Assassins' Try Fails

By LARRY COLLINS
United Press International
BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI)—Assassins today tried to kill Lebanese Prime Minister Sami Solh by mining the road over which his official car was passing and then blasting the sidetracked vehicle with gunfire.

Solh was uninjured in the attempt which was accidentally foiled by a private car driving into Beirut slightly ahead of the Prime Minister's car. The hidden mine exploded under the first car. The force of the explosion sent the car careening down the mountain road. All of its five or six occupants were killed or injured seriously according to first reports from the scene.

The assassination attempt against the Moslem Prime Minister came on the road leading from his mountain home to Beirut.

Gunmen Open Fire
Solh's car with its armed escort skidded to a halt behind the exploded mine and gunmen concealed in the hills overlooking the road opened fire.

Solh crouched in the back seat while bullets tore into and over the automobile. One member of his motorcycle escort was killed by rebel gunfire before armed guards could drive off the attackers.

It was the first assassination attempt against a leading member of President Camille Chamoun's government since the rebellion erupted three months ago.

Solution Appeared Near
The assassination attempt came even while the crisis appeared near solution. Prospects for an end to the controversy and withdrawal of U.S. troops had brightened with the reported acceptance of the presidential nomination by Gen. Euzab Chehab.

Chehab, commander in chief of the 9,000-man Lebanese army, had been a key figure in the protracted negotiations to find the man to succeed President Chamoun who would be acceptable to both government and opposition forces.

An official statement on the general's position is scheduled to be issued before nightfall. He is expected to announce he will accept the post if elected by Parliament.

Parliament is scheduled to meet Thursday to select Chamoun's successor. If Chehab is elected, the way would be cleared for the withdrawal of American troops.

The United States sent in some 10,000 Marines and paratroopers in response to a request from Chamoun at the height of the armed rebellion against the government. Chamoun charged that the rebels were supported by the United Arab Republic of President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Auditorium Seating For Jr. High

Auditorium seating will move into Robert E. Lee Junior High School Monday, Pampa School Superintendent Knox Kinard said today.

The seats will be the final furnishings of the new Junior High School.

Kinard mentioned that the four-room addition to Carver School was proceeding according to schedule and would be complete by Sept. 7 when classes start.

The Walter Wirtz Construction Company of Amarillo is doing the work on a $45,706 contract. According to Kinard, the addition was planned when Carver was built.

Since all that is involved is the construction of four classrooms, no problems have developed. There has been a delay in the furnishing of Robert E. Lee auditorium but Kinard expects that to be resolved Monday when the installing crew sets to work.

Benson May Win Farm Bloc Fight

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House Agriculture Committee, last stronghold of the once-powerful farm bloc, showed signs today of capitulating to Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson's demand for lower price guarantees and more planting freedom for farmers.

Benson had the committee's Democratic leaders—all Southerners—over a barrel as the panel went behind closed doors in an effort to reach agreement on a new catch-all farm bill.

The Southern Democratic farm leaders were under strong pressure from cotton growers and textile interests in the South to produce quickly a new law to stave off scheduled sharp cutbacks in cotton planting next year.

But cotton belt congressmen have learned from bitter experience they cannot produce these results unless their legislation is wrapped into a bill containing many of the price support concessions demanded by Benson. Such a bill passed the Senate last week.

Getting Ready For ToT Rodeo?

SEAGOVILLE, Tex. (UPI)—A 60-pound baboon escaped from his owner's chain last night and eluded lawmen, a dogcatcher and a half-dozen citizens for an hour.

The ape led his would-be captors on a chase through the north central Texas woods near Dallas until one man in the group caught him in true Texas style.

He tossed a lariat around the ape's neck.

Commission Takes Water Pump Bids

Pampa's City Commissioners took bids on water pumps for three water wells in their meeting this morning. After looking at the bids over, the commissioners decided to study them for another week. They hope to decide on one of the bids in their meeting next Tuesday.

Frank Rappatine, an Amarillo business man, spoke to the commission. Rappatine told the commissioners he would like to develop Mesilla Park and bring it into the city of Pampa. The land is located near the Pampa Country Club.

Rappatine, who owns most of the lots on the property, told the commission he would like for them to study the plans he had made for the lots and then let him bring the addition into the city limits. The commissioners told him that they would probably have a word for him next Tuesday.

A bid date of August 19 was set by the commissioners for the opening of bids on extending loop lines to reinforce Pampa's water lines.

Wayland Merriman presented water system plans he had drawn up to the commissioners for approval. The commissioners said they would study the plans until their next meeting.

GET YOUR NUMBER!

Two entries in the Kid Pony Show, held annually in connection with the Top O' Texas Rodeo, enter the calf roping in the photo above, Sammy Giddeon, left, receives his number from Jeanne Leith in Rodeo Headquarters. Roy Dyer completes his entry blank. Meanwhile, Anita Wedgeworth turns her head to ticket sales. Rodeo Headquarters opened in the Pampa Hotel yesterday. Rodeo week here is Aug. 4-9.

Annual Occurance

Pampa is becoming 'A Rodeo Town'.

Registration will close Monday in Rodeo Headquarters for all events of the Kid Pony Show. The Pampa Hotel lobby will be the place of registration for all performers in the world's Championship Amateur Rodeo and Kid Pony Show, Aug. 4-9.

The box office is set up for the sale of reserve seats at 50 cents over the $1.25 general admission cost. Girls are on duty at the Rodeo desk to sell tickets and take registrations for either the Kid Pony Show or the Rodeo.

The word is going around that "This is going to be some Rodeo." This is no Rodeo gossip. High on the poles, around the arena, the bright lights from the old Oiler Baseball Park are set to highlight the hard-riding cowboys and cowgirls who come here from the ranches of the Southwest.

Kelly, the Hollywood pup with "human characteristics," will be a featured performer, aside from the broncs and bulls.

An added attraction for Aug. 8, Friday, will be the Beef Calf Scramble in which boys from 4-H Clubs and FFA Chapters will vie for calves of their own. Entering the arena with halters, the boys will have 15 minutes in which to secure one of the calves. This event will involve 4-H and FFA boys from Gray, Roberts, Hemphill, Wheeler, Carson and Ochiltree counties.

The pageantry of the Rodeo will parade the streets of Pampa. There will be two parades, the Kid Pony procession Monday at 3 p.m. and the big Rodeo Parade, (See PAMPA, Page 3)

Mower Mishap Costs Pampa Youth Leg

A four-year-old Pampa youth, David Rosenbach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Rosenbach, 1037 Varmon Dr., was reported in fair condition today after having his leg amputated in Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo yesterday, a result of having it caught in a lawnmower.

Stories were conflicting as to just what caused the boy to get tangled in the mower.

His mother said in a telephone conversation this morning that the boy was not able to say just what had happened. Mrs. Rosenbach said that David was resting but had been in quite a state of shock last night and had some pain early this morning.

She said her son was playing with some neighbor children in a neighbor's yard and after having his leg caught in the mower was taken to Highland General Hospital by the person whose yard he had been playing in. Mrs. Rosenbach said she hadn't been able to find out the neighbor's name because, as she put it, "they had just moved here a short time ago and I hadn't had a chance to learn their names yet. We missed them at Highland General and they didn't come on up here with us."

The Rosenbachs were given a police escort to Amarillo but after reaching White Deer had to borrow another car. Their car caused them some trouble and they had to make the switch.

Mrs. Rosenbach said that she would like to thank everyone who helped her and her husband. She said that everyone had been very kind and that she and Donald were very grateful.

Convass Of Votes Made

The Gray County Democratic Executive Committee met at 10 a.m. today to canvass the results of the Primary election Saturday. According to Democratic Secretary Bob Baker, there are some minor errors in tabulations.

Runoff elections will be held to select men for Commissioner, Precincts 2 and 4, as well as the justice of the peace for Precinct 1, on Aug. 23.

Baseball Diamonds Scenes Of Unusual Religious Turnout

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI)—Yankee Stadium and the Polo Grounds, half a mile apart, are the colorful scenes this week of one of the most remarkable religious turnouts of modern times.

It is the gathering of close to 180,000 Jehovah's Witnesses from 123 lands who are holding their eight-day "Divine Will International Assembly" at New York's two spacious baseball parks.

Jehovah's Witnesses, wearing identification cards, jam the subways all day long making their way to the assembly. The meetings, which run in both parks at the same time from 9:15 a. m. to 9:30 p. m. daily, will conclude next Sunday in a mammoth rally.

All Seats Filled

Order is maintained at the meetings by a corps of 6,000 volunteers. The Witnesses, in listening to the fervent words of the speakers, show as much rapt attention as have baseball fans in the stadium during the playing of World Series games.

All seats in the grandstands and bleachers at both ball parks are occupied by Witnesses. Thousands of others find seats on camp chairs within the inclosures. Others are stung along the ramps and other vantage places.

The speakers come from all parts of the United States and from such far off places as Europe, Japan, India, Hawaii, Korea, Mexico, New Zealand, Panama and South Africa.

All Are Ministers

The nominal leader of the Jehovah's Witnesses movement is Nathan Homer Knorr of Brooklyn, president of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society. He is one of the leading speakers at the assembly.

Goldfine Citation Pushed

By JAMES BAAR
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House today unanimously recommended that Bernard Goldfine be charged with contempt of Congress.

The subcommittee voted 8-0 to recommend a contempt citation against the Boston millionaire friend of Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams.

Basis for the citation was Goldfine's repeated refusal to answer 23 questions about his complex financial dealings.

Three members of the 11-man subcommittee were absent. The absentees were Reps. Morgan M. Moulder (D-Mo.), Charles A. Wolvert (R-N.J.) and John W. Heselton (R-Mass.).

Subcommittee Chairman Owen Harris (D-Ark.) announced the vote after a half-hour closed meeting.

Harris said the full Commerce Committee will act on the contempt recommendation as soon as necessary paper work can be completed. If the full committee approves, the citation will then be submitted to the House.

Texas GOP Has 6 Hopefuls In The November Election

United Press International
Texas Republicans will put up hopefuls for six offices to face Democratic nominees in the November general election.

Only one of the candidates—Rep. Bruce Alger of Dallas—ran in the Republican primary. The others were named by the state GOP executive committee.

The GOP has announced it will stage a campaign for its candidates in an attempt to break the Democratic solidarity of the state which only incumbent Alger had managed to nick.

The Republicans have put San Angelo rancher Edwin S. Mayer against Gov. Price Daniel in the governor's race; Amarillo publisher Roy Whittenburg against incumbent Ralph Yarborough in the race for senator; and Grover Carothers, a Stanford farmer-rancher, against incumbent Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

John Q. Adams, a Harlingen attorney, is running on the GOP ticket for Place 1 on the Supreme Court. T. Everett Kennerly is the GOP man running for Congress in the 22nd district (Harris county) and Alger is running in Dallas' fifth district.

Meanwhile Democratic liberal and conservatives haggled Monday over who won Saturday's precinct conventions. Both sides claimed victory.

Yarborough suggested that neither had victory yet, and the balance of power rested with independents not now aligned with either fraction.

State Sen. Henry B. Gonzalez, a pro-integration man, was pulling ahead of W. Lee O'Daniel in the race for second place in the primary behind Price Daniel, who won re-nomination with ease.

Dr. E. E. Masters, apparent winner for a place on the State Board of Education, said his feeling about segregation won't make any difference in the board's activities.

Masters has been president of the Texas Citizens Council, a pro-segregation group.

Masters, a former president of Kilgore College, said "the state school board doesn't handle the matter of integration or segregation."

The pageantry of the Rodeo will parade the streets of Pampa. There will be two parades, the Kid Pony procession Monday at 3 p.m. and the big Rodeo Parade, (See PAMPA, Page 3)

Passage Of Tax Relief Bill Expected

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House was expected today to override administration protests and pass a bill to provide major tax relief for self-employed persons.

The Senate, meanwhile, met on routine measures.

Before the House was the bill to allow self-employed persons to defer payment of income tax until age 70 on amounts ranging up to $2,500 a year placed in retirement funds. The Treasury says such a law would mean a loss of $87 million dollars in annual revenue.

Although House passage appeared assured, many lawmakers figured the measure would be bottled up in the Senate or die there when Congress adjourns next month. Some lawmakers were protesting the bill would discriminate against employees who have no pension funds.

Secret Session Due
A flurry of congressional committee activity was to be highlighted late today by appearance of a bill to increase benefits by 7 per cent for the 11,800,000 persons on the rolls.

for a secret session of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The committee voted last week to call him to explain why the United States was caught flat-footed on the Iraq rebellion, and also what CIA knows about the new Iraqi regime.

Members of the House Foreign Affairs Committee and the Senate again were invited to the daily Foreign Relations Committee closed-door briefing by the Senate Department on the Middle East situation. Attendance has been small because legislators claim they aren't learning anything that isn't available from newspaper accounts.

Informed congressional sources reported the administration was swinging around to reluctant acceptance of a Democratic-sponsored bill to increase social security benefits this year. The House Ways and Means Committee Monday gave final approval to a bill to increase benefits by 7 per cent for the 11,800,000 persons on the rolls.

Boost Jan. 1
The increased benefits would be financed by increased social security taxes on job-holders and their employers effective next Jan. 1. The administration was reported to have concluded financing of the plan is sound.

The House Agriculture Committee showed signs of capitulating to Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson's demand for lower price guarantees and more planting freedom for farmers. The committee went behind closed door to reach agreement on a new catch-all farm bill.

Southern Democratic farm leaders were under strong pressure quickly a new law to stave off scheduled sharp cutbacks in cotton plantings next year.

A bill containing many of the price support concessions demanded by Benson passed the Senate last week.

Other developments late Monday:

Filibusters—A bipartisan bloc of northern senators declared they would wage an all-out fight next session of Congress to change the Senate rules to make it easier to choke off filibusters. The present Senate rule says debate can be limited only by the votes of 64 or more senators. The bloc wants the number lowered to 49.

Civil Defense—The house stamped final congressional approval on legislation giving the federal government joint responsibility for civil defense for the first time. Existing law says civil defense is considered primarily a state and local matter.

Rackets committee—The Senate voted to authorize its special Rackets Investigating Committee an additional $250,000 to finance its work through Jan. 31, 1959. The committee requested the authority to meet expected expenses of $441,605 during the seven-month period starting July 1, 1958. It has been investigating improper practices by labor and management.

'The Life Of Riley' For Airmen Held In 'Protective Custody'

HABBANIYAH, Iraq (UPI)—Forty-three U.S. airmen who came here to teach Iraqis to handle MIG-killing Sabrejets have been held in "protective custody" on this British-built airbase since the July 14 coup, it was announced today.

Col. Paul Goodwin, of Chandler, Ariz., said there have been no casualties among the Americans and no serious incidents. In fact, they are living the life of Riley—and so are some 1,100 British airmen and their families, who also are confined to the base.

Iraqi guards cordoning the sprawling airfield 55 miles west of Baghdad have barred the approaches to "unauthorized persons" who might have wished to molest the Westerners.

"We're lucky," Goodwin said. "We have two swimming pools, 20 or 30 tennis courts, movies and a gymnasium... the men have plenty of amusement to keep them out of trouble."

Certainly none of the captive Americans visible today showed any signs of nervousness about their plight—although S. Sgt. Donald M. Jackson, of Newark, N.J., and John Mitchell, of Leslie, W. Va., had their problems.

They had got hold of a fine ripe watermelon, and they were feeding off attempts by other Americans to cut in on their prize.

A2c Charles Harris, of 23 Oak St.) Lewisburg, W. Va., sat on the sunny veranda of a British-built barrack, clad only in shorts.

"I'm getting a little more tan," he said.

'Inventory' Of Rodeo Slated

A "rodeo inventory" will be the business of the ToT Rodeo Association Board meeting tomorrow. Association President Bob Andis states.

The meeting will take place in the Pampa Chamber of Commerce at 7:30 p.m. Directors will hear accounts from all committee chairmen on the state of the coming Rodeo.

With the Kid Pony Show Monday and Tuesday and the Top of Texas Rodeo Wednesday through Saturday, the Rodeo will be the big event of the week in the Top O' Texas.

HON. R. E. SHEPHERD
... Grand Master

Odd Fellows and Rebekahs Slate Joint Meeting

A joint meeting of the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs of this District will honor the visiting Grand Master, Honorable R. E. Shepherd, the Pampa IOOF announced today.

The function will begin with a covered dish supper at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the IOOF Hall, 210 W. Brown.

Shepherd, a Denton man, is expected to carry Oddfellowship "to the fullest" in his annual address here.

Tradition Upheld In 'Rain City'

WAYNESBURG, Pa. (UPI) — The time-honored tradition that it almost always rains here on July 29th held true again today for the 73rd time in the last 82 years.

Precisely at the stroke of midnight, a light but steady drizzle began falling as a whoop went up from a handful of faithful believers who had gathered in the town square hopefully awaiting a glimpse of the day's first rain.

As the group remained in the drizzle, one of the old "regulars" quipped, "This is probably the only place where not coming in out of the rain isn't considered being soft headed."

It all started back in 1876 when a farmer told a druggist who was hoping for rain, "You know, it's darn funny, but it will rain today — always does on July 29." And so it did and druggist Bill Allison began keeping the official "rain-day" record.

Attorney John Daley, the present official "one-day" Waynesburg weather prophet, makes a standing wager each year of a hat that the prediction will hold true. Daley has a closet full of winnings. He has tangled with such notables as Jack Dempsey, Bob Hope and Bing Crosby, and has emerged victorious.

GOP Fund Raisers Crying The Blues

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The political grapevine:

Republican campaign fund raisers are crying the blues in an angry key. Collections are way off although the party suffers the political handicap of being substantially identified as the ally of big business and big money.

It would seem that ample funds would flow from such an alliance but the fund raisers complain: Not so! An old timer among this town's political mechanics cited a combination of discouraging circumstances which confronts Republican money raisers:

—The business elements of the electorate do not follow through politically. They hit hard to get the Democrats out of the White House in 1952 and to keep them out in 1956 but seem to feel now that they have won their political battle and no longer need vigorous support.

—The industrial fat cats who put their cash on the barrel-head over the earlier years of this century, when the Republicans were securely in the majority, are dying off. Congressional investigations have scared off some potential contributors. Some businessmen who contributed substantially to the Republicans in recent years now tell party collectors that the GOP will be licked in this year's congressional elections, and that they do not want to be mixed up in it.

—The old timer said the Democrats would be in as bad a situation or worse but for the windfall of campaign funds from organized labor. The Republicans, he continued, need a fund gimmick of some kind, perhaps an income tax deduction up to $500 for political contributions. The tax-free riches of organized labor are spent liberally in behalf of Democratic candidates.

—Recall Taft Setback — The Republican Party in Washington state selected last winter a candidate to oppose the re-election of Democratic U.S. Sen. Henry M. Jackson, John R. Lewis, the Republican nominee, established campaign headquarters in Seattle. After three and one-half months, Lewis withdrew for lack of campaign funds. Such incidents embitter Republican fund raisers.

Truth Costs Prison Sentence

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Although it cost him a two-year prison sentence, Paul Edwards showed no regret for having told the truth.

Edwards was before Judge Leon Hendrick Monday for sentencing on charges of forgery and writing bad checks. He had no local record and was eligible for probation.

But the judge inquired whether the defendant had been in any previous trouble.

"I'm not going to lie, your honor," Edwards replied, and revealed that he was under probation on similar charges in another city.

candidacy of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft.

Twelve years before that the conservatives were mousetrapped by the supporters of the late Wendell L. Willkie. By mail, telephone and telegraph and with packed galleries, the Willkie-for-President forces put on a national convention show which confused and defeated the party regulars, enabling Willkie to kidnap the 1940 Republican presidential nomination.

Pampan On Television Show

Local sources indicate that Donald Darling, ex - Pampa High School Thespians, will have a lead role in an amateur musical show over KPDA-TV, Amarillo, Darling went to the studio yesterday to try out for the role.

In the first show, Aug. 28, Darling, who is noted for his pantomimes, will do a take off on Sammy Davis for the opening number. The scene is to be a train station in New York City, with Darling, singing and clowning. The program will be on once a month.

Darling plans to attend Phillips College in Borger, will not interfere with his TV commitment, especially since he expects to do his major work in television.

Pantomimist Darling made his try out appearance in full make up. He was likened to Larry Parks by the show's director.

'10 Most Wanted' Changes

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The FBI made room today for convicted bank robber Frederick Grant Dunn on its "10 most wanted fugitives" list.

The 53-year-old criminal who has been in and out of jail most of his adult life, replaces Henry Randolph Mitchell on the list.

Last week the Federal Court for the Northern District of Florida ordered charges against Mitchell dropped for lack of witnesses who could make prosecution successful. Mitchell had been wanted since January, 1948, for robbing a Williston, Fla., bank.

The FBI said Dunn, who travels under several aliases, considers himself a "latter day" John Dillinger or "Baby Face" Nelson.

G men described Dunn as a skillful safe-cracker who carries nitroglycerin around to do the job. He also is usually armed and considered "extremely dangerous," the FBI added.

Guard Unit To Leave For Camp

Celanese Reports Three Month's Net Income

Celanese Corporation of America and domestic subsidiaries reported net income of $3,191,635 for the three months ended June 30, 1958. The three months' earnings, equivalent to 34 cents a share of common stock, were eighteen percent above earnings during the same 1957 quarter of $2,701,070, equivalent to 28 cents a common share.

The company's net sales during the second quarter of 1958 were $54,822,291, representing a thirteen percent increase over the $48,452,060 sales volume of the comparable three months last year.

Net income after taxes for the first six months of 1958 amounted to $5,791,345, equivalent to 57 cents a common share, as compared with net income during the first half of 1957, of $5,613,890, equivalent to 54 cents a common share.

Harold Blanche, president, reported that although general business conditions had affected the company's chemical and plastics sales, Celanese textile yarn and fiber sales during the first half of 1958 exceeded those of the 11 1/2 period last year, having increased steadily each month this year.

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Will you please explain something? WHAT is a stranger? My wife and I are grown adults (61 and 63) and we often go to a nightclub where there's dancing. Man stag it there. I don't dance every dance but my wife would like to. When a PERFECT STRANGER comes over to our table and asks her to dance she introduces herself and then he introduces HIMSELF and asks me if she can dance with him and I am forced to say yes, go ahead. I say she is dancing with PERFECT STRANGERS, but she says when a friendly gentleman introduces himself he is not a stranger. Now is my wife dancing with strangers or isn't she? Thank you kindly.

NO DANCER
Dear No: Your wife is dancing with strangers. They may be COURTEOUS strangers and they may be FRIENDLY strangers, but they are still strangers.

DEAR ABBY: My blood boiled when I read that letter from the man who said he didn't know why the modern woman made such a howling fuss over a natural little thing like having a baby. Then he had the nerve to compare us with dogs and cats who crawl into a corner and don't bother anybody with their suffering! Men act big and brave, but very few of them could stand the ordeal of giving birth to a child. That is why God, in His wisdom, assigned the noble task to women.

MOTHER OF TEN

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is 24 and refuses to work. She thinks she's got pure royal blood in her or something. She doesn't lift a finger to help me with the house-cleaning or cooking. When the food is on the table she comes to the table. When she's through eating she goes in and looks at TV. Can you help me do something with this lazy creature?

DISGUSTED

Dear Disgusted: If you allow her to lounge around like "royalty" you are as much to blame as she. Tell her to get off her paid vacation. If she's healthy, she can find a job.

DEAR ABBY: I hope when you read this you won't think I am a silly schoolgirl. My problem is I am in love with a married man and he is in love with me. I am 22 and he is 26 and so is his wife. She won't give him a divorce and she is costing him $25 a week. She won't leave him alone although they live apart. She waits outside his rooming house to talk to him and follows him everywhere he goes trying to get him back. How can I get her to leave him alone?

IN LOVE WITH HIM

Dear Lu: Why don't YOU leave him alone? If this man is annoyed by his wife let HIM do something about it. In the meantime, until a man is divorced, he is married. A woman cannot be blamed for trying to save her marriage.

DEAR ABBY: A friend of ours invited my husband and me to her home for dinner. My mother is visiting me from out of town and this friend knows my mother is visiting me, but she didn't include her in the invitation. I told this friend I couldn't accept because I didn't want to leave my mother. My husband thinks I am wrong and that we should have accepted the invitation. I'd appreciate your opinion.

MRS. N. L. K.

Dear Mrs. K: Your husband is wrong. One never leaves a house guest behind. If your friend didn't have the good manners to include your mother, she has a lot to learn.

Confidential To Green Eyes:
Niece is something which you won't get into trouble up to if you don't stick it out.

Credit Women Install Officers

Pampa Credit Women's Club met Friday evening in the City Club Room with Mrs. Virginia Cox, president, presiding during the business meeting as the secretary's report was given by Mrs. Ruby Crocker and the treasurer's report by Mrs. Claudia Nees.

Mrs. Cox appointed Mmes. Elizabeth Lewis, Lyda Gilchrist, Ruby Crocker and Claudia Nees to serve on the auditing committee. It was announced that the next meeting for the club will be held on August 15 at 7:30 in the home of Mrs. Gilchrist, 105 S. Wynne.

A gift of appreciation was presented to Mrs. Cox for service to the club during her term of office. Mrs. Lewis won the door prize.

She presented each officer with a diploma and the club flowers, as each were promoted to the following posts: Mmes. Ethel Stilwell, president; Mamie Peoples, second vice president; Lyda Gilchrist, secretary; Ethel Bryan, treasurer.

The installation was concluded with a prayer followed by the Lord's Prayer repeated in unison. Hostesses Mmes. Cox, Higginbotham, assisted by Elizabeth Lewis and Claudia Nees, served dainty, open-faced sandwiches, ice tea and mints from a table covered with a white imported hand, crocheted cloth centered with an arrangement of Garden Flowers flanked with yellow tapers.

Attending were Mmes. Ruby Crocker, Leola Nicholson, Virginia Wesner, Virginia Cox, Inez Crissey, Virginia McDonald, Claudia Nees, Lyda Gilchrist, Elizabeth Lewis, Leola Higginbotham, and Ethel Stilwell.

"Pretty As A Picture" Decoration Motif For Lullaby Fete Honoring Mrs. Callan

LEFORS — "Pretty as a Picture" was used as the theme for the baby shower, honoring Mrs. H. W. Callan on Tuesday night, in the Civic Center.

Hostesses were Mmes. Eugene Collingsworth, Edward Lehnick, Howard Archer, Bud Cumberledge, Bill Watson, C. H. Gustin, Charles Earhart, J. R. Sparkman, D. D. Atkinson.

The theme, written in large gold letters, encircled the serving table which was centered with a gold frame, arranged with a baby doll and white Shasta daisies flanked on either side with double crystal candleholders holding yellow lighted candles.

Decorations included golden picture frames on yellow background depicting baby and booties, arrangements of yellow mums, yellow gladioli in the receiving room, and a large baby doll in the center of the gift table.

The guests were registered by Mrs. Earhart in a picture frame book featuring the cuddly infant and yellow ribbon bow.

The yellow and white angel cake was served from the white linen covered table by Mrs. Atkinson with Mrs. Jacobs presiding at the crystal punch service. White mints were served. Yellow napkins and silver completed appointments. Flats favors were tiny picture frames inscribed "Baby Callan," in gold ink.

Soft, background music was played by Mrs. Collingsworth at the piano. A corsage of yellow rosebud sox was presented to the honoree, who was assisted in opening her gifts by her mother, Mrs. Chester Payne, of Shamrock, and Shuggie Watts of Tulia.

Rebekahs Make Plans For Visit Of Grand Master

Pampa Rebekah Lodge No. 358 met in regular session on Thursday evening with Mrs. Lucille Kesinger, noble grand and Mrs. Ona Gray, vice grand in charge.

Members reported ill were Mrs. Sannie Sullivan in Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo; Mrs. Juanita Marlar, Skellytown, in Highland General; and Mrs. Ruby Wiley, at home. It was reported that eight sick visits were made. Members were reminded of the covered-dish supper to be given in honor of the Grand Master Ross Shepperd's visit to the Lodge on July 30 at 7 p.m. in the Lodge Hall.

Mrs. Ellen Kretzmeier gave a report of the Tri-State Conclave which was held in Dallas recently. Mrs. Helen Lamberson, lodge deputy, installed Mrs. Hazel Franklin as musician and, also, held a school of instruction. Mrs. Mary Dell McNeil requested all members of the degree team to be present for practice at the next meeting. Mrs. McNeil was a winner of the door prize.

It was announced that the Esthere Club will meet with Mrs. Etta Crisier on July 28. Twenty-seven members were present.

Gracious! The gentleman obviously hasn't heard about Ford's Mileage Maker Six—the modern short-stroke, low-friction Six that delivered the most miles per gallon in Class A in the last two Mobils! Economy Runs!

"WHEN THE OLD CARS HAD IT!"
But it has... and so has his budget. If he could only have back all the money he's been paying out (and is going to pay out) in repair bills... he could be the proud owner right now of a built-for-keeps 58 Ford!

"WHEN MY PRESENT CAR IS WORTH MORE!"
Poor man. He's not only missing out on summer driving in a Thunderbird-inspired Ford... he's missing out on money! Doesn't he know that his present car will NEVER be worth more in trade than right NOW!

WHEN FORD DEALERS ARE GIVING THE YEARS' BEST DEALS DURING FORD'S SUMMER TRADING PICNIC!

Smart fellow! He's buying NOW while Ford Dealers are holding their Summer Trading Picnic and giving the longest deals and the highest trades ever... and while the selection of models and colors is best. What's more, he'll find that Ford is the lowest priced* of the best-selling three! Why don't you join him at your friendly Ford Dealer's?

Rebel-Amjet Game Is Canceled

The scheduled Pampa Rebels game at Amarillo Air Base tonight against the Amjets has been canceled due to wet grounds and conflicting military athletic difficulties. Coach Deck Woldt announced about 11 a. m. today.

The game was originally slated for 8 p. m. tonight, but Woldt got a call from the Amjets' manager, late this morning, notifying him that due to the recent bad weather, and because the base intramural teams were so far behind schedule, the field would not be available for tonight's game.

Woldt said he would go ahead with plans to wrap-up his club's season with a 6 p. m. Oldtimers game here Wednesday night.

The Oldtimers lineup Wednesday night is expected to be dotted with four dads and five ex-Oiler players, plus a few former Harvester stars.

Woldt, who'll probably hold down centerfield for the Oldtimers, said ex-Oilers, Max Molberg, Joe Fortin, Frank Kemp and Newt Secrest will try to play in the Rebel-Oldtimer tilt along with Henry Stephens, Bill Ridgway, Sharon Haralson and Tom Glover. He said any of the other dads were also welcome to try their hand at whipping their sons on the baseball diamond.

"You may laugh, but that's not too bad an Oldtimer's lineup. The boys will have to be on their toes to come out on top," Woldt commented.

In keeping on their toes, Woldt may have been trying to drive home a lesson. His youngsters were guilty of numerous bone-head and mental errors in Sunday's loss to Hanson Post. Pitcher Kippy Williams missed an "intentional walk" signal, that may have cost the Rebels the game.

With two out, the score tied and runners at second and third in the eighth, Williams failed to hear a plea from Woldt to put the batter on base to load the sacks and setup a force at any base. Instead he pitched to the batter and saw a two-run single (the margin of victory for Hanson) cracked out into centerfield. The next batter was whiffed by reliever, James Walker.

Gary Hill was trapped off third in the second for Pampa and Bob Fesse was caught in a rundown between second and third in the sixth for a couple other boobos, by the Rebels Sunday.

Keith Yager, stylish lefthander, gets the starting-hill assignment for the Rebels. With a 2-1 record and 29 strikeouts in 17 and two-thirds innings of work, Yager will be making his second start in less than a week. He tamed Borger, 7-1, with a two-hitter last Wednesday night in an abbreviated five-inning game. In his 17 and two-thirds innings on the mound, Yager has permitted only 11 hits, 14 runs, and walked 16.

The rest of the Rebels' starting lineup for the tilt, with batting averages in parenthesis, will look like this:

Hi-Land Grabs LFL Pennant

Hi-Land Lumber nailed down the Little Farm League championship here Monday afternoon by smearing Tom Rose Oldsmobile, 14-9, as John Clark gave up nine hits, posted eight strikeouts and walked four.

The win gave Hi-Land an 11-3 finish, a game ahead of Motor Inn, who had a 10-4 mark.

League head John Pharr said no playoffs would be held in the loop, since there is a clear-cut champion.

Joe Fisher smacked a two-run homer for the Highlanders in the fifth, and David Stein led hitting with 3 for 6, including two doubles.

Managers Bill Sublett and Wylie Fesse will fetter their champs with a watermelon feast at Central Park Thursday at 5:30.

Score by innings:
Hi-Land Lbr. 206 051 — 14 12 4
Tom Rose 121 014 — 9 9 4

Wendel Ridgway (.300), at shortstop; Bobby Stephens (.500), in centerfield; Larry Stroud (.333), at first base; DeWayne Glover (.444), in rightfield; Gary Willis (.304), in leftfield; Gary Hill (.393), at third; Ruben Strickland (.320), at second; and either Terry Haralson (.414) or Clovis Shipp (.200), catching.

Whatever Happened To... PREACHER ROE

Elwin (Preacher) Roe, a nifty left-handed pitcher out of Ash Flat, Ark., worked for the Pittsburgh Pirates for four years and at the end of his worst season—1-14 in 1947—he got the greatest break of his career. The Dodgers bought him. Thereafter the cagey "Preach" became one of the league's finest. He helped the Dodgers win three pennants but had his best years in seasons the Brooks didn't win. He won 19 and lost 11 in 1950 when the Phillies won and was 22-3 in 1951 when the Giants won. All told, Roe rang up 127 victories and 84 defeats in his 11-year career ending at Brooklyn after the 1954 season.

Whatever happened to Preacher Roe? Now 43, he owns and operates a supermarket at West Plains, Mo.

For the want of a nail, a kingdom was lost. Or some such jazz the old college historians used to drum into our head about one of those way-back moss-covered wars. War of Four Roses, or something, wasn't it?

For the want of a coaching-box signal, the old ball game was lost.

It was the top of the eighth inning of Sunday's baseball argument here, and Amarillo's Hanson Post Chiefs were clicking up their heels in the middle of a big rally. They'd just knotted the score at 2-2. With two in the mud, runners were dancing gingerly off second and third.

Pampa Rebel coach, Deck Woldt, was kicking dirt, mumbering to himself and stalking up and down the coaching box like a caged animal. Then he flashed the "intentional walk" sign to his little lefthander, Kippy Williams, who was getting bogged deeper in jam by the minute, after working seven and two-thirds near-brilliant stanzas.

Kippy didn't see Woldt's signal. Woldt yipped it out loud and clear. "Put him on," the man said, but Williams heard only the infield chatter of his mates. Not heeding the directions, Kippy portended a high hard one to the plate, and the batter pummeled the pitch into dead center for a back-breaking two-run single.

That screamer over second meant the last round-up for Kippy. Reliever James Walker was hustled in from the bullpen to strikeout the next batter. But the damaging blow had been struck and the Chiefs held on for dear life to shade Pampa, 4-3.

The Rebels lost the services of catcher Clovis Shipp in the fourth frame when he was dropped by a peg-to-second from the Amarillo catcher, while piffering the key-stone sack. Shipp was beamed in the right temple with the erratic peg, removed from the game, rushed to a medical clinic by Coach Norman Phillips, and later released with a throbbing headache and tiny gash above the ear.

But that's life. Missed signals and freakish accidents. If things got to simple, first thing you know ulcers would be out of style, and cows would be out of work. And what you got against cows anyway?

This business of growing old is tough. It's especially not cherished with much relish by major leaguers. Take Jim Hegan, after spending year upon year in the American League, catching for Cleveland and more recently, Detroit, he has been dealt to the Philadelphia Phillies.

And Bob Keegan, who twirled a no-hitter for the Chisox last August, has been sent down to Indianapolis of the American Association. A grey hair. Yikes!

District 3-AAAA Foes Change

Champions of District 3-AAAA shall no longer be pitted against the winner of the Fort Worth district, which is usually Pashchal High's Panthers.

The realignment of districts by the Texas Interscholastic League has moved the Cowtown schools from 4-AAAA to 3. That throws them against the District 3-AAAA champs, which is one of the two all-Dallas districts.

Now composing District 4-AAAA, the conference of Pampa High and its 3-AAAA cohorts will face in any bi-district game are Wichita Falls, (the team the Harvesters open with on Sept. 12), plus Arlington, Birdville, Grand Prairie and Irving.

And when Coach Clifton Mc-Neely takes his Harvester basketball team back to the state tournament next March (you bet we're taking it for granted), he'll find a new floor to play on. For the second time in history, they're resurfacing the floor in ancient old Gregory Gym.

The Southwest Conference was approached by some of the high mucky-mucks who're trying to put over the new football bowl game in Houston, about committing the SWC runner-up to the Houston bowl. But the conference dads said nay, nay.

And then there was the gal who was so fat, every time she got in a cab, the driver headed for the hospital...

Rigney Loves His Kids As Winners

By MILTON RICHMAN

Bill Rigney loves kids, especially those San Francisco youngsters of his who may surprise the "Old Man" by getting him named the "manager of the year."

"Ain't those kids of mine terrific?" Rigney beamed with obvious pride after they swept a twin-bill from the Phillies Monday night to move into a virtual first-place tie with Milwaukee, only one percentage point off the pace.

Rigney, who was down in sixth place 14 1/2 games off the pace a year ago today, had ample reason to be proud of his young players.

Iron Mike Gets Draw With Tokyo

Iron Mike DeBaise, despite all his dirty tactics, could only pull out a draw in his battle with the Jap, Tokyo Joe, last night at the Sportsman Club.

Mike used about every dirty trick in the book but could not pin the Jap.

In a colored girls match Ethel Scott whipped Betty White and in the main event of the night Iron Mike teamed with Art Nelson to whip Tokyo Joe and the Great Bolo, in a title tag-team brawl.

Very young and inexperienced," Wyatt replied.

LONE STAR SETS NEW RECORDS

San Antonio, Tex.—Second quarter sales of Certified Quality Lone Star Beer established new records for each month of the quarter, according to a report released today by Floyd O. Schneider, general sales manager for Lone Star.

Sales were up 12.5% in April, 23% in May, and 13.3% in June, over the same months last year.

Principal contributing factor for these major sales gains, according to Schneider, has been the introduction of absolute quality certification by Lone Star, marking the first time in brewing history that a brewer has offered positive day-to-day quality certification by the world's largest independent testing and research laboratories, The United States Testing Company.

Thus Lone Star has become the nation's first beer to be certified by the United States Testing Company.

...because, all over Texas, so many, many more people are now choosing Texas' own Lone Star over any other brand...at any price

US, Reds Both Bubbling Over

By ROBERT MUSEL
United Press International
MOSCOW (UPI)—East is east and west is west, especially when it comes to figuring out who won the dual track and field meet between the U.S. and Russia.

In the aftermath of the historic two-day athletic competition every body was officially very happy.

The Americans were happy because they won the men's meet against a strong Soviet squad by 126 points to 109.

The American women were happy because they won four out of ten events against the "invincible" Russian ladies and only lost by 44 points to 63 although they feared they might be swamped.

Reds Are Happy
The Russians were very happy indeed because by adding up men's and women's scores they found they had beaten the U.S. 172 points to 170.

Not even this quaint claim by the Russians, who previously had promised the American team in writing that it would regard the competition as two separate meets, could erase the smiles all around.

"Let them claim it if they want to," said U.S. Coach George Eastment.

"What's the difference? We're not going to make an issue of it," said Dan Ferris, honorary secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union.

A few American eyebrows shot up when the electric scoreboard in the efficiently-run 103,000-seat stadium began to lump men's and women's scores.

But the Russians have gone out of their way to be helpful, friendly and hospitable and officials of the American team decided to let them have their fun.

Knows Who Won
"We know who won," smiled Eastment.

Gavril Korobkov, the Russian coach, evaded a direct reply to a question of the scoring dispute.

BRAVES IMPRESS THE NEIGHBORS TO NORTH
TORONTO (UPI)—Canadian fans like the New York Yankees were impressed by the play of the Milwaukee Braves.

The Braves, making their first appearance in Canada since their 1957 World Series victory over the Yankees, scored a 3-2 victory over the International League All-Stars Monday night.

The game drew a near sell-out crowd of 10,506. All the Braves were on hand except outfielders Wes Covington, Bill Bruton and Andy Pafko.

RUSSIA MOBS US SPRINTER
MOSCOW (UPI)—"I just try to do a little better each time."

That's the philosophy that helped Rafer Johnson to become world decathlon record-holder and one of the finest all-around athletes in sports history.

Johnson was mobbed by Soviet fans Monday after setting a world record of 8,302 decathlon points in the U.S.-Russia track meet. They couldn't have picked a better man as the hero of the first dual meet between the two countries. Johnson is more than just a talented athlete.

Long before he became a favorite in this capital of the world's largest country, Rafer was a hero to most of the 2,500 people of Kingsburg, a little farm town in southern California's San Joaquin Valley.

Kingsburg citizens have been Rafer's biggest rooters since he was a lad in grammar school. This is interesting because MILITARY MILER—Gunder Hagg shows that they do not crop the hair in the Swedish armed forces. Hagg, who in 1947 held most world records from 1,500 to 5,000 meters, is 50 pounds above old weight.

Rafer's neighbors are nearly all white. He is a Negro. He made A-minus grades in high school and was elected president of the student body.

Johnson currently is a senior and president of the student body at U.C.L.A., one of America's great universities. Rafer went to U.C.L.A. on a scholastic—not an athletic—scholarship. He maintains a close-to-A average and plans to be a dentist.

Johnson, 22, stands 6 feet, 3 inches, and weighs 200 pounds. He also starred in basketball, football and baseball before concentrating on the decathlon. But he is a modest man who probably is less impressed with his decathlon prowess than any of his supporters.

Rafer was asked once if he believed he could set a decathlon point total no other athlete could surpass.

"If I could do anything no one else could do, the decathlon really wouldn't be much, would it?" he replied.

RANGERS TO TRAIN

Earlier in the day Bavasi said the Dodgers had "no plans" to replace Alton with Coach Charley Dressen, Bobby Bragan (former Pittsburgh and Cleveland manager and now skipper of the Dodgers) Spokane, Wash. farm club), or Leo Durocher. He did admit talking to Durocher recently about the club, but added:

"I'm not embarrassed about it. I consider Leo the most intelligent manager out of baseball."

DiBiase Credits Shadow Boxing
NEW YORK (UPI)—Welterweight Tony DiBiase today credited "shadow boxing on the road" for the improved left hook and greater stamina that enabled him to turn the tables on blood-smeared Jimmy Archer in their return TV 19-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena.

DiBiase, weighing 151 pounds to 149½ for his fellow New Yorker, won the unanimous 10-rounder Monday night with a booming left hook and a strong finish.

Archer bled so profusely from cuts at the corner of his right eye and on his left brow and from the nose that he will be suspended automatically for 30 days to let his wounds heal.

Floyd Glad Bout Getting Floored

OCEANSIDE, Calif. (UPI)—Heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson is "grateful" he got clobbered to the deck by his middleweight sparring partner, manager Cus D'Amato explained today.

D'Amato, while maintaining Floyd wasn't really knocked down Monday but merely was off balance when slugged with a right to the head, put it this way: "Every time Patterson gets hit he thinks he did something wrong."

And, as a matter of fact, Cus went on, "he's grateful for the opportunity of having something called to his attention he didn't realize before."

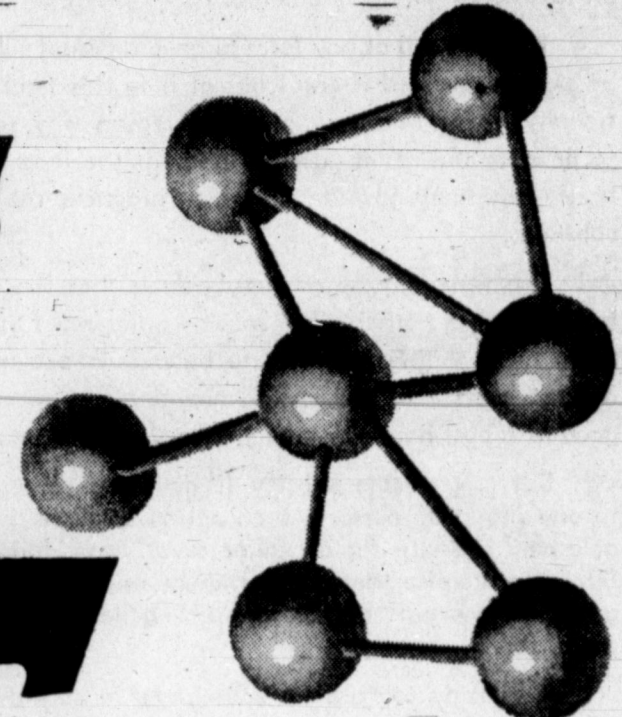

The man who sent Patterson sprawling in his training camp here Monday was Jose Torres, a Puerto Rican who was a member of the U.S. 1956 Olympic boxing team. Floyd maintained he "was slipping" at the time the well-placed blow landed. He wasn't hurt.

"Patterson wants his sparring partners to be good," D'Amato continued. "The harder they are to hit, the harder he has to work to hit 'em. He welcomes any improvement in them."

"If a fighter hits him, he has to think that much harder. He has to figure out why he got hit and this is very helpful."

ARRIVE FOR DAVIS CUP PLAY
NEW YORK (UPI)—Enrique Morea, Eduardo Soriano and Ernesto Rios, the Argentine tennis players who will oppose the United States in the North American Zone Davis Cup final, arrived in New York Sunday by plane. The Cup series will be played at Rye, N. Y., Aug. 15-17.

The Pampa Daily News YOUR FREEDOM NEWSPAPER

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is not license. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule, The Ten Commandments and the Declaration of Independence.

This newspaper is dedicated to promoting and preserving YOUR freedom as well as our own. For only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

Fallacies Of Subsidies

The ideal respecting government is that it will treat all persons with equal force and equal favor. Any step removed from such equality becomes at once an unfair assistance to some and an unfair assessment against others.

Thus, if we were to follow the ideal, we would be constrained to say that any assistance given by government to some persons, must be wrong. And likewise, any time certain persons are assessed whereas other escape the assessment, an additional wrong is created.

The true evil of any form of governmental subsidy should be starkly revealed if one looks at it in this light. But, additionally, there is a very practical reason why subsidies fail to produce the results desired and, in the long run, tend to destroy the very government which practices the granting of subsidies.

The very purpose of a subsidy is that it will aid some but will not aid others. The subsidy is intended as a favor, to shore up a failing business, to buttress a person's finances against a show of poverty, to provide some service or some good at a cost borne by others than the recipient.

But any time a subsidy is delivered to one person or to one group of persons, such action awakens in the minds of others a desire for a similar favor. And, forever working from the premise that a government must be fair, a clamor grows on the part of the non-subsidized for some favor to them, too.

A subsidy to farmers encourages a subsidy to wholesalers. A subsidy to wholesalers encourages one for retailers. A subsidy to retailers encourages one for their customers. And so, on and on the clamor for subsidies continues, each clamor based upon a prior subsidy delivered to someone somewhere.

How long can such subsidizing continue? Clearly it can continue only so long as the government is showing favoritism to some at the expense of others. If the government ever did attempt to pass out subsidies on a fair and equal basis, a subsidy would be no subsidy at all. If all persons in America, for instance, were to be assessed ten dollars so that all persons in America could receive a subsidy of ten dollars, the purpose of the subsidy is lost. A subsidy retains value only so long as it is not generally delivered. For subsidies to be employed, a favored group, a favored class must be created. But this is contrary to the ideal, as we have shown.

A precise example of this kind of thing is to be found in a recent bill approved by the Senate which now goes back to the House for further study and, perhaps, eventual passage.

The bill provides that the government will subsidize the construction of two new ocean liners, one for the United States Lines, a private firm, and the other for the American President Lines, still another private firm.

For United States Lines, the government will build a $130 million vessel and then sell it to U. S. L. for $47 million. The taxpayers are thus compelled to subsidize this steamship line to the tune of $83 million.

For the American President Lines, the government will pay out $92 million and then sell the completed liner for $34 million. The cost to the taxpayers in this case will be $58 million.

The excuse given for government interventionism in these cases is that in the event of war the two liners thus built at taxpayers' expense could be quickly converted to troop carriers.

But if this is justified, then the government could, with equal logic, be expected to subsidize the automobile industry. For, in the event of war, an automobile plant can be converted to the manufacture of tanks or field artillery.

Similarly, almost any industry could have a claim for a government subsidy. For, in the event of war, almost any industry could be converted to the use of government. And in each case, private property and the right of a business to make its own way without government help, is deeply injured.

There is no sound reason why a steamship line should be subsidized at all. All of the money must come from production anyway. And since the government produces nothing, but merely collects money by means of force employed against the taxpayers, such a practice puts the government into still another business, and renders our freedom that much more precarious.

The whole idea of subsidy ought to be carefully reviewed. The government should be forbidden to subsidize anyone at any time for any purpose.

Test The Kind Of Education You Want For Your Children

Since there is nothing more important to parents than the kind of education their children get, you cannot be too careful in judging what kind of an education you want your children to have.

Since I believe that the means used predetermines the results secured, I am convinced that the confusion we are in today is a result of the wrong kind of education. And by "confusion" I mean a decline in individual responsibility, a decline in goodwill, unemployment, stupendous government debts, decreasing value of the dollar, ever-increasing taxes, rapidly with which we are losing our liberty and growth of government and almost continuous war.

Some 70 years ago Assistant Attorney General of the United States, Zach. Montgomery, in discussing education, presented the following as a test as to how the parents actually believed their children should be educated. He posed this question to those who believed in government-run schools: Would you as a parent be willing to enter into a contract with your best friend - that is, with the person you had the most confidence in - to turn over to that friend the selection of the textbooks and means used in education and you have no power or right to cancel the agreement?

It is hard to conceive of any rational person who would ever enter into any such agreement. Then if you are not willing to trust your best friend and the man or woman you have the most confidence in, then does it seem logical to turn over to politicians the final say as to how your child should be educated and you having no authority to educate the youth without permission of the politicians?

It certainly seems irrational if you would not consent to give your closest friend authority to educate your child and give politicians this unlimited power over the education of your child. Your friend would have no axes to grind other than trying to develop the child as he saw fit while the politician undoubtedly will try to educate the child in a manner that will increase his power over the lives of other people rather than develop the faculties of the youth of the land to be self-reliant and to have respect for the equal rights of every other person.

It is hard to conceive how a communist could be successful in teaching children to believe in the rights in private property. Just so it is hard to conceive how schools that use the means of initiated force or that might-makes-right can successfully teach the youth of the land to believe that there is a higher law and a higher power than the government. This is true because we learn most by imitating others, and when those to whom we are entrusted to be educated do not have enough confidence in themselves to teach well enough that people will voluntarily employ them, it is a little hard to understand how the child in his formative period of years could be taught to believe that he should get what he gets by might-makes-right or the use of collective aggressive force.

It would seem that to believe in this kind of education one must repudiate part of the Sermon on the Mount where Jesus said: (Matt. 7:16-17) "Ye shall know them by their fruits. Do men gather grapes of thorns, or figs of thistles? Even so every good tree bringeth forth good fruit; but a corrupt tree bringeth forth evil fruit. A good tree cannot bring forth evil fruit, neither can a corrupt tree bring forth good fruit."

This same thought, that the means used predetermines the results, was expressed by St. Paul, according to Goodspeed, when he declared: (Galatians 6:7-8) "Do not be deceived. God is not to be sneered at. A man will reap just what he sows. The man who sows to gratify his physical cravings will reap destruction from them, and the man who sows to benefit the spirit will reap eternal life from the Spirit."

It would seem that we should be constantly trying to improve our own ideals as we can teach best by example. Not to teach by example is to neglect our responsibility for the spiritual and physical and mental development of our children.

Every causationist believes, with the great moral teachers of the ages, that we reap what we sow, and if we are not satisfied with the growth of government and the irresponsibility of the individual, we should thoroughly investigate the means we are using in educating ourselves and our children.

Robert Allen Reports:

Services Due Larger Budget Than Proposed

WASHINGTON — The powerful Senate Appropriations Committee is going to give the military services a considerably larger budget than President Eisenhower proposed for them.

The bipartisan leaders of the Committee have decided on a budget around $39.3 billion.

A few weeks ago the House voted $38.409 billion.

Neither total includes special funds for the Middle East crisis.

These emergency expenditures will be handled in a separate appropriation measure. The amount is still under consideration.

The President has been apprized of the Senate Committee's back-stage decision. Also that the Committee has overruled him on the following far-reaching issues:

Added $200,000,000 to this budget to maintain the Army at a strength of 900,000 and the Marine Corps at 200,000. The President urged the Army be cut by 30,000 and the Marines by 25,000.

Gave the Navy an additional $600,000,000 to build nine new atomic submarines. Instead of the five recommended by the President.

Provided an extra $100,000,000 to speed up development of the Air Force's still-untested intercontinental ballistic missile TITAN, and a new solid-propellant intermediate range ballistic missile MINUTE MAN.

Specifically directed Defense Secretary McElroy to keep the National Guard at its present level and the Reserves at 300,000. It was proposed to sharply cut both.

BUSINESS AS USUAL — Doughty young King Hussein is apparently quite confident the grave peril facing him and his country will be speedily and successfully overcome. The Jordan monarch has accepted an invitation to visit Nationalist Chinese President Chiang Kai-shek in early November. Similarly, the grim Middle East crisis is not disrupting trade between Jordan and Yugoslavia. Jordan is going right ahead filling an order for 75,000 tons of phosphate to Yugoslavia. Only change is that shipments are via the port of Aqaba instead of Beirut.

One direct legislative result of the Middle East explosion is to improve the chances for establishment of a Joint Congressional Committee on the Central Intelligence Agency. It's the only major agency not under committee control. That's long been advocated but CIA has successfully averted it on the ground its operations are super-secret. But CIA's stunning failure to give any advance warning on the Iraq revolt has won important congressional backing for a Joint Committee. Senator Mike Mansfield (D., Mont.) who has offered such a bill, is being urged by both Republican and Democratic leaders to press for its consideration at this session.

NEW RED AIR THREAT — Pentagon authorities now have some highly disturbing details on Russia's latest strategic bomber. It's the two-engine turboprop Tu-114, of which we have no comparable plane.

Very little has been known about the actual performance and capabilities of this unusual strategic bomber, which apparently has immense range on cheap, low-grade fuel.

According to a startling report, the Tu-114 can fly from Russia to the U.S. and back, at more than 500 miles per hour, and without refueling on ordinary gasoline.

The chilling significance of this sinister capability is the following: It means the Soviet has surpassed us in strategic bomber strength sooner than anticipated. Last winter, Air Force leaders told Congress the U.S. would be able to maintain its superiority in manned bombers until early 1959. It is now clear the Tu-114 definitely torpedoed that estimate.

This grim conclusion is based on an unusual report from Iron Curtain sources.

This secret Soviet report is a detailed account of two remarkable test flights by Tu-114D planes — twin-engine turboprop cargo versions of the Tu-114 strategic bomber; that is, virtually the same plane in transport form.

That's why this report is so important and alarming.

In one of these tests, a Tu-114D, carrying 24 passengers and crew, flew non-stop from Moscow to Vladivostok, Great Soviet n.a.v.a.l base on the Sea of Japan. The plane covered the 6,000 miles, without refueling, at more than 500 mph.

In the other test, early this month, a Tu-114D flew 21,000 miles in 48 hours and 30 minutes. This flight, made in four stages, took the plane over 15 Soviet republic capitals. Speeds averaged 400 mph, and non-stop flights approximately 5,300 miles.

The U.S. has no two-engine plane capable of such a performance.

The U.S. has strategic bombers that have flown faster and further than this Red turboprop. For example: The B-47, famed workhorse of the Strategic Air Command, has a non-stop record of 21,000 miles in 47 hours and 30 minutes. Also, the B-47 has flown from the U.S. to Europe in less than five hours at upwards of 650 mph.

This bomber has six engines, and has to be refueled in the air.

Similarly, the jet B-52 and B-58 are four and eight-engine bombers that consume immense quantities of high-grade fuel and require refueling in transit. And the obsolescent B-36, of which the Air Force still has a number of squadrons, while a turboprop bomber, has eight engines.

Capping the disquieting report on the capabilities of the Tu-114, Intelligence has information that the Soviet is preparing to put the Tu-114D into passenger service in the Middle East and Far East.

It is known negotiations are underway for such a line to Indonesia.

Nobody can please everybody. The paper says Khrushchev may lose his job because he isn't tough enough.

I asked a society editor to explain the California primaries to me the other day. She summed it up this way: "Knowland's been invited to the reception while Knight's only been invited to the church. But it looks like Pat Brown will be a member of the wedding."

One Square Yard Per Person To Live On

By HENRY McLEMORE

One square yard per person to live on, and no more.

That's the prediction for the not so distant future by the United Nation's Bureau of Social Affairs, and it is based on the wild and woolly increase in the world's population in the past few years.

Not all of the people are going to be lucky in the square yard they get to live on, for the land includes deserts, mountain tops, glaciers, jungle and marshes.

To most of us, this sounds a bit too crowded for comfort. We'd like two square yards, anyway, particularly those of us who have itchy feet and like to travel.

But there are many to whom the prediction brings gladness. I refer, of course, to those zealous One-Worlders who want the world to be just one great, big, teeming boarding house family, so to speak.

This one square yard per person deal is right down their alley. There will be no national differences then. The Eskimo standing on one leg on his iceberg, the Brazilian astride his jungle plot, and the Tibetan balancing on his space atop his Himalaya, all will be too uncomfortable to fuss at one another. They'll have too many pains in the legs to worry about patriotism, national sovereignty, oil deposits or national boundaries.

Here, in the United States, the limit of one yard to each person is going to call for a great many changes. It is going to play hob with the craze for swimming pools, especially in Hollywood. The pools will have to be a great deal smaller, especially those of stars with extra large feet.

It won't affect automobile parking too much. Parking spaces are close to the minimum today, and a shrinkage of an inch or two won't make much difference.

Nor will the friends of Bernard Goldfine experience too much discomfort. The big-hearted industrialist probably will have extra yards of land to hand out to his friends and business connections.

But in most cases, the one-yard limit will change our way of living.

Sports will come to an end. Even if a man agrees to stand on the shoulders of his neighbor for a while, and thus clear a whole yard for play, the space will be too small for track meets, football games and the like. Even the Los Angeles Dodgers, accustomed as they are to a short fence, would find a 36-inch left field wall a trifle close.

There won't be much home gardening. Oh, maybe a man will be able to grow one radish for his table, or one green pea, but the day of watermelons, pumpkins and corn will be over.

Having only a yard will save husbands a lot of money. There won't be any beauty parlors, and even if there are, the owner's yard is liable to be in the middle of a jungle, and very inaccessible. The day of wives longing for fur coats will be over, for there will be no fur-bearing animals around.

If I'm alive when the earth becomes this crowded, I am going to change my line of business and become a foot powder salesman, or a wholesaler in arch supports.

methods of improved management are being developed.

The amount and kind of exercise can be closely adjusted to the patient's ability. This is made possible in part by the newer methods of finding out how severe the underlying trouble really is.

The Doctor Says:

By EDGAR F. JORDAN, M. D.

Can grief, worry or despair cause death as the result of a "broken heart"?

Most of the references I have seen in this question have not been in medical books or journals, but rather in romantic novels which tell of some young man or woman disappointed in love who died of a "broken heart."

I doubt that this can occur. If a young person dies from heart disease after a disappointing love affair, he or she probably had the heart disease before the love affair.

But I do not want to be too rigid about this because the emotions do influence bodily functions. In one form of heart disease, angina pectoris (and possibly in others), emotional factors certainly can bring on symptoms of disorder.

For example, one leading physician who had angina pectoris himself many years ago is said to have stated that "his life was in the hands of any rascal who chose to annoy him."

All this has been brought on by a 70-year-old correspondent who wrote that she has had a heart condition for the past eight years which she was told was a "broken" heart which has "mended." However, she adds that she sometimes has chest pains which are relieved by taking nitroglycerin.

It seems almost certain, even at a distance, that this good lady has angina pectoris.

Angina is a symptom resulting from a narrowing of the coronary arteries supplying the heart. Pain usually does not develop when the person is resting or exercising only slightly. It comes on when the heart muscle is working harder and needs greater quantities of blood.

Thus someone who has angina pectoris has to learn how much exertion he or she can take without producing the pain.

It was often thought that a person with angina pectoris could not live long and could not avoid severe suffering. Both of these beliefs have proved too pessimistic.

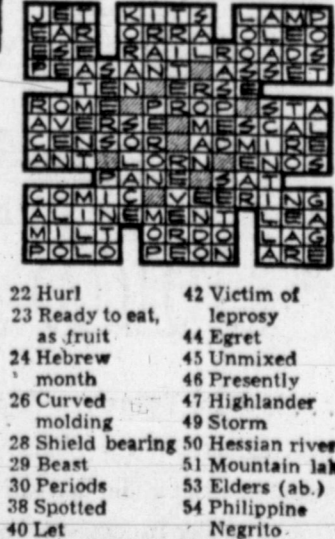

Most angina victims, if they get proper care and adjust their activities, can enjoy life as much as before and have little discomfort, and that only rarely. Furthermore, the outlook for life is not nearly so dismal as was formerly believed.

In addition to the better outlook which is now recognized,

News Outlook

United Press International correspondents look ahead at the news that will make headlines.

POLITICS

Tory politicians may force a general election in Britain in the fall. They want to cash in on Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's sudden, unexpected wave of popularity resulting from his leadership in Western summit conference preparations. Macmillan's government has been thinking in terms of elections in the fall of 1959, but Conservative political leaders think the coming months may provide the Tories with their best campaign ammunition.

JAPAN

The West can expect Japan to speak louder and more independently on world affairs in the future. The Kishi government gained confidence in its ability to play a role in international politics by the good reception given its Middle East resolution in the United Nations Security Council last week. The resolution was vetoed by Russia, but the Japanese were gratified by the support given it by the United States and the other western and neutral powers.

DEMONSTRATIONS

The Italian Communist Party will try to ride the crest of anti-colonialist sentiment in Italy to new popularity. The result probably will be a new wave of scattered, anti-Western violence throughout Italy. The Reds organized the American and British troop landings in Lebanon and Jordan.

SUBVERSION

Republic of Korea police are getting ready for a new drive against Communist subversives inside South Korea. Police spokesmen say the Reds have stepped up their activities to take advantage of anti-Western feeling resulting from the Middle East crisis. Several hundred leaflets with such slogans as "Yankee go home," "Get out of the Middle East," and "Laborers and farmers, rally against American imperialists," have been scattered throughout Seoul. A high-ranking police officer says this is the first such incident since the end of the Korean war.

ALGERIA

You can expect new signs of restlessness among Algeria's French rightists. They still are dissatisfied with the "liberal" look of Premier Charles de Gaulle's North African policies. The extremists are outnumbered on their own Public Safety Committee in Algiers, so they may try to launch a mass movement to rally popular support to their side.

SPORTS

The U.S. track and field team for the 1960 Olympics in Rome will be even stronger than Americans were in the 1956 Olympics in Melbourne. Most of this strength is coming from a promising group of high school stars just entering college. Most notable addition is 60-foot shot putter Dallas Long. However, there still is no sign of a U.S. buildup in minor sports that would enable the Americans to recapture the overall Olympic title from Russia.

Business Views

United Press International Steel demand is piking up, aided mostly by automotive orders and to some degree by the Middle East crisis, Steel magazine reported. The weekly trade magazine said initial orders from Detroit have been no bigger than last year's but are more than welcome. Chrysler and General Motors already have started ordering. Ford will place orders soon.

The Federal National Mortgage Assn. announced it would put on public sale next Thursday 200 million dollars worth of secondary market operations debentures. The agency said 100 million dollars of the total would be three-month debentures maturing Nov. 10. The other 100 million would be a 10-month issue maturing next June 10.

Auto sales rose to an average of 13,100 cars daily in the second 10 days of July—9 per cent above the 12,000-car pace in the first third of July but 18.7 per cent under the like 1957 period. On July 20 dealer stocks of new cars were down to 675,000 from 695,000 at the start of the month.

Pacific Gas & Electric Co. announced plans to tap energy that lies in the molten center of the earth by producing power from the natural steam geysers that play in the hilly area about 85 miles north of San Francisco. The initial cost of production and transmission was estimated at two million dollars.

Designer Eliminates Sack Look

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
PARIS (UPI)—Jean Patou has come up with something for the boys—fitted waistlines, bosoms daringly displayed, skirts showing plenty of leg.

The firm's brand new designer, Roland Karl, 25, showed a collection which stressed shape and had no trace of last year's sack. A couple of short black cocktail dresses were cut so wide open at the front that even some of the women reporters gasped. Other cocktail and evening dresses featured low low-cut backs. The "something for the boys" even showed in the name of one of the dresses. It was dubbed "Jimmy's."

Patou's two-hour parade of daytime and evening fashions kicked off a week-long period of fall and winter clothes previews by members of the high-fashion Chambre Syndicale.

CHUCKLES

ST. CROIX BEACH, Wis. (UPI)—Service station attendant Ronald Anderson told authorities that a bandit who held him up two weeks ago either has a short memory or a colossal nerve. Anderson said the bandit returned during the weekend to buy gasoline.

WEST YELLOWSTONE, Mont. (UPI)—The Rev. and Mrs. Paul Frickman reported Sunday they saw a bear enter their car and eat their picnic lunch while they were viewing the scenery in Yellowstone National Park.

DERBY, England (UPI)—The managing director of one of Britain's largest mineral water firms told housewives today they "might as well" give their children bottled beer than home-made ginger beer.

Bill Sturgess said laboratory tests showed that a sample of fermented home-brewed ginger beer contained more than 7 per cent alcohol, compared with the average 3 to 4 per cent alcohol found in bottled beer.

Bids Asked On Work At Base

Bids will be invited Aug. 7 on construction of a perimeter fence at Amarillo Air Force Base, Amarillo, by the U.S. Army Engineer District, Tulsa, Okla.

Work under this contract includes construction of approximately 20,000 lineal feet of new woven wire fence with three strands of barbed wire above; removal of approximately 19,000 lineal feet of existing fence; relocation of approximately 3,500 lineal feet of existing fence; modifications to approximately 3,100 lineal feet of existing fence; and construction of ditch crossings and cattle guards. Estimated cost of construction will not exceed $100,000. Work is to be accomplished in 100 calendar days.

Tentative bid opening date is set for August 28.

Postal Rates To Increase Friday

By HELEN THOMAS
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Letter writers have until midnight Thursday to get to the mail box if they want to post a letter bearing only a 3-cent stamp. Starting Friday, Aug. 1, first-class letters must bear 4 cents worth of postage and air mail letters will require 7 cents worth of stamps.

The former 2-cent post card will take a 3-cent stamp after 12:01 a.m. Friday. Air mail post cards will cost 5 cents apiece.

Any combination of stamps may be used to cover the new rates. But the switch will vastly popularize the present 4-cent lavender stamp carrying a likeness of Abraham Lincoln.

There will be a new 7-cent air mail stamp—blue-white with a jet airplane on it—for the convenience of the stamp-buying public.

Postpone Penalty Fee
Postal officials warned that there would be no grace period while the nation becomes accustomed to the new rates, despite some reports to that effect.

The post office has, however, put off until Oct. 31 collection of a 5-cent penalty for delivery of mail lacking the right amount of postage.

But postmen have been ordered to see that all mail postmarked Friday bears sufficient postage or it will not be delivered. If a letter is short on postage, the mailman will try to collect from the addressee. If he refuses, the mail will go back to the sender if it bears a return address. Otherwise it will wind up in the dead letter office and be destroyed.

Postal officials said the nation's 36,605 post offices are well stocked to handle the expected big demand for higher-priced stamps. In addition, it is prepared to sell 4-cent embossed stamped envelopes featuring a portrait of Benjamin Franklin and a 7-cent embossed air mail stamped envelope, similar to the old 6-cent air mail envelope except for the change in denomination.

Old Stamps Usable

Most of the increases allowed by the new law for second class mail are slated to become effective Jan. 1. The one exception, however, is a hike in the price for individuals mailing newspapers, magazines or other publications.

The new rate will be 2 cents for the first two ounces and 1 cent more for each additional ounce. At present, the rate is 2 cents for the first two ounces and 1 cent for each additional ounce.

Third class mailing of unsealed greeting cards, circulars and merchandise also will call for slightly higher postage. The new rate will be 3 cents for the first two ounces and 1½ cents for each additional ounce.

The Post Office Department said the Aug. 1 postage boosts would bring in an estimated half billion dollars a year in new revenue. Even so, postal officials said the department would continue to operate about 600 million dollars in the red because of a 270-million-dollar outlay in postal pay hikes.

Remember, old stamps are good as they ever were. They can be used by simply adding a 1-cent green George Washington stamp to the letter or card.

The new domestic postage stamp increases also will apply to mail sent to Mexico and Canada. Other international postage increases are scheduled to go into effect on Aug. 1 and on Jan. 1. Call your post office about rates on letters being sent abroad.
