

GOVERNOR BLASTS AT 'INTRENCHED INTERESTS'

Personalities Hold The Spotlight In Today's Elections In East

Winners May Be Stronger By 1940

La Guardia In N. Y., New Jersey Candidates Watched

(By the Associated Press) Personalities rather than national issues dominated today's off-year elections to the extent that some of the winners may receive consideration as 1940 presidential timber.

Three Key Men Political observers mentioned three men especially in that connection:

Mayor Fiorello La Guardia of New York, seeking re-election with the backing of an unusual coalition of republicans, laborites, socialists and communists.

U. S. Sen. A. Harry Moore and State Sen. Lester H. Cleo, contesting for the governorship of New Jersey. Moore, a democrat, has been governor twice. Cleo, a republican, is a Presbyterian minister.

Besides settling those races, voters were selecting mayors in more than 30 cities, legislatures in five states, a governor in Virginia, and four congressmen to fill vacancies in New York and Virginia.

Opposing La Guardia was Jeremiah T. Mahoney, running a democratic ticket with the support of Tammany Hall, democratic Chairman James A. Farley, Gov. Herbert Lehman and Sen. Robert F. Wagner.

See La Guardia Victory Managers of both candidates claimed victory, but a majority of the New York newspapers predicted La Guardia would win.

Both candidates are supporters of President Roosevelt, so that the national administration did not become an issue. The president, voting at his family home in Hyde Park, N. Y., has taken no sides in the metropolitan election.

John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization was active both in New York and Detroit elections. In New York it was backing La Guardia. In Detroit it had its own candidate for mayor, Patrick H. O'Brien, running against City Clerk Richard Keating, and it also had five candidates for city council seats.

Reading led O'Brien by 39,000 votes in the primary four weeks ago. Some American Federation of Labor leaders have since thrown their support to Reading. Election officials predicted a total vote of 450,000, far heavier than in any previous municipal election.

Curley Tries Comeback In the New Jersey gubernatorial fight, either Moore or Cleo might be thrust into the 1940 presidential picture by a decisive triumph. Cleo, 49, entered state politics as a "reform" candidate against the Essex county republican organization.

Massachusetts watched a "comeback" attempt by former Gov. James M. Curley, who was running for mayor of Boston in a non-partisan election against five rivals. The only republican in the race was Malcolm E. Nichols, also a former mayor.

Three special congressional elections to fill vacancies in the house were being held in New York and one in Virginia. Interest centered on the New York City race by Republican Bruce Barton, advertising executive, against Stanley J. Casserman, democrat, and George Backer, American labor party. Virginia's gubernatorial contest aroused little interest even within the state. Observers predicted James H. Price, democrat, would defeat J. Powell Royal, republican.

Farmer Roosevelt Votes; Laughs When Asked About Demo Ticket

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Nov. 2 (AP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt was voted No. 299 in the state, town and county election here today.

The president went to town hall, satisfied election inspectors he was qualified to vote, and operated the voting machines.

"What is your name," Miss Alma Van Cuyper, chairman of the district election board, asked the chief executive.

"Franklin D. Roosevelt," he answered with a smile.

"Occupation?" "Farmer," Mr. Roosevelt answered emphatically.

IN TODAY'S N.Y. ELECTION

AGAINST EXTRAVAGANCE In government and political waste of public funds, New York's Mayor Fiorello La Guardia campaigned for a second term.

AGAINST RACKETEERS fought dynamic Prosecutor Thomas E. Dewey, Republican candidate seeking election as New York county district attorney.

Corn Loan To Be 50 Cents

Details Of Program Soon To Be Announced By Wallace

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—Informed officials at the agriculture department said today that the government would lend 50 cents a bushel on this year's corn crop.

These informants said details of the loan program would be announced by Secretary Wallace soon.

The 50-cent loan will be made on corn sealed on the farm, testing 14-12 per cent moisture content, or less.

Farm organizations had asked a 60-cent-a-bushel loan on this year's crop and Secretary Wallace said a loan of about 46 cents would correspond to the 4-cent-a-pound government loan on this year's cotton crop.

The first administration corn loan on the 1933 crop was at 45 cents.

Intruders Are Shot Down

Two Trapped In Postoffice By Squad Of Officers

PORT HURON, Mich., Nov. 2 (AP)—A squad of sheriff's deputies and postal inspectors shot it out with two men they trapped in the Smith's Creek postoffice at 1:30 a. m. today, killed both of them and blew the one-story frame building full of holes.

An alert village policeman, who sensed a postoffice holdup or burglary last Saturday, made the showdown possible.

Sheriff William Van Antwerp, who led the raiding party, said the dead men were Detroit hoodlums who had been under surveillance since Saturday.

He identified one as John Novak, 35, and described him as a police character. The other man was identified from papers in his pockets as Edward Scherer, Detroit.

The sheriff with three deputies, two postal inspectors gathered at Smith's Creek, a village near Port Huron, Sunday after Special Deputy Harry Neal, general store proprietor and only law enforcement officer in the village, reported the presence of two suspicious characters loitering at the postoffice.

They kept constant watch of the postoffice thereafter from the nearby village hotel and jumped into action this morning when two men with flashlights appeared at the rear of the postoffice, broke a window and entered.

SCHEDULE CHANGE

American Airlines announced a schedule change Tuesday on its schedule plane here. Arrival time has been moved up 23 minutes to 4:33 p. m. and departure time has been changed to 4:38 p. m. Glenn Golden, terminal manager, said.

EX-SHERIFF OF GARZA COUNTY FOUND DEAD

POST, Nov. 2 (AP)—Body of W. F. Cato, 50, former Garza county sheriff for 10 years, was found sprawled on a bed with a bullet wound through his heart an instant after a shot was heard at his home here early today, according to Sheriff Jim Power.

Justice of the Peace M. L. Merriam returned a coroner's verdict of suicide several hours later after an investigation in which he, the sheriff and County Attorney Joe Moss participated. The sheriff said a pistol containing one discharged cartridge was found beside Cato's hand.

Investigators said they were informed the former sheriff had been despondent because of financial reverses. He had operated a blacksmith shop in nearby Southland, his former home, since his defeat for a sixth consecutive term as sheriff in 1935.

Cato was tried and acquitted in federal district court at Lubbock in June, 1935, on a charge of murder growing out of the machine gun slaying of Spencer Stafford, federal narcotic agent operating out of Fort Worth, at Post on Feb. 7 of that year. Cato's defense was that he was investigating a robbery report and mistook Stafford for a hijacker. Testimony at the subsequent trial developed that Stafford and V. C. McCullough, a companion agent, were making a narcotics investigation at the time.

Subsequently Mrs. Stafford sued Cato and his official bondsmen for damages growing out of her husband's death and won judgment of $10,000 from the sheriff and $5,000 from his sureties.

The famous "battle of the Red river bridge" was ended today after approved sale of a toll bridge to the Federal Judge Eugene Rice appointed Texas highway commission for $50,000.

Former Governor William H. Murray called out national guardsmen in 1929 and ordered approaches to the bridge plowed up after Oklahoma built a concrete bridge near Durant. A decision awarding damages to the toll bridge company was set aside by the United States circuit court of appeals.

TOLL BRIDGE SALE GETS APPROVAL

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Nov. 2 (AP)—The famous "battle of the Red river bridge" was ended today after approved sale of a toll bridge to the Federal Judge Eugene Rice appointed Texas highway commission for $50,000.

Former Governor William H. Murray called out national guardsmen in 1929 and ordered approaches to the bridge plowed up after Oklahoma built a concrete bridge near Durant. A decision awarding damages to the toll bridge company was set aside by the United States circuit court of appeals.

Out of business here after one day of verbal bombardment of drivers over an amplifier, the Nation Wide Safety patrol Tuesday moved on from Big Spring to some other and greener pasture.

J. S. Clary, originator and operator of the patrol, had previously announced that the patrol would continue its program for the week at some busy intersection here. His unit, he said, was independent, was not soliciting funds but depended upon voluntary support.

The patrol, however, did not continue its work Tuesday. After the city and the retail merchant's association were called into the picture as one member of the patrol party reportedly began a systematic canvass of the business district for funds.

American Ship Menaced By Jap Shells

International Settlement Shaken By Terrific Bombardment

SHANGHAI, Nov. 2 (AP)—Huge projectiles from Japanese warships in the Whangpoo river burst along Shanghai's waterfront tonight menacingly close to the United States cruiser Augusta.

The Augusta, lying close to the cruiser Idzumo, Japanese flagship, cleared her decks and batted down portholes as a precaution for the safety of her crew.

The bombardment was aimed at Chinese batteries in industrial Pootung, across the Whangpoo from the international settlement. It was in answer to Chinese artillery shelling of Japanese forces in the Yangtze and Hongkew sectors of the Shanghai front.

Shanghai's international settlement and French concession, refuge of thousands of Americans and other foreigners, were shaken again by intensive Japanese bombardment of Chinese positions only a short distance to the west.

Buildings Shaken Exploding bombs and shells shook buildings as far away as Shanghai's Bund, but no projectiles fell within the settlement or concession boundaries.

St. John's university, in the Jessfield park area just west of the settlement, a trench mortar shell crashed into the roof of a gymnasium used as a barracks for British troops, but none was injured.

The tide of battle swept toward the Siewawei Catholic mission center on the southwestern outskirts of the French concession. French authorities prepared defense positions circling the mission and set up anti-aircraft guns.

A Japanese naval officer described as closed a Soochow creek incident which yesterday produced an American protest and a Japanese apology. The officer said Japanese bluejackets sent back to the American-protected zone a junk seized on the international settlement side of the stream.

The Japanese bombardment was designed to pulverize Chinese defenses extending west from the international settlement south of Soochow creek. Despite Chinese assertions to the contrary, foreign observers reported that Japanese on the southern bank of the stream had expanded their front for approximately a mile on each side of Rubicon village.

STRIKE HOLDS VESSELS IDLE IN TEX. PORTS

HOUSTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—Coastwise longshoremen still manned their picket lines today, holding all coastwise vessels in Texas ports and Lake Charles, La., idle, and with no prospect of a settlement of the strike that began midnight Sunday.

About 4,000 longshoremen, warehousemen and checkers are affected in the ports involved. About 700 workers are off the job in Houston.

Despite the fact only coastwise vessels are supposed to be involved, two Lykes line foreign trade vessels were idle in Port Houston for the second day because union seamen refused to furnish steam for cargo winches.

They are the Winston-Salem and the Duquesne at Dock 1.

"We're ready to furnish the men to work these vessels any time we can get the steam," announced J. Ibbell, spokesman for the "deep sea" longshoremen.

That group, separate from the coastwise longshoremen, is not on strike. The deep sea longshoremen are working, or ready to work, under an agreement—but not a signed contract—with the shippers which runs until Sept. 29, 1938.

US ENVOY DECLINES PRESIDENCY OF BRUSSELS PARLEY

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Nov. 2 (AP)—Norman H. Davis, it was learned today, has declined an unofficial bid to preside at the Brussels conference on the Chinese-Japanese conflict.

Davis, head of the American delegation to the conference opening tomorrow, declined, with thanks, the offer to make him president.

Stanley M. Bruce of Australia, who presided at the conference in Montreux, Switzerland, in 1936, which gave Turkey the right to rearm the Dardanelles, was mentioned as a possible choice. Some Scandinavian delegate also may be considered.

No Immediate Reduction In Age Pensions

Close Check Of Applicants To Be Continued, However

AUSTIN, Nov. 2 (AP)—The board of control announced today reduction in the amount of individual old age pension payments probably would not be necessary during November and December.

It was stated review of the records of pension applicants and recipients would be continued, however, and those not found eligible would be discontinued "in order that as much funds as possible may be conserved to those who have no other resources and those who are eligible under the law."

Because the legislature failed to provide additional funds for old age assistance and, specifically, to take care of a bank loan of $1,626,000 made last year in an emergency, it had been feared reduction in amounts of pensions might be necessary.

$921,000 Balance A survey showed a balance of $921,766.24 in the old age assistance fund on October 31. This amount was expected to be increased by approximately $845,000 from liquor, cigarette and other revenue sources to make a possible final balance of $1,776,000 on October 31.

On the basis of the present ease-load and without a reduction in the average grant now being paid recipients, it would be necessary to expend for the month of November out of state funds $804,000, Claude D. Teer, board chairman, said.

"This amount includes administrative expense. A deduction of $804,000 from the estimated $1,776,000 available for the month will leave a balance of $962,000 on hand as of November 30.

On the basis of these figures it is estimated by the board they may be able to pay approximately $200,000 on the bank indebtedness about January 1, providing such an arrangement should be satisfactory to the bank and the board of control."

By Law and Buck-Tass The governor declared Rawlings was a master in the strategy of "wrecking and destroying progressive legislation and had no equal in the use of legislative "by-pass" and buck-pass."

Tax Revenue Shows Gain

Higher Collections By City And The School District

Increase in tax collections during October, first month in which current taxes were payable, were noted by the city of Big Spring and by the local independent school district.

Both showed gains in current and delinquent payments. The city reported $5,333.90 current taxes in the treasury at the end of the month in comparison with $5,662.24 at the same time a year ago. Of the 1937 taxes paid during the month, $2,632.73 was on the quarterly payment plan by some 97 patrons.

City's delinquent collections during October amounted to $2,316.60, considerably more than the $883.17 collected for October 1936.

Records released by the school district tax office Tuesday showed a total of $32,459.74 in current collections, only slightly under half of the anticipated collection on the 1937 roll, and little better than $1,000 over collections at the end of October last year.

Delinquent collections for October amounted to $1,937.26, keeping the district well ahead of its schedule of an average of $69 in delinquent taxes each day of the year to reach a budget of $20,000 in arrears taxes.

No collections were reported by the county since rolls of that unit are in the hands of preparator. They will be finished in plenty of time to permit first installments being paid under the half and half plan.

PHIL HARRIS OFF TO HUNT GOLD

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 2 (AP)—Orchestra leader Phil Harris was off for Hermosillo, Mexico, today to learn if there's gold in the Sonora hills on his property.

Harris said he bought some Mexican land recently for $500, and that ore samples taken from the property indicate a large gold deposit.

The land may be worth $500,000, he said, adding, however, he would hunt wild game in case the gold did not materialize.

CY BISHOP MOVES TO BRADY OFFICE

C. O. (Cy) Bishop, for several years in the Merchandising department of the Empire Southern Service company in Big Spring, has been transferred to Brady, where he will assume the new position as assistant to the manager. Mr. Bishop and family have already moved to Brady.

SAYS THEY FACE A 'SHOW DOWN' WITH PEOPLE OF TEXAS

Allred In Reply To Sen. Rawlings, Placing Blame For Failure Of Legislature's Tax Session

AUSTIN, Nov. 2 (AP)—In a blistering statement, Governor James V. Allred, commenting on the recent special session, said today a showdown between the entrenched interests and the people had to come.

The statement replied to one by Senator Frank Rawlings of Fort Worth blaming the governor and the latter's lieutenants in the house for the outcome of the session, which admittedly accomplished virtually nothing.

Governor Allred charged that so long as Rawlings and Senator T. J. Holbrook of Galveston continue their "master strategy" leadership, which he termed so pleasing to the selfish interests, just that long would it be impossible for the people to secure progressive legislation.

Economy Vs. Taxes In his session concluded Oct. 26, the purpose of which was to raise revenue for the state's social security program and the general treasury, Rawlings and Holbrook were leaders of a group demanding economy in government instead of additional taxes.

The governor said he regretted the unfortunate outcome of the session, that Senator Rawlings had voted in every instance against doing anything for the needy, but that, nevertheless, one good had resulted.

"Records have been written," he said, "forced out into the open like that of Senator Rawlings so that the people may judge."

"This showdown between the entrenched interests and the people had to come. It has been in the making for more than 10 years. When I called the special session I said we were going to find out who was running Texas.

"Temporarily the interests and Rawlings and Holbrook have won; but it will be a costly victory when they get the facts. I propose to see that they get the facts from time to time."

By Law and Buck-Tass The governor declared Rawlings was a master in the strategy of "wrecking and destroying progressive legislation and had no equal in the use of legislative "by-pass" and buck-pass."

He asserted the senator criticized members of the house because they did not pass a tax bill although he had himself voted against it.

The senator, he said, not only helped wreck the social security program in the special session but did it also in the regular session last spring by burying in committee tax bills passed by the house.

Having "aimed the gun and pulled the trigger," he said, Rawlings was trying to wriggle out of the responsibility for "murdering" the tax bills.

He further said Rawlings was a member of the conference committee which raised departmental salaries and took new jobs.

"I deeply regret the unfortunate outcome of the special session, the governor said, "despite repeated admonitions, nothing was done for the needy; and Senator Rawlings voted in every instance against trying to do anything for the needy, but one good has come from this session—forced out into the open like that of Senator Rawlings so that the people may judge."

"This showdown between the entrenched interests and the people had to come! It has been in the making for more than ten years. When I called the special session I said we were going to find out who was running Texas. Temporarily the interests and Rawlings and Holbrook have won; but it will be a costly victory when the people get the facts. I propose to see that they get the facts from time to time."

Forecast Of Lower Natl. Income Is A Threat To Balanced Budget

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—Government economists forecast today that the current business recession will "run well into 1938." Should this prediction be borne out there was the possibility that President Roosevelt's plans for a balanced budget might be upset.

If the forecast by the bureau of agricultural economics should prove accurate, it would jeopardize treasury hopes for increased revenue and make curtailment of expenditures more difficult.

Mr. Roosevelt has indicated he was counting on continued business improvement for this extra revenue and for curtailment of relief and other spending.

Revenue estimates, however, are based directly on calculations of national income. The farm economists predicted the steady rise in national income since 1933 would be broken by a drop next year below the 1937 total.

Only last week, while discussing the budget situation, the president expressed hope for great future increases in national income. He said it would rise from $85,000,000,000 to $70,000,000,000 this year and later might continue upward to $80,000,000,000 or $100,000,000,000.

VOTERS MAKE DECISION ON BOND ISSUE

Fate of a $65,000 bond issue and a consequent school building and repair program, rested with qualified propertied voters in Big Spring Tuesday.

At 2 p. m. 174 votes had been cast in the election, little less than half of the potential vote.

There were no reports on the vote, although some observers were confident of a definite trend in balloting for the bonds. Some of these estimates were as high as 2-1 on bond.

Fox Stripling, election judge, said that polls, located in the county court room, would close at 7 p. m. He indicated that the result would be known soon afterward since counters were staying abreast of the balloting.

Should the bonds be approved, bids will be asked soon by the school district on two new school buildings and for the demolishing of the present high school gymnasium and auditorium. A PWA grant in the amount of about $40,000 is dependent upon approval of bonds and the beginning of construction by the second week in December.

HEADQUARTERS FOR RED CROSS DRIVE AT C&P NO. 1

Location of headquarters for the 1937 membership drive of the Howard county chapter of the American Red Cross, at Cunningham & Phillips No. 1, was announced Tuesday.

Beginning Thursday, a special Red Cross worker will be on hand at all times to take contributions. A special telephone has been set up—the number is 39—and those who wish to call in their pledges may do so.

An intensive drive will get under way next week.

GRADE WORK AIDED BY NEW EQUIPMENT

Members of the county commissioner court sat on the project scene, but three would be put to work pulling scrapers, and that the other would be used in cutting work.

With the equipment on hand, commissioners estimated 30 working days would be required for the construction of the grade.

Building of the grade was started Wednesday of last week. As soon as the grade is established, the railroad is to begin construction of the spur.

THE SPORTS PARADE

BY HANK HART

The bloke of San Angelo, who scribbles under the name of one Bloddy Cross, confidently predicts the Abilene victory over Stephenville just as he called the shot in the Southern Methodist - Texas Christian game of 1925 and the World Series of this year when he agreed with himself that the Christians and the Giants, respectively, would win out.

Let "Ten Gallon" have his little fun. According to our dope chart we see Stephenville and not much else. Any team which has white-washed San Angelo, Sweetwater and Cisco and beat out Big Spring and Breckenridge deserves to be where they are.

Statistics don't mean a crying thing. Texas Christian piled up 20 first downs and about 300 yards the afternoon they met the Methodists two years ago but they went down to the tune of a 20-14 score.

The Mustangs' defensive tactics of that year and the Yellow Jackets' work this season when the other side has the ball is similar. Those interceptions are not just luck. The backs have their heads in the game and hawk that ball.

Evidence that Coaches Pat Murphy and Carmen Brandon are putting their system over here was brought out yesterday at Steele stadium when 44 enthusiastic kids representing four ward schools played through two hours of hard football.

With help from teachers in each of the schools, the boys are out each afternoon practicing in handling that pigskin—work that, in time, will help them when they move into senior high school.

One of the greatest needs locally is another athletic field. No many teams are tramping on the stadium grass day in and day out that the turf is badly beaten away.

The Longhorns need a practice field to work out each afternoon and the kids require grounds to play their weekly ball games. Should another field be made, the Ward teams could play games twice weekly. As it is, they have to wait until they get their chance.

Several prospects caught the eyes of the coaches in those junior games. One of the best is young Billy Parker, a North Ward hot-shot who, if groomed carefully, should make the high school evenly a good man in the future.

Add an if: If Dopey Anderson is not baffled an opponent's pass to earth in last Saturday night's game with Stephenville and allowed Charles Ray Settles to gather in the pignole, the local team could have scored another touchdown and probably won the game. Settles was in the clear when he attempted to intercept a flip thrown by the Jacket passer but Anderson, not knowing that the halfback was behind him, slammed it to earth.

Both coaches intend to go east Friday to do a little scouting on Big Spring's future opponents. Friday afternoon they will be in Abilene to gather notes on the Abilene-Stephenville game. That night Brandon will go to Brownwood to see Brownwood and Angelo's play, while Murphy will return to Sweetwater to see the Ponies' clash with Cisco.

Cleaning the cuff: Roger Turner captured the men's singles skating title for seven consecutive years but could never share in the doubles' crown. New York university won the saber championship among colleges in the United States in 1933. The first Wrigley Swim, a water marathon, was won by George Young in 1927 in 15 hours, 45 minutes, 35 seconds. The swim was from Catalina Island to the mainland. "Mick" E. Miller is probably the greatest greyhound racer that ever ran on an American track. He won about $50,000 in purses.

Ward Schools Play Monday

Two games played at Steer stadium Monday afternoon resulted in victories for Central Ward and North Ward as four teams of the 110-pounders played through two hours of football.

Central Ward repeated their decision of a week ago when they trounced West Ward, 27-13, in a free scoring duel. The game was much closer than when the two teams met before.

North Ward, led by Billy Parker, bowled over the East Ward eleven by the score of 20-14, in another close affair.

The four teams will change opponents for the next games.

Doug Jones Wins In Munny Fall Golf Tournament

Defeats D. C. Filkins, One Up, Monday

Recovers After Being Three Down On No. 12

Forced to "play his hand to the limit," Doug Jones found the shot necessary on the last six holes of his scheduled 18-hole match to defeat the improved D. C. Filkins in the finals of the Fall Municipal golf tournament, one up, over the Munny course here Monday.

Trailing three holes with only six to play going into No. 13, young Jones fired two birdies and four pars at his opponent over the remainder of the route to pull back even and finally go ahead when Filkins came in with a bogie on seventeen.

Filkins two-putted the eighteenth and Jones played it safe after both had sent whistling tee shots almost 300 yards down the fairway. Jones grabbed honors on thirteen, fourteen and fifteen in succession to draw even when Filkins lost that magic putting touch momentarily.

The first round was fairly even with Doug going one up on No. 1 with a birdie and losing his advantage on the third with a bogie. He slipped again on four with a bogie but parred the "dog leg" No. five to pull back even when Filkins' approach went wide.

Filkins two-putted the short No. six to go one down again but recovered brilliantly on eight to tie. Jones took five on each hole. A beautiful drive on No. 10 put Filkins within 25 feet of the pin and he putted dead away to take a two up advantage when Jones had to be content with a par four.

They halved eleven and Filkins came back with a par on No. 12 to go Jones one better on that hole and set the stage for Doug's sensational recovery.

Out: Jones ..... 345 553 455 - 39
Filkins ..... 444 464 444 - 38

In: Jones ..... 445 343 444 - 35-75
Filkins ..... 244 454 454 - 36-74

Suicide Match Promised At AC Tonight

Jack Hagen And Sailor Moran To War; Buck Lipscomb Returns

Jack Hagen and Sailor Moran, No, this is not a typographical misce. It shouldn't have been placed as two people applying for a marriage license, a building permit or entering suits against each other. Neither of the two lads that enter the ring of the Big Spring Athletic club for the main event on tonight's wrestling card holds any adoration for the other, will seek to tear his opponent down instead of build him up and, if they do get good and sore, the argument would never escape the ring, much less reach the courtrooms.

That's the way they feel about it and that's the way it'll probably be. There wasn't any particular hurry on the part of either party to agree to terms when the bout was offered by Promoter Herman Fuhrer but the situation got to the point where it had to be. Jackie had whipped about everybody and the rowdy rat had made every one of his opponents say "calf-ropes" over there you are.

Fuhrer may have made a mistake when he called for the match inside the doors of the new arena. All inside arenas are supposed to have a ceiling which is a warning to Messrs. Hagen and Moran.

Both boys have their own systems. The Greeks may have had a word for it but it's Greek to both of them. If "The Hage" can't wrestle, he fights and, oh boy, fight that system he uses. Moran pipes whether he can wrestle successfully or not. In fact he made money with his quikes long before he ever thought of making faces.

They'll go on for a two fall decision with two hours listed as the limit in case the bout goes that far. Gus Johnson, probably the classiest thing that is working out of Dutch Mantel's camp, will seek to one-two Shiek Ben Ali Mar-Allah in the 30-minute semi-go while an old face pops up again in the special event. Buck Lipscomb, the handsome Indian, drops around for 20 minutes and the opener when he mixes with Jack Rainey of Alabama. The whole thing begins at 8 p. m. or thereabouts.

Decrease Shown In Crude Output

TULSA, Nov. 2 (AP)—Production of crude oil in the United States decreased 5,906 barrels daily during the week ending October 30 to a total of 3,619,992 barrels daily, the Oil and Gas Journal reported today. ## Chicago Player Has Scored In Every Game For Four Years

CHICAGO, Nov. 2 (AP)—The dream player of every football coach is gladdening the gridirons of Chicago. He is "Wild Bill" De Corvovent, a shy 17 year old youth, rated as the nation's most amazing prep star. To date, in five games playing with Austin high school, De Corvovent has scored 25 touchdowns, nine in one game, and six points after touchdowns, for a total of 156 points. This shatters the previous Chicago individual season scoring record of 108 points. During his four years on Austin teams, he has set up an all-time scoring record that may never be equaled. He has scored one or more touchdowns in every league game he has played since his first game as a freshman. More than half the runs he has made have been for 50 yards or more.

This slim blond youth, weighing 121 pounds and five feet eleven inches tall, has played under three coaches. Each declares without reserve that he is the greatest prep star they've ever seen. The sign of enemy goal posts affects him like a four-levell alarm affects an old fire horse. He gets to the scene as quickly as possible. He is complete master of all the tricks of a veteran ball carrier, and can pass masterly in feinting and dodging kicks remarkably and in a deadly and accurate passer. As good as he is, De Corvovent is the first out for practice and the last to quit, always working for perfection.

It Happened On The Gridiron

In the 1927 Texas Christian-Texas Tech game, the final gun went off with a punt in the air. An alert T.C.U. safety caught the ball. Both teams retired, leaving him alone, but a drunk tackled him. The referee found no quarrel, because T.C.U. had won, but said that if the game had been tied he would have given T.C.U. a touchdown.—By Matty Bell, Southern Methodist.

VITT INSISTS ON HUSTLING BALL CLUB

CLEVELAND, Nov. 2 (AP)—Oscar Vitt banks on a keen baseball brain and a keen sense of humor to help him make a success of managing the Cleveland Indians. For 17 years—ever since he bowed out of the majors as an active player—Vitt has dreamed of getting a chance to manage a big-league club.

Always a happy warrior, with a flare for sparkling repartee, he personifies hustle. And hustle is likely to be the watchword when the Indians assemble in '38. Cleveland has become sort of a burial ground for managerial ambitions (for details see Walter Johnson, Roger Peckinpaugh, Steve O'Neill, etc.). But that does not seem to worry the effervescent Mr. Vitt—much. Always a good talker, he feels he can win the support of those gentlemen of the Cleveland press who have had much to say on the question of who would manage the Indians in the past. A winning ball club would provide a more powerful argument in Vitt's favor than anything he might say, however.

As a ball-player, Vitt was an award though very effective fielder. His fine throwing arm often saved him much embarrassment while covering third base for the Detroit Tigers and Boston Red Sox. His lack of size worked to his disadvantage at the plate.

WOMAN HANGS SELF

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 2 (AP)—A silk ribbon meant death for Mrs. Agnes Travis, 46, last night. She was found hanging by the ribbon in a closet of her room at the home of her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Daugherty in Harlandale. One end of the ribbon was tied about her neck and the other was attached to the rod for coathangers. Justice of the Peace Otis A. West returned a verdict of suicide.

STANTON WOMAN IS TAKEN BY DEATH

STANTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—Funeral rites for Mrs. Ladd Laws were held at 3 p. m. Tuesday from the First Methodist church here, with Rev. Raymond Van Zandt officiating. Rix Funeral home of Odessa had charge of funeral arrangements. Mrs. Laws, who was Miss Vena Bell Burnham before her marriage, died Monday morning after a lingering illness, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Burnham. She is survived by her husband, mother and father, three sisters, Mrs. Pearl Laws, Mrs. Vera McCoy, Johnnie Lou Burnham, all of Stanton; and two brothers, H. C. of Stanton, and Joe of Cisco. Two babies preceded her in death.

Bears Skip To Fourth Place In Voting

Trail California, Alabama And Pitt After Victory

By DREW MIDDLETON
NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (AP)—The mighty may fall but California stays on top.

Scoring inclusion in the bumper crop of upsets and form reversals that has sent such potent powers as Minnesota tumbling out of football's "400," the Golden Bears hold, for the third successive week, first place in the Associated Press national poll of newspaper experts.

As Minnesota faded after four glorious seasons as one of the gridiron greats, and four new contenders moved up in the charmed circle, the balloting swung heavily to the Golden Bears.

Of the 62 writers polled, 49 chose Stub Allison's young men as the nation's No. 1 eleven and the Bears topped the list with 600 points out of a possible 620. Alabama, Baylor, Fordham and Nebraska all moved ahead as a result of the latest poll.

The tabulation, scoring each team in a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis and with first place votes indicated in brackets:

First ten	Points
1. California (49)	600
2. Alabama (6)	503
3. Pittsburgh (4)	492
4. Baylor (2)	331
5. Fordham	281
6. Nebraska	191
7. Yale	181
8. Ohio State	178
9. Dartmouth	146
10. Santa Clara	113

(Note: A ballot bracketed California, Alabama and Pitt in triple tie for lead.)

Second ten: 11. Duke, 107; 12. Notre Dame, 75; 13. Villanova, 62; 14. Minnesota, 55; 15. Tennessee, 24; 16. T. between Duquesne and Arkansas, 10 each; 17. Louisiana State, 8; 18. Tulane and Northwestern, 6. (Also ran: Colorado 3, Southern California 5, Texas Christian 2, Holy Cross and Vanderbilt 1 each.)

Gophers Have Vanished
Minnesota's departure from the first 10 may not be permanent, but it breaks the Gophers down to conventional size after four years of happy hunting on the gridirons that produced half a dozen all-Americans and a legend of invulnerability.

While California occupies the proud pinnacle, Alabama and Pittsburg, two frequent visitors to the Rose Bowl, are putting up a grand battle for the second rung on the ladder just in case "the Golden Bears slip.

Baylor is apparently this season's Southwest contribution to the honor list. The Bears found the going tough Saturday but managed to squeak through. As a result, Baylor advanced two notches in the ranking list. Fordham's two-touchdown triumph over North Carolina pushed the unbeaten Rams from tenth to fifth place. Nebraska went from eleventh to sixth, a new high, following a triumph over Indiana.

Nebraska and Santa Clara, a top-heavy victor over Marquette's riddled forces, replaced Vanderbilt and Minnesota in the "first 10." Georgia Tech tumbled Vandy out of the select group, while Notre Dame shaded the Gophers, who made way for Santa Clara, a new arrival in the top 10.

TEXAN TO MEET JOHN GOODMAN IN MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 2 (AP)—Omaha's Johnny Goodman, who hardly had a good afternoon's practice when he won the Mexican National Amateur golf championship from Percy M. Clifford last year, tackles tougher opposition today when he defends the title against the "Flying Dutchman" from Dallas, young Don Schumacher. Goodman disposed of Ed Appold of Mexico City, 9 and 8, in the semi-final yesterday.

STILL LEADS IN NET MATCHES

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 2 (AP)—A one match lead divided Texas tennis players and the trailing Mexican team today here. Victory by Daniel Hernandez, Mexican Davis Cup doubles player, 2-6, 7-5, over Max Campbell, pulled the Mexican cause up a notch, but the Texas doubles team of Fred Royer and Sterling Williams, in a late match yesterday, won from Martinez and Mestre, 6-2, 6-3, 6-4, to maintain the slender 7-6 team lead.

FORMER BASEBALL PITCHER SUICIDES

JACKSON, Mich., Nov. 2 (AP)—Benny Frey, former major league pitcher whose throwing arm failed him last spring, was found dead from carbon monoxide poisoning late yesterday. He was 31. Dr. Jason B. Meade, coroner, said it was a suicide. Frey's body was found in his automobile, the window closed and the exhaust connected with the interior of the car by piping. Relatives said he was fearful his arm never would be good enough again for a big league baseball assignment and that he had spent several despondent months since his release by the Cincinnati Reds.

Charley Gehringer Is Voted Most Valuable Player

DETROIT'S G - MEN

Charley Gehringer (left), second baseman for the Detroit Tigers, was chosen most valuable player of the American League Monday by Baseball Writers' Association of America. His team mate, Hank Greenberg, first sacker, took third place in the poll behind Joe DiMaggio of the New York Yankees, while Lou Gehrig, Yank initial sacker, rested in fourth.

Madigan Says S. W. Offense Is Outdated

Says Trend Is Back Toward Straight Football

By the Associated Press
STILLWATER, Okla. — Here's something to send hardy veterans shiver for the fate of intercollegiate football. Ralph Foster, a varsity and presumably husky tackle on the Oklahoma Aggies, can't participate in tackling dummy drill. A hay fever addict, the lint in the stuffed targets sends him into sneezing fits.

PORTLAND, Ore. — This is what Joe Enzler, new University of Portland fullback, did in leading the Pilots to their 13 to 0 victory over Brigham Young university of Utah:

Scored all of 13 Portland points.

Personally accounted for 102 of Portland's 165 yards from scrimmage.

Did three-fourths of the punting.

Booted all Portland kickoffs. Played safely.

Here's the joker: Before the Brigham Young game Enzler was a guard.

FORT WORTH, Tex. — Texas Christian university played its first football game in Waco, Dec. 7, 1896. The Add-Ran boys, as the school paper of that date called them, won 8 to 6 from Today's Business college. Even then the Horned Frogs were air-minded. They won the game on a 50-yard pass for a touchdown.

MORAGA, Calif.—Slip Madigan, maestro of St. Mary's, believes that the trend in football is toward "straight stuff" on offense.

"I believe the trend is toward honest-to-goodness football and away from the wide-open basket-ball type of game which the South-east teams introduced and which has been very widely accepted the last two years," says Slip.

PRINCETON, N. J.—Fritz Crisler, Princeton coach, remarks wryly that he got plenty of advice before the halves against Harvard.

"One fellow rushed up to me and whispered 'all you gotta do is tackle Struck and you'll stop Harvard,' well we did that but it was the safety man who made most of the tackles."

Three Conference Games Scheduled In Southwest

FORT WORTH, Nov. 2 (AP)—Southwest football enters the home stretch next Saturday, as the November schedule gets under way. Texas Christian makes its annual pilgrimage to Shreveport to play Centenary, while the remaining six teams get together for family fights in three conference games. On the face of the record to date, the Christians rule as favorites over the Gentlemen. But those Centenary eleven have a way of making it difficult for Southwest representatives. The Frogs will be due for a let-down following the Baylor rumpus and preceding the Texas fray, and might be caught napping. The Baylor Bears, favorites for the title, entertain Dana X. Bible's boys in Waco. The Steers are given little chance against the fast-moving eleven of Morley Jennings, yet the Longhorns should be able to upset someone this year—and Baylor might be it. Quit—a few fans are advancing the idea that this tilt will be the game of the day. Southern Methodist drops down to Aggie land for a game with Texas A. and M. The Razorbacks come out of the hills of Arkansas into the bayou land of Houston to meet the Rice Owls. The Instituteurs have improved steadily and will give the defending champions a right busy afternoon.

Noses Out Joe DiMaggio For First Place

Second Sacker Gets Six Firsts, Gehrig Trails In Fourth

By SID FEDER
NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (AP)—Charley Gehringer was named by the Baseball Writers' association today as the American League's "most valuable player" for 1937, thereby clinching a biggest season of his 14-year career with the game's most cherished award.

At an age when many players are on the way down—and out, the Detroit Tigers "strong silent man" thus found his 34th year, already marked by the league batting championship, topped off by two much sought-after goals.

Although his margin of victory in the writers' poll was only four points over Joe DiMaggio, captain dynamite of the world champion New York Yankees, Gehringer nevertheless came within two points of a "perfect" score in the balloting.

Eight members of the association voted on the award, each casting one vote each for his first ten nominations for the honor. Gehringer drew six first-place and two second-place nominations. This total, figured on a basis of ten points for first, nine for second, eight for third and so on, gave him an aggregate of 78 points out of a possible 80.

DiMaggio, with two nominations for first and six for second completed a total of 74. The balloting was strictly a two-player affair.

Brightest Star
Third baseman of the Detroit Tigers to win the award since the baseball writers first presented it in 1931, Gehringer was selected for the brilliant all-round play that has made him today the standout second baseman in the American League, if not in the game.

Only twice has he fallen below the .300 batting mark since becoming a regular in 1926. He hit for .356 in 1936, and last season closed at a merry 389 pace, best in both major leagues. His lifetime average is .329 over his 14 seasons.

Coming to the Tigers to stay, in 1925, after brief sojourn with London of the Michigan-Ontario League and Toronto of the International League, Gehringer (full name, Charles Leonard Gehringer) has been with the same club ever since. Native of Fowlerville, Mich., he was a major factor in Mickey Cochrane's championship combinations of 1934 and '35, batted for 377 two world series, and has led the league twice in the past in run scoring and total hits.

Not another player in the league (save Gehringer or DiMaggio for the most valuable award, which this year carries with the Sporting News trophy. Trailing the pace-setters were two former winners, Hank Greenberg, and Lou Gehrig of the Yanks. But Greenberg was 20 points back with 48 and Gehrig was six behind Greenberg.

The committee balloting on the award was composed of: Hy Hurwitz of the Boston Globe; John Carmichael, Chicago Daily News; Gordon Cobbledick, Cleveland Plain Dealer; H. G. Salinger, Detroit News; Max Kase, New York Journal-American; James C. Tamminger, Philadelphia Inquirer; Glen Waller, St. Louis Globe-Democrat; Francis E. Stan, Washington Star.

The list of those drawing one or more votes:

Player and club	Total Points
Charles Gehringer, Detroit	78
Joe DiMaggio, New York	74
Hank Greenberg, Detroit	48
Lou Gehrig, New York	42
Luke Sewell, Chicago	22
Bill Dickey, New York	22
Joe Cronin, Boston	19
Charles Buffing, New York	18
Lefty Gomez, New York	18
Mike Kreevich, Chicago	18
Cecil Travis, Washington	12
Wally Moses, Philadelphia	12
Johnny Allen, Cleveland	11
Harland Clift, St. Louis	11
Ray Radcliff, Chicago	11
Buddy Lewis, Washington	7
Luke Appling, Chicago	7

Harry Cooper, Leading Money Winner, In-Line For Trophy

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (AP)— Although Harry Cooper of Chicago, famous as golf's also-ran, couldn't win either of the major titles open to American professionals—the Open and the P.G.A. championships—he has just gained a stranglehold on all the rest of the year's honors. In the latest statistics released from the P.G.A. tournament bureau, Cooper is shown as the leading money winner of the year from January 1 to November 1, the leading point scorer toward the P.G.A. trophy and the holder of the lowest scoring average through the tournament season. Cooper, in 26 events, has won a total of $13,916.69. His nearest rival is Henry Picard of Hershey, Pa., with winnings of $9,916.88. The Chicago veteran has compiled an average score of 72.08 strokes in 74 rounds of golf. He has earned 490 points toward the P.G.A. trophy as compared to 366 for Ralph Guldahl of Chicago, the Open champion. Guldahl is third in money winning with $8,190.91 and tied for third in the scoring averages with a 72.16 mark, the same as Picard's. Sam Snead, the White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., slugger, has an even 72 average for 70 rounds.

THIS YARD IS MORE THAN THREE FEET from the giraffe's lofty head, so he has to adopt this peculiar posture with legs spread far apart when he wants to pick something up from the ground with his mouth. This long-necked acrobat who seems to be doing his daily setting up exercises is a resident of London's zoo. In fact he might pass for a center on a jungle football team, playing a heads-up game.

THE SUN ALSO RISES in London, but you'd scarcely guess it from this picture taken during a recent severe fog, one of the worst in years, which disrupted sea, land and street traffic completely. Old Sol may be discerned at the left through a blanket of mist, while in the background is the hazy outline of Big Ben, famed clock on Parliament. In the foreground is the statue of Boadicea, renowned Queen of Britain.

SERVICE WITH A SMILE and her charms on and off the tennis courts have won comely Kay Stammers, English net star and member of 1937's Wightman Cup team, a small role in a Hollywood film. Constance Bennett, who will have a leading role in the picture, aided her in screen test.

RIDING HIGH, acting the part of a radiator ornament, this pretty iniss look part in the opening of the National Automobile Show in New York.

BRINGING WATER TO THE DESERT, Californians will carry a gourd full from Lake Tulainyo, highest in America, atop the Sierras to Bad Water, lowest body of water, in Death Valley. E. W. Neeum, descendant of the 49ers, will participate in the ceremony to dedicate a new highway to Mt. Whitney.

WHEN DEER ARE NOT DEAR, but too plentiful, it becomes a problem for the government. In Pisgah National forest in North Carolina they multiplied so rapidly it became necessary to declare open season for designated periods. Beginning November 1 the area will be thrown open to 2,600 hunters, each specially licensed and allowed one deer. Here are some of the large number of fawns feeding at a special trough of "baby food."

CHINA'S CITIES GO BACK TO NATURE as bombs wreck buildings and drive populace to refuge. Here is the Kiangwan civic center, which has been turned into a pasture for Japanese army horses following its being wrecked by shellfire. The building in the background is the museum of the once palatial center.

WITH BRAINS of crafty Coach Ray Morrison whose S.M.U. serial circus long was the scourge of the southwest, Vanderbilt has neared the southern football peak.

... AND SPEED aplenty is possessed by the Commodores. Among the fastest is Marvin "Preacher" Franklin, 180 pound end, now playing his second year.

... AND POWER TO SPARE is apparent in the backfield. Joe Agee, 178-pound fullback is tops as a line-plunger and ball carrier and good at-passing on a team of many fine passers. Morrison, the master of aerial football, until this year used mainly running plays in his first two years at Vanderbilt.

... A GREAT GRID TEAM is moulded this year around Captain Carl Hinkle, Jr., one of the collegiate world's best centers. He has led the Nashville gridders this year far down the road to the Southern Conference championship which may be decided when the Commodores clash with Alabama Nov. 25.

... LOOMING LARGE in the line is Tacke Buford "Baby" Ray, six foot, seven inch senior, who tips the scales at 252 pounds. Few plays go past this giant.

... IN THE SOUTH there is none more versatile than 155-pound Jimmy Huggins whose speed and accurate passing may help his team into the Rose Bowl.

Spode's JEWEL PLAIN

Spode's Jewel design is of 12th century origin, done from the Nimbus surrounding the head of a Saint of an early Italian primitive. Without any color, rich creamy white, its lacy pattern is a thing of great beauty. Not prohibitive in price. Sets can always be added to or filled in. "Spode never discontinues a pattern".

READING AND WRITING

By JOHN SELBY

By JOHN SELBY
"BATTLES WITH MONSTERS OF THE SEA," by F. A. Mitchell-Hedges (Appleton-Century, $4). Now comes a book for almost any male, particularly for males who yearn for the sea and the fish therein. It's author is F. A. Mitchell-Hedges, who classifies as an explorer. Its title is "Battles With Monsters of the Sea." Its attraction begins with the jacket, which bears a photograph of a giant ray.

It was this which led this reader on to a great loss of sleep. Mr. Mitchell-Hedges (or his ghost) knows how to write this sort of thing very well. He has, in addition, the most prodigious luck with his fishing; all he needs to do is fish his hook into a semi-tropical sea, and bingo—up comes a critter worth a chapter at least.

The fishing described in "Battles With Monsters" was had off Honduras and in the Gulf of Panama. The party was collecting specimens all the time, but this is not very exciting—the battles make the book.

There is, for example, the considerable space devoted to sharks. Mitchell-Hedges hates sharks like some people hate snakes. He slaughters them without compunction, and often performs autopsies on the corpses. The things he has found inside! He discovers a good many legends, too, such as the one which claims a shark turns on its back to attack (never true, says our author), and the other that a shark will not attack a human being, which also is, he is sure, never true.

There is also the adventure of the huge Jewfish, and the adventures with the death ray—enormous creature with a serrated danger in its tail which impales a victim, and then shoots him full of poison. There was a hundred-pound eel, a 27-foot sawfish weighing more than two tons, a bushel of hogfish and parrot-fish, and barracuda up to 95 pounds. Most incredible of all, there was actually an eagle-ray (sans dagger, this kind) 20 feet across the flukes and 5,200 pounds in weight.

There is as much danger in Mitchell-Hedges' record as in two polar trips, a thrill in every chapter. There is also information for those who would learn.

Dissatisfied Reds

Critics have sometimes been called people, who, unable to do anything worth while themselves, take it out in declaring that others have done nothing. Such seems to be Eugene Lyons and Thomas Mann, two writers who are praised mightily by Dorothy Thompson, a column writer who uses a great many words to express her dissatisfaction with things in general and with the government of this country in particular.

This Lyons has written a book in which he concludes that the Russian revolution is a failure. Miss Thompson describes him as having grown up on New York's East Side in the "poverty, insecurity and humiliation which engenders in the superior slum child either the pitiless ambition to rise out of his own surroundings or... to change them." She tells that he "came to America in a steerage, a stinking hole, full of vermin and vomit, a bewildered emigrant, who became disillusioned with American democracy." He then "raised himself on his wits, his family's sacrifices and the opportunities for popular education."

That is exactly the course of many other bewildered emigrants. They come from a country where they fear to call their soul their own and arrived here they resent any regulation that interferes with their self-conferred freedom to do and say what they please, especially against the government. Therefore the democracy of America, in their opinion, is a failure. The fact that the education Lyons obtained was supplied by the people whom he criticizes and condemns seems not to have been taken into account either by him or Miss Thompson. Lyons, like many others, is biting the hand that fed him.

The other admirable character, Mann, is a German revolutionist who had to flee to Switzerland because his revolution was not as successful as that of Hitler. His revolution was, to hear him and Miss Thompson tell it, altruistic—Hitler's is gross and self-serving. But both Mann and Lyons are disappointed men who don't know just what to do about it.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Personal notes off a New Yorker's cuff, Long Island Sounds is almost deserted, which means that the millionaires are putting their yachts in dry-dock for the winter.

Fannie Hurst dislikes chatting informally with members of her audiences after lectures. She doesn't like to answer such personal questions as "How did you get your hair set that way?" and "Miss Hurst, is it true that you and your husband live in separate establishments?"

The big stores in New York are already set for the Christmas trade. They are laden with gift suggestions and some of them have opened whole sectors which display nothing except merchandise of the Yuletide variety.

Morton Downey never raises the top of his baby grand piano.

Miriam Hopkins' favorite color for roadsters is olive green. She has had four of them.

In case you're interested in exotic trades, here is one: Helen Morgan has an interest in an orchid "farm" in Bermuda.

The local Spanish colony, at the moment, is going nightclub crazy. There are at least six after dark places where the castanets are in vogue.

Henry Fonda is fonda New York. (Sorry, but who wouldn't be with all the nice notices he has been getting.) Monty Weaver, the baseball pitcher, once taught mathematics at the University of Virginia. That's where Bill Terry, Jr., son of the Giants' manager, is going to school.

Add odd trades: the "acousticon," which tests your ears and then attunes the walls of your office so that you may hear everything perfectly.

Among current visitors in Manhattan is W. L. Ward, who is in the reindeer business in Alaska. The big herds there currently total nearly 2,000,000, a big increase from the original 1240 which came over from Siberia.

Ships' wheels are important items in collectors' shops. The more crafty proprietors bid enthusiastically whenever an old ship's wheel is dismantled. This may account for the recent vogue in ship wheel ash trays, match stands, and floor lamps. An old ship's wheel will fetch as much as $60, and an old ship's clock that doesn't run any more will bring as high as $75.

Julia Peterkin, who wrote "Scarlet Sister Mary" and "Black April," is an enthusiastic fancier of pigeons and has a large loft of them at her place in Fort Motte, S. C. She is 55 but you would guess her age to be 36. I haven't seen her in three years, but at that time her hair was red without a single touch of grey.

IZZIE MAKES PEACE

However you look at it, from whatever angle, the gesture of Isidore Gennett is flawless. It has the inevitability, the complete harmony between idea and expression, the perfection of work of art. It elates, it charms. It has the innocence of childhood, the genius of the innocent adult. It is totally simple, and comically significant.

Isidore Gennett, race Jewish, habitant of the Bronx, is a member of the American Legion.

When the boys went abroad this summer on a junket, he went along. He believes in peace between nations and between classes. He decided to lay a wreath upon the chief war monument in every capital he visited, as a memorial to the dead, and a silent rebuke to war, which killed them. Eventually he came to Berlin, and there did, with complete insouciance, what he would have done anywhere else.

And with that simple gesture, he threw, for one moment, into a clear white light, the issues of peace and war, nationalism and internationalism, the individual versus totalitarianism. Not that he knew that he was doing anything of the kind. The gesture was too inspired for anything so conscious.

Consider what happened. What happened is the impossible. A completely obscure Jew from the New York Bronx, entirely alone, with no organization behind him, came to Berlin, mobilized the German army and obtained its active cooperation in a public gesture of reconciliation between Jews and their persecutors and between all men, everywhere. It is true that the army had not the remotest idea of what it was doing. But it did, and the symbol of its confusion lies in Unter den Linden, upon the memorial to the dead, cheek-by-jowl with a wreath from Mussolini, its white and gold ribbon implicitly proclaiming to all who pass that the Jewish War Veterans of America denies the intrinsic divisions amongst nations and races and affirms the solidarity of mankind in the will for peace.

Isidore Gennett laid it there—not surreptitiously. With the collaboration of the Nazi army! With a guard of honor! Solemnly, ceremoniously. With a salute, its salute you, unknown German soldiers! May your souls rest in peace, for the sake of the peace we all seek!

Soldiers in graves from Sussex to the Dardanelles must have moved in their sleep, and grinned. Yes, he mobilized the German army. Only a few men, to be sure, but in them was the symbol of the whole. For to move the tiniest cog in the machine is to demonstrate that it can be touched by infidel hands, and thus to challenge the whole organization and system. How did he do it? By acting in a completely normal, civilian way. He wanted to lay a wreath in tribute to the unhappy German dead. He asked permission. The permission was granted. Wreath-laying on the dead is part of the military routine between wars.

Besides, he wore a uniform. To be sure it was the uniform of the American Legion, the uniform of the demobilized, the habiliments of the soldier who has returned to normalcy. But a uniform is a uniform, apparently to the military mind. The permission was granted. And now the permission itself started automatic forces. It moved the robot-machine. The guards goose-stepped out. The hollow ceremonial was staged. And it was with a guard of honor that Izzie made his gesture, with which he cried aloud to the German people and to the world: "Let's call off this monkey-business! Let's really honor the dead! Let's all make peace."

No conceivable organization of conspiracy, not a world-wide plot, not a trained and weaponed army, could have accomplished what Izzie Gennett of the Bronx did quite by himself, quite alone. Not all the speeches and manifestoes and protests which have been uttered for four years, nor on behalf of the persecuted German Jews, contain a rebuke so courteous, so unanswerable, as Izzie's implicit remark: "Some of our boys died, too."

In an over-organized world, where ideas have validity according to the number of heads that can be counted marching behind them, Izzie of the Bronx asserted the primacy of the individual. "No, Nobody told me to do it. I don't represent any body."

In Germany they say, over and over again that the Jews are "different." A whole propaganda, doted out in word and picture, calls attention to every possible characteristic of physiognomy and bearing that can be spotted as "Jewish." Izzie is a Russian-born Jew from the Bronx. Yet Izzie's appearance awakened no suspicion. Was it the uniform? Are all men equal or are all men born in uniforms? All unconscious Izzie challenged, a whole racial theory. The army accepted him.

Life's Darkest Moment

Or was it the wreath? The unimaginable spectacle of a man whom a whole nation has conspired to humiliate, standing before that nation neither cowed nor arrogant, with a memorial wreath in his hands.

There was nothing, there is nothing, that a powerful Reich can do to Izzie. The police questioned him, but there was nothing to find out. There was nothing except what was. The gesture was integral, unique, complete. It was simply that, and nothing more. It is perfect. Pure. Therefore immortal. Indestructible.

What counter-gesture could be made? Could one snatch from the tomb so naive a tribute to the heroic dead? One could not.

Bombs fall on Shanghai and burst in Spain. Lloyd-George thunders in the house of commons; Mussolini speaks, heralded by two thousand bugles; Russia shudders under an unending purge; man marches and counter-march across the continents, across the newspaper pages.

And in the midst of the tumult and the terror lies Izzie's wreath, saying with its brave ribbon fades, that this world is not becoming to those born into the Great Race, the Only Race: the Human.

Leave Izzie alone. Let him come back in quiet to his news-stand in Wall Street. Hold back the ballyhoo. Leave mamma and the children, and Izzie's past and Izzie's future quite alone. The perfect work of art asks only reverence. (Copyright, 1937, New York Tribune Inc.)

Hollywood

Sights and Sounds By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD—A news story that didn't happen: the walkoff of Warner lot of several contract writers and one director because the studio extended the usual visiting courtesies to Hal Roach's guest, Vittorio Mussolini.

The writers and director talked furiously all one morning, aired their political views, huddled with each other on the best dramatic moment to walk—and then called the whole thing off.

Which seemed the practical thing to do. Obviously, Vittorio would soon be gone from Hollywood. Why have their regular pay day go with him?

But it's one sign how seriously Hollywood takes its politics and world affairs nowadays. A few years ago any visiting celebrity of Mussolini's filial fame would have been Hollywood's man of the hour, to be feted and sought after.

Tired of Judging Contests Dick Powell is a candidate for retirement from his duties as the colony's premier judge of contests. He has officiated—unwillingly if the truth must out—at pie-making, hog-calling, cow-milking, quilting and corn-husking competitions. He has been asked to judge the prettiest home-made dress worn by a girl in a West Virginia high school graduation, to pick a peach festival queen, and—of course—to judge bathing beauty contests.

LINE ABANDONED
OAKLAND, Calif., Nov. 2 (AP)—One of the shortest street car lines in the world—it carried passengers 200 yards—was abandoned today after 67 years of operation. It ran from Piedmont avenue and Mather street to and from Mountain View cemetery. On its final run yesterday the squat little trolley carried a near capacity load, 11 passengers, mostly representatives of the California-Nevada Railroad Historical Society. More than a dozen times in recent years, the small car was spilled from the tracks by speeding automobiles.

Two of a Kind
Those Mauch twins are at it again. Billy, playing the lead in "Penrod and His Twin" (which Tarlington did not write) woke up one morning with the snuffles, Bobby wasn't doing anything much, so his mother put him into Billy's costume, and took him to the studio where he played Billy's role and none detected the deception.

Next day, when Billy was able to work, he asked whether he had been missed the day before. The director realized then that he had been duped. Which goes to show that in pictures as in poker two of a kind is a help.

Chapter 29
"Please Don't Call"
"...Well, then, would you walk in the park for a while? Bring Butten...all very respectable..."
Nina took the hand-pone away from her ear and looked at it, frowning as though it were a person; and then she smiled at it, and lifted it back.
"No, Richard... You know it's—No."
"Precious," his voice came over the wire, low and vibrant, and faintly teasing. "Precious, why are all your little emotions so very—complex?"
"They aren't—complex, Richard; and I think I have only one strong emotion these days..."
He said quickly: "Darling..."
But she said: "...to get over you!"
He didn't answer immediately, so she went on: "And you're not being fair, not helping me... calling up every day... begging me to see you. Richard, dear—we always talk about me and my fighting against this... this thing; but how about you? Don't you want to—play fair?"
"No," he answered, deliberately. "I'm sorry... No."
"Then my determination will have to be strong enough for both of us... Goodbye... and would you please not call again? Please?"
"Goodbye, then..."
"What was there in that? Resignation? Anger? But she noticed that he made no promises, just the same."
Nina had been dusting, but now she went over and sat down in one of the little spring-back walnut chairs. She thought and thought.
Which Did She Want?
An hour later, she was still sitting there... the duster still in her hand.
It began like this:
Her sudden, impulsive marriage had been a ghastly mistake. Nothing had been changed by it. Richard, and their love for each other was still there—only now she had dragged David into the tangle, as well. Honey and David. There were two people to deceive... to people to hurt, now...
And whose were they all heading? What did she—really—want? Should she go on with her travesty of marriage, her travesty of loyalty to her mother? Could she? Or would she some day find out; or worse still, suspect... so that her suffering would have been for nothing?
Or should she be brave, as Hester had been? Face the world, admit her love... marry Richard, go away with him, anything—but openly!
Which was right... but, no, first of all, which did she want?
But Nina's answer to that question was all mixed up with what Richard wanted. And yet, surely, she knew.
That first evening, the only time he had kissed her, he had said: "This is our hour... and an hour must always end. He had meant it, too, she was sure. But on the stairs at Harmony, he had said: "You don't want this thing over between us any more than I... it wouldn't be..." showing that he had changed his mind.
He then, too, must have realized the power of this love of theirs that was holding them together... in spite of other ties, or right or wrong, or anything.
When they had all been standing about in the upper hall, at Harmony, the night of Hester's elopement... Richard had not joined in the general conversation, he had simply looked at her, and with his eyes he had said: "That might have been you and I... Nina," as plainly as though he had spoken.
It might...
But Nina shied away from the thought, as she had trained herself to do.
Instinctively, in these days since her marriage when Richard had been pursuing her—telephoning—begging her to meet him... instinctively she had been saying: "No... Virtually: 'I love you. I want you... but I mustn't. No, please don't call.'" "We can't stop it, any more than we can stop the sun from rising... Well, if they couldn't, they ought to face it honestly; and if they could, they should!"
Nina thought: "We should talk it out, once, fully. Not in furtive little snatches. When he calls again, I will see him."
But she must have sounded unusually determined in their last conversation, because Richard did not call for several days. Nina saw her mother in the afternoons and made a sincere effort to stay away from the 7th St. house in the evenings—because she did not want another encounter with Richard that would be full of meaning looks and hidden hand clasps, and a furtiveness that got them nowhere.
In this resolve she was abetted by David, who had no desire to see more of her stepfather than was absolutely necessary. He was fond of Honey, liked to find her there when he came home, and took a fatherly attitude towards her, and her fluttery fears for Nina's happiness, that amused all three of them.
Her remarks that fight night, after her return from the South, had been a key to her subsequent behavior.
"Are you nice, young man?... Is he good to you, Nina?... She had gone right on in that vein, ever since.
She told David that she had offered to increase her daughter's allowance; and that she thought he was mean and foolish not to accept a little help.
She had sat like a little, irate china doll, on the blue dished and scolded him, but David had shaken his finger, and scolded right back at her.
She was the foolish one to think he would allow it. She was the meany to try and dazzle her daughter with dreams of wealth...

PLAN A MEDIATION BOARD TO HANDLE SEA DISPUTES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—The maritime commission may advocate creation of a mediation board, an informed person said today, as the best means of settling labor troubles in the American Merchant Marine.

The board, if authorized, would be fashioned along the lines of the national mediation board which annually settles scores of disputes between railway labor and management.

The recommendation may be contained in a report by the commission next Monday on all phases of merchant marine development. The conclusions will be designed to guide the expenditure of millions of dollars in government aid.

LABOR GROUPS WILL MEET AGAIN FOR PEACE TALKS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—The American Federation of Labor and the C.I.O. will make one more effort this week to agree on peace terms and unite their forces into a single, powerful organization.

Most labor observers predicted, however, that when the 13 peace negotiators meet again Thursday they will come no nearer to an agreement than they did in three days of wrangling last week.

During an eight-day suspension of peace conversations both sides have gone ahead with arrangements to continue independent courses.

The Committee for Industrial Organization called a convention here of unions in the furniture, bedding and allied industries. The A. F. of L. leadership talked of new organization campaigns in the maritime newspaper, textile, oil, lumber and agriculture and canning fields.

Texas Hasn't Yet 'Soaked' The Rich

State Still As Attractive To Men Of Means

AUSTIN, Nov. 2 (AP)—The extraordinary session of the Texas legislature which ended last week went down in most books as a failure but it at least made virtually certain that the year 1937 would close without any "soaking of the rich" in this state.

Reports sometimes trickle out of Oklahoma and other states that they are losing their wealthier citizens to Texas because taxes are lower. Texas has neither an income nor a general sales tax, and the corporation franchise levy is not very heavy.

If Texas was attractive to men of means one year ago, it still is. The only change in the state's tax structure has been reduction of the ad valorem levy from 62 to 49 cents on the $100 valuation. The September-October revenue raising session of the legislature ended without yielding any revenue.

James V. Allred, the state's crusading young governor, has tried to put substantially higher levies on oil men, sulphur producers and others.

Income Tax?

The governor said he would favor an income tax if it was necessary to save the state from a general sales impost. In justice to him, however, it should be added he and State Comptroller George H. Shepard were responsible for trimming the ad valorem levy.

Tax rates in Oklahoma, Louisiana and other states are brought into the discussion whenever a bill taxing business is up for consideration. Many legislators opposing heavy taxes say the situation in Texas is more favorable than in most other commonwealths and they want to keep it that way so persons with money to invest will continue moving in.

At the last session, foes of a sulphur tax hike claimed Louisiana's $2 a ton levy had backfired and leaders in that state intended to reduce it at the first opportunity. The Texas tax is only $1.03 per ton.

Oil Levies.

Texas already has enough taxes on business to bring the state a considerable amount of money. Oil pays 2 3/4 per cent of value to the general and school funds and three-sixteenths of a cent per barrel for protection enforcement. In addition, producers must pay large local ad valorem taxes. Oil men estimate state and local taxes aggregate 8.5 cents per barrel.

The threat of higher levies still exists. The state's general fund is some $15,000,000 in the red and the figure may rocket considerably between now and January 1. Additional money is needed for old age pensions, aid to the adult needy blind and dependent children and state matching of educators' contributions to a teachers' pension fund.

Some persons believe Governor Allred will renew his fight for larger taxes in a January session. If he does not call one, business can rest easy until the regular session of 1938.

LABOR GROUPS WILL MEET AGAIN FOR PEACE TALKS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—The American Federation of Labor and the C.I.O. will make one more effort this week to agree on peace terms and unite their forces into a single, powerful organization.

Most labor observers predicted, however, that when the 13 peace negotiators meet again Thursday they will come no nearer to an agreement than they did in three days of wrangling last week.

During an eight-day suspension of peace conversations both sides have gone ahead with arrangements to continue independent courses.

The Committee for Industrial Organization called a convention here of unions in the furniture, bedding and allied industries. The A. F. of L. leadership talked of new organization campaigns in the maritime newspaper, textile, oil, lumber and agriculture and canning fields.

The board, if authorized, would be fashioned along the lines of the national mediation board which annually settles scores of disputes between railway labor and management.

The recommendation may be contained in a report by the commission next Monday on all phases of merchant marine development. The conclusions will be designed to guide the expenditure of millions of dollars in government aid.

Achievement Days Slated By Council

Bedroom Improve- ments To Be Featured At HD Affairs

Thirteen achievement events, all featuring bed room improvements, will be held in the homes of bedroom demonstrators of the Home Demonstration clubs of Howard county during the month of November.

Miss Lora Farnsworth, county home demonstration agent, said the series was to be opened Tuesday at the home of Mrs. L. Puckett in the Luther community. The demonstrations are open affairs and contain not only the demonstrators' improvements, but also exhibits arranged by cooperators of each club.

As a result of the bedroom improvement program, two new bedrooms have been built by demonstrators. Changes have been made to overcome inadequate light. Rooms have been papered, woodwork and floors refinished, rugs installed, bedside tables added, beds reworked by addition of slats, new mattresses, renovated springs, new bed spreads, feather or wool comforters, pillows and new slips, and pictures hung on the wall.

Several of the rooms have had clothes closets installed and some new windows have been cut and accessories added. Appropriate color schemes have been followed to lend to an atmosphere of rest. Cushion chairs and other comforts complete the bedroom picture.

Wednesday an achievement program will be held in the home of Mrs. W. J. Jackson at Okahoma, and the last meeting of the week will be Friday at B-Bar in the home of Mrs. Ernest Hull.

Other demonstrations will be held at the following places and homes: Highway, Mrs. R. A. Brown, Nov. 10; Vealmoor, Mrs. Porter Hanks, Nov. 12; Elbow, Mrs. Virgil Williamson, Nov. 15; Cramer, Mrs. Harry Collins, Nov. 17; Fairview, Mrs. Charles Creighton, Nov. 18; Overton, Mrs. Jewel White, Nov. 19; Knott, Mrs. J. W. Phillips, Jr., Nov. 23; Chalk, Mrs. D. B. Caldwell, Nov. 24; and Vincent, Mrs. Willis Winters, Nov. 30.

Christmas Envoys Make Early Start

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 2 (AP)—Three Oklahomans jumped the gun on Santa Claus today. They started out with $3,000 and a speedy airplane to provide a merry Christmas for the state's 2,000 orphans.

The last legislature created the Santa Claus commission, gave it $2,000 for the kiddies' Christmas and named Erle P. Halliburton, wealthy oil man, chairman. "That isn't enough," said Halliburton, and tossed in his personal check for $1,000. He offered his airplane for a hop around the state this weekend to determine the children's needs.

"I plan to ask wealthy men over the state to kick in with contributions," Halliburton said, setting a goal of $12,000 to $15,000. "We'll give the kids a real Christmas."

"We'll be able to provide an individual Christmas box of toys and candy for each orphan, but we also want to spend some of the funds for permanent playground equipment."

"The idea should be: Not so many things to make them sick, but more things to make them well."

TRIAL IN RECESS

CINCINNATI, Nov. 2 (AP)—The trial of Mrs. Anna Marie Hahn, charged with fatally poisoning Jacob Wagner, 78, was in recess today to permit the jury of eleven women and one man to cast ballots in a city election under guard of balliffs.

Taking the stand in her own defense last night, the 31-year-old mother denied state charges she poisoned four men for their money. She is under indictment in the death of George Gellman, 67, and the court admitted "collateral evidence" in the death of George Oberlander, 67, a cobbler, and Albert J. Palmer, 72, retired railroad watchman.

Connection Of Oil Areas A Possibility

Wildcat Between Chalk, Snyder Pools Gets Showing

Possible connection of the Chalk extension and the newly encountered Snyder pools in southeastern Howard county was seen Tuesday in the showing of the Johnson No. 1 Hyman, wildcat one and a half miles northeast of nearest production in the Chalk extension.

Located in the northeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section 88-29, W&NW, the test carried 450 feet of oil in the hole at 2,890 feet. It had several shows from 2,600 feet. It is five miles south of production in the Snyder pool and on a supposed trend.

In the Snyder pool the Magnolia No. 2 O'Daniel cleaned out to bottom at 2,800 feet, swabbed for several days before the hole caved. Cleanings out operations are in progress, 100 feet off bottom. Location is in section 34-30-1s, T&P.

In the same area Shell is drilling ahead at 2,300 feet on its No. 1 TXL, section 33-30-1s, T&P. In section 28, Iron Mountain is nearing a decision at 2,500 feet on its No. 5 Snyder, northwest of present production. Ajax, in the same section, is underdigging for its eight-inch string at 1,500 feet.

Moore Bros. are locating a house on their Snyder pool lease and plan to maintain a man there to watch their developments. The company drilled the discovery well, shot with 300 quarts from 3,140 to 3,200, the W. & E. No. 2 Wilcox, outcrop test in the Harding pool southwest of Big Spring, was cleaning out Tuesday. It appeared to be about on a par with the No. 1 Wilcox which rated 212 barrels of test.

Amerada No. 1 A. D. Neal, 330 feet out of the southeast corner of section 15-33-3s, T&P, situated at the beginning of the week and was reported at 700 feet in red beds. It is an important wildcat test in north central Glasscock county. Official pronouncement test on the Wilson No. 1 Scanlon, section 83-M, EL&RR, five miles west and one mile north of the discovery Ray Albough No. 1 Robinson in northwestern Dawson county, showed 95 barrels on a 24-hour run.

Map Plans For Windsor Visit

Edward And Wally To Be In Washington For 36 Hours

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 (AP)—British Ambassador Sir Ronald Lindsay conferred with Sumner Welles, acting secretary of state, today on arrangements for the forthcoming visit to the United States of the Duke and Duchess of Windsor.

Although the envoy said afterwards that plans still are subject to change in accordance with the wishes of the royal visitors, it was learned they plan a 36-hour stay in Washington.

During this time they will be received by President Roosevelt, the British Ambassador and Lady Lindsay will be the first representatives of Britain's royal family to entertain Edward, England's abdicated monarch.

Ambassador Lindsay said it still was too early to discuss a definite itinerary for the duke and his American bride. He indicated that only general matters in connection with their trip were taken up with the acting secretary of state.

It was learned authoritatively, however, that President Roosevelt has given personal orders that the protocol section of the state department assist in making any arrangements the Windsors desire for inspection of government housing projects, in which Edward is especially interested.

KILLED BY AUTO

A plank from the bridge railing crashed through the windshield of the car piercing Morrison's shoulder. He is survived by his wife and a son.

Insurgents Throw Up Blockade Of Spanish Coast

LONDON, Nov. 2 (AP)—Mediterranean tension was heightened today by reports that Spain's insurgents were throwing a tight air and naval blockade along the entire eastern Spanish coast to cut the Valencia government off from outside help by way of the high seas.

Insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco's strategy sharply increased the danger of international complications in the Mediterranean.

He was believed planning to rely largely on planes based on the Balearic Island, Mallorca, to rule shipping lanes and cut off Valencia off Barcelona from food and munitions.

Franco's naval commander, Vice Admiral Francisco Moreno Fernandez, at Palma, Mallorca, had 35 ships at his command to build the sea blockade. Three were sighted off Valencia last night.

While thus seeking to wall up government Spain by sea, insurgent air and land forces would press either to split the frontier connection between Valencia's territory and France or drive a wedge in government territory, or both.

The appearance of the three insurgent warships off Valencia and the sinking of the British merchantman Jean Weems three days ago by an insurgent bombing plane as she carried a food cargo from Marseille toward Barcelona apparently marked inauguration of a more stringent blockade.

AVIATION PARLEY CALLED BY ALLRED

AUSTIN, Nov. 2 (AP)—Governor James V. Allred today called a meeting for Jan. 20-22 in Amarillo of representatives of southwestern states to consider aviation development.

"Amarillo long has been one of the foremost Texas cities in its interest in aviation," the governor said, "and it is the logical site for a regional aviation meeting for Texas, Oklahoma, Colorado, Kansas, New Mexico and Arkansas."

"The meeting will have as its primary objective the fostering of aviation development in the states named and plans call for airline officials of all major airlines in America, department of commerce executives and prominent officials in aviation to attend."

DOUBLE SHOOTING

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 2 (AP)—A double shooting early today claimed the life of an estranged wife while her husband was taken to a hospital in a serious condition.

Mrs. Carmen U. Sosa, 27, a visitor in the home of Mrs. Vivian Martinez, was found dying from two gunshot wounds on the lawn of the Martinez home about 1:30 a. m.

A few minutes later police were called to another address where the husband, Alfred Sosa, 40, was found, a bullet near his heart.

"This will be his first broadcast since leaving England and it will be made in Washington, D. C. It is understood that all the big American networks will be joined for the talk."

PLANS SHAPING UP FOR 4-H CONTEST

Plans for the first district wide contest for 4-H club girls in this area were being rounded out Tuesday in anticipation of the beginning of the one day affair on Saturday.

Miss Lora Farnsworth, county home demonstration agent, said that further plans would be talked here Thursday.

Approximately 50 girls are expected to participate in the contest which will feature clothes made as club projects.
