

Ike Sees All-Time Prosperity Record During Next 18 Months

PRESIDENT DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER gives State of Union address

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White-House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI) President Eisenhower in his State of the Union message today predicted America will achieve all-time record prosperity in the coming 18 months.

With the 1958 recession fading into history, he admonished the heavily Democratic Congress to help maintain "the marked forward thrust of our economy by curbing the cost of government and the forthcoming budget.

If Congress will do this, the President held out hope for tax reductions "in the foreseeable future," although not this year. He will have the Treasury prepare proposals to overhaul the tax structure "at the proper time."

He called for resolute action by government, business and labor "to curb the wage-price spiral and prevent further declines in the value of the dollar."

Surveying the troubled world scene, the President denounced the Soviet Union for winking on international agreements and estimate covered the armed forces, the Atomic Energy Commission and military aid to other nations.

The President felt it was possible to maintain "a sensible posture of defense" and still have a less expensive federal government, even with such high-priced weapons as missiles at 35 million dollars a shot and space-age bombers that "cost their weight in gold."

He told Congress that national security will cost more than 47 billion dollars a year, roughly 60 per cent of the total budget. This but we cannot afford one cent of waste."

The chief executive delivered his 5,000-word message in person to a crowded joint session of the House and Senate at the Capitol. His remarks were carried to a nation and the rest of the world by television and radio.

It was the fifth straight year that he had had to submit his program to a Congress dominated by his political opponents.

Need Set Goals

The President appealed to lawmakers of both parties to join in cooperative work to build a better America.

"The basic question facing us today," he said, "is more than mere survival—the military defense of national life and territory. It is the preservation of a way of life."

"We must meet the world challenge and at the same time permit no stagnation in America. Unless we progress, we regress."

And to spur the pace of progress for the rapidly expanding population, he said, there should be clearly defined goals to be achieved in five or 10 years.

He announced that he will ask a committee of leading citizens to set goals for such things as "the living standards of our people, their health and education, their better assurance of life and liberty and their greater opportunities."

The President hit hard at the dangers of inflation, which could tarnish prosperity and which hurt worst those who are the least able to protect themselves.

Protest Buying Power

To prevent further loss in the dollar's value, he said, "we must encourage the self-discipline, the restraint necessary to curb the wage-price spiral and we must meet current costs from current revenue."

"I shall ask Congress to strengthen the employment act of 1946 to make it clear that the government intends to use all appropriate means to protect the buying power of the dollar."

Eisenhower also announced establishment of a Cabinet group on "price stability for economic growth." This Cabinet committee will be charged with studying governmental and private policies affecting costs, prices and economic growth. Eisenhower said other studies would be undertaken to improve the government's information on prices, wages and production as another step in the fight against inflation.

He insisted that his balanced budget of 27 billion dollars for 1960, to be submitted Jan. 19, was "realistic... with wholly attainable objectives." This budget was the heaviest three billion dollars less than this year's.

Pursuing his campaign to curb federal spending, the President asked Congress to give him veto power over specific items in appropriation and authorization bills. This would enable him to cut undesirable spending items from an otherwise acceptable money bill.

Stop Union Corruption

He also said the government was spending too much money on farm-price supports and asked Congress to reduce these federal subsidies materially. The President, again in the interest of less government spending, called for decreased federal operations in

Reservoir Overflows Dam; 100 Might Have Drowned

WRECKING CREW

A trio of workmen of the J. L. Colville Co. of Pampa began work Thursday afternoon on the construction of a 16-car parking lot for county employees. The new lot will be located on the north side of the Gray County Courthouse. Shown here removing a sidewalk are, left-to-right, Loran Hemken with pick, Jessie Dowdy with an air jack, and Fay McLean.

Tiny Village In Spain Is Tragic Scene

ZAMORA, Spain (UPI)—Rain-swollen waters surged over a huge new power dam and cascaded a wall of death onto the village of Ribadela early today while its 600 inhabitants slept.

First sketchy reports said 100 or more persons may have been killed.

The disaster struck at 4 a.m. in northwest Spain near the Portuguese border.

The Zamora provincial government said in a statement that torrential rains of the past few days overflowed the reservoir of the 2-year-old Vega de Tera dam and "spilled over, inundating the village of Ribadela."

The first rescuers reached the village this afternoon and reported that about 250 of the survivors had been moved to Mercado de Puente, a village five miles from the disaster site.

The full story of the destruction was yet to be told, in its steep plunge, the wall of water ripped out the only road leading to the village, and bad weather made flying to the scene impossible.

There was no other form of communication to the desolate mountain haidians, about 165 miles northwest of Madrid.

Survivors apparently made it by boat downstream to give the alarm.

A joint military-civilian mission led by Zamora Provincial Governor Juan Murillo de Valdivia-Martinez set out immediately from this provincial capital to aid the survivors.

If had more than 50 miles to go overland through craggy mountains and by boat up through the surging Tera River.

The seemingly incessant rain and overcast bottled up U.S. Air Force crews at the Torrejon Strategic Air Command base outside Madrid.

"We are working right now to see whether we can fly from Madrid to the scene of the disaster but flying weather is unfavorable today," a spokesman said.

Castro's Rebs Search For 500 Hot Guns

HAVANA (UPI)—Fidel Castro's revolutionary forces searched today for 500 stolen rifles and ammunition believed taken by the rival "Revolutionary Directorate" in a challenge to Castro's authority.

Castro himself in a two-hour radio speech from army headquarters at Camp Columbia promised to exhaust every effort to recover the stolen arms. He warned that from here out the "greatest crime will be to upset the peace" in Cuba.

His statement came as today's newspapers were filled with an increasing number of pictures and news stories of the rebels' strong arm, revolutionary justice. Arrests, accusations, summaries, trials, manhunt and executions.

Hundreds Await Trial

Latest reports said 1,300 persons were awaiting trial in Havana and another 362 former military police and civilians awaiting trial in Santiago. Twenty have been tried and executed. An unknown number, 20 have been reported, were executed without a trial. Others were reported tortured.

Another significant development in Havana was the appearance today of the Communist Party newspaper "Hoy" banned under the Batista regime. It boldly denounced government agents who had fought subversive activities and in a front page editorial said: "Down with the Communist Activity Renegades Bureau; down with the Military Intelligence Service."

Other Cuban developments:

A UPI dispatch from Santiago said Raul Castro, brother of the rebel leader, had assumed military command in eastern Cuba and begun the job of coordinating reconstruction.

The government today announced the dismissal of 126 rayors who had served under ex-President Fulgencio Batista and fired 38 members of the diplomatic corps in a prelude to a widespread reshuffle.

Grand Jury Probe Set For State Comptroller's Office

AUSTIN (UPI)—A grand jury investigation was pledged today to examine charges that State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert received some $28,000 in gifts from his employees and Gov. Price Daniel condemned the practice of department heads taking such gifts.

Dist. Atty. Les Procter said he will launch an immediate "full-scale investigation" into the charges.

Daniel said in a prepared statement, "obviously from the policy which I have adopted and followed, it is clear that I think an acceptance of cash gifts from employees is a practice which should not be permitted."

The governor outlined his practice as governor and previously as a public official—as attorney general of Texas and as United States senator.

"In no public office have I ever solicited or received any cash gift from an employee," Daniel said.

Inquiry Due Soon

"When I became attorney general the office force had a custom of giving an annual Christmas gift of a suit case, briefcase or the like, but after my first term as attorney general I forbade even this type of gift from employees."

"Ever since it has been a standing policy in my office as attorney general, U.S. senator and governor that employees shall not make Christmas gifts or any other type of gift or contribution to me," the governor pointed out.

Procter said his investigation probably will get underway as early as next week.

"The reports such as received indicate we should make a thorough investigation and we intend to do that," the Travis county district attorney said. A new grand jury was recently empaneled.

"We're going into a full-scale investigation immediately—just

PLANE VANISHES IN MOUNTAINS; 10 ABOARD

BLUFF CITY, Tenn. (UPI)—A Southeastern Airlines plane disappeared Thursday night with 10 persons aboard while approaching this city during a brief snowstorm.

Civilian and military search parties from Tennessee, Kentucky, Virginia, and North Carolina were organized for an air and ground hunt for the two-engine DC3 which was believed lost in the east Tennessee mountains.

The two-engine DC3 was within minutes of a landing at the Tri-Cities Airport near Bluff City. The pilot, Robert Gollmier, radioed at 8:32 p.m. e.s.t. that he was making a turn preparatory to landing on instruments when his radio went out.

The plane was five to eight miles east of the Tri-Cities Airport when it swung into its wide turn. It was not heard from again.

Southeast officials held out hope that the plane might have pro-

A STEP-FATHER Dear Step-Father: I think you are married or not? We can't afford to hire a private detective. Mother agrees to check on him if we acted wisely.

DEAR ABBY: I was very angry with the man who blames his wife for giving him 9 sons but no daughters. Don't know that the sex of a child is the MAN'S fault for credit every time? DEAR ABBY: How can you tactfully refuse invitations from a wonderful person who has a bore of a husband? I see her several times during the week because our children are good friends and PTA, Church work and Scouting brings us together. We spent one evening together with our husbands and my husband said, "NEVER AGAIN." And I agreed with him. All we did was play children's card games (Old Maid and Steal the Pack) and when we tried to teach him simple Gin Rummy, he couldn't even remember that the Ace was "one." She keeps asking us over and I am running out of excuses. Please help me, Abby.

DEAR NEEDS: Thank her sincerely for the invitations but tell her you are married to one of those men who doesn't "socialize" much in the evenings.

Mrs. Coombes Keeps Flowers In Beds

Mrs. A. P. Coombes discussed "Planning and Caring for Yards" at a meeting of the Good Will Home Demonstration Club Tuesday.

The front yard should be simple and held to grass and trees. Flowers should be in beds not scattered about in the grass and the lawn should slope about an inch for proper drainage.

Mrs. Coombes continued: "The soil should be kept loose and well fertilized; Grass cuttings should not be removed from the lawn as they make a good mulch, which often is badly needed."

The club met in the home of Mrs. Tom Haggard, 333 N. Davis. Other members present were Mrs. W. E. Aulry, James Smathers, Tom Haggard, Ray Frazier, and Boyd Maul, president. Mrs.

H. O. Hightower was welcomed as a guest. The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Boyd Maul, 60 N. Nelson, at 9:30 a. m. Jan. 20.

Most women would give a fortune to get rid of that so-called spare tire around the middle. Actually, all they need do is exercise, and perhaps push themselves away from the table when dessert comes. Situps are especially good to strengthen stomach muscles and help trim the waist. Remember, Don't cheat and lift your feet off the floor as you sit up.

To minimize large veins in the hands, press down on them when applying hand cream. And raise your arms and shake the wrists frequently to stimulate circulation.

RUTH MILLETT

"Thanks a million for your article ripping apart togetherness." writes a young wife.

"Eight years ago I married a big strong he-man. And I aim to keep him the kind of man I can look up to, instead of changing him into Mama's little helper."

"In our house Papa wears the pants and I wear the apron, I like it that way—and so does Papa. When his day's work is done he knows he doesn't have to stop off at the supermarket to buy the makings of the evening meal."

"Dinner will be ready to go on the table when the man of the family walks through the door. If it isn't quite ready, the head of our house is handed the evening paper—and told to 'read it easy' in his favorite chair until dinner is set."

"After dinner he watches TV or works on reports or hammers away in his workshop, or oils his guns while I do the dinner dishes—alone."

"And I don't feel put upon, either. In fact, I am so happy to have a real man around—the house, I sing while I scrub her pots and pans and enjoy every moment of bathing the kids and getting them ready for bed."

"When they are ready their Dad comes in and tells them a story or reads from their favorite books. If they are suffering because their father doesn't share equally with me in their physical care, they don't know it. They think their Dad is something special. Because he isn't Mama's little helper, his word also is law to them."

"It doesn't even seem to hurt when they are sometimes told, 'Your Dad is tired because he has been working all day as you play quietly and don't disturb him.'"

"Some of my friends, whose husbands even help with the laundry, have hinted that I spoil my husband. I don't think I spoil him. I just think I treat him like a man."

Laws Would Pit FBI Against Bombers

By NORMAN G. CORNISH, United Press International WASHINGTON (UPI)—Stiff new laws to pit the full power of the FBI against "hate bombers" were proposed in Congress today. The legislation was patterned after the Lindbergh Kidnaping Act. Key Senate sponsors of the seven-bill package were Republicans Jacob K. Javits and Kenneth B. Keating, both of New York. Rep. John V. Lindsay (R-N.Y.) planned to introduce the same measures in the House. Javits and Keating said the proposals were designed to halt the activities of fanatics and racists trying to establish a reign of terror against churches, synagogues and integrated schools. Cites Recent Bombings Lindsay said the need for congressional action had been clearly demonstrated by the nearly 70 bombings and attempted bombings reported since 1954, including 27 last year. The bills also would muster the forces of the federal government against "hate mail" when it has the effect of inciting violence. Javits and Keating said local law enforcement agencies were hamstrung now in their efforts to track down such criminals because of lack of jurisdiction and resources to do the job. The two senators said there were indications the hate terrorists probably are members of a well-organized gang or gangs operating in several states. "Seldom have we examined an emergency situation which so urgently requires federal legislation to help remedy it," they said. Javits and Keating said their bills were drawn up after conferences last November with community leaders and officials in Atlanta, Ga., Birmingham, Ala., and Jacksonville, Fla., where bombings have occurred. Their investigation showed that local law enforcement agencies for the most part have been unable to arrest or convict the hate bombers or check the flood of hate mail, they said.

The District governors will be elected in Plainview. The real purpose of the conference, according to Tooley, is to get in some "politicizing."

Senate Votes Today On Filibuster Ruling

By WARREN DUFFEE, United Press International WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate was expected to deal anti-filibuster forces a setback today in a showdown vote on whether to adopt new rules. By agreement, the Senate was to vote on Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson's motion to table a proposal calling for the adoption of new rules for the 86th Congress. On only the second day of the new Congress, the Senate was held in session Thursday night until 10:10 p. m., called by Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.), who spoke for four hours and six minutes on the evils of filibusters. All other Senate business, including reappointment of committees to allow for Democratic gains in the 1958 elections, was at a standstill pending outcome of the historic rules battle. Some members hoped the fight over tightening the anti-filibuster rule might be ended by early next week. Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-N.M.) authorized the move for adoption of new Senate rules. But his proposal ran into a barrage of complaints that its adoption would leave the Senate without any rules at least temporarily and lead to a "Pandora's box" of rule changes. Clark Offers Modification To meet this objection, Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa.) offered a modification stipulating that all Senate rules for the 86th Congress would apply in this session except the rule governing filibusters. Anderson it was announced, had accepted this change and would offer it as a modification of his motion. But Johnson was expected to bring his motion, which is less than appeared confident he would win. Then, the Senate could consider various alternatives for tightening the gag on filibusters under its Rule 22. The speaker was James R. Hickey, director of field service from St. Louis, Mo. Other speakers were Bob Blackburn, field representative from Amarillo, James H. Bond, national vice chairman for membership and funds, Harris Burton, field representative for East Texas, and Miss Wanda Delaney, director of public information, Dallas County chapter. Among 62 other executive secretaries at the meeting was Mrs. F. W. Shotwell, the only paid worker of the Pampa Red Cross. Mrs. Shotwell reported that the convention gave her a big "shot in the arm."

Business Views

United Press International Volume in the construction industry in 1958 rose to a record 49 billion dollars or 2 per cent more than 1957, but most of the gain was accounted for by price increases, the Commerce and Labor departments reported. Private spending dipped to just below 34 billion dollars but was offset by a big spurt in public construction. New car sales in the final 10 days of 1958 topped the year ago pace for the first time during the year with dealers selling a daily average of 21,525 units or 10.2 per cent above the like 1957 period. Total sales for the month were 489,000 cars, highest for any month since August, 1957. Inventories rose in November to $58,100,000,000 or 20 million dollars above the month-earlier level according to the Commerce Department. The gain, first since August, 1957, was confined to retail inventories, reflecting higher stocks of new cars in auto dealers' hands. Furniture shipments have been recovering steadily from the low point of last May and there is every reason to believe this trend will continue throughout 1959. Selman & Selman, industry accountants, reported. Shipments last year by factories making the wood and upholstered varieties declined by 9 per cent to 1,900,000. The Census Bureau reported that the net value of shipments of the principal women's outerwear industries amounted to 245 million dollars in November, a drop of 20 per cent from October. Law to Replace Force "Congress alone has the power of the purse," he added. "By working together, the Congress and the executive can keep a balance between income and outgo. If this is done, there is real hope that we can look forward to a time in the foreseeable future when needed tax reforms can be accomplished."

(Continued From Page 1) theft of the 600 rifles was believed directed toward the Revolutionary Directorate which has declined thus far specifically to endorse the presidency of Manuel Urrutia, the Castro choice for the job. This was the group, containing many students, which organized a second front in Las Villas Province in mid-Cuba while the bulk of Castro's forces were fighting in Oriente Province. They were the first to seize the presidential palace and delayed Urrutia's arrival there for some time. Disclosure the arms were stolen indicated all had not been settled in the revolutionary camp—and that Castro's July 26th Movement must yet effect further compromises with minority factions before his regime is secure. Castro made his long-delayed grand entry into Havana Thursday afternoon after traveling by road in an armored column from Santiago in Eastern Cuba. He was given a hero's welcome while cannon sounded salutes and church bells pealed widely.

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

Rev. BILL SPARKS

FAITH IN THE POWER OF GOD

"And I, brethren, when I came to you, came not with excellency of speech or of wisdom, declaring unto you the testimony of God. For I determined not to know anything among you, save Jesus Christ, and Him Crucified. And I was with you in weakness, and in fear, and in much trembling. And my speech and my preaching was not with enticing words of man's wisdom, but in demonstration of the Spirit and of power. That your faith should not stand in the wisdom of men, but in the power of God." I Corinthians 2:1-5.

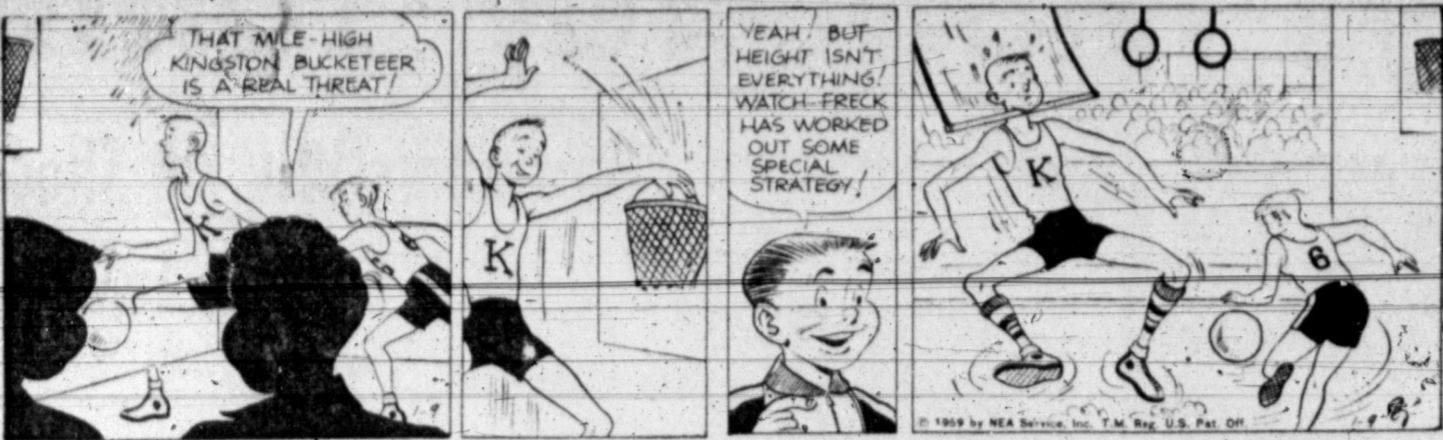

As we read the above scriptures, we find the Gospel is not in word only, but in demonstration of the spirit and of power. There are many, many preachers in the world today who are preachers of words only. There are expensive words and economical words, eloquent words and unpleasant words, hard words, soft words, clever words, foolish words, humorous words, sad words, witty words and dry words. Shall we give unto lost humanity the Gospel of Deliverance in power, or just in empty words?

Let us review some of the ministry of Jesus Christ. To the sinner, He said, "Neither do I condemn thee, go and sin no more." To the sick, He said, "Take up thy bed and walk." To the raging elements, He said, "Peace, be still." To the diseased, He said, "Be thou clean." Surely the plan has already been placed before us, for Jesus has said, "Verily, verily I say unto you, He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also, and greater works than these shall he do, because I go to my Father."

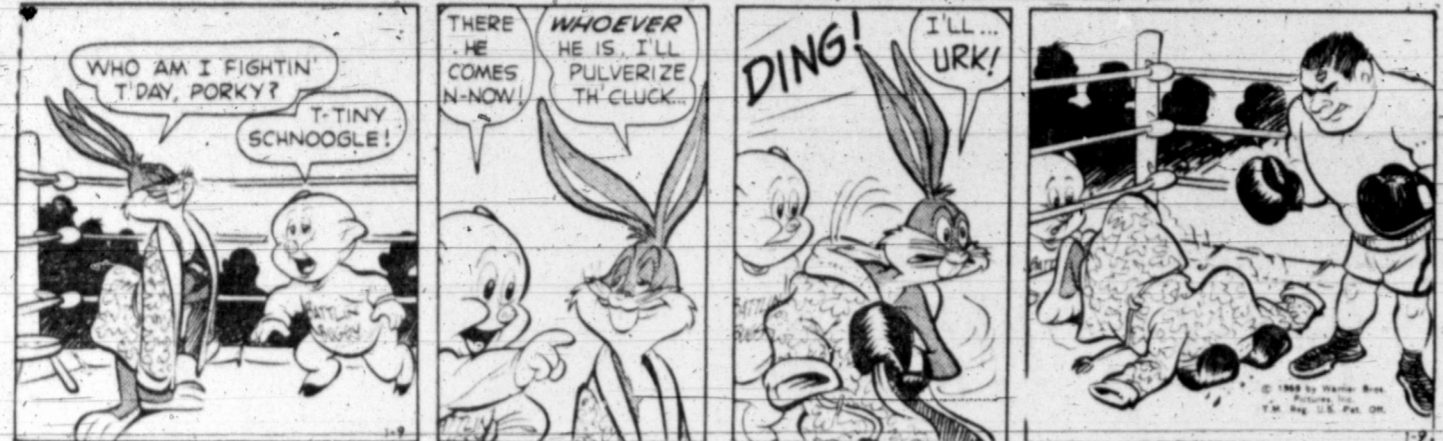

While the lost stand by saying, "Sirs, we would see Jesus", what do we offer them? The only way they shall see Him in this present world, is through the lives of His servants. "Ye are the light of the world. A city that is set on an hill cannot be hid." Matthew 5:14.

We, as Christians, must better learn to depend and rely more fully in the Divine Power of God's Word, and not so much in the wisdom of man.

Mitchell, McNamara Want No FBI Interference With Labor Goons, Racketeers

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell has another convert to his belief that it would be wrong to let the FBI loose on labor goons and racketeers who advance the cause of the working man with bombs and other violence.

The convert is Sen. Patrick V. McNamara (D-Mich.). McNamara spoke last week before the criminology symposium of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Mitchell got on record last autumn at the Atlantic City convention of the Steelworkers. The Steelworkers greeted Mitchell with some boozing but warmed up considerably after he had outlined his policies. One of his policies was that there should be no federal legislation to deal with labor mugging, goon squads and criminal tactics.

"What we do need," Mitchell said, "is a recognition at the community level that these (local) laws against each violence) should be enforced. No one has to wait for Washington to pass a law to check these evils."

Wm. Meany Approval

The record of the Senate Labor Rackets Committee presided over by Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) is sufficient proof that local laws against labor violence are not properly enforced. Neither Mitchell nor McNamara is likely to argue that enforcement in local areas is adequate. What McNamara said was this:

"Theft, violence and extortion already are crimes in every state. It is not necessary to pass special federal penalties just because the culprit may be found to have a connection with a labor union."

President George Meany of AFL-CIO gave Mitchell's policy a fast okay shortly after the Atlantic City convention. Meany, as much as McNamara, dislikes the idea of federal cops, probably the FBI, digging into the facts of labor violence. McNamara, like Meany, might be considered to be something less than an impartial

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

Business Organization

The law allows a business a wide choice of ways to set itself up to finance and manage itself.

You may have sole ownership, partnerships, joint ventures, corporations, and within these, classes you have many different forms.

To meet modern business conditions, to get full tax advantage, and to protect investors, for example, the law provides many ways for a company to finance itself. And these, in turn, influence the kind of management it can have, and the way it conducts its affairs.

We sometimes speak of "stocks and bonds," for example, as if they were one and the same.

But when you buy a share of — racial or religious minorities back home would not dare to vote "no."

If such a law is passed, the question for McNamara and others to answer will be this: If federal protection against racial or religious violence is good and necessary why not against labor violence? There is plenty of local law against bombing schools and churches.

stock in a company, you "own" an "undivided" part of everything it owns, but no particular part of its property.

But what do you have when you buy a corporation's bond or debenture? You own nothing of the company. Instead you are lending money which it promises to pay back with interest when your bond "matures."

Unlike a stockholder, a bondholder or as a rule has little to say directly about who manages, and how he manages—the company—Remotely a bond buyer by "withholding" or lending money may influence a company's ability to expand. The bondholder gets only his interest payments, which come before the stockholder's "dividends," since he takes less of a risk than the stockholders.

Thus if the corporation quits or goes bankrupt, it must pay the bondholders off before the stockholders get anything.

Where does the "preferred stock" come in? As a rule, preferred stockholders collect a fixed dividend — after the bondholders are paid but before the "common" stockholders get anything. There are many kinds of preferred stock arrangements. But in return for their preference at the profits the preferred stockholders often give up any voting rights or ability to control the company directly.

(This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Two Parties In Control of Chicago's Press

CHICAGO (UPI)—The purchase of the Chicago Daily News — the city's second top newspaper shift in 28 months — has left Chicago's four large metropolitan dailies under two owners.

Marshall Field Jr., Field Enterprises president, announced the purchase of the afternoon Daily News from John S. Knight for $50 a share.

The estimated sale price for the paper's controlling interest, which Knight bought in 1944 for $2,150,000, was $15 million dollars. The 481,253 outstanding shares of Daily News stock total more than 24 million dollars at the $50 figure.
