AHEAD OF SCHEDULE

Good weather has made it possible for construction of the Hobart Street Underpass to be slightly ahead of schedule. Pampa Employment Is 'Levelling Off'

Employment in Pampa is "no longer on the downgrade and more or less on a level period," according to the local branch of the Texas Employment Commission. Some of the larger firms have begun hiring-replacements. Manager Bill Ragdale disclosed today. Ragdale said that most of the stores depending entirely upon the Pampa area are doing as well as ever and have not cut their sales force. Owing to a lack of business in other parts of the country, however, some firms have waited until this past month to hire replacements.

One local business reported it was doing "better this year than in the first six months of last year."

New applications for employment totaled 139 for the period ending May 25 and 242 for the month ending Friday.

Placements for the Apr. 25-June 25 period were 158, including 12 agricultural employees. The next month saw 65 agricultural placements and 110 others, making 174.

With the wheat harvest nearly over, agricultural placements will go down. But with drier weather, construction workers should do better than they did last month, Ragdale pointed out.

Internal Revenue officials said a true gift could not be deducted as a business expense.

The House influence-investigation subcommittee called Goldfine to the witness stand this morning with the tax write-off question taking prominent position.

The session was expected to begin with Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark.) delivering a rebuke to Goldfine for his alleged failure to turn over to the investigators all the financial records they sought.

"I charge all these expressions of horror about what I asked Mr. Adams to do and what he did are hypocrisy," Goldfine said in his 25-page opening statement, made available in advance to newsmen.

Charges slander. He also questioned motives of the subcommittee in probing the Adams case and called fellow Bostonian John Fox, a financier-promoter, a "sick man."

Fox, in testimony before the committee last week and Monday, charged Goldfine gave gifts, including a house, to Adams in order to obtain gentle handling at the hands of federal regulatory agencies.

Goldfine went into long discussions of his dealings with the agencies and the part Adams played in contacting them for him. He concluded he could not see "how we received better or different treatment from what was given to many other manufacturers who were concerned with the same or (See GOLDFINE Page 2)

Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy was called before the Senate Armed Services Committee today in a continuation of hearings on the Defense Department's reorganization bill.

The Joint Committee on Atomic Energy met for a hearing on the nomination of John A. McCone to be a member of the Atomic Energy Commission. McCone was nominated by President Eisenhower to succeed AEC member and chairman Lewis Strauss, who decided not to seek another term.

An early House vote was predicted for a new aid to education bill designed to produce more and better young scientists for the space age. The House Education Committee approved all its provisions separately Tuesday but was to go through the formality of a final vote.

The measure provides federal college scholarships and loans and a variety of other aid costing about 560 million dollars over a four-year period.

Major developments in Congress Tuesday: Small Business: The Senate approved legislation to make the Small Business Administration a permanent agency and increase its lending authority to 650 million dollars. In a 55 to 26 vote, the Senate refused to go along with the House and overrode a Senate Banking Committee recommendation that the five-year-old agency get a three-year extension instead of permanent status. The bill now goes back to the House.

Ships: Sen. John J. Williams chided congressmen for taking free trips on government-subsidized shipping lines and compared the practice with Sherman Adams' acceptance of hotel accommodations. The Delaware Republican leveled the charge during a Senate wrangle over a compromise bill to authorize the Federal Maritime Board to build two additional superliners equivalent to the S. S. United States. The measure, worked out by a joint House-Senate conference committee, was approved by a roll call vote of 41 to 18. The legislation now goes to the House for a final Congress. Gravel On Alleys Is Discussed. For 15 cents per running foot, the City will gravel the alleys, City Manager John Koontz told the Pampa Realtors Board yesterday. Koontz was the featured speaker at the board's semi-monthly meeting.

Koontz was the featured speaker at a discussion of the growth of Pampa. But everyone on the block must agree to the graveling, he stipulated. Arrangements can be made through the City Engineer's office, MO 4-8485.

Those attending the luncheon meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Quentin Williams, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Mundy, Mrs. W. L. Bruce, Miss J. Pansagan, Ed Griffin, Earnest Searle and Genevieve Henderson.

Rebels Grow Defiant In Kidnapping Case

Army Moves Up Tanks

Lebanon War Intensifies

By LARRY COLLINS United Press International
BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI)—Rebel forces launched an assault today on a major bridge in Tripoli controlling all traffic northward toward Syria. The army moved up tanks to defend it.

The rebel attack on the Bahsas Bridge, some 600 yards north of the Tripoli city limits, came after a night of heavy firing inside and outside the northern port city. The attack on the bridge came at 8:30 a.m. when the rebels opened up a machine gun barrage from the fringe of the rebel-held Samir area. By 9 o'clock the rebels drove to within 300 yards of the bridge.

Government forces have cut rebel life lines in the Tripoli area in an attempt to starve out the insurgents, already reported short of food and ammunition. The army threw in tanks today to stop the attempted breakout, and within minutes the wide boulevard leading to the river crossing echoed with gunfire.

Shortly before the assault on the bridge the rebels set fire to the merchant district just inside government-held territory on the fringe of the no man's land between the two forces. The insurgents claimed the buildings were being used by snipers of the Syrian Peoples Party (PPS). But the army said there were no PPS forces in that area.

Absentee Voting To Start

Absentee balloting will begin Monday and run through July 23 for the July 25 Democratic Primary, County Clerk Charles Taylor announced today. Qualified voters who plan to be out of Gray County on election day should plan to cast their vote in the County clerk's office. That specified, where necessary, the office will mail out absentee ballots. On July 16-17, all candidates will be required to file sworn statements of their campaign expenses. Forms are available in the County Clerk's office.

The four commissioner's precincts, including voting places at Lefors, Laketon, Pampa, Phillips Camp, Grandview, Hopkins, Albrecht and McLean, have yielded a total of 7,225 qualified voters, according to statistics from the Gray County Clerk's office.

House Votes On Aid Amendments

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House planned voting on amendments today that would restore some of the $52 million dollars chopped from President Eisenhower's foreign aid program. Indications were the House would reject the amendments and string along with the Appropriations Committee recommendations holding the money aid bill to $3,078,025,000.

Republicans, by staying off the floor in large numbers, Tuesday forced five quorum calls which consumed 105 minutes and thwarted efforts by Democrats to force the House to vote on the amendments.

A last-minute appeal from President Eisenhower was anticipated, but likely will go unheeded.

Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy was called before the Senate Armed Services Committee today in a continuation of hearings on the Defense Department's reorganization bill.

Attention Beard Growers!

The Pampa Jaycees announced at their meeting yesterday that they would sponsor the Beard-Growing Contest here again this year.

The club sponsored the contest last year, much to the delight of the city's "beard" males. The winners were chosen as rodeo week got underway, during a street dance, also sponsored by the club.

The official word from Clyde Dickerson, chairman of the project for the Jaycees, is "Get started on growing your beards today, men, there's no time to lose." Dickerson feels that there is something in the air here in the Panhandle that causes beards to grow slowly and there is only one month left to get the beards out in full bloom.

The judging will be held in conjunction with the annual Top o' Texas Rodeo, held the first week in August.

Last year, Mage Keyser won the title of Pampa's sporter of the "Most Outstanding Beard." Prizes were given in several categories last year and the practice will be repeated again this "go round."

Other winners in 1956 were "Dusty" Miller of Lefors, whitest beard; Max Hukill, heaviest beard; R. P. McDonald, blackest beard; Floyd Hatcher, reddest beard; Meredith Meeker, youngest beard grower; Luther Nelson, oldest beard grower; "Butch" Reynolds, thinnest beard; and Carl Cantrell, shaggiest beard.

Dickerson reports that more details on the contest will be announced in the near future. In the meanwhile, he says, get your beard underway and that "itching" will be over in a few days.

Entries in the Miss Pampa Beauty Pageant were guests of the club at the meeting yesterday. Mrs. Frances Cree, hostess to the contest entries, was also present. Contestants on hand were the winner, Miss Pampa of 1958, Linda Kay Steele, who will represent the Jaycees in Amarillo this month; Bonnie Lou Glaxner, first runner-up; Martha Gordon, Karla Cox and Kay Sprinkle.

Other guests were Bill Barber and Don Miller of Borger.

Not Guilty Plea Entered Here

Herbert Denny, 502 N. Dwight, entered a plea of not guilty in Gray County court yesterday on charges of aggravated assault. His bond was set at $1,000.

Denny was charged with beating his four-year-old daughter Evelyn, "because she wouldn't eat fish."

The child is now under the care of the Gray County Welfare office.

Cadillac Had Wet Brakes!

Racket Committee Skeptical Of Montana's 'Wild' Tales

By DICK WEST United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—One more witness like John C. Montana, honored as "man of the year" in Buffalo, N.Y., in 1956, will give the Senate Rackets Committee a case of strained credibility. Particularly his tale of how he slid into a big gangster meeting because of wet brakes on his Cadillac.

Members of the committee became progressively more skeptical Tuesday as they heard Montana explain how he "happened" to be at the widely publicized "underworld convention" at Apalachin, N.Y., last fall.

The Apalachin gathering, reputed to have been a meeting of the Mafia crime syndicate, is figuring prominently in the committee's investigation of underworld penetration in the labor-management field. More than 80 hood-

Talk Of Calling Out Marines Circulates

By FRANCIS L. MCCARTHY United Press International

HAVANA (UPI)—Cuban rebels grew more defiant today despite calls in Washington for use of U.S. Marines if necessary to rescue 47 Americans kidnaped by the forces of rebel leader Fidel Castro. The hundreds of Americans in Cuba were asking "who will be next?"

A United Press International dispatch from Santiago quoted rebel sources as saying the United States "can send in Marines or anybody else" but the Castro gang will not change its position because its position is desperate and "things could not get any worse."

The rebels indicated they might free three Canadian captives in the immediate future but hinted they were in no hurry to release the Americans captured at the rate of nearly 10 a day for the past five days.

Americans were increasingly apprehensive because of rebel control of Oriente Province, site of many American plantations and mines. The rebels there control all but the cities and towns and are able to strike at will.

Americans here were increasingly angry at the kidnappings, and statements in Washington drew general approval, especially one by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles saying the United States would not pay "blackmail."

They also paid attention to a statement by Sen. Styles Bridges (R-N.H.) calling for the use of Marines if necessary and a demand by Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif.) that the rebels should be given 48 hours to release the prisoners. Otherwise, he suggested, sending in arms and equipment to help Cuba "maintain law and order."

Got U.S. Rockets. The impression grew in Cuba that Castro's move was inspired by a desire to force intervention into Cuban internal affairs. But he also appeared to be trying to force the United States to stop supplying military aid to the Cuban government.

The U.S. Embassy disclosed the Cuban government had received 300 rockets from the U.S. Navy Base at Guantanamo for use in fighting the rebels and some sources believed this might have touched off the wave of kidnaping.

The rebels already had wrung a promise from the embassy that Cuban government planes would not be refueled at the Guantanamo base and today they were reported to have protested the use of ammunition supplied under the U.S. mutual aid program.

Jackson said it was "extremely doubtful" Congress would pass a Hawaiian statehood bill this year. But he predicted the measure will win approval of both houses early next year.

Cufflinks At A Bargain!

NORTH LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—Mrs. Dutch H. O'Neal bought a pair of cufflinks that were really a bargain.

Last October a houseboy in the O'Neal home admitted stealing the cufflinks, but said he forgot where he pawned them. They were worth about $2,500.

Tuesday, a pawnbroker charged Mrs. O'Neal $2.50 for the links.

Police, who had accompanied the woman on a round of local pawnshops, explained the true value to the wide-eyed shopkeeper. "You shouldn't feel too badly though," Chief of Police Ray Vick told the pawnbroker. "You made 50 cents on the deal."

Witness Rank. Genovese has been identified by the committee as one of the "top gangsters in the country." He is scheduled to testify after the committee questions two other Apalachin "delegates"—John Scalis, Cleveland, Ohio, vending machine operator, and Joseph Profaci, a Brooklyn, N.Y., olive oil importer identified as "an old-time well-established gangster."

It remained to be seen whether these witnesses would testify or follow the pattern set by three other witnesses who invoked the Fifth Amendment Tuesday.

The balky ones were James V. La Duca, former secretary-treasurer of the Buffalo, N.Y., local of the Hotel Workers Union; Rosario Manusso, former president of the Utica, N.Y., Hod Carriers local; and Louis Anthony Larasone of Linden, N.J., former trustee of Hod Carriers Local 394.

The committee planned to go after more information about Mafia operations today by quizzing Vito Genovese of Atlantic Highlands, N.J., described by chief counsel Robert F. Kennedy as "our most important witness."

Strike Upsets Continental's Bus Schedule

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI)—Two hundred Continental American Bus Lines employees struck Tuesday, disrupting the company's Southwestern and West Coast service. A second strike, threatening service between Denver and South Texas, was hinted for today.

Tuesday's strike halted four scheduled runs to El Paso and Los Angeles and one to Oklahoma City.

Striking workers are represented by Local 1133 of the Amalgamated Association of Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees of America with headquarters in St. Louis.

Charles Hunter, business agent for Local 42 of the union at Dallas, said 460 union members have been alerted for strike action today.

Hunter said union-company negotiations were continuing in a last-ditch effort to head off the strike. He said union employees seeking wage hikes, improved working conditions, a disability and retirement plan, and three-week vacations for employees with more than 13 years of service.

Pampan Wins Scholarship, Lab Fund

An essay entered in the Texas Chemical Council's Scholarship and Grant Contest has won Marvin Berry and Pampa High School $500. Berry received the letter Monday, notifying him that his paper was worth a $250 scholarship for himself and a $250 lab fund for Pampa High School.

Entering the contest in May, Berry received a slide rule. His entry was one of the 118 received from high school students in Texas. When the winners were announced, Berry and four others were in the money. Dallas had two winners, Corpus Christi and Lubbock each had one.

The Council is sending a copy of "Why Science is a Key to Our Security" to all members as well as Mrs. W. M. Ledbetter, head science teacher at Pampa High.

Now Berry is awaiting word from Science award coordinators as to the time and place of the award. Pampa High School will receive $250 to spend on laboratory equipment.

Berry will take up pre-med at West Texas State College in the fall.

Subway In Free Ride Promotion

NEW YORK (UPI)—Hand three soap coupons to the fare collector and you're all set for a free ride on New York's subway trains and buses.

The plan was put into effect Tuesday under terms of an agreement between the New York Transit Authority and B. T. Babbitt, Inc., soap manufacturer. Coupons have been pasted on seven million containers of Babbitt products in the metropolitan area.

The transit authority reported that 168 coupons were presented during the first two hours of operation Tuesday, representing 56 fares. The fares are to be paid by Babbitt as a promotional venture.

The authority was obviously so pleased at the prospect of being able to wash out some portion of its expected two-million-dollar deficit, it also decided to clean up on another scheme.

The authority, as an experiment, plans to install lockers in a Brooklyn station for commuters to leave laundry and clothes. When riders return to the station on the way home they can pick up their clean garments by dropping the right number of coins in the lockers.

If the test is successful, lockers will be installed in a number of the city's 487 subway stations.

Stores Will Close On 4th

Most Pampa stores will be closed Friday for the July 4 observance of Texas Independence Day, the Pampa Chamber of Commerce commented today, July 4 is one of the six major holidays set up by the Chamber's Merchants Activities Committee.

Some grocery stores, gas stations and eating places will remain open, the Chamber expects. All businesses will be open for business as usual, following the 4th.

No major celebrations are planned in Pampa this year with the exception of a fireworks display for members of the Country Club. Nearby celebrations include Amarillo's Waddy Week and rodeos in Canadian and Clarendon.

Slight Chance This Year For Hawaii Entry

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Hawaii's chances of becoming a state have been greatly enhanced by passage of Alaskan statehood. But there is small prospect of a Hawaiian bill getting through Congress this year.

That was the opinion of well-informed congressional sources canvassed by United Press International.

President Eisenhower and GOP congressional leaders indicated Tuesday they would press for action on Hawaii this year. In Honolulu, backers of statehood organized for immediate action in hopes of riding into the Union on the crest of the Alaskan wave.

But Assistant House Democratic leader Carl Albert, Okla., said he sees little prospect for House action this year because of the lateness of the current session. He said the matter probably will be considered next year.

Similar sentiment in the Senate was voiced by Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.), chairman of the territories subcommittee and a strong backer of statehood for both territories.

Jackson said it was "extremely doubtful" Congress would pass a Hawaiian statehood bill this year. But he predicted the measure will win approval of both houses early next year.

Bond Set In Driving Case

A bond of $1,500 was set in Justice of the Peace D. R. Henry's office this morning for Clyde Jr. Alsop of Lubbock on charges of driving while intoxicated.

Alsop was picked up by Pampa police yesterday in the 100 block of N. Cuyler after being observed by local officers.

IN MEMORIAM — Honoring their country's fallen heroes, South Korean children arrange flowers at the graves of the Armed Forces Cemetery on the banks of the Han River near Seoul. Nationwide memorial services marked the sacrifices of more than 155,000 who died fighting communism in the Korean conflict, which began eight years ago on June 25.

Candidates For Governor 'Spar'

By United Press International
The DOT and the POT came in for heavy discussion Tuesday in sparring by gubernatorial candidates.

Gov. Price Daniel carried on his two-pronged campaign for re-election and defeat of the DOT—The Democrats of Texas—at precinct meetings.

State Sen. Henry B. Gonzalez, campaigning at Houston, said he wasn't interested in the DOT but the POT—the People of Texas.

Another candidate for governor, W. Lee O'Daniel, added nothing to the POT and DOT talk as he planned to leave today on a campaign tour of East Texas.

Daniel made no mention of Gonzalez in his talk before the Democratic Women's Forum of Dallas but he attacked a liberal-labor challenge to his control of the Democratic party in Texas.

Daniel charged that the Democrats of Texas, headed by Mrs. R. D. (Frankie) Randolph of Houston, "are waging an all-out campaign."

"If the DOT takes over the party and the government of this state, it will be due solely to the failure of a majority of our people to vote and attend the precinct conventions on July 26," Daniel said.

"I am, running my own campaign for a second term as governor, based upon first-term accomplishments and my positive program for the future. I am, also leading, as titular head of the Texas Democrat party, the right to retain majority rule in our party."

At Houston, Gonzalez said Daniel had, in a recent speech, referred to "my candidacy as being supported by an organization known as the DOT."

Starlet Talks Herself Into Two Charges

NEW YORK (UPI) — Tempestuous actress Betsy Von Furstenberg was in trouble with the law today as a result of her husband's arrest on a drunk driving charge.

Police said the 26-year-old performer tried to argue a patrolman out of arresting her husband, Guy Vincent, 39, and in turn was charged with disorderly conduct and interfering with an officer.

Patrolman David Pritcher said the actress became loud and boisterous, causing a crowd to gather.

Vincent was released on $500 bail for a hearing July 15. Miss Von Furstenberg was released in her own recognizance for a hearing July 18.

G. E. Jones Rites Set

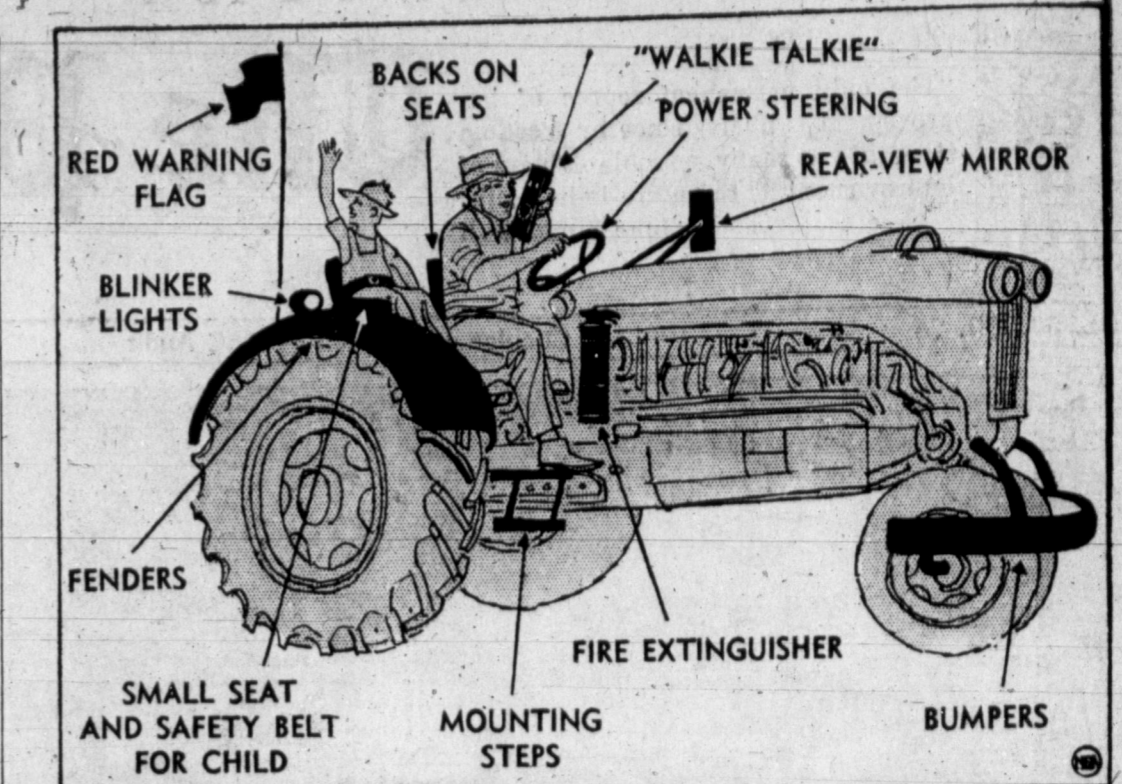

George E. Jones, retired driller, died at 9:32 p.m. last night in Highland General Hospital, where he had been admitted on Monday night.

He was born Feb. 8, 1880, in lived in Pampa for 35 years.

Survivors are his wife, Fern, who resided at the home address, west of the city; and one daughter, Miss Billie Jean Jones.

Funeral services will be conducted at 4 p.m. tomorrow in Duken-Carmichael Chapel. Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery.

Bob Stroble, assistant pastor of the First Baptist, officiating.

ENGINEERED FOR SAFETY — Farm people lose more time from injuries than any other working group. In Ohio, accidental deaths on the farm rank third, led only by the construction and mining industries. Because accidents involving tractors stand high on the list, 1,800 women of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation conducted a survey asking farmers' suggestions for additional safety features on these machines. Some 15,000 farmers were interviewed in 33 Ohio counties. Drawing above incorporates a few of their suggestions in a model safety-first tractor. Other ideas include an "upset warning" device, tow cables, springs and a lower top speed.

claimed successes throughout the country from Tripoli south to Tyre. It reported one rebel drive which penetrated close to army positions in Tripoli was repulsed. The attack on the bridge came later, following a night of rifle fire and grenade exchanges.

The firing began in Tripoli at 8 p.m. and continued until 3 o'clock this morning. Shortly before midnight a big explosion shook the no-man's land between rebel and army positions in the merchant quarter near the port. A huge fire raged there for more than four hours.

UPI photographer Robert Egby who saw the blast said the explosion rumbled through the shell-pocked buildings while flames lit up the sky like an early dawn. He said that by 7 a.m. quiet was restored in Tripoli.

The heavy fighting was matched by intense diplomatic and political activity.

President Camille Chamoun received the three Western ambassadors and Turkish Ambassador Cavdet Dulger while Ajal Ousseini, president of the Chamber of Deputies, conferred with Soviet Ambassador Sergei Kiktev and the Yugoslav representative.

Saeib Salam, a former premier turned rebel leader, meanwhile told UPI correspondent Daniel F. Gilmore his forces have no intention of invading the Christian, metropolitan or foreign areas of Beirut.

Salam, interviewed in his barricaded village in Beirut's Moslem quarters, asked questions whether the rebels intended to attack Beirut's international airport.

During the historic Berlin airlift, Allied planes ferried 2,325,500 tons of food and fuel to the city.

Like Won't Be 'Reckless' In Cuba Kidnaping Case

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower said today he will do nothing reckless which might endanger the lives of 47 Americans held by the Cuban rebels just to try to get them released a bit earlier.

The President told his news conference that the matter of Americans held by Cuban insurgents is a delicate one, and the United States will continue every effort to free them by diplomatic negotiations.

He emphatically rejected rebel assertions that the United States was improperly aiding Cuban government military forces—the pretext for the kidnapings.

The President said American diplomatic officers are trying in every way they can to convince the rebels of their error and to get the Americans freed.

He branded as inaccurate reports that two or three American consuls trying to negotiate with the rebels have been seized as hostages themselves.

U.S. consuls in the area are in touch with rebel leaders and are trying to get them to release the prisoners.

The President said the situation in Cuba was entirely different from that in Russia, East Germany and Red China, where other Americans are being held prisoner. He pointed out that in Cuba it is a rebel group and not the established government which is holding the Americans.

He made it clear that he felt congressional and other suggestions for forceful American action in Cuba might endanger the lives of Americans held by Castro's forces. U.S. officials are trying to get live Americans back, he said, and the U.S. government is not disposed to do anything reckless that would create fatal consequences.

The two top Republicans in the Senate—GOP Leader William F. Knowland and Chairman Styles Bridges of the Senate GOP Policy Committee—have called for firm action against Castro. Knowland demanded Tuesday that the United States give Castro 48 hours to free the Americans or else send

Mr. Bybee was working with a drilling crew, 70 miles east of Farmington, when a well he a valve blew off, knocking him into the sub-structure. He was an employee of the Great Western Drilling Company.

The Rev. Alfred Richards conducted the funeral services.

similar problems."

Of Fox, Goldfine said: "Now isn't it too bad that a sick and bitter man like Mr. John Fox can defame and slander a man like Governor Dams around the world."

Blasts Probers

Goldfine, a 67-year-old Russian-born textile manufacturer, also had harsh words for the subcommittee.

"I am not roosting myself about Mr. Goldfine," he said. "I know the subcommittee is not really interested in Mr. Goldfine. I feel I am only a handy stick, and easy to use to hit someone else over the head with."

His prepared statement did not refer to the tax write-off matter. But a source close to the Boston millionaire said "it's a fact" Goldfine lumped the gifts along with hotel bills and other expenses as legitimate business expenditures on his federal income tax returns.

They said he would so testify.

Internal Revenue officials said that to be deductible, as a legitimate business expense, a gift would have to involve some expected return, tangible or intangible, in the way of money or service.

"You'd have to show some reasonable expectation of profit," one official told United Press International. "You couldn't just say the gift was given because you liked the person."

Intended To Profit

Even if a giver expected something in return, the officials said, the gift might not be deductible if its donation violated public policy. If a gift to a federal official were against the law or rules of his agency, for example, it would not be deductible, they explained.

Rep. Morgan M. Moulder (D-Mo.), a subcommittee member, said Goldfine's reported tax write-offs "amount to an admission" of his (Goldfine's) part that he intended the gifts for his own monetary or business profits.

Another subcommittee member, Rep. John J. Flynt Jr. (D-Ga.), said he would withhold judgment until Goldfine explained his intention in giving the gift.

Goldfine reiterated statements previously made by his lawyers that he "never asked Governor Adams to try to get the Federal Trade Commission or the Securities & Exchange Commission to give me any special treatment or to influence them in any way."

Admits Gifts

Goldfine said Adams' testimony before the subcommittee two weeks ago was "correct" in its description of the gifts he gave Adams over the years including a vicuna coat, the payment of hotel bills and the loan of an oriental rug.

The textile manufacturer said Adams had given his family many gifts in return including two gold watches, a billfold, a painting and a clock for his son.

President, Wife Take Cruise

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Nothing's more romantic for a young-at-heart couple than a moonlight cruise down the Potomac River—particularly when the couple are the President and Mrs. Eisenhower.

The First Family celebrated their 42nd wedding anniversary Tuesday night with a picnic supper and the cruise aboard the presidential yacht Barbara Anne.

They boarded the sleek, 90-foot white cruiser about 6 p.m. e.d.t. for the outing. Mrs. Eisenhower smiled and said, "Another year, another year."

The returning yacht docked at 9:40 p.m., e.d.t., more than an hour later than expected. The sun had long since set and an orange moon shimmered on the Potomac. The ship captain said he had taken the Eisenhower party about 15 miles down the river to a point opposite Fort Belvoir, Va.

Labor: Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-S.D.) accused House Democrats of having "stabbed to death" the hope for effective labor legislation. He said this was evident from their failure to refer the Senate-approved labor reform bill to a House committee for hearings.

Trade: A spokesman for the pottery and chinaware industry urged Congress to junk the reciprocal trade program in favor of a "carefully regulated" trade program with other nations. Claiming his industry has been hurt by foreign imports, E. L. Torbert, president of the National Pottery and Chinaware Association, said the Senate Finance Committee continued hearings on House-approved legislation to extend the reciprocal trade program for five years.

The President did not comment directly on the cases in East Germany, where nine American soldiers have been held since June 7 when their helicopter landed in Soviet Armenia, where nine other U.S. servicemen have been detained since their plane was forced down; or in Red China, which still holds four American citizens.

Kipper To Get Spot In History

ABERDEEN, Scotland (UPI) — A humble but extremely tasty kipper is going to make his own little spot in international history this week.

The climax—and end—of this humble kipper's career will come when he is presented on a plate to President Eisenhower.

The herring was landed Tuesday at Peterhead, a fishing port 30 miles north of here. It was processed—kippered, that is—and today it will be done up in a tin with seven other herrings.

The tin will be sent to President Eisenhower as a gift from Scotland by the firm of Cross and Blackwell.

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: May I say a few words to the Elvis Presley Fan Club? Please give me one good reason why somebody should go up and pin a rose on Elvis Presley just because he didn't expect any special privileges? And what "pretty hair" are you speaking of when you say he let them cut it off? Do you mean that greasy plop he had? I had nice hair, too, when I went into the service, but it fell to the floor like everybody else's. Why didn't Col. Parker take his training for him? He does, all of Elvis' thinking anyway. I dig Pat Boone the most.

drinks and has lost his moral standing. What should we do about this?

VERY TROUBLED Dear Verry: You can't buy back the introduction, but can try to talk some sense into his head. This woman is too old for him. Appeal to the woman's sense of decency (if she has any) and ask her to throw him back—he's hardly legal size.

For a personal reply write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

ANTI-ELVIS

Dear Anti: Just because you "dig" the one doesn't mean you have to bury the other. I dig both Elvis and Boone. Long may Elvis wave!

DEAR ABBY: I am 26 years old and am going with a man a few years older who is in the process of getting a divorce (not because of me.) He lives two hundred miles away. I would like to get a job in his city and live there so we could see more of each other. What do you think?

VIOLA

Dear Viola: Better stay where you are and be content to see as much of him as you can on this basis. Until a man is divorced he is married.

DEAR ABBY: Unfinished things seem to run in my family. My husband and I bought an unfinished home three years ago and it is still unfinished. That isn't all. His father bought an unfinished home 27 years ago and it is still unfinished because he laid in the bars drunk for 27 years. Both my husband and his father seem to have enough money to buy the most expensive fishing equipment and also the highest priced hunting guns they can find, but they never have the time or money to finish a house. Why is this?

FED UP TO THE GILLS

Dear Fed: To T. G.: There is more "unfinished business" in your family than a couple of houses. It might be too late to do anything about your father-in-law, but your husband hasn't grown up yet. Pick up where his mother left off—and finish the job.

DEAR ABBY: We have a son 19 who was a model boy up until three months ago. He was interested in sports, never drank or smoked or ran around with girls. My wife thought he should be more social so she got together with her next-door neighbor and together they arranged a date for him with this neighbor's younger sister. She was a young widow of 29 who needed companionship. Since those two got together he hasn't been in bed before three in the morning. He smokes and

SD Club's 'Splash Shindig' Entertains Prospective Members In PC Club Pool

Taking the title "Sub Deb's Splash Shindig," the fourth SDC rush party was held recently in the Pampa Country Club. Rushees were bid to the party with invitations depicting beach scenes with raised pool and figures. As each guest arrived, she was greeted by members at the pool entrance where bright-colored beach balls lined the pool's edge and small tables surrounded the flag stone patio. Each table was centered with an arrangement of daisies and salvia. Hamburgers and cokes were served buffet-style from a table centered with a sombrero filled with lilies. Pink and green life-savers flanked the centerpiece.

Following the "splash shindig," Miss Dianne Zachry was hostess to the group in her home for a "rock and roll" party. Each rushee signed a pink and black "SDC Swing" guest register and were pinned with a nametag shaped as black cats in pink glitter skirts. Entertainment for the evening was furnished by Pat Carter, who sang several popular numbers; Mike and Dianna Phillips, who played and sang popular and "rock and roll" selections. Miss Jeannine Harvey related the highlights of the Sub Deb trip to Santa Fe last summer and Miss Mary Sturgeon discussed the club's trip to Austin for the state basketball tournament. Color films of the '56 and '57 Presentation Ball were shown. Homemade ice cream and cookies were served from a table covered with a pink tablecloth with a black staff and black notes shaded in pink glitter. The table was centered with a black record with SDC accomplishments written in pink and encircled with pink baby carnations. Group singing of the "Sub Deb" Club song concluded the festivities. Sponsors attending were Mrs. H. M. Luna and Mrs. Azelle Loftus, senior counselors; Mmes. Ronnie James and Jimmie McDowell junior co-sponsors.

Memo to Men: Want to know what faults in a husband wives most often complain about? I've been keeping score through the years, and judging from what wives write me, your most common faults are: One. You won't talk. Instead you come home from work and want to know if dinner is ready. And after you've eaten you sit like a lump before the television set until bedtime. That makes you pretty dull company—from a wife's point of view. Two. You refuse to take any responsibility around home, leaving your wife not only to look after the house, but to take complete charge of the children and keep the yard in shape. Because you can't be bothered, she makes the decisions. But instead of praising her for taking things off your shoulders as you would a competent secretary, you blame her for "wanting to run things." Three. Instead of picking up after yourself and helping to keep your home neat, you cause her as

Manners Makes Friends

If a friend gets a promotion, wins an award, is elected to an office or received any other kind of honor or advancement, be sure to drop him a note of congratulations. Such thoughtful little gestures are always appreciated. Everyone likes to know that his friends are pleased over his good fortune. Although rugs get constant wear and tear, they often are the last items in a home to be cleaned. Regular vacuuming needs to be followed once or twice a year done professionally or with a home cleaning aid. But it should be done — for the life and beauty of the rug.

About three out of 10 American families do not get enough calcium for daily requirements. Experts point out milk has 100 or so different food nutrients for vim, vigor and vitality. Milk can help build and repair tired and frazzled muscle and nerve tissue and provide "go power" needed to meet today's working and living demands.

YOUR Independent AGENT "SERVES YOU FIRST" How can choosing this man mean greater security for you and your family? This man is an independent, self-employed insurance specialist. He is free to select for you the best insurance policy for your car, home, or business out of hundreds offered by different, competing insurance companies. He gives you continuing service—advises you after you buy insurance as well as before. And you don't have to worry about red tape when you have a claim—he takes care of everything. You can't get all of these advantages when you buy insurance directly from a casualty or fire insurance company. You must buy the policies that company offers, which may or may not be the right coverage for you. And when you have a loss, you may have to deal with the company—with people you probably have never met.

AROUND THE WORLD

SHE'LL BE AT THE FAIR—Mrs. Carole Mainhart, of Pittsburgh, Pa., is going to the Brussels Fair in July to defend her National Archery Champion title. She led the U.S. qualifiers in the recent archery meet in St. Louis.

HEAVE HO—Al Hall, of the New York A. C., is heaving the hammer to place second in the 70th annual A.A.M. meet in Bakersfield, Calif. Hal Connolly, of the Boston Athletic Association, cracked the world's record in the hammer throw with a toss of 225 feet, 4 inches. Hall threw 217 feet, 5 inches.

FOR WHEELING—A young lady in Wiesbaden, Germany, is intrigued by the latest style roller skates. They feature two hard rubber balls in place of the conventional four wooden or steel balls. The manufacturer claims they're safer because they can't slip sideways. They also have the advantage of being much quieter than the standard rolling skates.

GRIPPING SPECTACLE—Assorted mayhem fills a wrestling ground at Edirne, Turkey, where competitors from 9 to 45 struggle for victory. Some 350-grapplers from all over Turkey took part in this annual event. They smear their bodies with olive oil before settling into the grunt and groan act, in which five champions are crowned in different categories.

SHE'S FOOLING—It may look as if pretty Cindy Lindt has a big fish on the line—and most fish would be glad to leap out of the water for a look at her eye-catching figure. But Cindy, who's hostess on the TV show "Do You Trust Your Wife," is posing right in the studio in New York and it's very unlikely that anything will grab the empty hook.

BRIDLE SWEET—Have horse, will travel, could be the motto of Susan Norris, 9, who's shown with her high class five-gaited show horse, Little Show Boat. They're at the farm near Miami, Fla., that's owned by her father, ex-International Boxing Club president James D. Norris. Susan is going on the road for two months to tour horse shows in three states.

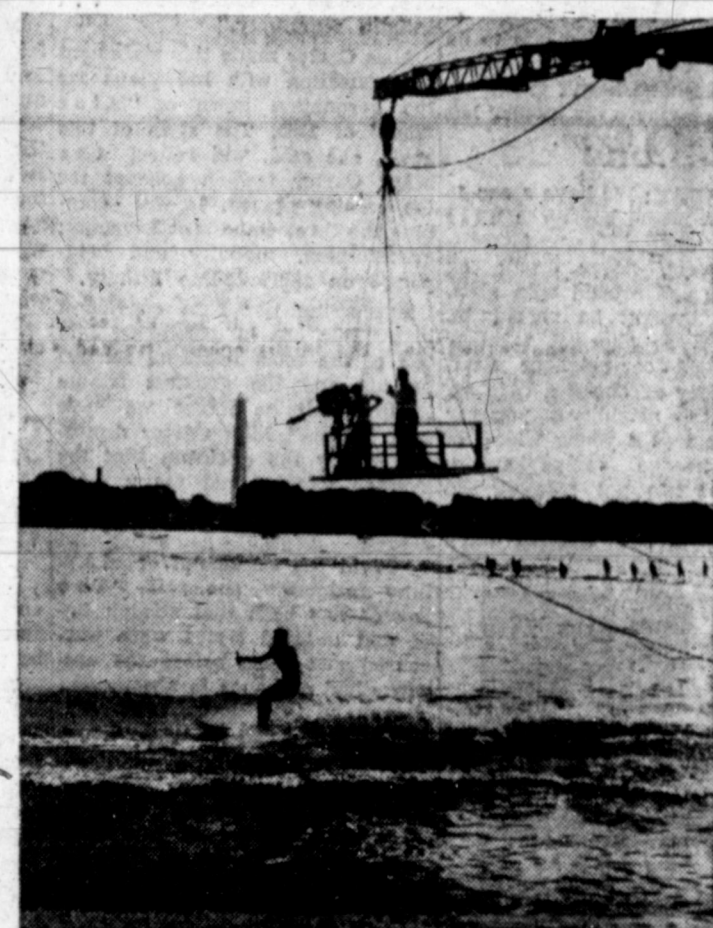

SECOND JOB—Yankee pitcher Ryne Duren is just as effective mowing down the grass in his yard in Ridgeway, N.J., as he is at mowing down the opposition batters for the Yankees. Duren, whose true worth isn't shown in his 2 and 1 record, is a front-runner for the 1958 Rookie of the Year award. This is the way he manages to relax.

PUNCH PARADE—Exchanging punches at close quarters in New York are middleweights Otis Woodard, right, and Wilfie Greaves. The latter, who is also the Canadian middleweight champion, won the 10-round decision that took place at the St. Nicholas Arena.

KNOW-HOW—Sighting in on the targets are sharpshooters Jeanette Merlino, 13, of Yonkers, N.Y., and Dennis Kyle, 14, of Richwood, W. Va. They were in good form at the 34th annual National Marbles Tournament in Asbury Park, N.J. Dennis won the boy's crown, and Jeanette copped the girl's title.

ALL FOR ART—TV singing star Jimmy Dean was skiing along the Potomac River at Washington, D.C., to give the TV cameramen a good picture. A few seconds after this shot, Jimmy had an accident and whoops! he was swimming.

BEATING THE TOSS—Dodgers' Dick Gray dives back to first base to avoid the attempted third inning pick-off play, in the game against the Phillies in Philadelphia. Phils' pitcher Ron Semproch made the toss to first baseman Harry Anderson (9). Semproch pitched his third complete game win to lead the Phils to a 9-3 victory.

WINNER—Frank Sedgman looks fiercely at the ball as it goes into the net during his match with fellow Australian Rex Hartwig in Forest Hills, N.Y. Sedgman and Hartwig, whose match in the professional round robin tournament had been rained out three days, battled for last place in the event. Hartwig probably wishes they'd been rained out again.

IN SETS OF THREE—It was triple threat day at Pallsades Amusement Park, N.J., when triplets of all ages gathered for the 13th annual triplets convention. Pat, Barbara and Dorothy Jones, 15, of New York, got swimming instructions from life guard Howard Reinert as all the other threesomes enjoyed themselves elsewhere in the park.

Wilbur Wuz Confident

After Harry Wilbur, the calm Canadian banker, trudged in from whipping Don Prigmore for the Championship Flight title of the City Wide Golf Tourney Sunday, he uttered, "They said he was about ten strokes better than me, I figured maybe five." But the scorecard proved Wilbur was three better.

It's unofficial but credit Lee Ballafant with the longest string of consecutive games as a major league umpire. He not only worked 3,362 straight games, but never missed an inning. Wuz in five world series too, during his 22 1/2 years behind the plate. Now living in Dallas, Ballafant, who made the bigtime despite a diminutive stature, 5-8 tall and 147 pounds, rates former Gas House gang star for the Cards, Pepper Martin as the best all-around player he's ever seen.

Only moving men or track stars should marry women weight lifters.

Whew! It wasn't a case of "Who's on first," in the Florida State League Monday night. They never bothered to stop there.

Tampa smeared Orlando, 32-1. What's more, they called the mis-match at the end of seven innings. Something about the unnecessary light bulb.

And Amarillo isn't the only Texas city with fountain pens filled with red ink for its pro baseball.

The Dallas Eagles had dropped roughly $27,000 of million-aire construction man, J. W. He had a 3-hitter.

Bateson expects to lose about $50,000 with his Texas League entry this season. For that sum he could shoot half a million games of pool, buy a 100 first-class tickets to Europe on the Queen Mary, pay 24,000 caddy fees, or maybe even pick up a dinner check for Rafael Trujillo Jr.

Bouchee's Back And Phils Are Overjoyed

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Ed Bouchee, packing his gear to re-join the Phillies, thanked Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick today for "another chance" and promised "I won't let him down."

The 26-year-old first baseman, back in baseball's good graces following his conviction on a morals charge, will fly to Pittsburgh to join the Phillies today and manager Mayo Smith said he will be in the lineup against Milwaukee Thursday night.

"I want to thank Mr. Frick for the confidence he has put in me and I know I won't let him down," Bouchee said.

Frick said in New York that he spent "many sleepless nights" before reaching his decision on Bouchee. He examined numerous reports and had a long talk with the player, before he made up his mind.

Bouchee, a married man with a child of his own, was arrested last January in Spokane, Wash., in a case of child molesting that subsequently was reduced to indecent exposure. He pleaded guilty and was placed on three years probation.

Since the date of his probation, Bouchee voluntarily underwent a series of treatments to restore him to full health.

Aussies Dominate Wimbledon Play

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI) — An almost all-Australian semi-final round in men's singles was on tap in the Wimbledon tennis championships today while disappointed American entries were forced to turn to doubles competition.

Top-seeded Ashley Cooper and third-ranked Mervyn Rose met in one all-Aussie semi-final match. In the other, fourth-seeded Neale Fraser of Australia was pitted against sixth-seeded Kurt Nielsen of Denmark.

Althea Gibson of New York, the defending champion in women's singles, was the only American to gain a semi-final spot in either men's or women's play. No play was scheduled in women's singles today.

This marked the second straight year that no American reached the semi-finals in men's singles. Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, was eighth seeded, came closest but proved an easy victim for southpaw Rose, 6-2, 6-4, 6-4, in a quarter-final match Tuesday.

Paul Hulsey led off the first inning with a towering solo-homer and KP Lodge never kept up the rest of the way as they romped to an easy 9-2 win over Motor Inn in Industrial Softball League play Tuesday night.

Delbert Daniels hurled the first place Lodgers to their 18th win against only three losses. They have five games remaining. Raymond McKinney took the loss for Motor Inn.

Roy Pool of KP paced game hitting, slicing out three singles in a four official at-bats.

The 'New' Silky Finally Wins One

INGLESWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — The "new" Silky Sullivan may not provide as many thrills as the "old," but if his latest race is any indication he's probably going to make a lot of bettors happier.

Silky, after a long drought in which he failed to win a race despite his highly publicized late finish, came home in front at Hollywood Park Tuesday afternoon to capture the 7900 San Clemente Purse by two lengths.

Forfeaking his usual desperate gallop in the stretch, Silky — dismal failure in the Kentucky Derby and Preakness — never trailed by more than three lengths under a steady ride by jockey Bill Shoemaker.

The next major test for Silky is the 100,000 Westerner on July 19.

Wise Whips 'Em

Motor Inn scrambled to its fifth win against only two losses in toppling Rex Rose Ford, 12-10, behind the steady hurling of Mike Wise, who posted ten strikeouts.

Frank Parrish wielded the big stick for the winners with a bases-loaded triple.

Braves Hot For 2nd World Series Check

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press International

Eddie Mathews and Lew Burdette of Milwaukee must like the taste of World Series money because they're starting to come around for second helpings.

Up to now, both have been rather in-and-out, but they worked together in perfect unison Tuesday night to produce a 1-0 victory over Cincinnati that ran the Braves' winning streak to four games and stretched their National League lead to 3 1/2 games.

Mathews took care of the hitting and Burdette the pitching in a manner reminiscent of their joint heroics over the Yankees in the World Series.

Southpaw Harvey Haddix of the Redlegs held the Braves hitless until the fourth inning when Mathews teed off for his 18th homer of the year. Burdette nursed that margin carefully, giving up only eight hits in recording his sixth victory and first shutout of the campaign.

The victory was the Braves' eighth in 10 meetings this year with the Redlegs, whom they beat 18 times last year en route to their first world championship.

Dodgers Win
Norm Larker drove in four runs with a pair of homers and a single that paced the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 9-3 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Harry Anderson, the Phillies' smooth-winged left-fielder, drove in three runs in a 4-2 victory over the Pirates that dropped them into seventh place.

The Chicago Cubs downed the San Francisco Giants, 9-5, in a battle of home runs. Ernie Banks socked his 19th and 20th for the Cubs while rookie Tony Taylor also belted a pair. Daryl Spencer, Willie Mays, Ray Jablonski and Bob Schmidt homered for the Giants.

Williams Ups Average
Jackie Jensen and Ted Williams supplied most of the fireworks in the American League with a hitting display that carried the Red Sox to a 10-5 win over the Senators.

Jensen smashed his 24th homer and his eighth in the last 12 games while the 39-year-old Williams collected his 12th homer and two singles to raise his batting average to .308. Ika Delock, bullpen specialist turned starter, registered his sixth victory without a loss. He gave up eight hits, including a home run by Norm Zauchin. Hall Griggs was the loser.

Mickey Mantle's eighth inning homer gave the Yankees a 2-1 decision in the nightcap of a 12 1/2 night doubleheader after the Orioles won the opener, 7-5. The homer by Mantle was his 16th of the season and his second of the night. It enabled Don Larsen to post his seventh triumph although Rynne Duren hurled the last two innings. Larsen and Gene Woodling also homered.

Billy Gardner's triple with bases loaded broke a 4-4 tie in the first game and helped reliever Billy Loos to his first win of the season following seven straight losses even though he pitched only

DAVEY WILLIAMS ... job hunting!

Dallas Gives Davey The Open Gate

DALLAS (UPI) — If Davey Williams smiled today, it was probably a fleeting one and one that gave him a little pain.

Williams, fired Tuesday afternoon as field manager for the seventh-place Dallas Rangers, watched his old club take their licks Tuesday night from Fort Worth while being guided by General Manager George Schepps, the man who fired him.

Williams was released "with deep regret, and with the feeling that a change is necessary at this time to get another playing manager who is in physical condition to help the Rangers in the drive for the first division."

Schepps has assumed Williams' field duties "until a suitable replacement can be found."

Williams, who was forced to desert a promising career with the Giants in the National League only two years ago, had been signed by the Class AA Rangers as a playing manager, but his back condition had kept him from entering any ball games.

The Rangers were imbedded in seventh place this morning, 1 1/2 games out of the cellar and 12 1/2 games out of first.

Utility, Cree, Duncan Win

Terry Holt's one out single with the bases loaded in the last inning scored two runs to lead first-place Utility Oil to a 3-2 win over One Bull Ranch in Western Little League play yesterday.

Utility trailed 2-0 going into the bottom of the sixth and came up with three runs to extend their winning streak to four games, and record to 9-5.

Walter Ross, the winning pitcher, relieved Holt in the third inning and pitched one-hit ball the rest of the way.

Larry Gregory and Bob Maynard had homers for Bull to pace their attack. Gregory was also the losing pitcher, relieving Gordie Shultz in the sixth.

Cree Drilling bowled over the First National Bank 15-7 in Pony league action yesterday.

John Arthur took the win for Cree giving up seven runs on seven hits. Mike Clark was the loser being tagged for 15 runs on eight hits. Clark had the game's only homer.

Charles Fant led the Bankers attack, with two doubles and a single while Jerry Glover had a four for five night with three doubles and a single.

Duncan Insurance rolled to a 13-3 win over Celanese in the Eastern Little League yesterday.

Charles Wood was the winning pitcher and Mac Williams took the loss. C. E. Cantrell homered for Duncan and Gary Larrymore had one for Celanese.

Wrong Use Of Force

There's an interesting example of the employment of police power to remedy a social problem presently underway at Wilmington, California.

It seems that a curfew law which was supposed to bring all juveniles under lock and key by 10 p.m. was violated by four teenagers. The court took action and jailed the mothers of the boys involved.

Each of the parents of the wayward youths is being made to suffer for the misdeeds of her children. And a controversy arising from this event bids fair to blow off a few roofs, and provide something more than smog for the atmosphere of this industrialized harbor community.

There are two lines of thought generally being expressed by proponents and opponents of the court action. That favoring the arrests and imprisonments, which oddly enough includes at least one of the mothers, goes something like this: Parents must make their children obey. If a parent is punished for the misdeeds of the child, it will correct parental lassitude and provide a boon for all.

We must admit immediately that so far as this argument goes, it has some pretty good thoughts at its root. Parents are responsible for their children. And, indeed, parents should be encouraged to assume that full responsibility. However, we cannot help but wonder if the intrusion of the government to punish parents whose children are in poor grace respecting a law, comes under the heading of encouragement.

Thus we come to the opposite camp and find opponents massing behind the following argument: Children, especially teenage children, are entirely able to suffer the results of their own misdeeds. Many parents are not able to control their husky offspring simply on the basis of force. The parents can order the children, but the children can and will do as they please. Additionally, it can be hazarded that some children, encouraged as they may have been by their government school to suppose that their parents are old-fashioned, inept and out of touch, might find it a matter of considerable joy to get their parents into difficulties. Many a child, if the child is backed by governmental force, might take advantage of this situation to commit a crime in which the government would punish the parent. In a very real sense, the jailing of these mothers places a weapon in the hands of the children.

And once more there is strong logic in the argument. Children as they mature are apt to resent parental restraints and admonishments. If the law is going to punish parents for what the children do, might not they commit an act of foolish insurrection just to show off their power?

We would like to suggest that the problem is one that simply cannot be solved by the use of the threat of force. We'll buy the conclusion that parents are responsible for their offspring until the offspring are mature and self-supporting. But we can't buy the idea that parents must suffer the intrusion of governmental power when the exigencies of a family squabble can be exploited by the police.

This idea of interference in a family quarrel was brought to a high state of perfection by the ancient Incas, who had a completely socialized civilization with special police authorized to intrude into any home at any time in order to compel obedience to the Inca's decrees.

It ought not be necessary to point out that under this system of police power, the entire Inca civilization crumbled when confronted with a handful of Spanish troops. Those who have been ruled so totally rarely if ever find the necessary courage or patriotism to rise to the defense of their way of life. If their way of life is total slavery, there seems small reason to defend it. Almost any change could be welcomed.

And in view of the general atmosphere abounding in this country, the arrest and imprisonment of parents for the wrongs of their children can in the final analysis breed disrespect and non-sympathy for the American way of life.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

Productivity And Wages

Since the heading of this column is "Better Jobs," anything that has a tendency to make it possible for all people to have better jobs and live better is a proper subject to discuss.

I have just been reading a bulletin issued by the Macalester College, Saint Paul, Minn., on Productivity and Wages.

I believe, as do all people who will answer questions without contradicting themselves or evasion, that total wages and profits cannot be higher than total production over a period of years. And profits are just the wages for efficiency. With this idea in mind, I want to quote for a few days from this economic bulletin, authored by Arthur R. Uggren, director of the Bureau of Economic Studies, and Frederic R. Bigelow, Professor of Economics:

Everyone knows that the country's production has increased greatly over the years. We like to brag about 'gross national product' — GNP. In fact these bulletins have been labeled 'GNP Economics.' That is not because we like to deal with GNP exclusively. Rather it is because we like to deal in 'the new economics of the measured world.' These words were indeed the title of the first bulletin in this series on 'How to Become Your Own Economist.'

"It is measurement that we like. When the distinguished international Professor I. M. Kolthoff of the University of Minnesota spoke recently on science and education he said that 'in science we use numbers a great deal. These were simple words to mark 'measurement' as the distinctive feature of science.

"In this bulletin we propose to look at other aspects of the growth of GNP and particularly at what economists call 'productivity.' By this term economists mean, generally, output per man-hour.

"Many people have made this mistake of saying that labor has caused the increase in output per man-hour since we measure productivity in terms of output per man-hour. This is like saying that the thermometer which measures the temperature in a room causes the temperature in the room to rise or fall. We shall say something about what causes output per man-hour to rise and fall a little later but here we can just say massive amounts of capital and a high skill of management, not sweat, have been most important.

"This problem of understanding and measuring productivity is one of the most important problems we have. Over the years we have been able to increase the quantity of products we can produce in an hour. Economists refer to the rate of this increase as 'increase in productivity.' The fact that we have succeeded in increasing the amount we can produce each hour makes it possible for us to consume more — this is what we mean by our rising standard of living. Compare with other countries we have a high standard of living. We also have more leisure than workers in other countries have.

"All of us want to increase our standard of living as quickly as possible and we try to do this by trying to increase the amount of wages we get each hour. But if the amount we produce each hour does not increase as rapidly as the increase in our wages for each hour of work we have a problem of excess wage-increases. The 'excess' produces inflation rather than goods. This has proved to be one of our most difficult postwar problems. Because it is so important for all of us, we want to give it very special attention. It becomes the problem of stopping our persistent postwar threat of continuing inflation.

Productivity, Prices and Wages

"A. Per Capita National Product"

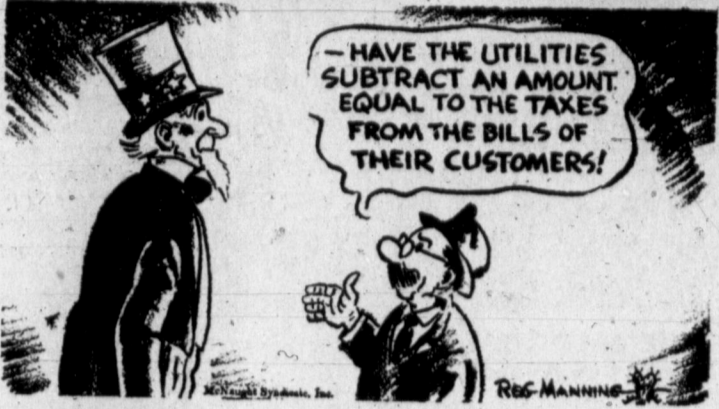

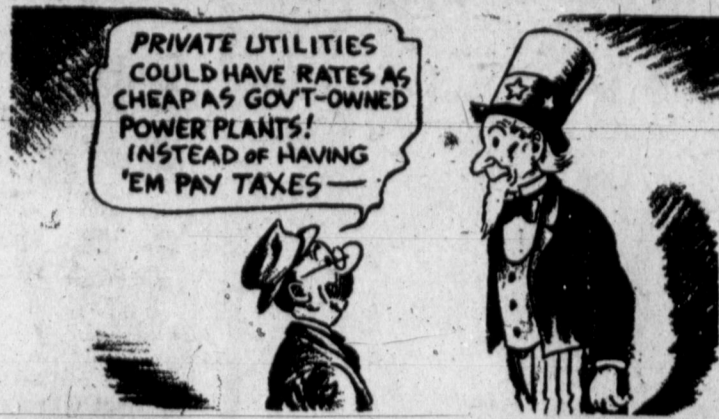

"The GNP for a nation is a measure of the total output of that nation. If we want to compare the output of countries of different sizes, we then use output per worker or output per capita. Output per capita gives us a measure of how well off the people in different countries are regardless of the size of population. The latest available figures of product per capita for many different countries are for 1952-54. Soviet bloc countries will not give us their figures on a comparable basis so we cannot include them. However, the estimates of independent experts place the per capita product of Soviet Russia at about one-third that of the United States despite the much longer work week in Russia.

"Here then are the different per capita products for 12 of the 55 countries studied by the United Nations. The figures are all stated in U. S. dollars.

Country	Per Capita Product
United States	$1,870
Canada	1,310
Switzerland	1,010
Sweden	740
France	510
Germany	410
Ireland	310
Italy	220
Mexico	190
Japan	60
India	40
Burma	20

"When output per capita is low so also is income per capita. Our table which is 'production' might be turned around to measure the material well-being of each country. The tragedy in the countries at the bottom of that list, then, is not only that income is so low,

Every Private Utility A "TVA"

Robert Allen Reports:

Personnel, Money For Anti-Crime Drive Voted

WASHINGTON — Attorney General William Rogers is getting the money and personnel he wants for that nationwide drive against some 500 leading racketeers and hoodlums.

The House Appropriations Committee has privately voted the $200,000 requested by Rogers for this anti-crime campaign.

Principal purpose of this special fund is to add 15 experienced attorneys to the staff of the Justice Department's Criminal Division. They will be paid an average of $15,000 a year.

The Criminal Division is now headed by Assistant Attorney General D. Malcolm Anderson, Jr., former U.S. Attorney for Western Pennsylvania. A major factor in his appointment last March was to deal with syndicates throughout the country.

In agreeing to give Rogers the additional money, the Appropriations Committee laid down two blunt injunctions:

(1) The 15 new Criminal Division attorneys are to be selected regardless of politics and strictly on their qualifications; (2) there will be a full-scale investigation if the Justice Department fails to produce results.

Both Rogers and Anderson firmly assured the Committee that no political motives are behind the anti-crime plan.

In a series of private meetings with the Committee, the two Justice officials asserted their sole purpose is to smash a spreading underworld "empire" that is threatening every section of the country.

Every major federal enforcement authority will participate in this extraordinary effort.

Foremost among them are FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover; Internal Revenue Commissioner Russell Harrington; Narcotics Commissioner Harry Anslinger; and Immigration Commissioner Joseph Swing.

HOW IT'LL BE DONE — Two main weapons will be used against the crime overlords — the federal conspiracy statutes and the tax laws.

The former were especially effective in prosecuting Communists.

Assistant Attorney General Anderson explained that similar strategy will be employed in the anti-crime drive. The Criminal Division head told the Appropriations Committee:

"We intend to go after the top hoodlums and racketeers in much the same manner as we have been prosecuting Communists. Our chief weapons will be the conspiracy statutes and the income tax laws. We are also going to use provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act and the narcotics law."

Last November's meeting of some 60 crime leaders at Apalachin, N.Y., was cited by Anderson as a graphic illustration of the far-flung organization of underworld operations.

"Most of those who attended this affair," he said, "came from New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania. But there was a fair representation from the South, Midwest and even the Pacific Coast. Further, this gathering wasn't the first of its kind. Far from it.

"These criminal syndicates get-but that output also is so low. These differences between the high output and low output countries are mostly the result of immense differences in the amount of tools and power with which each worker has been supplied. That this capital equipment is well supplied is the job of investors willing to take risks. That it is carefully and efficiently used is the job of management and skilled labor."

Mac Always Goes With Wife To Buy Her Shoes

By HENRY McLEMORE

I always make it a point to go with my wife when she buys a pair of shoes.

Through the years, I have found a visit to a women's shoe store to be the best of all morale boosters.

No man, no matter how dissatisfied with his lot, how unhappy with his job, can fail to leave a women's shoe store without a lift in spirit. His may be a tough niche in the world, but compared to the clerks who sell shoes to women, he is rolling knee deep in clover.

It never ceases to astound me, after I have sat a few minutes with Mary in a shoe store, that ambulances aren't rolling up to the door all the time, either to take away the female customers — the clerks have mauled, or the clerks themselves, raving mad and frothing at the mouth.

I have no idea what a clerk in a women's shoe store makes, but anything under $500 a day, with every other month off so that he can retreat to a lonely mountain top and collect his sanity, is not enough.

During the hours I have spent in stores with Mary I have gathered unassailable facts about women in search of new shoes.

They have no idea what kind of shoes they want, and even if they did there isn't a store in the world that has them.

They want to see every shoe in the store. The fact that they are looking for, say, a sandal, does not quench their desire to see every other type of footwear ranging from riding boots to fishing waders, from bedroom slippers to stout walkers.

The higher the box is on the shelf, the more they crave to see the shoe's inside.

If the color's right, the style is wrong, and vice versa.

If it looks good on their feet (to them), it isn't comfortable.

No matter the color, it is always the wrong shade.

The first time they turn down a shoe does not mean they do not want to see it again.

A steady refrain in a shoe department is this one:

"Remember that pair you showed me a while ago? No, not the red ones with the open toe. The little black ones with the strap. You must remember. Let me see those again."

The clerk then has to go through the mound of boxes about him, or go off somewhere and look for them in a back room.

Women walk blocks trying on new shoes. Round and round they mince, talking as they go. "It feels good in the toe, but back by the heel it isn't so comfortable."

"I like the shoe, but the color isn't just what I was thinking of."

"Haven't you got one just like this, only a little different?"

"Would you mind waiting until my friend comes down from the third floor and sees this pair?"

By this time it is a wonder that the clerk, up and down off his fitting stool a hundred times, doesn't flog the customer with a blackjack — a tool I would most surely pack if I had the job.

My observations show that nine out of ten women, after they have put the clerk to half a day of bother, don't buy any shoes at all. They just get up, say a pretty "thank you," and head for another store, there to devil another poor clerk.

The grass in the other fellow's pasture may always be greener, but no one will ever convince me that this is so when the other fellow is a man who has to try to sell shoes to women.

I'd rather water the White House lawn with an eye-dropper!

The Nation's Press

THE PRICE OF GOLD

(Chicago Tribune)

The treasury's gold reserves have slipped by about 1 billion dollars since Jan. 1, mainly because foreign governments with dollar reserves or favorable trade balances are taking their money in gold instead of dollars.

They are acting on the basis of rumors that the dollar is going to be devalued by reducing its value in terms of gold. The more gold they buy at the present rate of $35 an ounce, the more they will gain if the rate is increased to $50, $65, or, as some British circles suggest, $100 an ounce. This—plus the fact that two thirds of the world's gold is produced in the sterling area — explains foreign pressure for devaluation.

It is disturbing, however, to find domestic pressure increasing also. Devaluation is drastic economic surgery, resorted to when a nation faces bankruptcy. It can be justified, if at all, only by necessity.

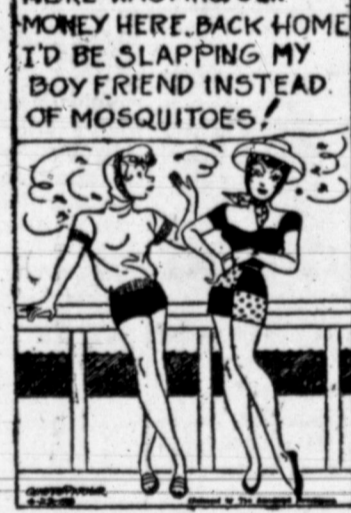

It is not necessary today because our present reserves — even after the loss — are 21.8 billion dollars, or well over half the free world's supply of monetary gold. Only 11.4 billion dollars is required to provide the 25 per cent backing of federal reserve currency. Of the balance, more than 9 billion is available to act as a shock absorber in foreign exchange.

The present decline is not particularly alarming when compared with the outflow of 2.9 billion dollars in 1949-50 or 1.2 billion in 1953. Under the classic theory, gold is the means of stabilizing international exchange, and a flow in one direction creates a conditions which cause it to flow back — as it did after each of the periods mentioned.

Devaluation would reward the very people who have been speculating against the dollar, while penalizing those who have had faith in it.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

I've been hoping to say something real wise and inspiring about the recession. But, to tell you the truth, the facts have me just about as mixed up as everybody else. For instance, there is a movie theater in Aspen, Colo., whose sign reads: "Adults 50 Cents — Children Under Twelve Fifty Cents. Now that don't sound very encouraging. But then, on the other hand, there's a saloon in New York that's gone back to selling Beer For Five Cents A Glass. And the bartender says that Business Is Booming. People he thought were dead come in and lap up a couple of bucks worth of the stuff every evening. Swarms of thirsty fellows come to his place all the way from Brooklyn and, after an hour or so, they don't even miss the Dodgers.

Latch-Key Out To Alaskans

AUSTIN (UPI)—Texans today hung out the latch-key, ready to welcome Alaska as the 49th state in the Union.

Alaska will oust Texas from its historic position as the largest state in the nation. But a survey of public opinion by United Press International failed to uncover a native Texan willing to concede that the Lone Star State won't remain the greatest.

J. Frank Dobie, author and famed Southwest folklorist, said state wasn't important anyway.

"Whenever Texas can brag about its brains rather than its size, it'll be better off," he said.

Gov. Price Daniel had pointed out earlier—with a broad grin—that Alaska might be larger, but Texas "will still have the biggest navy." This "Texas brag" was based on the fact Daniel recently reactivated the "Texas Navy" and invited every boat owner in the state to volunteer his craft.

Welcomed by Chamber Prexy In Dallas, Erik Jonsson, president of the Chamber of Commerce and head of the sprawling Texas Instruments Inc., said "I'm rather glad to see it."

"It will give us Texans a chance to relax. It'll be Alaska tales now, not Texas tales. But it's been good for us—we've had a lot of fun and a lot of free advertising out of our size."

Secretary of State Zollic Stealey expressed sympathy for the Alaskans and relief for the Texans.

"I'm glad another state will bear the brunt of the TV gags about being the largest in size," he said.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson, intent on defending Texas' oil-rich tidelands in a federal suit, offered a word of warning to Alaskans.

"I suggest they nail down their offshore lands before they enter the union," he said. "Alaska is a land of tremendous promise. We certainly wish them well," he added.

safely and boss of the famed Texas Rangers, said "Texans are rabid states' righters, and we understand we are welcoming in some more pioneering spirits who believe along that line the same as we do," he said.

As a horse-and-saddle Texan, Garrison said that if an Alaskan lawman ever needs a cowpony, he'd be willing to swap one "for a kodiak bear—a big one."

Marvin Jones, a Dallas commercial photographer, said "I'm all for it. If we have to maintain Alaska we should draw economic benefits from it. If Alaska is taken in as a state, it will grow."

"I sure hate to see Texas lose its rating as the largest state, though."

Regret Loss of Title
Rex J. Owens, a state Capitol guard, shrugged off the statehood question with a single comment. "As long as we're going to have to maintain Alaska, we might as well make a state out of it," he said.

"I think it's wonderful, but I wish they'd trim it down so Texas would still be the largest state," said Mrs. J. W. Beck, an Austin receptionist.
