Solon Promises Satellite Probe

By LEE NICHOLS
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—Senate Democratic whip Mike Mansfield today promised an investigation of charges the Army was kept from developing what Army men claim could have become man's first artificial moon.

He blamed the Eisenhower administration for failing to "knock heads together" among the armed services and for getting this country "behind the eight ball" in missile and satellite development.

Mansfield told the United Press an Army rocket team headed by German scientist Dr. Werner von Braun produced "the only fully developed (ballistic) missile I know about"—the Redstone missile with a 200-300 mile range.

Promises Definite Probe
"I understand they could have produced a missile that would have put an American earth satellite in the sky ahead of Russia's Sputnik, he said.

"But I haven't got the proof." Asked if Senate investigators will look into the matter, he replied: "You bet they will."

As Sputnik spun around the earth today there were three other developments.

Aviation Week Magazine said Lockheed Aircraft Corp. is working on an earth-orbiting reconnaissance satellite, to be ready by 1960, which would become a manned vehicle in later versions.

It said the Lockheed vehicle is known as the "Pied Piper" or "Big Brother" and would carry television, photographic cameras and an infra-red spotter or radar scanner system.

Adm. Jerald Wright, commander of North Atlantic Treaty Forces in the Atlantic, said Russia's launching of its man-moon indicates the Reds have reached "an advanced stage" of missile and satellite development. But he indicated he was opposed to any "crash" program to overtake the Russians.

Three congressmen—two Republicans and a Democrat—urged broad programs to produce more American scientists. Their proposals were sparked by the Soviet Sputnik.

The director of Operation Moonwatch, Dr. Fred L. Whipple, predicted that the Soviet satellite may fall within months and would be "mostly intact" when it falls.

Soviet scientist Y. D. Boulanov said tiny meteorites are homing in on Sputnik as it circles the globe and eventually may destroy it.

Commission To Hear Motion On New Turn Law
A motion to do away with the portion of the city traffic ordinance in regards to no right turns on red lights will be made at the meeting of the City Commission tomorrow.

Ed Myatt, commissioner of Ward 1, said today that he will make the motion tomorrow due to the "boilerplate" caused by motorists being unable to make right turns when lights are red.

When asked how this could be done, since the state law prohibits rights turns at red lights, Commissioner Myatt said, "There is a way it can be done."

According to John Koonz, acting city manager, the only business listed on the agenda this morning for tomorrow's meeting of the commission is the approval of several engineer's estimates for work completed on city construction projects.

Girl Scouting Is Important To Community

By Members of the Pampa-Lefors United Fund
Helping others, citizenship and the development of leadership ability are some of the major emphases of the Girl Scout program, according to Mrs. John Holt Jr., president of the Top of Texas Girl Scout Council.

Girl Scouting is important to a community, as its purpose is to help girls realize the ideals of womanhood as preparation for their responsibilities in the home and as active citizens in the community and the world. The Girl Scout troops also assist in many community activities. Their service projects include stuffing envelopes for the Optimist Club, Cancer Society, and United Fund, making trays for the Veterans Hospital and hospitals in Pampa, participating in the Rodeo and Santa-Day parades, selling poppies for the benefit of disabled veterans, fixing Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets, collecting toys and clothes for the less-fortunate at Christmas, collecting and sending articles to Girl Scout and giving parties and entertainment for the Negro nursery.

Girl Scouting is a leisure-time program for girls from 7 through 17 years of age, which includes progressive activities in a broad field of interest for each age level, offering variety and choice, leading to new interests and hobbies and making possible the development of skills.

Many honors have been won by the Girl Scouts of the Top of Texas Council. Miss Martha Gordon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gordon, and member of Marine Troop 20 of which Mrs. Marian Osborne is leader, was one of 12 girls in the country chosen for her Girl Scout skills, citizenship and leadership qualities last summer to attend the first session at the new Cabana in Mexico, an international friendship hostel. The 12 American girls and 12 Mexican girls worked and lived together for two weeks, creating better understanding between them and lasting friendships.

Miss Sylvia Grider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Grider, and a member of Marine Troop 20, was also chosen on merit to attend the Archeological Mobil Camp last summer, traveling with girls from all parts of the country to the four Indian ruins in New Mexico and Arizona.

Outstanding events during the year include a banquet in January for the Scouts, their parents and all adult workers, attended by more than 400 persons; a Juliette Low World Friendship Fund program in February, directed by Mrs. Weldon Adair; four Day Camps in June at Camp M. I. Davis, near Lefors, and at sites near Skellytown and Miami, attended by more than 300 girls; and a Round-Up Barbecue in September, attended by about 400 persons.

The Council camp, Camp M. I. Davis, is used throughout the year for troop camping and during June for Day Camps. The Council also has a Little House on East Kingsmill where troops meet and a Rotary House on Scott and Finley, recently remodeled, for the troops to meet.

Major Flood At Ballinger

By UNITED PRESS
A major flood hit Ballinger early today driving 200 to 300 families from their homes and flooding about 60 city blocks.

At least two deaths were attributed to a series of rainstorms that swept through West Texas and North and Central Texas.

There were no deaths at Ballinger, worst hit city, and acting Police Chief A. R. Whitworth told United Press shortly after 10:15 a.m. that the Colorado River, which runs through the city, appeared to have crested.

Flood stage at Ballinger is 19.7 feet and at the last reading the Colorado had reached 23 feet.

The water briefly menaced a few business houses but did not flood them, Whitworth said. The National Guard helped in the mass evacuation of Ballinger families.

Student Drowns
A drowning death occurred north of Valley Mills when a car in which O. R. Hand, 19, of Lubbock, a University of Texas student, was riding with four other persons plunged into a rain-swollen creek.

The second death attributed to the weather was a drowning Sunday at Lake Kemp in the Wichita Falls area.

More than 20 roads, some of them main arteries, were closed because of flood waters.

Whitworth told United Press that the situation seemed to be easing at Ballinger and that schools opened as usual despite the flooding in one section of town.

"There were 200 to 300 families evacuated," Whitworth said, "and about 60 blocks under water. Some Ballinger residents were taken to hospitals for treatment of shock and released."

Penetrated's Ground
Dr. Ralph Baird at the Blackland water shed station at Reisel in McLennan county, said the slow, heavy rain falling the last 24 hours had saturated the soil to a depth of five feet. He said farmers should be in good shape in 1958.

Some of the rainfalls in West and Central Texas were the heaviest since the spring floods. Cisco reported 11.40 inches; Palestine an official 8.86.

There was an unconfirmed report of a 10-inch rain 10 miles south of Waco, near Lorena. Moody had 7.5 inches and most of McLennan county 3 to 4 inches. Hillsboro reported 4.83 and other parts of Hill county had an unofficial 6 inches.

Storm Hits Cameron
A severe electrical storm was reported at Cameron Sunday night. The bottomlands were under water from Little River and Brushy Creeks.

Some of McLennan county schools closed today because of road conditions and the flu.

A washout immediately east of Weir in Williamson county early today caused derailment of five cars of a Missouri-Kansas-Texas freight train, but there were no injuries, the highway patrol reported.

Pampa Only One Below '56 Car Accident Total

The total number of traffic accidents in Pampa since the first of the year stood today one below the total for 1956.

According to Jim Conner, chief of police, the total number of accidents reported in Pampa since Jan. 1 totaled 436. During the entire 12 months last year there were only 437 accidents reported within the city limits, the chief said.

It was expected that the total would be over last year's total before tonight, Conner said.

Conner urged Pampa motorists to "drive safely and keep the total from climbing any higher during the remaining 2 1/2 months this year."

Shipment Of Arms Seized

MIAMI (UP)—U. S. agents seized a shipment of arms and ammunition which they said were destined for Cuban rebels after trailing the Cubans for 600 miles Sunday night.

It was the second seizure of a large store of arms in South Florida in less than three months. Customs agents confiscated 500 rifles, 10 machineguns and ammunition here last August.

The new haul contained four anti-tank guns, more than 200 carbines and 20,000 rounds of ammunition.

The arrests came on the Florida Turnpike near Pompano, north of here, after the three Cubans had spotted officers trailing them in a plain automobile, thus upsetting plans to track them to their destination.

The Cubans go before a U. S. commissioner today on charges of conspiring to ship arms illegally from the United States.

They were identified as Daniel Vasquez, 31, said to be a long time friend of former Cuban President Carlos Prío Socarrás, living in exile at Miami Beach; Adalberto Alvarado, 46, of Cuba, and Alvarado's brother, Humberto, 34, of Miami.

Hoffa Temporarily Barred From Office

WASHINGTON (UP)—A federal judge today temporarily barred James R. Hoffa and other newly elected officers of the Teamsters union from taking office.

Hoffa was elected president of the union to succeed Dave Beck at the recent teamsters convention in Miami Beach, Fla.

Federal Judge F. Dickinson Letts signed a temporary restraining order, in effect suspending the convention's decision and set Monday, Oct. 21 for a hearing.

He ordered Hoffa to show cause why he should not be prevented from taking office.

A temporary restraining order normally expires in 10 days.

The judge acted on a plea by 13 rank-and-file teamsters who charged that 80 per cent of the convention delegates were illegally selected to insure victory for Hoffa and his slate.

Outgoing Teamster President Dave Beck said he would step down Tuesday to let Hoffa take over if Hoffa wins a delay in his trial on conspiracy charges for wiretapping. The trial is set for Tuesday.

Hoffa also is to be arraigned the same day on charges of perjuring himself before a federal grand jury investigating the wiretap case.

Attorneys for the 13 New Yorkers asked Judge Letts Friday for an injunction barring Hoffa from becoming president on grounds his election at the union's convention 10 days ago was rigged.

Also on the labor front, Vice President Daniel E. Conway of the Bakers' Union reports that 80 of the unions largest locals have passed resolutions demanding the ouster of International President James G. Cross on corruption charges.

Governor Calls For Attack On Problems

By O. B. LLOYD JR., United Press Staff Correspondent
AUSTIN (UP)—Gov. Price Daniel today called for an immediate legislative attack on the problem of mounting crime, illicit lobbying and water conservation in Texas. In an address opening the special 30-day session of the legislature, the first since 1954, the governor recommended:

—Enactment of a law providing for registration and regulation of those who represent others before the legislature. The law, he said, should be aimed at those "undercover and unprincipled operators who have attempted to buy their way into the halls of government."

—Creation of a state law enforcement commission to "study ways and means to improve law enforcement and crime prevention, including a study of the penal code and our antiquated code of criminal procedure."

—Creation of a planning division within the board of water engineers "to conduct research, assemble all available data, and cooperate with and coordinate the activities of all agencies interested in future planning so that there will be one source in the state for information and leadership on this subject."

Explains Session Call
The governor included in his recommendations a bill authorizing construction of a State Board of Insurance building. The proposal was approved in the last regular session of the legislature, but declared unconstitutional because of a technical flaw.

Daniel also reminded the lawmakers they need to amend the appropriation bill adopted in the last session if money is to be available to pay expenses of the special session.

The governor explained his reasons for calling the special session.

"When I first suggested this special session, I was counseled by some to avoid it by saying that I had recommended all of these matters at the regular session and that the legislature failed to pass them. I was told, 'Don't take the risk of a special session. Your record is clear. Blame it on the legislature.' You would be surprised at the identity and number of those who volunteered the advice."

Urges Understanding
"My reply in each instance was that this would be unfair to members of the legislature who had worked seriously and tirelessly during the regular session and who could not be expected to finish every important item within the time allotted. Besides, the strength and success of our state government depends upon understanding and cooperation between its executive and legislative branches," Daniel said.

Daniel recommended transfer of funds already appropriated to pay for a $1,024,000 appropriation for the water program.

He recommended that $100-240 appropriated last session for water shed planning to the board of water engineers, conditioned on adoption of a constitutional amendment in November, be made immediately available to the board.

Daniel also recommended transfer of a $500,000 contingency appropriation made to the Texas prison system for possible flood damage to crops. In addition, Daniel recommended that $400,000 be transferred from an appropriation for relocation of the Blind, Deaf and Orphan School. He said t.b. Texas Youth Council had advised him the proposed relocation cannot be made during the present session.

Most Lobbyists Okeh
The governor said that most lobbyists and the persons they represent "are registered already in the minds of those before whom they appear. They have nothing to hide. They constitute a legitimate profession and have no reason to fear this proposed legislation."

CoC Banquet Is A Sellout
E. O. "Red" Wedgworth, manager of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, stated this morning that the CoC annual banquet, scheduled for 7:30 p.m. tomorrow night in the senior high school cafeteria, is a complete sell-out and that plans are working out on schedule.

Dwight B. Havens, of the Washington, D. C., Chamber of Commerce, will be the main speaker and, he is to be in Pampa sometime tonight.

Havens is speaking in Wichita Falls today and will proceed to Pampa by private plane.

Pampa Gets Total Of .76 Inch Of Rain

The showers in Pampa Saturday night left a total of .76 of an inch of moisture before the skies cleared yesterday morning.

The rain measurement was recorded by the News' rain gauge. By 10 p.m. Saturday .52 of the total amount had been recorded.

To some farmers in the Top of Texas the rain was bad news. The farmers with grain and cotton crops may lose money because of the rain, Ralph Thomas, county agent, reported.

Thomas said that the rain would cause delay in harvesting grain crops. He stated that most of the grain in this area is ready to harvest and if the fields are muddy too long it may mean a loss of some of the grain.

"Each day it stays damp," Thomas said, "means another day less that the cotton crop has to mature." He explained that the dampness, caused the cotton boll to be slow in maturing and drying out.

"If there is any moisture in the cotton boll and we have a freeze it will destroy the fibers," he concluded.

The Gray County commissioners said today that as far as they knew, county roads had not been damaged by the rain. They reported that the rain had been absorbed by the ground and that the small amount of runoff had not been damaging.

Mideast Explosion Feared

Egyptian Tanks Move Up To Syria-Turkey Border

Some of the Egyptian troops and tanks which landed in Syria were reported moving up to the tense Turkish border today in a development that heightened fears of an explosion in the Middle East.

Egyptian sources in Cairo warned that Egypt "will take military action if necessary to defend Arab nationalism against big power moves"—a warning that caused new uneasiness in Israel and Jordan. Cairo newspaper pictures showed tanks accompanying the troops.

King Feisal of Iraq met with King Hussein of Jordan Sunday, and there were reports in Amman that Iraq, a Baghdad Pact ally of Turkey, might send troops into Jordan to defend it against any threat.

Danger Termed Serious
Israeli Foreign Minister Golda Meir said in New York the Syrian buildup was a "serious and grave danger to Israel." And official sources in Jerusalem said the Egyptian "publicity stunt" could provoke the Arab states into some new action.

But Israeli sources said the Egyptian move may alert the United States and NATO once more to the military threat to Turkey.

The Egyptian troop movement came against a background of Syrian and Soviet charges that Turkey and the United States planned aggression against Syria, and a solemn warning by the United States that it stood by its commitments to help defend Turkey.

The initial group of Egyptians landed in Syria at Port Latakia, only 20 miles from the Turkish border, while Syrian and Egyptian Soviet-made jets flew overhead. One battalion was reported to have landed for immediate deployment.

Damascus Radio disclosed that some Egyptian troops were being deployed along the Turkish border when it said "the arrival of Egyptian troops bolsters Syria's defenses in both the north (Turkey) and the south (Israel)."

Informed sources in Cairo said the Egyptian troops would be deployed along the Turkish border where the Syrians are undermanned. Most of the Syrian army is concentrated against Israel.

Queen Visits Canadian Parliament Opening

By GAY FAULEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
OTTAWA, Ont. (P)—Queen Elizabeth II wears her coronation gown today for the most important occasion of her visit to Canada—the opening of Parliament.

It will be the first time a reigning monarch has presided over Canada's governing body. For the solemn event the blue-eyed Queen brought along her coronation gown—a fabulously jeweled and embroidered white satin with sweeping skirt and slight train. It was designed by one of her favorite dressmakers, Norman Hartnell of London.

MATURE PARENT SOCIAL CALENDER

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
 Like many other divorcees, the K's requires their children to spend summers with their father. This summer Patty and Mike also spent it with his new wife.

Now that they're home again, their mother wants to ask them many questions. She wants to know whether their stepmother criticized their clothes and manners; whether she and their father argued over their behavior; what she looks like and whether they like her and think she'll make their father happy.

But every time she's tried to ask one of these questions, Patty and Mike have shown uneasiness and evaded her. Finally when she asked Patty directly whether Daddy seemed happy with his new wife, the child burst out, "Oh Mommy, for goodness sake, I don't know! And if I did know, why do you have to know, too?"

As a result of this refusal of confidence, Mrs. K. has been feeling rejected by her children as well as by their father. And her hurt has been making their homecoming less happy than it should be.

So for her and other divorced mothers at this time of year, I want to quote some words of Dr. Albert Schweitzer.

In his book, "Memoirs of Childhood and Youth," he writes:

"We must all beware of reproaching those we love with want of confidence in us if they are not always ready to let us look into all corners of their heart. The soul has its clothing of which we must not deprive it; and no one has the right to say to another: 'Because we belong to each other as we do, I have a right to know all your thoughts.' All demands of that sort are foolish and unwholesome. We might almost say that the better we get to know each other, the more mystery we see in each other. Only those who respect the personality of others can be of real use to them."

This is the view of one of the great practicing Christians of our time.

However, though we may not be able to practice forbearance as well as Dr. Schweitzer does, we can at least accept it as our ideal behavior.

We'll release Patty and Mike from the obligation to allow us to pry into all the corners of their hearts — and turn, instead, to our own. Instead of trying to explore their secret feelings, we'll start exploring the fears that lie behind our need to pry.

Mental Health Is Topic For Members At B. M. Baker PTA General Meeting

Mrs. R. A. Mack, president, opened the meeting of the B. M. Baker PTA executive board held Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 in the office of John Evans, principal.

Mrs. Evan Jones read her resignation as treasurer and was replaced by Mrs. D. L. Martindale. Mrs. Jones was then elected secretary.

A report on the City Council meeting and, also, on the Civil Defense meeting was given by Mrs. C. N. Gage. She stressed that Pampa is only eight hours flying time from a Russian base, and that our area is number thirteen on the list of potential bombing targets, due to industry. She said that for this reason, it is necessary that as many as possible should take the Red Cross First Aid courses.

Mrs. Glen Dearborn and Mrs. Roy Jones reported on the Youth Development Clinic, which was held recently in Stinnett. They both reported that they were favorably impressed with the police with which the teenagers discussed their parents and problems they encounter.

Mrs. Mack was elected by acclamation to attend the Texas PTA convention as delegate. The convention will be held in November.

Mrs. J. H. Trotter discussed plans for Fun Night. It was decided to have an auxiliary kitchen for the serving of coffee and cake during the evening.

Mrs. B. J. Lambright will be in charge of the nursery for the October PTA meeting.

Attending the board meeting were Mmes. Evans Jones Jr., Bill Lambright, Douglas Gordon, Don Haynes, C. N. Gage Jr., J. H. Trotter, Jack Lane, John Gee, Ed Johnson, D. M. Moore, R. W. Jones, C. W. Thompson, T. W. Teague, D. L. Martindale, Glen Dearborn, Boyd Bennett, Walter Simms, J. L. Hampton, Roy L. Jones, Russell Abbott, Don Keel, Carlos Grissom, R. A. Mack, Warren Jackson, Frankie Blackmon.

The general meeting for Baker PTA was conducted on Thursday afternoon by the president, Mrs. Mack.

Mrs. Austin Ruddick read "The Ten Commandments" for children, as an inspirational message.

John Evans, principal, acted as moderator for a panel discussion on Mental Health. Dr. Doris Vendrell stated that a child has good mental health 1) when he has a sense of belonging to his family; 2) has a sense of extroversion; 3) feels that he belongs to a social group; 4) possesses inner reliance upon himself; 5) feels he is needed and important.

Rev. Burgin Watkins of St. Paul Methodist Church, said that religion and mental health are intermingled. "To have mental health, we must have goals and these goals must be in proper order of their importance."

Mrs. Hazel Parker, third grade teacher, told of the problems encountered in the classroom.

"Each child comes from a different background and cultural background and therefore has different needs." Several examples that the teacher encounters in the classroom were given. Mrs. Parker also said that the development of the child lies in the teacher herself; her attitude towards the children and her own outlook.

Mrs. James Lewis reminded us that mental health should never be confused with mental illness. A definition was given for mental health, as "a person who has a desirable way of thinking, which results in a desirable way of living."

The panel was closed with questions from the group directed at the panel members.

During the business meeting, Mr. Evans announced that Mrs. Jones and Miss Clifford's room had been reserved for the room out prize.

Winners in the PTA membership drive were Mrs. Boston's first grade; Mrs. Ruddick's second grade; Miss McKamp's third grade; Mrs. Gordon's fourth grade; Miss Turner's fifth grade, and Mrs. Dial's sixth grade.

Mrs. Mack reminded members that the Baker Fun Night will be held on Oct. 25.

Mrs. Warren Jackson conducted a service for the birthday of the Texas PTA Congress. Candelights were Mmes. Glen Dearborn, L. O. Thornton, Willis Smith, Earl Eckroat, and J. H. Trotter. An apple, baked by Mrs. Evan Jones, was awarded to Mrs. Bill Farnsworth.

Modern dishwashers are supposed to do everything but eat for their owners. However, avoid putting wood kitchenware into the dishwasher. Prolonged wetting causes wood to swell and crack.

These '38 RCA Victor TV and High Fidelity Record Players, Radio-Record Players and Stereotape Players are in beautiful cabinets to harmonize in every room. RCA Victor's Slim-Line TV actually uses less floor space and brings you a larger picture. See the "corner" model, the TV cabinet that is shaped to fit into a corner of your room.

Select your big picture, 21" color TV from sets selling from $395!

Natural Color
With RCA Victor Color TV you enjoy the improved natural living color of the scene just the way the camera sees it. The entire color spectrum from soft, subdued pastels and glowing middle tones to the richest, most dramatic deep colors you've ever seen. This is the color of nature: true, life-like and real.

The mirror-sharp picture is reproduced by the new, RCA Alumined Tri-Color Picture tube to bring you the brightest, sharpest color in TV history—260 square inches of viewable picture. Simplified tuning in the new, 1958 RCA Victor Color TV's makes tuning as easy as that of black and white sets.

Other features include the balanced fidelity sound, automatic chrome control to equalize color intensity; continuous variable tone control; synchronization stabilizer to reduce local electrical interference; new improved circuits to maintain picture quality during black and white telecasts; dependable, low cost RCA factory service.

Black and White
New, RCA Victor Black and White TV cabinets are only 15 inches deep! This reduction in depth was made possible by the new 110 degree deflection picture tube, which gives the largest picture area possible for tube size, and yet permits the slender styling.

Black and White sets also enjoy the high and easy tuning, mirror sharp pictures, signal-strong chassis, improved balanced fidelity sound, new channel equalizer, and double signal amplification for maximum performance.

With RCA Victor you always enjoy this guarantee: The lowest priced RCA Victor Super Set will outperform the highest priced television set of any other make—or your money refunded.

Orthophonic High Fidelity
Your new, RCA Victor Orthophonic High Fidelity Record Players, Radios, Stereotape Players bring you the full dynamics of a symphony orchestra, the purity of a coloratura soprano, the mellow vibrancy of a jazz group. High fidelity captures the tonal qualities of each with exacting realism, with a faithfulness to the original performance never before achieved. RCA Victor adds to this the new dimension of stereophonic sound.

With RCA Victor you hear a true reflection of an original performance—the full range and clarity of concert hall presence; the precise tonal balance of faithful sound reproduction with no tonal exaggeration.

To all this add the stereophonic sound that gives the depth, realism and directional effect found until now only in actual performance. It is so real you can feel it, the spatial effect you experience when you close your eyes in a concert hall and yet can place the direction from which sound originates. It is a concert hall in your living room, a new dimension in sound.

Main reason for high consumer interest in fully automatic sewing machines, said Mr. Thomas, is the growth of creative sewing with the accent on fashion. "The automatic machine has expanded the horizons of home sewing by making it easy to do decorative stitching, create special effects, and generally add more fashion appeal to the garment. Further indication of the accent on fashion is the fact that a substantial number of women who purchase our straight stitching machines, including our Slant-Needle machine, also acquire the Singer automatic zigzag attachment."

While Singer introduced its first zigzag machines for family use has largely been a post-World War II phenomenon, according to Mr. Thomas and has coincided with the jump in creative sewing in the home over the same period.

Automatic Sewing Machine Sales Rise, Official Says

Automatic swing-needle sewing machines are accounting for an increasing share of total U. S. household sewing machine sales, according to Howard Thomas, manager of the Singer Sewing Center at 214 N. Cuyler. While traditional non-automatic models retain a substantial lead in number of machines produced and sold, sales of the higher-priced automatics, designed for top quality regular as well as decorative stitching now account for nearly a quarter of Singer's household unit sales in the United States.

Mr. Thomas pointed out that automatics currently are making even greater gains since the recent introduction of Singer's new Slant-O-Matic fully automatic model. The Slant-O-Matic is the first and only fully automatic machine for home use designed and completely manufactured in America.

Main reason for high consumer interest in fully automatic sewing machines, said Mr. Thomas, is the growth of creative sewing with the accent on fashion. "The automatic machine has expanded the horizons of home sewing by making it easy to do decorative stitching, create special effects, and generally add more fashion appeal to the garment. Further indication of the accent on fashion is the fact that a substantial number of women who purchase our straight stitching machines, including our Slant-Needle machine, also acquire the Singer automatic zigzag attachment."

clusive Slant-O-Matic features: the unique combination of swing and slant needle in an automatic zigzag machine; quiet, efficient gear drive; micro-length stitch control (capable of producing up to 200 stitches to the inch); and spotlighted bobbin.

He reported that the Slant-O-Matic was field tested on all types of fabrics and with all types of threads by seventy-nine sewing experts throughout the country prior to its public introduction. The verdict was universally favorable.

Colts, Browns Lead NFL

By EARL WRIGHT
United Press Sports Writer
The Baltimore Colts and Cleveland Browns, doling out points like misers counting gold pieces, hit the National Football League's one-quarter mark today with 2-0 records and became the teams to beat for the division titles.

Baltimore, "needed" by coach Weeb Ewbank when it trailed 10-7 at the half Sunday in Milwaukee, scored more than a point a minute in the last two periods to crush the Green Bay Packers, 45-17. It was the season's biggest offensive spree and the Colts have allowed their first three victims to average just 13.7 points.

There was virtually a fight a minute at Cleveland as the Browns tamed the Eagles, 24-7. The Browns and Eagles have been feuding for years and seven players were tossed out of Sunday's game for fighting. The Browns have allowed their first three opponents to average only 7.3 points and are beginning to look like the team that won six straight Eastern Division titles before losing the crown to the New York Giants in 1956.

New York, still not showing the power that made it league champion last year, edged the Washington Redskins, 24-20, and the Pittsburgh Steelers defeated the Chicago Cardinals, 29-20. The Giants and Steelers (both 2-1) trail the Browns by a game. Each has lost to Cleveland.

The Detroit Lions and San Francisco Forty-Niners (both 2-1) won thrillers and are a game behind the Colts in the Western race. The Lions intercepted six of Norm Van Brocklin's passes during a 10-7 victory over the Los Angeles Rams at Detroit and Y. A. Title's pass to R. C. Owens in the last 30 seconds gave the Forty-Niners a 21-7 victory over the Bears at Chicago.

Undefeated A&M Slated For Southwest Opener Saturday

By UNITED PRESS
Champion Texas A&M, gaining momentum with every game as it rolls on undefeated and untied, opens defense of its Southwest Conference laurels this week against Texas Christian while Texas tries to knock Arkansas off the high perch it has assumed.

These two games share the spotlight as the circuit turns to its first full week end-of-league play to find Coach Jack Mitchell's Razorbacks already well out in front of the pack with a fast successful start against TCU and Baylor.

The Aggies have emerged as the favorite on the basis of four straight victories, including last week's fairly easy 28-6 conquest of Houston, but Arkansas has replaced Baylor as the No. 2 choice, especially after the Razorbacks' come-from-behind 20-17 victory over the Bears last Saturday night.

Four Straight Wins
The Razorbacks, too, have four straight triumphs and they seem capable of calling on either a sharp passing game or a powerful running attack as the need arises. They ignored the overhead game in beating TCU, then hit seven of eight at crucial times in bounding Baylor.

They are apt to need both means of motivation against a stout and game Texas team that threw a scare into Oklahoma before bowing 21-7.

TCU, showing fresh signs of potent power, with the return of fullback Buddy Dike, crunched by Alabama 28-0 last week, and may offer the hard-nosed Aggies their stiffest test yet.

Rice and SMU suffered the same fate last week, being beaten by the margin of a conversion, but the Texas A&M Arkansas game at Fayetteville, Nov. 2 rather than the Aggie-Baylor contest at College Station a week earlier as the "decisive" game.

Of course, with only two conference games having been played, there's a lot of water to flow under the bridge between now and the time the championship is handed down the Saturday after Thanksgiving. Every team still has a chance and all of them have shown signs of knocking anybody off on a given day.

Sooners Safe Until ND

By ED FITE
United Press Sports Writer
DALLAS (UP)—Oklahoma Coach Bud Wilkinson shuddered at any mention of the idea, but it appeared today that his Sooners have survived a crisis in beating Texas and had clear sailing with their record-winning streak until Notre Dame looms on the horizon Nov. 16.

None of the next four foes on the schedule—Big Eight rivals Kansas, Colorado, Kansas State and Missouri—Shape up as tough as the Texas team which made the Oklahoma passing attack a laughing matter and gave the Sooners a real scare before becoming the 42nd link in the victory chain.

The tall, handsome Wilkinson, whose teams haven't lost to a Big Eight rival in the 60 games played since he took command 10 years ago, is a prime member of the worry clinic to which most college coaches belong, however.

Bud Pessimistic
He would be publicly pessimistic about his teams prospects even if the national champions were playing a high school team.

So he wouldn't even discuss the chances of the Sooners stretching their victory string to 47 straight between now and the Notre Dame clash in Norman a month from now.

"They'll all be up for us regardless of how they have fared up to that time," he said, adding that he's got to start worrying now about "an improved Kansas team that's coming to Norman next Saturday."

(Kansas lost 21-6 Saturday to an Iowa State team that Oklahoma mauled by a four-touchdown margin a week earlier.)

Texas proved last Saturday that Wilkinson had some things to be fretful about as far as his Sooners were concerned before the 1957 team can be put in the same class with the 1956 edition.

Good Defensively
Defensively, the Sooners compared fairly favorably by holding the Texas running game to 71 yards in 43 plays, intercepting five passes and gobbling up two of the Longhorn's three fumbles.

Irish May Help Settle '57 Grid Championship

By TIM MORIARTY
United Press Sports Writer
They settled Army's hash and, who knows, maybe Notre Dame's Fighting Irish now can help settle the 1957 college football championship.

Oklahoma and Michigan State, the leading contenders for the national title, unfortunately are not scheduled to meet this season. However, both play Notre Dame—on successive Saturdays next month.

So if the Sooners and the Spartans remain unbeaten, those games with the Irish may decide who wears the crown this season.

Notre Dame conceivably could join in the title chase if the Irish continue their strong comeback, but the odds—and the schedule—are against them.

Irish Idle Saturday
The Irish draw an open date in their murderous schedule next Saturday—and they deserve it after that comeback 23-21 victory over Army at Philadelphia.

Trailing by two touchdowns with one minute remaining in the third period, Notre Dame fought back to edge the powerful Cadets on a field goal by Monty Stickles, a third-string end from Poughkeepsie, N.Y. It was the first field goal Stickles ever attempted and it traveled 39 yards—a good boot even in the pro ranks.

Oklahoma, meanwhile, spotted Texas a 7-0 lead and then bounced back to lead the Longhorns, 21-7, for its 43rd straight victory while Michigan State employed the rushing of Walt Kowalczyk and the passing of Jim Ninowski to overpower Michigan, 35-6.

Fourth-ranked Minnesota kept pace with Michigan State in the Big Ten Conference by whipping Northwestern, 41-6, as Bobby Cox and Billy Martin each figured in two touchdowns.

Except for Michigan and Army, the other top-ranked teams rolled merely along the unbeaten highway.

Wray Cariton scored on a 65-yard run and kicked the decisive extra point as Duke edged Rice, 7-6; Auburn edged Kentucky, 6-0, on Billy Atkins' third period TD; Iowa opened defense of its Big Ten title by crushing Indiana, 47-7; Joe Francis scored twice as Oregon State blanked Idaho, 20-0, and Texas A&M, breezed to a 28-6 victory over Houston.

Arkansas Edges Baylor
Arkansas gained a foothold in the Southwest Conference race by edging Baylor, 20-17. Dartmouth and Princeton shared first place in the Ivy League, Auburn was tied with LSU and Mississippi for the lead in the Southeastern Conference.

Duke and North Carolina shared the top rung in the Atlantic Coast Conference, VMI and The Citadel paced the Southern, while Oregon State, Oregon and Washington State each had 2-0 records in the Pacific Coast Conference.

Oklahoma and Michigan State each run into league "patials" this week. The Sooners entertain Kansas and the Spartans host Purdue. Army will attempt to rebound against Pittsburgh, Michigan entertains Northwestern, Minnesota is at Illinois, Iowa hosts Wisconsin, Auburn visits Georgia Tech, Duke entertains Wake Forest.

Ray (No. 2) plays Brownville, Abilene (No. 3) faces Waco, Austin High (No. 4) meets Harlandale, Dallas Tech (No. 6) meets (No. 7) plays Tyler, Wichita Falls Dallas-Hillcrest, Highland Park (No. 7) plays Tyler, Wichita Falls (No. 8) meets Odessa, Baytown (No. 9) and Texarkana (No. 10) were beaten last week by Midland and Dallas Tech.

In AAA, Nederland, which shares the No. 1 rating with Graham, faces Beaumont High, Fort Neches (No. 3) plays Port Arthur, Snyder (No. 6) meets Midland, San Antonio Edison (No. 9) plays Alamo Heights and Andrews (No. 10) is idle. Kilgore (No. 4), Breckenridge (No. 5) and Brenham (No. 7) were beaten last week by Palestine, Snyder and El Campo.

Top-Notch Games
The schedule is crammed with top-notch games as more and more teams turn in district play with 20 titles figuring in the standings this week. Only one game, however, matches any of the 18 perfect record teams. That one is Killen of AAA.

Most of the state's top-rated eleven are expected to come through this week.

Texas Western Rests In BC Race

By UNITED PRESS
Pace-setting Texas Western and Arizona State take a rest this week, but the rest of the Border Conference football teams will be in action.

New Mexico A&M opens its league schedule at home in Las Cruces against West Texas State, which has already suffered one loop setback at the hands of defending champion Texas Western. Hardin-Simmons and Arizona, who have been able to muster but one victory and a tie between them, play outsiders. The Cowboys entertain Wichita at Abilene while Arizona hosts New Mexico at Tucson.

Last week, Arizona State beat Hardin-Simmons 25-9 to gain a share of the conference lead at 1-0 with Texas Western, which beat an old conference member, Texas Tech, 26-14.

East Texas outscored Trinity 27-20, but Arizona fell to Colorado 34-14. The Aggies were idle.

Graham To Battle Sweetwater Friday

By UNITED PRESS
Graham's sterling Steers throw their 73-point per game scoring average against spoiled-minded Sweetwater this week in the feature contest of a 77-game program mapped out for the state's Class AAAA-AAA schoolboy football teams.

Coach Ted Sitton, who has left his touchdown-happy first stringers play most of every game as they piled touchdowns upon touchdowns at Fort Worth Tech, Comanche and down in humiliating Jacksonville, Fort Worth North Side in order, may have to call on all his resources to get by Sweetwater's Mustangs.

The Ponies have managed to hold Breckenridge to a tie, spoil Stamford's great undefeated string and play Abilene one of the AAAA champ's best games in compiling a 3-1 record.

Russ Breaks Record In 5000 Meter Run

ROME (UP)—Vladimir Kuts of Russia broke the world record for the 5,000-meter run Sunday, thereby serving notice he will be the man to beat at that distance in the 1960 Olympics.

The wiry Russian, winner of the 5,000 and 10,000 meter races in the 1956 Olympics at Melbourne, was clocked in 13 minutes and 38 seconds flat, clipping 1.8 seconds off the previous world record of 13:58.8 set by Gordon Pirie of Britain.

The Foot Is Back In Football!

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (UP)—The foot was back in football today and it will be small wonder if the trophy case under the golden dome at Notre Dame contains a plaster model of a certain young man's big toe.

The extra point and the field goal, two gridiron weapons which have suffered sadly and almost to the point of extinction in recent years of lop-sided scoring, came into their own last week end. The size 11, in numerous instances, saved the day.

Most potent example was a lad named Monty Stickles.

You can call him a lad because he's only 19. That's as far as it can go. He's six-foot-four and weighs 215 pounds—but to the Cadets at West Point he appears a veritable giant.

Monty was almost a patay. He missed an extra point attempt and with only seven minutes left to play, his Notre Dame team trailed Army by that one-point margin, 21-20.

Boots Winning Field Goal
So Monty stepped up and booted a 32-yard field goal to win the ball game. And, to make it even worse as far as the Cadets are concerned, he hails from Poughkeepsie, N.Y., which is just a few miles up the Hudson from West Point.

Then there was Wray Cariton, the Duke halfback who lugged the leather—as the football experts say—for a total of 105 yards. A fine performance which, probably, wouldn't be remembered by next Friday afternoon. But he toed the point in a 7-6 win over Rice, and the Blue Devils will be talking about that one as long as the alumni gather.

Take, too, the case of Charley Rash. He calmly, albeit with palpitating heart, bounced his brogan up against the ball for the extra point which allowed Missouri to upset Southern Methodist, 7-6.

Coaches say that, once the going gets closer, the foot will play an evermore monumental part in separating the winners from the losers.

Sebo Will Dissent
You might have trouble selling this to Steve Sebo at Penn. His gladiators have booted field goals in their last two games, and lost. And Utah State kicked a field goal only to lose to New Mexico.

But it is indicative that the foot is providing "insurance" in cases, even if the premium falls overdue when the other team counters with touchdowns.

Washington & Lee has lost two straight games because its extra point kicker failed to convert. Long Beach State won its game Saturday by the extra point and Western Kentucky's field goal halted Youngstown.

Columbia scored one of the opening upsets of the season against Brown by way of the field goal. If it ever gets close again, look out.

Proving that the coach who has a kicker won't kick. Because the foot definitely is back in football and will be a deciding factor throughout the fall.

Laws vs Principles

This, we are told, is a nation governed by law.
The fact is not debated. But the idea behind it is certainly to be questioned. In theory, the establishment of a nation of law, is a device to prevent the rise of tyranny in the breasts of its politicians. The laws, then, are fundamentally aimed at PREVENTING lawlessness on the part of all people, ordinary citizens and government employees as well.
But here, a nation governed by law comes to a peculiar crossroad. For whereas the ordinary citizens must obey the law; the extraordinary citizens, namely the politicians, not only write the law and interpret it, but place themselves above it on almost every count. In other words, the large employment of law does not prevent tyranny. Instead, it can become and is becoming here, an instrument of the very tyranny it was designed to prevent.
This is law perverted. This is the employment of what passes for justice but is injustice.
The law is supposed to prevent plunder, preserve the peace and obtain equity. But now the laws of our federal government and these several states are being employed to collect plunder, to brew antagonisms and hatred, and to pass out favors to the exalted pressure groups which obey the dictates of the political money raisers.
Ignorance of the law, we are told, is no excuse. Are you entirely conversant with the law? We state categorically that no one in this land is. Aside from our basic Constitution there are, in the federal archives, 27,000 pages of laws enacted and enforced. Almost without exception these laws strike at the freedom of the ordinary citizens, expand the operations of the politicians to a state of license or near license, and confiscate much plunder. But this is only the beginning.
Our states, counties and cities have also enacted and are attempting to enforce something close to three million pages of printed laws, many of which are almost incomprehensible, but most of which cost us much in the way of both freedom and money.
So, this is our nation of law.
Rarely in history have so many people been governed by so many laws, at such astounding cost, with so little freedom and justice surviving the legal onslaught.
It should be clear to the least brilliant of us that laws do not produce a heaven on earth. For if they did we would be today in the midst of paradise.
With all our laws, made and interpreted by all our politicians, it is apparent that one very important thing has been overlooked. That thing is moral principle. If we abandon principle in favor of law, we have thrown away something good for something that can be and is being used for evil.
We cannot put our trust and confidence in politicians.
Nor can we put our trust and confidence in laws written and interpreted by politicians.
But we can put our trust and confidence in principles. And isn't it time we made the attempt?

One day the Worm family heard that a farmer was looking for a particular field, and so they decided that the safe thing to do would be to move to another field.
That day, when Baby Worm looked across to the old field, he saw that the farmer was already plowing the field. Mama Worm and Papa Worm exclaimed, "A lucky, we moved, or all four of us might have died."
The question is, why did Baby Worm say "all four of us"?
We are quick-witted, you may be able to answer right "off the bat," but your answer may be wrong. The answer is a deep thinker. It may take you a little longer, but you may get it right. It's fooling! It's a tricky question!

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. Hollis
Knight-Knowland Race For Governor Should Help

Senator Knowland's announcement that he will be a candidate for governor of California should be of interest to all people in the United States.
Even if he is never a candidate for President, the two candidates advocating opposite policies of labor unions should help people, especially in California, understand better the end results of closed shops or union shop unions.
Governor Knight has repeatedly said he would veto a right-to-work bill if passed by the legislature. Senator Knowland has said he will sign a proper right-to-work bill. If the legislature should pass a right-to-work bill, then it would be up to the opposition to get the signatures for referendum. If the issue is initiated, then those wanting a right-to-work bill would have to get the signatures. In either case, it would probably be left to the voters to decide.

It is hard to think of anything much more important to the general welfare of California and all the nation than a better understanding of the tyranny and exploitation that results when men have to join a union in order to work at certain trades and for certain firms. The more this question is discussed, the better off we all will be. I have never found a believer in closed shop who could answer certain questions without contradicting himself.

It seems to me that Knight will be in an embarrassing position trying to defend his advocacy of making every man dependent on labor bosses in order to serve himself and serve his fellowman.

Reactionary
Governor Knight already has accused Senator Knowland of being a reactionary because he does not advocate more power for labor unions. In fact, both of the candidates are more or less reactionary. Knight is undoubtedly much more reactionary than Knowland, if we properly define reaction. Reactionary, of course, is a smear word.

Reactionaries who cannot answer questions about what they are advocating without contradicting themselves, like to try to change the subject by calling real progressives reactionaries. A real reactionary is a person favoring return to the older order. In other words, it is anybody who advocates going back to the older forms of government that seem to operate on the theory that individuals got their inalienable rights from the government rather than from the Creator.

In primitive societies, the individual was nothing; the tribe or the government everything. On the other hand, the progressive is symbolized by the Declaration of Independence that sets the man up as supreme and as ruler over his own life and no one else's.

With this definition, Knight is an extreme reactionary. He is not a progressive man, unless slavery and tyranny are progressive. And it makes no difference whether man loses his right to choose and shop around by a dictator of one man or a dictator of the majority. In either case it is a majority of reaction.

Progress, on the other hand, is an attempt to set man free, just as civilization is a process of setting man free from having aggressive force or fraud used against him. To the degree that men have liberty and to the degree that men have liberty over our production go, our leisure go up, and to that degree will we have peace and goodwill among mankind.

So with these two candidates for governor discussing the question of reactionary and discussing the merits or demerits of right-to-work bills, the voters in California, in fact throughout the nation, will have an opportunity to better understand how government should be limited to only protecting man's lives and property.
Senator Knowland, in his announcement, contended that some people might not like what he advocates but they will have no trouble knowing what he is advocating and why he advocates it.
Governor Knight would have a lot of trouble trying to explain how forcing a man to pay initiation fees, dues and fines to a labor union in order to work was in harmony with the Decalogue, the Golden Rule and the ideologies on which the United States government was formed.
It will be extremely interesting to watch the tactics used by the two candidates. Anything that enlightens the voters will be helpful.

Rayburn-Eisenhower Clash Touched Off

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The long-heralded and classic clash between Congress and the White House—more specifically, between Speaker Sam Rayburn and President Eisenhower—over control of the sprawling, alphabetical agencies set by Franklin D. Roosevelt has been touched off in a blaze of political fireworks.
Already, Sam's Democratic investigators are threatening to hold an Eisenhower agency—the Civil Aeronautics Board—in contempt of Congress for denying full access to its secret files. Already, the Republican chairmen of these bureaus, which entitles them to the nickname of "bureaucrats," refer to the inquiry as the "Rayburn Gestapo."

Denying that he has started a "political witch hunt," with an eye on the 1958-1960 elections, the Speaker suspects that a checkup of this so-called "fourth arm of the government" is long overdue. There has never been an examination of their assumed authority or their activities since the New Deal expansion necessitated their creation more than 20 years ago.
LIBERALS IN F.D.R.'S DAY—This is the first attempt by Congress to ascertain how much control it possesses over these all-powerful, 20-odd bureaus. Although they were designed as independent agencies, they are manned by the Chief Executive, and his appointees are generally responsive to his whims and to his political philosophy.
F.D.R., naturally, loaded them with extreme liberals. By giving them vast power over the nation's economic and social structure, he hoped to root his reforms so deeply that they could not be eliminated or tampered with by hostile successors. His other reliance for preservation of his ideas and ideals was the Supreme Court as he reshaped it, and the United Nations as he planned it in the field of foreign affairs.

CONSERVATIVES — The New Deal bureaucrats fell in with his plans and purposes. They carried on his feud with the so-called "economic royalists"—business, industry, finance, etc. And the legislation creating these agencies was so framed that it was difficult to overturn their decisions in the courts.

Eisenhower has not been able to repeat or modify these basic laws. But he has, in Speaker Rayburn's belief, accomplished the same purpose by replacing Rooseveltian liberals with Republican conservatives. The men now in command have simply interpreted and executed their mandates in a manner more in accord with the Eisenhower philosophy of "moderation in all things."

Moreover, as was to be expected, they are said to have favored Republican interests rather than Democratic claimants in such fields as radio and television licenses, regulations governing industry and business, power site allocations, railroad rates, etc.

WANT FILES OPENED — The House Subcommittee assigned to this task is headed by Representative Morgan M. Moulder, a Missouri Democrat. In accord with usual procedure, he has asked all these agencies to open their files to his staff, which is headed by

The Doctor Says

By Edwin J. Jordan, M. D.

An unusual situation is presented by Mrs. L., whose letter I have had to shorten greatly.
Q — In 1946 my husband suffered a broken skull from a fall. Since that time he has had many severe epileptic fits in which he bites his tongue and the inside of his mouth. He has been told that the only thing which might bring relief would be an operation on the skull and brain, but he has refused this because the doctors will not guarantee success. What do you recommend?—Mrs. L.

A — This sounds like a kind of epilepsy which is the result of direct brain injury and is not of a hereditary or familial nature. It is called Jacksonian epilepsy. You have been correctly told that the only treatment which offers real promise of complete cure is operation. But no one can guarantee cure under such circumstances. It is unfortunate that surgical treatment has been so long delayed since now there may be some permanent brain damage. It is debatable whether surgery would now be recommended. But I think your husband should have the benefit of a present opinion on the chances of relief by surgery.

Q — Is there anything that can be done to fade freckles?—Miss J. M.

A — Some chemical preparations have been tried which are said to cause fading of freckles. However, there is some risk from most substances which will have this action on the skin so that a person who is troubled with freckles would best stay out of the sun.
Q — About a year ago we purchased a water softener. Since I have been using the soft water my hands chap and so do my daughter's. The skin cracks open and bleeds. I never had this condition before using soft water and when I use hard water my hands clear up. The company and I are having quite a feud about this because they do not think it possible for the soft water to cause sore hands.—Mrs. R. G.

A — A somewhat similar condition was asked and answered in the Journal of the American Medical Assn. several years ago. Part of the answer read: "Chemicals used for softening water are usually fairly strong alkalies. . . Many of these chemicals are primary irritants in powder or granular form and is strong solution." Actually, one would expect that these chemicals would be greatly diluted in a water softening process and not likely to be present in strong enough concentrations to cause such difficulties as you describe.

The American Way

LITTLE ROCK
Federalized troops with fixed bayonets are now forcing compulsory integration in a Little Rock, Arkansas High School. Whether the President acted wisely or foolishly in ordering this sudden action, it seems inevitable that it will spawn as much bitterness and hatred as it was designed to overcome, and that it will jeopardize the course of moderation, patience and goodwill in the South. This is a tragedy for everybody concerned.

Most fair-minded and perceptive people realize that a customary and traditional way of life cannot be suddenly wiped out overnight, especially when that way of life involves deep-rooted emotions and fears and memories. If outside force is imposed against the will of the majority, it can only fan and enflame these fears and emotions, not mitigate them, which in the long run is the only lasting solution.

This writer abhors every form of prejudice based upon anything except the character and worth of a person. The most appalling picture from Little Rock to me was of the cruel degradation hurled against those Negro children when they first tried to enter the school. How any human being can so liberally and willfully hurt children — any children — is beyond my comprehension. Whatever the rights or wrongs, wisdom or folly of the adults who ordered these children to enter, there was no justification or excuse whatsoever for the children to become the targets of anyone's hatred. I shall never forget the hate-distorted expression on the face of a beautiful little white girl as she spat out her venom at the Negro children, and I thought: "If I were that child's mother, I would weep in shame!"

But I still believe that the wiping out of segregation in the South should be and must be a slow, gradual course of adjustment, planned and executed by the Southern people themselves, and not a sudden upheaval compelled by Federal force. Justice and equality, which are the Negro's true goal, depend upon understanding, acceptance, and respect, and these cannot be enforced by Federal bayonets. Bayonets can force open closed doors, but they cannot force open closed or fearful minds and hearts.

It is ironic that Federal force is being used in the border states which had already moved forward in the process of racial integration. All of the anger of Federal and northern "liberals" is focused exclusively upon a governor who, however mistaken he may have been in this instance, is the chief official of a state which has already taken many voluntary steps against segregation.
In contrast, as everybody knows, several states in the deep South, like Louisiana, Alabama and Georgia, have yet to integrate a single Negro child into a white school, and yet no Federal action of any kind has been directed against them. To be sure, there have been no riots or mob incidents in these states, but everybody knows that the only reason there have not been is because there has not been the slightest move to implement the Supreme Court's decree on integration. The moral would seem to be that it is worse for a state to ignore the Supreme Court entirely than to move forward slowly and cautiously and get into trouble.

We would be more impressed by the moral argument about "enforcing the law and quelling 'insubordination against court orders' if it were not being shouted by so many politicians who have never once applied this same moral argument against labor unions which have defied the law and the courts and established mob rule. Surely we can doubt the integrity of anyone who deplores violence and mob-rule in one instance, but condones it in another. Many of these "liberal" hearts which bleed publicly for the rights of Negroes, have never been known to feel even a twinge about the rights of those Americans whose persons and properties have been brutally attacked by strikers.

Everyone should be revolted by that hate-distorted expression on the face of a Little Rock High School girl. But they should be equally revolted by the same hate-distorted expression on the faces of labor union goons as they commit violence against fellow human beings. Hate, bitterness and violence are ugly at all times. They have no place in a free and democratic society. Somehow — we must conquer them, and the question is—HOW? There is no quick and easy answer!

BEFORE THE DISHES ARE DONE

BETTY KNOWLES HUNT

WHAT IS THE TRUTH?
(EDITORS NOTE: Willis E. Stone is author of the "Proposed 23rd Amendment" and President of the American Progress Foundation, Los Angeles.)
The Gospel According to St. John 8:32, says: "And ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."
In these troubled days, with the fine art of propaganda developed to a high science, it is difficult to know the truth.
Is it true that the taxpayers won a great victory in the budget cut during the recent session of Congress? Or is it true that the taxpayers had been constantly harassed because Congress actually appropriated more tax dollars than in any other year of our peacetime history?
Is it true, as the President recently declared, that it is impossible to cut taxes because of the spending of government? Or is it true, as the President said so many times in years gone by that taxes can be drastically reduced by cutting out the unnecessary spending in government?
Is it true that the federal government must build schools, roads, dams, homes and a multitude of other things because the people are too poor, too niggardly or too ignorant to do these things for themselves? Or is it true that bureaucrats have captured the machinery of government to establish themselves in these business ventures as princes of privilege, not required to pay interest or taxes and operating with absolute immunity from law?
Is it true that the costs of government are at the irreducible minimum, as the political propagandists of both parties constantly declare? Or is it true, as the American Progress Foundation, the Organization to Repeal Federal Income Taxes, and FACT SHEET offer to prove, the cost of government can be cut more than in half by terminating government's competition with its own citizens?
Such claims and counter-claims, uttered and reuttered, by people in government and out, have managed to thoroughly confuse us.
What can we believe? What is the truth? Why does not the Congress of the United States, composed of people we have elected, hold extensive and exhaustive hearings to bring out the truth in all this confusion of claims and counter-claims?
Many years ago a group of studious Americans proposed that the practice be ended of using federal agencies to invade various enterprises of the people. In fact, a Constitutional Amendment was devised to achieve this truly American objective.
Congressional Committees' hold hearings on any and every proposal TO SPEND tax dollars, but for more than five years Congressional Committees have refused to hold hearings on methods of SAVING tax dollars.
A few private citizens have, with amazing devotion to principle, carried on exhaustive studies into the labyrinth of federal corporate activities. More than 700 of them have been identified.
By eliminating these activities, which exist without constitutional authority, the savings would be ample to permit the total repeal of all federal income taxes. The evidence has become so mountainous in support of this contention that in report of the 16th (Income Tax) subcommittee has been added to the "Proposed 23rd Amendment" designed to stop governmental competition with private citizens. A summary of this data is available to readers of this column by addressing:
FACT SHEET, Box 2948, Los Angeles 28, California.

The "Proposed 23rd Amendment" is now pending in Congress as H.J. Res. 355. Some weeks ago this column addressed an "Open Letter" to Congressman Emanuel Celler, Chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, petitioning him to call hearings on the proposal so that the truth can be heard and the American people learn the provable facts.
Literally thousands of letters appealing for these hearings have been addressed to the Committee, Mr. Celler on August 7, 1957, responded and indicated he might call these hearings sometime in 1958 but he makes no iron-clad commitment.
To insure these hearings, add your voice to the growing demand and learn the truth regarding the taxing and spending of government which so vitally affects you. Address your request for hearings on H. J. Res. 355 to Hon. Emanuel Celler, Chairman, Judiciary Committee, Washington, D.C.

WORKERS' PARADISE ITEM
(N. Y. Daily News)
There isn't enough work for the workers in the workers' paradise, Red China division. So a leading Chinese Communist magazine urges abandonment of the practice of keeping unneeded employees on the payrolls. Meanwhile, in the foamy capitalist United States, the U. S. Steel Corp. is closing its Donora, Pa., zinc plants Nov. 1, but the 450 employees to be let go will collect about $1,000,000 in regular and supplemental unemployment benefits. Extended comment seems unnecessary, even if we had the space for it.

PRINCESS GRACE HONORED

MONACO (UP)—Princess Grace of Monaco has received a special "golden hat" award from an American military trade association as "the best chapanned woman in the world." Drew Dudley, representing the United States Milliners Union, Tuesday presented the princess, formerly Hollywood's Grace Kelly, with a golden diadem decorated with flowers.

Some chemical preparations have been tried which are said to cause fading of freckles. However, there is some risk from most substances which will have this action on the skin so that a person who is troubled with freckles would best stay out of the sun.

Hollywood Has Brando Mystery

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—The mystery of whether Marlon Brando married an Indian miss or a Wales lass tented in Hollywood today as the actor and his beautiful young bride honeymooned in secret.

Conflicting stories of whether or not Brando's bride, Anna Kashfi, 23, was or was not an Indian arose soon after the couple was wed in a surprise ceremony Friday night in the Pasadena home of the actor's aunt.

A Cardiff, Wales, factory worker, William Patrick O'Callaghan, claimed that the 23-year-old, beautiful Miss Kashfi was really his daughter Joan, a former butcher's assistant and actress, born in California.

Brando's aunt, Mrs. Bette Lindemeyer, insisted today that her nephew's wife was "at least part Indian, if not 100 per cent." She said she believed O'Callaghan was a publicity seeker.

The officer was given first aid treatment at a hospital, where his condition was reported painful but not serious.

Guichard said he had spotted the truck speeding and had clocked it at 70 miles an hour before overtaking it in the Negro district. As he started to put Martin under arrest, the officer related, his arms were pinned to his sides and other Negroes held and beat him while Martin drove away.

No weapons were used, according to the officer, who managed to break free after a lengthy struggle and use his radio. The incident occurred shortly after noon.

FLOOD

ambulances were sent to the scene but were not needed. The wash-out was repaired and traffic later resumed, the patrol said.

The patrol at San Angelo said a number of roads were closed in the area including highway 277 between Elmore and Sonora and highway 67 and 83 south of Ballinger.

Business Places Escape

The main business section of Ballinger and most of the town escaped today's flood waters but, if the Colorado continues to rise, they may be affected, Keys said. Some merchants began moving stock as a precautionary measure.

Both the Colorado and Elm Creek run through Ballinger. Rains of 8 to 10 inches fell in the Colorado watershed above the town, accounting for the flooding. The Colorado measured 1.5 miles wide in some places northwest of San Angelo.

Company E, 142nd Infantry Regiment of the 38th Division, was using its trucks to help move furniture from homes in the flood area.

Danger of Flooding

The Cisco - Eastland - Ranger area was in danger of serious flooding because of the 11.40-inch rain at Cisco. Eastland had 9 inches and Ranger 8 inches.

Space Satellites To Carry People Being Developed

WASHINGTON (UP)—Three U. S. aircraft companies are developing passenger-carrying space satellites fitted with television and photographic equipment for reconnaissance. Aviation Week magazine reports.

Russia also is working on such a satellite, it said.

Such a vehicle, able to visually record vast areas of land and sea, would have enormous military as well as scientific value.

The magazine said in an article that Lockheed Aircraft Corp. presently is working on a preliminary earth-circling reconnaissance satellite. Later versions would be manned, it said.

The trade journal said Aeronutronic Systems Inc. is conducting studies along similar lines. In addition, it said, Rand Corp. supported chiefly by Air Force funds, "has pushed work on such satellites for the last 10 years."

It said the Lockheed vehicle was known as the "Pied Piper," or more popularly as "Big Brother." According to the magazine, Pied Piper dates back to early 1956 when a Lockheed airframe-avionics team won a competition against several other teams.

The satellite would carry television, photographic cameras, and an infra-red spotter or radar scanner systems, according to the magazine.

"The feeling is that Pied Piper could not be ready in the unmanned version before 1960 unless a tremendous effort is placed behind it," Aviation Week said. The manned version, even on an accelerated schedule, is closer to 1965, it added.

Only 38 years ago, it took twice as much crude oil to produce a gallon of gasoline as it does today.

Volcano Erupts In Japan

TOKYO (UP)—The sudden eruption of Tokyo's "suicide volcano," Mount Mihara, appeared to be a one-shot blast that came at a bad time, police said today.

One sightseer, Kiyomi Maki, 24, was hit on the head and killed by a piece of volcanic rock while standing on an observation platform. Another 54 were injured by flying stones and hot ashes.

The 2,477-foot mountain, noted for the many suicides by leaps into its crater, is on an island south of Tokyo and technically in the greater Tokyo area.
