Cubans Angry At US Ambassador

HAVANA (UP)—Government anger rose today against U. S. Ambassador Earl E. T. Smith and there were reports he may be asked to leave the country because he visited rebel-held areas in eastern Cuba.

Total news censorship, imposed under a decree suspending civil rights for 45 days, veiled military developments in the area.

But in Havana, Smith became the target of an unprecedented campaign of attacks by government spokesmen because of his critical comments Wednesday on police precautions in rebel-infested Santiago.

Informed circles said it was unlikely the administration would go so far as to throw him out of Cuba.

A Cuban "White House" spokesman announced, however, that Foreign Minister Gonzalo Guell has been instructed to get hold of Smith "for the purpose of discussing his unfortunate declarations in Santiago."

The pro-government organ Aleria carried a statement by its publisher, Communications Minister Ramon Vasconcelos, accusing the ambassador of "imperialistic meddling" in Cuba's affairs.

Domestic Questions
"Mr. Smith has permitted himself to express opinions on domestic questions about which he knows nothing," Vasconcelos said.

Minister without Portfolio, Jose Gonzalez Puente made a similar statement to newsmen after a Cabinet meeting.

"Cuba rejects and repudiates anything which appears to be interference in its domestic affairs," Gonzalez said.

Unconfirmed reports said rebels operating from hideouts in the Mistress Mountains had burned a police station in Eusebio and an army barracks in Minas. Guerrillas also were said to have blown up bridges across the Cuneles, Yao and Macanacu rivers.

Normal activity in Santiago was at a standstill today as a result of a "general strike" called by the opposition to protest the killing of a rebel leader by police.

Newspapers Stopped
No newspapers were published in the eastern provincial capital today.

Juvenile Court Hearing On Thefts Monday

Local minors picked up yesterday by Pampa police in connection with thefts from railroad cars and grain elevators will be taken before the county juvenile court Monday, Police Chief Jim Conner said today.

Conner estimated that there would be eight boys involved. The thefts had taken place over the last five or six months. In one instance, last March the boys broke the seal on about 15 rail cars.

Eight boys admitted yesterday to the series of thefts. Local officers were aided in the investigation by representatives of the FBI and the Santa Fe Railroad police. The boys said they were responsible for the theft of canned hams, toys, candy, blankets and other merchandise. Some grain had also been taken from the Fisher Panhandle Grain Co., 600 S. West; feed from the Harvester Feed Company, 800 W. Brown; and feed from the Lawrence and Whittier Mowing Company, 625 S. West.

Conner said the boys fed the grain to a pig they had stolen and also to other animals.

Police made the arrests yesterday after receiving a tip about the whereabouts of some of the blankets that were taken.

Well Water Is Sure Valuable

Talk about something valuable—well water sure "nuff is in West Texas.

Over in the Panhandle town of Shamrock it's getting so bad you can't even leave a quart of pure old well water lying around loose.

In fact, the folks over in the Irish burg may start throwing padlocks on the windmills and running milk through the water pipes any day now.

Mrs. Tinsley who lives about two cotton patches and a hedgerow south of town, filled her jug and came to town to do the weekly shopping.

When she got back to her car the water—jug and all—was gone, while several packages of merchandise in the same seat were unmoistened.

Ike Unhappy With Senate Amendment To Rights Bill

Racket Group Calls Puerto Rican Workers

By HERBERT FOSTER
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate Rackets Committee called Puerto Rican workers from New York today to back up its chairman's charge that racketeer Johnny Dio exploited them with "sweetheart" contracts.

Counsel Robert F. Kennedy said the workers would testify about conditions where they worked as members of union locals controlled by Dio, a convicted labor extortionist whose real name is John Dioguardi.

Kennedy said the testimony would cover locals of the AFL United Auto Workers which Dio ran while he was the union's director in New York, and also some of the locals he took into the Teamsters Union to help his friend James R. Hoffa, vice president and candidate for the presidency of the Teamsters.

Hoffa said in San Francisco the committee has subpoenaed him to appear before it Aug. 13. The committee refused to confirm this.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) said in opening the hearings Wednesday that Dio financed his mob from union dues.

McClellan said racketeers sold out union members by signing cooperative employers to easy "sweetheart" contracts which gave the workers little or no benefit.

Kennedy told newsmen the committee has no immediate plans to question two leading figures whose names popped up in Thursday's hearings: Former heavyweight champion Joe Louis and David Dubinsky, president of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union.

McClellan said Thursday Teamster Union members paid the $21.66 hotel bill of Joe Louis, a Negro, when he came to federal court here to greet Hoffa, then on trial on conspiracy "bribery charges."

Eight Negroes On Jury
Hoffa was acquitted by a jury that included eight Negroes of charges he planted a spy on the committee staff to steal documents for him.

Construction Bids To Be Accepted

Several routine items were discussed in County Commissioners Court yesterday.

Meeting at 10 a.m. yesterday in the County Courthouse, the commissioners paid bills, and worked on the budget.

Judge Bruce Parker was authorized to advertise for bids for construction of three miles of fence along the western extension of Kentucky street and on the airport road where the county is doing paving work.

He was also authorized to sign contracts with landowners along this road for construction of curbs and gutters. The owners are to foot these expenses while the county will pave the street.

The commissioners authorized payment of $75 to Ralph Milliron, engineer, for the survey of the damaged spillway at Lake McClellan.

An additional $875 was added to the budget of the constable in Precinct Five. He had already exceeded the $1200 budget.

The court also authorized sale of a weed sprayer that had been damaged.

The Army wants the ranch so it can enlarge its 4,800-square mile guided missile range which extends from El Paso, Tex., 80 miles to a point south of Alamogordo.

STATIONS COMPLETED—The Air Force has announced that a 3,000-mile line of radar stations called Distant Early Warning line (DEW) to alert the United States in case of an enemy attack has been completed and will go into operation soon. Here, on a snowy peak in Canada's Arctic wilderness, stands a typical DEW line station. Main search antenna is located in dome-shaped building, center, from which warnings can be sent to Defense Command centers in U. S. and Canada within seconds of radar contact with enemy aircraft or missiles. (NEA Telephoto)

Pampan Held In Oklahoma On Manslaughter Charge

A Pampa man, Steve Donnos, 73, is being held in Sayre, Okla., on a charge of second degree manslaughter as a result of a collision Wednesday night that killed two Illinois girls.

The two girls along with two others who received only minor injuries, were returning from a roller skating contest in California.

Donnos, who was driving an overloaded truck, struck a bridge railing and swerved into the path of the oncoming girls' 1957 Chevrolet. The girls were traveling east and Donnos was going west.

He is scheduled to appear before the district judge there in the morning. He was taken before the Justice of the Peace yesterday where he waived preliminary hearing. The JP set his bond at $2,000.

Killed in the collision were Judy Clark, 20 of Peoria, Ill., and Carol Ruth Henschel, 17 of Chicago. Their bodies were taken to the Martin Hullum Funeral Home in Elk City, Okla.

Neither of the two injured girls, Gertrude Bico, 24 of Hemstead, N.Y., or Ruth Koch, 17 of Peoria, were reported in danger this morning and it was thought they might be released today.

The truck driven by Donnos, a 1932 model, weighed a total of 14,110. It was heaped with watermelons, cantaloupes and onions.

The accident occurred at 8:45 p.m. Wednesday on a bridge one-half mile east of Elk City. Officers said that Miss Henschel was driving the Chevrolet owned by Miss Bico when the accident occurred.

Beckham County Attorney, Pult McClain who filed charges in the case, said that apparently Donnos was trying to gain speed to make a hill at the time. He reported that the Mico car was demolished and that the truck caught fire. The Elk City fire department however, soon extinguished it.

Donnos was not injured in the collision and was being held in the Beckham County jail in lieu of bond.

Hereford Group Meets Saturday
A sub-committee of the Top of Texas Hereford Breeders Association will meet tomorrow at 12 noon to plan the annual summer picnic of the association.

Jake Hess of McLean will head the meeting in which the date, and place and program arrangements of the picnic will be set. The picnic is usually held the latter part of August or the first part of September.

Those attending the meeting in addition to Hess were Wayne Maddox of McLean, Cliff Vincent of Lefors, and Clyde Carruth, Frank Carter and E. O. Wedgeworth, all of Pampa.

Post-Midnight Vote Insures Jury Trials

By DAYTON MOORE
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower was described today as "damned unhappy" about the Senate's second major amendment to his civil rights bill. The Senate in a post-midnight vote wrote in a jury trial guarantee for defendants in voting rights cases which require criminal prosecution.

Eisenhower and his administration supporters fought the amendment.

Sen. Charles Potter (R-Mich.) said after a White House Conference this morning that "the President is damned unhappy about the vote" on the jury trial issue.

Other members of Eisenhower's staff voiced fears that the southern-conservative coalition, having won a victory on the amendment, may press for more changes to water down the bill.

They won by a wider margin than most observers had predicted—51 to 42.

Trouble in House
The decision cleared the way for Senate approval within a week of the first civil rights legislation in eight decades.

But some Republican congressmen predicted that the House would refuse to go along with the Senate's changes in conference committee.

Threats of a southern filibuster evaporated. Some senators from the South, including Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, now said they would vote for the bill.

It now was essentially a voting rights bill with a provision for jury trial in civil contempt cases. The Senate last week dealt Eisenhower a first major setback by knocking out a broad provision that would have given the attorney general sweeping injunctive powers in civil rights cases generally.

The only relatively important disputed issue remaining concerned the subpoena powers of a proposed bipartisan commission on civil rights. Administration forces have agreed to three concessions on the commission section of the bill.

A coalition of 39 Democrats and 12 Republicans supported the jury trial amendment—the Republicans breaking with Eisenhower who came out strongly against the amendment Wednesday. Opposing it were 33 Republicans and 9 Democrats.

The amendment to the voting rights section of the bill would provide for jury trials in criminal contempt cases where the purpose of a judge was to punish a defendant, such as a registrar of voters, for disobeying an injunction to register a Negro as a voter.

But a federal judge could jail a Democrat.

Hotel Plans Checked
The Building and Architectural Committee of the Pampa Hotel Company met this morning in the Chamber of Commerce conference room with E. R. Cantrell, the Hotel Company architect.

Cantrell presented a set of new plans for the hotel to the committee, which are in accord with the plans at this time. Cantrell will continue working on the new plan after conferring with the operators of The American Hotel Co-operation of New York City. He will present the completed plans to the committee for their study at a later date.

Committee Chairman C. P. Buckler said this morning that the committee hopes to be able to have a set of plans to present to the Board of Directors for their approval within the next 30 days.

Storm Siren To Be Tested Next Week
Pampa's storm warning siren will be tested next Friday afternoon, according to Sheriff Rufe Jordan, Gray County coordinator of Civil Defense.

The sheriff reported that the switch on the siren would be tied down for approximately two minutes beginning at 5:30 p.m. on August 9.

The purpose of the test is to determine the distance the siren can be heard, he reported. During the test, units with police radios will be stationed at various places throughout the city to make reports on the test.

Sheriff Jordan stated further that the test would be made only if the weather is clear. If there is any severe weather in the area or any clouds in the sky the test will not be made at that time, the sheriff stated.

The late hour for the test was scheduled so that most of the employees of businesses in the Hughes Building, where the siren is located, will be out of the building when the siren is turned on, the sheriff concluded.

If it comes from a Hardware Store, we have it. Lewis Howe. (Adv.)

Army Rattles Sword At Crusty Old Rancher

ALAMOGORDO, N. M. (UP)—The Army rattled its sword from crusty old John Prather who defied a midnight ultimatum to leave the land which "has been danged good to me."

The independent old homestead ignored a federal court order to vacate the 32,000-acre ranch on which he has lived for 74 of his 82 years.

Prather, who herds his cattle by horseback, doesn't seem to fear the Army, the court—w the guided missiles that may be flying overhead shortly. # Mayflower II Cook Satisfied With Role Since "All Arrived Well And Happy"

Walter Godfrey, chief cook for Mayflower II, has a record name for the chef could be proud of. "Everyone arrived well and happy," he relates, "and there were never any complaints about the meals."

For nearly two months, Mr. Godfrey dished up breakfast, dinner and tea, each meal served in two sittings. He had taken a leave from his regular job as chief shore steward of the General Steam Navigation Company, Ltd., London to make this voyage. In his tiny galley aboard ship, often tossing about on high seas, he managed not only to turn out hearty, satisfying dishes like the characteristically British steak and kidney pie, corned beef, ground meat cutlets and many others, but he prepared desserts such as steamed puddings and custards and even baked bread, 50 pounds of it every other day.

"It was tiny, it was hot, and you sometimes had to work to keep your balance," Mr. Godfrey said of his galley. There was no refrigeration of course, as the ship's electric power was reserved for the radio and port and starboard lights. However, there were plenty of canned foods, which needed no refrigeration in storage and provided an agreeably varied diet. Canned foods in fact, represented 117 items out of the 161 included among the provisions.

Breakfast was at 8 and 8:30 in the morning. They had cereal every day usually rolled oats, which Mr. Godfrey reported as having a high popularity with the American crew members as well as the Britishers.

Then there were eggs, scrambled, fried or buttered. A buttered egg is scrambled in a saucer rather than a frying pan and served with lots of butter. "We started out with 180-dozen eggs and when we got to Plymouth there were 5 eggs left. The eggs were stored where a good draft could circulate so there was no spoilage." All the butter, incidentally, was canned and, according to the cook, pleased everybody. With the eggs there was sometimes ham, bacon or sausage and almost invariably canned stewed tomatoes and/or baked beans. Occasionally there were mushrooms, too. Bread, butter, preserves and a choice of coffee or tea completed the menu. It's quite a menu, but when you're maneuvering a 17th century galleon, you need a good deal of energy first thing in the morning.

At 12 and 12:30 came dinner, the main meal of the day. Soup invariably began the proceedings. There were all kinds of canned soups, and from time to time Mr. Godfrey prepared soups from meat bones and vegetables—Brown Windsor, a heavy soup with a meat base, was one of his specialties. The meat course followed, accompanied by vegetables and potatoes. The vegetables might be heated as they came from the can and served with seasoning, or they might be combined, either hot or in salad form. Some days, there were mixed peas and beans; other days there might be a Russian salad: mixed vegetables served with mayonnaise. And when Mr. Godfrey cooked a ham, he liked to make peas pudding to go with it. "It's simple to do," he relates. "Just tie up your split peas in a muslin bag and put them in the pot with the ham. You only have to make sure that you take them out as soon as the water comes to a boil. Then mash them up and serve them with butter."

Steamed fruit pudding was the favorite dessert. The fruits are currants and sultanas, combined with flour, suet, salt, baking powder and moistened with milk or water. Mr. Godfrey recalls that when Vice President Nixon boarded the Mayflower at Plymouth there happened to be some fruit pudding on hand. Mr. Nixon viewed it with suspicion, but once persuaded to try it, his suspicion disappeared with the first bite. Dried fruit with cream was another popular dinner dessert. The cream was made from evaporated, condensed or dried milk. Besides the tea and coffee at dinner came the daily ration of beer, one bottle for each crew member. This allowance, though modest by comparison with the 17th century crossing, followed the tradition of the original Mayflower voyage.

During the afternoon, the crew drank fruit juices. After 11 days at sea, law requires that seamen get a daily lime juice ration to maintain their vitamin C level, but the crew also enjoyed the other canned fruit juices aboard. In fact they relished the fruit juice most of all because of its refreshing taste.

In the late afternoon, at 5 and 5:30, it was time for tea. "They always had a choice of two things at this meal, usually meat or fish," said Mr. Godfrey. The meat might be hash, shepherd's pie, or cutlets, while the fish ranged from salmon to sardines, herring, kippers and choice tidbits like lobster and crawfish. There might be more potatoes, either as part of the main dish or in the form of potato salad, and there might be a vegetable, too. Then came the sweet: canned fruit, British biscuits, or perhaps tabbabs, a fruitcake which Mr. Godfrey baked.

The cook's final effort of the day was to provide a "mullipot" for the night watches. Tea, coffee and cocoa stood on the stove keeping warm for all who desired them. Mr. Godfrey had the unique authority of being the only man aboard permitted to touch the fresh water tap. Fresh water was of course at a premium and was reserved for making beverages and cooking. All dishes were washed in sea water, as was the salted meat previous to cooking it. Although he had two assistants to do chores and two cabin boys to wash dishes, he did all the cooking himself. His was generally conceded to be one of the most exacting and difficult jobs aboard. "Sometimes I started at 4 or 5 in the morning and didn't finish until midnight," Mr. Godfrey confided.

The Mayflower II with its tiny galley will be on view to the public from now through mid-November at the Hudson River Day Line Pier 81, foot of West 41st Street, New York City.

RUTH MILLET

Papa decided to take his vacation at home this year, which means that Mama isn't getting any vacation at all.

The housework doesn't just go on as usual. It's a little heavier with a man at home all day. The cooking goes on just the same, but with one difference: lunch isn't a snack but a real meal, with Papa home.

When Mama's friends telephone to ask if she can stop by for a cup of coffee or meet them downtown for lunch, Mama explains, "I wish I could—but Joe's home on vacation and I can't just go off and leave him."

Of course, if Papa gets a chance to play golf or go fishing, he takes off with a cheery goodbye.

With Papa on vacation, there are innumerable jobs started—but few finished. And it is amazing how much of waiting on him it takes to keep a husband at the simplest kind of do-it-yourself job. It's also amazing how upset Papa can get over finding that Junior has misplaced the hammer or used the boards meant for cupboards to build a tree house.

Life at home with Papa on vacation isn't quite the carefree, happy time it is supposed to be—not from Mama's point of view.

Just a little matter like keeping the neighborhood children from racing through the house or yelling in the yard while Papa gets an afternoon nap is quite a chore.

After two weeks at home Papa may possibly go back to his job refreshed—but Mama's had it.

And "it" decidedly does not refer to a vacation. After Papa's vacation at home, Mama really needs one.

'Tomorrow' Dieters Forget Their Goal At Pink-Blue Party

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

The women who say, "I'm going on a diet next week," are the ones who somehow never get around to dieting.

The reason for this is simple: things you put off cease to have importance. Therefore, if you know you need to lose weight (your mirror and your scale tell you so), don't make any resolutions about starting to diet next week or next month. Start with the next meal.

Nobody says it will be easy at the outset. Breaking a bad habit never is easy and that's exactly what overeating is.

It's overeating, not glandular trouble, that's responsible for the fact that some women tote about with them extra pounds of from five pounds way up. Since this is about as comfortable as carrying a bag of groceries of the same weight, taking off the excess makes sense. And delaying the day doesn't.

In this era of good home permanents, cream hair dressings and hair sprays that hold a curl, most teen-agers are their own hairdressers.

On a teen-age budget, this makes sense. The gals just can't afford a weekly haircut at a high-priced salon. Besides, they like to develop skill in handling their own hair and this, too, is a good idea. But there is one spot where salon help comes in handy. And that's for expert haircutting.

No girl can cut her hair as well, even with the help of a friend, as an expert can. And, if she has hair problems, she'd do well to cut down on her clothes budget a bit and spend money on treatments at a salon.

Best time to catch any hair problem—dandruff, dry scalp, oily hair, thin hair or bushy hair—is at the very beginning.

Girls who wear glasses tend to shy away from eye makeup. Actually, there's no reason why they shouldn't wear it in the evening hours, same as anyone else.

But, there are a few tricks to remember in using it. The color of your frames is a factor to be considered along with the color of your eyes. Don't let the two clash. They should harmonize. And the make up should not be so heavy as to be startling.

Make sure that it doesn't interfere with the sweep of the frame in any way. Color of eye-shadow and mascara, the line of the brows, all should fit in perfectly with your glasses. If it's done properly, the result should be pretty, slightly shadowy and very mysterious.

Following the meeting, a tea was held honoring Mrs. Joe T. Foster, Perryton, who is the past district director. She was presented with a gift from the B&PW Clubs of District Nine. The group was welcomed by Mrs. Marie Wade, president of the Perryton Club.

An accordion solo was given by Miss Billie Mae Gray, who was also accompanied for a vocal solo by Miss Karol Ann Gipsan.

The tea table was covered with a white cut-work cloth and centered with an arrangement of white gladioli, white and yellow daisies in a crystal bowl. Mrs. Norma Taliaferro and Mrs. Joe Jullison presided at the silver service.

Approximately 75 guests called between the hours of 3 to 5. Members attending from Perryton were Meses. Joe T. Foster, Edith Dorrance, Norma Taliaferro, Marie Wade, Joe Jullison; Meses Billie Mae Gray and Karol Ann Gipsan.

MEAT AT ITS BEST

To panbroil meat correctly, place the meat in a heavy frying-pan. Do not add water and fat and do not cover. Cook the meat slowly, turning occasionally. Pour off the fat as it accumulates. Brown the meat on both sides and then season and serve immediately.

Telephone Lines Here Set To Be 'Air Conditioned' Soon

A new "air conditioning" development which protects telephone lines thus insuring trouble-free service will soon be installed here, according to the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company. The towns of Abilene, Amarillo, Pampa, Borger, Lubbock, Midland, Odessa, Big Spring and Wichita Falls are to be included in the installation of this new development. Present plans call for approximately 5,600 miles of large cables carrying hundreds of thousands of telephone circuits, to be "air conditioned" in the five state areas served by Southwestern Bell.

New Rocket Motor Tested By Phillips

BARTLESVILLE, Okla. (UP)—A new type rocket motor which uses solid fuel and has a firing duration of eight minutes or more has been developed and successfully tested by Phillips Petroleum Company's Rocket Fuels Division. The announcement was made by K. S. Adams, chairman, and Paul Endacott, president of Phillips. The new rocket motor is intended for small, very high-speed flight systems, they said. The same principles have wide application to many other rocket propulsion and gas generating systems. These new rocket motors employ propellants made from readily available low-cost petroleum products such as synthetic rubber, fertilizer grade ammonium nitrate, and carbon black, Phillips said. Successful firings have been made at sub-zero, normal and elevated temperatures. Solid propellant rocket motors have many important uses, the developers of the rocket pointed out. They have no moving parts, require a minimum of field maintenance, and even under adverse weather conditions can have a field storage life of several years without deterioration. Other solid propellant activities are also conducted at Air Force plant 66 near McGregor, Tex., where Phillips is the contractor-operator. These include quantity production of the M-15 Jato, the only type meeting the most stringent U.S. Air Force performance specifications without deviations, officials said. The company had previously reported developing a rocket motor having the highest thrust of any single solid propellant motor ever tested.

Well-Being Of Farmers Going Up

WASHINGTON (UP)—The well-being of American farmers as a whole went up last month. Their prices increased. Their costs went down. The Agriculture Department's monthly price report Wednesday, showed prices farmers received for crops and livestock crawled up 1 per cent in the month ended July 15. This was due largely to higher prices for livestock, poultry eggs and dairy products. At the same time prices paid by farmers for goods, services, interest, taxes and farm wages dropped one-third of one per cent. This caused the parity ratio between prices received and prices paid to rise to 84 per cent. The ratio in mid-June was 82 per cent. In other words farmers were better off last month than the month before.

Hogs At Highest Among the increases were 90 cents per hundredweight in the average price of hogs and 20 cents for beef cattle. Hog prices in July averaged the highest since September, 1954, and beef cattle the highest since February, 1953. The price report provided the basis for a mandatory boost in the price support rate for 1957-crop cotton.

Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson announced in February the support rate would be not less than 28.35 cents a pound for middling 1/8 inch base grade, or 77 per cent of the cotton parity as of the start of the marketing year Aug. 1. The report showed that the parity price has increased from 36.56 cents a pound last February to 36.93 cents. This could make the new price support rate 28.44 cents. This means an average of about 1.45 cents a bale in the price support loan rate. A further mandatory increase may occur under provisions of the flexible price support law covering cotton. Under the law support rates must be increased as supplies decrease and markets in-

Rites Tomorrow For H. A. Kelly

(Special to The News) PERRYTON—Mr. H. A. Kelly, 84, of Perryton died yesterday at 8:30 p.m. in the Sanford Hospital after a 16 month illness. Born Feb. 9, 1873, moved to Perryton in 1929 and for two years operated the Perryton Telephone Co. He later purchased the Perryton Motor Co., which he and his son were operating at the time of his death. Survivors include his wife Edna; one son, Ellis of Perryton; one daughter, Mrs. Harry Taylor of Hereford; three sisters, Miss Sydney Kelly and Mrs. Nanie Orrel of Okmooze, Okla., and Mrs. Corena Gaunt of Detroit, Mich., and five grandchildren. Services will be held Saturday at 4 p.m. in the First Baptist Church with Rev. Carroll Ray, pastor, Rev. Joe Fredrick of the Christian Church, and Rev. Bill Burton, of the Baptist Church in Gruver, officiating. Burial will be in Ochiltree Cemetery under the direction of Boxwell Bros. Funeral Home.

Warning!

If you're clean-shaven, watch out tomorrow between 1 and 5 p.m. The Pampa Jaycees are set to "man the horse tank" on Cuyler Street again. Anyone without either a beard or a shaving permit is liable to the punishment—females excluded that is. Cotton exports have soared above estimates made when the 77 per cent rate was established in February. Also this year's crop may be smaller than anticipated. These developments may call for a higher rate than 77 per cent. No change will be made, however, until after the cotton production report on Aug. 8.

Ages Change In Kid Show

In setting up the rules and regulations for the Kid Pony Show, the committee found it was necessary to change the age groups for this year's show, according to John Pitts, chairman. The groups have been set up as follows: Group I, ages 5, 6 and 7; Group II, 8, 9 and 10; Group III, 11 and 12; Group IV, 13 and 14; and Group V, age 15. Clayton Mathis announced that the final practice of the show will be tomorrow night at 8 p.m. at the rodeo grounds. The directors are also urged to attend to practice the grand entry. Pitts said that the show is just waiting on the contestants and the starting whistle. The parade will line up at 2:15 p.m. Monday and will begin at 3 p.m. Registration for the Kid Pony Show closes at 12 noon Monday. E. O. Wedgeworth, Chamber of Commerce manager, said that the rodeo tickets were going fast and that people should buy theirs early to avoid the rush.

Billy Graham vs. New York's Apathy

By WARD CANNEL
NEA Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (NEA) — Less than a mile south of Madison Square Garden, a noon-hour passer-by answered a reporter's question with: "Billy Graham? Is he still in town?"

The fact was that Graham and his executive committee were deciding to continue the New York crusade against sin beyond the ten weeks they had scheduled. And Billy Graham was saying, as he had said so often before, that there was still a great deal to do here.

But those five words — "Is he still in town?" — summed up most of the response on this city's busiest corner and echoed the sentiment in other places around town outside of Madison Square Garden.

AT MADISON SQUARE GARDEN — Rapture, fervor and spiritual hunger come to Billy Graham (right). But for much of New York, practicality and disinterest sit in judgment on the Crusade Against Sin.

Meanwhile, at Madison Square Garden, the crusade's executive committee was going into conference to decide whether Billy Graham should continue his New York tour for another six or eight weeks.

The Graham headquarters pointed out that nearly two million men, women and children have come to see Billy. Mall floods in at 10,000 people daily. And who knows, spokesmen ask, how many have seen him on television.

There is, however, something less than exultation in the report that "actual conversions to Christ" number only about 30,000. And many of them are residents of nearby New Jersey and Connecticut — the green pastures that surround this concrete-carbuncle.

make it. Otherwise they wouldn't come back."

The contrast between the fervor one feels at the Garden and the disinterest one hears in subways, buses, and restaurants in the rest of the city is striking but not surprising.

Aside from spiritual needs, there is a practical turn to the minds of most New Yorkers.

"I hear he's tied up with some Chicago advertising agency," one man commented about Billy Graham. And another: "What do you figure the Garden's percentage runs on those collection buckets?"

And a third: "I read where this thing's costing somebody a million-and-a-half bucks. . . ."

In addition to the kitchen table view of Graham, there is another strong force in New York: The Catholic Church. This city, according to most surveys, is 46 per cent Catholic and 26 per cent Protestant.

And while the Protestant churches have been both helpful and kindly toward this gray flannel revival, the Roman Catholic position has been cold.

Leaving the handling of the matter to the local parishes, the official Catholic front on the proceedings at the Garden has kept many parishioners from attending.

In some churches, members were advised not to go. In others, priests began a series of sermons to review the Catholic faith on the Sundays of Graham's stay.

"We knew there were going to be discussions of faith," a parish priest said. "And we felt that our people should know where they stand."

Adcock Sets Sermon Topics

"Face to Face With God" will be the sermon topic discussed by the Rev. Woodrow Adcock at the two morning worship services of the First Methodist Church Sunday at 8:30 and 10:30.

The 8:30 a.m. service is broadcast over radio station KPND. Special music for the 8:30 a.m. service will be "Praise the Lord" by Williams sung by the Carol and Wesley Singers. The Sanctuary Singers will sing "O Thou the Central-Orbit" by Wood for the 10:30 a.m. service.

Sunday night at 7:30 Adcock will use as his subject, "The Cup of Christ." Special music will be "Children of the Heavenly Father" by Riegger sung by the MYF Singers.

Religious Leaders Forced To Reappraise Radio, TV

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP) — Religious leaders are being forced to reappraise the bright hopes they once held for reaching America's unchurched millions through television and radio.

Realistic clergymen admit to growing disappointment with the results of "electronic evangelism." With a few notable exceptions — such as the programs of Bishop Fulton J. Sheen and Billy Graham's "Hour of Decision" — audience surveys show that getting people to tune in a religious broadcast is almost as difficult as getting them to attend church.

Equally discouraging to churchmen is evidence that religious broadcasts are relatively ineffective in winning converts, even among those who listen to them regularly. One survey of 3,559 families, sponsored by the National Council of Churches, turned up only one person who said he was converted through the direct influence of a television program.

Officials of major denominations are now taking a hard second look at the whole field of religious broadcasting, in an effort to find out where the trouble lies.

Can Stand Improvement

The first conclusion they have reached is that the quality of most religious programs can stand a great deal of improvement.

"There has been a tendency to substitute pious intentions for professional skill in producing religious broadcasts," said one official. "Churches cannot expect to hold their own in the highly competitive struggle for television audiences simply by labeling a broadcast religious and asking people to watch it out of a sense of duty."

Dr. Ralph W. Sockman, New York Methodist minister whose "National Radio Pulpit" sermons are broadcast over 100 NBC stations each Sunday morning, told the United Press that "religion has not yet found out quite how to use" mass communications media, particularly TV.

Sockman, who is pastor of Christ Church on Park Avenue, said he has learned in 30 years of broadcasting that delivering an effective sermon by radio is much more difficult than preaching from a pulpit to a congregation.

"You have to use colorful words, words that the listener can see in his mind," he said in an interview. "You must avoid long abstract discussions, and put in frequent light touches."

But no matter how hard you try to make the sermon interesting, 15 minutes is about as long as you can hold an invisible audience. His Fulle Form of Evangelism

Simply putting a regular church service on the air—the type of program which takes up a large proportion of all broadcast time allocated to religion—is, in Sockman's opinion, a largely futile form of evangelism. Such a broadcast, he feels, may be welcomed by shut-ins who would like to attend church in person if they could, but it is not likely to woo many potential converts away from the Sunday papers.

In an effort to develop a different kind of religious broadcast that will appeal to the millions who never attend church, the Broadcasting and Film Commission of the National Council of Churches has been experimenting with several types of programs. It has produced dramatic shows with underlying spiritual themes; panel programs in which newspaper-interview church officials on controversial subjects; and "man to man" talks by articulate clergymen on specific problems of everyday living.

Scientists Schedule Services

How the understanding of God's inexhaustible goodness enables man to meet everyday needs will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon on "Love."

Scriptural selections will include the following from Ezekiel (34:11, 14): "For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I, even I, will both search my sheep, and seek them out. . . . I will feed them in a good pasture, and upon the high mountains of Israel shall their fold be: there shall they lie in a good fold, and in a fat pasture shall they feed upon the mountains of Israel."

Correlative passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (494): "Divine Love always has met and always will meet every human need. It is not well to imagine that Jesus demonstrated the divine power to heal only for a select number or for a limited period of time, since to all mankind and in every hour, divine Love supplies all good."

Dr. Carver To Return This Sunday

Dr. Douglas Carver returns to his pulpit Sunday at the First Baptist Church after a vacation in New Mexico.

For his sermon at the 11 a.m. service, Dr. Carver will use the theme "Secrets of Success." The church choir will present a spiritual entitled "He's Got The Whole World In His Hands" arranged by William Reynolds.

A meaningful service will be conducted at the 8:00 p.m. Sunday at which time the ordinance of the Lord's Supper will be observed. Dr. Carver will use as his subject at this hour "Rekindling Fires of Gratitude." The church choir will present music appropriate for this ordinance.

A youth sponsored revival will be held Aug. 14-18, and for the evangelistic team the church will

Ashrams To Hold Area Meet Aug. 19

KERVILLE — The Southwest Area Ashram will be held at Mt. Wesley Encampment Aug. 19-26. The Ashrams are supervised and promoted by the Joint Department of Evangelism of the National Council of Churches. This will be the eighth consecutive such inter-denominational spiritual gathering to be held at Mt. Wesley.

Dr. E. Stanley Jones, leader of the Ashram, will be in attendance throughout the week. He will speak twice daily — 11 a.m. and 8 p.m. — in addition to leading the morning period for group worship, having personal interviews and otherwise sharing his experience of the love of God with those who attend.

Dr. Marvin T. Judy of the Parkland School of Theology, Southern Methodist University, Dallas, will lead in the "Church At Work Hour" each morning and Rev. Melvin A. Stuckey of the religion department of Trinity University, San Antonio, will lead each morning in the "Bible Hour."

Joseph M. Connally, pastor of Munger Place Methodist Church, Dallas, will serve as director for the Ashram. Mrs. Charles Bailey of Ballinger will be the hostess.

Rev. Dick Brown, pastor of First Christian Church, Mineral Wells, will be the song leader and Maury C. Jones of Dallas will be the organist.

The Kerrville Ashram both in 1956 and 1955 had the largest enrollment of any one held in the United States. Those who attend find great leadership, marvelous fellowship and the presence of the Holy Spirit, as well as an opportunity for recreation, said Mr. Connally.

Nevertheless, he looks tired. His eyes are even deeper in the shadows of his brow. He has dropped almost 15 pounds. And his appeal which started off in a controlled, low key has grown in ten weeks to a crescendo that suggests nervous energy.

Time, however, has not altered his effectiveness. He still conjures up a mighty hunger — in the Garden anyway.

"Come," he says with his arms open, to the 17,000 rapt faces before him. "Come to Jesus." And another 600 resolute and convinced file silently down the aisle toward him.

In his last scheduled week, a group of people from New Jersey waiting for their chartered bus broke through their awe to agree that Graham was as compelling his time as he had been during his first visit.

In the prayer room downstairs, counselors were as busy with the converts as they had been on any night during the New York crusade.

"We see familiar faces from time to time," one counselor said, still undecided. We know they'll

NEW YORK (UP) — Billy Graham set a good-natured trap to obtain extra monetary offerings from his Madison Square Garden audience Thursday night, then got caught in the trap himself.

The evangelist told an overflow crowd of 19,000 persons that "the members of the crusade committee are getting that little worried look on their faces again so I'm going to ask you for money again."

He asked all persons in the audience who had checking accounts to raise their hands and keep them up. Hands shot up all around the huge oval-shaped garden.

"Now," Graham grinned, "I want you ushers to hand all those people bank checks." The ushers did as they were told and everyone had a good laugh as they dutifully filed in the blank spaces on their checks.

While Graham smiled his approval, an enterprising usher walked right up to the rostrum and handed the evangelist a check. And while everybody had another good laugh, Graham signed on the dotted line, too.

Graham explained that it costs the executive committee more than $75,000 weekly to run his New York crusade. By the time the crusade closes Aug. 10, it will have cost more than a million dollars.

Graham said in his sermon that Americans have "heard the voices of the diplomats, the historians and the philosophers long enough and it's high time we listened to God."

More people should read and study the Bible, the North Carolina Baptist minister said, because "today we hear the cry all over the Christian world, 'Back to Christ, back to Christ,' but I want to know is what Christ are we going back to?"

"Secret Christians," Graham said, let their neighbors see the outward side of their characters by going to church regularly "and letting your friends look at you, but get away to a convention and you pick up a pitchfork."

"Maybe some of you think I'm a raving maniac because I preach

"Fear And Wisdom" Methodist Topic

"Fear and Wisdom" is to be Dr. Burgin Watkins' sermon topic for the Sunday morning service at the St. Paul Methodist Church. His evening topic has not yet been set.

The adult choir will be under the direction of Mrs. Ester Brown with Mrs. Lois Fagan at the organ at the morning worship hour.

The MYF choir will bring the music for the evening service. They will meet at 8 p.m.

The Methodist men held a "Ladies Night" last night. Joe Davis is president of the group.

A final report on the Roy Farrow Unified Budget campaign was given at that meeting.

That Christ took the way of the cross to save you," Graham said. "The cross has come down through the centuries to pass its judgment on men, and when it tells us we're sinners we resent it, we wringe, we melt away. . . . In a great city like New York, with its neglect of the poor, indulgence of the rich, its growing race problem, the people find it uncomfortable to follow the cross."

In calling for "decisions for Christ," Graham assured his audience that "you don't have to understand everything in the Bible to know you want to give your life to Christ."

"I've been studying the Bible for 20 years and I don't fully understand it," he said.

The 400 persons who recorded "decisions" brought Graham's New York total to 41,191. Attendance so far at his sermons has totaled 1,341,600.

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

REV. G. R. MARTIN, Pastor
Fellowship Baptist Church
830 South Cuyler, Pampa, Texas

FOUR GREAT THINGS!

John 5:24 "Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life".

THE GREAT PERSON! "Verily, verily, I say unto you . . ." These important words have been spoken by THE GREATEST PERSON. THE SON OF GOD and GOD THE SON! He is great because: He died for our sins—He was raised again for our justification! He has ascended to the right hand of GOD! He is the only one Great Mediator between God and men! He is COMING BACK AGAIN! "And if I go and prepare a place for you, I WILL COME AGAIN, . . ." John 14:3

THE GREAT CHOICE! ". . . he that heareth my word and believeth on him that sent me . . ."

GOD will not violate your free will. He does not force you to receive the Lord Jesus Christ as your personal Saviour. He gives you this GREAT CHOICE! It is a GREAT CHOICE because your eternal destiny rests upon it. THE GREAT GIFT! ". . . hath everlasting life . . ."

How tragic it is that this world of lost people can not realize that Salvation is always and only a GIFT OF GOD! "For the wages of sin is death; but the GIFT OF GOD is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord." Romans 6:23 "For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the GIFT OF GOD: Not of works, lest any man should boast." Ephesians 2:8, 9.

THE GREAT PROMISE! ". . . shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life."

WHAT A PROMISE! You will never be condemned if you have received GOD'S GIFT! The only way that you may receive GOD'S GREAT GIFT is to make the GREAT CHOICE—CHOOSE THE LORD JESUS CHRIST! "For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in Him." II Corinthians 5:21

Bell Provides For "Friendly" Legislation To Pro-Football

By TOM NELSON
United Press Sports Writer
WASHINGTON (UP)—Commissioner Bert Bell's recognition of the National Football League's Player Assn. was backed today by eight of the 10 owners required to approve the action.
Bell's action also appeared to clear the way for friendly congressional legislation for pro football when subcommittee Chairman Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.) said he is "willing to modify my views" on anti-trust regulation of the sport as a result of the testimony he has heard.

Musial Batters Cobb's Record With Two Homers, Two Singles

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer
Stan Musial passed Ty Cobb today and the St. Louis Cardinals entered into the spirit of the occasion by passing Milwaukee to take over the National League lead.
All this passing was accomplished when the Cardinals defeated the Giants, 8-0, Thursday night to take over first place by two percentage points over the idle Braves.
The 36-year-old Musial supplied most of the impetus with a perfect night at the plate that included a pair of two-run homers and two singles.
Stan the Man passed Cobb with his second homer of the game in the sixth inning. The blow, his 24th circuit of the season, was the 1,140th extra base hit of his career and put him in third place ahead of the Georgia Peach in that department. Only Babe Ruth, with 1,356 extra base hits, and Lou Gehrig, with 1,190, are ahead of Musial.
Sam Jones limited the Giants to six hits in registering his ninth victory. It was the Cards' sixth straight win.

Sandy Koufax checked the Cubs on four hits while striking out 11. Ernie Banks' three-run homer in the fourth accounted for all Chicago's runs.
The Tigers had to call on Frank Lary to stem a four-run, ninth-inning rally after Frank Malone belted a three-run homer off Duke Maas. Harry Byrd relieved Maas and yielded two more singles but then Lary took over and got Norm Zauchin to hit into a double play, after which he struck out Ted Lepcio for the final out.
Boston starter Mike Fornieles was the loser.
The Senators spotted the White Sox an early four-run lead and then came back to win at the expense of rookie Bill Fischer. Larry Doby put the White Sox ahead with a grand slam homer in the fourth inning but Washington tied the score on Roy Sievers' 28th homer with one on in the sixth. Sievers' homer finished Jack Harshman and brought in Fischer, who gave up the deciding run on a double by Art Schult, a sacrifice and Mill Bolling's single.
Southpaw Chuck Stobbs was credited with his fifth victory, holding the White Sox to four hits in eight innings before yielding to Tru Clevenger, who gave up another hit in the ninth. The loss dropped the second-place White Sox four games behind the pace-setting Yankees.

Porky Oliver Leads Buffs Stop All-American Open Dallas, 4-2

CHICAGO (UP)—Ed "Porky" Oliver, only nine times a winner in 17 years of pro golf, was a first-round front runner in Tam O'Shanter's All American Open today. But 58 challengers were a threatening position within six strokes.
Oliver, 40, hit every green Thursday and posted 12 pars and six birdies for a 66 total on the par-72, 5,915-yard course. It was his second-best round in 11 years in the event, held annually on the same links.
But the performance put him only one stroke ahead of 26-year-old Billy Casper Jr., who was a late finisher with a 67.

Roughly one-third of the field of 161 men was in striking distance today. Veteran Sam Snead, Shelley Mayfield, Tommy Bolt, and a former National Junior champion, Gay Brewer, were only one stroke behind Casper at 68. Eight more players posted 69s.
There were nine players with 70 and 15 at 71, for a total of 38 par-breakers for the first 18 holes. Twenty-one players equaled or bettered the field.
Par suffered at the hands of the women, too, and the leading women pros, Beverly Hanson, Indio, Calif., and Fay Crocker, Uruguay, each posted a five-under-71. They were three strokes ahead of three challengers, Kathy Cornelius, Jo Ann Prentice and Jacqueline Pung, but three other women pros also bettered par with 75s.
The leading woman amateur, young Clifford Ann Creed, also knocked one stroke off par with distance today. Veteran Sam Snead, Shelley Mayfield, Tommy Bolt, and a former National Junior champion, Gay Brewer, were only one stroke behind Casper at 68.

Hawbaker, Philblack Lead Top Division Of Tourney

Hawbaker and Philblack were the leading teams in the first round of play last night in the top division of the Top of Texas Softball Tourney.
Hawbaker downed Frank Phillips Mens Club of Burger in the opener and trounced Jim's Grocery, 12-3 in the nightcap to lead into the second round of play.
In the other top division Philblack defeated the Pampa League team and drew a bye to move into the next round. Philblack will oppose Hawbaker at 7 p.m. Saturday in Lions Park, with the winner moving into the final game to be played Sunday in the Southwest diamond of Hobart Park at 3 p.m.
Frank Phillips Mens Club downed Pampa League in another second game contest after both had dropped their first tilt.
In second division play Texas downed Celanese, 9-3 and Amarillo clipped Magnolia, 14-12. In the nightcap, Amarillo Packing came through with the second victory over Celanese, 12-1.

Carlsbad Gains In SW Race

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP)—Jack Sanford of the Phillies and Tony Kubek of the Yankees appear today to have Rookie of the Year honors locked up but the rest of the post-season awards still are wide open.
Sanford, the 28-year-old "boy" wonder who finally made the big league grade after 10 years, could emerge from the campaign with more medals than a revolutionary general. If he keeps going, and should the Phillies come on to win the pennant, he might take honors in three departments.
In such a case, the blond New England speedball pitcher conceivably could capture Rookie of the Year, Most Valuable Player and Most Valuable Pitcher honors in a clean sweep.
Sanford, who learned to control his curve ball to post 14 victories in 14 starts against only three defeats, apparently will have to top Billy Pierce of the White Sox for pitching honors and Hank Aaron of the Braves for Most Valuable acclaim.

Boyd, Vaughn Meet Tonight In TV Bout

NEW YORK (UP)—Middleweight contenders Bobby Boyd and Willie Vaughn meet tonight in a return 10-rounder at little St. Nicholas Arena instead of Madison Square Garden, because evangelist Billy Graham extended his Garden stay.
The fight will be televised and broadcast nationally by NBC at 10 p.m. e.d.t.
Boyd of Chicago, rated ninth, seeks his fifth straight victory on the comeback road and his second over Vaughn of Hollywood, Calif., ranked 10th. Bobby won a split verdict over Willie at Chicago, May 15, and he is favored at 8-3 to repeat.

McGinnis, Marler Are Top Putters

C. F. McGinnis and David Marler were last night's champions in the partnership putting contest held at the Pampa Country Club. Runners-up, and also sporting most aces for the evening, were Lloyd Jones and DeLee Vicars. Max Hickey and Tom Murray brought in consolation.
The putting tournaments, held each Thursday night, are sponsored by the Ladies Golf Association. Last night's contest hosted 48 entries. Starting time each week is 7:30.

Pony League All-Stars Take First Game Of Playoff Series

The Pampa Pony League All-Stars downed Hereford, 9-4 last night in the first game of the Optimist District playoff series.
Dennis Duncan hurled the win for Pampa, giving up only five hits and five walks while striking out 10 batters. Don Hazel worked behind the plate with Duncan.
Credited with the loss for Hereford was Whitaker, with Skypola and Sturmer as battery mates.
Pampa brought in their 9 runs off 4 hits and were charged with one error. Larry Stroud blasted a two-run homer to spark the attack for the Pampa team with Watson, Hazel and Cross accounting for the remainder of the hits.
Hereford gleaned their four runs off five hits and where charged with one error.

Devers Selected To Play In Annual Greenbelt Bowl

Gene Devers of Pampa has been selected as one of the All-Star linemen to play in the West in the Eighth Annual Greenbelt Bowl football game to be played in Childress.
The All-Star grid affair will get underway at 8 p.m. on Friday, August 16th, in the Fair Park Stadium in Childress.
Heading up this year's two squads as coaches will be H. A. "Sandy" Sanford and Johnny Dunn of Tarleton State College in Stephenville, Texas, for the West and C. R. Beard of Arlington State College in Arlington, Texas, for the East. Bobby Lane of Arlington State will be trainer for both teams.
Both teams rate plenty of all-district, all-area and all-state stars again this year, assuring area football fans of a top-notch battle from start to finish. Neither team should be a prohibitive favorite on game night.
The Greenbelt Game includes only players who finished their high school eligibility at the end of the 1956-57 season. The selected players will arrive here on Sunday, August 11th, and will work out four days prior to the tilt.
Devers was selected as one of the most valuable players on last year's Harvesters squad.

KNOW the Ropes

by Gordon H. Miller
Well, another fine evening of wrestling entertainment is in store next Monday night at the Top of Texas Sportsman Club. The line up is probably one of the best we have had for quite some time.
The first event will find the gentleman from the Bronx, Rocky Columbo, matching scientific wrestling skill against Rip Hawk who threw away the rule book many many years ago. Hawk, a newcomer here, is comparatively a little man, standing 5'10", however he more than makes up in rough house tactics what he lacks in size. This one should be a humdinger. This week we are fortunate. Yes, fortunate is correct, we have not one but two main events.
The first main event features the Fabulous Moolah, world's championship wrestler, and another newcomer, Helen Hill. This will be a two out of three fall affair with a one hour time limit. Moolah, as you know, doesn't wrestle according to Hoyle (whoever he is), she wrestles according to "my style." The champion has been wrestling only six years and before that was a second to a character known as "Elephant Boy." "Let's forget about that," she remarked. She picked up her name and wrestling skill in Johannesburg, South Africa, while on tour with her brother, a fairly good amateur grappler at that time. The toughest grappler she has ever met is Judy Grable, she says. The champion hails from New York, and is an American citizen. I might add that many a Ph.D. would certainly blink his eyes if he saw the pay check this gal takes home every month.
The second main event features a six man tag team. Bob Geigie, Dizzy Davis and Rocky Columbo will match wit and skill against the Great Bol, John Tolas and Rip Hawk.
This one should be plenty rough and tough, especially if Bol has his little gimmick with him. You know, I think if I were a wrestler I would not only find whatever it is he uses but I'd use it on a certain guy that wears a mask, wouldn't you? John Tolas too is no pushover even for the best. I'll never forget the remark Dizzy Davis made one evening in the dressing room. He says it's almost impossible to hit Tolas on the chin. You know why? His mouth is too big. Not very funny, is it? But it's true.
As for the team of Geigie, Davis and Columbo, these boys can handle anything, rough house, bar room, street fighting or any other way Bol and his mob want it. I'm sure they will more than handle their share of this battle. Better not miss this one.
Reserved tickets can be purchased at Modern Pharmacy. Match time is 8:30.

Marx Was A Tin-Horn

The job every person in America who believes in freedom should undertake, is to sharpen his own perception and his own articulateness so he can effectively reveal the advantages of freedom over non-freedom.

This task of self-improvement is always difficult. It demands unending search for better arguments by means of which freedom's advantages can be attractively presented.

It calls for an end to proselyting. It is consistent with freedom that freedom itself can only be sustained in a manner which will brook no coercion. One simply cannot expand freedom by relying on force to compel others to a predetermined point of view.

In this connection we would like to hand a bouquet to the American Economic Foundation. The informational organization is a specialist in reducing economics to fundamental simplicity. We know of no organization more capable in making the facts of economics crystal clear to average persons.

AEF makes no effort to compel a belief in the effectiveness of its terms or methods. It simply works to clarify by means of simplifications, those things which may appear at first hand to be complex or difficult in the economic realm.

For example, this foundation is responsible for developing a formula for showing the true nature of profit. Marxists the world over are opposed to profit. Those who believe in freedom and who want each person to be able to keep everything that he can earn, are often hard put to it to justify profit.

It appears to many otherwise clear-thinking persons that Marx was right when he said that "a dollar of profit is an unpaid wage."

What is profit? It must be, by definition, that residue of money remaining after all costs of production are paid. Well, let's look at it the way the foundation simplifies it.

All money that any firm takes in with which to pay all costs and to make all profits, comes from customers. There is no other source of income. Thus it can truly be said that a firm's gross income is simply 100 per cent of what the customers pay for that firm's goods or services. How is this money divided so that everyone can be paid?

The foundation says there are only five areas into which this 100 per cent of all income can be separated. They are: Cost of human energy, mental or physical (wages). Cost to materials or services furnished by others (raw materials, power, rent, etc.). Cost of government (taxes). Cost of replacing tools (depreciation); and the payment to the owners of the tools for the use of the tools (profit). There are no other costs whatsoever.

Every expense of any business can be classified somewhere under these five major headings. There are few who would object to the payment of wages whether to day workers or to managers. The worker is worthy of his hire and must be paid. Some may argue that managers get higher salaries than other workers. But in all fairness it must be seen that no one will work for nothing, and that the more rare the skill, the greater the wage that can be commanded. Good managers are more rare than other good workers. Hence good managers are paid more.

Similarly, there are few who would hold that raw materials, rents and other costs of production should not be paid. In honesty everything that is provided and regardless of who provides it, must be paid for in full. This is certainly a legitimate expense for any business.

The third area of cost, government, is one that attracts a good deal of attention. But if we omit for the moment the morality and the justice of the nature and size of taxes, there is still no question but that taxes must be paid. And this cost, too, like anything else, must be covered by the total of gross income received from customers.

The cost of replacing tools is certainly legitimate. Even the tools wear out and that some provision must be made for their replacement. Without such replacement, and even improvement, the wheels of industry would soon stop turning. Some portion of the total gross income must be set aside for this purpose.

Thus we come finally to the single cost of doing business which is called profit. But as we examine profit, it, like every other cost, is not something over and above all other costs. It is an integral part of any business operation that the owners of the tools must be paid for permitting their tools to be used. The owners of these tools are either individuals, partnerships or stockholders who have provided the original money to pay for the original tools. It is inconceivable that they would have parted with their money unless they could anticipate some rent or other return for the use of their money. Payment to the owners of the tools is usually called dividends. Without dividends there would be no reason to buy tools for production in the first place.

By this means of simplifying the economic picture, we see that profit is not in reality some vast accumulation of money stacked up over and above the cost of doing business. Rather, it is an integral part of any kind of business and no business can function without paying it, any more than it can function without paying wages or other kinds of rent.

Here is the way we can quickly see that Marx was a tin-horn economist filled with his own evil and his own error. Any profit paid to the owners of tools, is simply a necessary re-paid for the use of those tools. Perhaps if we look at it this way we will see the obvious reason for profits.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. Hollis
The Sovereign States
After I had read James Jackson Kilpatrick's book, "The Sovereign States," I had a much clearer idea of the importance of State rights.

Kilpatrick is editor of "The News Leader" at Richmond, Va.

In talking to a couple of lawyers as to the merits of this book, they wanted to know whether Kilpatrick was a lawyer. When they found he was not, they seemed to think that his book would not be of much value as far as interpreting the Constitution was concerned. It seems to me he is really in a better position, being not a lawyer and not an agent of the government, to interpret the origin of the Constitution than a lawyer would be who is, in a way, an adjunct of the State and Federal governments. Anyone who wants to know the importance of the sovereignty of the various States would do well to read this book.

Mr. Kilpatrick is a man who believes that the solution of our problem will depend largely upon whether we recognize the importance of combating various ideas. He opens his introduction this way:

"Among the more melancholy aspects of the gentled world we live in is a slow decline in the enjoyment that men once found in the combat of ideas, free and unrestrained. Competition of any sort, indeed, seems to be regarded these days, in our schools and elsewhere, as somehow not in very good taste."

Certainly thinking frankly out loud was in good taste when the Constitution of the States and the Federal Government was being formed.

Kilpatrick admits that he pleads the cause of States' rights. He also says that government is the least evil when it is closest to the people.

We should begin to realize that when we find that the federal government is telling us that boys and girls under 14 cannot be employed for pay, they are also telling us what wages shall be paid and how long people dare work at a given wage. When the Founding Fathers wrote the Constitution they evidently never dreamed that the federal government would be taking from states and people their rights to choose.

Mr. Kilpatrick has great admiration for the foresight of Patrick Henry when the Constitution was being formulated.

Kilpatrick relates how George Mason contended that a centralized government could not help protect liberty over large territories. He wrote:

"... It is ascertained by history, that there never was a government over a very extensive country without destroying the liberties of the people... Popular governments can only exist in small territories."

I have often wondered why Switzerland has survived as well as it has. Possibly the reason is that its government operates over a small territory.

Kilpatrick quotes Henry as saying the proposed Constitution was "extremely pernicious, impolitic and dangerous." He saw no jeopardy to the people in the Articles of Confederation; he saw great jeopardy in this new Constitution.

Henry put it this way:

"We are descended from a people whose government was founded on liberty. Our glorious forefathers of Great Britain made liberty the foundation of every thing. That country is become a great, mighty and splendid nation; not because their government is strong and energetic, but, sir, because liberty is its direct end and foundation. We drew the spirit of liberty from our British ancestors: by that spirit we have triumphed over every difficulty. But now, sir, the American spirit, assisted by the ropes and chains of consolidation, is about to convert this country into a powerful and mighty empire. If you make the citizens of this country agree to become the subjects of one great consolidated empire of America, your government will not have sufficient energy to keep them together. Such a government is incompatible with the genius of Republicanism."

Patrick Henry evidently was a man of vision, judging from how rapidly our federal government is usurping rights that belong to the individual and the State.

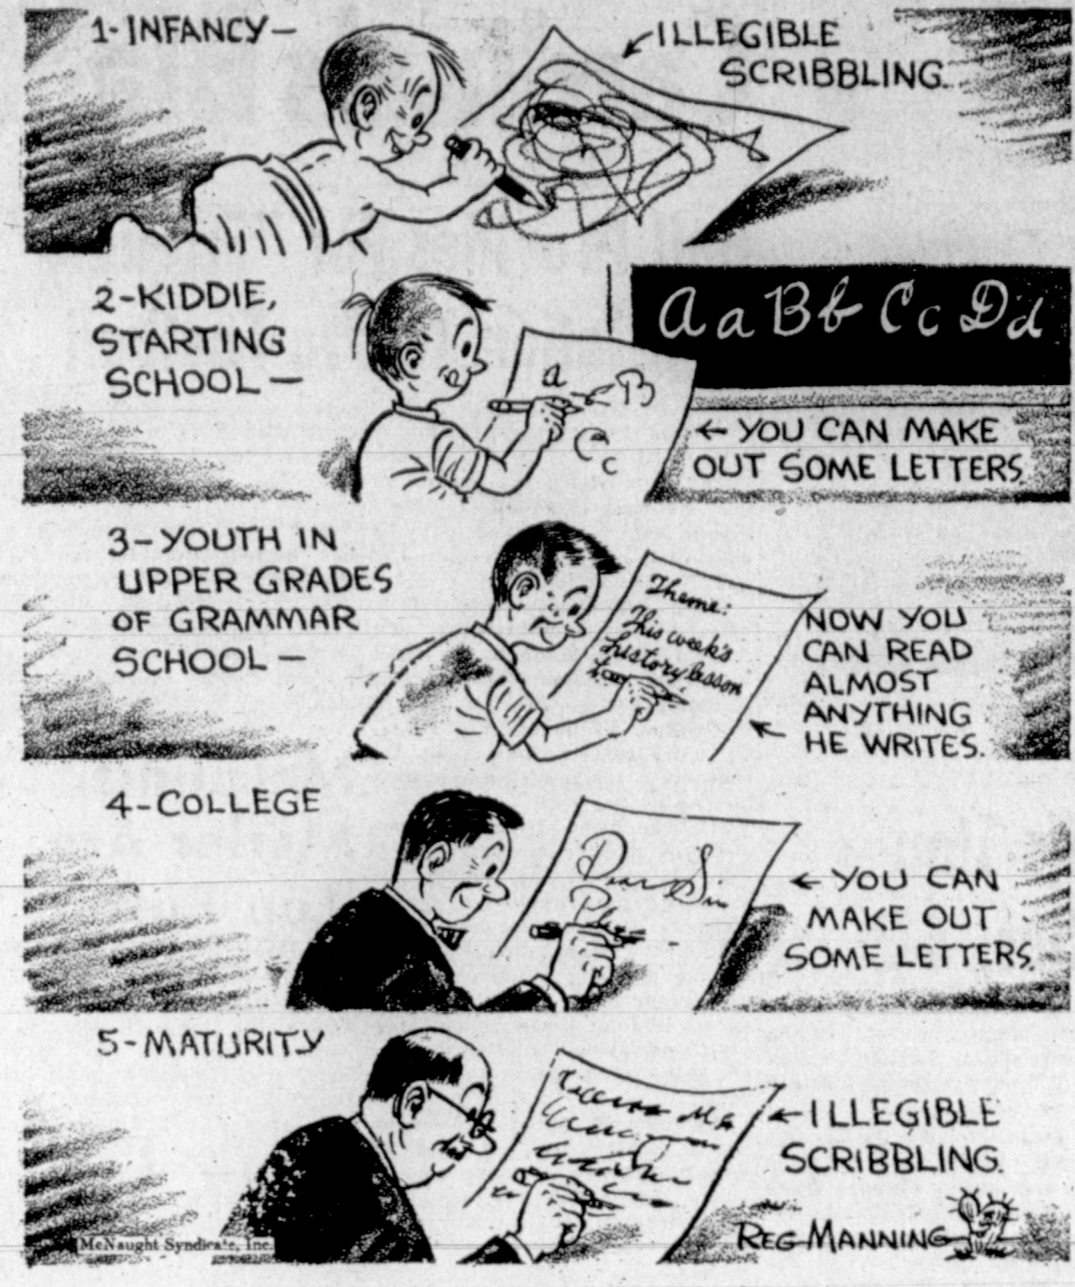

George Mason and Madison tried to convince Henry of his error. They were not successful. The author writes:

"Henry, undaunted, straightened his red wig and returned to the debate. 'That government is no more than a choice among evils,' he remarked, 'is acknowledged by the most intelligent among mankind, and has been a standing maxim for ages.' He could not accept the idea that this new government would be 'a mighty benefit to us.'"

Lab Blunder Caused Yalta, Potsdam Fiasco

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — American scientists' serious miscalculation of the devastating strength of our first atom bomb was probably the Allies' most fatal blunder of World War II. Our current difficulties with Russia and China, as well as the Communists' postwar possession of Central Europe, the Balkans and the Far East, may be traced directly to this laboratory error.

The Doctor Says

By Edwin J. Jordan, M. D.
EMOTIONS SEEN BIG CAUSE IN STUTTERING

Since it is believed that more than one person in 100 has trouble with stuttering, it is not surprising that a number of questions on this subject are sent to this column. This is an unusual example of the common effect which emotions have on stuttering.

There are some differences of opinion about the causes of this speech difficulty. It has proved impossible to find any direct physical cause — that is a localized brain or nerve tissue injury — except in the rarest instances. Furthermore, the belief that left-handed children who are made to use their right hands start stuttering has not been accepted by many of those who have studied the subject.

One student has stated flatly that "stuttering is caused by a fear of people on the part of the stutterer." I am not sure that everyone accepts this view, either. However, there is no doubt that the emotions do play a large part in stuttering. Everyone who comes in contact with this problem notices the greater difficulty in speaking which a stutterer has under circumstances of emotional stress.

What can or should be done for the victim of stuttering? First and foremost, this is the recognition that this will not simply be "outgrown" and therefore the earlier proper attention is given to it the better chances of improvement.

Also, much has been learned about stuttering in the last few years, so that better treatment for it can be given. This involves seeking expert advice through a speech and hearing center of which there are now a considerable number around the country. Information on where these are located can be obtained from the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, 111 South LaSalle St., Chicago, Ill.

Another thing which can be done is for parents and teachers who come in contact with stuttering children to learn more about the problem. Sound information on this subject can be obtained from a booklet on stuttering prepared with the advice and guidance of the American Speech and Hearing Assn. and distributed through the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

informed Roosevelt that the bomb would have an explosive effect equivalent to only 500 tons of TNT. This destructive power hardly equaled the bomb load carried by planes that were bombing Germany and Japan.

Actually, the first A-bomb had a blast force equivalent to between 10,000 and 20,000 tons of TNT, or enough to level Hiroshima and Nagasaki. Its pulverizing effect forced Japan to sue for peace almost immediately, and brought a sudden end to the conflict in the Far East.

ENVISIONED INVASION OF JAPAN

Because of this miscalculation, General Marshall, Admiral King and their British opposites persisted in the belief that it would require at least 18 months to defeat Japan after Germany's surrender. They envisaged a physical invasion of Japan with a million men, accompanied by fearful losses.

It was for this reason that Roosevelt and Churchill thought it necessary to give so many concessions to Stalin at Yalta, and for Truman and Atee to confirm these "giveaways" at Potsdam. In return for Russian control of Manchuria, the Baltic nations, Central Europe and the Balkans, Stalin agreed to repudiate his peace treaty with Tokyo, and to enter the war against Japan one month after Hitler's downfall.

RUSSIANS FOUGHT LITTLE — However, the Tokyo war lords, under pressure from the Emperor, surrendered so quickly and completely after the Hiroshima-Nagasaki disasters that Russian troops fought only an 8-day skirmish against the disheartened Japanese forces.

But Marshal Zhukov seized the Yalta opportunity to turn over Japanese arms and ammunition to the Chinese Communists, and subsequently Stalin stripped Manchuria of minerals and machinery to rebuild Russia. Had it not been for these contributions to Soviet economy, Russia might still be a second-rate power.

Hitler Never Got To Use His 'Eagle Nest'

By HENRY McLEMORE

BERCHTESGADEN — A doll rest of the world didn't know, or felt something. He was preparing for the fall while astride the crest. It's a pity Churchill didn't know about this. It might have given him comfort during those dark hours.

All of Hitler's building in Berchtesgaden wasn't underground. He made sure he was going to enjoy Berchtesgaden's unsurpassed beauty while the going was good. To guarantee this, he built hotels and retreats all over this area.

Topping them all is Eagle's Nest, a tea room of all things. The superb road to it was built by Italian laborers brought in just for the job, and Mercedes-Benz was given the job of building special buses — they have five speeds forward and two in reverse — capable of negotiating it in all sorts of weather.

The people here said Hitler visited Eagle's Nest but twice — once with Mussolini and once with Neville Chamberlain. The rest of the time he was content to stay in his own house, about half-way up the Alp. The RAF plastered that picture-window job and only its foundations now stand.

Twelve of his hotels, inns and retreats, are now operated by the U.S. Army, and they form the core of a superb recreation area for our troops. The recreation area, Lt. Colonel Vandergift, has his headquarters in a building that served as a summer Reichs Chancellery, and in whose conference room the invasion of Poland was planned.

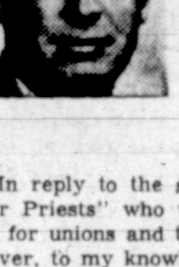

Hitler never got to test his underground retreat. Caught in Berlin, he died there. Today the retreat belongs to sightseers, not soldiers.

If an intruder wandered the wrong way, without first pushing the right button, he was sprayed with machine gun lead, and secret exits and entrances abounded.

This Alpine retreat was not built as a desperate, last-resort measure. It was being constructed when German troops were riding rough-shod over Europe and Hitler was claiming that the world lay at his feet.

So, the Austrian house painter must have known something the

Long-Persecuted Priest Praised-After Death

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

In reply to the so-called "Labor Priests" who wage controversy for unions and their bosses, but never, to my knowledge, put a finger on any crook among their general clientele, I beg consent to publish the following:

"Pastor Fathers, 415 West 90th Street, New York, N.Y., Jan. 25, 1957.

"Dear Peg:

"I am still cooped up in a corner of the house after ten months. I was out only once — to Boston for the laying of the cornerstone of the Centre on Park Street.

"I do, however, see the papers (formerly McCarthy?) committee's getting around to racketeering in the unions, I said 'it's a vindication of Pegler.' And when Reuther came out with a demand (!) for an investigation of what you've been exposing for ten or twelve years, I felt that you had triumphed. Give the men of the cloth a little more courage — and they also may wake up. It has been my pleasure to direct the attention of some of them to the fact that Pegler has been calling the shots as he sees them and that it will be well for certain Labor Priests to do the same.

"You are paying the penalty of being ahead of the crowd. Our Savior, himself, said to those who were ganging up on him, 'You killed all the prophets from Abel to Zacharias.' (A to Z, by the way.)

"There is a scriptural phrase 'the reward of the prophet.' That's it — persecution is vindication. But don't worry; Not now that you are winning. Better late than never.

"I am sending you a new book of mine, written before I got sick but published only now.

"I was delighted to hear that you liked old St. Mary's in S.F. It is my own favorite — after our church here. I did a lot of work out there from 1910 on.

"I am saying mass sitting down — by permission from Rome. Sincerely yours,

"James M. Gillis, C.S.P." After Father Gillis died, the noted mid-western Catholic weekly "Our Sunday Visitor" ran a solemn editorial entitled "Was a Father Gillis Wrong?" Noting that he "was little fussed-over until he put down his pen, thereby disarming himself."

"But after his retirement," said our Sunday visitor, "honors started pouring in. And after his death, practically every Catholic periodical in the country said what a great man he was. If they loved him so much, if they respected him, if he was such a great man, why didn't they listen to him?"

"He kept crying out, like the Old Testament watchman on the ramparts, warning of every approaching danger: the first, fatal recognition of Russia; lend-lease, 'shoot on sight'; 'stab in the back'; Pearl Harbor; Quebec, Yalta, Potsdam."

"Tell the truth: God had no need of a lie," said St. Ambrose. Father Gillis made those words his guiding principle."

At Christmas 1955, Father Gillis went home to Boston. He called on me and from my hotel window we looked down on the beautiful scene of the common where, 70 years before, this little lad had played third base for the neighborhood scrub. And "way yonder, back of the common, vague through the falling snow, his monument, the Paulist center, which now bears his name, was taking shape on Park Street."

He told me of his defeat. He warned me that the enemy was too strong. They had killed off Joe McCarthy, Martin Dies, Parnell Thomas, J. B. Matthews, Bob Stripling —

"Write your funny stuff," he said. "But drop this fight. You can't win."

Strange counsel from a martyr going feebly and alone to a hospitable grave.

HUDDERSFIELD, England — William G. Malbert, who will be 103 today, on the contribution of beer and tobacco to his longevity: "It's my medicine."

JOIET, Ill. — Nathan Leopold, whose own request for parole had just been denied, reacting to the news that a similar plea by Roger (The Terrible) Touhy had been more successful: "I'm happy for him... I congratulate him."

Yugoslavia Won Big Victory Over Russia

Foreign News Commentary

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Independent Communist Yugoslavia has won a big victory in economic negotiations with Soviet Russia.

But Poland is still in serious economic trouble and there is no immediate prospect that it can get either from Russia or the United States the aid it needs to safeguard its semi-independent status.

President Tito of Yugoslavia decided recently to test the Soviet government's expressed desire for better relations by asking it to make good on unfulfilled promises of 250 million dollars in credits.

A delegation of economic experts which he sent to Moscow has returned to Belgrade with a promise that the credits will be given.

The United States granted Poland credits totaling $5 million dollars in surplus farm products and mining machinery to strengthen its weak economy and help it to maintain the large measure of freedom it has won from Russian domination.

Wheat Shipment Arrives

The first shipment of 9,168 tons of wheat under this credit arrived at the Polish port of Gdynia on July 24.

But Poland had asked a total of 300 million dollars and there is no doubt that that much was almost desperately needed.

Card of Thanks

The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want.
He maketh me to lie down in green pastures; He leadeth me beside the still waters.
He restoreth my soul; He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake.
Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil; For Thou art with me; Thy rod and Thy staff they comfort me.
Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies; Thou dost subvert my feet upon a rock, and my feet shall not slip.
Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life; and I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever.

Southern Crops In Need Of Rain

AMARILLO (UP) — Rain is needed in the Southwest to keep growing crops from being severely damaged by lack of moisture in the surface soil, the Santa Fe Railroad said today in its monthly crop report.
Especially is this true of the non-irrigated cotton and sorghums that have been missed by the scattered thundershowers during July, the report said.
July's showers left very beneficial amounts of moisture where they happened to hit in Texas, western and southern Oklahoma, western Kansas, and the Plains of Colorado and New Mexico.
Conditions by states included:
Texas — Late crops delayed by wet field during spring planting season are beginning to show the lack of moisture in the surface soil.

Crop development ranges from the peak harvest of cotton in the Rio Grande Valley and harvest of fruit and vegetables in East Texas to a few areas in the High Plains where sorghums have just been replanted in order to secure an adequate stand. In the Panhandle one of the best wheat crops in several years has been harvested but yields were disappointing in many of the northern counties because of dust and hot winds.
Oklahoma — Harvesting of the 1957 wheat crop has been completed, except for a few areas where farmers are attempting to salvage acreage in low areas which had lodged badly.
Cotton Good
Cotton is generally off to a good start. Sorghums in most areas have a good start, but additional moisture will be needed to keep plants growing.
New Mexico — The Rio Grande is flowing at one of its highest levels and continuing to store water in Elephant Butte reservoir.
But in surrounding areas the drought seems to hold an unabated grasp extending all across the southern portion of the state and into east central counties.
Colorado — Prospects for crops are generally good to excellent, although in most areas they are from two weeks to a month later than usual.
Wheat harvest is well under way in northeastern Colorado with excellent yields reported. Corn, sorghums, sugar beets and vegetables are all making excellent progress.

Missouri — Missouri has planted the smallest acreage of corn since 1872. Prospects appear better than normal on acreage planted.
Record Planting
Conversely, Missouri farmers have planted a record sorghum acreage because of the inability to get corn off to a start during the past several years, and the development of hybrid grain varieties that will enable them to use sorghums as a corn substitute.
Kansas — About two-thirds of the wheat had been harvested through mid-July compared with practically the entire crop harvested on that date in 1956.
Damage from wet weather and delayed harvest has been extensive throughout the eastern two-thirds of the state. Low yields and test weight are reported, particularly in the southern counties where wheat had lodged badly and in many cases filled poorly.
Corn in the eastern counties is making excellent progress and the sorghum crop generally has been good.

Heat Relief Is Predicted

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Weather Bureau forecasts below normal temperatures and normal or above rainfall for most of the nation during August.
The 30-day outlook calls for temperatures to average below seasonal normals from the Ohio and lower Mississippi valleys eastward to the Atlantic seaboard.
Below normal is also predicted for central and northern areas west of the Continental Divide.
But it will be hotter than usual in the central third of the nation with the greatest departures over the northern plains. Near normal is indicated elsewhere.
Over most areas east of the Appalachians normal or above normal precipitation is forecast. This should bring relief from the drought in this area, the bureau said.
More than usual rainfall also is anticipated over the southern plateau and coastal areas of the Pacific Northwest. Subnormal rainfall is indicated for the central and southern plains. Elsewhere rain will be about normal.

Europe; Two Armed Camps Divided By Barbed Wire

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fourth in a series by the United Press military affairs writer. It sizes up the opposing forces on each side of the Iron Curtain.

By CHARLES CORDRY
United Press Staff Correspondent
PARIS (UP)—Militarily Europe is two armed camps.
It is divided by electrified barbed wire which the Communists have strung along the "Iron Curtain."

On the Western or free side of the no-man's land, there appears to be little if any war fever or nervousness to disturb the continent's seemingly prosperous and happy exterior. That condition may be a reflection of the tempered confidence of the men charged with defending this vital part of the world.
There are weaknesses on the west side of the front, notably shortages of anti-aircraft missiles and supersonic jet fighters and a ground force which is 18 instead of the desired 30 divisions.

But for those who tote up numbers, this disparity appears not as great as commonly supposed.
Over Four-Million Men
Russia's total military manpower is estimated at 4,600,000. Satellite forces of questionable value raise that figure to 6 million.
The West's total, including the United States and Canada, probably is 5,500,000 to 5,800,000.
Russia's army, unless it has made some of the cuts it said it would, is estimated at 3,200,000.
More than 900,000 Russian army troops plus air force and navy men, estimates unavailable, are in the Russian Far East and Soviet interior. That indicates the Soviets have 2,300,000 army men, plus air force and navy elements, in western Russia, the satellites and southern Russia.

Satellite forces add about 1,400,000 to the total. But Western intelligence rates them a slender reed for Russia in the light of widespread unrest.
The West's total manpower in Europe is about 3,100,000, including 250,000 U.S. Army, 80,000 U.S. Air Force and 25,000 U.S. 6th Fleet. These figures do not include the 400,000 French troops now in Algeria.
175 Red Divisions
The Russian army has 175 divisions. About 50 of them are in the Far East and the interior. The satellites have 65. The Soviet bloc could expand to 400 divisions in 30 days, according to military men here.
The Red Air force numbers 20,000 planes. Substantially all of them are jets, except the proba-by 2,000 copies of America's World War II B29 bomber. The satellites have 2,500 aircraft, half jets.

The Red navy's chief threat is submarines, variously estimated at 450 to 500. About half of them are long-range, ocean-going types, a considerable number are in the Black Sea.
From northern Norway to Turkey, the North Atlantic Treaty powers today are said to have 100 active and reserve divisions, 6,000 aircraft and 1,500 naval vessels. American forces include only those assigned to NATO.

The immediate Soviet threat, U.S. Army intelligence says, comprises 425,000 men in East Germany. They are organized into a 22-division tank and mechanized spearhead supported by MIG17 fighters and light jet bombers.
30 Division Minimum
This force could be more quickly reinforced from western Russia than could their opposite numbers — primarily American and British forces — from their home bases.
The minimum force NATO military planners want on the central front is 30 divisions. They say such a force will be available when all 12 German divisions are formed and three French divisions are returned from Africa. Today there are 18 divisions, not all at full strength.
NATO's expectation of reaching 30 divisions is based on hoped-for reconversion of Britain's plans for a 26,000-man cut in its 77,000-man Army of the Rhine. It also hinges on no other cuts in NATO ground forces. Britain definitely intends to cut its Rhine army by at least 13,000 men.
The shield force today comprises the five-division U.S. 7th Army, most powerful ever fielded by the United States in peacetime; the four-division British contingent, two French divisions, and an estimated four divisions of the Benelux countries and Canada. The three new German divisions bring the total to 18.
The NATO land forces are supported by U.S. Army Corporal and Honest John missiles and 280 mm. cannon. All can deliver atomic explosives.
