games. Harvey Kuenn singled home another Tiger run in the second and Charley Maxwell's sacrifice fly delivered the final tally in the fifth.

If the White Sox can sweep all three games in the series starting tonight, they still will be a half-game behind the Yankees. But they'll be all even in the only place baseball men say is important—the lost column.
The Milwaukee Braves' headlong rush toward the National League pennant was slowed Monday night when they dropped a 4-3 decision to the Phillies, cutting their lead to seven games over the St. Louis and Brooklyn.
Braves Rally
The Braves rallied from a 3-1 deficit to tie the score with two unearned runs in the eighth inning with the help of Chico Fernandez's error. But the Phils loaded the bases against reliever Ernie Johnson with one out in the ninth and then pinch-hitter Ron Northey singled to score Ted Kazanski with the winning run. Rookie Dick Farrell was the winner in relief.
In the only other games scheduled Monday, the New York Giants trounced the Cincinnati Redlegs, 17-3, and the Boston Red Sox crushed Kansas City, 16-0.
Home runs by Danny O'Connell and Hank Sauer led the Giants' 19-hit attack as they handed the Redlegs their 13th loss in the last 14 games.

The championship flight in the tourney will be 72 holes medal play, with all other flights going match play two rounds and medal play for the semi-finals and finals. $2,000 in prizes will be given away. Entry fee for the tourney is $12.50 per person.

For special entertainment, a buffet will be held August 30 at 8 p.m., and a special hour will be held Saturday, August 31, from 8:30 to 9:30, followed by a dance.
For information and reservations, persons should call Hart Warren, Country Club pro.

Redlegs Pick Up Thurman

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—Bob Thurman will report to the Cincinnati Redlegs here tonight as a replacement for outfielder Gus Bell, out for the rest of the season with a broken ankle.
Thurman, who shined as a pinch-hitter for the Redlegs earlier this season, was recalled from Seattle Monday after X-rays revealed a small bone fracture in Bell's right ankle.
The slugging center-fielder suffered the injury while attempting to stretch a double into a triple in the eighth inning of Saturday's 4-1 loss to the Pirates.
The Redlegs asked waivers on pitcher Vincente Amor to make room for Thurman.

Wrestling Results

Art Nelson paired with Great Bolo to take the main event tag team match over Iron Mike DeBiase and Lou Plummer last night at the Sportsman Club wrestling. The match went to Bolo and Nelson in the first two falls.
In the semi-final, Tommy Phelps dived Enrique Romero in the third fall of the two out of three fall match.
The first event went to Art Nelson over Lou Plummer in the one-fall match.
The wrestling is held each Monday evening at the Sportsman Club beginning at 8:30. Admission is $1.50 for ringside, $1.25 for reserved seats, 90 cents for general admission and 50 cents for general admission children.

Athea In Doubles Finals Today

CHESTNUT HILL, Mass. (UP)—Althea Gibson and Darlene Hard were confident of winning their ninth straight women's tennis title today in the two-portioned final of the National Doubles championships at the Longwood Cricket Club.
The second-seeded Wimbledon champs, who have never been beaten as a team, were scheduled to meet defenders Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., and Mrs. Margaret Osborne Du Pont of Wilmington, Del., in the first match.
Following their test, top-seeded Budge Patty of Paris and Los Angeles, and Gardnar Mulloy of Miami, also Wimbledon champs, faced second-seeded Australians Ashley Cooper and Neale Fraser for the men's title.

Robinson, Basilio Fight May Be Held As Planned

NEW YORK (UP)—The corned beef sandwiches that felled promoter Jim Norris may cause a quick announcement that the million-dollar Ray Robinson-Carmen Basilio fight is on again.
"Let's do it for Jim!" was the melodramatic slogan of both sides in the dispute today as settlement negotiations were resumed, while the multi-millionaire Norris lay in St. Clare's Hospital recovering from an acute attack of food poisoning. Middleweight champion Robinson, who was warned by the N.Y. State Athletic Commission to go through with the fight or risk having his title vacated, said, "I'm hopeful we can settle things today and cheer up Jim; nothing's so important right now as his welfare."
Norris, 50, suffered a heart attack seven years ago; and there is an old lesion (scar) on one of the arteries although electrocardiograms disclosed no new heart damage.
He was stricken by the "acute enteritis" Monday night at the very hour he had been scheduled to preside over a surprise conference at his office in Madison Square Garden.

GROWING PAINS—Ralph Johnson, football coach of Speedway High, Indianapolis, doesn't know what to do with 14-year-old Roger Heiser's brogans. A freshman tackle, Heiser has to use tennis shoes because the school has to order size 14 cleats for him. When he was 12, he wore size 12. When 13, he wore size 13. Johnson is afraid of what Heiser's growth will mean to sentiment bills in the future.

Parker Mum On Prospects

DETROIT (UP)—Buddy Parker wasn't talking much today about his coaching prospects in the National Football League, but he did admit he "could be" in line for a job with the Pittsburgh Steelers.
Rumors and published reports have been circulating that Parker would not be long in finding a new job after he suddenly quit as head coach of the Detroit Lions.
Parker denied one report last week end which said he would be going to Baltimore to replace the Colts' head coach, Weeb Ewbank.
On the subject of a possible move to Pittsburgh, Parker refused to elaborate further after admitting he "could be" in line for the coaching post.

Houston Clips Dallas' Texas League Lead

By UNITED PRESS
Dallas found its Texas League lead pared to six and a half games today, the smallest gap between the Eagles and Houston in more than two months.
Houston whacked San Antonio 7-5 Monday night while Dallas split a doubleheader with Tulsa, losing the first 2-0 and taking the nightcap 10-8. Fort Worth took a pair from Oklahoma City, 3-0 and 5-2, and Shreveport nicked Austin 5-4.
Bob Conley tossed a five-hitter at Dallas in the opener, backed by Bob Prentice's homer. Prentice poked another homer for Tulsa in the nightcap. Dallas banged over six runs, including a homer by Wilcy Moore, before a man was out in the first inning of the second game. Don Taussig picked up his fourth homer in as many nights for Dallas.
Houston pounded over three runs in the eighth to stop San Antonio. Two Mission errors aided Houston. Phil Clark, who pitched to only one batter, was the winner.
John Briggs threw a two-hitter at Oklahoma City in the opener, allowing only three men on base. Frank Ernaga broke up the second game with a three-run homer in the 11th inning for Fort Worth.
Larry Stankey homered for Fort Worth and Spencer Robbins poked one for Oklahoma City.
Ed Richardson drove home three runs on two homers and a single to push Shreveport over Austin. Dick Sincere homered for Austin.
The schedule is the same tonight with Oklahoma City at Fort Worth, Tulsa at Dallas, Austin at Shreveport and Houston at San Antonio.

Dodgers May Build Their Own Park

NEW YORK (UP)—City officials expressed hope today that the Brooklyn Dodgers' new offer to build their own ballpark may keep the team in Brooklyn — but they were studying carefully the "strings" attached to the offer.
Dodger President Walter O'Malley made the offer Monday at a special meeting with Deputy Mayor John J. Theobald and other officials.
The offer boiled down to this: Forget about building a city-owned sports arena in Brooklyn. Just condemn the land there; sell it to us at a "common sense" price; and we'll build our own ballpark.
Immediate official reaction was mixed. One official declared that O'Malley's move made "things look brighter in our plan to keep the Dodgers here." Another insisted that O'Malley was asking for something that is "impossible and he knows it."

Record Crowd Expected Today At First Hambletonian Race

DU QUOIN, Ill. (UP)—A record crowd of 50,000 was expected today at the first Hambletonian running of trotting's richest race, the Hambletonian, a feature of the Du Quoin State Fair.
The race will be historic in several aspects. There will be no betting for the first time since 1939. It will run in two divisions for the first time, and also for the first time, it will require five heats to find a winner.
Cooler temperatures with partly cloudy skies and a chance of thundershowers was predicted.
Meanwhile, a replacement for Wayne (Curley) Smart, 52, Delaware, Ohio, driver of Phillip Frost, was to be announced shortly before race time.
Smart dislocated his knee, strained ligaments and tendons of a leg, which was placed in a cast, and was unable to drive.
Three horses were rated the major challengers, the filly, Hoot Song, in the second division, and two colts, Hickory Smoke and Buckeye Demon, challenging each other in the first division.
Hoot Song has the top time of the year of any horse in the field for the mile distance of the race, 2:01 3/5, while Buckeye Demon, son of the 1948 Hambletonian winner, Demon Hanover, has the next best clocking, 2:01 4/5.
The race will gross $111,126, second highest in history, surpassed only by the $117,117.98 paid in 1953, but because five heats will be run, the highest purse to the winner will be only $47,917.62, a total already bettered in five previous races.

Fearless Fraley's Vacation Facts

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer
CAPE HAITIAN, Haiti (UP)—I've got news today for jockey Eddie Arcaro and mile champion Derek Ibbotson.
High in the coffee and banana sprinkled mountains of northern Haiti, I have just made the blistering acquaintance of a horse that even Arcaro couldn't ride. And part of the parlay was a pony boy who can run so fast and so long that he'd make the demon Derek look like a turtle with the out.
You'd have to see both of 'em to believe it, yet these two must rank as all-time greats in the improvement of anybody's breed.
I've got to think that even Ban Hur would have backed off from this nag on which they boosted me to ride up to Henry Christophe's ancient citadel, a fort some 3,000 feet up on the crest of a mountain.

I sneered when I sat down to ride, figuring I'd wind up carrying this jackrabbit, but the sneer went along with where I sat down and don't tell me tales about Man O' War. This one had to be the gamest case since Black Beauty.

Four Ways Submitted To Handle Public School Religious Training

Editor's Note: This is the second of two special reports by the United Press on the growing national controversy over the place of religion in the public schools.

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP) — Four different solutions have been proposed to the problem of how to handle religion in public schools. Jews and other minority groups, including humanists and atheists, favor a strict "hands off" policy leaving the entire job of religious training to the home and the church.

They fear that their beliefs will be ignored or distorted in any public school treatment of religion and that their children may be branded as "different." Protestants and Catholics reply that if the schools try to ignore religion, they will in effect discriminate against the majority of Americans who do believe in God. The silence of the schools, they contend, would inevitably be interpreted by children as evidence that religion is unworthy of study, a matter of no real importance.

Opposite Extreme
At the opposite extreme is the solution urged by some fundamentalist Protestants and Catholics. It is to revise the Constitution, or at least the present interpretation of the constitution by the Supreme Court, to let public schools teach Christian religious doctrines in the same positive and forthright way that they teach the political doctrines of democracy.

Opponents of this proposal say it would destroy the "wall of separation between church and state" which the founding fathers erected, and ultimately would mean the end of religious liberty in America.

A third solution, which many public schools have found attractive, is to teach a "common core" of religious beliefs held by all of the major faiths. This approach was tried recently in the New York City school system.

God and Morals
In June, 1955, the board of superintendents issued a policy statement calling on public schools to "reinforce the program of the home and church in strengthening belief in God." Without getting into any specific formulation of doctrine, the statement said teachers should seize every opportunity in their regular courses to "identify God as the ultimate source of natural and moral law."

diocese and some protestant leaders endorsed the statement. But every rabbi in the city denounced it, and the superintendents hastily withdrew it.

The new policy statement, adopted last fall, omits all reference to God and deals mainly in platitudes about the desirability of developing "good character in our children."

"Common Core" Program
Some educators believe that a "common core" program of religious instruction might be more easily worked out in communities with less religious diversity than New York. But opponents say that there would still be two serious objections to this solution: It would violate the rights of the minority who do not subscribe to the Judeo-Christian concept of God; and at best it would be a "lowest common denominator" of faith, and a very thin soup to set before children.

The fourth solution, which has won the backing of many leading educators and which is now actually being tried in the public schools of Indianapolis, Ind., and a few other cities, is the factual study of religion.

This calls for public schools to treat religion just as they treat politics and economics — as a subject which is "controversial" but which is so important to an understanding of American history and culture that it must be included in any educational curriculum worth the name.

Clergy Endorsement
It has been endorsed by the Committee on Religion and Education of the American Council of Education, the Educational Policies Commission of the National Education Association, and the general board of the National Council of Churches, as well as by a large number of individual school superintendents and clergymen.

They assert that the constitutional ban on sectarian teaching of religion does not prevent objective teaching about religion. They are satisfied that the public schools, which have learned to handle so many other delicate subjects from sex to communism, can find a way to deal fairly and intelligently with religion if they try.

It may take a great many years for this concept to permeate through the vast U. S. school system, but a start has already been made. This summer, the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education sponsored special training courses at 15 universities for public school teachers seeking professional guidance in the "factual study" approach to religion.

Steel Magnate Attempts To Cap Off Career With Merger

By DLUDE H. FARNSWORTH
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP) — Eugene Gifford Grace, who is 81 today, is hoping to cap his rags-to-riches career in the steel industry with the biggest corporate merger on record.

The crusty chairman of Bethlehem Steel Corp. is out to weld the country's second largest steel producer with Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co., the sixth largest, in a move that would create a new company with sales and assets topping $2,500,000,000.

He has moved in opposition to Uncle Sam's legal arm, the Justice Department, which is waging a stepped up campaign against big business merger that it feels would lessen competition in violation of the anti-trust laws.

Merger Defended
Grace says that, on the contrary, a Bethlehem-Youngstown merger would spur competition and open up new markets. A federal court is deciding the issue.

No matter how it turns out, Grace's place in modern steel industry is assured. Called the "greatest steel man in the country" by Charles M. Schwab, who founded U. S. Steel Corp. and later Bethlehem, Grace helped forge an empire that can turn out almost half as much steel as the entire Soviet Union.

Grace was born while Ulysses S. Grant was President and joined Bethlehem in 1899.

He Follows Advice
"Let it be your guiding, impelling aim to take the boss' job away from him," Grace once told a reporter. From the way he shot up the Bethlehem executive ladder, it was apparent he followed the advice closely himself.

Starting as an electric crane-man, Grace went from $1.80 a day to a million dollars a year and the company presidency by the time he was 36.

Early in his career Grace attracted Schwab's attention. Throughout much of his life Grace was known as "Charlie Schwab's boy."

NEW AIR LINK
WASHINGTON (UP) — Miami will be linked directly to Europe for the first time by an American airline Oct. 21. President Eisenhower Thursday authorized Pan American Airways to operate a regular flight from the Florida city to Madrid. The route will link Miami; San Juan, Puerto Rico; Madrid and Rome.

WATER AT HAND
NEW ORLEANS (UP) — Firemen didn't have to look far when they ran out of water while fighting a blaze at a motel. They put out the fire with water from motel's swimming pool.

During World War I Schwab went to Washington as a "dollar a year man" and left Bethlehem's war effort to "the greatest steel man in the country."

Through war and peace Bethlehem prospered, not only as a steel company, but also as a shipbuilding organization. Today it stands not only as the second largest steel company, behind only U. S. Steel, but as the country's largest shipbuilding concern.

High on Grace's list of accomplishments have been good employee and public relations. He instituted an annual report to employees.

Last month he missed his first quarterly press conference since 1920 because of illness. At these conferences, held to report on quarterly operations, he is usually witty and outspoken.

CRASH KILLS PILOTS
NICEVILLE, Fla. (UP) — An Air Force test pilot, killed in the crash of his F104 Starfighter jet near Eglin Air Force Base, has been identified as Maj. Peter Vanmatre of Fort Walton Beach, Fla. Vanmatre, a native of Nashville, Tenn., was killed Thursday when the jet crashed in a wooded area.

FOR THE RECORD
WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) said Thursday the Congressional Record should show what the senators said, not what they would like to have said. Neuberger introduced a resolution, co-sponsored by Sen. Gordon Allott (R-Colo.), to forbid the free-wheeling editing now permitted of remarks made by senators in debate. It would permit editing to correct errors and grammar, but not to make substantive changes in what was said.
