After McClellan Statement

Teamsters Probe Ends

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Rackets Committee prepared to close the books today on what one member called "a great record of misconduct" in the Teamsters Union.

The committee wound up seven weeks of hearings late Thursday but left its record open for a closing statement by Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) Summing up the Teamsters investigation, McClellan said he would make it public later today or Saturday.

The committee devoted a large part of its final session to a long, involved examination of what chief counsel Robert F. Kennedy described as "fraud, collusion and favoritism" in millions of dollars worth of Teamsters insurance business.

Went To Friend
It purported to show Teamsters president James R. Hoffa channeled the lucrative account of the Central State Teamsters Conference through his friend, Allen Dorfman of Chicago, who shared in about $1,400,000 worth of commissions over seven years.

This, according to staff investigators, was about a million dollars more than the average commission rate.

In addition, they said the Union Casualty Co. which got the insurance was not the low bidder. They said it collected some $650,000 more than the other bidder would have got in the first three years the policy was in effect.

Hoffa, questioned earlier, denied he promised to help Dorfman get the insurance. He said he told Dorfman he probably would get it if Dorfman's bid was competitive.

Artillery Counters Job Dangerous

By CHARLES SMITH
United Press International
TAIPEI (UPI) — The men who count the artillery rounds the Communists fire at the shell-battered Quemoy Islands have a dangerous job. But they keep a fairly accurate count considering the circumstances.

Since the first heavy Red shelling barrage last Aug. 23, the Communists have pounded the Quemoy Islands with more than a quarter million artillery rounds—252,811 to be exact.

The counting generally is done by experienced artillery officers who usually work in pairs.

They stand outside well-protected pillboxes or bunkers when possible with binoculars, if it is daylight. One of them may tally while the other observes if the shelling is distant but in their territory. Or they both may keep separate tallies.

The sporadic shelling is easy to count and the count is very accurate. The concentrated shelling involves a lot of guesswork sometimes but is usually educated guesswork.

They generally know when the heavy Red bombardments are coming, and now are well prepared to count the rounds.

For instance, the heavy shelling usually comes when a supply convoy arrives or a plane arrives at the island. The shelling at first in these cases is usually concentrated in relatively small areas. It usually spreads to other areas a few hours later.

This is as close to a pattern as the Reds have come in their shelling.

I watched two artillery officers tally the number of shells fired in a fairly large beach area during a Nationalist attempt to land supply ships on Heatao Beach on Quemoy.

At best they could only estimate the number of rounds falling in their area.

When the shelling subsided to a point where it was possible to count individual rounds, they used that method. When the shelling stopped temporarily they compared notes and made adjustments.

Their final figures for a particular shelling period are sent to the defense command along with similar reports from other areas.

Cease Fire Offered

By K. C. THALER
United Press International

LONDON (UPI) — Communist China has offered a cease fire in the Formosa Strait in return for immediate evacuation of the off-shore islands of Quemoy and Matsu, informed diplomatic sources reported today.

The sources said the United States has told Communist China a cease fire must come first. In return, the diplomats said, the off-shore islands might be neutralized.

This was held to imply the United States would try to persuade Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek to cease using the islands as a base for raids on the Communist Chinese mainland.

The diplomatic sources said these opposing stands were taken by the United States and Communist China respectively at the ambassadorial talks in Warsaw which opened earlier this week.

The source said neither side has budged so far from its stand but that further negotiations may show whether the Peiping regime is prepared to make some concessions to end the Formosa crisis.

Dulles Adopts Stiff Stand On Issue

By STEWART HENSLEY
United Press International

WASHINGTON, (UPI)—American officials said today Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is laying the groundwork for what he considers an almost inevitable United Nations showdown on the continued warfare in the Formosa Strait.

The secretary, in effect, intends to demand members of the 81-nation world organization stand up and be counted or condone the Chinese Communists' avowed intention to use force to take Quemoy and eventually Formosa.

Dulles was represented here as being "fed up" with some nations which are quick to invoke U.N. help when they are in danger but critical of the United States when it tries to invoke the same anti-aggression principles in behalf of areas in which they are less interested.

May Chase Red Planes
The secretary's stiff stand was disclosed amid these other Washington developments on the Far East crisis:

The Defense Department said U.S. pilots attacked by Red Chinese planes over the Formosa Strait have authority to chase their attackers over the China mainland, but not to bomb mainland bases. This is a partial relaxation of the "privileged sanctuary" policy which kept U.S. planes from crossing the Yalu River into Communist China during the Korean War.

Informed sources said Nationalist China probably would agree to a cease-fire agreement in the Formosa Strait but would not agree to withdraw its troops from the Quemoy and Matsu islands.

Such a cease-fire agreement was said to be the U.S. goal in current talks with Red China in Warsaw, Poland.

Not Likely To Succeed
Preparations by American officials here and at the U.N. reflect their feeling, according to informed sources, that the current Warsaw talks are not too likely to result in a lasting cease-fire agreement.

They said that if the Warsaw negotiations drag on with no prospect of progress, the United States probably would go ahead and seek U.N. condemnation of continued Communist attacks on Quemoy since Dulles regards the danger as acute as long as the Red shelling continues.

Members of the U.N. got their first hint of Dulles' tough new attitude on standing up for principles of the U.N. charter in the speech the secretary made Thursday to the General Assembly. He said some U.N. members appeared to be "forgetting" the "teachings of history" and were becoming less and less prepared to support basic principles.

1st American Casualty On Quemoy

By WILLIAM MILLER
United Press International

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI) — The first American casualty of the Red Chinese bombardment of Quemoy was flown to Formosa today aboard a Nationalist transport plane through a hail of Communist artillery shells.

He was Army Sp4 George W. Johnston of 1117 Hightstone St., Springdale, Pa., who arrived from the shell-battered island aboard a World War II two-engine C-47. Eight seriously wounded Chinese soldiers also were aboard.

Johnston, who was hit by a shell fragment during a Communist bombardment, walked off the plane with his left arm in a bloody sling.

"I don't remember just how it happened," Johnston told United Press International. "The shells were popping all over the place."

Johnston said he was the only American out of the approximately 30 military advisers stationed on Quemoy to be hit by Communist fire in the current crisis.

In 1955, he said, two American officers were killed by Communist fire on Quemoy. He said the rest of the Americans on Quemoy today were doing well and have a good supply of food.

Atlas Test Is A Failure

By RICHARD F. ROPER
United Press International

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — The Air Force went back to work today determined to make the next attempt at a 6,325-mile Atlas intercontinental missile flight a success.

The first attempt at sending the 100-ton Atlas — the nation's first intercontinental ballistic missile — on an ocean-spanning flight Thursday ended in explosion after only 30 seconds of flight. But another effort appeared likely soon.

Success would have meant the United States had at last countered Russia's boast it alone has an ICBM that could devastate targets on another continent with a hydrogen warhead. The Soviets have said they shot a tactical missile more than 5,000 miles in August, 1957.

The Air Force, which rarely offers an explanation of a failure, made no exception to the rule after Thursday's flop. In a brief statement after the blowup, officials said only that the Atlas "exploded and destroyed itself" and that the "cause of the malfunction is not yet known."

If the flight had been successful, the massive weapon would have climbed almost 600 miles above the earth, and moments later would have dropped its special nose cone into the South Atlantic at a predetermined area 6,325 miles from Cape Canaveral.

Unlike the first fully-powered Atlas that wobbed up and exploded after two seconds of flight July 19, the missile fired Thursday rose skyward in apparently perfect takeoff. But 80 seconds later, it blew up in a brilliant ball of orange flame and plunged in smoking fragments into the Atlantic.

Demo Party Unwraps Its Arguments
By RAYMOND LAHR
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Democratic Party took the wraps off its major campaign arguments today and recommended that its candidates concentrate on President Eisenhower's "failure of leadership," Vice President Richard M. Nixon's "doubletalk" and the "Adams scandal."

The Democratic National Committee was distributing a "Democratic Fact Book" designed to provide party leaders, candidates and precinct workers with ammunition on every national election issue.

The 96-page document led off with four pages arguing that President Eisenhower has "abandoned the leadership of the office of president." It said this alleged lack of direction was to blame for the recession. Soviet advantages in science and weapons, loss of friends abroad and "GOP corruption in high places" were listed.

Hits All Issues
The 1958 campaign outline, made public late Thursday, attacked the President more boldly than have previous Democratic election-year broadsides since Eisenhower assumed office, including some criticism of his fondness for golf. It devoted eight pages to "doubletalk" charges against Nixon and one page to Presidential Aide Sherman Adams' gifts from and relations with Bernard Goldfine, the New England businessman, captioned "Adams Scandal Shakes Public Confidence in Government."

Equal space is given to a favorable review of the record of the Democratic-controlled Congress for the past two years and to giving Democrats credit for supplying leadership to meet defense, economic and other problems.

Nixon was accused of talking on both sides of such issues as:

Low Bidder Rejected

Testimony showed the union tossed out the first round of sealed bids in which the Pacific Mutual Co. was low and called for new ones. Pacific Mutual was again low but was told by Hoffa it was unacceptable because the company had some financial difficulties in 1936.

Investigators said they later found bids submitted by other companies in the files of Union Casualty.

Lollipop Questionnaire

COLDWATER, Mich. (UPI) — Do lollipops have an effect on opinions?
This southern Michigan city of 9,000 may be able to answer that question next week.

"Operation Lollipop" started Thursday when the Parent-Teacher Association handed out questionnaires, with a kicker, to students at the Coldwater School.

PTA authorities explained parents have been lax in responding to questionnaires in the past. The kicker is expected to get results.

The PTA told the students if they bring back the questionnaires, properly filled in by their parents, they will be rewarded with lollipops—all favors.

UAW To Decide On GM, Chrysler Strike Deadlines

By JACK VANDENBERG
UPI Automotive Editor

DETROIT (UPI) — The United Auto Workers union will decide today whether it will set a deadline for a strike against either General Motors or Chrysler.

A union spokesman said the question will be considered at a meeting of the UAW's executive board.

The official notice of the meeting said the board would review the agreement the union reached Wednesday with Ford and the "status of negotiations with the other two major auto producers, General Motors and Chrysler."

It was at a similar meeting on Sept. 10 that the union set a Wednesday deadline for a strike at Ford. A settlement with Ford was reached only six hours after the deadline passed.

Progress Not Enough
Ford still was crippled by the strike, however, as workers were slow to return to their jobs and the strikes were continued wherever there were local grievances to be solved. A company spokesman said most of the workers were expected to be back on the job by Monday.

Both GM and Chrysler reported some progress in talks with the union Thursday but not enough to avoid a strike threat.

Douglas Fraser, administrative assistant to UAW president Walter P. Reuther and top union negotiator at Chrysler, warned the company negotiators he would ask Chrysler to be named as a strike target if progress didn't pick up.

Makes Similar Threat
UAW vice president Leonard Woodcock, chief union negotiator at GM, indicated he would ask the board to indicate GM the target if progress didn't improve.

"It is time for us to quit fooling around," he said.

Negotiators for both companies appeared to be waiting until they could obtain copies of the Ford settlement before making any similar offers.

But the negotiators emphasized contracts with General Motors and Chrysler would not be carbon copies of the Ford pact.

Cost Of Living In Small Decrease

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The cost of living dipped .2 of 1 per cent last month, the government reported today. The August drop was the first in two years.

The Labor Department's monthly report said seasonal declines in food prices and small declines in clothing costs outweighed price rises for other basic family goods and services.

The Consumer Price Index, based on the 1947-49 price average slipped from 123.9 in July to 123.7 in August. Though lower than July's the August figure was 2.2 per cent higher than a year ago.

Ewan Clague, commissioner of labor statistics, said the August dip did not herald any continuing drop in living costs. He emphasized that the August drop reflected heavy seasonal marketing of meats, fruits, and vegetables.

"This is no downward trend," Clague said. "The index is now tending to stabilize."

Clague said food prices probably would decline somewhat further this month and then level off.

The report said food prices dropped .5 of 1 per cent from July to August as lower prices of fresh fruits and vegetables, meats, and poultry more than offset markups for eggs, milk, and restaurant meals.

Clothing costs slipped .1 of 1 per cent, reflecting widespread reductions for men's and boys' sports shirts, men's socks, slacks, shorts, and suits, and women's nylon hose.

Widow Held On Theft Charge

DANVILLE, Va. (UPI) — A widow with eight children was held here today on a charge of stealing eight pairs of children's socks from a local store.

Mrs. Ophelia Barker Gammon, 42, of Pelham, N.C., told officers after her arrest Thursday she had no money and took the socks because her children needed them badly.

Mrs. Gammon, whose only income is a $49 monthly payment from the Welfare Department, was jailed when she was unable to raise $150 bond.

3-Way Dispute Over Red China UN Admission

By BRUCE W. MUNN
United Press International
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — A three-way dispute over admission of Communist China to the United Nations delayed work of the General Assembly today. A decision could come this morning.

The assembly's 21-member general steering committee called a mid-morning meeting to decide on one of three courses:

1. An Indian demand backed by Russia for a full debate later in the assembly session on whether China's U.N. seat rightfully belongs to the Chiang Kai-shek of the Mao Tse-tung government.

The seat carries with it the right of veto in the Security Council.

2. An American proposal backed by Britain and most of the other Western Powers that the issue be shelved for the duration of this assembly — the course adopted by the assembly in recent years.

3. A compromise proposal favored by Ireland and several other countries that neither India nor the United States push its proposals to a vote as long as the Warsaw negotiations are in progress.

The United States opposed the compromise, and an American spokesman predicted another vote to postpone consideration of the question. The assembly voted in its last session 48-27 to shelve action on the issue.

A showdown session originally was scheduled for Thursday afternoon, and Assembly President Charles Malik of Lebanon cancelled it. The Americans were reported annoyed because they were not informed in advance.

Malik rescheduled the meeting for this morning and it was necessary to postpone actual work of the General Assembly till 3 p. m.

The explanation of Malik's action was that a speech by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko attacking the U. S. position on Formosa ran so long it was impractical for the General committee to meet.

Speeches by Gromyko and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles Thursday clarified further the opposing Russian-American stands on seating Communist China.

Dulles said the behavior of Red China in the Formosa Strait disqualified Peiping from membership under the U. N. charter. Only "peace-loving" nations are to be admitted.

Gromyko called Chiang a "masquerade figure" and said the Peiping government represented one-quarter of the world's inhabitants.

Poland, host nation for the Warsaw talks between U. S. Ambassador Jacob Beam and Communist Chinese Ambassador Wang Ping-nan, joined the Soviet bloc Thursday night in demanding admittance for Red China. A Polish government statement blamed the United States for the Formosa tension and said Red China should have the seat "which should have belonged to it for years."

Nationalist Ships Supply Quemoy

By AL KAFF
United Press International

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI)—Three Nationalist Chinese cargo ships cracked the crumbling Communist blockade of Quemoy today and delivered their supplies under heavy fire.

The United States meanwhile disclosed it is sending new guided missiles to Formosa.

The lumbering LSTs (landing ships, tanks) left over from World War II nosed through the Red shellfire saturating Big Quemoy's yellow sand beach at noon and unloaded their cargo under "severe" bombardment." The Defense Ministry announced.

The landing ships, which fully loaded can carry 1,300 tons of supplies each, were escorted by U. S. 7th Fleet and Nationalist warships. A communiqué said none of the ships were hit and the convoy completed its mission safely.

It was the largest number of ships to deliver supplies to Quemoy's 150,000 soldiers and civilians since warships started shepherding cargo vessels into Red China's artillery barrages on Sept. 7.

The U. S. Taiwan Defense Command announced today ground-to-air Nike-Hercules missiles are being assigned to Formosa and that preliminary work already has begun on four sites on the main Nationalist island.

The Nike-Hercules missiles which have a range of 75 to 100 miles are the second missiles sent here. A major assault missile which can flash several hundred miles onto the Communist mainland have been in Formosa more than a year.

The missile stations will operate under command of Lt. Col. Bernard I. Greenberg of Wilmington, Del.

Eight Chinese Nationalist soldiers flown out from Quemoy today disclosed the Communists were shelling Quemoy with incendiary bombs. The eight men were burned badly and were taken from the plane on stretchers swathed in bandages.

Drowning Quickest Way To Kill Plants This Southern Gardening Expert States

By AILEEN SNOODY NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (NEA) — What is a "green thumb"? The Gardener of the Year calls it love of plants and the soil.

And to plant killers of the world, Mrs. C. L. Collins of Sylacauga, Ala., says "You've got to have that green thumb to be a blooming success."

Maggie Collins dropped this discouraging news while in Manhattan to enjoy prizes of a national contest involving 900 garden clubs.

In addition to the gardener title, she'll take home an aluminum greenhouse.

Mrs. Collins is so much in love with her hobby that she admits, "I never sell my plants. But I do love to give them away," she says.

HER YEN FOR growing things began in a high school botany class. From there, while her three children were growing, she read all she could find on the subject.

Today she calls herself a self-taught gardener but chatters like a botanical encyclopedia. As a judge, she is a familiar sight in Southern flower show circles.

For those who have mild interest but little knowledge of flowers and arrangements, she reveals what wins the ribbons at floral competitions.

A judge simply looks for perfection in color and texture. In point score, judging there are points for length of stem, color of leaves and stems, texture of petals and absence of disease.

If you are thinking of entering a favorite petunia in the next flower show, Mrs. Collins suggests you become a garden club member. In a club, members learn winning requirements and can enter certain classes of arrangements such as French, Colonial, Early American and Persian with more confidence.

IT SEEMS this gray-haired grandmother is always boosting garden club activity. Just as some women are lifelong bride-clubbers, Mrs. Collins found a home with garden clubs after founding one in a Mississippi town in 1928.

They're good both for education, and comfort — especially when a plant turns up its toes and dies. There are a half-million national club members ready to sympathize.

She also tells beginners to select plants like zinnias, marigolds or petunias for first efforts. They'll grow with little frustration on your part.

Mrs. Collins passed that stage years ago, however. Now she puts professionally about the greenhouse attached to her home planting and tending rare and unusual plants. She is proud of her orchids and now is nurturing a special pink day lily. And she may market a "new" flower one of these days.

"I LOVE variety in flowers and am always looking for something new," she says. And then adds, "I think this where men and women gardeners differ. It seems men tend to specialize. And they like their plants big. The bigger, the better."

Although she believes it takes love to make things grow, Mrs. Collins also is faithful to organic chemistry, a la compost heap. And she uses her ceramics hobby to display her blooms to perfection.

Before scooting off down a "tree-lined" Manhattan street, she offered this advice to those who like a few plants around the house. "It is better to underwater than overwater. The quickest way to kill a plant is to drown it."

Gardener of the Year Mrs. C. L. Collins shows some of the flowers she's grown in her Sylacauga, Ala., back yard.

Teenagers, To Avoid Round Shoulders, Must Shift Books To Balance Load

By ALICIA HART NEA Beauty Editor

Teen-agers who don't want to wind up with one shoulder higher than the other should learn now the effective trick of shifting books (or bundles) from one arm to the other. This distributes the weight evenly and also makes the toting less tiresome for you.

Right along with this, avoid the business of clutching books to your chest, lest you turn out round-shouldered. Many teen-agers make use of a lightweight case for carrying books. This is a good idea since it simplifies the whole thing, keeps the books together and makes it possible to shift the case from one hand to the other with ease.

These zippered cases come equipped with a carrying handle that makes the whole load seem a lot lighter.

This is the time of year when transition fashions are a girl's best friends: dark cottons, wool knits and dark silk prints. It's also the time to put like in the old wardrobe through accessories.

Trot out your new fall shoes and wear them. Discard summer's while cotton gloves and perk up your dark clothes with gooves in brilliant colors. Wear some of your new costume jewelry in deep and flashing colors. Put away your summer cologne and floral scents and get out those rich and sophisticated perfumes that suggest autumn.

All of these are ways to help you feel prettier and therefore to look prettier to others.

As nearly as anyone can figure out, there are about 40 million overweight people in this country today. That means a lot of extra pounds are being carted around uselessly.

It also means poor health, bad figures, clothes problems and quite likely, social problems arising from an unattractive appearance. For the truth is, almost any woman looks better when she sheds weight.

To do this, you need to cut calories. You don't need to starve yourself but you do need to discipline yourself. You do need to cut out between-meal snacks and you do need, until the extra weight is off, to be conscious of every single thing you eat. This means three carefully planned meals a day, no liquor, no candy, and a strong will marshaled to resist temptation.

But the effort pays off, remember, in a younger-looking, prettier, slimmer who can wear the new fashions beautifully.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

At the commuters' bar where Harry K. stops in for a double martini before catching the 6:30 home, it always ends with his drinking three or four.

"Let someone mention a business trip east — and he'll say too heartily, 'If you drop in at the Stork, just tell Billingsley you know me'."

Before he finally leaves his too-lavish tip on the bar, everyone within hearing distance has learned about the "little 15-room shack" that set me back $45,000; about what his friend Senator So-and-so privately thinks of the school integration law; how you can't go wrong with one of the cigars he's got some fellows in Havana to make up especially for him.

Mr. K. doesn't enjoy bragging like this. He's deeply aware of the look of appraising contempt it always brings into people's eyes. He knows that they're seeing past the big talk to the shrinking self behind. But he can't help bragging about all the important things he can do any more than he can restrict himself to one double martini.

He's one of the reasons why child training books say over and over, "Accept your child for what he is, not for what he can do."

Their plea is meaningless until we begin to connect it up with tormented people like Harry K.

Even then it's not easy to act on it.

But so fruitful is even an occasional acceptance of a child for himself instead of for the important things he can do that we don't have to worry if we fail at it a lot of the time.

Accepting a child for what he is, not for what he can do is to be able to mean and say things like these: "Will you give me your permission to show Grandma your final report card?"

"The fact that you like this new friend so much is all I need to know about him." "I don't want you to tell me the truth unless you want to give it to me."

If just once in a while we accept a child for what he is, not for his ability to produce promotions, desirable friends, moral triumphs and other successes, he will not have to use his successes as a substitute for self-respect as poor Harry K. is doomed to do.

Just once in a while, that's all.

Good posture can be relaxed. Many pull themselves up tightly with a resulting pompous or sway-backed look. Stand straight, but relax and lift your head so your gaze is level. Pull out the small of the back and tuck hips under. Relax knees slightly and hold hands gracefully at the side.

New Chapter In Novelist's Life Told

MONTEREY, Calif. (UPI) — Another chapter in the romantic story of novelist John McPartland came to light today with the disclosure that the best-selling author had not two but three mates and seven children.

This became known when Mrs. Ida McPartland, Mill Valley, Calif., McPartland's "true wife" and mother of his son, Donald, 10, went to court in nearby Salinas Thursday.

She petitioned to be named special administratrix of the estate. In her petition, she listed as a possible heir to the estate another daughter, Cynthia, "over 21." She told newsmen she knew no other details of her daughter except that she was the child of an "early marriage."

McPartland, author of "No Down Payment," died Sunday at the age of 47. He suffered a heart attack.

News dispatches listed as his survivors his wife, Eleanor, and their five children. On Wednesday, Ida appeared on the scene and said she was McPartland's wife and had never been divorced from him. Eleanor confirmed the story.

Ida said McPartland had commuted between his two families in Monterey and Mill Valley for the past 10 years.

In her petition, Ida listed Eleanor's five children as "possible heirs."

She asked special letters of administration of the author's estate "because assets of the deceased are in the control of a third person who refuses to disclose their extent and some of which are being used for the benefit of individuals not entitled thereto."

She did not name the "third person."

US Milk Not Absorbing Radioactivity

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. Public Health Service has said milk produced in this country has not absorbed dangerous amounts of radioactivity despite recent American and Soviet nuclear bomb tests.

The service reported late Thursday that its tests in nine key areas showed the presence of radioactivity was well within recommended safety levels.

The safety standards are recommended by the national committee on radiation protection and measurement, an organization sponsored by various groups interested in the problem. The service's latest report covered May, June and July.

A curie is a measure of radioactivity equivalent to that produced by one gram of radium. A microcurie is one -millionth of a millionth of a curie.

Strontium 90 is a substance chemically similar to calcium which is absorbed by the bones when it penetrates the body. Over doses cause leukemia and bone cancer, according to medical authorities.

foreign policy, civil rights, inflation, education and other issues. A set of Nixon quotations is provided.

Another eight pages was devoted to the "GOP recession."

"Clean Government 'Myth'"

Other sections deal with such subjects as inflation, agriculture, civil rights, corruption, education, health, housing, labor, power, small business, taxes, veterans, foreign policy and defense.

On civil rights, the booklet says the 1957 civil rights law showed that a Democratic Congress could act on the issue. It criticizes the personal endorsement to the Supreme Court decision against segregated schools and blames his "do-nothing policy" for "school crises" in the South.

In the "corruption" section, the pamphlet says that "one of the biggest myths of the Eisenhower-Nixon administration is that it has given America a clean government."

It says Eisenhower has allowed wrong-doers to stay in government or to leave with letters of praise and has tolerated "unprecedented high-level corruption."

Girl Scout Course Slated

A basic Leadership Course for new Girl Scout Leaders in Skellytown and White Deer and any other individual interested in scouting will be offered Sept. 22-29 in White Deer Parish Hall from 9:30-11:30 and 12:30-2:30; on Oct. 2 at Camp Mel Davis from 9:30-2:30; and on Oct. 6 from 9:30-11:30 and 12:30 to 2:30 back in the Parish Hall. A similar course will be offered to Pampa leaders the latter part of October.

Mrs. Jane Kadingo, executive Girl Scout director, will conduct the course, which is designed to give leaders the knowledge, program skills and confidence to carry out the Girl Scout program in their troops. Mrs. Kadingo also states that it will be helpful for troop committee members.

De Gaulle's Plans Could Be Upset

PARIS (UPI) — Creation of an Algerian government-in-exile could upset French Premier Charles de Gaulle's peace plans for Algeria, informed sources said today.

They said it could also bring France's relations with Morocco and Tunisia close to the breaking point and embarrass the United States as well.

The rebel National Liberation Front was expected to announce establishment of a "free" Algerian government in Cairo today.

Government officials here have been hoping Algerian participation in the Sept. 28 referendum on De Gaulle's new constitution would ease the conflict over Algerian demands for independence.

But establishment of a rebel government in Cairo would mean Algerian leaders were ready and willing to continue the struggle indefinitely, in the opinion of some observers here.

As for the United States, it would be placed in the position of having to recognize or ignore the new regime. Recognition would severely strain relations with France, and Paris officials considered this course extremely unlikely.

Ignoring the "free" government, on the other hand, would risk losing more ground in Washington's efforts to woo Arab nations in the Western camp.

Arab experts pointed out Morocco and Tunisia probably would be forced to recognize the new Algerian regime. They said this could lead to a rupture of diplomatic relations between France and the former protectorates.

Diesel, Six Train Cars Derail

WAXAHACHIE, Tex. (UPI)—A two-unit diesel locomotive and six mail and baggage cars of a northbound Katy passenger train derailed seven miles south of here today when a cloudburst of more than 10 inches sent a normally dry stream roaring over the roadbed.

None of the 23 persons aboard the train, which also had one Pullman and one chair car, was injured, according to a Katy spokesman.

The accident occurred at 6:30 a.m. just north of the railroad station at Forrester, a small rural community, when the Katy's No. 6 train plowed across the section of track weakened by the flash flood.

The chair coach and Pullman did not leave the rails, nor did any of the other units of the train completely overturn. One of the mail cars, however, was partially submerged when it stopped at an angle across the roadbed and part way down the embankment.

Two hours after the accident, water still covered the tracks for 200 feet or more at a depth of at least one foot, hampering salvage operations.

The railroad embankment at that point is four to five feet above the general terrain, but the cloudburst, which seemed to be centered in Ellis county, sent the usually dry branch soaring over the tracks.

The Katy spokesman voiced apprehension at what the torrential downpour may do to other sections of the railroad's track in the area.

Flash flood warnings were issued by the U.S. Weather Bureau for Chambers Creek, a notorious mischief maker in past years in times of heavy rain. This creek is approximately two miles south of the wreck scene.

The Katy spokesman said that there were eight passengers aboard the Pullman, a like number on the chair car, four members of the train crew, two baggage and mail clerks and a Pullman porter on the train. A bus was sent from Dallas to remove the passengers.

The line's passenger trains were being re-routed from Dallas to Fort Worth via Texas & Pacific facilities and from there to Hillsboro via the Katy's own lines. Freight traffic was routed from Dallas to Denton, thence into Fort Worth and Hillsboro via the Katy's own tracks.

Fisher Silent On Divorce Plan

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Singer Eddie Fisher was silent today on reports he plans to get a "quickie" divorce in Mexico so he can wed actress Elizabeth Taylor.

"I have absolutely nothing to say," the boyish-faced singer said through his agent.

Speculation in published reports was that Fisher was eager to wed Miss Taylor, widow of his best friend, Mike Todd, without waiting out a year as required under California law if Debbie Reynolds gets a divorce in the state.

Lions Hear Rogers, Brown

Bill Brown of the Nautilus and Walter Rogers from Washington, D.C., were the speakers at the Pampa Noon Lions Club meeting yesterday. Rep. Rogers lauded Brown for his fast answering of questions that in Washington would "take a man three hours."

Lions asked some very probing questions on the men and the sub. The Nautilus has one limitation, they found. It is unable to pick up television stations while under the water and the exact number of days it can stay under is classified.

Brown is a Pampa boy who took submarine training and put in for service on the Nautilus, going under the North Pole in August.

AEC To Fire Atom Device

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — The Atomic Energy Commission, facing an Oct. 30 international nuclear weapons ban, today fires the first shot in the United States' seventh continental series since 1951.

The device was suspended from a balloon 500 feet above the Nevada test site, 75 miles from here at Yucca Flats.

In a briefing Thursday, scientists reported the weather was "good" for the blast, which was expected to yield a kiloton, something less than the equivalent of 1,000 tons of TNT.

University President Startles Audience

(Special To The News) ABILENE — "America will be conquered," Oklahoma Baptist University president Dr. John W. Raley told a startled audience gathered in Rose Field House last week as Hardin-Simmons University kicked off its Abilene Lushness campaign to build a new chapel, auditorium and student center on the campus.

Dr. Raley, whose sensational opening words beamed forth much like the 1938 radio broadcast of the now-famous "Invasion of Mars," went on to warn the large group of the well-laid plans for the conquest of America.

The OBU president, whom H-SU president Dr. Evan Allard Reiff described as one of the top three speakers on Christian education in the Baptist denomination, delivered the keynote address at the dinner meeting which opened a 20-day Abilene drive to obtain funds for the $1.5 million expansion campaign now being staged at Hardin-Simmons.

The university is seeking to raise $500,000 for a chapel, auditorium, $1 million for a student center as well as the expansion of the present Caldwell Fine Arts Building and other improvements on the campus. The current total now stands at $511,091 following announcement of added gifts this week.

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

JOHN BLUE
Associate Pastor, Bible Baptist Church

"FRUITBEARING CHRISTIANS"

"The man's rod, whom I shall choose, shall blossom" (Num. 17:5)

The blossoming and fruitbearing of Aaron's rod resulted from the direct and supernatural action of God. It was in itself a most suggestive sign. Both the people and the priest were taught thereby, that their prevailing mediation was due not to anything inherent in themselves. It was due to the direct action of the Lord through them. As the rods of other priests were unable to bud or blossom or bear fruit of themselves, so also was that of Aaron, apart from this Divine action. The proof of the presence and authority of God was this manifestation of bud and blossom and fruit. The principle still obtains.

All our fruit is from God. "Abide in Me, and I in you," says Jesus. "As the branch cannot bear fruit of itself, except it abide in the vine; no more can ye, except ye abide in Me. I am the Vine, ye are the branches: He that abideth in Me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit; for without Me ye can do nothing" (John 15:4, 5). The presence of God in our lives is the source of power. We all know what is right and what we ought to do. What we need is the power to do it. This, God supplies when He chooses us. But there are certain conditions to be met before this power may be supplied. He who idly wishes for the power of God in his life without wholly committing his life to God and entering the spiritual discipline of repentance and prayer, will be disappointed. "Except ye abide in Me," says Jesus, "ye cannot bring forth fruit." A life, therefore, that is planted in Christ, will bud and bring forth fruit, as did the rod of Aaron through the power of God. (John 15:16).

Harvesters Invade Fort Worth

By RICK PEZDIRTZ
Daily News Sports Editor

FORT WORTH — Just like the Casons, the Pampa High Harvesters roll into Cowtown this evening, ready for a fight.

The kids of Babe Curfman will have 24-hours to rest up before spraying their T-formation magic into the Yellow Jackets of Arlington Heights High School.

The Saturday night kick off comes at 7:30 in 20,000-seat Farlington Field.

The two teams have a lot in common. Both dropped their season opener last Friday night by sizeable margins, Pampa lost to the No. 2 Class 4A club in the state, Wichita Falls, 24-2, while the 'Jackets were being belted about by the Tascosa Rebels.

Both Pampa and Arlington Heights are considered "weak sisters" bets to throw much of a scare into conference foes once the district wars begin. The Harvesters, who trimmed the Fort Worth school, 7-6, last season, will be able to measure some comparison with the conference brother, Tascosa, in the Saturday night game.

Pampa opens District 3 - AAAA festivities with the Rebels on Oct. 3, after a home opener with El Paso Bowie next Friday night.

Opinions are mixed about how the Harvesters will fare in Saturday night's tiff. John Morrison, writing for the Star-Telegram of this city, has picked the 'Jackets to topple Pampa, and snap a two-year losing skin. If Morrison's correct, it will be the first win for Arlington Heights under Coach Roy Curry. He was 39 in his freshman year at the helm of the Yellow Jackets last year, coming closer to nipping Pampa than any other outfit.

However, Bill Morgan of the Dallas Morning News fingers the Harvesters to win. This writer goes along with Mr. Morgan.

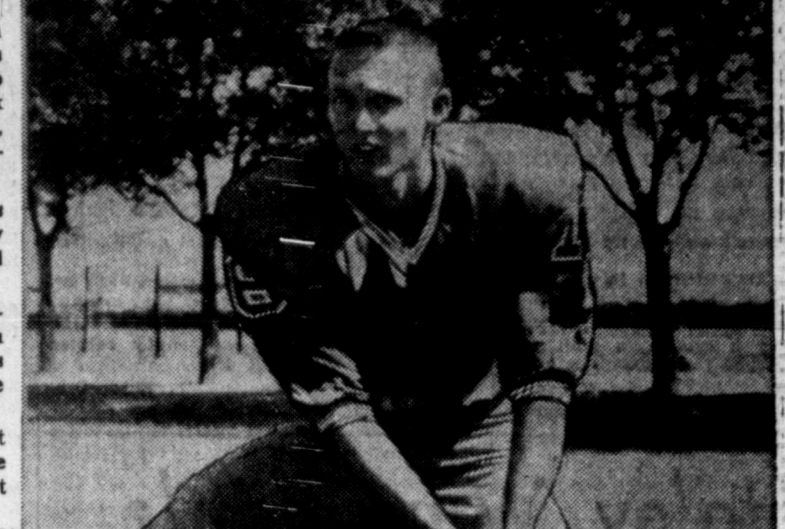

Physically, both outfits are in prime condition. But it's in the defense department where Curfman and Curry have made like chiefs of staff, and spent sleepless nights this week.

Tascosa chewed up the 'Jackets linemen and spit out the pieces last week in sprinting for 423 yards rushing. Pampa gave up 272 to Wichita Falls.

Needless to say, both outfits spent overtime working on sealing leaks in the forward wall.

Curfman moved Bailey Clements off the middle guard position in favor of Dickie Watkins, who had a bad night at a defensive end position last week. Rugged Harold Stokes has been inserted at Watkins' vacant end spot.

Other defensive starters who'll have to come through with colors flying against the Yellow Jackets are DeWayne Glover at end, big 205-pounder, Bennie Stout and Jim Scott at tackles, Gary Matlock and Delbert Simmons at inside linebacking posts and Bobby Ste-

THE BIG PITCH— Junior Bobby Stephens, a defensive starter at an outside linebacking position for the Pampa High Harvesters in their battle at Fort Worth Saturday night against Arlington Heights, is also a pretty fair quarterback. He's one of the better runners on the Pampa squad.

Braves May Clinch Flag In Night Tilt

By MILTON RICHMAN

The Braves can wrap up the whole box of biscuits tonight.

All they need is a victory over the Redlegs plus an accompanying triumph by the Phillies over the second-place Pirates to clinch their second straight National League pennant.

The Braves, who had to wait until Sept. 23 to win last year, will send rookie Carlton Willey

Top Matches Set In Area

A scattering of toss-up Top O' Texas schoolboy football games is on tap tonight, with the Perryton at Canyon tilt expected to offer the most thrills, chills and spills.

White Deer could have a big scrap on its hands with Spearman, and Groom could pep up to at least frighten McLean's Tigers.

Stinnett is slated for easy sledding at home against a hapless Panhandle eleven while Shamrock isn't expected to fare much better against a rebounding Wildcat from Canadian.

Lefors should have a breather in marking up its second straight top-heavy score with Sunray while Memphis should topple Wellington. Mobeetie over Channing and Booker over Miami are foregone conclusions in District 1-B (Six Man).

In District 3-AAA, most of the games could go either way.

Borger is rated a touchdown or so weaker than Tulsa Central, Saturday night. Amarillo is expected to get kicked in the seat of the pants at Fort Worth against tough Paschal, 32-28 winners over Monterey last week, and Palo Duro should have little trouble with Midland Saturday night.

An Ache Or A Pain

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)— Baseball is a sport of hypochondriacs and heroes and it was Charley Dressen, the poor man's poet, who once laid the conversational scalpel to the heart of the matter.

"Some of these eggheads," he analyzed, "don't know the difference between an ache and a pain."

It is a difference which makes, and breaks, careers.

The aches have to be worked out with toil and sweat. Those who coddle them rarely arrive at their potential. The pains must be rested and treated for ignoring a serious hurt can be a tragic matter.

The case of Dixey Dean proves that—and the case of Herb Score provides a mystifying parallel.

Ignored A Pain

Dean's case became one of heartbreak because he ignored a pain. He was the greatest pitcher in the game when, in the 1937 All-Star Game, he was struck on the left foot by a line drive off Earl Averill's bat.

Dean kept pitching with a broken toe, altered his motion to take the strain off his foot, damaged his arm — and painfully pitched his way out of baseball.

Score's troubles started, too, with a line drive injury.

Two years ago he was being hailed as potentially the greatest left-handed pitcher in baseball history. He was the rookie of the year in 1955 with a record of 245 strikeouts and 16 victories. As a sophomore he won 20 games and Bob Feller, young Herb's predecessor as a Cleveland Indian fireballer, predicted Score would win 20 games every year "for a dozen years to come."

But in May of 1957 Gil McDougald of the Yankees lashed a line drive, but crashed into Score's right eye. They saved the sight but now the inference seems to be the mental bruises never healed.

Score indicated the memory was fresh in his mind when he said last spring:

"I'll probably be hit again. But I hope I'm hit on the legs or someplace else—not in the face."

The possibility of him being hit was reduced effectively when he came down with an elbow injury in April. He wasn't used again until June, when after less than three innings his arm gave out again. Then he was inactive until the end of August.

Now, although Score proclaims himself ready to work, manager Joe Gordon has announced he won't use Herb any more this season. He blamed Score's woes on a "mental block."

The question is whether he has an ache or a pain.

And the future of a brilliant pitching career depends on whether they come up with the right answer.

Despite Injury Loss Spartans May Roll

By ED SAINSBURY
United Press International

CHICAGO (UPI)— Michigan State lost one of the finest backs in the country through injury, Coach Duffy Daugherty said, but his Spartans still should be a good football team and perhaps a great one.

Blanche Martin was the victim of a broken bone in his left knee, suffered in spring practice, and the injury forced Daugherty to revise all his plans.

"Martin would be better on one leg than most backs," he said.

"In the spring he showed us the finest looking fullback I've ever seen. Then he broke that bone."

Only the matter of reserve strength hampers Daugherty from thinking he'll have a great team. "I'm encouraged by the strength of the first unit, but it's all relative and we have a lot of unknown quantities," he said.

But this should be no lean year for the Spartans. Last year's second team backfield, which outshone the regulars, moved up in line with quarterback Mike Panth, halfbacks Dean Look and Art Johnson, and fullback Bob Bertich.

Daugherty said the first team line "will be the most agile line we've ever had. Seven men up front, with the exception of Dick Barker, were good football players last year, and Barker was the most pleasant surprise of spring practice. He's a strong, rugged kid and had played fullback, line backer and guard, and he made

Gamble On Kick For EP May Pay

By ED SAINSBURY
United Press International

CHICAGO (UPI)— Sixth grade mathematics holds the cue on what Big Ten football coaches are going to do about the point after touchdown this year.

The new rule provides that if the ball is kicked over the goal post the scoring team gets one point; if the ball is run or passed over the goal line, from its position on the three yard line, it's worth two points.

Every Big Ten coach has considered the matter and the consensus is that, ignoring the time left to play and the score, there's a 30 per cent chance to make the three yards by rushing or passing and an 80 or 90 per cent chance to make the kick.

Thus the gamble on rushing or passing is that you'll make six points for every 10 touchdowns, and on kicking that you'll make eight or nine points.

Hardest Three Yards

"The chances of getting one point are improved by the new formation," Ohio State Coach Woody Hayes said. "Because there's only going to be seven rushing instead of 11. But I feel it's going to be pretty tough to get that three yards."

"I don't think there are going to be many two pointers," Ray Elliott of Illinois said. "I think that's the hardest three yards in the world to get. Nobody knows whether it's a good rule or a bad one, but the losing team is damn near never out of the game."

Milt Bruhn of Wisconsin, Forest Evashevski of Iowa and Jack Molkenkopf of Purdue believed their decision would depend on their success moving the ball downfield.

Depends on Situation

"We won't go for the two points if we didn't average three yards per play from the 10 yard line," Bruhn said. "But we'll take into consideration the score and the time to play. We developed three good conversion kickers, and then they bring in this rule."

"We're going to play it by ear," Evashevski said. "If we can't move the ball and have a sputtering attack, and we happen to score, I'll feel inclined to go for the point. If we set up yardage, I'll be inclined to go for two."

SW Set To Open 44th Season

By JOHN GRIFFIN
United Press International

Oregon State, touted in the "early line" as a slight preseason favorite to win the West Coast berth in the Rose Bowl, tackles Southern California Friday night to touch off the first big week end of the 1958 college football season.

Games this week end are the first real test of the college game's new extra-point rule—two points for running or passing to a conversion, one point for a place kick—and that adds new spice to the opening program.

Detroit — George Washington and Davidson — Catawba are the only other games of note Friday night, but the old pigskin starts taking a lot of new bounce Saturday when many of the nation's top teams swing into action, including UCLA, Pittsburgh, Penn State; North Carolina, Rice and Texas Christian.

Oregon State tied for the Pacific Coast Conference title last year and, despite the loss of ace back Joe Francis, is expected to be perhaps the strongest of that doomed league's bowl-eligible teams this year. Southern Cal comes up with a team that relies heavily on sophomores but is rated much faster than last year.

UCLA, still under bowl suspension by the NCAA, is a 7-point pick as host to Pittsburgh in one of Saturday's big inter-sectional games, although Pitt is reportedly stronger than the squad that had a 4-6 mark last year.

In other big inter-sectional Saturday: Missouri is a one-point favorite over Vanderbilt in a nationally televised game from Columbia, Mo.; Oklahoma State is favored by 7 over Denver in a regionally televised game; Penn State, rated one of the three best teams in the East (with Army and Navy) is picked by 13 over Nebraska at Lincoln; Texas Christian, highly touted in the Southwest Conference, is favored by 7 over Kansas; Rice, loser in last year's Cotton Bowl game, is picked by 6 to get back on the right trail over Louisiana State, and Texas is a 7-point pick over Georgia in a night game.

He entered the game in the first inning after Ray Moore was knocked out and limited Baltimore to three hits and no runs until the ninth. Then, after walking the first batter, he was relieved by Turk Lown, who retired the next three in a row.

Bill Tuttle and Roger Maris got Kansas City off to a good start with back-to-back homers in the first inning, and as it turned out that was all winner Bud Daley needed. The Southpaw knuckleballer held the Red Sox to five hits.

Top Schoolboy Powers Swing Into First Real Grid Tests

United Press International

The titans of Texas schoolboy football's two top divisions vie for supremacy tonight when Abilene journeys to Sweetwater and Breckenridge travels to Wichita Falls.

Abilene is the No. 1 team in AAAA and is unbeaten through 51 games in row, while Sweetwater is rated No. 2 in Class AAA circles. Breckenridge rules the roost in AAA, while Wichita Falls is Abilene's closest challenger for AAAA honors.

There are even a few district games on tap, but it will be the non-district contests that will attract the most attention.

In District 1-AAAA, El Paso Austin beat El Paso Tech 20-0 Thursday night in a game that counts, while in 23-A there will be four such games tonight — Sour Lake at Hull-Daisetta, Hardin at Bridge City, Anahuac at East Chambers and Orangefield at West Orange.

Only One

While there is only one game matching top 10 teams against each other — Snyder (8th) at Andrews (4th) in AAA — the high-rated eleven won't all have easy assignments.

Port Arthur, rated No. 2 in AAAA, must face always-rugged Baytown (13th), Dallas Jefferson (4th) travels to Longview, defending champ Highland Park (6th) entertains 14th-rated Texarkana and Corpus Christi Ray (7th) must take on San Angelo in the strong West Texas team's own lair.

Cleburne, ranked No. 3 in AAA, journeys to Garland, an old and powerful rival now moved up to AAAA.

El Campo (6th) plays an AA toulie in Deer Park, Kingsville (7th) meets dangerous San Antonio Tech and defending state AA titlist Nederland (9th) renew its bitter rivalry with Port Neches, also graduated to AAAA.

Haley Wins Battle

Many of us at the Top O' Texas have been following closely the fate of Everett Haley, Jr., 27, of Canyon, in his battle with Big Brother over how he is to run his farm. This case has had a particular interest in our area because young Haley's wife is the former Frances Shaller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shaller of Canadian.

During the bloody course of the past few years newspapers, magazines, radio and television have blasted the American citizen with facts and figures about the terrible traffic death toll on today's highways.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOULES
Is Management Doing A Good Job For The People?

I just read a pamphlet reproducing a speech made before a Los Angeles Rotary Club by the president of a large corporation. It was called "The 1958 'Depression' and An 11-point National Policy Based on This Experience."

He sets forth four components of progress - natural resources, labor, tools and management. He explains that some of the natural resources are rapidly being depleted in the United States; that ore is being depleted and a lower grade being used; that now it requires drilling 30,000 feet to get the same amount of reserves of oil that only required 45,000 feet 10 years ago; that in many other metals the grade of ore is of a lower quality, requiring more energy and capital to use.

He clearly points out that the increase in population doesn't necessarily mean an increase in well-being. He observes that if population were the only criterion for prosperity, China and India would be prosperous.

He realizes we must have larger savings in order to furnish the necessary tools to use the natural resources and convert them into consumer goods to benefit mankind.

He sums up his article in this manner: "As for the fourth component of progress - management - I will say only that modern business managers are demonstrating an increasing awareness of the social responsibilities of business, and that if left alone with a satisfactory degree of freedom, they will do a good job for the people."

He doesn't explain, of course, what "a satisfactory degree of freedom" means. Nor does he explain what he means by "freedom." He seems to think it is some form of license or special privilege.

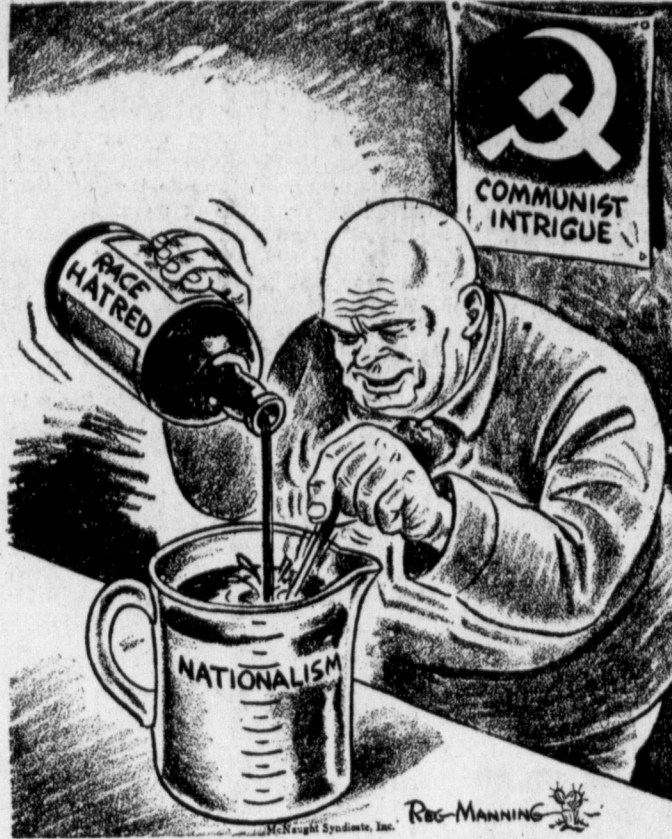

It is hard for people who believe in voluntarism to believe there is any degree of freedom. They believe freedom is simply self-control, no more, no less, and man satisfying his wants by benefiting those who supply them rather than injuring them.

Just what does Mr. X, the president of the corporation, mean by "adequate relief for personal suffering resulting from depression?" Why should we have depressions if we followed natural law?

And what does he mean by "an adequate supply of money and credit?" Who is going to be judge of an adequate supply of money and credit?

Because the politicians have attempted for many years to furnish an adequate supply of money and credit is one of the causes of depressions. They invariably increase the supply of credit to keep themselves in office, and here we have a manager of a large corporation who doesn't even seem to know that we should have natural money and natural credit established by the people - the sovereigns - of our society rather than the politicians.

Robert Allen Reports:

Interesting Senatorial Election Due In Indiana

Robert S. Allen is on vacation. During his absence, his column today is by Irving Leibowitz, Assistant Managing Editor, Indianapolis Times, on the stormy race for the seat being voluntarily relinquished by Senator William Jenner. Indiana hasn't sent a Democrat to the Senate in twenty years, and Mr. Leibowitz is the best possible authority to report this hot battle. He is widely known as tops among newsmen in Indiana, and is without peer in knowledge of the leaders and politics of his state.

By IRVING LEIBOWITZ
Assistant Managing Editor, Indianapolis Times
INDIANAPOLIS — Indiana's William Ezra Jenner, last of the red hot Commie chasers, will be gone from the United States Senate next year. He took himself out by retiring at 49, at the height of his popularity in his home state. He said it was for "personal reasons."

The Democrats haven't elected a senator in Indiana in 20 years. Not since Frederick Van Nuy was chosen in the New Deal heyday of Franklin D. Roosevelt. Some of the best known Democrats have tried and failed, including the beloved Henry F. Schriker, who twice was elected Governor but was twice defeated for Senator.

The Democrats are offering as their Senate candidate scrappy Mayor Vance Hartke of Evansville. He has the considerable political support of Indianapolis banker Frank McKinney, Harry Truman's former Democratic National Chairman.

Heavily in Mayor Hartke's favor seems to be the wobbly economic situation. Reputation is simply not a few Hoosiers remember, too, that the very first thing Handley did upon becoming Governor was to increase state taxes by 50 percent. And many Republicans as well as Democrats dislike the idea of his quitting after less than a year as Governor to run for the Senate.

There also is still a lingering stench from the previous Republican administration of Governor George North Craig. He is the one-time National Commander of the American Legion whose glittering political career was tarnished by a mammoth highway scandal.

Is It Wrong For The US To Stick By Its Friends?

By HENRY McEMORE

Why is it all right for Russia to stand by her friends, but all wrong for the United States to do the same? Is there a double standard for nations these days?

The world trembles and shakes when America shows even a timid inclination to rise to Nationalist China's defense, but Russia's flat statement that an attack on Red China must be considered as an attack on the Soviet Union, is accepted as okay.

Where does Russia get its privileges? Soviet tanks roam and rumble in half the countries in wktrope, but when the S. sends a few battalions of Marines into Lebanon, the world cries "Shame!" Now we are drawing out the Marines, boatload by boatload, but no one has asked Russia to do the same in countries it has under her heel.

It wouldn't be a very nice fate, would it? Not if we use only as a yardstick the treatment of American prisoners by the Chinese in the Korean conflict. They treated our men worse than animals, and it seems to me that too many people have forgotten that. What they would do to the Nationalist Chinese is anybody's guess, just as long as the guesses are kept on the brutal level.

Good friends. And what is wrong in sticking by them? Wrong for the U.S., I mean.

The Doctor Says:

Dr. Edwin P. Jordan

The difficult problem of tonsillitis and removal of the tonsils is raised again by a young mother.

She says that her first child was born when she and her husband lived far out in the sticks, and they knew little about raising children. Her little boy is now three years old, she says. He had his first case of tonsillitis when six months old and has had attacks at intervals ever since.

Now tonsillitis has been recommended and the mother wants to know if the trouble could be avoided by starting the child out on the right kind of diet. Diet alone can neither prevent nor bring on tonsillitis. Inflammation of the tonsils of an acute nature is almost certainly the result of germs in the tissue. They probably entered the tonsils through the air - sometimes because of contact with others carrying the disease germs or because of infected milk.

The Nation's Press

THE TREASURY'S TREADMILL (The Wall Street Journal)

Recently the U. S. Treasury went to the public money market to refinance some $16.3 billion of maturing Government securities. When it did, holders of some $2.8 billion - or approximately 17 percent - preferred cash to new Treasury securities.

Actually the situation was much worse. From the Treasury's viewpoint than these bare statistics suggest. For one thing, of that $16.3 billion of securities being refinanced, the Federal Reserve and the Government itself held more than $7 billion worth; none of these, of course, were turned in for cash. This means there were only $9 billion of the maturing issues in public hands, and so the effect of the $2.8 billion cash - in means that the real attrition rate from the public was nearer 29 percent, rather than 17 percent.

Plainly these figures show a lack of enthusiasm for lending money to the U. S. Treasury. This is not because the credit of the U. S. Government has itself suddenly suffered a sinking spell; the Government is the one borrower above all to whom you can lend a dollar and know you will get a dollar back. The Treasury here is victim of the fact that the public is becoming less and less eager to lend money on fixed obligations to anybody.

The traditional appeal of bonds as investments has been that while the lender accepted a limited gain he received in return a strong assurance that he would not lose; on U. S. bonds this assurance was an absolute guarantee. But today an investor in long-term bonds - any bonds - still has any gain limited to the agreed interest rate, while he is faced with the very strong possibility that inflation will leave him with a dead loss.

The result is that today the market for bonds, including the bonds of the Government of the United States, is limited almost exclusively to lenders who for one reason or another have little choice in the matter.

Banks, for example, have to keep a certain part of their investments in bonds, including Government bonds. So do insurance companies and certain large trust funds. Tradition forces it, and in some cases the law requires it. Besides, they only deal in dollars and so are less concerned about depreciation. But almost no one else wants to put his money in long-term bonds where paper gains are restricted and the real losses are unlimited. In short, the fear of inflation is threatening to destroy the free public bond market.

This prospect is disturbing enough for the economy generally. Yet business can, and probably will, adjust to a system where it will have to rely more on equity capital and retained earnings to finance its needs. But for the Treasury this trend poses a problem of mammoth proportions.

Already the Federal Government is pushing against its $200 legal debt ceiling. A budget deficit upwards of $12 billion is in prospect and the President has asked for another $8 billion in borrowing power. But from whom is the Treasury to borrow all this money - hundreds of billions to refinance old securities periodically and in addition billions of new money?

If the Treasury is unable to meet its needs in an eroding bond market - and that, as the statistics show, is the situation today - it has only one choice. The Government's Treasury must turn to the central bank, the Federal Reserve System. But the Federal Reserve can only supply funds of this magnitude by, in effect, manufacturing it out of nothing. In basic terms, the money must be printed.

OUTWARD TO THE STARS (23)—New Age of Exploration

By Don Oakley and Ralph Lane

(T) After an absence of nearly two years, the Mars explorers return to a jubilant reception on Earth. Just as Columbus' voyage across an unknown sea fired the imagination of Europe and opened the great age of discovery on this world, so the successful bridging of the 35-million-mile (at minimum) gulf separating Earth and Mars will usher in the great age of exploration of other worlds.

(2) These worlds, the planets that make up our solar system, are depicted in roughly relative size and order from the Sun: (a) Mercury, (b) Venus, (c) Earth, (d) Mars, (e) Jupiter, (f) Saturn, (g) Uranus, (h) Neptune and (i) Pluto.

Generations will pass before man, driven by his insatiable curiosity, ventures as close to the Sun as little Mercury, or as far as the very limit of the solar system, to lonely, frozen Pluto.

Before that, other Mars expeditions will seek to set up permanent colonies on that planet.

After that, Venus, called Earth's sister planet, will beckon. Investigating Venus will be a totally new adventure, for ever-present clouds mask its surface from our view. But here, as with Mars, the quest for possible life will spur men on.

And just what are the rings of Saturn composed of? And what are its nine moons like? Or the 12 of Jupiter, the five of Uranus and the two of Neptune? And the uncounted asteroids lying in a belt between Mars and Jupiter?

And will men ever reach the stars, seen behind the flaming solar disk? Or other galaxies, those star systems like the Milky Way, that stretch as far as we can see into infinity—two billion light years? And, somewhere in this endless universe, will we encounter intelligent life?

The questions themselves, and the possibilities, are endless.

(3) But long before man ever sets foot on another world (if he ever does, but it is certain he will try), rocket travel will have transformed life on Earth. Cargo and mail first, then human passengers, will cross continents and oceans in minutes—unless nuclear bombs are transported first. This rocketport is a brief glance into a future we can only guess at.
