Gifts To 'Center' Total $86,195

The Pampa Youth and Community Center now has $86,195 in its coffers as reported today and so City Hall's Palm Room. The Advisory Gifts Division has raised $35,960. The Special Gifts Division accounted for $37,931 and the Business-Employees' Division has totalled $12,156.

Business-Employees' Chairman Ray Duncan said, "I would like to work just as hard as these ladies we'd go over the top. They're not only working their own ends but they're going back to the office and getting more cards. The ladies in the campaign are in the women's section of the Business-Employees' Division."

Pampa Jaycees have pledged $2,000 to the Pampa Youth and Community Center. That action was taken at a meeting of the Jaycee board of directors this morning.

Since the last Report Meeting, Friday, the overall total has risen by $16,861. Advance gifts have gone up by $4,210 since Friday. Special Gifts have risen by $2,885. The Business-Employees' Division has secured $1,066 since Friday.

The Pampa Youth and Community Center will consist of five definite areas: Gene Hollar, Planning Committee chairman, announced.

An enclosed swimming pool, a general activities room, a game room, a lounge and a snack bar will provide recreational and social facilities for the people of Pampa.

The "biggest thing" will be the pool. The General Activities Room will have facilities for gym work, dancing, little theatre, small assemblies, and games.

The Game Room will be for ping pong, pool and table games. The lounge will be a place where one can read or listen to music. It can serve as a meeting place for ladies' clubs and civic committee meetings. Because of its proximity to the snack bar, coffee can be served in the lounge for special occasions.

The snack bar will be strictly a concession with no meals served. It will have full soda fountain facilities complete with booths and stools.

Johnny Campbell, general campaign director, had a few words to say on the progress of the campaign. "We're not doing our community right if we think only of ourselves," said Campbell. "Whenever we have people like Mrs. Garter who are able to give a $25,000 operating fund, whenever we have kids at the high school who for five years have done all in their power for a Youth Center, whenever we see comparable communities with fine Youth Centers, we see that what we have to do is what we have to do now."

"We've got to live and feed our families. Granted. But think of all the time we waste during the day. We've got to make a special effort now, during the next few days, so that in the next few years we'll have something."

"A recession doesn't keep us from thinking progressively and planning ahead. We can build it. We have three years to build it," he concluded.

The next check-up meeting will be tomorrow at 10 a.m. in the Palm Room of City Hall. The Planning Committee meets at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow in the Chamber of Commerce Conference Room to lay out the building and price the five features that have been definitely decided on.

Performance Tonight On Holy Week

Ten Pampa students will do a special repeat performance of the choral reading "On the Eve of Holy Week" at 7:30 p.m. today at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church. The church chancel was the setting for the reading, a Twentieth Century version of this pageant from the Medieval Church.

Students of the Young People's Service League and the Church Choirs teamed up to give an impression of the first Holy Week in Jerusalem.

The events are this: A young shepherd, played by Chucky Gahnen, meets a Jerusalem merchant, Robert Collette, on the triumphal route that leads followed into Jerusalem. They wonder why He came and what will happen to Him. In the next scene, the voice of Jesus is heard for Jerusalem. John Mead as Jesus tells the Parable of the Vineyard.

Various speakers recall the conspiracy of the authorities and the treachery of Judas. Jim Cook, the second speaker, brings us up to the feast of unleavened bread, the Last Supper, as Mead sings. That last night of a united stand.

The scene changes from a street near the Upper Room to the room itself. A servant in the house, Kathy West, gives an account of what she sees and the voice of Christ heard again.

Then Christ, in song and story, is betrayed by Judas' kiss and taken before Pilate. Miss Meadman, on the Cross. He arrests a thief, played by Lee. Followed and assures him that they will meet in Paradise. A continuation at the foot of the cross. Linda Zimtzony, says, "Surely this was the Man of God."

And at the end of the action, Christ rises to say, "I am the Resurrection and the Life."

Other readers and singers are Tudy Roraback as Simon Peter and Mary Price as the High Priest. Mrs. George Casey provided effective musical transitions on the organ. In this drama, the choral as important as any of the dialogue.

St. Matthew's Episcopal Church is located at 727 W. Browning. Father William E. West, rector, and Director Claude Moorman invite everyone to the last performance at 7:30 p.m. today. After theater, refreshments will be served in the Parish House.

Series Continues On Page Three

The second of a series of six meditations in which prominent clergymen discuss the events of each day in the final week of Jesus Christ's earthly ministry will be found today on page three. Today's article is by a noted Greek Orthodox theologian on the faculty of Harvard Divinity School.

Decisions On Citizenship By Court

By CHARLOTTE G. MOULTON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—New

decisions on citizenship and contempt of court highlighted today the Supreme Court's liberal-conservative split over individual liberties.

The court decided five cases Monday, mostly by 5-4 votes. But 20 opinions were required to compass views the justices wanted to get on the record in each case.

The decisions demonstrated that Chief Justice Earl Warren continues to lead a liberal group including justices William O. Douglas, Hugo L. Black and usually William J. Brennan Jr.

Of the four most important rulings this bloc carried only one. It struck down as unconstitutional an act of Congress revoking the U.S. citizenship of American servicemen convicted of desertion in wartime. Here Justice Charles E. Whittaker joined the majority of five.

The more conservative members of the court prevailed in a second citizenship case and two contempt cases. This group included Justices Felix Frankfurter, Harold H. Burton, Tom C. Clark and John M. Harlan.

Albert L. Topf, 33, filed the appeal in the desertion case, citing a provision of the Nationality Act of 1940. Topf was convicted of desertion by an Army court-martial in Casablanca in 1941. When he sought a passport the court decided on four items. The more conservative members of the court prevailed in a second citizenship case and two contempt cases. This group included Justices Felix Frankfurter, Harold H. Burton, Tom C. Clark and John M. Harlan.

The Commissioners appointed George W. Scott, James Poole and Gene Lewis Jr. to the Equalization Board. The three men were scheduled to be sworn in after the meeting of the Commissioners.

Electoral ordinance 180 was passed on the third and final reading of the ordinance.

The Commissioners decided that the Messilla Park plat, which was presented to the Commissioners three weeks ago by Frank Rappstine, an Amarillo developer, was to be discussed further.

They also passed an emergency ordinance on the paving program. All three readings were heard today and a public hearing on the ordinance has been scheduled for April 22.

The DAW today was holding its first negotiating session with Chrysler and its second meeting with Ford. Negotiations opened last week at General Motors and will be resumed there next Tuesday.

DAW demands include a profit sharing plan and wage and benefit increases. The profit sharing plan would allow the company to keep the first 10 per cent return on net capital, plus half of everything over 10 per cent, for division in stockholder dividends, executive bonuses and plant improvement.

The High School A Capella Choir will go to Canyon, Apr. 17, for the Interscholastic League. Contests. Eight soloists and five ensembles are included in the choir.

Jo Ann Jones, Marilyn Myatt, Nancy Stephenson and Ann Bybee will be the sopranos. The tenors will be Wintown Rowntree and Louis Neely. The sole alto will be Barbara Lunsford and Jerry Trice will be the only bass.

Two quartets will sing in the competition. One is made up of Linda McDonald, Nancy Goodnight, Louis Neely and John Campbell. The other is formed by Jo Ann Jones, La Vada Naylor, Wintown Rowntree and Jerry Trice.

Three girls trios will appear at Canyon. Marilyn Myatt, Barbara Lunsford and Nancy Stephenson make one trio. Another consists of Margaret Ingle, Barbara Maxwell and Marilyn Smith. Shirley McGov, Zoy Goronis and Mary Sturgeon comprise the next trio.

JAYCEE OFFICERS FOR '58

Bandits Kill One In $300 Robbery

LAWTON, Okla. (UP)—Two bandits killed a 19-year-old mother and left her husband for dead Monday night after forcing them to hand over $300 from a store safe beneath their second floor apartment.

But the couple's 4-month-old son asleep in the room was unharmed.

Killed was Mrs. Ruth Zimmerman, who with her husband, Reggie, 22, was bound and shoved into a closet where the bandits shot them after starting to leave with the money.

Zimmerman, who was shot in herself and staggered a block the right arm and chest, freed and a half to the home of policeman G. W. Blackburn, who called an ambulance. Zimmerman was reported in satisfactory condition in the Memorial hospital.

He told police the bandits, one white and one Mexican, came to their apartment about 10:30 p.m. just south of the Lawton city limits.

They forced him to go down stairs to the Surplus City Sales store, where Zimmerman works, open the safe and give them about $300.

The gunmen then tied the couple, pushed them into a closet and started to leave.

Zimmerman said the men were about 26 and 30 years of age.

Another big line awaited employees of the county tax office this morning as people were still buying 1958 car tags before the midnight deadline.

Approximately 200 people had purchased car tags today by 11 a.m., according to Jack Back, county tax collector-assessor, and those that many were expected before the office closes this afternoon.

Jaycees Hold '58 Election Of Officers

New officers for the year were elected at a meeting of the board of directors of the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce this morning.

The directors, meeting at 7 a.m. in Johnson's Cafe, elected Horton Russell, outgoing treasurer, to succeed Johnny Campbell as president.

Other officers are Leymond Hall, first vice president; Gene Hollar, second vice president; Melvin Jayroe, secretary; and Lyle Gage, treasurer.

Installation banquet for the new officers is scheduled for April 26 in the Palm Room of City Hall. The program is not as yet complete.

Officers for 1957 were Campbell, president; Charles Wilkerson, first vice president; R. F. MacDonald, second vice president; Hollar, secretary; and Russell, treasurer.

Ray Duncan, the 1957 immediate past president, was automatically a state Jaycee director, a capacity which Campbell will fill this year.

This was the first meeting for the new slate of directors, elected at last Tuesday's meeting. New directors elected at that time were John Lee Bell, Jim Brown, Gage, Hall and Jayroe.

Holdover directors are Campbell, Hollar, John W. Jones, MacDonald, George Neef and Russell. Also, the Jaycee directors voted to give $2,000 to the Pampa Youth and Community Center, currently in its fund-raising campaign.

The directors named Ray Blum, editor of the bulletin, as Jaycee of the Month for this morning's meeting.

They also voted to co-sponsor a "Youth Career Day" with the Pampa Altruism Club. Details still are to be worked out on the project, expected sometime during the next school year.

On the congressional investigation front, a House commerce subcommittee sat down behind closed doors to begin drafting a report on its long and often explosive investigation into the Federal Communications Commission. Chairman Owen Harris (D-Ark.) said the subcommittee may issue an interim report this week recommending corrective legislation aimed at the FCC.

The Senate Rackets Committee expected to wind up today its inquiry into the 1955 Perfect Circle Corp. strike with testimony from two victims of strike-generated violence. It was speculated that Sen. Ralph Yarborough (D-Tex.) may be named to replace Sen. Pat McNamara (D-Mich.) who resigned from the committee Monday.

The AFL-CIO endorsed before the House Ways & Means Committee a plan for extending the unemployment compensation of those who have exhausted their benefits. The bill would make the payments available for a maximum of 39 weeks at rates higher than those now in effect in many states. Senate Democrats hoped for a

Ship Crowded With German Immigrants

LONDON (UP)—The 7,000-ton British freighter City of Sydney saved 1,300 persons from death early today when a Norwegian liner crowded with German immigrants burned and sank in the Indian Ocean.

An unconfirmed radio report listed only one death in the swift rescue. Other reports said there were no casualties at all.

An unconfirmed radio report listed only one death in the swift rescue. Other reports said there were no casualties at all.

The Italian passenger ship Roma was steaming slowly toward Aden today, carrying all 1,076 passengers and about 100 crewmen from the fire-ravaged Norwegian transport ship Skaubryn. She was expected to arrive Thursday.

The Skaubryn, carrying European migrants to Australia, was engulfed in flames when she was about 300 miles southeast of Socotra Island off the African coast. Her passengers and crewmen took to lifeboats and pulled away from the leaping flames on the ship.

One of the vessels answering distress calls broadcast before the Skaubryn was abandoned was the British freighter City of Sydney. She was first on the scene and began pulling the Skaubryn's loaded lifeboats alongside, and then hauling the survivors aboard.

The City of Sydney, heavily loaded and without passenger accommodation, left the still-flaming Skaubryn adrift in the Indian Ocean, about 10 degrees north of the Equator, and steamed for the nearest port, Aden.

The Roma, a passenger ship, was also racing to answer the Skaubryn's distress calls. The two ships met in the night and their captains agreed to transfer the survivors to the Roma, which was far better equipped with food and accommodation.

Once again, a mid-sea transfer of the 1,200 persons involved was accomplished without accident. The Roma then set off for Aden, followed by the City of Sydney. The Norwegian owners of the Skaubryn, the Oslo firm of I. M. Skaugen, said the fire presumably started in the engine room and spread to the oil bunkers. He said the passenger accommodations were equipped with modern fire-fighting equipment and painted with fireproof paint.

The Damascus spokesman reported enemy casualties were "believed to be heavy" and that six tanks were damaged.

A Jerusalem dispatch said the U.N. Mixed Armistice Commission ordered a cease fire on the border at 5 p.m. after both sides threw tanks and artillery into the battle, the second in two days.

Israel complained that after the Sunday cease fire ordered by the U.N., the Syrians continued their shelling and that it was not until 7 p.m. that fighting actually stopped.

Senate Calls Up Anti-Recession Bill

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate called up for debate today another major Democratic anti-recession measure, a bill aimed at pumping one billion dollars in federal funds into local public works projects.

It would provide an expanded program of federal loans for construction and repairs of streets, bridges, airports, sewers, hospitals, schools, libraries and other community facilities.

Acting Democratic leader Mike Mansfield (Mont.) put a priority label on the legislation and said the Senate would remain in session today until completing action on it.

On the congressional investigation front, a House commerce subcommittee sat down behind closed doors to begin drafting a report on its long and often explosive investigation into the Federal Communications Commission. Chairman Owen Harris (D-Ark.) said the subcommittee may issue an interim report this week recommending corrective legislation aimed at the FCC.

April being designated as Cancer Control Month, the Pampa Chapter of the American Cancer Society announces the three steps in its Cancer Crusade. A book review of "Please Don't Eat the Daisies," a Cancer Marathon on KPND and a door-to-door visitation will distinguish the Crusade.

At 10 a.m., Apr. 10, in Lovett Memorial Library, Mrs. Dudley Steel will review Jean Kerr's "Please Don't Eat the Daisies." Every woman in town is invited to the book review. A free-will offering will be taken.

Parables Used By Jesus In Teaching

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of six Eastern meditations in which prominent clergy men discuss the events of each day in the final week of Jesus Christ's earthly ministry. Today's author is a noted Greek Orthodox theologian on the faculty of Harvard Divinity School.

By the Rt. Rev. GEORGES FLOROVSKY
Written For United Press
"Now in the daytime He was teaching in the temple, but as for the nights, He would go out and pass them on the mountain called Olivet. And all the people came to Him early in the morning in the temple, to hear Him" (Luke 21:37-38).

In the days immediately following His kingly entrance into Jerusalem on Palm Sunday, our Lord taught the multitudes, according to His rule and custom, "in parables." It is fitting this week to recall these parables. This main emphasis was on vigilance. The day of decision was approaching. Our Lord himself was approaching the climax of His ministry. He was approaching His glorious death, out of which He was to rise as conqueror, not master of life.

People Were Unaware
The people were dimly aware of His kingly dignity, of his lordship. They had just greeted Him with a solemn hosanna. But were they ready to recognize the crucified as a king, and to behold his kingship in humiliation? Were they strong enough to keep faith and confidence in him in an hour of trial and testing?

Our Lord told them of the impending destruction of Jerusalem, of the coming tribulation and sorrow, unheeded of "from the beginning of the world." It was against this background that our Lord spoke of faith and salvation. One had to watch and to believe against the imposing evidence of an inevitable disaster. "These things I have spoken to you that in me you may have peace. In the world you will have affliction. But take courage, I have overcome the world" (John 16:33).

There is no security in this world, except one believes, except one learns to discern, amid the toil and tribulation, the signs and tokens of divine grace and mercy, except one learns to have peace in the Lord. Yet, this peace, the peace for ever, comes through the cross.

Lamps Go Out
One of the parables told of ten virgins waiting for the bridegroom and the bride. They all were waiting. But some of them were foolish, as the Lord says. They did not provide enough oil for their lamps. It was late. And the foolish virgins could not enter the wedding chamber. It is usually said that oil was a symbol of good works. Yet, it seems that the main emphasis in the parable was precisely on the lack of vigilance, the lack of preparation. Even the foolish virgins were waiting. They were expecting the bridegroom, and they were anticipating the marriage feast. But somehow they were not ready. They realized this too late. "And the door was shut" (our Lord concluded: "Watch").

It is a timely warning. Are not our own lamps also "going out"? Are we not also so often overtaken by surprise? Is our faith strong enough to stand the test and trial of afflictions? Are we really prepared to taste the glorious victory of the cross and resurrection, to receive the message of the Holy Week as a token and sign of peace and victory?

Local Men Will Attend Scout Council

Three leaders of the Adebale Walls Council, Boy Scouts of America, will attend the 48th annual meeting of the National Council at the Conrad Hilton Hotel in Chicago, May 16-17. Going from Pampa will be Don Cain, president of the Adebale Walls Council, and Yorel Harris, Scouting executive. Troy Sullivan, Exploring chairman, will go from Perryton.

Cain will attend a special council president's meeting on May 15. Sullivan will attend the special Explorer meeting on the same day.

The theme of the meeting is "Conservation-Through Safety." An attendance of 1,800 men is expected.

Dr. David Dodds Henry, president of the University of Illinois, will address the banquet on May 16. Also at the rostrum will be Richard Lee Campbell, young Eagle Explorer of Egbertville, N. Y.

Dr. Russell Humbert, president of DePaul University, will speak at the closing luncheon on May 17. Silver Buffalo awards will be made on a national level for "distinguished service to boyhood."

The 1,800 leaders represent 538 Councils, serving 4,751,495 members.

Chappell, who will speak May 16, was the youngest scientist last year at Little America, Antarctica. He will be introduced by Dr. Paul A. Siple, scientific leader of the South Pole Station last year. Dr. Siple represented the Boy Scouts on the first Byrd Antarctic Expedition thirty years ago.

Changes Made In Camporee
The heavy downpour last Saturday necessitated drastic changes in the plans for the Boy Scout District Camporee. Officials decided to hold it despite the rain, letting the individual Scout master make the decision for his Troops.

The Scouts had planned a "Gold Rush" in which the boys, through competition in Scout skills, would be awarded an appropriate number of gold nuggets with which to buy award ribbons. For the five troops that showed up, the leaders had inter-troop competition, with games like tug of war, capture the flag and a fire building contest.

The fire building contest was won by the Wolf Patrol of Troop 35, sponsored by Hobart Street Baptist Church.

Plans are being made to hold the real Camporee May 9-10. The place will still be the Billy Davis Ranch, southeast of Lefors.

Kretzmeier Gets Post In Odd Fellows

Texas lodges of the International Order of Odd Fellows met in Galveston recently to elect officers for the Grand Lodge of Texas. Roy H. Kretzmeier, from Pampa, was elected deputy grand warden. In 1959 he will automatically become grand master.

Kretzmeier joined the Order of Odd Fellows in 1928 at the age of 20. He attended Grand Lodge for the first time in Corsicana during 1937. He joined the Ex-emption in 1938 and is past chief patriarch. He was initiated into the Rebekahs in 1938 and in 1942 was a charter member of Pampa Canton 11, Patriarch's Militant. He has served as commander of the Second Brigade, as vice president of the Department Council and as President of the Panhandle Association.

Joining the Junior Oddfellows in 1945, he was chairman of the Board of Control of the Junior Lodges during 1949 and 1950. While chairman of the board he instituted the first Junior Grand Lodge in Texas and formed seven Junior

DECISION

In 1952, he was informed that his conviction stripped him of his citizenship. He sued to get it back.

The decision, written by Warren, said the law taking away "cruel and unusual punishment," which is barred by the 8th Amendment to the Constitution.

It was estimated the ruling would restore the citizenship of at least 7,000 soldiers and airmen convicted of desertion by court-martial in World War II, and given dishonorable discharges. The decision would also apply to Navy and Marine Corps desertion cases and to World War I servicemen convicted of desertion.

However, the court upheld 5-4 the validity of another section of the 1940 Nationality Act requiring denaturalization of a U.S. citizen who votes in a foreign election.

In that case, Frankfurter, Clark, Harlan and Burton had Brennan on their side. Whitaker joined the dissenters.

The Contempt Case
Speaking for the majority, Frankfurter said Congress properly passed the law under its power to regulate foreign affairs.

The appeal came from Clemente Martinez-Perez, 48, of El Paso, Tex., who voted in Mexico and remained there to avoid military service in World War II. After the war he sought to recite his country.

In vigorous dissents the liberal wing maintained that the government has no power to take away the citizenship of a person born in the United States.

Harlan spoke for the majority in the principal contempt ruling. It upheld, again 5-4, the convictions of Gilbert Green and Henry Winston, two top Communists who jumped bail in 1951 when called to start serving their five-year conspiracy sentences. They will now have to serve three more years for contempt.

Harlan said previous decisions established "beyond peradventure that criminal contempts are not subject to jury trial as a matter of constitutional right."

But Warren, Black, Douglas and Warren dissented. Black said "the time has come for a fundamental and searching reconsideration of the validity of this power."

The court also ruled 5-4 that Stefana Brown, Detroit, waived her right to invoke the 8th Amendment on cross-examination when she took the witness stand in her own behalf and testified on direct examination. Mrs. Brown was found in contempt for refusing to answer questions about Communist affiliations in denaturalization proceedings.

Agata Warren, Black, Douglas and Brennan dissented.

Two Charged In Driving Cases

Two charges of driving while intoxicated were filed this morning in Gray County Court and in district court.

Clifford C. Crockett, who gave his address as Artesia, N.M., was charged with driving while intoxicated, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to 30 days in jail.

Crockett was arrested at 1:45 p.m. yesterday in the 100 block of W. Atcheson after being observed by local officers.

Charges were filed against Kenneth Linn Melton of Skellytown in District Attorney Bill Waters' office this morning. Melton was arraigned before Justice of the Peace A. R. Henry and bond was set at $1500.

Communications
By Red Cross For Family Members

Per the military order of three months ago, families of servicemen are urged to send communications on non immediate family members, directly to the service man instead of transmitting them through the Red Cross.

However, families of servicemen, stationed in this country or overseas, should continue to send messages regarding members of the immediate family through the Red Cross, reveals Mrs. Libby Shotwell of the Pampa Red Cross.

To qualify as a member of the immediate family you must be the wife, father, mother, brother or sister of a service man. If there should be a death in the immediate family group, the family should go use the services of the Red Cross. The Red Cross will verify the situation and the serviceman will automatically be granted leave.

In the case of non immediate family members such as aunts, nephews, grandparents, etc., the family should contact the service man directly. He will then go to the military authorities for leave and if he has an annual leave built up, the authorities may then grant it to him.

Benson Cuts Corn Support

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson Monday lopped four cents off the government price support rate for the 1958 commercial corn crop.

Benson announced the minimum 1958 support rate for producers in the commercial corn area would be $1.38 a bushel. The rate for the 1957 commercial crop was $1.40 a bushel.

Because of the abundance of other feed grains and the supply situation of corn, there had been predictions the support rate would be dropped 8 to 10 cents a bushel to reflect 75 per cent of parity.

Welcome Spring With Sunday Brunch As Fresh, Informal As Season Itself

Young homemaker offers Sunday brunch in a springtime setting. Bouquet of white, yellow and orange flowers complements yellow cloth, gray napkins, charcoal tumblers and white china.

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

Welcome spring with a party as fresh and informal as the season itself.

Plan a Sunday brunch. As a change of pace from winter's dinners and buffet suppers, a brunch is fun for guests, easy for the hostess and kind to a limited entertainment allowance.

Keep the menu manageable, the table bright and colorful.

A wise and experienced hostess, now living in Philadelphia, gave me some valuable pointers on brunches which have served me well.

FOR THE MENU, include tomato or fruit juice, or citrus or other fruit, a main dish, lots of coffee, and relishes or a green salad.

The main dish can be a casserole or chafing dish of a fairly hearty character: baked eggs, sausage and mushroom combination or ham and chicken sauced together, for example.

If you have a large portable griddle and a small group, individual orders of pancakes or waffles can be cooked.

I've found, however, there's apt to be less confusion, especially if the dining area is small, when food is prepared in advance and kept over a candle warmer at the table, so that guests can be served promptly.

A BRUNCH TABLE SETTING is much the same as one for a simple buffet, and the key to a festive setting is color.

Agreeing with me on that count is Miss Freda Diamond, famed designer of home furnishings which include a great quantity of modestly priced tableware.

In the past few years she's introduced us to emerald green, pale aqua and golden topaz in American-made glassware. Her newest designs are found in charcoal tumblers.

She points out that bright, gay colors create a warm atmosphere and all entertaining should be a warm, friendly thing. That's a very specific reason, she says, to make your table settings as pretty and colorful as possible.

WHERE TODAY'S BRIDES are fortunate is in the wide selection of glassware, lace, linen, pottery and china at modest prices which promise her a variety of different table settings.

To take a springtime brunch table by Miss Diamond as an ex-

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Writes Mrs. P.: "Something's wrong with my eight-year-old's attitude to study. Though his grades are O.K., he just wriggles, twists and fools when I try to get him down to his homework. Last night I told him to spell the word 'home.' He started to sing 'Home on the Range' instead. If his attitude doesn't change, he'll drop out of school as soon as he can."

Oh? And what crystal ball presented this vision of her child's future to Mrs. P.?

I think, Mrs. P., that you expected your son to misspell the word "home". I think he knew this—and that it made him so made he refused to spell it correctly for you. However, he dared not misspell it lest his failure attract more of your anxious pressure. I think that singing "Home on the Range" was a resourceful solution to his dilemma.

Let's be truthful. You didn't expect him to spell the word right, did you?

Now I've a little piece of information for you. Asked what they most need to study lessons, children of all ages have said "Quiet."

We do not give quiet to a child when we fill the room where he is trying to learn his lessons with all agitated expectations that he'll fail to get them. We give him noise and clamor.

If he is only eight years old, we disturb him badly, for he's still pretty uncertain of his competence. As we sit beside him anxiously demanding proof of it, we add the burden of our uncertainty to his. Under these circumstances, he'll begin to wriggle and twist.

The truth is, he wants to take flight from our suspicious, discouraging presence.

Secretly, we want to run away from him too.

That is because we cannot love a child whose success we feel obliged to guarantee.

We can only bear him as the person who may let us down. If we don't reject the impossible obligation we've assumed, we'll begin to dislike him. We'll start expecting him to fail because we really wish him to fail.

This is a natural wish—the inevitable result of our exhausting task. Our dislike of the child is really just our dislike of the obligation to make him a success. Our wish for his failure is our healthy protest against the unhealthy obligation.

Sure Cure For Jekyll-Hyde Hair Is Expert Styling, Soft Permanent Curl

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Hair which is partly curly and partly straight presents a woman with problems. One side may curl readily; the other may straighten out in cold weather. A mixture of straight and curly hair at the back of the head creates those little ends that seem to stick straight out. Usually, though not always, such hair is fairly coarse with some body.

The solution lies in two things: expert cutting (and not with a razor) and a very soft permanent. The cutting can actually create curl and the permanent takes care of the stiff ends and gives further body to the hair where it's needed. Brushing helps, too, and so does regular pin curling since it can train the hair in the right direction.

If you're not certain of the best way to handle your hair in pin curling, ask your hairdresser to show you how.

The notion that ice cubes are just dandy for stepping up circulation and giving a woman a glowing skin is an erroneous one. Actually, the circulation and glow can both be accomplished by the generous use of cold water splashed over face and neck morning and night. Usually, tap water is sufficiently cold if you let it run for a bit.

The reason for avoiding ice cubes is that extreme cold may break down the tiny blood vessels under the surface of the skin. Extremes are always bad for the skin; very hot water is drying. The best method in washing your face is to use mildly warm water followed by brisk splashing with cold water. Pat, never rub, your face dry with a soft Terry towel.

The harried hostess is all too familiar to all of us. She greets her guests looking tired and it's obvious that she's cleaned the whole house for the party. In addition to cleaning, she has cooked all day or perhaps two days. The joy has gone out of the occasion for her and, most likely, for her guests, too, when they observe her weariness.

There's only one solution to this: sufficient rest. And this, in turn, can only be accomplished by planning. Planning will permit you to take two half-hour naps the day of the party.

This may not seem much but you'll be surprised at the difference they'll make in skin and eyes. They'll restore the shine to your skin and the freshness to your skin and, most important, will cushion your nerves and give you a chance to enjoy your own party right along with your guests.

No matter how much you think of your cat, if your visitor seems to draw away whenever the cat comes near, put the cat out of the room. Some persons have a dislike or fear of cats that makes them miserable if a cat happens to brush up against them.

So, don't take a chance on making a guest uncomfortable in order to pamper a pet.

The Shetland wool crew-neck sweater is typically "Ivy" and tops with the 18 to 25 crowd; but bathing and cardigan wool sweaters, some trimmed with leather, satisfy other tastes.

RUTH MILLETT

Want to keep your wife glad she married you?

You don't have to get anywhere near the top rungs of the success ladder to make sure she'll always think she won a prize when she got you.

All you really have to do is stand by her in the small emergencies that can look so big to a woman at times. She'll think you're close to, perfect if you'll just remember how to behave at times like these:

When she is worried about whether her dress is exactly right for the time when she MUST tell her several times during the evening that she looks beautiful. Don't mention the dress; just make her feel like the most glamorous woman at the party.

When she has a fight with her best friend. Side with your wife—but don't light into the other woman. Remember they'll probably be best friends again in a few days. Just put across the idea that you're always on the side of your wife.

When she works hard to give a she wonders if everyone had a good time party and after it is over and time. Don't wonder along with her. Drag out the nicest compliment you heard all evening and tell it to her. And while you're doing it, tell her you had a good time yourself.

When the operator at her favorite beauty shop goes and she is in tears over the too curly permanent or the too short hairdo. This is no time to advise her to find a new beauty shop or a new operator. Just tell her calmly that she looks mighty pretty to you.

When she's had a hectic day and your arrival home finds her with the dinner not yet started. Suggest going out to dinner and see if she doesn't give you a look that makes you feel like the chairman of the board.

When she has a birthday that is a milestone—one that she has frankly been dreading. That's the time to take her dancing at the most romantic spot in town.

Any man who wants a woman to think he understands her, has to recognize those crises that seem small to him, but awfully important to her.

Beige, red and black tweed, yellow and white are favored in shetland or all-lamb's-wool.

All-wool sweaters are a "must" in vacation wardrobes. Mix or match them colorwise with slacks or walk-a-shorts. For example, choose a black sweater with white flannel slacks.

Panel Discussion Held At Banquet

(Special to The News)

SHAMROCK — Business and Professional Women's Club met recently in the Fellowship Hall of the First Methodist Church for its annual Public Affairs banquet. Mrs. Priscilla Glover, club president, presided. G. L. Harrison, president of the Highway Association, gave the invocation.

Mrs. Wilma Going, program chairman, introduced a panel of business men, who participated in a question and answer period. Among the questions asked were 1) What does the Chamber of Commerce do and why belong to it? 2) Where will highway 83 be rerouted? 3) How much does the hospital have in the clear? 4) What about the water situation and why not have business men look into it and purchase water rights? 5) Could Shamrock afford to hire a City Manager? Participating on the panel were Major Selbert Worley, R. F. Douglas, Shamrock Chamber of Commerce manager; G. L. Harrison, Highway Association president; Johnnie Hrnica Jr. and Mrs. Lena Rushing, representing the hospital board; Mr. Hrnica, also, represented the city council.

Mayor Worley solicited the aid of the club to back a clean-up, paint-up campaign for Shamrock. Those attending were James Brothers, George Robinson, Evert Smith, Mayor Worley, R. F. Douglas, G. L. Harrison, Johnnie Hrnica Jr.; Meses, Lena Rushing, Pat Ely, Fred Oliver, Willard Harrel, Clark Bumpers, guests.

Khrushchy May Want A Direct Meet With Ike

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent
Nikita S. Khrushchyev, in taking over the prime ministry of Russia, may be aiming at a direct conference with President Eisenhower.

That possibility is purely speculative. But it might be one reason why Khrushchyev decided to take over the formal governmental leadership himself.

It had been predicted that Nikita S. Khrushchyev would be ousted as premier at the recent meeting of the Soviet Parliament.

It also had been predicted, however, that Bulganin's successor probably would be one of several up-and-coming younger men in the ruling Communist Party.

Khrushchyev already was the No. 1 man in fact in Soviet leadership because he is the first secretary of the party, in control of the political machine which reaches into every hamlet in the Soviet Union.

Ask Summit Purpose

The months-long negotiations for a United States-British-French-Russian "summit" conference on world tensions reached a low point in the last exchange of United States-Soviet communications.

There were the United States diplomatic memorandum of March 24 and Russia's reply of March 24.

In the March 24 note, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles asked: "What is the purpose for which a 'summit' meeting would be held? Is it the purpose merely to stage a spectacle? Or is it the purpose to take meaningful decisions?"

Dulles was talking of Russia's obstinate refusal to conduct preliminary negotiations in which a solid basis of agreement for a summit conference could be established.

Russia's reply was uncompromising. It expressed resentment at Dulles' suggestion that the conference might be turned into "a kind of theatrical show, a spectacle."

The Kremlin laid down a list of summit conference conditions which Dulles summarily rejected.

If Russia's terms were accepted, Dulles said, "it would mean that on the way to the summit we would have lost our shirt."

Thus, at the moment, it looks as if there must be a radical change of attitude on one side or the other.

Has Allied Support

Bulganin, in his voluminous series of letters to Eisenhower starting last December had mentioned the possibility of direct United States-Russian negotiations. This idea has had some support from America's Allies in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The United States has tended to shy from it for fear of antagonizing some Allied governments.

Dulles was asked at his press conference in Washington last Tuesday about the suggestion of Lester Pearson, Canadian Liberal Party leader and former prime minister, that the Allies work out a firm basis for negotiations "and let the United States do the talking for them if there should be a summit conference."

Dulles said that would put "a very heavy responsibility on the United States, one that we, I think, would be reluctant to assume." But he added that "in advance of the event I would not want to slam the door to such a possibility."

It may be that Khrushchyev has this possibility in mind.

Outstanding Journalist Is Painted

By DOC QUINN
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—"You are one of six outstanding journalists," the telegram said "selected for a free portrait (half hour sitting) by famous Japanese artist Shojiro Takata, whose work is now on display at Japan Trade Center."

"Takata will immortalize you in your office or at the Japan Trade Center any time this week. Just call us."

Immortalization is worth a call. "Who," I asked the man at the Trade Center, "are the other five outstanding journalists?"

"Well," he said, "there's Harry Kenny, Hy Gardner, and a couple of other fellows—all outstanding."

All Outstanding

"That's okay," he said, "they never heard of you either. But you're all outstanding—or will be when Takata gets through with you."

Takata arrived at the office with painting kit in hand, bowed twice, inhaled through his teeth, picked up from his kit a dark cake the size of a bar of soap, and said: "Smee."

"I know it's you," I said. "How do you want me to pose?"

"This smee," said Takata, holding up the cake. "I paint with it. Spelled s-u-n-i. Pronounced smee. Makes black painting. It is pine tree wood, burned to charcoal, mixed with glue binder. Process invented 2,000 years ago."

He got a glass of water, wet the smee, rubbed a brush across it.

"Please to sit at typewriter. Look at wall. You have hakubyo face, tausal suit-coat."

No Tausal Coat

"I may have a hakubyo face," I said, "but the coat is from Barney's Seventh Avenue and..."

It didn't take long to be immortalized. He set it in front of me.

Liz Taylor Is Working Mother Now

By VERNON SCOTT
United Press Hollywood Writer
HOLLYWOOD (UP)—The flaming plane crash that killed Mike Todd—has transformed Elizabeth Taylor from the pampered darling of a go-for-broke showman to a working mother who must assume the responsibility of raising three children by herself.

Financial circumstances aside, friends of the movie queen agree she must continue her career despite her desire to retire.

Her doctor, Rexford Kennamer, said "Going back to work will be the best medicine in the world for Elizabeth."

For the first time since her whirlwind marriage to the dynamic Todd, the raven-haired beauty must meet the demands of reality. During their 13-month marriage (often stormy, highly publicized) she lived the life of a princess. Trips around the world, diamonds, furs and fantastic parties were showered on her by the high-living Todd—a lavish way of life, even by movie star standards.

"Liz will spend more time with the children now," said a longtime friend.

"She was tired of traveling and the constant glare of the limelight that Mike loved so well. They planned to settle down to a more normal life after they'd completed 'Don Quixote' later this year."

Her children, Michael, 5; Christopher, 3; (both by second husband Mike Wilding) and Elizabeth Frances, 6 months, will know a permanent home for the first time in their short lives.

Thrice married (her first husband was hotel scion Nicky Hilton) and a film star since childhood, the 26-year-old beauty also must adjust to the half-world of widowhood.

"No one will ever know how much they loved one another," "I'm sure Mike would want her to pick up her career. I think she will. But time is the only thing that can really help Elizabeth—time to think and plan for the future."

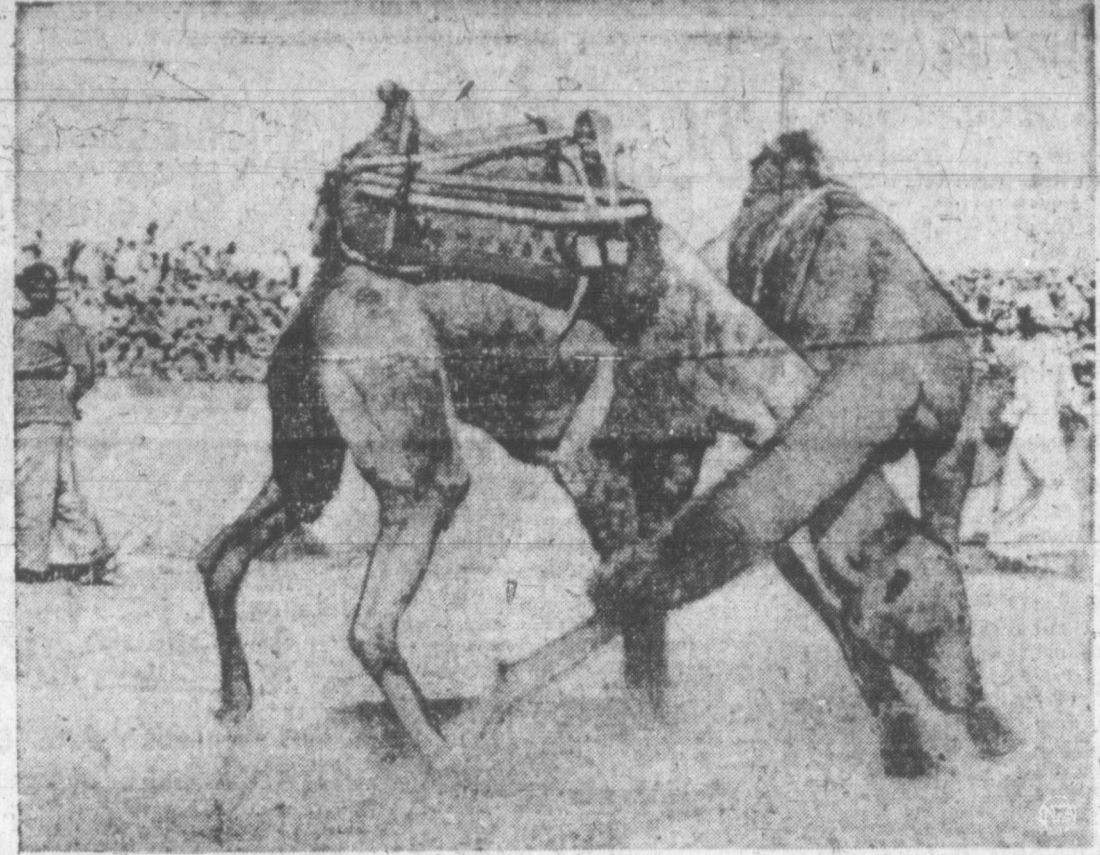

Elizabeth Taylor has been forced to make adjustments before. Married three months after her 18th birthday to Hilton, she was a divorcee two years later. Her marriage to Wilding lasted five years.

During both troubled marriages and subsequent divorces the actress turned to painting and writing—and friends.

Back Stairs At The White House

By DAYTON MOORE
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower gave the Army and Air Force a go-ahead on moon exploration some time ago. But the announcement was held up until last Thursday to permit prior publication of the basic "introduction to outer space" report of the President's Science Advisory Committee.

The White House has received so many requests for copies of the report that it may be printed as a public document.

Further reports in easy-to-understand lay language are planned. The next one may be forthcoming within a year, assuming success in moon exploration are achieved by then. Present publicity policy is to wait until solid progress is made.

Scientists and government officials working on the space projects appear confident of hitting the moon within a year. But they are carefully avoiding going on record with any target dates. Vanguard and Explorer failures have made them wary.

This is the reason the initial introduction to outer space report gave timetable goals in general terms—early, later, still later, and much later still. The current lunar exploration objectives—shoots in the "vicinity of the moon—fall in the 'early' category.

It is customary at the White House that whenever the President takes a trip, newsmen and photographers a few days before sign up on the press room bulletin board to accompany him. Within minutes after the moon exploration program was announced, some photographers signed up for a trip to the moon. They included: "Mooney" Ryan, Bill "Rocket" Smith, Charlie "Blast Off" Gorte and Murray "Guided Missile" Alvey.

Gen. John Charles Fremont, first Republican nominee for U.S. president, was known as the "Pathfinder."

The Law Factory

(Fourth of a series)

Having granted that a government can perform a defensive function by apprehending and punishing the criminal, we now must look at government on a broader scale.

For it is immediately apparent that there is no government in all the world, saving only extremely small and local constabularies, which reserves for itself solely this simple and at least partially constructive function. The prevention of crime and the punishment of the criminal have become, in most instances, subsidiary departments of government. In the main, governments have gone way beyond this field of activity.

Today governments concern themselves in general not with criminals, but with law-abiding citizens. Every citizen is a victim of the aggressive tactics of government. Government begins by seizing the arbitrary and total power of deciding how much money it wants. Then it collects the money without a care or concern for the plight of the individual who must pay or be punished like a criminal.

Next, the government establishes hundreds and thousands of regulations which prescribe particular practices and proscribe others. Almost every action of every citizen has its legal "do" and "don't."

The list of prohibitions and compulsions is too lengthy for cataloging here. But it includes business operations, licenses, building regulations, zoning, hours of employment, prices, trade, quotas, embargoes, subsidies, grants-in-aid, traffic, assembly, slander, libel, trespass, health, cleanliness, quality, quantity, method, education, indoctrination, propaganda, news, pictures, morals, food, drink, clothing, housing, sanitation, roads, farm products, transportation, search, seizure, mental outlook, exchange of parcels by post, etc.

It can truthfully be said that there is almost no activity in which human beings engage which is free of legality. Think what you will, do what they will, there is a law somewhere which either compels or limits or prohibits.

Try to think of something that people do. With the possible exception of breathing, laws bristle from the activity like quills from a porcupine. And the result of all these laws is to make any individual who does not conform in every respect, a law breaker.

Thus, the average person today, buttressed in by government, surrounded and overshadowed by government, finds himself a law breaker several times during an average day. And this fact turns him from being a law-abiding citizen, into a law-breaking citizen and equates him with any criminal who, in fact, breaks a law with aggressive intent.

But the government, as we have shown, cannot concern itself with anything but the universal obedience it must enforce. Thus, any violation of law becomes in essence a punishable offense. And whereas the government does maintain certain classifications, civil, criminal, etc., the fact remains that even in civil matters government can and will punish and apprehend with vigor. This is not the fault of government. This is the nature of government.

This is the major point which must be understood eventually. Government which passes and enforces endless rules and codes is not out of character when it does so. It is in character. That is the way any government operates. And the longer a given government endures, the more numerous will be the laws it enacts. It is the business of government to pass laws and to enforce them. These laws are the productive sum of all governmental effort. Therefore it is not to be wondered at when thousands and thousands of new laws come into existence every year. It would rather be a marvel if this did not happen.

Government is a law factory. It passes laws in the same manner that another type of factory extrudes metal molding. Government is a lawmaking tool.

But, whereas a factory which extrudes metal molding, is providing a product which is useful to the citizens generally, and which certain citizens will purchase voluntarily; the government factory extrudes compulsion which is useful principally to the government, itself, but is purchased IN ADVANCE by the people, who are never in a position to refuse to buy.

Giants Will Furnish San Francisco Headaches

The Giants will give San Francisco more headaches than the quake.

That's a strong prediction, but the years will prove me right.

The damage caused by a quake and fire can be repaired, but the misery and hurt that comes to a man when he adopts the Giants as his team is there to stay.

The Giants have left New York now, but if all the inhabitants of that city could be lined up for inspection, picking out the men and women who held the Giants dear would be a simple task.

They have a twofold, for one thing, Ask them why they twofold and you get a variety of answers. Some of the old Giant fans say it goes back to the days when Carl Hubbell was the only pitcher on the staff, and they started twofolding during the three and four days of rest the Meal Ticket had to have between appearances.

Others attribute the twofold to the Giants' genius for always having a catcher who cannot hit a fast ball to save his life. Still others put the blame on a steady diet of Giant shortstops who, while magnificent glove men, have batting averages to match their waist sizes.

Another distinguishing mark of the Giant fan is failure to breathe as often as other men. The more loyal ones don't average more than six or seven inhalations and exhalations per minute. The gasp, like that of a fish out of water, and not the hand clap or the throaty yell, was the true sound of the Polo Grounds.

Giant players specialize in open-man an inning with a triple and then staying at third like a chain-dog. In Spring training the Giants practice for hours on hitting the long home-run ball that curves foul by inches and at the end women who held the Giants dear would be a simple task.

The Giants, either by a natural knack or careful planning by their manager, nearly always manage to have the weakest portion of their batting order coming up at a

"Let Me Out Of Here"

Since 18 of the states have a Right-to-Work laws that make it a crime to discharge a man or refuse to hire him because he does not belong to a labor union, an article in "National Review" by an employee of the New York Daily News under the heading of "Let Me Out Of Here" should be timely. It was written by Ike McAnally, a reporter on the paper.

Mr. McAnally relates that he is inside a union shop looking out through bars and that he is kept behind the bars because of the Taft-Hartley law. He explains that it made a union shop legal rather than a closed shop, but the results are the same. Then he says: "I know that my union shop is a decimated version; but I am one of the condemned. I do not say Taft-Hartley makes my predicament mandatory; but only that by leaving the union shop legal, the law marks me as legitimate prey for any labor organization asserting authority over me. And I do say: Here I am!"

He is a member of the American Newspaper Guild, which he says not only exercises economic dominion over him but seeks to control his political destiny and that of his nation as well. He says it represents views so far to the left from his own as to cause him angry embarrassment. He relates that in his behalf in the past he has made special awards to persons he considered traitors to his country. It attempts to regiment him into a camp against which, in a showdown, he would bear arms.

He points out that he has heard all the arguments in favor of his forcible detention, including the one about how his prison in reality is a stockade; and how if allowed to wander out alone, he would be dry-gulched by his employer, the Daily News of New York City. He says he considers the Daily News to have the highest principles of any paper in the nation.

If it be true that a paper with the largest circulation of any other paper in the United States is so weak that it has to make a contract that forces a man to belong to a union, it certainly shows the power of organized labor. The Daily News has a daily circulation of more than two million, and a Sunday circulation of 3 1/2 million, and yet it supinely submits to making its employees be behind intellectual bars. There are other metropolitan daily papers, like the Los Angeles Times, that do not do that.

The author says he is not reconciled to his condition by the amount that he participates readily enough in loot wrested from his employer. He says he does this because he is compelled to. That ought to be a good answer to the charge made by the unions that the man who does not belong to the union is a "free rider." The law compels the man against his will to be a "free rider" and accept the conditions made by the labor union.

McAnally says if he were given freedom of choice, he would insist upon foregoing all benefits obtained for him through the intervention of third parties. He says he could do at least as well for himself and for his paper while admittedly doing less to further the entrenched interests of the third party — the labor union. He says he is leveled with dead-wood throughout the shop, all secured in their jobs by the protection they pay for that purpose. — They are a constant drain on the employer, who must maintain them in featherbedded mediocrity with operating funds which otherwise might be used to reward incentive and enterprise.

Then he relates that despite what the Guild contract may stipulate, he is convinced that none of them may any longer aspire to higher earnings through merit without saddling the paper with at least the risk of having to raise the wages of all others in the same category, the nature of the keeper and of the kept being what it is.

He explains that he was originally under the CIO, but since the merger with the AFL he is under the mantle of George Meany and Reuther. Then he points out that Reuther is national vice-crucial time.

Another trademark of the Giants is their reliance on a "holier" guy where the other clubs have a 320 hitter. Many a Giant fan has wished the club would field a team of mutes provided they could hit. In aspiration seldom cleans the bases.

Unlike other fans, the Giant fan is never satisfied with any position but first place in the standings. Followers of other clubs are pleased when the manager predicts his boys will move into the first division, or move up a notch from sixth to fifth.

The joy of winning the first three games of a four-game series is swept away by the loss of the fourth game. A clean sweep is the only result that brings a gleam to the eyes of a Giant fan, and these are rarer than the good balls Willie Mays gets to take a swing at.

Dodger fans are thought to suffer more than their Giant brothers, but this is not true. Proof of this is to be seen in their actions at a game.

Dodger fans jump and shout, moan and bellow, but not Giant fans. They are too numbed by misery to create an uproar. They are too busy praying that the third baseman, who hasn't had a hit since the last western trip, will come through with a single, or that the left fielder brought up from Wichita to provide the long ball will get a Texas Leaguer, at least.

Robert Allen Reports

Research Center Will Submit Glowing Report

WASHINGTON April 1.—Encouraging results were achieved in 1957 in the far-flung battle against cancer and heart disease.

This decorously professional summary is the thrilling highlight of one of the most significant medical publications in years — the comprehensive report that the National Institutes of Health, world-famed research center, is sending to Congress.

Titled "Highlights of Medical Research for 1957," the 249-page volume details the numerous impressive activities of NIH and other specialists throughout the country in testing and developing new drugs and operative procedures to combat the great killers of mankind.

Against cancer, seven new drugs are cited as offering real promise. Two other drugs are listed as potentially effective for treating high blood pressure (hypertension).

A major breakthrough in surgery is singled out as a particularly notable advance in the fight against heart disease. Designation of this new procedure is "the golf tee operation."

The promising anti-cancer drugs named in the NIH report are: Methotrexate, mytatrienediol, 6-azauracil, CB-2348, colcemide, myleran, SM-1.

While encouraging about these drugs, the report carefully stresses that surgery and radiation continue to be the most effective means of treating cancer.

THEIR RECORD SO FAR — During 1957, these seven drugs were tested on many human patients.

One other drug, the so-called tranquilizer RESERPINE was tried experimentally on mice with good results. Human tests are now underway.

Following are brief summaries of the reports on these anti-cancer drugs:

METHOTREXATE: "Scientists

chairman of an organization with the impertinence to call itself Americans for Democratic Action. Then he says:

"With his (Reuther's) leadership I have an unremitting quarrel. I trust neither his judgment nor his ambition. I am convinced that what is good for Walter Reuther and the ADA is bad for my country, the country of the individual subjects of Reuther's United Auto Workers as well."

An article like this should show those who believe in the American way of life — freedom, the right to choose — the necessity of passing a law called either Voluntary Unionism or The Right to Work law. The real meaning is that unionism would be made voluntary instead of compulsory.

There's a lot of resentment over subliminal messages being inserted into movies and television. These are messages so brief as not to be recognized by the conscious eye. But experiments have proven that they register on the subconscious. For example, a subliminal message saying "Eat More Popcorn" resulted in vastly increased popcorn sales. Jim Powers wonders why movie producers don't achieve profitable mass hypnosis by inserting the subliminal message, "This is a Hell of a Good Movie" in each of their films.

when used in combination with them."

TETRAHYDROZOLINE: "It has been found to dilate blood vessels and lower blood pressure in humans. When the drug was given by mouth to 35 patients, the investigators noted, no increase in blood pressure at all — only decrease, which was seen in all but seven of the 34."

HEART STORY — The major breakthrough in heart surgery is described in the NIH report as follows:

"The new procedure, called the golf tee operation because a tee-shaped device of pressed plastic sponge is used to plug the rupture, was devised by Dr. Andrew Morrow, chief of the Clinic of Surgery, and successfully performed by him on patients at the National Heart Institute. The patients, doomed to progressive heart failure without the operation, were freed of all symptoms and are now leading fully active lives." (Tomorrow, the second part of this important series will report the latest research developments in combating arthritis, diabetes, cerebral palsy, epilepsy, and allergies.)

The Doctor

Says:

EDWIN F. JORDAN, M.D.

GOUT is reported as a diagnosis in about five out of 100 patients attending clinics devoted to arthritis and related diseases.

Recently a letter came from V. D., who said, "Many years ago most doctors claimed gout was caused by too much rich food and/or alcoholic beverages. In your opinion is such the case? Is gout ever fatal and is there a known cure?"

The exact cause of gout is still poorly understood. It appears to run in a considerable degree in families and is much more common in men than in women. It is associated with a disturbance in the chemistry of the body in which substances known as purines accumulate.

There is considerable debate on the part played by foods and alcoholic beverages, but apparently some foods, particularly those rich in purines, can bring on an acute attack of the disease. Whether this is true also of alcoholic beverages is more debatable.

Gout by itself appears to be rarely, if ever, fatal.

THE MOST characteristic feature of an acute attack of gout is the sudden appearance of terrific pain at the base of one of the big toes. The pain is generally followed by swelling and extreme tenderness and has been described as feeling as though someone were trying to pry the joint apart with a red hot poker.

Actually, other joints can be involved, even early in the disease. One of the first patients I ever saw with gout had swelling and pain in the knee with nothing at all in the big toe.

An acute attack of gout can generally be relieved rather rapidly by drugs, particularly one known as colchicine.

After relief the problem becomes one of preventing recurrent attacks. This is generally attempted by dietary measures and exclusion of those foods containing large amounts of purines. Drug treatment is also commonly advised.

There is some difference of opinion on diet, however, and I am told that in some communities victims of gout frequently compare notes with one another and do not always have the same experiences with dietary measures.

IN ADDITION to acute gout there is a chronic variety which is called gouty arthritis.

In this stage of the disease there are deposits of chemical crystals known as urates in various parts of the body. They are particularly common in the lobes of the ears and in and near some of the joints. They can reach enormous size and cause a good deal of destruction to the joint tissues.

Fortunately, gouty arthritis is less common than acute gout.

The objective of treatment is to try to prevent the development of gouty arthritis by drugs, of which there are now several kinds available, and by the prevention of attacks of acute gout.

In some cases of gouty arthritis surgery has definite value and involves the cutting out of the crystal deposits.

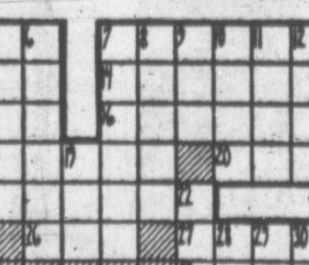

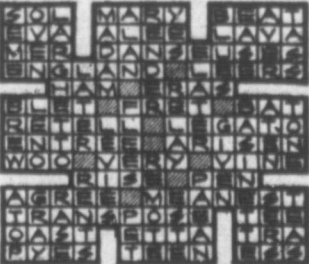

The increased interest of the last few years in gout has already brought improvement in its management and understanding. This progress will doubtless continue.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

"I'm sorry, dear, but I guess Rover likes this one."

New CBS-TV Quiz Show Short On Dollars, Sense

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP) — CBS-TV uncrated a new quiz Saturday night that was short on dollars and shorter on sense.

"Top Dollar" it was called and it failed on two counts:

1. It was almost as complicated as a folding beach chair.
2. It was dull.

The game of "Top Dollar" is based on the parlor diversion, "ghost," in which the object is to contribute letters to the building of a word without having the word and on you. If you don't understand so far, you might as well leave now because it really gets wild from here on in.

"Top Dollar," you see, started with ghost, but it ended up with a whole haunted house. Three on-stage contestants are involved in the game and when they get as far as the first eight letters of a word, that's known as "bonanza time," or something, and a special device converts those eight letters into eight numbers which, in turn, stand for the serial number of a dollar bill.

If you at home have the serial number, you get $5000 by mailing your bill in. If you haven't got the serial number, you go out and get it, see?

Meanwhile, the contestants on stage, surrounded by blinking lights and wheels and numbers and emcee Toby Reed and referee Bergen Evans, keep spelling until one contestant becomes a "half-ghosted." That's when a word comes out on you. No, not you; him, the contestant, I mean. You're supposed to be out looking for that dollar bill with the serial number.

Anyway, two half-ghosts and you're a full-ghosted and out. Two ghosts and presumably, you've got a ghost-to-ghost network.

Well, as you can see, "Top Dollar" was almost as confused as an automatic milking machine confronted with a rubber glove. Saturday, one contestant asked "Am I unghosted?" and smce, Reed said "You are completely unghosted" and frankly, I can't recall ever hearing a conversation quite like that on television. Or anywhere.

Referee Bergen Evans must have been pretty befuddled by this exchange, too, because a little later he beeped a little beeper he was in charge of to stop the game. Only it turned out he shouldn't have beeped his beeper and things got even more confusing.

Look Back: The production on the ABC-TV "Dick Clark Show" is beginning to look slicker, but I wish someone would yank the gum wads out of his teen age fans' mouths. NBC-TV's Gisele MacKenzie, whose series ended Saturday night, said she would go into rehearsal today for the role of "Anna" in a Los Angeles Civic Opera Co. production of "The King and I." Ed Marrow's CBS-TV "See It Now" on radiation, informative and a deftly-spliced 30 minutes. On the NBC-TV "Steve Allen Show" Sunday night, Steve asked his audience to volunteer some "nouns" and someone yelled "Maverick"—his ABC-TV opposition. Steve pretended he hadn't heard and picked the word "Yogurt" instead.

The Channel Swim: Heater Sears has been signed on for the May 9 CBS-TV spec, "Wuthering Heights." Joanna Woodward and Dana Wynter are being courted for the part of "Cathy."

"Kraft Theatre" has snared a former Broadway vehicle, "Time Out for Ginger", as a June play. William Faulkner's "Barn Burning" is also scheduled in for a June Kraft. CBS-TV's "Person to Person" will pay a visit on April 11 to Mr. and Mrs. James Herrmann, whose Seaford, N.Y., home has been the scene recently of some unexplained phenomena.

NBC-TV's "Truth or Consequences," which planned a stunt involving weather balloons and one million dollars, had to cancel plans because of the possible hazards to aircraft. Not to mention the sponsor's checkbook.

Men's Lives Might Be Prolonged Without Estrogen

By DELOS SMITH
United Press Science Editor
NEW YORK (UP) — It still may be possible to prolong the lives of many men without at the same time making life intolerable by treating them with the vertebrae queen of female body hormones.

That hormone is estrogen which accounts for the more obvious female characteristics of body and mind. It may well be the most important one feminine chemical component which permits women to live longer than men.

For instance, women generally go through life with better conditioned arteries, lower blood pressures, and comparatively fewer heart attacks than men.

It is well known that when estrogen is given to men with hardened arteries and men who have had heart attacks, it changes their blood chemistry—very much for the better.

One Drawback
But unhappily estrogen feminizes them, most dramatically by stimulating the dormant male mammary glands into development. It also robs them of normal masculine sexual drives. Needless to say, most men would rather die of heart attack.

In past experiments with estrogen in men, these untoward and intolerable "side effects" were produced by as little as one thousandth of a gram given daily for spot too many days.

But newly reported experiments indicate that as little as ten millionths of a gram daily will bring about the much-to-be desired changes in blood chemistry. There is reason to believe that masculine body chemistry can tolerate that minute amount without being turned toward the feminine.

The experiments were conducted at the University of Southern California, Los Angeles, by a scientific team headed by Profs. Jessie Marmorston and Oscar Magidson. The subjects were 26 women from 48 to 82 years old who had had at least one heart attack.

Rapid Change
The women were given tablets containing 10 millionths of a gram of estrogen daily. The blood chemistry measurements of all began changing for the better almost at once and were at their best six or seven months after the treatment began. The women were treated and observed for a maximum of 30 months and the measurements remained steadily on the good side all that time.

The scientists remarked, in reporting to the New England Journal of Medicine: It "seems evident that very small and very large doses of estrogen appear indistinguishable in their ultimate effects on blood chemistry."

They will make a full report on that when the work is completed, including, of course, the answer to the key question for men: are there still feminizing "side effects" even in doses of 10 millionths of a gram?

YOUTHFUL HANGOUT—Cavorting on the bars of a jungle gym, some youngsters are hanging together at a school playground in Dallas, Tex. Clockwise from lower left are: John Weissert, Tim Marron, Bill Stanford, all 12, and 9-year-old twins Robert and Ronald Peterson.

GOING STRONG—At 82, James N. Kinder cut some fancy figures on the ice as he celebrated his birthday in Topeka, Kan. The nimble gentleman claims to have been skating since before he left Illinois in 1884. He has 12 children, more than 30 grandchildren, and 8 great-grandchildren.

READY TO REIGN—Queen of the 1958 Phoenix World Championship Rodeo, 18-year-old Karen Womack is shown in the Arizona city with a trusty steed. It's a busy time for the young lady as she's on hand at sporting events during the day, and queen of social doings at night.

WOW!—Some members of the Fairhaven, Mass., Whalers Skindiving Club made like polar bears in the ice-covered water of an abandoned quarry at Dartmouth. Practicing skindiving and rescue operations, club president Bradford Luther is being pulled from the ice water by William Joerres, whose brother Charles is entering the water in background.

HOOKING HIGH—As New York's Ray Felix (19) tries to block it, Philadelphia's Neil Johnston (6) gets off a sweeping left-handed hook shot during the Knicks-Warriors game in New York. Rushing toward the basket are Philadelphia's Joe Gradowski (9) and New York's Art Spoelstra (18). The Knicks walloped the Warriors with a final 123-81.

PLENTY OF BOUNCE—Veterans Warren Spahn (21), pitcher, and Carl Sawatski (15), catcher, appear to be enjoying the exercises under the direction of coach Bob Bates (63) at the Milwaukee Braves spring training camp in Bradenton, Fla. Rookie pitcher Joe Jay (47) and Ray Rippelmayer (52) are also getting on on the fun.

HORN OF PLENTY—Although it looks as if matador Pepe Ortiz is suffering a painful goring in this encounter in a bullring in Madrid, Spain, he was only shaken up. The animal dumped Ortiz to the ground but he got right up and continued the fight. All he had suffered was a blow to his dignity, and he soon regained that.

Harvesters Edge Past Frank Phillips JC, 9-8

Scheduled To Meet Borger In Home Game Tomorrow

Gary Wills powered a home run in the opening inning yesterday to put the Harvesters on their way to a fourth victory in five starts for the season as they surged past Frank Phillips College, 9-8.

Collecting five runs in a third-inning spree, the Harvesters added two more in the fourth before breaking an 8-8 deadlock in the sixth with a single tally. Phillips' diamond men gained a single run in the second and third innings and then poured on a five-run burst in the fourth to account for the bulk of their scoring.

After Wills had tagged the home run in the first inning the Pampans remained idle until the third when Wills again led off by taking the bases on balls. A Phillips error allowed Bob Stephens on base and Mike Conway drew a walk. Two more fast errors by Phillips allowed three runs in and put Terry Haralson and Gary Wilhelm in scoring position. John Campbell then tagged a single to bring in the final two runs of the inning.

Again in the fourth the Phillips team had pitching difficulties and Merle Terrell reached first through a walk. Then Stephens and Robert Langford both slammed singles to bring in two more runs for Pampa and push their total to eight.

The final Harvester score came in the sixth when Stephens hit for a single, was moved to third by a single by Conway and was brought in through an error on a ground ball hit by Haralson.

After Phillips took the 8-7 deficit at the end of the fourth of inning they tied the score at 8-8 in the fifth. Neither team then was able to gain the lead until the bottom of the sixth when the Harvesters pushed over the score for the winning one-point margin.

Do Wayne Glover opened the action for the Harvesters on the mound and was relieved in the fourth inning by Keith Yager. Glover faced 23 batters, allowing five runs, five hits and six walks. He struck out six batters.

Facing a 4-4 trailing score when he entered the game, Yager climbed to the pitching victory for Pampa. Pitching to 14 batters he allowed one run, one hit and four walks while striking out six.

Pampa managed its nine runs off six hits while Phillips gained its eight runs off six hits.

Originally scheduled for last Friday afternoon, yesterday's game was postponed due to bad weather.

Slated for tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 is the Harvester-Borger clash that was first set for last Saturday but was also cancelled.

Line Scores Boston May Be Facing New Season Without No. 1 Battery

By FRANK LITSKY
United Press Sports Writer

The Boston Red Sox, touted by Casey Stengel as the Yankees' most dangerous American League rival, faced the gloomy prospect today of opening the season without their possible No. 1 battery.

Tom Brewer, the leading Red Sox pitcher last year with 16 wins, and Haywood Sullivan, a rookie bidding for the starting job behind the plate, both suffered fractured fingers Monday. Brewer will be sidelined at least three weeks. Sullivan at least six weeks.

Brewer, 28, was taking batting practice when hit by a Bob Porterfield pitch. Brewer suffered a hairline fracture of the middle finger on the pitching hand.

Foul Hits Sullivan
Sullivan, 27, was hit by a foul off the bat of Roy Sievers of the Washington Senators in the first inning of an exhibition game. Sullivan's right index finger was fractured and dislocated. The Red Sox were hoping that Sullivan would play well enough to replace Sammy White behind the plate.

Another catcher, Yogi Berra of the Yankees, also was put out of commission. A foul off the bat of Charley Neal of the Los Angeles Dodgers struck Berra on the right hand, split the web between two fingers and sidelined him for 7 to 10 days.

Aside from the injuries, tight pitching performances by some of the best in baseball featured the nine-game exhibition program.

Billy Pierce and Jim Wilson combined for a one-hitter as the Chicago White Sox shut out the New York Yankees, 2-0.

Indians Get Doby, Ferrarese

TUCSON, Ariz. (UP) — The Cleveland Indians' management expressed confidence today that their trade with the Baltimore Orioles which netted them outfielder Larry Doby and pitcher Don Ferrarese has left their outfield "with no vulnerable spots."

Cleveland announced the trade Monday and said it had sent outfielder Gene Woodling, utility man Dick Williams and pitcher Bud Daley to the Orioles in return for the two players.

General Manager Frank Lane and Manager Bobby Bragan expressed wholehearted agreement with the swap and Bragan said: "Now we have no vulnerable spots in the outfield no matter what combination we use."

Orioles' General Manager Paul Richards sounded less ecstatic about the trade and had little more to say than, "It must have helped us or we wouldn't have made it. It gives us a little more balance."

Recession Hits Game Of Golf

CHICAGO (UP)—The recession took a swing at golf's golden circuit today when millionaire promoter George S. May wiped his twin $150,000 Tam O'Shanter Country Club tournaments off the summer schedule.

May, an efficiency expert and a golf bug in his spare time, said Monday night he has decided "with regret" to cancel both the All-American and the "World" golf tournaments because of a financial dispute with the Professional Golfers Assn. about entry fees.

May said the fees, which would have amounted to about $30,000, were needed toward the purse fund to keep his Tam O'Shanter tournaments out of the red. He said there was no alternative but to cancel the events when the PGA insisted on collecting the fees.

"In the past, overhead and expenses have run neck and neck, and everything had to be in May's favor to come out ahead," a spokesman for the May organization said.

The spokesman said that May explored all possible angles to keep the tournaments on the boards, including the elimination of one event and halving of prize money.

"The PGA would not cooperate and the decision is to cancel," the spokesman said.

PGA officials in Dunedin, Fla., were unavailable for comment on May's announcement.

Orioles May Field Much Better Team

By HAL WOOD
United Press Sports Writer

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (UP)—The Baltimore Orioles will field a "considerably better" club than ever before since the city came back to major league baseball, manager Paul Richards added.

The greying boss of the Orioles is optimistic about the chances of this team — and he is willing to tell the world.

Two Fine Catchers
"In Gus Triandos and Myron Gotsberg we have two fine catchers. Triandos has the best throwing arm in baseball. We expect his hitting to improve year after year. He has hit 40 home runs for us in the last two years in the biggest part in the majors."

"We have two good first basemen. Bob Boyd hit .318 for us last year and is a slick fielder. Jim Marshall, up from Vancouver of the Pacific Coast League, hit 30 home runs and drove in 102 runs."

"At second base we have the best defensive fielder in the league in Bill Gardner. He hit .262 for us last year and played every inning of the season. On top of that he is a clutch hitter."

"Our two shortstops couldn't be compared with the best defensive men in history, but Willie Miranda and Ronnie Hansen give us adequate protection."

"Our third baseman is Brooks Robinson. He is a great defensive player. If he hits better — and counted on as the White Sox regular left fielder this year. "But the treatments I've taken this spring have made the ankle stronger and I think I'll be ready to go in a few days. I've kept my weight down so it won't take me very long to get in stride."

Smith came to the White Sox along with pitcher Early Wynn from the Indians last December in exchange for outfielder Minnie Minoso and infielder Fred Hatfield. No one was happier over the deal than Smith.

"I had my best years playing for Al Lopez in Cleveland from 1953 to 1956," he says. "I guess I'd rather play for him than any one else in baseball. And if I'm in shape, I know I'll be over .300."

Roasted by Fans
With the Indians last year, Smith slumped to .247 and was roasted unmercifully by impatient Cleveland fans. Things reached such a state that Smith publicly voiced a desire to be traded. The fact that he often was asked to play third base instead of the outfield didn't make him any happier, either.

"I'd like to feel I have no enemies in Cleveland," said the White Sox outfielder, slipping into a pair of moccasin shoes after a light workout. "I've deserved some of the criticism I received from Cleveland fans. After all, I remember days when they cheered me, too."

OLYMPIC BOB DEBATED
LAUSANNE, Switzerland (UP) — The International Olympic Committee will consider at its Tokyo meeting May 14-17 whether to restore bobsladding to the program for the 1960 winter Olympics at Squaw Valley, Calif. The sport originally was dropped when it appeared that only a handful of countries would enter teams.

Bingo is a variant of lotto and is the most widely played gambling game, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Al Smith Assures White Sox He'll Be Ready To Play Soon

TODAY'S SPORTS (Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.)
By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer

TAMPA, Fla. (UP)—Ailing Al Smith, who has spent most of the spring on a rubbing table, assured the Chicago White Sox today he will be ready to play in the season opener and prove to them they made a good deal by getting him from the Cleveland Indians.

Troubled by an injured right ankle all spring, Smith has seen no action at all in exhibition games but feels he'll be ready to take his place in the lineup within a week or so.

More Annoying Than Serious
"The ankle injury is more annoying than serious," said the 30-year-old Smith, who is being

Joan Collins Number One Bachelor Girl

By VERNON SCOTT
United Press Staff Correspondent HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Joan Collins has taken over the title of Cinema City's number one bachelor girl now that Jayne Mansfield and Natalie Wood have retired from the field.

The outspoken English lass sat at a table in the 20th Century Fox commissary and discussed her love life over a platter of marinated herring. Two of her nervous suitors, actors Henry Silva and Steve Boyd, listened painfully while she outlined the requirements she expects of a husband.

"He must be intelligent, understanding, seven years older than I am, and terribly attractive," she started out.

"He has to be dominating (without appearing to be) and able to support me better than I can support myself."

Boyd looked at Silva. "Do we qualify?" he asked.

Silva, who appears in Joan's new picture "The Bravados" with Boyd, shook his head disconsolately.

"I'm not so sure I'd want him to be an actor. They're dreadful bores. Present company excluded," she hastily amended.

"There are too many qualities about actors that I find annoying. They're more interested in themselves than they are in a girl when they go out on dates."

"Why should I marry? What can a husband offer me apart from children?—like being independent and self-sufficient. I don't want anyone telling me what to do yet I wouldn't marry a man who didn't try to dominate me."

Undaunted, Boyd asked, "What are you doing tonight?"

"Don't call me," Joan said, preparing to leave. "I'll call you."

Bit Paris: David Niven and his wife leave next month on a world tour, beginning with the United States, to plus "Around the World in 80 Days" (in which he stars); then take 120 days to see the rest of the planet. When Bob Crosby opened his stage show in a Las Vegas hotel, he explained brother Bing's absence: "He's busy hanging curtains in the nursery." Mrs. Art Cohn, whose husband was killed in the plane crash that claimed Mike Todd's life, announced she will finish writing her husband's book "The First Nine Lives of Mike Todd." Top

A Look Ahead At Future Headlines

NEWS OUTLOOK
By UNITED PRESS

United Press correspondents around the world look ahead to the news that will make the headlines.

French A-Bomb
Look for France to explode an atomic bomb but not as soon as Rep. Melvin Price predicted. The Illinois Democrat hinted Friday it would happen in a week. The word in Paris is that it probably will not happen even within a month. The reason: France has perfected the trigger but has yet to acquire the fuel. It has no uranium 235 and it may be months before it can make the minimum 7.6 pounds of plutonium needed for a critical explosive mass.

Middle East Tremors
Washington insiders say the ward a new world-shaking crisis. Middle East could be heading to the answer will come as Saudi Arabia's Prince Saud begins a wedding more and more of the power shifted to him by King Saud. The fear is that he might join the United Arab Republic and Abdel Gamal Nasser would get control of the fabulously rich Middle East oil. This could put Nasser in a position to nationalize the oil wells as he did the Suez Canal and exert great pressure at will on the Western European economy.

Khrushchev's Next Step
They are not going overboard on it, but some Soviet affairs experts think Nikita Khrushchev eventually may pass along the premiership to a younger protégé. At least, they feel it would be no bigger surprise than his assuming it himself after ousting Nikolai Bulganin last Thursday. The feeling is that he became premier to gain formal entry to a summit conference and would have no need of the title after that since he rules Russia as the Communist Party chief.

Strauss
Belief is growing in Washington that the controversial Lewis L. Strauss will retire June 30 as member and chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission. He and Democratic members of the House - Senate Atomic Watchdog Committee long have been at odds. Latest hint: Everett R. Holmes, Strauss' personal assistant and right hand man, has found another job, with General Dynamics Corp. Atomic Commissioner rated "Matinee Theater," long-time NBC daytime show, leaves the air for keeps in June.

Levant Leaves Psychiatric Ward For Television Show

By VERNON SCOTT
United Press Staff Correspondent HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Oscar Levant, the jittery genius of the keyboard, left a psychiatric ward this month and within eight days was starring on a local television show.

Twitching and blinking nervously, Levant smokes incessantly, needles his studio audience and insults his guests whenever the mood strikes him.

The twice weekly 1½-hour program is a hodge-podge of music, non sequiturs and pandemonium. Levant describes his showcase as "chaos in search of frenzy."

His guests have included Red Skelton, Eddie Cantor, boxer Art Aragon and Hermione Gingold. In a recent exchange with Los Angeles District Attorney William McKesson—who is desperately attempting to solve the Marie MacDonald kidnapping case—Levant suggested the D.A. date the blonde beauty.

"Do you find her physically attractive?" Levant demanded.

"I sure do," was the flustered reply.

"I discuss everything with my guests," Levant explains. "Baseball, music, literature, but my specialty is psychiatry. I've been in four sanitariums in the past year and a half—as a patient, not a guest."

"The doctors had me all figured out. At first they said I was suffering from 'deep apathy,' then I relapsed into 'acute depression.' The difference was slight, believe me, I like the apathy best."

"I bought an electrocyclic which moves in three directions at once. I have no circulation, and this keeps my blood moving. But I don't use it any more. I'm not well enough."

Levant said he misses his pals in the psycho ward.

"When I visit them they all huddle around and review my show. It's depressing," he sighed.

"I went to a dinner party two weeks ago. It was formal and nice. But for the first time I realized all my friends' wives are middle aged. Now I realize I had more fun at the hospital."

Oscar, who smokes 80 cigarettes a day ("My doctor allows me only six"), began his comeback as a replacement for Tom Duggan, a local TV personality. Now the two are feuding, though they work on the same channel (KCOP).

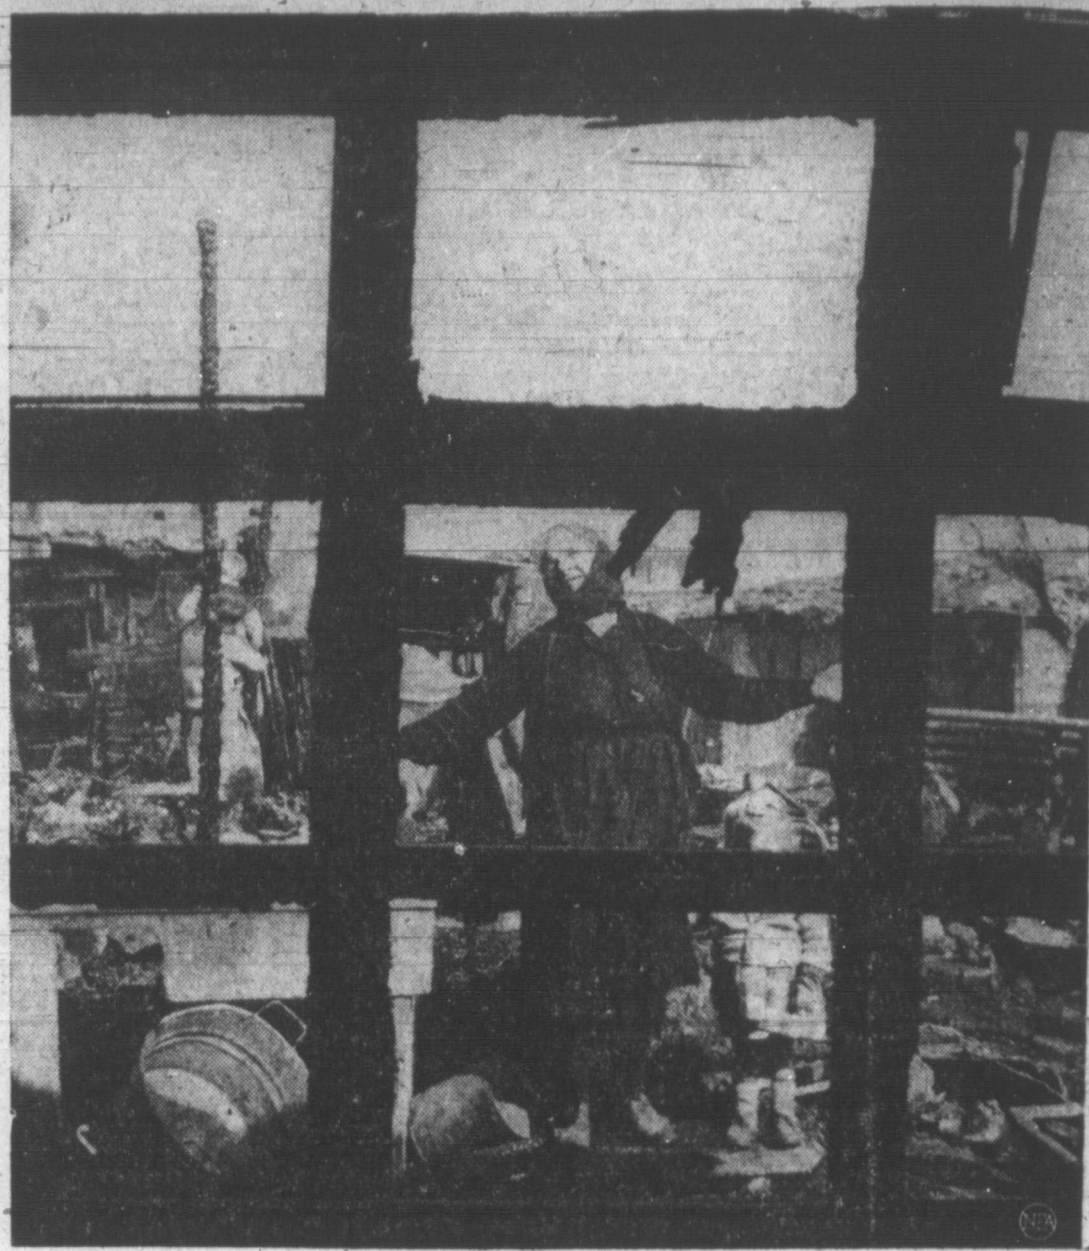

"Insanity is the only plea we have left in the courts," said Oscar apropos of nothing. "My insanity only costs me money. Maybe it will come in handy some day."

Changing the subject again, he added, "There's some talk of putting my show on a network. I'm not so sure. I hadn't played the piano for two years. I couldn't stand the sound of music. Now maybe I'll resume my concert tours."

Says KCOP General Manager Al Flanagan, "We don't eat 'supper until after Oscar's show. And sometimes not even then."

Construction of the original White House cost the American taxpayer $400,000.

Flag Day, June 14, is observed as a legal holiday in Pennsylvania.

AMID THE RUINS—Her arms outstretched in despair, a mother stands with her child amid the ruins of their hut, after a sudden fire destroyed 10 unauthorized dwellings in Rome, Italy, leaving 50 people homeless. The blaze flared when a brazier overturned and high winds fanned the flames. Two gas tanks exploded during the fire but no casualties were reported.

Crankcase Crisis!

It seems this nice old lady drove into a Phillips 66 Station to fill up with Flite-Fuel. When the attendant checked the dipstick, he found she had only about a quart of oil left in her car. When he pointed this out, she replied: "Fine... as soon as I use that up, I'll put in some more!"

Of course the Phillips Dealer explained that she needed five quarts of oil for adequate lubrication!

Now that spring is here, it's time to think about the oil in your crankcase. If you are still using "winter grade" oil, it's time to change it. But why use two, when one will do? Better switch to Phillips 66 Trop-Artic which gives you the effects of 10w, 20 and 30 grade oils. Compared to old-fashioned oils Trop-Artic Motor Oil can actually double engine life. Drive in today for your spring change-over. *A trademark
