World's Fair Is Opening Today

By ROBERT MUSEL

United Press Staff Correspondent BRUSSELS (UP)—Belgium opened its 650 million dollar World's Fair today, its cherished ideal of international cooperation apparently a casualty of the cold war and U.S.-Russian rivalry.

Blandly disclaiming any "spirit of rivalry," Russia wrapped its mighty glass and aluminum pavilion in a last-minute outdoor phalanx of heavy farm equipment and bulldozers in an obvious effort to overwhelm the neighboring, graceful American exhibit.

The Russians have been cranking in the heavy exhibits for days. By the time the first gates were thrown open to the public at 8:40 a.m. today (2:30 a.m. e.s.t.) their pavilion was by sheer mass the most impressive area in the fair.

.21 Inch Of Moisture Is Recorded Here

After two days of sunshine, Pampa weather became cloudy and rainy again today and at present time we had received .21 of an inch of moisture.

The Top 'o Texas weather forecast calls for mostly cloudy skies with scattered thunderstorms this afternoon and tonight. Tomorrow, partly cloudy and not much change in temperatures.

The low in Pampa last night was 52 and the high today was expected to reach 70 degrees. The high tomorrow is expected to be 75 and the low tonight, 45.

Showers fell in West Texas, the Panhandle and South Plains Wednesday night and the weather bureau said a low pressure system moving down the Rio Grande Valley will trigger more rain.

The heaviest rain Wednesday night was at Lubbock with .61 of an inch. Wink had .12, Amarillo .04, Childress .06 and El Paso .04. Traces were reported at many other points.

The weather bureau said radar soundings today showed a line of showers from Glen Rose to about 15 miles south of Mineral Wells.

A low pressure system in southern New Mexico was moving today southeastward down the Rio Grande Valley and showers were expected to spread eastward over the state, the bureau said.

A trough was expected to move through north central Texas tonight, producing thunderstorms. Light rain fell at Abilene.

The bureau said temperatures will continue mild today but winds developing from the west would drop readings a little Friday.

Troops Break Up Rebels' Sabotage Try

HAVANA (UP)—Government troops broke up a rebel attempt to sabotage the aqueduct that carries water to the U.S. naval base outside Guantanamo, the army announced Wednesday night.

Reports from the interior appeared to indicate the rebellion was fizzling, despite sporadic outbreaks of violence.

The first military communique in 24 hours mentioned the action at the aqueduct among scattered clashes in which at least six persons were killed and "several" wounded.

Two clashes occurred in the Guantanamo area. One rebel band shot up the home of the mayor of the south-coast city, while another tried to dynamite the aqueduct.

The attack on the mayor's house caused some damage but no casualties. Two soldiers and "an unknown number of insurgents" were killed at the aqueduct, the communique said.

In Havana, troops and police killed two rebel youths who had holed up in the suburban offices of the American-owned Bauer and Black Co.

Havana newspapers printed a number of obituary notices mentioning young men who "passed away" for unspecified reasons—presumably in the "mop-up" raids that followed last Wednesday's flurry of rebel violence.

As the situation eased, the tourist trade began to pick up. A number of Americans have arrived here in the past day or two, although the tourist turnout is still far behind the levels it reached at this time last year.

40 Million Visitors

Whether it is the most effective, the 40 million visitors expected in the next six months will have to decide.

But in the lovely round American building there was every confidence that the United States would make at least as much impact with its intelligent expenditure of 13 million dollars as the Soviet Union has with a budget of 50 million dollars or more.

Two hours after the first members of the public passed through the gates, King Baudouin and the Royal Family arrived to make the official opening in several hours of speechmaking and ceremonies before members of the Belgian government, diplomats and officials of the 47 participating nations.

A brilliant day of festivity marked the inauguration of the first international exposition since the famous "trylong and perisphere" fair in New York City in 1939. Fifty planes wrote the letter "B" in the skies as Baudouin kindled a flame which will burn until the exposition closes Oct. 19, 20,000 Balloons.

As fanfares blared, other aircraft traced Belgium's national colors of black, yellow and red overhead. From the top of Heysel Stadium 20,000 multicolored balloons bobbed in the air above the glittering 500 acres of exhibits.

North Carolina Senator Dies Wednesday

BURLINGTON, N.C. (UP)—Rough-hewn Sen. W. Kerr Scott, whose campaign to get North Carolina farmers out of the mud made him the state's most powerful political figure, died suddenly Wednesday of complications from a heart attack.

The "squire of Haw River," who would have celebrated his 62nd birthday today, died at 4:55 p.m. in Alamance General Hospital about 15 miles from his rural birthplace at Haw River.

Scott, who had a recent medical history of hypertension but no previous heart trouble, was hospitalized April 9 with a coronary thrombosis. He had been making "satisfactory progress" toward recovery when death came.

An autopsy performed Wednesday night showed that death was caused by a sudden rupture of the damaged part of the heart. Doctors described it as an "unpredictable complication" which occurs in a limited number of heart cases.

Death was instantaneous and without pain, the report said.

Scott's successor will be named by Democratic Gov. Luther H. Hodges, the man most frequently mentioned as a possible opponent for Scott in 1960. Hodges is expected to act quickly to fill the vacancy which leaves the Democrats with only a one-vote margin, 48-47, in the Senate.

The governor's appointee will serve only until Jan. 1. The remainder of Scott's term, which expires Jan. 1, 1961, will be filled at the November general election.

Funeral services for Scott will be held at 3 p.m. Friday at Hawfields Presbyterian Church near his home.

Scott, colorful, tobacco-chewing and cigar smoking, was often talked in field hand terms, went to the Senate in 1954 after serving as governor from 1948 to 1952.

A leading critic of Agriculture Secretary Ezra Benson, Scott was particularly concerned with tobacco legislation and rigid 90 per cent parity programs. He served on the Senate Agriculture Committee.

Congressional Roundup:

Meeting Held On Defense Reorganization

WASHINGTON (UP)—Chairman Carl Vinson (D-Ga.) called his House Armed Services Committee into a closed-door meeting today to plan hearings next week on President Eisenhower's defense reorganization program. Vinson bitterly opposes the plan.

Sen. Styles Bridges (R-N.H.), chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, warned the Democratic congressional leadership today the President may veto another of their anti-recession measures "if it isn't changed before it reaches his desk."

Center Planners In Meet

Members of the Youth Center Planning Committee met yesterday to review the ways in which the Pampa Youth and Community Center will provide "wholesome and creative activities for the youth of Pampa." They stated that the Youth Center would "definitely not be a mere lounging spot for youth."

The Center program will be in the hands of a professional director who will give his full time to the running of the Center. The Committee hopes to enlist a man with as much experience as is necessary.

Dr. Joe Donaldson, from the Center Board of Directors, announced that someone would speak at the Youth For the Youth Center Talent Show Friday in a brief recapitulation of the progress on the Center, both planning and fund-raising.

Campaign Headquarters announced today that Superintendent of Schools Knox Kinard and 22 teachers have pledged for the Pampa Youth and Community Center.

The meeting place of the Friday Report Meeting has been changed from the Palm Room in City Hall downstairs to the Chamber of Commerce Conference Room. The meeting time is unchanged, 10 a.m. Division reports at the last meeting swelled the Center Building Fund to $123,132.50.

Both students and adults are hoping for "great things" to come out of the third annual Youth For the Youth Center Talent Show, opening at 8 p.m. Friday at the Harvester Field House. Tickets are 50 cents for students at 75 cents for adults. The students are staging the talent show and selling tickets to raise a Building Fund for the Pampa Youth and Community Center.

Today, Campaign Headquarters released the names of individuals and firms who have pledged $1,000 or more for the Center Building Fund.

Man Fined On Check Charge

Jack Taylor, 759 Wink, was fined $1 and costs this morning on charges of swindling with a worthless check.

Taylor gave the check to Bud Taylor's Super Market on March 11, 1958, for $20. He will make restitution of the check.

More Federal Funds Slated For Use On Texas Highways

AUSTIN (UP)—Signing by President Eisenhower of the new highway bill means Texas will get $35,400,000 more in federal funds than last year for its roads, State Highway Engineer DeWitt Greer said Wednesday.

Greer said the bill goes into effect immediately.

Gov. Price Daniel said that "within a week, Texas will assign at least 18 million dollars in state and federal funds to improve present danger spots on Texas highways, in addition to another 25 million dollars previously designated."

Highway Department analysts have estimated about 20,000 new jobs will be created in Texas as a result of the accelerated highway program.

YOUTH FOR THE YOUTH CENTER

Students in the annual Youth for the Youth Center Talent Show do a little pre-performance clowning at Pampa High School. The student-run Talent Show will come off at 8 p.m. Friday in Harvester Field House. Student and adult tickets will be on sale at the door for 50 cents and 75 cents respectively. As with past Talent Shows, this will give financial support to the Pampa Youth and Community Center. Pianist Billy Hassell, left, will perform as will dancers Sara Gordon, center, and Maynette Loftus.

Youth Center Talent Show Slated Friday

Pampa High School's annual Youth for the Youth Center Talent Show will make its debut at 8 p.m. Friday in Harvester Field House.

With approximately 8,000 tickets issued, a full house is expected Friday and in case of an overflow the show will be put on again Saturday.

This year, in an effort to appeal to all-ages, grade school and Junior High students will appear in the show.

Making their first appearance before a Pampa audience, Mike and Dianne Phillips of Horace Mann play the piano and guitar and sing. Sissy Milliron will sing in her second year with the show.

Geisa Roper will play her accordion and Pat Carter will play and sing with a band composed of Billy Hassell, The Milliron Trio, Carter and Jimmy Don Davis.

Five dancers from the Beaux Arts Studio will perform again this year. They are Phyllis Parker, Sara Gordon, Glenda Finkenstein, Anita Guidry and Maynette Loftus. Miss Loftus will do a ballet and Misses Gordon and Parker will do a pantomime. Following them will be Mary Brashears who will "unwind" one of her acrobatic acts.

Three of Pampa's most popular trios will be heard again. The Stardettes are composed of Priscilla Turbo, Mary Gerik and Shirley Chase and are accompanied by Billy Hassell. The Milliron Trio, composed of Marilyn Myatt, Nancy Stephenson and Barbara Lunsford, will give out with some of their popular renditions.

Appearing for the first time is a sophomore trio, Mary Sturgeon, Shirley McCoy and Zoy Coronis. All trios will sing together when the A Capella Choir, under the direction of Bill Hunt, makes its debut. (See TALENT Page 2)

BULLETIN

AUSTIN (UP)—The Texas Railroad Commission today slashed the state's oil allowable for May 42,537 barrels daily, and maintained for the second consecutive month the all-time low schedule of eight producing days.

The daily allowable was set at 2,394,537. This compares with the daily allowable, as of last Saturday, of 2,437,074 barrels.

Public Works: The Senate approved by a 60 to 26 vote an emergency bill to set up a billion dollar loan fund for local public works despite republican protests there was no evidence it was an anti-recession measure. It would provide one billion dollars for loans at 3 1/2 per cent for such projects as public schools, garbage disposal plants, parks, hospitals and airports.

Death: The Senate adjourned its session out of respect for the memory of Sen. W. Kerr Scott (D-N.C.) who died Wednesday of a heart ailment.

Textiles: The Senate Commerce Committee voted to investigate the economic troubles of the textile industry.

Bills: Congress was notified President Eisenhower signed the $1,800,000,000 anti-recession highway bill despite misgivings. The President objected strongly to a provision requiring the federal government for one year to put up two thirds of the money for the regular federal aid program for primary, secondary and urban roads. The states normally pay half.

President In Speech Before Editor Society

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower said today national "safety and solvency" demand that more attention be paid "to America's strategic requirement and less to individual service claims."

Opening an all-out drive for public support for his sweeping defense reorganization plan, the President said there must be complete unity in strategic planning, military command and in U. S. fighting forces.

Modern weapons "have scrambled up traditional service functions" and resulted in inter-service "confusion and confusion," he said.

But the President said he is sure that if Congress accepts his plan based on the "facts of modern military life," the necessary unification will be achieved without taking from the Army, Navy or Air Force any of the power each "can usefully provide to support the mission of the command."

"No Prussian Staff!" The President carried the fight for his reorganization plan to the public in a speech before a joint lunch of the American Society of Newspaper Editors and the International Press Institute.

He labelled as "at least a misconception" the chief apprehensions raised by opponents of his plan.

The President declared emphatically, in answer to critics of his plan, that "there will be:—No single chief of state;—No Prussian staff;—No czar;—No 40-billion-dollar blank check;—No swallowing up of the traditional services;—No undermining of the constitutional powers of the Congress."

Would End Bickering The President spoke out in the face of a stinging assault against his plan by Rep. Carl Vinson (D-Ga.), chairman of the House Armed Services Committee.

If Congress adopts his plan, the President said: "There will be a stop to unworthy and sometimes costly bickering."

"There will be clear-cut civilian responsibility, unified strategic planning and direction, and complete unified combat command."

"There will be a stop to inefficiencies, and needless duplications encouraged by present law."

In this way, he said, "we will meet our dual needs—safety and solvency."

Indonesia Commandoes Storm Beaches Of Western Sumatra

SINGAPORE (UP)—Indonesian loyalist commandoes stormed the beaches of western Sumatra at dawn today, launching an all-out assault against the rebel strongholds of Padang and Bukittingi.

Naval headquarters in Jakarta said the landing was successful, but did not indicate exactly where it occurred or how many troops took part. The open beaches stretching for 20 miles along the coast northward from Padang appeared to be a likely point of attack.

Premier Djarda, who also serves as defense minister of the Jakarta regime, said the attack was met with "insignificant" resistance.

The Indonesian army confirmed the capture of Kilirandjau, which straddles the vital rebel supply road into south Sumatra, thus cutting off the last major rebel lifeline to the outside world.

The road to "neutral" north Sumatra was cut by Jakarta troops several days ago.

On Celebes Island, the revolt's "second front" some 1,500 miles east of Sumatra, the loyalist army reported the capture of the coastal towns of Parigi and Balarak in a drive to cut rebel supply routes.

A headquarters communique said troops entering the two towns "captured a quantity of equipment." Numerous rebels either surrendered or deserted to the loyalists, the communique said.

An invasion fleet of 20 vessels—a destroyer, four corvettes and 15 small freighters or barges—lay off Padang Wednesday. The rebels believed that four loyalist infantry battalions, led by two commando companies, would take part in the attack.

Choirs Win 3 Trophies At Canyon

Bill Hunt's three High School choirs won three trophies in a day of interscholastic League Competition at West Texas State College Wednesday.

The A Capella Choir, first in Concert and first in Sight Reading, was conspicuous with its Sweepstakes trophy. The Boys' and Girls' choirs, making First Division in Concert, had identical trophies.

Miss Marilyn Myatt, a Capella soprano, made First Division as Soloist.

Each choir presented three concert numbers and a sight reading. The A Capella Choir sang "Thou Life in Life" by Peter Tschetokoff, "Anthony O'Daily" by Samuel Barber and "Jubilate" by Giovanni Gabrieli.

The Girls' choir attained a superior concert rating with David Diamond's "Glory is Fallen out of the Sky," Francis Poulenc's "La Petite Fille Sage" and La Chien Perdu and Benjamin Britten's "The Little Babe." Copying an excellent rating in sight reading the choir settled for a concert trophy.

The Boys' choir, now this year, showed superiority in concert with Robert Gibb's "Out of the East," Tschetokoff's "Come Thou Holy Spirit" and the Russian folk song, "Sing Praise to God Almighty."

But in sight reading the choir made a good rating.

The sight readings were from photostatic copies of original compositions. Each year Theron Kirk composes new material especially for the contests.

Hunt's A Capella Choir brought back the first Sweepstakes trophy in several years, to the High School.

Rotarians Hear Talk On Insurance

Pampa Rotarians yesterday heard Ben Atkinson, state representative of the Texas Life Underwriters, talk on what life insurance means to a community.

Atkinson pointed out that not only does life insurance provide protection and a forced saving plan for policy holders but it provides the bulk of the financing for new homes and business buildings.

Atkinson had each club member write down the amount of life insurance individually owned and it was discovered that the average member had $30,000 in life insurance.

Four new members were inducted into the club after being introduced by Fred Neagle. The new members were Garland Rutherford, J. B. Deal, Wm. J. Chambliss and E. Ray Miller.

Visitors and guests for the day were Bob Hudson, Jeff Bearden, Neve Seacrest, Bennie Waller, Stan Frazier, John Reeves, Lewis Pinkston, Earl Wade, and Mike Strickland.

The President's speech was being carried by nationwide radio and television networks. Plan Public Hearings
Meanwhile, the House Armed Services Committee agreed unanimously to start public hearings Tuesday on the reorganization bill. Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy, cutting short a Paris trip which originally was slated to last until April 28, will appear as the first witness.

The bill, sent to Congress Wednesday, had been slated for consideration behind closed doors by a subcommittee under rules adopted last January. The full 37-man committee changed the rules today, took over the bill and called for open hearings. "Wilson, a bitter foe of the reorganization plan, said public hearings would be held so that the pros and cons could be 'completely aired.'"

First Aid Course Second Session Scheduled Friday

The second session in a beginning Red Cross First Aid course will open at 1 p.m. Friday in the Salvation Army Building, 111 E. Alber. Mrs. H. R. Jeter, Red Cross instructor, states that the course will be open to the public. Five regular sessions and two demonstration periods are scheduled.

The four remaining sessions will run from 1 to 3 p.m. Friday and Monday, Wednesday and Friday of next week. Two extra sessions are allotted to demonstrations of First Aid techniques.

Mrs. Jeter would like to sign up Girl Scout leaders or any others interested in the program. At the first session Wednesday she urged the class to carry a First Aid manual and a triangular bandage in their cars.

Scout District Meeting Held Here Tuesday

"Circus Days" and "Cookin' Stuff" were two of the themes in action at the Theme of the Month Round Tables Tuesday as Cub Scout, Boy Scout and Explorer leaders from the Santa Fe District met in the Palm Room. The Explorer theme, "New Explorer Program," was expressed through program planning.

Cub leaders got their first glimpse of the circus theme that they will work onto the Cub program next month. Likewise Scouters saw what could be done with fire building and food preparation in relation to their cooking theme. Six Cub Packs were represented in the circus demonstration. Ernie Pulse, Packmaster of Pack 15, arranged for the pre-opening ceremony with all the games of a carnival midway.

Mac Levin introduced the Cub theme by going over the committees that are essential to a Pack Circus day. The five committees are Big Top, Properties, Program, Refreshments and Welcoming and Cleanup. The Big Top Committee is responsible for choosing a site for the undertaking. The Properties Committee is supposed to line up things like the lion tamer's whip and other Circus properties. Mrs. Paul Dauer of Pack 1 displayed a circus horse that had been made with a metal framework and a papier mache head. She showed how a Cub could put his head through the opening to be both horse and rider.

Mrs. H. H. Heiskell of Pack 4 showed the shoe boxes that make up her peep show and freak show. Each box has an opening on the end and a sign over the opening. In the "Ruins of China" show is some broken China.

Pack 110 conducted the Search for Talent with Lynn Wilson in a leopard skin as Hercules Wilson and George Robbins as the Lion tamer. Joseph Watson came on in a dog outfit. His mother, Mrs. Wendell Watson, explained that the costume could be used in a Magazine.

From the April issue of Boys Life Cub Circus or in a little play by George Duncan of Pack 19 showed a bell ringer that he had made from two by fours.

In the Scout session, Warren Fatheree started the demonstration of fire building techniques by twirling a stick in a groove until a live coal was formed. Maurice Heard used flint and steel. Bill Stephens water-proofed a few matches. L. A. Leonard gave a short menu class and Bill Martin came out with "Kookin' Kinks."

Explorer leaders paid particular attention to the new Explorer Post being set up by the #613th Squadron of the Pampa Air Reserve. The Post, when completed, will offer interest groups in all areas of aviation.

Forty-five attended from the Cubs, 12 from the Scouts and 17 from the Explorers. District Commissioner Dr. George Snell and District Chairman Bob Curry were there.

Cub masters attending were Marvin Spook, Pack 1 and McCloskey, 4; Earnest Pulse, 15; Ted Major, 11; H. T. Thompson, 18; Richard Abbott, 22; Bert Jones, 27; Isaac Hatton, 83; Wendell Watson, 110 and George Duncan, 19.

Joe Blakency and Willard Henderson represented Scout Troop 23. Five other Troops were represented by committeemen and assistant leaders.

At the general session units learned that they would have an opportunity to appoint a publicity chairman who would be the liaison with the News. This will happen before the next Round Table in May.

Pampa's Brother Dies

Mr. Arthur Harrison, brother of Mrs. T. C. Bates of Pampa, died of a heart attack today in Eldorado, Ark. He had lived and farmed in Eldorado for the past 20 years.

TV Is Used To Track Murderer

VIENNA (UP)—Television was used Wednesday night to help track down a murderer for the first time in the annals of Austrian crime.

The Austrian TV network appealed to its viewers to help in the search for witnesses in the slaying of Ilona Faber, a pretty 21-year-old model whose nude body was found buried in a flower bed near the downtown Soviet war memorial. Pictures of the dead girl were flashed on the TV screen.

MISSILEMAN—Young Patrick Moriarty looks all set for a trip into space as he and his dad, Capt. Daniel R. Moriarty of Greenwich, N.Y., watch the fueling of a Nike missile at the Army Air Defense School, Fort Bliss, Tex. Handling the job are SFC James E. Bennett, center, of International Falls, Minn., and Pvt. Jack L. Harrison of Wayne, Ohio. That's a pretty advanced weapon Patrick is handling, himself.

TV Flubbed Opportunity To Do Show Of Honor To Itself

and Steve Allen shows are unable to handle a simple award dinner with dignity, distinction and fresh ideas.

Only the most groping of efforts was made to add production values to the show. That wonderful motley military miscellany—the Phil Silvers platoon—was paraded onstage to the tune of the “March from the River Kwai.” Once, a four-way screen was tried unsuccessfully—while Jill Corey, Shirley MacLaine, James Garner and Louis Nye tackled a parody of “Love and Marriage.”

There was also some talk about running a 10-year-cavalcade of TV, but only one year, 1948, ever made it on screen and after watching the brief mishmash of clips from that year, I would say it was just as well.

I would say the show only registered on one count—it had a kind of homey air about it, an off-the-cuff informality that was pleasing at times. But its informality teetered too often on the edge of chaos.

It boils down to this: TV simply will have to make up its mind about the Emmys and set itself for an overhaul of both the awards and the award show.

Categories Unwieldy

For one thing, the categories are unwieldy. A category like “best continuing performance (female)” in a series by a comedienne, singer, hostess, dancer, m.c., announcer, narrator, panelist, or any person who essentially plays herself is a patent absurdity. The categories should be sliced to about half their numbers or better still, done away with entirely and awards just presented to those shows or performers who merit them.

There is something very wrong with a system that decides “The Comedian” on “Playhouse 90” is the best single show of the year, that bestows an award on “Omnibus” and is forced to slough off—“See-It-Now,” that gives a statue to “Schulzy” of “The Bob Cummings Show” and forgets “The Edsel Show,” “The Miracle Worker,” Jack Paar, Sid Caesar and “Hallmark Hall of Fame.”

And secondly, TV should organize its awards as a show free of commercials, not as a kind of cheap competition for seats, a cheap scramble that looks more like a kiss-off than what it should be: A tasteful, imaginative extravaganza that the TV industry can point to with pride. And, I might add, that viewers can look forward to as one of the towering TV events of the year.

The Channel Swim: Yvonne Furneaux, who won the 1957 Venable Film Festival best actress award, best-out-about-10 other candidates for the “Cathy” role in the CBS-TV May 9 spec, “Wuthering Heights.” Patty Duke, the youngest—who lited $32,000 out of “The $64,000 Challenge” Sunday, also signed on for the spec.

NBC-TV is puffed up about the latest Trendex ratings which show it leading in 20 prime half-hours on

Earthen Dam Leaking Water
BENNETTSVILLE, S.C. (UP)—A waterlogged earthen dam, leaking water from a 300-acre lake through rapidly widening cracks, appeared doomed today.

Authorities said a full break might come “any minute.” About 250 families living in a low-lying area below the structure left their homes late Tuesday when the rain-swollen lake began threatening its retainer of red clay.

Rain which began here Tuesday morning continued to fall heavily during the early morning hours today. National Guardsmen were standing guard around the evacuated area and the State Highway Department was cutting a diversionary channel in an effort to reduce pressure on the dam.

More than 70 per cent of the natural gas produced in Texas is processed for its liquid hydrocarbons.

Dust Off 'Ye Olde Back-Yard Table', There's Bright Picnic Weather Ahead

Everyone is picnicking these days. Delightful meals are being consumed in back yards and parks the country over. Practically everyone enjoys eating outdoors, although picnics can be a joy or an endurance test. Here is a typical statement made after a picnic: "Well, all of us have had such feelings after an unpleasant picnic experience — it discovering too late that the hot dogs have been left home; holding out for a better picnic spot that is just a little farther on to find it has been pre-empted by someone else, or it is posted against trespassers — and sometimes it isn't there! These annoyances are small compared to the many delightful memories and thoughts brought home from picnics. We will undoubtedly go on having picnics and cooking in the back yard, and we will continue to say each time, as if it were a brand new thought, "Isn't it funny how much better everything tastes outdoors!"

PICNIC MENU
Hot Cheese Frankfurters
Bran Bread Baked in Can

Baked Beans
Carrot and Celery Sticks
Iced Tea
Cocoa Cake

This is a very simple menu that can be prepared and packed with a minimum of energy and space. You might like to try these recipes for the Hot Cheese Frankfurters, Bran Bread and Cocoa Cake.

HOT CHEESE FRANKFURTERS
20 frankfurters
¾ pound sharp cheese, cut into strips
20 slices bacon
20 long rolls
Split frankfurters lengthwise and place strips of cheese in slits. Wind a slice of bacon around each frankfurter and fasten ends with toothpicks. Spear firmly with stick and toast until bacon is crispy brown. Serve in heated rolls with catsup.

Yield: 10 servings, 2 each.

BRAN BREAD BAKED IN A CAN
1 cup whole bran cereal
½ cup seedless raisins
2 tablespoons shortening
1-3 cup molasses
¾ cup hot water
1 egg
1 cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
Measure whole bran cereal, raisins, shortening and molasses into mixing bowl. Add hot water, stirring until shortening is melted. Add egg and beat well. Sift together flour, soda, salt, and cinnamon; add to bran mixture, stirring only until combined. Fill 2 cans, 4½ inches deep, 2½ inches well-greased cans (baked bean across) 2-3 full. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 45 minutes. Remove from cans, cool bread to cans.

Yield: 2 loaves.

COCOA CAKE
1½ cups sifted cake flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
¼ cup sugar
1-3 cup cocoa
½ cup whole bran cereal
½ cup shortening
1 teaspoon vanilla flavoring
1 cup undiluted evaporated milk
2 eggs

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt, sugar and cocoa into mixing bowl. Add whole bran cereal, shortening, vanilla and 2-3 cup of the milk. Beat vigorously for two minutes by hand or with electric mixer using low speed. Add remaining milk and eggs; beat two minutes more, scraping bowl frequently. Pour into 2 greased 8-inch layer cake pans. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 35 minutes. Remove from pans; cool. Frost with Milk Chocolate Frosting.

Yield: 1 8-inch cake.

MILK CHOCOLATE FROSTING
Melt ¼ cup butter or margarine over hot water; stir in 6 tablespoons cocoa. Combine 5 tablespoons milk, scalded, 2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar and ¼ teaspoon salt; stir until sugar is dissolved. Add 1 teaspoon vanilla flavoring and mix well. Combine cocoa and sugar mixtures; beat until thick enough to spread.

Yield: sufficient frosting for tops and sides of one 8-inch layer cake.

Up-To-Date Raisin Bread In Casserole

Tasty Tid-Bit For Afternoon Tea-Time

An all time favorite, raisin bread, becomes modernized a bit in this casserole bread version. It's made by the batter bread method — in other words the dough is beaten rather than kneaded — and then it's baked in a round casserole dish.

The interesting round "loaf" of bread is very pretty when drizzled with white icing.

Spiced with cinnamon the raisin bread also includes evaporated milk in its ingredients. Evaporated milk is especially good for bread making. Breads brown beautifully with a tender crust when evaporated milk is used and it also cuts down loss of moisture while the bread is baking.

A glass of milk and some of this good raisin bread still warm from the oven and spread with butter would make a wonderful treat for the children after school.

CASSEROLE RAISIN BREAD
3 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup sugar
½ cup boiling water
½ cup evaporated milk
1 package dry granular yeast
¼ cup warm water
2 eggs, beaten
¾ cups sifted flour
½ cup teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup seedless raisins

Measure butter, salt and sugar into a large size mixing bowl. Add boiling water and stir until butter is melted. Stir in evaporated milk. Dissolve yeast in the warm water and add to first mixture. Stir in flour, then add about half the beaten eggs. Add cinnamon to flour to egg mixture. Beat to blend well. Add remainder of flour and beat until smooth. Add raisins and stir to distribute thoroughly. Let rise in warm place until doubled in bulk (about 1 to 1½ hours). Beat dough for about 2 minutes. Turn into a greased 1½ quart casserole and let rise until nearly doubled in bulk, about 45 minutes to 1 hour. Bake in preheated moderate oven (375 degree F.) until done, about 35 minutes. Cover top with aluminum foil after first 20 minutes of baking to prevent overbrowning. When bread is done, turn out immediately onto cooling rack. Turn right side up. Let bread cool a few minutes then drizzle with icing, if desired. Serves 6 to 8.

ICING
2-3 cup confectioners' sugar
1 tablespoon evaporated milk
Add milk to sugar and stir until thoroughly blended. Drizzle over warm bread.

The Hudson River is 306 miles long.

Barbecued Weinie Omits Tomatoes

This barbecued frankfurter recipe may come as a surprise to those folks who are familiar with a barbecue sauce that contains tomatoes — this one is tomato-less! The frankfurters are slashed and heated in a sauce that is piquant with onions, lemon juice, vinegar, paprika, brown sugar, Worcestershire sauce, and dry mustard.

TOMATO-LESS FRANKFURTER BARBECUE
1 pound frankfurters
1 small onion, minced
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup water
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons vinegar
3 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
2 tablespoons brown sugar
½ teaspoon each, pepper and paprika
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
2 tablespoons minced parsley

Make several diagonal slashes in each frank. Cook onions in melted butter or margarine for 3 minutes. Stir in water and seasonings. Cover and cook over low heat 15 minutes. Heat frankfurters in sauce 10 minutes. 6 servings.

Tailormade Dinner Without Fuss Can Make Mother's Day A Real Holiday

ON THE WORD "holiday," Mr. Webster's dictionary is clear, specific and... from Mother's point of view... somewhat contradictory. Among its several definitions are: (1) a feast day, and (2) any day of exemption from labor or work. The catch is that Mother is usually responsible for the feast, and that means work. She surely should enjoy both feast and exemption from work on Mother's Day, her very own holiday and here's a simple prescription for making this possible. The following feast can be assembled with a minimum of fuss, bother and skill. It's tailormade, too, for willing amateur cooks (pop and the kids).

Here are the recipes for the above menu!

CHIVE CHEESE BALLS
2-3 cup (1 ½-oz. jar) chive cream cheese
1 cup oven-toasted rice cereal paprika, if desired

Beat cheese until slightly softened. Shape cheese into small balls, using about 1 teaspoon cheese for each. Roll in oven-toasted rice cereal. Serve at once on toothpicks as an appetizer with chilled fruit juice.

Yield: 32 balls, 1 inch in diameter.

OVENFRIED CHICKEN
4 cups corn flakes
1 egg
1 tablespoon milk
2 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper
2½-3 pound frying chicken
1 tablespoon butter or margarine, melted

Crush corn flakes into medium fine crumbs. Combine egg, milk, salt and pepper. Dip chicken pieces into egg mixture; roll in corn flakes crumbs. Place in greased shallow pan or casserole. Sprinkle with melted butter. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 30 minutes. Turn chicken and bake about 30 minutes longer or until tender.

½ cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup hot water
2 eggs, well-beaten
½ cup lemon juice

Blend butter and brown sugar. Crush corn flakes into fine crumbs. Add to butter mixture together with flour and salt; mix well. Press ¼ of crumb mixture into bottom of 8x8-inch pan. Mix sugar, cornstarch and salt

Pork Dish Tastes Like Party Stew

Here's a pork recipe that resembles a party stew — lean, tender pork shoulder meat is cut into cubes and slowly cooked in a tomato and green pepper - flecked sauce.

SPICITY PORK WITH HERBS
3 pounds pork shoulder meat, cubed
1 tablespoon lard or drippings
2 medium-onions, cut into chunks
2 green peppers, seeded and cut into chunks
1 clove garlic, minced
1 can (16-17 ounces) tomatoes
2 teaspoons each, vinegar and salt
½ teaspoon oregano
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons flour
¼ cup water

Brown pork cubes on all sides in hot fat. Remove meat from pan and brown onions, green peppers, and garlic. Drain off excess fat, if necessary; return meat and add tomatoes, vinegar, salt, oregano and pepper. Cover and cook over low heat for 1 hour, or until pork were highly spiced and plump with a paste made by blending flour and water. 10 to 12 servings.

It's Planting Time

There's a smell of green grass in the soft April air. The gardeners who are bent on early planting are surrounded by seed catalogs. Plans are shaping up for those lush summer gardens. Good and quick soup meals are welcomed by Dad during this planting time.

Springtime Soup
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed turkey noodle soup
1 soup can water
1 cup diced cooked carrots
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
In saucepan, combine soup and water. Add carrots and parsley; heat. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

Next Saturday serve this exciting bowl:

Minestrone Deluxe
¾ cup chopped cooked ham
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed minestrone soup
1 soup can water
In saucepan, lightly brown ham and onion in butter. Add soup and water; heat. Stir often. Makes 2 to 3 servings. FNS

Peas, Swiss Steak Perfect Prescription For Springtime Entertainment Fever

Springtime brings along with it brisk winds and hearty appetites. It's a nice time of the year to entertain — folks seem to acquire "spring fever" and they just love to get out-of-doors and go places. You'll have no trouble making a guest list!

Plan your centerpiece and your menu, too, in keeping with the season and your guest's likes. Swiss Steak and Peas a la Pimiento-Egg (your favorite Peas with a delicious, creamy sauce) might very easily be that certain "like."

A hearty menu for early spring — Fruit Cup, Swiss Steak, Peas a la Pimiento-Egg, Relish — Sweet Pickles, Ripe Olives, Lettuce Wedge, Thousand Island Dressing, Cheese Biscuits, Butter Balls, Lime Sherbet, Milk, Coffee or Tea.

PEAS A LA PIMIENTO-EGG
2 eggs, hard-cooked
1 can (1 lb.) Tasty King Peas
2 teaspoons butter or margarine
2 teaspoons all purpose flour
¼ teaspoon salt
Few grains pepper
½ cup milk
¼ cup Pimiento, Chopped
½ cup mayonnaise
Chop egg whites; press yolks through sieve. Drain liquid from Peas into saucepan. Boil rapidly until reduced to about a half or a third cup. Add Peas and heat.

Melt butter or margarine, blend in flour, salt and pepper. Slowly add milk, stirring constantly. Cook until thick. Add egg white and Pimiento. Remove from heat; stir in mayonnaise. Drain Peas, cover with sauce and sprinkle with egg yolks.

SWISS STEAK
2 Tablespoons flour
2 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper
2 pounds round steak (1½ inches thick)
2 Tablespoons shortening
1 can (1 lb.) Stewed Tomatoes
1 teaspoon Worcestershire Sauce
1 bay leaf
¼ teaspoon thyme
Mix flour, salt and pepper together. Pound flour mixture into both sides of meat. Brown meat in shortening in heavy skillet. Add Stewed Tomatoes and rest of ingredients. Bring to simmer; cover and cook in oven at 350 degrees F. for one hour. Makes six servings.

Pleasant Breakfast For Family Feast

Here's a breakfast idea that's bound to please the school-going small fry as well as the older members of the family. Spread lightly toasted bread with butter, then crushed jellied cranberry sauce. Top with two slices of crisp cooked bacon and serve before the meat loses its heat.

Another breakfast idea using fresh pork and the bright red berries calls for waffle mix, pork sausage links and canned whole cranberry sauce. Bake waffles according to directions on the package; cook sausage links in water to cover five minutes, then drain and brown thoroughly. Heat cranberry sauce. To serve, place 3 or 4 sausage links over each waffle and ladle hot cranberry sauce over tops. Serve immediately.

BAD PRACTICES CHARGED
SINGAPORE (UP)—Candidates at recent by-elections used secret societies to intimidate voters, destroy posters and attack supporters of opponents, a commission of inquiry reported today. The commission recommended compulsory voting to eliminate corrupt practices.

KIRBY'S WIN TAX BATTLE
MORRISTOWN, N.J. (UP)—A $2,600,000 income tax refund was received today by Mrs. Gloria Kirby Conahay and her sister, Helene Louise Kirby, the fruits of a 10-year legal battle. They are daughters of the late Sumner Moore Kirby, son of a Woolworth chain founder.

TRANSIT REVENUE DOWN
NEW YORK (UP)—Passenger revenues on New York City's subways dropped $4,304,543 in a nine-month period ending March 31, the Transit Authority announced today. The drop was blamed primarily on the recession.

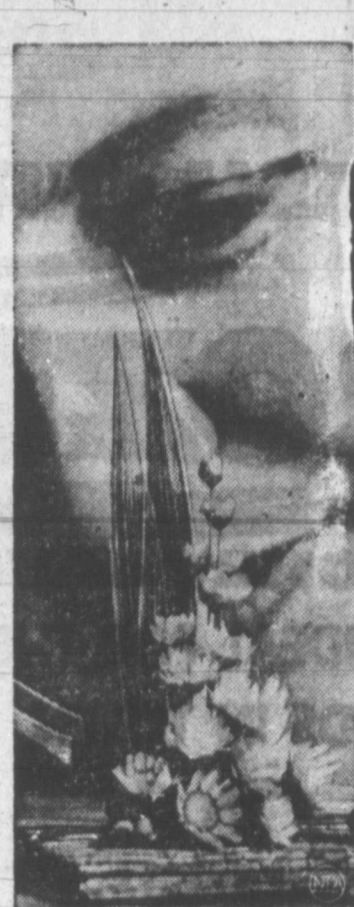

HUSSEIN CEDES POWERS
AMMAN, Jordan (UP)—King Hussein has relinquished the power to declare war on behalf of his kingdom, it was announced today. The change in powers came in the form of an amendment to the constitution which ceded war powers to Iraq's King Feisal in his capacity as senior monarch of the Iraqi-Jordanian Federation.

On The Business Scene

By UNITED PRESS
Private housing start in March declined slightly from the February pace to 880,000 units. Economists said the March showing reflected unfavorable weather and a desire to await legislative steps aimed at spurring dwelling construction.

General Electric Co. reported its March quarter sales and earnings were below the similar quarter of 1957, but said incoming orders in March were above January and February. Phelps Dodge Corp. reported a sharp decline in first quarter profits and advocated continued restraint in copper production. Sun Oil Co. said its March quarter earnings were "not too much above" the 25-cent quarterly dividend. In the initial three months last year Sun earned $1.24 a share.

CIRCUS CARAVAN—Circus people are notoriously self-reliant and when the streetcars in Frankfurt, Germany, stopped running due to a strike, the management of a touring circus established their own transportation system. They put these lumbering pachyderms to work hauling would-be customers out to the circus lot. Looks like you could have a circus going to the circus.

MOSCOW—First Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan, in telling American concert pianist Van Cliburn of Kilgore, Texas, that his appearance in Moscow was a great service to the United States. "You have been a very good politician for your country. You have done better than they (the American politicians) have."

WASHINGTON—An Air Force spokesman, in saying the B-47 is a good plane despite two B-47 crashes Tuesday and one last Thursday. "We've had a bad week, but the B-47 has a good record, there's no question about that."

Salvage Crews Probe Crash

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UP)—Salvage crews working in Tampa Bay sought today to determine if tornado winds had anything to do with a B47 jet bomber which exploded in flight and presumably killed its four-man crew of veteran fliers.

The swept-wing medium bomber from MacDill Air Force Base at nearby Tampa blew up over the Sunshine Skyway Bridge at the bay's mouth Tuesday, showering the long and high bridge-causeway complex with debris.

The four crewmen were listed as missing until bodies or parts of bodies could be identified.

North's four-club bid was Gerber and asked for aces. South's four spades showed two aces (a four-diamond response would have shown none, etc.).

North's leap to seven was a bad bid. Seven diamonds would have been a lay-down. Dr. Richard Greene of New Orleans, who sat South, could only count 12 top tricks when he looked at dummy. He won the opening club lead in dummy and started after diamonds. On the third diamond West signaled with the nine of spades and Dick chose to believe that signal. Now the simple spade finesse was not going to work, but Dick could still make the hand by means of a Vienna coup if West should show up with the king of hearts. Dick decided that West would not have signaled so strongly in spades if he also held the king of hearts.

Dick still have one shot in his locker. He led the queen of hearts from dummy. East covered with the king and Dick won with the ace. The last two diamonds and all the clubs were cashed and Dick let his two little hearts go.

West ran out of plays on the last club. He chose to unguard his queen of spades rather than commit suicide by letting the jack of hearts go and Dick had made his grand slam by means of a transferred-Vienna-coup. Incidentally, the play is so rare that I have seen it only twice before in my 40 years of play.

Long Island is a 120-mile-long spit of land in the Atlantic, dumped there ages ago by glaciers.

HOTTEST THING UNDER THE SUN—The solar furnace, above, will be the hottest thing on earth once it is placed in operation near Alamogordo, N.M. Designed for space age research, the 145-foot-square, 1 1/2-million-pound flat mirror, right, will reflect the sun's rays to a 108-foot diameter parabolic mirror, left. It will focus rays into a five-inch circle on a laboratory unit in front of the Venetian blind-like shutter. Shutter controls light reaching the focusing mirror, and can cut off expected 7,000-degree Centigrade temperatures at focal point in half a second. Maximum temperature represents about 80 per cent of the surface temperature of the sun. Pittsburgh's J. W. Fecker Inc. and Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel are developing the 10-million-dollar device jointly. To be under contract with the Air Force, the mechanism may be used by all the armed forces, other governmental agencies and private industry.

Soviet Russia Stepping Up Its Trade-With-Aid Offensive

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent
LONDON (UP)—Soviet Russia is stepping up a world-wide trade-with-aid offensive which officials here believe is hurting the West more than the Sputnik successes or the propaganda offer to halt nuclear tests.

Its main targets are the "underdeveloped" and "uncommitted" countries. Chief among them are the United Arab Republic, India, Afghanistan and Indonesia. Western officials are convinced the Soviets' main goal is to push their political influence in these countries at the West's expense.

But Moscow's tireless carpet-baggers and aid dispensers are striving to extend it to areas which the West hitherto has regarded as its own economic preserves—including Latin America, North Africa, Ethiopia, Saudi Arabia and newly independent Ghana.

News In Brief

BOMB VICTIM LOSES LEG
HAMPTON, Va. (UP)—Charles Watson Jr., 18, one of two youths who accidentally set off a Navy practice bomb, underwent a leg amputation Monday. He and Robert Hastings, 16, had found the bomb on an island. Hastings suffered serious burns.

BIG ASHTRAYS FOR STREETS
NEW YORK (UP)—Fifty public ashtrays will be installed on New York City Streets April 22 to help control the litter problem. The huge ashtrays, mounted on heavy pedestals, will be placed at bus stops and other congested sidewalk spots.

GAZA ANNEXATION SEEN
JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (UP)—Arab experts here said today that the flying of the United Arab Republic flag over the Gaza administration building this week was an indication U.A.R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser plans to annex the Gaza Strip. The area has a separate status.

CZECH PRIEST ON TRIAL
VIENNA (UP)—Father Albert Hevera, a Roman Catholic priest, is among 15 defendants being tried in Communist Czechoslovakia for alleged war crimes in 1944. Prague Radio reported today. The priest was indicted on charges of inciting members of a Fascist Slovak group to murder Allied prisoners of war.

SLUMP IN GERMAN SHIPPING
HAMBURG (UP)—A total 102 man ships are idled in West German ports, the German Shipping Lines Assn. said today. A spokesman said that international freight rates would not allow any decrease in the number of laid-up ships in the near future.

JAPAN, INDONESIA IN PACT
TOKYO (UP)—Japan and Indonesia officially ended World War II today. Foreign Ministers Subandrio of Indonesia and Aichihiro Fuyujama of Japan exchanged instruments ratifying a peace treaty and agreements for Japan's payment of reparations to Indonesia.

MAKES ROUND TRIP
COLUMBIA, S.C. (UP)—Roosevelt Hill, a Negro, served 33 months for robbing a store here, was released, entered the same store less than eight hours later, got caught—and was back in prison today to serve a three-year term.

Gomulka Tightens Industrial Control

Foreign News Commentary
By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent
Polish Communist Leader
Wladyslaw Gomulka is drastically tightening up his control of industrial workers and writers.

His new policy does not mean that Gomulka is moving toward restoration of the Stalinist type of harsh dictatorship.

But it is further evidence of the fact—which Nikita S. Khrushchev found out for himself in Russia—that in a Communist country a little liberalization can be dangerous.

Betty Hutton Characterizes TV as Monument to Mediocrity

By VERNON SCOTT
United Press Hollywood Writer
HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Betty Hutton, a rare performer on TV, characterized the medium today as a monument to mediocrity.

lacked Lawrence Welk and Liberace from the criticism she received.

The comparative freedom which Polish writers were given after the revolt of October, 1956, is being progressively curbed.

The effect of the new anti-strike order is to bring the labor unions more closely under direct Communist Party control.

The ruling on the workers councils means that these, too, will be subjected to closer Communist control.

As first secretary of the Communist Party, Gomulka led the revolt which won Poland's freedom from Soviet Russian domination.

Writers Were Too Liberal
The 3,600 workers' councils set up in factories will be enlarged into "conferences of self-government."

SHIPS TAKEN INTO CUSTODY
LONDON (UP)—Iceland has taken two British trawlers and their crews into temporary custody for allegedly fishing in the island's territorial waters.

Since then, he has adroitly managed to keep his country independent despite the opposition of a Moscow-minded Communist leadership.

In each factory, the "conferences" will consist of the workers captured by the Communist Party.

"I mean, you're at the mercy of their writers, instead of being able to do your own material. It's not like doing a movie where no expense is spared to make the star look good. Poor Perry usually has a plain black backdrop for scenery."

"I've turned down" guest star offers from all three shows," Betty said. "You're at the mercy of the host every time."

STATUS OF THE CITIES—Since the 1950 census, the population of the United States has been increasing at the rate of about 1.7 per cent a year. Growth has been most rapid in newly developed suburbs—about 4.5 per cent annually. On the other hand, population increase in large cities as a group has been below the national average. Newsmap, above, shows past and current growth in representative cities, based on figures from the Metropolitan Insurance Co. In most large cities in the Northeast, population has either grown slowly or actually decreased. North central cities are growing, with the exception of St. Louis. But the most rapidly expanding cities are in the South and West, with San Diego leading, followed by Wichita and Atlanta.

PLANT EXCHANGE—The bright warm sunshine of this past Monday morning brought Pampa Garden Club members out en masse for a Plant Exchange in the home of Mrs. Milo Carlson, 2211 Charles. Members brought plants from their own gardens for exchange with other members for plants they did not have. The group shown above, comprise only a portion of the 45 members attending. (News Photo)

Mrs. Libby Shotwell, PTA Speaker, On Red Cross Water Safety Program

The April meeting of the B. M. Baker P. T. A. was called to order by Mrs. R. A. Mack, president. The secretary's minutes were read by Mrs. J. H. Trotter, in the absence of Mrs. Evan Jones, with Mrs. D. L. Martindale reading the treasurer's report.

Mrs. Libby Shotwell, executive Red Cross Director, announced that Foy Barrett will be the instructor for the Baker Red Cross First Aid Course. She gave the members information helpful in preparing to take this course.

A film, "Learning How to Swim," was presented, showing the teaching methods used to help a person learn to swim.

Three Stars Expected In Dallas Meet

DALLAS (UP)—Texas' speedy Eddie Southern and a Swedish high jumper and a South African miler were expected to furnish the fireworks for the Dallas Invitational Track and Field Meet here tonight.

Southern, who hasn't run an open 440-yard dash since early March when he flicked off a sizzling 46.2 that tied the national collegiate record at Fort Worth, is expected to pace that event as Texas, Southern Methodist, Abilene Christian and Oklahoma vie in the meet at P. C. Cobb Stadium.

The foreigners due the limelight are SMU's Bertil Holmgren, whose 6 foot 9 1/2 inch leap is the second highest in the nation this season, and Oklahoma's Gail Hodgson, a sophomore sensation from South Africa who negotiates the mile in around 4:10 or less. Swede Wins Often Holmgren has consistently beaten his heralded teammate, Don Stewart, in the high jump this season, but Stewart is the only one expected to push the tall blond from Stockholm.

Podres Gets First Bum Win

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer

Johnny Podres, who pitched the Dodgers to their first world championship, also pitched them to their first victory in California with a masterful performance of 11 strikeouts that gave San Francisco fans an inkling as to why the Giants had become the despair of New York.

Everything went right for the Dodgers Wednesday night as they slammed out 15 hits, including homers by rookie Dick Gray and Duke Snider, in burying the Giants, 13-1, on Podres' nifty five-hit pitching.

The Bums routed starter Ramon Montant in the third inning after Snider hit his 425-foot screamer over the right field wall with one on to put them ahead, 4-0. Giant manager Bill Rigney called on Paul Giel, Jim Constance, Ray Crone and Stu Miller from his bullpen during the course of the game but none of them was able to halt the Los Angeles onslaught.

Lewis Three Hours
Like most Giant-Dodger games, this one stretched three hours and three minutes. The final out was registered at 2:18 a. m. e. s. t., long after most New York baseball fans were sound asleep.

A crowd of 22,735 fans at Seals Stadium saw the game in chilly 55-degree temperature and although there was a bit of grumbling about the Giants' pitching, there were no noticeable complaints about the fog from San Francisco Bay.

Podres' 11 strikeouts was his one-game high for the majors. He fanned nine during the first five innings and retired the side on strikes in the third. The Giants scored their only run off him in the sixth on rookie Jim Davenport's single, a walk and a single by Willie Mays.

Cimoli to Play Today

Dodger outfielder Gino Cimoli was struck above the left ear by a pitch from Giel in the seventh inning but the club physician, Dr. Harold Wendler, said the injury wasn't serious and that Cimoli would be able to play when the two teams meet again today.

It was the only National League game scheduled.

Maybe it's only temporary, but you can't blame the Kansas City Athletics for being a bit excited about sharing the American League lead. They made it two in a row by beating the Cleveland Indians for the second straight day, 9-4.

All the experts said the A's sacrificed too much power in deals during the winter, but there was no evidence of it as outfielder Bob Cerv drove in five runs with a homer and a pair of doubles. Kansas City knocked out Ray Narleski in the first inning and Ralph Terry went on to register the victory although Tom Gorman had to rescue him in the eighth.

Sobbing note: The Athletics also won their first two games last season.

Detroit, which got off to a wretched start last April, scored its second straight victory over the White Sox, 5-4, on Frank Bolling's three-run homer with two out in the ninth inning.

Three Unearned Runs
Bolling blasted his game-winner off Dick Donovan, who had been rapped for three singles by him earlier in the contest. All three of the runs were unearned since Charlie Maxwell reached first on Luis Aparicio's error and advanced to third on Tim Thompson's single. Donovan retired the next two batters, then worked the

Thygeron To Lubbock For Regional

Pampa High School track coach Dwayne Lyons said today that one Harvester will make the Regional Track and Field Meet this week end at Lubbock on the Campus of Texas Tech.

Alton Thygeron was the only Harvester who qualified in the District meet to go to the Regional meet. Thygeron will run in the 100 and 220 yard dashes. His best time in the 100 is 9.6, Lyons said, and his best time in the 220 is 21.3.

Thygeron is 18 and a Senior in Pampa High School. He has run in track for Pampa the last two years.

The first two place winners of the various District meets are qualified to participate in the Regional carnival.

Preliminaries will be held Friday afternoon and the finals will be staged Saturday afternoon. The Andrews Mustangs have been picked as the team to beat in the larger school division.

Weather permitting, several divisional records may be in danger of being shattered by the numerous outstanding thin clads.

Pair Of Paradoxes

We try to make a constant endeavor to understand the situation which confronts us. And it must be conceded that by virtue of man's amazing ability to contrive newer and better tools, and to work long hours, he has chased the jungle from his immediate door-step.

Life, circa 1958, is not nearly the hazardous affair it was a few hundred years ago when food was rarely in good supply and when the average life-span ranged something under 60 years.

To understand man's situation, it is essential that we understand man. For the situation, using the word loosely, is most man-made. The hazards of flood, famine, pestilence, ill health, wild beasts and so forth, have largely been brought under control except in remote areas.

Thus we become aware of a strange paradox: As man labors to overcome natural dangers and to provide himself with security, he creates artificial dangers and frequently finds himself less secure than he was formerly.

What is at the bottom of this odd contradiction?

One of the fundamental reasons for man's artificial dangers, we feel, is found in his tendency to use some agency of force against other men, in an effort to protect himself.

Man has yet to learn, apparently, that all men are members of the genus homo sapiens, and as such are on the same team arrayed against their mutual dangers.

Instead, it is man's practice to suppose that other men must be compelled whereas each individual man, with few exceptions, knows that he does not have to be compelled. The "others" are always aliens, foreign, uncouth, and dangerous.

Hence man sets up an agency of power which can destroy others. History tells us that agencies of power not infrequently turn about to rend their creators. Thus, agencies of power constitute a real and permanent danger, even to those who create them for security's sake.

Another paradox is found in man's tremendous desire to find the easy way out of every situation. This is closely akin to what we call laziness. Man does not like to do hard things. He wants to do easy things. In order for him to do difficult things he must practice a remarkable degree of self-control and self-mastery.

Yet here is the curious fact: Man's desire to do things the easy way is at the root of his inventive and creative genius. Man is constantly seeking and finding ways and means of getting things done which relieve him of labor. True, the inventors and creators of new tools and devices are rarely lazy. They labor long hours, frequently without remuneration of any kind, simply because they wish to improve their own lot and the lot of their fellows. And it is axiomatic that the man who can make a better mouse trap, will find the world beating a path to his door.

But this strange trait of being lazy and seeking the easy way out, has an interesting counterpart. For while, on the one hand, it stimulates inventors and creators and businessmen and tool makers and thousands of persons with like ambitions, it also stimulates the slothful, the inept, and the lackadaisical.

Thus we find man divided into two general groupings, those who work diligently to better the lot of human kind, and those who refuse to work any more than they have to at any task, and place their faith in an agency of force to provide for them.

So, it could be said that man's tendency to be lazy, stimulates both his progress and his retrogression. It stimulates his desire to be independent, so that afterwards he can enjoy his leisure. And it stimulates his desire to be dependent, so that he can enjoy leisure which he has not earned.

It would follow, if these brief summations are true, that our real problem relates to education. For if our young people can be taught that they cannot get something for nothing, they will bestir themselves, if only in the hope that they earned the reward, they can be lazy.

Otherwise, and under government encouragement, our young people are learning that they can be lazy now, and never bother to seek a reward.

It's Up To You

A Tendency To Destroy Production

At a cost of more than $1 billion, Prime Minister John Diefenbaker of Canada has kept his campaign promises to increase benefits to the farmers, the aged and the needy. Another $300 million has been made available for cash advances to farmers on grain they have been unable to market and for home building.

Future candidates (whether liberal, conservative, labor, Democratic or Republican) in Canada, the United States and elsewhere, will make similar promises and will try to keep them.

There is no question of the need but, by forebodingly taking wealth from our abler citizens in order to care for the less thrifty and less able, we shall retard and eventually tend to destroy production at the source.

It is difficult to imagine the welfare state that will not continue this process until its thrifty, abler citizens are despoiled, discouraged and rendered incapable of helping themselves or others.

Something of the direction in which we are headed may be seen from the experience of England where a competent observer was told recently that the Conservative Party could not de-nationalize the coal industry because no one now desires to go into the coal business, and no group has sufficient capital with which to do it, even if it so desired. Socialism soon closes all easy means of exit from it.

BETTER JOBS

Individual Responsibility

Since I believe most of our social problems come from failure to realize the necessity of individuals being responsible for their acts, I want to continue to quote from Frederic Bastiat's great chapter on "Responsibility" from his "Harmonies of Political Economy."

"We find it impossible to separate the idea of life from that of sensibility; that of sensibility from that of pleasure and pain; that of pleasure and pain from that of reward and punishment; that of intelligence from that of liberty and choice, and all these ideas from the idea of Responsibility; for it is the aggregate of all these ideas which gives us the idea of Being or Existence, so that when we think upon God, our reason, which tells us that He is incapable of suffering, remains confounded — so inseparable are our notions of sensibility and existence."

Faith

"It is this undoubtedly which renders Faith the necessary complement of our destinies. It is the only bond which is possible between the creature and the Creator, seeing that God is, and always will be, to our reason, incomprehensible, Deus absconditus."

"In order to be convinced how hard Responsibility presses us, and shuts us in on every side, we have only to attend to the most simple facts. Fire burns us; the collision of bodies bruises us. If we were not indued with sensibility, or if our sensibility were not painfully affected by the approach of fire, and by rude contact with other bodies, we should be exposed to death every moment."

"From earliest infancy to extreme old age, our life is only a long apprenticeship. By frequently falling, we learn to walk. By rude and reiterated experiments, we are taught to avoid heat, cold, hunger, thirst, excess. Do not let us complain of the roughness of this experience. If it were not so, it would teach us nothing."

"The same thing holds in the social order. From the unhappy consequences of cruelty, of injustice, of fear, of violence, of deceit, or idleness, we learn to be gentle, just, brave, moderate, truthful, and industrious. Experience is protracted; it will never cease to an end; but it will never cease to be efficacious."

"Man being so constituted, it is impossible that we should not recognize in responsibility, the mainspring to which social progress is specially confided. It is the crucible in which experience is elaborated. They, then, who believe in the superiority of times past, like those who despair of the future, fall into the most manifest contradiction. Without being aware of it, they extol error, and calumniate knowledge. It is as if they said, 'The more I have learned, the less I know. The more clearly I discern what is hurtful, the more I shall be exposed to it. Were humanity constituted on such a basis as this, it would in a short time cease to exist.'"

"Man's starting-point is ignorance and inexperience. The farther we trace back the chain of time, the more destitute we find men of that knowledge which is fitted to direct their choice. — of knowledge which can be acquired only in one of two ways; by reflection or by experience."

"Now it so happens that man's every action includes, not one consequence only, but a series of consequences. Sometimes the first is good, and the others bad; sometimes the first is bad, and the others good. From one of our determinations there may proceed good and bad consequences, combined in variable proportions. We may venture to term vicious those actions which produce more bad than good effects, and virtuous those which produce a greater amount of good than of evil."

"When one of our actions produces a first consequence which we approve, followed by many other consequences which are hurtful, so that the aggregate of bad predominates over the aggregate of good, such an action tends to limit and restrain itself, and to be abandoned in proportion as we acquire more foresight."

"Men naturally perceive the immediate consequences of their actions before they perceive those consequences which are more remote. Whence it follows that what we have denominated vicious acts are more multiplied in times of ignorance. Now the repetition of the same acts constitutes habit. Ages of ignorance, then, are ages of bad habits."

"Consequently, they are ages of bad laws, for acts which are repeated, constitute manners, upon which laws are modelled, and of which, so to speak, they are the official expression."

Robert Allen Reports

'Big 3' Nuclear Weapons Club Headed For Change

WASHINGTON — The exclusive "Big Three" nuclear weapons club is headed for a fateful change. It is going to get some new members — with the aid of the first one.

France, West Germany and Italy are considering an agreement to jointly undertake the production of nuclear weapons and missiles — with the assistance of U.S. know-how, funds and material, on one condition.

This key requirement is that the tri-party pooling plan operate under direct NATO control; that is, as an integral part of the NATO defense system.

Details of the momentous French-German-Italian project are now being deliberated by a group of military and other authorities. Main problem facing them is the big string attached to the U.S. help offer: Whether the proposed joint production of nuclear weapons should be within or outside of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

West Germany strongly favors the former. Defense Minister Strauss gave firm assurances on that during his recent Washington visit.

France is interposing a number of questions. Behind these objections is the far-reaching determining factor that France is on the verge of becoming a nuclear weapons power on its own.

Around mid-June, France is set to conduct its first test of a nuclear "device" in the southern Sahara.

Another crucial issue being raised by France is the actual extent of U.S. assistance to the tri-party weapons production plan. The French are making much of the fact that powerful opposition has expressed itself in Congress to President Eisenhower's legislation to permit the giving of nuclear secrets and material to friendly nations.

That has been vigorously assailed by such divergent leaders as Senator Styles Bridges, N.H. Committee and Representative head of the Republican Party Chet Holifield (D. Calif.), chairman of a Joint Atomic Subcommittee.

All these thorny matters will be taken up at the NATO foreign ministers conference, starting May 5 in Copenhagen. Secretary Dulles and Defense Secretary McElroy will attend. NATO military chiefs are now holding talks in Paris in preparation for that parity.

Secretary Dulles is also slated to be questioned about this eventful subject when he appears this week before the Joint Atomic Subcommittee headed by Senator John Pastore (D.R.I.). This group is considering the President's controversial bill under which the U.S. would facilitate the French-German-Italian plan to jointly produce nuclear weapons and missiles.

INSIDE DETAILS — Senator Pastore's Subcommittee already has one significant report on this matter. It is the transcript of a private meeting of the House Foreign Affairs Committee that heard Assistant Defense Secretary Mansfield Sprague and Brigadier General John Guthrie. There were closely questioned about the nuclear weapons plan by Representative Omar Burleson (D.Tex.). Publishable highlights of this revealing testimony are as follows: "What can you tell us about that French-West German-Italian military committee that is considering plans to jointly produce nuclear weapons and other equipment?" asked Burleson.

"It is our hope that such production under NATO will become a reality," replied General Guthrie. "There are of course certain problems, not only among the nations directly involved, but also among manufacturers in Europe. As you doubtless know, there are only two or three countries capable of producing nuclear weapons in Europe."

"Well, are we encouraging that sort of thing?" demanded Burleson.

"Yes, sir," declared Guthrie. "We are encouraging them to do that as a NATO operation, but not outside of NATO."

"At the moment," said Burleson, "it's going on outside of NATO, isn't it?"

"We are fully informed of the activities of the military production committee," declared Assistant Secretary Sprague. "We know everything going on there."

"Everything?" persisted Burleson skeptically.

"Yes, sir," asserted Sprague, "although we don't know the terms of the agreement between them. That is, we don't know that yet. That will be taken up at the NATO meeting next month in Copenhagen. All our efforts are to channel this tri-party nuclear weapons plan into and through NATO. Defense Minister Strauss favors that very much."

General Guthrie also told the Foreign Affairs Committee that the first U.S. missiles will go to NATO countries this summer. This initial weapon will be the Army's "HONEST JOHN" guided missile, which can carry a nuclear warhead.

France, West Germany and Italy will be equipped with these missiles beginning in August.

The first intermediate range ballistic missiles, the Army's JUPITER and the Air Force's THOR, are scheduled to be sent to Europe early in 1959. Guthrie reported negotiations are underway for bases in Britain, France, West Germany and Italy for that purpose.

NOTE: Two more West German divisions will join NATO forces in June. That will bring the total to seven German divisions. Original plans called for Bonn to provide 12 divisions by June of this year.

May Nothing Stand In The Way Of Progress?

"A thing of beauty if joy forever." That's the way a poet put it.

A thing of beauty if joy forever — unless in happens to get in the way of progress. That's the way our modern civilization puts it.

We Americans "Oh" and "Ah" over lovely old buildings, are moved by the majesty of a proud forest, exclaim at the beauty of a reach of river, and vow to preserve them intact for ourselves and for the pleasure of our children's children.

But then comes Progress, with a capital P, and our promises of preservation are no more valid than if written on water. Progress must march on, and no handiworks of man or Nature must halt it.

The graceful old buildings are razed to make way for a functional office building, the sparkling waters of the river are polluted by the waste of a chemical plant, and the trees are toppled to provide landing room for jets or for a ten-smokestack plant.

A Florida reader has informed me of the latest rearing of Progress's battering, tasteless head. There is a move underfoot — and a powerful one, he says — to knock down Fort Marion, centuries old fortress in our oldest city, St. Augustine, to make room for a four-lane highway.

This is hard to believe, but it is so, and the chances are that history, romance, legend and beauty will have to step aside for highest tourism, the screech of brakes and stop lights. With the Fort down I suppose the next step will be to build a six-pump station over the Fountain of Youth.

David Shea Temple has a good idea. He believes our diplomats and statesmen should spend more time studying TV westerns. The horse opera of the airways are fundamentally American, not because the Madison Avenue hucksters want them that way, but because the American public chooses to patronize those firms that sponsor Americanism. Mr. Temple asks, "Did anyone ever see a western hero who lacked courage, integrity, honesty, patriotism and devotion to his friends? Have you ever seen a horse opera that did not glorify the past of our nation? Does the hero ever have any question in his mind about what is right, and what is wrong? In a western, isn't there a constant respect of God, woman and home?"

Even in world-weary and cynical Washington, there are 25 such programs scheduled every week, between the hours of seven and ten — because the people want them.

JACK MOFFITT

It would be too bad if Ponce de Leon should return to continue his search and not be able to get a free windshield wiper, his tires tested, and fill his tank with antiknock.

With its glorious, but short, history, America doesn't have too many historic monuments, and those dating back to the sixteenth century, as does Fort Marion, would seem to be worth preserving. Does the super-highway HAVE to go right through the Fort's grounds? And, even if there were no other place for it to run, wouldn't it be worth not having that specific stretch of lovely new concrete to preserve a handsome reminder of our past? Wiser heads than yours and mine probably will answer that last one with a "no."

It's a wonder to me that someone hasn't tried to buy Mt. Vernon for a motel site. You'll have to admit there isn't a prettier place for a motel (with swimming pool, TV in every room, air-conditioning, etc.) on the whole Potomac. Being of a wood construction, Mt. Vernon wouldn't be hard to knock down.

And what a spacious parking lot the grounds of the Lincoln Memorial would make! Room for hundreds of cars, plus free dozen laundromats, dry-cleaning services, a hamburger drive-in, and a giant auto-market. If you think the Memorial is lovely by night, just think of all those neon lights from the laundromats and drive-ins shining on the reflecting pool!

Paul Protests Umpire Ruling

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UP)—Cincinnati Reds general manager Gabe Paul Wednesday asked that the National League season opener here which the Reds lost 5-4 to Philadelphia Tuesday, be ordered replayed.

In a formal protest of an umpire's ruling, Paul stood behind manager George "Birdie" Tebbets charge that a fan touched the ball hit by Granny Hamner on which a runner scored the tying run before the Phils went on to win the game.

YOUR FREEDOM NEWSPAPER

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is not license. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule, The Ten Commandments and the Declaration of Independence.

This newspaper is dedicated to promoting and preserving YOUR freedom as well as our own. For only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

Pair Of Paradoxes

We try to make a constant endeavor to understand the situation which confronts us. And it must be conceded that by virtue of man's amazing ability to contrive newer and better tools, and to work long hours, he has chased the jungle from his immediate door-step.

Life, circa 1958, is not nearly the hazardous affair it was a few hundred years ago when food was rarely in good supply and when the average life-span ranged something under 60 years.

To understand man's situation, it is essential that we understand man. For the situation, using the word loosely, is most manmade. The hazards of flood, famine, pestilence, ill health, wild beasts tend so forth, have largely been brought under control except in remote areas. Yet, man finds himself constantly confronted by danger. The danger is of his own making. It must be, since dangers not of his own making have largely been overcome.

Thus we become aware of a strange paradox. As man labors to overcome natural dangers and to provide himself with security, he creates artificial dangers and frequently finds himself less secure than he was formerly.

What is at the bottom of this odd contradiction? One of the fundamental reasons for man's artificial dangers, we feel, is found in his tendency to use some agency of force against other men, in an effort to protect himself.

Man has yet to learn, apparently, that all men are members of the genus homo sapiens, and as such are on the same team arrayed against their mutual dangers.

Instead, it is man's practice to suppose that other men must be compelled whereas each individual man, with few exceptions, knows that he does not have to be compelled. The "others" are always aliens, foreign, uncouth, and dangerous.

Hence man sets up an agency of power which can destroy others. History tells us that agencies of power not infrequently turn about to rend their creators. Thus, agencies of power constitute a real and permanent danger, even to those who create them for security's sake.

Another paradox is found in man's tremendous desire to find the easy way out of every situation. This is closely akin to what we call laziness. Man does not like to do hard things. He wants to do easy things. In order for him to do difficult things he must practice a remarkable degree of self-control, and self-mastery.

Yet here is the curious fact. Man's desire to do things the easy way is at the root of his inventive and creative genius. Man is constantly seeking and finding ways and means of getting things done which relieve him of labor. True, the inventors and creators of new tools and devices are rarely lazy. They labor long hours, frequently without remuneration of any kind, simply because they wish to improve their own lot and the lot of their fellows. And it is axiomatic that the man who can make a better mouse trap, will find the world beating a path to his door.

But this strange trait of being lazy and seeking the easy way out, has an interesting counterpart. For while, on the one hand, it stimulates inventors and creators and businessmen and tool makers and thousands of persons with like ambitions, it also stimulates the slothful, the inept, and the lackadaisical. Thus we find man divided into two general groupings, those who work diligently to better the lot of human kind; and those who refuse to work any more than they have to at any task, and place their faith in an agency of force to provide for them.

So, it could be said that man's tendency to be lazy, stimulates both his progress and his retrogression. It stimulates his desire to be independent, so that afterwards he can enjoy his leisure. And it stimulates his desire to be dependent, so that he can enjoy leisure which he has not earned.

It would follow, if these brief summations are true, that our real problem relates to education. For if our young people can be taught that they cannot get something for nothing, they will bestir themselves, if only in the hope that they earned the reward, they can be lazy.

Otherwise, and under government encouragement, our young people are learning that they can be lazy now, and never bother to seek a reward.

It's Up To You

by Howard Kershner

L. H. D.

There is no question of the need but, by forcibly taking wealth from our abler citizens in order to care for the less thrifty and less able, we shall retard and eventually tend to destroy production at the source. This will gradually shift more and more of our people from the thrifty, abler class into the less thrifty, less self-reliant, less industrious and less ambitious class.

It is difficult to imagine the welfare state that will not continue this process until its thrifty, abler citizens are depopulated, discouraged and rendered incapable of helping themselves or others.

A Tendency To Destroy Production

At a cost of more than $1 billion, Prime Minister John Diefenbaker of Canada has kept his campaign promises to increase benefits to the farmers, the aged and the needy. Another $300 million has been made available for cash advances to farmers on grain if they have been unable to market and for home building.

Future candidates (whether liberal, conservative, labor, Democratic or Republican) in Canada, the United States and elsewhere, so will make similar promises and so will try to keep them.

Individual Responsibility

Since I believe most of our social problems come from failure to realize the necessity of individual responsibility for their acts, I want to continue to quote from Frederic Bastiat's great chapter on "Responsibility" from his "Harmonies of Political Economy."

"We find it impossible to separate the idea of life from that of sensibility; that of sensibility from that of pleasure and pain; that of pleasure and pain from that of reward and punishment; that of intelligence from that of liberty and choice, and all these ideas from the idea of Responsibility; for it is the aggregate of all these ideas which gives us the idea of Being or Existence, so that when we think upon God, our reason, which tells us that He is incapable of suffering, remains confounded — so inseparable are our notions of sensibility and existence."

Faith
"It is this undoubtedly which renders Faith the necessary complement of our destinies. It is the only bond which is possible between the creature and the Creator, seeing that God is, and always will be, to our reason, incomprehensible, Deus absconditus. In order to be convinced how hard Responsibility presses us, and shuts us in on every side, we have only to attend to the most simple facts.

"Fire burns us; the collision of bodies bruises us. If we were not indued with sensibility, or if our sensibility were not painfully affected by the approach of fire, and by rude contact with other bodies, we should be exposed to death every moment.

"From earliest infancy to extreme old age, our life is only a long apprenticeship. By frequent falling, we learn to walk. By rude and reiterated experiments, we are taught to avoid heat, cold, hunger, thirst, excess. Do not let us complain of the roughness of this experience. If it were not so, it would teach us nothing.

"The same thing holds in the social order. From the unhappy consequences of cruelty, of injustice, of fear, of violence, of deceit, or idleness, we learn to be gentle, just, brave, moderate, truthful, and industrious. Experience is protracted; it will never come to an end; but it will never cease to be efficacious.

"Man being so constituted, it is impossible that he should not recognize in responsibility the masterpiece to which social progress is specially confined. It is the crucible in which experience is elaborated. They, then, who believe in the superiority of times past, like those who despair of the future, fall into the most manifest contradiction. Without being aware of it, they extol error, and calumniate knowledge. It is as if they said, 'The more I have learnt, the less I know. The more clearly I discern what is hurtful, the more I shall be exposed to it.' Were humanity constituted on such a basis as this, it would in a short time cease to exist.

"Man's starting-point is ignorance and inexperience. The farther we trace back the chain of time, the more destitute we find men of that knowledge which is fitted to direct their choice. — of knowledge which can be acquired only in one of two ways: by reflection or by experience.

"Now it so happens that man's every action includes, not one consequence only, but a series of consequences. Sometimes the first is good, and the others bad; sometimes the first is bad, and the others good. From one of our determinations there may proceed good and bad consequences, combined in variable proportions. We may venture to term vicious those actions which produce more bad than good effects, and virtuous those which produce a greater amount of good than of evil.

"When one of our actions produces a first consequence which we approve, followed by many other consequences which are hurtful, so that the aggregate of bad predominates over the aggregate of good, such an action tends to limit and restrain itself, and is abandoned in proportion as we acquire more foresight.

'Big 3' Nuclear Weapons Club Headed For Change

WASHINGTON — The exclusive "Big Three" nuclear weapons club is headed for a fateful change. It is going to get some new members — with the aid of the first one.

France, West Germany and Italy are considering an agreement to jointly undertake the production of nuclear weapons and missiles — with the assistance of U.S. know-how, funds and material, on one condition.

This key requirement is that the tri-party pooling plan operate under direct NATO control; that is, as an integral part of the NATO defense system.

Details of the momentous French-German-Italian project are now being deliberated by a group of military and other authorities.

Main problem facing them is the big string attached to the U.S. help offer: Whether the proposed joint production of nuclear weapons should be within or outside of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

West Germany strongly favors the former. Defense Minister Strauss gave firm assurances on that during his recent Washington visit.

France is interposing a number of questions. Behind these objections is the far-reaching determining factor that France is on the verge of becoming a nuclear weapons power on its own.

Around mid-June, France is set to conduct its first test of a nuclear "device" in the southern Sahara.

Another crucial issue being raised by France is the actual extent of U.S. assistance to the tri-party weapons production plan.

The French are making much of the fact that powerful opposition has expressed itself in Congress to President Eisenhower's legislation to permit the giving of nuclear secrets and material to friendly nations.

That has been vigorously assailed by such divergent leaders as Senator Styles Bridges, N.H., Committee, and Representative Chet Holifield (D., Calif.), chairman of a Joint Atomic Subcommittee.

All these thorny matters will be taken up at the NATO foreign ministers conference, starting May 5 in Copenhagen. Secretary Dulles and Defense Secretary McElroy will attend. NATO military chiefs are now holding talks in Paris in preparation for that parley.

Secretary Dulles is also slated to be questioned about this eventful subject when he appears this week before the Joint Atomic Subcommittee headed by Senator John Pastore (D., R.I.). This group is considering the President's controversial bill under which the U.S. would facilitate the French-German-Italian plan to jointly produce nuclear weapons and missiles.

It is the transcript of a private meeting of the House Foreign Affairs Committee that heard Assistant Defense Secretary Mansfield Sprague and Brigadier General John Guthrie. There were closely questioned about the nuclear weapons plan by Representative Omar Bureleson (D., Tex.).

Publishable highlights of this revealing testimony are as follows: "What can you tell us about that is considering plans to jointly produce nuclear weapons and other equipment?" asked Bureleson.

"It is our hope that such production under NATO will become a reality," replied General Guthrie. "There are of course certain problems, not only among the nations directly involved, but also among manufacturers in Europe. As you doubtless know, there are only two or three countries capable of producing nuclear weapons in Europe."

"Well, are we encouraging that sort of thing?" demanded Bureleson.

"Yes, sir," asserted Guthrie. "We are encouraging them to do that as a NATO operation, but not outside of NATO."

"At the moment," said Bureleson, "it's going on outside of NATO, isn't it?"

"We are fully informed of the activities of the military production committee," declared Assistant Secretary Sprague. "We know everything going on there."

"Everything?" persisted Bureleson skeptically.

"Yes, sir," asserted Sprague, "although we don't know the terms of the agreement between them. That is, we don't know that yet. That will be taken up at the NATO meeting next month in Copenhagen. All our efforts are to channel this tri-party nuclear weapons plan into and through NATO. Defense Minister Strauss favors that very much."

General Guthrie also told the Foreign Affairs Committee that the first U.S. missile will go to NATO countries this summer. This initial weapon will be the Army's "HONEST JOHN" guided missile, which can carry a nuclear warhead.

France, West Germany and Italy will be equipped with these missiles beginning in August.

The first intermediate range ballistic missiles, the Army's JUPITER and the Air Force's THOR, are scheduled to be sent to Europe early in 1959. Guthrie reported negotiations are underway for bases in Britain, France, West Germany and Italy for that purpose.

NOTE: Two more West German divisions will join NATO forces in June. That will bring the total to seven German divisions. Original plans called for Bonn to provide 12 divisions by June of this year.

PAY FLASHES — A decisive majority of the Senate Armed Services Committee favors the military pay bill as voted recently by the House.

Senator John Stennis (D., Miss.), head of the Subcommittee considering the measure, is proposing it be sent to the full Senate for quick action there so the raise can become effective by May 1. Senate Republican Leader William Knowland, Calif., is telling military friends he not only approves of the House's pay bill but will "expedite its enactment in the Senate."

Representative H. R. Gross (R., Ia.) has strong bipartisan backing for his proposal that graduates of West Point, Annapolis and the Air Academy be required to serve a minimum of seven years. Gross contends the present requirement of a few years is inadequate.

May Nothing Stand In The Way Of Progress?

"A thing of beauty if joy forever. That's the way a poet put it.

A thing of beauty if joy forever — unless it happens to get in the way of progress. That's the way our modern civilization puts it.

We Americans "Oh" and "Ah" over lovely old buildings, are moved by the majesty of a proud forest, exclaim at the beauty of a reach of river, and vow to preserve them intact for ourselves and for the pleasure of our children's children.

But then comes Progress, with a capital P, and our promises of preservation are no more valid than if written on water. Progress must march on, and no handiworks of man or Nature must halt it.

The graceful old buildings are razed to make way for a functional office building, the sparkling waters of the river are polluted by the waste of a chemical plant, and the trees are toppled to provide landing room for jets or for a ten-smokestack plant.

A Florida reader has informed me of the latest rearing of Progress's battering, tasteless head. There is a move underfoot — and a powerful one, he says — to knock down Fort Marion, centuries old fortress in our oldest city, St. Augustine, to make room for a four-lane highway.

This is hard to believe, but it is so, and the chances are that history, romance, legend and beauty will have to step aside for highest tourism, the screech of brakes and stop lights. With the Fort down I suppose the next step will be to

David Shea Temple has a good idea. He believes our diplomats and statesmen should spend more time studying TV westerns. The horse operas of the airways are fundamentally American, not because the Madison Avenue hucksters want them that way, but because the American public chooses to patronize those firms that sponsor Americanism. Mr. Temple asks, "Did anyone ever see a western hero who lacked courage, integrity, honesty, patriotism and devotion to his friends? Have you ever seen a horse opera that did not glorify the past of our nation? Does the hero ever have any question in his mind about what is right and what is wrong? In a western, isn't there a constant respect of God, woman and home?"

Even in world-weary and cynical Washington, there are 25 such programs scheduled every week, between the hours of seven and ten — because the people want them.

Paul Protests

Umpire Ruling

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UP)—Cincinnati Redlegs General Manager Gabe Paul Wednesday asked that the National League season opener here which the Reds lost 5-4 to Philadelphia Tuesday, be ordered replayed.

In a formal protest of an umpire's ruling, Paul stood behind manager George "Bred" Batters' charge that a fan touched the ball hit by Granny Hamner on which a runner scored the tying run before the Phils went on to win the game.

Is Disc Jockey, Like Elvis' Sideburns, Becoming Extinct?

By VERNON SCOTT
United Press Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Is the disc jockey — like the whooping crane and Elvis' sideburns — becoming extinct?

Yes, says a Hollywood radio station owner who is tying the can to his lineup of platter-spinners.

In one fell swoop M. W. Hall, president of station KLAC, cleaned house of his jabbering jockeys this week in favor of more music and less personality-boy chatter. Hall believes other stations will follow suit.

Trend Under Way
"In the major marketing areas disk jockey programming will slowly, but inevitably come to an end. The trend in this direction has already started," says Hall. "An intense survey that we've had under way for over eight months in Los Angeles and six other cities brought to light the fact that people want music, music, music, interlaced with news and features. The fact that 'Someone' brings it to them doesn't interest them one bit anymore."

"The same thing is happening in TV and movies, too. To a great extent it isn't the star—it's the material."

Hall will aim his new programming schedule at specific audiences.

Something For Everyone
"Popular hits mixed with a few standards will be played in the early morning before the young audience leaves home; during the late morning more standards will be added to appeal to housewives; in the late afternoon when father returns, hits, standards and albums; and so on throughout the day," Hall said.

"We'll have more air time for music than we've ever had due to eliminating all the DJ chatter. "Charges that ours will be a canned operation and rock 'n' roll programming are altogether untrue; I expect that we will be setting a pattern that will be emulated on a wholesale basis throughout the United States within a short time."

Bit Parts: ABC television sharpened the ax for four series scheduled to be dropped: "Love That Jill," the Betty White Show, "Colt '45" and Mike Wallace. Still uncertain for renewal: Frank Sinatra. Dean Martin's opening quip for his Coconut Grove debut this week: "How do you like the new way I open my act—sober!" Montgomery Clift may be teamed with John Wayne in his next picture, "Rio Bravo" at Warner Brothers. Walter Brennan is one actor who isn't upset by the fact his old movies are on TV and he's not getting paid for it. Says Brennan, "When I got those jobs I was darned glad to get the money in the first place."

Back Stairs At The White House

By DAYTON MOORE
United Press Staff Correspondent WASHINGTON (UP) — Back-

stars at the White House: President Eisenhower hopes to spend another weekend at the Augusta (Ga.) National Golf Club this spring, according to White House aides. He curtailed his usual Easter vacation of a week or 10 days there to three days last weekend to return to work here on the recession and international

If he succeeds in getting back to Augusta, it probably will be later this month. But it could be as late as mid-May. There are the greens on the Augusta National are "killed" then for the summer.

Only one of Eisenhower's 23 visits to Augusta has been in May. It was in 1949 and was one of the four times he was there before he was elected President. He stopped off there en route back from Key West, Fla., and completed his convalescence from a digestive ailment he suffered here while back on temporary duty at the Pentagon. Eisenhower is by no means the first President to visit Augusta. George Washington visited there in 1791. Others were James Monroe in 1819, William McKinley in 1898, William Howard Taft on several occasions and Warren G. Harding in 1923. Woodrow Wilson lived there as a boy and came back for a visit in 1912 before he was nominated for President.

The President—to the delight of his personal physician, Maj. Gen. Howard McSydenr — is walking more and using an electric cart on the golf course. The President started using an electric cart to go around the links after he recovered from his heart attack in 1955. But now he rides the cart only on the hilly fairways. It works out that he just about splits the walking and riding distances on the three golf courses he has played most in recent weeks — Augusta, Gettysburg, Pa., and Thomasville, Ga.

The President left one boy overjoyed at Augusta last weekend. Five-year-old Bobby Cousins had been begging his Army captain father to bring him from nearby Camp Gordon so he could see the President as he got on his plane. Bobby, who was perched on his dad's shoulder alongside the steps leading up to the plane's cabin, not only got a good look at Eisenhower. The President also gave the lad a friendly hair tou-ale and a smiling "How are you, son?"

NEW SOVIET TRADE PACT MOSCO W(UP) — A new Soviet-Iranian commercial agreement "will greatly increase the volume of trade between the two countries," the Tass News Agency reported today. Representatives of the two nations signed the pact in Tehran, capital of Iran, Tuesday.

George Cline Smith, vice president of F.W. Dodge Corp., characterized the construction outlook in 1958 as "not booming, but big." Smith said on the plus side is the emphasis that anti-recession programs put on housing, highways and other public works. On the minus side, however, he said are prospects for declining business spending for new construction.

Westinghouse Electric Corp. has received the $180,230 contract for design and construction of a simulated reactor propulsion system to be used in training crews for America's nuclear - power merchant ships.
