

Top Witnesses Talk Today In Probe Of Katyn

By RUSSELL BRINES WASHINGTON (U) — Adm. William Standley, former U. S. ambassador to Moscow, tells House investigators today how Soviet Russia began building an arc of pro-Communist states around Eastern Europe in 1943.

The admiral heads a top-level group of witnesses appearing before a special committee investigating the massacre of 15,000 Polish officers and intellectuals at Katyn Forest, Western Russia early in World War II.

The committee has reported to Congress that Russian secret police committed the murders to prepare for a pro-Communist Poland. It is now trying to determine whether news of Russian guilt was suppressed by American officials to avoid disrupting wartime relations with the Soviets.

Standley, ambassador to Moscow from 1941 to 1943, reported in a series of secret documents that Russia was preparing the corridor of barrier states now behind the Iron Curtain.

His story backgrounds a two-year effort by Polish officials to locate their officers in Soviet prison camps. The committee says they were killed in the spring of 1940. Moscow claims they were murdered by the Nazis a year later.

Summer Welles, former under secretary of state, also has been summoned for further testimony on diplomatic developments in the closing years of the war. Committee officials say Welles was aware that Moscow used the former over discovery of the Katyn massacre in 1943 as a pretext for breaking relations with the Polish government-in-exile in order to set up a pro-Communist regime in Poland.

W. Averell Harriman, ambassador to Russia between 1943 and 1945, and his daughter, Mrs. Stanley G. Mortimer Jr. of New York, also will testify today.

Mrs. Mortimer, then Kathleen said Mrs. Mortimer, then Kathleen Harriman, visited Katyn in early 1944 on a Soviet-sponsored tour for foreign correspondents. Mitchell said she will be asked why she reported officially to the State Department that despite loopholes "the Russian case is convincing."

Henry Cassidy, former Associated Press bureau chief in Moscow, testified last spring that he and other newsmen making the trip agreed the Russians had committed the atrocity.

Supreme Court Justice Robert H. Jackson, chief prosecutor at the Nuremberg war trials, testified yesterday that he and British prosecutors opposed the Soviet effort to blame Katyn on the Germans because they lacked adequate documents and witnesses. The Nazis were guilty of much worse crimes against the Poles. Jackson said that Russia, as an ally, could not have been indicted at Nuremberg for Katyn.

Rogers Due Third Arson Case Trial

J. S. Rogers, charged with arson following a fire at the Gossnell Hotel at Colorado City in the summer of 1951, will get a third trial, the Court of Criminal Appeals ruled today.

Rogers was found guilty by a jury in 118th District Court here last March 9 and was assessed a two-year prison term. The Court of Criminal Appeals today reversed and remanded the verdict. Earlier, a jury had been unable to reach a verdict following a week-long trial in Colorado City.

Rogers' attorneys, Dell and Perry Barber of Colorado City, had carried the case up on appeal, alleging jury misconduct in the verdict here.

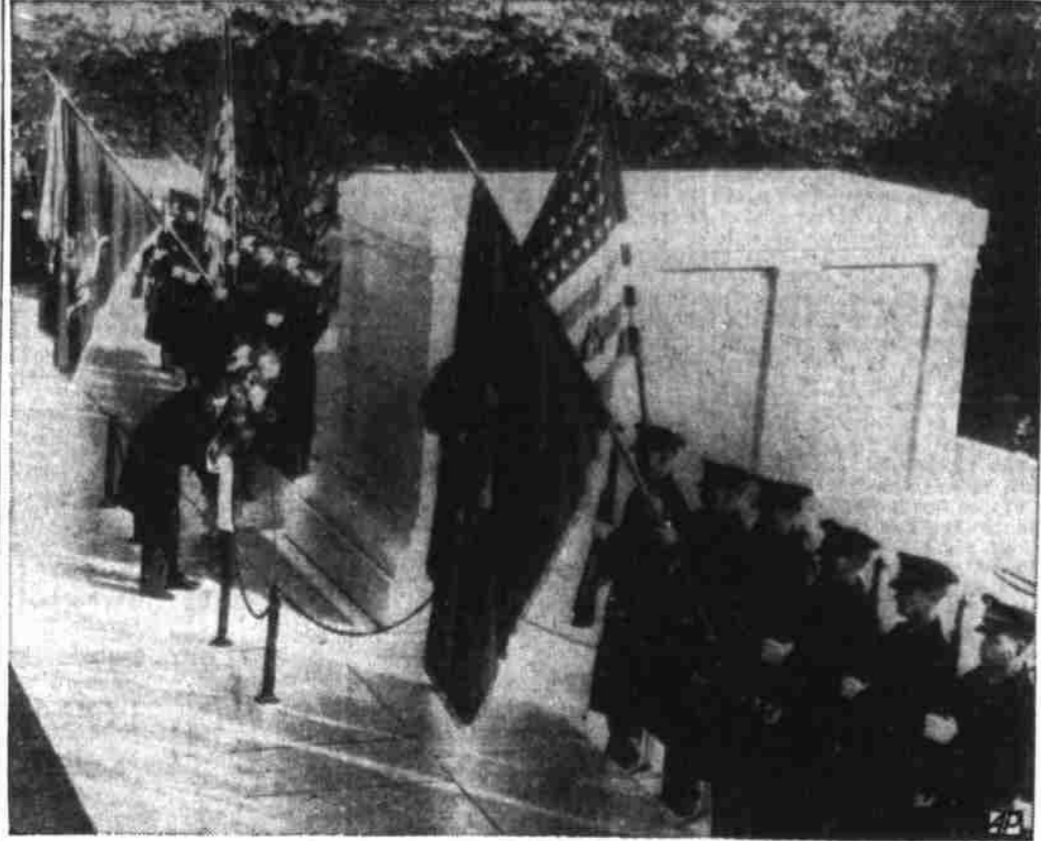

The Court of Criminal Appeals heard arguments by defense counsel and by District Attorney Eldon Mahon of Colorado City and District Attorney Elton Gilliland of Big Spring last Wednesday.

Ike Plans Conferences With Leaders Before Korean Trip

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH AUGUSTA, Ga. (U) — President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower is planning an important round of conferences with Republican leaders in New York next week before leaving for Korea, associates said today.

These associates, who asked not to be named, said the conferees may include Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, chairman of the Senate GOP policy committee, and Sen. Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin, in line to head the Senate Foreign Relations Committee when the Republicans take over control of Congress in January.

Eisenhower, vacationing at the Augusta National Golf Club, plans to head for New York Sunday or Monday.

He will confer the early part of the week at the White House with President Truman, who has invited the general to sit in at a discussion of international and domestic problems facing the new Republican administration.

Aides of the President-elect said he wants to talk over such matters first with GOP congressional leaders but may switch signals, go to the White House first, and meet with them later in the week.

Wiley, attending the United Nations General Assembly in New York as a U. S. delegate, said yesterday that Eisenhower has asked him to meet two weeks hence for a discussion of American foreign policy.

Eisenhower's press secretary, James C. Hagerty, confirmed here that Eisenhower had extended an invitation to Wiley. But Hagerty hinted the get-together is booked for next week, rather than the following week.

Other sources said a full-scale meeting of GOP congressional leaders is in prospect. They added that those present may include Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts and Detroit banker Joseph M. Dodge, both of whom were named by Eisenhower over the week end as his liaison men with the out-going Truman administration.

Hagerty said late yesterday no date had been fixed for Eisenhower's trip to Korea—a trip the general said during the campaign he would make in an effort to find a way to end the conflict there.

Hagerty indicated, however, that arrangements for the trip are being made with the Pentagon in Washington.

And it was learned, meanwhile, that extensive security precautions are being taken to protect the President-elect against the possibility of an enemy attack during his visit to Korea — and on the way there and back.

Hagerty himself obviously had such arrangements in mind when he declined to discuss published reports that Eisenhower probably will spend Thanksgiving Day in Korea with front-line American troops.

"As we have said repeatedly, no date has been set for the Korean trip," Hagerty declared. "The time just has not been decided."

Later he added that even if a date had been picked for Eisenhower's departure, he quite likely would not be able to make it public.

At a news conference, Hagerty said he hoped to be able to make public by the end of this week "some information" about the Korean trip. But he made it clear such information would be generalized.

At his news conference, Hagerty also was asked about published reports that Eisenhower may be accompanied to Korea by Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who commanded that theater until he was ousted by President Truman.

"I know of no such plans," Hagerty said.

He also said he knew nothing of a letter which reports from Havana, Cuba, said MacArthur had sent to Eisenhower pledging cooperation. MacArthur supported Taft for the GOP presidential nomination, and he took no part in Eisenhower's campaign for the White House once he had defeated Taft at the party's July convention.

Man's Death In Jail Is Due To Natural Causes

Andrew J. Burzynski, 53, was found dead in a cell at the city jail here at 5:45 a. m. today.

Justice of the Peace W. O. Leonard, who conducted an inquest, said that Burzynski died of "natural causes."

Burzynski had been arrested late Sunday by city police and charged with drunkenness.

At the inquest this morning, officers testified that Burzynski had not been tried in city court Monday morning because he was unable to enter a plea at that time. They said Burzynski apparently was ill Tuesday and that a doctor was called to the jail to treat him early Tuesday evening.

Roy Butts, another prisoner in the jail, discovered that Burzynski was dead this morning and immediately summoned officers.

During the inquest this morning, testimony indicated that Burzynski had been in Big Spring for several months, coming here from Los Angeles, Calif. Until approximately 10 days ago he was employed as a time keeper on a construction job.

The body was carried to the Nalley Funeral Home to await instructions for funeral arrangements.

Burzynski's wife, Mrs. Stella Burzynski, 1944 West 66th Street, Los Angeles, was contacted this morning and advised of her husband's death.

Bribery Trial Due To Go To The Jury

AMARILLO, Nov. 12 (U) — The bribery trial of T. B. "Bill" Freeman of Dublin, Tex., was go to the jury here this morning.

Freeman, one of seven men indicted here last year on bribery charges, is accused of bribing a Texas Liquor Control Board agent.

Testimony closed yesterday evening when Freeman said he had been compelled to give John L. Dibrell III, Austin, $50 when the Liquor Control Board inspector threatened to padlock Freeman's place of business.

Another Strike May Come At AEC Plant

AUGUSTA, Nov. 12 (U) — A dispute between a technicians union and a sub-contractor at the Atomic Energy Commission H-bomb plant may flare up tomorrow into another strike.

African Issue Is Taken Up By UN Committee

By STANLEY JOHNSON UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Nov. 12 (U) — South Africa called on the U. N. today to declare itself incompetent to deal with the explosive problem of the treatment of non-whites in that British Commonwealth now torn by racial conflict.

There was little chance of success, since a majority of the U. N.'s 60 members had previously decided over South African opposition to place the question on the agenda of the General Assembly.

Ambassador C. P. Jooste told the Assembly's Special Political Committee that South Africa's racial policies were her own business. He said they did not constitute a threat to international peace and the U. N. had no standard by which to judge whether human rights were being violated.

"I must point out," he said, "that neither in the Charter nor in any binding international instrument is there a definition of human rights against which the actions of the South African government or those of any other government can be tested."

Jooste did not threaten today to walk out if the vote goes against him but observers believed South Africa would boycott any debate on her racial policies.

In the Asian-Arab group maintains that Prime Minister Daniel F. Malan's white supremacy policy threatens world peace.

But though debate turned to South Africa, chief U. N. interest remained on the two major problems raised thus far in the Assembly meeting—the Korean deadlock and the sudden resignation Monday of Secretary General Trygve Lie.

In the Korean debate, the Russians were faced with a new Western request for agreement that prisoners of war not be forced to return to their homelands. The West's new plan was put forth yesterday by British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden.

There was no indication the Russians and the West might get together on a successor to Lie. They failed to agree on his reappointment in 1950—after the Norwegian strongly supported the U. N. action in Korea. Moscow radio commented last night that Lie's resignation was a revelation of "his complete political bankruptcy."

Three Scandinavian newspapers published an interview today with Lie in which he said he quit because of the pressure the Russians put on him.

Drive For Blood Donors In The County Not Going Good

Peas for blood donors here next week apparently were falling on a heartless Howard County. Net increase of donors for the day was a pitiful four. Three people cared enough to fill out the coupon (below) and mail it in; one other called to ask that he be put down as one who wanted to help.

Approximately 300 prospective donors must be enlisted between now and Monday, else the effort to secure the Howard-Glasscock chapter's quota of donors will fail.

"What is tragic," said Douglas Orme, chapter chairman, "is that we will be falling our fighting men."

To stimulate donor pledge cards, Red Cross leaders urged someone in businesses and various organizations to get a few cards and personally ask their co-workers or colleagues to sign up.

"If people will just take five cards and get five friends to sign, we can quicken our efforts and turn discouragement into success," said Mrs. Moore Sawtelle.

She added that it was more than interesting that those who gave before constitute more than half those who have signed to give again.

CLEAR SKIES, WARMER WEATHER CONTINUES TO 'PLAGUE' TEXAS

Clear skies Wednesday with warmer temperatures, low humidities, and gentle to moderate winds were a broad hint that no end to the drought was in sight in Texas.

But at Dallas, where you might get fined $200 for sprinkling your lawn or watering a dying shrub, the city council was trying its best to do something about it.

Last week the council was thinking about damming up the West Fork of the Trinity River, including sewage from Fort Worth, and using it for Dallas drinking water — after proper purification, of course.

Yesterday, the Dallas council decided to hire a rain-maker — no Kindian medicine man, mind you, but a real, honest-to-goodness professional.

The cost: $36,505. But that's cheap indeed, City Manager Elgin E. Crull told the Dallas city fathers "when you talk about spending $100,000 for a well."

Of the rainmakers—Water Resources Development Co., of Denver—Crull said: "They do not promise a thing. The only thing sure is that if we are going to have a rain, they can make it rain a great deal harder."

The company uses silver iodide to "seed" clouds and force moisture in them to precipitate.

Dodge Enters Budget Talks

By CHARLES F. BARRETT WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (U) — President-elect Eisenhower's financial representative, Detroit banker Joseph P. Dodge, met today with Budget Director Frederick J. Lawton, but told reporters he would not try to influence the size or nature of the budget now being prepared.

At a news conference in Lawton's office, Dodge said he would not agree or disagree with anything he saw in the budget, which covers government spending for the year beginning next July 1. The fact he sat in on budget discussions should not be taken as approval or disapproval, he emphasized.

A reporter asked Dodge whether he had been offered the post of budget director under the Eisenhower administration and had accepted. He replied, "It is not true."

However he declined to say whether this meant it was not true that he (1) had been offered the job or (2) had accepted it.

"My objective is to inform myself and Gen. Eisenhower of the facts and factors connected with this budget so that Gen. Eisenhower may have some basis for drawing his own conclusions."

He declined repeatedly to give any indication of how he thought the budget might be trimmed or revised but indicated he does expect the new administration to make changes. He said "I believe Mr. Lawton will concur with me

UN Spotlights Used In Hand Fight For Hills

By ROBERT TUCKMAN SEOUL (U) — South Korean infantrymen stormed back to recapture three strategic heights on Sniper Ridge and Triangle Hill in long, bloody battles today.

Tonight they threw back two 150-man Red jabs at allied positions on Sniper—one in 40 minutes of hand-to-hand fighting in the glare of huge Allied searchlights.

But they failed to throw Chinese Communists off the Yoke, a mass of tunnels and caves at the northern end of Sniper which has been the key to firm control of the important ridge.

AP War Correspondent John Randolph, reporting from the blazing Central Front, said Republic of Korea (ROK) troops regained all the ground they lost to furious Red artillery-supported assaults Tuesday night.

That included: Pinpoint Hill, dominant height on Sniper Ridge, retaken by a five-hour infantry assault preceded by an hour-long artillery barrage.

Rockey Point, highest peak on Little Finger Ridge, as well as most of the rest of that ridge. Jane Russell on the northeast side was recaptured in a counter attack that began at dawn. Two Red companies—350 men—wrested the twin peaks from the Allies Tuesday night.

Once they had secured the crest of Pinpoint, elements of three ROK regiments drove northward against the Yoke, taking part of it in a blast-then-out, burn-then-out battle against entrenched Reds.

But the South Koreans were forced to withdraw before dark. The Yoke is a virtually impenetrable redoubt at night.

Firm Allied control of Sniper Ridge has been impossible with the Yoke's tunnels and caves in the hands of the Reds. It was from those underground caverns that Chinese reinforcements poured today at the height of the battle for Pinpoint.

The South Koreans had been pushed off Pinpoint, dominating height on Sniper Ridge, Tuesday night by 1,500 screaming Chinese foot soldiers. The Red assault was powered by one of the fiercest Red artillery barrages of the war. It was the 13th time in 29 days that the Reds had taken the hill from United Nations forces.

Despite the United Nations victory on Pinpoint, determined Chinese defenders still held steable chunks of the mile and a half long ridge at noon.

Randolph also reported heavy fighting on nearby Little Finger Ridge. Earlier, the ROKs had been stalled two-thirds of the way up the slope by Chinese hurling huge hand grenades down upon them.

Refinements In Design Mark New De Soto Models For 1953

The 1953 De Soto, a new automobile with advanced features inside and out, makes its debut before the public Thursday. The new line will be shown locally at Clark Motor Company, 215 East Third Street. An entirely new body design is featured in the 1953 De Soto, with emphasis on longer, flowing lines, longer swept-back fenders and a wider, lower rear deck. Interiors of the 1953 De Soto feature handsome, new upholstery fabrics, distinctive new door panels and richly-grained instrument panel and window mouldings—all in harmony with new exterior colors.

The new De Soto is offered in two series—the Fire Dome V-8, powered by the sensational 160-horsepower Fire Dome engine—America's most powerful engine design—and the famous Powermaster Six. Both series are available with De Soto's Full Power Steering, the famous driving advancement which makes driving safer and easier under all conditions and parking and turning "easy as dialing a telephone."

An exterior highlight of the 1953 De Soto is the massive new grille with new parking lights set at the extreme edges of the grille, underneath the headlights. A chrome frame encircles both grille and parking lights. Wheelbase of the new De Soto has been maintained at 125 1/2 inches, while overall length has been increased from 208 3/8 inches to 213 3/8 inches and overall width from 74 7/8 inches to 76 3/4 inches. The car is one inch lower, but road clearance is unchanged.

Long flowing lines characterize the new De Soto from the smart new grille to the swept back rear fenders set off by handsome new large combination tail, stop and back-up lights.

A curved, one-piece windshield combined with new, narrower corner posts provides greatly increased visibility in the new De Soto. Glass area of the windshield has been greatly increased.

AEC Word On Hydrogen Bomb Reports Is Due

By JACK RUTLEDGE
WASHINGTON, (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission says it will have an announcement, apparently soon, in connection with snow-balling reports the first American hydrogen bomb has been exploded in the South Pacific.

"Vivid eye-witness accounts of a purported 'hell' bomb blast—some said it virtually sank an Eniwetok Island—have been received in uncensored letters from U. S. sailors to friends in this country. An AEC spokesman said yesterday 'we will make an announcement' as soon as the current series of atomic tests is concluded. Until then, he said, 'we will have absolutely no comment.'"

Previously, AEC officials had indicated that for security reasons it might be years before anything would be made public about the new bomb.

Descriptions of the recent explosion—H-bomb or super atomic—agree that it was an awesome thing.

One sailor wrote that he watched the spectacle through binoculars from his ship 30 miles away. He saw a great chunk of one of the Eniwetok atolls "just seem to melt away" in the fire that burned for six hours after the blast.

Finally, he said, the entire mile-wide atoll "actually disappeared."

Several eye-witness accounts have been published in recent days in Los Angeles, Lima, O., Michigan City, Ind., and Salt Lake City.

Negro Awaiting Sentence For Assault On Girl By 'Leering'

YANCEYVILLE, N. C. (AP)—A 45-year-old Negro awaited sentence today after his second conviction on a charge of assaulting a white girl by "leering" at her.

An all-white, male Superior Court Jury convicted tenant farmer Ma k Ingram of the crime yesterday. Judge Frank Armstrong planned to sentence him today. The maximum would be a two-year road term. Ingram, father of nine children, received this sentence on a Recorder's Court conviction shortly after he was accused by the girl. He appealed the conviction.

Ingram was charged with assaulting Mrs. Willie Jean Boswell Webster, an attractive 17-year-old farm girl in June, 1951. The girl, unmarried then, testified that Ingram "eyed" her from a distance of "about 75 feet." She also accused him of chasing her across a field on her father's farm, but said he did not get "within 65 feet of her."

Under North Carolina law no bodily contact is necessary for conviction of assault. The jury, in holding Ingram guilty, upheld a state contention that by "leering" at the girl, he frightened her and thus committed assault.

Ingram's attorneys declined to offer testimony in his defense, but at an earlier hearing the defendant denied he had criminal intentions. Ingram told officers the girl was dressed in a shirt and jeans and "looked like a boy" when he attempted to inquire of her where he could borrow a trailer.

Ingram's attorneys said before the trial that they would appeal any conviction to the State Supreme Court. Mrs. Webster, who married Ernest Webster the day before Ingram was first convicted and who now is the mother of a six-month-old baby, told the jury she looked

Mitchell Suggests Adlai Take A Rest Before TV Shows

TAOS, N.M. (AP)—The chairman of the Democratic National Committee suggests Adlai Stevenson be given a chance to rest before being asked to make monthly radio-TV talks.

Stephen A. Mitchell, who arrived yesterday "to go deer hunting, rest and relax" from general election campaigning, said:

"In due time, we will talk over the possibility of Gov. Stevenson making such appearances. It all depends on Gov. Stevenson's plans. We have been very much impressed by the breadth and extent of interest shown in the possibility of continuing to hear from the governor."

Earlier, Stevenson's press aide in Springfield, Ill., said the governor had no comment and does not intend to lay plans until his term is up the end of the year.

Among Pennsylvania mineral products are gold, lime, iron ore, natural gas, peat, petroleum, silver, copper, graphite, mica, soapstone and building stone.

Swift Decision To Be Asked On Price Controls

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Sen. Capehart (R-Ind.) said today he will seek a swift decision by Congress next year on the fate of wage and price controls.

Capehart is slated to head the Senate Banking Committee which handles controls legislation in that chamber.

From his home in Indianapolis, he told a reporter in a telephone interview he will seek agreement with the House Banking Committee "to dispose of this important problem just as early in the next session of Congress as possible."

Authority to retain federal curbs on wages and prices will expire April 30 unless Congress extends it.

Capehart said the Senate-House Defense Production Committee has been called to meet here Nov. 19. He expects this group, of which he is a member, will get a report from Price Stabilizer Tighe E. Woods on surveys made by Woods of consumer views on the need for continued price controls.

The Defense Production Act, which provides the authority for economic controls including those in wages, prices, rents and credit, was designed as a brake on inflation.

President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower pledged in his campaign that inflation control would be one of his major concerns.

Capehart said he hopes the Senate Banking Committee will begin taking testimony "not later than Feb. 1" on the Defense Production Act.

New 'Red Tide' Is Feared Off Florida Coast

CORT MYERS Fla.—Fears were expressed today that a new "red tide" has returned to Gulf of Mexico waters off the Southwest Florida Coast, bringing death to millions of fish.

The "red tide" infestation took a heavy toll of fish in these waters a few years ago. Scientists said it apparently was caused by an organism in the gills.

Shrimp boat skippers returning from Dry Tortugas and Campeche, Mexico, reported the dead fish from 70 miles out all the way to Fort Myers beach.

"They were packed solid 10 miles out," said Capt. Gordon Ford of the shrimp boat Lucky Star. "We first started seeing them about 70 miles out. They got thicker as we made it to 20 and at 10 miles we were really pushing through them."

The Lucky Star came from Campeche. Similar word came from Capt. Bob Sadler of the shrimp boat Savannah, arriving from Dry Tortugas.

Sadler said most of the dead fish were poogies, grouper and fish from a few miles north of Dry Tortugas to Fort Myers beach.

Residents of Sanibel Island reported a dark-brown discoloration of water off the island, where thousands of dead fish littered the beaches. Similar water discolorations and many dead fish also were reported by residents on Boca Grande and Captiva Islands off the Southwest Florida Coast.

Doctor Says Too Much Medicine Is Being Prescribed

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A doctor told the convention of General Practitioners that doctors have come to the point "where we are prescribing too much medicine and doing it despite the fact we know too little about the stuff we prescribe and even less about the bodies we are treating."

Dr. William H. Gordon, Lubbock, Tex., heart specialist, made the observation yesterday. He said also that over-exploitation of medicines is increasing unreasonably the cost of medical care.

"I am convinced that all cold vaccines are worthless," Dr. Gordon said. "A large tobacco company recently proved that its employees had fewer colds when given shots of pure water than when given cold shots."

Two Convicts Dead In Attempted Jail Break

TUXTLA GUTIERREZ, Mexico.—Two convicts were killed by machinegun fire yesterday in an attempted break by 24 criminals from the Chiapas State Penitentiary here, in the southeast corner of Mexico.

The other 32 freedom-seekers surrendered or were captured.

The prisoners left the penitentiary through a hole they had bored in a three-foot masonry wall but were trapped in an adjacent cornfield surrounded by barbed wire.

URGES BEST AIR DEFENSE POSSIBLE

Nothing Can Prevent Russian Attack On U.S., Doolittle Says

TYLER, Nov. 12 (AP)—Gen. James Doolittle says the United States must have the best air defense possible but adds that nothing he knows of would make the country safe from Russian attack.

The World War II commander who bombed Tokyo in a token raid early in the struggle was the principal speaker at an Armistice Day pageant in the Tyler High School auditorium last night.

He emphasized that the defense effort now and future planning must be aimed at U. S. bombers and complementary facilities necessary to knock out enemy air bases from which attacks on this country might spring.

"Full advantage of every breakthrough of science into new fields of knowledge" should be used for American defense, Doolittle said, adding that our defenses against A-bomb attack should be stepped up, including production and continual improvement of anti-aircraft guided-missiles and the radar warning network.

Doolittle, now serving as special civilian assistant on research and development to Air Chief of Staff Hoyt Vandenberg, has retired from the Air Force.

In one of the sharpest warnings of possible air attack in recent months, the famed Tokyo bomber said:

"We must have the best practicable air defense that science can develop in order to minimize our own losses, but we must not unduly jeopardize our offensive capability—our Strategic Air Force—by diverting too great a part of our always limited military budget to defense. x x x We cannot deter an aggressor from starting a war nor win a war if started through defensive strength alone—no matter how much of our substance we spend on it.

"As to air defense," Doolittle said, "Gen. Vandenberg estimated a year or so ago that we could knock down no more than 30 per cent of an enemy bomber force making a determined attack upon this country.

"With enough supersonic interceptors and anti-aircraft guided missiles and improved early warnings, we could probably do far better than that in the future—provided the attacking force had not also been greatly improved over that which the Soviet Union is known to have today.

"Unfortunately, nothing I have seen on the scientific horizon offers an absolute—and impregnable—home defense against either the USSR's present bombers and submarines (to launch guided missiles) now, or against the supersonic bombers, long-range guided missiles and submarines that she may send against us in the future.

"If the Soviets develop anti-aircraft missiles for close-in defense of their critical areas, then we must have ready supersonic bombers, long-range guided missiles, or perhaps bombers that can remain outside heavily defended areas and fire supersonic guided missiles at them."

Doolittle, who arrived in Tyler Monday night, had a busy 24 hours in the East Texas rose capital. Besides his address, he was a guest at a Shrine ceremonial and was made honorary mayor and citizen of the town.

Ike Can't Go To Meet Of Governors

AUGUSTA, Ga., Nov. 12 (AP)—Dwight Eisenhower has notified Gov. Allan Shivers that he won't be able to attend the Southern Governors Conference at New Orleans starting Sunday.

The President-elect said yesterday he plans to leave Augusta Sunday morning. He told Shivers he faces a heavy work schedule thereafter.

The general probably will go to New York and return to Washington to confer with President Truman.

Eisenhower carried Texas in the general election and he told Shivers in his telegram: "You were one of the Southern governors who paid me the great compliment of advocating my election. I would like personally to express my deep appreciation to you and the people of the Southern States through their governors."

The tribal fathers turned over the symbols of authority to 17-year-old Jimmie Rhoad in a formal ceremony yesterday. The program that went with the ceremony had a 20th century touch.

John H. White Eagle, a Lake Delton, Wis., tenor, sang such numbers as "Stout-Hearted Men" and "My Wild Irish Rose."

Finances Of Judges To Be Probed In NY

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—The finances of several present and former judges will come under scrutiny of the State Crime Commission at its public hearings resuming here tomorrow, it was reported today.

Published reports said the commission for the past 13 months has been probing tieups between politicians, the underworld and state and city judges.

The New York Daily News said the commission has uncovered evidence that:

A State Supreme Court justice was a silent business partner of a convicted killer, who later was electrocuted.

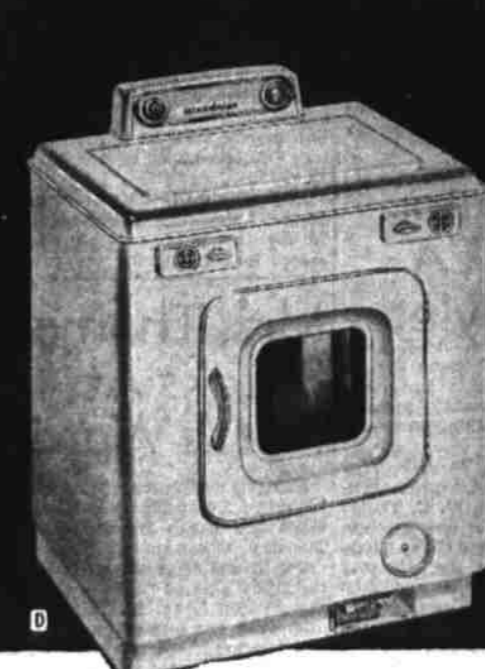

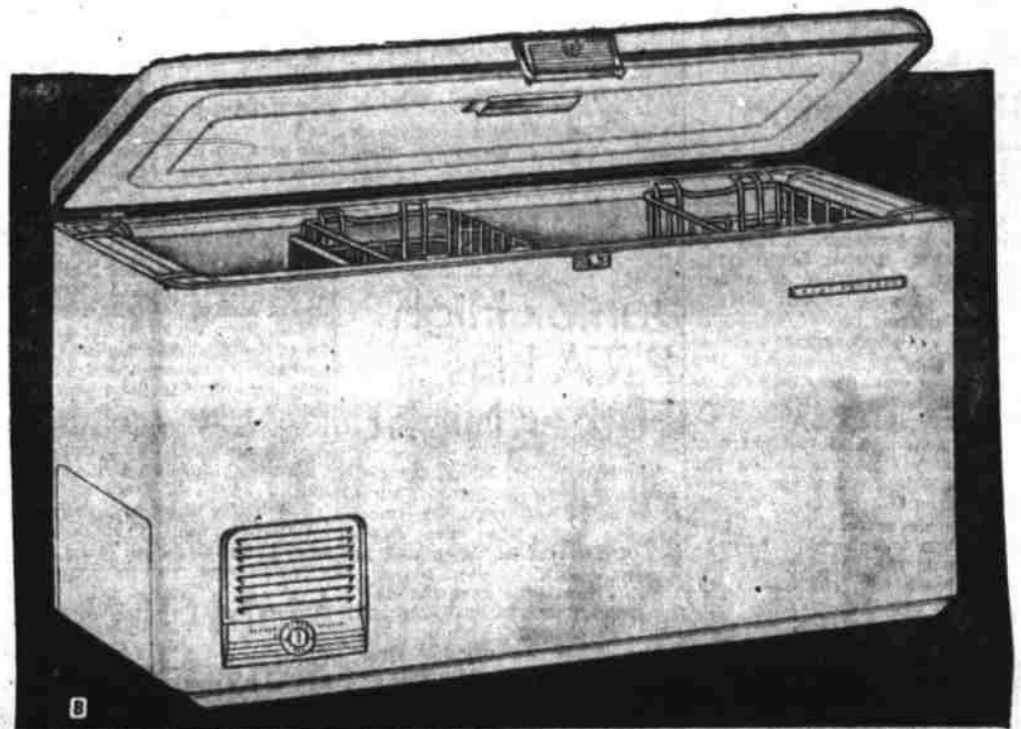

A former Supreme Court justice accumulated a fortune by appointment of receivers and referees through a member of his family.

A municipal court justice got rich in a few years and set up sizable accounts in at least eight banks scattered throughout the nation.

Maid Of Cotton Contest Slated In Lubbock Nov. 24

LUBBOCK — Approximately $1,000 worth of clothes, travel expense and entertainment are waiting for some young lady from West Texas who participates in the South Plains Maid of Cotton contest to be held in Lubbock Nov. 24. But there are only a few days left to enter the pageant. Application blanks must be mailed to contest officials on or before Monday, Nov. 17. As in the past, the winner of the South Plains contest will be one of 20 finalists from cotton-producing states to compete for the national title which carries with it a six-months expense-paid tour to Europe, South America, Canada and the United States. The national Maid of Cotton will be selected in Memphis, Tenn., Dec. 29 and 30. Officials of the South Plains contest are particularly interested in having several young ladies from Big Spring enter this month's contest. Entry blanks are available at contest headquarters, Box 561, Lubbock.

All unmarried girls, between the ages of 19 and 25 inclusive, who are 5 feet 5 inches or taller, and who were born in a cotton-producing state are eligible. The contest committee has pointed out that this is not a beauty contest in the usual sense. The South Plains Maid of Cotton will be selected for her poise, personality, intelligence and appearance. Judging at the Lubbock contest will be on the same basis as will the national finals. The girl selected as the South Plains Maid of Cotton will receive several hundred dollars worth of clothes to wear for the national contest. She will also be provided air transportation to and from Memphis for herself and the chaperon of her choice. During her stay in Memphis she will have all expenses paid. Each finalist receives a screen test; she is given instruction in modeling and posture, newspaper and television cameramen record the judging in pictures; and the girls get to meet many of the leaders of the nation's huge cotton industry.

Editor Backs Right To Publishing Facts

By CHARLES T. BURNS
 BOSTON (AP)—Americans need to be continually reminded that a free people must have the right to get the facts about their government and to publish them without fear of "savage and unfair reprisal."
 That premise was laid down today by J. Russell Wiggins of the Washington D. C. Post at the annual meeting of The Associated Press Managing Editors Association, opening a four-day session in the Sheraton-Plaza Hotel.
 Some 250 AP editors from all parts of the nation are attending the sessions which are analyzing the AP's methods of handling news. Wiggins, chairman of the APME Committee on Freedom of Information, added these rights:
 "To publish them (government facts) without prior restraint or censorship."
 "Access to facilities for disseminating these facts; and
 "To distribute these facts to others."
 The Washington editor declared a "courageous, enlightened and informed press" is the most effective instrument for obtaining these rights.
 "Newspaper men must carry to this fight the best available information on the long struggle to establish and maintain access to the transactions of government indispensable to a democratic people."
 "This association has been and can be of some help in this struggle. It is not a fight, however, that can be won at any one time or in any one place."
 "It must be prosecuted every time the right to know is challenged and in every place that it is obstructed."

 Wiggins criticized military authorities for "postponing" publication of casualties "of military or civilian employees of the defense establishment in the zone of the interior in time of peace."
 "The practice of the defense establishment of deferring for 12 hours beyond the notification of next of kin of victims of accidents," he said, "is a unilateral assertion of the right to withhold information."

UNESCO Membership Is Sought By Spain; Bitter Fight Is Seen

PARIS, Nov. 12 (AP)—Spain made a bid for closer co-operation with the rest of Europe today as the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) opened its annual conference.
 Applying for UNESCO membership along with Spain were the new, U. N. sponsored state of Libya and the Himalayan kingdom of Nepal. To win membership, they must be approved by a two-thirds majority.
 No opposition was expected for Libya or Nepal but Spain's application may provoke a bitter fight.
 Some delegates are understood to feel that admitting Spain to UNESCO would be the first step in putting Generalissimo Francisco Franco's regime in the U. N. itself—something which these delegates bitterly oppose.

VICE PRESIDENTS MEET

CIO Aides Debate Murray Successor

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 12 (AP)—Strategy making vice presidents of the CIO closed themselves in a hotel today to charter the future of the big six million-member union.
 Saddened by the death of CIO President Philip Murray, the nine CIO vice presidents met with Allan S. Haywood, CIO executive vice president.
 Counsel, department heads and various experts accompanied the group into the meeting room. There was little comment available at the meeting's start but CIO Vice President James B. Carey, who also heads the International Union of Electrical Workers, said:
 "We'll have something to say around noon."
 The meeting is the first important CIO session without the guiding hand of Murray who died Sunday in San Francisco while arranging for the annual CIO convention in Los Angeles Nov. 17.
 The immediate question which the nine vice presidents must decide is whether to postpone the convention. Then they will take up the problem of how to go about naming a successor to their esteemed president.
 There is little likelihood the convention will be held as scheduled. However, top union lieutenants have given indication they want the business at hand cleaned up by the end of the year.

 The Executive Board of the 1 1/2-million-member CIO United Auto Workers already is on record favoring postponement of the convention. The board said the resolution is out of respect to Murray.
 Walter P. Reuther, president of the auto workers, one of the possible choices as president, has gone to Pittsburgh for consideration.
 Indications are the convention will be moved to the East and held up for a couple of weeks—a month at the longest.
 The vice presidents' decision will be presented for ratification by the 46-man CIO Executive Board which meets in Pittsburgh Friday. Approval is a foregone conclusion.
 The Executive Board is composed of the nine vice presidents, plus elected representatives from the numerous CIO unions.
 Murray's successor will be elected at the convention, but any board suggestion will carry much weight.
 Reuther arrived in Pittsburgh last night, but he had nothing to say about seeking the job of union president.
 Others prominently mentioned for the post are James B. Carey, 41, president of the electrical workers, and Allan Haywood, 66-year-old CIO executive vice president. Reuther and Carey are vice presidents.
 Any one of the other six vice presidents could be considered possible choices. They are:
 Emil Rieve of the textile workers; L. S. Buckmaster of the rubber workers; Joseph A. Beirne, communication workers; Joseph Curran, maritime workers; Michael Quill, transport workers; Frank Rosenblum clothing workers and O. A. Knight, oil workers.
 The funeral home where Murray's body is lying in state said a steady stream of persons from all walks of life passed the CIO leader's casket yesterday.
 A requiem high Mass will be sung at 11 a. m. EST tomorrow in St. Paul's Cathedral.
 Burial will be in St. Anne's Cemetery at nearby Castle Shannon, a one-time mining community.

Nothing To Fear From Military, Bradley Notes

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—Gen. Omar Bradley said today "we have nothing to fear from military men" dominating the government.
 The chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff who served with Dwight D. Eisenhower when the President-elect also was a five-star general made no reference to the latter's election last week.
 In an address prepared for the Association of Land Grant Colleges, Bradley said that: "When the people of this nation elect their President and the members of their Congress, they are in a sense entrusting to them the power which could spell peace or war, freedom or tyranny, democracy or dictatorship—for the combined authority of the President and the Congress is almost supreme. With that authority goes the complete responsibility for the future."
 "That is why I believe that the military in our government must always keep a subordinate role to the civilian authority and must influence that civilian authority only as helpful advisors."
 "But I can say from personal knowledge, and 40 years of experience, that we have nothing to fear from military men themselves. Their role in our national life, even in times of war and international stress, is far from dominant."
 "In our armed forces, the democratic principle is stronger than in any other country. There are no military cliques."

Afternoon Paper To Print Despite Morning Walkout

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 12 (AP)—Printers in the afternoon Alabama Journal went to work under a temporary agreement today after a work stoppage on the jointly owned morning Montgomery Advertiser.
 Details of the agreement weren't immediately available. It was uncertain whether it would affect the night staff of the composing room which left the building shortly after reporting for duty last night.
 The 7 a. m. starting time for the dayside found the Journal printers outside the building, but they went to work after a conference with Assistant Publisher R. F. Hudson Jr.
 Both Advertiser and Journal composing room employees are members of the International Typographical Union (AFL).
 Hudson called the Advertiser work stoppage a strike, but a union spokesman said the men were "locked out."
 Non-union employees set type and got the paper out, an hour and 20 minutes behind deadline. A company spokesman quoted workmen as saying they wouldn't resume work until "we (the management) had settled with a (wage) scale committee regarding a contract which doesn't expire until Nov. 28."

Denison Seeks Ike Birthplace As U.S. Shrine

DENISON, Nov. 12 (AP)—The Denison Herald wants to share President-elect Eisenhower's birthplace with the rest of Texas.

Taking a tip from a Dallas man, V. W. Fuller, who chipped in a dollar in a letter to the newspaper, the Herald offered in a Page One editorial to sponsor a state-wide collection "for the proper development of the Eisenhower birthplace as a national shrine."

Fuller wrote: "Why not let the friends of our President-elect have a part in financing the 'making into a shrine the birthplace of Texas' only son to be elected President of the United States?"

"The school kids would get a great kick out of sending in their pennies and dimes," he added.
 "The establishment and maintenance of the Eisenhower home as a public institution," said the Herald editorial, "has been a Denison project thus far. . . . Now, however, the project has expanded beyond that scope, both in financing required and in the expression to be represented."

Fred Conn, publisher of the newspaper, spearheaded a drive in 1946 which raised money to buy the property on which Eisenhower's birthplace is located near the Katy Railroad Yards here. Given to the city, the shrine has been maintained since that time by civic organizations.
 "The idea would be not to put as much stress on big donations as on small contributions from the largest possible number of Texas men, women and children with the view of making the shrine truly representative of the people of the Lone Star State," the editorial concluded.

LONG TIME TO ATTEND FETE

STAMFORD, Nov. 12 (AP)—The Rev. W. R. Underwood, retired Baptist minister, today attended the golden wedding celebration of the first couple he married.
 The couple is the Rev. E. E. Dawson, also a retired Baptist minister, and his wife, who was Nora Hooser before their marriage in a country church near Frost, Nov. 12, 1902.
 Both men were then students at Baylor University and were licensed preachers.
 The anniversary celebration was held at the First Baptist Church in Carlton. Mrs. Underwood accompanied her husband.

Parity Wool Tariff Urged At Sheep And Goat Meeting

SAN ANGELO, Nov. 12 (AP)—A parity wool tariff to protect both taxpayers and ranchmen was advocated before the 37th Annual Texas Sheep & Goat Assn. convention yesterday.

J. M. Jones, executive secretary of the National Wool Growers Assn., also said that foreign wool, which sells in the U. S. below price support levels, undermines the support program and costs the taxpayers.
 Whipping said the present tariff policy is "an international political negotiation in which the State Department trades off our domestic sheep industry with the stroke of a pen."

Wools could not be imported at levels below parity under the program Jones proposed.
 Farmers and ranchmen will have to provide for 200 million pounds by 1975, Deputy Chief J. C. Dykes of the Soil Conservation Service said. He added they will have to increase production by 25 to 33 per cent to do this.
 State Sen. Dorsey B. Hardeman, San Angelo, called for a constitutional amendment which would preclude any treaty from interfering with the domestic laws of this country.
 He said that under the Constitution, treaties can supercede even the Constitution itself. And some proposed United Nations treaties, he warned, might have drastic effects upon personal freedom of Americans.

A Bible Thought For Today—

Fathers are great because of the training they give their children, and the example they set. Abraham's riches soon passed away so far as his cattle and flocks and material possessions are concerned. Abraham was a man of active faith. His vision materialized. "Abraham was a great father of many people; in glory there was none like unto him." — Ecclesiastes 44:19-20.

Passing Of Phillip Murray Could Mean Loss Of Moderation In Talks

Of the many prominent Americans who paid tribute to Phillip Murray, the Scots pit boy who rose to a commanding place in the American labor movement, none were more heartfelt and generous than those that came from the men against whom he had pitted his wits on many occasions down through the years—the heads of the great steel corporations.

He emigrated to the U. S. at 16 with his miner-father and other members of the family, after getting his start in the coal pits at age ten for a wage of 30 cents a day. He rose by successive stages through the labor movement from an assistant to John L. Lewis to the presidency of the steelworkers and the CIO.

He differed from Lewis and other labor leaders by his gentler approach. "Murray was not a table-pounder; he did it simply by persuasion," said Adm. Beu Moreell, head of Jones & Laughlin.

He was also a Catholic and an unrelenting foe of communism.

Murray died a few hours after addressing a regional assembly of steelworkers of the CIO in San Francisco. Characteristically, he reserved comment on the recent election, in which Murray and his CIO supported Stevenson.

There may be a scramble for Murray's place as head of the CIO and of the steelworkers' union. Walter Reuther holds the track for the CIO post.

The soft-spoken Scotsman's influence may be keenly missed, for his successors may try to use a bludgeon where he used persuasion and a friendly attitude. In his last speech he pointed out that the steelworkers were being paid 132.5 per cent more money today than in 1937, even after the rising cost of living is taken into consideration. His moderating influence on more impetuous labor leaders will be missed in future negotiations.

Our Fighting Men Need Blood; You Have It Within Your Power To Give

Let's get to the point of it: Our fighting men need blood to multiply their chances of living if they are wounded in battle.

We have it within our power to supply that blood.

They are having to brave shot and shell, biting cold and unmitigated hell.

We have only to go about our daily tasks.

Some of them give their arms and legs, or maybe an eye, and their lives, too.

Thanks to the promptness with which these fearless GI medics and marine corpsmen bring back the wounded, and thanks to the skill and speed of doctors on the front lines, hundreds upon hundreds are saved.

And no few of them owe their lives to the supply of blood and plasma when it is so desperately needed.

Without it, many who will be coming home wouldn't come at all.

We owe our fighting men a lot more than we can say, and maybe more than within our power to pay.

Here is one simple, direct "heart to heart" contribution to them. Nobody's going to pay you for it. Nobody's going to charge a penny of cost anywhere down the line to see that your blood gets to some kid who must have it.

How can anyone hold back on a thing like this? Of course, there are some who can't, for various health reasons, give blood and there will be those whose blood is unacceptable for honorable reasons, but there are thousands and thousands who could, if they cared enough, give a pint of blood next week.

Why don't you fill in the coupon on the front page today and mail it into the Red Cross chapter or volunteer at the chapter offices?

Truman Popularity Shows Little Change Since June Of This Year

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 12—In its next to last report on President Truman's popularity, the Institute on the eve of last week's election found sentiment divided as follows on the controversial figure in the White House:

"Do you approve or disapprove of the way Truman is handling his job as President?"

Approve ..... 52%
Disapprove ..... 35%
No opinion ..... 13%

This shows virtually no change since the previous test in June, which was as follows:

JUNE 21 REPORT
Approve ..... 52%
Disapprove ..... 35%
No opinion ..... 13%

approval vote in Institute surveys went from 87 per cent down to 32 per cent, then climbed back up to 60 per cent early in 1947.

After his phenomenal triumph at the polls in November, 1948, the Truman popularity shot up to 69 per cent. Then it gradually fell off during 1949 and 1950.

The Korean War which started in June, 1950, at first boosted Truman's popularity. But as the summer of 1950 wore on the curve turned downward again, particularly after Red China entered the fight in November of that year.

From then on the President's popularity never regained the great heights of former years.

The most common criticisms voiced by voters have been: "He is not a big enough man for the job." "He acts too hastily, without stopping to think. He has poor judgment."

Those who approve of Mr. Truman stress his energy and courage. Typical comments: "You've got to admit the man has great courage—the courage of his convictions." "He does what he thinks is right and never flinches. You've got to hand it to him."

Trend in Popularity

The following table shows the wide swings in popularity since 1945:

Joe Cotton Readily Concedes That Marilyn Monroe Is Sexy

NEW YORK—The very dapper Joseph Cotton is in Gotham for a fortnight and looking in the best of shape after completing a movie called "Niagara" co-starring Marilyn Monroe, a lady who shapes up pretty well herself.

Before that there was "The Steel Trap" with Teresa Wright, also for 20th-Century Fox. And now the deep, resonant voice of busy Joe Cotton is recording 13 shows of "The Private Affairs of Dr. Matthew Bell" for the Mutual radio network.

Joe is one of those lucky guys whose suave mature charm devastates the teenage set and at the same time also seems to make him somewhat of a "Grandma's delight." This became apparent when young girls would ask his autograph saying "You're my mother's favorite actor." And sometimes mama would approach sheepishly for an autograph "for my daughter."

Cotton has played opposite many of the screen's glamor gals—Colbert, Davis,

Young, Fontaine among them—since he hit stardom on Broadway about a dozen years ago with Katherine Hepburn in "The Philadelphia Story." In several films, notably the sensational "Duel in the Sun," he co-starred with Jennifer Jones. This naturally caused him no misgivings at all until one day at the Paris airport he encountered a woman who stared at him.

"No, don't tell me—I know I've seen you before," she said. "Why, I know, you're the one in the Jennifer Jones pictures!"

The conversation got around, inevitably, to the Joseph Cotton idea of a sexy girl. "Not all girls who meet the standard of beauty are sexy. Deciding whether a girl is sexy is an instinctive reaction. I need no yardstick," he smiled. He readily conceded that in Monroe was indeed sexy. "I could tell that as soon as I saw her photograph when we were casting for 'Niagara'."

Number One Issue Of Korea Now Top Problem For The New Administration

By ARTHURS EDSON
(For James Marlow)

WASHINGTON (AP)—As the presidential campaign moved into its final weeks, the Republicans made the Korean War their No. 1 issue.

Democratic blundering, the Republicans said, led to — and prolonged — the war.

"I shall go to Korea," Dwight D. Eisenhower said, and seek an early and honorable end to the fighting.

A cheap attempt to play politics with peace, the Democrats replied.

Who was right and who was wrong isn't so important now. What is important is this: The No. 1 issue now turns into the No. 1 problem for the new administration.

With a more vivid picture.

"It would be dishonor," Churchill said, "to send thousands of helpless prisoners of war back by force to be massacred by the Chinese government, which boasts it has actually rid itself of two millions of its own people."

The U.N. stalemate was emphasized further by the resignation of Trygve Lie, its secretary general. Lie long had been in the Soviet doghouse because he called the North Korean invasion a Communist aggression.

He said he hoped his resignation would help save the U. N. But since the U. S., Russia, Britain, France and Nationalist China must agree on a successor — at a time when they haven't been able to agree on the time of day — Lie's hope looks like a long shot bet.

Whether Eisenhower will pick up anything in Korea that may lead to a solution of his No. 1 problem remains to be seen.

But the man on the spot, Gen. James A. Van Fleet, commander of the Eighth Army in Korea, has said he's sure the trip will help the President-elect.

Notebook — Hal Boyle

If Boyle Is Born Again, He Wants To Sing Operas

BOLOGNA, Italy (AP)—In the golden world of opera there is an old fond saying:

"All singers are crazy—and tenors are the worst."

Not being much of an opera fan myself, I always low-rated tenors, regarding them as a kind of high-barking he-soprano.

That was before I met Giuseppe Di Stefano, who is built like a full-back and is rated by some to have the best voice to come out of Italy since Caruso used to pitch high notes that would break a window.

At 31, Giuseppe—who doesn't mind being called Joe or Beppo or Beppi or any other nickname—is a leading tenor in the Metropolitan Opera in New York and a favorite here and in half a dozen other lands. It is hard to see how the movies have overlooked him, as the lady fans of long-hair music think he is as handsome as the late Rudolph Valentino.

had a voice box the world needed. He worked like a draft horse through hungry years on that voice, tuning it like a violin. After he made his debut at La Scala, the Milan opera house that has been a springboard to greatness for so many singers, there were no more food problems for Joe.

Frances and I and Dr. Anson Clark, a Lubbock, Tex., oilman visited Joe in the new villa he is finishing at Marina di Ravenna, a seashore resort.

I decided right then that if I am ever born again, I want to be an opera tenor. He is a king in his world: When Joe lifts his head, his mama and his pretty young wife, Maria, come running on the double to see what the great man wants. So do his lawyer, his secretary, his gardener, his houseman—and all their families. A tenor, like a matador or a ring champion, is always surrounded by a retinue of retainers, admirers or strangers who just dropped in for a free meal.

His swift and glittering rise from poverty has given Joe a gusty appreciation of the fruits of success but left him ruggedly unspoiled.

"Some people go through this world on a first class ticket, some on a second class ticket, but most get only a third class ticket," he said. "I was born with a fourth class ticket in my mouth and I have never forgotten it."

The son of a Sicilian policeman, Joe looked forward dimly at 17 to someone discovered the big kid who fell asleep.

We attended the christening of little Giuseppe Jr., who was baptized in a small font near the tomb where Dante was buried. A baptism is a big thing in an Italian family and some 60 of Joe's friends drove hundreds of miles to see little Joe get off to a good start in life. There were buckets of champagne, trays loaded with refreshments and it was a wonderful party for everybody but Joe Jr., who fell asleep.

Tough Characters Should Fear Not The Tougher But The Meeker

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald.—Editor's Note.

One of the patent formulae for western thrillers is for the big bad man to get bigger and badder until he meets up with the hero, after suffering the pangs of humiliation, rises up in the climax to prove he is gooder and quicker on the draw.

While I never actually saw gun play, I can remember some of the tales of my boyhood in isolated western settlements. The formula of the bad tough man running head on into the tougher man didn't seem to hold good in particular.

There was the occasion when a bank had been robbed and two men rode off to the south, clipping the only telephone wires to the outside world. They made a clean get away. Among the natives, it was generally accepted that the toughest man in the parts and a less bold but equally wicked covey, had done the job. While the good people dared only to whisper this one man spoke out boldly: The tough guy got wind of it and prosaically worked the head of our hero over with a beer bottle.

It was these same two who later came to the realization that their neighbors, from whom they had stolen cattle so long with apparent immunity, had dared to bring in inspectors from the cattle association. These inspectors didn't scare, so the two must have concluded it would be easier to beat a murder rap, if needs be, than to face the wrath of a jury over the cattle thefts. Anyhow, one evening the day before the trial was to start, the door of the small hotel swung open ever so slightly, a gun barrel poked through and shots rang out. The two inspectors slumped over dead.

Hearing the shots, the wife of one of the inspectors grabbed up a tiny pistol from her upstairs room, ran to the stairway and fired down. Her hunch was right and her character on the belt, and as it turned out, it was the fear of the wound that led them to give themselves up: So the big bad men were brought in not by tougher men, but by a housewife.

In another place, there was a man who had battered and shot his way to an undeniable position of dominance. There just wasn't anyone who had a hankering to stand up to him. One day this man got it straight in the belly. A mild mannered man whom he never suspected would even have a gun, whipped out a pistol and fired out of mortal fear.

Then there was the occasion when certain ranchers, having failed of persuasion, resorted to the early day practice of boldly riding the nesters off the range. Recognizing the futility of it and thinking twice about their families, the nesters most always retreated from their stake. The pattern wasn't too different this time, only in his flight the nester fired a shot back at his pursuers. It slammed into the cartridge belt of an adversary, and the community observed a funeral. "Blessed are the meek," they shall whittle the mighty down to size.

—JOE PICKLE.

These Days—George Sokolsky

Soviet Uses 'Crisis' To Gain Destruction Of Its Enemies

The United States is spending $56,000,000,000 on this war; all of Western Europe, including Great Britain, is to spend $12,000,000,000. In addition, the United States is presenting to the Western European countries $6,000,000,000.

The figures, in no way, represent all the costs of the preparation for war. Into those figures have to go inflation of prices and the economic dislocation of every country in the western world, which becomes a Soviet weapon of war. The greater the dislocation, the sooner what the Russians call the "crisis" will hit the western countries, particularly the United States.

The United States thinks of war and peace in terms of conventional arms, conventional diplomatic relations and conventional treaties. Soviet Russia only employs the conventional when it is useful; it invents new means of achieving an objective, no matter how abhorrent to the rest of the world, when such devices serve its purposes.

efforts in Europe, Africa and Asia. Its budget is based upon a wartime military expenditure and the taxes of the people are on that basis too.

The Marshall Plan was designed to gain allies for the United States in this permanent war by a form of international bribery. The Marshall Plan failed because neither the United States nor our allies grasped what is now beyond doubt true that Soviet Russia viewed the Marshall Plan as an essential aid to Russia for the following reasons:

1. The cost of the Marshall Plan would weigh heavily upon the American economy and therefore would bring on the "crisis" in due course.
2. The stimulation of Western European industry would revive a strong desire for normal east-west trade in Europe, and would therefore give to Soviet Russia and her satellites access to American goods which otherwise could not be available;
3. The Western Powers, as they prospered, would tend to revive ancient jealousies among them, particularly if Great Britain sought to restore a political and economic hegemony over Europe;
4. Ultimately the European powers would turn against the United States, as a result of European prosperity, because the United States cannot absorb the productivity of cheap European labor without increasing unemployment in the United States;
5. Thus far, since 1930, the United States has found no formula for its unemployment problem except war and the preparation of war; therefore, the "crisis" must come to the United States because war is actually more costly and debilitating than unemployment, although not as unpopular.

This has been Russian guiding reasoning for many years. The United States has not developed a counter-policy, but has met immediate challenges by spontaneous reactions. This, the Marshall-Acheson method, is now generally accepted as bankrupt and was not defended in any important manner by the Democrats during the campaign.

It is this policy which requires immediate revision, accompanied by a decision to wrest the initiative from Soviet Russia. It will take a Talleyrand or a Disraeli to accomplish this; yet, less than that can be fatal.

Thus the "crisis" is a device of war. It is a means of achieving the destruction of a people's will to resist without the enemy firing a shot in a war. In Soviet theory, the "crisis" can achieve this end at a cost to Russia, the objective enemy even paying for his own destruction. Such a diabolical idea is altogether feasible.

The British are at this moment going through a "crisis," the result of which could be that the successor to Winston Churchill may be Aneurin Bevan, a Marxist whose position is, at present, more Titoist than Stalinist; that is, he would accept much of the Soviet system but without sacrificing nationalism, and at a slower pace. The distinction is less important than it sounds.

I believe it was Professor Carl Wittfogel who once put it: "If it walks like a duck, quacks like a duck, looks like a duck, it is a duck."

The "crisis" used to be a simple depression in the economy of a nation; now it is a device to bleed a country white by forcing it into the state of permanent war — by forcing upon it the cost of maintaining a state of war in a period of actual peace.

For instance, the United States regards itself at peace now; yet it has about 3,500,000 men under arms; it is actually fighting a war in Korea; it is involved in warfare

Pulitzer Was Also Cavalryman

A tall, thin boy stood in City Hall Park, New York City, 88 years ago. He was Joseph Pulitzer, then 17 years of age. He was waiting his turn to sign up as a soldier in the Union army, late in the American Civil War. He had lately come from Europe, and could speak little English.

Some writers have described young Pulitzer as "a poor immigrant," but that is true only in a sense. He was poor at the moment of which I speak, owning little except the clothes on his back, but he had grown up in a well-to-do family in Hungary, his native land. His father—partly of Hungarian and partly of Jewish stock—had been a successful grain merchant. His mother, a beautiful woman, is recorded as having been "of Austro-German descent."

Joseph received an excellent education in Hungary, but his father died, and within a few years his mother married again. The boy found little enjoyment in life with his stepfather, and left home in the midst of his teens. He wanted to be a soldier, and seems to have cared little about which army he joined. After failing to be accepted by three armies in Europe (Austrian, French and British) he crossed the Atlantic.

The young fellow—at least six feet tall at the time—was admitted to a cavalry regiment, and soon was in active service. The war dragged on hardly half a year longer, and when it closed he found himself free to build up his career.

What was his career to be? Joseph had little idea of how to answer that question. After his return to New York he felt the pressing need of earning a living, but a job was hard to get. His everyday speech in Hungary had been German, and he found it hard to use English freely.

Friends of the youth told him about St.

Louis, where thousands of persons from Germany had gone to settle. This knowledge gave him the idea that he might succeed better in the middle western city. We are told that he managed to sell "a fine silk handkerchief" in New York for the sum of 75 cents. This money he used to buy food during his westward journey.

This Day In Texas

By CURTIS BISHOP

Waco citizens on this day in 1912 sadly surveyed the fire-gutted ruins of what had once been Texas Christian University and knew that the conflagration had destroyed any chance of using the building again.

A similar disaster two years before had caused the demise of TCU as a Waco institution. After that fire officials of TCU had received several inviting offers when they started looking for help in making a fresh start. Waco citizens, hearty in tone but vague with their promises, could raise only $40,000. Fifty acres of land and $200,000 in cash persuaded the trustees to move their school to Fort Worth.

TCU had begun its existence as Add-Ran College in Thorp Springs in Johnson County in 1873. The school moved to Waco in 1895, after Waco Female College closed its doors. Its first seven years in the new location were lean indeed, but business picked up from 1902 on, until the 1910 fire destroyed virtually all the TCU property.

After the first fire Waco tried numerous schemes to use the TCU building, which had been partially repaired. None of them worked. After the second fire a real estate firm bought the property for $38,000 and subdivided it as residential property.

THE UNSEEN AUDIENCE

NEWS WHERE IT HAPPENS

Newsman Ready To Leave Miss. After Threats

TUPELO, Miss. (AP)—A 26-year-old newsman and his pretty blonde wife, under constant police guard, prepared to leave here today a few hours ahead of a 6 p.m. ultimatum set by two hooded men.

Newell Anderson, circulation manager of the Tupelo Journal, decided to return to Fargo in his native North Dakota. He told police the men took him for a wild ride in the country Monday night and roughed him up and that one of the men said he "didn't like Yankees around."

George McLean, publisher of the Journal, said Anderson began getting anonymous telephone calls more than two weeks ago telling him, "we don't like foreigners coming in here and you'd better get out of town."

Anderson and his 21-year-old wife came here Oct. 1 from Grand Forks, N.D., where he had worked on the Grand Forks Herald. They were married there last June.

D. B. Crockett, chief of police in this Northeast Mississippi town of 15,000, said he had some clues but could not disclose them now.

"After he (Anderson) leaves, I think it'll blow over," Crockett said.

Anderson said he was unable to identify the men who roughed him up. He said they wore gauze-like hoods of dark material with no eyeholes. They cut off some of his hair and nicked his face with a razor, the newsman added.

McLean said the cuts were like deep scratches and that the men also slapped him around.

Mayor G. F. Maynard said that he was puzzled by the incident.

"The young man lives across the street from me and from all reports he is a fine young fellow and came here, with good recommendations," Maynard said. "We can't understand why he should be singled out."

"It is not typical of our community and we don't stand for that sort of prejudice."

Hiss May Hear In 2-3 Weeks About Parole

LEWISBURG, PA. (AP)—Alger Hiss, serving a five-year prison term here for perjury, may hear within two or three weeks whether he will be paroled.

Hiss becomes eligible for parole on Nov. 21 when he will have completed one-third of his term at the Northeastern Federal Penitentiary.

Dr. George G. Killinger, chairman of the U. S. Parole Board, today began interviews of prisoners applying for parole. He said, however, there was no chance of reaching Hiss' case today.

"I will interview Hiss personally by tomorrow or Friday," Killinger told a newsman.

Killinger said transcripts of all parole interviews will be sent to Washington for consideration by the full five-member board. To win a parole, the application must be approved by three of the five board members.

Hiss, 47-year-old former State Department official, was convicted of perjury in 1950 on the basis of his sworn testimony that he never gave government secrets to Whitaker Chambers, admitted one-time courier for a Communist spy ring.

First-Hand Knowledge

Former Lieutenant Dewey Clark (above), who evacuated wounded by helicopter in Korea, is helping to spark the blood donor campaign opening here Monday by personal testimonials of the need of whole blood and plasma. "You just can't realize how much that blood is needed in Korea and the vast amount of lives it is saving," he said.

Korean 'Copter Pilot Reveals How Blood Saves Lives Of Men

Three months in Korea as a helicopter pilot have given Lt. L. Dewey Clark of Forsan an inside story on the situation there and especially the job that American blood is playing in saving hundreds of lives.

Lt. Clark, who just returned from Korea on Oct. 22, piloted a Sikorsky H-5 'copter. The helicopter is used extensively in Korea as a rescue method, both for pinned-down troops and downed pilots, as well as an evacuating wounded.

The lieutenant was attached to a Mobile Army Surgery Hospital. Approximately five miles from MASH is the front line, and 1,000 yards behind the line is the battalion aid station. It was Lt. Clark's job to fly from MASH to the aid station and return with the wounded men.

Only the very critically wounded troops were flown back in this manner—the men who were so shot up that their lives were limited to hours or even minutes without blood and surgery. A radio call sent lieutenant and an Air Force medic whirring off to the front lines.

"The round trip to and from MASH took about 30 minutes," said Clark.

The 'copters fly about 65 mph and literally hug the ground. "We always flew below the level of the lowest hill, which usually meant around 50 feet off the ground," added Lt. Clark. "We'd just fly along the contour of the hills and really hug that ground."

The importance of this was the chance of being spotted by enemy forward observers who could track the plane to the aid station and direct artillery down on it immediately. The Communists have no scruples in things like this.

"You just can't realize how much that blood is needed in Korea, the vast amount of lives it is saving," said Lt. Clark. The helicopter pilot illustrated one of the incidents where whole blood saved a life.

"Blood plasma or whole blood is usually essential when a man has been wounded. If a man is really shot to pieces and has lost a large amount, he needs the whole blood quickly. We were called in to evacuate a man who had only minutes to live," said Lt. Clark.

The pilot continued. "He had been hit by a number of shell fragments and his arm was hanging on, only by a thread. This was a real emergency. This soldier had only a short time to hold on because of blood loss.

"We were flying along and the medic was leaning out of the window to the capsule attached below holding the tubes free for the blood to flow. The two capsules on either side carry a pair of patients much

Award To Murray

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Human Rights Award of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, awarded to Philip Murray, will be presented posthumously next Tuesday.

The CIO chief, who died Sunday of a heart attack, was to have been the principal speaker at the meeting.

like pontoons on a plane," said Lt. Clark.

"The next day I checked in and found two things—the patient's arm had miraculously been saved and his life also. All this can be attributed mainly to the whole blood which kept him alive during our flight and while at the battalion aid station," added the newly returned flyer.

According to Major W. W. Conner, Webb Air Force Base blood project officer, a good percentage of the blood donated in Big Spring will be refrigerated and used as whole blood. "The rest will go into blood plasma," said the major, "and both plasma and whole blood are destined for the boys in Korea."

An interesting sidelight to the story was just how the helicopters rescue a downed pilot 30 or 40 miles inside enemy lines. According to Lt. Clark, the 'copter is accompanied by four to eight fighters giving top cover support and another set giving low cover as well. They draw enemy fire away from the downed pilot.

When they have the artillery and ground fire spotted, they sweep in with machine guns and rockets to clear out Commie troops. Then the 'copter goes in to make the rescue. If the helicopter draws fire, it goes straight up and out, waiting for the fighters to clean up the area once again. Helicopter pilots flying these kind of missions are among the most decorated to come out of the Korean War.

The American Red Cross Blood Drive for Big Spring will run November 17-20. All that are physically able are urged to give.

Chapman Praises Oil Industry's Efforts

CHICAGO, Nov. 12 (AP)—Interior Secretary Chapman today told a general session of the American Petroleum Institute the record of the domestic oil industry is meeting civilian and military needs has been "almost unbelievable."

He said it is essential for the nation to build its defenses now, because the Allies must look to the U.S. for much of what defense they can muster. He added:

"This time around 'too little, too late' could be fatal."

He declared a three-part job now faced the industry:

To insure adequate oil and gas supplies to meet all vital military needs everywhere in the free world; to insure adequate oil and gas supplies for all essential civilian needs; to insure oil and gas supplies available to meet demands of warfare in the event of another war.

Frank M. Porter, Oklahoma City, API president, said, "our existing tax burden, if continued, is certain to destroy the social and economic structure of this country."

"When business and industry cannot retain sufficient profits to cover replacements and maintain production, then the processes of liquidation have set in. This point has actually been reached in many units of industry already. It is only a matter of time, under present tax burdens, when all units of industry will commence to experience such economic decay."

He added: "Our traditional form of government will not be restored until we limit the federal government's access to the public pocket-book and rehabilitate the integrity of state and local government."

Italian Reds Claim 2.5 Million Members

ROME (AP)—Italy's Communist party says it has 2,500,351 members.

Announcing its current membership, the party's vice secretary general, Pietro Secchia, said the enrollment since 1948 has ranged "notwithstanding our opponents' rabid offensive to influence the present situation."

Italy has a total population of 47 million people. In the 1948 general elections the Communists polled seven million votes.

DODGE

would be to secure tax and spending reductions immediately, Dodge said he could not make forecasts now.

Administration officials believe that new appropriations can be reduced in the next Congress, paving the way for the first substantial reductions in the outpouring of government dollars in the latter half of 1954.

Dodge, 61, is a Detroit bank president who has been decorated by President Truman for his services as financial adviser in post-war Germany and Japan. He also is a Republican and former financial adviser to Dwight D. Eisenhower, who will replace Truman in the White House Jan. 20.

His appointment by the President-elect to serve as a personal liaison man with outgoing budget officials is without precedent.

The precise nature of his role may be worked out within the next few days in conferences with Fredrick J. Lawton, President Truman's budget director, who already has cleared out an office and desk for Dodge's use.

Preparation of the budget, a book the size of a metropolitan telephone directory crammed full of detailed figures, already has begun under way for months. Dec. 15 is the deadline to start it through the printing presses, and Jan. 17 is the deadline by law for submission to Congress.

Dodge indicates he will sit in for Eisenhower merely to familiarize himself with the budget.

Administration officials have indicated they will gladly consider any views Dodge would like to express.

In their eyes, here is the broad budget picture Dodge will find as he approaches his job against the background of Eisenhower's campaign pledges to reduce federal spending and taxes, which Eisenhower called "crazy."

Final recommendations by the Budget Bureau for major items such as military services, foreign aid and atomic energy have not been completed. Lesser figures already have cleared the Budget Bureau and have been approved or are awaiting action by President Truman.

For several years, military services have been building toward a production program for planes, tanks, ships, and guns. Officials now expect to reach the peak just before the new fiscal year begins July 1.

Such the next fiscal year is scheduled to be the period of heaviest actual output. The plants have been built, prototypes developed, and contracts let. The only big cuts can be made quickly is to cancel contracts or delay deliveries which still must be paid for eventually.

Not only have commitments already been made for this program, but most of the money already is on hand. Budget officials estimate the federal government will carry over about 80 billion dollars in funds already authorized by Congress but still unspent. All but 11 to 12 billion of this backlog is in the military services.

The Atomic Energy Commission has embarked on a vast expansion program estimated to cost five billion dollars over several years. Only about half a billion of this is to be spent this year. The atomic expansion will hit full stride next fiscal year, with close to two billion planned for expansion work alone.

Total national defense expenditures now run about 58 billion dollars a year. With increased deliveries of hard goods and a two-billion dollar atomic expansion underway next year, chances are that defense spending will increase rather than decrease. Officials say it's too early to estimate what the final figures will be, but a 64-billion dollar defense outlay would not be impossible.

How about cuts in other areas? About 15 billion dollars of annual expenditures are fixed by law—interest on the national debt (a rising expense), veterans benefits, the postal deficit, funds to match states' money for roads and welfare, etc. Cuts are considered impossible or very difficult in most of these fields.

That leaves about five to six billion to operate all other agencies of the government. Some reductions might be possible, but they would be limited as to size. That is the administration outlook. The Eisenhower administration may take a different view. For example, the Committee for Economic Development, an organization sponsored largely by businessmen (Eisenhower is a trustee), has said four billion dollars could be saved by reducing waste and inefficiency in military services and almost three billion could be cut from other agencies by reducing some less essential services.

Nato Forces Moving To New Reich Area

By GEORGE BOULTWOOD MOENCHEN-GLADBACH, Germany (AP)—A brand-new town, with over 5,000 inhabitants, is being built near here as new headquarters of the Northern Army Group, which includes British, Belgian and Dutch divisions and the Second Allied Tactical Air Force, whose fighter and light bomber squadrons come from the same three nations.

The small British naval command which runs the assault landing craft on the Rhine and small naval units in the North German ports also will be housed there.

Staff officers from the three nations and the three services—land, sea and air—will work together as a single team.

Builders are clearing forest in the suburban area and road building has begun. The project, slated to be completed by April 1954, will cost about 34 million dollars. It will be paid for out of occupation costs already provided by the German taxpayers.

The project is to integrate the various service headquarters, now scattered through a series of small towns in Westphalia.

The people of the little Westphalian towns, especially the health resorts of Bad Oeynhausen, Bad Eilsen and Bad Sprollern, are delighted the military at last is going. They want to get back their requisitioned hotels, bath houses, theaters and sports grounds.

Bad Oeynhausen, once the fashionable playground of the Kaiser's court, particularly resented the long military occupation.

But the disclosure that the move was being made to a position west of the Rhine caused adverse German comment that the Allies were "retreating" and preparing to give up all Germany east of the river in case of Russian attack.

British staff officers say that was a wrong inference. The present headquarters, only 100 miles from the Iron Curtain, is in front of most of the troops under its command. It is military nonsense, the staff says, to have the joint

Newspaper Boy Is A Blind One

COWDEN, Ill. (U)—One hundred and forty-two newspapers are delivered in this small town every weekday by a man who can't read them or even see his customers. Esco Dill, 56, and blind for 18 years, makes his rounds with a German shepherd guide dog named Linda.

Each morning since June 1 they have set out with a bundle of copies of the Decatur Herald. Dill collects on Saturdays. He keeps the accounts in his head. He makes deliveries on Sunday, too, and on that day the literacy of man and dog takes one of its most unusual turns.

They pass the church every weekday. But the dog never makes a move toward it.

On Sunday mornings Dill says: "Linda, let's go to church."

And Linda leads the way to the church.

Solon Requests Probe Of Army Draft Methods

ST. LOUIS (U)—Rep. Thomas B. Curtis (R-Mo.) has requested an investigation of the Army's draft methods in protest to the induction of "an ordinary citizen who had a broken back" while baseball star Mickey Mantle was rejected.

Curtis, in a statement released here yesterday, said he had asked for an inquiry into the "consistency" of the Army's system in a letter to Secretary of the Army Frank Pace Jr.

The Missouri congressman did not identify the inductee who had suffered the back injury other than to say he was a St. Louis man drafted last January and now serving at a New Jersey Army base. And while referring to much publicized Mantle case, Curtis said he was not criticizing the young New York Yankee centerfielder. "He probably took his chances with the draft like anybody else," said Curtis.

The 21-year-old Mantle was rejected only recently after a long series of draft examinations. He was found to have a chronic knee injury.

Mantle is married and is supporting his widowed mother, three brothers and a sister. Curtis said that since requesting the inquiry he had learned of another St. Louis draftee who was accepted by the Army although he had suffered a permanent head injury. The Army explained "it could fit the man in" in both cases, Curtis said.

"If the Army says it can fit in such men," demanded Curtis, "why can't it fit in men like Mantle?"

Curtis said the Army already had answered one of his queries concerning the soldier with the injured back. The man's medical history already had been reviewed, Curtis said, and showed "only minimal X-ray changes due to old healed fractures of three vertebrae."

FDR Daughter Is Married In Calif.

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (U)—Anna Roosevelt Boettiger, only daughter of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, and Dr. James A. Halsted were married yesterday.

Attending the Unitarian ceremony at the bridegroom's ranch in the Malibu Mountains were the bride's mother and two brothers, James and Elliott Roosevelt. The couple will reside in Dr. Halsted's home on the grounds of the Veterans Hospital, West Los Angeles. He is a staff physician there and a clinical professor of medicine at the University of California at Los Angeles.

It was the third marriage for the 46-year-old bride. Her previous husbands were Curtis B. Dall and the late John Boettiger. Dr. Halsted, 47, previously was wed to Mrs. Isabella Hopkinson Halsted, now of Milton, Mass.

A high altitude balloon released in New Mexico traveled 7,000 miles and landed in Norway 48 hours later.

Became Russian

Miss Olga Michka, 33-year-old typist, told Senate Internal Security Subcommittee in New York that she gave up her American citizenship to become a Soviet citizen while employed by the United Nations. Miss Michka, who said both her parents were Russian-born, was ousted from her job typing scripts for broadcasts in Russian to the U.S.S.R. for not notifying U. N. officials of her change in citizenship. (AP Wirephoto).

New Skin Sprinkled To Cover Up Burns

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE Associated Press Science Reporter

ST. LOUIS (U)—New skin sprinkled from a salt shaker to cover burns is a prospect raised today in a report to the National Academy of Sciences.

The skin would be quick-frozen, dried under a vacuum, then powdered and stored under vacuum. But the skin would remain alive, able to provide a living cover as a first step in skin-grafting over severe burns.

Blood vessels or other human spare parts might also be kept alive, intact, for years by the same freezing and drying. The possibility is foreseen in success in freeze-drying influenza virus and other tissues, and finding it still alive some time later.

This work was described by Dr.

Donald Greiff, professor of biology at St. Louis University. He used a specially-built apparatus to freeze the virus or tissue with dry ice and acetone, and dry it under low pressure to vaporize the liquid. Cooperating in the project are Drs. Henry Pinkerton, Herman Blumenthal and Masahiro Chiga.

Glycerine is a second possibility for suspended animation of living tissues kept in cold storage. It can act like an anti-freeze to preserve frozen tissues, said Dr. B. J. Layet and P. M. Gehebio of St. Louis University.

Bathing live tissues in glycerine seems to prevent death by preventing formation of a large amount of ice crystals in tissues when they are frozen, the scientists said.

Stevenson Vacation Is Underway Today

The vacation spot is the ranch of Richard Jenkins, an old friend, at Sasabe, Ariz., about 60 miles south of Tucson.

LONG BEACH, Calif. (U)—Mrs. Katie Zehring, who is 97 today, has lived alone for 52 years—and likes it.

Her husband, Wesley Zehring, died in Columbus, Ohio, in 1900.

Quarterback of the Big Spring High School football team and a boy considered a real corner in grid circles is Tommy McAdams, above. Tommy does everything required of a football back, even is active on defense. He and the other Dogies end their season Thursday in a game at Odessa.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Sweetwater's Mustangs, who haven't lived up to expectations as a football power, have yet to lose a game at home or win one on the road. The Ponies have pounced on Levelland, San Angelo and Plainview in their own corral and proved to have little more kick than Sheltlands in road games with Abilene, Odessa, Vernon and Ray of Corpus Christi. The Big Spring Steers figure on seeing that the Mustangs record conforms. They play Sweetwater here Nov. 27.

Good Graves, the Big Spring ex, apparently got a warm reception when he made his debut as head coach of the Plainview Bulldogs last week end.

His team lost to Hobbs, 20-13, but the second biggest crowd of the season—numbering about 2,500—turned out for the engagement. Plainview scored first and gave the New Mexico club a busy evening before finally yielding to a late surge.

L. R. (Dutch) Meyer's book, "Spread Formation Football," a copy of which has reached this desk, is now available to readers in many book stores.

It is published by Prentice-Hall, Inc., of New York.

Nubby Poole, the Frisco High School gridder whose picture adorned these pages recently (because he has only one arm), is playing blocking back for that team in place of a lad who has only one eye. The other boy, John Turner, is out with an injury.

Green Bay's football pros once enjoyed a 41-point quarter against the Detroit Lions. Many a team hasn't scored that many points in a season.

Gary Crosby, Bing's eldest son, has given up football at Stanford University because of excess weight.

Big Spring High School Basketball Coach Wayne Bonner says Carlisle Robinson and Lefty Don Reynolds may turn out to be among the best of them all on the hardwood courts. They're only sophomores.

Bonner is expecting Charles Clark to fill a regular spot in the Steer lineup. Clark is none too robust but he has a soft shot that does the job.

A Class D baseball league was being talked in New Mexico the past season but those who proposed it now think there's little chance it will materialize.

Too much distance between towns, says one observer. Come back in five years, says another.

'BACK OF WEEK'

Homer Smith Wins AP Grid Laurel

By RIP WATSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Homer Smith, Princeton's old fashioned power-plunging fullback, was named Associated Press "Back of the Week" today for his tremendous ability to do the primary thing with a football—namely, run with it. Smith was the top back of last Saturday by simply overpowering Harvard in an awesome display of slam-bang football—a contrast to the slick T-formation quarterbacks and speedy, clever halfbacks who often gain the headlines without being hit hard more than a handful of times in a game.

Starting from the first time Princeton got the ball, Smith ripped through the Harvard line for four touchdowns and 273 yards, the greatest running performance by a major college back this year.

Princeton's first play from scrimmage gave an indication of how the game would progress. Smith, lining up in the fullback slot of Princeton's single-wing offense, took the snap from center, faked a reverse to the circling wingback and was off for the goal 73 yards away. He burst through left tackle, cut back to the right and outran or bowled over anybody who barred his path.

That was how it went all afternoon in Princeton's 41-21 victory over Harvard. Harvard linemen and backs trying in vain to stop No. 33 as he plowed up and down the field. His other touchdowns were on short bursts of eight, ten and four yards, but in between he went 46 yards and 57 yards.

The five-foot ten, 188-pound fullback wound up with an average of 10.5 yards—equal to a first down—for every time he carried the ball. When he wasn't carrying the ball, his bruising blocks paved the way for other Princeton runners to accumulate 489 yards from scrimmage on rushing. He learned the rock 'em and sock 'em football while prepping at Lawrenceville and polished his football education with a year as linebacker on Princeton's defensive platoon last year.

Smith, a good-looking, crew-cut youngster from Omaha, Neb., has been president of the class of 1954 for two years. He also won a letter in track last spring.

He had to be good last Saturday to overshadow the other stars. These included Billy Vessels of Oklahoma who scored three touchdowns before the eyes of the nation's TV fans, and Jack Parker of Mississippi State who had a hand in six touchdowns.

Fred Wyant, West Virginia U. freshman quarterback, tossed a 53-yard touchdown pass in his first intercollegiate game this season.

Schepps Is Out, Court Reveals

CORPUS CHRISTI, Nov. 12 (AP)—There's a franchise in the Gulf Coast Baseball League for sale today in case you're interested. Baseball Operator George Schepps lost his plea for a retrial of a suit in which his baseball park was seized. Dist. Judge Harry M. Carroll overruled the motion.

The park thus becomes the property of the Guaranty Title and Trust Co., which owns the land on which the park is located.

Pres. Howard L. Green of the Gulf Coast League then announced that Schepps' Corpus Christi franchise was automatically forfeited because he hasn't any ball park to play in.

Schepps had hoped to have set aside a judgment which two weeks ago ordered him to get his personal property out of the park within 30 days.

Green said that any individual or group must pay off an estimated $40,000 in debts before professional baseball can be renewed in this city.

Schepps has offered the club debt free for $100,000 but hasn't found any takers.

Green added that anyone acquiring the franchise would not be obligated to pay Schepps for the right to field a team but that he thought that "in all fairness Schepps should be paid an equitable price for the players he has under contract."

B String Game Is Moved Up

The Odessa-Big Spring B string football game, originally scheduled to be played Saturday evening, has been moved forward to 4 p.m. Thursday. It has been announced. The game will be played in Odessa.

Big Spring will be seeking revenge for a 6-0 defeat suffered at the hands of Odessa here Nov. 1.

The game will wind up play for the season. The Dogies have won three games in eight starts.

Michigan State Spartans Favored To Defeat Irish

By ROBERT E. VOGES
EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—The masses of eager young manpower on tap at Michigan State may be the one thing that will overpower Notre Dame Saturday.

"Spirit is wonderful," said one veteran scout who had seen both teams, "but you have to have the horses."

This year Michigan State has the spirit, the incentive, the horses, and the flock of eager ponies.

MSC Coach Biggie Munn has been able to play up to 62 men in a single home game. This is more than Coach Frank Leahy at Notre Dame had out for football this season. That's the main reason Michigan State is favored to whip Notre Dame three years in a row, something that never happened before to a Leahy-coached team.

Munn is also shooting for his 23rd straight victory and one that would almost assure him the mythical national championship.

Notre Dame has bounced back amazingly but observers agree the Irish lack depth. Leahy has an inspired first string but does not have the numbers to meet Michigan State's three-platoon offensive backfield and equal depth in the offensive and defensive lines.

Billies To End Season Friday

KNOTT—The Knott Hill Billies wind up their 1952 six-man football season Friday in Dawson.

The Billies, who defeated Flower Grove in an all-out offensive struggle last week, will be seeking to nail down second place in conference standings.

Knott holds district wins over Courtney, Gail, Loop, Ackerly and Flower Grove. Bill Bolin's team has lost to Courtney and Union. The latter team has already been crowned champion and will represent the league in bi-district play.

Joey DeJohn, Norman Hayes Tangle In Ten-Round Bout

DETROIT (AP)—Joey DeJohn and Norman Hayes will interrupt the middleweight title dreams long enough to meet in a 10-round, nationally-televised fight here tonight.

DeJohn, of Syracuse, N. Y., and Hayes, of Boston, are even choices. Each predicts he'll knock the other out. The fight starts at 10 p.m. EST and will be televised by CBS.

Should Sugar Ray Robinson vacate his middleweight championship by retiring shortly—as many expect he will—DeJohn and Hayes have hopes of a crack at the crown.

Hayes, 20, is a ranking contender but he has been defeated in his last three fights—by Jake LaMotta, Ernie Durando and Lee Sala. DeJohn has fought in pro rings for eight years but eluded national attention until last September, when he knocked out durable Irish Bob Murphy.

The Detroit Tigers drew 441,038 fans to 14 night games at Briggs Stadium this season.

Dallas Texans Set For Three Seasons

Club To Change Hands Shortly

DALLAS, Nov. 12 (AP)—The Dallas Texans, professional National League football team, are set to operate for at least three seasons despite their financial difficulties.

John J. Coyle, Texan trustee-director, said yesterday a new group of owners is prepared to take over the club.

"There are a few loose ends to be tied down but I think that can be done Friday, perhaps sooner," he said.

Coyle's statement followed two closed sessions of directors and stockholders of the club which is fast running out of money.

"No names can be announced now," said Coyle. The new ownership will have "the right kind of dough to operate a professional team and they know how to operate on a business-like basis," he added.

"It was a nice big meeting," Coyle continued, "and I feel real good about it. The plan is so close to fulfillment now that if somebody decided to back out, we still could work it out easily."

Coyle is an investment banker. He said the plan first was approved by present club directors and then given to the stockholders at another meeting.

"The primary interest of everyone was to keep professional football in Dallas," he said. "The stockholders were willing to take their loss to assure that."

No official figures have been disclosed but one source close to the club has estimated it would lose $250,000 this season. Others have set the loss at possibly $150,000.

Coyle at first labeled the incoming owners as "completely new." Under direct questioning, he amended this by saying that "it might be possible for a few of the present stockholders to remain identified with the team." He wouldn't name them.

Sheppard, Randolph Vie In Benefit Go

WICHITA FALLS, Nov. 12 (AP)—Sheppard Air Force Base plays Randolph Air Force Base of San Antonio here Nov. 28 in the Pool Bowl football game.

All proceeds will go to Sheppard Field swimming pool, construction of which is expected to cost nearly $10,000.

The city's civic clubs are co-sponsors of the game.

Shantz Flipper Is Good As New

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The mighty left arm of little Bobby Shantz is out of a cast and as good as new, the 24-year-old pitcher reported to his Philadelphia Athletics bosses.

Shantz, whose left wrist was fractured by a pitched ball served up by Walt Masterson of the Washington Senators last Sept. 23, had a few anxious moments, though, after telling Manager Jimmy Dykes the good news yesterday.

Dykes and General Manager Art Eilers, with a few sly winks, eyed Bobby's healed arm suspiciously and hinted that it might be best for the soup-bone to be X-rayed before getting around to talking contract for 1953.

The conscientious Shantz took the kidding seriously and rushed off to Graduate Hospital to have the arm X-rayed. Physicians said it is in perfect condition. What's more, a physical check-up disclosed Bobby now weighs a hulking 149 pounds, 10 pounds more than at the end of last season.

Price Expects To Face Tough Going In Game

AUSTIN, Nov. 12 (AP)—Anticipating the most fired-up defense they have faced all season when they play TCU Saturday, the Texas Longhorns are drilling hard this week on the timing and faking which has made their offense the best in the Southwest Conference.

Ball possession has been Coach Ed Price's strategy as the Longhorns have moved to four straight conference victories and No. 9 ranking in the Associated Press football poll.

To achieve control of the ball, Texas has developed a fine balance between its ground and aerial attack. Price is trying to hone each of those weapons to its finest edge for the battle at Ft. Worth Saturday, but his hopes probably are pinned strongest on the Texas running game.

"With the wind tunnel they've got in that TCU stadium, you can't count too heavy on passes," commented a Texas follower.

The Longhorns boast the top three ground gainers in the conference, Dick Ochoa, Gib Dawson and Billy Quinn, and leading passing combination, T. Jones to End Tom Stobhanke.

They have made Texas first in their league and 11th nationally in total offense with an average of 371.5 yards per game, or almost 3 yards per play.

TCU should prove just how strong that offense is, for the Horned Frog defense is first in the conference and 10th in the nation at 212 yards per game.

Texas knows a thing or two about defense, also, being second only to TCU in the conference in that department.

Great play by Ends Bill Georges and Carlton Massey, Tackles Charles Petrovich and Marvin Leath and Guard Harley Sewell, All-America candidate, wrecked the SMU attack two weeks ago. Coach Price is counting on a repeat performance against TCU, which figures in attack more similar to SMU's than any other the Longhorns have faced.

Jumping Team Plans To Quit

By ED CORRIGAN
NEW YORK (AP)—The retirement—at least for this year—of the United States international jumping team today threw a monkey wrench into the big Mexican horse show, scheduled to start in Mexico City on Nov. 29.

Arthur McCashin, Bill Steinkraus and Mrs. Carol Durand, the United States jumpers, are going home to their families after the Toronto show next week. That means a wide gap in the international field and Brig. Gen. Alfred G. Tuckerman, president of the National Horse Show, said last night that the United States would not send a team to Mexico.

"We just can't find the horses and riders," said Gen. Tuckerman. "We tried our best for at least four weeks, ever since the team said it would disband, before we finally gave up. Perhaps we could get some riders to go, but they would not be properly trained and owners will not permit unfamiliar riders."

The United States team dominated the international events in the show which ended an eight-day run in Madison Square Garden last night. The Americans won six of the 13 jumping tests to three for Ireland, two for Mexico and one each for France and Canada.

The big event of last night's session was the deciding of the open jumper champion. The title was won by Lariat, owned by Mr. and Mrs. George di Paula of Baltimore. Lariat was the favorite as long as four days ago to beat out All Affre, the defending champion. All Affre still had a chance going into the last event, but he flopped.

Only two winners from last year repeated. They were Competition, owned by Mrs. Loula Long Combs of Lee's Summit, Mo., in the single harness horse class, and Regal Aire, belonging to Jim Endicott of Webster Groves, Mo., in the final harness horse division.

East Texas Will Take Bowl Bid

COMMERCE, Nov. 12 (AP)—East Texas State College today accepted a bid to the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla., New Year's Day.

The decision was unanimous by players on the undefeated football team and by the Athletic Council. As opponent for the Lions has not been selected.

SCOTT AT POSITION

Maynard May Not Play In Vernon

The Big Spring Steers may probably have to do without the services of Doyle Maynard, their speedy half back and punter, in Friday night's game at Vernon.

Maynard injured his leg in a scrimmage last week end and has been hobbling around, since that time. Doyle, whose attitude has often been lauded by the coaching staff, has refused to quit, despite the mishap.

He's limited his workouts to taking laps around the field, however, and looking on as the other lads went through their paces.

Coach Carl Coleman will let Doyle make up his own mind whether or not he plays. Says Carl: "He'll be ready, if anyone could, under the circumstances."

Ted Scott has been running at Doyle's halfback spot and is sure to see a lot of action. Carlisle Robison, one of the team's "48-minute" boys, will probably do most of the punting, although James Holby and Raymond Gilstrap can be called upon to do that chore, in an emergency.

The Steers have eased up in the rough stuff. Coleman doesn't want to take the chance of hurting any more of the lads. He knows he'll need every available hand at Vernon. The locals need a victory Friday night, if they are to remain in the fight for first place in the league.

They've been spending long hours on play and pass rehearsals, however, and much remains to be done between now and Friday morning, when they leave for Vernon.

This is the final road game of the 1952 season for the Big Spring Steers. They close out with Snyder and Sweetwater, however.

Coach Coleman is hoping for a still, dry, not-too-cold evening. He figures his attack will function better, under such conditions.

Weslaco Clinches 32-AA Title With 7-6 Victory

By The Associated Press
Thirteen district championships have been determined and many more will be decided this week in Texas schoolboy football.

Weslaco became the latest to post a district title. It defeated Donna, 7-6, yesterday to clinch the championship of District 32 in Class AA.

Previously decided were:
Class AA—Huntsville, District

30; Bay City, District 26; Arkansas Pass, District 31.

Class A — Clifton, District 11; Lancaster, District 12; Honey Grove, District 13; White Oak, District 16; Newton, District 18; Groveton, District 19; Smithville, District 24; Taft, District 30; Lyford, District 32.

Some district champions in the upper classes can be determined this week. For instance, Wichita Falls could sew up the District 4 title in Class AAAA if it beat Tyler Friday night and Highland Park (Dallas) lost to Waco.

One title definitely is on the line in Class AAAA, Austin and Reagan battle for the Houston district championship Saturday night.

In Class AAA, Denison can clinch the District 3 crown by beating Gainesville while McAllen can sew up the District 8 championship by downing Edinburg.

Thirteen titles may be decided altogether—eight each in Class AAAA and AAA, 31 in Class AA and 32 in Class A.

Watkins, Vavra 1-2 In Gains

By The Associated Press
The race for the ball-carrying leadership of the Pioneer Junior College Conference is close indeed. Durwood Watkins of Schreiner is just one yard ahead of Ken Vavra of Arlington State.

Watkins has gained 404 yards in 77 runs. Vavra has made 403 on 72. Sam Howard of Arlington State appears to have the passing championship sewed up. He has thrown 143 and completed 57 for 992 yards. He is more than 400 yards ahead of anybody else.

Norman Cash of San Angelo tops the pass receivers with 14 catches for 371 yards. James Brazell of Schreiner is second with 25 for 311.

TITLE GOES ON LINE

West Ward, Morrison Vie At 8 P. M. On Thursday

This week's Ward School Football League games have been moved forward from Saturday morning to Thursday evening, with the first one booked to begin at 8 p.m.

The feature attraction, pitting Kate Morrison against West Ward, gets underway at 8 p.m. The teams are undefeated and untied and a clear-cut champion is sure to emerge from the game, barring a tie, since Kate Morrison will have completed its season and West Ward has but one contest remaining on its schedule.

Jesse Mendoza is coach of the Kate Morrison team while Earl Penner tutors the West Ward team.

The Kate Morrison attack is built around David Abreo and Ventura Correa.

Penner has built a rugged line and a speedy backfield which has Jimmy Harrison, Daniel Robinson and Scotty Ellison as standouts. J. B. Davis has been West's flashiest lineman.

A game between Airport and North Ward at 6 p.m. will open the evening's program.

At 7 p.m., Washington Place and Park Hill have at it. At 9 o'clock, it will be College Heights and Central Ward.

Officials for all four games will be Harold Bentley, Earl Peeler and Dan Lewis.

Admission prices have been pegged at 60 and 30 cents.

Dusters Debut With Amarillo

The basketball games tentatively scheduled between Webb Air Base and Bryan Air Base, which would have taken place Friday and Saturday of this week, will not take place.

Instead, the Dusters will open their 1952-53 schedule against Amarillo Air Base in Amarillo Nov. 18-19.

The Big Springers will meet Reese Air Base of Lubbock in their home opener Nov. 21.

The Dusters have been perfecting their attack in scrimmages against the HCJC Jayhawks and base teams.

Brownwood Ace Is Working On Third Mile In Gains

BROWNWOOD, Nov. 12 (AP)—Next Friday night Leondous Fry, a young football machine, is due to complete his third mile in gains for Brownwood High School.

Fry is the rushing, passing, kicking sensation of the Lions, making their greatest bid for schoolboy football glory this season. This young fellow, who runs 100 yards in 10 seconds and uses that blazing speed to thwart the opposition on the gridiron, is the greatest all-around back in Texas high school circles.

In his span as the star of the Lions' backfield since 1950, Fry has gained 5,178 yards in 28 games. Thus he needs only 101 yards to finish out three miles. He rolls against Cleburne Friday night and 101 yards would appear easily within his grasp.

He has gained 2,024 yards carrying the ball and passed for 3,155. And he kicks for an average of around 35 yards. He also boots the points after touchdown.

Coach Abe Houston denies that Leondous also sells the tickets and the peanuts. For that matter, he doesn't have to sell the tickets to Brownwood's games; they are gobbled up so quickly no salesmanship is required.

Nov. 27 Brownwood plays Breckenridge here with the district championship, and possibly the state title in the balance. Breckenridge is the defending Class AAA champion. Tickets for this game were put on sale Monday and were all sold in an hour and twenty minutes. Seats are going to be added but only 7,000 can be taken care of even then.

The duel of the great Fry and Ken Ford, that passing man of Breckenridge, is something to look forward to—and the fans here are doing just that.

Only once in history has Brownwood been able to beat Breckenridge. That was in 1940 when the Lions won by one point. But Brownwood is considered having an excellent chance of turning the trick this time.

Fry, a track man who does the 220 in 21.6 seconds, runs the 100 and also is on the sprint relay team, came out for football as a sophomore in 1950. He was a sensation from the start. He has speed, power, stamina. He weighs 171 pounds and appears to have every asset a college scout could ask. The scouts are numerous when he plays, too. But they say he's already made up his mind—he'll go to Abilene Christian College next fall.

Roofers Lead Bowling Loop

Big Spring Herald and Lee Hanson's Men Store made the biggest gains in Men's Bowling League standings here this week. Each team scored a sweep in its matches.

Big Spring Herald trounced Mathis Studio while Lee Hanson's was achieving a win over Sinclair Oil Company.

In other tests, West Texas Roofing Company turned back Seagram's, 2-1, the same margin by which Dairy Maid won over the Eagles Club.

Crockett Hale, Dairy Maid, turned in the evening's only 200-game, achieving just that in one try. Jim Engstrom, Lee Hanson's, had second high game with a 199. E. R. Budak, Seagram's, posted high aggregate with a 550.

In team play Lee Hanson's pieced together an 881-2378. West Texas Roofing Company is setting the pace in season's play with 20 wins and 10 losses, one game ahead of Seagram's. Lee Hanson's is third with an 18-12 mark and Big Spring Herald fourth with 16-14. Dairy Maid has a 14-16 record, the Eagles 12-18, Mathis 11-19 and Sinclair 10-20.

Evans Holds Mark

ABILENE—Murray Evans, head football coach at Hartin-Simmons University holds an all time Cowboy record for his 28-yard field goal against Centenary in 1941 and his 19 straight conversions in 1941.

Fritz Crisler Offers Control Plan For Video

By HARRY STAPLER
ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Athletic Director Fritz Crisler favors this middle-ground plan to settle the squabble over televising of college football games:

Let each of the eight NCAA districts run its own TV-control plan. That would mean eight games on TV each Saturday instead of the single game currently permitted across the nation.

Crisler came up with the regional plan yesterday while the controversy flared anew in New York. In that city Dr. Allen B. Dumont, president of the Allen B. Dumont Laboratories, charged the National Collegiate A. A. television committee is "conducting a monopolistic boycotting operation" in its restricted one-game-a-week program.

Crisler said he did not favor the current program. "We're going to have to live with television from now on and I think we should give television a chance."

"I think we can do it better if we split the program up into eight districts and not go across district lines."

Crisler pointed out that many Midwesterners had no interest in some of the games that have been nationally televised this season, such as Princeton-Columbia and Cornell-Yale.

Crisler made his proposal at a meeting of the Michigan Football Writers Association. Also present was Athletic Director Moose Krause of Notre Dame. Krause joined Crisler in recommending that the NCAA loosen up its restrictions.

Ediom Will Play Against Arkansas

DALLAS, Nov. 12 (AP)—Frank Ediom, sophomore backfield star who has been out of action since Oct. 4 with an injury, will return to the lineup this week against Arkansas, Coach Rusty Russell of Southern Methodist said today.

"Frank was ready to play last week against Texas A&M," Russell said, "but since he wasn't needed, I decided to give him another week's rest."

West Berlin Official Arrested For Spying

BERLIN, Nov. 12 (AP)—West Berlin police announced today one of its leading officials has been arrested on charges of spying for the Communist East Zone police.

The police said Inspector Johannes Nuenecker, 44, was arrested Nov. 3 while carrying classified police reports for delivery to the Eastern police. He was a deputy chief in the traffic department.

Senators Want UN To Oust Reds Or Get Out Of The U. S.

By EUGENE LEVIN
NEW YORK (AP)—The United Nations should either help purge itself of "spies and saboteurs" or get out of the United States, say two members of the U. S. Senate Internal Security Committee.

One of the two senators is the committee chairman, Pat McCarran (D-Nev.), who says he also thinks Trygve Lie resigned as U. N. secretary general because "of disclosures made and disclosures we will make in the future."

The senators' search for suspected American Communists on the U. N. headquarters staff was resumed yesterday. Lie's resignation on the previous day served to embelish the committee's already dramatic hearings.

McCarran, here for the first time in four weeks of intermittent sessions, and Sen. Willis Smith (D-N.C.) composed a subcommittee which heard three more American U. N. employees refuse to answer some questions concerning Communist party membership.

A fourth witness said earlier she switched her citizenship from American to Russian simply by obtaining a Russian passport. She is Olga Michka, 33, an American-born U. N. clerk and typist.

A State Department official in Washington said later he did not think she automatically lost her American citizenship when she received the Russian passport.

Smith, angry at the attitude of some witnesses, snapped at the close of the all-day hearing that it is up to the U. N. "to help us purge it of spies and saboteurs."

If that cannot be done, he said, the U. N. "ought not to be allowed to sit in America."

"Senator," added McCarran, "I agree with you heartily."

After the hearing had adjourned today, McCarran told newsmen he believed his committee's inquiry had brought about Lie's announcement of resignation on Monday.

McCarran said Lie's statement of reasons for quitting reminded him of a Thanksgiving pumpkin. "It looked good," said McCarran, "but it was hollow."

Lie said on Monday he was resigning "because I hope this may help the United Nations to save the peace and to serve better the cause of freedom and progress for all mankind."

The U. N. official did not mention the McCarran inquiry. However, he has said in the past that while he did not want any employees disloyal to their countries, he would not fire anyone on "mere suspicion or smears."

Alaniz, Sapet Release Sought

AUSTIN, Nov. 12 (AP)—The release on bond of two men under indictment in the ambush murder of Jake Floyd Jr. of Alice will be sought today.

They are Mario (El Turko) Sapet and Nago Alaniz who are in jail at Alice accused of what has been termed the mistake assassination of the University of Texas student Sept. 8.

The youth's father, an Alice attorney, said the shots were intended for him and blamed politics.

Dist. Atty. Homer Dean announced yesterday appeal for bond would be heard.

Dist. Judge Arthur Klein denied Alaniz bond Oct. 28 and for Sapet Oct. 23. Their attorneys appealed. Spurgeon Bell, Houston attorney who is a special prosecutor in the case, was due at today's hearing.

8 AP Papers Are Cited For Newsphoto Work

BOSTON (AP)—Eight Associated Press newspapers today were cited by the Associated Press Managing Editors Association for outstanding membership newsphoto co-operation.

The citations were announced by Coleman A. Harwell, vice president and editor of the Nashville, Tenn., Tennessean, at the opening session of the annual four-day meeting of the APMEA in the Sheraton-Plaza Hotel.

The Jackson Citizen-Patriot was cited for its work in providing the AP with a series of pictures at the Southern Michigan Prison riot last April 22.

The Los Angeles Times citation commended the paper for getting the most membership co-operation mentions in the Weekly AP Log—22 times in 1952.

Harwell, chairman of the Newsphoto Study Committee, stressed that the awards were primarily for the excellent co-operation given to the AP by the members and not for the pictures alone.

"Many good pictures are provided to The Associated Press by all members," he said, "but these members have done an outstanding job of co-operating with the AP in servicing of pictures to all members of the organization."

Earnings for the 12 months ending Sept. 30 were $1.60 per share, compared to $1.43 the preceding 12 months.

Football Ratings For Games This Week

EXPLANATION: The Power Index provides a direct comparison of the relative strength of any two teams for this season to date. Thus, a 50.0 team has been 50 percent stronger than a 40.0 team on their comparative records, in which average scoring margin has been weighed against average rating of opposition. However, this does not mean that a 50.0 team should defeat a 40.0 team by 10 points in the future, because the ratings have not been adjusted for such important forecasting factors as home team advantage, injuries, line changes, etc. Therefore, they are not to be construed in any way as gambling information. The Dunkel system correlates records, ratings, and odds and was started in 1929.

Table with columns for MAJOR GAMES, OTHER MIDWESTERN, and OTHER FAR WESTERN. It lists various football games and their Power Index ratings.

The per share average for the same quarter last year was 33 cents. The 1951 figures were restated to effect an adjustment in federal income tax accrual.

Congressman Thomas G. Abernethy of Mississippi, a member of the House Committee on Agriculture, who was in Lubbock over the week end studying the cotton and Mexican national labor situations, has advised farmers to hold their cotton off the market instead of selling it at current prices.

Abernethy, who is also chairman of a cotton subcommittee, says the farmers can make such a program work if they will adopt such a plan and give it their full co-operation.

T. S. Oliver, gin operator at New Deal, said at the same time that he believed many farmers sold cotton early because they were afraid of a price drop after Nov. 4.

Reports are that some bankers in areas where there is a good crop are doing everything in their power to hold it off the present market.

A group of Mitchell County farms were approved for the conservation program by the Board of Supervisors of the Mitchell County Soil Conservation District at their regular November meeting.

Among the farms enrolled were those of H. L. Hutchinson, Harry A. Logsdon and Parry Bowles of Colorado City; Ross Dockery near Conway School; Don Blessingame of Buford; Harold Hallmark, Mrs. Allie M. Walker and C. H. Hackfeld of Loraine.

Members of the board attending the meeting at Colorado City were M. A. Webb of Westbrook, John McGuire of Cuthbert, and R. H. Bennett and T. J. Riden of Loraine.

says Dr. Harry A. Logsdon has been making some splendid progress in getting feed underway for his herd of registered Aberdeen-Angus cattle. The Logsdon stock farm is about three miles north of Colorado City.

Dr. Logsdon, according to Wylie, has a program that calls for him to first improve his soil and arrange to hold it against blowing, and then to furnish hay and grazing.

Two years ago Logsdon planted eight acres of alfalfa on a good spot but under dryland conditions. And in spite of the drought for the last two years, he was able to make two cuttings of hay last year and has gotten a lot of good grazing from the patch this year.

This past summer Logsdon put in an irrigation well and watered about 15 or 20 acres of grain sorghums and has produced a portion of his hay requirements for the winter. This fall he seeded 20 acres of cropland to a mixture of winter grasses and legumes. Included in the grasses were Kentucky 21 fescue, Texas wintergrass, smooth brome, crested wheatgrass, perennial ryegrass, orchard grass, Madrid sweetclover and common alfalfa. This field was a first smoothed and leveled with the land plane owned by the SCD, and the planting was broadcast at the rate of 20 pounds to the acre, with three pounds of the seed being alfalfa. An application of 100 pounds of 16-20-0 to the acre was also put down at planting time.

Logsdon used his irrigation well to prepare the seed bed with good underground moisture, and has secured an excellent stand on this irrigated pasture. He plans to irrigate as needed to keep up grass production.

On the Logsdon farm there is also about 40 acres of small grains for winter grazing which will be used during the next few months. He plans to seed some of his dryland that has been used for crops in the past to blue panic grass next spring. He also plans to re-terrace a 35-acre field this winter. This particular field was terraced several years ago but the terraces have worn down and will now be plowed away and new terraces built on new lines.

Mitchell County farmers, who have grown it, are very enthusiastic about blue panic grass. They say it has well proved its adaptability on all types of soils, but especially on sandy loams and deep sandy soils.

Mrs. Allie M. Walker of the West Loraine area, has recently built about one acre of new terraces on her farm. These new terraces were built between some old lines which had been spaced too far apart for the slope of the land. The engineers running the new lines calculate the new terraces will do a maximum job of holding siltation of terrace channels to a minimum preventing washing between terraces and providing a more uniform spreading of water on the slope which in turn makes for better moisture conservation.

Huron Gist of the Buford Community has planted 13 acres of alfalfa on sandy soil. He has also put rye on most of his cropland as a winter cover crop. He broadcast his alfalfa at the rate of 20 pounds. Gist is figuring this crop for cover, soil improvement, hay and grazing.

Mrs. Arlene Degandy, a recent arrival in Big Spring, has accepted the post of secretary in the County Agricultural Extension Service office with County Agent Durward Lewter and County Home Demonstration Agent Eugenia Toland.

Mrs. Degandy, whose husband is stationed at Webb Air Force Base, succeeds Mrs. Mae Wolf, who resigned to go with the Howard County Farm Bureau when that organization's office was recently moved to 117 Rannels.

Miss Sue White, Howard County Junior College student and 4-H Club girl, loaded up her prize Hereford steer and took off yesterday morning for Baltimore where the Steer is entered in the Eastern National Livestock Show at Timonium where Edgar Allen Phillips showed

Adlai Should Head Demos' Rebuilding

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. William Fulbright of Arkansas said today the Democratic party ought to be rebuilt from the ground up and Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson is the man to head the job.

Fulbright, who served in Stevenson's unsuccessful presidential campaign headquarters, told a reporter he does not go along with suggestions that Stevenson be appointed by President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower to the U. S. United Nations delegation or asked to take on any other federal job.

"I think Stevenson should maintain an independent status and be ready, perhaps along about March, to begin speaking for the opposition on issues raised by the Republicans," the Arkansas senator said.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the grand champion last year.

Sue was accompanied by County Agent and Mrs. Lewter and her father, Floyd White. The steer was loaded in a trailer. Durward and Floyd plan to spell each other at the driving and to keep the wheels rolling. It's about 2,000 miles from here to the show ring. Sue said the steer would be unloaded, exercised, fed and watered at regular intervals during the trip. He will be led into the ring next Monday morning and if declared a winner will be sold on Thursday. If no sold he will be taken to the International Livestock Show at Chicago and might possibly be taken there, with other show cattle, without being returned to Big Spring.

As the result of experiences in the campaign, Fulbright said he believes the Democratic organizations in New York and Chicago needs rebuilding. He said he thinks Stevenson could learn much about how to do it by studying the organization which turned out a large majority for the Democratic nominee in Philadelphia.

"What we need in the party is young blood, new faces and new ideas," Fulbright declared. "The question is: Who is going to pick these men, encourage them to work in the party organization? I think Stevenson is the man for that job."

The Arkansas senator said he thinks that while there ought to be no Democratic sniping at Eisenhower for politics' sake, there will be plenty of room for opposition to Republican proposals in the new Congress.

"I don't think we will because there is too much at stake. Either we have got to allow the Western nations to trade with us, or we have to give them funds to sustain themselves."
