A QUICK READ OF THE NEWS

Granny gets her gun

NASSAU, N.Y. — Her neighbors call her the "gun-toting grandma." And with good reason.

Hildegard Von Waldenburg, 79, allegedly used a 20-gauge shotgun last week to scare away a work crew that was sent to cut down trees in this Albany suburb. To many in Nassau, the grandmother of eight is a hero.

Residents complain that the town has cut down trees indiscriminately to allow a road to be widened. Police, however, are charging Von Waldenburg with menacing. If convicted, she could get up to one year in prison.

The shotgun was reportedly unloaded at the time of the incident.

Lazbuddie schools will be having spring break the week of March 1-5. Students will resume classes Monday, March 8.

Muleshoe escapes area round with 57-50 victory

LUBBOCK — Muleshoe's first playoff win in 42 years didn't come easy.

But Dustin Cleavinger scored 23 points and the Mules held off a late Lamesa surge Friday, escaping with a 57-50 win in a Class 3A area playoff game at Monterey High School.

The Mules (23-7), coming off their first district title since 1957, will meet District 2-3A rival Littlefield in the regional quarterfinals at a date, time and place to be determined. MHS beat Littlefield twice en route to a perfect 10-0 district season.

"We knew Lamesa was dangerous," Muleshoe coach Ralph Mason said. "The way they shoot the 3-pointer, they can get back into the game in a hurry."

Which the Golden Tors did, chopping Muleshoe's double-digit lead to 51-48 with 2:31 left on back-to-back 3-pointers by diminutive Ronnie Marquez.

But Carlton Lewis (12 points) hit both ends of a one-and-one and Cleavinger whipped a pass to a wide-open Matt Turney for an easy two as the Mules built their lead back to 55-49.

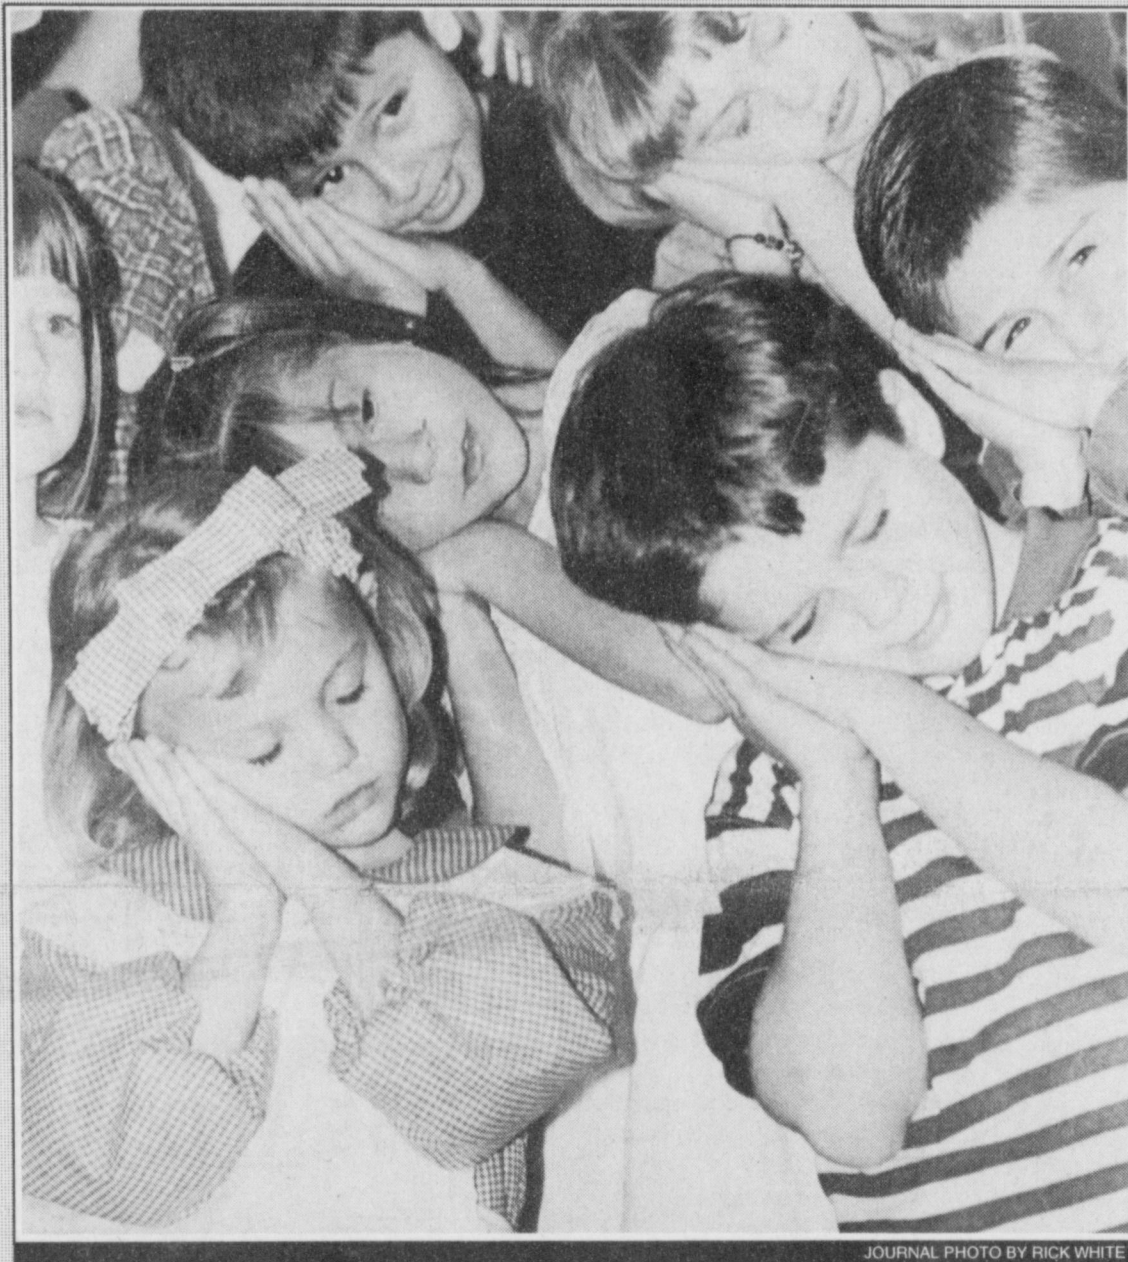

Josh Robinson slithered his way for 17 points to lead Lamesa (17-14), runner-up in District 3-3A.

Marquez finished with four 3-pointers and 12 points. But the Golden Tors, who reached the state semifinals in Class 4A last year, finished just 6 of 25 from 3-point range.

With a 12-point halftime lead dwindling and the offense bogging down, Cleavinger shouldered the offense load in the second half

Mardi Gras theme for '99 banquet

The annual Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce & Agriculture banquet will take on a Cajun flavor this year.

The theme for the 1999 banquet is "Muleshoe Mardi Gras," featuring an all-you-can-eat steak and shrimp dinner and the Cajun music of Fiddlin' Frenchie Burke.

The Chamber will also present its annual awards for Man, Woman, Farm Family, Employee and Business of the Year during the banquet, scheduled for 6:30 p.m. on Saturday, April 10.

The meal, cooked and served by Chamber members and volunteers, will be held in the Muleshoe High School cafeteria, with the entertainment and the awards ceremony following in the MHS auditorium. Tickets are $50 and will be available later this week.

Burke is one of the top fiddlers in the country. After making a name for himself as a youngster growing up in Kaplan, La., Burke went on to record several No. 1 hits in the mid 1970s, including "Big Mamou" and "Colinda." His version of "Cotton-eyed Joe" is played weekly on several outdoor and fishing programs as background music.

Community aids family devastated by house fire

By PATTI DRIVER
Journal staff writer

Imagine having everything you own just disappear. A fire at a Pleasant Valley home recently brought that grim scenario to reality.

Tracy and Patricia Angeley and their three children, Buck, 17, Ben, 16, and Belle, 14, suffered such a loss Feb. 14 as their home and all its contents burned to an unrecognizable pile of rubble.

In an interview Tuesday with Mrs. Angeley, she said the family was lounging in the house around noon on the day of the fire. The blaze started in the old home behind the house. They assume it was an electrical fire. The old home was totally engulfed before the family even noticed. The enormous amount of heat ignited the family's house. The structure was gone in 10 minutes.

"We only had time to get the dog and two cats out of the house. We lost one house cat though," Angeley said.

The family started to fight the flames themselves. Neighbor Harold Britton was the first to help. Other neighbors pitched in with the fight. The Earth Fire Department was the first to arrive at the scene, then Muleshoe and Sudan both came to help.

"All three departments worked very well as a team," Angeley said.

By the end of the evening, they had been given a mobile home to replace the burned one, and furniture and appliances. Members of both Earth and Muleshoe were generous with clothes and other donations to help the family through this difficult time.

"The outpouring of help from both communities has been wonderful," Angeley said. Tracy is originally from Earth and Patricia has been a teacher at DeShazo for the past 14 years.

A checking account has been opened for the Angeleys at Muleshoe State Bank for any monetary donations from the community. "We will probably use this money to fix up the trailer that was given to us," Angeley said.

Some things they still need are tools such as a drill, circular saw, rakes, shovels, basic handyman tools (screwdrivers, hammers, etc.), and other assorted woodworking items. The children also lost all

MHS sophomore getting head start on college

By PATTI DRIVER
Journal staff writer

College bound at 15. Campus life will become a reality in August for Muleshoe High School sophomore Adrienne Ashford.

The daughter of Ronald and Flonita Ashford of Muleshoe was recently selected as one of 200 students to attend the Texas Academy of Mathematics and Science at the University of North Texas in Denton.

"I'm very much looking forward to going," said Adrienne, whose older sister lives in Fort Worth and will be nearby for support. "It will be hard, but I will adjust. It will be just like going to high school here, but I will be living there."

TAMS is a two-year residential program at UNT that allows talented students to complete their freshman and sophomore years of college while earning their high school diplomas. The program pays all tuition, fees, and books.

"She first saw the program while she was in the seventh grade," her mother said. "When she started ninth grade she decided she wanted to get into the program."

The first steps included having qualifying grades and SAT scores, getting letters of recommendation from math, science, and English teachers, the principal, and writing an essay.

Three hundred students were then chosen for the second step in the application process which involved a math test and personal interview at TAMS. Parental support and commitment is also a consideration.

"My parents said they would support me if that's what I wanted to

SPS asks for approval to lower bills

Southwestern Public Service Company today asked the Public Utility Commission of Texas to approve a $44 million reduction in the fuel-cost portion of future SPS bills, and to approve a significant one-time credit to Texas customers' April electric bills.

Texas residential customers using 1,000 kilowatt-hours of service monthly would see a $3.74 drop in their bills, under the proposal. If the one-time credit is approved, a home typically using 1,000 kilowatt-hours also would see a $19.32 credit on the April bill.

The credit and the proposed reduction in Texas customers' future bills reflect savings SPS has achieved in its costs for the fuels that fire the boilers at its power generating plants.

SPS' industrial class and commercial customers in Texas will see larger percentage decreases in future bills, and a larger one-time credit, than residential customers — because fuel costs account for a greater portion of the larger use customers' total electric bills.

SPS customers in New Mexico, Oklahoma and Kansas already are seeing the fuel-cost savings.

SPS additionally proposed the one-time credit to more quickly reflect recent reductions in fuel costs in Texas customers' bills.

The reductions reflect, especially, lowered costs of transporting coal by rail from mines in Wyoming to the coal-fueled SPS plants near Amarillo and Muleshoe. Also, costs of natural gas and coal generally are down, allowing additional reductions in customer's bills.

"Southwestern's residential rates in 1999 will be 25 percent lower than they were 16 years ago," Hudson said. "Meanwhile, by contrast, overall consumer prices have increased 67 percent since 1983."

"Southwestern's ongoing efforts to control prices have been successful. The 'real' cost of electricity from SPS today is less than half of what it was in 1983."

Students traveling to Peru by satellite

Eighth grade students from Watson Junior High School will travel via satellite to Peru to explore a tropical rainforest this Tuesday from the campus of West Texas A&M University in Canyon.

The students will be participating in the JASON Project, having prepared since school started for the 90-minute interactive broadcast.

This is the tenth year of the JASON project. It is designed to get students involved in science and technology and to motivate and provide professional development for teachers.

Science teacher Sandi Chitwood said, "This is a wonderful opportunity for the students to interact with the scientists at the site."

The students have been studying rocks and soil in science class and are specifically interested in the soil of the rainforest. They will be able to ask the scientists questions to help their own research.

Two students from WJHS will be chosen to ask questions as well as several students from other schools. They will also be able to control the live-feed video cameras at the remote site.

The Amarillo National Resource Center for Plutonium funded the project in the panhandle area. The Center paid over $60,000 for three Muleshoe teachers to attend training sessions and for materials needed for the students. Chitwood hopes next year there will be enough school funds to send all three grades to the interactive broadcast.

do," Adrienne said.

Ashford was notified of her acceptance in the first of three flights. There will be notices in both March and May for the remainder of those chosen.

The personable sophomore will be taking college level classes taught by university professors.

"Her classmates will be her own age for the most part," her mother said. "They live in a separate dorm from the university students. They stick pretty much together and don't mingle much with the college students," her mother added.

The academy has required classes that all TAMS students must take. If the student's grade point average is adequate, they may take other electives of interest to them. Ashford plans to take advantage of the opportunity.

"This is a really good opportunity for all the students to get a good education. Schools from all over the country come to TAMS to recruit students for their schools," her mother said.

Like her mother, Adrienne has always been interested in math and science. Her mother was a math major in college. Adrienne plans on pursuing a future in forensic science or medicine.

"My dad has taught me that I must work really hard to get what I want and that I can't rely on others to do it for me," Adrienne said.

Ashford should graduate in May 2001 with between 60 and 80 hours of college credit and the equivalent of a high school diploma.

Whiteface lopes past Longhorns

LUBBOCK — A dominant third-quarter by No. 8 Whiteface was too much for Lazbuddie to overcome.

John Allison fueled a 25-9 Whiteface advantage in the third quarter as Lazbuddie fell 83-69 Tuesday in a Class 1A bi-district game at Lubbock Estacado.

Brandon Foster scored 24 points and Josh Morris added 15 for the Longhorns, who trailed 41-35 at halftime.

"They went on a run and we got sloppy with some passes and took some ill-advised shots," Lazbuddie coach Rich

Powers said. "It was the same thing that plagued us all year."

Allison scored 13 of his game-high 25 points in the third quarter and Kyle Igo added 17 for the Antelopes (26-7).

"We played well. We just got a tough draw," said Powers, who guided the Longhorns to a share of the District 11-1A title and a 22-11 record in his first season at Lazbuddie.

Muleshoe senior Josh Pyle works on his pitching mechanics in the bullpen Thursday during practice at the city baseball field. The Mules opened their season Saturday with a doubleheader at Seminole.

Mules open baseball season shorthanded

The Muleshoe baseball team started the season shorthanded Saturday because several key players were still involved in the basketball playoffs.

The Mules played a three-way round-robin series against Seminole and Crane at Seminole.

Once basketball season is over, Muleshoe will have eight full or part-time starters back from a 16-9 team that finished third in district.

For now, the Mules will have to make do, according to fourth-year coach Brad Hill.

"We'll have some guys playing out of position and some junior varsity players will have to step up," Hill said.

All-South Plains senior outfielder Matt McClanahan and senior shortstop B.J. Gonzales headline the returning starters.

McClanahan hit .434 with nine home runs and had 33 RBI last year. He is considered a possible Division I prospect. Gonzales hit .356 as the Mules' leadoff hitter last season and will anchor an inexperienced infield.

Other returning part-time starters include seniors Joe Garcia, Mason Sinclair and Ismael "Itchy" Nunez and juniors Mitch Mason, James Barrett and Cameron Nix.

McClanahan, Gonzales and Nunez figure to carry the offensive load. Hill said the key will be finding some run production in other parts of the lineup.

Senior Josh Pyle and juniors Rhett Kerby and Kyle Hahn are expected to anchor a deep pitching staff. All are right-handers.

"We're going to have to rely on pitching and defense this season," Hill said.

Morris selected district MVP

Lazbuddie's Kia Morris proved you don't have to be a prolific scorer to gain attention.

The 5-7 senior was named the Most Valuable Player in District 11-1A for her all-around play for the co-champion Lady Longhorns.

Morris averaged 11 points and seven rebounds a game. She was a four-year starter for the Lady Longhorns, who set a school record for wins during a 23-6 season.

"She did so many good things for us," Lazbuddie coach Carey Sudduth said. "It's nice to see somebody get recognized for those kinds of things."

Three other Lady Longhorns earned all-district honors.

Junior wing Scottie Brown was a first-team selection while sophomore post Laura Jo Via and senior guard Holly Engelking were named to the second team.

Brown averaged 10.5 points and six rebounds a game. She was joined on the first team by senior Evan Lair and sophomore Buffy Adkins of co-champion Happy, senior Shanae Bishop of Amherst and senior Christy Oden of Cotton Center.

Via led the Lady Longhorns in scoring at 14 points a game and added seven rebounds while Engelking averaged 10 points and was Lazbuddie's top 3-point threat.

On the boys team, Lazbuddie had three players on the first team and another on the second

Instructor works with local gymnasts

The South Plains Acrospirits hosted a clinic featuring national team coach Judy Wills Cline of Las Vegas, Nev.

The two-day clinic was attended by all levels of the Acrospirits program from pre-school to the elite level.

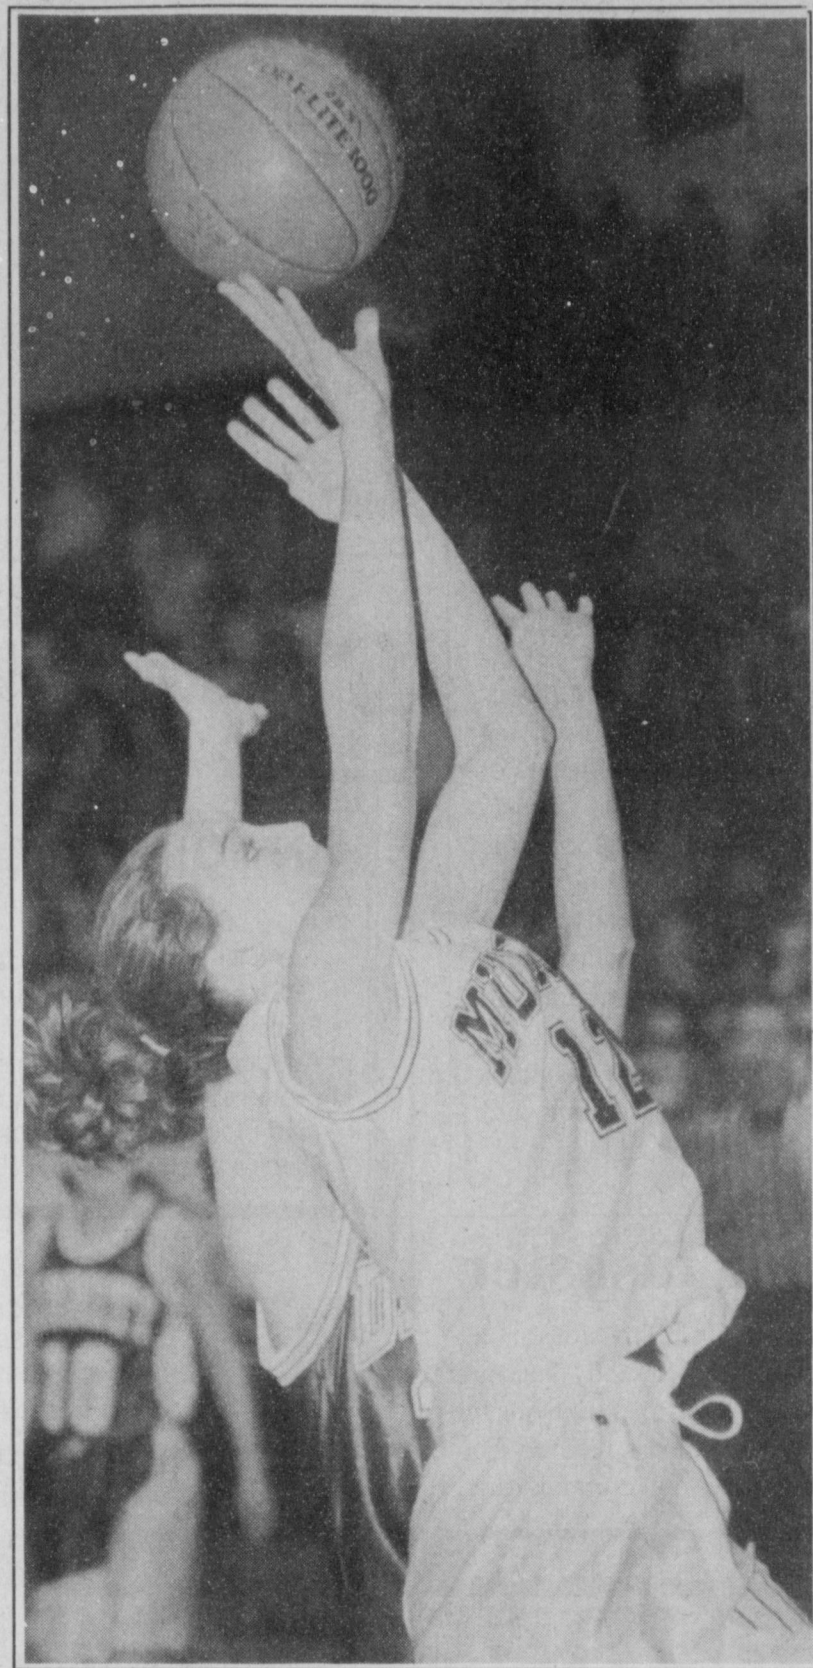

Jake and Keela Chester both participated in the pre-school session with Judy, while Amber Cowart, Mindy Gore and Jacey Davidson of Sudan participated in the elite and advanced level sessions.

Cline has just been named the national team coach for the U.S. in power tumbling and trampoline. She holds 38 National titles in trampoline, tumbling, vault, and floor exercise and is a four-time collegiate all-American.

Cline coached seven age-group world champions and was the trampoline coach for the USA team in 1984 and 1986. She has also worked with many members of the USAG National Gymnastics Team.

The Acrospirit Division 2 Team begins their competition this weekend in Snyder at their first National Qualifier and the beginning of the road to the World Championships in South Africa in October.

Acrospirits owner Mulkey will also be serving on Judy's new Jr./Sr. Committee to help track the progress and training of all the Jr./Sr. trampoline athletes in the United States. Mulkey said it's a real honor and that she is excited about the opportunity to work more with Judy Cline.

for the Mules.

The 6-foot-6 senior post scored 15 points in the final two quarters, including nine-straight Muleshoe points during one stretch as Lamesa was making its run.

"We were struggling and I had confidence that if I could get the ball inside, I could score," Cleavinger said. "I was just trying to make something happen."

Muleshoe came out sharp despite a two-week layoff, cruising to a 33-21 halftime lead. Lamesa struggled against Muleshoe's signature three-quarter court press with Lewis (9 points) and Cleavinger (8 points) doing the damage at the offensive end.

But foul trouble and an injury to senior guard Mason Sinclair caught up to Muleshoe in the second half.

Sinclair twice separated his shoulder early in the first half and did not return.

He was listed as questionable for Littlefield game.

Walking the wolf in the neighbors' yard

BAXTER BLACK
ON THE EDGE OF COMMON SENSE

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service has decided to reintroduce the wolf into Gettysburg National Military Park. They hope to recreate the balance of nature that existed two hundred years ago. If it is successful, plans are to expand wolf releases in Cuyahoga Valley National Recreation area in Ohio and the Midewin National Tall Grass Prairie south of Chicago.

The government has explained it may be necessary to prohibit camping, hiking or tourist activities in the 6000 acre Gettysburg Park. The presence of humans can be disruptive to the wolves' acclimation.

Communities within a hundred miles, including Baltimore and Philadelphia, are up in arms! They argue that wolves are not endangered. That they are pack hunters and a danger to livestock, pets and people.

The government has responded that the wolves have a right to be in Gettysburg and it is up to us to undo an old wrong. There will be a payment schedule set up for farmers who lose calves and lambs to wolf predation. Remuneration for pugs, poodles, persians and joggers will be decided on a case by case basis.

Wait a minute, Bax. This is a joke, right? Nobody is gonna introduce wolves within 200 miles of Washington D.C., New York, Pittsburgh and Atlantic City.

Yes. You're right, of course, it's a joke. No Secretary of Interior or Vice President is going to risk his bureaucratic hiny on something so dumb. There are millions of voters and hundreds elected officials within 200 miles of Gettysburg.

However, there is a wolf reintroduction program underway right now. But it is on the Arizona-New Mexico border within 200 miles of Phoenix, Tucson, Albuquerque and El Paso.

I would venture a guess that most of the elected officials from around Gettysburg are supportive of the Arizona Wolf Reintroduction Plan or could care less. It's easy to be green when it's not personal.

It is frustrating for ranchers and farmers who are frequently the victims of these sometimes harebrained political schemes whose purpose often seems to be nothing but appeasement of the loudest group of loonies.

Those of us who live, love and work the vast landscape beyond suburbia are not wolf haters or spotted owl haters or short nosed sucker haters. And I expect most would be willing to sacrifice for the occasional critter to a grizzly or mountain lion or coyote. Especially if the sacrifice was shared by those who clamor the loudest for wolf reintroduction and snail darter rehabilitation. But it is not.

It's hard to be friends with a neighbor who wants to walk his dog in your yard when he needs to do his business.

Glickman warns of impending farm sector disaster

Weak farm economy could spell disaster for farmers

Agriculture Secretary Dan Glickman predicts "a social catastrophe in some parts of rural America" if the federal safety net for farmers and ranchers is not strengthened quickly.

"We cannot allow a system of agricultural Darwinism to prevail, with the survival of the fittest becoming the survival of the largest," said Glickman.

Speaking to more than 1,000 farmers, economists and agriculture leaders at USDA's annual outlook conference on Monday, Glickman said that thousands of farmers could go bankrupt this year due to a major slump in the farm economy. Prices and exports are way down for grain and livestock, and a turnaround is not likely in the near future.

Analysts project that farm exports will fall to $49 billion in fiscal 1999, down drastically from a record $59.9 billion in 1996 and far below earlier forecasts.

Glickman recently introduced the administration's plan for beefing up the federal crop insurance program and other measures for assisting farmers and ranchers in financial distress, though the president has been criticized for not providing a funding mechanism for the proposal.

One critic, House Agriculture Committee Chairman Larry Combest (R-Texas), said Monday that a stronger risk management program could cost "several billion dollars" per year, but that it would wipe out the need for emergency aid packages like last year's $6 billion relief measure.

Combest emphasized in his speech to the National Association of State Agriculture Departments that it would not be necessary to reopen the 1996 farm bill to make the reforms.

"We don't think what's in the farm bill is the problem," Combest said. "We think what's not in the farm bill is."

maker said he envisions an "agricultural trust fund" that could be tacked on to the existing bill to help farmers recover from low prices and crop failures.

People Often Use Trendy Words in Funny Ways

Maybe it's just me, but I find the way people use trendy words and phrases sort of funny sometimes.

For a while, at least for several years after Tom Peters wrote his book In Search of Excellence, everything had to be "excellent." Obviously, searching for excellence is a lot better than settling for mediocstate of your digestion and your body in general. Your digestive system. Your nervous system. Your circulatory system.

And it worked well with regard to solar things. Systems, for instance. The Alpha Centauri system. The Vega system. Such big things deserve big words.

But now everything's a system.

Not lowly lotion any more, now your hand lotion is a skin care system.

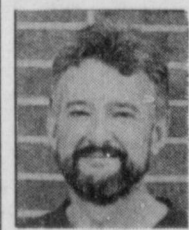

Your shampoo is a hair revitalizing system. Your car's engine was once, well, an engine. Not any longer. Now it's a system.

I'm very thankful for our local hospital for lots of reasons, not least of which is that it's getting harder and harder to find one. They're almost all systems now. (Some of them with religious-sounding names and higher prices.) I can hardly imagine lying on the ground after being hit by a Mack truck and pleading with onlookers, "Quick, get me to a system!"

"A what? Don't you mean a hospital?"

"No, I'm too sick for that, and you'll never find one! Get me to a healthcare system!"

Whatever. Say, I really hope you'll attend the worship system of your choice this Sunday. Ten to one, it'll be good for your system.

ity. But before we moved on to the next buzzword, I was ready to vote that along with our search for excellence we might try searching for a thesaurus and at least try to find another word to over-work.

Hmm. Bill & Ted's Adventure of Distinction.

In Search of Superiority. Your Excellency? Nah. Your Worthiness.

I'm pretty sure I know what the new word of the day is. It's "system."

Oh, it was a perfectly good word, yea, verily, an excellent word, to use to talk about the

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

BENEVOLENCE TO THE STRANGER

THERE WERE CERTAIN CUSTOMS REGARDING STRANGERS AMONG THE HEBREWS THAT WERE CONSIDERED UNWRITTEN LAW IN REGARD TO THEIR SAFETY AND WELL BEING. A MAN IN A STRANGE TOWN, NEEDING LODGING FOR THE NIGHT, WOULD, BY CUSTOM, SEAT HIMSELF ON THE GROUND OF THE MARKETPLACE OR THE MAIN THOROUGHFARE AND WAIT FOR ONE OF THE NATIVES TO ISSUE AN INVITATION TO STAY THE NIGHT. THIS WAS INVARIABLY DONE SO THAT THE STRANGER WOULD NOT BECOME PREY FOR THIEVES. AN ILLUSTRATION OF THIS IS TO BE FOUND IN GEN. 24, WHERE ABRAHAM'S STEWARD IS SENT TO FIND A BRIDE FOR ABRAHAM'S SON, ISAAC, AND IS GREETED BY LABAN WHO EXCLAIMS, "COME IN THOU BLESSED OF THE LORD; WHEREFOR STANDEST THOU WITHOUT? FOR I HAVE PREPARED THE HOUSE AND ROOM FOR THE CAMELS."
