President Says In News Conference

End Of Recession Seen At Midyear

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press White House Writer
WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower said today it will take some time to stop the business recession but he advised the nation to abide in his confidence that there will be an upturn by mid-year.

The President said the development of an upturn naturally would be a slow, gradual process. He remained confident that basic improvement in business and employment conditions would be evident by the middle of the year.

In a news conference the President made these other major points:

—He strongly defended Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson and said he had no intention of asking Benson to resign. He said it is his business alone—not congressmen—who is in his Cabinet.

—He denied a story published in Time magazine today that the cumulative effect of his illnesses since 1955 had forced him to reduce his workload by as much as 25 per cent. The President chuckled and said he had never heard of such a thing.

—He declined to express an opinion on whether Richard A. Muck of the Federal Communications Commission should resign. The President said that as long as the process of investigating the controversy involving Muck, he himself had no judgment to pass at the present time.

—He said he still believed in the basic merits of the natural gas bill that he recommended last year, but that he hoped there would be no repetition of the recent fund-raising incident involving J. H. Porter, Republican national committeeman from Texas. The proposed bill would ease federal regulation of natural gas prices.

In discussing the sagging economy and possible methods of pepping it up, the President said a reduction in taxes was still a possibility in event of a deepening recession.

Parking Law Effective Here This Saturday

City Manager John Koontz reported this morning that an ordinance passed recently prohibiting parking in some areas would go into effect Saturday.

Koontz said that enforcement would start Saturday on the ordinance which prohibits parking on the east side of Russell from Atchison to Foster, on the west side of Frost from Atchison to Foster, on the west side of Cuyler from Browning to Montagu, and no parking at all on Aft Street. The ordinance also prohibits parking in alleys for all but service vehicles.

US Concerned Over Tunisia's Try For Algerian War Inquest

By PETER WEBB
United Press Staff Correspondent
TUNIS (UP)—U.S. Deputy Undersecretary of State Robert Murphy conferred hurriedly today with American officials over Tunisian determination to turn the Franco-Tunisian crisis into a full-scale inquest of the Algerian war.

Murphy spent the morning conferring with U.S. Ambassador Lewis Jones at the ambassador's Carthage villa. Officials said no meeting with President Habib Bourguiba had yet been arranged.

Although official silence has been thrown over the "good offices" talks, well informed sources said Murphy was surprised by the strength of Tunisian determination to press for a settlement of the Algerian conflict.

After Tuesday's two-hour meeting Bourguiba told reporters that Algeria was the "central point" of the talks and the "principal cause of all difficulties."

France has absolutely refused to include Algeria on the grounds that it is an internal affair.

In Paris, French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau restated France's rejection of demands to get French troops out of Tunisia. He also snapped at the United States for policy "mistakes" in the Middle East.

Pineau told the French Senate

Kohler Strike Hearing Set By Senators

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate rackets committee scheduled its first public hearing on the Kohler case today and called a closed-door huddle beforehand to try to end its partisan wrangling.

The announced program—a closed door session followed by a "tentative" public hearing—suggested the politically-tinged committee fight might be over. That would clear the way for testimony on the strike of the AFL-CIO United Auto Workers Union against the Kohler Co. of Kohler, Wis. The strike is nearing the end of its fourth year with no settlement in sight.

No committee member would say the 4-4 party-line split on procedure in the Kohler case had been resolved. But chief counsel Robert F. Kennedy said he was confident the dispute "would be settled and 'hopeful' this would be done today 'because of our determination that the committee continue on its investigation and retain its bi-partisan concept'."

Meanwhile union leader James B. Carey expressed "shock and disgust" that a lawyer for the rackets committee sought information about the UAW from what

STOCK SHOW TROPHIES

Linda Chaffin, right, and Jane Hunt, Pampa Chamber of Commerce secretaries, are shown above admiring the trophies to be given away at the 14th annual Top O' Texas Hereford Breeders Association Show and Sale. The annual affair will be next week, March 2, 3, 4, and 5. The sale for the Hereford Breeders and companion Junior Livestock Show will be held March 5 at 1 p.m. in the Show Barn at Recreation Park.

Site For Post Office Sought In White Deer

Proposals will be in order through Mar. 18, 1958 for quarters suitable for a post office at White Deer, Texas. V. E. Bell, real estate officer at Lubbock, Texas will take proposals, covering quarters and equipment. The lease, a standard form used by the Post Office Department, will run for 5 or 10 years, starting May 25, 1959.

A structure, suitable for post office purposes, would have about 1500 foot floor space along with loading platform 10' x 15' with overhead canopy. The Department will consider a reasonably central location, good daylight and accessibility to rear or side entrance for mails, together with enough space for trucks to maneuver. Photographs of the property will be welcome.

Proposals should include light, heat, power, water, toilet, plumbing, heating and lighting facilities but will be considered without them.

General building requirements, equipment specifications, forms of proposal and terms of the lease may be obtained from V. E. Bell or from the postmaster at White Deer.

Proponents may be asked to show whether the property is mortgaged and to furnish a concurring statement by the mortgagee.

The Post Office Department reserves the right to negotiate further with proponents for better terms, to reject any and all proposals and to advertise for new proposals.

Livestock Entered In Saturday Show

There have been 14 fat steers and 49 fat barrows entered in the Gray County Junior Livestock show to be held at Recreation Park Saturday, March 1. The animals have been furnished by 35 Gray County 4-H Club boys and members of the Pampa and McLean FFA Chapters. The show is sponsored by the Pampa Lions Club.

Animals must be weighed in by noon Saturday to be eligible to compete in the show.

This is the fourth year the Pampa Lions Club has sponsored the county show. The county show sponsored by the Pampa Chamber of Commerce started expanding into a regional show in 1945, and the show for Gray County boys only was dropped. The boys felt that they should be able to compete among themselves, as was done in other counties, and it was in response to this demand that the Lions revived the show in 1955.

Judging of the calves will begin at 2 Saturday afternoon followed by the placing of the pigs. C. J. VanZandt, Wheeler cattleman and former county agent and teacher of vocational agriculture, will judge the show.

W. R. Dunn is superintendent of the show and will be assisted

Four Billion Termed As 'Entirely Too Much'

WASHINGTON (UP)—Some Democratic congressional leaders today shrugged off as high pressure salesmanship President Eisenhower's giant bipartisan rally in support of foreign aid.

They said it won't change a single vote in Congress.

Foreign aid supporters were given another jolt by the State Department's disclosure Tuesday night that France used U.S. made Corsair fighter planes provided under the Mutual Program in the bombing raid on a Tunisian village Feb. 8.

Informed sources said the United States government has warned France against the use of any further weapons provided under the program on Tunisian targets.

Manfield: Too Much

Senate Assistant Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said the administration's call for spending nearly four billion dollars on economic and military assistance is "entirely too much."

"It can be cut substantially—at least 25 per cent," the Montana Democrat said.

Other key Democrats said bluntly Eisenhower was ignoring political realities posed in asking Congress to commit the United States to vast expenditures abroad while the domestic economy is sagging and individual industries are being hurt by foreign trade and tariff policies.

The President climaxed a day-long talkathon Tuesday on selling his foreign aid plan to Americans by denouncing its opponents as "ostrich-like." He said the Mutual Security Program was just as "urgent" as mobilizing the ballistic missiles effort to keep peace in the world and resist Communist aggression.

Eisenhower declared the aid program "has been proving its worth in practice for over 10 years." Yet he said it is engaged every year in a "life-and-death struggle for its very existence" with persons in and out of Congress damning it as a "give-away."

Others Speak

The President's talk followed others by former President Truman, Adlai E. Stevenson and other Democratic and Republican speakers to the rostrum before about 1,300 leaders from across the nation.

Truman said Democrats in Congress will "never, never be able to explain it" if they "emasculate" the Republican administration's aid bill carrying on a program started by Democrats. He also threw another political jab at the Republicans.

Noting claims that the aid program is being administered badly, he said "it looks as if a lot of things are now being administered badly, but you can't abolish the government on that account."

Optimist Boys Club Signs 161 Members

A total of 161 boys have signed up for participation in the Pampa Optimists' Boys Club.

Of that total, 98 signed up at the start of operations Sunday and 63 more signed while the club was open from 3:30 to 8:30 p.m. yesterday.

The boys pay annual dues of 50 cents each and if a boy doesn't have the cash available at the time of registration, he will be given a chance to earn it. The Optimists are still taking registrations for membership.

Thomas J. Craighead, a regional director of the Boys Clubs of America, will be here March 10 for discussions concerning this club's affiliation with the national organization.

Optimist representatives reported this morning that the club still had a need for tables, chairs and games for the boys' use and urged anyone who wishes to contribute to do so as soon as possible so that all the members will not be lacking for recreational facilities.

Two Added To Pampa Police

Pampa Chief of Police, Jim Conner, announced today that two new employees have been added to the force.

Jewel L. Thompson, 437 Graham, will be on the parking meter patrol. Mrs. Thompson worked with the police department before. Chief Conner said he was glad to be getting someone with experience. Mrs. Vera Darling will resign from the force due to illness.

Pete F. Swindle, 916 E. Jordan, will be on the parking meter maintenance man. Swindle is 55 years old and has one child. Swindle will be employed as a civil employee. Joe Brewer, who has been parking meter maintenance man for some time and will be put on patrol duty.

Investigators Ask Whiteside For More Financial Records

WASHINGTON (UP)—House investigators today pressed accused "fixer" Thurman A. Whiteside for more financial records to look further into his activities relating to Federal Communications Commission decisions.

Chairman Owen Harris (D-Ark.) of the House FCC investigating subcommittee said if Whiteside failed to produce all the records requested in a subpoena he could be cited for contempt.

"We ought to have all the records," Harris said.

Subcommittee member Charles A. Wolverton (R-N.Y.) said Whiteside's refusal to answer questions about alleged blackmail on grounds they involved the confidence of a lawyer-client relationship was "ridiculous."

Wolverton was to question Whiteside on his recall by the subcommittee.

The investigation so far, Harris said, has uncovered a "very bad situation" that could lead to prison terms for some individuals. He issued the warning after Whiteside, a Miami, Fla., attorney, testified in Miami.

Water Works Association Has Meeting

The Canadian Water Works and Sewage Association held its regular third Thursday meeting in the City Hall, Shamrock, Texas, at 7:30 p.m. on the 20th of February. There were 26 members and two guests present. The guests were Mayor C. B. Kirk, City of Wheeler, and Mr. Clarence Wine, of Clowe-Cowan, Amarillo.

The first subject on the agenda placed before the officers and members was that of a chairman for the program committee. Tom Hill, of Canadian, and by acclamation Mr. Wayland Merriman, Consultant Engineer, Pampa, Texas, was appointed. The members of the Association expressed their gratitude to Com. Tom Hill for his working with and interest in the Water Works Association.

The Association President, Mr. J. C. Reagan, Canadian, then turned the meeting over to the new chairman. The subject discussed was that of cemented-cement asbestos pipe for water mains and its durability under pressure in the various conditions of soil and under that of traffic.

The meeting was adjourned at 9:00 p.m. and refreshments were served by Mr. T. M. Dickey and city officials of Shamrock.

Two Accidents Reported In Pampa Area

Two accidents were reported by the Pampa Highway Patrol today. An empty school bus driven by Haskell L. McCarley and a 1948 Pontiac driven by James Richard Kimbley were in collision one mile west of Lefors yesterday about 7:50 a.m. Kimbley struck the right side of the bus causing it to flip over on its side. No injuries were reported to either of the drivers.

Another accident was reported to the Highway Patrol about 9:30 p.m. last night. Two 17 year old boys were injured when their 1958 Chevrolet overturned on a curve on the South edge of White Deer.

The boys, Woodrow Farris Wood and Les Scott, were taken to Highland General Hospital by Duencel Carmichael. Both boys were reported in good condition.

Postal Rate Hike Expected Today

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney predicted today the Senate will approve higher postal rates and pay raises for postal employees by nightfall after a "big fight" on a key provision.

The Oklahoma Democrat said there probably would be a "fairly close" vote on his amendment to knock out a proposed five-cent stamp for out-of-town letters.

"If the Republicans all stand together," he admitted, "we can lose."

Monroney, a member of the Senate Post Office Committee, is a leader in the fight to hold any postal raise to a four-cent stamp for both local and out-of-town first class mail. It now requires a three-cent stamp. He expected the support of all but a handful of Democrats.

Tack on Pay Raise

Once details of the rate bill have been thrashed out a move is slated to tack on a committee-approved measure providing a 7 1/2 per cent $20 million dollar annual pay raise for some 800,000 postal employees.

Monroney predicted an expected move by Sen. Frank Carlson (R-Kan.) to eliminate a $240 cost-of-living bonus for low-scale employees would be "beaten overwhelming."

He voiced certainty the Senate would vote to tie the pay and rate raises together. He said it also was possible approval might come by nightfall on another bill to raise the pay of about a million "white collar" civil service workers by 7 1/2 per cent. The civil service measure was scheduled for consideration after the postal bill is disposed of.

The House Post Office Committee Tuesday approved pay raises totaling nearly one billion dollars for about 1,500,000 postal and "white collar" government workers, including legislative and judicial employees. This compared with about $21 million dollars the two Senate pay measures would cost. The House postal raises would range from 10 to 13 per cent and the white collar civil service increase would average 11 per cent.

Veto Predicted

Rep. Edward H. Rees (R-Kan.), senior GOP member of the House committee, predicted President Eisenhower would veto raises of the size provided in the House bill. He said he thought the President might go along with a 7 1/2 per cent raise.

The President vetoed a government pay raise measure last year but proposed a six per cent increase this year.

Major effects of the bill would be to:

- Raise out-of-town letter mail rates from 3 to 5 cents for three years and earmark one penny of the increase for postal modernization.
- Raise air mail rates from 6 to 8 cents.
- Raise post card rates except handwritten ones, from 2 to 3 cents and airmail cards from 4 to 5 cents.
- For second class mail the bill would:

- Raise rates on non-advertising portions of newspapers and periodicals 30 per cent in three annual 10 per cent increases. This would jump the present rate of 1.95 cents a pound to 3 cents.
- Provide three annual 20 per cent increases for advertising. The rates now vary according to zones from 1.95 cents to 9 1/10 cents. The range after the third increase would be 3 to 14 cents.
- Increase the minimum copy rate by 1/4 of a cent annually until it reaches 1/2 cent in 1960. Present rate is 1/4 of a cent.
- For third class mail the bill would:
- Increase minimum piece rate on circulars and other printed matter from 1 1/2 cents to 2 cents the first year and 2 1/2 cents after that. The pound rate would jump from 14 to 16 cents.
- Increase third class bulk permits from $10 to $20 annually.

Cloudiness, Rain Returns To Pampa

A heavy layer of clouds returned to the Top o' Texas this morning and rain began falling in Pampa about 9:30 a.m. The reported low in Pampa last night was 46 degrees and the temperature at present time today was 37 degrees.

A new cold front pushed into Texas today, dumping snow in the Panhandle while flood crests boiled down South Texas rivers. Flood crests were moving down nearly every river in South Texas and about 60 persons were forced from their homes in Victoria Tuesday by a 29.8 foot level on the Guadalupe.

These were in addition to 300 forced out Sunday who are now back in their homes.

The front, last reported in West Texas, was bringing rain to South Texas.

Half Inch of Snow

A half an inch of snow was reported on the ground at Vega, 40 miles west of Amarillo, early today and it was still snowing there. At Amarillo, high winds blew dust between intermittent showers.

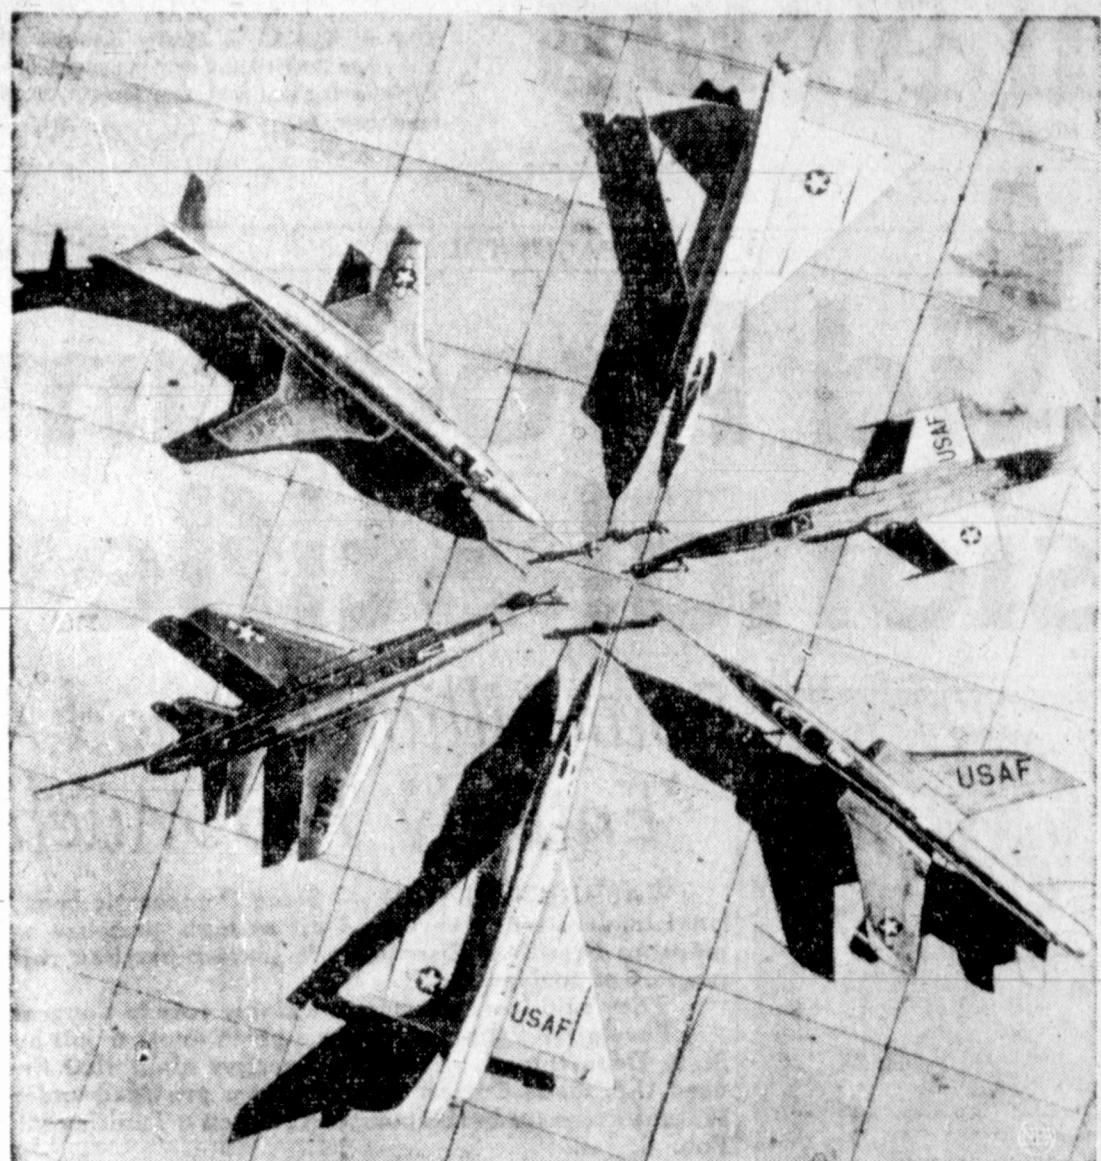

The Guadalupe was expected to crest sometime today at Victoria. It reached 34.5 feet at Cuero, the highest point there since 1936.

The Nueces crested late Tuesday night at 43.1 feet at Three Rivers which Deputy Sheriff Jess Dowd said was the highest in about 12 years. Only a few fami-

Matter of FACT

The parachute is probably the oldest idea for man-carrying "aircraft." Leonardo da Vinci sketched one in his notebook in 1514. Fausto Veranzio published a description of a workable parachute in 1595. It was Andre Jacques Garnerin who made the first "live" parachute jump from a balloon in Paris in 1797. Modern parachutes are simply improvements on the Garnerin designs.

Communists Seek Recognition Now

Foreign News Commentary
By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent
The Communists are conducting parallel drives to win diplomatic recognition of East Germany and North Korea.
The North Korean Reds are using the hijacking of a South Korean airliner by Communist agents as a means of trying to make the South Korean government enter direct negotiations for the plane's return.
This would mean recognition of the North Korean puppet regime. At the same time, both the Chinese Communist and North Korean Red governments have embarked on a new attempt to effect the withdrawal of United Nations forces from South Korea.

In East Germany, Communist Leader Walter Ulbricht has received a plan under which East and West Germany would enter into a federation of separate states, enjoying equal status. Would Mean Recognition
This, of course, would mean recognition of the East German puppet state, with a population of 17.8 million, as a sovereign country equal to free West Germany, with a population of 51 million.
The Russian occupation commander in East Germany announced last week the details of the announced Soviet plan to withdraw 41,000 of its troops, as part of a previous announcement in Moscow that the Russian armed forces would be reduced by 300,000 men.
This was a bit of propaganda intended to convince West Germans that Russia would be willing to withdraw its forces from East Germany if the allied troops were withdrawn.

There is good reason to believe that Russia would use the Polish "Rapacki Plan," providing for the banning of nuclear weapons from Poland, Czechoslovakia, East Germany and West Germany as an argument for troop withdrawal if by any chance it given by the approximately one hundred officials, and friends of the Texas Company, who attended the affair.

Giles, well liked by all his associates, started work for the Texas Co. Nov. 20, 1928 on the S. B. Burnett or 4-6 Ranch at Borger and worked there two years, going from there to Skellytown as material truck driver for one year, from there to Pampa serving as production foreman twelve years, and the remaining fifteen years being spent in the west Lefors area as head roustabout.
His retirement becoming official the 28th of February, Mr. and Mrs. Giles will realize a life-long dream and settle on a farm they own in Collin County near McKinney and spend their time in raising cattle.
Texas Company officials at the barbecue dinner included Sherm Lenning, superintendent; Paul Wiley, assistant superintendent; Ralph McClure, chief clerk; and W. I. Gilbert, district material manager.

Conventional Arms Superiority
The West German government has firmly rejected the Rapacki Plan. One reason is that the nuclear weapons-free zone would give Russia overwhelming superiority because of the size of its armies.
Another reason cited is that if such a zone were agreed upon, the United States might decide to pull out its troops.
Communist China and North Korea said in a joint statement last week that all Chinese Red forces would be withdrawn from North Korea by the end of 1958.
Chinese Red Premier Chou En-lai followed this up by demanding that U.N. forces get out of South Korea. The North Koreans have now joined in this demand.
In both the East German and Korean situations, the Communists are using as bait the suggestion that troop withdrawal would be a step toward eventual reunification of those countries.

Filmtown's Studios Seem To Be Headed For Extinction

First on Three Dispatches
By VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Filmtown's giant studios seem to be heading for extinction and their own pictures—sold to television—are pushing them toward the exits.
Oddly, nobody in Hollywood seems to care about their passing.
Republic and RKO already have perished, leaving only six major lots—MGM, 20th Century-Fox, Universal-International, Warner Brothers, Paramount and Columbia. All six are producing TV films to keep the cameras rolling.
Independent producers have taken up some of the slack at the studios. At the recent Academy Award nominations, the five pictures named all were independent productions.
Movie executives admit TV is the principal cause of Hollywood's plight, but they point to other factors which have changed us from a nation of steady movie-goers. Dull, unimaginative pictures share the blame with outdated, uncomfortable popcorn palaces. One began says the movie downfall began in 1940 when the government forced divorcement of studios and theaters, ruling a company which made a picture could not own the theaters in which it was shown.

They'll Do It Every Time
By Jimmy Hado

Blame Star System
Some blame the passing of the "star system," saying too few youngsters have been built to the heights occupied by the Gables, Garbos, Tracys and Harlows.
Rising costs of movie-making add to the havoc, says the head of a major studio. "We can't keep turning out five and six million dollar pictures that don't return the cost."
Twenty years ago a picture costing a million dollars was a super-colossal. Today "B" pictures can't be made for less.
In 1936, the Kluge-lighted peak of film production, Hollywood turned out a total 621 epics with an additional 142 reissues—all but a fraction of them produced by major studios. Last year, 378 pictures were made—only 118 by the studios. Subtract from that 89 movies filmed abroad.
The pinch is reflected in pink slips. Staffs have been hacked drastically. Unemployment offices are turning up sound men, extras, featured players, electricians, grips and other movie specialists.
Much as they point to vague reasons for their woes, movie-makers can't duck responsibility for selling old films to television. And sell them they have—a grand total of 3,144 pre-1948 films.
Columbia Won't Talk
The total does not include Co-

duced 82 pictures a year—enough to provide theatergoers with a new bill every week.
Many movie people believe the line between survival and demise of the major studios lies in the hefty backlog of films made since 1948.

Carey said committee investigator John J. McGovern approached Russ Nixon, Washington representative of the left-wing United Electric Workers Union, "as part of a desperate and continuing attempt to smear the UAW and its president Walter Reuther."

Carey is president of the International Electric, Radio and Machine Workers of the AFL-CIO, and an official of the AFL-CIO.

At issue in the committee wrangle, which has produced four tie votes and some sharp words, is the question of whether Walter Reuther, fast-talking president of the UAW, should be one of the first witnesses. Democrats have supported a plan which would make a Kohler Co. witness - President Herbert Kohler or chief company negotiator Lyman Conger - the lead-off witness, followed by Reuther. Republicans have opposed calling the two principals at the outset.

The strike and dispute between the Wisconsin plumbing ware firm and the Auto Workers is nearly four years old. It started in 1954 when the company refused to recognize the union as bargaining agent for its employees. A settlement appeared in the offing in 1957 but the company refused to hire back some 2,000 strikers as demanded by the union.

"The pattern has become very clear," Harris said, "I think there is no question that there is a ring down there in Miami that has been operating very successfully."

Whiteside, who has conceded he tried to influence Mack in a contested Miami television case, testified that Mack has received about $2,000 in the last five months from an agency which insured the Miami station.

Mack voted to award the TV station in question to National Airlines. Whiteside has testified that Mack has a one-sixth interest in the insurance firm, the Stembler-Shelden Agency.

Vanguard Is Readied After Failure Of Navaho Missile

By CHARLES TAYLOR United Press Staff Correspondent CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UP)—The Air Force Navaho which plunged into the ocean and exploded Tuesday after a booster engine failure may not be the last of the supersonic long-range guided missiles to fly.

"We're doing all we can to get the government to continue the Navaho program," an official of North American Aviation, which builds the missile, said Tuesday night. Although the missile itself is obsolete, the power unit which failed Tuesday is considered to have potential value for other missiles.

The contract for the Navaho program, on which a half-billion dollars has already been spent, was cancelled by the Air Force last July and Tuesday's missile was the last of those on hand at the test center.

Navy rocketmen, meanwhile, worked at last-minute preparation of the 72-foot Vanguard for a third attempt to launch it with a 6-inch satellite.

The nose cone was taken off the three-stage Vanguard Tuesday while crewmen worked on the mechanism which will hold the grapefruit-sized aluminum sphere. The satellite is designed to be sprung free by the same mechanism once the third stage has soared to some 300 miles above the earth.

The Navaho spokesman said technicians had not found just what caused the booster malfunction which sent the sleek missile plunging from the sky after only 60 seconds of flight. It exploded spectacularly on the ocean. But he said it would not long deter perfection of a half-million pound thrust engine.

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We have two daughters, 15 and 17, and all we hear from them is that when they reach the age of 18 they will be their own boss. I think a girl is not her own boss until she reaches the age of 21. I would be grateful to you, Abby, if you would settle this matter of when a girl is "her own boss."

A MOTHER: Dear Mother: In my opinion a girl has to be able to leave her parents' home, pay her own bed-and-board, buy her own clothes, pay for her own entertainment, insurance and medical care, and pay for the continuance of her education. Then, she has the privilege of choosing her own company, making all her own decisions and being her own "boss."

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a model railroad fiend. He sneaks my good drip-grind coffee to use as "dirt" for the landscaping. Every time company comes I am caught short on coffee and sure enough I see it has become part of another "hillside." I know this isn't grounds for divorce, but it is getting me unnerved. Any suggestions?

COFFEE NERVES: Dear Nerves: Not only is it no "grounds" for divorce... it isn't even grounds for "coffee" — and until coffee is "dirt cheap," he oughtta use dirt.

DEAR ABBY: I am 11 years old and I want my mother to have a baby. My mother said she would be happy to, but she isn't planning on it. I am willing to give up all my baby-sitting jobs to help her. I offered to pay the hospital bills and buy all the baby needs. I have some money in my bank at school. I want you to understand that my mother is in perfect health. My father says he is willing. Please see what you can do, Miss Abby?

LONESOME: Dear Lonesome: If your mother agrees and your father is willing — half the battle is won. But — the good Lord has something to say about it, too. Good luck, Honey.

DEAR ABBY: I work in an office with many women of all ages. I am a single man (almost fifty) and am always elected when a doll needs an "escort" to go somewhere. One of these "girls" (she's been here for years) could talk an arm-and-a-leg off you and everybody runs the other way when they see her coming. She asked me to "escort" her to a fancy party. I hate to refuse her, but I don't want to go. What should I do?

NO HERO: Dear No: Recommend a friend — or better yet — an enemy.

There is no doubt about it, birthdays are important events. Christmas, the fourth of July, Valentines, Mother's and Father's Days, we share with others, but a birthday is a special, personal possession that belongs only to you.

Even though you may stop counting them, you can still have them! But just who started this idea of the candle-trimmed birthday cake, Legend clouds its true origin, but the custom is credited to the ancient Greeks, the Romans, the Norse, the Germans, and there is still some evidence to support each claim of origin.

The custom for centuries has been widespread in Germany, and there is considerable amount of detail about it in the literature. Sponge cakes and tortes were among the favorites. In the middle of the cake, a large candle called "Lebenslicht," or Light of Life, was placed, and it was surrounded with as many candles as the birthday person had had years. Only the one celebrating the birthday could blow out the flames. It was considered unlucky if it was done by any other person. A wish could be made as the candles were blown, with the understanding that it would come true in as many months as it took puffs to blow them out. In some areas, the candles were of various colors.

Celebration of an individual's birth was customary among the ancients. Aeschylus presupposes it in his writings when Apollo receives on his birthday his oracle from Phoebe. Birthdays were celebrated with prayers, sacrifices and banquets. It was the custom to offer gifts to the person whose birthday it was.

The round decorated cakes are credited to Greece, reflecting the influence of its architecture with wide use of cylinders. The decorated square cakes are credited to the Egyptians. Cakes, as such, so folk lore states, were invented by a Sicilian baker named Thearon, who lived in the fifth century, B.C.

In America, candle lighted cakes are an accepted feature of the day's celebration. The wish-making and the blowing out of the flames also are traditional here. Singing of the jingle "Happy Birthdays" has become a pleasant accompaniment of the ceremonies preceding the slicing of the birthday cake.

No teen-ager of either sex wants his parents to make themselves conspicuous in public any way. It pains a teen-ager to see Pop being the life of the party or Mom losing her temper and giving someone a piece of her mind.

"Teen-agers" standards for their parents are as strict, if not stricter, than parents' standards for their teen-agers. And parents do well never to forget that fact.

Gloves were designed to wear. So don't crutch them in one hand or dangle them limply. Put them on — and look smart.

RUTH MILLETT All parents are conscious of the impression their teen-age sons and daughters make on friends of the parents.

But some parents don't seem to realize that their teen-age children also are concerned with the impression the parents make on the children's friends.

For instance, a teen-age girl is embarrassed if her mother tries to act like her sister and wants to be treated like one of the crowd. Any teen-age girl prefers to have her mother act like a mother and also to act her age.

A teen-age boy hates to have his parents remind him to "be careful" when he starts off in a car with a group of his friends, or to have them tell him in the friends' hearing when he is expected to be home. All such warnings and instructions aren't nearly so resented if made in privacy.

A teen-age girl is embarrassed when her friends come to the house if her mother doesn't look neat and well-groomed. The teen-agers themselves may be in blue jeans with shirttails flapping, but Mom is expected to look trim.

A teen-age boy doesn't want to be questioned where he has been and what he had been doing in front of his friends. If there is to be a question and answer session he fervently hopes it will wait until he hasn't an audience.

A teen-age girl or boy doesn't like to have his parents and their friends act too gay or drink enough to be rowdy. They expect dignity from parents and resent it when the parents refuse to be dignified.

Penhandlers Club Has Founder's Day Program Citing Club's History, Feats

(Special to The News) McLEAN — The sixteenth anniversary of Penhandlers Club was celebrated in a Founder's Day program in the home of Miss Ruby Cook of McLean recently.

The president, Mrs. G. H. Aldous of Shamrock, gave a brief resume of accomplishments of the club and named its roster through the years. Following this talk, the meeting was conducted by Mrs. Frankie Stanley of Shamrock, who had presided at the first Founder's Day program 15 years ago. At that time, Mrs. Leanna Harvey of Shamrock was secretary; Mrs. T. E. Trostle of Lela was program leader and Miss Ruby Cook speaker and advisory critic.

An original personality story was read by Mrs. Stanley on the life of Mrs. Fred Oliver, mother of former congressman Eugene W. Worley of Shamrock. The story, which Mrs. Stanley read, was carried in the Congressional Record.

An original vignette was read by Mrs. Louise Coffman of Shamrock. An extra script for criticism, a religious article written by Mrs. Mettie Brown of Samnorwood, was read by Mrs. Mary I. Smith of Samnorwood in the absence of the author. Mrs. Floy Hugg of Shamrock, also, read an extra script for criticism of the club.

Mrs. Trostle gave club histories of 1955-56 and 1956-57. After refreshments, there was a short autograph party honoring Mrs. Osie B. Wilson of Wheeler, co-author with Cleo Tom Terry of Skellytown for their recently published book, "The Rawhide Tree."

In reviewing the 16 years work of the organization, it was found that the Penhandlers had written ten books, in entirety or in part. In addition to ten published books, the club members had sold two educational films, 25 radio programs, one personality story, and several thousand newspaper and magazine articles had been published. The Penhandlers had as their special guests Mrs. Luther Petty, member of a former writers club in McLean and Mrs. R. L. McDonald member of the McLean Library Board.

Capitalism In Russia

Communist Party boss, Nikita Khrushchev, deadly enemy of capitalism, has let it be known with his customary florid language that no such decadent idea as capitalism is ever going to appear amid the purity of Russian socialism.

In a fit of flowery denunciation he has made an effort to show that the idea of anyone owning anything privately is so evil in itself that the United States will soon fall, a victim of the unholy passion to be responsible for one's self.

Nikita is going to have to do a better job, either of controlling all Russians or at least of controlling his own propaganda outlets. For it so happens that simultaneously with his latest blast, has come the current issue of USSR, a big slick monthly, paid for in part by the American taxpayers, which gives him the big lie and shoves it far down his alcoholic throat.

For according to no less an authority than Arseni Zverev, financial minister for all of Russia, capitalism has come to the Soviet Union in a big way.

Of course, we don't know quite whom to believe. If Khrushchev is correct, and capitalism is forever banned from the land of the slinking Red, then Zverev's report in USSR is nothing in the world but plain propaganda bunkum.

However, if Zverev is actually reporting a true condition, then Russia has moved rather far toward capitalism in recent years than we have in this country. It is certain that both Russian autocrats cannot be correct. They make opposite claims.

Quite frankly, although we must sprinkle the Zverev report with an ample portion of table salt, we rather fancy that he is closer to fact than the ponderous-bellied dictator.

Here are the gems of the Zverev story in USSR:

Forty million Soviet citizens, about one out of every five Russians, now have bank accounts. If this is true, then nearly every family in Russia is saving money. And that means that since savings make capitalists, nearly every Russian citizen is a budding capitalist.

In any case, the banks have on deposit something like 73 million rubles listed to the credit of the various Russians. The average deposit isn't large, somewhere between 1200 to 2000 rubles. That's about $300 to $500 at the official rate of exchange. The total comes to $18 billion in American dollars.

This hoarding of money by the Russian people, according to Zverev, is for the purpose of purchasing furniture, care, TV sets, clothing and so forth.

In fact, one story is told about how Seafim Tukhtin, a chauffeur in the industrial city of Scherbakov, recently cashed in the $3,000 he had saved since 1953 and bought himself a brand new Moskvich car, by means of which he is now the envy of the neighborhood.

The more we study this magazine, the more inclined we are to believe what Zverev says, at least in part. Of course we're a little nonplussed when he insists that there are 52,000 banks in the Soviet Union, as compared to a mere 14,208 in the United States at the latest count. But, if we can knock a couple zeros off the end of his figure, the rest of the report could be substantially correct.

We have long known that about the only way the Russian people could survive at all was because of a flourishing black market. A report, which was authoritative, reached us some years ago that the Russian people were doing better than generally imagined, simply because they were able to buy so many items through the underground and illegal channels of trade.

We marveled that this could be so in a land where the police powers are so strong, until we learned that the black market is actually run by the secret police and the bureaucrats, and then it all made sense.

So, since it is true that all human beings are much alike in their basic desires and aspirations, and also that all human beings desire to own things and to excel in certain areas of activity, we are inclined to go along with the information that Russia, while championing socialism, has actually been practicing capitalism in order to survive.

What does concern us is that so many people in capitalist America are inclined to believe in Russian socialism, even when there are reports which indicate that even the Russians can't and don't practice what they preach.

BETTER JOBS

Perishing By The Sword

One of the statements accredited to Jesus which was as little understood, it seems to me, as most any other statement he ever made was Matt. 26:52: "For all they that take up the sword shall perish with the sword."

While this statement was made to a man who had taken up the physical sword and cut off an ear, it is an eternal principle. If he who takes up the sword doesn't physically perish, his spiritual life will perish. In other words, he'll not get very much out of life.

Taking up the sword includes more than the physical taking up of the sword. It includes threatening to take it up so that those who are threatened will obey just as if the sword were taken up.

I want to mention a few of the swords we have collectively taken up in the United States that I believe will cause us to perish, as Jesus has said.

The graduated income and inheritance taxes are taking up the sword. In fact, it might be contended that all taxation is taking up the sword, and when people believe in getting things by coercion rather than by benefiting their fellowman, it is only natural, since they have discarded moral principles, that any form of taking up the sword will develop into greater plunder.

The graduated income and inheritance taxes are drying up the private capital of the country to such an extent that we cannot voluntarily supply the tools to furnish better jobs for all who want to work. These have so weakened our moral beliefs that we repudiated our obligations, as we did in 1933 when we borrowed money, payable in gold dollars of equal weight and fineness, and in less than six months our representatives of the United States government repudiated this obligation and made it a crime to pay in dollars of equal weight and fineness. That's the natural result of taking up the sword.

Another method of taking up the sword, about the same time we established the graduated income tax, was the Federal Reserve System that gives special groups the right to increase credit, that gives a monopoly on credit and banking.

Another old, old way of taking up the sword is protective tariffs and immigration quotas. One of the reasons this country is richer than any other is that protective tariffs were prohibited between states, so that we had a larger market than we would have had if we had followed the practice of European countries of having protective tariffs between states. If every state had to produce its own automobiles, airplanes, clothing, food, typewriters, furniture, and everything that was needed in that state, our standard of living would drop and drop and drop and we would go back to primitive living.

Another method of taking up the sword is immigration quotas that keep people from going into other people's property who wanted them to enter onto it.

Another method of taking up the sword is drafting soldiers. It is involuntary servitude. It is one of the worst forms of taking up the sword.

Another method of taking up the sword is having the government fix prices and try to regulate credit.

The wage and hour law is a nice example of taking up the sword against the one-talent man who cannot earn the minimum wages. It is hard to conceive of any more despicable method of taking up the sword than making laws that make it more difficult for the young and the old and the one-talent man to use the talent God gave him.

The law requiring time and one-half for over 40 hours is another method of taking up the sword.

Any agreement between employers or employees to fine or punish any of its members who sell their product or their labor for less than the agreed price is another method of taking up the sword.

Another method of taking up the sword, which probably does as much harm as any other form of taking up the sword, is giving the state, the government, the agents of the majority the right to force a man to pay for what they call education. It is bound to corrupt the people because it is based on no principle and their standard of right becomes whatever the majority declares is right and just.

These are some of the things we have been doing collectively that are taking up the sword. It is initiating force. It is using aggressive force. And all those who initiate force or use aggressive force or take up the sword eventually will perish by the sword. Practically every nation goes to pieces sooner or later because it takes up the sword by way of taxation, by way of initiating force, by way of getting something by injuring others rather than getting something by benefiting those from whom they get it.

There are few things that we need to be better understood than the statement of Jesus: "For all they that take up the sword shall perish with the sword."

South Can't Afford To Lose Senator Harry Byrd

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Senator Harry Flood Byrd's retirement from the Senate comes at a time when the South and conservative forces generally cannot afford to lose such an able and influential lawmaker and political power on Capitol Hill.

It tends to strengthen this faction both in the Senate and within the Democratic Party. It throws control to a combination of blocs which are generally opposed to the South's political, economic and racial interests.

Byrd's departure alone will not have these far-reaching effects. But when he quits, there will be few left to uphold the philosophy for which he and such associates as Taft of Ohio, Millikin of Colorado and George of Georgia stood.

Other conservatives also leaving are Jenner of Indiana, Martin of Pennsylvania and Smith of New Jersey.

It is possible that they may be replaced by men holding the same viewpoint. But it will be many years before, through experience, seniority and force of personality, they can enjoy the power and the prestige of the men they succeed.

BYRD VS. KERR — In general, Byrd and his associates opposed New Deal-Fair Deal trends, as well as their embodiment in President Eisenhower's "modern Republicanism." They fought against paternalism, expansion and centralization of the Federal government, excessive spending. It was due to them that relatively few "welfare state" measures were enacted after F.D.R.'s dramatic first four years.

The most effective and spectacular way of measuring the meaning of Byrd's leaving is to contrast him with Senator Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma, who will succeed the Virginian as Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee. It is this group which frames tax and tariff bills, handles the Social Security Program and kindred matters affecting everybody's pocketbook.

MULTIMILLIONAIRE — Senator Kerr is a booming, bustling gas-and-oil multimillionaire who towers over the Senate floor like one of his drilling rigs. He is a noisy and backslapping extrovert, and inclined to be slightly demagogic. Byrd is a quiet, reticent and behind-the-scenes operator, who hardly speaks above a whisper.

Kerr's millions gushed from the dark earth. Byrd's extremely profitable apple orchards written and made fragrant the lovely Shenandoah Valley, with its gentle Blue Ridge mountains and its placid, winding streams. Their backgrounds and setting — the plantation against the prairie — are as different as their philosophies.

KEEP TABS ON VOTES — Two ultraliberal organizations at Washington keep tabs on the votes of Senate-House members. They are the leftist Americans for Democratic Action and the AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education. Their scores on the Virginian and the Oklahoman are revealing.

In the 1956 session, according to the A.D.A. tabulation, Kerr voted "right" on all but three legislative tests. Byrd voted "right" only twice — against Kerr's Natural Gas Bill and for civilian control of atomic power.

Kerr was "wrong," A.D.A. reported, because he voted for the Natural Gas Bill, against direct election of the President and Vice President, and for cutting $400,000,000 from foreign military aid.

FAVORED BY OKLAHOMAN — A.D.A. praised Kerr for favorable votes on the following measures, with Byrd voting "wrong" each time: For 90 per cent farm support; for increased U.S. participation in the International Labor Organization; for public development of power along the Niagara River and at Hells Canyon; for increased public housing and higher wages on highway construction; for increased aid to India; for civilian control of atomic power; for confirmation of a Truma Solicitor General as a Federal Judge.

Labor's Committee on Political Education, in reviewing the 1947-1954 record, found that Kerr had voted "wrong" three times, and "right" on 16 tests. It recorded that Byrd voted "right" only once, and "wrong" 26 times. Both these organizations rejoice at Byrd's leaving. In their opinion, it will make it easier for them to kidnap the Democratic Party.

In the 1890's, one out of every five American high school students studied physics. Today the figure is only one out of every twenty-two.

This is one among a number of statistics presented to Congressional investigators of our educational system, all of them suggesting that educational standards have deteriorated in this century.

In that last decade of the Nineteenth Century, for example, more than half the public high school students studied algebra. Today, in the public high schools, algebra is unknown to three-fourths of those who get their diplomas.

It is such sad statistics as these that have prompted the President, the National Education Association, clusters of Congressmen and sundry others to propose that the Federal Government spend billions to improve our educational system. Ever since Sputnik I the idea seems to be that at least as many high school students, proportionately, ought to be acquainted with physics and mathematics as in the last century.

And how else to do this, save with billions?

Well, in the 1890's educators were not practicing the preachings of John Dewey, the President of the United States was William McKinley, the entire budget of the Federal Government was less than $500 million.

And none of it was being spent to buy logs for a Mark Hopkins and a student to sit on.

Eleanor Admits Truth Of Pegler's Disclosure

NEW YORK — Eleanor Roosevelt at last has admitted the truth of my disclosure soon after the death of her husband that his grandfather, Warren Delano, made money importing opium into Hong Kong. The fact that Delano did shove narcotics on the helpless Chinese masses was well concealed until F. D. Roosevelt had been laid away in a "shrine" at Hyde Park which is still maintained at public expense.

This canting Mountebank professed to be a "profound" student of history but his idolators will now plead that the poor man could not have been expected to know this petty detail of his own grandfather's corrupt career.

Roosevelt knew all about his family. And his mother, the late Sara, made at least one trip around the horn to China in her father's opium clippers, when she was a little girl. She could have written a fine historical autobiography had she been more honest than her son. But the best we have from her is a watery, self-serving ghosted job, lobbying on Franklin as a sweetly precocious little boy and in his adult years a great servant of humanity.

Like all other contributions to the myth of this sinister breed, the current admission by the ever-prospering relict, who, when he died, was a thousand miles from her afflicted husband, was written for a price. It appears in the Saturday Evening Post.

The Roosevelt woman in her self-serving attempts at excuse and justification, has recently been forced to exurgitate elements of truth on both the opium story and the fact that he and she did practice "segregation," or anyway, reject "integration."

Concerning "segregation" or "integration," in the White House however, she tried to vanish into vapors of uncertainty and to lay it off to Mrs. Henrietta Nesbitt, the official housekeeper who disclosed the dismissal of the white servants led behind by President and Mrs. Hoover. Mrs. Nesbitt wrote that "Mrs. Roosevelt and I agreed that a staff solid in any one color worked in better understanding and maintained a smoother-running establishment."

Mrs. Roosevelt had found out over a lifetime of running large houses.

I will nail down the truth of this later in this essay and in the same closing will cite from her current admissions concerning opium smuggling by Delano.

Last November, R. Carter Pittman, a Georgia lawyer, called the turn on La Boetie's false statement in her column in McCall's that the anti-Negro clause in deeds to Roosevelt's Warm Springs building lots was but an unwilling submission to a state law. Brought to bay, after exhausting every quibble, she finally wrote Pittman that Franklin might have said it was a "custom," not a law, which forced him to forbid Negroes forever to own or occupy lots which he sold.

Pittman, a great authority on the subject, insists that there never was such a law. A "custom" would be debatable but anyway the widow now pleads the grand fraud guilty of mercenary submission to bigotry.

In her last stand, she wrote Pittman: "I am quite sure my written instructions on restrictive clauses..." etc. Of course not. He was too crooked to do that. He got his own, solely-owned corporation to adopt this clause and it was done by subordinate corporation employees. Thus Roosevelt's own guilt and initiative were hidden.

She apparently forgot that in her first book, prattled in 1939, she put herself dead to rights. Discussing her problems in Washington where Roosevelt had ducked the draft as Assistant Secretary of the Navy, she wrote: "I decided that life would be simpler if I took colored servants... which would obviate my having to find new white ones... perhaps it is just the Southern blood of my ancestors but I have enjoyed my contact with such colored people as came to work for me. I... completely staffed my house with colored servants."

The opium question is handled thus, slightly shrunken to a vase space: "For years some American political writers opposed to the New Deal asserted that my husband's family had made money in the opium trade in the days of the clipper ships... at Hong Kong, a British merchant gave me a history of the China trade which showed that all foreign merchants had to obtain permits and that, to get a permit they had to agree to take a small amount of opium, too. So I suppose the Delanos, like everybody else, had to include opium in their cargoes to do any trading at all."

This is false. The truth is on record in old documents. Delano and others forced great chests of opium on the Chinese coolies, exploiting their horrible addiction for dirty money and Delano was camp book for a colony of British rascals in their fortress during the historic Opium War waged by the Chinese Emperor in a futile effort to deliver his people from their hopeless condition.

Stuebenville Is Still Tops On UP Poll

By EARL WRIGHT
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (UP)—The Steubenville (Ohio) Barons, victors in their last 22 starts, topped the United Press small college basketball ratings today for the second straight week.

The Wheaton (Ill.) Crusaders, with 17 straight triumphs and victories in 43 of their last 44 games, again were second.

The nation-wide board of small college coaches which rates the teams based its latest ballots on games played through Saturday, Feb. 22.

Stuebenville took a 23-1 record into its final regular season game tonight against St. Vincent at Latrobe, Pa. Wheaton, warming up to defend the college division championship of the NCAA, has a 22-1 record this season.

Western Illinois (Ithaca) is the only perfect record team in the top 10, strengthened its grip on third place, Evansville (Ind.), Southwestern Missouri State, Tennessee State A and I, West Virginia, Tech. Texas Southern, Pacific (Wash.), Lutheran, and St. Peter's (N.J.) completed the first 10 in that order.

Stuebenville, which features a strong defense, received 13 first-place votes and a total of 363 points. Wheaton, which led the ratings four straight weeks before Steubenville moved to the top, received 15 first-place votes and 348 points. Steubenville led Wheaton by 15 points. Wheaton trailed by 11 last week.

As was the case last week when Wheaton received more first-place votes, Steubenville won the No. 1 spot by drawing more votes than the Illinois school for second, third and fourth place.

Smith Leads Barons
Brandeis (Mass.) was 11th with one first-place vote and 40 points. South Dakota, Boston University, Belmont Abbey (N.C.), Montana State, Grambling (La.), Pasadena (Calif.), McNeese (La.) and Mississippi Southern followed in that order. Wittenberg (Ohio) and Regis (Colo.) tied for 20th.

Jim Smith, Steubenville's scoring and rebounding star, led the top-ranked Barons to a 65-45 triumph over St. Francis (Pa.) in their only game last week. It was the Pennsylvania team's first loss at home in its last 15 starts there.

Wheaton walloped Lake Forest (Ill.), 76-45, and Illinois Wesleyan, 97-64, in its games last week, while Western Illinois defeated Northern Illinois, 101-79.

Harvesters, Big Spring Play Here Saturday

Pampa won the toss from Big Spring last night and the Harvesters will meet the Steers in Harvester Field House Saturday night at 8 p.m. for the Regional championship.

Big Spring won its Bi-District encounter over Austin High of El Paso last night, 69-61.

Wins First Outing

Wilhelm Loses In His Second Fight

Bobby Wilhelm, Pampa's welterweight state champion, lost out in the late round of the Chicago Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions last night after having won his first fight of the evening.

Wilhelm lost his second fight through a decision to Dave Holman of Toledo, Ohio, after being considerably weakened in a tough opening fight. In the first bout he won a decision over James Webb of Paducah, Ky., but did so in a rough hand-swinging battle. Holman had won his first fight with an early KO and was in better condition for the finale than the game Pampa fighter. However, the final fight went the three full rounds and was described as a "close" decision won by Holman.

Carl McClure, Dumas, who represents Texas in the heavyweight division, won both his bouts last night. Gaining the first over Gerald Gains of Des Moines, Iowa, in a decision, he took a third-round KO over James Noll of Cincinnati, Ohio, for his final victory.

There were 36 knockouts in Tuesday night's 80 bouts in the four heavier divisions. The heavyweights scored 14 knockouts in 16 matches, 10 of them first round knockouts.

Although Chicago has fighters in every division but the 118-pound class, the host contingent is not eligible for the team trophy.

Kansas City, the defending team champion, has only seven points and representatives in only the light heavyweight and heavyweight divisions.

Fort Worth still has fighters in the 112, 118, 126 pound and heavyweight divisions, and Cincinnati has fighters in the 118, 126-147 and 175 pound classes.

Tonight's bouts will take the winners in the 112, 118 and 126 pound classes through the quarter-final round, and the boxers in the 135, 147, 160, 175 and heavyweight classes through the semifinals.

The team standings:

Chicago 13; Fort Worth 11; Cincinnati 10; Toledo, Ohio, 9; Louisville, Ky., 8; Omaha, 8; Roswell, N.M., 8; Detroit, 7; Kansas City, 7; Minneapolis, 7 each; Los Angeles, Tulsa, Okla., Indianapolis, and Kenosha, Wis., 6 each; Nashville, Tenn., Memphis, Tenn., Billings, Mont., Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and Zanesville, Ohio, 5 each; Denver 4; Strator, Ill., Grand Rapids, Mich., Paducah, Ky., Rockford, Ill., Sioux Falls, S.D., and Wichita, 3 each; Des Moines, Fond du Lac, Wis., and Springfield, Ill., 2 each; Canton, Ill., and Muncie, Ind., 1 each.

Results of last night's bouts involving Texas fighters:

FIRST ROUND
147-pound division—Bobby Wilhelm, Fort Worth, dec. James Webb, Paducah, Ky.
160-pound division—Danny Webster, Sioux Falls, S. D. dec. Jimmy Saenz, Fort Worth.
175-pound division—Pete Noah, Fort Worth, dec. Raymond Vega, Memphis, Tenn.

Joe Brown To Fight In Cuba

HAVANA (UP)—Lightweight champion Joe Brown, under heavy police guard, will fight southpaw Orlando Echevarria tonight at the opening of Cuba's new $2,000,000 sports palace in the first live sports telecast from "overseas" to the United States.

By means of the new "over-the-horizon" system, ABC will make the non-title 10-rounder available throughout the United States at 10 p.m. e.s.t.

Uniformed and plain-clothes police guarded 32-year-old Brown of New Orleans today to prevent his being kidnaped by rebels before he could face Echevarria, 125-pound champion of Cuba.

Fidel Castro's rebels "snatched" the auto-racing champion Juan Fangio of Argentina Sunday night and kept him out of Monday's Grand Prix auto race, which was stopped after a crash on the course caused several deaths and injuries.

Tonight's boxing show, like the auto race, is a feature of Cuba's week of sports — celebrating the opening of Cuba's new $2,000,000 "Sports City," of which the Sports Palace is the center. Any interferences in the week's program would be regarded by the rebels as embarrassing to the regime of President Fulgencio Batista.

Champion Brown, unbeaten in his last 15 starts, was a prohibitive favorite at 4-1 over 27-year-old Echevarria, an awkward slugger who knocked out 30 of his 69 opponents. Brown, a smart boxer-puncher, also knocked out 30, but in 93 fights.

Echevarria, who shuffles forward flat-footedly and tries to land his dangerous left, seeks his third victory on the comeback trail after having lost seven straight bouts. He outpointed Armando Bragano in October and stopped Rafael Lastre (5) in December.

The Cuban's 45-19-5 record includes one defeat by a knockout. Brown's 68-14-9 record includes three losses by kayoes. He also had two non-contests.

Ray Stephenson Leads PHS Team With A 22-Point Effort

Pampa's powerful Harvesters took the first big post-season step toward a repeat berth in the state finals last night as they swept the Bi-District championship from the Paschal Panthers of Fort Worth in an impressive 58-49 victory.

Before a capacity crowd in Fort Worth's Public School Field House, the Harvesters led the Paschal cagers at the end of every period and hit a second-half 67 per cent from the field in gaining the win over the 4-4A champions.

Hampered by a slow start, the Pampa quintet fell behind during the first quarter to trail one time five points at 11-7, but by the end of the period had pulled into the lead, 16-14.

During the second quarter the lead switched several times with neither team able to gain a substantial margin, but by the end of the half the Harvesters had managed a slight three-point edge to lead at intermission, 26-23.

Pampa began widening its margin during the third period as the Harvesters outscored the Panthers, 14-10, to move to their largest lead of the game. Going into the final quarter they had the seven point edge of 40-33.

Playing a semi-stall type of ball through the last eight minutes, Pampa again proved more powerful offensively as they nabbed 18 points while holding Fort Worth to 15.

Sparking the Harvester offense was senior forward Ray Stephenson, who hit seven field goals and added eight from the free throw line to record the high mark for the night of 22 points. Forward Coyle Winborn followed with 15 points and guard Bill Brown ranked third with 10.

For Paschal center Robert Wood led with 16 points, followed by Ronnie Johnson with 12 and Leland Phillips with 10.

In the field goal department the Panthers edged Pampa, 19-18, but fell behind in free throws, 22-11. The Panthers were charged with 17 personal fouls while Pampa collected only seven.

For the season Coach Clifton McNeely's Harvesters now stand with 25 wins against two losses. They have scored a total of 1,970 points for a 72.9 per-game average while holding their opponents to 1,535 points for 56.8 per game.

Kansas State, 'Frisco Win; Duke Loses

By TIM MORLIARTY
United Press Sports Writer
Kansas State and San Francisco waltzed into the NCAA Basketball Tournament today while Duke paid the price for underestimating one of its lowly "conferences" in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Led by big Bob Boozer's 23 points, top-ranked Kansas State clinched the Big Eight Conference championship Tuesday night by whipping Oklahoma, 68-51, and the third-ranked Dons wrapped up the West Coast Conference crown by sneaking past St. Mary's (Calif.), 49-47.

Duke, obviously looking ahead to its crucial game with North Carolina Friday night, dropped a 70-68 verdict to Virginia in the third overtime period. It was one of the season's biggest upsets and prevented Duke from clinching at least a share of the ACC regular-season championship.

The Blue Devils and North Carolina will carry identical 10-3 conference records into Friday's showdown at Chapel Hill, N.C., but the winner will not move into the NCAA championship.

The ACC representative will be determined next week in a post-season tournament at Raleigh.

Cavaliers Hang On
Virginia wasn't given much of a chance against Duke, having won only eight of 20 previous contests. However, the Cavaliers opened a 29-26 lead at halftime and hung on to finish the regulation game in a 60-60 deadlock. Then center Herb Busch took over for Virginia in overtime.

Busch dropped in a field goal to send the game into its second extra session and added the decisive basket in the third overtime.

Although Oklahoma used two defenders against Boozer, the six-foot-eight forward turned in one of his better games. Wildcat center Jack Parr, playing despite a slightly sprained ankle, scored 17 points and handled most of the rebound work.

Kansas State coach Tex Winter admitted after the clinching victory that "if anybody had said at the start of the season that we'd have the conference crown sewed up with three games to play, I would have told him to have his head examined."

State now has a 9-0 conference record and a 19-1 overall mark. The Wildcats will play the Missouri Valley Conference champion (probably Cincinnati) in the second round of the NCAA Midwest regional playoffs at Lawrence, Kan., March 14.

Valdes Wants Title Fight

HAVANA (UP)—Bobby Gleason, manager of Cuban heavyweight contender Nino Valdes, said today he will try to promote a world title fight between champion Floyd Patterson and Valdes at the new Havana Sports Palace "before June."

Gleason said, "A very wealthy Cuban is interested in backing the fight. No, I can't disclose his name at this time."

The first automobile show in the United States was held in New York City in 1901.

DR. DALE TURNER ... featured speaker

The Annual Basketball Banquet honoring the Pampa Harvesters and coaches will be held on Tuesday evening, March 11, in the Senior High School Cafeteria at 7:30 p.m., according to Newt Secrest, chairman of the Sports Committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, sponsoring organization.

Dr. Dale Turner, minister of the Plymouth Congregational Church at Lawrence, Kans., has been secured as speaker of the evening. Dr. Turner has a rich background in working with youth and served as both high school and college coach prior to his entry in the ministry.

Dr. Turner serves as Chaplain for Kansas University's athletic teams and makes most of the trips with them. He is an accomplished speaker with an outstanding sense of humor and brings a strong inspirational message. He is much in demand as an after dinner speaker throughout the United States, and the Chamber of Commerce feels lucky to engage his services for this occasion.

Tickets are on sale in the Chamber of Commerce Office and reservations can be made by calling MO 4-3241. Business and professional people have been urged to attend the banquet in person and to purchase tickets to be sent in their name to all members of the Harvester and Shocker squads, plus coaches and administration and members of the Pampa High School Pep Band, which has added so much to the games this season.

An outstanding evening of entertainment is being provided by Bill Tregoe, director of the Harvester Pep Band. His organization will furnish dinner music as well as the special numbers for the program.

Complete details of the evening have not as yet been completed but will be announced within the next few days, Secrest said.

Delaware was the first state to ratify the Constitution, doing so on Dec. 7, 1787.

There's an open gate at the end of the road through which each must go alone. And there is a light we cannot see. Our Father claims his own. Beyond the gate our loved one finds happiness and rest. And there is comfort in the thought that a loving God knows best.

Harry Edenborough

We wish to thank our many friends and neighbors for every kind deed extended us during the illness and death of our loved one Harry Edenborough. To those who conducted the beautiful service and for the messages of condolence and the lovely floral arrangements, we are very grateful. May God bless each of you.

The Edenborough family and sisters.

Mrs. Margaret Bush

When you come to the end of a perfect day
And you sit alone with your thought,
While the chimes ring out with a carol gay
O'er the joy that the day has brought,
Do you think what the end of a perfect day
Can mean to a tired heart,
When the sun goes down with a flaming ray
And dear friends have to part?

Well, this is the end of a perfect day,
And the end of a journey too,
But it leaves a thought that is big and strong
With a wish that is kind and true,
For memory has painted this perfect day
With colors that never fade,
And we find at the end of a perfect day
The souls of the friends we've made.

Mrs. Belle Hill

We wish to express our most sincere appreciation to all who in any way helped us during the illness and at the death of our beloved wife, mother and grandmother who passed to her reward Feb. 20.

To Dr. Malcolm Brown and Dr. M. Bellamy and the nursing staff of Wesley Hospital for their untiring care and comfort of her. To Rev. Emnis Hill of Calvary Baptist Church for his beautiful message and to the choir for the lovely music. To our good neighbors and friends who prepared and served meals in our home, we are very thankful. We extend our grateful thanks to Michael Funeral Home for the beautiful last rites and the employees of Jones-Everett Machine Shop who served as Pall Bearers. We are very grateful, May God bless each of you.
