GOVERNMENT

ballot, Chehab won 48, Edgott 7 and one deputy abstained.

Beirut radio immediately broadcast the news to the nation. It was received with jubilation.

The election could open the way for the withdrawal of the 10,000 U.S. Marines and Army paratroops sent to Lebanon two weeks ago to protect the integrity of the pivotal Middle East nation.

It was a triumph for the quiet, unassuming general who stepped out from a non-political military career to offer the nation stability. It was the second time Chehab took over the reins of government at a time of crisis.

Murphy Given Credit
In 1952, when President Beshara Khouri was forced to quit in another rebellion, Chehab acted as "strongman" until Chamoun was elected.

Chehab's election also was a tribute to the efforts of U.S. State Department troubleshooter Robert Murphy. Murphy was dispatched here by President Eisenhower to mediate between the government and opposition forces in the wake of the Iraqi revolt.

Apparently by design, Murphy was not in Lebanon during the critical election hours. He flew Wednesday night to Amman for consultations with King Hussein, who also has been having troubles. Today he went to Jerusalem to confer with Israeli officials.

Chehab emerged early in the negotiations as the one man both sides apparently would support. Monday, he made it known that he would accept the presidency if the parties guaranteed him an overwhelming majority in the vote.

During the 13 weeks of rebellion, Chehab had refused to commit his disciplined army to one side or the other. It protected government installations but refused to move in strength against the rebel-held areas of Beirut or Tripoli or the insurgent back country strongholds.

Speaker Calls Session
This policy almost torpedoed the lengthy negotiations to end the crisis. Tuesday, rebels came within a few minutes of assassinating Premier Sami Solh. Shaken and angered, Solh declared he would block the election unless Chehab cleaned up the rebel-held Basta quarter of Beirut by dawn today.

But Osseyran refused to postpone the session, which had originally been scheduled for last Thursday.

There were these other developments in the Middle East crises: Damascus: A Syrian military spokesman said Turkish troops crossed the frontier Wednesday and exchanged fire with Syrian border guards; he said Turkish troops took up positions in hills commanding the border after the clash.

London: Pakistan, Iran and Turkey announced recognition of the revolutionary Iraqi regime in a move apparently designed to check its drift into the pro-Nasser camp. Greece and West Germany also announced recognition and other Western states expected to follow.

cept Moscow.

Other summit developments worldwide included:
London: Britain will tell Russia today it is willing to attend a summit Security Council conference in Geneva in a couple of weeks, informed sources reported. The sources said Britain would suggest a mid-August meeting.

Paris: The NATO ambassadors were summoned to another permanent council meeting today to try to patch up differences among France and the United States and Britain over the site of a summit conference. France is opposed to a New York meeting.

United Nations: U.N. officials denied a report that Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold had ordered a general cancellation of leaves in the belief a summit meeting would be held here.

Beginner's Swim Program Ends

James Diehl, Water Safety Instructor for Lefors, has completed the beginner's swim program and begun the senior life saving course, reports the Pampa Chapter of the National Red Cross.

Starting Tuesday, the 18 hour life saving course will take three weeks to complete. Diehl teaches two one hour sessions an evening. The days of the course are Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays, from 8 to 10 p.m.

Thirty were enrolled in the beginner's program but only 10 received their certificates.

Councillor Speaks Finally

LONDON (UPI) — Councillors attending the St. Pancras borough council meeting here cheered when member George Humberstone rose to address the gathering.

For the first time since he was elected six years ago George was going to say something.

"Thank you for your encouragement and sympathy during my recent illness," he said — and sat down.

Then the 80-year-old councillor slumped over his seat dead.

West Texas Stadium Talked Here

Bob Crudginton, Amarillo business man, spoke yesterday for the Pampa Rotary club on the current project to raise $300,000, to supplement the $400,000 allocated by the University of Texas Board of Regents, to build a football stadium at West Texas State College in Canyon.

Crudginton explained that the stadium would seat 20,000 spectators against the present facility which holds 7,000. Also included in this project would be a paved parking to accommodate 5,000 cars.

The speaker said that it is hoped the stadium would be ready for the football season of 1959 and urged everyone interested to lend their financial support.

Club visitors and guests for the day were Benson Ford, Hollis Alford, Ed Pangburn, and Howard Graham.

Prosecution Of Goldfine Takes Time

WASHINGTON (UPI)—U. S. Attorney Oliver Gasch said today prosecution of millionaire Bernard Goldfine on a contempt of Congress citation would take "a minimum" of two years.

Gasch, whose office would handle the case, told United Press International prosecution of a "hard-fought contempt of Congress citation in two years is considered good."

The House Commerce Committee scheduled a vote today on the Adams citation against Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams' gift-giving friend — 48 hours after the influence — investigating subcommittee recommended it 8-0.

If approved by the committee as expected, the House could vote on the citation at any time and forward it to Gasch for prosecution. Subcommittee members have predicted a swift, overwhelming House approval.

Meantime the House armed services investigating subcommittee called a closed meeting today to decide whether to hold public hearings or just issue a report on its secret inquiry into the Adams-Raylaine case. Adams allegedly attempted to influence the Pentagon in its decision to refund a $42,284 penalty to Raylaine Worsteads, Inc., of Manchester, N.H. The White House has denied any influence attempt by Adams.

Robert Wong Is Speaker For Jaycees

Robert Wong of China spoke to the Pampa Jaycees in their meeting Tuesday at noon.

Wong, who is staying with the Burl Letwers of Pampa in order to attend Pampa High School, told of the things which impressed him about America. Modern conveniences were pointed out as the most impressive to him, who had to leave China in order to get the education he desired. He has an uncle who formerly lived here and who helped him come to Pampa to study.

Wong's talk was highly enjoyed by the Jaycees.

The Jaycees will operate their "jail" on Cuyler again Saturday in an effort to get each man who is not growing a beard to purchase a shaving permit. The beard growing contest being sponsored by the club will climax Tuesday with the judging and a street dance, both to be held on the street between the courthouse and city hall.

The winner of the Jaycee-sponsored "Miss Pampa" contest, Linda Kay Stegle, will enter the "Miss Texas" contest in Amarillo this week end.

Another current project of the Jaycees, annual sessions and adequate annual salaries for members of the Texas Legislature, will be further engaged in this week end at the Gray County Democratic Convention.

The Bear's Propaganda Machine Goes Full Blast

Summit Talks

The Russian Bear has his propaganda machine going at full speed producing advertising designed to convince other countries that Russia is leading the march for world peace. Most Washingtonians in public life recognize that this propaganda barrage has been effective, even though some will not admit it. Our efforts to counteract it by exposing it for what it really is have not been too successful, because the State Department seems to lack the necessary imagination to offset it. Our knowledge of the purpose which Russia is pursuing should enable anticipatory moves on the part of this country to neutralize 90 per cent of the propaganda, insofar as other countries are concerned.

The recent exchange of notes between the several countries involved concerning summit meetings opened the door for Russia to profit measurably, propaganda-wise. I am sure that there must have been excellent reasons for the manner in which the State Department conducted itself with relation to this exchange. However, the people from other countries with whom I have talked felt that their people might think that the United States was reluctant to enter into summit conferences. The proposal of the President with relation to using the United Nations as an agency for handling this matter, no doubt, made sense to many who are familiar with the complexities and intricacies of the procedures of that body and international law. But to many people in other countries who are not blessed with a great knowledge concerning the operations of the U.N., it could be made to appear as a stalling tactic. And, Russia would not be averse to placing the appearance on it. It has been known for some time that Russia was using proposals for a summit meeting in its propaganda machine. It appears to me that this knowledge, standing alone, should have alerted us that it was our responsibility to mount a peace offensive in terms that could be clearly understood by peoples all over the world. Many of us realize that a summit meeting could be misused as a stage upon which to present a propaganda show. Such a misuse would, of course, do more to harm the peace movement than to help it. Many here feel that it is time for this country to take the initiative and to formulate a policy and an agenda for a summit meeting that will insure participation by those countries who are acting in good faith and expose those who are acting in bad faith for what they are.

The National Debt
By the time this letter reaches you, the Administration will probably have asked for authority to increase the national debt to 288 billions of dollars. The permanent debt ceiling is $275 billion. The Administration heretofore asked this session of Congress for approval to raise the debt ceiling to $280 billion on a temporary basis. This was done. It presently appears that the new request of the Administration will be that the permanent ceiling be raised from $275 billion to $285 billion and that the temporary ceiling be lifted from $280 billion to $288 billion. The temporary ceiling of $288 billion would probably run until June 30, 1959.

Conquest Of Outer Space Is The Purpose Of New Program

By DARRELL GARWOOD
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States is about to embark on a new civilian-directed program for the conquest of outer space. President Eisenhower signed into law Tuesday a bill establishing a new space agency to supervise the peaceful efforts.

His signature created a new National Aeronautics and Space Administration. The President said in a special statement the measure was an "historic step" pledged to "peaceful purposes for the benefit of all mankind."

It was expected the President would ask Congress for about 300 million dollars to finance the new agency.

May Head Agency
Dr. Hugh L. Dryden, head of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, estimated NASA would be a functioning unit within two to three months. NASA will supersede Dryden's 38-year-old committee.

There was speculation Dryden might become the $22,500-a-year administrator of the new agency. The law charges the administrator with planning, directing and conducting aeronautical and space activities.

But it also gives the Department of Defense clear jurisdiction over "activities peculiar to or primarily associated with the development of weapons systems, military operations or the defense of the United States," including research necessary to make effective provision for the defense of the United States.

Sets Up Special Council
Dryden said funds would be asked from Congress for these major purposes:

—"Manned space," which will be termed "technology of manned space vehicles." This may be a small part of the program at first, but it is expected to grow into the agency's principal preoccupation.

—"Space science," including instruments, artificial earth satellites for scientific purposes, and the development of larger boosters, such as rocket engines with millions of pounds of thrust.

—"Improved electronics to advance space technology, communications and meteorology."

The new agency director will sit on an all-powerful "National Aeronautics and Space Council" headed by Eisenhower and including the secretaries of state and defense, the chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission and four other presidential appointees, only one of whom can be from the government.

Weirdly-Garbed Pilot Aims For True Space

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Some time within the next year or two a weirdly-garbed pilot will be strapped into the cockpit of the rocket plane X-15, carried aloft under a giant jet bomber to the lower stratosphere and then dropped.

The X-15's throaty rocket engine then will be switched on and the missile-like craft will streak upward at a speed near 4,000 miles an hour into true space.

The man assigned to pilot America's first space ship is a police officer from Los Angeles.

Capt. Robert (Bob) White, 34, veteran of 52 combat missions in World War II and Korea and now designated to replace Capt. Iven C. Kincheloe, killed in a jet crash last Saturday at Edwards Air Force Base.

Improved Jobless Situation Seen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Labor Department experts have forecast a slight improvement within 60 days in the gloomy jobless picture.

But they said in commenting on the latest survey of unemployment in 149 major industrial centers that the pickup in manufacturing would lag behind other parts of the economy.

The department Tuesday designated 89 of the 149 areas as centers of "substantial" labor surplus. Three large cities—Los Angeles, Long Beach, Calif., Birmingham, Ala., and Milwaukee—were placed in this category for the first time.

Seven other cities moved down the ladder to classifications reflecting lower employment. They were Fort Wayne, Ind., Grand Rapids and Muskegon, Mich., Buffalo, N.Y., and Bridgeport, New Britain and Waterbury, Conn.

The department said, however, that it expected a relatively small but widespread increase in the number of workers on non-farm payrolls by September.

Most of this increase will come in the construction, food processing and apparel industries. A pickup in trade jobs—banks, insurance companies and the like—also was predicted.

The big layoffs may be over except in a few scattered locations, the report said.

"Only a handful of areas appear to expect over-all employment declines during the next few months," the department said in its bi-monthly survey of employers' hiring plans.

Even the auto industry—the whipping boy of the recession—may show a pickup by mid-September if model change overs are completed on time, the report said.

This forecast presumes there will be no lengthy strike over a new labor contract.

Even with these encouraging signs on the horizon, government manpower experts predicted unemployment would continue to be 6 per cent or more in 89 major labor markets.

The number of industrial centers with 12 per cent or more of the labor force out of work zoomed to 21 in July compared with one such area a year ago.

The department put 21 more cities on its list of smaller areas with a substantial labor surplus to bring the total to 182. This compared with 61 last July.

The department noted, however, that employment in 60 major industrial complexes has leveled off this spring.

Hamburger Needn't Always Be In Bun, Skillet Meat Loaf Offers New Setting

On the back porch, in the backyard — every family moves out into the fresh air for an occasional hot-day supper. If your choice of foods for outdoor dining has become all too predictable, here are some ideas destined to become new family favorites.

Ground beef, for example, needn't always nestle in a hamburger bun. Next time try a Skillet Meat Loaf. Bring the skillet right from the range to the table, and serve the meat loaf in many sized chunks. Anyone who insists may still sandwich his in a toasted roll. Potato chips, relishes and ears of roasted sweet corn are tasty accompaniments.

For the youngsters nothing is ever so successful at an outdoor meal as a frankfurter. Wrap a frank in a swirl of All-Bran biscuit and bake it, and you'll score a big hit. Adults seem to prefer this dish with a flavorful tomato sauce, but we'll bet on catsup for the kids.

A plate filled with bar cookies like Molasses Fruit Bars, accompanied by dishes of ice cream or fresh fruit, is a happy note which to end your alfresco feast.

- SKILLET MEAT LOAF
- 1 pound ground beef
 - 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
 - 1/2 cup chopped onions
 - 3 tablespoons finely cut celery
 - 1 cup corn soya shreds
 - 1 egg, slightly beaten
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1 tablespoon catsup
 - 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
 - 1/2 teaspoon prepared mustard
 - 1 tablespoon shortening
- Combine all ingredients except shortening; mix thoroughly. Melt shortening in 8-inch skillet; add meat mixture and press down with spoon to shape of pan. Cover and cook over low heat for about 20 minutes or until done. Turn out onto hot platter and serve at once.

- FRANKFURTER BISCUITS
- 1 cup whole bran cereal
 - 1/2 cup milk
 - 1 1/2 cups sifted flour
 - 3 teaspoons baking powder
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
 - 1-3 cup shortening
 - 12 frankfurters
- Combine whole bran cereal and milk; let stand until most of moisture is taken up. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and mustard. Cut in shortening until

Direct From Grill To Please Palate

Direct from the charcoal grill meatball kabobs are easy to make and easy to serve: easy on the budget, too! Family and guests will appreciate this attractive and hearty meal served from the outdoor grill.

- MEATBALL KABOBS
- 2 lbs. ground beef
 - 2 eggs
 - 1/2 cup catsup
 - 32 Ritz Cheese Crackers, finely rolled (about 2 cups crumbs).
- Chunks of tomatoes, mushrooms, onions, and green peppers. Mix first four ingredients and shape into balls about 2 inches in diameter. String on long skewers. On separate skewers string vegetable chunks. Grill meatballs 15 minutes, turning frequently. During last five minutes of cooking time, grill the vegetables. Serve from skewers onto individual plates with pickles, olives, and extra crackers to scoop up the grilled vegetables. Pineapple boats filled with fresh fruit make an elegant dessert-salad.

mixture resembles coarse corn meal. Add whole bran cereal mixture; stir until combined. Turn dough out on floured board; knead gently a few times. Roll out in rectangle to 1/4-inch in thickness; cut into 12 strips. Wrap strip spirally around each frankfurter, leaving ends open. Seal edges of dough. Bake on greased baking sheet in a very hot oven (450 degrees F.) about 15 minutes. Serve at once with well-seasoned tomato sauce.

- Yield: 6 servings, 2 frankfurters each.
- MOLASSES FRUIT BARS
- 1 1/2 cups whole wheat flakes
 - 1 1/2 cups sifted flour
 - 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
 - 1/4 teaspoon baking soda
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 cup butter or margarine
 - 1/2 cup sugar

1 egg
1/2 cup molasses
1/2 cup milk
1 cup cut seedless raisins
Crush whole wheat flakes into fine crumbs. Sift together flour, baking powder, soda and salt. Mix with whole wheat flakes. Blend butter and sugar. Add egg and molasses; beat well. Add dry ingredients alternately with milk, mixing well after each addition. Stir in raisins. Spread about 1/2 inch thick in greased shallow 15 x 10 1/2-inch pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 20 minutes. Cool; cut into bars.

EASY PICNIC FARE

On summer days, everything seems to taste better served with a garnish of greenery and blue skies overhead. Keep your freezer stocked with picnic fare, so you can take advantage of eating outdoors.

A package of frozen chicken can be the mainstay of your picnic, whether it be a cook-out or a carry-out meal. Take your package of frozen chicken from the freezer just before you leave. Then as you travel or relax at a cook-out spot, the chicken will slowly thaw and be just right for cooking. Only frozen chicken has this special advantage.

Here's a recipe for Picnic Chicken Italian, highly satisfactory to prepare over grill. This chicken recipe can also be prepared in the

Fruit Juice Freeze For Brunch Menu

Make this refreshing freeze from the new frozen juice blends of favorite flavors, then for a sure hit serve it to start off this special brunch. This one is memorable and only takes minutes to prepare. Just cook eggs to order, broil bacon crisply, and serve with toasted English Muffin and coffee.

- DOUBLE DELIGHT FREEZE
- 1 cup sugar
 - 3 cups water
 - 1 can DOLE Concentrated Frozen Pineapple-Grapefruit Juice or Pineapple-Orange Juice
 - 2 tablespoons lemon juice

Boil sugar and 1 cup water rapidly for 5 minutes; remove from heat. Immediately add frozen Pineapple-Orange Juice or Pineapple-Grapefruit Juice. The syrup thaws the juice and the juice cools the syrup, eliminating a wait-to-cool period. Then add lemon juice, rest of water, mix, and pour into refrigerator trays. Freeze, stirring well twice at 30-minute intervals. Makes 6-8 servings.

Good also as first course, dessert, or with fruit salad — low calorie, too.

Extra Easy Loaf Gives Time To Loaf

Served hot or cold, as the weather dictates, this extra-easy loaf is an unusually delicious penny-pinner.

- SALMON-VEGETABLE LOAF
- 1 lb. can salmon, flaked
 - 1 can condensed vegetable soup
 - 50 Triangle Thins, crumbled (about 2 cups crumbs)
 - 1 onion, chopped
 - 1 egg

Mix all ingredients and pack in greased loaf pan (8 x 4 x 2 1/2 inches). Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 minutes. Serve hot or cold, with sauce if desired. Serves 6.

A few minutes, a few hooks and pegboard rack will keep kitchen items neatly arranged. Attach racks to the back of kitchen cabinets and hang as many items on them as possible without cluttering.

Lobster Tails Are Answer To Meatless Patio Party

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor
BARBECUED ROCK LOBSTER TAILS
WITH GARLIC BUTTER

Six South African rock lobster tails, 1/4 pound butter, 1 clove garlic, 1 teaspoon snipped parsley. Lay solidly frozen South African rock lobster tails on a cutting board. With a sharp knife, cut through hard outer shell and meat, leaving end of tail intact. Blend the silt lobster tail backwards so meaty inside is exposed and shell meets in back. Put garlic clove through-squeezer and cream garlic juice with butter. Spread flesh side with garlic butter. Set remaining butter-in-pan on side of grill to melt. Place tail on grill shell side down. Cook for 5 minutes. Grasp end of tail with tongs and flip rock lobster over. Grill on flesh side for 5-7 minutes. Meat is done when flesh is opaque and meat is tender when pierced with a fork. Add snipped parsley to melted butter and serve as dip sauce with barbecued rock lobster tails.

Here's a well-seasoned creamy potato salad for your patio menu.
POTATO SALAD
Nine medium potatoes, 2 onions, sliced; 1 cup mayonnaise, 1 tablespoon vinegar or lemon juice, 2 teaspoons aromatic butters, 1/2 cup heavy cream, 2 tablespoons finely-

Ernest Adams Is A Hero To His Fellow Boys Ranchers

(Special To The News)
BOYS RANCH—One day this summer, a shy, slight Boys Rancher, Ernest Adams came to the rescue of a buddy, unconscious in six feet of water.
 Cal Farley's Boys Ranch, a nationally known haven for homeless boys, is located near Amarillo. Here the older boys frequently supervise groups of younger boys during leisure or play periods. On one such occasion, Martinez was taking four small boys for a walk. Because swimming season was approaching and because the little boys were excited that they were going to be in this summer's beginners swimming class, they asked Martinez to take them for a look at the swimming pool. As they were walking across the rock wall dam there, he explained to them that the bigger boys like to take hold of the rope hanging from one of the giant cottonwoods that border the pool, swing out over the water, then drop into the water.
 Like all youngsters, the little boys were delighted with this idea, and begged him to show them. Amiable and obliging he took the rope and executed a demonstration swing, but just before he reached the embankment, the rope broke and Martinez, falling, struck his head against the dam and plunged unconscious into over six feet of water.
 The little boys, terror-stricken when their buddy didn't come to the surface, started screaming. A group of older boys who were working on their saddles in the nearby barn heard them and came on the run to help, Ernest Adams reached the dam and the staff member immediately gave the boy artificial respiration, after which the boy was rushed to a hospital.

 Martinez and Adams have been friends at Boys Ranch for several years, and Ernest, although reluctant to discuss his feat of heroism, says, "Well, sure, anybody's going to help out a buddy, if he can."
 Measurements have shown the ice to be 9,750 feet thick in one place in Antarctica.
 Long Island is a 120-mile-long spit of land in the Atlantic, dumped there ages ago by glaciers.

BY AIR TO LEBANON—Today all eyes, and air routes, converge on the tiny Middle East nation of Lebanon, where for weeks the government has been battling rebel forces and where recently contingents of U.S. Marines have been landed. Newspaper above shows approximate airline distances from the major capitals of the world. British troops are reported to have flown from the island of Cyprus to Amman, capital of Jordan, while American troops have been airlifted to Adana, Turkey, from bases in West Germany. Shading on map identifies major political groupings. Turkey, shown as a Baghdad Pact country, is also a member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization; Britain is also a member of both NATO and the Baghdad Pact. Iraq, until the recent overthrow of her government, was a member of the Baghdad Pact.

Critic Prefers Live TV People Over Filmed Ones Every Time

Television in Review
 By WILLIAM EWALED
 United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI)—Other things being equal and they never are, I'll take live people over filmed people on TV everytime. (In real life, of course, it's different—all of my best friends are on film.)
 Anyway, Tuesday night I caught CBS-TV's new game show, "Keep Talking," and I found it pretty diverting. I'm not quite sure why because structurally the show falls on almost every count: Its scoring system is absurd, wrong answers are accepted all over the place and its game is shot through with more holes than my head, as my public tells me.
 But it does have live people—if you'll grant me that show business performers are people—and those people are trapped in a pressure situation that generates boos and occasional bon-bons.
 If you haven't seen the show, I should explain the game in detail to you. But I won't. I can be mean that way. But I will say it has something to do with panelists trying to fit absurd phrases into a story line without tipping off the point at which the phrases have been inserted and...aw, it's too complicated, watch for yourself.
 Tuesday night the phrases included such nutcases as "The sandark is a burrowing African mammal with a long prehensile lingford, imagine running into tongue" and "Well, well, Wallingsford, imagine running into you in Mozambique." Panelists like Roger Price, Danny Dayton, Louis Nye and Pat Carroll seemed to have a fine time kicking them around.
 Like ABC-TV's "Pantomime Quiz" and NBC-TV's "Jack Paar Show," "Keep Talking" is a show whose chief staple is cheerful chaos. And I'm all for more cheerful chaos on TV. Right now, TV is

Solemn High Mass Follows Nuptial Rites Uniting Cecelia Lopez, Arthur Bohanan

(Special to The News)
WHITE DEER — The Sacred Heart Church was the setting for the recent marriage of Miss Cecelia Lopez, daughter of Mrs. Julia Lopez of White Deer, to Arthur Bohanan, son of James H. Bohanan of Cherryville, Kan. The Rev. Jerome Hancox officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The main altar was decorated with bouquets of shasta daisies and the side altar with white chrysanthemums.

After the nuptial ceremony, solemn high mass was offered by the Reverend Hancox, celebrant, with the Rev. M. F. Schaffie of Borger serving as deacon; Joe Raymond Lopez, brother of the bride, as sub-deacon; Laurence Martinez, as surfer; John Alden Kotars, as master of ceremonies; and John-otters of the bride, as acolytes. Jimmy Lopez, also brother of the bride, as acolyte.

The choir, directed by Johnny Rapstine, with Mrs. Laddie Kotars, organist, sang "The Mass of the Angels" and as the bride laid her bouquet on the altar of the Blessed Mother, they sang "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother."

Attending the bride were her sister, Mrs. John Isch, of White Deer, who served as matron of honor; Miss Elvera Garcia of Amarillo, maid of honor; and Miss Joy Kotars, White Deer, bridesmaid. All wore pink taffeta dresses fashioned with Peter Pan collars, cap sleeves, wide cummerbunds, and full skirts, and carried bouquets of pink and white carnations. Miss Janie Isch, a niece of the bride, served as flower girl wearing a white nylon dress. Fidel Lopez, brother of the bride, was best man; John Isch and Joe Martinez, groomsmen; and Jerry and Maynard Kotars, ushers.

Given in marriage by her oldest brother, Jesus, the bride wore a halter-length dress of lace and net over taffeta. The long fitted bodice was edged with lace ruffles, topped with a lace bolero designed with a Peter Pan collar and long sleeves.

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Do you see anything wrong with a boy and girl who have gone together for three years spending their vacation together at a respectable hotel? Both our parents agreed until my aunt heard about it and said people will talk. I know I can trust myself and the boy has always been a perfect gentleman. We get our vacations at the same time and being very much in love hate to be separated for two whole weeks. We don't intend to occupy the same room, I am 20 and he is 21. You are open-minded, Abby, please help us out.

CLEAN-MINDED
Dear Clean: I may be open-minded, but I don't have holes in my head. Spending two weeks together at a hotel sounds too much like a honeymoon without the marriage ceremony. Lovers alone need a chaperone.

DEAR ABBY: I read with interest your article about ALL MAN who was looking for a woman who looks like a woman, acts like a woman and is ALL WOMAN. I have been around the world many times and I think I know what he wants. You will never find ALL WOMAN in AMERICA. The most feminine women in the world are to be found in FINLAND! It might cost a little something to get there, but it will be worthwhile.

WELL-TRAVELED
Dear J. H.: Thank you for our suggestions. There are plenty of feminine women in AMERICA. Our men will go shopping in Finland when Helsinki freezes!

DEAR ABBY: I'm writing to you in regard to that married couple who wants to give their baby away because they claim they can't afford a fifth child. They signed themselves REALISTIC PARENTS. If they are so realistic why don't they sit down like adults and figure out a way to keep it? It made me sore. I'm the father of five and I wouldn't give my own flesh and blood away if I had 20! I was laid off for a year and we were down and out but we survived. We were on welfare and it didn't hurt my pride. There are plenty of agencies they can go to. Tell them to smarten up and if they still want to give their baby away to send it my way. My wife feels exactly the same as I do about it. Thank you, Abby.

FATHER OF FIVE
DEAR ABBY: My husband got a crewcut and he looks like a plucked chicken; he is in his late forties and his hair is thinning out fast. At least before he had longer hair and could cover the bald spots, but now his baldness shines through all over and he looks simply ridiculous. I called his barber to baw him out and the barber said he tried to talk, my husband out of it but he insisted. How can I get my husband to realize that he looks terrible and should let his hair grow?

CREWCUTS WIFE
Dear Wife: If you've already told your husband what you think of his crewcut (and I'm sure you have) so get off his back. Some men get stuck with something and stick with it to defy the opposition. Ignore it and the chances are he'll let it grow out on his own.

DEAR ABBY: I am a boy 14 and my sister is 16. When we are eating supper and the telephone rings, they let her get up from the table and run to answer it because it might be a boy. They never let me get up from the table to talk on the telephone even if it's for me. Do you think this is fair?

BILLY
Dear Billy: A boy can call a girl anytime, and you have that privilege. Your sister has to wait to be called. It's not exactly "fair" but it's understandable. Confidential to Sammy's Wife: Even more important than finding out "What Makes a m m y Run" is finding out how to make Sammy stop.

For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

If you want a collection of Abby's best letters and answers in one book, ask your bookseller to get "DEAR ABBY" for you.

Polish Fans Will Get To See Johnson

WARSAW (UPI)—Polish sports fans were promised today they'll get a glimpse of the "world's greatest athlete" Rafer Johnson in Friday's U. S. - Poland track and field meet, even if his performance won't count in the final score.

U.S. head coach George Eastman of Manhattan College said Johnson had not been entered as a competitor here since there is no decathlon event. But he will appear as an added, unofficial entry in at least one event so Polish fans can see him.

Johnson, who set a new world record of 8,302 points at Moscow as the U. S. men's team defeated Russia, has been one of the most popular team members among enthusiastic Polish fans who have been cheering the U. S. team since its arrival Wednesday.

The Poles went all out to make the Yanks welcome, even loading up on gallons of orange and lemon juice, which sell at prohibitive prices here, for the U.S. training table. And the 80,000-seat "Tenth Anniversary" Stadium on the banks of the Vistula River is expected to be sold out for the two days of competition which start Friday.

The Poles also had something for Eastman—a promise that the meet would be scored as two separate dual meets, one for men and one for women. At Moscow the Russians had promised the same thing but wound up lumping together both point totals and claiming a 172-170 overall victory. Eastman announced that Al Oerter, of New Hyde Park, N. Y., who placed second in the discus event in Moscow with 184 feet, 10.7 inches to Rink Babka's 186 feet, 11.6 inches, has returned home. He gave no further details of Oerter's departure.

NO MORE SWEAT—World Heavyweight Champion Floyd Patterson is currently in rigid training for his title fight with fabled Roy Harris of Cut-N-Shoot, Texas, in Los Angeles next month. Come fight night and Floyd will have been in training four-days less than a year since he stopped Pete Rademacher in a title scrap. At right is Patterson's manager, Cus D'Amato.

HE REPORTS

Patterson Eager For Harris Bout

World's heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson is looking forward to his title defense against fabulous Roy Harris from Cut 'n' Shoot, Tex., a favorable turning point in his ring career. In the following dispatch, the first of two, the champion explains why.

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—I don't think I've ever been as eager for a fight as I am for the one coming up with Roy Harris. When I defend my title against Harris on Aug. 18 at Wrigley Field, it will be just four days short of a year since my last fight with Pete Rademacher.

I've been in training most of the time since then, and it is going to feel just fine to be throwing punches for real against an opponent who should be the toughest I've met so far.

Flash Flood Teeing Off

CHICAGO (UPI)—All the "name" golf pros began competition today in Glenelg Country Club's $50,000 Open Invitational, a "cut-rate" affair compared to past Chicago offerings. The total purse, equaling the largest on the pros' summer tourney swing, is one third of what the stars usually played for here—$150,000 offered by Tam O'Shaner for their pair of August events, the "All American" and the "World."

First prize in the event will pay $9,000 compared to $50,000 in recent years to "world" winners. A total of 170 players opened the event, including National Open champion Tommy Bolt, PGA titleholder Dow Finsterwald, Masters champion Arnold Palmer and British Open champion Peter Thomson.

Others in the field were Cary Middlecoff, Jack Fleck, Julius Boros, Dick Mayer, Sam Snead, Lionel Herbert, Ken Venturi, Gene Littler, Gary Player, Jackie Burke, Mike Souchak and Jay Hebert.

More important, I've got some things to prove. I'm fed up with all the criticism of myself and my manager, Cus D'Amato, because I don't fight as often as some people think I should.

Recalls Dempsey Sabbathicals—Cus and I have been a team for a long time—ever since I first started working out in his gym in New York when I was 14. He helped me win an Olympic championship, and the world heavyweight title. And folks overlook the fact that he's made a lot of money for me—about all I could keep anyway after taxes.

After all, I fought twice last year, and I hope to fight twice this year. That's all Rocky Marciano did, and it is offense that a lot of past champions defended their titles. In fact, do you realize Jack Dempsey only defended his title six times in more than seven years he was champion? Nowadays, everyone considers Dempsey one of the greatest champions of them all. But he hadn't had a title fight in more than three years when he lost to Gene Tunney in 1926.

Disagrees With Critics—Joe Louis is an exception, of course. But I'm not convinced Joe was any better off, or did any more for boxing, than I am with the two good fights a year.

I realize that I need fights and more fights to prove that I'm a real champion. But as Cus keeps telling me, I'm young yet—only 23. And I can't agree with those who make light of the challengers I've met so far.

Don't forget, Hurricane Jackson was No. 1 in all the ratings when I stopped him last summer. And I'll tell you something else, I think Pete Rademacher was better than Jackson.

Though it was Rademacher's first professional fight, nobody else has hit me so hard or thrown so many good punches.

But right now, my big concern is Harris. I haven't been idle, although I haven't been fighting for the record these past 12 months. I think I'm an improved fighter, and I think a strong, clever opponent like Harris is just what I need to prove it.

Next: Patterson tells what he thinks of Harris.

Spahn Stops Bums, 1st Time Since '51

By FRED DOWN
United Press International

Victor's tasted just as sweet for Warren Spahn today even though he was the first to admit the Dodgers "ain't what they used to be."

"They aren't the team of old, but I feel good anyway," said the great Milwaukee Braves left-hander after beating Los Angeles, 4-3, Wednesday night for the first time in seven years. "A good pitcher is supposed to beat 'em all."

That, of course, had been a sore point with Spahn over the years. Eight times a 20-game winner and a strong Hall of Fame candidate, he nevertheless had to listen to the whispers that the Braves were afraid to start him against the Dodgers. The theory was logical enough—why expose even a great left-hander to the Dodgers' right-handed power when there was a reasonable alternative?—but it hurt Spahn's pride, nevertheless.

Drops Giants To Second—So, Wednesday night, the 37-year-old Spahn "proved" his point, at least to a degree, against a Dodger lineup packed with eight right-handed batters. He pitched a six-hitter, struck out six, yielded only two earned runs and wound up with a perfect night when his victory knocked the San Francisco Giants out of first place. The Giants dipped a point behind the Braves when they lost to Bob Purkey and the Cincinnati Redlegs, 5-1.

The Philadelphia Phillies defeated the St. Louis Cardinals, 5-1, and the Pittsburgh Pirates scored a 7-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs in a game rained out after 7½ innings in the other N.L. activity.

In the American League, the Kansas City Athletics spoiled Casey Stengel's 68th birthday celebration with a 4½-inning rain-shortened, 2-0 victory but the New York Yankees retained their 14-game lead anyway because the Detroit Tigers beat the Boston

Red Sox, 2-1. The Cleveland Indians downed the Baltimore Orioles, 6-3, and the Chicago White Sox outslugged the Washington Senators, 11-9, in other games.

Two Milwaukee errors helped the Dodgers gain a 3-2 lead in the sixth inning, but the Braves tied the score on Del Crandall's triple and Felix Mantilla's sacrifice fly in the seventh and won the game

No Worries On Frisco Stadium

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The problem of raising money for the new San Francisco Giants baseball stadium was a thing of the past today.

Mayor George Christopher presented a City of San Francisco check for five million dollars Wednesday to the San Francisco Stadium, Inc. Alan K. Browne, vice president of the Bank of America and president of the stadium corporation, received the check and turned it over to his bank as trustee.

The new stadium, to be built along San Francisco Bay at the southern edge of the city, will seat 45,000 fans and have parking space for 12,000 cars.

in the eighth on Ed Mathews' 21st homer of the year.

Purkey pitched a five-hitter and singled home two late-inning insurance runs to beat the Giants for the third time this year. Walt Drogo and Pete Whisenant homered off Johnny Antonelli.

Richie Ashburn's triple and singles by Harry Anderson and Dave Philley sparked a three-run third-inning rally that chased Billy Muffett and enabled Jack Sanford to win his seventh game for the Phillies.

Rookie George Witt struck out 10 batters and won his fourth game for the Pirates with eighth-inning relief aid from Bob Porterfield. Frank Thomas knocked in two runs with a bases-filled single and Hank Foiles hit a three-run homer for the big blows in Pittsburgh's attack.

Stengel's Bank Over $5-Million

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—New York Manager Casey Stengel moved into another milestone in his fabulous career today with the observation that the rich get richer and the poor get poorer—so he rode with the Yankees.

Casey, honored at two parties celebrating his birthday Wednesday, rambled through the ceremonies in his usual Stengelese with a few reminiscences of his boyhood in Kansas City some 60 odd years ago.

Just how many, even "Ole Casey" couldn't say for sure. Some record books show him 67, others 68. Casey said he thought 68 was right, but added, "It don't make a damn bit of difference."

He said, "In baseball, the rich wouldn't trade and the poor get wiped out so I decided to join the Yankees."

"I'm like a WPA manager that's been discharged and then re-hired. I've been with so many teams. At times my parents and my family were probably my best friends."

He also observed that "everybody is amazed at how baseball is going on the West Coast. I'd say they were fortunate in Los Angeles they sold the tickets early."

Besides the parties, Stengel received many telegrams. One he enjoyed most came from employees of the Glendale, Calif., National Bank where Casey is one of the directors.

"Congratulations," it read. "Your bank is batting over five million."

Spider To Test Pattern

NEW YORK (UPI)—Spider Webb, who stopped Germany's Franz Szuozina with a "new punching pattern," apparently will test the gimmick against Joey Giardello at Pittsburgh Sept. 17.

Webb of Chicago, fifth-ranking middleweight contender, scored a technical knockout over blood-smearing Szuozina at 1:20 of the seventh round Wednesday night in their TV fight at Madison Square Garden.

And the Spider explained today: "I stopped him with a new pattern of soft rights followed by dynamite when the opening came."

Truman Gibson, president of the International Boxing Club, said, "I've advised Webb and manager Hector Knowles to accept the offer of Pittsburgh's Dapper Dan Club for a 10-round TV fight with Joey Giardello at Forbes Field, Sept. 17."

De Gaulle Completes Draft Of New French Constitution

Foreign News Commentary
By CHARLES M MCCANN
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Premier Charles de Gaulle has completed the draft of a new constitution under which he plans to revolutionize France's governmental system.

The constitution is to be submitted to the people in a national referendum on Sept. 28 or Oct. 5.

Political experts predict it will be approved by a comfortable majority and possibly by a landslide.

If so, France will get, on a permanent basis, an "authoritarian" government like that which de Gaulle is administering under his temporary powers.

Reeds Oppose Him

There are indications that De Gaulle will dissolve the present Parliament before it can start its next scheduled session on Oct. 7.

If he does, he will call for an immediate election so there will be a new Parliament as well as a new constitution.

So far, only the Communists have announced last-ditch opposition to De Gaulle's proposed new deal.

The Communists are the strongest political party in France, with 148 seats in the 566-member National Assembly, the controlling house of Parliament.

Powers Increased

Communist leader Maurice Thorez has ordered his party workers to organize opposition throughout the country.

The Socialist party, which ranks second to the Communists with 101 seats in the assembly, is somewhat lukewarm on the constitution issue, though it is represented in De Gaulle's cabinet. But there is no sign it will come out in firm opposition.

Under De Gaulle's constitution the powers of the President will be increased at the expense of the National Assembly.

Instead of being largely a figurehead as at present, the President would get strong executive powers like those exercised by the President of the United States.

May Keep Leadership

There are reports that if the constitution is approved, De Gaulle may resign as premier and assume the presidency.

This appears to be increasingly likely because of the approval De Gaulle's policies have won since he took office June 2 after a 13-year succession of cabinet overthrows.

De Gaulle wants to solve the Algerian problem, strengthen the country's finances and increase its prestige as a world power.

The Empire Will Reveal What Sack Concealed

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

PARIS (UPI)—The men who complained about what the sack concealed won't complain about what the empire revealed.

For we may as well face the facts. The high-waisted silhouette is, so far, the "look" which has swept through U. S. and European collections as if all designers were one great mind running in the same rut.

Yet the empire, as it's done today in bulky wools and heavy silks, is one to give even Marilyn Monroe and Jayne Mansfield pause.

It calls not only for perfect legs (skirts are 19 and 20 inches from the floor) and for a very slim waistline, but also for a small bosom — 34 or 35 instead of a movie star pin-up of 38 or 39. In this latter category, the empire as Paris shows it — and unless modified to fit individual figures — will turn anything other than an ideal figure, size 10 or less, into a dowager type.

French designers, showing their fall and winter collections this week for some 600 reporters from all parts of the world, took to the empire as if the French hadn't invented it in the first place — with the revolution at the end of the 1700's and the rise of the Emperor Napoleon to power.

But there was one thing about the empire of Napoleon's day. It was sexy. In a rebellion against all the elegance of the aristocrats, the revolutionaries turned to gowns of filmy muslin and made a liberal dousing with water. Today's empire in inch-thick tweeds sure they clung to the figure by and other heavy wools hardly produces the same effect.

Whether the rest of Paris's haute couture including the famous House of Dior will go along was to be decided as more firms displayed their collections.

Only Coco Chanel, the grande dame of Paris couture, thus far refused to buy empire of anything else besides her classic, unbuttoned jackets, slim skirts, and coordinated silk or jersey blouse. She left virtually all waistlines where nature put them.

Stocks and Bonds

The phrase "stocks and bonds" is pretty familiar to most Americans whether they own any of them or not. The phrase has been used so often that many persons don't realize that there is a difference between stocks and bonds.

When you buy a share of stock in a corporation, you become a part owner of it. You own a share of everything the corporation has. If there are 1,000 shares outstanding and you own one share, you have an "undivided" one thousandth share in the corporation. This means that no particular piece of the corporation's property is yours but that you have an interest in every piece of property.

When you buy a corporation's bond, you are lending money to the corporation. You do not own any part of it. The corporation promises to pay you interest on the loan and to return your money when the bond "matures."

Unlike a stockholder, a bondholder usually has no voice in how the corporation is managed or in the selection of the corporation's officers. However, the bondholder receives his interest payments before any money is paid to the stockholders. He must be paid even if there is then nothing left to pay dividends to the stockholders.

If the corporation quits doing business or goes bankrupt, the bondholders are repaid for their loans before any of the investment of the stockholders is returned.

Perhaps you have heard of "preferred stock." Usually, preferred stockholders have a right to collect a particular fixed amount of dividend before the "common" stockholders receive any dividend. There are many possible preferred stock arrangements. But frequently, in return for their first chance at the profits, the preferred stockholders give up any voting rights or ability to control the company.

If it turns out that the corporation is fabulously successful and earns huge profits, most of the profits will go to the common stockholders. It is a rule of thumb that the common stockholders take a greater risk with their investment but stand to make a greater profit.
