Farmer Loses Foot In Hay Baler

JAMESTOWN, N.D. (UP)—A farmer lost a foot in an hour-long struggle with a hay baler, then mounted his tractor and drove home to summon aid.

Doctors said friction from the rollers of the machine cauterized blood vessels in his leg and probably saved his life.

William Wilson, 37, was in good condition today at Jamestown Hospital, and physicians said he might leave in two weeks.

Wilson said he attempted to speed the baling process Sunday and began to push hay into the machine with his foot. It was caught—and the powerful rollers began to tug his body into the machine.

After an hour, the rollers crushed the bone about 10 inches below the knee and Wilson was freed.

Down Payments On New Homes About To Be Cut

By LEE NICHOLS

United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—Down payments on new homes are about to be cut drastically, it was reported today. This should touch off a home-buying and building spurt, according to industry sources.

Congress Monday completed action and sent to the White House a bill authorizing sharp reductions in down payments required on government-insured mortgages. The White House and federal housing officials were understood to be generally satisfied with its terms. It was expected to be signed quickly and the lower down-payment minimums put into effect promptly.

If this is done it would mean the minimum down payment on a $10,000 house would go down from the present $700 to $300.

On a $12,000 home the present minimum of $1,200 would drop to $600; on a $15,000 home it would be lowered from $1,950 to $1,050, and on a $20,000 dwelling, from $3,200 to $2,400.

unidentified disaster victims in a common grave.

Calcasieu Parish Sheriff Henry Reid said late Monday night 285 bodies have been recovered from the southwestern Louisiana area around Cameron, south of Lake Charles on the Gulf of Mexico.

More than 40 unidentified bodies, mostly Negroes, were to be buried in a common grave today. Sixty-six other unidentified victims of the hurricane and tidal waves were buried in two common graves Monday.

Search for bodies still continues. Other bodies, identified and claimed by friends or relatives, were being buried in private ceremonies.

Searching for bodies still continues. Sheriff Reid said he expects the toll to run to 350. Other death estimates ran as high as Val Peterson's 500, which he mentioned in his report to President Eisenhower. Peterson is the President's personal representative in the disaster area.

Sheriff's deputies, civil defense officers, state police and National Guardsmen patrolled the stricken area throughout the night to prevent looting.

Dead Cattle Pose Problem
As some searchers scoured the area for more bodies, others had the grim job of burying or burning thousands of bloating and rotting cattle drowned by the 24-foot-tall wave.

The decayed cattle flesh pollutes water and provides a breeding place for disease, it was said. It must be destroyed before any number of inhabitants can return to their homes in the area.

Many of the search parties were armed against swarms of poisonous cottonmouth—moccasins washed up from the marshes.

Warning Unheeded By Storm Victims

WASHINGTON (UP)—Many of the persons killed by Hurricane Audrey would be alive today if they had heeded warnings to flee their homes, according to a Coast Guard safety officer.

Commander James N. Schrader, Coast Guard search and rescue officer in New Orleans, told a press conference here Monday the Weather Bureau warned of the hurricane 36 hours in advance and "pinpointed to the hour" its arrival time 14 hours before it hit.

"Most people had plenty of time to find a safe place," he said. "They simply refused to leave their homes."

In City Commission

Audit, Bid Are Okayed

Despite reports yesterday that the City Commission would have no work today, the commission had a busy morning taking care of city business and was still in session at "deadline" time.

Traffic Commission
A 15-man traffic commission, to make recommendations to the City Commission on changes needed in city traffic regulations, was appointed this morning. Five of the members will serve for one year, five for two years and five for three years.

The one-year members appointed are: Monte Cotter, chairman; Wiley York; Jim Goff; Terry Cullley and Bob Mack. Two-year members are: Elmer Radcliff, Don Conley, James Hart, Max Hukil and Fred Poront. Three-year members are: Mrs. Finis Jordan, Byron St. Clair, Roy Russell, Jack Miller and Henry Gordon.

Audit Okayed
The audit report for the 1955-1956 fiscal year, from October of 1955 until October of 1956, was approved by the commission. Each year the city's records are audited by an independent firm and the report made to the commission.

The commission was also presented with copies of the audit for the first half of current fiscal year. No action will be taken on this report until next week.

Bid Accepted
A bid by Osborne Construction Company in the amount of $532 for the placing of a new roof on Central Fire Station was accepted by the commission this morning.

The commissioners learned that the roof had been patched several times in the past few years and that a new roof was needed. Two other bids were received, one lower, and one higher, but the commission felt that the bid accepted today was the one that best suited the repair needs on the building.

The need of emergency equipment in police and fire department vehicles was discussed this morning. Commissioner Ed Myatt suggested that the city purchase first aid kits, fire extinguishers, wrecking bars and other emergency

'Free Governments' To Supplant Communism

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today that free governments eventually will supplant Communist despotism in Russia and Red China.

Dulles told a news conference that changes in the two countries toward free governments eventually will come about by evolutionary or possibly even revolutionary means.

Dulles said, indeed, the trend in the Soviet Union today is toward greater freedom. He said there are more revolutionary elements in Communist China than in Russia. But he would make no flat predictions of revolution in either country, or when freedom would prevail over communism.

Dulles also affirmed President Eisenhower's statement on June 19 that Red China would not have to be brought into a worldwide disarmament agreement. He said, however, that a system can be devised which would provide for calling off a disarmament agreement if Red China, even though not a signatory, violated terms of any agreement.

Dulles voiced doubt that Red China would attempt to produce atomic or hydrogen weapons.

He said the U.S.'s assumption is that Communist China would not get nuclear weapons aid from Russia if an East-West disarmament agreement is signed. He said provisions of such an agreement would preclude such a transfer, and any violations undoubtedly would become known.

Dulles' news conference centered almost entirely on Red China. He said his San Francisco speech last Friday restating U.S. opposition to the Chinese Communist regime was approved by the President.

Mad Alligator Is 'Evicted'
DALLAS (UP)—A dog-catcher hauled an infuriated alligator out of a Dallas sewer Monday night after children complained of a hissing monster in their secret tunnel.

L. W. Schell lowered himself into the sewer and walked two blocks before he came upon the belligerent, four and a half foot alligator. He dropped a noose over it and wrestled the snarling beast back above ground.

Although the sewer had been sealed to prevent children from entering it, they found a spot and had been using it for a "play tunnel."

Contest Offers Free Funeral
TYLER, Tex. (UP)—A Fourth of July traffic safety contest sponsored by radio station KTBB here offers the winner a free funeral.

Contest rules stipulate that anyone killed during the holiday period — provided they have registered prior to Wednesday evening — will receive a free burial. The offer covers the period from Wednesday evening to Friday morning.

KTBB disk jockeys and staff members have volunteered to act as pallbearers.

The station said that since the winner would probably be a safety violator, it will play rock 'n roll music at the services.

Police Woman Is Hired Here
Mrs. Daunleita Louton, 415 N. Faulkner, began her duties yesterday as a parking meter patrolwoman with the police department.

In making the announcement today of Mrs. Louton's employment, Chief of Police Jim Conner stated that she was hired to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Mrs. Ruby Jennings several weeks ago.

Mrs. Louton will handle patrolling of the parking meters and will also check for other parking violations in the business area, along with Mrs. Jewell Thompson, the other patrolwoman, Conner reported.

Favorable Weather Gives Boost To Construction Work In Pampa

With the arrival of warm, dry weather in the Top of Texas, construction work on improvements to the city water and sewer systems, recreational facilities, schools and fire stations is progressing at a faster rate.

Construction work was delayed earlier in the year due to the rain causing mud at the construction sites.

Junior High
The foundations under the classroom and the gym areas of the new junior high school on 23rd are completed and work is in progress on the foundations for the auditorium. Utility pipes and the heating ducts are being placed in the walls that will be under the floors.

Workers at the site of the new school building said that delays in receiving structural steel are holding up the erection of the walls but that the steel should be here by the end of the month and that large crews will be put to work on the walls as soon as the steel is in place.

Swimming Pool
At the site of the new swimming pool on Crawford, work is nearly completed on the floor of the bathhouse and work on the pool is expected to begin within a few days. Most of the plumbing is in place and work should start today on the walls of the bathhouse, workmen reported.

Pump Station
Pumps were installed at the site of the new pump station, located south of town on the Lefors highway, yesterday and work was being completed on the large manholes where valves are to be located on the large water lines. The construction of the building that will house the pump should be started later this week.

Water was placed in the west loop of the new water transmission system yesterday. The superintendent for Brodie and Enix, the firm constructing the new lines, reported that all connections on the west loop had been completed and that the line would be pressure tested this week.

Work on the east loop is in progress.

Barber Shop Hit Again; Car Stolen
Reports of a stolen car and of another burglary at the Hi-Way Barber Shop, 1011 Alcock, were received by the police department yesterday.

The car, a green and white 1957 Ford bearing Kansas license plates with numerals SN-4147, was taken from the Sportsman Club between 8:30 and 11 last night. The report was received about midnight from Eunice Ann James, 508 S. Ballard, who stated that the car had been locked.

The second burglary of the Hi-Way Barber Shop in less than a week was reported at 1 p.m. yesterday by J. C. Shanzenbach, owner. He reported that the burglary had taken place while he was gone to dinner and that approximately $250 in change was taken.

Last week, the barber shop was broken into and approximately $10 in change was taken.

Officers believe that the same person is responsible for the two burglaries of the barber shop and are checking clues and questioning people in regard to the burglaries.

Uniform Wheat Yield Over Gray County Is Reported
The yield has varied from 5 to 45 bushels per acre, Thomas stated. Crockett Wheat has proved to be the best variety this year. The Concho variety, which is usually good, took a turn for the worse and didn't do so well, he added.

"We can't tell just how Gray County is going to come out over all," Thomas commented. "How the crops withstand the hot wind and weather will make a great difference. Usually the harvest is over by the second week in July, but this year it didn't get underway 'til the last week of June. As the harvest progresses more and more of the wheat is withering. Some of the crops probably won't even be harvested."

Two Youths Sent To Reform School

A total of seven area youths were in trouble with the law of officers here today.

Two Pampa minors were declared delinquent and sent to the Gatesville Reform School for an indefinite term this morning by the Juvenile Court.

Gray County Judge Bruce Parker put a third minor, a Skellytown youth, on probation and released him to his parents' custody.

One of those sent to the school, a 13-year-old, was found guilty of breaking and entering and stealing. The stealing charge came as a result of the stealing of six cases of beer from a truck in the 1700 block of N. Hobart last Wednesday.

The breaking and entering charge resulted from the wrecking of a beauty shop at 121 N. Gillespie, owned by Mrs. Lucy Taylor.

The youth had appeared before County Court before on other charges.

The other minor had already served two sentences in the Gatesville school and was on probation. He was found guilty of stealing in the beer theft.

In the case of the third youth from Skellytown, the boy had been involved with two 17-year-olds in the theft of gasoline last night in Pampa. He was 14-years-old, and had no previous record.

A call to police officers at 10:20 last night resulted in the arrest of the trio who took gas from a construction site in the North Crest Addition.

They buried the stolen gasoline, but upon questioning by officers admitted the theft and took the police to the cache.

The two 17-year-olds boys were fined for their under $5 in corporation court. They posted bond last night and pleaded guilty this morning. Their fine was set at $15 each.

Two other boys are being held in county jail in connection with a stolen car charge. The youths allegedly stole a car here, after being involved in the beauty shop break-in with the other minor.

They then traveled to Carlsbad, N.M., to see a girl. Police arrested them there when they attempted to steal gasoline for the car.

Entry was made to the beauty shop through an adjoining apartment. Upon entering the apartment, the boys cut a hole in the sheetrock wall of the beauty shop and crawled through.

Officers plan to file charges on one of these boys, who will be 17 within a few days, in district court.

The youth has been involved in several other "scrapes" lately, one of which was the recent incident when he and two other boys and three girls caused a three-state alarm by traveling to Oklahoma in one of their parents' cars.

Move Afoot In Britain For Doctors To Use Hypnosis

By DELOS SMITH
United Press Science Editor

NEW YORK (UP)—An un-specialized physician using only hypnosis and suggestion cured nine out of 12 cases of asthma, two out of three cases of eczema, but had no success with one case of warts.

Another un-specialized physician using the same tools did quite as well with asthma and skin conditions, and he also enabled a few of his patients to give up cigarettes, including a woman who smoked four packs a day.

Between them, these two tried out hypnosis and suggestion on 161 human beings whose ailments had not yielded to pills or other conventional medical treatment.

Their net conclusion was that hypnosis was a mighty handy tool for a doctor, that it wasn't too difficult to use, and a doctor didn't need to be specialized in psychiatry or anything else to employ it.

They are English doctors. The English generally are more willing to admit being unorthodox than Americans. Their findings and views were published by the British Medical Assn.

In this country, there are a scattering of un-specialized physicians who employ hypnosis now and then on medically recalcitrant patients but they don't report on it because their colleagues might be shocked.

Generally speaking, hypnosis has no standing in general medical practice either here or in Britain but in Britain there is a movement afoot to give it standing. This has the friendly backing of the BMA's technical journal.

"Problem patients" of the general practitioner, said Dr. H. Stewart, are "patients who have gone from consultant to consultant and from out-patient department to out-patient department and have ended with the label 'incurable' or 'functional', with a regular bottle of medicine or tablets."

He tried out hypnosis and suggestion on 41 such patients and got what he called "cures" in 23.

In seven he got "partial cures" in 11 he failed. His "cures" were largely in the disorders which are known to have a psychological component upon which suggestion might work; his failures were largely in the frankly neurotic disorders.

Dr. A. Fry reported results from 120 patients with assorted but unyielding (to conventional treatment) complaints. Of this number, 57 "fully" improved, 26 "partially" improved and the remainder were "resistant." He did not use the word "cure".

Conservative In Appraisals
Both doctors were conservative in appraising their results. Stewart said hypnosis was "valuable when other methods have failed." Fry said it was not a panacea "but far more can be done with it than has been supposed."

The BMA also published the academic sanction of Dr. Alexander Kennedy, professor of psychological medicine, University of Edinburgh. He said there was a place for a treatment (hypnosis) which could remove physical symptoms bothering people even if the treatment didn't get to the deeply buried states of mind which caused the symptoms.

"If something is to be done about the enormous number of psychoneurotics who clog the wheels of civilized intercourse, it may be that our therapeutic sights should be lowered, and that we should, for the majority of patients, have a more concrete aim of relieving symptoms and making them more happy and less troublesome to and less dependent on their fellows," he said.

Sell Price Steadies On Older Houses

By ROBERT F. COLL
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 29 (UP)—The lag in new home construction has steadied the selling price of older houses, a survey by realtors disclosed today.

The National Association of Real Estate Boards said that while sales volume in homes built since 1940 is lower than a year ago, they are selling for around the same price throughout the nation. The group made its findings after a survey of 227 member boards.

The association said 62 per cent of members polled predicted that prices on relatively modern homes up for sale in the months ahead will hold steady.

The remainder of the responses were about equally divided between predictions of a price slump and an increase. The survey found that the older house is in a "strongly competitive" position with new homes, largely due to the "tight money" mortgage market and spiraling construction and land costs. Both of these factors have been blamed for the slowdown in new home building.

Moreover, the association members believe the prospects are good for maintaining the price level of older residences, assuming that mortgage money continues to be scarce.

The members reasoned that if tight money continues, new building will continue to fall off while selling prices on new homes will continue to rise.

More than half the member boards reported sales in older dwellings were down compared with the same time a year ago—but they claimed the only reason for the drop in sales was "the shortage of offerings of good quality used houses."

The survey found that used home sales fell off most of the $20,000-plus category, but home sales in the lower brackets also were off slightly.

In weighing the cause of fewer older home sales, the association blamed the chain reaction effect in house buying.

It claimed that the "faltering pace" of new construction has forced thousands of potential new house buyers to hold on to their older residences.

Across the nation, the survey found that the West led in the number of boards reporting higher prices for older homes, while in the South the highest and lowest selling brackets generally were lower than a year ago.

The association found that prices vary widely in homes built before 1940, depending on the size of the city and its location. But, it said, the majority of its members reported that sales of homes in this group also have dropped, but prices have gained slightly even the 12-month period.

Squadron Commander Urges Pampans To Support Bills

Grave concern for "the gradual diminution of the Air Defense capability in the 33rd Air Division's area" was expressed by Mjr. Paul J. Quinlan, commander of the 688th Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron in Amarillo, in a letter to E. O. Wedgeworth, Pampa Chamber of Commerce manager.

"Our ability to protect your area and your people has been falling off for three years now and today continues to fall off simply because the Air Force is not able to retain highly trained officers and airman technicians required to operate your Air Defense System at anything near peak efficiency," he said.

The reason why young men could not be retained, Quinlan pointed out, was that the Air Force, unlike civilian occupations, was unable to pay salaries commensurate with the individual's training and skill.

"Civilian life, with its significantly higher salary rates inexorably beckons them—and they answer in distressingly high numbers."

Quinlan emphasized that in an atomic age, when one plane is capable of dropping one bomb equal to all the bombs dropped in previous wars put together, trained, career-minded officers and technicians are of utmost importance.

Because of the large investment lost when an airman is lost to the service, Quinlan said, "We can have more defense for the same money or the same defense for less money—if two identical bills, currently before the Congress are enacted into law."

These bills are S 2014 in the Senate and H. R. 7574 in the House.

Both bills provide in effect a modernized method of computing basic pay for uniformed services to enable the services to retain trained personnel.

Quinlan urged people of this area to use their influence to secure passage of these bills.

"In utmost honesty and candor, I say to you that speed in the passage of these bills is essential to the effectiveness of Air Defense of the Southwest."

AUDIT

equipment for the police cars and any of these items not already installed in fire department vehicles.

Also discussed was the possibility of installing air conditioning in city offices in City Hall. This was brought about when the commission room became unbearable during the meeting this morning and the commissioners felt that city employees should not have to work in hot offices.

A report on progress made on the formation of new building code for Pampa was made this morning by Bob Gordon, city attorney. He reported that all of the preliminary work on the ordinance had been completed and that legal work, to see if it violated any laws or court decisions, still needed to be done.

Johnny Campbell, president of the Pampa Optimist Club, requested today that the city include plans for water lines to the Optimist Park in the current water system improvements being installed.

The commission informed Campbell that the water lines would be included and that water would be provided to the park as soon as the new system is placed in operation.

In connection with the new water distribution facilities, the location of future water wells was discussed by the commission and it was decided that one well would be placed at the new pump station, located south of town on the Lefors highway, and that another well would be drilled east of the station.

John Koonz, city purchasing agent, reported that the steel for the surface water storage tank, to be erected at the pump station site, is expected to arrive about July 21 and that the steel for the overhead storage tank, to be erected northeast of North Crest, should arrive about August 7.

The commission was still in session late this morning and were to discuss the condition of city bonds for the current improvements in the light of the increased costs of some of the projects.

Certificates are good at Montgomery Ward.

Stores To Close On Holiday

Most Pampa businesses will be closed July 4 in observance of Independence Day, according to the Pampa Chamber of Commerce.

A few stations and grocery stores will probably remain open, but the greater percentage will be closed.

Independence Day is one of the eight official holidays set aside by the Pampa Chamber of Commerce.

2 Mishaps Reported

Two collisions within the city limits last night were reported to the police department.

The first of the collisions occurred on Foster, 50 feet east of Russell, at 6 p.m. A 1955 Chevrolet, driven by Morris Cooper, 521 Montagu, and a 1950 Chevrolet, driven by Selma Houser, 216½ N. Ward, were in collision. Damages to the 1955 Chevrolet were estimated at $35 and the 1950 Chevrolet was reported to have been undamaged.

At 8:58 p.m. a 1950 Plymouth, driven by Elvis O. Wilkerson, 832 E. Murphy, was in collision with a parked 1947 Ford, owned by Homer Jove, 638 S. Barnes. The collision occurred on Barnes, 18 ft. north of Denver. The Plymouth encountered damages estimated at $75 and the Ford met with damages estimated at $125.

Rodeo Directors To Meet Tonight

Directors of Top of Texas Rodeo Association will meet tonight at 8.

It was mistakenly reported in yesterday's paper that the meeting would be held last night.

The directors are scheduled to hear committee reports from all groups and wrap-up the details.

Clyde Carruth, superintendent of the contest, will bring a report on the proposed rules.

One Case In County Court

Mrs. Floyd Kraft of Pampa pleaded guilty in County Court yesterday afternoon to a swindling with worthless check charge.

She was fined $1 and costs plus restitution of the check.

Mrs. Kraft gave a $40 check to Betty Rigby who cashed the check at Ideal No. 2 Food Store, on June 29.

Security Federal Pays Its Largest Dividend Here

The largest dividend ever paid by Security Federal Savings and Loan Association is going this week to 4,600 folks in the Pampa area. Total amount of the dividend, 58th consecutive dividend paid by the association, is $201,305.97.

"A continued raise in savings volume took place during the first six months of 1957," said Aubrey L. Steele, secretary, general manager and treasurer of the association. "Here in Pampa, as throughout the nation, more people are saving more money than ever before. As a result of this rise in assets, Security Federal Savings and Loan Association is now able to offer mortgage loan and home improvement financing to a greater number of home buyers and owners."

Dividends are paid twice yearly by Security Federal Savings and Loan Association, June 30 and December 31. Current annual dividend rate is three and one-half per cent.

"Mid-1957 finds Security Federal Savings and Loan Association in a strong financial position," Steele said. "Our dividend rate on insured savings is a generous one, consistent with sound business management. Our assets now total $13,953,478.67, an increase of $3,281,724.85 over assets of June 30, 1956."

Organized in 1928, Security Federal Savings and Loan Association has as its officers and directors prominent local businessmen whose wide experience has helped the association in its consistent growth through the years. In addition to Steele, other officers include C. P. Buckler, president, P. B. Carlson, executive vice president, and Delea Vicars, vice president. Chairman of the board of directors is S. Wayne O'Keefe.

Other board members are Buckler, E. L. Green Jr., R. Earl O'Keefe, Carlson, Farris C. Oden, S. D. Safranko, Steele, Vicars and Thomas L. Wade.

Two Fire Calls Reported Here

Two fire alarms were received by the Pampa Fire Department within one minute of each other this morning, according to department officials.

The first call was received at 10:45 a.m. from an unidentified woman who thought she smelled smoke at 720½ N. West. It was found to be a false alarm.

A second alarm occurred at 10:46 a.m. when a car caught fire at Ballard and Browning. The 1955 Chevrolet, belonging to Chamber of Commerce Manager E. O. Wedgeworth, received slight damage to the wiring. The fire was thought by firemen answering the alarm to have been caused by a flooded carburetor. M. Wedgeworth of Nacogdoches was the driver of the car.

A Liberty Lobby

On many occasions persons we know who are concerned over the trend toward socialism in this country, have expressed regret over the great number of organizations and movements set into motion to offset the trend.

On more than one occasion these persons express themselves as follows: "We've got to find a way to get all these outfits together. With so many divergent groups in action, it is very difficult to raise money for any of them. Consequently, none of them is properly financed and not one of them is as effective as it could be if it were properly financed."

There are actually several organizations whose immediate purpose is to bring about such a merger.

The editorial pages of the Freedom Newspapers are most definitely arrayed in this battle to preserve freedom and to oppose the advance into socialism and barbarism. Hence, as we consider this point of view which is recurring with some frequency, it behooves us to ask ourselves this question: "If the entire right wing, so-called, sought to limit itself to a single exponent, and if it should be that this right wing elected the editorial pages we author as that single exponent, would we be content?" The answer to the question is a resounding "No."

We are incontrovertibly opposed to any limitation of divergent effort even though it might appear that we could profit by such limitation. In conscience we could not sustain the view, even with ourselves selected. The freedom philosophy advances, not because of its unification, but because of its diversity.

Human beings have vast differences. The approach we take may be of great assistance to some. To others it may prove to be unacceptable. Yet the efforts of others and their media will manifestly have more effect in some quarters than our own efforts, however skillfully they are conducted.

Freedom, in essence, is an individual affair. Some who understand it, will elect to support the freedom philosophy in one particular way; others will elect an entirely different approach. Our understanding of freedom grows because of the competition which is already in existence for good ideas. If we rule out such competition, even with the end in mind of making ourselves more effective, the result would be to make all of us less effective.

These thoughts have occurred particularly as we ran across a new organization being spearheaded by a group of dedicated patriots in San Francisco. The new organization is called "Liberty Lobby." Its open purpose is to establish a political pressure point where freedom ideas can be articulated to our representatives in Congress. There are many existing organizations which have such a function as their main purpose. Now comes one which intends to concentrate exclusively in this area.

Philosophically, we could question the efficacy of this approach, which in the end depends upon pressure and the molding of men's minds, and hence their actions, by means of lobbying. We support the individual approach and contend that individuals must change themselves, not because they are pressured into such change, but because they themselves wish to practice self-discipline and self-control and want the truth.

Yet, we know that there are many who could benefit by this approach which we cannot ourselves practice. And it must be true, that if the results from this newest effort bring about a diminution of socialism or communism in our government, the result is greatly to be desired.

Steadfastly we believe that no end can justify the means to that end. The means must be ideal if the result is to be ideal.

Yet there is something appealing about a Liberty Lobby as such. The effort is outspoken. It proclaims in an open manner that it will endeavor to convince our representatives by means of lobbying, to take a course of action which, if taken, would be of help to all of us. From such an effort, a diminution of taxes, controls, regulations and excessive laws, might well proceed.

If we believed that all persons who are dedicated to freedom had to be compelled to our own viewpoint, we could not countenance this organization. Instead, we hail it. Not because we think it is perfect, or even pure from a true libertarian position, but rather because it represents a way of working for freedom by men who otherwise might not find a modus operandi suitable to their own conclusions.

Good luck to the Liberty Lobby! And may our diversified efforts toward the same ultimate goal bring quick relief from the excesses of a government gone nearly total.

The Doctor Says

By EDGAR P. JORDAN, M. D.

A Hernia, as almost everyone knows, is a bulging of certain body structures through tissues which are supposed to hold them in place.

Q — Would you say something about a diaphragmatic hernia? Would some sort of diet alleviate the sensations?—E. C.

A — This is a condition in which there is a protrusion of some of the contents of the abdomen through the muscular diaphragm toward or into the chest and, of course, some are small and some large.

Once the diagnosis has been made, the physician has to decide whether the hernia is small enough, the symptoms are slight enough and other factors are such that it may be treated by conservative measures consisting usually of small meals, moderate exercise, bland diet and the like, or whether surgery is indicated. Because these hernias vary so much from person to person and because of the age of the patient and other factors, the decision as to how to treat a diaphragmatic hernia has to be based on the individual circumstances.

Q — I would appreciate any information concerning a fallen slofin ach. Is it serious and what can be done?—Mrs. R. C.

A — There is considerable difference, normally in the position of the stomach. In the tall, slender person it generally lies lower and at a different angle than it does in the short, stock one. Little is heard today about a fallen stomach and its possible implications in relation to symptoms. I believe that it is not often diagnosed nor often treated today.

Q — I am 47 years old and for the past seven years have trouble with my fingers and hands being numb and tingling. What do you think this might be?—Mrs. P. J.

A — There are a number of possibilities, including various nervous or circulatory disorders. One of the possibilities is a disease known as pernicious anemia, which if present, should be diagnosed and for which treatment should be obtained promptly. I fear, however, it is impossible to tell at a distance which of the many possibilities may be, at fault in an individual case of this sort.

Are Labor Unions Desirable?

III.

I want to continue to quote and comment on Ludwig von Mises' article in "National Review" on "Full Employment and Monetary Policy" or "Are Labor Unions Desirable?"

In the last issue I reported that he contended that there must be some guide as to what should be produced - either a free market or a planned economy backed by the government. Then he makes this statement: "The tyranny of the labor market is milder than that of socialist regimentation."

What Tyranny?

I think von Mises is in error in contending that there is a tyranny in the labor market. That's what the socialists and the labor union members contend. But how can there be any tyranny for an employee if his employer is rewarding him as much as any other employer or he can reward himself by becoming an employer at that time and that place? How am I as an employee tyrannized when an employer bids against all other employers or against me employing myself when that employer is rewarding me more than I believe I can get from anyone else? It is seldom, it seems to me, that von Mises errs in any of his statements. Then von Mises continues:

"If" (the labor market) "grants to the individual a margin within which he is free to disobey; if he is prepared to put up with a lower income, he can choose vocations in which he can either dedicate himself to his ideals or indulge his inclination for laziness. But the command of the socialist dictator does not brook contradiction."

"There is only one method to abolish lasting mass unemployment, viz., the return to the freedom of the labor market. Lasting mass unemployment is always institutional. It is the inevitable effect of the enforcement of wage rates that are higher than the potential market rates at which all jobseekers could find employment. It does not matter whether these minimum wage rates were directly decreed by the government or indirectly induced by the fact that the government is not willing to protect the enterprises and the strikebreakers against the violence of the unions."

Union Policies Cause Unemployment

"The political power of the unions has succeeded in suppressing the dispassionate discussion of these problems. But it could not prevent the undesirable consequences of the unions' policies from wreaking havoc. In the twenties, in many European countries mass unemployment became a main political embarrassment. It was clear that these conditions could not continue indefinitely. Something had to be done. Smart politicians thought that they had found a solution. As it was deemed impermissible to antagonize the unions, and to tamper with the wage rates dictated by them, they resorted to currency devaluation. England took the lead in 1931. Very soon other countries followed."

"For a while the nostrum worked. Some time passed before the unions began to pay full attention to the drop in the monetary unit's purchasing power. But when the index of the cost of living became the main issue in wage negotiations, the monetary method of eliminating mass unemployment had exhausted its serviceability."

Then von Mises explains that Lord Keynes had contended the way to solve the unemployment problem was to gradually reduce the workers' wages by giving them a money unit that would buy less; that this worked for a while, until the unions got to realize that inflation was a method of reducing wages. Then, instead of calling it inflation, they coined a new slogan - "full employment."

Mr. von Mises continues: "This full-employment doctrine underlying these policies, in complete accord with the teachings of the Communist Manifesto, declares that the very operation of the capitalistic mode of production inevitably generates the emergency of mass unemployment. Unlike the creed of the more consistent Marxians it does not, however, contend that the return of periods of economic depression and large-scale unemployment is absolutely inevitable in the market economy. It attributes to the return of capital STP the power to create jobs for everybody. All that the State has to do is to put more money into the hands of the people and thereby to increase demand. It is wrong, this official full-employment doctrine goes on to assert, to call an increase in the quantity of money created for the purpose, inflation. It is just full-employment policy. Those 'reactionaries' who ramble about monetary stability and the return to gold are depicted as the worst enemies of civilization, 'public welfare and the common man.'"

But the Speaker has passed the word to his fellow-Texasan to modify and soften the House handiwork on the Senate side. When the conflicting bills are taken up behind the closed doors of House - Senate Conference Committees to iron out differences, the powerful and skillful Sam will intervene to produce a moderate and relatively conservative product that will be satisfactory to all except extreme liberals and reactionaries.

It will not meet the demands of the Butler - Truman - Stevenson-Harriman Advisory Committee, which Rayburn and Johnson refused to join on the ground that it was interference with their prerogatives. But it will be a compromise that will prevent a dangerous and permanent split between the Northern and Southern wings of the Democratic Party. It will enable them to enter the 1958 and 1960 elections in a spirit of harmony.

Although the budget will be cut in response to bipartisan insistence, it will give like almost all he asks for national defense and foreign aid. Two stalwart Georgians deeply interested in the military establishment - Senator Richard B. Russell and Representative Carl Vinson - will tolerate no weakening of the services.

As a concession to Northern Democrats, there will be no punitive anti-labor action, despite the Dave Beck scandals. Under Rayburn - Johnson persuasion, Senator McClellan will be content with legislation for Federal regulation and publicity of union funds.

Right - to - work proposals, which forbid a closed shop, is too hot a problem for national legislators to handle, although there is a growing demand for them. But that question will be left to the local conditions.

Although the House virtually killed the soil bank because of a corn - cotton feud within the farm bloc, it will be restored in the Senate, and Sam will salvage it in

Johnson, Rayburn Carry Out Shrewd Strategy

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The reason why the Rayburn - Johnson leadership on Capitol Hill refused to accept advice or guidance from Truman - Stevenson - Harriman factio

House - Senate dickering. He recalls James A. Farley's dictum that the Democrats cannot win national elections without the votes of farmers and workmen.

Sam will probably permit enactment of a Civil Rights Bill, but it will be less drastic than the Administration's original idea. Such a liberal as Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney of Wyoming believes that alleged election law violators should be tried by a jury. The inclusion of that protective provision would suit most Southerners without offending non - jury proponents too severely.

In short, the Democrats' legislative platform will be broad and strong enough to support such 1960 possibilities as Senator Johnson himself, or Senator John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts. If Sam were 10 or 15 years younger - he will be 76 next January - the most powerful Democrat in Congress and in the Party would be the logical nominee.

BID FOR A SMILE

Down in Corpus Christi, Tex., Manuel Garza was a beef against the cops. He got arrested for drunk driving and was hauled off for a blood test. A cop handed him a release to go home.

But Manuel was sober enough to insist on reading the fine type and darned if he wasn't giving his consent for amputation of a leg! Naturally he refused to sign anything, and when the cops sheepishly admitted to the judge that the wrong form had been used, Manuel went free.

Let it be a lesson to you. Never get blind drunk in more than one eye at a time.

1958 Automobiles To Be Extra Long, Low, Flat

By HENRY McLEMORE

NEW YORK — The good word from Detroit is that 1958's cars will be even lower than 1957's motorized cabs.

Owners who are unable to get into their cars will be taught how to enter by factory - trained gymnasts and contortionists. In extreme cases greased pigs will demonstrate how to get in and out.

Owners who get wedged in will be released by the manufacturer, free of charge.

One manufacturer's model will bear the name of The Death Valley, and will be advertised with the slogan, "Ride In Below Sea Level Comfort!"

Another, The Mole, will have adjustable seats so that passengers will be able, if they care to, to raise them high enough to see what's going on above curbstone level.

Still another, The Pancake, will have the entrance through the top. Planned, but still on the drawing boards, is the Underground Eight. It will be entered from beneath, through a manhole.

Fins will be higher, too. Much higher. One model - the Jonah - will be a copy of the whale that swallowed Jonah. It will have side vents known as "gills," a body made of aluminum scales, and will have to be locked in the garage during spawning season to prevent it from running away upstream.

On many of the cars the fins will be large enough to accommodate a medium - sized chair and one passenger. The chair will be optional - and extra - of course.

The wrap - around window will give way to the picture window. Visibility will be so complete that even a man with a crick in his neck will be able to see ahead, backwards, and on both side. A window washer (optional and extra) will be available in all models.

The prestige cars will have more horsepower. One monster will make the claim that it has more horsepower under its hood than is in the Churchill Downs barns two days before the Derby.

In the glove compartment of these cars will be a letter of introduction to all traffic court judges and justices of the peace in all 48 states.

As a sideline, most of the motor car manufacturers will sell garage stretchers. These implements, which work on the principle of the shoe tree, will be guaranteed to push out the sides and ends of any but solid - brick garages an even ten feet. The stretchers will also spread car ports.

The cars will be roomier inside than 1957 cars. Like an igloo, they will be hard to get into, but once inside there will be leg, arm, knee, and thigh room. There also will be room to exercise and get rid of the bends contracted by the acrobatics of entering.

The 1958 dashboards will be an even more conglomerate mixture. In addition to a glove compartment, there will be a compartment stocked with overnight necessities for those owners who, having gotten in, can't get out. There will be toothbrushes, night-shirts, shaving lotion, and a distress flare. Motorists who don't answer these flares and go to the aid of a trapped driver will be penalized to the full extent of the law.

As soon as I learn to stand on my head and pick up a handkerchief with my toes, I am going to place an order for a 1958 model.

Courts Wrong Costello In Recent Contempt Case

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

In a recent chapter of Frank Costello's adventures in the jungles of our jurisprudence, this unfortunate victim of gossip, scandal and Estes Kefauver's absurd ambition got 30 days for contempt of a grand jury. He refused to give the grand jury information which was none of its business.

The term was tentatively cut in half in a grudging and sully admission by the state that the petty impatience of a public bureau, rather than an offense against law, might have been the actual reason for this atrocious abuse of a citizen who was clearly blameless in this matter. By clear implication the reduction means that the state admits that Costello may have been only half as guilty as the court had held in the first place. In other words the court may have been 100 per cent wrong in giving him twice as much punishment as he deserved. Costello does not concede that he deserved any punishment. Neither do I and, not that it makes any difference, a great many persons at least as reputable as the court, the grand jury and the prosecution will agree with us.

For can it be a crime to refuse to tell the most intimate details of one's personal and business affairs to 24 strangers, cloak-and-dagger men who may be no better than they should, who may include members of secret societies hostile to the victim, or kinfolk or agents of business-rivals? The ideal is not necessarily maintained by the membership of the present grand jury. Citizenship is low and tawdry in political partisans who venerate Roosevelt's name, adore his widow and hate all dissenters from their infatuation. They include racial and religious bigots, and cynics with no respect for the jurors' oath who will pounce on a chance to exploit information wrung from a citizen, appearing without counsel, by badgering county attorney. In recent years, some grand juries have been so ignorant of their own status and responsibilities that they permit the prosecutor to steer away from their chamber citizens complaining against the prosecutor, himself.

In this case, Costello was the victim of a crime which reflected no guilt on him, unless a man can be guilty of getting shot. The assailant certainly was guilty of a felony and probably two or more felonies.

Costello went to a hospital and while he was there the cops went through his clothes and stole a cryptic memorandum. This was his property and the police department violated Costello's privacy in handing it to the district attorney. It is no crime to carry upon one's person a memorandum of disputable meaning. And just as a lover need not explain to a grand juror what his girl meant by the initials "SWAK" on the flap of an envelope, neither did Costello have any duty to tell this grand jury what those abbreviations, initials and figures meant. They were his private business. The district attorney said an explanation might give the grand jury an idea who might have shot him, but that was only a shot in the dark. It made loud publicity against a man who has made monkeys of the district attorney's entire staff for 20 years, notwithstanding wire taps and unlimited manpower, armed with police authority and guns, and augmented by stool pigeons.

The power to punish for contempt is outrageously abused. The same district attorney "threw the book" at Louis Saperstein, a racketeer in union "welfare" insurance, who got five years for refusing to answer questions before a grand jury in the same jurisdiction where Costello got 30 days.

Five years is the term for homicide and armed robbery in many states. It is an atrocious denial of freedom to a citizen for a negative, non - violent offense, if offense it is merely to refuse to cooperate with authorities enforcing laws against crime. And, unlike the sentences for manslaughter and other violent crimes, the sentence for contempt can be reduced only by the prisoner's decision to come clean. He may have to squeal on criminals who will kill him. Otherwise, he serves it all.

Saperstein came clean, we are told, and on March 10, 1956, was shot four times in the head. He lived but nobody ever has been punished for shooting him.

With precedent in that jurisdiction and with some of the same characters involved on the side of the state, Costello kept a still tongue in his head.

WASHINGTON — Attorney Herbert Brownell, on why legislation should be passed to counteract Supreme Court rulings that FBI files must be opened to defense attorneys in federal cases: "If these interpretations were upheld, it would be almost impossible for us to go ahead with our law enforcement program."

This is not a rare specimen (left) of the girl who works in an office. Nor is it much of an exaggeration, unfortunately. Looking as if she has either just come from a party or is just going to one, she is not a figure to inspire confidence in her boss or co-workers. Flimsy sandals, a flowing hairdo, an armload of jangling bracelets and flowers in the hair are sights not meant for the office, ever. What happens when this girl (right) streamlines both herself and her handsome office desk for work is evident at a glance. She has simply removed the odds-and-ends from her dress, leaving it handsome and simple. Her hair is worn neatly and becomingly. And she looks both attractive and efficient.

Since Simplicity Scores In Boss Appeal Office Belle Often Ends Up 'Jobless'

By ALICIA HART

No matter what your job is, dressing for it boils down to two things: common sense and good taste.

Dressing so that you will be comfortable while you do your work is sensible, but don't confuse comfort with sloppiness. There is on reason why we can't dress comfortably and still be neat and attractive.

The girl in her first job should know that although youth may be an asset in the business world, adolescence is not. Flat-heeled shoes and long, flowing hair styles are adolescent. They brand any one as a poor choice for work of any importance.

Chipped teeth detract from a charming smile. Once they are chipped, better head for the dentist. But good insurance is to safeguard against injury to your teeth. For example, never use your teeth to bite off thread, open bobby pins or crack nuts. Chewing pencils and eating hard candy also may damage your gleaming molars.

Cards Blast Braves, 9-5; Yanks Down Orioles

Mantle's 22nd Homer Puts Yankees Another Game Up

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer

One stroke of Mickey Mantle's bat—literally a lightning shot in the dark—was all the Yankees needed to put some daylight between them and the second-place White Sox.

That stroke by Mantle with one out in the 10th inning Monday night resulted in his 22nd homer of the season, a blow that produced a 3-2 victory over Baltimore and stretched the Yankees' lead to two games over Chicago.

Mantle walloped his homer off ace reliever George Zverink, who had entered the game after the Orioles had tied the score with a run in the last of the ninth.

The Yankee slugger had the satisfaction of winning the game before 45,276 fans, largest crowd ever to witness a major league night game in Baltimore. Southpaw Whitey Ford, making his first appearance since being sidelined with a sore shoulder, May 21, was credited with the victory in relief although Bob Grim had to bail him out when the Orioles threatened in the bottom of the 10th.

Detroit topped the White Sox, 5-2; Kansas City snapped an 11-game losing streak with a 10-3 decision over Cleveland, and Washington nipped Boston, 5-4.

Braves' Lead Cut

The St. Louis Cardinals cut Milwaukee's lead in the National League to a half-game with a 9-5 victory over the Braves; the Phillies defeated the Pirates, 5-4; Brooklyn licked the Giants, 3-0, and the Cubs blanked Cincinnati, 6-0.

and two by Johnny Logan helped the Cardinals to five unearned runs as they ended a six-game Milwaukee winning streak. The Cards staked their starter, Murphy Dickson, to a 5-1 lead but the Braves knocked him out with a three-run rally in the fifth inning when Hank Aaron hit his 24th homer and Wes Covington homered with one on. Herm Wehmel, who relieved Dickson, was the winner.

Granny Hamner and Rip Repulski each drove in two runs in a five-run eighth-inning rally that produced Philadelphia's victory over Pittsburgh. Pirate starter Ronnie Kline had a three-hit shutout until the Phillies knocked him out in the eighth. Jim Hearn was credited with the victory in relief of Jack Sanford.

Don Drysdale of the Dodgers cooled off the red-hot Giants on five hits as Junior Gillam played a key role in Brooklyn's triumph with a first-inning homer and a brilliant performance afield. The loser was southpaw Johnny Antonelli, who gave up six hits before retiring for a pinch hitter in the eighth.

Rookie pitcher Dick Drott of the Cubs celebrated his 21st birthday by striking out eight batters and holding Cincinnati to four scattered hits in registering his seventh victory. The Cubs collected 10 hits, including a homer by Walt Moryn, as Joe Nuxhall suffered his fifth setback.

SPORTS

JUST PLAIN MAD—Manager Kerby Farrell of Cleveland had his feet planted as if to throw a punch—and his face showed he was mad enough—at Umpire John Stevens during a squabble. Stevens was in motion, too—he gave Kerby the "old heave-ho here. Coach Eddie Stanky (No. 44), no amateur at stirring trouble, came on Stevens from the rear.

Middlecoff May Not Qualify For British Open Tourney

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (UP)—Four of 11 American entries faced almost certain elimination and three others, including top hopeful Cary Middlecoff, were "borderline cases" today in the second qualifying round of the British Open golf championship.

Complete City Golf Tourney Results

The field will be cut to the low 100 scorers at the end of today's single round for the start of the championship flight Wednesday, and only some very hot shooting could keep more than four Yanks "alive."

Seen now as good bets to qualify were former British Amateur champion Frank Stranahan, of Toledo, Ohio, who had a 71 in Monday's first qualifying round; Gene Andrews of Pacific Palisades, Calif. (72); Frank Keck of Champaign, Ill. (73); and Roger Peacock of Silver Spring, Md. (74).

In grave danger were Middlecoff, Al Jamison of Leesburg, Va., and Al Zimmerman of Phoenix, Ariz., each of whom had an opening-round 75. Two years ago the lowest qualifying score on this course was 148—and that means these three Yanks probably will have to improve to at least 73 today to qualify.

Last American Men Lose Out At Wimbledon

By ROBERT MUSEL
United Press Sports Writer

WIMBLEDON, England (UP)—It was up to the girls to salvage some prestige for the United States today in the Wimbledon tennis championships.

Vic Seixas of Philadelphia and Herb Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., the last American survivors of an 18-man squad, were bounced out of the men's singles Monday. It marked the first time in 32 years at Wimbledon the United States failed to place a man in the semifinals of that division.

However, it was a different story in the women's singles, where five Yanks sought berths today in the semifinals.

In an all-American quarter-final match, four-time singles champion Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., played Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif.

Top-seeded Althea Gibson of New York, striving to become Wimbledon's first Negro champion, faced Sandra Reynolds of South Africa. The other matches pitted Dorothy Head Knode of Forest Hills, N.Y., against Rosa Maria Reyes of Mexico and Betty Rosenquist Pratt of Jamaica and South Orange, N.J., against Christine Truman of Britain.

Sinclair Defeats Pan American

In Industrial League softball play last night Sinclair defeated Pan American, 3-2.

Winning pitcher was W. Richardson, with Rex Fenton taking credit for the loss.

Richardson hit the only home run of the evening for Sinclair in the fifth inning.

No other Industrial League games were reported.

MILAN, Italy (UP)—Winner Jimmy Bryan of Phoenix, Ariz., and other American auto race drivers who competed in the 500-mile race at Monza last Saturday, left by plane for home Monday after promising to return for next year's race.

Wrestling Results

Iron Mike BeBiese and Bulldog Plechas took the main event tag match, while Sonny Myers and Tokyo Joe won in the semi-finals last night in the wrestling held at Sportsman Club.

DeBiese and Plechas took the tag match over Ivan Kola and Tokyo Joe when Iron Mike jumped on top of the ropes, then flying through the air he landed on, and pinned, the opponent for the winning fall.

In the semi-final, after losing the first fall, Myers took the match over Major Piret by taking the last two falls with a cradle hold.

Tokyo Joe won the 1st event over Bulldog Plechas through a disqualification when Iron Mike came into the ring to Plechas' aid.

The wrestling, sponsored by the Pampa Shrine Club, is held each Monday evening at the Sportsman Club at 8:30.

Frick Says A Change Is Due In All-Star Polling Method

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UP)—Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick said today that the method of selecting the All-Star teams would be discussed at the major league winter meetings as result of the Cincinnati ballot box stuffing and it seems obvious that there are at least two better systems.

The fan pays the baseball freight and it would be ideal if he could fairly select the All-Star team. But the way they did it in Cincinnati made old Tammany Hall look like a bunch of amateurs and proved that as of the moment it's a complete farce.

Frick admits that something will have to be done to "tighten it up"—and there are two good ways to come up—with better teams.

The first would be to let the managers choose the All-Star teams but without selecting any of their own team members. Another method which would be fair and equitable would be to allow each major leaguer to pick an All-Star team—again without being allowed to name anyone from his own team.

At any rate, the Cincinnati landslide proved that the current system is ludicrous. Disproportionate voting would have placed Redlegs in seven of the eight fielding positions.

There were 500,000 votes from Cincinnati alone in the last week. Of these, 481,882 were for Don Hoak—and you must remember that last year's top choice, Dale Long of the Pirates, won with only 179,744 votes. So Frick stepped in and knocked off three of the Redlegs, putting Stan Musial, Willie Mays and Hank Aaron in the lineup.

You can't argue with the fact that they belong in the lineup. But, if you were a Cincinnati voter, you could argue over whether Frick has a right to do what he did. Ballots are ballots and every other city had the same privilege of unlimited voting.

Yet it points up the farcical nature of the fan balloting. Any newspaper or radio station can conduct balloting by applying to the commissioner. Some count the votes religiously. It's no secret that others, buried under an avalanche of ballots, take a sample, weigh the rest and multiply the sample by the poundage involved.

Warren Giles, the National League president, has suggested that each city be given an equal number of official ballots. This would shut out some of the voters and doesn't seem fair, either.

So the thought here is to put it in the hands of those who really have the inside info on who the real All-Stars are, anyhow—the managers or the players.

Ballinger Downs San Angelo, 7-1

By UNITED PRESS

Ballinger stretched its Southwestern League lead to two games today with the aid of a pitching gem from El Paso.

Ballinger whipped San Angelo 7-1 Monday night while Al Diez of El Paso hurled a one-hitter at Carlsbad, beating the Potashers 14-0 and dropping them two games behind Ballinger.

Midland and Hobbs were rained out.

Dex gave up his only hit to Ray Patterson, who singled to right in the fourth inning. Only two others—Dick Babcock on a walk and Ed Reed when he was hit by a pitch—reached base for Carlsbad.

Ike Expected To Be Invited To London

News Outlook
By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent
United Press correspondents around the world look ahead at the news that will make the headlines.

Invitation
Insiders in London are certain that when Queen Elizabeth visits the United States in October she will invite President Eisenhower to pay her a return visit. They take it for granted that the Queen's visit will do a lot to increase American friendliness toward Britain. And they figure that a return visit by Eisenhower would correspondingly increase British friendliness toward the United States.

Compromise
A group of influential northern and southern Democrats are quietly exploring the possibilities of a compromise on the administration's civil rights bill. Washington expects the measure to reach the Senate floor next week. A filibuster by southern Democrats is certain. Estimates of its length run from 10 days to one month. The compromise-seekers believe it may be possible to draft some right-to-vote guarantees, acceptable to the southerners, which could be substituted for the present program. They will try to put over the compromise if the filibuster gets really serious.

Adenauer
Supporters of West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer—and Allied diplomats in Bonn—are watching him worriedly. Adenauer is West Germany's indispensable campaigner for the Sept. 15 parliamentary election. Every attempt was made to play down his attack of "mild grippe" two weeks ago. It can now be revealed that he lost nine pounds in six days. He looks tired and strained, and his breathing sounds labored. Despite his 81 years, Adenauer had planned a strenuous campaign tour. Now his aides are trying to get him to slow up.

Schools Being Painted At Perryton

(Special to The News)
PERRYTON — The Perryton School's new buildings are rapidly reaching completion with the painting now being done.

Desks and chairs for the elementary classrooms will be delivered around July 10, and the elementary building has only a few minor details remaining before it is ready for use. Bids are being taken now on a steam table and other equipment which is to be installed in the cafeteria, which is also rapidly nearing completion. In the vocational building, work is nearly complete with painting now being done. In the old high school building a remodeling program is under way which will add more classrooms when it is completed. The Mid-West Plumbing Company has the contract for plumbing in

Female Canaries Can Sing But Need Help From Males

By DELOS SMITH
United Press Science Editor
NEW YORK (UP)—It is not at all impossible for female canary birds to sing and sing brilliantly, but they need a little help, science has found. The help is a "shot" of masculinizing hormone. That may or may not be the explanation of a phenomenon which has appeared here and there around the country of late. Canary birds which sang their heads off time. Unless nature had suddenly reversed the rule, something had been done to these females.

Test Five Birds
E. H. Herick and J. O. Harris, poultry scientists of the Kansas State College of Agriculture and Applied Science, took nine young but mature female canaries. By hypodermic needle, they gave five a minute amount of a male hormone preparation. Within nine days the female chirping was beginning to sound like song, and within 12 days all five were singing although for only a few seconds at a time. But thereafter the females began singing for progressively longer periods "and the song was indistinguishable from that of a male bird," the scientists reported.

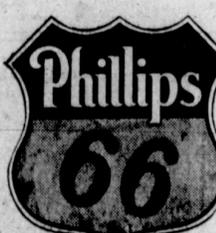

Waited 10 Weeks
The scientists waited 10 weeks, and then repeated the experiment to see if the results would be the same. They were except that the second time they appeared sooner. One female was singing like a male within four days. Reporting their experiments to the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science, Herick and Harris said some pet dealers had appealed to them for a scientific explanation of the strange business of the on-an-them-forever-off singing of canaries. These odd birds had been appearing among imported canaries,

Cadillac

America At Its Bountiful Best!

You are looking, as you surely know, at a magnificent motor car—beautiful, luxurious, substantial and inspiring.

But you are also looking at tangible proof of the bountiful land that is America!

Certainly, for instance, no one could behold a Cadillac without gaining new respect for our freedom to create and to produce. For where but from America could there come a motor car so rare in beauty or so marvelous in quality and luxury?

Surely, no one could take the wheel of a Cadillac without appreciating our nation's industrial skill and progress. For where but from America could there come a motor car so fine in performance?

And most assuredly, no one could hear the practical facts about Cadillac without marveling at our nation's well-being. For where but in America could so prized a personal possession be brought within the economic range of so many?

We think it appropriate, therefore, to pay tribute to these precious American virtues—and to express our own gratitude at having been privileged to put them to such extraordinary use.

And we should also like to take this opportunity of personally inviting all America to see and inspect its "ambassador at large".

You will find that the 1957 Cadillac, with its luxurious Fleetwood coachcrafting, is the finest "Standard of the World" ever created. And you will also find that this is the perfect moment, from the standpoint of both delivery and economy, to make the move to Cadillac.

'Country Music Time' Is The Travelingest Broadcast Show

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—The travelingest show in the broadcasting business is a country music package that wheels around this nation in a $45,000 bus.

The bus contains clothes closets, a club lounge, a scattering of fiddles and 13 members of the troupe of the "Country Music Time" show. The program, a 25-minute portion of down-home tunes rock 'n' roll and comedy, moves over the CBS radio this Friday after a hitch with Mutual radio.

"It seems to me we've been almost everywhere in the South and Southwest over the past six months — Richmond, Memphis, Louisville, Beaumont, Tex.," said Biff Collie, emcee of the show.

"As a rule we play six towns a week and it seems to me we've been in almost 175 cities so far. In one town each week, we tape our weekly show for radio."

While other shows are fighting the battle of Trendex, Collie's outfit is wrestling the elements.

All Types Of Weather
"We've hit just about anything you can imagine — rainstorms, floods, tornadoes," said Collie.

"On the way to Fort Knox, Ky., our carburetor coked out on the road. In Mobile, Ala., we hit a rainstorm so bad, we had to push the people's cars with our bus after the show."

"Show business on tires may be bumpy-bump, but Collie reports that the reception accorded country music is smooth. In some towns, the troupe has played to audiences as large as 17,000 in a single night.

"I know there are people who look down on country music and who think of country performers as illiterates, but I think those opinions are gradually changing," said Collie.

Music On Upswing
"Country music has come a long way the past five years. It has infiltrated the pop field and if you look at the top 20 songs in the country right now, you'll find almost half are of country origin—like 'Bye Bye Love' and 'A White Sport Coat.'"

For the distant future, Collie sees a merger of all the commercial fields of music into one division. But for his immediate future, Collie can only see a long tour by his troupe in Florida, Georgia, the Carolinas.

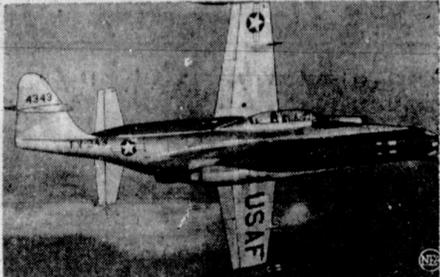

"It's a rough grind," admitted Collie. "I know it's a grind for me and I'm sure it is for the rest of the cast. But we're certainly getting exposure. And we're kind of getting to see the country, too."

350 Attend 'Newcomer' Banquet

(Special to The News)
SHAMROCK — Some 350 people enjoyed an informal dinner honoring newcomers to Shamrock at the National Guard Armory recently.

Harry Clay, local funeral home director, was master of ceremonies, and created a friendly atmosphere with his homespun manner. The welcome address was given by Mayor Siebert Worley, and Henderson Coffman was in charge of the program and introduced Mmes. Joe Lester, Landes Horton and Boyd Williams who sang three vocal selections, accompanied by Mrs. Lyle Holmes. Carol Ann Harvey played dinner music while the guests filed by the serving line.

Tom Deck, superintendent of El Paso Natural Gas Company, introduced the speaker, B. Marshall Willis, advertising and publicity manager, also of that company. He briefly traced the growth of the company from a very small concern to one of the biggest in the nation today, and gave the contrast of benefits of private enterprise and personal freedom of American people to those of com-

Photo was made by an Air Force cameraman when the lead plane banked to the left. The result looks like an F-89 with two sets of wings and horizontal stabilizers.

Mao's Big Hearted Speech Backfires

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

The big-hearted speech in which Chinese Communist leader Mao Tse-tung invited criticism of his regime has backfired.

Mao made the speech at a secret meeting in Peiping last Feb. 27. It started to leak out only weeks later and finally was broadcast officially on June 18.

Seeking to show that the Communist dictatorship really was liberal, Mao admitted there were contradictions between various elements in China, including the government and the people.

"Let a hundred flowers bloom—let a hundred schools of thought contend," Mao said in inviting criticism.

Too High-Handed
Apparently to his surprise, a lot of people in China took him at his word.

Intellectuals, leaders of some fellow-traveling political parties which are still tolerated, even Communist party members, started criticizing enthusiastically.

Prof. Ko Pei-chi, a lecturer in literature at Peiping University, for instance, accused the Communist party of being too high-handed in its methods.

"The people can blow you down," Ko said. "They can kill Communists. The people can overthrow you."

Hearty Swipe
Gen. Lung Yun, vice chairman of the National Defense Committee, took advantage of the new freedom to direct a hearty swipe at Soviet Russia.

A party of El Paso Natural Gas Company men accompanied him to Shamrock. They were Gene Jones and S. Schuleman of Amarillo, Corky Klepper, Bob Stewart and Tommy Love of El Paso and Lloyd Dallas of Amarillo.

Some 101 guests were recognized and 14 door prizes were presented the newcomers.
