THE DEED IS DONE

Seven-year-old Debbie Scott of Brooklyn, N. Y., displays a toothless grin and the trusty pair of pliers with which she extracted her own two front teeth. Debbie's mother told her that a dentist pulled teeth with "something that looks like a pair of pliers." A short time later Debbie vanished and when she returned the deed was done. (NEA Telephoto)

Alaska Votes For Statehood

By HAL WOOD
United Press International
ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI)—Alaska was riding into the union today on a tremendous vote approving statehood by a margin of more than 5-1.
Tabulations of nearly 25 percent of a record-breaking vote, estimated to total more than 35,000 showed 6,865 for statehood and only 1,331 opposed.
As returns from Tuesday's election rolled in from throughout the vast territory, the pro-statehood forces showed themselves winning in every district.
Southeastern Alaska, supposedly the anti-statehood fortress, voted overwhelmingly for the three propositions which will clear the way for a presidential proclamation admitting Alaska as the nation's 49th state.
With more voters going to the polls than ever before in Alaska history, the balloting was so heavy at Fairbanks and Anchorage that election officials kept the polls open well past the 8 p.m. closing hour. Long lines of voters were still waiting to cast their ballots in some Anchorage and Fairbanks precincts almost two hours later.
Indian and Eskimo villages, which were counted as anti-statehood precincts prior to the election, stumped the experts by turning out for statehood by margins of 10-1 or better.
In addition to offering statehood to Alaskans, the election also gave them their first opportunity to nominate candidates for Congress. But only one congressional nomination, that on the Democratic side of the ballot for United States representative, was contested.
Alaska's political weather, considered by some to be unerring, pointed decidedly in the Democratic direction after early and scattered counts.

Arkansas Legislators Rush New Anti-Integration Program

By JACK V. FOX
United Press International
LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—The Arkansas Legislature was rushing into law today a defiant program to close any school in the state facing forcible integration of Negro and white students.
The legislators were expected to pass by the time the U.S. Supreme Court meets on the Little Rock crisis Thursday—the measures outlined by Gov. Orval Faubus, who warned that violence appeared certain if Negroes enter Central High School again this fall.
The bills were expected to get separate passage in the state Senate and House today and then be sent to the other chambers for final approval Thursday. A House Education Committee approved them Tuesday night.
Faubus unquestionably had the lawmakers solidly behind him after a fighting address to a special session in which he bitterly declared the federal courts wanted to push integration even if it meant "a hundred people are slain in the streets or the corridors of a school."
The laws could frustrate an order by the Supreme Court setting aside the delay in integration at Central High. What the federal government could or would do then was the big question.
Faubus made it a point that use of troops to enforce integration would be a specific reason for closing Central or any other school.
His program would make it possible for students to transfer to other public or private schools, but the practical fact was that Little Rock's high school facilities are not adequate to handle the added load of the 2,000 students at Central.
The National Association For The Advancement of Colored People blasted Faubus as laying bare "the lack of good faith behind requests for a cooling-off period in school integration."
"Every grant of such delays," said Clarence A. Laws, field secretary of the NAACP in Dallas, "would be followed by requests and excuses for other delays in an endless effort to frustrate the Supreme Court decision and deny Negro children their civil rights."
Problems Elsewhere
There were these other integration developments:
—Members of the Arlington, Va., School Board indicated Tuesday they would assign Negro

Shelling Continues

Reds 'Converge' On Formosa Strait

By AL KAFF
United Press International
TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI)—Defense Ministry spokesman Adm. Liu Hsiang-Tu said today Communist naval forces were "converging" on the Formosa Strait area where heavy Red guns bombarded the Quemoy Islands with nearly 9,000 shells by mid-afternoon.
Liu said the Communists had 4,000 to 5,000 landing craft in the area following their recent buildup for possible amphibious landings.
The Communists concentrated their shelling today on the sister islands of Tatan and Erhlan located in the mouth of Amoy Harbor but Liu warned the concentrated shelling of the two islands may be a screen for landings elsewhere.
The Communists also poured thousands of rounds of artillery on Quemoy in an apparent all-out effort to neutralize the airfield there.
Strip Damaged
It was the fifth straight day of murderous bombardment with the Communists shelling for an hour or two, stopping and then resuming the bombardment with greater intensity. In a three-hour morning bombardment they hit Quemoy with more than 2,000 shells.
Liu Hsiang-Tu said the dirt airstrip on Quemoy was still usable despite the bombardment. He denied as "greatly exaggerated" one report the strip had been hit with 1,600 shells.
However, an American military source said, "I do not think any more planes will be flying to Quemoy from today." Liu said several planes landed at Quemoy Tuesday night and at dawn. The strip is used by cargo and military passenger planes; jets are based on Formosa.
Motives Not Clear
The Communists interrupted their bombardment of Quemoy at one point today to lay down a 4,000-round barrage on Tatan and Erhlan islands. All the islands in the Quemoy group are about 10 miles from the Communist-held mainland.
A government spokesman said the Nationalist garrison on Quemoy had replied with its own artillery and destroyed several Red gun emplacements at Weitou and Tatan and one ammunition depot and a gasoline depot on nearby Wuyue Island.
The Communist motives in the shelling still were not clear, but Vice Adm. Wallace Beakley, commander of the 7th Fleet, and Maj. Gen. Thomas S. Moorman, commander of the 13th Air Force in the Philippines, were conferring in Taipei with American and Chinese officers.

RENEWED THREAT

A renewed threat of war hovers over the Far East. The Nationalist Chinese have hinted they might bomb the Chinese mainland if the Communist attempt a major invasion of the Quemoy Island group. Today, Communist naval forces are said "converging" on the Formosa Strait area where heavy Red guns have been bombarding the Quemoy Islands. (NEA Telephoto)

Former Actress Is 'Riled' About Jail

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Atractive Gregg Sherwood, wife of automobile executive Horace E. Dodge II, appears in court today for arraignment on charges of suspicion of battery and drunkenness.
There were two stories.
The one told by Officers Kenneth F. Bernard and Lawrence B. Brown pictured 34-year-old Mrs. Dodge as a pugnacious, fighting, kicking, spitting objector to going to jail.
The other told by the former model was that she was the victim of a "nightmare" of hair pulling, arm twisting, and tugging by police matrons.
According to arresting officers, the trouble started when Mrs. Dodge leaned from a car driven by Kupcnet and yelled at officers.
"You guys had better get off the street. You're speeding and you're drunk."
After following and stopping Kupcnet's car, the police said Mrs. Dodge called them "two slimy Napoleonic idiots."
"You both are slobbs. I hate you," the officers quoted Mrs. Dodge.
The scene switched to the city jail where the officers said the tall beauty, using a fashionable shoe as a weapon, fought it out with matrons Marilyn Sperry and Gail Rice.
Later the former show girl was released on $270 bail and ordered to appear in court. Kupcnet was freed on $263. He was ordered to appear on misdemeanor drunk driving charges.
Officers said Kupcnet went to jail quietly, denied he was drunk, passed a coordination test but refused to take an intoximeter examination.

Employment In Increase Here

For the past month, employment has shown a general increase throughout the industries of Pampa, according to Bill Ragsdale, manager of the Pampa office of the Texas Employment Commission.
The month ending Aug. 25 saw 19 more persons employed than the previous month.
New applications for benefits dropped from 174 to 162 over the two-month period and claims from 1,002 to 932. On the basis of one unemployment compensation claim per person a week, there were approximately 250 claimants June 25-July 25 and 233 for the next month.
Placements ending Aug. 25 were 168 and July 25, 149. This includes 24 agricultural workers in the July figure and 28 in the August.

Senate Recalls Barney Baker

By ARNOLD SAWISLAK
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Barney Baker, the 280-pound roving organizer for Teamsters president James R. Hoffa, was recalled by the Senate Rackets Committee today to shed light on a mysterious money deal.
Committee counsel Robert Kennedy said Baker would be questioned about the transmission of $1,000 from a Pennsylvania trucking company to an Iowa motel last summer.
Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Smith, the motel operators, said Weinheimer got three bulky envelopes by express one morning and Baker came in later in the day to pay his bill with a $100 bill he extracted from an envelope that looked like the ones Weinheimer received earlier.
Baker last week categorically denied receiving $1,000 from Esco but would not deny he paid his bill that day out of an envelope.
Kennedy said that after cleaning up the Esco matter with testimony from Baker, Callahan and Weinheimer, the investigators would resume their inquiry into the affairs of Harold J. Gibbons, Hoffa's lieutenant who controls Teamsters operations in St. Louis.
The committee was told Tuesday that violence appears to be a trademark of unions dominated by Gibbons, who is executive assistant to Hoffa in addition to heading up several St. Louis Teamsters organizations.
Fear For Safety
A well-muscled ex-cab driver and a lithe former secretary both told the committee they feared for their safety if they talked too much.
Harold Sparks, who admitted to expressing 19 of his 38 years in reform schools and jails, said: "Sure, I'm afraid," when asked why he was so reluctant to give public testimony about his activities as a Teamsters "goon" in a 1953 St. Louis taxi strike.
Mary Lou Bledsoe, whom the committee tried to protect by banning photographs of the former St. Louis secretary, said both Sparks and another Teamsters member, John F. Poole, had threatened her in 1953 if she testified about a plan to wreck the vehicle of a strike-breaking cab driver.

Sneak Attack Would Not Mean Defeat

By DAYTON MOORE
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower said today the United States never could be defeated in a surprise nuclear attack.
He told a news conference that U. S. military strength is so great that it would be impossible to impair it with a surprise attack to the point where it could not retaliate and eventually defeat any aggressor.
But he said the nation must always be militarily alert.
The President's remarks were prompted by a reporter who asked whether the United States could be defeated by a surprise attack in a nuclear war. The reporter noted Congress had strongly criticized any Defense Department study of conditions under which the United States might be forced to surrender.
The President also said that the nation's great strength in military planes would take care of any possible lag behind Russia in development of long-range missiles. He said there is a long way to go before missiles make such weapons as aircraft carriers and land-based bombers obsolete.
He said that, after a study at the beginning of the administration, development of missiles was placed on the very highest priority in 1954. Since then, he said, advances have been extraordinarily great.
He said he is quite certain the Defense Department's missile program is not only adequate but has been proceeding faster than could be expected.
At his news conference, the President also:
—Criticized what he called a tendency on the part of Congress to appropriate more money than should be spent in the domestic field. He also said he was disappointed that no labor reform legislation was approved in the congressional session which ended last Sunday.
—Gave Congress a general "well done" on legislation it enacted in the foreign field. But he said his greatest disappointment was that Congress cut the amount of money he had asked for foreign aid.
—Withheld his final appraisal of the Democratic-controlled Congress accomplishments for a week or 10 days until he completes action on the about 200 bills awaiting his signature or veto.
—Answered no to a question about whether local U.S. military commanders were authorized to use atomic weapons in an emergency. But he said he believed there was a directive that U.S. forces could use any means to defend themselves when they or the United States were under attack.

Big Three Of Auto Industry Have Troubles

DETROIT (UPI)—The big three of the auto industry were having more trouble today trying to get 1959 model cars into production.
Nearly 9,000 workers were idled at plants in Michigan, Ohio and Delaware, crippling model change-over operations on some cars.
One strike, affecting 1,400 workers at the Chrysler Jefferson plant in Detroit, was settled Tuesday night. Chrysler ordered the men back to work today following a "satisfactory resolution" of a seniority grievance with the United Auto Workers.
The walkouts occurred as the UAW approached nearly three months of working without a contract at General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.
The largest strike Tuesday idled 5,000 workers at the GM Pontiac division plant in Pontiac, Mich.
The firing of a union committeeman touched off a walkout by 300 workers at the Chrysler Delaware assembly plant and shutdown model changeover operations there.
Three Ford plants in suburban Cleveland remained closed today, with 2,100 workers idle over the discharge of another union committeeman for insubordination.

Jaycees View Driving Film

A film on safe driving was viewed by the Pampa Jaycees at their noon meeting yesterday.
The film, introduced by Highway Patrol Sergeant "Butch" Albers, gave pointers on how to drive safely.
Guests for the day included L. D. Maddox, Max Robbins, Bobby Fletcher, Bill Eller, Hollis Alford, L. J. Cernobous and Wendell Jordan.
Earl Fleet, was directed to the remote airfield by radar units at Cut Bank, Havre, and Mahanogum, Montana.
"If it hadn't been for the radar units, I would have been forced to make a crash landing," Fleet said.
"Our No. 3 propeller fell off. Then the No. 3 engine caught fire. If we hadn't landed, we might have gone in two or three minutes."
The veteran pilot said he first noted the plane's propeller was acting up near Swift Current, Canada, but had to fly 100 miles before finding a field large enough to land the plane.

Astronomer Advocates US Put Telescope Into Orbit

By ROBERT MUSSEL
United Press International
AMSTERDAM (UPI)—A noted American astronomer said today the United States should try to shoot a telescope into orbit to explore the mysteries of the ultra-violet spectrum, between X rays and visible light.
Fred Whipple, director of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory in Cambridge, Mass., told the International Astronomical Congress that "feasibility studies" of such a project already have been made. He said the telescope could be launched "within a relatively short time."
"The time to do it is right now... Whipple said "no major technological developments are required. The telescope can be constructed, launched and operated by reasonably simple modifications of instruments that already have been tested and techniques that are now in use."
Whipple said the telescope would probe the "essentially mysterious" ultra-violet spectrum from an orbit high above the atmosphere and telescope the things it "sees" back to earth.
Turbulence and other irregularities in the "sea of air" surrounding the earth make it impossible to gather necessary information about the ultra-violet range with telescopes on the earth's surface.
Whipple believes a relatively simple telescope, with a 24-inch mirror and an 8-inch aperture, could collect information of value from an orbit around the earth.
He conceded, however, he is not sure.
"We don't know yet what we'll find when we get up there," he said. "It might be that space is hazy, too."

De Gaulle's Option To Senegalese

By HAL WOOD
United Press International
DAKAR, French West Africa (UPI)—French Premier Charles de Gaulle left it up to defiant Senegalese today to choose between independence and French economic aid.
Thousands of Senegalese roared "De Gaulle, go home" and "we want independence" and "we want independence" as the premier arrived here Tuesday on his African tour to marshal support for his new constitution. It was the roughest reception experienced so far by De Gaulle on his current tour.
Tuesday night a crowd roared defiance at De Gaulle when he proposed that Senegal join a "community" with France under the proposed constitution. De Gaulle spoke in Dakar's Main Square. He turned red and, grabbing the microphone, shouted: "Independence! If you want it, well take it."
But De Gaulle warned independence would mean the end of French aid.
Political experts here warned it would be disastrous for such areas as Senegal to go without French financial and economic assistance.
If it comes from a hardware store, we have it, Lewis Hdw.

claimed political association with New York Gov. Averell Harriman.
At the time, the committee touched only lightly on evidence about Baker's intervention to help settle a strike at the Esco Company of McKees Rocks, Pa., and the subsequent dispatch of $1,000 in cash to Edward Weinheimer, a company agent, at the Rambler Motel outside Des Moines. Both Baker and Weinheimer had rooms at the motel.

Pampa News Women's Editor

You may soon need a scorecard to tell the man of the house from his wife.

According to a report just released by the Savoy Home Institute, more women are doing men's job around the house and more men are performing women's tasks than ever before.

The Institute, a service subsidiary of the Savoy car shampoo company, conducted a questionnaire survey of 6,500 housewives in the New York metropolitan area on the subject, "Division of Household Chores By the Sexes." Aimed at measuring attitudes of housewives toward the role of the sexes in performing domestic chores, the survey revealed that 81 per cent of the respondents performed household jobs they believed should be done by men. The same report disclosed that 61 per cent of their husbands did domestic tasks believed reserved for women.

A few categories of domestic work were reserved strictly for each sex. The women considered that such jobs as electrical, plumbing and furniture repair, moving heavy objects and mixing drinks should be done by men only. Statistics showed that, despite this conviction, 7 per cent of the housewives did repairs, 18 per cent mixed furniture and 17 per cent moved drinks. Chores believed to be "strictly for the ladies" included ironing, making the beds, laundry and darning socks. Yet the report showed that 8 per cent of the husbands did ironing, 7 per cent made beds, 10 per cent did laundry and 13 per cent darned socks. Dishwashing and drying lived up to their reputation as the most frequently shared household task; only 11 per cent of the housewives believed that dishwashing was a woman's work, 73 per cent reporting that hubby helped with the dishwashing at one time or another.

A puzzling aspect of the survey was the inconsistent attitude of the housewives toward washing the family car. Queried as to whether they considered washing the car more difficult than cleaning house, 79 per cent said they believed it was easier, 8 per cent said it was more difficult. Yet, 65 per cent placed car washing in the category of "man's work." To complete the confusion 59 per cent of the housewives reported that they had washed the family car on at least one occasion. "One housewife noted, 'I have given up trying to get my husband to do things of this kind. Anyway, I consider car-washing fun. You do it outdoors.'"

Two tasks left all others in the category of "Men's Jobs You Would Not Want To Do." These were electrical wiring (42 per cent said they wouldn't tackle it) and supporting the family (37 per cent said they would not). A scanty 5 per cent said there was no man's job they would not do. One respondent added, "Not if I had the physical strength to do it. Up to this point I don't seem to have run across any that are beyond my strength."

One response, at least, indicated that the roles of the sexes have not become hopelessly mixed. A Brooklyn housewife listed under "Women's Jobs that Men Should Not Do" the two words, "Having children."

Miss Goodlett Has Las Cresas Meet

Miss Sharon Summers, president, presided during the recent meeting of the Las Cresas Club held in the home of Miss Pamela Goodlett, 515 Magnolia. The secretary's report was given by Miss Donna Herr.

Miss Summers announced that the "LCC" car stickers had not arrived as yet.

The first two pages of a new constitution were read, studied and approved by members present.

Miss Alcyon Flaherty was elected merit secretary. "The purpose of this office is to give merits to each member for working in the club," stated the president. "Each member has to earn five merits every six months or she is suspended from the club."

Las Cresas Club members discussed the floral entry arrangement, which reflected the Panhandle and was entered in the Junior Division under the supervision of Mrs. B. R. Nash, who supplied the flowers for the arrangement.

One response, at least, indicated that the roles of the sexes have not become hopelessly mixed. A Brooklyn housewife listed under "Women's Jobs that Men Should Not Do" the two words, "Having children."

FOR SHEER pleasure on those sizzling dog days, blackberry melon a la mode fills the bill admirably. Where did the heat rot?

COOK'S NOOK

Take Anguish Out Of August With Blackberry Melon

By GAYNOR MADDOX

NEA Food and Markets Editor

Entertaining in August's heat calls for prepared-in-advance menus, for planned informality that keeps the mind off the weather.

We asked a young hostess noted for her gracious hot weather entertaining, Mrs. David Wyatt, of Chicago's Lincoln Park area, to give us some of her secrets. Here they are direct from Charlotte

Wyatt out of Chicago's sweltering heat.

For a late summer luncheon, plan a prepared-in-advance menu of pressed chicken loaf with lemon mayonnaise—and—cooked—chilled asparagus tips. Serve with water-cress and cucumber-filled finger sandwiches and garnish with colorful relishes. For desserts serve a cool blackberry melon a la mode, also tall glasses of tea tinkling with ice.

Old-fashioned pressed chicken has some modern touches. The big chunks of chicken are molded in chicken broth aspic and mayonnaise. Sliced almonds and chopped celery are added for a crisp accent and chopped stuffed olives provide color.

The dessert is a day-before preparation job. Remove seeds from a whole peeled cantaloupe and fill the center cavity with partially-set blackberry gelatin. At serving time, cut the blackberry melon into wedges. Accompany with a bowl of ice cream balls.

BLACKBERRY MELON A LA MODE

(Makes 6 servings)

One cup boiling water, 1 package vitamin C gelatin, blackberry flavor, ¾ cup cold water, 1 large cantaloupe, 1 quart vanilla ice cream.

Four boiling water over blackberry gelatin and stir to dissolve. Add cold water—chill while preparing cantaloupe. Peel cantaloupe, leaving it whole. Cut a thin slice off one end. If necessary, cut out a wedge-shaped piece. With a spoon, scoop out seeds. Drain well by placing upside down. Pour cool gelatin into cavity and replace end slice. Set cantaloupe in bowl or dish to steady in upright position. Chill until gelatin is set. Slice into 6 wedges and serve each with a scoop of ice cream.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Old-fashioned pressed chicken, assorted relishes, potato chips, water-cress and cucumber finger sandwiches, blackberry melon a la mode, coffee, tea, milk.

It's fast: Milk is one of the oldest known foods. Records exist of cows being milked in 9,000 B.C. The Bible contains many references to milk; one of the best remembered is from Exodus 3:8—"Milk and Honey."

Planning to make your own homemade bread? Brush it with an egg-yolk-milk mixture for a fresh and healthy glazed look.

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a good-looking lawyer. Some attractive woman is always pouring out her domestic problems to him in the process of getting a divorce. I am sick of these love-starved, mistreated women who use my husband as a waiting wall. He says it's all in a day's work but they call him up at night and cry some more. Should I tell him I don't want him taking any more divorce cases for women under 50?

JEALOUSY

DEAR JEALOUSY: Any woman whose husband is exposed to "attractive females as part of his daily routine should have more confidence in herself and more faith in her husband. Don't give him an ultimatum. The women of whom you are jealous are probably far more jealous of you. Skip it.

GRACE

DEAR GRACE: Men have been known to have worse faults. I've had hundreds of letters from wives who complain because they can't pry their husband's mouths open with a Stillson wrench. Count your blessings instead of the minutes your husband filibusters.

CONFIDENTIAL TO KATHERINE

There is not as much satisfaction in bringing heels to heel as you think there is. Don't waste the energy.

TELEPHONE DIRECTORY GOING TO PRESS SOON

No missed calls. No missed fun. Thoughtful parents gave this teen-ager her own phone book listing.

Can friends find you in the telephone book?

We'll bet you are missing important calls if your name isn't listed in the telephone directory. Friends who want to call you often aren't sure of your parents' name and address... can't find the telephone number.

So, quit hiding. Make sure those calls get through to you. Get a phone book listing in your own name.

Now is the best time to order extra listings, too, so they will appear in the new telephone directory. Call the telephone business office now because the white pages of the new phone book go to press soon.

Petition Up To Reduce Income Tax

Joseph E. Bacon, organizational director for the Taxpayers Educational Association, was in Pampa Wednesday to make preliminary business and industrial contacts concerning a 1,000,000 signature petition to reduce income taxes his organization is sponsoring.

Bacon, a former San Antonio businessman and a former director of the Texas Employers Association, said that a bill by A. N. Sudlak (R., Conn.) and A. S. Herliand, (D., Fla.) to procure a three-billion income tax reduction over a five-year period has been blocked in the U. S. House of Representatives by Wilbur Mills, chairman of the House ways and means committee. The petition will include about 1,000,000 signatures from all U. S. states and an extra 200,000 from Mills home state of Arkansas. The bill would set the maximum tax rate on incomes at no higher than 42 percent after the five-year period.

The Association headquarters is in Austin and is organized under Texas corporate law. During its three year existence, mail in volume has been sent monthly to Texans and others in an attempt to present a true picture of the U. S. taxation situation. Petitions will be mailed to Pampa firms and residents in the near future, Bacon said.

Other officers of TEA are Gene O. Palmer, president; and E. Clay Lafield, executive vice-president.

For a citizen who used to turn bread dough into the spending kind, balding Gil Burgund has come a long way.

It was one wintry Washington afternoon about 14 years ago when Burgund, a baker by trade, lifted his fingers from his pies long to slip three digits into a bowling ball.

Well, you might say it was love at first grasp, or maybe first roll for the Washington biker.

And if Uncle Sammy's mail-luggers worked on Sundays, chances are Pampa would never have gotten the opportunity to shake hands with Burgund, a friendly citizen who admits to 54 years.

It was on a drizzly Sunday last April, while Gil and his wife were foot-loose and fancy free vacationing in the great Southwest, that they decided to drive over to Pampa from Amarillo, where they were holding up for the weekend waiting to call for a batch of general delivery mail on Monday.

The Burgunds were a happy semi-retired couple heading for Phoenix in a round-about-way after selling out a bowling alley, they owned and operated in Pasco, Washington, (pop. 45,000) near Richland.

"We wanted to see some of the Panhandle scenery, so we got a map, saw Pampa was pretty close to Amarillo, and decided to drive over," Burgund exclaimed.

"Now, we're thanking our lucky stars we did," he added.

So, Who Wants To Retire?

It was while in Pampa back on that April Sunday that the Burgunds dropped into the Pampa Bowl, here then being operated by Elmer Nichol.

"We asked him how much he wanted for the place in a half-hearted kidding sort of way," Gil points out, and they told us, "Sell? We'll give it away."

"We were sure they wouldn't exactly give it away, but upon checking the growth of Pampa during the past ten years and studying the potential of further growth here, we made up our minds to try and buy the place," Burgund commented.

Family That Plays Together...

"You know, bowling is the only sport I know of that is an entire family sport. A kid starts bowling with his dad and granddad when he's young, bowls with his own children and his wife after he marries, and as a grandfather himself later on, he bowls with his son and grandsons."

"It's a sport where everybody in the family can get into the act, and maybe that's what's wrong with the world today anyway, not enough families sticking together in work and play," Gil said.

Pampa Coaches Ready To Roll

Vacation officially ends here Thursday morning for 75 aspiring young football players and a dozen Pampa grid coaches, who've actually been prepping for the opening of fall training for several weeks now.

Two-a-day workouts for the Pampa High Harvesters and B-team Shockers are slated to begin Thursday morning at 8 p.m.

"We'll work in shorts in the mornings and put on the pads in the afternoons," says Babe Curf, man who opens his first season here as head Harvester grid mentor.

Curfman will be assisted by the same two men who aided departed Jack Lockett with the Green and Gold crew last autumn, line coach Duain Lyon and back coach Eural Ramsey.

Weldon (Bird Dog) Trice will head the Shocker squad, composed chiefly of sophomores, and Deck Woldt will be his assistant. Norman Phillips, head coach last fall at Pampa Junior High, moves over to new Robert E. Lee Junior High this year where he'll be assisted with the Rebels by newcomer Lester Ramsey, younger brother to the Harvester back coach, Eural Ramsey.

Two other new young coaches will handle eighth and seventh grade football at Robert E. Lee. John Dabson will have charge of the eighth graders and John Hale will handle the seventh graders at the new school.

Gene Chance, who assisted Phillips at Pampa Junior High last fall, moves up to the head coaching post of the Reapers. Chance will be assisted by another new man on the local grid scene, Davil Kelly.

Veteran Frank Craig will coach the eighth graders at Pampa Junior High and a seventh grade coach is expected to be named within the next few days.

Both the Reapers and Rebels will launch fall practice next week, after school opens.

Add veterans Clifton McNeely, head Pampa High cage boss, and his aide, Terry Culley, to the Pampa athletic department and you have one of the best rounded staffs in the state.

Most of the qualifying rounds were played in rainy weather, producing unusually high scores in some sections.

Playing over the Southern Hills Country Club course in Tulsa, Pittman picked up seven birdies and one eagle while posting cards of 65 and 67.

The temperature hit 110 degrees at Phoenix, Ariz., but it didn't slow down young Boutell, who had a 70-74-144.

Frank Strafaci, now playing out of Miami Beach, failed to make the grade when he posted a 149 at Jacksonville.

In addition to Strafaci, other "name" golfers who missed the boat to San Francisco were Tim Holland of Rockville Centre, N.Y., former Walker Cupper Jimmy McHale of Philadelphia, and Big Ten Conference champion John Kossek.

Crooner Don Cherry, who now plays out of the Garden City, N.Y., Country Club, led the New York qualifiers with a 72-70-142.

Other prominent golfers who qualified were Bill Campbell of Huntington, W. Va., Chuck Kocsis of Royal Oak, Mich., Gene Andrews of Whittier, Calif., Jack Nicholas of Columbus, Ohio, Gene Dahlbender of Atlanta, Dick Chapman Jr., of Oosterville, Mass., and Ed Meister Jr., of Willoughby, Ohio.

Lt. Hillman Robbins Jr., of Memphis, Tenn., the 1957 amateur champion, was exempt from qualifying along with other members of the U.S., Canadian and Mexican American Cup squads.

The regional qualifying will be completed today when 99 entries vie for 11 berths at Chicago.

Pairings Make Aussies Huge Net Favorites

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI)—The draw and seedings for the United States men's singles championship opening here Friday made Australia's tennis stars stronger favorites to win the title for the third straight year.

The U.S. Lawn Tennis Association virtually sabotaged itself and Vic Seixas, its most experienced tournament player, by refusing to seed him because he hasn't played in any major tournaments this year. That move left the Philadelphia star at the mercy of Tuesday's draw and he drew Kurt Nielsen, two-time Wimbledon finalist from Denmark, in the first round.

Seixas will meet Nielsen, who has been playing in top-notch tournaments for months, before he gets a chance to warm up against an easier opponent.

The luck of the draw dealt U.S. hopes another blow when six of its best players wound up in the same quarter. Ham Richardson, third seeded, from Arlington, Va., and Barry MacKay, fifth seeded from Dayton, Ohio, landed together in the fourth quarter with Sammy Gammalla of Houston, Tex., Herb Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., John Cranston of San Marino, Calif., and Earl Buchholz, national junior champion from St. Louis.

Mal Anderson, the Aussie cowboy who last year became the first unseeded player to win the U.S. men's title, is seeded No. 1 and heads the lower half of the draw. His first opponent will be Bob Perry of Los Angeles. Ashley Cooper, the Wimbledon champion who lost to Anderson in last year's all-Australian final here, is seeded No. 2 and opens against Gordon Davis of Santa Monica, Calif.

They recommended the NCAA approve legislation preventing such scholarships at its meeting next January.

"All the colleges want is to have professional sports leave the student athlete alone until his class graduates," the conference said.

Walter Byers, executive director of the NCAA, said a recent survey showed only 20 of 403 youths signed to professional baseball contracts during the past 10 years ever reached the major leagues.

The survey also showed, he said, that 81 per cent of the college freshmen and 77 per cent of the sophomores who signed pro contracts withdrew from college.

"This shows that a great majority of students affected by such indiscriminate signing end up without an education or a baseball career," Byers said.

Burdette Cops 15th; Turley Registers No.19 Over KC

By JOHN GRIFFIN United Press International

The Yankees figure to clinch their pennant first, but Yankee-killer Lew Burdette is leading a much hotter Milwaukee team toward the World Series.

The "magic number" for a Yankee flag-clinching in the American League was down to just 17 today as a result of Bob Turley's 6-2 triumph over Kansas City on Tuesday—meaning that any combination of Yankee wins and White Sox losses adding to 17 will do the trick, possibly in about two weeks.

The Braves have a more modest number of 22 to shoot at as a result of Burdette's 7-3 victory over San Francisco and probably will have to wait a little longer to uncork the champagne.

But there's no doubt at all which is the hotter club right now. You can see why Casey Stengel's grumbling, because the Yankees have won only 14 and lost 13 in the month of August, a .519 pace compared to the blazing Braves' percentage of .690 on 20 wins and nine losses.

Yanks Fear Him

And Burdette, the man the Yankees fear most after his three wins over them in last year's Series, is the guy shoveling on the coal. His six-hitter over the Giants was his 15th win of the season—nine of them since the mid-season All-Star Game.

Tuesday's win, which Burdette celebrated by getting three hits himself, just about burst the Giants' bubble for this year. It was the Giants' eighth straight loss to the team they were trying to beat out of the pennant, and it dropped them into third place behind the Pittsburgh Pirates, who scored a 5-3 win over St. Louis at night.

In other Tuesday games, Robin Roberts' four-hitter gave the Phillies a 10-3 romp over the Chicago Cubs; ex-Dodger Don Newcombe pitched Cincinnati to a 6-4 win over Los Angeles; Early Wynn pitched and batted the Chicago White Sox to a 5-2 victory over Washington; Baltimore nipped Cleveland, 1-0, in 12 innings. The Detroit at Boston night game was rained out.

Braves Show Power At San Francisco, the Giants staged possibly their last pennant effort when Willie Mays' two-run homer in the sixth inning gave them a 3-3 tie. But then the Braves blasted four homers in the last three innings—two by Ed Matthews and one each by Del Crandall and Wes Covington—to wrap it up.

Turley, the major leagues' top winning pitcher, gained win No. 19 with his eight-hitter over the A's, a team on which he now holds a 15-2 lifetime edge.

SHOP TALK

Ham Luna, left, who is co-director with Leslie Hart of the 22nd annual Top O' Texas Golf Tournament, shoots the breeze with Pampa Country Club pro, Hart Warren, about this year's event. The meet opens Thursday with a West Texas Pro-Am. Qualifying scores will be posted Friday and play will start Saturday.

PRO-AM OPENS TO EVENT TOMORROW

The promise of warm weather and sunny skies greets Texas golfers who'll tee off here Thursday morning in a West Texas Pro-Am to officially kick off five days of links play at the Pampa Country Club in the 22nd annual Top O' Texas Golf Tournament.

Qualifying rounds will be shot Friday by a field that is expected to be around the 160 mark. Actual competition in the tournament which has over $2,000 in prizes awaiting flight winners and runners-up, will begin Saturday with the finals slated Monday.

In the Pro-Am Thursday three amateurs will team with one pro in a foursome and match their shots against the rest of the field.

Scoring is done on a points basis with one point for each bogey turned in, two points for each par carded, three points for each birdie, and four points for each eagle. A hole-in-one would bring 25 points to the team of the player who scores the ace.

Hart Warren, local pro, pointed out Wednesday that some of the Class A amateur players may have to be drafted to play in the role of "pro" in some foursomes if enough area pros don't show up for Thursday morning's drawings.

"We'll try to balance all the foursomes as evenly as possible," Warren commented.

A slice of the $2,000-plus in prizes will be divided by the winning Pro-Am foursome. Entrance fees for the Thursday West Texas Pro-Am is $5 for pros and $3 for amateurs.

The tournament's defending champion from last year, Jimmy Russell who is golf coach at Odesa Junior College, has announced he will be back to defend the crown he captured by two-strokes last year from Pampa's young Melvin Chisum.

Chisum is expected to return from Denver, Colo., today or tomorrow for another crack at the tournament title which eluded him last year. Chisum had a 72-hole total of 280 in last year's tourney while Russell posted a 278. Chisum had led the tournament from opening day until the final 18-holes.

As defending champion, Russell may pass qualifying Friday and automatically take the No. 1 position in the top bracket of the 32-man Championship Flight.

Friday's medalist would be given the No. 1 post in the bottom bracket by tournament officials with hopes the two would perhaps meet in the Monday final.

Russell, however, by passing up qualifying would not have a shot at the $50 prize money which this year's medalist will pocket.

Another challenge facing the huge field expected here is trying to shatter the course record of 82, San Angelo Country Club pro, Dick Turner, set the 9-under-par mark on November 13, 1952, and it hasn't been broken since although it has been seriously threatened on several occasions.

Harris was knocked out in his title fight with Patterson at Los Angeles last week.

Nino Valdes of Cuba rose from sixth to fourth. Archie Moore slipped a peg to fifth, Sweden's unbeaten Ingemar Johansson, European champion, rose from seventh to sixth, and Sonny Liston of Philadelphia returned to the ratings at No. 9.

NEW ORLEANS: George Benton, 160, Philadelphia, outpointed Charley Joseph, 160, New Orleans (10).

SACRAMENTO, Calif.: Bobby Scanlon, 135, San Francisco, outpointed Joey Lopes, 135, Sacramento, (10).

Boy Wonders Post Top Amateur Scores

United Press International

Jerry Pittman and George Boutell, a pair of "boy wonders" from the Southwest, and Don Bispilgoff of Miami Beach, Fla., posted the most impressive scores Tuesday in the sectional qualifying rounds for the 1958 National Amateur golf championship.

Pittman, 21, of Tulsa, Okla., led all qualifiers with an eye-opening 36-hole total of 135, while Boutell, only 14, was the youngest player to earn a berth in the championship flight at San Francisco's Olympic Country Club, Sept. 8-13.

Bispilgoff, four-time Florida champion, bagged eight birdies as he led the Jacksonville section with a 68-69-137.

Kempa And Phillips In Coors Meet

Amarillo — Kempa Humble, champions of the Top O' Texas Softball Tournament here two weeks ago and pennant winners of the Pampa Industrial League, open play in the first annual Coors Invitational Softball Tournament here tonight. Pampa's Phillips 66 also is in the tourney.

Kempa, who never met Amarillo's Coors team in chalking up five straight wins for the Top O' Texas Tourney title, got their feet wet in the opening round here tonight at 9 p.m. against the Coors Beer club. The game will be played at Thompson Park No. 2.

Other games tonight match Amarillo Air base against Independent Softballers and Dumas Potash against Phillips 66 of Pampa, both at 7 p.m. and Rudweiser against Polk Street Methodist in the other 9 p.m. tilt.

Presenting Pampa's New Jr. High School

ROBERT E. LEE JUNIOR HIGH, PAMPA'S NEWEST SCHOOL

Pampa's new two-million-dollar school plant for some 700 junior high school students, located at 23rd and Charles Streets, gleams in the sunlight. A brick and glass building featuring acoustical plaster and semi-fireproof construction, this view is looking north from the 23rd and Charles Streets intersection. At left are the gymnasium facilities while the auditorium and music areas are at the extreme right. The Charles Street, or eastern entrance shown at right-center above is the main school door leading to administrative offices and 9th grade wing. Visitors to the school's open house Thursday night at 7 are asked to use the east doors. (News Photo)

Robert E. Lee Junior High Is A Modern Brick And Glass Building

By JOHN TEED
Pampa News Staff Writer

A dream of Pampa school and civic leaders has finally come true in the form of the new Robert E. Lee Junior High School, located just north of 23rd Street and bounded on the east by Charles Street.

The modern brick and glass building was designed by B. R. Cantrell and Company, local architects, to conform to latest school standards and needs of junior high age students.

In conjunction with its older sister school, Pampa Junior High School, between Browning, Cuyler, Francis, and Frost streets; Robert E. Lee will serve area junior high school students, now totalling 1,000. Seven hundred of the students will locate for study at the new school with the remainder attending junior high classes in the older downtown building.

The new junior high building includes some 115,000 square feet, counting enclosed space at full value and covered outside space at one-half. Total building costs on the structure were approximately one-and-a-half million dollars, broken down into $105,000 electrical costs; $228,000 plumbing and heating costs; and $1,083,000 general construction costs. Cost per square foot for the new building was $12.28.

The modern school plant includes 24 classrooms; two art rooms; one speech room; one audio-visual film room; a home - economics unit consisting of a cooking room, a living room, a sewing room, and a fitting room; one wood shop; a mechanical drawing room; one study hall; an auditorium; a band hall; two gymnasiums; a cafeteria; teachers' lounge; and complete offices for the athletic department, music department, and school administrators. In addition, each department is well furnished with storage space.

A two-way sound system complete with units for records or tape recordings has been installed in the administrative office with speakers and microphones built into the speakers in every room. In addition, programs may be carried through Lee Junior High from the cafeteria and auditorium.

Fluorescent lighting through the school plant is designed to maintain a constant minimum light equalling 50 foot-candles. The heating system, including two boilers and three air-handling units, injects 25 per cent fresh air into each complete circuit of output and return of hot air. Space and connections have been provided for later installation of air refrigeration equipment. Each student will be provided with a private locker in the school's halls.

Both gyms, a boys' and a girls', have been equipped to handle three different age groups simultaneously with separate toilet and shower facilities. Each gym also includes a first-aid room and an office, shower, and toilet for the athletic director.

The entire building is of semi-fireproof construction and utilizes acoustical plaster throughout. Band and choir areas are wainscoted with wood to assure a superior sound atmosphere.

Bids were first received on the building in January of 1957 and contracts were let by the school board in February of that year. Chief contractors were Rayney Construction Co. of Amarillo; Ray Watkins Plumbing Co., also of Amarillo; and Brooks Electric of Pampa. B. R. Cantrell and Company were architects on the project.

THROUGH THESE PORTALS...

Future doctors, lawyers, businessmen, and scientists will pass each day through these doors on the east side of Robert E. Lee Junior High. The portal shown above is the main school entrance and faces Charles Street. Immediately inside the doors is a small lobby of mosaic colored tile which leads into the administrative office area. This is the entrance which visitors at the Lee open house at 7 p.m. should use. (News Photo)

HOME ECONOMICS FACILITIES

Instruction in cooking, sewing, and home management will be offered to older students attending Lee Junior High in well-equipped, modern rooms like the one shown above. Rooms are presently completed except for the installation of cooking stoves. The home economics department also includes a fitting room, sewing room, and a living room. (News Photo)

The Civil Aeronautics Administration has certified for commercial service Lockheed Aircraft's turboprop Electra, which can cruise up to 2,500 miles at 405 miles per hour. First ones will go to Eastern Airlines sometime in October.

The Treasury bill rate has risen to the highest level since Jan. 27. The latest issue of bills sold at an average yield of 2.162 per cent, up from the 1.895 per cent last week. Meanwhile, the Federal Reserve Board approved a boost to 2 per cent from 1 1/2 per cent in the discount rate of the Atlanta Federal Reserve Bank—the third of the 12 to make such a move since Aug. 14.

Media Records Inc. reported general advertising in magazine in newspapers during July rose 6.6 per cent over the similar 1957 month. It was the first time this year this category has topped the year-earlier month. Total linage was down 3 per cent from 1957, against a drop of 6 per cent in June.

Electric utility power plants used 5.8 per cent less coal in the first half of the year than in the first half of 1957, the Federal Power Commission reported. Efficiency continued to improve. Back Stairs At The White House

United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Back stairs at the White House: President Eisenhower's "summer" vacations have become fall ones.

He has made it a practice not to start prolonged vacations until Congress adjourns. Since he became President, only once has Congress adjourned earlier than sometime in August.

Except for one year, 1954, the President has delayed starting his vacation for at least four days so he could handle a good part of the last-minute bills Congress piled on his desk in the adjournment rush.

Last year, the President vacationed at Newport, R.I., from Sept. 4 to Sept. 30.

He was still undecided on his vacation plans as Congress hit the adjournment stretch this year. He appeared inclined toward Newport again. The only other vacation site mentioned around the White House was his farm at Gettysburg, Pa., but the President told reporters last week that he preferred "a little more salubrious climate."

Eisenhower's earliest start on a vacation was Aug. 8, 1953. That was his first year in office. He vacationed at Denver until Sept. 29, his second longest vacation while in the White House.

His longest vacation—again at Denver—was in 1954. He flew there Aug. 21, the day after Congress adjourned, and returned on Oct. 15.

Pointed Toe Shoes Good For Foot Doctors

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Foot doctors declared today that the pointed toes, the absolute latest in female footwear, are putting them in the upper income bracket.

"They're the best thing that ever happened to the foot profession," said Dr. B.L. Anderson, Fairview Park, Ohio.

But he said as a podiatrist (a specialist who care for the feet) he isn't a bit happy about the business bonanza.

Like the hundreds of other podiatrists and chiropodists attending the 46th annual convention of the American Podiatry Assn., they worry about all those aching feet.

Anderson characterized the fashionable pointed toe pumps as "physiologically precarious" and said women are sacrificing a lot of comfort just to be in style.

C. G. Reeves Will Be Custodian

The acres of new glass and polished floors in the Robert E. Lee Junior High School demand constant care. In addition, the 1400 feet and hands soon to enter the new building for the 1958-59 school term promises much tracked mud and dirt and many smudges for the custodial staff to cope with.

Chief of the school's custodians is Cyrus G. Reeves, known to many Pampans as the former custodian of Pampa Senior High's Field House, home of Harvester athletics.

Reeves will be assisted by John M. Hill, Elmer Kieth, J. C. Kennedy, W. B. Griffith, and Earlene Young.

facilities, both trash trucks will be released for use in the residential areas, thereby greatly increasing service in these areas.

The Dempster - Dumpster system of handling consists, basically of one truck-mounted unit and any number of detachable containers, which are spotted at convenient accumulation points. The hydraulically operated Dempster-Dumpster is mounted on a truck and with only one man, the driver, it picks up, hauls and empties on pre-loaded containers after another.

The system will afford much cleaner alleys, give better service and eliminate a fly problem. Since the trash would be enclosed in bins any problems with rodents, dogs, and odor would be eliminated.

Surveys have been made to determine the weekly volume for each block in town to determine the size of container needed and the number of pickups that would be required per week. Some blocks will have only one of the containers while others, will have two, depending on the blume indicated in the survey.

Floyd N. Smith Gets Assistant Principal Post At New School

Robert E. Lee Junior High's assistant-principal for the 1958-59 school term will be Floyd N. Smith. Smith's office will be chiefly concerned with attendance problems incidental to the new school.

The school's second-in-command graduated from East Central State Teachers' College at Ada, Okla., in 1940 with a bachelor of science degree in education. Smith completed his masters degree in science at West Texas State College in 1953.

The assistant principal has a varied background of teaching and business experience. Smith first taught in the Webb School District in 1940. The Webb District is now part of the Lefors and McLean areas. Following a year in the Webb District, Smith was with F. F. Goodrich in Borger until 1947, when he became principal of the grade school at Spearman for one year.

Cafeteria Equipment Modern

Robert E. Lee's spacious 400-person capacity cafeteria features the latest in modern group-feeding equipment. The cafeteria will use the double-line system in feeding the 700 students at the school.

Seventh graders will eat their lunches at 11:50 a.m. each morning while eighth graders will begin their noon meals at noon. Following the eighth graders, the ninth graders will go through the lines beginning each day at 12:05 p.m.

Mrs. H. W. Jack is the cafeteria supervisor. Her assistants for the 1958-59 school year will be Mrs. Carl Estchen, Mrs. Archie Bullard, Mrs. Rufus Holmes, Mrs. Joe Looper, and Mrs. John J. Clark. The cafeteria area includes a faculty and staff dining room equipped with four-person tables.

Mrs. Alexander Manager Of Co-Op, Book Store

Mrs. James B. Alexander has been employed to manage the Robert E. Lee Junior High co-op and bookstore, according to Principal Jack Nichols.

The junior high co-op will sell all school supplies and handle the issue and returns of textbooks for the 700 Robert E. Lee students.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is not license. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in great moral guides as the Golden Rule, The Ten Commandments and the Declaration of Independence.

Bonds Take Beating

The Wall Street Journal has come out with an interesting and trend-suggesting item. It is one relating to the selling of American securities which shows the development of resistance to the purchase of government bonds by American investors.

On Friday, August 8, the stock market ticker in New York printed the following figures: 2 1/2%, Feb, 1956 95.16 95.22 95.30 3.38. Those figures, almost cryptic to a majority of Americans, signify a beating.

They indicate, among other things, that buyers were willing to pay only $95.16 for a $100 Treasury bond issued only two months ago. The fall of these two items, affectionately dubbed 2 1/2%, has cost purchasers real or paper losses totaling well over $300 million.

Thousands of Americans got the bonds originally by putting up 10 percent or less of the purchase price and borrowing the rest. These purchasers counted on a quick rise in price, after which they would be able to sell and make their profit.

Most businessmen felt that the end of the recession was not in sight. Therefore they confidently expected the Federal Reserve to continue its easy-money policies which had continued through the year.

But what happened was that the business outlook began to improve. The purchasers of the 2 1/2% were counting on the idea that the price would not fall. But it did happen and not only has the 2 1/2% market been depressed as a result but in consequence the entire bond market has suffered a severe setback.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOTELS

Frightening Experience of Farmers Dan Smoot in his Aug. 11 "Report" cites the experience of several farmers who have believed they owned their own farms and had a right to plant as much wheat as they wanted for feed on their own farms without the consent of the federal government.

He writes the experience of Stanley Yankus Jr., a son of a Lithuanian immigrant, who when he was 21 years of age in 1940, left a clerk's job in Chicago to make a living with his wife on a farm in Michigan.

In 1954 he planted 38 acres of wheat instead of 12 which the government had allotted to his farm. He was fined $300 for doing so. In succeeding years he continued to plant wheat and the total fines and interest amounted to $3,848.00.

Dan Smoot quotes Yankus as saying: "It's stealing—nothing more than stealing. But here's something that worries me even more. I learned that an FBI agent had been over asking my egg buyer in Benton Harbor a lot of questions."

The above news story has yet to appear in any paper, but I am expecting to see it any day now. And when and if it does, I am going to try my best to get on the jury so I can vote for Feather Hat's acquittal.

Bursitis is a common and painful disorder and a great number of people write me for information about it. In reply to Mrs. M., who asks whether there are certain foods which a person with bursitis should eat, I can reply that so far as is known diet is not a factor.

The TV Indian is a mighty poor hand with a bow and arrow. He can't shoot anywhere near as well as a ten-year-old with his first archery set. It makes one wonder how on earth the Indian killed enough game to keep body and soul together.

There are favorable reports, too, of the results of injection directly into the inflamed area of cortisone or its relatives. Chronic bursitis too often resists treatment. Injection of a local anesthetic into the bursa itself is often useful but may not bring lasting effects.

Albuquerque (ABU) — Simon Clutch, producer of one of TV's most popular westerns, "was scalped by an Indian while watching his legs during a halt of the Los Angeles bulldog Super-Chief today."

In the long run, most victims of bursitis recover, but they often suffer considerable pain and discouragement before this occurs.

DEALING WITH MINORITIES

The descendants of Esau, the twin brother of Jacob, were Edomites. For a number of years the brothers were enemies. In the circumstances it was natural for the descendants of Jacob to dislike the descendants of Esau and to treat them unkindly.

They regarded the publicans as Jewish renegades because they collected taxes from the people as officials of the Roman empire. The Romans were in Judea against the wishes of the Jews. It was natural and inevitable that patriotic Jews should hate those who accepted office and collected taxes for the Romans.

But Jesus treated the publicans with kindness. He made one of them, Matthew, one of his disciples. He attended a feast given by Matthew in honor of his master and there sat down and ate with other publicans. For this Jewish extremists denounced Jesus as the friend of publicans and sinners.

There is no truer test of the genuineness of Christianity than the manner in which Christians treat different minorities. These may be racial minorities or national minorities or religious minorities. But regardless of the character of the minority they belong to the universal brotherhood of man which Christians teach.

The American Way

By GEORGE PECK

Before this appears in print the Congress may have legislated a raise in Social Security payments involving a further increase in the "take" from both employee and employer from 2 1/2 percent to 3 1/2 percent. It seems to have become an established habit for the Congress on the eve of Congressional elections to give (?) the voters increased Social Security payments, of course, while soft-pedaling the fact that there is to be an increased "take" out of the pay envelope.

This further liberalizing of Social Security benefits, despite Administration opposition, is accompanied by another new high in June for the consumer price index. The House Ways and Means Committee has agreed upon a 7 percent increase in benefits under Old-Age and Survivors Insurance (more popularly known as Social Security) to be accompanied by a higher wage base and accelerated tax increases. As aforesaid, this has become a habit, it follows the pattern to broaden coverage and liberalize benefits which has occurred in each election year since 1950.

With the exception of three months, the consumer price index has risen each month since March, 1956. Since the Social Security program was launched it has more than doubled, giving the 1953-1959 dollar purchasing power of about 48 cents. This may look like a good reason for increasing Social Security benefits, but it will only add fuel to the inflationary fire. There can be no satisfactory security unless the dollar is given stable purchasing power.

To the upwards of 31.8 million persons who are now receiving monthly Social Security benefits, the larger checks at first blush will seem to be good news, which it really will not be unless the purchasing power of the dollar is stabilized. But what of the 74 million workers and the more than 8 million employers whose payroll taxes, come January 1, 1959, must meet the growing tax burden? The benefits already have far outstripped early plans and the trust fund reserves decreased in calendar 1957 and in fiscal 1958 for the first time. And even worse, according to the latest estimates, the fund's trustees foresee further shrinkage ahead.

Social Security was born in 1935 as a depression measure, to provide a minimum floor of basic protection. Comparatively few workers were covered from the beginning, but now there are few workers not covered. From 1937 through World War II, Social Security cost the workers from $1 to $2 per month. Now, it costs them nearly $8 per month and this will be even higher in 1959.

This column has repeatedly pointed out that Social Security is neither social nor secure. It should stop calling it an "insurance program." It is not "insurance," as this term is generally understood, it guarantees no performance to the beneficiary. Its obligations are not funded as is the case with other private enterprise insurance companies.

By law the Social Security trust fund must be invested only in U. S. government securities. The more than $22 billion accumulated since 1937, when needed will have to be provided by the Treasury. The Treasury has only two ways of meeting this — taxes or borrowing. Just contrast this with the record of United-States life insurance companies, which increased policies in force by over $150 million from 1937-1958. While doing this they added $70 billion to their assets; and of this amount $34 billion was invested in the securities of business and industry, and $28 billion in mortgages and real estate.

It is high time for the millions of beneficiaries, present and prospective, to examine carefully the latest Social Security proposals. The past record engenders no confidence that the goal of Social Security can be reached — and that same past record indicates that the taxes levied to support it will constantly be increased. Prospective beneficiaries, especially, should realize that without consistent and successful Government action to combat inflation, the consumer price level will continue to rise and wipe out any benefit from increased Social Security payments.

Several private research groups are making complete surveys of this Social Security program. These will be available early in 1959, and all of us will do well to study them. They should be most revealing.

Looking Sideways

By Whitney Bolton

MONTAUK, L. I. N. Y. — It takes so dreamer to see that the practical solution to international traffic by air and sea, as it affects New York itself or as the Eastern gateway to the nation is Montauk, here at the tip of Long Island, jutting into the open sea for 100 miles, is the obvious place for a transatlantic air terminal of vast size, the kind of size only a few coming years will demand. Shippers by sea have said it is just as obviously the place to conclude transatlantic voyages by liner, it has room for all the docks necessary to berth liners and freighters alike and it is accessible to New York, The Long Island Railroad, given enough traffic to warrant the schedules, already has said it would furnish fast and modern boat-trains, as in Europe, and makers of helicopters and feeder-line type airplanes have signified ability and willingness to take air passengers into New York at LaGuardia Field.

City planners, envisioning a New York sprawling out for another 50 or more miles from its present borders, say that with less than half a century ago, and feeder-line type airplanes have signified ability and willingness to take air passengers into New York at LaGuardia Field.

Jet airliners not only are already with us, in the British overseas service, but American passenger jets are only a few months off to most of the major airports. Up to now both LaGuardia and Idlewild have been closed to this type of plane because of noise. British engineers have put noise suppressors on their jet liners and have flown one to New York for noise tests with sensitive decibel meters. This far the noise remains too loud and too filled with vibration for dwellers in the airport areas to take the strain night and day. Obviously, if air travel cannot be stopped and will not be stopped and if the authorities of New York City heed the protests and ban jet liners from the two major airports, New York will lose its stature as an air terminal.

Until this season alone the agitation for the use of Montauk has grown. There are, as yet, few housing communities out here. A few motels are present, two luxury hotels and a few private dwellings. There would not now or in the foreseeable future be any problem with noise from air traffic. The same modern, luxury, swift boat-trains or fast, dependable helicopter service would not cause undue inconvenience to air and sea travelers coming across the ocean. Already the Long Island Railroad has luxury trains, with the parlor cars, bar service and air-conditioning. It could, if the traffic warranted, increase the number of them and make the trip into mid-Manhattan palatable and fast.

Several private research groups are making complete surveys of this Social Security program. These will be available early in 1959, and all of us will do well to study them. They should be most revealing.

An Interview With Three Dazzling Hollywood Blondes

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—The nation's three most dazzling blondes—Marilyn Monroe, Kim Novak, and Jayne Mansfield—are roosting in Movietown this week, and comparisons among them are not only a male prerogative but a downright duty.

We've talked to all three—an awesome assignment—and concluded they are as different as the shades of their blonde tresses. For the record, the girls stack up this way in the curve department: Marilyn 37-23-34; Jayne 40-22-35½; Kim 37-23-37½.

But one barely notices the differences in dimensions. It's the look in their eyes, their personalities and individual approach to the opposite sex that stir a man's powers of concentration.

Eyes Tell Story
Marilyn's blue eyes are wary and reflect a feminine desire to be protected from the rigors of being a movie star. Jayne, on the other hand, flirts shamelessly from beneath her long eyelashes, and protection seems the farthest thing from her mind.

Kim is different from both. Her hazel eyes are penetrating, outrageously sad. The fact she is single, while the other two are married, adds an extra gleam.

Marilyn carefully steers the conversation. Her personal life, husband Arthur Miller and past marriages are taboo. Jayne girl boasts about her Mickey Hargitay and will discuss anything from sex to Texas state. Kim is a soul-searcher. She fixes you with a bewitching smile and talks freely and intelligently about her thoughts.

Want To Act
All three are patented "made-in-Hollywood" actresses. Marilyn's famous calendar catapulted her to stardom. Jayne made it on the strength of a personal publicity campaign. Kim was groomed by Columbia Studios to replace Rita Hayworth as queen of the lot.

The girls have one thing in common. They're determined to become top-flight actresses in the realization their beauty won't last opposite sex that stirs a man's forever.

Their reactions to compliments vary greatly. Marilyn, who has been around longest, appears embarrassed when her beauty is praised. Jayne bubbles happily, like a high school girl. Kim is likely to throw her arms around the admirer or buss him soundly on the cheek.

Some Interesting Questions
Naturally, the question arises which is sexiest, most beautiful, most natural, the best company? Up close, where you can see through the makeup, Kim rates highest for pure facial beauty, augmented by warmth and naturalness.

Traffic Has Domestic Flavor

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI)—The activities of traffic authorities had a decided domestic flavor Monday.

In Municipal Court, Henry A. Gough, 45, was fined $115 for beating his wife while driving along a downtown street.

And Mrs. Kathleen Tucker Westmoreland was charged with following too closely after her car accidentally rammed into one driven by her husband, knocked over three parking meters and banged into the front of a store.

Marilyn weaves a spell of mystery, and her four-alarm figure would probably win a bathing beauty contest among the trio. She's not an easy girl to know.

When it comes to swinging glamour, a cute (unrehearsed) quip and outright good company Jayne takes over. She might well score highest in an I.Q. test, too.

Sexiest?

Aw, c'mon. That's the toughest decision in the world.

Did The Cost Of Living Rise Or Fall Last Month?

By CLYDE H. FAENSWORTH
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI)—Did the cost of living rise or fall last month?

The government said it rose by 0.2 per cent. The National Industrial Conference Board, a highly respected private research group, said it fell—by 0.1 per cent.

The Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics started keeping tabs on the cost of living in October, 1919. The conference board started in mid-1918.

Since those days there have been times when the indexes have agreed precisely. At other times they have disagreed widely. What accentuates the current difference is not so much the gap of .2 of a percentage point but the occurrence of the gap at the point where it means either a rise or a decline.

Two Different Methods
Aw, c'mon. That's the toughest decision in the world.

Both Establish Trend

In the transportation component both indexes gather data quarterly with some data for the BLS collected semi-annually.

An analysis of both indexes shows that month-to-month differences between them generally iron themselves out—and established a trend over a period of several months.

Take the May and June changes in the public transportation segments of both indexes, for example. In May the BLS showed costs steady and in June an 0.9 per cent rise, while the NICB showed costs up 0.04 per cent in May and 0.3 per cent in June.

Averaging the changes over the two-month period gives a difference of only 2 points.

One heartening thing for consumers about both indexes is that they show living costs are leveling out. And Commissioner of Labor Statistics Ewan Clague comes up with this optimistic note: Price stability should persist for "six months, maybe a year."

Soldiers Saving Rice In Korea?

SEOUL (UPI)—Korea's Vice Minister of Defense Chol Se Whang said today he "will look into" newspaper reports that local army commanders are granting extended leaves to soldiers to save rice.

According to the newspaper reports, the commanders in some areas granted long furloughs to soldiers to save rice and make up deficits in the rice supply caused by misappropriation.

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Actor Edward G. Robinson, 65, was in "satisfactory" condition today at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital where he underwent a minor bladder operation Wednesday.

But one barely notices the differences in dimensions. It's the look in their eyes, their personalities and individual approach to the opposite sex that stir a man's powers of concentration.

Eyes Tell Story
Marilyn's blue eyes are wary and reflect a feminine desire to be protected from the rigors of being a movie star. Jayne, on the other hand, flirts shamelessly from beneath her long eyelashes, and protection seems the farthest thing from her mind.

Kim is different from both. Her hazel eyes are penetrating, outrageously sad. The fact she is single, while the other two are married, adds an extra gleam.

Marilyn carefully steers the conversation. Her personal life, husband Arthur Miller and past marriages are taboo. Jayne girl boasts about her Mickey Hargitay and will discuss anything from sex to Texas state. Kim is a soul-searcher. She fixes you with a bewitching smile and talks freely and intelligently about her thoughts.

Want To Act
All three are patented "made-in-Hollywood" actresses. Marilyn's famous calendar catapulted her to stardom. Jayne made it on the strength of a personal publicity campaign. Kim was groomed by Columbia Studios to replace Rita Hayworth as queen of the lot.

The girls have one thing in common. They're determined to become top-flight actresses in the realization their beauty won't last opposite sex that stirs a man's forever.

Their reactions to compliments vary greatly. Marilyn, who has been around longest, appears embarrassed when her beauty is praised. Jayne bubbles happily, like a high school girl. Kim is likely to throw her arms around the admirer or buss him soundly on the cheek.

Some Interesting Questions
Naturally, the question arises which is sexiest, most beautiful, most natural, the best company? Up close, where you can see through the makeup, Kim rates highest for pure facial beauty, augmented by warmth and naturalness.
