Marriage Trap May Have Spurred NY Kidnapping

Widowed Mother Wanted Husband, Father For 8

NEW YORK (UPI)—Police said today they believed that a 43-year-old widowed mother of eight children kidnaped newborn infant Lisa Rose Chionchio in an effort to trap her boyfriend into marriage.

Tropically, authorities said, the alleged plot for the abduction and snaper: Mrs. Jean Iavarone, was designed to get back four of her children who have been placed in orphanages and foster homes because she was considered incapable of caring for them.

They theorized that Mrs. Iavarone, a stout, blonde grandmother who lived alone, had abducted the infant from a Brooklyn hospital nursery 2 1/2 hours after her birth Jan. 2, with the intention of telling an unidentified boy friend it was their child. Assuming he would agree to marriage, Mrs. Iavarone believed that, with a husband and home, she would be permitted to regain custody of the four children, who had been taken away from her, authorities said.

Neighbor Calls Police

The plot failed, however, when a suspicious woman neighbor in the 13th telephoned up on the mystery-led police Sunday to a cluttered one-room apartment in a dilapidated Brooklyn brownstone apartment building. There, only 200 yards from the Brooklyn police headquarters, police found Mrs. Iavarone and the Chionchio baby.

The seven-pound infant, who had gained one ounce since her abduction 11 days ago, was reported in good health today. Police and hospital officials said Lisa Rose obviously had been given excellent care.

"She took good care of the baby," chief of detectives James B. Leggett, said. "After all, she had a lot of experience raising children."

Mrs. Iavarone, 43, a week employee of a Brooklyn department store, steadfastly insisted through more than 24 hours of questioning that the infant was her own—that she had given birth to the child unattended Jan. 2. She identified a man friend as the father.

Footprints Match
But footprints and the fact that the infant's blood type was different than that of Mrs. Iavarone convinced authorities it was the Chionchio baby. Further, Frank Chionchio, 28, an attorney for the Port of New York Authority, positively identified the infant on the basis of a small scar over the left eye, which he remembered seeing immediately after the child's birth.

Mrs. Iavarone, on the verge of collapse, was arraigned Monday in Brooklyn Federal Court. Magistrate James P. E. finally adjourned the hearing until today to permit Mrs. Iavarone to get an attorney.

If convicted, she could receive a maximum penalty of 30 years to life in prison.

Area Boys In Chicago
CHICAGO (UPI)—Bob Martin, Mahonette, and Bob Schuack, Perryton, toured the Board of Trade today, with 22 other U. S. grain producers, to open the eighth annual three-day grain marketing clinic for outstanding farm youths.

The boys, two from each of 12 states, were selected for their excellence in the U. S. grain marketing program. The clinic and tour is co-sponsored by the Chicago Board of Trade, the Cooperative Extension Service and the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work.

DETECTED KIDNAPPER
Mrs. Jean Iavarone, 43-year-old grandmother and mother of eight children, is the picture of dejection after being charged in Brooklyn, N. Y., with kidnaping of Lisa Rose Chionchio. Mrs. Iavarone continued to claim the baby as her own even after Lisa Rose was positively identified by her footprints and blood type.

'SPEAK YOUR PEACE'
EDITOR'S NOTE: A United Press International reporter describes the trial of three of Batista's soldiers in the following dispatch.

By ANDRES LOPEZ
United Press International
COLON, Matanzas Province, Cuba (UPI)—Cuban revolutionary justice allowed guilty of time for testimony but needs only minutes to reach a verdict.

This was the pattern in Monday's trial of three former Batista soldiers charged they were responsible for 20 to 30 deaths in the sugar town 45 miles east of the provincial capital of Matanzas.

A five-man tribunal headed by Capt. Julio Chaviano, local commander of the July 26th Movement, convened at 11 a.m. at a rural guard headquarters building.

In addition to Chaviano, a young Castro guerrilla veteran, the tribunal consisted of two other members of the rebel movement—a militiaman and a former member of the rebel underground.

Charged With "War Crimes"
The tribunal sat behind a bare wooden table holding documents relating to the alleged "war crimes" of the accused.

On trial were former Army Capt. Isidoro Lopez, Sgt. Juan Leonard and a private soldier, Sergio Nolasco, who sat on folding wooden chairs when an addressing the court.

The proceedings continued for four hours with Chaviano reading the charges, events accumulated during an investigation and with the accused rising to argue their defense.

At one point Leonard vigorously disputed his former commanding officer's assertions to the court.

The press and witnesses were permitted to attend the trial but residents of the area were excluded. Only a few could peer in through the dusty windows.

Once the long testimony was finished Chaviano cleared the court and the accused men were returned to their cells. Five minutes later the verdict was ready and the men were brought again into the courtroom.

Sentenced To Be Shot
Chaviano read the verdict: "Guilty" and sentenced them to be shot. He then halted Lopez who returned the salute, whistled and again was sent to his cell.

The verdict sent a Roman Catholic priest, Fr. Juan Laugolis of Montreal, into Lopez's cell where he spent several minutes hearing the captain's confession.

Today's verdict is on page 3. Fill it in and help your man and woman favorites win $50 each.

OBJECTIONS NIL ON CITY ZONING
Pampa City Commissioners today have to go into the addition but morning held a zoning hearing, agreed to give the proposal a two additions. No objections were heard and the hearing was closed.

After paying $30,000 in monthly bills, Commissioners set Feb. 10 for bid taking on the purchase of 20 City police cars.

When the zoning board ordinance will not go into effect until it has been passed on the third reading and can be altered or amended at any time during the next three weeks.

If the ordinance is passed, lots 31 and 32 of the Monticary Addition will be converted from an industrial to a residential area. The east half of block 3 and the west half of block 4, Square's Addition, will be rezoned to semi-owner.

Parts of the Jarvis-Sage Park, Fraser Hill, Boyd and North Creek Additions will be zoned as residential districts.

Earlier in the meeting, E. E. Stinson, a Pampa developer, appeared before the commission to state his case for setting Woodell Street out of his proposed Woodley-Rucker Addition. In that way, he would be able to develop in one of the Commission took a dim view of this as City trucks will Revenue Bond, $150.

124 Men Of Batista Clan Known Shot

HAVANA (UPI)—Rebel sources said today "several thousand" Batista men faced revolutionary justice throughout Cuba. It was certain the death toll would rise far above the 121 known formal and informal executions reported since Jan. 1.

The busiest firing squads were reported in Santiago, capital of the eastern province of Oriente, which was the scene of the bloodiest repressions carried out by followers of ex-President Fulgencio Batista. Rebels in Santiago commanded by Paul Castro, brother of the revolutionary leader, have arrested at least 250 persons. Seventy of them faced a mass trial and 14 were executed immediately. The remaining 36 are to die in small groups.

Secret Executions
In addition, 52 formal executions after a summary trial have been reported since Jan. 1 in the cities of Matanzas, Manzanillo, Ciego de Avila, Pinar del Rio and Sagua Clara. Lengthening the list are 15 executions reported to have occurred secretly in "Cabana" Fortresses in Havana.

In addition 40 persons were reported "informally" executed by zealous rebels in the early hours of victory before the rebel command gained control over the over-zealous civilians. At least 20 of the killings were reported in Havana.

Incidents of rebel over-zealousness still were cropping up in Havana as a family demanded Monday that the government apprehend and punish rebels responsible for the Saturday night assassination of university professor Rafael Escalona.

In a signed statement a dozen members of Escalona's family said authorities took the professor at 8 p.m. to a police station and that his corpse was delivered from there to a morgue with seven bullet holes in his chest, neck and face.

Mistaken Identity
They identified Escalona as an "outstanding, militant revolutionary" and speculated the rebels (See MEN, Page 3)

"THANK YOU, PAMPA"

The family Pampa opened its heart to, Mrs. Verna Bell Blevins, Sandra Lee, 11, and Wayne, 7, are smiling for good reason. FOR BLAZE VICTIMS

CITY HAS A HEART

By MARVIN OLSEN
Daily News Staff Writer

An almost incredible ending is being written to Saturday morning's fire that destroyed the home and belongings of a Pampa family of three.

Since Sunday, when the Daily News and the Bible Baptist church where the Blevins are members sent out a call for clothing and furnishings, Mrs. Verna Bell Blevins and her youngsters, Wayne, 7, and Sandra Lee, 11, have been virtually buried under donations of clothing, furniture, food and even donations of money.

"I wish I could find the words for my appreciation," Mrs. Blevins told the Daily News Monday. "Pampa is such a wonderful town."

Mrs. Blevins, whose home was Mrs. Verna Blevins' said that the fire Sunday morning the phone never stopped ringing. She and her youngsters have been living with Mrs. Lizzie Botkin at 518 N. 1st. Mrs. Botkin, a friend of Mrs. Blevins the past six years, said she always felt Pampa was the friendliest city in the country. "Doesn't this prove it?" she added.

Rev. H. Maurice Hutchinson, pastor of Bible Baptist, said that calls came in so fast Sunday he was forced to take the receiver off the hook to conduct services. He estimated between 50 and 100 calls were received from about 9 a.m. to mid-afternoon.

He said a great deal of clothing and offers of help were received, including one from a Pampa resident who asked the Blevins to buy the shoes they needed. He would pay the bill.

One Pampa furniture store offered the Blevins family a truck load of used furniture. McLellan's Store at 213 N. Cuyler, where Mrs. Blevins is a clerk, offered bedding and quilts and virtually any other article the Blevins family might need to begin housekeeping again.

One of the most generous offers was received from the Mary Ellen Church of Christ which found the Blevins a home Monday and filled the home with furnishings of all description, including a stove, refrigerator and bed.

The home, which the Blevins will begin renting today, is at 510 N. Dwight.

Another Pampa church, the Seventh Day Adventist, invited Mrs. Blevins to the church warehouse and made her welcome to all the clothing she needed. An Adventist church member bought Wayne new Levi pants and new shirts.

Rev. Hutchinson of Bible Baptist said he was certain a note in Sunday's newspaper would bring a response, but nothing like the response received.

"I was amazed at the generosity of the people of Pampa," Rev. Hutchinson said. "I would never be ashamed to be called a citizen of Pampa. They outshine people anywhere in neighborliness."

Surprisingly most of the clothing received was new.

This reporter personally saw one woman, visibly touched with emotion, bring young Wayne's new pair of pants and sweater. Wayne, a first grader at Horace Mann, had already received several pairs of pants, but his thanks was so clearly written in his face that no words were needed.

Father Hatchets Family
MAYLAND, Pa. (UPI)—A 40-year-old father stood mute before a coroner's jury Monday night, unable to explain why he hatched his wife and two children to death with an ax.

"I killed them, and that is all I have to say," Harry G. Higgins said.

Higgins, a technical writer for the Martin Co. missile plant at nearby Orlando, appeared puzzled as to why he killed the family he loved.

"It all seemed so crystal clear this morning, but now my head is going around in circles," Higgins said.

The coroner's jury ordered Higgins bound over to await grand jury action on first degree murder charges, and recommended he be held without bond.

Investigators said Higgins apparently was in a state of mind that he was in favor of a parking lot on the north side of the Court House since it would cover such a small space and since it was so badly needed. He said he thought it would be a wonderful thing if Pampa's three garden clubs would beautify the north side of the court house lawn. He also pointed out that citizens serving on juries might be allowed parking privileges on the proposed lot, saving them from paying over-parking tickets that might be accumulated while they were doing their civic duty as jury members.

clarification of the Gray County Commissioner's Court. "I said I felt a parking lot was definitely needed for official county cars and other essential vehicles, but that county employees who simply work in the county offices shouldn't be any more privileged than other citizens," Crossman explained Monday evening.

Crossman went on to point out he was in favor of a parking lot on the north side of the Court House since it would cover such a small space and since it was so badly needed. He said he thought it would be a wonderful thing if Pampa's three garden clubs would beautify the north side of the court house lawn. commissioners voted 4-0 to continue work.

The contract with the J. L. Colville Co. of Pampa, was let Dec. 17, 1958. Work had come to a standstill pending this morning's decision.

Many prominent Pampa citizens, including E. L. Green and Hugh Burdette, Paul Crossman and John Young debated the issue before the commissioners voted at 11 a.m.

The motion to continue work was presented by J. M. McCracken, seconded by Nat Lunsford, and passed by all four commissioners without opposition.

Mrs. Thelma Bray, president of the Pampa Garden Club, opened the meeting by presenting petitions signed by 242 citizens. Her plea to stop work was joined by Burdette and Green who called the green areas around the court house "a source of pride we can't afford to lose."

A counter petition to continue work was presented by Lucian Young, head of White Stores, Inc. His petition carried Monday afternoon was signed by about 100 persons, most of whom work in downtown Pampa.

Young said the lot was "a step" (See FIGHTS Page 2)

3 TV Comics Hit Comeback Trail

By VERNON SCOTT
LONDON (UPI)—Three TV comedians hit the comeback trail this year—Jack Gleason, Sid Caesar and Milton Berle, with disastrous results except in Berle's case.

Gleason pulled his show from the coaxial cable and Caesar laid an egg the size of Grant's tomb. The usually loquacious Berle is at a loss to explain his success in the face of his compatriots' demise. He does realize, however, that Uncle Miltie is an exception to the rule—roughly stated, comedians, like heavyweight champions, never come back.

Wally Cox and Red Buttons are another pair who ran aground for keeps.

Caesar and Gleason are two of the greatest comedians in the world," Berle expounded, puffing an outside cigar. "I watched every one of their shows. It wasn't their performances that hurt them. It was the hiatus."

"I know, I know, I took a two-year hiatus, and maybe I'm just lucky."

Needed A Rest
"Usually, though, audiences and critics believe a comic has lost his job when he takes a year's vacation. And when he returns, they figure he's had it. Which is the farthest thing from the truth. I, Gleason, Caesar and myself all left the air because we needed a rest. We were worn out from doing hour 'live' shows every week. But we couldn't write letters to every viewer in the country and try telling them we were just plain pooped out."

Berle's ratings, as opposed to Gleason's and Caesar's, have climbed steadily since his return last fall. He has two explanations for the success.

"First of all I've been pacing myself better to avoid over-exposure. And instead of just being a comedian, I'm also a host, emcee and entertainer. I don't rely on only a few characterizations and sketches."

"But more important, I spend hours deciding on my guest stars. Poor casting of guests can ruin a show. My idea is to find as many personalities as possible who conflict with me."

Likes Conflicting Guests
Among those to be seen with Berle on his NBC-TV show in the next few weeks are Harpo Marx, Ed Wynn, Jayne Mansfield, Jo Stafford, Joan Davis and Mel Torme.

"My idea of good conflicting guests are Dean Martin and Talulah Bankhead," he said, expelling a cloud of smoke. "Counting projects."

During the past 13 weeks Berle has topped his network opposition, me, you'd have three completely different characters—and it would be a ball.

"Unfortunately, availability of guests is the big problem. Most of them are tied up with their own vacation. 'The Millionaire' and 'The Don't Be a Fool Show.' He hopes his Jan. 21 program will be among the best he's done."

"Between me and Ed Wynn we'll have a total of 102 years of show business experience," Milton said, expansively. "Then he quickens to every viewer in the country and try telling them we were just plain pooped out."

He frowned thoughtfully and concluded, "remember I started in vaudeville when I was only six."

'GOOBER' INTRODUCED INTO THE ATOMIC AGE

RALEIGH, N.C. (UPI)—A through 99-pounds-of-peanut-seed scientist who started with a bag of peanuts and nine times enough radiation to kill a man has introduced the "goober" into the atomic age.

Dr. Walton C. Gregory of N.C. State College planted his radioactive peanuts in North Carolina and Virginia and harvested one of the nation's most significant developments in the peaceful use of atomic energy.

He developed a new variety of peanut, superior in many ways to those now being grown. But more than that, his experiments, over a 10-year period, represent one of the first times that an improved strain of any living thing has been developed through atomic research in this country.

What happened to those original peanut seeds in a few minutes spent in an atomic laboratory at Oak Ridge, Tenn., would not happen in thousands of years in the field, according to Gregory's calculations.

The powerful X-rays shot

There were dwarfs and steriles, high-yielders and low-yielders. Erect plants and prostrate plants. Some of them curled; others were maimed. Some plants were highly disease-resistant; others were easy victims to the common peanut diseases.

It all came from the genes in the peanuts—the elements which determine heredity characteristics. The atomic rays had upset them.

In all, a total of 11,000 mutants developed from the irradiated seed. Of the many breeding lines started, one has been developed which will be available by 1960.

The variety, called N.C. 4X, is perfectly safe, scientists here insist. The rays had merely passed through the peanuts, bombarding the genes as they went.

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Kathy Crosby has husband Bing pacing the floor again, but not because the stork is flapping back for another visit.

Mrs. Crosby, who gave birth to "Little Tex" only five months ago, is swinging from a trapeze in a new movie and Dear Bingle doesn't approve of the acrobatics.

"He didn't know exactly what kind of role I was going to play," Kathy giggled. "Bing read the script, but didn't realize I would be doing all my own stunts. By the time he found out it was too late. Anyhow, I'm an independent girl, and if I want to swing on a trapeze I will."

Home Service Stressed At RC Breakfast

Red Cross communications was the focal point of a Pampa Chapter board meeting this morning in Johnson's Cafe. Bill Murray, RC field director for the Amarillo Air Force Base, had the lead spot on the program.

Since the Amarillo AFB is a training base and has a transient population it requires a larger allocation of funds for home service activities than do bases of a more advanced nature. The men at the base are new to the service and many have their families with them. This creates new problems.

Murray explained the direct relationship between the field director, the military and the local chapter. There are a number of ways in which the Red Cross can bridge the gap between a serviceman and his family, but there are certain restrictions. The granting of emergency leaves, for example, is done only on behalf of a member of the immediate family.

Mrs. Frank W. Showwell, Pampa executive secretary, introduced Murray to the group. Murray spoke on Home Service, one of the essential functions of the American Red Cross. It includes the sending of messages to military personnel, service loans and applications for emergency leaves.

Other business: A. J. Carubbi Jr., fund chairman, reported that the United Fund had paid its first installment to the Red Cross.

Board members voted to buy a Red Cross first aid kit that can be shown to service organizations and other groups as well as to first aid classes.

The board met at 7 a.m. for its monthly breakfast. John Gikas, Chapter chairman, presided.

Goal Of Preventing Heart Disease Far From Idle Dream

By DELOS SMITH
UPI Science Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—A noted expert on the heart believes medical knowledge and know-how now have advanced so far "it has become evident that the ultimate goal of preventing all forms of heart disease is far from an idle dream."

That being so, Dr. A. Carlton Ernestine of Cleveland was surprised and disturbed because "little attention has been paid to one fundamentally important feature of cardiologic practice," which is to tell the patient what he has of heart trouble, real or imagined, the works.

The medical school, it is not impressed on the student that he can help the patient by telling him all, nor is it properly impressed upon him while he is a hospital intern and resident. He has to be a practicing doctor for several years before he "fully appreciates" what telling can do.

Patient Must Adjust

"Attention to details may gain years of comfortable and productive life, and whether or not the person cooperates to the extent required usually depends on whether or not he understands the need for the measures advised by the doctor," Ernestine said.

He pointed to angina pectoris caused by a hardening of heart arteries. The victim must adjust his habits, activities, and emotional situations, so as to prevent the painful attacks. But how can he, if he isn't given a clear idea of all the ways and wheres? Then there is acute myocardial infarction, the kind of heart attack the layman means when he uses the term, the kind President Eisenhower had. It "rarely occurs at a time convenient for the patient," Ernestine said. "After the pain and other symptoms have been controlled, the physician often finds that he is dealing with a person who is not only frightened and bewildered but also depressed and resentful."

The thing for the doctor to do is to explain everything in detail, to tell the patient what he has, how he is feeling better in a few days than he has felt for a long time. But it won't mean he's not in for a long rest. Give him an estimate of how long the rest will be and when he can get back to his job. Tell all this and you often have a remarkably changed patient.

Need Salt-Free Diet

In another form of heart trouble, recurrences most often are due to the failure of the patient to keep salt out of his diet. But when he is told what salt has to do with water retention in the body, there usually are no more recurrences.

Anxiety, insecurity, emotional tension and fatigue often are responsible for symptoms that cause the patient concern about his heart," he said in taking up heart troubles which are imagined rather than real.

These people must be given a positive explanation of the discomfort. A statement that there is no

Commie Swaps Capers With Jerry Lewis

By JOHN KENDALL

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Anastasia I. Mikoyan, fresh from trading clowning capers on a Hollywood movie set with comedian Jerry Lewis, leaves for Washington today for serious talks with President Eisenhower.

The 43-year-old Soviet deputy premier rounded out his cross-country goodwill tour of the United States with a three-day visit here that was summarized by public demonstrations as marked by his stays in Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago and San Francisco.

The energetic Russian official topped his successful tour of Los Angeles by appearing as a guest on a local television show.

"As far as we are concerned," Mikoyan told interviewer Paul Coates, "we do not want a war over Berlin, but it depends on the other side to keep the peace."

Asked whether he thought the American people want war, Mikoyan replied:

"Judging by people I've seen I can say the American people want peace. In general, I've the best impression of American people."

Mikoyan, who watched a broadcast of the filmed interview when it was aired later in the evening, was said by his interpreter to have enjoyed watching himself on television.

Mikoyan completed his busy day which included a tour of UCLA, a luncheon meeting with prominent businessmen and educators and a visit to Paramount Studios by taking a walk around the grounds of his hotel shortly before retiring to his suite about midnight.

Earlier, the glib Russian official clowning with Jerry Lewis on the set of the comedian's latest picture, and even planted a firm kiss in the European style on Lewis' cheek.

Gray County Soil Conservation District News

By JAMES SMATHERS

Eleven persons from the Gray County Soil Conservation District made a tour Wednesday of the Sandstone Creek watershed project.

The group met at the local Soil Conservation Service office at Elk City, Okla. at 10:30 for a briefing of the project and its operation.

The Sandstone Creek is a part of the Washita River watershed. Fred Whittington at Elk City conducted the tour. The Creek has a drainage area of 65,000 acres and there are some 24 structures protecting 4,700 acres.

Some of the area protected had been abandoned before the project was put into operation, but now the land is being farmed again. Three to four hundred acres have been cleaned and are now in production.

Eight or nine irrigation systems are now in use, compared to no irrigation systems before completion of the project. No alfalfa could be grown but now alfalfa can be seen on a number of farms.

Flooding has almost been eliminated. One item that takes the interest of everyone is the number of streams now flowing. Most streams previously had been dry. Another thing of value is the recreation and wildlife obtained. All the detention reservoirs have been stocked with fish.

People living within the Sandstone Creek area have plenty of good words to say about the project.

Ally's Won't Be Jeopardized

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The notion that earthlings someday will colonize the moon and Mars may seem fantastic.

But it is entirely reasonable to suppose, in current scientific reports, "Astronautics and its Applications" prepared by the Rand Corp. for the House Space Committee.

After some 50,000 words on space technology, dealing with everything from rocket propulsion to bases on the moon and Mars, the report says:

"It has been suggested that extraterrestrial residences may be a long-term solution to the problem of accommodating the enormously increasing population of the earth."

"This notion, while not entirely out of the question, does entail something of a strain on credit."

"However, it can probably be fairly asserted that developments for extraterrestrial bases may help by disclosing ways of dealing with unfavorable environments and thereby effectively enlarging the amount of usable land area on the earth."

The idea apparently is that after establishing bases on the airless and arid moon, and nearby airless and mostly arid Mars, coping with something like the airy but arid Sahara would be pie.

Urrulia's Wife Promote Cuban Women's

Personality Spotlight
United Press International

Mrs. Esperanza Laguno Urrulia, wife of Cuba's provisional president Manuel Urrulia, is an attractive, soft-spoken but determined woman. She plans to take an active role in promoting the role of Cuban women in the new Cuba.

Her biggest task, she feels, is to raise the moral standards of Cuban women.

"I am a woman of my own spirit," she said. "I will work with all the women of my country, who unfortunately have 'descended much,' she said shortly after her husband took office.

She feels the women of Cuba should have more responsibility. She plans a program to encourage "voluntarism" which fostered morality under the Batista regime.

But she frankly conceded that developments in Cuba had moved so fast "that time has not permitted the formation of a definite program."

Elsewhere other types of irregular shootings were reported: a 16-year-old militiaman killed a teenage girl bystander in Santa Clara when he accidentally discharged his rifle; a prisoner being escorted to jail was shot by a militiaman in Cienfuegos; a 21-year-old Santa Clara youth was wounded by stray bullets in a suburban gunfight.

Unity Stressed By Mrs. O. O. Bishop In Opening Talk To Lefors HD Club

LEFORS (Sp)—"Conserving Soil and Water in the Home Grounds" was the topic used by Mrs. Ted Kendall, in a speech to the Lefors Home Demonstration club at its first meeting of the year in the home of Mrs. O. O. Bishop on Thursday afternoon.

It is an important thing to avoid wasting water in poor soil, but to build up the organic matter in the soil, so as to hold the water," stated Mrs. Kendall as she demonstrated with sand and organic black soil showing how quickly the water runs through the sand, but is retained and absorbed by the organic matter filled soil.

"Hand-watering is useless, and rather a rainmaker sprinkler or hose should be run until the ground is saturated," she went on to say, adding that "in mowing, it is better not to cut the grass so short to avoid dryness, use a mulching mower, and fertilize with natural things such as grass clippings and leaves."

Mrs. O. O. Bishop, president, presided over the business meeting with roll call and minutes given by Mrs. W. K. Davis.

In her opening talk as president, Mrs. Bishop stressed unity, offered encouragement, "the need for doing right in all things, in order to make the club outstanding in the year 1959."

New year books were distributed.

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY—My husband is an insurance salesman who gets him inside lots of houses I wish he never say the inside of. One woman in particular. In the first place the street she lives on isn't even in his territory. In the second place his commission from her policy is only thirty cents a week. Once she called him up in the middle of the night to tell him he forgot to give her change for fifty cents. He says she's strictly business, but his eyes shine when he talks about her. Outside of that, he's a good husband.

Am I wrong to ask him to transfer her to some body else, to keep him away from temptation?

DEAR JEALOUS: Good husbands are at a premium and keeping him away from temptation is the best policy.

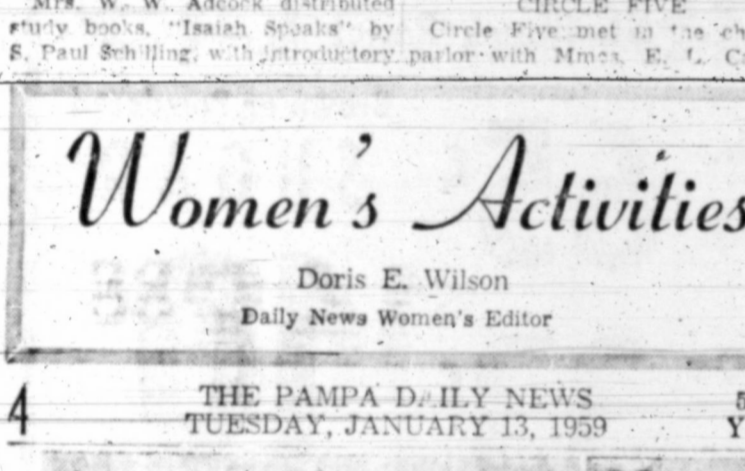

DEAR ABBY: My nephew expects to marry a girl who has a small child born out of wedlock. They are going to live in the same city with us, where he knows but she is not. How should we explain the child?

AN AUNT: "DEAR AUNT—When a man marries a woman with a child, it is assumed that the child is hers from a former marriage." There is no need to "explain" otherwise.

DEAR ABBY: About six months ago a real trouble-maker moved into our block and was asked to join our group. She decided she needed more education so at the age of 38 she started back to college with all them "bits." I said if she got along for 38 years without college she could get along for another 38. Right? That isn't all. She's a reformer. She got one GRANDMOTHER to take a correspondence course to get her High School diploma and another one going to Business College. To cap it all she decided that every woman on our block should vote, so she yakked and pecked till she got her way. This is a free country, Abby, and I don't need anybody else to get my life. The neighborhood isn't the same since she took over. What do you suggest?

RUGGED: "DEAR RUGGED—I suggest you choose your own friends and let your neighbors the same privilege."

DEAR ABBY: It's too late for me but if you print my letter it may help other girls from making the same mistake I made. I fell in love at 15. Nobody could talk me out of it, either. The boy was 16. We went steady for two years and did a lot of things we had no business doing. At 17, I thought we had to get married so I quit school and got married in a hurry and then found out we didn't have to. We live with his folks and now he blames me for "living him down" but he runs with his buddies while I sit home with his parents. Not.

The soft and highly individual look of the spring suit for 1959 is shown here in these designs. Blue flax suit (left) has waistlength jacket gathered slightly at the back with half-belt. Skirt is slim but gathered. This is a George Carmel design. Beige wool tweed suit by Harry Fritchett (right) has collarless jacket with scarf neckline. Slim, straight skirt has two rows of stitching at front for panel effect. Both suits are variations on the straight cut.

Jackets Are Shorter, Waistlines Higher As Spring Suit Returns To Classic Lines

By GAILE DUGAS
 NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK (NEA)—The high rising look of the new spring suits stems from two factors: jackets are shorter and waistlines are higher. There never has been a spring in which suit jacket designs were so varied and offered so much choice. The basic cut may be straight, partially curved or tapered, but the changes rung on these three are many.

And right here, there's a suit trend worth regarding: the return of the fitted suit. So far, it's just a whisper. Where it does appear, it's a very gentle fitting, not back on the spring scene, often at all what we regarded as fitted done in the past. But the indications are there that in another season or two, the fitted suit will be back again with us. If a suit is a long-term investment for you, this is some-thing to bear in mind when you shop for a spring suit.

If, on the other hand, you buy several suits a year, then you will want at least one of the suits with jacket belted at the Empire waistline. You will also want one with brief-jacket that hangs straight from the shoulders and possibly a third with a scarf neckline.

Collars generally are high, wide and open. Many are notched. Skirts for the most part are straight, slim and short. By short is meant just below the knee. Lengths differ and hem lengths therefore differ, too.

Glenn plaid and checks are popular. And there's lots of color there that in another season or two, the fitted suit will be back again with us. If a suit is a long-term investment for you, this is some-thing to bear in mind when you shop for a spring suit.

TIRES TRUED

Charles Grayum, a Hall Tire Company specialist, operates the Tru-o-Matic Tire Truing Machine that makes tires perfectly round. Tires never give you any trouble when trued here and you know what trouble you have when a tire is out of round.

Tires Twirl At Hall Tire Co.

Perfectly round tires wear longer, ride better, give more motorist pleasure.

That's why it is important to have your tires made perfectly round at Hall Tire Co., "Seal Cover Headquarters," at 700 W. Foster, telephone MO 4-3521.

How often have you noticed vibration, shimmy or tire "slap"? Those slip-happy tires cause vibrations, shimmy and make motorists tired.

Tire truing and wheel balancing the Hall way is the team that saves for you:

1. With longer tire mileage by thousands of miles.
2. With lower car repair bills because this team eliminates front end damage due to excessive vibration and shimmy.
3. With less driving fatigue because of easier driving.
4. With more driving pleasure and a smoother ride.
5. With more safety.

Making tires perfectly round by tire truing is another great step forward in the search for a perfect automobile ride. No amount of wheel balancing can give a smooth, vibration-free ride if the wheels are out of round.

Tire truing and wheel balancing by Hall takes just a few minutes because Hall uses two automatic precision machines: the Tru-o-Matic Tire Truing Machine and the Alemitic Electronic Wheel Balancer, which shows you, the driver, when our wheels are balanced. You can watch the dial yourself.

Your tires must be perfectly round to give you a smooth, vibration-free ride. Eight out of ten tires that have been driven more than 2,000 miles are out of round, although the same tires were within 1/16th of an inch of roundness when they left the factory.

Your tires stretch as the molecules of rubber align themselves with the stresses of the tire, causing high spots and dried areas in the tread. These irregularities vary from 1/16th of an inch to 3/16th of an inch on passenger car tires, to over 1/2 inch on truck tires.

Tire irregularities cause immediate, excessive tire wear around the high spots, a condition that increases vibration, tire life and car-life are shortened abnormally. Driver fatigue is great.

Drive into Hall Tire Co., soon, have your tires made perfectly round. It takes only about five minutes to have a tire trued — made perfectly round — at Hall. Have all four tires and your spare tire trued in only about 25 minutes.

While your tires are being trued for smoother riding, look at Hall's large stock of seat covers, covers that fit your car! This firm has the largest stock of seat covers in the Panhandle and one of the largest stocks in the State of Texas. That means that you can select your covers from ones that fit your car.

Look over the seat covers, all in the latest patterns. They are made to add more beauty than ever to your car, to prolong the tire and good appearance of the automobile interior.

Even the new front cover design of a young and modern family to the colorful back cover featuring a 24-month guarantee on nylon passenger-car tires, the catalog reflects the changing buying habits of mail order customers.

Consumers stepped up buying of apparel, some appliances and items this week making total dollar volume throughout the nation unchanged to 4 per cent above a year ago, Dunn & Bradstreet reported. The consumers were attracted by numerous clearance sales. Buying of new passenger cars was both higher than the previous week and a year ago.

your seat covers. "If the covers are not fitted right, motorists do not get all the wear built in by the manufacturer," he said.

He supervises the installation of all seat covers to make sure the job is done correctly.

The stock of used tires, all in very good condition, is one of the largest in the Panhandle and includes those hard-to-get sizes, especially all sizes for 16 inch rims. With these tires you save half and even more on the cost of new tires. Much of the stock is made up of new car take-offs. A large portion is made up of excellent half-price tires.

Come in, talk over tire and seat cover problems with Leonard Hall, and discuss your other motorist problems with him.

Ward Catalog Shows Change In Home Needs

CHICAGO, Ill. (UPI) — Patterns, electronic appliances, chemically made fabrics, automatic controls and expanded lines of recreation merchandise receive more attention than ever before in the new 1959 mail order catalog which Montgomery Ward began distributing today to more than 8,000,000 American families.

The Ward catalog reflects the changes in the merchandise that American families are buying in this jet-rocket-satellite age — casual clothes that are products of chemistry, the automatic kitchen and laundry appliances that have become a part of every home, the outdoor motors, power tool shops and vacation travel equipment that families require for leisure time.

Even the new front cover design of a young and modern family to the colorful back cover featuring a 24-month guarantee on nylon passenger-car tires, the catalog reflects the changing buying habits of mail order customers.

Ten years ago, the majority of Ward catalog customers lived in rural areas. Today, 60 per cent live in metropolitan areas.

Family Life Within Sight At South Pole

By MAURICE CUTLER
United Press International

McMURDO SOUND, Antarctica (UPI)—The days of the Antarctic being the exclusive domain of men apparently are coming to an end. Women may soon crumble the walls of the world's last great male frontier.

Stand together you old explorers, because family life at the South Pole, with all the comforts of home, is within sight, according to a prominent United States scientist.

The prediction is that of Dr. Lloyd W. Berkner of Canton, N.Y., who recently visited the frozen wastes of the bleak forbidding land mass which is twice as big as the United States.

He should know, because Berkner was a radio operator and dog sled driver on Rear Adm. Richard E. Byrd's famous pioneer expedition to Little America 70 years ago. In addition, he's credited with the idea which led to the International Geophysical Year's massive probe to unravel the mysteries of the frozen continent.

Berkner, head of Associated Universities and a rear admiral in the U.S. Navy reserve, said he believes the time is fast approaching when "the humanizing influence of women and children" may warm this icy land.

Although several women have visited the Antarctic briefly, the number of feminine explorers who have lived here could be counted on the fingers of one hand. Even in this nuclear age, women, at least Americans, and those from most other countries, are strictly forbidden to enter this male stronghold.

But Berkner said that scientific investigation at the bottom of the earth will be stepped up in the coming years as a result of the recent progress during the IGY and that with the inevitable improvements in living conditions, top scientists will be lured here with offers of "family accommodations."

"The father of the IGY" said he feels that the introduction of nuclear power plants will bring striking improvements in the still comparatively primitive life here and family living in the South Polar regions may become a reality within the next six years.

Yesterday's hand reminded me of one played by the late Joseph Cohen of Wootter, O., some 25 years back.

His partner, John Law, put Joe in six spades and West was kind enough to double. Joe decided that the double indicated all five trumps and proceeded to make West eat all but one of them.

He started proceedings by cashing all the side suit aces and kings, winding up in dummy. He ruffed a heart—small and when West had to follow to that trick Joe was a home.

New York Central Railroad directors have called a halt to the studies with the Pennsylvania Railroad concerning the feasibility of a merger. They advocated instead a study looking toward consolidation of all railroads in the East into "three or four systems of nearly balanced economic strength." Rail officials interpreted the statement as meaning the Central favored a merger pattern in the East that would put the Central and Pennsylvania in separate systems.

Paper and paperboard production—a key economic barometer—will climb to a new high of 52 million tons this year or 4 per cent above the estimated 1958 production and 2 per cent above the previous record set in 1956, the Commerce Department reported. The Treasury announced it will raise $3,250,000,000 in cash by two new offerings—one of them 750 million dollars in 21-year bonds. The new bonds will bear 4 per cent interest but will be sold at 99, meaning an effective yield of 4.07 per cent. They will be dated Jan. 23.

Hunters Aroused By Army's Wild Oats

SAVANNAH, Ga. (UPI)—Local hunters are indignant about the Army's wild oats. W. A. Robertson, spokesman for the sportsmen, complained that hundreds of acres have been planned in wild oats on the military reservation at nearby Ft. Stewart.

Practically all the deer in this section have rushed onto the reservation to feed, Robertson said, and only military personnel are allowed to hunt there.

"It's not fair to use the people's money to attract game away from private property and grounds of private hunting clubs to a government military installation," he added. "We don't think a thing like this should be allowed to continue."

He trumped a diamond in dummy, led a fourth heart and ruffed with the ace of trumps. By this time West was down to his five trumps and had 45 play one of them on Joe's ace.

Now Joe led another diamond and West chose to ruff with the jack. Joe trumpeted with dummy's king, led dummy's last heart and ruffed with his ten spot.

West won this trick with his queen, but had to let dummy make the last two tricks with the nine and seven.

RED SCIENTISTS LEAVE

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (UPI)—A group of 63 Soviet and Polish scientists and other specialists leave for the Antarctic aboard the Russian ship Michail Kalinin today after stopping here for stores and fuel.

PARIS PRAISES TV

PARIS (UPI)—Maurice Cardinal Feltin, archbishop of Paris, praised television Sunday for its power to keep families home at night. In a special Mass in Notre Dame Cathedral, the cardinal said "this little screen keeps many to the family hearth who would otherwise be tempted to look for distractions outside the home."

Culberson Body Shop, A Good Place To Stop

We've had our share of wrecks lately with a cold front icing up the roads. Culberson Chevrolet's body shop, 212 N. Ballard, is well equipped to iron out the dents and give you back a well car.

Culberson's body men, with their years of experience can handle anything that comes along. If you happen to want a good paint job, Culberson's is the place to go. You get so many advantages when you deal with Culberson Chevrolet. If you're considering having some work done—the body shop is the place for all jobs, large and small.

Jim Seedig is headman with Joe Cook and E. C. Golden for body men and Bobby Culberson, body shop helper.

Service Department

A lot of cars don't start on these cold mornings. The trouble may be in the cooling system or the radiator hose. It's still not too late to have Culberson's service department check these for leaks. For motor tuneups and brake relining, you're smart to stop at Culberson's.

Tune-Up Now

The highpower and performance of new cars and trucks places great importance on maintenance and motor tuneup. Culberson takes special steps in tuneups — to keep your motor running the way it should.

With the higher compression ratios, and improved electrical systems, today's motors are more sensitive to usage and operative conditions. Since the modern motor is so temperamental and sensitive to adjustment, mechanics must be trained to restore the standard of performance and economy of which the motor is capable.

All The Way

Seldom is it advisable to attempt an improvement in performance by correcting only one or two items. Normally you will save time and achieve lasting results by having Culberson's service department perform all adjustments.

Culberson's does the tuneup in two parts:

1. The visual and mechanical checks and adjustments.
2. The instrument checkout with modern, compact, Sun Tuneup instruments.

Well Skilled

Perry Franklin is service manager here and Harold McCleery, assistant service manager. Mechanics are James Schaub, Joe Pate, Floyd Pysatt, Archie Bulard, Keith Russell, Bull Oler, Gordon Miller, Joe Cook and Henry Kolb.

Other men of experience at Culberson are Melvin Davis, lubrication, and Alvin Sanders, Procleanizer man.

Up To Date

Culberson's has the latest auto service equipment for best results and fastest service. Sun Distributor, Generator and Motor Testing Machines, Bear Frame Straightening Machines, Hunter Wheel Balancer, Merrill Electronic Balancer, and Klam-True Buff Tire Truer are on the job.

SMOKE SONG SLIPS INTO FIRST PLACE

CHICAGO (UPI)—An oldie slipped into the top spot of United Press International's top 20 national record survey during the past week and pushed the Chipmunks and "The Chipmunk Song" into third place.

The No. 1 record of the nation was "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes" by the Platters. Right behind it was Connie Francis' version of "My Happiness."

In fourth place after the popular Christmas "Chipmunk Song" was "Beep Beep," followed by the teen-ager favorite, "Sixteen Candles."

The top 20 records, with numbers in brackets indicating position this week, position last week, and number of weeks in the ratings, were:

- (1-2) Smoke Gets in Your Eyes—The Platters (Mercury).
- (2-5) My Happiness—Connie Francis (M-G-M).
- (3-6) The Chipmunk Song—The Chipmunks (Liberty).
- (4-9) Beep Beep—The Playmates (Roulette).

BROTHER ACT—Craig Winborn, left, and Coyle Winborn of the Harvesters basketball team are undoubtedly two of the most talented brothers ever to play high school basketball together. Craig, a 5-11 junior, has scored 103 points this year. Coyle, 6-4 and an all-star last year, has scored 284 points. He's a senior.

Harvesters Drop To 'Mere' .500

The Harvesters, finding rougher opposition as they moved into district play, almost fell below .500 in scoring last week. But not quite. The Pampa papers are now showing at an even 500 from the floor, down six points from their average at the end of non-district competition. Their free throw percentage stayed exactly the same. They dropped a bare point, to an even .500. Coyle Winborn continues to hold his commanding lead in both shooting percentage and total points. The all-star forward has averaged 55.3 in scoring 24 points.

Table with 5 columns: Name, lg, ft, tp, rb. Lists players like Winborn, Coyle, Layman, Minor, Gindorf, Winborn, Cr., Timms, Gist, Terrell, McGuire, Carter, Way, Cooper.

Wertz Inks With Bosox

United Press International—Vic Wertz, one of baseball's "hard luck" players, is being counted on today to bring the Boston Red Sox good luck on the road this year. Wertz, 33-year-old outfielder-first baseman acquired from the Cleveland Indians last month, became the first Red Sox player to sign for 1959 when he returned his contract to General Manager Joe Cronin Monday. Cronin disclosed Wertz enclosed a note saying, "You'll probably find the ink is hard to dry, I'm so anxious to play with Boston."

Cincinnati, Kentucky Hustle To Triumph in Road Contests

By FRED DOWN United Press International Kentucky and Cincinnati are still riding high today but only after hard battles on foreign courts. First-ranked Kentucky had to score its 59th victory under Coach Adolph Rupp, 83-68, over Tulane at New Orleans Monday night while fifth-ranked Cincinnati overcame a five-point margin at halftime to beat North Texas State, 64-58, at Denton, Tex. Kentucky's victory enabled the Wildcats to go into a three-way tie for second place in the Southeastern Conference and Cincinnati's win kept the Bearcats in first place in the Missouri Valley Conference.

Vossler Wins Tijuana Open; McMullin 2nd

By HAL WOOD United Press International TIJUANA, Mexico (UPI)—The touring golf brigade, well bronzed after two weeks in the sun of Mexico and southern California, headed for the rain and winds of Poblito Beach today, aiming for the Bing Crosby pot to gold. The well-known professionals finished a well-beaten second here Monday in the $20,000 Tijuana Open tournament as Ernie Vossler, Midland, Tex., won and John McMullin, Alameda, Calif., finished second.

Such seasoned tourists as National Open champion Tommy Bolt, Masters champion Arnold Palmer and PGA champion Doug Finsterwald usually don't give the youngsters a second glance. But they were the big wheels down south of the border; they are playing excellent golf, and they'll be among the important shotmakers to watch in this Doug Crosby clambake starting Thursday.

Vossler had been engaged in a head-and-head battle with Tommy Bolt when he broke loose on a string of five consecutive three-fours of them birdies—in the back nine. Bolt and Vossler were even after 36 holes, still deadlocked after 54 and still tied after 63 with only nine holes to go. But while Ernie got hot with his tees and set up easy birdie putts coming home, Tommy killed his chance when he took a double bogey six on the 17th. Bolt doubled far off the pace with a 280—good for only $270.

Vossler had rounds of 69-65-71-68 good for $2,900. The 45 tied the 273 smashed the old course mark for 2 holes by seven strokes. McMullin had rounds of 66-69-71-69 for a 275 and picked up $1,900. Jack Fleck, the 1955 National Amateur champion, played four five rounds, came in with a 276 total, good for $1,400. Mike Feth, Terrell, Yonkers, N.Y., and Jay Herbert, Sanford, N.C., tied at 277.

Braves Should Be Stronger on Mound

By FRED HANEY Manager, Milwaukee Braves Written For UPI LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Milwaukee should have a good solid team again this year when the National League season starts if we are lucky and void the injuries that caused us so much trouble in 1958. But we will miss that sparkling "that come through guy"—Red Schoendienst, who is and you can bet the entire Milwaukee club is pulling for him. Even though Red missed a lot of action, his presence even on the bench was an asset to us. He's a great competitor and I'm looking forward to having him back with the club in 1959. Stronger on Mound

It all goes well, we should be stronger on the mound this year than we were in 1958. Obviously Lew Burdette and Warren Spahn again will be the mainstays of our staff. But the Braves will have some good youngsters with a year more of experience, like Captain Willey, Joey Jay and second place in District 3-A, with a 3-1 record. Monterey has lost its third of its district contests.

in other games involving teams ranked among the top 10 in college basketball while victories by Illinois, Indiana and Michigan threw the Big Ten race into a three-way tie for first place. Trail At Halftime Kentucky, now 13-1 for the season, led 39-33, at halftime and led by only two points with eight minutes remaining in the game but finally wore out the foul-ridden Green Wave in the late minutes. Center Don Mills' 27 points led the Wildcats, who connected on 51.7 per cent of their field goal tries compared to Tulane's 38 per cent average. Kentucky also out-rebounded the Green Wave, 48-36.

Cincinnati, trailing by as much as 11 points, staged a full-court press that led North Texas State, 49-49, at the end of regulation time and then outscored the Eagles, 15-7, in the overtime. Oscar Robertson had 28 points on seven field goals and 14 free throws and Ralph Davis added 19 points for Cincinnati. North Texas State led, 27-22, at halftime.

Oklahoma loses Bob Boozer scored 27 points to lead Kansas State to its 12th win in 13 games. The Wildcats, who led by as much as 47 points in the second half, made 30 of 64 field goal attempts to Oklahoma's 13-for-37. It was the first loss for Oklahoma in Big Eight competition. Bradley increased its record to 10-1 after a tough battle with Houston at Houston, Tex. Houston managed to keep close until the three-minute mark of the second half, which started an 11-minute field goal famine after which Bradley held a 52-42 lead. Alpha Saunders scored 21 points for Bradley.

The Big Ten race became a three-way knot at the top when Illinois shaded Iowa, 103-97, Indiana nipped Minnesota, 63-59, and Michigan beat Wisconsin, 61-57. Manning Jackson and Roger Taylor scored 24 points each to pace Illinois; 6-foot, 11-inch center Walt Ballamy's 17 points sparked Indiana, and sophomore John Tidwell tallied 27 points to lead Michigan.

Aggies Nip Porks, 63-62

United Press International Texas A&M overcame an Arkansas lead in a late scoring spree and went on to win 63-62 in the only Southwest Conference game played Monday night at Fayetteville, Ark. The victory placed A&M in a third place tie with Arkansas in the conference. Both teams have 2-2 records. During the first half the Aggie scorers were bottled by a tight Arkansas defense and the Razorbacks led 40-32 at the intermission. But Aggie men Bill Swisher and Wilmer Cox caught fire with seven minutes to go, and a field goal by Cox placed the Aggies in the lead, 50-49. A&M then on held their own, but went into a stall during the last three minutes to make sure of their victory. Swisher was high point man for the Aggies with 20 points, while Arkansas guard Clyde Rhoads netted the same for the Razorbacks. Both teams hit 42 per cent of their shots from the field but the Aggies were way ahead on the foul line, 77 per cent against 55 per cent for Arkansas. In tonight's Southwest Conference action Baylor is at Southern Methodist, Texas Christian is at Rice and Texas Tech is at Texas.

Other major scores included Colorado 65 Oklahoma State 42, Tennessee 65 Louisiana State 38, Nebraska 51 Missouri 35, Texas A&M 63 Arkansas 42, Georgia Tech 82 Mississippi 70, and Iowa 99 Fairfield 67.

IBC Takes Knockout Blow As Court Approves Ruling

By JACK CUDDY United Press International NEW YORK (UPI)—A new promotional group mapped plans today for a world heavyweight boxing fight at Madison Square Garden within three months while attorneys for the International Boxing Club considered means of partially reviving the IBC from its knockout by Uncle Sam. Young Bill Rosenzohn of Los Angeles reportedly heads the new promoting outfit, and Kenneth C. Royall of New York, former secretary of the Army, heads the IBC attorneys who were slated for a meeting today with Truman Gibson, IBC president, and other IBC officials. The attorneys and IBC officials were to discuss the advisability of asking New York's Federal District Judge Sylvester J. Ryan to "soften" some of the dissolution orders of his 1957 monopoly decree, which was affirmed Monday by the U.S. Supreme Court at Washington.

Must Sell Stock

Judge Ryan's sweeping antitrust decree provides that James D. Norris and Arthur M. Wirtz, longtime principals in the IBC, must sell all their stock in New York's Madison Square Garden Corp. And they must also dissolve the IBC clubs of New York and Illinois. When the Supreme Court upheld that decree, it delivered a knockout to the IBC, and it gave the government final victory in its six-year fight to bust the monopoly. But it left the boxing world in an atmosphere of uncertainty—doubt that the powerful Norris group, which had nearly absolute control over the fight game since May, 1949, would actually yield that control. Optimistic Jack Dempsey said at Chicago the Supreme Court decision produced a "new birth" for boxing. The ex-heavyweight champion said it "will take the hobble chains of boxing and put the small clubs back into operation." But in New York, Gus D'Amato, manager of heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson, said "Although I'm over-joyed at the decision, I'm also sure that the IBC now will try to attack me more viciously and aggressively than ever before—since they no longer have any reason for restraint—no longer have to pursue a soft-pedal policy while awaiting the Supreme Court's decision."

Cooper Wants Shot at Title

LONDON (UPI)—Hammering Henry Cooper, encouraged by his upset victory over Brian London that earned him the British and Empire heavyweight titles, today demanded a $100,000 guarantee before he dares step into the same ring with world champion Floyd Patterson. Cooper had been offered a $72,000 guarantee to challenge for the world crown before he bounced off the canvas Monday to gain a 15-round decision over London in one of the bloodiest ring battles ever staged in the British Isles. The husky, blond Londoner realized his stunning victory stamped him as the next logical opponent for Patterson, who is the first heavyweight king to offer guarantees to challengers to prevent them from running out on matches. That undoubtedly explained Cooper's demand for a hike in the guarantee. Cooper suffered the only knockdown of Monday's brawl before 18,000 at Earls Court arena when a hard right by the champion in the fifth round dropped him to one.

Harvesters Meet Surprise Team of District, at 8 p.m.

LUBBOCK—The Pampa Harvesters had a close shave here Friday night, and tonight they'll meet an even better "barber" than they did Friday. Pampa invades the jinx city of the Plains for an 8:00 p. m. contest against the Lubbock Westerners—preceded by a 6:30 p. m. B game.

The Harvesters, both in football and basketball, have found nothing but trouble in Lubbock this year. On the gridiron, they lost to Monterey, 40-7, and to Lubbock, 41-6. Then Friday, Monterey became the first team to seriously threaten the Pampa cagers, although the Plainsmen finally bowed 52-49. Tonight's contest should be no exception to the rule, because the Westerners are rated as tougher than Monterey, and have been the surprise team of the district.

The Westerners were, for some reason, picked to finish in the District 3-4A cellar in a pre-season poll. But they have won 11 games and lost four, compiling one of the best offensive records in the loop. If there were any question about Lubbock holding its record against soft opposition—those 4-0-1-1-1 were put to rest Thursday, when the Westerners played the Amarillo Sandies. The Westerners trampled the Sandies, 57-36, on Amarillo's home court. Despite Lubbock's fine previous record, the margin of victory was surprising, because the Sandies are a highly-regarded team. Lubbock's other big win this season was a 62-50 decision over the Abilene Eagles, early in the season. Against district opposition, besides the Sandies, Lubbock has dropped two games. The Westerners lost to Berger in a tournament, 78-71, and to Palo Duro in a district contest, 52-43.

Despite their surprising record, however, Lubbock has the shortest, most inexperienced team since Monterey High School was founded four years ago. Coach Max O'Banion's Westerners average 6-1 in height, with three men over six feet. The Harvesters average 5-6, with four men 6-2 or over.

Only two lettermen are on the starting Lubbock squad—Jerry Parsons, 6-2, and Ron Tucker, 6-2. Tucker is the second leading scorer, with 180 points. Parsons has tallied 95. Mike Farley, 6-1 spark plug of the team, has scored 220 points—36 more than all stars forward Coyle Winborn of the Harvesters. Other starters are 5-10 Ron Taylor, who has netted 150 points, and 5-9 Ken Hawkins, who has tallied 124, and 6-4 Bill Pearce, who has meshed 68 (Six starters are listed because Parsons and Pearce alternate at the fifth starting position).

Lubbock's two main assets are hustle and good shooting from outside. With them, they'll be trying to break a 25-game Harvesters winning streak.

The Modern Curials

As income tax time begins to loom large in our minds, the thought persists that were it not for the withholding feature, a sizeable rebellion against paying these enormous sums for goodness knows what purposes...

The businessman who hired a single worker is compelled to subtract from that worker's pay check the precise sum of money the government has determined upon the matter relating to a chart and schedule of payments which is totally incalculable and is administered arbitrarily and must be obeyed in similar manner.

We got to wondering if this tax withholding idea had ever been employed before in history, and what results such employment had wrought. If any so far as we can discover the particular manner of withholding taxes in various here in the United States was an innovation of the Roosevelt administration...

The one possible parallel occurs in modern Russia. But the parallel is not precise, for in America the employer is presumed to be free and to be operating his own enterprise...

But of interest is the common feature of great similarity, with the institution of the CURIALES by the Roman government, during its monstrous decline...

Charity - A Definitive Search

In this day of much "do-gooding," clear and careful analysis of charity is in order. There is a tendency we fear to classify the passing of wealth from the hands of those who earned it, into the hands of those who did not earn it, as charity. But this is scarcely a precise definition.

Under it, if a robber absconds with your billfold and appropriates the money for his own use, assuming that you earned what it was in the billfold and that the robber has earned nothing, you would have to square this act of brigandage with charity. Surely, something other than this is intended when we use the word.

It is possible that we are confused by size. We hear of great gifts of charity from wealthy foundations and millionaires and we grow calloused to the true meaning of charity. Not that we are seeking here to belittle a gift simply because it may be large. We are looking for a definition that fits the act of charity itself.

Respecting size, we can think of no better guide to charity than that found in the gospel of St. Mark, Chapter 12, Verses 42-45.

And there came a certain poor widow, and she threw in two mites, which make a farthing.

Certainly the great teacher was looking at charity from the standpoint of motive, not from the standpoint of magnitude.

I am continuing to quote from F. A. Harper's essay on "Morals and the Welfare State."

In the last issue he explained his No. 2 assumption or moral postulate. He continues: "This view...there exists a Natural Law which rules over the affairs of human conduct..."

"...that he selects the moral rather than the immoral option. In the admirable words of Thomas Davidson: 'That which is not free is not responsible, and that which is not responsible is not moral.'"

The writer Zosimus tells us: "Constantine imposed a tribute of gold and silver on all who engaged in commerce; even wretched courtesans were not exempted from the tax."

A writer of the fourth century provides another interesting parallel; the poor are despoiled until many of them, although born of good families, flee to our empires.

"Some may prefer as a moral code something like 'Do as God would have us do.' But such as these, alone, are not adequate guides to conduct unless they are explained further, or unless they serve as symbolic of a deeper specific meaning."

Robert Allen Reports:

U.S. May Swap Satellite Dope With Russians

WASHINGTON - The U.S. is making an exceptional scientific offer to Russia. With White House approval, U.S. scientists are proposing to turn over all information obtained from this country's satellites in exchange for similar full data from the Soviet.

This unwonted bid is being de-legated by Russian authorities. The discussions with them are being conducted by Dr. Albert Novak, chemist of Rochester N.Y. University.

Assisting him in these unannounced negotiations are Dr. W.R. Porter, leading satellite authority on the U.S. Committee of the International Geophysical Year, and Dr. H.C. van de Hulst, prominent Netherlands scientist.

They have had several meetings with a group of Russian scientists headed by Academician E.K. Fedorov. Another conference is slated soon in Europe.

The significant U.S. offer would extend until June 30, 1959. That is the termination date for the exchange of data resulting from scientific activities under the auspices of the International Geophysical Year, which ended December 31, 1958.

Primary reason for the American proposal is Soviet talking about submitting a report on what has been learned from its satellites. The U.S. has as much, if not more than Russia, to gain from a full exchange of satellite data.

This disturbing discovery is that with one satellite alone - Sputnik III, which was launched May 15, 1958, and is still in orbit - the Soviet carried out the entire space research program which the U.S. proposed to accomplish in the course of a year and by using eight to ten satellites.

U.S. scientists are now convinced the number and size of these instruments considerably exceed the total in the four U.S. satellites - EXPLORER I, III, IV, and VANGUARD I. Total weight of their instruments is 40 lbs.

A good New Year's resolution for health is to learn more about diet and to follow good eating habits.

There is no doubt whatever that a carefully chosen diet is necessary for the maintenance of good health. Although most people know this well, they often are not familiar enough with the general principles or they ignore good eating habits.

The energy value of food is expressed in terms of calories. Enough calories are needed to provide for muscular exertion and other bodily functions.

Weight and age are other factors which enter into the calorie needs of the individual. A man who weighs 150 pounds, for example, and does a moderate amount of muscular work should have in the neighborhood of 3,000 calories a day.

The Doctor Says:

By Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.

A good New Year's resolution for health is to learn more about diet and to follow good eating habits.

There is no doubt whatever that a carefully chosen diet is necessary for the maintenance of good health. Although most people know this well, they often are not familiar enough with the general principles or they ignore good eating habits.

The energy value of food is expressed in terms of calories. Enough calories are needed to provide for muscular exertion and other bodily functions.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two new Westerns were dumped into the schedule during the week end, giving the three networks a combined horsepower of 25.

Those 25 Westerns now account for almost 25 per cent of the prime time of the three networks. Moreover, I should point out that I have not counted such near-Westerns as Yancy Derringer and Rin Tin Tin, or the Walt Disney Presents show which often features one-hour Westerns. I also have failed to include such syndicated who-dunits as Mackenzie's Raiders or Death Valley Days which may be seen in prime time in some localities.

Obviously, in the face of such an onslaught, it's difficult to keep a decent perspective about new entries. However:

Rawhide, a one hour Western, Train with the company moving made its CBS-TV debut on Friday. It's a kind of reverse wagon from west to east in an attempt to run a load of cattle from Texas to a Missouri railroad. The opener featured Terry Moore who acted better than the horses, but not much better. The show as a whole struck me as pedestrian, dull and dull and a probable hit.

NBC-TV unveiled a half-hour oater, Black Saddle, that's built around a Western lawyer. On Saturday, he showed his respect for the law by killing a villain legally. It was heartwarming. This, too, looks like a probable hit. But then, King Farouk on a horse could probably be a hit the way things are running right now.

NBC-TV's Music Shop, a half-hour teen age bash which curtailed on Sunday night, is an unblinking imitation of the ABC-TV Dick Clark rock 'n' roll show.

The host of Music Shop, a young man named Buddy Bragman, seems intent on displaying the sort of vicious personality that is ideal for this kind of show and I would say he succeeds admirably. Like Willy Loman, he desires not merely to be liked, but well liked and he might look into the possibility of getting a horse. Oh yes, this show also looks like a hit for that, too, is the way things are going now.

One further note: Sam Butera, one of the performers on Sunday night's show, plays the saxophone with such uneasy grace that he reminds me a little of a man sighing as out of an auto.

CBS-TV's Jack Benny and ABC-TV's Maverick turned out spoofs Sunday night, both of which I caught in screenings last week.

The Benny piece was a burlesque of the movie, Gaslight, and contained several very funny moments. Unfortunately, much of it was a pass at vacant air since the movie was no longer fresh in my mind.

Maverick needed another Western, Gunslinger, and although it struck me as somewhat less hilarious than its adherents had indicated, it held up as a very creditable piece of broad fun, perhaps the best spoof of Westerns I've seen on TV. Jim Garner, star of Maverick, has developed into a first-rate light comic actor — he packs a style, bounce and intelligence in a happy union, very close to the spirit of a Tony Randall, or Jack Lemmon.

The Channel Swim: NBC-TV's tribute to its late vice president, Emanuel Sachs, now is definitely set for March 3 and lists as performers: Frank Sinatra, Perry Como, Bing Crosby, Dinah Shore, Eddie Fisher and Rosemary Clooney. Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis also will appear, but not as a team.

ABC-TV will launch a one hour series of Saturday night shows in February built around the Rev. Billy Graham's upcoming meetings in Australia — they probably will be kinescopes. ABC-TV's Western, Rough Riders, has been sold for use on Japanese TV where it'll be dubbed into eastern.

Alan Lomax, the folk singer-researcher who currently is embarked on a study of rock 'n' roll, has attached himself to the ABC-TV Dick Clark Show, ABC-TV's Maverick will do a Western version of the Richard Sheridan comedy, "The Rivals," on Jan. 25.

NBC-TV's Jack Paar will take a two-week vacation starting Jan. 19 — Dick Van Dyke will spell Paar the first week and Hugh Downs the second.

Finicky Reindeer Lack Table Manners

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — A pair of finicky reindeer at the Highland Park Zoo have been fed to their satisfaction but zoo officials warned they will have to settle for a less exotic diet in the future.

The reindeer, which arrived here from Norway last week, went on a two-day hunger strike when an accompanying load of Norwegian peat moss was mislaid. They were offered corn, oats, beet root and even local peat moss but refused to eat.

"I had a pair of ravenous reindeer on my hands when the food finally came through," said zoo Supt. Howard R. Hays. He said the reindeer would be eating the Norwegian peat moss for about two weeks during which more ordinary food would be mixed with it.

"In about two weeks they'll be eating oats and beet root and liking it," Hays said optimistically. "At least they better. You can't buy Norwegian peat moss at the corner delicatessen."

Men Better At Losing Weight Than Women Are

CHICAGO (UPI) — Men are better weight losers than women.

A report, issued today by the American Medical Association, studies of 20-pound-weight-lossers showed men more successful at dieting than women, but offered no explanation.

Where loss of 40 pounds or more is concerned, results are even greater in favor of the male, said Dr. Albert Stunkard, a psychiatrist, and Mavis McLaren-Hume, a nutrition expert, in the AMA publication, Archives of Internal Medicine.

Dieting, however, has been magnified "to the proportions of a national neurosis" by recent publicity, they said.

They debunked three previous guides to predicting success in "night-eating syndrome" or raiding the icebox. The others were losing weight.

One of these, they said, was the dieter's anxiety, and his previous attempts at losing weight.

None of these characteristics, said the authors, had been significant in studies of 100 weight-losing patients at a New York hospital.

Something new in 1959! The first aircraft specifically designed for the man-on-the-street, the Umbaugh 2-place gyrocopter which rises vertically and lands in a space the size of most back yards, becomes a mass production "reality" in 1959 with 1,000 of the aircraft to be manufactured by October. Ray Umbaugh, right, who developed the machine, is shown with a model of his "man-on-the-street" rotary wing aircraft. Gilbert DeVore, left, a well known helicopter engineer, helped design the craft. George Joubin, center, an ex-service pilot, will conduct a campaign to sell the low priced aircraft. Texas is one of the first areas in which the Umbaugh gyrocopter will be introduced. The new aircraft will be brought to Texas by Trans-Western Copters, Friendswood, Texas.
