DICKERSON NAMED TOP 'YOUNG MAN'

By WALLY TRUESDELL
Daily News Staff Writer

Clyde Dickerson, a Jaycee "Boss," walked off with a distinguished service award Monday night at the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce annual "Bosses Night" banquet. Dickerson was hailed as Pampa's "Outstanding Young Man of the Year." Warren Hasse, winner of last year's award, made the presentation of an engraved plaque.

Before presenting the award, Hasse alluded to the civic and church activities of this "comparative newcomer." Dickerson took over the management of the local Southwestern Bell Telephone Company 17 months ago and, as Hasse said, "has been doing a good job."

Besides heading the Jaycee's beard-growing contest in conjunction with the Top O' Texas Rodeo, and the Jaycee's annual Pancake Supper, Dickerson led the 1958 United Fund campaign and has been an active worker in the Chamber of Commerce and with Scout Troop 80 of the First Methodist Church.

Ike's Budget Combed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower's precariously balanced 77 billion dollar budget came under close scrutiny today in a Congress conspicuous of growing debate over government spending and taxes.

The House Appropriations Committee began a study behind closed doors of the new budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1. Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson and Budget Director Maurice H. Stans were summoned to testify.

Democratic congressional leaders were openly skeptical of the administration's budget proposal. It envisions a 70-million-dollar surplus for the 1960 fiscal year.

Motorists now pay three cents in federal tax for every gallon of gasoline purchased. The House Ways and Means Committee, which must originate all tax legislation in Congress, began closed-door hearings on a bill revising upward the taxation of life insurance companies. This proposal also was a part of the administration's program.

Castro Confined With Pneumonia

By FRANCIS L. MCCARTHY
United Press International

HAVANA (UPI) — Revolutionary leader Fidel Castro was confined to bed today with a high fever and heavy chest congestion, it was reported by a "touch of pneumonia" and as a "bad case of grippe."

Dr. Augusto Fernandez Conde, a pulmonary specialist, examined him shortly before midnight. He prescribed medication, placed an electric hot pad on his chest and forbade all visitors. "Two nurses were in attendance."

Fernandez was not available for comment on Castro's condition. Miss Bianco-Depece, Castro's secretary, described the 102-103 degree fever as a "touch of pneumonia." His personal guard, Lt. Antonio Prida, called it a "bad case of grippe."

Confers With Raul
Prida reported Castro took only soup for dinner and seemed hoarse and exhausted. He received his brother Raul, military commander in Oriente Province, for a conference before Raul Castro went to the presidential palace to meet newsmen.

Raul said 2,000 or 3,000 Batista supporters would be tried if the strictest justice was applied but that executions would be confined to those guilty of the most outstanding atrocities during the Batista regime.

Judge Named For Livestock Show

Milton England, an outstanding livestock judge, has been selected to judge the Top O' Texas Livestock Show, scheduled for Mar. 2, 3, 4. The decision was made at a meeting of the Show's Executive Board Monday.

England is in the agriculture department of Panhandle A & M College, Goodwell, Okla. He is considered one of the most outstanding livestock judges in the Southwest.

Judging will take place Mar. 2. A sale will be held Mar. 4.

Fidel would recover rapidly enough to address a scheduled mass rally before the palace Wednesday afternoon, but an aide said "knowing Fidel I will tell you that if he can 'rest,' he will keep that commitment to the people."

Invites U.S. Critics
Castro Monday invited a number of his U.S. congressional critics to Cuba to witness the demonstration and to sit in on the "war crimes" trials to learn the truth of revolutionary justice.

Most declined but Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-N.Y.) planned to attend.

Meanwhile seven busloads of farmers from the Oriente Province — mountains where Castro fought a two-year guerrilla war — arrived to testify at the war crimes trials now expected to start in Havana on Thursday. More than 600 Batistianos are in jail here awaiting trial.

TOP O' TEXAS IS DUE SNOW

United Press International
Freezing mist and rain "glazed" the highways of the Panhandle and South Plains today in advance of a blizzard expected to cover the countryside with up to six inches of snow.

Weather forecasters predicted that the new onslaught of winter will drive all the way to the coast by Wednesday morning.

It will move across east, south central and north central Texas with thunderstorms, indicating its violence. Snow was predicted as far south as the Red River Valley.

The Fort Worth weather bureau issued a special warning for West Texas.

"Snow warning Panhandle and upper South Plains," the weather bureau said. "Local blizzard conditions tonight. Snow accumulating six inches or more Panhandle and upper South Plains early Wednesday with temperatures falling to 5-15 degrees."

Council Rules Against Trailers

By MARVIN OLSEN
Daily News Staff Writer

Pampa City Commissioners this morning passed an ordinance to restrict persons with trailer homes from moving their trailers into residential areas of the city.

The swiftly drawn ordinance was written and approved following an appearance by Art August, 1615 Williston, who requested action be taken to keep trailer homes away from permanent dwellings.

Aftergut told commissioners his neighbors were "up in arms" about trailers disturbing the peace and beauty of their residential areas.

A number of opinions were expressed by those present: Mayor Lynn Boyd — "We have had this problem the past three years and it is time for some action. The city has trailer courts; they are here for a purpose. Why can't these trailers be moved there?"

Aftergut — "We are ready to start legal action to have the trailer homes moved."

Attorney Robert Gordon — "A person has the right to put a trailer home on a vacant lot in Pampa that has no deed restrictions."

Commissioner Ed Myatt — "Send a man to suggest persons with trailers move into trailer courts."

It was generally felt by persons present, however, that Pampa has too few attractive trailer courts, and none that are close to schools.

It was also pointed out by Tax Collector Aubrey Jones that in general trailer home owners escape most tax burdens. Most trailer home owners move before their property can be assessed, and a few pay city taxes.

The ordinance passed this morning on first reading is expected to be considered in the city's building and zoning commission.

Certain reservations are expected to be made to make it possible for permanently established, tax-paying trailer home owners to remain where they are.

In other business the commission rejected a plat for the proposed Terra Alta addition — originally called the Engler-Bucklew addition. The addition is bounded by 18th St. and Deatur, and Banks and Nelson streets.

The plat was rejected principally because it would eliminate Worrell Ave. and make "long blocks" of Nelson, Sumner, Faulkner and Banks street.

The plat was presented as a week ago by Rebo Stinson of Highland Homes. Stinson requested approval to scrap his previously approved Engler-Bucklew addition to use the new Terra Alta plat.

A letter was dictated to Stinson stating the commission's objections.

AMERICAN GOOD BYE

President Eisenhower bids farewell to Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan after the latter's 16-day tour of America. Ike and Mikoyan got nowhere on talks of the not-so-cool "cold-war" situation.

Earlier in the day, Mikoyan warned in an address to the National Press Club that Russia probably would use force if the Western Allies resorted to military means to remain in Berlin.

Declaring that "the cold war is the prelude — or may be the prelude — to hot war," Mikoyan said "We have no other alternative — either peace and friendship or war."

The hitherto polite facade of the Mikoyan visit, cracked wide open when he came out of a meeting with Undersecretary of State C. Douglas Dillon to charge that the United States government wanted to "continue the cold war" and expand trade.

Rejects Mikoyan Requests
Dillon had just turned down Mikoyan's requests for (1) large scale credit in financial Soviet investment.

In his departure statement, the No. 2 Soviet leader apparently sought to soften the angry controversy raised Monday by his blunt criticism of U.S. trade policies and other cold war problems.

He said he will tell the Russian people about the "warm hospitality" I encountered throughout my trip.

Mikoyan was reported anxious to get back and report to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev on the results of his American trip, during which he said he found the people wanting peace and more business but the U.S. government unyielding on cold war issues.

Mikoyan swapped recriminations with the State Department Monday after he got the word that the United States was not buying his ideas for increasing East-West trade on Moscow's terms.

Warns Of Force
He told newsmen at a glittering Russian Embassy reception Monday night that he couldn't see why Russia should give any ground in the Berlin issue or other thorny problems when "no body else is making any concessions."

Earlier in the day, Mikoyan warned in an address to the National Press Club that Russia probably would use force if the Western Allies resorted to military means to remain in Berlin.

Recovery Proves Eisenhower Right

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower said today the nation's quick recovery from last year's business recession proved he was right in opposing tax cuts and a big public works program. The most important "lesson" of the recession, the President said in his annual economic report to Congress, is that the American economy has remarkable power to "hold a downturn within fairly narrow limits."

He said the government should take this lesson to heart, and be careful in any future recession to "avoid hasty and disproportionate actions, such as tax reductions that needlessly endanger the prospects of future fiscal balance."

settle a wrangle over committee assignments. The 34 GOP senators each must get one "major" committee assignment, and some veteran Republicans have refused to give up seats.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) opened the 1959 drive for labor reform legislation by introducing an anti-racketeering bill which, he said, would virtually put Teamster President James R. Hoffa "out of business."

The administration was expected to submit its own labor legislation later this week. Its proposals are certain to be stiffer than those embraced in Kennedy's bill.

Eisenhower Sends Report To Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower sends his annual economic report to Congress today. There were indications he will call for new steps in the fight against inflation.

The economic report, required by law to be submitted by Jan. 20, also will outline the nation's recovery from the business recession of last year and the unemployment situation.

But the President was expected to place the most emphasis on the threat of inflation in the growing American economy, and the danger of the wage-price spiral.

In a statement issued Monday when he sent his 77-billion-dollar budget to Congress, Eisenhower warned that inflation means "a threat to the prosperous functioning of our economy."

The President also issued the inflation warning in his State of the Union message Jan. 9. He told Congress two of the most important causes of inflation are the wage-price spiral and continued deficit financing.

He said inflation could be prevented if business and labor leaders, and the government, exercised statesmanship to hold down rising costs.

Eisenhower also disclosed that he would ask Congress to amend the Employment Act of 1946 to make it clear that the government "intends to use all appropriate means to protect the buying power of the dollar."

Despite the inflationary threat, the President was expected to paint a bright picture of the American economy. In his State of the Union message, he said the next year was expected to be the most prosperous in the nation's history.

Richard Cass Plays Tonight

A cross-country Community Concert tour will bring perceptive young Richard Cass to the piano Tuesday night in the auditorium of Pampa Junior High School. If Cass playing is all that critics say, Pampa will really have a concert.

Cass is the Sherman University student who played his way to Europe on a Fulbright Scholarship and returned to make a hit in New York. He emerged from his Town Hall debut as "a genuine musical personality, whose playing communicates to his hearers." In the words of John Briggs, a New York Times music critic, "He has musical convictions and gives them utterance in his playing."

Cass has upheld his reputation and as more and more audiences make the acquaintance of his artistry he has been hailed as one of the finest of the younger generation of American pianists.

Tuesday's concert will begin at 8 p.m. Following the concert, the Pampa Music Teachers Association will hold a reception in the City Club Room. Some 150 music teachers and their guests are expected.

The foundation has expanded its work to include birth defects and arthritis as well as polio.

sweeps during the night. Various Effects
The net result may send the mercury toward record all-time highs for the date in vast portions of the state today before the front sweeps in.

The weather bureau said the cold air system, which has dropped readings to zero and below in Montana and the Dakotas, was expected to surge southward again late today and tonight. If collision with the warm, moist Gulf air will have various effects.

In the Panhandle and South Plains, it will produce the heavy snow by tonight, while elsewhere it should touch off thundershowers and thunderstorms across the eastern two-thirds of the state.

First Sign
The only real sign of the impending "wintry blast at daybreak" was at Dalhart in the far northwest sector of the Panhandle where a freezing drizzle fell with temperatures at 26 degrees.

2 Accidents Are Reported

Two collisions were reported this morning on rain-slick highways in the Pampa area. Texas Highway Patrolman Travis Underwood reported both mishaps occurred between 8 and 9 a.m.

At 8:30, cars driven by Claude Parton, Oklahoma City, and Homer Kessinger, 1020 E. Fisher, collided two miles east of White Deer on Highway 60.

Kessinger, driving a 1959 model car, was taken to Highland General hospital for first aid.

At about 9 a.m. two cars slid together at an intersection five miles south of Pampa near the Skelly-Kingsmill gasoline plant.

The drivers were Albert G. Smith, 36, 2040 N. Faulkner, and Mrs. Edna B. Maul, Rt. 1. Both drivers escaped injury. Damages to both vehicles were light.

But a ray of hope was seen in the fact that they had agreed to keep trying and high American officials were predicting a four-power foreign ministers conference this spring.

The fire began about 5:45 p.m. Firemen blamed children playing in the garage.

Governor Pledges Balanced Budget

AUSTIN (UPI) — Gov. Price Daniel opened his second term today with a pledge to balance the budget and a promise to continue a battle for states' rights.

In a solemn 30-minute ceremony on the south steps of the historic pink granite state Capitol, Daniel received the oath of office from Chief Justice John E. Hickman of the Texas Supreme Court and outlined a program calling for revision of the state's financial procedures.

The 48-year-old former speaker of the Texas House of Representatives, attorney general of Texas and U.S. senator spoke after 55-year-old Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey was administered the oath of office for an unprecedented fifth term.

Speaks 12-Minutes
Daniel urged an overhaul of the state government's finances.

"It shall be the aim of this administration not only to balance the budget this year and provide for the needs of the next biennium, but also to maintain the pay-as-you-go program intended by our constitution and lay the groundwork for a permanent and more efficient reorganization of state government and revision of our fiscal procedures," he said in a 12-minute inaugural address.

Daniel called attention to the state's depleted general revenue fund, which now has a deficit of some 38 million dollars, and the tax needs which he will put before lawmakers Wednesday.

"I shall recommend to the Legislature tomorrow that we place first and foremost the requirement of the anticipated deficit before the end of the fiscal year, and I shall submit this as an emergency matter."

213 Separate Funds
"Secondly, I shall propose means for providing new revenues for the next biennium with an annual new tax bill smaller than the last one enacted in 1955," Daniel said.

The general revenue fund faces an expected deficit as of next Aug. 31 of some $5 million dollars.

"I shall propose that we enact measures," he said, "which will give greater respect to the general fund and the pay-as-you-go budget balanced as intended by the constitution." He pointed out there are 213 separate funds in the state treasury and 30 separate funds deposited in banks which never enter the treasury. Read The News Classified Ads.

No-Nonsense Diet—No. 3

Draw Up Your Chair And Join Others But Do Dieting At Family Dinner Table

Draw up your chair and join the family.

Editor's Note: Here's the third of a six-part diet series prepared by NEA's Food and Markets Editor with the active cooperation of the American Dietetic Association and 11 of the nation's top nutrition experts.

By GAYNOR MADDOX, NEA Food and Markets Editor

You are overweight. You want to get rid of that unwelcome and unhealthy fat. But before you start, do two things: Have a medical checkup and accept the scientific fact that eating, not starvation, is the basis of any effective weight reduction program.

Most medical and nutrition researchers in obesity agree that a 1,500-calorie a day diet will cause most anyone to lose weight. On only 1,500 calories a day you will undoubtedly be eating many fewer calories than you were eating when you put on those excess pounds. Therefore, with less food and join the family. In any long-term, effective weight reduction plan, emotional stability is essential. Unless the dieter can stay reasonably within the accustomed cultural and family pattern, he is likely to become depressed and be tempted to go off his diet. That is why eating with the family, though eating less, is recommended by both psychiatrists and nutritionists.

The University of California (Berkeley) School of Public Health gives these instructions in the calorie value of foods before a dieter starts on a weight loss program:

The calorie value of foods depends on the relative amounts of fat, sugar, or starch, protein, water and fiber they contain. Water and fiber, present in large amounts in vegetables and to a lesser degree in fruits, provide no calories. For this reason, celery, asparagus, cabbage, eggplant, broccoli, radishes, tomatoes, peppers, summer squash, lettuce, and other leafy vegetables provide virtually no calories. They may therefore be eaten in unrestricted amounts in reduction diets.

On the other hand, foods that contain relatively little moisture and fiber, such as breads and cereals, are relatively high in calories, especially so if they contain fat as well as starch and protein. Sugar, starch and protein are alike in calorie value. Fats contain slightly more than twice as many calories as sugars, starches, or protein.

Dr. Ruth L. Hueneman, associate professor of public health nutrition, at the university, outlined for NEA Services the basic menu for the entire family which appears with this article. It has modification for individual members, including the member on a 1,500-calorie diet.

NEXT: Emotional tension and weight.

Lullaby Shower Fetes Mrs. Roof

A baby shower, honoring Mrs. Lloyd Roof, was given on Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Franklin Bliss residence, 409 Lewry Street.

Arranged with a valentine scene, the table was covered with a red table cloth and white lace. The center piece was a white stork bearing red and white streamers, and surrounded by a ruffie, decorated with red hearts and miniature cupid.

A stork, flying a tiny passenger across country, was sketched in icing, on the white, bootie covered, cake. Heart-shaped red hot and red candy pacifiers were given as favors.

Word games were directed by Mrs. Lucy Lee.

Mrs. O. T. Tugent served the cake. Mrs. R. H. Cox served the apple cider and Mrs. Jimmy Parsons poured coffee.

Other hostesses were Mmes. Franklin Bailey, E. H. Isbel, Bob Darnell, Clifford Searl, Bill Cox, Eugene Turner, Kenneth Melson, and Virgil Poole.

Guests were Mmes. Derrel Hogsett, W. A. York, Claude Edwards, J. C. Steward, Hugh Layne, Calvin Hogan, Y. C. Fuchs, Jon E. Jones, Earnest Searl, Emma Cargill, Betty Nabors, and Laurann Dougherty.

Those sending gifts were Mmes. Dor Francis, H. A. Layne Jr. Jones, Burns, Kenneth Covatt, Letha Atkinson, Cecil Trollinger, Mary

College Professor Speaker For WD Graduating Class

WHITE DEER (Sp.) - "Starlit Eve" was the theme of a banquet honoring the graduating class of White Deer High School on Saturday evening, given by the Women's Missionary Union in the First Baptist Church.

Glittering stars on a blue field formed the background for the speakers' table. Arrangements of white candles and vari-colored stars in foil-covered holders were placed on blue streamers along the tables. Tiny candles in gumdrop and life-saver holders were the place favors.

Dr. John Freeman, professor of psychology at Wayland Baptist College, Plainview, the guest speaker, reminded guests the departmental colleges offer "the same academic work that is offered in state colleges, plus the advantages of a Christian atmosphere."

Bob Bryant, Ann Windom and Sam Satterfield, students at Wayland College, gave a group of musical numbers. Rev. E. J. Keith, Harris, Dorothy Jones, and Tom Hardegrees. Also, Fayette Bell-Barton, Alice Miller, Cynthia Taylor, Maggie Hubbard, Rosemary Kinsley and Mrs. H. J. Hampton.

Mrs. Tickel Leads New Bible Study

LEFORS (Sp.) - The Women's Society of Christian Service met in the Methodist Church on Wednesday with opening prayer led by Mrs. W. C. Breining followed with a song.

A new study was begun by Mrs. Gerald Tickel, who also gave the devotional and special prayer. The study for this day concerned missionary work in the United States and Canada.

Present were Mmes. Raymond Barnes, Gerald Tickel, Wesley Daniels, L. R. Spencer, Jeff Stubbins, L. W. Upham, Kathrine Elms, W. C. Breining, and Gladys Pafford.

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have been riding back and forth from work with a married man - I am single. I didn't ask HIM, he asked ME. At first he had other riders but I ended up just the two of us. His wife called me up and told me that she didn't like the idea of just the two of us riding together, so I am now taking the bus. There was nothing between us and I was insulted. Did she have a right to do this?

TAKING THE BUS

DEAR TAKING: His wife shouldn't have called you - she could have handled it by speaking to her husband. She guessed wrong this time, but depend on it - she knows her husband better than you do.

DEAR ABBY: I am very much interested in a beautiful young woman who is very quiet and extremely secretive about her past. She once told me that she has been married and divorced twice and has had a third marriage annulled. She is now 20. I am 28, a Mining Engineer, and have never been married. She is the first girl I've ever been in love with. When I try to get her to tell me more about herself she says she is living in the present, not the past. Do you think her past is important? Should I insist on knowing more about her or has she a right to keep her past a secret? NORM

DEAR NORM: You don't need a geiger counter to know there is plenty of still water running deep under the surface here. With the record history has for repeating itself, excavate a lot deeper before getting any more involved.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow who has raised a daughter to be a nice respectable young lady. She is now 21 years old and holds down a good job. She has been going for two years with a fellow who talks marriage to her but he is slippery about making anything official. Since I have no husband to talk to him, do you think I should do the talking and find out what his intentions are with my daughter? In my day, a fellow wasn't allowed to waste a girl's time.

"We're In For Brimful Of Hats, Girls" As New York Spring Hat Show Reveals

By GAY PAULEY, UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) - This spring a woman can be in the Easter Parade and never see it.

She will be hidden under the brim of her new bonnet.

The millinery creators of America, a group of 17 top-rated New York designers, this week staged their spring show for buyers from all parts of the nation.

And to sum up the results, girls, we're in for a brimful '59.

The 17 produced mushroom shapes which concealed the face from the nose up; shapes inspired by the pagoda of the Far East, copies of Chinese coolie hats and swaggy shapes with deep crown and down-turned brim reminiscent of those Garbo and Dietrich wore in the 1930's.

Christian Dior's New York millinery collection included one flower-trimmed hat inspired, the commentator frankly said, by a wastebasket.

Head Almost Hidden But most face-concealing hat in the group came from designer Irene, whose yellow horsehair coolie practically hid the model's head. I still wonder how she felt her way down the runway.

Not all the hats had down-draft brims. There were dozens of brimful hats.

RUTH MILLETT

If you don't want to start a husband-wife argument, stop before you start a sentence in any of the following ways -

The trouble with you is...
I've asked you repeatedly to...
You promised me you would...
I wish you wouldn't...
If you mother just wouldn't...
I don't suppose there's any use reminding you...
You're not listening to a word I'm saying...
I wouldn't listen when I tried to tell you...
It was certainly embarrassing for me to have you...
What in the world ever gave you the idea that...
Now you listen to me for a minute...
I didn't expect you to under-stand...
I don't see why you can't remember to...
It's none of my business, but...
All right, have it your way...
If you'd just get a word in...
I'm not complaining, but...
I know it's a lot to ask, but...
You never used to...
This is the last time I'm going to mention...
I could have told you that...
It's a mystery to me why you...
Those are fighting words in any family.

SAU-SHISH KEBABS

Here's a budget minded version of the popular Shish Kebab which needn't take a back seat to the original when it comes to flavor. Based on chunks of skinless frankfurters and other sausages alternated with fruits and vegetables, these skewer-fuels are fine party fare. Their flavor secret - a spicy marinade used before and during broiling.

Surprise Coffee Fetes Mrs. Casey

LEFORS (Sp.) - Mrs. Bob Casey was honored with a going-away-surprise coffee on Friday morning in the home of Mrs. W. O. Todd. Mrs. Bob Fisher assisted as co-hostess.

The honoree was called at her home and held on the phone until the guests arrived at the home of Mrs. Todd. She then was invited over to find a group of her friends, a gift laden table, and refreshments of coffee, cakes and donuts.

Present were Mmes. Tony Bivins, E. G. Jones, J. A. Davis, Aubrey Carlton, Don Robinson, Bob Fish, Charles Roberts, W. O. Todd, R. E. McDonald, Chestene Dunn, Leonard Carr, and ten children.

Mrs. Casey is moving with her family to 2320 N. Banks in Pampa.

During the business meeting, Mrs. Jay Phillips was elected secretary.

Cakes and cookies were served during the social hour.

Attending were Mmes. E. J. Keith, Eugene Richardson, Jay Phillips, C. C. Kelly, Glen Robertson, W. B. Carey, Ted McCurley and Tom Ingram.

It has been announced that the Kezzie Mae Circle will meet Jan. 27 at 1:15 p.m. with Mrs. Ted Curley. The Lillie Hundey Circle will meet Jan. 27, also at 1:15 p.m. with Mrs. C. R. Pickers.

German Measles Good For Girls

By DELOS SMITH
UPI Science Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Medical science has a new and even more urgent reason for wishing German measles on all little girls.

The first study of its kind showed that approximately 30 per cent of the babies of women who had the disease during the first 16 weeks of pregnancy, were born deaf to a greater or lesser degree. Women who had the common childhood disease in childhood don't run the risk of catching it again, especially at the only time it represents a real danger, not to them, but to their forming babes.

This danger has been known since 1941 but it was thought to be less than the new study revealed, and little was known about the possible risk of deafness to the unborn.

Some Advocate Infection
Nevertheless, doctors now fervently hope the little girls will catch it whenever German measles appears in a family group. Some doctors try to see that the girls don't escape. A few have even advocated deliberately infecting female children with the virus, in a reversal of vaccinating children to prevent them from catching specific diseases.

The new study was doubly impressive because it was "prospective." Previous studies have started with children with congenital defects and worked backward, to see if the mothers had had German measles while pregnant. The new study started with women who were infected in early pregnancy and went forward to see how the children developed during the first five years of life. That's a "prospective" study.

Dr. A.D.M. Jackson and L. Fischel, 416 children of German measles mothers who were three to five years old. They had 46 other children whose mothers had not been infected during pregnancy. None of the latter had any kind of defect. Fifteen of the former had "major" defects and in 14, the defect was deafness.

Undetected Previously
This high deafness rate had been undetected in previous studies because the children hadn't been properly tested for hearing and because they hadn't been followed for longer than the first year of life, the scientists reported in the international technical journal, "The Lancet."

The scientists urged that exhaustive hearings tests should be made of all children born to mothers who had German measles in early pregnancy. Deafness in very young children can easily be unnoticed. It was their "impression," the doctors said, that the four children with the most severe deafness "showed an abnormal behavior pattern. These children tended to be restless, destructive, spiteful, and unable to concentrate."

PAINT THE TOWN IN A SMOCK COAT

NEW YORK (UPI)—Paint the town this spring in a coat copied right from the art world.

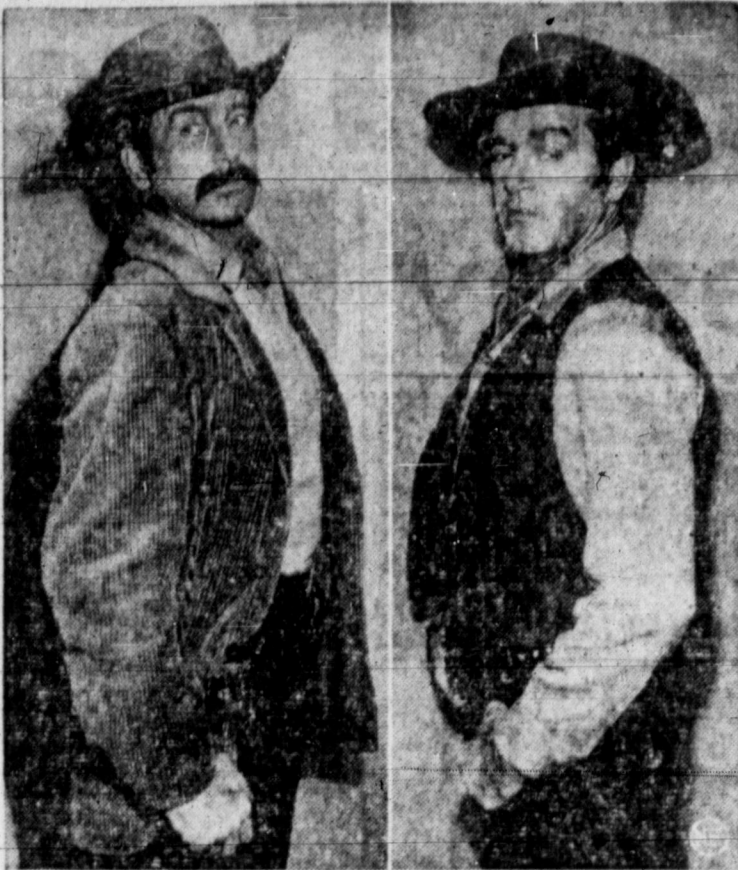

It's the smock coat, and is a pretty faithful reproduction of the protective garment worn by artists, plus housewives, plus European peasants. The coats are smooth across the shoulders, with gathers beginning at the yoke. But designers cut them to hang fairly straight, without the balloon appearance of some of their sturdy, cotton ancestors.

The manufacturer Harry Frehnel, shows a full-length, daytime smock in white basket-weave wool. Original features a seven-eighths length one in a vibrant-colored cashmere, with oversize Peter Pan collar.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Paint the couture group of the New York Press Institute, which today wound up a week-long preview of spring styles for more than 200 visiting fashion reporters.

Coats in all collections are slim, most are single-breasted and come all the way to the dress hemline. A few fitted coats re-appeared, but the shortie—once a spring-time standard—is rare.

Big collars, most of them flat, expand all the way to the shoulder, tip, and some even are cape size. Or, collars are left off completely. Some are a mere suggestion of collar, with a narrow, up-standing cuff, which is billed as the "Oriental influence." It's easier to detect same in the kimono sleeve—deep cut like the raglan, but wide for its total length in-

DOUBLE-TAKE—A TV western hero killing himself in a gun fight with himself? Yes, you read it correctly. The hero is John Payne, right. In a forthcoming chapter of TV's "Restless Gun" he plays both hero and villain. In left, photo, he's seen as the villain. Thanks to the split screen trick, the two personalities can have a fight.

18 Skin Diseases Traced To Emotional Disturbances

By DELOS SMITH
UPI Science Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—At least 18 eruptive diseases of the skin have been traced to disturbed emotions. This is for the information of people skeptical or curious about the mind influencing the body.

"Some skin diseases are so commonly associated with emotional disturbances that the nature of the dermatologic (skin) condition itself sometimes suggests the possibility of psychogenesis" (that is, the disease was set off by the mind), said Dr. Philip F.D. Seitz.

Emotions Show Effect
Seitz is a Chicago mind physician who was lecturing to doctors who deal in the main with the body in the Technical Journal of the American Academy of General Practice. Psychosomatics still rouses controversy in medicine; some body (somatic) doctors have reservations.

When these emotional states fade, the changes in the skin fade, too. But what if the emotional states are prolonged?

"If a person stays angry, or is constantly afraid, or continuously unhappy and depressed, the associated cutaneous reactions of flushing, blanching may also continue," he said. "In this way, chronic states of emotional tension may produce sustained alterations in the physiology of the skin."

And this predisposes the skin to make sick reactions to almost anything that comes along. Microorganisms causing skin infections, for instance. Or allergic reactions to chemical contaminants in air or soap or waa clothes or whatever. Or to digestive idiosyncrasies to certain foods.

Check Disturbing Experiences
The causing emotions are unconscious—the person who has them doesn't know it, or, perhaps, he has a vague idea which, in no case, does he want to admit to his awareness.

The lecturer reminded that there is no question whatever of certain emotional states producing reactions in the skin. A shamed person blushes, an angry man flushes and a frightened person sweats and gets goose pimples.

STAMP OF THE PIONEERS—Resting at the end of the long overland trail, the covered wagon that brought settlers to the West forms the main design of this stamp which marks the 100th anniversary of Oregon statehood. Background shows Mt. Hood, right, with the terrain sloping to the left, or west, to meet the Pacific. Stamp will go on sale in February.

Without Precedent...Even Among Cadillacs!

It has long been understood that the one true way to judge a Cadillac is to measure it against another Cadillac! And yet, even this historic yardstick is not completely applicable for 1959. For this newest "car of cars" is without precedent—even among Cadillacs!

Standing regally at the curb, in motion on the highway, or making its grand entrance at some distinguished event—its majestic new styling is always the subject of unstinted admiration.

Cadillac's new fabrics and leathers are breath-taking to behold... appointments are crafted with a jeweler's care... and its interiors are so spacious that entering and leaving are accomplished with wonderful ease and grace.

And the car is easy to handle, so obedient and responsive to the touch and so smooth and silken in action that even the longest journey is a pleasure to anticipate—and a joy to recall.

Without precedent, did we say?

Well, we'll have to confess that there are some ways in which this new Cadillac is very much like its distinguished predecessors. There is the great quality of its craftsmanship, for instance... its remarkable dependability... and its extraordinary economy of ownership.

But with these happy exceptions, Cadillac for 1959 is clearly in a class all of its own!

So whether you are looking forward to your first Cadillac—or your fifth—or even your tenth—you have a great discovery ahead of you.

We suggest you visit your dealer soon for a personal demonstration of this brilliant new Cadillac.

Bridgers Hired As Baylor Coach

WACO, Tex. (UPI)—John D. Bridgers, recently of the Baltimore Colts, was expected to take over as the new football coach at Baylor University today in a four-year average in business administration.

Announcement of Bridgers' selection Monday night ended a month-long search for a successor to Sam Boyd who quit last December when his last two teams ended up in the Southwest Conference cellar.

Bridgers, 37-year-old defensive line coach of the professional Baltimore Colts, was expected to fly from his home in Baltimore here today.

Baylor fans immediately seized upon this fact to hope that once again their old fight song, "That Good Old Baylor Line," would have new meaning.

Bridgers served as an artillery captain in World War II and was recalled in the Korean war. He chaired the faculty athletic committee had been leading the search for Boyd's successor.

Baylor said it was pleased to hire as coach a man who had three daughters.

Pampa's District Golden Gloves boxing tournament opens Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. The tournament will continue Thursday and Saturday, with Friday night fights held at the Optimist Boys' Club.

Pampa's boxers, victorious last week in the high school division of the Borger tournament, will be favored to take the open division this time. Many of the Pampa boys who fought high school at Borger will be moved up to open, according to Pampa boxing coach Oren James.

Teams from Amarillo, Borger, and Dumas, as well as Pampa, will be entered. James said that the Pampa Optimist Boys' Club will enter 36 to 40 fighters, and that 25 or more are expected from Borger. Dumas will bring "several" and Amarillo will bring an indefinite number.

James estimated that the entry list would be at least 70. Peewee matches will begin each night at 7:30 p.m., and the high school and open fights will start at approximately 8 p.m.

Campy Unhurt In Auto Wreck

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press International

GLEN COVE, N.Y. (UPI)—Partially-paralyzed Roy Campanella expressed eternal thanks today for a cumbersome neck brace he has cursed so often.

"If it wasn't for that brace, I might not be around here now," said the ex-Dodger catcher who was involved in his second major auto accident Monday in less than a year.

The chauffeur-driven Cadillac in which Campanella was riding was almost demolished and of the four occupants, only Campy came through "without a scratch."

Ironically, the accident occurred less than 10 miles from the spot where Campanella suffered a broken neck last Jan. 28 when he overturned in a rented car he was driving.

Campanella's mother-in-law, Mrs. Fanny McNeely, one of the passengers in the car Monday, was removed to Queens General Hospital with a possible brain concussion, while the chauffeur, James Williamson, was taken to Glen Cove Hospital with a possible fracture of the left leg. Leroy Newsome, another passenger, suffered lacerations about the face.

Roy describes: Misap
Here is the way Campy recounts the mishap:

"We were coming home in my car I had less than 200 miles on it from Manhattan. All of a sudden, we noticed an air controller tower comp. lose from a truck up ahead in the other lane. The trailer hit a pole, then bounced off and whacked into a station wagon. After the trailer hit us, the station wagon overturned and caught fire. It was only 10 feet away from us."

Miles & Miles Of Heart; Dutch Has Really Got It

Owens Neal 130 Average Rolling From Wheel Chair

By RICK PEZZDIRTZ
Daily News Managing Editor

A recent musical production of some side-splitting box office success contained a catchy tune which thrummed: "You've got to have heart, miles and miles of heart..."

The name William Grant doesn't exactly ring any bells when it comes to Broadway hits or even music for that matter, although it's a classy enough handle and could possibly pass for a modest songwriter's morkicker.

The William Grant in this story, who is warmly known by his legions of friends as just "ole Dutch" ain't no singer, except maybe if you want to allow for a garnish of bellowing in the daily shower, and he can't even so much as play the piccolo.

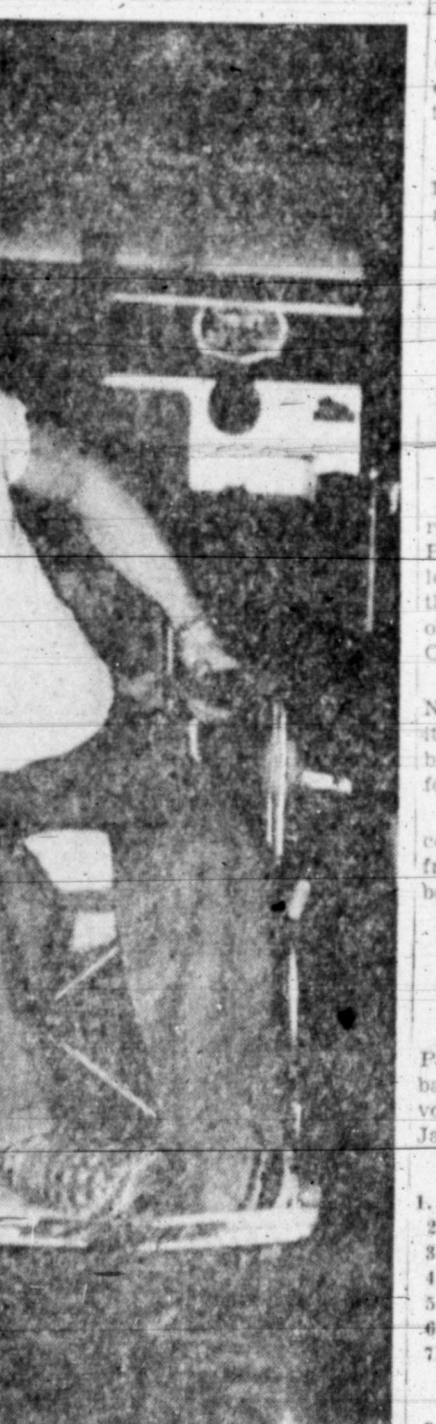

But, heart! Man, this Dutch Grant has miles and miles of heart. He is a young man of 28 with light brown hair, a perpetual grin that squeezes together a smattering of nose-brimbling freckles, and the disposition of a monk.

He is a young man who used to frolic and play like a frisky colt as a rugged little guard for three years on Tricky Ward's 1946-48 Borger High football teams.

That was before that fateful chilly day in November of 1949. "It was November 11 and I remember the day like yesterday. I was on my way to work in Amarillo that morning with a couple other boys when our car was struck broadside. That was the last time I stood without support on my own two legs." Grant said.

The grinding collision that spun him morning crushed Grant's spine, leaving him in hospitals bowed except maybe once or twice before my accident. Now an open ulcer on my spine, it keeps me from bowling as much as I'd like," commented Dutch.

So you see, Dutch isn't finding any fault with any phase of his life in his "temporary" wheel chair. After all, who needs legs anyway, when he's got a heart the size of an elephant's?

Kentucky Cagers Keep Top Spot

NEW YORK (UPI)—Kentucky remained first today in United Press International's major college basketball ratings for the third straight week but North Carolina replaced its arch-rival, North Carolina State, in second place.

Kansas State remained third, North Carolina State, beaten on its own floor last Wednesday night by North Carolina, slipped to fourth.

West Virginia was the only newcomer in the top 10, advancing from 12th to 10th, Northwestern, beaten Saturday night by Ohio State, slipped from 9th to 13th.

Cincinnati remained fifth, unbeaten Auburn continued its steady advance in the ratings, moving from seventh to sixth. St. John's, also moving up steadily, advanced from 10th into a seventh-place tie with Michigan State. Bradley was ninth and West Virginia 10th.

Texas Christian (11-3) again headed the second 10 group. Mississippi State, California, Marquette, Northwestern, St. Louis, St. Bonaventure, Utah, Michigan and Illinois followed in that order.

Baylor Ropes 'Horns, 62-51

NEW YORK (UPI)—The United Press International major college basketball ratings first place votes and won-loss records through Jan. 17 in parentheses.

The favored Baylor Bears came from behind to defeat Texas 62-51, in the only Southwest Conference game played Monday night. Sharpshooting Carroll Dawson fired up a cold Bear squad with some excellent long-range marksmanship late in the game, which was played at Waco.

The victory gave Baylor undisputed claim to second place in the loop, with a record of four wins and two losses, a half game off the record of league-leading Texas Christian.

Texas led at the halftime, 29-28. Then, midway in the second half, Dawson found his range and put Baylor ahead 44-43 after 10 minutes had elapsed.

Dawson teamed up with Jerry Walsh, Bob Turner and Gage McCarley in a belated scoring burst that enabled Baylor to catch up with Texas, and then run up a 20-point margin with less than five minutes remaining.

Dawson was high man for the Bears with 17 points. Walsh netted 11 and Turner and McCarley each had 10.

Jay Arnette, out with a foot infection since before the holidays, netted 15 points to pace the Texas scorers.

DECLARATION OF WAR AGAINST INFLATION ASKED BY EISENHOWER

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower today called for a declaration of war against inflation. In his annual economic report to Congress, he said the nation has snapped back strongly from last year's recession. Production is up, unemployment is down and there is "reason for confidence" that business will show further improvement in the months ahead, he said. But the President warned that U.S. economic health is jeopardized by an unrepentant inflation of wages and prices that continued even during the recession. He appealed to Congress, consumers, businessmen and especially to labor leaders to join in a "relentless war" against this creeping inflation. He said that labor leaders, because of the "great power" lodged in their hands, have a "particularly critical role to play in stabilizing living costs and protecting the value of the dollar." Urging discipline, restraint and "self-discipline and restraint" in contract demands, the President said that wage boosts which are not justified by increased productivity are "inevitably inflationary." "They impose severe hardships on those whose incomes are not enlarged," he said. They endanger jobs by limiting markets at home and impairing our capacity to compete in markets abroad. In short, they are, in the end, self-defeating. Eisenhower called on businessmen to "redouble their efforts" to keep production costs down. In setting prices, he said, business should always keep in mind the economies that can be achieved through mass production and expanding markets. Warns Business, Labor His appeals to business and labor were buttressed with a warning that if wages and prices

BALANCED BUDGET IS RESULT OF YEAR'S TOIL

United Press International
MAURICE HUBERT STANS
Director of the Budget
The big budget put before Congress today, represented a hard year's work by a soft-spoken accountant who forecast the possibility of a balanced budget during the worst of last year's recession. He is Maurice Hubert Stans, 50-year-old son of a Belgian immigrant. In another two months he will have completed his first year as director of the budget. Stans would be the first to disclaim primary responsibility for Eisenhower's balanced budget. He is an ardent team player. The officials inside government, however, know that Stans, once he had the White House 27-ahead, began firing back budget requests for fiscal 1960 to the individual departments with orders to cut until it hurt. The budget director had a meager record in what might seem to many to be a steady business world. In 1958, he went to work for a Chicago accounting firm, Alexander Grant & Co. Ten years later, he owned the business. His first big government job came in 1955 when he was made deputy postmaster general. He cut down somewhat by an almost 80 per cent cut in income, picked up on the Veldt.

Business Views

United Press International

A strong upturn in home building in the last months of 1958 is expected to continue at least into the first half of this year, a survey by the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago showed. A year-end poll of buildings and lenders by the bank showed a continued shift to multi-family dwellings, especially apartments in the middle price range.

Steel magazine predicted that most steel consumers will begin building inventories during the next few weeks. The magazine said smaller users already are starting to build inventories with automotive parts suppliers leading the parade.

Chiefs of 23 rail labor unions announced they will ask Congress to stretch out the present short-cut procedures for abandoning railroad passenger service. They said the existing law does not give the public enough time to protest to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Studebaker-Packard Corp. said it is making its fourth successive increase in production to meet the increasing demand for the Lark since it went into production last September. The company noted its passenger car sales in the first 10 days this year ran 181 per cent above the 1948-1958 period, highest for that period since 1933.

Newspaper production amounted to 142,153 short tons in November compared with 133,846 tons a year earlier, the Census Bureau reported. October output of newspaper totaled 151,294 tons.

Other highlights of the economic report: Wages: Wage rates "continued to move upward" despite the recession and widespread unemployment. Average hourly earnings of manufacturing employees rose from $2.17 at the start of 1958 to $2.19 at the end. The overall rate of increase in wages was "nearly as great as in periods of economic expansion," and exceeded the historic average gain in productivity.

Prices: Most manufactured goods prices have been "fairly stable over the last 18 months." But prices of food and services rose substantially. The overall consumer-price index went up 2.3 per cent.

Consumer Credit: For the first time since World War II it failed to expand. The $44,300,000,000 outstanding at the end of 1958 is almost exactly the same as at the end of 1957.

Corporation Profits: Improved dramatically during the year, from an annual rate of $31,800,000,000 in the first quarter to an annual rate of 44-billion dollars in the fourth quarter.

Capital Outlay: Business expenditures for new plant and equipment plunged from a record 37-billion dollars in 1957 to $30,530,000,000 in 1958. But there are indications that "an upturn in these expenditures may already be underway."

Construction: Home building has increased by one-fourth since mid-1958 and has been a "major factor in economic recovery." Some further increase is anticipated in the next few months. Exports: Declined sharply from mid-1957 through mid-1958, but showed a moderate recovery during the third quarter of 1958. Agriculture: Relative prosperity in farming was a major bulwark of the economy last year. Farm income in 1958 "may be slightly below that in 1958, but still high." Out put of milk, eggs and meat will be higher.

Only Parker Has Suffered Since Godfrey Firing Of '56

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Tenor Frank Parker is one of the few Arthur Godfrey "friends" who has had rough sledding since kindly old Arthur canned his entire cast some three years ago. Frank is out of work, but still loyal to the freckle-faced ukulele player.

According to Parker, hand leader Archie Bleyer, has become a millionaire through his Cadence Record Company. Singer Marian Marlow is married and appearing on TV. Julius La Rosa is burning up the nightclub circuit, the McGuire sisters are a top attraction wherever they go.

Singer Jeanette Davis is married and retired from show biz, while the Chordettes continue to sell records. Only other member of the old "Godfrey and His Friends" show who hasn't done very well in Hollywood, the little Hawaiian girl who now runs a gift shop in New York City, Parker said.

"She was badly hurt when Arthur gave her notice," Frank said. "Some of the others were unhappy, too, when he was fired. I was one of them."

Godfrey's Great Salesman "But Arthur brought me back from nowhere, and I'd go back with him in a minute. But I doubt if any of us oldtimers will ever return. He felt he could go it alone and considered us ungrateful."

"He's the world's greatest salesman, though. He could charm the gold right out of your teeth," Godfrey bailed Parker out of debt nine years ago after the singer suffered financial losses in a Florida night club and a transcription business. He was heavily in debt to the government and private investors. "The first three years I worked for Arthur were spent in paying my debts," Parker grinned. "I lived in a $90-a-month apartment. During my second three years on the show I managed to put aside a few bucks."

"I haven't worked much lately—just a few night club appearances. But then I don't need much. I have an apartment here in Hollywood and I live alone. I feel I should keep working. My voice is better than ever and I don't know how to do anything else."

TV Show Closes "My local TV show closed about a month ago. I'd only been on the air eight weeks, but I didn't like the deal they were giving me." The personable singer admits he is looking for work. But he is cheerful about his troubles and confident his luck will change. "I've had lots of ups and downs in my career and something good will happen sooner or later. I just have to keep going, keep trying," he said.

"Maybe I should have stayed in Hollywood when I was doing the Jack Benny show in 1934. That climate is good for my old bones." Frank is 55, looks 15 years younger.

"My secret to youth is wine, women and song—I couldn't get any of them. My many friendships keep me young. Including my relationship with Arthur. We parted friends, and I hope he still feels that way."

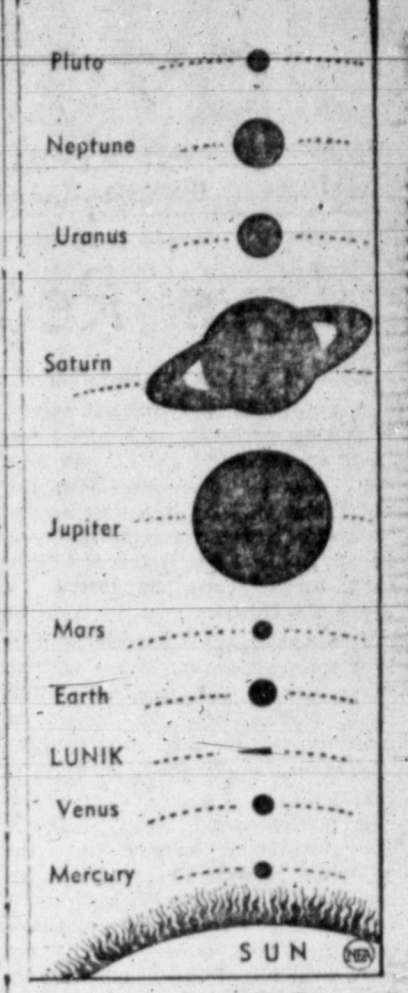

"I'd like him to know I am appreciative and grateful for all he's done for me. I also hope he climbs back up the TV ladder. He deserves it."

PILLS MIGHT REPLACE SHOTS

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Veterans Administration will test two new anti-diabetes pills at eight of its hospitals to find out if they can replace daily insulin injections. The drugs, tolbutamide and chlorpropamide, will be given to about 400 patients twice a day for at least eight months, the VA said. The test will be conducted at VA hospitals in Buffalo and the Bronx, N.Y., Dallas, Tex., Martinsburg, W. Va., Memphis, Tenn., Pittsburgh, Toledo, Kan., and Washington.

SEAS SWAMP TRAWLER

CASTELLON DE LA PLANA, Spain (UPI)—Heavy seas swamped the Spanish trawler Concha and sent the rescue vessel Ribias drifting out of control with a smashed rudder Monday. The Spanish vessel La Vincanta rescued the crews of both vessels and took the Ribias in tow.

Ike Recalls His Visit To Moscow

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Back at the White House, President Eisenhower at some recent social occasions has reminisced almost nostalgically, it seemed, about his visit to Moscow after World War II. Obviously these reminiscences were touched off by the visit to his country of Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan. But the presidential manner in which the President has been recalling his trip to Russia could well lead to this question: Does he have another such journey in the back of his mind?

Kim Novak, the blond temptress of the movies, and Perry Como, the barber-turned-television idol, dropped in on the President the other day in behalf of the Variety Club. While they were waiting to be ushered into the chief executive's office, Perry was surrounded by the girls of the White House staff with a loud-voiced character in a Como's stable booming. "Which one are ya gonna kiss, Perry?" Como had much better taste and dropped into a chair to gossip with the girls who assured him faithfully that they watched him every Saturday night. "The longer you watch, the longer I stay out of the barber shop," he said matter of factly.

Miss Novak, looking rather wanly beautiful, with only macarons and lipstick for makeup, borrowed one of the ladies' rooms to freshen up before meeting the President.

She had sort of a girl-to-girl session with the White House women, too, and confided that she didn't think much of going on television when the motion pictures were her bread and butter. She said one TV show in New York had offered her a new Cadillac with all taxes paid if she'd just walk on for a minute or so, and as much as she wanted the car, Kim turned down the offer because she thought it was pointless to stand before the nation and do absolutely nothing.

A brook trout may lay as many as 4,000 eggs in a single nest scooped in a stream bottom.

Love Regulation

Lets talk about population. A recent United Nations report, which is probably a shade less than an educated guess, has forecast that by the year 2000, this globe will be spinning around with 6.2 billion inhabitants...

Bolivian Example

There are so many holes in the foreign and boat it creeps almost futile to turn our attention to one in particular. Still, so frequent and ridiculous have been our dealings with the South American country of Bolivia, that the spotlight held there for a moment may assist the someone in getting his thinking equipment aired out.

Morals And The Welfare State No. 8

In one of the closing chapters of F. A. Harper's essay on "Morals And The Welfare State" under the heading of "Progress Of Moral Decay," he writes:

"Violation of the two economic Commandments—their and covetousness—under the program of the Welfare State, will spread to the other Commandments: it will destroy faith in, and observance of, our entire basic moral code. We have seen this happen in many countries. It seems to have been happening here. We note how immorality, as tested by the two economic Commandments, has been spreading in high places."

"And what about the effectiveness of a crime investigation conducted under a Welfare State government? We may question the presumed capability of such a government—as distinct from certain investigators who are admittedly moral individuals—to judge these moral issues. We may also question the wisdom of bothering to investigate the pecuniary amounts of private gambling, willingly engaged in by the participants with their own money, when untold billions are being taken from the people repeatedly by the investigating agent to finance its own (immoral) program. This is a certain loss, not even a gamble."

"Once a right to collective looting has been substituted for the right of each person to have whatever he has produced, it is not at all surprising to find the official dispensers deciding that it is right for them to loot the loot—for a 'worthy' purpose, of course. Then we have the loot used by the insiders to buy votes so that they may stay in power; we have political pork barrels and lobbying for the contents; we have political patronage for political loyalty—even for loyalty to immoral conduct."

"If we adopt the premise that everything that happens in the concern of 'society,' then this premise must be carried to its ultimate conclusion. A little socialism isn't possible. We will not move forward into a world in which everything is controlled and regulated by the government, or we will move forward into a world in which such control and regulation is abandoned in favor of individual decisions and individual responsibilities."

"We have no fear of an increase in birth rate, if only we will permit the persons responsible to be totally responsible. If feeling, fed by 'welfare' and 'socialism' and 'a world on a worldwide basis'—parents, and the parents are assured that such is the case, self-control and self-discipline will govern which would regulate not only food, clothing and shelter, but also making as well."

It is axiomatic that if a man will not control himself, government will make the attempt. And, if one believes in socialism, surely he could not object to having a mit to this type of slavery? Who would wide bureau established can say?

Hard For A Drinker To Give Up

Robert Allen Reports:

Two Jolting Factors

Behind Gamal Nasser

WASHINGTON — Two jolting factors, one acutely personal and the other military, are importantly behind those surprise anti-Communist fulminations by Gamal Nasser.

In remarkably frank talks with U.S. and other Western officials, the United Arab Republic president is dwelling lengthily and irately on these woes:

Six alleged attempts to assassinate him, three of which he flatly attributes to the Reds. A considerably amount of the $30,000,000 of weapons he purchased from Russia and Czechoslovakia is either defective or unusable for lack of repairs and spare parts.

Assistant Secretary of State William Rountree is among those to whom Nasser has related these painful grievances which are embittering his once fervent ties with the Kremlin.

Two of the three Communist attempts to kill him, according to Nasser, were while he was flying from Damascus to Cairo. Much has happened to Jordan's King Hussein, in the sensational incident while enroute over Syria, efforts were made to shoot down Nasser's plane.

But all the Red plots were thwarted by 'loyal and alert' aides.

One of them, an Egyptian air force colonel, was offered $500,000 to arrange Nasser's slaying. The officer reported this was directed to take the money and then expose the conspirators—which he did.

Of the three other reported assassination attempts, Nasser attributes two to Saudi Arabian officials, and the third to 'Western sources.' Regarding the latter, the U.A.R. ruler intimated to Secretary Rountree that he strongly suspects 'the hidden hand of Britain.'

Nasser claimed he can prove Saudi Arabians have spent millions to do away with him.

In cash bribes alone, he asserted, they have paid out for this purpose more than $5,000,000, and promised another $5,000,000.

In one instance, he declared a Syrian cabinet minister was offered $5,000,000 to stage an army coup to overthrow the merger of Egypt and Syria.

MOPY

SO ITS A BLONDE HAIR YOU WERE A BLONDE YESTERDAY, REMEMBER?

CHIP

So pronounced is Nasser's disillusionment with Soviet bloc arms that he broadly hinted he is ready to respond to an American proposal to sell the UAR certain weapons.

This overture was discreetly but unmistakably sidestepped by Rountree.

Members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, who have been apprised of these significant Nasser disclosures, were informed his inquiry about U.S. arms would have to be 'submitted to higher authority.' Other than that, nothing has transpired on this matter.

As indignantly received by Nasser, his tribulations with Iron Curtain weapons include the following:

Much of the equipment of the five submarines and other naval craft the UAR bought from Russia, has proven defective and, equally bad, difficult to repair and replace.

A third of the Red-supplied tanks are inoperative because of constant breakdowns and lack of spare parts.

Numerous MIG jets are grounded for the same reason. Engines of these planes have had to be shipped all the way back to Czechoslovakia for repairs.

A lot of the Communists' ammunition is old and of questionable reliability. Target firing has revealed the existence of many duds.

It has been indicated to Foreign Relations Committee men that the U.S. is considering some assistance to the UAR.

But it will be taken in nature, pending further development of Nasser's relations with the Soviet Union. There will be no sizable aid until it is definitely known whether there is a real break between him and the Kremlin.

PRICE WATCHDOG — President Eisenhower is shortly setting up a special committee to keep an eye on prices paid for goods by the government. This watchdog group will be headed by Dr. Raymond Saulnier, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers. The committee also will study government procurement methods, particularly for defense and stockpiling.

The State Department has ordered all its officials, at home and abroad, to read the latest edition of 'Social Usage in the Foreign Service.' Prepared by the Foreign Service Institute, the 17-page manual advises State Department employees and members of their families how to act, particularly in foreign countries. Following are highlights of this revised booklet:

'Make an effort to learn the language of the country of assignment. If possible, take in culture and literature of that country at a university or other seat of learning. Get to know the country by traveling widely in the interior, though it may be more comfortable and attractive. Entertain the nationals of the country where you live. Don't spend your time at parties exclusively for Americans. A warm welcome, and a pleasant and well-ordered American home, with congenial guests, is far more important than champagne.'

This is only a single example, but it is close to home. In the face of this, and a score of similar stories, why does President Eisenhower seem to feel that foreign aid is such a boon to our neighbors and potential friends?

LIVING COST UP NEW YORK (UPI)—The Community Council of Greater New York reported today that the costs of goods and services needed by a local family for 'an adequate but modest' level of living had risen 4.5 per cent as of October, 1958, compared to the same month in 1957.

The Doctor Says:

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Mrs. S. asks for a discussion of the difference between German measles and ordinary measles. It is generally understood, she says, that there are more bad effects from German-measles than from the other type.

It is unfortunate that these two diseases have names which are so much alike. Both are almost certainly caused by viruses, but the viruses are different and infection with one does not stimulate the body to build resistance to the other.

By and large, measles is probably a less serious disease than German measles.

This statement must be qualified, however, because a mother who contracts German-measles during the first three months of pregnancy is more likely (but not certain) to have a child born with a congenital defect than a mother who does not have this disease at that stage of pregnancy.

Measles is not the simple, mild disease which so many people seem to believe. While it is true that most people who have it recover without serious complications, this is not always the case.

In fact, there are many years from measles than from polio—and this was true before the development of the polio vaccine.

Measles also often causes serious complications such as bronchopneumonia or bronchitis. Even when mild, the 500,000 or so who have measles each year are kept out of school or other activity for quite some time.

The eyes, too, should be protected during the early acute phase of the disease to avoid complications.

The cause of measles is a virus. This tiny living organism is present in the secretions of the mouth and nose during the first few days when a person is "coming down" with the disease.

A sneeze or cough will carry the virus into the air where it can be breathed in by anyone else around. This makes measles especially contagious—even before the skin rash appears.

It is difficult to avoid exposure once an outbreak of measles has started in a school, barracks or similar situation. If it does occur, one has to consider the use of a substance known as immune or gamma globulin. If this is given at just the right time to a youngster it tends to make the disease mild and still permit the body to build resistance.

I was greatly intrigued by a recent report indicating that the virus causing measles is remarkably like the virus which causes distemper in dogs and cats. The research study suggests that there is a common chemical element in the two viruses.

However, there are no records of a person developing measles from contact with an animal having distemper or the other way around.

FOR REFLECTION

...WITH JAMES C. MOBERTSEN President, National Mobilization OPEN DOOR TO TOMORROW

I have just read a clergyman's New Year Meditations, in which he likens the New Year to 'an open door that no man can shut.'

The passages to the future is always open-ended, and we have to keep moving into tomorrow or lie down and die. The process of change is everlasting.

This is a true insight, but it leaves something important unsaid. Actually, there are many possible futures, each with its own door, and we must choose. Simply to move with the tides of change is to be as dead as standing still. A stick of wood floating in a stream, can scarcely be said to be alive.

We as individuals and as a nation will have a future, for change is bound to take us somewhere. The question we must ask is WHICH somewhere? Does our open door lead toward tyranny or freedom, toward moral decline or growth, toward spiritual darkness or dawn?

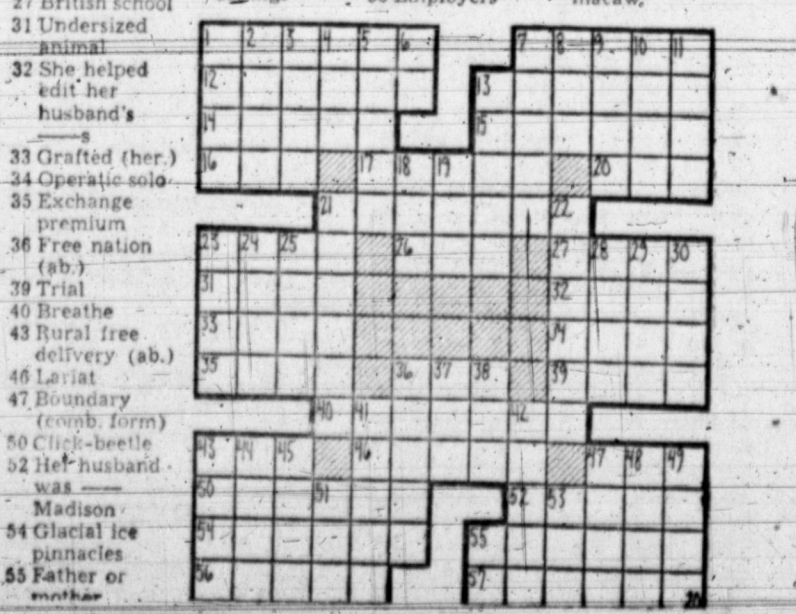

The New Year is traditionally a time of decision. In the familiar words of John Oxenham: too true ever to be trite: '... Some take the high road, And some take the low, And in between, on the misty flats, The rest drift to and fro. But every man decideth Which way his soul shall go.'

Layers Of Clothes Keep Chill Out

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — No need to be chilled about this being the coldest winter in 18 years.

Just pay attention to some of the Army's bundling tricks. It boils down to making a vacuum bag out of yourself. The secret is layers of clothing, not weight. The layers provide dead air space between you and the cold. This keeps the heat from escaping and insulates you. Several layers of medium weight clothing will keep you warmer than one heavy garment, even if the single garment is as thick as the combined layers.

Dirty clothes are cold clothes. Dirt and grease clog the air spaces in the fabric, reducing insulation.

Whisk Snow Off Clothes
Don't get too hot. If you feel you're heating up and about to perspire, open clothing at neck and wrists to let cool air in—and some of the heat out.

Remind the children to whisk the snow off their clothes because body heat eventually will melt the snow, making the clothing damp. For warmth, clothing must be kept dry on the outside, too.

Don't bundle up too tightly. If you do, you'll squeeze out the layers of insulating air, upsetting the "vacuum jug" principle.

Pass these hand and foot notes on to hubby and children, since they're out-of-doors more than you are, as a rule (someone's got to keep the home-fires burning!).

Feet Get Cold First
It's feet first when first you start to get cold. Wear layers of clothes in graduated sizes with the larger fitted over the smaller. When it's very cold, keep feet moving. Stamp them up and down, scrunch up your toes and wiggle them.

Wear layers of gloves, all loose-fitting. Loose knit wool gloves, under an outer shell that's not too tight, will keep your hands warmer than one heavy pair.

Even in the southland, these words might fall on frost-bitten ears. The U.S. Weather Bureau's forecast for the rest of January:

"Below reasonable normals over the eastern third of the nation, also over the Southern Plains and Gulf Coast states. Precipitation frequently in form of snow and sleet expected to exceed normal."

So bundle up—wisely.

Metalworking: America's Greatest Industry

Although manufacturers' sales in the metalworking industry declined in 1958 because of the recession, it is still the country's largest industry. At an estimated 119.5 billion dollars, sales were 15 per cent below the record 140.5 billion dollars of 1957, but still were the fifth highest on record. In the year-by-year comparison above, ordinance is not included, because the government does not reveal figures on it. But that classification accounts for only a small part of production for defense. Many defense items fall under other classifications, such as transportation equipment or instruments. Data here are from the Office of Business Economics, U.S. Dept. of Commerce, with figures for 1958 estimated by Steel magazine.
