'Miracles' In Survivals Of Two Babies

By UNITED PRESS
Two babies being held in arms by their mothers survived by seeming miracles when death struck the women, one from lightning bolt in Florida and the other from an automobile in Mississippi.
One child was thrown unharmed upon the top of a car that fatally injured his mother Wednesday at New Albany, Miss., and the other child was left unscathed when lightning instantly killed his mother.
Mrs. G. C. White, 231 of New Albany, was carrying her 6-month-old boy in her arms along a country road when she was struck by the car. She died in a hospital four hours later.
Mrs. Harvey King, 25, of Dade City, Fla., picked up her son Ronald, and walked into her yard to inspect an oak tree that had just been struck by lightning two days ago. A second bolt struck the tree, killing Mrs. King.
The child fell to the ground beside the mother's body, without receiving the slightest injury from the bolt.

Lawyers To 'Cul' Defense In Clinton

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UP)—Lawyers for 14 defendants in the Clinton segregation case were expected to cut short their defense today and ask for a directed verdict of acquittal.
But one of the defendants, Clyde Cook, 34-year-old atomic plant worker, insisted his story would be heard.
Cook and his fellow defendants are on trial with John Kasper, a roaming segregationist from New Jersey. All are charged with conspiring to keep Negroes out of Clinton High School by intimidation and, when that failed, open violence.
One of the key issues of the case stems from a fight involving the Rev. Paul Turner, Clinton Baptist minister, who escorted six Negro children to school last Dec. 4.
The defense claims the government has no case and contends that testimony has only shown an ordinary fist fight between Cook and the Rev. Turner.
"There are two sides to every fight and I insist that my story will be heard," Cook said.
Cook was identified by the Rev. Mr. Turner and by other witnesses as the man who first slugged Turner after the Baptist minister escorted the six Negro children to school.

CRMWA Election Set Here July 30

Pampa residents will be given a chance on July 30 to decide whether or not Pampa will re-enter the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority.
The date of the election was set by directors of the authority at Amarillo yesterday following a public hearing on petitions from Pampa, Amarillo and Plainview that the three cities be given an opportunity to vote on re-joining the CRMWA. The elections will be held in Pampa and Amarillo on the same day and the election will be held in Plainview on Aug. 6.
The three cities were all original members of the authority which was formed with 11 member cities in 1953. Amarillo and

Asian Flu Rages In Baghdad

BAGHDAD, Iraq (UP)—The Iraqi health ministry reported today that Asian flu has hit 26,000 victims in Baghdad. Five hospitals are operating special departments exclusively for handling the disease and all public recreation spots have been closed to halt the epidemic.

Chiang Remnants Surrender, Says Reds

TOKYO (UP)—Twenty-eight soldiers of remnant Nationalist Chinese forces in the jungles of northeast Burma surrendered to Burmese soldiers late last month and early this month, Communist China reported today. Radio Peking said the soldiers gave up when they ran out of food and other supplies.

Convicted Of Mail Fraud Parr Is Seeking Cash For Appeal

HOUSTON (UP)—George B. Parr, facing a possible 100 years in prison, today was casting about for $20,000 needed to appeal his conviction on 19 counts of mail fraud.
Parr was found guilty Wednesday on 19 counts of mail fraud and one count of conspiring to use the mails in defrauding the Benavides independent school district of $220,000. His eight associates were convicted on from one to 20 counts.
Percy Foreman, attorney for the Duke of Duval, said the immediate problem is to raise $15,000 to $20,000 needed to buy the court record of the 38 days of testimony. Foreman said he needed the record to study in preparation for the appeal he promised.
It was the federal government's fourth attempt to nail Parr. The first ended in a hung jury and the second and third were mistrials.
July 30 Sentencing
Judge Joe Ingraham set sentencing for 10 a. m. July 30. Parr faces a possible 100 years in prison and $20,000 fine.
Foreman said his first step will be to file a motion for upholding of sentencing before July 30, but he said it would be "just a formality" and didn't think it would help his client.
He said he plans to make a motion for a new trial within 30 days, and if that is not granted, he plans to appeal on what he said were many errors in the trial.
For instance, Foreman said "There is error in every count of the indictment because it fails to allege 'willful violation.'"
Parr's conviction came after five days of deliberation by the jury and ended a five-year fight by state and federal authorities to convict the South Texas politico.
Other Convictions
D. C. Chapp, tax-assessor-collector of the Benavides school district at the time of the fraud, guilty on 18 counts.
B. F. (Tom) Donald Jr., cashier at Parr's Texas State Bank of Alice, guilty on 18 counts.
Oscar Castillo Sr., Chapa's son and former secretary of the school board, guilty on 20 counts.
Octavio Saenz, former school board president and now mayor of Benavides, guilty on 19 counts.
Jesus Garcia, former school board member, guilty on 19 counts.
Santiago Garcia, director in Parr's Alice bank, guilty on one count.
O. P. Carillo, another of Chapa's sons and one-time school board attorney, guilty on one count.
Banks Convicted
Texas State Bank of Alice was found guilty on 20 counts and the

San Diego Bank, Another Parr Institution Where Witnesses Said School Board Checks Were Cashed Illegally Was Found Guilty On Nine Counts

The maximum penalties are five years in prison on each count and fines of $1,000 or $10,000 on each count. The banks can only be fined.
Parr and the other defendants were released on existing bonds.

Union Men Called To Testify

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate Rackets Committee called today two officers of the AFL-United Textile Workers of America today to answer charges they bought their homes with union funds.
The committee summoned union President Anthony Valente and Secretary - Treasurer Lloyd Klenert to testify this afternoon about the five-year-old real estate deal and the paperwork by which the committee said they tried to cover their tracks.
Counsel Robert F. Kennedy told reporters staff investigator Alphonse F. Calabrese would also disclose where Valente and Klenert got $57,000 the committee said they used to replace part of $95,000 they took out of the union treasury.
Kennedy told Sen. Carl T. Curtis (R-Neb.) at Wednesday's hearing the $57,000 came from the union also.
The committee said AFL-CIO ally Monday on the case. Chair President George Many will testify with John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) said Meany disclosed the Valente-Klenert deal in 1952 while he was AFL secretary-treasurer.

Evidence Is Conclusive Against 'Fags'

WASHINGTON (UP)—An American Cancer Society expert told Congress today the "evidence is overwhelming" that cigarette smoking is a cause of lung cancer.
The society's expert, Dr. E. Cuyler Hammond, also said smoking is a cause of death from heart disease.
Hammond made the prepared statement as an opening witness at House Government Operations subcommittee investigation of filter cigarettes.
Witnesses also included a spokesman for the tobacco industry research committee which has contended that no cause-and-effect relationship has been established between cigarette smoking and cancer.
Earlier, Rep. Iris F. Blitch (D-Ga.) said subcommittee chairman John Blatnik (D-Minn.) had assured her that he is for the tobacco growers and has no wish to penalize them in any way. Mrs. Blitch said Blatnik told her his subcommittee hearings are not intended to effect tobacco price supports.
Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) Wednesday introduced a bill that would cut off farm price supports and soil bank payments to tobacco growers.
Blatnik said his subcommittee hopes to determine during six days of hearings whether the public is "being fooled" about the protection afforded to smokers by "filters."
"In my opinion the evidence is overwhelming that cigarette smoking is a causative factor of great importance in the occurrence of lung cancer," he said. "This does not imply that smoking is the only cause of lung cancer," Hammond said.
He said that "no less than 19 independent studies of the smoking habit of lung cancer patients" had been conducted in the United States and other countries.
"In every instance," he said, "a higher proportion of smokers was found among lung cancer patients than among people free of this disease."

Two Driving Cases In Court Here

Two cases of driving while intoxicated were processed in County Court today.
Billy Bob Merrell, Eunice, N.M., who was arrested by the Pampa police department yesterday, pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to three days in jail.
Clayton O. Nobilit, 31, Pampa man, also pleaded guilty to this charge. Gray County Judge Bruce Parker also fined him.
Nobilit was arrested by city officers following a collision at 7:43 p. m. yesterday on Browning, 24 feet west of Hill. The 1954 Ford station wagon, driven by Nobilit, was in collision with a 1956 Ford, driven by Patrick C. Carter, 1016 Mary Ellen. Damages to the station wagon were estimated at $400 and the Ford driven by Carter met with damages estimated at $500.
The only other collision reported within the city limits yesterday occurred at 7:23 p. m. on Browning, 170 feet east of Cuyler. A 1956 Plymouth, driven by Olen Leroy Broxson, 602 N. Starkweather, and a 1953 Studebaker, driven by William Laibe, Woodward, Okla., were in collision. Damages to the Plymouth were estimated at $125 and the Studebaker encountered damages estimated at $75.

One Fire Call Reported Here

A fire inside the packer body of a city trash truck resulted in the only alarm received yesterday by the fire department.
The fire in the truck occurred at 1:55 p. m. in the 700 block of Doucette. The fire was extinguished without damage to the truck, firemen reported.

Pay For Hotel Work Approved

The approving of expenditures for road and gutter work around its property was the chief topic of business taken up this morning in a called meeting of the executive board of the Pampa Community Hotel Company.
The meeting was held at 10 in the office of George B. Cree Jr., president of the company.
The gutter is to be built on the north side of the hotel's property, an extension of Kentucky street. Gray County is to pay the road, and the board discussed working with them on this construction work.

1,250 Died In Iran Quakes

TEHRAN, Iran (UP)—About 1,250 persons now are believed to have been killed by the earth quakes that struck in northern Iran during the last three weeks, officials said today.
They said a higher casualty estimate of more than 2,000 dead was based on unnecessary fears that typhoid and other infectious diseases would spread through the area.

Cut In Controversial Section Of Civil Rights Bill Seen

By DAYTON MOORE
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Richard B. Russell predicted today the Senate will kill the most controversial section of the civil rights bill unless "some unusual pressure is brought."
The Georgia Democrat, leader of the southern bloc fighting the bill, apparently meant White House pressure.
He referred to Part III of the administration's four-point rights bill. Part III would empower the attorney general to seek federal court injunctions to prevent threatened violation of any civil rights. President Eisenhower indicated Wednesday he does not favor extending this power to school segregation cases unless local authorities ask for federal intervention.
Amendment Debate Continues
Russell's prediction was made to newsmen as the Senate headed into the second day of debate on an amendment by Sens. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) and Clinton P. Anderson (D-N.M.) to knock out Part III. It is the 16th day of overall debate on the knotty civil rights issue.
Removal of that section would make the legislation mainly a voting rights bill. But it would not guarantee jury trials in contempt cases involving voting rights. Other sections would create a bipartisan commission to investigate voting rights violations; establish a new civil rights division in the Justice Department, and authorize the seeking of injunctions in voting cases.
Dixie foes have centered much of their attack on absence of a jury trial guarantee. But indications were if Part III is killed they will not wage an all-out filibuster to block passage of the House-approved bill.
Nevertheless, senators from the South still publicly vowed "a battle to the death" against the bill. In a recorded television program Russell said 18 Dixie Democrats "unalterably opposed" to the bill are endeavoring to devise plans to defeat it.
Supporters of the bill conceded a vote now on striking out Part III would be close. But they figured on picking up strength before the vote, probably early next week.
Knowland Sees Retention
"It will be close but... I think it will not be stricken," Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland said.
Rights supporters expressed belief they have weakened the southern case by Wednesday's introduction of a modifying amendment to Part III. It would repeal a post-Civil War law that would empower the President to use troops to en-

Eight Are Injured In Explosion Of TNT

By KIRK HATSIAN
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW LONDON, Conn. (UP)—A 2½-pound charge of TNT used in experimental work exploded on the deck of the escort vessel Somersworth Wednesday night killing three sailors and injuring eight others, four seriously.
The blast occurred on the forecastle deck at 5:45 p. m. e. d. t. when the ship was off Montauk Point conducting "test operations" with the submarine Tirante, the Navy said. The ship was not damaged.
First indication caused Navy investigators to believe that a time fuse on the charge may have been defective, the Navy said. A board of officers from the New London base began an investigation of the accident when the ship arrived here shortly after 4:30 a. m. e. d. t.
The charges are used in "investigating sound transmission" in underwater work, the Navy said.
The four seriously injured sailors were transferred to the British liner Queen Mary, who halted her eastward Atlantic crossing to leave Columbus tomorrow to leave Columbus tomorrow with the truck and he is expected to arrive in Pampa either Tuesday or Wednesday.
The arrival of the aerial ladder truck will pose a housing problem for equipment of the fire department. There is no room available in Central Fire Station for additional equipment and the new stations are not scheduled for completion until late in August or possibly later.
Each of the new stations is designed to house two fire trucks and Fire Chief Ernest Winborne reported that the two Boardman pumper will be placed at the new stations. The new pumper that was bought at the time the aerial ladder truck was, will be kept at Central Fire Station.
Winborne reported that he may also place one of the booster trucks at each of the new stations.
Specifications for a two-way radio system for the fire department are also being drawn up. Plans call for the transmitter and receiver to be placed at Central Fire Station and for the two new stations to have two-way monitors. A mobile transmitter and receiver unit will be placed in each vehicle of the fire department.
A receiver on the police department frequency will also be installed at Central Fire Station and the police radio in the Fire Chief's station wagon will still be used for contact between the two departments.

Top O' Texas' First Beauty Pageant Set

Wide-eyed and enthusiastic after witnessing two rehearsals, Pampa Jaycees are claiming that tonight's Top O' Texas Beauty Pageant winner may well decide, not only who will be "Miss Pampa" for 1957, but also "Miss America."
The Jaycee-sponsored beauty pageant — Pampa's first annual — tonight at 7:30 in the Junior High auditorium will feature 17 girls competing with beauty and talent for the crown.
"Miss Pampa" will receive not only the honor, but an expense-paid trip to the "Miss Texas" contest in Kerrville Aug. 2-4 for herself and a chaperone.
In a two-hour show, secret panel composed of six judges is to select the winner on the basis of beauty and talent.
The girls will appear three times — once in a bathing suit, once in a "formal" and then again to display some talent.
Talent will be exhibited in such varying fields as singing, dancing, skating, and even dress designing.
Girls must be single and a high school graduate to enter. Each entry is sponsored by a local business or club.
In addition to the expense-paid trip to Kerrville, the winner will get a crown and the runners-up will receive "Miss America" charm bracelets.
When "Miss Texas" has been chosen in August, she will then be entitled to represent Texas in the "Miss America" contest in Atlantic City, N. J.
Kay Fancher, publicity chairman for the contest, said that sponsors outnumbered the girls who would participate here.
Tickets, costing $1 for adults and 50 cents for children, are now available at Roberts's Flowers, Highland Pharmacy, Southwestern Public Service Company, Wilcox Drug or from any Jaycee. Tickets can be purchased at the auditorium tonight also.
"Things are really shaping up so come on out tonight," Fancher urged.

Suspect In Murder Case 'Dismissed'

By WILLIAM TERRY
United Press Staff Correspondent
BERKELEY, Calif. (UP)—Dr. Paul Kirk, key defense consultant in the Dr. Samuel Sheppard murder case, today dismissed a newly confessed "suspect" in the "poor possibility" of a "poor possibility."
Kirk said however, that the fact that the "confessor," Florida convict Donald Wedler, 23, is a left-handed man "is interesting because I have known all along that the murderer was left-handed."
Wedler has never actually mentioned the name of Sheppard, but has confessed only to bludgeoning a housewife to death about the same time Marilyn Sheppard was murdered in her Cleveland, Ohio, bedroom July 4, 1954.
At DeLand, Fla., a lie detector expert spent three hours with Wedler and said he was not satisfied with the results "one way or the other."
Alex Gregory of Detroit said he plans more tests, which Wedler agreed to take. Gregory has given similar tests to relatives of Dr. Sheppard, but Ohio authorities have refused to allow the osteopath to undergo the test.
"This is too serious to try to make snap judgements," Gregory said early today.
Kirk, a criminologist at the University of California, flatly believes Dr. Sheppard, who is now serving a life sentence for the crime, is innocent.
Sure of Innocence
"I have no doubt that Sheppard is innocent," he said.
Kirk based his theory that the murderer was left-handed on the position of blood stains on the wall.
"The blows would have had to be struck by a left-handed man," he said. Sheppard was right-handed, he added.
But he believes that Wedler is hardly worth considering as a suspect. However, Sheppard's brother, Dr. Stephen Sheppard, will fly to Florida to question Wedler.
"There are a lot of left-handed men in the country," Kirk said. "They're not so rare."

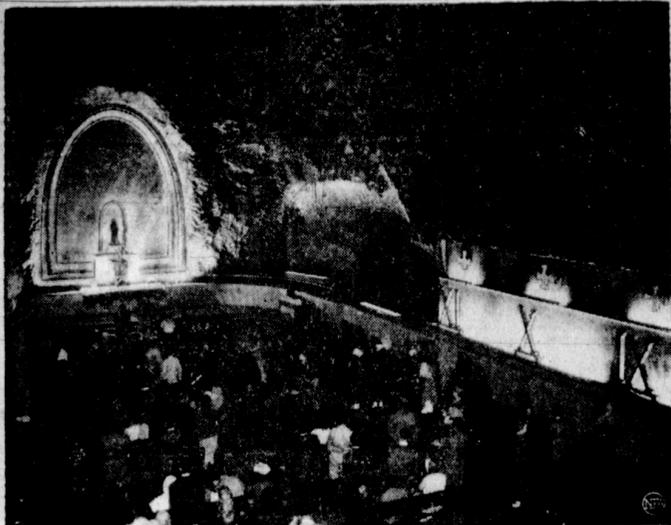

Plane Crashes Near Abilene

ABILENE, Tex. (UP)—A B-7 Stratojet, taking off from Dyess Air Force Base, nosed to earth Wednesday night, erupting into an explosion seen 15 miles away and killing its four crewmen.
Witnesses said the jet bomber was only about 200 feet in the air after taking off when it suddenly "hung in the air," nosed down and crashed into a creek just off the runway.
Persons 15 miles from the scene reported seeing the blast, which scattered pieces of wreckage over 1,500 yards about the scene.
Names of the dead pilot, navigator, observer and crew chief were withheld pending notification of next of kin.

RODEO BAND

Ruby Nance and the band, shown here in action, will be on hand for the Top o' Texas Rodeo here Aug. 5-10. Nance's group, out of Oklahoma City, will be the official rodeo band, according to Mrs. Weldon Steward, office secretary for the rodeo association. "The Nation's Top Rodeo Band" is the billing given to them.

DEEPLY RELIGIOUS—This vast cathedral near Bogota, Colombia, was carved out of a salt mine deep in the earth. The mine is the largest active one in the world, producing 172,000 tons annually. Five thousand persons can be accommodated at a service 800 feet beneath the earth. The cathedral, the result of six years' drilling, lies at the end of a mile of road twisting down from the mine entrance. Two hundred cars can park at the entrance to the cathedral gates. Masses are celebrated twice on Sundays, on Saturdays and feast days. The above scene is a general view of a Mass in the cathedral, consecrated in 1950 by the Papal Nuncio of Colombia.

Test Devised For Donated Blood

By DELOS SMITH
United Press Science Editor
NEW YORK (UP)—A practical test has been devised which will indicate when hepatitis virus lurks in donated blood. It is not going to eliminate that unpleasant liver disease, you can be sure, but it could cut down sharply on the chances of getting it through a blood transfusion.

You will appreciate this advance when you understand that "the possible development of serum hepatitis after transfusion of blood is the most important hazard that is not preventable, even by careful attention to details in the history of (blood donors) and the application of proved laboratory techniques."

The words belong to Dr. E. R. Jennings, professor of clinical pathology, Wayne State University Medical College, Detroit, and four associates. They worked out the new testing method which involves putting donated blood into a chemical solution. If the solution reacts by becoming "exceedingly clouded then the blood is considered to be highly suspect.

Some Carry Virus
What makes serum or transfusion hepatitis a big problem is that some people seem able to carry the virus around in their blood without it ever sickening them, and that the virus, like most viruses, is undetectable. Reporting to the technical journal of the American Society of Clinical Pathologists, the Detroit scientists recalled the failure of efforts to detect blood donor "carriers" of hepatitis virus through their medical histories. It has been proven that donors who never in their lives had shown the slightest symptom of liver disease, were "carriers" of hepatitis virus just the same.

They began working out their test in 1954 in the Detroit Receiving Hospital. Eventually they subjected the blood of 14,755 donors to it. The serum part of the blood of 567 of these 14,755 created a high degree of turbidity in the chemical solution. The whole blood of these 567 was transfused into 193 hospital patients. Ten of the 193 developed serum hepatitis. But whole blood from other donors which caused little turbidity was transfused into 603 patients. And there were no positive cases of serum hepatitis among them.

Not All Carriers Detected
If the high-turbidity blood had been discarded, it would have meant the loss of 330 units of whole blood in order to prevent 10 positive cases of serum hepatitis and cases of "possible" serum hepatitis. The scientists grappled that some colleagues would argue that the seriousness of the disease in the particular patients wouldn't justify discarding so much blood.

They also granted that the test would not detect all "carriers" of the virus. They had "knowledge," they said, of 10 cases of serum hepatitis resulting from the transfusion of low-turbidity blood. These cases were not in their own study. Nevertheless, they asserted, "the hazard of serum hepatitis is greatly increased when blood is transfused from donors whose serums have significantly abnormal values for thymol turbidity." The principal reactive chemical in their solution is thymol which is derived from thyme, a member of the mint family and a seasoner of soups and sauces.

Car Dealer Sentenced

AUSTIN (UP)—Federal Judge Ben H. Rice Jr. has sentenced a Freeport car dealer to one year in prison, gave his wife a one-year suspended sentence, and fined the couple a total of $9,000 following their conviction on income tax evasion.

Paul E. Moore, brother of State Sen. William Moore of Bryan, was sentenced to one year in prison, fined $7,500, and given two one-year suspended sentences. His wife, Mrs. Viola Moore, received a one-year suspended sentence and was fined $1,500.

Notice of appeal was filed immediately after the sentencing by Moore's attorneys, John Cofer and G. Hume Cofer of Austin, and the couple was freed on two bonds of $7,500 and $3,000.

The Freeport couple was indicted on three counts of evading income taxes on joint returns for 1950, 1951, and 1952.

The government alleged the couple paid taxes of $4,142.58 on $24,020.16 for the three-year period, but actually owed $20,234.40 taxes on $74,206.78 income.

Blonde, Robber Steal Register

STAFFORD, Tex. (UP)—A filling station bandit used a pretty blonde as a decoy Wednesday while he stole a cash register with $50 inside.

A 19-year-old service station attendant said the girl drove up to his station on U.S. 75 and asked him to put some air in her tires.

Transfer Set For Air Force Schools

BELLEVILLE, Ill. (UP)—Two Air Force schools at Scott Air Force Base will be transferred to Texas bases to make room for the Military Air Transport Service here, a base spokesman said Wednesday.

In a switch of commands, MATS headquarters are being transferred to Scott from Andrews AFB and the Air Training Command at Scott, with 500 personnel schools will move to Lackland AFB and the cryptographic school to Kelly AFB, both in Texas.

The current moves will leave Scott with about the same number of personnel, the spokesman said.

Constable J. C. Court said that to the station and carted off the blonde, was talking to the male accomplice slipped in cash register while the attendant, blonde.

CERTAIN SIGN—The rising sun, centered in the channel of this canal, is a certain sign of summer's start in Wilmington, N.C. The canal is on the Clarendon Plantation owned by Cornelius Thomas, who says documents reveal Indians built the canal leading to the Cape Fear River so they could tell when summer arrived. The sun is centered in the canal's channel for three straight mornings before beginning its northward drift.

Drag Races Here This Week End

The Annual Southwestern Regional Championship Drag Races will be held in Pampa Saturday and Sunday on a 200 foot wide, one mile track located three miles south of town on Highway 70, at the old Pampa Auxiliary Army Air Field.

From 250 to 300 cars are expected to participate in the meet that covers Texas, Colorado, New Mexico, Kansas and Oklahoma.

The races are sanctioned by the National Hot-Rod Association and are being sponsored by the timing associations of Denver, Colo., Dallas, Great Bend Kan., Rowell, N.M., Midland, Hobbs, N.M., Lubbock, Big Spring, Oklahoma City and Amarillo.

The Texas Panhandle Timing Association will be the host group of this year's races, as they have been during the past three years.

The cars competing will be preparing for participation in the fourth annual National Championship Drag Races to be held in Oklahoma City over the Labor Day weekend.

Dale Ham of Amarillo, regional adviser of the National Hot-Rod Association, said that the air strip "will allow spectators to see some of the southwest's outstanding cars from Dallas and the Kansas City area which should make witnessing of 150-mile-an-hour runs possible for the first time in this area."

"This year's event," Ham said, "promises to be one of exceptional activity due to the fact that we are using progressive timing which has been used successfully in California during the past year."

Races will be quarter mile acceleration based on speed as well as time elapsed.

Time trials Saturday should begin about 9 a.m. and continue through the afternoon. Trials will also be held Sunday morning and matched racing will begin at 2 p.m. Sunday afternoon.

News Coverage Of Red China Planned

WASHINGTON (UP) — A compromise plan for limited American news coverage of Communist China was up for discussion this afternoon in a meeting of news media representatives and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

The meeting may produce a long-awaited breakthrough in the Bamboo Curtain, which was first created by the Chinese Communists and later maintained by a State Department ban on American travel to the Chinese mainland.

Dulles was said to be ready to China of one reporter for each of about a dozen American news-gathering agencies, newspapers, radio-TV networks and magazines which had correspondents in China in 1949.

Chinese Order
Nearly eight years ago, the new Chinese Communist regime in effect evicted American newsmen by ordering them to stop filing dispatches. The State Department promptly denounced the ban as the act of a dictatorship fearful of "objective reporting."

"The order is not based on military security or censorship but solely on the ground of non-recognition of the recently announced Communist regime," the State Department said on Oct. 1, 1949. "It is evident that this order constitutes a crude effort on the part of the Chinese Communists to force recognition of their newly established regime."

When Red China offered last August to open its borders to American newsmen, the State Department reversed its position.

Against Policy
Dulles argued that to let Americans enter Communist China would weaken the U.S. policy of no contact with the Peiping regime, enhance its prestige, expose the State Department to demands of other Americans for passports and play into the Communists' hands.

Various proposals have been made by American news organizations. State Department officials said the majority of them suggested that if the number of American reporters in China must be limited by the U.S. government, a fair solution would be to let organizations covering China in 1949 resume their coverage.

Presumably it would be up to each organization to designate its correspondent, subject only to normal passport-clearance.

Houses Burn In McLean

(Special to The News)
MCLEAN — Two of the 12 houses under construction for El Paso Natural Gas Company burned to the ground Tuesday about 6 p.m.

The fire occurred about an hour after the workmen had been gone. It started in the first house from an unknown origin and soon spread to the second.

McLean's Fire Department arrived in time to save a third house. They were assisted by Day & Son water service, who hauled two extra truck loads of water out from town to aid in fighting the fire.

Scott Lumber Company of Amarillo are contractors building the houses for El Paso Natural Gas Company located three miles northeast of McLean.

Scouts Fold Tents; Close Jamboree

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (UP) — Some 32,500 Boy Scouts began folding their tents today and making preparations for the closing ceremonies of their fourth national jamboree.

The week-long gathering here is scheduled to end tonight with a candlelight ceremony in the sprawling natural amphitheater.

The irrepressible gaiety of youth was characterized by last-minute preparations and visits to new found jamboree friends in other parts of the huge encampment as the railroads prepared to haul the tired but happy scouts to their home towns around the nation.

The official closing of the jamboree too was the starting signal for some 180 scouts to embark at New York Friday for Plymouth, England — a vanguard of 1,700 scouts who will attend the 50th anniversary Jubilee Jamboree in Warwickshire, England in August.

The Jubilee Jamboree will gather together some 25,000 Boy Scouts from all nations in celebration of 50 years of international scouting, and also laud the 100th anniversary birth of the scouts' founder—Lord Baden-Powell, who started the first troop on his return from the Boer War in 1907.

The blaze of pageantry which marked the new-found friendships with boys from far away states, and the experiences of camping and mingling together will long be remembered by the boys after they reach home.

Woman Dies In Jump

NEW YORK (UP) — The 24-year-old daughter of a Milwaukee industrialist and former Republican national committeeman plunged to her death Wednesday from a 28th floor penthouse apartment of a Park Av. hotel.

She was identified by police as Patricia Philipp, the daughter of Cyrus L. Philipp and granddaughter of former Wisconsin Gov. Emanuel Philipp.

In her pocketbook, police found an unaddressed note reading:

"Dear Hon. This is the only way out. You are not to blame."

Police were unable to determine to whom the note was addressed, or the reason for the leap. Co-workers at the Allied Public Relations Associations, where Miss Philipp had been a secretary the last two months, could offer no reason for the apparent suicide. They described the gray-eyed brunette woman as an apparently happy person, popular with associates.

Syria Is Boosting Its Troops

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UP) — Highways leading to the tense Syrian-Israeli border are clogged with Syrian troop reinforcements moving into the area, reliable sources said today. Syria also was reported to have cancelled all army leaves.

The same sources quoted Syrian army officers as saying Israel had massed artillery and men at its border with Syria and in the demilitarized zones where Israel used tanks last week against Syrian guns in a ten-hour border battle.

A report from Damascus said an army alert was declared in Syria at start of the troop movements, but it was not established here whether the alert was regional or nationwide.

The Damascus reports said the Syrian government attitude was to expect the worst—another Israeli attack—and not to be caught unprepared if a major attack comes.

Food Expert Shies Away From Kitchen And Lets Husband Do Family Cooking

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) — One of the nation's top food experts doesn't like to cook. But that's O.K. — her husband does all the cooking in the family.

Dr. Esther F. Phipard, head of the Department of Agriculture's household economic research branch, says she has neither the time nor the inclination to cook. She prefers outdoor activity.

Husband Charles is a retired engineer, a former outdoor man himself. He says he enjoys the purchasing and cooking of all the household victuals, and it gives him something to do to occupy his time.

Mrs. Phipard has authored or coauthored many pamphlets and Department of Agriculture bulletins on nutrition and diet. Many of her pamphlets are a permanent part of the American kitchen, which she so happily avoids.

Although she doesn't like donning an apron and sweating over a hot stove, she has been interested in adequate foods all of her life. "The logic of nutrition has always appealed to me," she says. "It is logical that your health is related to what you eat."

Born on New York's Long Island, she studied home economics at Cornell and gained her Ph.D. in nutrition at Columbia, where she was elected to Sigma Psi, graduate scholarship honorary fraternity.

Her 20 years of service in the nutrition field for the Department of Agriculture have been interrupted only twice — for the birth of her two children, Jean, 20, now a nurse, and Jonathan, 15.

The Phipards live just outside a junior at Mary Washington College, Falls Church, Va., in a rambling house shaped like the letter H.

Mrs. Phipard's main activity outside working hours is her gardening. But true to her love for food, her garden is mostly vegetables and fruit trees with a few flowers "to pretty things up."

Asked for advice for mothers — or fathers — who are purchasing the family's groceries, she says: "Foods should be chosen intelligently, with a particularly important emphasis on foods containing calcium and vitamins A and C."

Mrs. Phipard recently directed the National Nutrition Education Conference in Washington, D.C., which included representatives from colleges, marketing services and federal extension services.

The conference sent out the word for a nutrition education program to emancipate the people from the stereotyped diet patterns your high school teacher chained you with.

The new approach says, "Eat what you want, but don't neglect those vitamins." Educators will now tell students to adjust their diets, not reform them.

A Platterful Of Good Eating Is Yours When You Serve Nourishing Cold Cuts

A platterful of good eating is yours when you arrange a selection of cold cuts for a meal. There's good eating in the meats for they offer a variety of flavors, abundant nutrition, and cholesterol meat preparation.

When selecting cold cuts for meat trays buy enough to allow a choice. Select a variety of flavors, textures, colors, and shapes. Choose some that are coarsely chopped and some fine — ground meats for texture contrast.

For color interest, select some cold cuts that are red, pink, and brown, and a few that are pickled, or cheese-flecked. For variety in shapes, you'll find cold cuts that are oval, round, square, or irregular.

For flavor contrast, there are unlimited possibilities for the ready-to-eat sausages are made of fresh and cured pork, beef, liver, and a combination of meats. The meats are further characterized by flavors that are smoked, spicy, tart, garlic flavored, to mention a few.

ARRANGING THE MEAT TRAY
Plan an attractive design for your cold cut platter. Arrange the slices to make service from the platter easy. Roll some of the larger slices, fashion them into cones, or cut them into halves for easier service.

Avoid overcrowding the platter, and keep garnishes to a minimum. Garnishes with flavor that go with the meat and add color to the tray are best choices.

Keep the arranged meat platter covered and refrigerated until time of service.

Cold cuts left after a meal can be used in sandwiches or casserole dishes. Keep the leftover cold cuts wrapped and refrigerated. Plan to use the meat within two or three days.

The cold cuts selected for the summertime meat platter pictured on the following page are:

Salami — Highly seasoned, air-dried sausage, containing just the right amount of garlic. Wonderful for cold meat platters, sandwiches, or sliced for use in salads and soups.

Liver Sausage — An excellent choice for the cold meat platter, for the delicately spiced and seasoned, and sometimes smoked, cooked sausage has pleasing texture — sliceable and spreadable — and most of the important nutritional values of liver.

Bologna — This mild and pleasing combination of ground beef and

Just The Ticket For July Picnic

HERE'S TO PICNIC MONTH! Just the ticket for Picnic Month which is being celebrated in July are these juicy, bacon-wrapped frankfurters. Adding a new twist to an old favorite, these "franks" are made with ground beef, seasonings and crisp corn flakes, then shaped like frankfurters and wrapped with bacon slices.

After grilling until the meat is browned and the bacon crisp, serve on heated frankfurter rolls. Add to complete your outdoor menu, you might serve individual casseroles of baked beans, raw vegetable sticks and a beverage.

FRANKBURGERS
2 cups Corn Flakes

- 1/2 cup milk
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 - 2 tablespoons grated onions
 - 1 pound ground beef
 - 8 slices of bacon
 - 8 frankfurter rolls
- Crush Corn Flakes slightly; combine with milk. Let stand about 3 minutes. Add salt, pepper, onions, and beef; mix well. Shape meat mixture into 8 frankfurter shaped portions; wrap each spirally with bacon slice. Fasten with toothpick. Broil about 10 minutes or until meat is brown and bacon is crisp. Serve in heated frankfurter rolls. Yield: 8 servings

Apple Cookies Are Palate Pleasers

A taste which delights the palate, a sight which delights the eye, is a plate of delectable homemade cookies.

Especially during the picnic season when pack-up desserts are at a premium, a good cookie recipe is an asset to any homemaker.

Spicy Apple Cookies is certainly one such recipe which is bound to win acclaim. These cookies are spread with a thin vanilla icing which makes them even more attractive and tempting.

SPICY APPLE COOKIES
1/2 cup lard
1 1/2 cups brown sugar
1 egg
2 cups sifted enriched flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cloves
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1 cup grated apples
1 cup raisins
1 cup chopped walnuts
1/2 cup milk

Cream lard and brown sugar. Add egg and beat. Sift together flour, baking powder, soda, salt and spices. Add half of the sifted dry ingredients to the creamed mixture and blend thoroughly. Add apples, raisins, nuts and milk. Add remaining dry ingredients. Mix well. Drop by teaspoonfuls, about 2 inches apart on greased cookie sheet. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) for 10 to 12 minutes. Remove, bake 4 cookies from pan immedately and while still warm spread with a vanilla icing made with confectioners' sugar.

EASY DINNER
Prepare your favorite meat loaf mixture. Pack it into an 8 X 11-inch loaf pan. After baking cut the loaf into six equal portions. Top each portion with a swirl of mashed potatoes. Place the meat squares and mashed potatoes under the broiler just long enough for the potatoes to gain a golden tinge.

Southern Favorite Becomes Universal

Fried pies are traditionally a southern favorite. But more and more fried pies are becoming a well-liked northern dessert specialty.

If you have not tasted these tempting individual pie creations, here's your opportunity. Imagine cutting into a flaky, crisp fried pie which is filled with a tempting peach, apricot or prune filling. It's the custom to serve the pies sprinkled with confectioners' sugar. Yum — it's an unbeatable dessert.

FRIED PIES
2 cups sifted enriched flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup lard
1/2 cup cold water
2 cups drained cooked peaches, prunes or apricots
1/4 cup sugar
1 pound lard for deep-fat frying
Confectioners' sugar

Sift together flour and salt and cut in lard. Add water. Roll out on floured board to about 1/4 inch thickness. With a large cookie cutter, cut circles about 5 inches in diameter. Add 1/4 cup sugar to fruit. In each round, place 1 1/2 tablespoons sweetened drained fruit. Moisten edges of pastry with cold water, fold to make a semicircle and press edges together with a fork. Fry in hot lard (350 degrees F.) for 3 to 4 minutes or until golden brown. Drain; sprinkle with confectioners' sugar. Yield: 12 pies.

Biggest Sellers...because they're Biggest Savers!

You can tell from the way they're put together that Chevrolet trucks stay on the job... save on the job!

A truck with built-in stamina — that's Chevy. Whether highballing down highways or roughing it across rugged terrain, or doing heavy-duty in town, dependable "see-take-it" Chevrolets are cutting downtime to the barest minimum.

A truck with a choice of ready-to-go power — that's Chevy. From an advanced lineup of eight engines — 140 to 210 hp — you can save by choosing the power precisely matched to your job. Thanks to compact weight-saving design, Chevrolet's V8's deliver high power per pound of engine weight — power that works harder for you. Chevy truck 6's are famous for their staying power. Whichever engine you choose, you know it's got the power to back up every inch of brawn in every Chevrolet Task-Force truck.

Refrigerator Cheese Cake Is Queenly Incomparable Warm-Weather Dessert

QUEEN OF CAKES
The queen of cakes to many tastes, is the firm, fine-textured cheese cake, made with rich ingredients — and in flavor, quite incomparable.

However, for those who would like their cake quite a little less rich in flavor, this Refrigerator Cheese Cake recipe is the one to try. Possibly better described as an elegant pudding, although it is accepted as cheese cake, it is made with a bottom layer of corn flakes crust and refrigerated until firm. The no-baking aspect, incidentally, makes this a perfect warm-weather dessert.

REFRIGERATOR CHEESE CAKE
4 cups Corn Flakes
1-3 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup sugar
1 1/2 tablespoons unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
2 eggs, separated
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup milk
1 pound cottage cheese
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1/2 cup lemon juice
1/2 cup heavy cream
Crush Corn Flakes into fine crumbs. Blend butter and sugar,

Culinary Whiz Really Clicks

For summer meals that really click, be a culinary whiz, put some real thought behind the planning.

Hawaiian Ham Salad is a wholesome and filling meat salad that will undoubtedly find many friends... it combines some of Hawaii's favorite foods, pineapple, ham, peanuts and other ingredients.

This recipe is certainly an asset to any homemaker. Not only is it a tempting and nutritious salad, it is also an excellent way of serving yesterday's leftover meat today. The way in which the meat is served has changed but the same delicious flavor is still there.

Hawaiian Ham Salad
2 cups cooked diced ham
1 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup pitted small ripe olives
1/2 cup pineapple chunks
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/4 cup peanuts
6 lettuce cups

Combine ham, celery, olives, and pineapple. Mix mayonnaise with lemon juice and add to ham mixture. Chill in refrigerator about 1 hour. Mix in peanuts. Serve in lettuce cups. Garnish with springs of parsley. Yield: 6 servings.

bacon slice can be secured with a wooden pick. A mushroom cap can then be placed on the tip of the wooden pick. These bacon-tomato-mushroom garnishes can be broiled with the steak during the last 8 to 10 minutes of cooking.

stir in Corn Flakes crumbs, mixing well. Press 3/4 crumb mixture into bottom of spring form pan. Chill.

Soften gelatin in water. Beat egg yolks slightly; stir in salt, sugar and milk. Cook over hot water or very low heat, stirring constantly until mixture thickens. Remove from heat. Stir in softened gelatin. Cool. Press cheese through a coarse sieve or beat with rotary beater until creamy. Combine with lemon rind and juice. Add to gelatin mixture, mixing well. Whip cream until stiff. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Fold into cheese mixture together with whipped cream. Spread in pan over mixture; sprinkle with remaining crumbs. Chill until firm.

Yield: 1 9-inch cheese cake

COOKING IN LIQUID
To procure the best results when cooking meat in liquid, keep these pointers in mind. Corned beef, cured pork and tongue are not browned before being cooked in liquid. Meats cooked in liquid should be simmered, never boiled. Boiling will cause the meat to become stringy and difficult to carve.

STEAK GARNISH
Garnishes can be so easy to prepare and add color and individuality to a meat platter too. An unusual steak garnish may be prepared by wrapping a half slice of bacon around tomato wedge. The LOOK OUT—Appearing to be heading for a mid-air collision over bustling Chicago, two U.S. Air Force Thunderbird jets roar toward each other at a speed of 10 miles a minute. Actually, it's just an optical illusion, for the planes are in different air lanes, with enough space between them to make the air show a thoroughly safe one. A team of four Thunderbirds put on a thrilling display of skill and speed for thousands who watched from below.

Who Wrote The Gobbledygook In Administration's Civil Rights Bill?

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—It would be a fair question to ask Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr., who in his department drafted the administration's civil rights bill and, along with the names of any outsiders who helped on the job.

With the authors identified, it would be reasonable to ask them about the legislative gobbledygook in Part III of the bill. Part III authorizes the use of the land and naval forces of the United States and the militia to enforce civil rights for Negroes in southern communities.

About all that is known of the authorship of the bill is that it was drafted in the Department of Justice or, at least, was made available to the House and the Senate by that department. Intentionally or not, the bill's authors chose a tricky and devious method of empowering the President to use troops in the South to enforce such rights as integrated schools, Troops Provision Buried.

It would be fair to question the authors about another interesting point. Why was this great enforcement power by land and sea forces provided for the miscellany of civil rights and not provided to enforce the greatest right of all—the right to vote?

The Senate by-passed its Judiciary Committee in bringing the civil rights bill to the floor. If the bill had been referred to that committee, Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) probably would have sought the presence of the bill's authors as witnesses. And such questions as are suggested here undoubtedly would have been asked. Russell doesn't like any part of the bill. He especially objects to what he regards as deceit and double talk in its presentation.

"The purpose of this bill," he told the Senate, "was to tie this whole proposition into a law authorizing the use of troops to integrate southern schools and not for the purpose of assuring the right of any citizen of this country to vote."

Another fair question to the authors and assistant authors would be: Was that the purpose?

Briton Is Cured Of A Rare Ailment, Compulsory Cursing

By DELOS SMITH
United Press Science Editor
NEW YORK (UP)—Medical science has succeeded, at last, in deliberately curing one case of an exceedingly strange disease. But the victory is rather embarrassing—because science isn't sure how it was done.

The disease is compulsive swearing which, scientifically, is "Gilles de la Tourette's disease." Some people who are forever making the atmosphere bite with their cursing, are not victims of this disease. They're victims, rather, of habit.

The real victims have absolutely no choice about it. A twitching of the facial muscles comes over them, causing mouth and tongue to twitch, too. When this happens, they spout obscenities—loudly and clearly.

Georges Gilles de la Tourette, distinguished French neurologist, (1857-1904) got his name attached to it because he was the first to describe it scientifically although not the first to observe it.

Cites Classic Case
The classic case was that of a woman who was seven when she fell victim to it, spent a life-time isolated from society because she couldn't control it, and still had it when she died at 85.

Most authorities consider it a prelude to frank insanity. And all authorities are gloomy about the future of the victims, considering it more or less incurable. That is why the deliberate cure of just one case is quite big news in medical science.

The cure was brought about by Dr. Richard P. Michael in a London hospital and reported in full detail to the British Medical Assn. The victim was 28 and the disease had been building up since childhood. When he came to treatment he was utterly unacceptable in business, in social life, even in the family circle.

The reason was that compulsive swearing overtook him 10 to 40 times an hour. He was free of it only while asleep. The most thorough physical examinations and all possible laboratory tests failed to reveal a physical cause. The man was given psycho-therapy, that is, an effort was made to doctor his mind. It was completely unsuccessful.

So Dr. Michael set out to treat the physical tension which seemed to be behind the spasmodic twitching which accompanied the swearing. He did so by having the man inhale an atmosphere that was 70 per cent carbon dioxide, which is the spark and bubble of soda water.

This was repeated 30 times, over two months. Gradually the twitching—and swearing—diminished in frequency until it was no longer present. The man has been out of the hospital for 14 months, is a success in business, well-liked by friends and family, and is free of the disease.

Michael thought that, perhaps, the carbon dioxide had changed chemical balances of the blood. Suppose, he said, that the twitching, and "repetitive speech disturbance" was due to a "self-perpetuating process" of "muscular and vocal discharges."

IT'S THE LAW
in Texas

A publication of the State Bar of Texas

No Will? Who Inherits Property?

What will happen if you should die without executing a legal and proper will? Who will inherit your property? Your husband, wife, mother, father, children, your wife's relatives? The best way you can say who will have it is to provide a will which will protect your rightful beneficiaries and dispose of your property in accordance with your wishes.

When a deceased has no will, or dies "intestate" as the law calls it, the property of that person is distributed according to a detailed formula fixed by law. In some cases this may be the way you yourself would divide it—but in many cases it is not.

The provisions of the law concerning the distribution of the property of a person who dies without a will are rather complicated, and all of the possibilities cannot be covered by a general statement.

There are different rules for real estate and for personal property, for community property and for separate property, for homestead property, and for all of the many possible combinations of surviving relatives. Each situation must be carefully studied to determine the correct distribution of the property.

For example, here is a general idea of how the community property which you and your spouse have accumulated will be divided if you do not make a will prior to your death.

If your husband or wife survives and there are no children, the surviving spouse receives all of the property.

If, in addition, there are surviving children or descendants of deceased children, they would divide one-half of the property, while the surviving spouse would receive the other one-half.

Of course, grandchildren do not share in the estate unless their parent who would inherit is deceased. And when descendants of previously deceased children do inherit, they receive only the portion that the child would have received, regardless of the number of such descendants.

An odd note, perhaps, is that the surviving spouse already owns one-half of the community estate prior to your death, and the law adds nothing to this share where there are children surviving.

When there are only children and their descendants surviving, they divide the entire community estate between them.

(This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

She Is Against Sex-As Presented On Television

(William Ewald is on vacation. Today's guest writer is Rose La Rose, stripteuse and student of our social customs).

By ROSE LA ROSE
Written For United Press
NEW YORK (UP)—I'm against sex-as it's presented on TV.

I accuse television of robbing women of their femininity and men of their most masculine qualities. Watching TV, you would believe that American men are idiots, incapable of surviving without calling on the intelligence of their women — worms that women are kind enough to protect.

This hurts me. First, as a performer, for these men are my fans whose patronage earns me $100,000 a year for a few months' work. Second, as a woman, because I want a man to make me feel feminine. I don't want to be overpowering him—that's his role.

Comedy From Burlesque
And if he's grown up strongly influenced by TV, I'm afraid he wouldn't begin to know how!

TV owes a great deal to burlesque. Many top stars served their apprenticeship in our theatres. Much of the comedy is classic bits from burlesque. Many TV situation comedies are built on a burlesque bit twisted to fit a TV plot line.

What they should have borrowed from burlesque and didn't is the tradition that sex appeal has nothing to do with a few inches here or there on a girl's figure. SA is in the mind—you can drape and undrape, dress and undress an actress, but unless she can feel the right emotion and put it across with subtle gestures, the audience won't dig her.

Little-Feeling Shows
I asked a famous psychanalyst once about sex on TV and he said:

"There is little mature sexual feeling shown on TV. The shows usually deal with sex on the level of the pre-adolescent child — who is very curious, but frightened of it."

"Women in TV dramas entice men in childish ways:

1. Feeding them.

2. Babbling them.

3. Making them jealous."

Actors I have watched on TV haven't been filled with a passion for a woman as much as concern for how their profiles are coming over. The girls I have seen on TV aren't filled with great longing for a man, but project the thought: "If the kids in the actors studio could see me now!"

To the writers I say: Mama doesn't know best.

To the actresses I say: Cleavage is a problem for the cameraman and your dressmaker. You "tune" with your eyes, voice and hands—not your hips!

To the TV viewers I say: There is a great day coming manana. For surely the present day TV heroines can not create the next generation. Comics may disappear from TV, but women never. The present ones will be replaced by those who have fire, depth, excitement. The best way to describe them is to say they will be wom-

LUCKY—If the expression "Lucky 7" means anything, Michael Rogers, 1, who's happy these days just riding his hobby horse, might someday take a fling at betting the horses. The Atlanta, Ga., youngster has a long line of 7's. He was born on the 7th day, of the 7th month, at 7 a. m., weighing 7 pounds, 7 ounces. He's the 7th grandchild on the paternal side and the 7th grandchild on the maternal side.

'Miss USA' Worked In Amarillo As Clerk

By ALINE MOSBY

United Press Hollywood Writer
HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Myrna Hansen proves why she's one of the few actress graduates of the Miss Universe contest: She's so determined to act she disappeared for six months to find out about life around the country.

Citizens of Cincinnati, St. Petersburg, La., and Amarillo, Tex., didn't know it, but Myrna, the Miss USA of four years ago, worked as a clerk and a waitress in their towns.

Myrna claims she changed her name and toured the nation on bus "because I knew so little about people and life and I couldn't give sincerity to a role."

Her plan apparently worked. She wound up with an MGM contract.

Credits Drive
The brunette actress thinks her drive is why she's headed up the ladder while other entrants in the annual beauty contest have not fared so well with their acting goals.

The only other contestants acting regularly in show business are Jackie Loughey, busy on TV, and Ingrid Goude, Miss Sweden of last year whose contract was renewed last week at Universal-International Studio. Last year's Miss Universe, Carol Morris, is winding up her job at UI. The studio, in fact, has reaped so few actresses out of the Miss Universe contest that this year UI is not offering the contestants movie contracts.

But after 25 small rolls at UI, Myrna Hansen graduated to a plump role in MGM's "Raintree County," and a long-term contract at that studio—thanks to her six-month disappearing act.

"Very few beauty contest winners understand the hard work you have to put in to be an actress," she said. "They think they'll be stars overnight — and the Miss Universe people don't discourage that idea."

"When I came here I'd planned to go to college and study animal husbandry. I never had gone to movies. I thought Darryl F. Zanuck was a breakfast food."

Wonderful Money
"Then I decided to be an actress—you can travel, meet different people, make wonderful money."

She settled down to study—and even gave up a social life, indicating the tremendous ambition of those who aspire to stardom.

Myrna still doesn't date, go to parties or even visit friends.

"I asked MGM if I could go away for six months because I realized how little I knew about life.

"HAPPY JULY BIRTHDAY"

On the first Thursday of each month, The Altrusa Club gives a birthday party for all Senior Citizens, who have had or will have birthdays during that respective month. An especially-baked cake, presented by Mrs. Emily Coston, Altrusan, and gifts from the club help mark the occasion, which is celebrated at the weekly meeting of Senior Citizens in the Lovett Memorial Library. July celebrants are, left to right, H. L. Anthony, 728 N. Lammer, on the 31st; Mrs. Ethel Arthur, 410 N. West and Earl Lane, 515 Ash, who shared July 10th as their birthday date. (News Photo)

KESSIE MAE SEARIGHT Brother Ray attended the noon luncheon. Mrs. Jim Connor was hostess to the Searight Circle with Mrs. Ralph Brock reading the prayer calendar and offering the opening prayer. A portion of the mission book, "Helping Others To Become Christians" was taught by Mrs. Charlye Thomas. Carol Gates was a visitor with twelve members present. Mrs. W. L. Ferguson closed the meeting with prayer.

HAZEL MAYO The Mayor Circle met with Mrs. Richard Muncieff with Mrs. RLES Terrell opening the meeting with prayer. Mrs. Sam Hanks led in the business meeting. Mrs. Jimmy Self read the prayer calendar. Mrs. Gene McClendon gave a portion of the mission book, "Helping Others To Become Christians." Mrs. Terrell and Mrs. Thurman Upshaw were visitors. Five members were present.

ANNIE SALLEE Mrs. Fred Williams was hostess to the Sallee Circle with Mrs. A. P. Halligan offering the opening prayer. Mrs. Henry Taylor gave a portion of the mission book, "Helping Others To Become Christians." Mrs. A. P. Halligan and Ruth Brown were visitors. A total of eight members were present.

EDITH DYAL Mrs. C. G. Miller was hostess to the Dyal Circle meeting with Mrs. Sam Bateas leading a short business meeting. Mrs. A. L. Taylor offered the opening prayer. Mrs. Miller read the prayer calendar. Mrs. J. B. Hilburn offered a prayer for the missionaries around the world. Mrs. Kenneth Gray gave a portion of the mission book, "Practical Primer on Prayer." Nine members were present. Group dismissed by a season of prayer.

Members of the Cyal Circle journeyed to Perryton recently to meet in the home of a former member, Mrs. Carroll Ray. Mrs. Sam Bateas, circle chairman, had charge of the business meeting. Mrs. C. G. Miller read the prayer calendar and Mrs. J. B. Hilburn offered the opening prayer. Mrs. Charles Terrell gave the devotional. Mrs. E. B. Davis had charge of the ministerial relief program. A handkerchief shower was presented Mrs. Ray in honor of her birthday. Members taking a covered-dish and making the trip to Perryton were Mmes. C. G. Miller, J. B. Hilburn, Kenneth Gray, Catheryn Osburn, E. B. Davis, Sam Bateas, Charles Terrell; president, and two guests, Mrs. Virgil Henshaw, Amarillo, and Mrs. N. O. Padgett, Durant, Okla.

Ice Cream Social To Be Held By HD Club Tonight

An ice cream and cake social was planned by members of the Merten Home Demonstration Club at its meeting at 1:30 on Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. L. F. Watt. The social will be held tonight at 7 p.m. in the City Park for members and their families.

A short business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. Watt, during which suggestions were made for the club's year book. They are to be passed on to the August council meeting. Mrs. V. Smith, program leader, assisted by Mrs. A. M. Nash, exhibited a selection of kitchen curtains. Mrs. Smith suggested that kitchen curtain material must be selected as to whether it will drape nicely. Towelling, domestic prints, Indian Head and plisses will make attractive, easily-laundered, colorfast, and quickly-made kitchen curtains. The new drip-dry materials are new for curtain making.

One suggestion for making curtains of Indian Head of two harmonizing colors, is to make a button hole in the point or tab and button over the rod. "A square of plisse, with a rod at the top and bottom, and the curtain tied in the middle is a new curtain idea." The meeting for the group will be announced at the social meeting tonight. Refreshments were served during the social hour.

Summer Comfort Important To Baby

In the Summer small babies have a pretty miserable time of it. Lying flat in the crib, the air doesn't circulate around them. They can't straighten their arms and legs so perspiration collects at the chubby folds . . . the wrists, elbows and the backs of the legs . . . and prickly heat develops. Then there's chafing where chubbiness and diaper meet.

Well, what can you do to make the Summer months a little more comfortable for the crib set? If there's a cooler room than the nursery, turn it over to baby during the really hot days. Keep the under sheet in the crib drawn tight as creases are not only uncomfortable but they collect heat. Don't take the infant out during the hottest part of the day. If you're going to park her in the carriage pick the shadiest, breezeiest spot around.

When giving baby a tub, add two tablespoons of baking soda to the water in the bathnet. The mild alkaline action of the soda will soothe prickly heat once it's struck and will help prevent it if it hasn't appeared yet. A sponging a couple of times a day with a solution of a quart of cool water per teaspoon of soda at the wrists, elbows and knees will also soothe soreness. Follow it up with a light dusting of baking soda at these strategic spots.

MEAT SALAD IDEA Meat salads lend themselves well to serving as entrees during the summer months. As a quick meat salad idea combine pineapple chunks with cubes of cooked ham or veal. Add mayonnaise to moisten. Serve this mixture in a cantaloupe half.

Tomorrow's Dinner: Blended tomato and clam or grapefruit juice, fried ham, pancakes, butter or margarine, raw vegetable salad, cantaloupe filled with ice cream, coffee, tea, milk.

Pancakes Rule Supreme With Boy Scout Cooks

By GAYNOR MADDOX NEA Food and Markets Editor Cookouts and overnights are favorite activities of Boy Scouts because it helps them to earn merit badges and honors. We learned that one of their favorite recipes for breakfast cookouts is ham and cheese pan sams. Slices of Swiss cheese and boiled ham alternating between layers of golden brown pancakes are guaranteed to satisfy "man-sized" appetites. Plenty of hot maple or maple-blended syrup is a must. Charles E. Beck of Lansing, Ill., leader of two Scouts and Scout father of a group of 12, gave us this information based on his experience. "Part of camping," according to our expert, "is teaching these junior citizens how to pitch a tent, to build a campfire as well as to cook their own meals. The boys learn fast about using easy - to - carry foods with many uses. Pancake mix is a favorite."

HAM AND CHEESE PAN SAMS (2 SERVINGS)
Pancakes: One cup milk, 1 egg, 1 cup pancake mix, 1 tablespoon melted butter, 2 slices boiled ham, 2 slices Swiss cheese, maple or maple-blended syrup.
For the pancakes, place milk, egg, pancake mix and melted butter in shaker or glass jar. Shake vigorously 10 to 15 times or until batter is fairly smooth. Pour about 1/3 cup batter for each pancake onto a hot, lightly greased griddle. Bake to a golden brown, turning only once. While pancakes are baking, fry ham slices. Stack 3 pancakes: with cheese on one, and ham on the other and top with thin. Serve with syrup.
Note: One cup diluted evaporated milk may be substituted for fresh milk.

Cardinals Regain NL Lead With 7-3 Victory Over Dodgers

Phillies Drop To 3rd With 10-3 Loss To Milwaukee

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer

The National League race resembled a crowded telephone booth today with four other clubs waiting around impatiently to put in a pennant call as soon as they can get the first-place Cardinals off the line.

St. Louis just managed to sneak into the lead by one percentage point with a 7-3 victory over Brooklyn Wednesday night.

But the Cards know they are being pressed and that their time may run out any moment. Milwaukee is first in line, only one percentage point away from the lead. Philadelphia is in third place, only a half-game back, while Brooklyn is 1½ games off the pace and Cincinnati only two.

"This thing is so tight right now," commented Redleg manager Birdie Tebbets, "that three clubs can change places between lunchtime and dinner."

To prove Tebbets' point, the Braves dumped the Phillies from first place to third by beating them, 10-3, Wednesday night. Cincinnati edged the Giants, 5-4, and the Cubs defeated the Pirates, 4-3, in their own private battle for seventh place.

The Yankees retained their four-game lead in the American League with a 5-1 decision over Detroit. Washington snapped Cleveland's five-game winning streak, 11-6; Chicago beat Baltimore, 3-1, and Kansas City went 12 innings to top Boston, 4-3.

In beating Brooklyn, the Cardinals ended Don Newcombe's six-year mastery over them by defeating him for the first time since Aug. 23, 1951. He had beaten them 12 times since then. They chased him with a four-run rally in the fourth inning that included a two-run homer by Wally Moon. Del Ennis also homered for the Cards as Sam Jones struck out 12 batters in registering his eighth victory.

Milwaukee's victory over the Phillies was marked by a first-inning rhabarb in which Philadelphia starter Robin Roberts had to be restrained from attacking umpire Jocko Conlan. The fireworks started over a double play call that went against the Phils. Hank Aaron and Red Schoendienst each collected three hits in Milwaukee's 13-hit attack. Roberts was ejected in the first inning and his successor, Jack Meyer, was the loser. Lew Burdette was the winner.

George Crowe hit a pair of homers and drove in four runs in Cincinnati's triumph over the Giants. Brooks Lawrence notched his 10th victory although he pitched only one inning in the eighth. Curt Barclay was the loser.

Ernie Banks' squeeze bunt with two out in the seventh inning brought in Bob Speake with the Cubs' winning run. Moe Drabowsky had to have help from Dick Littlefield for his fifth win while Ronnie Kline suffered his 13th setback.

Bob Turley limited the Tigers to six hits and Jerry Coleman and Yogi Berra each homered off Jim Bunning for the Yankees' victory. Coleman's homer was his first in three years while Berra's was his 18th of the season.

Left-hander Chuck Stobbs of the Senators helped his own cause by giving in two runs with a pair of hits in the season at Cleveland's expense. Roy Sievers hit his 21st homer with one on for Washington while George Strickland and Dick Williams homered for the Indians.

Rebs Open Playoff Series With Monterrey Tonight In Oiler Park

The Pampa Rebels will meet the Monterrey Legion team tonight in Oiler Park at 8:15 for the first game of the bi-district playoff series.

Snead Leads After First Round Of PGA Tourney

By LEO H. PETERSEN
United Press Sports Editor

DAYTON, Ohio (UP)—Sammy Snead, shooting one of his finest rounds, led 64 survivors into two sudden-death, 18-hole rounds in the PGA golf championship today with all the top favorites still in the running.

Doug Ford, the favorite; Walter Burkemo, one of the greatest match players in the game; defending champion Jackie Burke, U.S. Open king Dick Mayer and most of the other "name" golfers still were in the running along with Snead, who is gunning for his fourth PGA championship.

Three ex-champs fell by the wayside in the opening 18-hole round of match play Wednesday. Former champions Chick Harbert, Chandler Harper and Jim Turnesa were eliminated along with Ed Furgol, the 1954 U.S. Open champion.

Snead Calls Penalty
Snead, despite calling a penalty on himself which cost him the 11th hole, defeated John Serafin of Pittston, Pa., 4 and 2, as he overpowered the hilly 6,773-yard Miami Valley Golf Club. He was six under par for the 16 holes it took him to close out the match.

will be decided in two out of three games, with the second game moving to Hodges Park in Lubbock Friday night at 8:15. If a third game is necessary, the Rebels will remain in Lubbock for the final tilt Saturday night.

Monterrey enters the series with a perfect record at 17 wins against no losses. The Rebels have 16 victories against three losses for the season, with one of the losses being in district play. Monterrey scored one of the non-district losses against Pampa in a recent game in Lubbock, with Berger and Elk City accounting for the other Rebel defeats.

Starting on the mound for Pampa will be Gary Heiskell, who is credited with only one loss for the season. Heiskell pitched a four-hit game against the Amarillo Chiefs in the victory that won the district championship for the Rebels.

Arlan Flake will start on the mound for Monterrey with seven wins of the perfect season to his credit.

The starting lineup for Pampa will be Bill Brown, 22; David Marler, cf; Dale Lake, 2b; Ray Stephenson, 1b; Larry Cruise, lf; Robert Murray, 3b; Mike Conway, c; Terry Haralson or Gary Wilhelm, rf; and Gary Heiskell, p.

For Monterrey will be Bill Adams, cf; Jim Harris, 22; Mike McElrath, 3b; Bill Boyd, 1b; Arlan Flake, p; Jerry Graham, lf; Ronnie Arrington, rf; Rucker Barrett, c; and Dennis Willett, 2b.

The Pampa Rebels are managed and coached by Deck Woldt, assisted by Joe Fortin. Dale Grimes coaches the Monterrey team.

Jim Browning of Weston, Mass., eliminated Furgol 2 and 1; Skeel Riegel eliminated Harbert in 19 holes; Turnesa was knocked out by Bill Nary of Wayne, Mich., 2 and 1, and Harper was beaten by Mike Krak of Morgantown, W.Va., 3 and 2.

Gene Littler, who is in the tournament on a pass, bested Don Fairfield in a battle of birdies.

Littler shot a 4-under-par 67 as he turned back Fairfield, 1-up.

Dow Finsterwald, another of the heralded youngsters who is playing in the event for the first time, made the second round when his opponent, Theodore Sleichter, the 39-year-old pro at the Gettysburg Country Club at Gettysburg, Pa., where President Eisenhower plays his golf when at his farm home there, called a penalty shot on himself on the 17th hole.

Burkemo had a rough time before he bested Toby Lyons of Jamestown, N.Y., 1-up. Ford beat Denny Champagne of Orlando, Fla., 4 and 3; Burke beat host pro Gene Marchi, 4 and 2, and Mayer defeated Arthur Stubler of Pittsfield, Mass., 6 and 5.

Mike Sogchak, another of the younger pros who is rated high for this tournament, advanced with a 5 and 3 triumph over Charley Johnson of Hinsdale, Ill.

Jim Browning of Weston, Mass., eliminated Furgol 2 and 1; Skeel Riegel eliminated Harbert in 19 holes; Turnesa was knocked out by Bill Nary of Wayne, Mich., 2 and 1, and Harper was beaten by Mike Krak of Morgantown, W.Va., 3 and 2.

Jim Browning of Weston, Mass., eliminated Furgol 2 and 1; Skeel Riegel eliminated Harbert in 19 holes; Turnesa was knocked out by Bill Nary of Wayne, Mich., 2 and 1, and Harper was beaten by Mike Krak of Morgantown, W.Va., 3 and 2.

Jim Browning of Weston, Mass., eliminated Furgol 2 and 1; Skeel Riegel eliminated Harbert in 19 holes; Turnesa was knocked out by Bill Nary of Wayne, Mich., 2 and 1, and Harper was beaten by Mike Krak of Morgantown, W.Va., 3 and 2.

SURE HANDS—The Cincinnati Reds have power and a stout defense, but more often than not don't know what to use for pitching. Skillful infielders are, left to right, Johnny Temple, Roy McMillan and Don Hoak. All the Redleg pitchers have to do is keep ball on the ground.

Putting Tournament Held Tonight

The regular weekly partnership putting tourney will be held tonight at the Pampa Country Club beginning at 7:30. Hart Warren, Country Club pro, announced.

The tourneys, sponsored by the Ladies Golf Association are held each Thursday evening on the lighted green at the club.

Contestants should sign up before 7:30 so names can be drawn for partners before play begins. All persons interested are invited to enter. Fee for the tourney is 50 cents each.

Previous tourneys have hosted nearly 50 entries each night, with both men and women competing.

A's President Declares No Connecting Ties With Yanks

WASHINGTON (UP)—The president of the Kansas City Athletics declared today there are absolutely no ties between his A's and the New York Yankees.

Arnold Johnson, boss of the Athletics, made the statement to a reporter before testifying at a House anti-trust subcommittee hearing on sports legislation.

The subcommittee planned to ask Johnson if he severed all connections with the Yankees when he got control of the Athletics in 1954 and moved them from Philadelphia to Kansas City.

Johnson said he disposed of all his stock in the corporation which owns Yankee Stadium a few months after he took over the Athletics.

Matthew M. Fox, president of Skiatron TV, Inc., also was slated to testify today about his plans to inaugurate pay-as-you-see TV for major league baseball.

Fox's firm, Skiatron, has been negotiating with both the New York Giants and the Brooklyn Dodgers for rights to carry their home games over closed-circuit TV.

Giants' President Horace Stoneham told the subcommittee Wednesday he had reached an agreement with Skiatron subject to approval by his board of directors and the National League.

Stoneham said closed-circuit TV would begin next season for the Giants if they move to San Francisco as they contemplate, or when their present broadcasting agreement runs out if they stay in New York.

He said he hasn't come to any agreement to shift to San Francisco but confessed he was "very interested" in the offer he received from officials of that city. He said he expects to get more details in August or early September.

He extended Giardello's unbeaten string to 11 straight.

Unranked Vejar, the 4-1 underdog, provided such unexpectedly stiff competition in the nationally televised 10-rounder that many of the 4,500 fans thought he had won.

Chico of Stamford, Conn., said today, "I thought I won unquestionably. I out-speeded him in every round, I'll prove it in a return bout."

Score by innings:
Hoffman 5 0 9 10 0
Cabot 2 0 3 0 0

Scheduled farm team games for Saturday afternoon are Jeffries vs. Sportmen at Baker School, Tom Rose vs. Cabot at High School, and Hoffman vs. Utility at Optimist Park.

Hoffman Wallops Cabot

In Little League farm team action last night Hoffman walloped Cabot, 34-5, in a game played at the Optimist Park grounds.

Winning pitcher for Hoffman was Robins, with Baton catching. Batteries for the winners were relieved in the third by Calvin Jones, who hurled the remainder of the game, and Eddie Wells, who finished behind the plate.

Jeinick was credited with Cabot's loss on the mound with Rick Foster catching. Jeinick was relieved by Morse, who finished the game for Cabot.

Sparkling the Hoffman team was Dean Roberts, Pat Stricklin, Danny Hill, and Bryan Martin. Martin clouted five hits for five trips to the plate, two of which went for doubles. Hill hit four for five trips and Galloway accounted for four runs with five times at bat.

Sparkling the Cabot team was Morse, Foster, Dickens and Neslege. Neslege scored two runs for four times at bat, and Foster, a nine year old catcher, showed outstanding ability behind the plate, and accounted for two runs in four trips to the plate.

Coached by Carden the Cabot team got a late start in the season but have been gaining since they began play. This was their worst defeat of the season.

Hoffman is presently at the top of the league with only one loss to their credit.

Score by innings:
Hoffman 5 0 9 10 0
Cabot 2 0 3 0 0

Scheduled farm team games for Saturday afternoon are Jeffries vs. Sportmen at Baker School, Tom Rose vs. Cabot at High School, and Hoffman vs. Utility at Optimist Park.

Pampa Paint & Glass Drops To Kist, 5-3

In Pony League action Tuesday night, Kist defeated Pampa Paint & Glass, 5-3.

Ray Stephenson pitched the winner for Kist with Larry Taylor catching.

For Pampa Paint, George Duke was credited with the loss, with Jim Scott catching.

Tebbets Retracts Racial Accusations

NEW YORK (UP)—Birdie Tebbets' accusations were stricken from the official record today but, like a good attorney, he made his point and the chances are National League pitchers won't throw at Frank Robinson of Cincinnati so often in the future.

Tebbets admitted he made a mistake Wednesday and recanted his charge that pitchers have been throwing at Robinson because he is a Negro.

The Cincinnati pilot made the accusation originally after Robinson was hit on the head by a Rubin Gomez pitch in a game with the New York Giants Tuesday night.

National League President Warren Giles called Tebbets to task for his remarks and the Redlegs' pilot agreed they were "unwarranted."

"I don't believe Gomez' action was discriminatory in any sense," Tebbets said. "I realize I was being unfair when I said it."

Still, Tebbets got his message across the perhaps it was significant that not a single pitch came close to Robinson in Wednesday's game with the Giants which the Redlegs won, 5-4.

Robinson said he suffered no after-effects from being hit but he insisted four clubs — the Giants, Dodgers, Cubs and Pirates — are "always throwing at me."

Prior to Tuesday night, Robinson had been hit on the head twice this season, once in a game with the Pirates and again in a game with the Cubs.

"I can always count on being in the dirt some time in every series against those four clubs," Robinson said. "I don't know why, but I seem to be the guy who goes down all the time on our club. If George Crowe has a good day in front of me or someone has a good day behind me, I'm the guy who goes down."

Crowe had a great day Wednesday—he hit home runs his first two times up batting fourth behind Robinson — but none of the three Giants pitchers knocked Robinson down.

Difference In Men

The differences between people cause a great deal of trouble.

It is because of differences that many people call upon the government. They hope that the government, in some way, will make everyone the same.

There is almost an emotional intensity about this. It is particularly noticeable in our young people in school. The non-conformist and the individualist are placed at a distinct disadvantage.

A student of one of our southern colleges was telling us about the situation he found there. He reported that one of his classmates was strictly a young fellow who did his own thinking. As a result this fellow refused to follow the pattern of dress, diet or anything else practiced by his contemporaries. As a matter of fact, even in such personal affairs as his bathing he showed a distinct reluctance to follow the form. He bathed when he thought he should. This sometimes meant several baths in one day; sometimes it meant several weeks without a bath.

The students were so angry with the failure of this student to comply with what they thought his conduct should have been that they frequently took physical action against him. They stormed into his room when he was out. . . he had no room mate. . . poured water in his bed, tore down his picture and deranged his clothing. And this was done on more than one occasion. The young man did not respond in kind, but continued in his isolated way.

This example is bad enough. But when a group of people, disconcerted by the conduct, the religion, the color of one of their fellows, crystallizes its bigotry in action taken up with the government, it can be anticipated that laws will be passed which compel a uniformity where none is either needed or wanted. The entire procedure becomes one of the greatest immorality, wherein the aggressive force and violence of government is employed to coerce an unnatural obedience where none is either needed or would be given naturally.

Illustrations of the use of government force in this connection are plentiful. They go hand in hand with union compulsory membership, backed by government force; uniform school attendance, backed by government force; and the payment of all manner of taxes which could not be approved by the individuals thus assessed.

What all of us should recognize is the fact that our differences, instead of being a curse to be uprooted even by force and violence, constitute our greatest asset.

Stop for a moment and think. If every person in the world were exactly the same as you are, all persons would die, including you. What do you do for a living? Handle groceries? Drive a truck? Operate a typewriter? Teach? Sell? Whatever it is, your occupation, if it were the ONLY occupation, could never be sustained without the differences in others. If you handle groceries, there must be thousands of persons behind you, growing and raising food, harvesting, packing, transporting, building stores and so forth. If all persons did exactly what you do, none of you would have any use for the services of anyone else. And no one could sustain himself. The character and the divergence of your contemporaries are the major items on which you must depend, not only for survival but for your own standard of living.

It is absolutely imperative that all of us be different. And while many of us may be similar in certain respects, the valuable parts of our existence are related immediately to our differences, not our similarities.

In sum, we could say that humanity is completely dependent upon the fact that all men are in their abilities, their interests, their achievements, completely unequal. There are no two exactly alike. How wrong it is, and how foolish, to make any attempt to cost everyone over in our own image.

William Cowper, in his masterpiece "The Time-piece," Book II, says, "Variety is the very spice of life." Indeed it is. It is not only what makes life interesting and fascinating, it is responsible for life itself.

The Doctor Says

By EDGAR F. JORDAN, M. D.

I can readily understand why the writer of today's first letter is slightly puzzled.

Q - I have never read anything about what happens after a thyroid gland is removed. I had a good part of my thyroid removed, and I wonder how the body gets along without such an important gland. Can you explain? - G.M.

A - The thyroid is an important gland of internal secretion lying in the front portion of the neck. Sometimes, as has been explained in this column, the gland cells secrete abnormally, which causes the condition known as toxic goiter. One of the well-known treatments is removal of part of the gland by surgery. The surgeon attempts to remove enough of the abnormal tissue so that the undesirable effects will disappear, but to leave enough so that the body will get the needed amount of thyroid secretion. If not enough is removed further treatment may be necessary. If too much is removed it may be necessary for the patient to take thyroid extract by mouth. However, in the majority of cases today the operation is successful.

Q - How can you reconcile your recent statement on fibroids that they have a tendency to grow with what a gynecologist told me that they would shrink as I experienced the menopause? - Mrs. F.

A - It is correct that usually fibroids tend to increase in size up until the time of the change of life. After that time they may indeed shrink. It is for this reason that in many instances fibroids are not operated upon if they are not producing severe symptoms and if the patient is close enough to the change of life.

Q - Will you say something about salt-free diets? How long can a person safely live without salt in the diet? - Reader.

A - In certain conditions involving the heart, the blood vessels or the kidneys, in particular, the physician feels that salt should be greatly reduced in the diet. It is a mistake, however, to feel that salt can be removed entirely. It is better to refer to this as salt-poor diet rather than salt-free diet. In any event, people get along for a long period without harmful and, indeed, with beneficial effects from a diet exceedingly low in ordinary table salt.

Q - I am anxious to find out something about Cushing's disease, since one group of doctors say I have it and the other tells me I do not. - E.D.

A - I cannot possibly decide between the "two groups of doctors." The condition is named after the late Dr. Harvey Cushing. It is now considered to be the result of excessive production of a secretion of the adrenal glands (lying next to the kidneys), either because of a tumor of another gland - the pituitary - lying in the brain, or disease of the adrenal gland itself. The diagnosis can usually be made by laboratory tests in addition to the symptoms. Treatment depends on whether the primary source of the trouble is in the pituitary or the adrenal glands.

The Energy Of Exchange

I want to continue to quote from Spencer Heath's "Citadel, Market and Altar" under his chapter "The Energy of Exchange."

Mr. Heath seems to coin words, but he has an index in the rear that defines the meaning of these words.

In this chapter he uses the word "societal." He defines it as follows:

"This differs from the term social only in being more specific. It has reference always to the general organization of a population under the voluntary relationships whereby it functions creatively upon its environment, whereas social often includes any kind of human, or even animal, interrelationship."

This chapter is really an explanation of the free, competitive, private enterprise system. It seems to me it is laissez-faire economy. He puts it this way:

"However blind the members of a society may remain as to the integrative and creative effects that grow out of their trafficking to each other of use or possession of services and of commodities into which services have been wrought, however little each may regard the welfare of others or of the whole, still he must give services to others if others shall be either willing or able to return services to him. This symbiotic functioning among the community parts creates and advances the wealth and welfare of both the individual and the group; it catalyzes population energy into creative reaction with environmental energy. It raises both the intensity and the duration of the individual lives and thus the societal integration is effected and maintained. This energy transfer by exchange gives rise to all that fine division of labor and transformation of the materials of the earth that fit it for the habitation and maintenance of mankind. From this comes the emancipation of the individual lives and their fullness of years. And this so far transmutes the environment that increasing quantities of human life may emerge - nature herself being borne increasingly into the human process, form and mould."

"The energy that is organized in the bodily structures of men is a biological and not a distinctive social or societal manifestation. Only the energy that flows between and among men can be associative in any sense. At its crudest, this energy that flows among men is dissociative and tends to destroy. At whatever stage of advance, the energy among men that is not balanced mutually in service must expend itself in the impact of compulsions and destruction, conflict and wars. The energy not so transformed cannot be annihilated or blotted out; it remains to be raised to levels of social or societal manifestation. Within the personal and blood-bonded group, the family and the tribe, sufficient energy is transformed to maintain the bond. At the societal level, a greater portion is transformed. It becomes impersonal, quantitatively reciprocal, contractual and thereby not limited but a service universal among men. Through its advance, conflict recedes, and men realize increasingly their creative, their divine dominion in their world and ever-lengthening days."

"The distinctively societal process is that of rationally, or mechanically balanced, free and reciprocal energy transfers between and among members. This is the basic function or social metabolism whereby the societal life-form grows and is maintained. These energy transfers are mutual. They are carried by contract and consent and exchange, a purely psychological transformation. This makes it necessary that things be offered, for it is not possible to exchange energies or services without the employment of instruments or things. Only those things which are owned can be exchanged or used as instruments of service or exchange. This exchange is not transportation; it is the transfer of ownership or title. This is a social and not a physical process. Distribution by contract and exchange, by the voluntary mores of the market, is the only rational (measured and not arbitrary) distribution known to mankind."

"Just as every particular derives from and is still a part of its universal, so every life-form, biological or social, constitutes itself out of its environment. It is created from the whole of which it is still a part, and from the whole it must constantly draw its substance and its strength - all of the energy with which it is endowed. Its capacity to draw this energy depends upon its self, upon its interior organization, upon the relations and interactions among its own units and parts. If the organization is not destructive of its own parts, it is efficient; its capacity is high; its life duration is long. Whereas the individual man must adjust himself to his environment, the contractually socialized man gains the power to adjust environment to him. So far as the interactions among its members rise to the level of freedom and service by consent and exchange, so far as free contractual relations supervene on the primitive and compulsive ones, the social or community life-form achieves its growth and power by its functional integration of its higher and ampler individual lives. Conversely, every encroachment of compulsive power, either archaic or political and governmental, upon the fields of service that are ruled by voluntary contract, consent and exchange, re-

Democrats Unify Attack On GOP'S Foreign Policy

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON - A definite and down-to-earth pattern has emerged in the Democrats' concerted attack on the Administration's foreign policies. It differs in kind and degree from previous parliamentary analyses of this country's position in the world today and in the long tomorrow.

In this strategy, opposition critics have abandoned high-flown and technical oratory that reads well in the Congressional Record, but rarely causes a ripple of curbsone reaction or emotion. They are pitching their questions - and their answers - to the man on the street and to the housewife in her kitchen.

On all the grave foreign problems confronting the United States - Russia, the Middle East, North Africa, China, the satellites' relations with Moscow, national defense and curtailment of a to-morrow bomb tests - they are asking the very questions which trouble average Americans. They are advancing alterations and shifts of emphasis which come naturally to the minds of millions untutored in high affairs of state, but who must pay the bill in taxes or tragedy.

EFFECTIVE PROPAGANDA - It is, perhaps, the most direct and practical example of effective political publicity since the late "Charley" Michelson and John J. Raasob "poured it on" Herbert Hoover in depression days.

It is also significant that these new-style propagandists happen to include many of the men prominently mentioned as Democratic candidates for Presidential or Vice Presidential recognition in 1960 - Senators Kennedy of Massachusetts, Humphrey of Minnesota, Johnson of Texas, Symington of Missouri and Senator Douglas of Illinois.

Senator Kennedy, for instance, has demanded use of American influence to settle the Franco-Algerian crisis, which may yet furnish the Communists with a beachhead in North Africa. He will soon ask for a more reasonable policy in trying to wean Poland and other satellites from the Kremlin's embrace.

JOHNSON FOR MORE REASONABLE POLICY - Senate Majority Leader Johnson has a group which proposes a similar approach to Red China, or at least an attempt to gain a trade advantage. It also opposes Secretary Dulles' refusal to permit American newspapermen to enter that country, and report facts which we - or he - cannot obtain under the current boycott.

Senator Humphrey suggests a greater effort to compose Arab-Israeli differences, especially the basic refugee question. He points out, and everybody admits, that there can be no final settlement in this Communist-infiltrated area until ancient enemies are eliminated. For economic improvement, he advocates an internationally financed Marshall Plan and T.V.A.

CAUTIOUS SUGGESTIONS - The Democrats generally urge a more persistent attempt to work out a live-and-let-live with Russia and China, especially since the latest "purge." Since vinegar failed to heal old and mutual wounds, they recommend a tentative application of diplomatic molasses.

These suggestions, all of which are made cautiously rather than dogmatically, echo the thoughts and the language of millions of Americans, who have become doubtful of Dulles' policy of omniscient and stand-offish rigidity. Since the U.S. must fight and pay for wars arising from these disputes, they see no reason why President Eisenhower should not throw his weight and prestige around the world more forcefully and effectively.

They wonder, as do their Democratic spokesmen in Capitol Hill, why the U.S. should not intervene to persuade our debtors and dependents, from London to Tel Aviv and other Middle East capitals, to eliminate the causes of future conflicts.

In short, the Democrats now believe that the American people

MILITARY THRIFT

(The Chicago Tribune)

"The military do have great virtues but thrift is not one of them," Senator Douglas noted the other day. He was trying to get Congress to cut the $34.5 billion Defense Department appropriations bill, and also to get some of the "fat" replaced by "muscle."

As examples of things that could have been cut he cited Navy spending of $562,000 for an officers' mess and swimming pool in Florida. He noted that the Air Force wants an eighth-of-an-acre swimming pool in the same state. He reported several other examples: The armed service that had spent $12,072 for "ash receiver, tobacco"; the diaper laundry planned by the Army at Fort Bragg; the Marine Corps' new buffet table; and the alterations to the golf professional shop at Fort Meade; and the rehabilitation of the putting greens at Eglin Air Force Base.

In short, said the Illinois Senator, there are places where military spending still can be cut without damage to the national security-military preparations to the contrary. "The military," he noted, "have a built-in bias against economizing."

Well, the Senator built his case so strongly there's scarcely anything that can be added by us. One would naturally assume, too, that the other Senators after all their talk about economy would agree with Mr. Douglas. And that they would have gone along with the House in the $2.5 billion slash it had recommended in the military budget.

They have substituted a hard-boiled attitude for the sentimentality that was partially responsible for our present international predicament. The widespread support of reductions in money for foreign aid and national (international) defense indicate that they may have struck a popular and human chord.

RACKETEERS CAPTURE UNIONS

By MAURICE R. FRANKS

If organized labor begins to look pretty bad to the American public, it's because conspicuous segments of organized labor have been guilty of mighty poor management - and also because the labor laws of our land haven't gone far enough to require better management on the part of our union leaders.

The true fault, if the picture is carefully analyzed, is this directly attributable not so much to the union leaders themselves as to the general public that now is so horrified by the revelations of the past few months. The fault lies with all of us who have not insisted that our legislators design laws that would require full and immediate responsibility on the part of our unions and the men who have undertaken to lead them.

We have been so afraid of destroying the effectiveness of organized labor that we have put it in the way of destroying itself - or the rest of us. We have assumed, and quite wrongly, that the unions in time would grow up if but given legal security and otherwise left to their own devices. We have assumed, and even more erroneously, that the mature forces of unionism could always in a pinch prevail against labor's juvenile delinquents and impose effective discipline upon them.

Unfortunately, such has not been union experience. The field has been wide open for the development of rackets and radicalism, of graft and political connivance, of underworld syndicalism and strong-arm gangs. We have been so busy associating the obvious right of workers to organize with the questionable right of leaders to exploit their positions of leadership that we have failed in our civic responsibility and true humanitarianism.

We have listened to the labor leaders and not to the workers themselves. We have granted charters to men whose only thought was to invade the labor movement for purposes of personal gain; and have turned our backs while they drew up union constitutions that made a mockery of the fundamental principles of union democracy.

We have watched union leaders betraying their memberships and, shrugging sadly, have allowed them to continue in office. We have watched the truly dedicated leaders of labor being defeated time after time in their efforts to clean up the House of Labor from within, and haven't lifted a finger to help them.

Worst of all, without so much as trying to help solve the internal problems of unionism with which the best elements of organized labor have been wrestling for years, we have handed the worst elements on a silver tray the weapon of compulsory unionism.

And here, at one fell swoop, we have betrayed the very citizens in whose name the labor movement was created. Yes, we have betrayed our American workers by compelling them to support unholy hierarchies for the very privilege of holding a job and earning a living.

Labor doesn't mean just labor leaders. Union security doesn't just mean the security of union racketeers to fatten themselves in a trough of piggishly exacted dues. Labor means people who work for wages, and union security means their right to organize and stay organized to the precise extent they desire. Anything beyond or short of this is plain pork-barrel and hogwash.

No labor leader is rightfully more than a servant of his membership. The money the members pay in is their money - and stays theirs - form the first nickel to the last. The union leader who deflects or "borrows" one penny of it without their specific and detailed consent is a THIEF - and he should be taught - the hard way. What's more, the labor leader who so much as points to his union treasury as a personal political cudgel, is morally also a thief and a vicious racketeer.

Yet, some leaders - some pretty important ones - do steal and get away with it. They are kings, and "the king can do no wrong."

Through controlled elections and controlled conventions, they yearly enhance their power until their dictatorships are no longer open to serious challenge.

This has been the overall picture for years, and it is surprising that it has taken a Senate Committee and the general public so painfully long to catch up with it. Now that the citizenry is at long last aroused, what can be done to remedy this deplorable state of affairs?

Magazines Discovered

Love, Sex; Not Reds

By HENRY McLEMORE

NEW YORK, N.Y. - I hope the Russians get around to claiming that they discovered love, marriage, and sex.

It will be so easy to prove them liars.

Nearly everyone who reads knows these three items were discovered by American magazines, notably the ladies' ones.

In them you'll find more articles on love, marriage, and sex than you will on cooking and dressmaking, the subjects which once dominated their pages.

You may not find any information on how to save an apple pie but you're sure to find a cure for a marriage whose meringue has fallen.

The answer for what to do with old velvet curtains, or how to stitch up a graduation dress for Lily may be missing, but if your mate's kisses aren't what you have always dreamed of, these magazines are the place to look for help.

There's an editor and articles for every age range, from the first tingle of the adolescent to the final tingle of the rocking chair and rheumatism set.

There are instructions for everything from the first date onward, and the authors make it quite plain that if you don't know the iron-bound rules of courtship and marriage by heart, and follow them to the letter, your romantic barque is heading for the shoals and a steady stream of SOS messages.

Not long ago my wife asked me to skim through a copy of one of the ladies' magazines to see if I could find the recipe for a shrimp gumbo she wanted to make for dinner. I finally found it, but before I did I had learned to my dismay that under the 1956 rules of romance I was a complete flop as a sweetheart and lover.

I wondered why Mary was going to the trouble of cooking dinner for such an awkward, bungling, non-understanding excuse for a Romeo. Why didn't she just give me a ham sandwich and a pile of these magazines, and send me to the attic to read.

ever ran off with one of these up-to-the-minute highly skilled, love technicians.

I was so upset from what I read while looking for the recipe that I could hardly eat a bite, delicious as it was. Mary looked beautiful and seemed radiantly happy, but I felt she couldn't possibly be. Why we never had sat down and figured out how to make our marriage work, with her submitting her compromises and I submitting mine!

When we had spat, Mary had never had the benefit of a marriage counselor, and I had never asked to see papers proving she had studied the problems of love and marriage. Neither had I demanded to know if she fully realized the horrors that could result from the marriage of a man and a girl, and if she were willing to take the awful risk by saying "I do."

Think of all the thousands and thousands of men and women who were married before the magazines were discovered! These poor people are to be pitied, no matter how happy they and their children seem.

My mother and father appeared to be the two happiest people I ever saw, but how could they have been? They didn't have a single magazine editor to tell them what love was, much less what that love was, much less what to do about it.

SAVED THEIR PENNIES—Richard D. Gamma, 21, and Elva Mae Cox, his 18-year-old fiancee, have literally been saving their pennies in order to buy a marriage license. Over a period of 7 months and 27 days they amassed 363 pennies. The license cost $3.60, so they paid the clerk, right, at the Little Rock, Ark., courthouse for the license and used the extra three cents for the parking meter.

LIFE GOES ON—This robin, circle, pays no attention to the fact that she's hatching life among the dead in Chicago's Calvary Cemetery. Her nest rests on a cross marking the grave of Samuel E. Flood, who died in 1896.

Millinery, Ahead of Military, Already Launched Satellite

By GAY PAULEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP) — Millinery beats the military to this business of satellite launching.

Designers, taking note of the International Geophysical Year, U. S. plans to launch a baby moon, already are out with satellite silhouettes.

Lilly Dache described her outer-space bonnets as "spinning around the head and shooting off at the side in a spiral of bright color."

Other milliners use the geophysical year as excuse for some free-form designs beyond even the imagination of a Buck Rogers.

One thing is certain about the industry's concern with things out of this world. Hat shapes take off in several directions—soaring upward like a stalagmite, moving backward on the head, or slanted so far to the side you wonder what keeps them on.

Sally Victor decided some of her small evening hats—she called them "Demi-tasse caps"—would stay put only if held on. So she showed on black velvet number, fitting closely as a skull cap, with red velvet appliqued "hand" keeping it in place.

All hats have some traits in common this fall. All will show more of a girl's face and front hairline. No more of those mushroom-shaped shadows the whole face. All have a soft, draped quality; wires, buckram and stiff linings have been discarded.

All are smaller, despite some of those extreme shapes. The No. 1 silhouette displayed at the semi-annual show by the millinery stabilization commissioner was the turban. Next in popularity, the beret and cloche.

Miss Dache, for instance, showed "satellite berets," with the fabric draped in swirls about the head.

Some turbans are fancy as a maharajah's head-dress. Others are small and snug. Most of the elaborate ones are trimmed with outside fake jewels. Designer Emme, of New York, featured a turban in green satin, decorated with a single tear-shaped jewel at the front.

Fabrics, fur and feathers rate right along with felt as the materials for the fall collections. Fabrics include velvet, silk Jersey, satin, lame, brocade, and the metallics.

Milliners have used the pelts of just about every four-footed animal. Seen most often to date, black fox. Walter Floren featured a pyramid of black fox which envelops the head; but is worn well back from the brow. Victor used black, red and white fox; black, white and brown mink; leopard, ocelot, natural otter, and broad-tail in black, white and red in her group.

Feathers are draped, coiled and fringed into head coverings or as trims. Plumage includes everything from ostrich, dyed beige and given a sleek look with a glycerin treatment, to guinea hen combined with dove.

There is no color restraint, either. Seen most often in the various collections are reds, brilliant blues, purples, greens ranging from soft avocado to emerald, and the rich browns.

HOT! — It wasn't really 185 degrees in Beverly, Mass., when this picture was taken. It just felt that way. Mechanics investigating the trouble found what perspiring residents suspected: Electrical wiring had overheated.

NEW PLATEAU—Hal March, who attained fame on television's "50,000 Question" as a quizmaster, has reached a new plateau. He's in the movies now—a goal he's aimed at since he was 17. He rehearses a scene here for "Hear Me Good," in which he teams up with Joe E. Ross. Ross plays Mess Sgt. Ritzik on Phil Silvers' "Sgt. Bilko" TV show. March and Ross play Broadway sharpies who fix a beauty contest for a gangster's girl friend.

Ed Sullivan Agreed With Criticism By Joe E. Lewis

William Ewald is on vacation. Today's guest writer is Joe E. Lewis, comedian and self-styled TV critic.

By JOE E. LEWIS
Written for United Press
NEW YORK (UP)—This is not my first experience as a TV critic. Once, Ed Sullivan, writing about those who have tried to analyze his success in TV, quoted my description of him. I said:

"Ed Sullivan has personality, but not for a human being. Ed Sullivan is my only friend who brightens a room by leaving it. Ed Sullivan was once a greeter at Forest Lawn Cemetery in California, but quit in self-defense when they tried to bury him on three different occasions."

Ed Sullivan agreed—with the justice of these references. That's a distinction few critics have—their subjects admitting the description.

Not on Regularly
But seriously, since my appearances on the Ed Sullivan show and other guest shows, I have been asked why I am not on TV regularly. My serious reply "I love a saloon" has not been accepted. Neither has my contention that in the Monitor-I look like the Merrimac.

Others have asked: "Is it the money?"

Of course, I have the first buck I ever made, nothing after that, just the first buck.

Was I too busy?

Outside of my assignment to humanize Adlai Stevenson by teaching him grammatical errors my time between race track meetings is fairly open.

Therefore, I am most flattered by the wave of popular interest in TV and me. I was offered a 39 week deal on TV which was rejected because the sponsor was a temperance league.

My doctor says I don't need television. What TV has done to other comedians, he feels I have succeeded in doing to myself.
