Girl Denies Charge By Gov. Faubus

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus charges that paratroopers have invaded the girls' dressing room at Central High School was denied today by a girl student who said she may have been the original source of the charge.

Catherine Craighead, a 14-year-old orphan who is a sophomore at Central High, told reporters she believes Faubus' charge may be an "exaggerated" version of something she said.

Faubus made the allegation Monday. School officials termed it "ridiculous." The White House said it was "completely untrue and completely vulgar."

The governor retorted that we'll prove it when the time comes. He said his charge was based on complaints from "mothers."

Word From Mothers

The Central High Mothers' League, a segregationist group which has worked closely with Faubus, had indicated to newsmen that Catherine, who lives at an orphanage here, could corroborate the governor's allegations.

But Catherine said that "somewhere along the line there has been an exaggeration."

"The soldiers do not go into the girls' dressing room," she said. She said troops on corridor duty escort Negro girls to the head of a stairway, across a hall from the entrance to the dressing room, as part of their assignment of preventing any incident as the Negroes move from one class to another.

"If the soldiers lingered at the top of the stairs, they might be able to look into the dressing room when the door was being opened or closed," she said. "But I've never seen them do that."

Usual Troop Escort

The nine Negro students arrived at Central High with their usual troop escort this morning. About 100 white students were standing around near the entrance, waiting for the school bell to ring. They paid no particular heed to the Negroes' arrival. There was no shouting, no demonstration of any kind.

Red Cross In Board Meeting This Morning

The Pampa Red Cross Board met this morning in Johnson's Cafe at 7, with John F. Campbell, chapter chairman, presiding.

Attending the meeting were 16 members and three guests. The invocation was given by Sam Baggart and the minutes and correspondence were read by the secretary.

The group voted to join the Council of Chapters, which is set up for the purpose of clearing Red Cross problems, and doing better service for veterans' hospitals and the Amarillo Air Force Base Hospital. Mrs. Euna Lee Moores was elected to serve as delegate to the Council with Mrs. C. E. Jeffries as alternate. The council is composed of 13 counties.

In the line of new business, it was announced that the State Convention of American Red Cross will be held in Galveston Nov. 7-8. One delegate will be sent from the Pampa chapter.

Also mentioned was the First Aid Training Course being conducted in Amarillo now as a refresher course for the new text book that was recently distributed. Attending the course from this area are Alvin Lewis of White Deer and W. C. Puryear and Mrs. Wayne Jones of Pampa. Puryear is taking the entire five days of the course in preparation for becoming a First Aid Instructor.

Other business taken care of concerned a mobile first aid unit, which was delegated to Mrs. Walter Noel, to be carried in her car. Mrs. Noel is a First Aid Instructor.

Bennie Waller introduced Bob Cardin as speaker for the program. Cardin talked on the United Fund of Pampa and Lefors.

The next meeting of the board will be on the second Tuesday of November. Sam Beggart is in charge of the program, which is scheduled to be on Junior Red Cross.

'More To Come,' Says Khrushchev

By HENRY SHAPIRO
United Press Staff Correspondent
MOSCOW (UP)—Soviet Party Chief Nikita Khrushchev said today the intercontinental ballistic missile is "only one of the many things we have." He had described the ICBM earlier as a "terrible and pitiless weapon."

"The age of bombers is over," Khrushchev said. "Our ICBM shows it is no good to send humanly controlled machines against missiles."

"This all points to the fact we have even more things up our sleeves. You cannot send human flesh and blood to fight things like that."

Khrushchev spoke today to two British members of Parliament whom he received in his Kremlin office. Last night he spoke at a reception at the East German embassy and warned the United States and Turkey to watch their step in the Middle East because it will be too late "once guns begin to fire and rockets to fly."

Tough New Policy

Diplomatic sources in London said Khrushchev's speeches apparently heralded a tough new diplomatic policy occasioned by launching of the Soviet earth satellite.

(The sources said the tough policy had been expected, but the exact target was not known—that it could have been anywhere from Germany to the Far East. They said it apparently was Turkey whose staunch pro-western stand has been a major irritant to Russia.)

(Several hours before Khrushchev spoke in Moscow the Syrian press began whipping up a froth of charges alleging serious border air and ground incidents. The press reports told of a 30-minute shooting incident between Turkish and Syrian patrols and of a Turkish fighter plane flying over Syria. Turkey had no comment.)

US To Fire Missile Higher Than Satellite

By TOM NELSON,
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States is ready to recoup some of its losses in the battle of space with a rocket fired from a balloon-borne platform 20 miles above the earth.

As soon as weather conditions are right the air force will try to send a rocket soaring 1,000 to 4,000 miles above the earth's surface—higher than the Russian satellite or any other man-made device has ever reached.

Launching of the space rocket from a balloon over Eniwetok Atoll in the Pacific by "Project Far Side" has been set to go since late last month. But scientists delayed it waiting for just the right weather.

In Planning Stage

If successful, "far side" may be interpreted as an answer to the newly launched Soviet satellite. But actually it has been in the planning stages for months.

Nevertheless it could restore a little of the prestige this country has lost to the Russians in the last few days.

A huge balloon will lift the rocket on a platform to a point 20 miles above Eniwetok to help free it from the earth's atmosphere. Then the rocket will fire, in four stages, into outer space.

How far will it go? Air force spokesmen frankly don't know. With perfect conditions, it could even go 5,000 miles. But they said they will be satisfied if it exceeds 1,000 miles.

Launched At Angle

It won't circle the earth like Russia's satellite. The air force said that isn't the idea behind the project. So it won't be launched at the angle needed to place it in an orbit around the earth.

As it speeds through the skies, the rocket will radio back invaluable scientific data on cosmic rays, the magnetic field of the earth, and other observations.

Red Satellite Falls; May Be Slowing

By DANIEL F. GILMORE
United Press Staff Correspondent
LONDON (UP)—Radio signals from the Soviet's earth satellite faltered several times during the night and there were reports today the man-made moon might be slowing down.

The Danish Technical University's microwave laboratory in Copenhagen and the British Broadcasting Corporation in London both noted the faltering but said the signals then returned to the familiar "beep beep" heard by scientists throughout the world.

In Washington, the Naval Research Laboratory said its monitoring operations were normal. Other American observation posts reported temporarily losing the radio signal last night.

Naval laboratory officials speculated the sound may have been lost elsewhere due to atmospheric disturbances or radio interference in the ionosphere.

Slowing Down

Danish scientists reported the satellite appeared to be slowing down. They said its speed appeared to be down some 2,500 miles an hour from the peak speed of 18,000 miles an hour first recorded last Saturday.

Soviet scientists predicted the satellite would remain in the heavens for several weeks and that it would then fall into the atmosphere and be consumed like a meteor. However, the time the satellite might remain in the sky has been revised upward several times.

The radio beam from the satellite was first noted faltering last night when it apparently stuck and emitted a steady note instead of the intermittent pulses. It returned to normal shortly afterwards.

The BBC said it "stuck" again like, changed to something sometimes described as cricket-like, changed to something resembling the yelp of an injured dog. By 7 a.m. it was back to normal and the signal came in loud and clear.

Accident Report For September

A total of 35 accidents within the city limits were investigated by the police department during September.

The report was made this morning by Jim Conner, chief of police, who stated that a total of 413 accidents had been investigated in Pampa between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30.

During September, the largest number of accidents, on an average, occurred on Saturday and the hours of 12 to 1 p.m. and 4 to 5 p.m. saw the largest average of accidents.

Once again failure to grant right-of-way, with nine accidents, and improper starting from a parked position, with six accidents, accounted for the largest number of accidents, Conner stated. He said that these violations were the opinions of the investigating officers.

The report also indicated that a total of 33 charges were filed last month against drivers causing accidents.

If it comes from a hardware store, we have it.

Commission OK's New Housing Law

By FRED M. PARKER
Pampa News Staff Writer

With the third and final reading of Ordinance 481 this morning by the City Commission, it is now a violation of the city laws to move a house into the city or to move a house from one location to another in the city without the approval of the Building Inspector.

The ordinance sets up a secondary fire zone, which includes all of Pampa and any additions to the city limits of Pampa, and states that houses that do not meet certain specifications cannot be moved.

If the house is below standard, one that has depreciated more than 50 per cent or that does not meet the standard for those being constructed in the area of town to which it is to be moved, it will not be granted the moving permit.

The ordinance provides a maximum fine of $200 for violations.

Utility Ordinance

The commission also approved this morning the third and final reading of Ordinance 478. This ordinance provides for a standard rate to be charged all commercial customers of Southwestern Public Service Co. Under the new ordinance, only one rate will be charged for commercial service, regardless of the type of service used by the various businesses.

Street Lighting

Representatives of Southwestern

Public Service Co. met with the commission and discussed the installation of lights along the section of Hobart between Brown and Francis. It was tentatively agreed that 20,000 lumen mercury vapor lights will be installed when the new underpass is completed.

The possibility of rerouting major overhead cables, now running along the underpass site, was also discussed. Gordon Lyons, manager of the light company, reported (See COMMISSION, Page 3)

Prevention Of Fires Talked By Fire Chief

Fire Chief Ernest Winborne today announced the Fire Department's cooperation with other civic groups in using simple precautionary methods to prevent damaging fires.

The Fire Chief, discussing replacement costs, said that, "even in small fires, where the firemen are able to confine the flames to one room, it costs property owners two to three times as much to refurbish the burned-out areas as it did ten years ago." The Chief particularly emphasized the following points:

- "Great damage to our city is caused by rubbish fires. If we remove the rubbish from our cellars, attics and closets, fire losses will come down and many alarms will be eliminated.
- "Buildings classified as conflagration hazards should be protected by automatic sprinklers. Such installations will pay for themselves out of savings in insurance premiums and as a result our conflagration areas will be eliminated.
- "Basement fires are the hardest to fight. Firemen have difficulty fighting their way in and often do not know what the conditions will be when they reach the basement. Since a large percentage of all business fires originate in basements, if these also were protected by automatic sprinklers, our country's nearly one billion dollars in fire losses would be greatly reduced."

The Chief particularly emphasized the large number of fires caused from carelessness in handling matches and smoking.

"Matches should be kept where small children cannot reach them and a liberal supply of ash trays throughout the house would reduce fires," the Chief said. He particularly emphasized that "if you value your life, do not smoke in bed!"

President To Discuss Satellite With Council

WASHINGTON (UP)—The White House made it clear today the administration is not being thrown into hasty action by the Russian satellite now spinning around the globe.

President Eisenhower plans to discuss the satellite with the National Security Council Thursday amid mounting pressure for a drastic reappraisal of U. S. defense policies.

But presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty said Monday there are no plans for the President to receive a special briefing on the Red satellite before the security council meeting. He said after Eisenhower returned Monday from a weekend at Gettysburg, Pa., the President is being kept informed of developments, but regarded the launching as no surprise.

Administration Under Pressure

The President and his advisers are under strong pressure to take a second look at the nation's missile program. U.S. scientists have indicated strongly they feel Russia possesses the intercontinental ballistic missile, a claim the administration played down.

Some of the scientists and leading members of congress are urging a step-up in the satellite and rocket programs to beat Russia to the moon and planets. They agreed that Russia has jumped into a head start into space and this country can catch up only by spending enough money.

Such a program would demand a big increase in defense spending, and probably would wipe out all hope of a tax cut next year.

Stevenson Speaks Out

In Chicago, Adlai Stevenson, the 1952 and 1956 Democratic presidential candidate, accused the Eisenhower administration of "misleading" the nation about Russia's progress in the intercontinental missile field. He said "not just our pride but our security is at stake."

Rep. J. Vaughan Gary (D-Va.) joined several other lawmakers in demanding a sweeping congressional investigation of why the U.S. is "trailing" Russia in the guided missiles field. He said the administration has said repeatedly "we were far in advance of Russia in the development of modern weapons."

But Gary said the launching of the Russian satellite shows "conclusively this is not true."

Rocket Issue Effective

Dr. Lloyd V. Berkner, Vice Chairman of the international committee for the International Geophysical Year (IGY), said the rocket used to launch the Soviet satellite must have been very large and would be "quite effective" as a military weapon.

He was asked if this indicated Russia had the ability to hit New York with an intercontinental missile.

"It would be a fair assumption," he replied, "if you could also assume they knew how to aim it precisely. Evidently, the aiming in the launching of the satellite was extremely good or they would not have achieved such a good orbit."

At the Barcelona meeting, almost all the scientists said that money was the only thing barring the way to the moon. Electronic engineer Gerald Gross of Washington and Prof. Theodor Von Karman, a NATO aerodynamics expert, said it could be easily done in two years.

New Outbreaks Of Respiratory Ailments

By UNITED PRESS

New outbreaks of respiratory ailments hit a number of midwestern cities today. In New York, authorities warned that about one million persons are expected to be stricken with Asian flu before the disease runs its course.

Fort Wayne, Ind., and Normal and Peoria, Ill., were among the latest cities to report "flu-type" illnesses.

In Milwaukee, mass vaccinations for teachers were underway to combat a flu epidemic there, and another epidemic at Grand Rapids, Mich., kept some 5,000 children home from school Monday.

Although the Asian flu epidemic in New York showed a decline Monday for the fourth straight day, Dr. Morris Greenberg, the city's preventable disease director, warned that one in every 10 of New York's 10 million residents are expected to come down with the flu.

Flu Causes Closing Of Schools

By UNITED PRESS

The flu has caused closing of at least three schools in the Beaumont area and absenteeism ran from 20 to 25 per cent in big city schools at Dallas and Austin, a survey showed today.

Colleges were hit hardest first when the flu began sweeping across Texas. Secondary schools now seem to be bearing the brunt.

Sour Lake school, in the Beaumont area, closed three days last week, opened again Monday but closed before the day was out because of high absenteeism. The closed Texas school system also closed and doesn't expect to reopen before Thursday. The Chance - Loeb independent school district north of Beaumont was closed "indefinitely."

Public schools at Austin reported absenteeism as high as 25 per cent because of the flu. The city's health officer, Dr. Ben Primer, said an estimated 2,450 new cases of flu were reported last week in Austin.

Vandalism, Theft Are Investigated

The vandalism of a 1947 Chevrolet, owned by Sid Hill, which was parked in the alley behind 820 E. Frederic last night, was being investigated by H. A. Doggett, juvenile officers, today.

The vandalism was reported to the police department last night and investigation revealed that the broken windows in the car was probably the work of children.

The case was turned over to Doggett who questioned three youths last night. He stated that no action has been taken and that he is still investigating the vandalism to determine the identity of those responsible.

Local officers, who investigated the case at first, reported that both sides of the windshield and five other windows in the car were broken. One officer said, "Apparently the windows were broken with rocks from a sling shot."

A stolen tire and wheel was also on the list of investigations at the police department this morning. Jim Conner, chief of police, stated that Thomas Halligan, 515 N. Yeager, reported that the tire and wheel had been stolen sometime Sunday night. The tire is a 10-13 black stielwell U.S. Royal, Conner said.

Little Boy Celebrating What May Be Last Birthday Party

MIDDLEBORO, Mass. (UP)—A bright-eyed little boy whose simple appeal touched the hearts of thousands of Americans today plays host at what doctors expect will be his last birthday party.

It is the ninth birthday anniversary for the lad who doctors and nurses at Lakeville Sanitarium known as "Little Boy Blue" and "Francis X." And it will be marked by a spectacular birthday party, unlike that ever experienced by most youngsters.

It also most likely will be the last birthday party that Francis ever has. For he is suffering from muscular dystrophy, a fatal disease. And doctors say it will probably claim his life before another birthday anniversary arrives.

But today, the bright-eyed lad was all aglow. He has invited his doctors and nurses and the more than 75 other child patients to the party in his room. There they'll see a closed-circuit telecast from Hollywood, featuring some of the entertainment world's highest-priced talent.

Jerry Lewis

The show, hastily arranged Monday by comedian Jerry Lewis, will be piped in specifically for Francis X. With such stars as Lewis, Eddie Cantor, Hugh O'Brian, George Gobel and Tennessee Ernie Ford, it shapes up as a worthy rival of any spectacular ever produced on commercial television.

The television show, which would cost about $300,000 to produce commercially, is the climax of the tremendous response to a simple appeal made by Francis last week.

For more than four months, the lad had endured an agonizing loneliness. Confined to a hospital bed, he had received no visitors, no mail. His mother was dead, his father in jail for her murder, which Francis had witnessed.

With his birthday anniversary approaching, he expressed a desire through a hospital official to

Red Atomic Train Next, It Is Thought

WASHINGTON (UP)—Russia is expected to follow up its earth satellite with announcement soon of an atomic railway locomotive and the harnessing of solar energy to generate electricity.

Soviet scientists have clearly indicated they are applying new technology to industry and are not reserving it solely for their military program or "pure science."

The announcements could startle industrial nations of the free world. But they also could be aimed at quieting discontent with the low standard of living at home.

Western observers believe the new revelations may come at the 40th anniversary celebration of the Bolshevik Revolution Nov. 7.

Fragmentary reports translated from Moscow publications have been filtering into Washington for several weeks concerning Russian discoveries of economic significance. But they attracted little attention until the Soviet satellite compelled a general reappraisal of the current Russian technology.

United States officials believe Soviet political leaders are putting scientific achievements into the full limelight of propaganda, in order to offset dissatisfaction of the Communist nations over the shortage of consumer goods and low standard of living.

They note people in Communist countries have become increasingly conscious of the importance of American "applied science" leading to mass production for the general welfare of the entire population.

Air Force Probes Unidentified Flying Object

COCOA, Fla. (UP)—Air Force officials said today that continuing reports of an unidentified flying object near the Cape Canaveral guided missile test center are under investigation.

The object, a whitish light, oval in shape, showed up for the second time Monday night. At least a dozen persons at a nearby roller skating rink reported seeing it.

One of the observers was Al Leonard of radio station WKKO. "I hate to say this, but it sure looked like what you might call a flying saucer," he reported.

Leonard estimated the height of the object at 5,000 feet. He said it changed directions at least twice and was visible off and on between 10 and 10:15 p.m. e.s.t.

The radio station received hundreds of calls from persons who sighted a similar object last Friday night between the hours of 10 p.m. and 12:30 a.m.

A check with Patrick Air Force Base at Cocoa Beach, Leonard said, indicated there was no guided missile testing under way at the time which would account for the object flitting, around overhead, sometimes slowly and other times at a very fast speed.

The treasurer of the United States is actual custodian of the public moneys.

A paving estimate, for the final work on the seal coating of streets, was approved for Ray Boswell in the amount of $1,416.30. Also approved was the estimate for J. L. Colville, for work completed on the drainage structure at 23rd and the Perryton Parkway in the amount of $1,538.

A total of $14,365 was approved in payment to Brodie-Enix Construction Co. for work completed last month on the sewer lines and an estimate in the amount of $7,000.

GREAT GAME, LEAPTURTLE—A daring youngster plays a sort of "leapfrog" with a giant loggerhead turtle captured by fishermen in Tokyo Bay, Japan. Welcoming the 576-pound reptile, estimated to be about 150 years old, as a sign of good luck, the fishermen brought it ashore. Following a festival presided over by a Shinto priest, the catch was returned to the sea.

STRENGTH
West European diplomats are watching anxiously for some move by Soviet Russia, Russia's launching of an earth satellite, following close upon the announcement that it had successfully fired an intercontinental ballistic missile, puts the Kremlin in a "position of strength," as the diplomats put it. West Berlin, West Germany or Turkey might be targets in a diplomatic offensive.

ZHUKOV
It's bad news also, that Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov, Soviet Defense Minister, is arriving in Yugoslavia tomorrow on an official visit. Zhukov will be basking in the reflected glow of his country's triumph. Independent Communist President Tito, like the Asian and African "neutrals," — and the fence-straddlers all over the world — can hardly help but be impressed.

OVERTIME
Government departments are working overtime in Washington to get arrangements for Queen Elizabeth's visit letter-perfect. White House and state department experts have been meeting ever since June, working out schedule and protocol problems. Now the time for preparation is getting short — the Queen after visiting Canada arrives in Williamsburg, Va., on Oct. 16th, in Washington on the 17th and in New York on the 21st.

NO SALE
There's no doubt that Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru will make a big pitch to sell Japan's Premier Nobusuke Kishi on his "neutralist" policy during his current visit to Tokyo. And he couldn't have picked a better time. But Kishi's answer, Tokyo says, will be "no." It was noted that when Nehru stepped down the plane ramp, he was greeted by an honor guard of Japan's new army. It was the first time members of Japan's "ground defense force" had been turned out for a state visitor.

PESSIMISM
Insiders in Paris are talking optimistically about the possibility that the French cabinet crisis might last for weeks, even months. Ultimately, they foresee a national election and constitutional changes that would give a "strong man" like Gen. Charles De Gaulle authority to run a stable government. But they look for a lot more fiddling first.

NOT YET
Washington doesn't put much stock in the recent military claim that radar can spot an incoming intercontinental ballistic missile 3,000 miles away. Scientists who attended last week's international geophysical year conference there scoffed at it. At such a distance, they said, nobody could be sure whether the radar signals were caused by a rocket or by radio pulses in the high atmosphere. Atmosphere reflections produce "mirage" images which give rise to some flying saucer reports. That's a bug that must be ironed out.

Skellytown Grade School Officers

SKELLYTOWN — Student Council officers were elected recently in the Skellytown grade school with all four upper grades voting. Those elected were: president, Patsy Moore; vice president, Shelby Moore; secretary, Diana Aubrey; treasurer, Margaret Grange; and Larry Brown, reporter.

Two representatives were selected from each of the upper four grades. Sheila Webb and Eva Jo Duncan represent the fifth grade, Larry Elliott and Cecelia Snipley represent the sixth grade, Charley Coleman and Ricky Lowe represent the seventh grade, and the two selected to represent the eighth grade were Ted McKissack and Larry Brown.

MANITOWOC, Wis. (UP) — Norman Klingeisen apparently misunderstood county jail officials when they gave him time off to look after his spiritual needs. When Klingeisen returned from "church," he was drunk.

What Is Pushing The Russian Satellite Along?

LONDON (UP)—What's pushing the Russian satellite along at 18,000 miles per hour?

Nothing. That is the marvel of space travel. There is no motor, no jet, no rocket shoving the satellite along its course.

What keeps it going? It's like a bullet. The cartridge gives a bullet the initial shove. An intercontinental missile started the satellite. The missile, like the cartridge, is left behind. Now the satellite is rolling along on momentum. The earth's gravity keeps it circling the world. But centrifugal force keeps it from crashing back into the earth.

Like the bullet, the satellite will lose momentum sooner or later. In the case of the bullet, the resistance of air overcomes the momentum in a brief period of time.

There is also resistance in space — scattered molecules of air and other gases. But space has never been explored and its resistive quality has never been measured. Thus, no one—not even the Russians—can predict how long it will be before the satellite slows down. When it does, it will crash to earth exactly like a bullet.

There is this difference—it will

Aneurin Bevan In Turn To The Right

Foreign News Commentary
By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Aneurin Bevan, long the No. 1 "hot head" of the British Labor Party, has taken a strong turn to the right.

In doing so, Bevan seems to have pulled the rug out from under the entire Laborite left wing, of which he has been for years the leader.

Bevan's radical change of attitude was made apparent last week at the 56th annual conference of the Labor Party.

For one thing, he was given the credit for insuring the defeat of a resolution which would have pledged any future Labor government to ban the testing, manufacture and use of nuclear weapons even if other countries did not.

Danger of War
In an impassioned speech, Bevan said that for Britain to take never reach ground. At even lessened speed, the satellite's plunge will set it afire like a shooting star when it enters the earth's atmosphere. It will disintegrate in a tiny flash.

action alone might increase, not decrease the danger of a third world war and might lead to Britain's destruction in a war between the United States and Soviet Russia.

Bevan, his party's leading orator, said he had formed his opinion only after "a lot of agonizing thinking."

"I am deeply convinced that the resolution... might have disastrous consequences throughout. Cries of 'shame' came frequently from his outraged fellow leftists.

Bevan's altered attitude means that a long split in the Labor Party is being closed.

Promised Cabinet Post
One reason for Bevan's swing to the right is that he has been promised the post of foreign secretary if and when the Laborites get back into power.

Another is that the Laborites are convinced they can win a general election now — a conviction that is shared by a good many Britons.

There might be another reason in the new surge of liberal party activity largely due to a big in-

Perryton Glee Club Organizes

(Special to The News)
PERRYTON — The Perryton High-School Girls Glee Club, under the direction of Tom Knighton, has 36 members and has chosen the name "The Harmonies" for the organization.

This is the first year for the organization in high school. The club officers are: president, Patsy Moon; vice president, Karen Patterson; secretary, Sue Hargroves; treasurer, Betty McCelvey; parliamentarian, Wynema Williams; librarian, Carolyn Loffis and pianist, Janie Hartson.

increase in the liberal vote in recent by-elections for individual vacancies in the House of Commons.

A strongly united, moderate Labor Party would make it much more difficult for the liberals to make a come-back.

Of the 630 seats in the House of Commons, Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's Conservative Party has 340 seats, the Laborites have 278 and the Liberals five. Macmillan can depend on the votes of two additional Conservative independents on most issues.

SENTENCE COMMUTED
HAVANA, Cuba (UP) — President Fulgencio Batista will commute the death sentences imposed on a Cuban navy officer and two enlisted men for their roles in the Cienfuegos revolt, it was officially announced Sunday. The three were among more than 40 naval officers and men convicted by a courtmartial last week. The others drew prison terms ranging up to 30 years.

20 KILLED
ACCRA, Ghana (UP)—At least 20 Nigerians were killed and some 122 injured Sunday when a train plunged down an embankment into a river near Ibadan, Nigeria,

The girl who wears glasses has to develop real skill in applying eye make-up. For instance, glasses tend to emphasize rings under the eyes. This girl uses make-up to cover them, blending it carefully (left) with a cotton swab. She uses eye shadow (center) in a soft shade, avoiding bright blue, green, silver and gold. She applies mascara (right) using the side of the brush rather than the tip. In applying her eye make-up, she keeps her glasses on both to know what the finished effect will be and to enable herself to see what she's doing. She likes a clean brow line to avoid a cluttered effect.

People, have idiosyncrasies about their clothing. Some women insist on wearing stockings that are too large for them. Stockings are too large for them. Stockings should extend at least half an inch beyond the big toe but not so large that they wrinkle or bunch. This leads to blisters.

Good Looks Depend On Proper Food, So Working Girl Needs Nutritious Diet

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

"Sally! There's a terrific sale on blouses down the street. Want to go at noon?"

"Of course! But I have to go to the bank first. Will you wait?"

This is a typical morning conversation in any office. Shopping and the bank! How much time do you suppose is left for lunch? Among eager girls today, the term "lunch hour" is fast becoming a figure of speech.

Good health depends largely on proper food, eaten in a leisurely manner. And good food makes for good looks. The beauty of shining hair, bright eyes and clear skin simply cannot be maintained indefinitely without proper nourishment. Skipped breakfasts and bolted down sandwiches for lunch will take their toll in beauty.

It's true that a balanced and nutritious noon meal, eaten in a place where the surroundings are relaxing, will take a pretty big bite out of the weekly budget. But there is a way to get around it.

Why not, at least part of each week, take your lunch from home? The initial expense would be small. All you'd need would be a plastic sandwich box, a plastic cup for beverages and one for hot dishes, a wide-mouth vacuum bottle for hot food and a standard type for liquids.

You can, this way, achieve such menu varieties as stews, ravioli, beef frankfurters and beans. And they can be alternated with sandwich and soup days.

It's wise to get vegetables and fresh fruit into the lunchbox, too. They're great aids to beauty.

You'll find that you can cut down expenses by preparing your noon-time meal at home so that you can afford to eat in a pleasant restaurant when you do eat out.

You may feel that daily 12 o'clock bargain hunting has no disastrous effect on you. But try eating leisurely for a while, and you're bound to feel the difference.

The energy you save will give you a new vitality — and the improvement in your health will bring out a fresh, shining beauty that will surprise you.

Bill Reeves, Troy Coblin, finance and budget; Mmes. Dale Parvin, Anos Page, program; Mmes. John D. Richards, Sammy Haynes, Richard Eck, publicity; Mmes. Junior Windom, Johnny Haynes, Patsy Hess, membership; Mmes. Guy Beasley, R. C. Parker, Harold Bunch, hospitality; Mmes. Gene Greer, Larry Fuller, congress and publications; Mmes. Spencer Sitter and Jim Back, projects.

Superintendent Freeman Melton Jr. discussed the importance of the Parent-Teacher Association and announced that the theme for the year will be "New Ventures in Partnership," which encourages parents to be partners with their children.

Mrs. Sinclair Armstrong led a get-acquainted game.

The first grade room won the room count by having the most parents present and will be served refreshments at a later date.

Refreshments were served by Mmes. Guy Beasley, Hershel McCarty, R. C. Parker, Harold Bunch and Bernard McClellan.

Halloween Motif At Halliburton Fete

The Halliburton Ladies Club met Thursday evening in the Cities Service recreation hall, west of town, with Mmes. Weiden Rogers, Jim Shirley, Buddy Cauthorn, Henry Frazier, Boyd Stewart, Bob Burrows, Gerdes Schmidt, and Boyd Butler as hostesses.

The Halloween theme was carried out with each guest dressed as her favorite Halloween character. The prize for the most unusual costume was awarded to Mrs. Marvin Ingie.

Games were played and prizes given. Refreshments were served. Members present were Mmes. Gene Winegart, Gordon Pursley, Wayne Cook, Ray Burney, Eddie Parker, Billy Rape, Floyd Bettis, Marvin Ingie, Austin Wilson, H. P. Richardson, Earl Moreland, K. D. Liller, Marion Hill, Burl Skinner, Bill Lytton, Lin Bullock, John Christian, Earl Weatherford Smith, and Miss Pat Stewart.

There's a sound reason for having a wardrobe of shoes. They give you better service and longer wear if they're given a day's rest after each wearing. And, of course, you'll want many heel heights and colors this fall.

BIRTHDAY PARTIES with a sign of the zodiac motif are fun-producing. Scales, pompons and zireons mark October.

COOK'S NOOK

Celestial Signs Indicate Memorable Birthday Party

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Make the next birthday party you give something long to be remembered, and a carload of fun. Give a sign of the Zodiac affair.

In the center of your buffet table for an October birthday celebration, place a brass scales for the Zodiac sign of Libra — the Balance. Use pompons (the flower of the month) on one side, chunks of rosy glass beads that resemble the birthstone of the month (rose zircon) on the other side.

For other months, get lists of Zodiac sign of the month, flower of the month, and birthstone of the month.

For table mats, use the new "Happy Birthday" paper place mats. They have linen-like finish with a gay decorator design in pink and blue on white background — confetti, horns, gift packages, snappers, a candle-decked cake and balloons that spell "Happy Birthday" compose the design. Can be used in any birthday month.

For an autumn birthday, the colorful molded salad is appropriate.

PARTY SALAD MOLD

LIFT FOR HANDICAPPED—This unusual school bus with a built-in elevator, believed to be the first of its kind ever constructed, has been placed in service in San Lorenzo, Calif., to transport handicapped children from their homes to their own special school. At left, Tommy Stokes, who has driven handicapped children for 10 years, wheels one of his small charges onto the bus' elevator for a quick trip to the floor level. At right, the short ride into the bus brings a smile to the face of the youngster. The new bus is fitted with floor attachments where wheel chairs can be anchored.

Modern Tankers Problem To Ports

By ROBERT SHORTAL
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 NEW YORK (UP)—Supertankers are carrying some giant-size headaches along with their cargoes of oil products.

These giant tankers, ranging in size up to 85,000 tons, can carry in one voyage enough gasoline to fill the tanks of nearly 2-million cars or supply the oil needs of a city the size of Cincinnati for a month.

The post-war revolution in tanker sizes has been triggered by a growing demand for more oil and an all-out effort to cut transportation costs. At present, these sea-going giants can haul petroleum products half-way around the world for as little as three cents a gallon.

But this revolution has resulted in a massive headache for the world's leading seaports. Many ports are forced to undertake multi-million dollar expansion and modernization programs to accommodate these super-tankers and remain competitive in the lucrative petroleum trade.

The problem is especially bad in the United States, where many key refining and terminal facilities were built long before the advent of the supertanker. They're just not able to handle the big ships.

In addition to shallow harbors and channels, the continental shelf imposes some severe natural limitations on the size of ships which can come into our Gulf and East Coast ports. The West Coast has a number of deep water ports.

New York City, the world's busiest seaport, is only a third-rate stopping place for tankers of 40,000 tons or more because of narrow and shallow channels. The vast complex of refineries in the New York area is located on the New York and New Jersey channels, neither of which can accommodate the bigger tankers. The great ocean liners use the main Ambrose Channel into the harbor.

New York is not alone with this problem. Philadelphia is dredging plans for a 50-foot channel. Deeper channels on the Delaware River have led to a recent refinery expansion in the area, with more to come.

L.A. Is Building
 Los Angeles is building a supertanker terminal in the outer harbor, including a 45-foot channel and a pier big enough to accommodate ships 1,000 feet long. The U. S. Army Corps of Engineers is studying the feasibility of deepening channels in the San Francisco Bay area.

At present, the 85,000-ton tankers must pump oil into lighters outside the bay area in order to raise themselves for the channel voyage. These super tankers require at least a 50-foot channel when fully loaded.

In some Middle East ports, members of the steering committee are Lester Baumann, general chairman, assisted by Clifford Beck and Vance Apple. Other members are Mrs. Mabel Bowen, Jake Dunkle, Harold Hudson, Rev. Duane Bruce, Jack Lovett, Mr. and Mrs. Ray McEntire, Frank Shaffer, W. C. Sanders and Dr. Roy Sanford.

piers are built to run one mile out, where supertankers can unload via underwater pipelines.

New York, however, cannot handle the 85,000-ton giants. The port of New York authority has asked the Engineers Corps to deepen channels from 35 to 45 feet. This would permit ships up to 60,000 tons to deliver oil at many of New York's 48 tanker berths.

Overseas Expansions
 The authority estimated that if the 30 million tons of petroleum coming into New York each year were carried in 46,000-ton tankers instead of smaller ones as at present, transportation costs could be cut by 30 million dollars a year.

Overseas, Belgium, France, England, Japan, the Philippines and Brazil are planning or working on harbor improvement programs because of supertankers. During World War I and the immediate post-war years, nearly all the oil moving by sea was carried in 16,000-ton T-1 tankers. At present, tankers ranging in size up to 106,500 ton are under construction. These ships will be around 940 feet long. The Queen Elizabeth is 1,031 feet long and weighs 83,000 tons.

Braves' Burdette Tagged The Yanks For Two Wins

By LEO H. PETERSEN
United Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK (UP)—Those amazing Braves were established as 2-1 favorites over the New York Yankees today because everything is going their way to whip the "big city boys" and make Milwaukee the baseball capital of the world.

With Mickey Mantle still a huge question-mark and Casey Stengel in desperate pitching straits, the National League champions take the Series back to Yankee Stadium Wednesday riding a wave of enthusiasm that hasn't been matched in recent Series history.

Stengel's worst fears have materialized with Bill Skowron almost certainly out of the Series and Mantle probably due only for spot duty. This is what Stengel worried might happen in his pre-Series analyses because without those two sluggers, it doesn't seem possible he can match the Braves' hitters.

In addition, Braves manager Fred Haney has three star pitchers ready for the final two games—18-game winner Bob Buhl and "Yankee killer" Lew Burdette for starts with 21-game winner Warren Spahn also available. In fact, there was some expert thought that Haney might go with Gene Conley, the six-foot, eight-inch sidearm with the tricky motion, in Wednesday's sixth—and possibly final—game.

Stengel's Back To Wall
Stengel, backed to the wall strategically, has to play "scared baseball." He's announced he'll come back with fireballer Bob Turley in the sixth game but he knows he must use every available pitcher for relief—and that includes Whitey Ford.

So far, Ford is the only Yankee pitcher who really "has looked good" against the Braves and he was beaten, 1-0, Monday when Yankee farmhand Burdette out-pitched him in a brilliant duel.

Burdette, whom the Yankees ran on a 15-foot pop fly for the first time in the 1951 deal for Johnny Sain, came back to haunt his old bosses with a sparkling seven-inning performance that topped his effort in the 4-2, second game Milwaukee triumph. Lew didn't let a Yankee reach third base and closed brilliantly by striking out two batters in the ninth and getting Yogi Berra on a 15-foot pop fly to rth final out after Gil McDougald singled to keep New York alive.

Ford appeared every bit as good as Burdette, especially in the early going, but the breaks went against him—as they so rarely do for the Yankees. The first, of course, was Eddie Mathews' infield hit—which second-baseman Jerry Coleman admitted he "misjudged." Then came a bloop single by Hank Aaron that sent Mathews to third and a clean sharp single to right field by Joe Adcock.

Strategy Controversial
It remained for the Yankees, especially Stengel, to come up with the most controversial strategy the Series has seen so far.

With one out, Coleman singled in the bottom of the eighth and the wheels started turning in Stengel's head. Moments later, Mantle appeared out of the Yankee dugout and it seemed certain that he was going to bat for Ford.

But the crowd of 45,811 was astonished when Mantle went in to run for Coleman and Elston Howard, who tied Sunday's game with a three-run ninth-inning homer, was the pinch-hitter for Ford. Howard was called out on strikes and then Mantle was out stealing when Hank Bauer missed Burdette's first pitch to him.

The only other anxious moment for Burdette, the controversial right hander who had a 17-9 record during the N.L. season, came when McDougald singled and brought up Berra with a chance to win it with a homer. But Yogi's effort was a feeble pop that Mathews squeezed to a pulp only a few feet from the plate.

Texas Aggies Boosted One Notch In National Collegiate Ratings

By NORMAN MILLER
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UP)—A formful week end kept Oklahoma and Michigan State in the 1-2 positions atop the United Press college football ratings today. Army was this week's only newcomer among the top-10 teams.

Army's leap from 12th to 8th place and Michigan's promotion from 8th to 5th represented the biggest advances of the week. Throughout the top 10 groups, there were only a few minor changes in the ratings.

Oklahoma, which resumed play after an extra week's layoff and crushed Iowa State, 40-14, for its 42nd consecutive victory, lost some of its lead over Michigan State once again. The Sooners' first-place margin was cut to 38 points from last week's 62.

Twenty-six of the outstanding coaches who comprise the United Press rating board picked Oklahoma No. 1 in the nation; five voted for Michigan State. Coach Bud Wilkinson's team attracted 327 out of a possible 350 points, compared to 291 for Michigan State.

Texas A&M moved up one notch to third, exchanging last week's ranking with Minnesota. After

'Brittleness' Is Mantle's Flaw

NEW YORK (UP)—Once again the brittleness is proving to be the one great flaw in the otherwise "perfect" ball player — Mickey Mantle.

For no less than the third time in six World Series, the Yankees are playing with Mantle crippled. It's Casey Stengel's sad-burden that his otherwise flawless star seems destined to encounter one injury after another.

What makes Stengel's problem more difficult is that it's not bad luck. It's simply that what most other players shake off as a minor ailment, can sideline Mantle for days at a time.

"I was afraid this was going to happen," he said Monday, when he was benched by Casey Stengel. "But I can't play if I can't swing—and that's all there is to it."

Mantle suffered the first of his Series injuries in 1951 when he fell over a drain outlet in Yankee Stadium. He went to bat only five times in that Series and he played only three games of the 1955 Series which went seven.

"I lost one of the last time Mantle wasn't in there," Stengel has muttered throughout this Series. "I don't want that to happen again."

Bullet Bob Chosen To Hurl Yanks' Badly Needed Game

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UP)—Bullet Bob Turley, a failure in victory and a success in defeat, today calmly and matter-of-factly faced the task of keeping the New York Yankees alive in the World Series.

Selection of the chubby-cheeked fireball pitcher to toe the mound when the Series resumes at Yankee Stadium Wednesday—with the upset-minded Milwaukee Braves on the head end of a three-to-two game lead—came as a major surprise.

Slade Rematched With Luedee
NEW YORK (UP)—Veteran Jimmy Slade, campaigning on the comeback trail for a shot at the light heavyweight title, agreed today to a return TV fight with Jerry Luedee, over whom he won an upset split decision at St. Nicholas Arena Monday night.

Promoter Teddy Brenner said he would stage the return 10-rounder at St. Nick's Nov. 25.

But, according to manager Casey Stengel, it's merely a matter of control.

Turley didn't have it Saturday when he lasted only one and two-thirds innings in a game won in relief by Don (Perfect Game) Larsen. But he had it in spades Monday when he set down three men in a row in winding up Whitey Ford's 1-0 loss to Lew Burdette.

In the game he started, the six-foot, two-inch Turley saw a parade of 12 hungry Braves before Larsen took over. In that time, the 220-pounder from Troy, Ill., gave up three hits, one run and—most distressing of all to the Yankees—four walks.

"I just couldn't get it over the plate," Turley said in his soft, quiet voice. "That's all there was to it."

As for starting in the "must" sixth game at Yankee Stadium, Turley was unconcerned about the importance of the contest or the fact that he pitched Monday.

"I didn't work hard enough in the fifth game to make any difference," he said. "I only threw 10 pitches in striking out two men and getting the third man on a fly ball."

In getting those five outs before he was relieved Saturday, Turley heaved 57 pitches.

"I was sharp with everything I threw Monday," he explained. "The fast ball was moving and the curve balls were going just where I wanted them to go. That's the only difference."

He laughed easily.

"But a big difference, I hope to tell you."

It has, for years, spelled the answer to the ups and downs of Turley, who throws as hard as anybody in the major leagues with the possible exception of Herb Score of the Cleveland Indians. His wildness caused him to lead the league in bases on balls in 1954 and again in 1955, his first season with the Yankees after being obtained from Baltimore.

The Yankees theorized that Turley's only handicap was a lack of confidence. They have worked hard to build up his ego and that, in part, may explain his unconcerned approach to the now-or-never game Wednesday. Nor does it bother him that he is pitching with short rest.

"That's what I'm getting paid for, to pitch," he asserted. "Maybe it's a more important game, at the moment, but they're all important whether you are starting or relieving. Sure, this is the game we have to win to keep the Series going but I try to win every game. I never want to lose any."

Wrestling Results Nelson, Funk End In Fracas

ARTFUL ART—Flying through the air preparing to crash upon his victim is wrestler Art Nelson, and the unhappy man on the mat is Dory Funk. The two men opposed each other for the main event in last night's matches at the Sportsman Club, but the battle was ruled as "no contest" by referee Tommy Phelps after both men received uncalled for aid from other wrestlers and a few fans.

(News Photo)

In last night's Sportsman Club wrestling, Art Nelson opposed Dory Funk in a main event match that ended in no contest, with a few extra wrestlers along with fans coming into the ring to give assistance. Both men had one fall to his credit in the two-out-of-three fall match when the fracas started in the ring and when order was restored, referee Tommy Phelps ruled no contest for the match.

In the semi-final, which was scheduled to go two out of three falls, Iron Mike DeBlase battled Roger Mackay to another match stopped by the referee, who had been hit by DeBlase.

The curtain-raiser went to the Great Bolo over Roberto Pico in one fall.

The wrestling is held each Monday evening at the Sportsman Club, sponsored by the Pampa Shriners. Admission is $1.50 for ringside; $1.25 for reserved seats; 90 cents for general admission adult and 50 cents for general admission children.

Floating Ranch House Being Built By Contractor

By DOC QUIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, (UP) — Out on Long Island there's a man who is building a $50,000 ranch house of the ultra-luxury type—three cedar-paneled bedrooms, three baths, wall-to-wall carpeting, and a large living room with a big wood-burning fireplace, three picture windows, and a porch in the floor that can be lowered for fishing.

The house is a floating ranch house. It is designed this houseboat and is something new in boating. It is a sea-going ranch house because that's exactly what it is. It is built as a home for myself, my single, and I thought I'd like to have a home on the water—a childhood dream of mine.

Now I find there's a definite market for it. There's no land left to buy, no land to landscape. I'm a contractor, and I'm going to give it up to build these things.

The house that floats like a boat is in the harbor at Northport. It will be finished late next month, at which time Vita plans to cruise up the East River off Manhattan and let New Yorkers gawk at it. She already has had it out on trial runs. Three concealed, 30-horse outboard motors give it a 10-knot top speed and 8-knot cruising speed.

WRONG DEDUCTION

CHICAGO (UP)—Carol Jean Poulos, whose doctor said a blood sample showed she had Asian flu, said of the sore throat that was first symptom of the disease: "I thought it was from yelling at a football game."

Voice Of Prince Philip Is Loud And Clear At Home

By ROBERT MUSEL
United Press Staff Correspondent
LONDON (UP) — Elizabeth II may run the public side of the House of Windsor, but when it comes to family affairs the voice of Prince Philip is loud and clear. It was partly his opposition that led Princess Margaret to break off with Group Capt. Peter Townsend after their spectacular courtship in October, 1955.

A lot of gush has been written about his romance but the truth, as her closest friends see it, is that Margaret never intended to marry the dashing war hero. She likes being a princess too much to exchange it for a divorced man with little money, two children and modest prospects.

But the little princess, a spinsterish 27, has a flair for the dramatic and is never as alive as she is when the papers are full of her activities. Some of her friends feared she might be carried away by the worldwide interest in the Townsend affair.

Thus Philip and other members of the family carefully kept the realities of the situation before her eyes. There are others in the royal circle besides Philip who feel that Townsend, 15 years older than Margaret, should never have let their original relationship flare up the way it did.

Philip had a problem even closer to home last January. For years some people have wondered about his frequent absences from Britain on trips of one sort and another. A few tried to read into this evidence that he was not perfectly happy with married life. Such speculation generally dissolved—into whispers that since Philip was obviously very attractive to women, he must have a girl friend or two. Occasionally the name of a girl—always beautiful and often an actress—would even be mentioned.

This sort of talk reached a peak during the Commonwealth tour and a British writer filed a dispatch to an American paper reporting that there were rumors of an actual rift between the prince and the Queen.

Naturally, the story was denied. The rumors might have been denied even if they were true. But the best available sources insist that Philip and Elizabeth lead a normal married life with the normal amount of quarrels. They are as happy as most couples in the 10th year of marriage.

Possibly the real if unexciting reason for Philip's travel is that he is a sailor born and loves it. In the most of the furor aroused by the reports of the alleged rift, Philip's best friend and private secretary, Lieut. Commander Michael Parker, resigned during the Commonwealth tour.

Tortuous efforts were made to link the resignation—a bitter blow to Philip—the rumored dissension in the royal family. Here again the truth is less inviting. Parker resigned simply because his wife announced they had parted and he did not want to drag his position through the divorce courts.

Parker is still very close to Philip. They spend much time together and Parker recently surveyed the route of an advanced motoring test which Philip was planning to take. It would surprise no one if Parker went back to the palace after the divorce. Philip has a state allowance of $112,000 a year as husband of the Queen but those in charge of entertaining him in the United States should remember he prefers steak and potatoes to more exotic fare. He would also like to visit an American bowling alley.

'Home Work' Can Pay For Home Owners

Home work — particularly the kind that deals with bookkeeping arithmetic — may pay off for the head of the family, as well as children attending school, according to E. L. Campbell, president of the Pampa Board of Realtors.

The board is affiliated with the National Association of Real Estate Boards whose members are entitled to call themselves Realtors.

"Many home owners, who do not realize that many expenses in connection with their home legitimately may be deducted from federal income tax returns provided they keep simple records, are losing money they might save," Campbell explained as the start of another school year makes "home work" a familiar phrase once again.

Probably one of the most important of the deductions available to home owners are those which may be made in connection with rental losses sustained as the result of such casualties as fire, storm, hurricane, or flood, he said. Casualty deductions may be made for damage to trees, shrubbery, or other attributes of the property as well as damage to the house itself.

Campbell pointed out, however, that such deductions are limited to the lesser of two amounts — the difference between the value of the property before and after the casualty, or the income tax basis of the property at the time of the casualty. In either event, the deduction is reduced by any insurance that is recovered.

Yellowstone

Yellowstone's exclusive mellow-mash process draws off only the lightest, most desirable whiskey vapors in the still—leaves the "heavy" parts behind. That's why Yellowstone is even finer than sweet-mash bourbon... even smoother than sour-mash bourbon... so remarkably free of bite.
