Ike Against Bill

WASHINGTON, July 20 (UP)—All 10 cabinet departments in the Eisenhower administration lined up today against a bill which sponsors say would end some of the secrecy in government. The House Government Information subcommittee, headed by Rep. John E. Moss (D-Calif.), will hear testimony from lawyers for three of the departments Monday. Statements by all of the departments were made public today.

The bill would amend a law passed by the first session of Congress back in 1789, which the Moss subcommittee claims cabinet departments are misusing as an excuse to withhold information.

Plane Feared Down

VENICE, Italy, July 20 (UP)—A U. S. Navy Neptune patrol bomber, with 11 men aboard, disappeared Friday and it is presumed to have crashed on the tidal flats north of this ancient city, the Navy said today. It was the second major American military plane mishap this week. An Air Force C-47 transport crashed in northern Formosa Tuesday, killing all 16 persons aboard.

The twin-engine Navy bomber left Fort Lauderdale, North Africa, Friday for a familiarization flight over the Mediterranean.

Arabian Uprising

LONDON, July 20 (UP)—Rebel forces were reported today to have won "temporary control" of part of the oil-rich domain of the British-backed Sultan of Muscat and Oman in southeast Arabia. Officials reports reaching London said the uprising is centered in Niwaa, a fortress town about 200 miles inland from the Oman capital of Muscat near the Persian Gulf.

"The situation is very confused at the moment," a British Foreign Office spokesman said. "We have not heard from our consul general since last night."

Disgrace Manifesto

HAVANA, July 20 (UP)—Government officials today shrugged off a seven-point rebel manifesto demanding formation of a provisional regime in Cuba. Presidential palace sources said they "saw no reason" for an official statement on the manifesto issued by rebel leader Fidel Castro from his hideout in the rugged mountains of Oriente Province.

"Diario Nacional" was the only one of six major morning newspapers in Havana to publish the Castro document.

80 In Riot

GLOUCESTER, N. J., July 20 (UP)—Six persons were stabbed early today in a free-for-all tavern brawl between whites and Negroes involving some 80 persons. Police from three towns used nightsticks and fired their pistols in the air to quell the fight.

Eight persons were arrested on disorderly conduct charges and one other, Shelton Jordan, 31, a Negro, was charged with assault and battery.

Russia Prosperous?

MOSCOW, July 20 (UP)—The Soviet government reported today that prosperity is busting out all over. It said its economic development plan for the first six months of this year was fulfilled by 104 per cent.

The results were so good, the Communist party newspaper Pravda said, they justified the recent firing of Premier Georgi Malenkov and other top leaders from their party and government posts.

The central statistics department reported an 11 per cent increase in industrial output and an eight per cent increase in consumer goods, compared with the first six months of last year.

Unkissed Miss

LONG BEACH, Calif., July 20 (UP)—The most beautiful girl in the world is 18 and has never been kissed. She has never even been alone with a boy on a date. Miss Universe of 1957, selected here Friday night, is Gladys Zender. Miss Peru, a beauty whose dimensions are 36-23 1/2-34. She is a socialite from Lima and, as such, has a chaperone with her wherever she goes.

Red Navy Move

ISTANBUL, Turkey, July 20 (UP)—A huge Soviet floating drydock passed into the Mediterranean from the Black Sea today, apparently as part of a Soviet Mediterranean naval buildup.

It was the second big Soviet drydock to be sent down the Turkish Straits to the Mediterranean in a month and coincided with the passage of a number of naval vessels, including a modern cruiser and three destroyers, from the relatively secluded Black Sea to the strategic Mediterranean.

Destination of the drydock was believed to be Albania. Observers said it was towed by two tugs and seemed to be large enough to accommodate vessels up to 3,000 tons.

Decision Tuesday In Segregationists' Trial

By WILLIAM TUCKER
United Press Staff Correspondent
KNOXVILLE, Tenn., July 20 (UP)—A federal court jury will decide Tuesday if the antagonism of 11 people, including a career segregationist from the North, constituted a conspiracy to prevent racial integration at Clinton, Tenn., high school.

The government claims it did, and cites a little-known U.S. Appeals Court ruling handed down while the events at Clinton High School were being played out, as the classical ground rules for any conspiracy.

The appeals court decision in Cincinnati, 300 miles north of here, held that a loosely-knit group "with a common purpose and plan" can be convicted although no "formal agreement has been proved."

Slowly, and along a tangled track of objections, deductions and guided testimony, there emerged a picture in the last two weeks of people aroused to a single issue. It was reduced almost to family size as they took their places on the stage of the Clinton drama.

Cases Tossed Out
The government admitted that no more than 10 of the original 17 Clinton residents belonged on the same stage with John Kasper, the outside segregationist accused of whipping up the natives.

The government tried to show that the main defendants met every week in Clinton cafes, from the beginning of integration for the first time in a Deep South state last August on through December, when a second wave of violence rocked the town.

Earlier riots in August and September had been put down by 700 national guardsmen. Kasper, sentenced to one year in prison for helping foment those riots in violation of a court injunction, was again accused of taking up the judicial segregation. He and other defendants, the government charged, conspired to oust Negroes from school during November and December through intimidation and force.

Main Issues
The questions before the all-white, Tennessee mountain pioneer-bred jury were:

Was a conspiracy shown among Kasper and his followers during the second phase of violence? Did the Clinton defendants, as a result of that conspiracy, commit over acts, including the beating of a preacher, in violation of Federal Judge Robert L. Taylor's injunction against interference with school integration?

Did the defendants, before any of the alleged acts, show "concert" through their membership in pro-segregation White Citizens Council to violate the injunction? Did the defendants know of the injunction and its contents?

In City Commission

Report On Lake Survey Expected

The report on an engineering survey on repairs needed to the dam and spillway at Lake McClellan is expected to be made to the City Commission Tuesday morning.

State Checking Pampa Traffic

A visual check of traffic at three intersections in Pampa is being made by the State of Texas.

The survey is part of a state-wide traffic check to determine the type of traffic conditions in various towns throughout the state, workmen making the survey in Pampa reported.

A count of traffic, broken down into the various types of vehicles entering the intersection from the four directions, was being made yesterday at the intersection of Hobart and Kentucky. Other intersections where counts are to be made are at Mary Ellen and Pennsylvania and at Barnes and Frederic.

The traffic count at each of these intersections begins at midnight and continues for 24 hours. A total is made of each type of vehicle at the end of each hour.

Convict To Be Questioned On Murder

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 20 (UP)—Cuyahoga County Coroner Samuel R. Gerber, a key figure in the Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard murder case, said today he will go to Florida next week to question a convict who says he killed Marilyn Sheppard.

Gerber's decision was the first official move by Cuyahoga County officials, who prosecuted Dr. Sam, since the "confession" Joseph Wedler, 23.

Gerber also called upon Gov. C. William O'Neill to permit the state to be represented when Sheppard undergoes a lie-detector test in Columbus, probably next Tuesday. The test will be given by the unofficial court of last resort.

Will Go To Florida
The coroner indicated he will go to Florida Monday with one or two officers who were active in the investigation leading to Dr. Sam's conviction for the murder of his pregnant wife, Marilyn. She was beaten to death in her Bay Village, Ohio, home near Cleveland on July 4, 1954. Sheppard pleaded innocent but was sentenced to life in prison for the crime.

Gerber said he was "hopelessly confused" by developments in Florida, where a lie-detector test showed Wedler thought he was telling the truth when he said he believes he beat Mrs. Sheppard to death.

Gerber told the governor he felt officials responsible for handling the case should be represented when Sheppard undergoes the lie detector test. He also said the state should give Sheppard and his relatives a test, once the court

Residence Here Is Burglarized

The burglary of a private residence Thursday night was reported to the police department at 11:25 p.m. Friday.

Jim Conner, chief of police, stated that Bill Robertson, 608 E. Campbell, reported that his residence had been entered sometime between 6 and 11 p.m. Thursday.

Officers investigating the burglary reported that the screen on the front door had been pried open and the burglars had entered through the front door. A $5 bill was missing from a sack in the house. The burglars left a $1 bill and $1.50 in change in the sack.

Officers are checking clues and attempting to locate suspects in an attempt to solve the burglary.

Business In Texas Steady

AUSTIN, July 20 (UP)—Revenues and earnings of Texas' business and industry during the first half of 1957 ran about equal or a little ahead of last year's six month totals, the University of Texas-Bureau of Business Research reported today.

The bureau, in a report covering financial conditions in Texas industry, said natural gas, aircraft, railway and sulphur industries would probably improve revenues and earnings during the remainder of the year.

However, due to resumption of flow of Middle East oil to Europe and the oil import problem, Texas' oil industry during the next six months will probably not match its earnings of the first half of 1957, and the cement industry's showing during the next six months will depend largely on the outcome of current wage demands.

Only Nominal Increases
The report said that despite record high revenues, there were many instances of only nominal increases in net earnings.

This, the report said, was due to the "shortage spiral of costs and... upward of funds available for expansion."

The higher costs of borrowed money have caused indefinite postponement of some expansion programs, and while they had not drastically cut the overall rate of capital expenditures yet, they had caused numerous reductions in declared dividends by forcing industries to use internal funds for expansion purposes.

In the six industries covered, the report showed:

Oil did "excellently well" during the first quarter, with both production and refinery output at high levels, but resumption of Middle East oil production and oil imports are compelling "sizeable

Rent Housing Situation Is Talked Here

Floyd Watson, representing a sub-committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, was the principal speaker at the noon meeting of the Pampa Kiwanis Club Friday.

Watson, addressing the group which meets in the basement of the First Methodist Church, told the club of the importance of cooperation on the part of Pampans in providing adequate rental housing for incoming personnel of the Franks Manufacturing Company of Tulsa, Okla., a division of Cabot.

Approximately 100 Franks-employed families plan to move to Pampa by the first of September, and the chamber is trying to provide rental housing for them. The housing situation in Pampa has been tight for several years.

Watson pointed out that Pampa has shown a lot of evidence of progress in the 11 years he has been here and indications are that the progress and growth of the community will continue.

Watson said that the progress depends on the community and that the rental housing situation now facing Pampa is urgent and must be dealt with if the city's growth is to continue. It is a challenge which must be faced, he said.

Cabot asked no subsidy on the part of the city or its residents before deciding to move Franks' operations to Pampa. Its only request was for help in finding living quarters for incoming personnel.

The program was introduced by Clinton Evans, chairman of the special chamber sub-committee. Also attending the meeting were Frank Cuberson, member of the sub-committee, and Reno Stinson, industrial relations director for Cabot's Southwestern Division.

R. G. Foster, employed at the Pampa Print Shop, was inducted into the club as a new member by Joe Gordon.

Other guests for the day included Johnnie Lee Smith, who the night before was named "Miss Pampa," Mrs. Aubrey Jones, James Gallimore, R. Burgess and John Branson.

President Says Bill Would 'Aid' Enemies

By HERBERT W. CHESHIRE
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, July 20 (UP)—President Eisenhower warned today that Congress "would gravely threaten our security, alienate our friends and give aid" to our enemies by forbidding trials in foreign courts of U. S. servicemen stationed overseas.

"I can think of no recent legislative proposal which would so threaten the essential security of the United States," he said in a letter to House Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr.

The White House, in making the letter public, said Martin had requested a special plea from the President against congressional proposals to overturn "status of forces agreements." These agreements recognize the right of foreign courts to try U. S. troops overseas for off-duty and exceptional on-duty offenses.

Force Troop Withdrawal
The President said the "ultimate effect" of such legislation would be to force the United States to pull back to this country all of its troops now stationed abroad.

"No longer does anyone suggest that we can safely withdraw behind the boundaries of 'fortress America,'" he said. Proposals to upset the agreements were an outgrowth of the case involving GI William S. Girard. The United States has turned Girard over for trial in a Japanese court for killing a Japanese woman who was scavenging for scrap metal on a U. S. military firing range.

The U. S. Supreme Court has upheld the President's right to negotiate status of forces agreements with foreign nations to govern such cases.

Resolution Bottled up
Eisenhower wrote Martin that "passage of any legislation by the Congress to overturn such agreements would gravely threaten our security, alienate our friends and give aid and comfort to those who want to destroy our way of life."

He referred specifically to a proposed joint congressional resolution calling on the President to renegotiate the agreements and protect American troops from all foreign trials. This resolution is at present bottled up in the House Rules Committee.

But the President added that he would call it "as equally unfortunate any attempt to add the substance" of the House resolution as an amendment to any other legislation.

This was an obvious reference to last week's attempt in the House to add such legislation, by a tie vote, defeated a proposal to ask the President to insist on exclusive American military court (cases by American servicemen overseas.

Pampan Given Disaster Post
James Patterson, former Red Cross field representative of Pampa, has been assigned to the disaster area at Lake Charles, La., working with the rehabilitation of victims of the hurricane Audrey. Over 2,000 people have applied for Red Cross aid there.

The six water safety instructors have been assisted by 32 aides during the six weeks of instruction, Hart reported.

Hart also reported that copies of "Teaching Johnny To Swim" have been ordered by the local Red Cross office and will be available to parents who would like to continue helping the children.

The 36 page publication has been prepared by the Red Cross because it feels that children under nine years of age learn swimming better with individual instruction, Hart stated.

Saddle Is Stolen Here
Local officers are attempting to locate a roping saddle that was stolen from the residence of George Hancock, 933 S. Wells, sometime Friday night or yesterday morning.

Mrs. Hancock reported to the police department yesterday that the saddle had been taken place. She said that the saddle had been loaned to her daughter, Judy, by Emmett Osborne.

Osborne told the officers that the saddle was double-rigged, had a pie-pan horn and was full skinned. The saddle was fairly old, according to the report of the investigating officers.

Nixon Joins Graham In Appeal

NEW YORK, July 20 (UP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon joined evangelist Billy Graham behind a pulpit in Yankee Stadium tonight to appeal for a spiritual reawakening in America and the rest of the world.

Nixon, a Quaker, came here from Washington for what was to have been Baptist Graham's final sermon of his New York crusade for Christ. But the meeting turned instead into a rally elaborating a second extension of Graham's crusade.

Shortly after Graham opened his evangelistic campaign to "save" New York in Madison Square Garden May 15, Nixon disclosed that he would attend one of the meetings conducted by his evangelist friend,

Joined Graham
At 7 o'clock tonight, he joined Graham on a platform in the middle of the baseball diamond in the famed stadium.

Graham, who once cherished an ambition to be a big league baseball player, finally made it to the pitcher's mound in the stadium, but he was there pitching for his religion instead of the cheers of ball fans.

The platform for the Graham rally was built right over the pitcher's mound.

Large as it was, the crowd was not a record one for Graham. The largest congregation he has ever attracted was made up of the 120,000 persons who flocked to hear him at London's Wembley Stadium in May, 1954.

Yankee Stadium's seating capacity is slightly over 70,000, but there is room for thousands of standees. The record attendance at Yankee Stadium was recorded on May 30, 1938, for a double header between the Yankees and the Boston Red Sox. A total of 84,041 persons watched those games.

Devote To An Appeal
Tonight's service had as its theme "This Is My Story." Graham devoted his sermon to an appeal for prayers for the crusade to light a religious fire to sweep the nation.

Graham said all-night prayer meetings are being held in many sections of New York's metropolitan area. Because of radio, television and newspapers, he said, he has reached more people with the gospel than ever before in his history. Sixty per cent of all U. S. newspapers have carried at least one story a day about the crusade, he said.

Millions of persons have heard or seen the services on radio or television, Graham said. His headquarters is receiving more than 10,000 letters a day, he said, "indicating the tremendous spiritual resources that have been tapped by this crusade."

"Many ministers are reporting that their Sunday services resemble Easter services in attendance and in spirit," Graham said.

"For all this we rejoice and give the credit to God. This is not my doing. Don't give any credit to Billy Graham. I can take no credit. It is God's doing in answer to the prayers of millions."

Passing Of Pioneer Land Company Marks End Of Era

House Sale, Rent Price Holds Steady

By BILL NEAL

Pampa News Staff Writer
A landmark in the history of Pampa and the Panhandle will soon pass from the local scene. While Deer Lands, pioneer Pampa business coming to the free, grassy plains in 1883, is now in the process of liquidation.

It was this company that built the first Public School in Pampa and gave the land where the fire station, City Hall, County Court-house and Junior High School now stand.

Church Sites
They also donated sites for several churches, for the municipal swimming pool and the Municipal Building. A quarter-section, plus several thousand dollars, was offered by the company toward the building of a Presbyterian college here.

But the company that saw a booming, lusty frontier has outlived its purpose. Only a few lots here and there remain in the company's possession. Its property consists of about 26 acres east of Pampa, the office on Cuyler street, a small tract of land in Hoover, and lots in White Deer, Pampa and Kingsmill. This property has recently been purchased by M. K. Brown.

And so at a meeting of the stockholders in New York recently, it was decided to liquidate the real estate and company.

In about six months the liquidation process should be completed. And the familiar red brick building on 116 S. Cuyler with its high ceiling, oak paneling and old desks which speak of a past era will close its doors.

Three Outstanding Citizens
During the company's long history three men have stood out—not only for that company, but as outstanding pioneers and citizens. The trio includes the late T. D. Hobart, sometimes called "Pampa's First Citizen," M. K. Brown and C. P. Buckler.

Many Pampa citizens are familiar with the long-standing partnership of "Brown and Buckler," two Englishmen who made good in America. Both are leading citizens of the city today. The Francklyn Land and Cattle Company, later the White Deer Lands, purchase in 1883, included about 631,000 acres in the Panhandle counties of Gray, Carson, Hutchinson and Roberts.

In that period however, business was very bad. Government land in the Indian territory was being offered for sale for $1 or $2 per acre. When the Francklyn company went bankrupt in 1886, the stockholders formed a trust in order to facilitate liquidation and distribution.

631,000 Acres
The original 631,000 acres extended roughly to the west within four miles of Panhandle; to the east beyond Hoover; to the south within two miles of Groom, and to the north within 10 miles of the Canadian River.

In the organization's ever-present interest in fathering the growth of the Plains, a policy was formed by Hobart in those early days of selling land in tracts of 160 to 640 acres to actual settlers only. No speculators were allowed to buy. He would not sell more than 640 acres to one purchaser, and part of the consideration was an agreement to improve the land.

No Foreclosures
"I cannot recall any case of foreclosure by the company, and in many instances the land was paid out long before the notes matured," Buckler said recently.

Before any sales could be made, the blocks had to be surveyed and iron pipes set at the corner of each section. These iron pipes were marked with the number of the sections.

All this work had to be done before sales could be made. At that time, the Panhandle was strictly a cattle country. As many as 40,000 head of cattle per year were shipped from Pampa.

Lenient terms of sale were instituted by the company, and one-fifth down payment was charged. No payment was required on the land then until the second year. $4 Per Acre

The land commenced to sell for $4 per acre and prices advanced about $1 per year. It was sold near Pampa in order not to break up the cattle pastures. The purchaser was required to fence the land before turning loose livestock.

It was in 1903 that T. D. Hobart was employed by the trust to take charge of the business here as "Attorney in Fact" of the company. It was in this period that Brown and Buckler entered the picture. Brown came as an assistant to Hobart in 1903. Buckler started with the company in 1905. Two years later he became an assistant to Hobart.

Early Pampa
Buckler, recounting several experiences in those years said, "I can well remember when I came to Pampa in the spring of 1905. It had been a hard winter and one of the first things I noticed while riding around the pasture was the stench of cattle which had drifted up against the barbed wire fences and died.

"There was a box car for a depot; one general store, a few residences, the section house, and a part of the old Schneider Hotel here. Our office consisted of a four-room shack, one room for the office, two bedrooms and the other for storage.

OLD WHITE DEER LANDS COMPANY BUILDING—This picture is of the old White Deer Lands Company building which stood at what is now the corner of Acheson and Cuyler. The picture was taken around 1910. Several of the firm's employees were gathered on the front porch of the building for the picture. Looking behind the building, you could probably see City Hall and Central Fire Station if the picture had been taken in recent years. The present building was constructed in 1916.

"There was very little office work. Our work consisted of building fences, tanks, and surveying. I started work at $18 a month and board. We worked from sun-up to sundown."

Public Roads
There were no roads except those leading to windmills, so Hobart generally reserved a strip of land about 30 feet in width around each plain section for a public road.

In 1906, Eastern speculators bought a large tract of land near Farwell. They then ran special trains from Chicago to Farwell, bringing prospective purchasers. Their land was priced at $25 per acre while White Deer land was selling for $10 to $15.

These trains had to stop at Pampa for water. To stimulate buying, the White Deer Lands built an "exhibit house" where the trains had to take on water. The "exhibit house" displayed crops and products of the area along with signs designed to trap some of the competitor's trade.

Speculators Train
Finally the speculators started stopping their train east of Pampa, unhooking the engine, getting the water and then going back to hook up again.

Considerable newspaper advertising was done, but many people came to the Panhandle upon the recommendation of their friends.

In 1908, about 5,000 "booster" booklets were published and sent all over the country. In 1916, more than $1 million worth of land was sold. In 1919, the figure had topped the $2 million mark. Also that year, a great many farmers moved in, and two million bushels of wheat were shipped from Pampa.

Then, in 1924, Hobart resigned the position to manage the J.A. Ranch, south of Pampa. At this time, Brown and Buckler were given power of attorney.

Brown Retires
During the next 10 years they saw the booming prosperity of the 20's and the black depression of the 30's. In 1934 Brown retired, leaving Buckler as the sole manager. After the war in 1949, the White Deer Lands incorporated and became the "White Deer Corporation." That has been its status since 1949.

Looking back over the past 62 years that he has experienced here, Buckler said, "Pampa, like all small towns, had its growing pains.

"There were times when conditions were bad—when we had several killings and had to import special policemen. But I don't like to think about those unpleasant occurrences. I like to forget them. I like to think of the wonderful growth of this country from a cattle country to a farming country and then to an oil country."

Buckler
Buckler, an Englishman who left home in his youth to seek a fortune, landed in New York in 1905. On the suggestion of one of the British trustees, he came to Pampa. He immediately went to work for the company. At that time there were only 25 people in Pampa.

Besides his affiliation with the company, Buckler, known by many as "the colonel," has belonged to the Masonic Lodge, Chamber of Commerce, a school board (18 years) and, with other trustees of the Lovett Estate, was instrumental in building Lovett Memorial Library. He also belongs to the Episcopal Church. In 1906 Buckler married Miss Annie Thut, sister of County Clerk Charles Thut.

Currently he has been a guiding power in the Pampa Community Hotel, serving as chairman of the Building and Architect Committee.

Brown
Brown has also had a lion's share in helping build the hotel. He is also a native of England who came to the U.S. in 1903 to seek his fortune at an early age.

Hobart
Hobart, known as "Pampa's First Citizen," was born in Washington County Vt., in 1855. Like Brown and Buckler, except much earlier, he came west for adventure and fortune.

Hobart was such a colorful and influential pioneer, that an entire book has been written about him. The book, "Timothy Dwight Hobart," by L. F. Sheffy, gives an excellent account of the man, the Plains and the White Deer Lands. With the closing of those rustic doors soon, the last chapter in a story which pays tribute to the American pioneer and to an outstanding pioneer company, colored with the lives of unselfish builders, will be written.

WASHINGTON, July 20 (UP)—The nation's realtors expect that sale prices and rents of retail business property will hold steady for the rest of the year.

The National Association of Real Estate Boards made the prediction after a nation-wide survey among its member boards in 227 cities.

The realtors look for a small increase in the number of vacancies in retail business sites for rent, but more than half the areas polled said vacancies would be 2 per cent or under.

In prime business locations, 63 per cent of the boards predicted no change in values. In secondary locations, 61 per cent expected values to hold steady.

In the best locations where some change was expected, the realtors looked for an upward trend. In secondary locations any change would be down in value.

Parking space promised to hold the key to value deterioration in marginal properties. The survey said this showed up especially in retail stores and other outlets where the buildings were old and had not been kept up.

The suburban parking center also has taken its toll among businesses in commercially-zoned areas and the so-called "strip" commercial developments.

Compared to a year ago retail business property rents were about the same, with 73 per cent of those polled reporting no change.

But the survey sharply mirrored the quality and convenience factors in commercial property. In modern shopping centers the demand continued strong against general demand softening for less desirable buildings, particularly in neighborhoods that were going downhill.

Excitement Is The Center Of Show Business For Damone

By VIC DAMONE

Written For United Press
NEW YORK (UP)—The first time I was slated to sing on the Arthur Godfrey Talent Scouts show I was the most excited young man in all of greater New York.

I had been singing ever since about the time I started to walk and talk. It was as natural as breathing to me. But actually appearing on the Godfrey show that night 10 years ago had me walking around the ceiling. Godfrey talked to me just before I went on.

"Excited, Vic?" he asked. "I guess so," I said, trying to act casual. And what I thought was professional.

"If you're not," he said, "you're in the wrong business."

Well, that was back in 1946, and except for a stretch in the Army I've been in the business ever since. Now, I've taken over the Arthur Godfrey Wednesday night TV spot with my own program. And I'm excited as I was at that first audition.

Exciting Business
Because show business is excitement. And anyone who doesn't feel it had better start worrying. The people who feel excitement themselves are the ones who generate it.

Go to any party or social gathering and you'll see how attention centers on the people who feel and convey that sense of excitement. You'll also notice that people who are bored are the most boring to be around.

Great personalities like Ethel Merman, Bert Lahr, Bob Hope, Frank Sinatra, the late Al Jolson, and scores of others, have that quality of being extremely excited about what they're doing.

Arthur Godfrey has it. Another artist who has it is Milton Berle, who has many times helped newcomers get started on their careers because he was able to feel some excitement about them.

Indebted To Berle
I am one of the many show folks who are indebted to Milton Berle for his help. It came early in my career.

As a matter of fact, it came the minute I walked off-mike after doing my number in the Godfrey audition. Berle had been watching the show from the sidelines.

In the few minutes I had been singing, Berle got to a telephone and talked a friend of his at La Martinique Club into auditioning me. This led to my first professional engagement.

All of which proves that in addition to being a great entertainer, Uncle Milton also has the distinction of being a great salesman. And the incident gave me a great distinction, too.

It made me the only singer with no money in the bank, but with a millionaire for an agent.

Scouts Will Return Here On Monday

After a full week of activities, Top of Texas area Boy Scouts who attended the National Jamboree at Valley Forge, Pa., are expected to return Monday.

The contingent is expected to arrive in Pampa at 8:16 a.m. tomorrow on a Santa Fe train. Parents and friends of the Scouts are expected to be on hand to greet the home comers.

The group left Valley Forge Friday for Pampa and was to take sightseeing tours on the way. Last Thursday, Fred Neslage Jr. was the guest of Dr. Arthur Schuck, chief Scout executive of the Boy Scouts of America, at luncheon. Fred has been chosen to represent Region 9 in the International Bull Whip contest at the Jubilee in England.

Each of the local Scouts has had his turn at cooking for his group while at the Jamboree and has taken quite a "ribbing" at the food prepared, reports received here indicated.

Four Pampa Scouts and their leader, W. O. Kindy, left the National Jamboree for Quebec, Canada, where they are to board the ship Fairsea for the International Jubilee. They are Fred Neslage Jr., Bill Neslage, Don Curry and Harold Smith Jr.

While on board ship, the group will receive orientation to acquaint them with the various languages of the countries they will visit.

Pampa's M. K. Brown had made arrangements for his brother to meet the Scouts at Sutton Park, England, where the Jubilee is to be held.

Authorities Feel Pampa Has Few Real Juvenile Trouble-Makers

By FRED M. PARKER
Pampa News Staff Writer

Despite recent stories about Gray County teen-agers being in trouble, most of the teen-agers of Pampa, Gray County and the surrounding area are outstanding, respectable citizens.

This opinion was expressed by every person dealing with teen-age youths in both a law enforcement capacity and in other ways.

County Judge Bruce Parker contends that not over two per cent of the youth of this county are trouble makers and that even less are delinquents. He bases his opinion on his experience as juvenile judge for several years and the number of cases handled in the court.

When asked about the situation in Gray County, Sheriff Rufe Jordan stated "We have a good bunch of teen-agers in the county. Of course we have a few that cause trouble but every place has them."

He continued by saying that history shows that people, including the younger generation, have always been in trouble but that we do not have a large per cent in Gray County.

Jim Conner, chief of police, reported that while the police department in Pampa has a large volume of business with teen-age youth, there is a small number who cause the trouble. He reported that all offenses, including traffic violations, involve only a small portion of the teen-age population. He stated that as a whole, most of the young people are outstanding citizens and are a credit to our community.

The man who eventually talks to all juvenile offenders, H. A. Doggett, juvenile officer, indicated that there are very few habitual trouble makers and that as a whole the teen-agers here are above reproach.

Sheriff Jordan stated that all young people "have a streak that causes them to do things without thinking of the results." He explained that this trait makes the country great in that the young people are better able to cope with the problems of this country, especially that of fighting our wars. He also mentioned several examples of local residents who were "wild" when they were young but are now outstanding citizens.

He also stated that he was proud of the work done by young people in church groups, Scouting, 4-H Clubs and other clubs and activities for young people. He mentioned recent activities he has witnessed which show that the young people are taking a greater interest in the community and their future than most adults.

A complete check could not be made with all churches in Pampa on the number of young people actively engaged in church work. Those contacted, however, indicated that several hundred young people are actively engaged in work at local churches. Law enforcement authorities, when asked about this phase of the local situation, stated that the young person who is active in church work very seldom winds up being arrested by officers.

The officials reported that in most instances the juvenile offender comes from a home where there has not been proper guidance and discipline. They gave the opinion that "parental delinquency" actually causes most "juvenile delinquency."

There are approximately 75 Gray County teen-agers engaged in 4-H Club work, which includes raising crops, livestock, homemaking and many other activities. A check of juvenile violators revealed that those active in this work have not been in trouble.

There are a total of 783 boys enrolled in Scouting in Gray County and reports indicate that the majority of these boys take an active interest in the program. Judge Parker stated, "Boys who take an active interest in Scouting never wind up in juvenile court." He stated that occasionally boys in trouble say that they are Scouts but investigation reveals that even though they may be in Scouting they do not take an active interest and usually have attended only one or two meetings.

The Girl Scout office could not be contacted for the number of girls in Scouting in Gray County because the office is closed at the present time while local directors are in Scouting school, but juvenile authorities report that girls actively engaged in this program never wind up in juvenile court. Space would allow only a brief check on the activities of the young people of Gray County who will be the future leaders of our community, state and country, but from all reports gathered from those contacted there shouldn't be any worry. The opinion seems to be that the "younger generation" will be able to handle things.

Sheriff Jordan made a statement that sums up the entire question. "There are no more trouble makers among the young people than there are among any other age group in the county."

Judge Parker stated, "Boys who take an active interest in Scouting never wind up in juvenile court." He stated that occasionally boys in trouble say that they are Scouts but investigation reveals that even though they may be in Scouting they do not take an active interest and usually have attended only one or two meetings.

The Girl Scout office could not be contacted for the number of girls in Scouting in Gray County because the office is closed at the present time while local directors are in Scouting school, but juvenile authorities report that girls actively engaged in this program never wind up in juvenile court. Stock Market Near Historic Peak

By ROBERT G. SHORTAL, United Press Financial Writer
NEW YORK (UP)—The stock market last week found out about the old saying—"So near and yet so far away."
It was a disappointing lesson. The market has been making a valiant attempt to break through the historic highs set in April 1956. On Tuesday industrial stocks came about as close as possible to achieving that goal without actually doing so.
After moving to within less than half a point of the historic peak in their average, industrials ran into resistance that drove them down irregularly the rest of the week.
The rails had a few moments of glory during the week but finished lower on average. So did the utilities.
At the close on Friday, more than $1,600,000,000 had been wiped from market values. Industrials finished more than five points below their all-time high.
At various times during the week the market attempted to mount a new assault, but each one petered out in the face of profit-taking and caution. The market put on one of its best displays of strength just before the close on Friday, sharply paring the day's earlier losses.
However, market men were pleased by the fact that at no time this week did selling become really heavy. They also noted that the decline from the near-record highs was mainly of a technical nature and that the market probably will make another test of the highs soon.
The retreat in securities prices came in the face of many good business and corporate news developments. Pivotal such as general electric and Du Pont reported record earnings. Economists generally agreed the outlook for the fourth quarter is bright, with the steel, auto and construction industries expected to spark an advance in industrial activity.

STAFF NOTES

JOEL R. COMBS, managing editor

Say, wasn't that a sackful of pretty girls in the Beauty Pageant Thursday night?
There really wasn't a girl who could be termed "loser." They were all pretty. And Miss Johnnie Lee Smith will represent Pampa well at the "Miss Texas" contest in Kerrville two weeks hence.
Kay Fancher, who handled publicity for the Jaycee project, did an exceptional job. If only everyone who does publicity for the various organizations in town would realize the limitations a paper must set on publicity, and what a paper really looks for, and its deadlines, and how to go about doing the best job in the most practical way, and why a paper must have a picture just so-so, etc., it would make the job much easier, and better, for everybody concerned.
Kay probably did too good a job. He more than likely will be asked to do publicity for several projects about to come off. The publicity must have been pretty effective, too. Pampa had a much larger "parade of beauty" than the little helium gas community to the west, "Big A."
One of the most real problems facing Pampa at the present is providing rental housing for all the people who want to move here.
We have a really fine little community and everybody seems to know it. More and more families are moving in every day.
Just watch. That much-needed rental housing will be provided. There are too many determined and hard-working people behind the project for it to fail.
Many of those who have worked to keep Pampa growing for years are not going to quit now. When fellows like Floyd Watson, Clinton Evans, Frank Culberson, Jake Osborne, Roy Brouland, and C. P. Buckler, to name a few, get started on a project, something's gotta give.
There are a whole bunch of others vitally interested in the project, too. It just can't fail... that is if everyone will help out.

DORIS WILSON, women's editor

Gather around, my little friends, our discussion today is to be on the subject of nature. No, dad, not the bathing beauty contest held this week under the auspices of those "going places" Jaycees, who are now free to devote their spare time to the beard-growing contest and the up-coming rodeo. But rather, the topic for nature study today is to concern those pleasantly irritating cicadas, which have been filling these summer days and evenings with their mating calls.
My friends will quibble on the use of the word "nature" in connection with cicadas. They will get technical and want me to label it entomology; a word that took some effort to find, so use it I must. But anyway, since the cicadas are so much a part of our life these days; drowning out conversations, when we are sitting out in the yard, or swooping past as we go by a bush or small tree, it was decided to see what made them "tick," rather, "click."
Cicadas are relatives of the locust, several generations removed. The cicadas' ancestors are the grasshoppers, which are true locusts.
It was found, by observation, that it is the ravenous male that produces those shrill notes by vibrating three drumlike membranes, holding special sound organs, which are inside the abdomen and are operated by special muscles. The sound is supposed to be the mating call of the cicada.
Mrs. Cicada lays her eggs in small holes of twigs of trees, which she cuts by means of a saw-like growth at the end of her abdomen. The eggs hatch in a few days, drop to the ground and tunnel several inches below the surface, where they remain until they are mature. Two-year cicadas stay in the ground for two years; the 17-year cicada comes out the spring of its 17th year. Sad, but true, a full-grown cicada lives only about a week after its wings mature.
So, since it is sort of a pleasant summer-time sound and since its life-span is so short, I guess, we should let it click, click, and be merry for tomorrow it may die.

CHARLES CULLIN sports editor

The Pampa Optimist Club began a drive at its meeting last Monday night which will lead to the construction of the Optimist Boys Club, a club which will furnish Pampa youths a place for recreation, participation and training in sports.
The drive is for an "800 Club," which will be composed of at least 800 citizens from Pampa who will pledge one dollar each month to the building of the club.
Plans for the construction of the club have already been made and actual building will begin as soon as possible.
A club of this sort is a credit to the Optimists as well as to Pampa, and should serve the community in many ways in the future. The scope of such an undertaking is in itself commendable as the Optimists, true to their name, are building this on the strength of their belief in the support by the people of Pampa.
The programs already in progress sponsored by the Optimist Club are showing results in many ways. Boys of the city have had an opportunity to play organized ball with official, reliable coaching and direction.
But the success or failure of the planned construction lies ultimately in the hands of the Pampa people. It deserves their consideration.

BILL NEAL, staff writer

This week we had the pleasure of doing a feature on the White Deer Land company which is now in the process of liquidating.
It is almost impossible to grasp how great a contribution this company and its personnel have made to the development of Pampa. Beginning as the Franklyn Land and Cattle Company in 1883, its benevolent policies have done much to encourage the settlement of this area and stimulate the industrial and civic development of Pampa.
The old company would not sell land to speculators, and limited the amount of land sold to each buyer to 640 acres.
But the life blood of a company is the people who run it. And perhaps three more colorful and productive leaders could not be found than the late T. D. Hobart, C. P. Buckler, and M. K. Brown of the White Deer Lands.
In the feature this writer had space for only a fraction of the highlights of these pioneers' lives. A book could be written on each—and there is a book already on one.
"Timothy Dwight Hobart," written by L. F. Sheffy goes into great detail of Hobart's life and frontier life of the Plains. Hobart has been called "Pampa's First Citizen," and Brown and Buckler are leading citizens today.
History, far from being dull at any time, takes on still more life when it covers men and events that are so close to us, such as this story.
Perhaps this book, by Sheffy, would be of interest to many Plains folks.

FRED M. PARKER, staff writer

In the course of finding stories in Pampa the other day I had a long chat with Sheriff Rufe Jordan.
The sheriff is coordinator of Civil Defense in Gray County and eventually the trend of discussion came around to the subject of civil defense.
The sheriff reported his plans for Civil Defense in this county but stated that it would take some time to complete the formation of all of the units.
He said that several companies and governmental agencies have good emergency organizations of their own and that the efforts of these units are being interwoven to eliminate duplication of efforts.
Sheriff Jordan reported that in the near future he hopes to form a unit composed of volunteers that will be an auxiliary group of officers who can be called on in time of emergency.
He stated that he hopes to obtain the services of an instructor from the Texas Department of Public Safety to instruct the volunteers in the duties and responsibilities of being auxiliary officers.
This group would be on call at all times and when on duty would have all the authority of a regular officer. He stated, they would be used to help with disaster work and with the controlling of crowds and the prevention of looting of stores.
So, since it is sort of a pleasant summer-time sound and since its life-span is so short, I guess, we should let it click, click, and be merry for tomorrow it may die.

WASHINGTON—Ralph J. Cordner, chairman of a committee to study the armed services, on the committees plan if it were, implemented wholeheartedly:
"You could take about one-tenth, about 10 per cent, of the people off the payroll that are now in the military establishments."

Bi-District Championship Goes To Lubbock Team

The Pampa Rebels lost the bi-district championship last night when they dropped the final game of the playoff series to Monterey, 2-0. Monterey's first score came in the third when Pendley singled, followed by Harris and McElrath, who drew bases on balls. With the bases full Arrington drew a walk, letting Pendley in for the score. Pampa hurler Gary Heiskell was relieved in the fourth by Mike Conway, who allowed the second. Monterey run by giving up singles to McElrath, Boyd and Hamilton. With the bases loaded on another walk, Conway then clamped down and quelled further Monterey scoring. Pampa's biggest threat came in the third when they loaded the bases, and again in the seventh when two men were on base, but failed to bring in the needed scores. Starting pitcher Heiskell, in three innings, gave up four hits, one run and three walks. He struck out one batter. Reliever Conway allowed one walk, three

Tom Courtney Repeats His Olympic Victory In Britain

LONDON, July 20 (UP)—The most thrilling race of the 1956 Olympic games in Australia was re-run at White City Stadium today with America's rugged Tom Courtney once again defeating British all-comers record of 1:47.7 for 880 yards. Courtney, the bull-shouldered former Fordham University star from Livingston, N.J., beat Johnson by five yards in leading a "New York" team to a 94-61 triumph over "London" in the two-day track and field carnival. At Melbourne last December, Johnson passed Courtney in the home stretch of the 880-meter run only to have the U.S. star stage an amazing comeback to win by 18 inches in Olympic record time. Courtney's clocking for the half-mile today was only two-tenths of a second slower than the accepted world record of 1:47.5 held by Lon Spurrier of California and only ninth-tenths slower than his own 1:46.8 performance last May 24 which is awaiting official recognition. Johnson's second-place time of 1:48.5 established a new British national record. In third place was Tommy Carroll, the brilliant Fordham prep schoolboy runner from New York, in 1:52.7. A crowd of 30,000 watched American stars dominate today's program by adding 13 victories to the 11 they scored yesterday. Thirteen of the wins were in the New York-London competition and the rest in invitation events. However, the spectators found today's show anti-climactic after Derek Ibbotson's world mile record.

Hoffman Downs Utility, 16-14

In Little League farm team action yesterday afternoon Hoffman downed Utility, 16-14, in a game played in Optimist Park. Robins started on the mound for Hoffman and was relieved by Jones in the fourth. Jones was replaced after one inning by Mike Stone, who is credited with the win. C. Fletcher, who was charged with the loss, pitched the entire game for Utility, with his brother, R. Fletcher, catching. Stone, Reeves, Stricklin and Mar- tin sparked Hoffman, while the Fletcher boys hoisted the Utility attack. Score by innings: Hoffman 3 0 1 6 3 3 Utility 4 4 0 0 4 2

Snider Clouts 300th Homer Of Career In Win Over Cubs

BROOKLYN, July 20 (UP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers extended the tremendous home run spree they've been on since the All-Star game when Duke Snider hit the 300th homer of his career today and Randy Jackson contributed another in a 7-5 victory over the Chicago Cubs. It was the ninth victory in 10 starts for the Dodgers since the All-Star game and in those 10 games they have slugged 18 homers. Snider has hit eight. Today's win also was the Dodgers' 10 in 11 games with the Cubs this season. Don Drysdale won his eighth game although he needed help from Clem Labine in the final 2-13 innings. Dave Hillman wound up the loser when he was literally knocked out of the box in the first inning after a line drive single by Gil Hodges split the nail on the middle finger of his pitching hand. Don Kaiser replaced Hillman and was raked for three straight hits as the Dodgers got off to a 4-1 lead. Hillman had walked Snider and given up the single to Hodges before he left the game. Sandy Amoros and Gino Cimoli greeted Kaiser with consecutive doubles and Jackson singled home the fourth run.

Finsterwald And Hebert Play In PGA Championship Finals

By OSCAR FRALEY United Press Sports Writer DAYTON, Ohio, July 20 (UP)—Hatchet-faced Don Finsterwald and chubby Lionel Hebert, a pair of long-hitting longshots, conquered par and pressure to stroke their way into the finals of the PGA golf championship today. Finsterwald, a 27-year-old battling Buckeye from Athens, Ohio, survived a hole-in-one hot streak by young Don Whitl to down his 26-year-old rival from Alameda, Calif., 2 up in the 93-degree heat which blanketed Miami Valley golf club. And Hebert, a 29-year-old former LSU trumpet player from Lafayette, La., twice fought from behind a 2 down deficit to score an upset 3 and 1 victory over former champion Wally Burkemo of Franklin, Mich.

By JIMMY BRESLIN NEA Staff Correspondent NEW YORK (NEA)—Column after column of quoted reports to the contrary, the usual conference between a baseball player and outsider goes close to this: Question: What kind of a pitch did you hit? Ballplayer: A good pitch. Q: How is that muscle injury coming along? B: It hurts. Q: Would you care to... B: How much do I get? Q: I didn't mean that, what I meant to say is... B: Uh, huh, see you. Got to take a shower. Because of this, the Cincinnati club should be given a Pulitzer prize for contributions to journalism. The Reds talk, talk. You start with Birdie Tebbets. He'll be up in his hotel suite and can be counted on to give a complete digest of the week's doings. "Your pitching, it wasn't a b e n o t good," somebody began. "No, I disagree," he cut in. "My pitchers are more sinned against than sinners. Our hitting averages look good, but actually we're not hitting. We gave our pitchers two

Indians Defeat Yankees, 4-2

CLEVELAND, July 20 (UP)—Bob Avila's single with the bases full in the eighth inning against Tom Byrne, today enabled the Cleveland Indians to end the New York Yankees' five-game winning streak, 4-2. Byrne walked Chico Carrasquel with one out in the eighth, and the Yank infield then missed a double play when Tony Kubek was off second base on a force throw from Bobby Richardson. Jim Hegan was purposely passed and Early Wynn also walked, loading the bases. Avila then lined his single to center, scoring Carrasquel and Hegan. Wynn gained his 13th victory to tie Billy Pierce of the White Sox for the distinction of leading the majors in victories. Bobby Shantz started against Wynn, and he was removed in the fifth after the Indians had scored twice in the fourth. Dick Williams doubled, so did Rocky Colavito, and Roger Maris singled for the first two tallies. When Shantz walked a man and hit another in the fifth, he was replaced by Byrne, who lost his fourth game.

Braves Drop Giants, 7-5

NEW YORK, July 20 (UP)—The injury-riddled Milwaukee Braves frittered away a five-run lead in the eighth inning today but bounced back to defeat the New York Giants, 7-5, on Wes Covington's second homer of the game with one on in the ninth. It was the fifth straight triumph for the Braves, who clung to their precarious National League lead. With Andy Pafko an overnight addition to their long hospital list, the Braves stationed Del Crandall, their first string catcher, in right field; bonus rookie Johnny DeMerit in center, and Covington, recently recalled from the minors, in left. All three contributed heavily to Milwaukee's nine-hit attack. DeMerit's single in the second inning produced his first major league run batted in a three-run, four-hit spurge that drove Giant starter Ruben Gomez out of the box. Crandall hit a bases-empty homer into the upper left field stands in the third against Mike McCormick, and Covington hit his first of two homers in the seventh against Al Worthington. Covington then delivered his game-winning homer off Marv Grissom with two out in the ninth after Eddie Mathews had singled.

Hard-Fought Matches

They were tense, hard-fought matches under a blazing sun for a berth in tomorrow's 36-hole finals as the wiry Finsterwald kept Whitl from completing one of the most sensational comebacks in PGA history and Hebert avenged his big brother, Jay, who was knocked out in the quarter-finals by the blond Burkemo. Finsterwald had to rally his psychological forces, too, because he had started out as if to annihilate Whitl by taking a 5 up lead at the end of 10 holes in the morning round. But then Whitl, a barber's son who specializes in close shaves, sparked an eight run shot into the cup on the 145-yard 18th hole for the first ace of his career. This gave him the "big lift" and he proceeded to win five of those last six morning holes—three of them with birdies—to even the match as each carded a three under par 68. Twice as they started the afternoon 18 holes Whitl, the slender, black-haired "baby" of the tournament, forged into a 1 up lead. But each time Finsterwald fought back to even it up and finally it was Whitl who cracked with an

Ed Bailey Birdie Tebbets Smokey Burgess Raul Sanchez

Ed Bailey Birdie Tebbets runs or less and averaged only five hits in 12 straight games. "My pitchers are fine," Birdie insisted, making sure the message — he goes out of his way to build up his pitchers — was clearly across. "Every club in the league has fine pitching," he went on. "I said during the spring that the Phillies would be a factor." Birdie gave a run-down of National League play for the week and at the talk's end seemed satisfied he had provided a story. Downstairs in a coffee shop, Edgar Bailey of Strawberry Plain, Tenn., was giving an order of ham and eggs a going over — between

Bailey finished his food and walked up to the lobby, continuing his discussion. He wanted to excuse himself for a moment, so he grabbed Smokey Burgess. "Come over here, and say a few thousand words, Smokey," he urged. Burgess, the acknowledged talking champ, joined the conversation. He is a fellow who gets up in the morning, eats, then hits the lobby and starts talking. He stops only for food and ball games. "I don't know how I hit," he began, "I just get up there swinging. My ankle is going to be better, but it needs rest. After the season, I'm going home — that's Forest City, N.C., and I have a couple of service stations there and I'll take a month off with my wife and just rest." Quite a bit later, the one exception on the club was encountered. He is Raul Sanchez, the pitcher from Cuba, who speaks little English. "Why I no speak?" he asked. "What of others? They come Cuba to play ball in winter and they no learn Spanish. So me, I no learn English."

Senators Edge Tigers, 4-3

DETROIT, July 20 (UP)—The home run bugaboo beat Frank Kary again today as Jim Lemon and Roy Sievers smashed homers to pace the Washington Senators to a 4-3 victory over the Detroit Tigers. The home runs, the 13th and 14th given up by Lary this season, provided three of the Washington runs. The Senators pushed over the winning run in the seventh on Herb Doubled's sacrifice fly. Lou Berberet doubled to open the inning but was caught in a rundown on Rocky Bridges' tap to Lary. Bridges reached second. Lary walked the next two batters before Harry Byrd came in to pitch. Pinch-hitter Plewa then hit his game-winning sacrifice fly. Home runs have either knocked Lary out or defeated him in his last four starts. After leading the league with 21 victories last season he has won only four games this year.

A's Down Orioles, 6-5

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 20 (UP)—Pinch hitter Gus Zernial hit a three-run homer in the ninth today as the Kansas City Athletics downed the Baltimore Orioles 6-5. Zernial's blow came off reliever George Zuverink to climax an up-hill fight which produced four runs and three hits in the final inning. Connie Johnson had allowed but three hits until the decisive ninth. He had held the A's hitless for the first five innings. Tom Morgan, who pitched only the ninth inning, took the victory, his fifth on 11 decisions. Kansas City starter Arnold Portocarrero was in trouble in virtually every frame and gave way in the sixth after walking two in a row with only one out.

Cards Clip Pirates

PITTSBURGH, July 20 (UP)—Del Ennis drove in four runs and Eddie Kasko accounted for two more to pace an 18-hit attack for the St. Louis Cardinals in a 9-4 victory today over the Pittsburgh Pirates. With Alvin Dark and Wally Moon on base in the third inning, Ennis slugged his 14th homer of the year that marked the exit of Bob Friend, who suffered his 12th defeat. In the first inning, Ennis bunted home Stan Musial for the second of two unearned runs in the frame.

Drag Meet Racing To Be Held Today

The Annual Southwestern Regional Championship Drag Races will be completed this afternoon, with matched racing beginning at 2 p.m. The time trials and races are being held on a 200 foot wide, one mile track located three miles south of town on Highway 70, at the old Pampa Auxiliary Army Field. Fastest time registered in yesterday's time trials was 121.37 mile per hour. Host group for the races is the Texas Panhandle Timing Association, as they have during the past three years. Cars competing in the meet are preparing for participation in the fourth annual National Championship Drag Races to be held in Oklahoma City over the Labor Day weekend. Dale Ham of Amarillo, regional adviser of the National Hot-Rod Association, said that the air strip races "will allow spectators to see some of the southwest's outstanding cars from Dallas and the Kansas City area which should make witnessing of 150 mile-an-hour runs possible for the first time in this area." This year's event is using progressive timing which has been used successfully in California during the past year. Races will be quarter-mile acceleration based on speed as well as time elapsed. Trials will be held this morning in further preparation for the matched racing begins this afternoon. Tim Huffaker was charged with the mound loss for the Bankers with Bill Langley behind the plate. Kist gathered their eight runs off 10 hits, with one error. The losers gained their two runs from five hits, making 2 errors.

Britisher Sets World Mile Record At Stunning 3:57.2

By ROBERT MUSEL
United Press Sports Writer
LONDON (UP) — Derek Ibbotson, a mighty happy Royal Air Force private, agreed today that his stunning world record of 3:57.2 for the mile can be lowered—"But only if the race is run on motor-cycles."

Ibbotson, who led an historic four-man parade through the four-minute barrier Friday, said he's switching now to a campaign for the world two-mile record.

"Ibbotson can run even faster," predicted Dr. Roger Bannister, the British hero who was the first man to break the four-minute roadblock in the mile run. "Yesterday's race was superb, but Derek can run faster. He is magnificent."

City Stadium and then stood off a slugging finish by Ron Delany of Ireland, the Olympic 1,500-meter champion who attends Philadelphia's Villanova University.

Delany was second in 3:58.8 and Jungwirth third in 3:59.1. Ken Wood of England was fourth in 3:59.3—making the first time in history that four men in the same race bettered four minutes. Three men had done it on May 28, 1955 in a race here won by Hungary's László Tabori.

Ibbotson's time eclipsed the 3-year-old world mark of 3:58.0 set by John Landy of Australia at Turku, Finland, and London's tabloid Daily Mirror exulted in a headline today, "The World Mile Record Is Back Where It Belongs—in Britain."

the role of a pace-setting "rabbit," led the field through a 55.3 first quarter, had a 1:55.8 half-mile before fading away. Jungwirth, holder of the world "metric mile" record, went ahead then, followed by Ibbotson, Stefan Lewandowski of Poland, and Delany as they went into the last lap in 3:00.0.

Ibbotson challenged Jungwirth with 300 yards to go. The Czech held on grimly for 80 yards and then Ibbotson went ahead by 12 yards. Delany, always the late runner, didn't start his move until 70 yards from home. He nailed the tiring Jungwirth easily but never could catch Ibbotson.

Frisco Mayor Ready For League Switch

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK, July 20 (UP)—Mayor George Christopher of San Francisco told Horace Stoneham today his city is ready to roll out the red carpet for the New York Giants with an official financial proposal "within the first two weeks of August."

Christopher's statement of welcome suited Stoneham perfectly and the Giants' president reiterated his intention of moving his club to San Francisco in time for the start of the 1958 major league season.

"I assured Mr. Stoneham our official proposal now is being prepared and would be submitted to him by the 15th of August, Christopher said.

Although the San Francisco mayor said he did not feel the time was "proper" now to discuss the terms of the proposal his city will offer the Giants for their stadium rental fee, he hinted strongly that it would probably be approximately seven per cent of the net gate receipts per year.

"We understand that the Cleveland club pays seven per cent for their use of Municipal Stadium in that city and that appears to be a very fair figure," Christopher said.

Birdie Urges Baseball Fight Rules

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor
NEW YORK — Birdie Tebbetts suggests the addition of a sort of Marquis of Queensberry section to the baseball rules.

"Before there is a disgraceful riot and someone is badly hurt," urges the fiery manager of the Reds, the 50-player brawl at Ebbets Field fresh in his mind. And Tebbetts, along with most of his players, frankly feels the five-way and hot National League race will have a flock of brawls cropping up before it ends.

"It's quite all right for Warren Giles to remind managers by telegraph that they are responsible for the conduct of players," he says, "but there are no rules covering their behavior, which should be standardized."

"A simple way to end battle royals in ball parks is to forbid anybody to leave the dugout when an argument starts. The penalty should be ejection. The time would come when a manager couldn't field nine players. The game would end baseball brawling for good."

"You say that this would give the club on the field an advantage in a free-for-all scrap. So, confine the war to the original combatants and permit only the four umpires, the two managers, and the two coaches on the field to interfere. Anyone else gets the bum's rush for as much as grabbing."

the raw incident which touched off the uproar in Brooklyn the other night.

Coming in as a relief worker, Sanchez had shut out the Dodgers for more than four innings. The first time up against Sanchez, Junior Gilliam dragged the ball down the first base line and bumped into and knocked down the pitcher and the ball out of his hand.

The next time Gilliam came to bat in the seventh inning, the second baseman hunted a foul fly down the first base line and rammed into Sanchez as he crossed the line attempting to catch the fly. The fight and the free-for-all ensued.

for Gilliam, and Duke Snider hit the ball out of the park to win for the Brooks.

"Gilliam should have been out for interference and thrown out for inciting a riot," argues Tebbetts, "and Sanchez should have been permitted to finish the fine job he was doing against the Brooklyn club."

"There are a lot of fellows who aren't above picking a fight to get rid of a tough pitcher," adds Fred Hutchinson. "Take the 1-0 game we lost to Johnny Antonelli of the Giants. I could have had a guy pick a fight with Antonelli."

"And if that's what it's going to come to... well, who's above something like that if it means a pennant?"

Sanchez and Gilliam were among several banished. So, Tom Acker walked John Roseboro, batting DAYTON, Ohio (UP) — The pro golfers try to maintain a poker-faced calm when they play in championship events, but beneath that stony exterior their nerves jump just like those of any hacker trying to run one down to win a 50-cent Nassau.

You can take that from Jay Hebert, who beat Doug Ford, 3 and 2, in the fourth round Friday. Jay had two putts from eight feet on the 16th green against Ford to close out their match.

"I stepped up to that first putt and couldn't move the putter," he confessed. "I stepped away, gave myself a silent lecture, went back to the putt—and was just barely able to push the ball toward the hole."

Looked Like Yards
The putt ran 18 inches past with Jay yelling "Whoa, whoa." Then, when he stepped up to tap that one in, he attested that "those 18 inches looked like 18 yards."

Jay and his brother, Lionel, who had hoped to meet in the semifinals, played each other once. That was in their home town of Lafayette, La., and the younger Lionel piled up a five-stroke lead on the front nine. Lionel then shot an even-par 36 on the back nine—but lost by one shot as Jay hit him with a six-under-par 30.

Such is fame: It was announced that Walter Hagen, one of golf's all-time greats, was at the PGA championship. At which a spectator at the 18th green observed: "Hagen, isn't that the fellow who came back after being in an automobile accident?" Which probably wouldn't make either Hagen or Hogan very happy.

Tom Blackburn, the University of Dayton basketball coach who is a Dayton golfer in the summer, says that Xavier and Cincinnati will be two of the top court teams in the Midwest this winter. Tom has "sophomorphitis" to worry about.

Harmon Caught Short
Claude Harmon, the 41-year-old Winged Foot pro, didn't anticipate reaching the quarter-finals, which meant that he had to stay at least for Saturday's consolation round for fifth place. So Friday night he had to go out and buy some new duds for himself and his 14-year-old son, Butch.

"I'm so nervous, I can't eat," Butch told his dad after "their" victory over Tommy Bolt in the fourth round. Claude just smiled—and ate a hearty lunch.

The best story of the tournament concerns an amateur — the greatest—by the name of Bobby Jones.

Seems that Jones was playing one day with a friend who used a spoon for his second shot on a very short par four hole. The friend holed out for a deuce and Jones kidded him about using the spoon for his second shot.

"What do you use?" the friend asked Jones.

"A nine iron," Jones replied, "or an eight if the wind's against me."

"Did you ever have a deuce on this hole?" queried the friend.

"No," Jones confessed.

"Well," bit off his pal, "maybe you're using the wrong club."

KNOW THE ROPES

By GORDON H. MILLER
Here's a new twist on why a wrestler draws boos instead of cheers.

Rip Hawk, the 220-pound blond bomber from Toledo, claims the fans love him, but they're afraid to show their affection for his wrestling skill because they fear ridicule from other ringersiders.

Questioned about the subject of his "popularity," the Hawk convinced us that he has a point. Just how sharp the point is we're a little too bewildered at the moment to determine.

"Certainly the fans love me," the Ohioan, fresh from a barber's chair with a bristling crew-cut, remarked.

"They may jeer me just to follow the others, but you can bet that deep down they admire my wrestling skill. I'm good. They know I'm good. So how can they have anything in their hearts but admiration for me?"

Of course, the fact the Ripper is just about one of the most treacherous heavyweights to appear in the Middle West in recent years doesn't account for the jeers he receives from the fans. No indeed. Not in the Hawk's way of reckoning. Those jeers are meant to be cheers if the fans could let loose with their real feelings and not worry about what the fellows sitting next to them think.

The moment Rip enters the arena and walks into view of the fans. By the time he's in the ring it sounds like a hog-calling convention.

Rip doesn't need to attempt any sneak roughing trick to agitate the fans. His cocky attitude and high strutting turns the tide of fan support against him in jig time.

The blond-haired Ohioan is a darn good athlete, we must admit. He's about medium-weight by heavyweight wrestling standards and he stands 5-10. Rip is 26 years old.

It's an odd thing about Rip's height. Usually a wrestler of medium height becomes a crowd favorite when appearing against a man well over the 5-foot mark. But not in the Ripper's case. Whether his opponents are big or small or medium, the fans want the Hawk throttled. It's a queer love they have for him.

Rip isn't what you would call a rougher of the magnitude of Iron Mike or the Great Bolo. He's an in-between roughouser who relies on his ability to outfox his opponent, then administer the coup de grace with some sly maneuver, which might escape the referee's watchful eyes.

And if the Hawk is caught in the execution of some misdeed in the ring he quickly assumes the innocence of a mischievous chair boy who has just landed a spit-ball on the rector's ear during church services.

To hear the Hawk protest his innocence as the referee starts his third-degree is a sight to behold. The Hawk cajoles, pleads and goes through the agonies of the damned to get the referee "off his back." And during this display of innocence the fans are lovingly—jeering him.

Oh, Rip's public. How they love him.

Lindy Won't Give Batters The Brush-Off But Batters Better Inspect Von Closely

By JIMMY BRESLIN
NEA Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (NEA) — Fred Hutchinson had just gotten up and he had on a T-shirt and pair of slacks and was padding around his hotel suite in bare feet, groping for the first cigarette of the day, and talking about how it is to manage a team that has two pitchers like Lindy and Von McDaniel.

watch how I talk during ordinary conversation . . . I don't know about the rest of the fellows, but I'm the manager, so I do it that way.
"Then something happens during a game and I jump up and yell something like . . . and so does everybody else and you don't really know you're saying anything. Lindy, I notice he just sits there quietly and doesn't notice anything. But he's been around a bit now.
"Von is only with us six weeks and it's all new to him. He's only

18. He's never heard any ballplayers' language before, most of it, anyhow, so he looks down at us and gets a kick out of it.

Lindy McDaniel Von McDaniel

there against him and starts coming down and leaning over so he can get at those pitches.

"I tell Lindy to make 'em get back." He ran his hand across his ear quickly. "I don't mean to throw it here. I mean just put it inside and high. Around here." He moved his hand across his chest.

"That would back the hitter away, straighten him up. He wouldn't be bent over, laying for those low pitches. But the kid won't do it.

"Von is different, I think. I haven't talked to him about it, but I think he'd do it. He'll do anything to be a real good pitcher.

"I'd like Lindy to brush them off. Look, we had Joe Cunningham hitting good against the Reds. Left-handed hitter. He hits on one off Brooks Lawrence into the left field seats.

"So the next time he gets up, down he goes. The pitcher was just protecting his interest. But the umpire steps up and starts yelling. 'One more of those and you're out of the game!' So two itches later Cunningham doubles. He killed the Reds the whole series. Hit a liner back to the box that hurt Herschel Freeman's foot. "Cunningham knows the score. Nobody was going to stand there and let him knock his brains out. That's the way this game is. But I can't get Lindy to do it that way.

"Walker Cooper has been around this club a long time and he says he hasn't seen pitchers as good as these kids break in since guys like Ernie White and Johnny Beasley. That was back in the early '40's and they were as good as you find.

"Both these kids are going to be real good pitchers. I thought we'd win at the start of the year and that was without figuring on them so much. Now I know we're the real solid club."

Downstairs, in the coffee shop, Lindy and Von McDaniel sat in crew cuts and sports jackets, having breakfast. Von doesn't even drink coffee. He has cocoa in the morning, a milk shake at night.

But Fred Hutchinson believes he is tough enough to keep hitters from taking a toehold. Even if Lindy, who is 21 and the leader, doesn't want to play that way.

ALL TEXANS WILL BENEFIT

The Texas Game and Fish Commission adopted a formal resolution asking the Fifty-fifth Legislature to increase the cost of fishing license from $1.65 to $2.15. This license to increase the cost of fishing license from $1.65 to $2.15. This license to increase the cost of fishing license from $1.65 to $2.15. This license to increase the cost of fishing license from $1.65 to $2.15.

Eighty counties are now included in the laws giving the Game and Fish Commission the responsibility of fixing open seasons, bag limits and means of taking game and fish. These regulations must be decided on the basis of scientific studies made by men who have continually lived with the problems. An expansion of this study program is necessary to meet the new demands, and will cost additional dollars. More trained men must be found to work on this program.

Texas is badly in need of lands to be used as refuges for waterfowl. Ducks and geese by the thousands come south each fall. If we expect them to spend the winter with us and furnish sport for our hunters, we must provide attractive quarters for them, and also insure enough brood stock will return to northern nesting grounds to raise a new crop of birds for the following year. Each species of game, large and small, needs more help as the pressure of man bears down upon it. Work programs for each are expected to be expanded under a program made stronger by the help of improved financing.

Fishing pressure has expanded with the ever increasing army of anglers, while at the same time Texas has acquired many new fishing holes in the form of lakes of many depths and sizes that were built as water conservation or multiple-use impoundment structures. To keep fishing good the undesirable fish must be removed as one removes weeds from his garden. Desirable fish must be planted in the waters and such other work done as will assure the best production of a fish crop. This work is ready for expansion with new license dollars paid in by those who buy hunting and fishing license. The work of keeping the water clean must also be assigned to the career men of the Division of Inland Fisheries.

The number of people who hunt and fish in Texas is less than one fourth of the total population. Only those who hunt and fish, or who directly participate in the advantage of the game and fish harvest, are required to pay for the wildlife conservation bill. Long-range plans for improving living conditions for wildlife were worked out more than a year ago. These plans anticipated both a work program based on old revenue standards and work to be added if more funds were available. Now that more revenue is anticipated, it is expected that there will be enough money to increase the work program by approximately 25 per cent.

es of wildlife management to individuals and groups. The adult outdoorsmen of Texas have consistently supported the idea that the teaching of wildlife facts to school-age children is an important wildlife conservation function. Part of the Commission's work in the past has been the preparation and distribution of literature for use by teachers and pupils in our schools. The program should be renewed and expanded. Since the landowner is a key person in the game production business in Texas, he, too, should be informed. No better work can be done in game management than providing the practical information to help him with his game production and harvest problems. An expansion of Information - Education Division will help to bring the landowner valuable material that will aid in the production of more game for a greater profit and pleasure.

All the spending, planning and work will not accomplish the good results without the helping hand of all who have interest in our wild creatures. A helping hand can consist of a willingness to provide food and protection to some wild bird or animal, or simply refrain from destroying their homes, or to cease to be greedy while hunting or fishing. Protect your sportman you can.

Golf's Biggest Fallacy, The 300 Yard Drive

TODAY'S SPORT PARADE (Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.) By OSCAR FRALEY United Press Sports Writer

DAYTON, Ohio (UP) — Take it from the big hitters playing in the PGA golf championship today, the biggest fallacy in golf is the 300-yard drive.

Under normal conditions, without the shot being downhill with the wind behind it, there ain't no such thing.

That's the opinion of top pros, including such sluggers as Slammin' Sammy Snead and Mike Souchak, the new PGA driving champion.

Souchak won the PGA tee title as the current match play tournament got under way with an average of 243 yards. Snead was second with a 240-yard average.

With more than 100 of the nation's top pros competing in the driving championship, it is rather amazing that the longest ball of any one which was struck was a 254-yard, 10-inch belt by Mike Krak of Morgantown, W.Va.

Even the women pros have been heard to toss around such tee shot

Court House
Cafe Opening
Set Tuesday

The formal opening of the Court House Cafe, 119 1/2 W. Kingsmill, will take place Tuesday and free coffee and doughnuts will be featured during the morning and afternoon.

The cafe has been remodeled with new equipment placed in the kitchen and the dining area repainted.

Verl Byerley, new operator of the cafe, reported that the formal opening Tuesday is being held so that he can become acquainted with the people of Pampa and that they in turn can see the remodeled interior of the cafe. Byerley recently moved to Pampa from Liberal, Kans., where he was manager of the Country Club. The cafe opened last Monday, but Byerley reported that the formal opening was delayed so that those working at the cafe could become familiar with the new

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

By JIM SMATHERS

Members of the Soil Conservation Service connected with Pampa work unit took part in a tour on chemical brush control in Wheeler County last Monday afternoon.

The tour was conducted throughout the northeast portion of the Wheeler SCD and included stops at the Tom Britt ranch, some experimental plots of the Woodward, Okla., Experiment Station and the Gordon Stiles ranch. Some very good brush control was seen.

E. H. "Pat" McLwain, superintendent of the Woodward Experimental Station, and Cecil Armstrong, also on the Woodward Experimental Station, were on hand to explain what has been done on the experimental plot.

The experimental plots were not set up as demonstration plots but were set up only for experimental purposes. McLwain said the plots were now advanced far enough for demonstrations. On the plots various amounts of chemicals were used. All of the chemicals were supplied as a spray by an airplane.

The best results have been obtained by using one pound of 248T, with an oil emulsion base, per acre. The next best results were obtained using one pound of 2-4-D, with an oil emulsion base, per acre.

The most important thing, according to McLwain, is to spray the shinnery when it is at its most rapid stage of growth in the spring. The spraying should be applied for three consecutive years.

Sand sage is killed with two equipment. Byerley leased the cafe from John Pitts and reported that it would continue to be open 24 hours a day.

spraying and skunk brush goes out with one spraying. Kills up to 99 per cent have been obtained. How soon the brush will return is yet to be learned.

Grass, on pasture where chemical spraying has been used, has certainly made a come back. Spraying costs were between $2.50 and $3.50 per acre and rancher Britt and Stiles stated that the increase in grass stands and yields on their places is enough to more than offset the cost of spraying.

Another important point brought out during the tour was that cattle were left on shinnery pasture after spraying and no animals were lost due to shinnery poisoning.

Not all the answers have been found on chemical brush control but it looks as if a promising start has been made.

Ethel Mertz Is Branching Out
From Dramatics To 'Ranching'

By ALINE MTSBY
United Press Hollywood Writer
HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Now that Ethel Mertz is living next door to the Ricardos only once every two months, she's branching out to everything from dramatic roles to a dude ranch.

Ethel and husband Fred, known on their heavy income tax forms as Vivian Vance and Bill Frawley, won a breather this TV season when "I Love Lucy" graduated from a weekly stint to five-hour extravaganzas.

Pert Vivian still will be Lucy's neighbor—but only because the top-rated program goes into its seventh year on an occasional basis.

"I had just about had it," confessed Vivian at her Pacific Palisades home. "I toyed with the thought of playing some other character. I know how Art Carney feels—since the Jackie Gleason show is off Art is happy as a clam working on dramatic shows."

Wanted New Scenery
"I wanted to break out and do something else. But, you know, you just can't quit. Oh, I got letters, all wanting to know if Bill and I would be on the new show. "I would have quit if it had been a half-hour show again. But now it's wonderful, going to work for two weeks and having two and a half months off. It's opened up a whole new dream for me."

Vivian and her husband, actor-writer Phil Ober, spend much of their time now on their 15-year-old four-acre "ranch" between Gallup and Albuquerque, N. Mex. They also cherish a plan to buy a large guest ranch and then live there, committing to Hollywood for acting jobs.

THIS WEEK has been dominated by the mockingbirds . . . don't you think . . . they have chortled and sung their heads off from the housetops both night and day . . . it is amusing to see one of them perched on a television antenna spring up into the air, warbling as he goes, and then flutter down again . . . the television antenna is the saving of many a bird where there aren't any trees, as in the newer additions of homes . . . and about two weeks ago we heard the first locust or cicada of the season . . . they sound hot, and are the very epitome of summertime.

WE HAVE HEARD THAT the mothers of the gals having "rush week" for the past two weeks or more are exhausted from the strain . . . but the girls surely did some wonderful things in the way of invitations and party favors . . . who was the lovely lady seen downtown last week in a pale orange dress with white accessories . . . a beautiful sight . . . all the little kiddoes have been enjoying the train ride . . . the Carl Long children were there one night . . . Jo Ann Miller is an attractive lass, no? . . . yes . . . Kitty Vcale looked cool and collected when grocery shopping the other day . . . and so did vivacious Betty Ellis . . . we heard the comment that she is always so calm and gentle with the children . . . saw Hal McCray buzzing around town, looking intent on business of some sort.

Men of noblest dispositions think themselves happiest when others share their happiness with them.—Duncan.

AS THIS WEEK'S COLUMN draws to a close . . . we have been meditating on the word "end" and some of its meanings . . . and thinking about different kinds of ends . . . there is the untimely end . . . and the dead end . . . and the wrong end you begin at . . . and the end of the earth . . . and the smoke something ends in . . . and the end of one's rope or tether . . . and the rear-end and front-end of a car . . . and bad end . . . and good ending . . . and the "happy ending" and the "tragic ending" and come to think of it, the gable-end and the tag-end . . . and the bitter-end . . . and, glory be, the end of the column!

MRS. DARRELL SEITZ (Photo, Smith Studio)

Jennie Collins, Darrell Seitz United In Double-Ring Service

Miss Jennie Collins became the bride of Darrell Seitz at eight o'clock on Saturday evening, July 20, in the First Baptist Church with the Rev. E. Douglas Carver performing the double-ring ceremony. The vows were exchanged before a setting of baskets of white gladioli and palms flanked with white tapers in candelabra.

Miss Collins is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Collins, 312 N. Ward. Mr. Seitz is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Grover Seitz.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Collins wore a white satin gown fashioned with long sleeves ending in bridal points over the hands and a fitted bodice with a lace yoke styled with a sash and sequins. The voluminous, gathered satin skirt fell into a chapel train. Her finger-tip Veil of Illusion was escalated around the edges and attached to a half-hat of lace trimmed with pearls and sequins. She carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Shrewish Voice Shatters Looks

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

She was sitting with a friend just across the aisle on a bus. The immediate thought was: What an attractive mature woman. Her silver-gray hair was cut short and beautifully done. Her skin was clear and smooth. She was trim, slim and well-groomed. She was tastefully dressed and her accessories were in quiet good taste.

pleasant voice, one which says things harmonious to the ear. Otherwise, all of the other careful grooming and discipline goes for nothing.

Fly-away hair is a problem with which most women have to deal in the summer. Whether hair is coarse or fine, it tends to become unruly through the heat of the sun and moisture at the seaside. There are several ways of controlling hair that won't stay put. One of the easiest ways is to use a light cream dressing immediately after a shampoo.

Be sure it is not a greasy dressing; it should leave the hair glossy and smooth, not caked with goo. Best way to use it is to smooth it on your still-damp hair just after you've toweled it. A few minutes later, take your brush and go to work, brushing from the scalp to the ends of your hair for 100 strokes. Then brush your hair into place.

You'll feel the difference and see it, too. In addition to this, use one of the new, light hair sprays that helps curl to stay in from setting to setting.

Dry skin is a summer problem, too. Too much sun and winter can roughen and dry out your skin quickly.

When you're tanning, pick one of the new tanning lotions or creams made especially to let you tan without drying out your skin. Even women with oily skin may find their skins becoming parched in the summer sun. The new tanning creams for dry skin permit an even tan with no blistering, peeling or ugly redness.

Mrs. Jack P. Foster To Attend Altrusa International Convention In Louisiana

Under the theme, "Serve to Survive," Altrusa International will launch its 1957-59 program of service, when this 40-year-old classified membership organization of some 14,000 leading executive and professional women meets in convention in New Orleans, La., at Hotel Roosevelt on July 21-25.

Mrs. Jack P. Foster, president of the local Altrusa Club, will attend and serve as hostess from the ninth district. The Altrusa Club of Pampa will be one of 426 in eight countries (Bermuda, Canada, Guatemala, Great Britain, Hawaii, Mexico, Puerto Rico, United States) to plan its work in accordance with the new "Serve to Survive" program.

"Altrusa conducted a community problem poll to determine the three most urgent problems facing each of its cities," explains Miss Marjorie Lamb, Toronto, Ont., Canada, Altrusa International president who will preside at convention. "As a result, our new two-year program directs club action on these most critical needs."

MRS. JACK P. FOSTER

Coffee Honors New Resident

(Special to The News)
PERRYTON — Mrs. C. B. Pyles was hostess recently for a coffee honoring Mrs. Vern Harris, who has recently moved to Perryton.

Guests were Mmes. Oscar Flowers, Virgil Castle, Otha Castle, A. C. Witt, Joe Erickson, Fred Osborne, G. L. Kengle, Alton Witt, L. T. Tucker, Lewis Bellanger, Carl Ellis, J. H. Peterson, Manse Wood Vance Apple, G. W. Whigham, Wayne Kisker, Roy Sanford, Bruce Baumann, Sammy Phelps, Gordon Shackelford, Gale Rogers, Harold Hudson, Josh Hopkins, Jim Wright, Willard Witt and the hostess.

Number One problem is all cities was reported to be traffic safety. This will be dealt with through Altrusa Public Affairs committees. Next came the need to expand services for older people, and the need for youth guidance to reduce delinquency. Altrusa Vocational Information committees will act on these. A third committee in all local Altrusa Clubs, International Relations, will concentrate on promoting citizenship interest in world affairs. One way will be to cooperate with the "Decisions" program of the Foreign Policy Association.

Two major projects of Altrusa International will be evaluated at convention. One is Grants-in-Aid, in operation since 1945. This provides grants of $250 to $750 to Asian and Latin American women for graduate study in the U.S. and Canada. Some $100,000 has been awarded to 167 women so far.

The other project, Founders

Cub Scouts Have Cook-Out In Park

(Special to The News)
SKELLYTOWN — Den Nine, Skellytown Cub Scouts, held a weiner roast recently at Hobart Street Park. Following the cook-out, the boys played games.

Attending were Messrs. and Mmes. Fred Wall, Shirley and Freddie; L. M. Gilreath and Billie; R. S. Marlar, Vernon and Larry; Y. A. Knutson and Tommie, and Mrs. James Head and Jimmy.

Fund Vocational Aid, started in 1953, gives grants of $50 to $250 to women of all ages (older women in particular) for vocational training or other assistance to enable them to earn a living. More than 150 women have received a total of some $27,000.

Featured speaker at the Altrusa biennial convention in New Orleans will be Dr. Jose A. Mora, Washington, D.C., Secretary General of the Organization of American States. He will analyze crucial developments in the Western Hemisphere.

Altrusa will elect international officers for 1957-59 at the New Orleans convention. Mrs. John Nelson, Richmond, Va., real estate executive, now president-elect, will be installed as president at the formal banquet on July 25.

For second vice-president; Mrs. Lawrence T. Day, Chief X-Ray Technician and Department Supervisor, Santa Barbara County General Hospital, Santa Barbara, Calif.; Dr. Loretta M. Miller, professor of Special Education, Central Washington College of Education, Ellensburg, Wash.

SEASONING MEATS

When broiling steaks or chops, season them on each side after broiling. If seasoned before broiling, the salt will tend to retard the broiling process. Roasts may be seasoned before or after cooking since seasonings penetrate the meat less than 1/4 inch.

Mrs. Loyse Caldwell conducted the business meeting and gave a brief talk on the club's proposed projects for the coming year.

FORMAL RUSH TEA

In the lovely colonial home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gordon, Kit Kat Klub members entertained at a formal tea for rushees and guests. Pictured on the stairway, beginning at the top, are Misses Carol Tripplehorn, Bobbie Lee Andis, Ginger Hopkins, Jane Hoover, all rushees, then Misses Martha Gordon, hostess-member and Raina Storms, KKK president.

Kit Kat Klub Rushees And Guests Are Honored At Formal Afternoon Affair

A formal afternoon tea was held in the colonial home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gordon, 1811 Charles, by the Kit Kat Klub. Guests were greeted in the spacious entry by Misses Martha and Sara Gordon, hostesses.

Rushees were ushered into the den, where they were given wristlets of white split carnations arranged on glittered net and tied with blue satin streamers. Miss Pat Gorman presided at the guest register.

Arrangements of carnations were featured throughout the house.

A round tea-table was covered with a floor-length white organdy cloth centered with a silver epargne containing an arrangement of white long-stemmed carnations and fern flanked by four white tapors.

White iced individual party cakes, decorated with blue and silver KKK, were served by Miss Jo Ann Thompson. Frosted punch was served from a crystal bowl by Miss Heidi Schneider. Pale blue engraved napkins completed the blue and white color scheme.

Miss Judy Prescott of Altus, Okla., entertained with vocal selections, "If I Loved You," and "One Kiss," by Sigmund Romberg. She was accompanied at the piano by her cousin, Miss Linda Steele.

Miss Pat Jones, club president, introduced the new officers and expressed the meaning of rush.

"Perhaps of all the activities in which we engage during the year, the rush season is the most important," she said. "For it is during this season that we choose the girls to whom, in future years, we will entrust the well-being of our club."

"For this reason," she stated, "we look for girls who have the highest ideals of character, leadership, personality, service, and citizenship, along with those other qualities, which go to make up a well-rounded girl."

In further explaining the mechanics of rush season, Miss Jones explained, "At the beginning of the rush season, we start with a list of all the freshman girls. Of course, this list must be narrowed down. As rush progresses, outstanding personalities emerge. Finally, at the termination of rush, this tea is held. We have, we believe, selected girls having the finest of these qualities. These girls are the cream of their class. These girls are you."

"We think it is an honor for a girl to be rushed by any club, and likewise, it is a privilege and an honor for members of this club to rush you. Many friendships have developed during this rush season. Even if we go our separate ways, I hope these friendships will last throughout your life," Miss Jones concluded.

Miss Jerry Sloan, KKK candidate for Miss Pampa Beauty contest, was a special guest. Other ex-members were Misses Sheila Chisholm, Anita Wedgeworth, and Carol Henry.

Rushees present were Misses Ann Adcock, Bobbie Lee Andis, Brenda Brown, Karen Capps, Nita and Rita Cartwright, Sandra Dodd, Linda Fain, Glenda Finkelstein, Sue Foster, Marcie Gilson, Jane Ann Hoover, Jeanie Hopkins, Ginger Hopkins, Kay Kolasha, Glenna Lewis, Janet Osborne, Sandra Snider, Joyce Snow, Carol Tripplehorn, Gay Vanderburg, Marcia Ward, and Shirley Wright.

Sponsors present were Mmes. Bob Cury and D. A. Finkelstein.

Other members of the house party were Misses Jeannine Leith, Judy Wells, and Sheridan Sikes.

ROASTING TIME

Boned and rolled roasts have become increasingly popular with the American homemaker the last few years. When cooking any type of boned or rolled roast, remember that the roasts require approximately 10 more minutes per pound more cooking time that roasts which have not been boned.

FOLO SKIFFLE SWEEPS

In a Soho basement hung with plaster icicles, the newly-opened Skiffle Cellar provides a platform for hundreds of amateur musicians. They mix it all in, folk songs, blues, fiddle and jug music, "pops," sentimental ballads and calypso.

As Louis Armstrong, the great Satchmo, once remarked, "They are all folk songs. I ain't never heard a horse sing."

Make Friends Manners

If you accept a job on a committee, then it is your responsibility to do your share of the work, attend meetings, and work in harmony with other members.

If you aren't willing to do all of those things, don't accept the job in the first place.

DIP OR SPREAD

Spreads and dips are important snack-time specialties, especially during the summer. Whether they are used as late evening snacks or as appetizers be sure to include meat in these tasty appetite teasers. Crisp bacon bits added to cream cheese moistened with milk to a spreading consistency makes a wonderful mild tasting snack.

A PREGNANT THOUGHT

RENO, Nev. (UP)—Jim Hardy attached a birth announcement to an overtime parking ticket when he mailed the $1 fine to the municipal court clerk several days ago. Friday he received a short congratulatory message from the court—along with the $1 he had mailed to pay the fine.

ONLY US CHICKENS

CHICAGO (UP)—Police rushed to investigate an excavator's report he had found a mound of bones under a building being repaired. They discovered the building used to be a butcher shop.

BRINGS 'EM BACK ALIVE

CHICAGO (UP)—A soap box may bring you a special gift if you send it to the right place. Mrs. Evelyn Kelly sent her son with a whole soap box into the back yard Friday and he returned with something special—a foot-long alligator.

MUSKOGON, Mich. (UP)—Two sets of barking dogs had Muskogon police up a tree Friday. Patrolman Bernard Langlois answered a woman's complaint of a barking dog only to find two sets of howling mutts in the same area. Langlois asked the woman to make a survey to determine which dogs were loudest before seeking further action.

Ferocious Battle Before The FPC

By HARRY WILSON SHARPE

Trans-Canada made a deal with Midwestern Gas Transmission Company owned by Tennessee Gas Transmission which, in turn, is headed by Symonds, to export Trans-Canada gas to the upper Midwest at a cheap price. This was on the assumption that midwestern could get an official go-ahead from the Federal Power Commission.

It also was intended as a source of profit for Trans-Canada, in which Murchison held 497,000 shares and in which Diefenbaker portrayed Symonds as working both sides of the street to eventually reap a big financial gain.

Midwestern asked the FPC for the right to take the exports, while Tennessee Transmission, already serving Eastern Canada, also asked authority to pipe gas to Midwestern which, it was pointed out, took the initiative in trying to open up the new market.

These moves brought swift opposition from rival transmission companies which had ignored the field Midwestern proposes to invade. Among them were Michigan-Wisconsin Pipeline, Northern Natural Gas, and Natural Gas Pipeline, part of the Peoples Gas System of Chicago.
