British Paratroopers Land In Jordan To Curb A Plot

Moscow Reds Riot Against Embassy

By LARRY COLLINS
United Press International

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI)—British paratroops landed in Jordan today to smash a plot against the throne of young King Hussein and to add the strength of their arms to the already strong U.S. forces committed to restoring peace in the Middle East.

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan told the House of Commons an attempt to overthrow Hussein in the Iraq pattern had been plotted for today.

Moscow radio reacted immediately with a charge that the arrival of the red-bereted paratroops in Jordan proved that the U. S. landings in Lebanon were the first phase of an Anglo-American "conspiracy."

In Moscow, where demonstrations take place only by permission of the government, more than 1,500 youths marched on the U.S. embassy shouting: "Hands off Lebanon—shame on American colonialists."

Marines Control Harbor
In Washington it was disclosed the aircraft carrier Saratoga, the world's most powerful, had arrived off Beirut along with the U.S. 6th Fleet flagship and other units.

Sixteen hundred battle-equipped U.S. infantrymen flown in by giant transports waited further orders at the big NATO airport at Adana, Turkey.

Ashore in Beirut and in full control of the harbor and other strategic installations were 3,600 U.S. Marines, with another 1,800 standing by aboard ships in the harbor.

U.S. State Department trouble shooter Robert Murphy flew into Beirut today as President Eisenhower's personal representative.

Twelve white-painted jet fighters believed sent by the U.S. 6th Fleet patrolled the skies over Jordan while six big RAF transport planes landed the paratroopers.

The number of paratroopers landing today was not announced but Britain had 10,000 ready for action.

Big transport planes of the Royal Air Force sped across the eastern Mediterranean from Cyprus in immediate answer to a plea for help from the 22-year-old Hussein who appealed for military aid from "friendly states."

BRITISH LEADER

Lloyd Flies Here For Talks With Ike On Mid-East Crisis

By STEWART HENSLEY
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd flew here today to discuss with President Eisenhower the "grave events" climaxed by U.S.-British troop actions in the Middle East.

Lloyd was greeted at the airport by both Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

The British leader arrived shortly after Prime Minister Harold Macmillan told the House of Commons in London that British troops were dispatched to Jordan to prevent a United Arab Republic coup which "was to have taken place today."

Lloyd was scheduled to talk with Eisenhower and Dulles this afternoon in the White House. He said he came to discuss the "grave events in the Middle East." In New York before taking off for Washington he said "there are very grave issues at stake."

"Having transatlantic telephone calls and telegrams are no substitute," Lloyd said, "for personal discussions at this time."

British Move Necessary
U.S. troops are now on the scene in Lebanon with other forces standing by in Turkey.

Before coming here Lloyd conferred for 30 minutes in New York with Sir Pierson Dixon, British ambassador to the United Nations.

The White House withheld comment on the dispatch of British troops to Jordan.

But Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland said the British move was as necessary as the dispatch of U.S. Marines to Lebanon.

There were reports in diplomatic circles that American forces would be sent into Jordan to join the British, but the White House has said there are no present plans for U.S. combat troops to go to that country.

Reliable information was that a small American service unit might be sent to Jordan to handle the oil and other supplies for which King Hussein has appealed to the United States.

To Arrange Compromise
President Eisenhower's Middle East trouble shooter, deputy Undersecretary of State Robert D. Murphy, arrived in Beirut today.

Murphy, a veteran of 40 years where American Marines have landed to help stabilize the situation of Iran and Turkey in preparation for what Moscow called large

Deputy Under Secretary of State Robert Murphy steps off his plane in Beirut to do everything possible to restore peace in the Middle-East. US TROUBLE SHOOTER ARRIVES IN BEIRUT

BEIRUT (UPI)—U.S. State Department trouble shooter Robert Murphy arrived today as President Eisenhower's representative to try to bring peace to the Middle East.

The deputy undersecretary of state landed at Beirut Airport in an Air Force jet tanker and found this turbulent Middle East capital reasonably quiet.

Earlier today, rebel machine-guns had appeared to fire on a U.S. Marine fighter plane flying overhead but rebel chieftain Saeb Salem told newsmen they were aiming at government house, not the plane.

Murphy declined to comment on the Lebanese situation except to say he was "looking forward to useful talks with President (Camille) Chamoun and other Lebanese officials."

A Marine officer said a few shots passed over the heads of his men stationed in the Beirut dock area Wednesday night. He said his troops "ignored" the shots and picked up a few spent bullets as souvenirs.

The Marines obviously were attempting to go out of their way not to provoke incidents.

Murphy went into immediate conference with U.S. Ambassador to Lebanon Robert McClintock, who met him at the airport.

YARBOROUGH SLAMS BLAKLEY OVER TV

By CHARLES E. WEBB
United Press International

Sen. Ralph Yarborough accused opponent William A. Blakley Wednesday night of receiving more than $100,000 a year for six years from Braniff Airlines, a company which he said got more than 10 million dollars in federal subsidies during the same period. Blakley came out with a plan to save the farmers and said it could be done "through price supports" until such time as the government can set up a better system.

Yarborough lambasted Blakley in a television speech at Tyler. He planned to campaign for re-election to the U.S. Senate today in Houston.

Blakley made his remarks on the farm situation at Sherman. He goes to Vernon, Electra and Burkburnett today and will make a television speech at Wichita Falls tonight.

Daniel Outlines Record
In the gubernatorial race, Gov. Price Daniel outlined his record of his first term in a San Antonio television speech, claiming "honesty and integrity in the halls of government" as his cornerstone.

State Sen. Henry Gonzalez, one of Daniel's three opponents in the July 28 Democratic primary, repeated his statement that "I am the only true, loyal Democrat in the governor's race. I have never turned my back on the Democratic party, its nominees or principles."

Former Gov. and U.S. Sen. W. Lee O'Daniel took his campaign from Houston to San Antonio today. A reception and speeches were scheduled at San Antonio.

Hits At Subsidies
Yarborough hit at Blakley on both his airlines and insurance company interests and challenged him to say why he changed his mind about running for the Senate after first saying he had no qualifications.

"My opponent owns 517 shares in this company (Braniff) and he received a total of $667,100 in six years that came out of the treasury. That's your tax money," Yarborough said.

The senator said at the same time peanut growers received 5 million dollars in subsidies and that kept them down on the farm.

Complaint Pending
He said there is now pending before the Federal Trade Commission a complaint against an insurance company in which Blakley owns 95 per cent of the stock and is chairman of the board. He said the complaint states that Blakley's company has made and is now making numerous false, misleading and deceptive statements.

Yarborough defended his voting record on labor and said he voted 23 times for legislation aimed at cleaning up labor and that in 23 times his vote was identical (See YARBOROUGH, Page 2)

Committees Set For Oct. Banquet

The Executive Board of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce will take action on a proposed storage building for Chamber properties, as a result of the Board of Directors meeting this morning.

The Board heard Merchants Activities Committee reports on Christmas street decorations and the Rodeo Values Round Up.

Chamber President E. L. Henderson appointed committees to work on the coming annual banquet.

The proposed storage place will house Christmas decorations, Nativity scenes and other Chamber items. It has been approved in principle by directors. The Executive Board is expected to study the building from the stand point of size and cost and report back to the August directors' meeting.

B. M. Behrman, Merchants Activities Committee chairman, reported that an engineer, R. A. P. Milliron, has been hired to study installation procedures for the hanging ornaments. Milliron will meet with the MAC next week to report his findings. Then the Committee will be able to make installation arrangements with the City and Southwestern Public Service Company.

Behrman also reported that 35 merchants have signed up for the Rodeo week sales promotion, known as Rodeo Values Round Up. Behrman expects 10 more to join in the promotion.

A secret committee will select the men to be honored at the annual banquet, directors decided. Two awards will be given, one for outstanding achievement in civic activities and the other for outstanding work with youth.

The Chamber's annual banquet will take place Oct. 30 in the Robert E. Lee Junior High School cafeteria. The speaker will be Dr. Kenneth McFarland, General Motors Corporation's consultant at Topeka, Kans.

Henderson will head the Program Committee, assisted by Warren Hasse and Calvin Whalley. Ray Duncan will be Arrangements Committee chairman and will have the help of Gene Holler and Jake Osborne.

Soviet Forces Will Start Maneuvers

By HENRY SHAPIRO
United Press International

MOSCOW (UPI)—Russia announced today that Soviet air, land and naval forces in the areas bordering Iran and Turkey will begin training maneuvers Friday.

The announcement published in all the Soviet newspapers came as American forces established positions in Lebanon, within easy flying distance of the Soviet maneuver areas, and other major Western military units were dispersed nearby.

Units of the Black Sea fleet, with bases close to the Turkish coast, will participate in the maneuvers. The announcement said the exercises are being held in accordance with the plan to keep Soviet armed forces "in close combat preparedness."

Although the maneuvers were believed to be part of annual exercises, the timing of the announcement may have been designed to follow Russia's warning Wednesday for the United States to get out of Lebanon.

The announcement said that as of July 18 training of "Soviet land and air forces" will be carried out in the Transcaucasus and Turkestan military districts.

PROBE TO END TODAY?

By TOM NELSON
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Weary House investigators hoped to wind up their marathon questioning of Bernard Goldfine today with a few cleanup queries about his relationship with White House Aide Sherman Adams.

The 67-year-old Boston industrialist, favoring friend of Adams and others in political life, was summoned for his eighth day in the witness chair before the House influence-investigating subcommittee.

The Internal Revenue Service, meanwhile, indicated it was investigating tax records of Goldfine as a result of the hearings.

In addition, an official of the Boston IRS regional office said he could find no record of a Goldfine tax return for 1956.

As Goldfine's performance drew near its end—at least for the time being—several subcommittee members said they were convinced they had built up a case showing Goldfine sought and got preferential treatment from federal regulatory agencies.

Rep. Peter F. Mack Jr. (D-Ill.) said there wasn't "any question" that Goldfine got a break because of his friendship with Adams.

Almost unanimously the subcommittee members agreed they had developed sound grounds for seeking a contempt of Congress citation against Goldfine for refusing to answer 22 questions about his finances despite orders from Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark.).

Still Time For Absentee Ballot

"Time is getting short," says Gray County Clerk Charley Thut, "to cast your absentee ballot."

Those who plan to be out of Gray County on the day of the Democratic Primary, July 26, can still vote by casting their ballot in Thut's office.

The absentee vote will be legal until midnight July 22. It began July 6.

To date, 47 persons have made out their absentee ballot in the County Clerk's office. The office has mailed out 29.

NAVY RECRUITS BALLOON

The Navy launches a balloon from the roof of the First National Bank's new building. Printed on the side is Top O' Texas Rodeo and on the bottom, US Navy. The recruiters, Robert W. Phelps, left, and Nicholas P. Chunko, told the Pampa Chamber of Commerce that they wanted to do their part for the annual rodeo. So they got the advertising balloon from Amarillo. It once had "Welcome Home, Gold Sox," lettered on it. The balloon went up yesterday but it comes down every evening. Then it is on display in the window of the building. (News Photo)

Coin Collectors Meet Tonight

Pampa coin collectors will hold a meeting here tonight for the purpose of organizing a coin club. The meeting has been set for 7:30 p.m. in the dining room of Johnson's Cafe, Frank Summerlin announced Thursday morning.

"If enough people show up interested in forming a coin club here, we'll probably go about election officers tonight," Summerlin said.

On hand to discuss the pros and cons of forming a successful coin club will be Chisle Benton of the Amarillo Coin Club. He will put on display some $30,000 worth of rare coins, which belong to his collection of over $100,000 valuable coins.

Benton will also hold an old-coin auction during tonight's meeting. He will show persons attending one of every coin ever minted in the United States.

Cancer Society Holds Meeting

Officers and committee chairman of the Gray County unit of the American Cancer Society held an organizational meeting yesterday. Cameron Marsh, president, appointed, Dr. Carl Lang, Bob Hudson, Mrs. Jessa Clay and Mrs. N. G. Kadings to head various committees.

The speaker was Frank Stockwell, field representative from Amarillo. Stockwell said that public education and coordinated service programs would be stressed in the American Cancer Society's program this year. "The Society is vitally concerned with the saving of lives from cancer now," said Stockwell. "The entire public education program is designed to reach as many Texans as possible each year, concentrating its emphasis on the importance of cancer knowledge and the necessity of frequent health check ups."

Marsh appointed Dr. Lang to the Medical Committee, Hudson, Educational; Mrs. Clay, Publicity, and Mrs. Kadings, Campaign.

The next meeting of the Board will be the last Wednesday of November, January, March and April with the general meeting being held in May.

Woman Enters Guilty Plea

Mrs. C. A. Murrah, 910 S. Wilcox, entered a plea of guilty in Gray County Court yesterday afternoon to charges of swindling with a worthless check. She was fined $1 and costs with the reputation of the check.

Mrs. Murrah gave the check to the Ideal Food Store in the amount of $22.12 on May 28, 1958.

scale military exercises Friday. The international tension also spread to the Far East and Nationalist China alerted its 500,000-man army and sent jet patrols screaming in daylight over the Chinese Communist mainland to check on Red troop movements. The offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu went on special alert.

The red-bereted troops of Britain's crack paratroop brigade left Nicosia airport in Cyprus in Beverly and Hastings transports barely 40 hours after 5,400 U.S. Marines answered a similar summons from Lebanon.

It was just a year to the month after the final British troops evacuated Jordan following abrogation of the old Anglo-Jordanian military alliance.

Surrounded by Enemies

There was no word on whether American troops were joining the British troops in Jordan. Urgent talks were being held in London and Washington on the tense situation and the United States flew thousands of U.S. Army men to Turkey for help if needed.

While the RAF transports swept in from the west King Hussein broadcast to the nation over Amman Radio explaining his move. He said he and his cabinet decided to seek help to "protect our borders from the enemies which surround us on all sides."

British planes also flew much-needed oil supplies to Amman today and a British tanker was scheduled to arrive at the port of Aqaba later. The revolution in Iraq deprived Hussein of supplies of oil.

King Hussein made it clear he hoped to lead loyal Iraqi troops and his own Jordan Arab Legion into Iraq in an effort to defeat the rebels. British forces at his back would enable him to move in greater safety.

In his radio speech today he blamed the Iraqi insurrection on "international communism and its hirelings" and blamed "Moscow's agents" for the companion revolt in Lebanon.

In other major developments, New York: British Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd flew in from London en route to Washington for talks with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles on the Mideast situation and aid to Jordan.

Istanbul: U.S. troops landed at the big NATO airport at Adana during the night. Unofficial reports said there were 10,000 but the U.S. said only that 1,600 airborne troops were flown to the "Middle East."

Paris: The permanent council of NATO was called into emergency session again today to discuss the landing of foreign troops in Jordan.

Cairo: Cairo newspaper reported the Iraqi rebels had taken over the Baghdad Pact headquarters in Baghdad and were studying the secret papers to see if there were any "plots" against Gamal Abdul Nasser.

New Delhi: President Nasser urged Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru to use his good offices to prevent a world war arising from the Mideast crisis.

Jerusalem: Israeli newspapers said Israel would intervene if Egyptian troops attacked Jordan.

Moscow announced early today it would begin wide-scale troop maneuvers Friday along those tense borders — a follow up to the landings of American Marines in Lebanon. Moscow denounced this act as an act of "war" and "piracy" and demanded the Marines be recalled at once.

Moscow said it reserved the right to take "necessary measures" if the Marines were not withdrawn. Diplomatic sources speculated Moscow meant it might send in "volunteers" as it threatened to do during the Suez crisis in 1956.

British Cabinet Meets

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan met in London until the early hours of the morning with his cabinet and top military chiefs to consider the possibility of sending 10,000 or more British troops into Jordan.

British Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd was flying to Washington for emergency consultations with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles on the same subject. They also were expected to discuss the possibility of aid to Iraq. The Jordan announcement came as U.S. State Department trouble shooter Robert Murphy sped toward Beirut in one of the Air Force's record-breaking jet tankers. He was going as personal representative of President Eisenhower to try to restore peace in Lebanon.

Already 1,600 American airborne troops were reported flown from bases in West Germany to the super secret Strategic Air Command base in Adana, Turkey — only an hour or so by plane to Jordan and Lebanon.

The British had at least 10,000 paratroopers ready on the nearby island of Cyprus for use if asked by the young king who finds him-

The Transcaucasus district borders on Turkey and Iran, both members of the pro-Western Baghdad Pact, and lies less than 800 miles from Beirut and NATO bases in Turkey. Turkestan is the plateau area farther to the east along the frontiers of Afghanistan and the western reaches of Communist China.

The Soviet announcement gave no hint as to the number of troops and planes which will take part in the maneuvers.

It was deemed significant, however, that the forces will be commanded by two high-ranking officers. The commanders are Marshal A. A. Grechko, former commander in chief of the Soviet forces in Germany and now first deputy defense minister in charge of land forces, and Marshal Cyril Meretskov, deputy defense minister and wartime commander of the Leningrad front.

He said Blakley previously had said he had no desire to run for the Senate and even said he had no qualifications for the job.

"What group of insurance companies" made him change his mind? Yarrowborough asked.

Obligated to Farmer

At Sherman, Blakley said farmers should have the right to make a living without government control but until the time comes when a proper solution to the farm situation can be found the farmer must have compensation.

"Our government is morally obligated to the farmer," Blakley said, "to protect his purchasing power and thereby give him a chance to earn a decent living without government control."

Blakley said "the cattle industry is one of the last of the great free industries. I want someday to see the farmer in the position where he can be free of government restrictions and controls as the cattleman now is."

Landings in Turkey

In Istanbul, Turkey, the newspaper Hurriyet reported that 10,000 troops had been flown into the NATO base at Adana. It did not identify the troops but said they were flown there from Casablanca with an additional 30 jet bombers and 20 transports.

U. S. prestige in the United Nations was at low ebb because of the landings of 5,400 Marines in Lebanon. There was stern disapproval from Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld and outright condemnation from some of America's allies.

But it was Moscow, Cairo, Damascus and Communist China that heaped abuse on the United States. The United States had expected this and gambled that the Soviet Union would not act in the present crisis.

in the world's hottest spots, faced the job of helping arrange a political compromise to end the civil war which has wracked Lebanon for almost 10 weeks.

Allied diplomats and military leaders carried out their complex moves designed to block the spread of pro-Nasser rebellion in the Middle East, undeterred by Russia's thinly veiled threat that it might intervene to challenge the Western move.

Despite many military movements there was no evidence the United States was going on anything like a war footing. No increase in draft calls is presently planned, no reserves have been called and regular military maneuvers have not been cancelled. This could change if Mideast conditions worsened drastically.

No Reply to Russia

There were no immediate plans for a further increase in military spending but the outlook for tax cuts grew dimmer and dimmer. Administration officials described as bluster and propaganda.

$500 Bond Set On Assault Charge

Owen Carter Jr. of Lefors entered a plea of not guilty in Gray County Court this morning to charges of aggravated assault. His bond was set at $500.

The complaint against Carter was filed by his wife, Reatha June, the 15th of July.

Moscow's assertion that it will "take necessary measures" unless American Marines are pulled out of Lebanon "at once."

There has been no official reply as yet to the Soviet blast, contained in a statement handed the U.S. ambassador in Moscow Wednesday. Officials said it had not been formally received here.

The belief in official quarters here, despite President Eisenhower's acknowledgement that Western military action might have "grave consequences," was that the Russians would not risk war in the Middle East to counter the American and British moves.

Lefors Lions To Hold Quarterly Directors Meet

(Special to The News)

LEFORS — A Board of Directors meeting is to be held quarterly by the Lefors Lions Club at their regular meeting held in the civic center Monday night, July 14. The first such meeting of the directors is to be in the yard of Ray Chastain, July 28.

An auditing committee was also appointed by the president, Boyd Beck, including Earl Atkinson, Jess Graves and Bill Watson.

Lions present for the meeting were Boyd Beck, Bill Watson, Fred Blackwell, Ray Chastain, Bob Bright, Jess Graves, W. R. Combs, Paul Blankenburg, Arlie Carpenter, Wesley Daniel, W. D. McBees, Walter Elliott, and Earl Atkinson.

Trade Bill Debated

In the Senate, debate was to open today on a reciprocal trade extension bill. Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson was convinced he had enough votes to kill an amendment by which the Senate Finance Committee would limit the President's control over tariff-making.

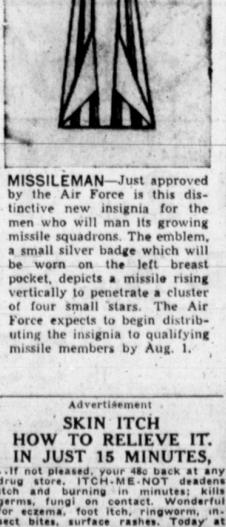

Other congressional news:

Atomic: The Senate approved a bill authorizing $386,679,000 worth of construction for the Atomic Energy Commission, despite complaints that one of its features would put the AEC into "public power."

Refugees: The Senate passed and sent to the White House a bill to enable 32,000 refugees of the Hungarian revolution to become U.S. citizens.

Defense Reorganization: The Senate Armed Services Committee approved a defense reorganization bill after modifying some features of the House-passed measure that drew President Eisenhower's fire. But the committee left virtually unchanged one controversial provision opposed by LEARNING HOW!

AT THE UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS doing "apprentice" research in a special summer chemistry institute for promising young science students is Bob Jernigan, top-ranking student at Pampa High School. Bob is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Jernigan of 421 South Russell. He is one of 28 outstanding Texas high school students who are attending the chemistry institute and doing research in all areas of chemistry, from analyzing rocket fuel and protein content of blood to exploring the newer field of radiochemistry.

DOING CHEMICAL RESEARCH

Pampa's Jernigan One Of 24 'Apprentices' At UT

AUSTIN (Sp) — Twenty-eight top-ranking Texas high school juniors, including Pampa High's Bob Jernigan who plan careers in chemistry or related fields, are doing "apprentice" research in University of Texas chemistry laboratories this summer.

The promising young scientists, whose IQ's go up to 160, are attending the University's summer chemistry institute. They represent the top one per cent of more than 90,000 Texas high school juniors. Dr. Pete D. Gardner, University chemist in charge of the institute, said. Their school officials recommended them for the University summer enrichment program in chemistry.

University chemists and visiting scientists are giving the young students an insight into latest advances in science and frontiers yet to be explored. They hear daily lectures surveying all areas of chemistry.

Similar institutes in biology, physics and mathematics are being held at four other Texas colleges. The overall science training program is a cooperative venture supported by the colleges and the Texas Education Agency, with support from the Fund for the Advancement of Education.

Picnic Foods Are Offered This Weekend

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Mid-July markets offer food shoppers plenty of produce this weekend. Many store managers are adapting their "specials" to a suggestion that shoppers go on a picnic, or at least eat like they're on one.

Broiler-and-fryer chickens are the top buy at meat counters, while many stores are featuring ground beef and frankfurters, for barbecuers. Some markets offer attractive prices on beef steaks and roasts.

Fruit and vegetable counters are piled high with summer's abundance. Peaches are the star fruit attraction, although watermelons continue to offer appealing buys. Cantaloupes and cherries are other attractions.

Vegetable counters now provide a striking contrast to the barren supplies and soaring prices that followed last winter's freeze. You'll find lots of vegetables, this weekend—with the best buy listed by cabbage, lettuce, and potatoes, and including plenty of beans, corn, and tomatoes.

In the fish department, featured most generally are shrimp, fish steaks, and canned tuna.

It's Hard For Grown-Ups To Follow Plots Of Fairy Tales!

Television in Review
 By FRED DANZIG
 United Press International
 NEW YORK (UPI)—When something like "The Little Lame Prince" comes up on television, I get all mixed up by the action. I can't keep tabs on the fairy godmothers, wicked uncles, prophecies, magic glens, elves, snow queens, magic words and star dusters. But the kids never have this trouble. I know. And they never let such absurdities as production values interfere with their enjoyment of the fairy tale. So why knock something I'm no longer able to enjoy?

"All I'll say is that narrator Shirley Temple looked, pardon the expression, sexy Tuesday night on her NBC-TV "Storybook" filmed show. Rex Thompson as the prince and Lorne Greene as the wicked uncle looked and acted just right. A pretty girl and a poor actress was Amelia, the flower-seller.

Fun-Loving Shriners Elect Officers

CHICAGO (UPI)—About 18,000 Shriners took a respite from parading today to elect officers at the fun-making organization's 84th Imperial Council meeting in the Palmer House.

Nominated without opposition for the post of imperial potentate for 1958-59 was George E. Stringfellow, an East Orange, N.J., industrialist.

Stringfellow will succeed Thomas W. Helman of Milwaukee as head of the Shriners.

The Shriners thrilled an estimated 500,000 persons Tuesday with a colorful 5½-hour parade down Chicago's Michigan Avenue.

More than 300 parade units displaying the traditional pomp of African and featuring some plain American hi-jinks marched to the reviewing stand at Soldier Field.

At Soldier Field, about 30,000 spectators saw Arthur Godfrey, television personality, saluted as the "horseman of the year" by Illinois Gov. William G. Stratton.

One accident marred the parade. George Saretis, 63, of Chicago's "Medinah temple, collapsed while marching with the temple's "Oriental band and died."

After today's rest, the Shriners will stage another big parade Thursday.

There's one thing in favor of "Keep Talking," the new game show that chattered onto the CBS-TV channels Tuesday night.

It doesn't give home viewers any money, big or small. What a dare-devil its producer must be.

The idea in this game is for the guests to weave phrases into a story-line that emcee Monty Hall starts rolling. Tuesday night's guests were Joey Bishop, Shari Lewis and Paul Winchell opposing Ilka Chase, Martyn Green and Danny Dayton. Teams score one point for working the phrase into the narrative and another point for guessing the other fellow's phrase. Ilka's team won Tuesday night, 4-0.

A sample phrase: "The proper way for porcupines to kiss is very carefully." I thought it would have won more laughs on "Pantomime Quiz."

"Keep Talking" lacks a broad sense of fun. It could use more suspense — perhaps by placing time limits on the players and guessers.

But the main thing wrong is that TV is a visual medium. This show would be just right for radio.

Chanel Chips: A number of quiz and giveaway shows, most of them commercial-sponsored, were pre-empted in part or entirely by NBC-TV during Tuesday's Middle East news eruptions.

"Dough Re Mi," "Treasure Hunt," "The Price Is Right," "Truth or Consequences," "The Tac Dough," "It Could Be You," "Lucky Partners," "Haggis Bagis," "Queen For A Day," "Modern Romances," and "Win With A Winner" were affected. CBS-TV left its morning programs virtually untouched by comparison and pre-empted "Search For Tomorrow," "Guiding Light," "Edge of Night" and "I Led Three Lives," and "Our Miss Brooks," all sponsored, in the afternoon and night.

ABC-TV carried the news burden with NBC-TV in the morning with live pickups from the U.N. Security Council, replacing old movies and local programs.

The Channel Swim: "Some more "Show of the Month" presentations on CBS-TV next season include "Victory," by Joseph Conrad; "The Little World of Don Camillo," by Giovanni Guareschi; "What Every Woman Knows," by Sir James Barrie, and "Hamlet," which will be performed in February by London's Old Vic Company . . . Bill Asher, director of the original "I Love Lucy" shows, gets TV's plum assignment: He will produce and direct "The Dinah Shore Show" next season on NBC-TV . . . Red Skelton, entertaining troops in Korea this week, observes a birthday there on Friday . . . Canadian Norman Jewison has been named director of "Your Hit Parade" when it moves to CBS-TV with Johnny Desmond and Dorothy Collins on Oct. 3.

Miss Wool Of Texas Is Petite

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (UPI)—Petite Miriam LaCour, of Raywood, Tex., has been crowned "Miss Wool of Texas" and will represent the Lone Star state in the national Miss Wool contest to be held here Aug. 29.

One of 11 beauties to parade across San Angelo High School's new Sarah Bernhardt Auditorium stage, Miss LaCour, a Lamar Tech sophomore, was crowned by Mrs. Adolph Stielor, of Comfort, Tex., president of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Assn.

About 1,500 Texans watched the 57½ black-haired, hazel-eyed beauty receive her award.

Miss LaCour, 36-25-36, wore a shell-pink coronation gown.

100 Million Deal

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — A 100-million-dollar oil deal will be consummated by Oct. 1 when Magnolia Petroleum Co., a Socony Mobil Oil Co., Inc., subsidiary, purchases Freeport Sulphur Company's interest in Lake Washington oil and gas field near New Orleans.

Langbourne M. Williams, president of Freeport, announced Wednesday the total consideration to be received by Freeport is 100 million dollars cash, part to be paid by Magnolia and part from the sale of a reserved production payment.

DESSERT SHORTCAKE—Flakey, tasty dessert shortcake made with lard is the basis of this summertime favorite dessert. Blend two or more fresh fruits and spoon over individual servings of hot shortcake, made by adding sugar, egg, and flavoring to a standard biscuit recipe.

Summer Fruits Spooned Over Biscuits Make For Menu Medley Of Cool Eating

A medley of summer's finest fruits spooned over flaky biscuits made with lard — that's good eating!

For the dessert illustrated here, fresh strawberries and blueberries and slightly thawed frozen sliced peaches were combined to form the melange topper for the shortcake. No sweetening beyond that in the sirup of the frozen peaches was necessary. The shortcake is simply lard-made biscuits turned into dessert with the addition of a little sugar, a slightly beaten egg, and a sprinkle of vanilla flavoring.

Nut-like in flavor, flaky, fine-textured, highly digestible, and easily prepared are some of the compliments paid biscuits made with lard. Lard's high shortening power, its economy, and its wide plastic range make it an excellent choice for use in pies, yeast breads, cookies, doughnuts, and cakes, as well as biscuits. Its high nutritional value makes it choice food, too.

Treat your family and yourself to a delectable dessert prepared as follows:

DESSERT SHORTCAKE
 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
 3 teaspoons baking powder
 1 teaspoon salt
 2 tablespoons sugar
 1/2 cup lard

1-3 cup milk
 1 egg, well beaten
 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
 Melted butter or margarine
 1-1/2 quarts mixed fruits

Sift flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Cut in shortening with pastry blender or two knives until mixture resembles coarse meal. Blend milk, eggs, and vanilla, and add to dry ingredients; mix until well blended. Turn dough out on lightly floured board and knead gently for a few seconds. Roll dough to 1/4 inch thickness; cut in 12 three-inch rounds. Brush lightly with melted butter. Place in pairs, buttered sides together, on ungreased baking sheet and bake at 325 degrees F. 12 to 15 minutes. Serve warm or cool with prepared fruit spooned between and on top of shortcake rounds. 6 servings.

'Sweet Sixteen And Never...' Have You Tasted Such Light-Textured Gold Cake

Birthdays are important in all homes, especially for the youngsters. To commemorate these happy occasions, the Borden Test Kitchen has developed a special birthday cake enriched with instant nonfat dry milk. The light textured gold and white cake has a fluffy white frosting. A pink peppermint nog is a frothy beverage that makes an attractive accompaniment to serve with the birthday cake.

SWEET SIXTEEN CAKE
 (Makes one 9-inch cake)
 3/4 cup (1 envelope) instant Starlac nonfat dry milk powder
 1/2 cup sifted flour
 1 cup egg whites (about 8 medium-size eggs)
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1 teaspoon cream of tartar
 1 cup sugar
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 6 egg yolks
 1/2 teaspoon lemon extract

1/2 cup sugar
 3 egg yolks, slightly beaten
 1/2 teaspoon peppermint extract
 2 egg whites
 1 tablespoon sugar
 Few drops red pur food coloring

Pour water into top of double boiler. Sprinkle instant Starlac nonfat dry milk powder and sugar over surface of water; stir until well blended. Stir in egg yolks.

Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly, until mixture coats a silver spoon. Remove from heat; chill. Stir in peppermint extract. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry; add sugar; beat until glossy. Fold into Starlac mixture. Tint with few drops red pur food coloring. Pour into punch bowl or individual cups. Serve.

NOTE: Some beaten egg white may be reserved for garnish.

Little Old Next-To-Biggest Texas Still Grows Best Beef, Vegetables

Texas may have shrunk to the second-biggest state, but the size and quality of her products remains the same — the biggest and the best!

Texas bear Alaska no ill-will for besting us in mere size — in fact, we'll ship them Texas beef (and Texas Beef Council recipes) any time they're tired of caribou and walrus.

As proof that Texas beef and Texas vegetables are the best, the Beef Council offers this recipe for "Braised Beef with Vegetables."

Sliced Watermelon Surest Method Of Testing Its Quality

How can you tell if a watermelon is good? What a lot of folklore has developed around this question. There are those of the "thumping school" who believe a good melon has a certain sound when thumped with the index finger.

There are those of the "touch school" who believe that a good melon yields to pressure when gripped by the hands. If the rind feels hard and brittle, it is likely to be green.

The guesswork and folklore of buying a good watermelon has been largely eliminated by the new trend of selling watermelon halves. You can see what you're buying when you get a sliced melon.

Here's what to look for — bright colored meat that appears firm but not hard. Avoid meat with white streaks and strings of pithy growth.

Notice the seeds. If they have a tendency to drop away from the flesh or if the flesh around the seeds is turning dark, then the watermelon is likely too ripe.

Sliced watermelon should be eaten as soon as possible. However, it can be kept several days under proper refrigeration. Cover the flesh tightly with wax paper or cellophane to keep it from drying out.

The peak of the watermelon season is here, says the Agricultural Marketing Service. Quality of the melons this season is exceptionally high from most areas because of almost ideal growing conditions.

BRASIED BEEF WITH VEGETABLES
 2 pounds boneless beef for stew
 2 tablespoons drippings or cooking oil
 1 teaspoon salt
 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 2 cups water
 8 medium onions
 6 small whole carrots
 1 pound fresh or 1 12-ounce package frozen Brussels sprouts
 Flour for gravy

Brown beef in drippings or oil, and then pour off drippings. Season. Add water, cover and cook slowly (275 degrees to 325 degrees) for 1 1/2 hours. Add onions and carrots, cover, and cook 30 minutes longer. Add the Brussels sprouts and cook an additional 30 minutes, or until meat is tender and vegetables done. Remove meat and vegetables to serving platter. Add water to cooking liquid, to make 2 cups and thicken liquid with flour for gravy.

ICED TEA
 To a glass of cold tap water add a rounded teaspoon of instant powdered tea product and stir. Add ice, sugar and lemon to taste.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Hot clear beef bouillon, jellied veal loaf with chaper sauce, potato salad, sliced tomatoes, stuffed celery, sliced cucumbers, heated garlic French bread, chilled melon, coffee, tea, milk.

GRILLED BUNBURGERS
 (Makes 6 servings)
 2-3 cup (small cup) undiluted evaporated milk
 1 egg
 1 1/2 pounds ground beef
 1/2 cup fine cracker crumbs
 1-3 cup chili sauce
 1-3 cup chopped onions
 1/2 teaspoon garlic salt
 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 1/2 teaspoon oregano
 1 1/2 teaspoons salt

6 hamburger buns, split in half
 Combine evaporated milk, egg, beef, cracker crumbs, chili sauce, oregano and salt. Blend together until well-mixed. Form meat mixture into 12 thin patties (about 1-3 cup each). Place each patty on hamburger bun half, covering completely. Place Bunbungrers between double grilling rack. Grill, meat side down, 5-6 inches from heat for 5 to 7 minutes (or to taste). Turn and toast bun side lightly, if desired.

Cooking Early, Serving Late Answer For Real "Cool" Texas Homemakers

Continuing a series of meals, but not brown Add tomatoes and tomato sauce, then mashed garlic. Cook slowly for 15 minutes. Add remaining ingredients, except parsley and wine. Return meat to sauce and simmer for 45 minutes to 1 hour — or until meat is tender. If desired, wine may be added for last 15 minutes of cooking. Add parsley last 5 minutes of cooking.

A budget-priced main dish which can be prepared in the morning, and the wine and parsley added during a 15-minute just-before-dinner reheating, this recipe serves 6:

BEEF NORMANDY
 1 pound lean beef stew meat, cut in inch cubes
 1/2 cup chopped onion
 1/2 cup chopped celery
 1 tablespoon cooking oil or drippings
 4 tablespoons (1/2 stick) butter or margarine
 1 small clove garlic, mashed
 1 No. 2 can tomatoes
 1 small can tomato sauce
 1 small bay leaf
 1 small can mushrooms, stems and pieces
 Dash red-hot sauce
 Salt and pepper to taste
 3 tablespoons chopped parsley
 3/4 to 1 cup red cooking wine (if desired)

Brown beef cubes in fat in iron skillet. Remove meat from skillet, add butter or margarine, chopped onion and celery. Cook until vegetables are tender and clear.

Barbecue Fixin's For Juicy Eating

Here's a suggestion from Carnation Company for your next backyard barbecue. Ground beef, seasonings and evaporated milk are combined and broiled on hamburger buns to make Grilled Bunbungrers. Evaporated milk has been added to supply the meat with a firm, juicy texture.

GRILLED BUNBURGERS
 (Makes 6 servings)
 2-3 cup (small cup) undiluted evaporated milk
 1 egg
 1 1/2 pounds ground beef
 1/2 cup fine cracker crumbs
 1-3 cup chili sauce
 1-3 cup chopped onions
 1/2 teaspoon garlic salt
 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 1/2 teaspoon oregano
 1 1/2 teaspoons salt

6 hamburger buns, split in half
 Combine evaporated milk, egg, beef, cracker crumbs, chili sauce, oregano and salt. Blend together until well-mixed. Form meat mixture into 12 thin patties (about 1-3 cup each). Place each patty on hamburger bun half, covering completely. Place Bunbungrers between double grilling rack. Grill, meat side down, 5-6 inches from heat for 5 to 7 minutes (or to taste). Turn and toast bun side lightly, if desired.

Persons on reducing diets should count more than calories, the Texas Beef Council believes. Use a calories chart which also lists protein, mineral and vitamin values of foods, because deficiencies in these essentials can be seriously detrimental to health.

Beef bacon contains almost twice as much protein food value and only 60 per cent as many calories as pork bacon, according to the Texas Beef Council.

Nutrition experts know of no other product which pound for pound supplies as much food value as beef liver. The Texas Beef Council believes liver is an excellent source of practically all vitamins, which are important for maintaining red blood cells.

BEWARE

WATCH OUT FOR THE FAST TALKING SALESMAN

Every year about this time, out-of-town roofing salesmen make their appearance in this territory. Any reputable lumber dealer can tell you what happens next! People complain about being charged outrageous prices . . . complain about inferior materials and poor workmanship. And so we issue this friendly warning; Be on your guard against hit-and-run selling tactics . . . don't be high-pressured into buying a roof or a siding job at double regular prices . . . above all, get a quotation from your local lumber dealer . . . before you buy, make sure you know what you are getting. Any reliable lumber yard, including ours, will be happy to give you an estimate without cost or obligation.

THIS IS WHAT YOU SHOULD PAY ROOFING Roofing is sold by the bundle or by the square. It takes three bundles or one square to cover an area 10x10ft. An average size roof, completely applied, should cost about $7.03 Per Month	SIDING Asbestos cement siding is the most popular type. This is also sold by the square. An average home, can be resided, including all labor charges for as little as $12.78 Per Month

THIS IS WHAT YOU SHOULD GET

No. 1 quality Ruberoid tite-on 230 pound shingles. The latest colors and patterns (no discontinued lines or factory seconds). Applied by local workmen and sold by a local merchant who will be right here to back-up a guarantee of complete satisfaction. $19.17 Per Month	Johns-Manville First Grade Asbestos Siding. All siding looks good when it's first applied. But it takes first quality material, skillfully applied, to hold up year after year. Because we're here in town to stay, we take pains to see that everything's okay. We want you to be a satisfied customer for years to come. 36 MONTHS TO PAY

Nation Farms May Set Some Records

By GAYLORD P. GOODWIN
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The nation's farms may produce a record 1958 harvest despite the smallest planted acreage in 40 years.

The Agriculture Department's first big 1958 production estimate Thursday said the total crop this year "now appears likely" to equal the record crops of 1957, 1956 and 1948. A department statistician said with continued good growing conditions the 1958 harvest easily could top those of earlier record years.

A record winter wheat crop and a well above average corn crop were the chief factors in the prospective record farm output.

The total wheat crop was estimated at almost 1,344,000,000 bushels. This was made up of about 1,130,000,000 bushels of winter wheat—61 million more than the forecast last month—and about 214 million bushels of spring wheat. The average yield for both wheat crops was estimated at 25 bushels an acre, up from the 21.7 bushels in 1957. The predicted yield for winter wheat alone was 27.1 bushels. In 1957 the winter wheat yield was 22.4 bushels.

The corn crop was forecast at 3,311,000,000 bushels, slightly below last year's crop but well above average. If the predicted crop materializes it will be the fourth largest of record.

The department said yield per acre levels, all crops considered, "now seem likely to pull ahead of last year's record high unless tripped by late season hazards."

Soybean acreage this year is record large and growth conditions are promising. Large to near-average crops of barley, oats, rye and dry beans are in prospect. There will be a sizable reduction in sorghum grain. Hay tonnage will rank well below but second only to last year's record. There will be ample hay for all demands.

If the predicted wheat crop materializes the nation will have a record surplus on hand next July 1. Based on the department's estimate in the June 30 "Wheat Situation" the new crop will boost the carryover in 1959 to a 1,272,000,000 bushels. This is more than 372 million bushels over this year's carryover.

The planted acreage this year was 330 million acres, the smallest in 40 years covered by comparable records. There were sharp acreage reductions in sorghums, oats, cotton, flaxseed and hay crops. Sharp increases were made in wheat and smaller increases in corn, rice, dry beans, potatoes, sugar cane and sugar beets. Moderate to small decreases occurred in barley, tobacco, peas, sweet potatoes and peanuts.

DIAL HOT OR COLD—Chris J. Witting inspects a new experimental product of his firm—a baby bottle cooler-warmer. The device, the result of what has been called an important break-through in electronic refrigeration, may be the harbinger of a new era in home appliances. By eliminating the conventional motor and compressor, the day is coming, says Witting, general manager of Westinghouse Corp., Consumer Products, when the familiar refrigerator will be broken up into separate storage drawers and cabinets in the kitchen and other rooms. Other possibilities of thermo-electric appliances, which could be either plugged in or run on batteries: cooling blankets, refrigerated mixing bowls and portable patio refrigerators.

DeMille Resting No Small Loan!

If Not Endowed With Shaded Terrace, Substitute Color Fabrics, Potted Plants

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

If Nature didn't endow your lot with a tree-shaded site for a terrace, don't waste time bemoaning your not-so-shady outdoor room. You can substitute man-made sheltering materials and strategic use of color and potted plants.

An outdoor spot that's completely open to the midsummer sun will be usable for a greater part of the day if it's partially shaded. Many different materials can do the shading, from fabrics such as a screen and canvas to aluminum or translucent plastic. Personal taste will dictate your decision.

For the recently planted yard where seedlings are still measured as being only inches tall, gaily patterned awnings provide a bright spot of color while performing their function of screening.

Awnings grown to patio-cover size make effective canopies for an outdoor room and need not be too costly. Among newer materials suggested for awnings is an improved screen which is a plastic fabric that resists rot, mildew or fading.

It's said to be so durable it can remain up the year around. Like other fabrics, the woven plastic ones permit circulation of air. Their difference: moisture is not absorbed.

The translucence of plastic gives a cheerful light even on gray days and colors include yellow, green, blue and white.

Rugged canvas, a long-time awning classic, shows up this year in lovely shades and such fashionable colors as azure, coral, pale green and sandy beige.

When you're picking a terrace cover, it's well to remember that lighter colors reflect the sun's rays more effectively than dark ones—a consideration if your terrace is hit by sun most of the day.

Credit Club Names Current Officers

Pampa Credit Women's Club met Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Ethel Stilwell for a special called-meeting to elect officers for the ensuing year.

Named to office were Mmes. Stilwell, president; Leola Higginbotham, first vice president; Marie Peeples, second vice president; Lydia Gilchrist, secretary; Ethel Bryan, treasurer.

Appointed officers and chairmen were Mmes. Virginia Cox, corresponding secretary; Ruby Crocker, dance; Mamie Peeples, publicity; Leola Higginbotham, membership; Elizabeth Lewis, hostess; Vena Riley, employment; and Virginia McDonald, entertainment.

It was announced that installation of these officers will be held Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the City Club Room with Mrs. Ethel Bryan as installing officer. Hostesses will be Mmes. Cox and Higginbotham, assisted by Mmes. Lewis and Claudia Nees.

Repeating the Club Creed concluded the business meeting. Refreshments of fruit ice cream and cake with coffee was served during the social hour.

Attending were Mmes. Ethel Bryan, Ruby Crocker, Leola Higginbotham, Elizabeth Lewis, Virginia Cox, Lydia Gilchrist, Virginia McDonald, and Claudia Nees.

Mrs. Keyser Feted At Surprise Party

A surprise birthday dinner was given in honor of Mrs. Marge Keyser by the primary department of the Hobart Street Baptist Church on Friday in the home of Mrs. C. J. Bryan.

During the fellowship hour, gifts were presented by each worker and one gift by the department. Those attending were Mmes. Mildred Stephens, O. C. Gist, James Schaub, L. E. Jenkins, the honoree and hostess.

Two workers, Mrs. C. O. Ammons, who was ill and Mrs. Ernest Winborne, who was out-of-town, were unable to attend.

Local Matron Is Top Prize Winner

Mrs. A. C. Braxton, 2112 Coffee, was announced today as one of the top prize winners of a "Mr. John" hat in the Maryland Club Coffee Contest.

Mrs. Braxton has selected a Southwest Sailor of foam white tony, with a buckled band of nautical blue dotted silk, which "Mr. John" titles "New Horizons." This hat is from the Gibson Girl collection which the celebrated New York milliner has popularized this year.

In addition to top prizes of "Mr. John" hats, Maryland Club will present one thousand second prizes of purse flacons of perfume in the new "Suburbia" fragrance by "Mr. John."

Parents are on the hook again. This time it is mother and neatness. It seems being a chip off the old block may mean that if mother isn't neat in her appearance and conscientious about grooming habits, daughter may follow her example. So, mother not only needs to seek mature beauty for herself but for the watchful children around her.

Overhead insurance for a cool time on a hot day is the green-and-white-striped canopy over this terrace. Pots and vases are designer Yale Burge's substitute for a planted garden on the brick terrace.

grassy yard protected by a high brick garden wall.

But he favors the colorful effect gained by use of multi-colored geraniums set in clay pots atop the low wall, and long-stemmed cut flowers sprouting from tall vases.

A green-and-white striped canopy with an arch-cut border shades this inviting spot where the combinations of natural backgrounds and simple, graceful furniture sets the stage for gay and unusual table arrangements for summer entertaining.

On special occasions the table takes a round, white linen cloth boldly trimmed in gold and red ball fringe.

Iced coffee is served in tall goblets and pewter porringers. Antique French plates await the ice cream and cake; a handsome declaration that outdoor eating is not necessarily synonymous with picnic fare only.

Such an arrangement also permits privacy, which may be doubly important in neighborhoods where fences are frowned on and green hedges are still in their infancy.

Privacy was no problem for Yale Burge, a New York interior designer, who recently fixed up his small, low, brick-walled terrace which looks out over a

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am turning to you for advice rather than seek help from someone who knows me because I am too embarrassed. In the 13 months that I am married, my husband has not bathed or showered six times. He has never washed his hair. He's a college graduate and has a good job with chances of advancement. We get along fine except for this one point and I wonder if you could tell me how I can convince him that cleanliness is important.

DISGUSTED—Dear Disgusted: You can catch more flies with honey than you can with vinegar. Sweet-talk him, bribe him and use all the tricks women have been famous for for a thousand years—but don't let him put his head on your pillow until he has bathed.

DEAR ABBY: I would have killed my husband last night if I only had a gun. I took a part-time job two years ago to help out with the expenses and I enjoyed it so much I kept on full-time. My income pays for lots of extra, but he isn't pleased and never was. He keeps saying he is the head of the house and we should be able to live on what he makes. Last night after I told him I wouldn't quit my job he went to the phone and called up my boss (at his house mind you) and quit my job for me. No what do you think of that?

RAVING MAD—Dear Raving: I rather admire your husband's spunk but he could have let YOU quit your own job. Most families would be happier if they lived on what the husband earned and let the wife stay home and be a home-maker.

DEAR ABBY: I am a big woman (300 lbs.) and my husband is very skinny (130). I have tried several times, even with the help of an M.D., to lose weight but I can't seem to do it. My husband and his mother (who lives course) instead of helping me being coax me to eat and drink everything I shouldn't. They eat and tell me to go ahead and enjoy myself and eat, too. I'm always hungry and with them I never lose weight. I just trail say no. What shall I do?

DEAR ABBY: My limited and cerns my husband's major factor married six years as year, except for one thing—my husband is the quietest talker to me and the conversation. He is an opinion but with me. If he has to force it on me, I just where I want to take me, but he Alignment ideas of his own. I'm much and I'm I wish I knew how to take over for him.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

James has a bank into which he puts the nickles, dimes and quarters which adults, captivated by his 4-year-old charms, give him. One Sunday his Uncle slipped him a quarter saying, "Here, see how many ice cream cones you can buy with this."

The idea that money could be exchanged for ice cream cones was brand new to James. At once it started germinating fascinating connections in his mind. He remembered the children he'd seen at the corner store exchanging coins for gum drops and peanut bars—and the notion that he too could engage in this kind of delectable trade hit him with a bang.

He rushed out to the porch where his mother was sitting with his grandparents, an aunt and a neighbor. Pulling at her arms, he said with urgency, "Mommy, do me a favor—and don't make me put this money in my bank."

Everyone burst into laughter. James' Aunt Lila said, "What do you want your Mommy to do? Say it again, Jimmy."

"A favor," James said bewilderedly—and was greeted with another burst of laughter.

He felt so awful he ran away and hid under the grape arbor for the rest of the afternoon.

He was entitled to feel awful. He had risked the word "favor" to speak in grown-up language. But his attempt to talk in his mother's terms had produced ridicule instead of respect.

This kind of thing is very tough on children. It takes courage for small boys and girls to risk words they are uncertain about. When we laugh at their mispronunciation, we give them the impression that we find their effort to speak in our terms amusing. Their experience of ridicule for such an important effort can make them afraid of other kinds of venturesomeness in human relationship.

So when we find their word mangling funny, let us explain that our amusement is for the mispronunciation, not for the effort behind it. Let's say to James, "We are laughing, not at you, but at the funny way you said the word 'favor.' It's not 'flavor,' dear, but 'favor.' It's f-a-v-o-r."

James will find it a great relief to know we are not laughing at his attempt to speak our language to us.

COOK'S NOOK

Delicious Budget Dishes Utilize Nonfat Dry Milk

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Everyone is talking about high food costs. We dined with Gertrude Michalove, experienced food publicist, and she gave us two new budget recipes we really liked. Both use nonfat dry milk to cut costs and keep up nutritional values at the same time.

Instant nonfat dry milk can be used for drinking, cooking and baking, will even whip. It is top quality pasteurized milk and only the fat and water removed.

MUSTARD AND FRANK MACARONI BAKE
(4-6 servings)

One and one-half cups water, 1-3 cup instant nonfat dry milk powder, 3 tablespoons flour, 1 1/2 cup spoon salt, 2 tablespoons prepared mustard, 1/2 cup finely chopped onion, 1/2 (8 ounces) package sharp American Cheddar process cheese, shredded; 1 1/2 cups elbow macaroni, cooked and drained; 4 frankfurters, cut crosswise into 1/4-inch slices.

Four water into top of double boiler. Sprinkle instant nonfat dry milk powder, flour and salt over surface of water; add mustard; beat with rotary beater until blended. Add onion. Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly, until thickened (about 8-10 minutes). Add cheese, and continue to cook, stirring constantly until cheese melts. Combine cheese sauce, macaroni and frankfurters in 1 1/2-quart casserole. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 25 minutes or until sauce bubbles.

GINGER-FLAVORED SPANISH CREAM
(Makes 8-10 servings)

Three egg yolks, 3 cups water, 1/4 cup sugar, 2 envelopes unflavored gelatin, 1/2 teaspoon powdered ginger, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 cup (one envelope) instant nonfat dry milk powder, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla, 3 egg whites, 1/4 cup sugar.

Place egg yolks and water in top of double boiler; beat with rotary beater until combined. Mix together well 1/4 cup sugar and the gelatin, ginger and salt. Stir in instant nonfat dry milk powder. Beat egg whites in top of double boiler; beat with rotary beater until combined. Mix together well 1/4 cup sugar and the gelatin, ginger and salt. Stir in instant nonfat dry milk powder. Beat egg whites in top of double boiler; beat with rotary beater until combined. Mix together well 1/4 cup sugar and the gelatin, ginger and salt. Stir in instant nonfat dry milk powder.

Big Excitement In Cut-And-Shoot:

'Roy Done Got Him Whipped Already'

By FRANK A. GODSOE
NEA Special Correspondent

CUT AND SHOOT, Tex.—(NEA)—"I know," Henry Harris said as he sat on the porch of his log cabin and fondled a baby, "how many dignitaries we had to put up with today? Might near 300 I betcha!"

It had been a hot, humid, busy day in the pine-tree clearing where Henry and most of his children live, and where his son, Roy, the backwoods uprising of nature who also teaches school, is training to fight Floyd Patterson for the heavy weight championship, Aug. 18, at Los Angeles.

"THEY STOOD AROUND and they gawked, and they asked fool questions," continued Henry as a car with dim lights spun up the gravel road to his house from the highway.

"Hi it's Wildman," somebody guessed correctly, as Roy's cousin, now running for Montgomery County's Superintendent of Schools, stopped, got out and greeted two dozen kinsmen of the rustic fighter.

"Where you been, Wildman?" somebody wanted to know. "You too busy with politics to watch Roy train no more?"

"Naw," said Wildman Woodman, "I started over here and saw all them cars. I turn't around and went home. Them big cars beat this gravel road to powder, don't they? I remember when this road was two wagon tracks grown up in goat weeds."

Fifty yards away, in his three-room cottage, Harris sat in front of a TV set with his pretty wife, Jean.

He wore an old pair of trousers, and no shirt over his powerful, tanned muscles. By eight o'clock, he was sleepy and he went to bed.

"Wake me up at five," he said. "I aim to do seven miles. Got two new sparring partners coming in. One of 'em is that Sonny Moore. Had him last year before the Fastrano fight. Glad to have him back."

BACK IN HENRY'S CABIN, the clansmen were talking about the Patterson fight.

"Y'know," said Roy's brother,

Tobe, who won 26 of 28 as a light-heavy before a broken shoulder forced retirement from the ring, "if it warn't for this here election, I'd ride a mule every blasted inch from here to the fight."

Tobe planned the same kind of muleback excursion last August to Miami when Roy was scheduled to fight a return with Willie Pastrano. But the fight never came off.

Somebody asked, "Henry, you think Roy'll be ready?"

"Why nothin's no certainer'n that," said the fighter's daddy. "Roy'll knock his head off. H---, onliest thing that bothers me is the people botherin' him."

"NOW TAKE TODAY. They come from Lufkin and Houston and some from over around Tuler. One bunch come clean from Dallas, and another feller was taking pictures. Roy didn't seem to mind. If he had, I'd a chased the lot of 'em clean through Little Crystal Creek.

"For a day or two, they had something working for Roy to fly up to New York where all them sports writers could pick at him. I put my foot down. Told 'em that boy couldn't be traipsin' round the country and trying to get ready to whup Patterson."

Somebody said, "Henry whatcha think 'bout this Patterson's manager who come out here to the r

"Right nice," said Henry. "Didn't stay long. Too hot I guess. Roy clumb up a rope for him. He seen the muscles in Roy's back. Seemed kinda flabbergasted. Took off that funny lookin' hat and started fannin' hisself. Said he's never seed no weight lifter with muscles in his back like Roy. Roy wasn't even puffin' hard."

Most of the clan began to drift away — Coon Massey, Windy Walker, Cousin Armadio Moorehead. Finally, Henry turned to his brother-in-law, Roe Brown, 70.

"Roe, y'going to the fight?"

"Tain't no use," said Roe. "Wouldn't cross the San Jacinto to see it. Roy done got him whupped right now."

This business about Alaska joining up with out union ain't so bad. Not really.

It'll mean Texas will have to sign over rights to some of its bigness jokes. And this it will only be glad to do, perhaps, after getting such a bad press from Kilgallen and Ferber.

The pro football San Francisco Forty-Niners are threatening to take the whole thing to court, that is if they can get a loanout on star lawyer, Jerry Giesler from Lana Turner, Errol Flynn and some of the other baddies on the M-G-M lot.

And Texas' fighting 49th Armored Division, isn't really too unhappy either. They figure statehood for Alaska is a hollow victory. Wait'll they try to get into the Southwest Conference!

A Mint For Disc-Jockeys

In the summer, Alaska will be the only place where night baseball games can be played without lights. And all night disc-jockeys will be able to make a mint at time-and-a-half, with the nights lasting six-months.

Don't figure on Hawaii becoming the 50th state either. In all likelihood, No. 50 will be Oriente province in Cuba. They've already kidnaped enough Americans to ask for statehood.

If the American Flag manufacturers think they've got troubles, pity the poor Texas Highway Dept. They ran a want ad in a Houston paper the other day saying, "For sale dirt cheap: Welcome To The Biggest State in the Union" signs."

But don't feel bad. We saw an auto the other day with a back-window sign. "We still Love Little Rich Ole Texas."

Some Hither, Others Yon

Quick now. How many Texans on the University of Oklahoma varsity and frosh squads.

If you said about a dozen, you were dead wrong. They're 31 Texas gridders ready to don the pads for the Sooners this fall, 21 on the varsity and ten with the freshman team.

Why wonder why the NCAA is poking its snoot into the Oklahoma recruiting barrel?

In the next 3-5 years with Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston, Minneapolis and probably Toronto pick up the slack.

Roy Harris, Cut-And-Shoot answer to Lil Abner, was ed for Roy Chilton, a football muleskinner for Roy's father Chilton was later an associate of Machine Gun Kelly.

And it's UPI's Oscar F. who sez, "The only way for as Roy Harris of Cut-And-Shoot can beat Floyd Patterson is doing just that."

Football season's just getting right round the next corner. Already two college grid ball churches have passed across a desk, from Baylor and McMurry College. There'll be acads more.

And then there was the petted man who lost his job with the carnival. Cost too much to keep him petrified.

Spahn Or Antonelli May Have The Answers

WARREN SPAHN
... top NL lefty?

As To Just Who Wears NL Crown

By FRED DOWN
United Press International

The question whether the Milwaukee Braves or San Francisco Giants win the National League pennant may eventually be answered by whether Warren Spahn or Johnny Antonelli is the league's best left-hander.

Spahn, the "old master," and Antonelli, the "young star," are definitely the strong men of their respective pitching stumps. At 37, Spahn has an 11-6 record that has him well on his way to a ninth 20-victory season. And, at 28, Antonelli has a 10-7 mark that gives him a good chance to chalk up the third 20-win season of his career.

Both star lefties came through Wednesday to keep the two top contenders only a half-game apart, the Braves with a .556 percentage and the Giants with a .548 mark.

Spahn, aided by late-inning relief support from Don McMahon turned in the 240th victory of his career as the Braves beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 6-5, while Antonelli went all the way as the Giants drubbed the Philadelphia Phillies, 9-2. The victory was Spahn's 50th of his career over the Cardinals, who scored all their runs in the third inning.

The Chicago Cubs, presenting almost as surprising a pennant threat as the Giants, moved to within 2½ games of first place with a 5-4 and 7-3 sweep of the Cincinnati Redlegs and the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Los Angeles Dodgers, 7-4, in the other National League games.

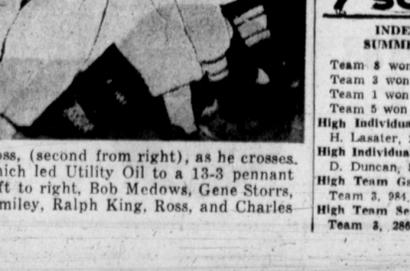

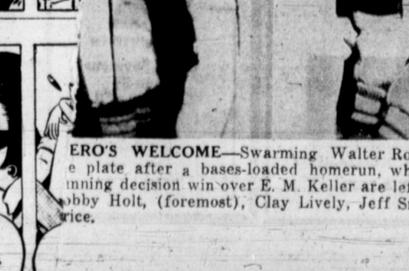

In the American League, the New York Yankees held their 12-game lead by shading the Detroit Tigers, 3-2, as Bob Turley beat Jim Bunning in a brilliant strike-out battle. The Boston Red Sox defeated the Kansas City A's, 5-2, the Baltimore Orioles scored a 6-5 victory after a 6-1 loss to the Chicago White Sox and the Washington Senators rallied in the ninth to down the Cleveland Indians, 7-4.

Eddie Mathews hit two homers and Hank Aaron and Bill Bruton each accounted for five of one each to account for five of "Swat" Mathews' runs and deal A.L. Chuck Stobbs his second night N.L. loss. Ken Boyer's slam homer lifted the Cardinals into a 5-4 third-inning but Mathews and Aaron hit massive homers in the fifth to the Braves their margin of

Rebels Book 3 Next Week Tilts

Pampa's American Legion Rebels, finding games harder to come by than base-his, have three tilts slated for next week, but none this week.

Coach Deck Woldt, who doubles as the club's booking agent, has had no luck at trying to land a game for tonight, and said the outlook is dim for getting a team lined up for a Friday or Saturday night match.

Stinnett, 19-1 loser to the Rebels last week, invades Harvester Park here Sunday for a 2:30 p.m. tilt in what may be the Rebels' last home appearance of the season.

Woldt has a game tentatively booked with Amarillo Air Base next Tuesday night on the road and a Wednesday night match at home with the Rebels.

Borger, a club the Rebels trampled, 13-6, in their season opener. With an astronomical club batting average of .376, the Rebels are expected to run up against their stiffest competition of the season in the Amarillo Air Base tilt. The Amjets are currently playing in an Air Force elimination tournament and if they continue victorious the Tuesday-night game will be re-scheduled for later in the week.

Woldt said he would try to contact Perryton Legionnaires officials this afternoon about the possibilities of booking a "rubber-match" with that club for Friday or Saturday night. Perryton topped the Rebels, 9-6, in 10-innings here and Pampa took a 14-9 decision at Perryton in the two team's first meetings.

Woldt also said he may take his 15-15 year-olds and play Pampa's Pony All-Stars practice game a Friday night if nothing with Perryton can be arranged and the Pony managers are willing to play. If neither materialize, the Rebels will work out at 8:30 p.m.

Woldt has received the Sunday of July 27 for a game with district champion Hansen Post of Amarillo. They dropped a 9-6 tilt to the Amjets, the club Pampa tangles with next week.

"If I can't get a game with Hansen for the 27th, I'll try to go to Mangum, Okla. for a Saturday night game and a Sunday double-header," Woldt said Thursday morning.

Shaw Escapes Fine On His 'Brush Back'

BALTIMORE (UPI)—The fine line of distinction between a "brush back" pitch and a "dust-er" enabled pitcher Bob Shaw to escape an automatic $50 fine today for a pitch that sent Bob Boyd of the Baltimore Orioles sprawling into the dirt.

Umpire Ed Runge went to the mound to talk to Shaw in the third inning of Wednesday night's second Chicago-Baltimore game after the rookie pitcher's 0-and-2 pitch sent Boyd down. The previous batter, pitcher, Jack Harshman, had homered off Shaw.

Reporters in the press box and most of the 16,565 fans thought Runge had delivered an official warning to Shaw—a warning that carries an automatic $50 fine under a new major league rule. But the umpire said after the game that no "official warning" had been issued.

"I told him, 'You got better control than that,'" Runge told reporters. "Besides, there's nothing wrong with a brush back pitch. There's a distinct difference between the 'brush back' and 'dust-er.' Also, in my opinion, Boyd didn't have to fall down to avoid the pitch."

Pony Stars Rip B's, 21-5

BOWERS CITY—Pampa's Pony League All-Stars crushed a makeshift group of B-teamers from the local Pony League in a warm-up game for next week's district tournament at Hereford here Wednesday night, 21-5.

Jerry Glover pitched the first three innings, not permitting a run and giving up only one hit. Mike Clark worked the last three frames of a six-stanza tilt.

Randy Matson and Butch Crossland swung the heavy bats for the winners, both rapping three-run homers.

All-Star managers Gabby Chase, Bill Ridgway and Tom Glover expressed pleasure with the play of their group after the game and have high hopes on walking off the field, next week in the District Tournament at Hereford, champs.

Pampa opens district meet action in a 6:15 tilt against Littlefield next Monday night.

Splendid Splinter Pitching Sticks

BOSTON (UPI) — Tindorbox Ted Williams is in a bat-throwing mood lately.

The Boston Red Sox slugger struck out Wednesday night against Kansas City and heaved his bat into the Red Sox dugout in disgust as he reached the concrete steps.

It was the third time in less than a week that Williams has tossed his bat after striking out. He flipped it underhand toward the dugout in anger last Saturday and threw it high into the air Tuesday night.

Williams was not expected to draw any penalty for the bat-throwing, which was given no notice by the umpires.

JACKIE BURKE

Bolt On Probation And Burke Favored

By LEO H. PETERSEN
 UPI Sports Editor
 HAVERTOWN, Pa. (UPI) — Tommy (Thunder) Bolt, though elated at escaping further punishment for his conduct, had little hopes of scoring a historic golf "double" today as a field of 163 went into the opening round of the new-style PGA championship.

The PGA executive committee cleared the deck for Bolt to compete here when it ruled Wednesday night that hot-tempered Tommy had been punished enough for his recent outbursts by a $500 fine he already had paid.

The committee also placed him on indefinite probation. That ruling gave Bolt, who recently won the A. S. Open championship, a chance to become the second man in history to win the Open and PGA crowns in the same year.

Gene Sarazen, who did it in 1922, is so far the only "double" champion. But Bolt thinks the strain of Wednesday's hearing may have ruined his chances.

"It's going to be tough to bear down after that," he said. "I think there are some people who don't want me to win two."

Even before the hearing, however, the other tourney trail golfers were passing up Bolt and handing the favorite's role to handsome, curly-haired Jackie Burke Jr., the 1956 champion.

Burke dominated he has completely recovered from a recent wrist operation by winning last week's Insurance City Open tournament in Wetherfield, Conn., and emphasized the fact by shooting sub-par practice rounds over the short, rolling Quaker Country Club course here where the PGA is being held.

Others being touted by the pros themselves as top contenders were Bolt, three-time winner Sam Snead, leading tourney trail money winner Arnold Palmer, sparkplug heir Frank Stranahan, and defending champion Lionel Hebert.

This is the first PGA championship to be contested at medal play. The previous 39 tournaments all were at match play, but in recent years crowds have failed to turn out as expected for the late rounds after "name" stars had been eliminated and this was believed a major factor in the change this year.

British Games Open With Record 1,050 Athletes

By PETER UEBERSAX
 United Press International
 CARDIFF, Wales (UPI)— Preliminary heats in the 100 yard and 440 yard runs sent the sixth British Commonwealth Games, the world's largest international sports carnival outside the Olympics, off to a start today one day earlier than had been planned.

The Duke of Edinburgh, reading a message from Queen Elizabeth II, won't officially open the games until Friday.

But the record entry list of 1,050 athletes from 34 British Commonwealth members, colonies and territories, forced games officials to advance the trial heats in these two track and field events up to today.

PRESSURE MOUNTS IN CLAY COURT MATCHES

RIVER FOREST, Ill. (UPI)— The easy time enjoyed so far by seeded competitors in the National Clay Court tennis championships was about over as the tourney went into its fourth day under increased pressure.

No. 2 seed, moved ahead with an easy, 6-2, 6-2, win over Roger Workman, Los Angeles, Calif.

Meanwhile, Alex Olmedo, of Peru, a potential upset threat for the Dayton star and Burtzen, also advanced by defeating Rudy Hernandez, Detroit, Mich., 6-4, 7-5. Other seeded men's stars moved ahead with equal ease.

Leaders like top-seeded Barry MacKay, Dayton, Ohio, and Bernard (Tut) Bartzten, Dallas, Tex., who appeared to have about equal chances to take the men's crown, will find the going rougher from now on.

Olmedo was seeded fourth in the domestic competition. He added the Western Amateur crown to the national intercollegiate title he won for UCLA.

Derek Ibbotson, Englishman whose 3:57.2 mile is the fastest in memory but not yet accepted as a world mark, has been running poorly and will compete in the three-mile run against Aussie Albert Thomas.

Also slated for tougher opposition were the aces of the women's division, led by the No. 1 seed, Mrs. Dorothy Head Knode, Forest Hills, N.Y., and colorful Karol Fageros, Miami, Fla., seeded just behind the New York veteran.

Mrs. Knode defeated Marie Vidas, Hinsdale, Ill., 6-1, 6-1, and Miss Fageros, current glamor gal of tennis, beat Lucille Davidson, St. Louis, Mo., 6-0, 6-2.

Marta Hernandez, of Mexico City, seeded No. 1 among the foreign women players and third overall, also had an untroubled round. She beat Doris Popple, Des Moines, Iowa, 6-2, 6-3.

An Elite Class

Occasionally, in the turmoil of our times, someone comes forward to advocate the formation of an "elite" or ruling class. It is claimed by such persons that the problems we are experiencing in our country stem from the widespread use of the democratic process. By permitting everyone to have a right to vote, the possibility of forming an elite class of superior persons is virtually made impossible. With the mass vote able to elect a man of indecisive merit to a public office, the formation of a select ruling class becomes impossible.

There is considerable validity in this argument. It is true that the wider the franchise, the less likelihood there is of obtaining men of outstanding character and ability to public posts. And if this were all that had to be said on the matter, it could rest there. We could, if we adopted this belief turn our attention to the restoration of a monarchy, the formation of a nobility or aristocracy, and place our trust in a leisured class which would have both the money and the time to prepare themselves for statesmanship.

However intriguing this idea may sound to some, it is a course filled with the gravest risks. While no democracy has ever in the history if this world provided guarantees for individual freedom, it is also true that no aristocracy and no monarchy have done it either.

When power is spilled out over the landscape by means of a general franchise, we will undoubtedly find practices leading to widespread public subsidies and doles. This is one of the symptoms of our own times.

It is characteristic of the voters that they will seek to be the very agent that rules them. Protection, which is intended only to preserve the equality of rights and the opportunities freedom vouchsafes, becomes misinterpreted to mean that a man can be "protected" from famine, ill health, and even bad morale by the agency of force which dominates him.

This is the foe of democracy. If any democracy succumbs to the temptation of making of itself an agency for redistribution of the wealth under the illusion that so doing it is "protecting" anybody, the end of that democracy can be predicted. Thru this practice, democracy becomes its own worst enemy.

But a dependence upon an aristocracy, while it may avoid the pitfalls of public subsidy and dole, heads into the abyss of non-freedom in another direction. When power is granted to an "elite," the erosion of the rights of individuals proceeds from the unspoken acknowledgment that the power holders are superior men. They always appear to "know" better than their followers. They quickly appoint to themselves the power to decide what any person can do with what he himself owns. Persons find themselves "protected" if not in their incomes, at least in their expenditures.

A typical practice of a ruling elite is to establish zoning and planning rules so that the owners of property may no longer decide what is best for them to do with what they themselves own. Also, humanity under the control of an elite finds itself buttressed between the walls of all kinds of curfews, compulsions and prohibitions. The vanity of the elite is reflected in all manner of exactions levied upon the non-elite, for "their own good."

Under either system, freedom vanishes. Yet, the purpose of all government should be to protect freedom, not to destroy it.

Lao-tzu, the great Chinese philosopher, gave us his views respecting the proper conduct of the person in power. He said: "The prince will do nothing and the people will, of themselves, be correct."

But it will always follow that if a prince does nothing, then his usefulness is merely as an empty symbol of glory. And if the people of themselves will be correct, then freedom could be assured. Under such a conception the Golden Rule could be practiced by the free choice of individuals. Under any other conception, efforts will be made, either by an elite or a nonelite, to enforce the Golden Rule, thru the process of eliminating free choice by individuals.

What we must understand is that the Golden Rule cannot be enforced. It can only be believed in and practiced individually. The moment enforcement occurs, the rule is breached.

Answering Arguments For Progressive Taxation

Bradford B. Smith, in his pamphlet, "Liberty and Taxes," sees very clearly what discriminatory or progressive taxation will do to the very people it is supposed to help.

He sees that progressive taxation leads to the hampering or eventually complete extinction of private property.

He answers the argument that large wealth represents exploitation of others or luck, simply because they are large, by pointing out things that believers in progressive taxation overlook, in this manner:

"1. No one gets money income in our society unless it is voluntarily paid him by the community at its own appraisal of the service he or his property renders in exchange. The community is quits with the individual at that point. The argument is weird which holds that he whose industry provides the community with 100 pairs of shoes, for example, should be punished as compared with him who provides but 10 pairs."

"2. No one constrains competitors through monopoly except with the support of government. Monopoly income should be corrected by withdrawing the support rather than by taxation to include also non-monopolistic income."

"3. The thought that it is just to deprive people by taxation of 'unjust' income is a travesty on justice. Were income unjustly secured, justice would require its return to those from whom it was received. To loot the 'looter' through taxation is to engage in 'highjacking,' not justice."

"4. If some in a specified income bracket are getting 'too much' income then it follows that others are getting 'too little.' To penalize all is thus, within the very concept itself, to aggravate injustice as much as to dispense justice."

"Those favoring progressive taxation claim that those of small income should pay little or no tax (be exempted). They can't afford to pay, it is claimed. But if so, then they can't afford to pay for anything else either. There is no reason why, in proportion to their means, they should not pay for government as for other things; there is vital reason why they should if they vote. This argument is essentially an appeal to charity; but the practice is something with an uglier name unless it also provides that the man who pays insignificant or no tax shall have no vote in selecting representatives in the determining body. For otherwise the body degenerates into levying taxes not on those it represents but on others. This is tax tyranny, not taxation by consent, not liberty."

Tax Principles
Under the heading of "Tax Principles" Smith lists seven principles that should govern taxation. His general principle is: "An equal burden is deemed one which consumes an equal proportion of each person's life, which in practice means an equal proportion of income. The one thing always to dread is the laying of a tax burden on minorities by majorities which the majority itself escapes. That is tax despotism. From this central principle more detailed principles derive:

"1. If individual income is to be taxed, all of it, from whatever source derived, by whomever received, in whatever amount, should be taxed at the same rate."

"2. Taxation should be simple in principle and in application in order that there shall constantly be general understanding of it, for otherwise there can never be surety that the consent of the taxpayers is truly rather than misguidedly secured."

"3. Federal taxation should be uniform geographically and with respect to the tax base."

"4. The federal government should make no expenditures of any kind for which in return the government does not receive an equivalent quid pro quo. The dispensing of gifts by the government lightens the net cost of government to the recipients."

"5. Taxation of estates or gifts by the federal government is incompatible with the principles of liberty here enunciated. To tax gifts is to deny to the individual the right to possess, dispose of, or exchange the fruits of his efforts as he sees fit. Moreover, to put a tax penalty on charity and thus comparatively a premium on selfish consumption is repugnant to the American sense of ordinary decency. To tax inheritance is to tax a gift — the only difference being that the man who gives is dead — is only makes his practice additionally offensive to the principle of liberty because one man who cannot vote is one who is dead."

"6. There is no place in the framework of liberty for the direct federal taxation of corporate income."

"7. The voters of one period should not tax those of a later period. Those of the later period are not represented in the instant taxing body and hence today's taxation of the citizens of tomorrow distinctly violates the principle of taxation by representation of those who pay the taxes."

Warren Not About To Reveal Pension

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

LOS ANGELES — If Earl Warren were willing to let the people who pay his lavish pension know how much they are paying, my little task of today would be simple. But, by laws passed during Warren's tenure as governor and political boss of the rough, tough machine at Sacramento, the people are forbidden to know such details and the reason stated in the legislation clothing these dirty deals in stealth is that "stigma" may smirch the recipient of the people's unwilling bounty.

In previous disclosures of the unconscionable drain of politicians' pensions I fell into an error which I find no less embarrassing for the fact that it is common among men. It had been represented to me that because the state's share of Warren's California pension is a debt of a state rather than a salary to a state employee for current services, the state's share would not be taxable by the U.S. Treasury as income.

For psychic and occult reasons in the weird realm of tax trickery, this is not the case.

The state's share of that pension, now $12,000, rising to $16,000 next Jan. 1, is taxable. But unless I can persuade some employee to violate the law in the public interest by telling how much Warren paid in over his 39 uninterrupted years with his feet in the trough, I will not be able to gratify the people's right of know.

And they will never know why. Warren's past performances have suddenly gone up by $4,000 a year, or about $80 a week, because there just ain't any decent or honest reason why this fellow should receive this extravagant favor while hundreds of thousands of used-up employees of governments and private industry all over the land are stuck at the rates for which they contracted, regardless of inflation. That raise, alone, automatic in Warren's case, awarded five years after he saved himself off the payroll into a life tenure at $35,500 a year as Chief Justice in Washington, is about four-times the "Social Security" which the politicians have thought appropriate for the lawless man. He qualified for the raise in pension simply because the salary for the office of governor went up to $40,000 starting in January. The additional $4,000 might just about pay the federal tax on the portion of his California pension which is taxable.

The rest of the pension, the portion which is not taxable under either federal or state law, consists of money which he dribbled into the system over those years. And, though Warren pulled a poor mouth in declining the nomination for Vice President in 1944, explaining that he hadn't enough money to permit him to keep his family in Washington, the possibility is not closed that he has a bundle of private wealth squirreled away. After all, property has been on the rise in this booming empire and Warren's sense of values has always been acute. Moreover, nobody has been in a better position to guess where state or other noble works of development would occur to jack up the values of land.

I may be able to get at this information even though the recipients are legally supposed to enjoy a privacy that well bespeaks their impudent contempt for the citizen-taxpayers.

In Switzerland a few years ago I observed that clerks and other employees of the banking system and the federal bureaucracy were held down to miserable salaries even though they were expected to keep up the usual front at painful expense. The subject of secret bank accounts of American politicians who had grafted millions out of their jobs administering the so-called cigaret-economy and the regular black market in Italy and Germany was then pretty noisy in the press. So I blunty asked a young man in a position to give a valid answer if it would be possible with $10,000 judiciously placed to break the secrecy. He said he was confident that $10,000 would be ample.

I sometimes receive information from unidentified sources, which, on inquiry, proves correct, and I am optimistic that I can come up with the details of Warren's status under the Californian pension system, given time. There are employees in this system whose admiration for Warren is negligible in contrast to their pleasure over any discomfiture that may befall him at their hands. The fragility of that $16,000 pension figure has brought me more angry letters from poor, elderly people than I can hope to answer.

One new fact I have dredged up, however, is that Warren's potential income taxes on the pension which is legally due him, will be pleasantly reduced by a calculated freak of the mathematical formula that permits him to increase year by year the proportion of his pension which is chargeable against his own contributions.

It is held that these payments are but a refund of his own money and therefore are not taxable. The increase in this non-taxable portion of the pension is based on age and Warren is 67, which is a lot of age in the life-expectancy formulas.

Sherman Adams is of interest of a lot of people. You might call him Mr. Modern Republican for he, more than anyone else, was responsible for the defeat of Senator Robert A. Taft, MR. REPUBLICAN, when he sought the presidential nomination in 1952. At that time, Adams was Governor of New Hampshire and used his office to launch a savage attack on Taft during the primary elections. Later as Ike's floor leader at the Republican Convention in Chicago, Adams coined the slogan, "Taft can't win" and was active in diverting Southern votes from Taft to Ike.

Adams, by depriving Taft of the Presidency and fathering Me-Too-ism, was a decisive factor in determining the future history of America.

Nagy and the Hungarians had a meeting at the summit! And they didn't come back.

Alaska Has Yet To Prove Herself

By HENRY McLEMORE

Admittance to the Union doesn't make a State. Not a complete, fully rounded State, anyway.

A great many things go into the making of a State, and I expect it will take Alaska quite a few years to acquire them all.

In an effort to be helpful, and to hasten the day when Alaska will have all the ingredients of its older fellows in the Flag, I have compiled a partial list of requirements for full-fledged Statehood. Here are a few of them:

Each county in Alaska must have a full quota of men ready to spend a small fortune in an effort to get elected to the comparatively low-salaried job of county sheriff. A man who isn't willing to spend eight to ten times more than the job pays to get it, isn't hep and shouldn't be entrusted with the "exacting" job of sheriff. In my innocence I don't know the reason for this, but in most States it holds true.

A State isn't a real State until it has held referendums on almost everything under the sun. I suggest that Alaska get busy and hold referendums on Sunday baseball, offshore whale blubber rights, the size and location of roadside picnic tables, daylight saving time, horse racing, saloon opening and closing time, pay television, and any others that come to mind.

There must be developed among the citizenry a willingness to fight at the drop of a hint that Alaska's girls aren't the prettiest in all the 48 States. This is a must! Nothing so proves a man's love for his State as the automatic doubling-up of his fists and the raising of his voice, when the beauty of its girls is questioned.

Highways under repair. Alaska must build up a mass of delours and roadblocks right away to be able to stand side by side with the other States. A good scandal over the award of paving contracts would add stature to the State, too.

The sooner Alaska gets into a fight over the removal of the capital from Juneau the better. A State lacks something when half a dozen towns aren't quarreling over the best site. The longer this goes on between four or five towns, the more adult it makes the State appear. Fairbanks and Anchorage should launch at attack on Juneau as the capital at once — and keep it up forever.

The new State should not wait long in launching an investigation which will reveal finangling in high offices. One of the sure signs of a State is that a large number of its citizens suspect the integrity and capability of the politicians who run it.

For publicity purposes, Alaska should see to it that its governors are men who like to send screwball presents to other governors. Nothing gets a State on the front page as effortlessly as having a governor who sends a colleague a boxcar of snowballs in July, a ten-foot alligator, or a fully-cooked, ready-to-eat clam bake.

To look right at home among the other 48, Alaska would be wise to create a schooling problem (unemployed teachers, shortage of classrooms, etc.), a juvenile delinquency problem, a lousy sales tax, a traffic problem, and get into the billboards on highways fights.

FRENCH GRANT CLEMENCY

ALGIERS (UPI) — French army headquarters announced Monday night that clemency had been granted to nearly 2,800 Moslem nationalists in keeping with Gen. Charles de Gaulle's wishes for "French unity." About 175 of the nationalists had been serving prison sentences, and the others were under various forms of house arrest.

Mr. G. has written that he is 65 and has never had foot trouble until the past year when he developed fallen arches in both feet. He has been wearing arch supports with considerable relief, but now has developed an eruption on his feet which itches badly in spite of bathing his feet and wearing clean socks. Here one would suspect a skin disease, such as ringworm, to be present as well as the fallen arches. Of course, the treatment for the two is not alike.

Most of those who suffer from their feet can be almost completely relieved, though it takes time and some effort on the part of the patient.

Undercover Men Have Proof Iraq Revolt 'Born In Bern'

By FRANK H. BARTHOLOMEW
President
United Press International
Copyright, 1958, by UPI

The Iraqi revolt was "born in Bern," Western counter-intelligence agents indicated today.

A sudden increase in the movement of Communist agents by air from Moscow via Prague to Zurich and on to Bern, and of military and political representatives of the United Arab Republic was observed and in some instances pictures made at airports, this correspondent was told.

Bern, because of the neutral position of Switzerland which is free from all blocs either Communist or Western, has been a regular meeting place for the Algerian rebels and their Communist supporters.

Here the Lebanon crisis was hatched, and many of the political action and propaganda plots which are tossed to the surface in the satellite states, Indonesia, Red China and the Middle East.

Western intelligence agents have a label for these, "Born in Bern." It is now attached to the Iraqi revolt.

Switzerland has clearly become the Communist spy center for the Arab world as well as all of Europe.

Millions For Spies
Bern, the ancient capital, is again the hub of the wheel as it was in World War II, when Allen C. Dulles, now head of the Central Intelligence Agency in Washington, directed American

At Least The Sack's Not A
Traffic Hazard

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI)—At least one group favors the sack dress.

"We like the sack," said Thomas B. Watkins, president of the North Carolina State Motor Club.

"It's what we need for after summertime driving."

Watkins said that ladies wearing shorts, especially short shorts, were a traffic hazard because the shorts distract the attention of drivers. Last summer, he said, the club reported the traffic accident rate was going up alarmingly because shorts were getting shorter.

The club even issued a request to girls to wear shorts only in their backyards, away from the view of motorists.

"Now," Watkins said, "Thanks to the clothes designers, the trend is to the other extreme, perhaps in the interest of highway safety. The problem is, so to speak, in the bag this summer."

counter-intelligence from that city.

The Soviet intelligence operations have largely moved from Prague and elsewhere to Bern, this reporter was told by responsible observers.

Left behind in Prague, beyond the reach of alert Swiss police, is the elaborate plant and equipment for manufacturing false passports.

"Although the total is hard to ascertain, there is reason to believe that the Communists send out an average of $1,000,000 per week from Switzerland to spies, provocateurs and contraband traders for their work in the Western democracies," Henry J. Taylor, United States ambassador to Switzerland, told United Press International.

Taylor, a trained investigator from years of experience as a hard-headed journalist and foreign affairs expert, says that this is one of the basic reasons that the Western powers regard Switzerland with its 70 foreign missions from the worlds of Communism and democracy as "the No. 1 listening post for Europe and the Middle East."

Free World Is Target
Zurich, Switzerland's largest city, and Geneva, seat of many international conferences, have become with Bern the physical contact points for Red agents operating in the Middle East, France, Western Germany, Britain, Spain, Portugal and Italy.

"Their target is the free world, and they load up their ammunition in Zurich, Geneva and Bern," Taylor said.

Here the agents come to make reports and to receive orders for future activities and faked credentials for implementing them.

Transfer of currencies from the issue of one nation to that of another is facilitated, since Switzerland has recognized not only the Western powers and Russia but also the latter's satellites including Red China and Bulgaria. The United States recognizes neither of the latter. Both are heavily represented in Bern.

A second reason the transfer of spy activities was advantageous to the Reds is because of Switzerland's central location as the hub of a complex of modern rail and airlines fanning out in all directions.

Zurich's Kloten Airport has one of the heaviest year-round traffic loads in all Europe, with direct daily schedules to Moscow via a change of airlines in Prague.

Careful Of Laws
The secondary route for Soviet exchange, equally fast and regular, is via the Vienna gateway. No Russian airline or aircraft is permitted to fly into Switzerland itself, where national feeling appears to be solidly anti-Communist.

Switzerland is the apex of the triangle and equally accessible from all parts of the Arab world, which itself spreads over a distance equal to that from Hawaii to Bermuda. Many Arab capitals are closer to Bern than to each other.

"The Communists have operated with a careful eye to the strict Swiss laws against espionage," this reporter was told in Zurich, "even while they secretly abuse the fundamental laws protecting freedom of the individual."

"The gathering place for agents and principals, and the 'cashier's office' for payments is rotated among the various satellite embassies and missions in Bern."

Important gatherings of Communist agents seldom are held in the large embassy of the U.S.S.R. itself. The Kremlin doesn't want to take a chance on an upset or arrest that will directly reflect on the U.S.S.R.

Big And Costly
"They plant their agents in their international conference delegations under all kinds of covers, palm them off as chauffeurs of the Red ambassador's cars in Bern, which gives them a good run of the country and in other ways rotates their contacts constantly."

This correspondent recalled that in the first atomic bomb testing at Bikini, which was opened to selected professional newspapermen from all nations of the world, the Russian "journalist" by his own admission turned out to be the commanding officer of the Bureau of Docks and Yards for the Red navy.

The Communist intelligence web centering in Bern is an enormous and expensive operation and calls for large-scale measures in counter-espionage by all the Western powers, Ambassador Taylor said.

None of this intensifying activity between the world's major opposing forces is visible to the nation's thousands of seasonal tourists. Yet the cold war is very hot here indeed and much which breaks from the four corners of the world has its real start in Bern.

Trim young Swiss soldiers everywhere — Switzerland's ready army of 604,000 is the largest in Western Europe — create a feeling that the nation's tranquility and neutrality are not to be lightly challenged. None of the activity of spying and counterspying is allowed to touch Switzerland itself.

A Growing Problem
Tourists through the lake excursion boats, the buses bound for the chalets at prague-line of the many Alpine peaks, take leisurely tea on the terraces of hotels or stroll the streets of the old cities, unaware of the growing army of secret agents among them.

But to Ambassador Taylor it is a "growing and relentless problem, for the security of the United States is at stake."

In Zurich I asked if the supply of fraudulent passports and documents from Prague was a serious menace to the Western nations.

Jury Verdict Is Expected For Today

BALLINGER, Tex. (UPI)—A jury was expected to return a verdict today in the W. A. Guinn will litigation to decide the fate of a $400,000 estate.

The all-male panel which has been sitting in judgment in the eighth court hearing on the will, recessed late Wednesday afternoon.

The contested will could leave the entire estate to Texas Tech and Texas A&M College upon the death of Guinn's widow.

Mrs. Guinn first brought suit (1952) to break the will, which was made in 1950, on grounds that her husband was not in possession of his mental faculties when the document was drawn up.

In testimony Wednesday, San Antonio pathologist, Dr. Lloyd Herschberger, said Guinn's knowledge that he was dying, coupled with the type of cancer he had, could have impaired his mental faculties.

Other doctors have testified they thought Guinn was not in full possession of his mental faculties before his death, while friends and business associates of the dead man said they had noticed no impairment.

Accepts Invite
LONDON (UPI)—Gen. Charles de Gaulle has accepted an invitation to visit Britain, probably in late fall, authoritative sources said Tuesday.

The French premier also is expected to visit the United States and Canada although those invitations apparently have not yet been officially accepted.

My informants said:
"They worried us for a while. The counterfeits are excellent; often only a laboratory test of the paper itself will show it to be imitation."
"We have evolved countermeasures of our own which are not ineffectual. Frequently, for reasons of our own, we permit known or suspected agents to enter Western nations and even expedite the work they are attempting."
"Often our own men travel with them. And in such counter-spy operations are the unsung heroes of the cold war."
"The Communist spy control has a great deal of ego, and we are not adverse to helping build it up."
