Red Artillery Fire Thwarts Convoy

By AL KAFF United Press International
TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI)—Communist artillery fire drove another Nationalist convoy with American naval escort off the beaches of Quemoy Island before it could unload badly needed supplies Saturday.

Underpass Dedication Oct. 21

The official dedication of the new Hobart Street Underpass has been set for Oct. 21, according to Fred Thompson, chairman of the Highway Committee, Pampa Chamber of Commerce.
"It is possible the underpass will be completed earlier than the 21st and it will be opened to traffic. However, the official dedication will not be held until later when officials of the Highway Department can be present," Thompson said.

Infant Dies After Falling From Auto

Sonia Patricia Herring, 17-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. (Bob) Herring, 854 S. Banks, was pronounced dead on arrival at five o'clock yesterday afternoon at Highland General Hospital. She had fallen from the family automobile, while it was in motion.
She is also survived, in addition to her parents, by two sisters, Brenda Gayle and Barbara; one brother, Bobby; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Herring, Mrs. Marie Russell, all of Pampa and Wilson Brullard of Canadian.

Ford Pressures UAW For A New Contract Agreement

By JACK VANDERBERG UPI Automotive Editor
DETROIT (UPI)—Ford Motor Co. Saturday turned pressure on the United Auto Workers to reach a contract agreement before a Wednesday strike deadline by announcing it would recall 17,000 employed workers this month if production was not interrupted.
The announcement came as the union awaited an offer from Ford which was expected to open the way to a drive toward agreement.
The union met with both Ford and Chrysler Corp. in the first weekend negotiation since contracts with the Big Three auto companies expired during the Memorial Day weekend. No meetings were scheduled at General Motors until Monday. GM, like Ford and Chrysler, has been operating without a contract since the end of May.
Ford said it would recall 12,000 hourly rated employees during the next week and an additional 5,000 by the end of the month.
"Walking on Eggs"
Ford Vice President John S. Bugas said additional employees would be recalled during November to boost Ford employment to about 100,000 by the end of that month. Ford employment a year ago was around 130,000.
Bugas emphasized all of the recalls depended upon a settlement before the strike deadline so production schedules for 1959 models would not be upset.
Although a company spokesman said the weekend meeting at Chrysler indicated new progress in its talks with the union, the Ford talks held the primary interest because of the strike deadline.
Ford negotiators said they were "approaching clarity on some issues," but refused to specify what these issues were or make any predictions.
"Part of the unexplored areas have paths through them so we are not in complete wilderness,"

International A-Conference Winds Up

By ROBERT J. KORENGOLD United Press International
GENEVA (UPI)—The second international conference on the peaceful uses of atomic energy wound up Saturday with a bundle of unanswered questions and some disputes about what the nuclear age holds for mankind.
Some of the answers, they indicated, might come in a third round of peace conference to be held some time in the future. Just when that would be it was hard to tell. Conference President Francis Perrin of France said in his closing speech that it should not be held for at least four years.

The two-week United Nations-sponsored parley brought together 6,300 atomic experts from 69 nations of the world.
In 77 sessions and 2,135 scientific papers they swapped information and ideas on a host of atomic subjects dominated by progress and prospects for nuclear power, problems of radioactive isotopes in medicine, agriculture and industry.

Conference officials praised the value of such a mass interchange of ideas, but the meeting failed to produce any clear-cut agreement on some of the biggest problems of the nuclear age.
France, for instance, declassified its hitherto secret methods for separating highly explosive U-235 from other forms of uranium. But Britain and the United States refused to follow suit, claiming the process could be used to make atomic bombs.
The United States generated more reservations and rebukes than enthusiasm from the others for its "Plowshare" plan to use nuclear explosions for peaceful purposes.
Russia, in particular, warned of radiation dangers from the U.S. plan and the British discreetly dissociated themselves from the idea.
U.S. scientists indicated, however, that they were reluctant to abandon their proposal.

Local Post Hosts VFW Convention

Bennie Lusk, District 9 commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, arrived in Pampa yesterday for the District Convention sponsored by local Post 1657, John McKelvey, national legislative officer, is expected in today to speak at a Palm Room Banquet.
The VFW Auxiliary is holding its convention at the same time with the business sessions held in Lovett Memorial Library.

Following a social hour last night, delegates from the Panhandle danced in the American Legion VFW Hall. Tommy Dunham's "No-Tables" provided the music.
In the business session this morning, Lusk planned to promote youth work as a VFW activity throughout the District. McKelvey, coming from the nation's capital, is slated to speak on legislation.

The business session will last from 10 a.m. to 12 with the banquet at 1 p.m.
McKelvey, from Electra, is past department commander of the Texas VFW. He is presently vice chairman of the National Legislative Committee of the VFW, having been appointed at the recent national convention in New York. He is also a member of the Texas Veterans Affairs Commission.
Posts and women's auxiliary units in Amarillo, Borger, Dumas, Dalhart, Spearman, Panhandle, Perryton, Canadian, Texline and Stinnett have sent representatives here for the convention.
Another speaker tomorrow will be Bill Brown of Pampa, a crewman of the U.S. nuclear sub, Nautilus.

No Reply On Airmen's Fate

By HENRY SHAPIRO United Press International
MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Foreign Ministry closed for the weekend Saturday without replying to an urgent American request for information on the fate of 11 airmen missing in the crash of an unarmed U.S. Air Force transport in Soviet Armenia almost two weeks ago.
The request was made in a note delivered to the ministry this morning by U.S. Charge d'Affaires Richard E. Davis. Davis also pressed the Russians to allow American experts to examine the wreckage of the C-130 Hercules turbo-prop transport at the scene of the crash.

He also asked what arrangements were being made by the Russians to return the bodies of the six men they said were found in the burned-out transport 35 miles north of Eravan.
Victims Not Identified
The Soviet note did not identify the victims and the Air Force in Washington said it did not know which of the 17 crewmen had been killed.
The Soviet Foreign Ministry closed as usual at 4 p.m. and a U.S. Embassy spokesman said no reply could be expected before Monday at the earliest.
The four-engine transport vanished Sept. 2 while on a flight over Turkey. The United States said it carried a crew of 17.
On Sept. 6, the United States asked Russia for any information on the missing plane and its crew. Friday, the Soviet government formally informed U.S. authorities that the wreckage of the plane had been found in Soviet Armenia along with six bodies "evidently those of its crew." It made no mention of the other 11 crewmen.

The Soviet note charged that the plane "deliberately violated" the Soviet frontier and protested against "repeated violations by American aircraft of Soviet airspace."
Intercepted By Soviets
The United States said the transport was on the "Turkish-Soviet border area" when it was intercepted. (See AIRMEN, Page 3)

El Paso Girds For New Flood

EL PASO (UPI)—El Paso girded for a possible flood Saturday night in one of its residential sections as two, and possibly three crests on the Rio Grande roared toward the city.
The city itself had no rain, but heavy falls upstream put the meandering river that divides Mexico and the United States on a rampage.
The Clardy Fox addition, where about 2,000 persons live, was threatened—should the Rio Grande back up. City officials were sandbagging culverts leading to the section to avert possible flooding.
The flow on the Rio Grande from the heavy upstream rains was reported to be 10,000 cubic feet per second. About 55,000 cubic feet per second flow is considered dangerous at El Paso.
The river was not at flood stage at mid-afternoon, but the crests were moving toward the city and expected to hit Saturday night.

US, Red China To Start Peace Talks

By WILLIAM GALBRAITH United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The State Department disclosed Saturday the United States and Red China have agreed to begin peace talks on the Formosa crisis in Warsaw, Poland, within the next few days.
The development coincided with a stern note from President Eisenhower to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev calling on him to persuade Red Chinese leaders to end their artillery attacks on the Chinese Nationalist-controlled Quemoy and Matsu islands just off the China coast.
The United States has been pressing for the talks in hopes of

Weekend Truce Declared At Central High School

By PRESTON MCGRAW United Press International
LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus and the Department of Justice declared a weekend truce Saturday in their struggle over the integration of Little Rock's schools.
Faubus dropped out of sight, although he was reported close to Little Rock, and Department of Justice lawyers locked their offices.
The battle will flare up again Monday, probably in federal court. Faubus' order, closing all four of Little Rock's high schools, takes effect at 8 a.m. Monday, 30 minutes before they would have opened.
In New York, Thurgood Marshall, chief counsel for the National Association for Advancement of Colored People, said the NAACP is "waiting to see what the Justice Department will do" before it starts any legal action.

U.S. Marshal Beal Kidd trained 137 special deputies imported for integration duty until noon, as if Faubus had not ordered the schools closed.
State Police Alerted
The Arkansas state police put its criminal investigation division men on a 24-hour "standby basis," and ordered them to keep in constant touch with headquarters or their homes.
North Little Rock police were trying to find the persons who burned a 16-foot cross with an eight-foot arm on a hill behind the North Little Rock football stadium Friday night while a football game was in progress.
They said witnesses told them 15 Negroes ran away from the flaming cross.
North Little Rock is an independent municipality across the Arkansas River from Little Rock and is not involved in the integration fight.
Central High School, it was learned, will have a full complement of teachers, if no students Monday.
"They have been reporting regularly for some time." School Superintendent Virgil Blossom said. "They will do a good many things in the service program, such as opening lesson plans."
The opening of Central was postponed from Sept. 7 so the U.S. Supreme Court could rule on the integration question and its teachers have been on the payroll since then. So have other high school teachers.
Officials of the Presbyterian Church in Little Rock were reported thinking about calling upon former Democratic presidential candidate Adlai Stevenson to attempt a "mission of reconciliation" between Faubus and the federal government.

Faubus Faces Suit
Faubus faced a citizen's suit for a court test of the constitutionality of his order closing the schools and a demand for an injunction ordering him to reopen them.
Mrs. Gertie Garrett, wife of a fireman, filed the suit Friday and papers were served upon Faubus the moment after he ordered the schools closed.
Mrs. Garrett said the idea was her own. The governor has 20 days to answer the suit.
Citizens may file next week for permission, as a corporation, to open part or all of the schools as private institutions, with complete segregation. The state, under laws signed Friday by Faubus, would pay the tuition of the students.

As private schools, they might have trouble getting accreditation from the North Central Association for Colleges and Secondary Schools.
Association accreditation is important because it determines the case or even whether the students could transfer between high schools and enter colleges from high schools in a 19-state area.
Charles H. Cross of Fayetteville, Ark., chairman of the association's Arkansas committee, said it normally takes at least four years for a private school to win accreditation.
"The schools in Little Rock would be an unprecedented case and it probably would take an opinion from the North Central Association," he said.

Asks For Proof Red Boss Wants Peace

By DAYTON MOORE United Press International
NEWPORT, R. I. (UPI)—President Eisenhower challenged Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev Saturday to prove he really wants peace in the Far East by asking the Chinese Communists to stop shooting.
Eisenhower, in a 700-word letter to the Soviet chief bluntly informed Khrushchev he has been misdirecting his complaints in accusing the United States of causing the Formosa Strait crisis.

He told Khrushchev to direct his appeals for Far Eastern peace to the Chinese Reds instead.
Shortly after disclosure of Eisenhower's letter the State Department in Washington disclosed that the U.S. and Red China have agreed to begin peace talks on the Formosa crisis in Warsaw, Poland within the next few days.
U.S. ambassador Jacob D. Beam and Chinese envoy Wang Ping-Nan will participate in the discussions, arranged as a result of pressure brought by the United States. The two men have made preliminary arrangements but no details were available.

2 Men Held In Skellytown Theft Case

Two men are in separate jail today, suspected of the four break ins that occurred in Skellytown Thursday night. The men were picked up near Memphis Friday morning on orders from the Texas Rangers.
Between 11 p.m. and 2 p.m. Friday, four business establishments in Skellytown were relieved of $180, much of it in silver. The Horner Brothers Grocery Store lost $125. Braddock's Skelly Service Station, $35; and the Post Office $20. The Gassaway Hardware Store was also broken into but suffered no apparent loss.
The suspects are James W. Milligan, originally of Illinois, and M. L. Rummage, a native Texan. Both men have three prison terms to their records with one Federal stretch apiece. Grady Stapp, Carson County chief deputy sheriff, told The News.
The men were arrested by a Hall County deputy sheriff in Turkey and taken to the Memphis Jail. Stapp went to Memphis yesterday to bring Milligan to the jail in Panhandle.
When picked up, the men had $191.82, $123.28 of which was in silver. The bag of silver seemed to be their undoing as it was caught the eye of a service station attendant near Memphis, causing him to turn in a call to the Texas Rangers.
The Rangers had a pick up out on the men for jobs they are suspected of pulling in other parts of the State.
There was a large supply of burglary tools in the car. (See THEFT, Page 3)

US, Red China To Start Peace Talks

The Warsaw negotiators will be U.S. Ambassador Jacob D. Beam and Red Chinese envoy Wang Ping-Nan.
Both Eisenhower and a Secretary of State John Foster Dulles have hinted the United States may be prepared to make some concessions to Peiping if it will renounce use of force in the Formosa Strait. But exactly what they might offer has not been spelled out.
George Yeh, new ambassador of the Chiang Kai-Shek Nationalist government, visited Dulles at his home Saturday morning, presumably to discuss the impending peace negotiations. Yeh said Friday his government could not accept any settlement that imperiled its control of the Quemoy, Matsu and Pescadore islands, advance bases for Nationalist Formosa.
The State Department said it expects the talks to begin in the next few days. Press Officer Francis W. Tully Jr., said arrangements for the meeting should take place in the next few days. No precise time has been set.
Wang returned to Warsaw Friday after consulting with his government in Peiping. He also is believed to have conferred with Soviet officials in Moscow.
Informants said the Red Chinese and American diplomats had been in contact since Wang's return, making preliminary arrangements for the negotiations.

WHY MIDDLE EAST IS VITAL—The United States is the biggest producer of oil but has dwindling reserves. At the present rate of use, experts predict there is only enough to supply us for the next 11 years. Charts above pinpoint the situation and show North America with great refinery capacity, world's leading demand and production, but far behind the Middle East in oil underground. Sixty per cent of American companies' reserves are in the Middle East. Data are from an independent survey by Nationwide Insurance company. President Murray D. Lincoln of the company, interprets the findings as a long-range threat of a general war for survival. His solution would be to form a cooperative along the lines suggested previously by Sir Anthony Nutting, former British minister of foreign affairs, so that the Middle Eastern people could share in the benefits of their natural resource.

Funds To Fight Ants Sought

SAN ANTONIO (UPI)—Bexar county commissioners said Saturday they will ask the U. S. government to allocate funds for a campaign to rid the city of fire ants. They said the fire ant infestation reached its peak last week when two small children were severely bitten by the insects. Commissioner A. J. Ploch also reported that he will ask Bexar county to earmark up to $80,000 in emergency funds for a spraying program to stamp out the fire ant plague.

Texas Weather

United Press International
Showers scattered through West Texas from Dalhart to Cotulla Saturday with clouds spread over the western half of the state. El Paso awaited a possible flood as crests churned down the Rio Grande. No rain fell in the El Paso area, however. Skies were generally clear over East Texas with scattered clouds along the coast.

IT'S A PIPEMOBILE—Making a tough job look easy is the Pipemobile, an invention of the American Pipe and Construction Co. of South Gate, Calif. Riding on seven huge 21.00-25 Good-year Earthmover tires, the 80-ton machine crawls part way through a section of 68-ton concrete pipe, picks it up, waddles it to position, jockeys it into place, then takes off for another section. The powerful monster is being used in construction of the Los Angeles-San Diego Metropolitan Water Aqueduct, where it places an average of 15 pipe sections a day, on slopes as steep as 62 degrees.

Despite his handicap, Robbie has learned to dive, swim, and do tricks on a trampoline while waiting to be fitted with an artificial leg. Looking on is instructor Mike Devine.

SAFE ARRIVAL—As Boston catcher Lou Berberet reaches for the throw, Yankees' Tony Kubek slides under him to score in the sixth inning of a double-header in Yankee Stadium. Watching the close play at the plate is umpire Charley Berry. Kubek scored from second on Gil McDougald's hot shot down the third base line that bounced off Frank Malzone.

DOUBLE TAKE—Deserting the deeper waters to skirt the shore, two trim yachts cruise abreast of one another beneath the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge. At left is the yawl Baruna and at right, with sails billowing, is the cutter Orient. The two vessels were competing in the Pacific Coast Championship Regatta.

BREEZING ALONG—A leading contender in the girls' division of the 1958 National Water Ski Tournament is pretty Vicki Van Hook of Long Beach, Calif., who shows excellent form as she skims along the water. Last year Vicki placed second in the jump. The tournament is being held at Ida Cason Callaway Gardens, Pine Mountain, Ga. If points were awarded on the basis of beauty, Vicki would probably come in first.

'COWBOY ANDY'

Fuller Rhodes, 320 W. Craven, holds the governor's pardon that freed him from Huntsville Penitentiary in 1934. Rhodes went to Huntsville on a murder charge he says was trumped up by the bootlegging factions of Aspermont and served seven years of his 20 year sentence. Now Rhodes has written a book which tells of his life as a cowboy, Aspermont City Marshal and soldier in the Salvation Army. (News Photo)

Local Man Writes Story Of His Life

By WALLACE TRUESDELL
Pampa News Staff Writer

A book has been written and published in Pampa, bearing the title "Where the Trail Divides, a Two Tim Loser." The author is Fuller Rhodes of 320 W. Craven.

"A two time loser," says Rhodes, "is someone who has served time in two state penitentiaries."

"Where the Trail Divides" is Rhodes' story of his life as cowboy, soldier in the Salvation Army, City marshal, and then Huntsville prisoner.

The chief irony of his story is that he was imprisoned for doing his duty as City marshal, shooting a man in self defense, he says.

Before Rhodes came to a West Texas town and was sworn in as marshal, a lawyer had been ambushed and killed by bootleggers. And the local gang knew they would have no peace with Rhodes, with his reputation as a Salvation Army man, the book informs.

With Rhodes in his office, they created a disturbance on the street. Pursuing a ringleader to his car, Rhodes told him he was under arrest. The man came up with a knife, slicing at him until Rhodes' necktie was cut off below the knot and his shirt rent. Pushing him back, Rhodes drew his gun and put three bullets in him. He then surrendered to the sheriff, the book relates.

His first try at justice resulted in a life sentence which was appealed to five to 20 years. His commission to Huntsville was a triumph for the wet faction but drew "righteous indignation" from the ministers of the County, who soon petitioned the governor to release him.

Rhodes did not get his pardon until Miriam A. Ferguson was in office. He had been in prison seven years, writing hymns and working in the clothes factory, when he received his full pardon.

Earlier Rhodes spent two years in Lansing (Kansas) Penitentiary for the misconduct of his early life. He served his sentence after returning to Wichita, Kans., from his Salvation Army work, to give himself up. Having served his time, he resumed his SA travels.

Rhodes was born in Uniontown, Pa., in 1870. He came West with his father, settling in Kansas. It was his active life as a cowboy that made him "A Two Time Loser."

Copies of "Where the Trail Divides" are selling for 50 cents. Rhodes asks readers to send their cash to "Cowboy Andy," 320 W. Craven, Pampa Tex.

Eddie And Debbie Divorce Expected

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Actress Debbie Reynolds probably will file for divorce from singer Eddie Fisher this week — and no one will be spared in the court action, including actress Elizabeth Taylor.

Hollywood's "ideal marriage" tumbled to earth after three years of ballyhooed publicity Friday with statements by Eddie and Debbie and the straight talk of a lawyer.

The cup de grace was delivered by the 26-year-old actress's lawyer, Frank B. Elcher, who was the first to mention divorce publicly.

He said a suit would be filed "probably next week" and that Miss Reynolds would file it—not Fisher.

Won't Spare Anyone

Asked if actress Elizabeth Taylor, 26-year-old mother of three children and veteran of three marriages, would be named co-respondent, Belcher said:

"I'm not going to spare anyone if it is necessary to protect the rights of Debbie and her two fine children."

Belcher went on to blast a statement released earlier in the day by Fisher in which the singer said the blame for the breakup was his alone and that it was inevitable and had nothing to do with Miss Taylor.

"There is nothing magnanimous about Eddie assuming the blame for this tragedy," Belcher declared. "That's exactly where the responsibility rests. So far as I personally am concerned, his attempt to relieve Miss Taylor from any responsibility falls on completely deaf ears."

Love Is Blind

Miss Reynolds in her answering statement to Fisher's said:

"It seems unbelievable to say that you can live happily with a man and not know that he doesn't love you. But that—as God is my witness—is the truth. We had marital differences in the beginning as most couples do, but for the past one and a half years I had truly believed that we had found our happiness. I know I had.

"I now realize when you are deeply in love how blind one can be.

"Obviously, I was. I will endeavor to use all my strength to survive and understand for the benefit of my two children (Carrie, 2, and Todd, 7 months)."

The couple, who separated Wednesday shortly after Fisher returned from New York where he had been publicly squiring Miss Taylor, was to appear in a Hollywood Bowl benefit program tonight. Miss Reynolds said she would "go on with the show." Fisher, while not saying definitely, indicated he would bow out of the program.

Fares To State Fair Reduced

A reduction of one-third in chair car fares from all points on Fort Worth and Denver Railway between Decatur and Tuxedo to Dallas for the State Fair of Texas October 4-19 was announced today by Roy H. Kimble, General Passenger Agent for the FW&D.

Round-trip tickets good in air-conditioned chair cars on all FW&D trains including Texas Zephyrs will go on sale daily commencing October 3rd and will be sold to and including October 19th. Final limit of tickets will be midnight October 20th, said Kimble.

The reduced fares may be purchased by individuals or parties, such as FHA groups, grade school and high school classes etc., it was also announced.

According to F. D. Montgomery, agent for FW&D at Pampa, the special excursion fare to Dallas from Clarendon will be $10.55, as compared with the regular fare of $15.55. The usual federal transportation tax of 10 percent is in addition to the fare.

Negroes To Fight School's Shutdown

By VINCENT J. BURKE
United Press International

FRONT ROYAL, Va. (UPI) — An attorney for 22 Negro students said Saturday they would fight by "every legal means" Virginia Gov. J. Lindsay Almond's shutdown of Warren County High School to keep them from being admitted.

Attorney Oliver Hill of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People called Almond's action "unconstitutional." He said he had in mind a specific court action to fight the closing of the school but would not say what it was.

"You can bet your life we are going to do something," he said, indicating he would act early next week.

Hill laid the basis for the next court move when 17 of the 22 Negro students tried to enroll Saturday. School Supt. Q. D. Gasque grounds the local school board no longer has control of the high school.

New Law Used

Federal Judge John Paul had ordered the 22 Negroes admitted, but Almond Friday night invoked the state's "massive resistance" laws that call for the closing of any school that is integrated.

Almond took full control of Warren High and announced it was "removed from the public school system" as of Monday, the day it was scheduled to open for classes. Warren High thus became the first Virginia school shut down under the "massive resistance" plan.

Nevertheless, the 17 students, some accompanied by their parents, showed up at the courthouse where the school board maintains its offices. They remained downstairs while Hill, their spokesman, spent five minutes in a private conference with Gasque and a school board attorney.

"We (the NAACP) have said all along that we'll not stand by and see the schools closed. We intend to use every legal means we can to make the schools available to white and Negro students in this and every other community," Hill said.

May Ask Order

Although he would not say what legal action he would take, he indicated it would involve a request to Judge Paul to force the county to admit Negroes to Warren High in compliance with his original order.

Hill conferred with the pupils and parents at a nearby Negro church after Gasque refused to let the students enroll. Hill said afterward the students would not attend Negro schools while the case is being fought.

"If the white students are out of school, the Negroes are out of school," he said. "When white stu-

Maxwell Gluck Ends Tour Of Duty In Ceylon

COLOMBO, Ceylon (UPI)—"The prime minister's name is Solomon West Ridgeway Dias Bandaranaike."

"It's B-a-n-d-a-r-a-n-a-i-k-e." That was Maxwell H. Gluck, the United States ambassador to Ceylon whose resignation was announced by the White House.

One year ago, the 58-year-old former chain store president came to this fence-sitting island nation as a diplomatic question mark. His well-reported difficulties with the prime minister's name before a closed Senate Foreign Affairs Committee had embarrassed the Republican administration.

Today, the State Department needed no excuses for the businessman whose low pressure approach to diplomacy paid off during his tour of duty in Ceylon.

Gluck's lack of finesse at dropping the prime minister's names proved more a blessing than a handicap.

"When I arrived," Gluck said, "I felt people favorably disposed to me."

Most Ceylonese were quick to agree with him. Said one newsman:

"I believe most of the people actually felt sorry for the ambassador."

Even Prime Minister Bandaranaike held no grudges. "My name is not easy to spell or pronounce," he told United Press International. "Mr. Gluck must be forgiven. We formed quite a high regard for him. He was helpful and understanding."

A pleased U.S. information officer said, "The ambassador was at his best in meeting the people. And most important — he was available."

Being available left Gluck open to an estimated 25 to 50 invitations each week asking him to make speeches, attend parties and officiate at ceremonies. He even was honored by Buddhist monks.

One of the ambassador's most memorable experiences came when he arrived at a Buddhist temple to find a banner on the arch with his picture and the inscription: "Welcome Maxwell H. Gluck."

UP FOR AIR

Seaman First Class Bill Brown stands on a Pampa sidewalk after taking part in the submarine ride that made history and news. Brown is a helmsman and planesman on the atomic-powered USS Nautilus that went under water, under ice and under the North Pole. (News Photo)

Pampan Took Part In Historic Sub Voyage

By WALLACE TRUESDELL Pampa News Staff Writer
"It was smooth all the way. We were submerged," said Seaman First Class Bill Brown, 1229 Charles.

In Brown's opinion the atomic-powered Nautilus comes closest to being a real submarine than any other because it can spend a full 15 months under water. Brown is Pampa's authority on the subject, having spent three years on the USS Nautilus.

He was one of the picked crew that guided the Nautilus under the North Pole to glory Aug. 3. He arrived in Pampa from New York Friday, a week ago, where the crew was given a royal welcome.

The 8,146 mile voyage, begun at Pearl Harbor, occupied 21 days under the ice and water. Stopping at Seattle, Washington, the Nautilus took on Physicist Waido K. Lyon of the Naval Electronics Laboratory, who is one of the fathers of the atomic submarine.

Although Admiral Hyman G. Rickover, one of those responsible for the Nautilus, was not along on the historic voyage, he has made several appearances on board since the sub was launched, observed Brown.

Lyon rode with the Nautilus last summer when it maneuvered off Greenland, coming to within 180 miles of the Pole. Once under the ice, the thrill of polar travel wore off, yet Brown is conscious of being part of a historic occurrence as part of the Nautilus crew.

And this feeling was intensified when he and his crew members met the press in London and again when they were feted in New York. Commander William R. Anderson, of course, left the sub by helicopter near Iceland for his historic trip to the Capital.

Very little could delay the Nautilus on its Northward voyage, according to Brown. Coming through the Bering Strait, the Nautilus looked for deeper water and changed course toward Point Barrow and the Barrow Sea Valley.

From there on it was smooth sailing, with the underside of the ice coming through beautifully on the television screen. Surfacing near Iceland to let off Anderson, the sub continued on to Portland, England, where many flash bulbs and questions popped.

Brown has eight months to go on his enlistment, then, back in civilian clothes, plans to take up biology or geology in college. But first there is the Nautilus. In two weeks he will be back in the home base of New London, Conn., to begin weekly maneuvers.

Coyotes Crush Harvesters By 34-2

Rick Pezdirtz
purely paydirt

If, while showering for Sunday School this morning, burdened Babe Curfman was humming the blues over his Pampa High Harvesters' humble 34-2 showing at Wichita Falls Friday night, here's news of good cheer.

Mr. Curfman, your fellow fraternity brothers in the District 3-AAAA coaching game have relegated your young team to the depths of the conference in a pre-season poll conducted by our frat brother, Putt Powell on the Amarillo Globe-News.

The team that you, Mr. Curfman, said would be tops in the conference races, was given backing for just that position. You must know what you're talking about.

Palo Duro's Dons, hardly mentioned as one of the power teams at the August Texas Coaching School in Houston, received enough support from 3 4A coaches to reign as the pre-season favorite.

But just barely. On a basis of seven points for each first team vote, six for second, and so on down the line with coaches not allowed to vote on their own teams, the Dons rated the first place spot with 44 1/2 points, while Monterey was second at a close 41 1/2 and defending champ, Amarillo, was third at an even 40.

Coaches Rate Pampa Last
The rest of the way it was Lubbock in fourth with 30 points, Plainview in fifth with 29, Borger sixth with 16, Tascosa seventh with 13 and Pampa's down-trodden Harvesters last with nine points.

Pampa was put in last place on every ballot but two. On those they were rated next to last.

Palo Duro had first place votes come from three coaches and one mentor saw the Dons finishing in a tie for first with Monterey. The Plainsmen got only one clear-cut vote for first, and had four seconds.

Oddly enough, Amarillo got three first place votes and two coaches tabbed them to finish as low as fourth. Anyway, Mr. Curfman, all you have to do now is win one conference ball game, finish higher than last, and you'll have pitched a monkey-wrench into the pre-season tabulations.

Hear Callan Hollaring?
In AA we had Terrell on top, but found Perryton's 40-20 win over a good Canadian club, following on the heels of last week's 27-0 waltz past Dalhart, measure enough to rate the Rangers fourth, behind Stamford and Abernathy.

In AAA we had Breckenridge, 33-20 victor over touted Sweetwater Friday night, in first, ahead of such worthies as Phillips, Snyder, Loveland and Andrews.

In AAAA, it was Wichita Falls who got our first place vote. They were impressive, to say the least, against Pampa Friday night. We rated Abilene, who won a 28-26 squeaker from San Antonio Jefferson Friday, in the No. 2 spot ahead of Dallas Jefferson, 13-6 winners over defending state champion, Highland Park, in third; Fort Arthur in fourth and Jefferson of San Antonio in fifth.

WICHITA FALLS—The Pampa High Harvesters and the little Dutch boy who plugged the hole in the dike have one thing in common. They each tried to stem the tide and succeeded in stopping a hole; the only difference was that the little Dutch boy had only one hole to fill, and the visiting Harvesters found too many.

The result was that Wichita Falls' bevy of speedy backs stepped through gaping areas in the Pampa line all night here Friday and the Coyotes rolled to an easy 34-2 victory.

It was the season-opener for the two clubs, and Wichita Falls, the state's 2-4 ranked eleven in pre-season Class 4A polls, looked like a No. 1 team.

Wichita Falls coach, Joe Golding, never called off the dogs, even when his Coyotes had Pampa hanging limply over the ropes late in the fourth quarter, trailing 34-0.

Tascosa And Lubbock Win

District 3-AAAA won only two of five Friday night season openers, with Tascosa and Lubbock posting wins while Borger, Plainview and Pampa suffered losses.

Two more games were to be played Saturday night, Monterey hosting strong Paschal of Fort Worth and Palo Duro entertaining a potent Oklahoma City North West Classen Club.

Playing its first game in history, the Tascosa Rebels, new Amarillo team, sped to an easy opening 42-3 victory and got 54 passing, plus 23 first downs, to rip Arlington Heights, 27-12. It was 6-6 at halftime, after Arlington Heights had owned a 6-0 first quarter edge.

Bill Brooks scored the first two Rebel TD's with Don Broom and Jackie Nicholson getting the other two.

Pampa, a 34-2 loser at Wichita Falls, plays Arlington Heights next week.

The Lubbock Westerners cut halfback Darwin Hillard loose for three TD's to rap Crozier Tech of Dallas, 26-6, with two scores coming in the second half.

Borger's Bulldogs saw Dick Hayes run for 164 yards and score twice as Snyder managed a 14-6 win. Hayes dashed 73-yards on the first play from scrimmage in the fourth quarter after diving for two yards and a TD in the second, the same quarter Borger scored as Jimmy Dawson sneaked over from the Tiger one.

Snyder out-gunner Borger on the ground, 297 to 126 and through the sky, 67 to 15.

Plainview blew an 8-0 first quarter lead and fell before 3A Littlefield by a 14-8 count as James Presley both of the winners' touchdowns.

COYOTE ON THE LOOSE—Wichita Falls halfback, Dick Turner, No. 38 in white with the ball, eludes the arm-tackling of Pampa tackle, Jim Scott, on ground, to start on his way to a 15-yard touchdown. As Pampa's Larry Heiskell, at far left, watches, Turner breaks away for the third of five TD's for Wichita Falls, with 6:57 left in the second period.

Stinnett Ties Up White Deer, 6-6

STINNETT — Frank Merrivell, and O. Henry collaborated on the script, and Quarterback Larry Anderson furnished the punctuation as he sneaked over for a touchdown with 2:09 left on the scoreboard here Friday night as the Stinnett Rattlers bared their fangs and scrambled from behind to a 6-6 tie with highly regarded White Deer.

The Bucks of Coach Otis Holladay had led from mid-way in the second period until the Rattlers hit the promised land beyond the double stripe with just over two minutes left in the game.

It was end Jeff Boarden who did the scoring honors for White Deer in the second stanza as he gathered in a pass from Jackie Burns and hot-footed it for the touchdown. The play covered 22 yards.

Lefors Wrecks Wheeler, 48-0

LEFORS — The Lefors Pirates, scoring six touchdowns and successfully converting six times for two point extra points, defeated Shamrock's Irishmen Friday night, 48-0.

Halfback Dave Smith was the brightest star for the Pirates in the game, scoring a couple of times and setting up another TD with a pass interception.

Smith romped 40 yards once after taking a lateral.

The Buccaners second string hit well, too, with halfback Bill Jernigan scoring on one eight yard change and looking well on other carries. David Lewis quarterbacked the second unit and scored two points on a conversion himself.

The Pirates scored on their first offensive series, with halfbacks Smith and Tex Nolan and fullback Junior Taylor driving the ball down to the two yard line, from where quarterback Tom Johnson carried over. Johnson scored five conversions on runs after touchdowns.

Nolan scored once on a pass and run play that covered 30 yards.

Fullback L. H. Tucker and Jerry Jernigan from Shamrock were outstanding for the Irish.

Score by quarters:

Lefors	8	34	8	8
Shamrock	0	0	0	0

Pacing the White Deer attack for the second straight week were Hershel Powell and Allen Harmon. Powell had to leave the game once with a big bump over his right eye, after being hit with an elbow or shoe. But the Buck star later returned to the game, in good shape.

Defensive standouts for White Deer were Bearden, and tackles, Bob McCreary and Bryan Cody.

It was the best defensive showing by a White Deer club in three years, but at the same time one of the Bucks' worst nights offensively in the same number of seasons.

White Deer's chances for victory were hampered by three 15-yard penalties and a pass interception by Stinnett's Donnie Anderson to end the game. The Rattlers had two fumbles fall into the anxious hands of Buck defenders for a pair of bad breaks.

Next week, White Deer tackles a good Spearman club while Stinnett plays host to a weak Panhandle outfit.

Top Schoolboy 11's Tack Up Grid Triumphs

United Press International
Top ranked Abilene of AAAA and Breckenridge of AAA, defending AA champ Terrell and Class A co-champ Mart all came through with victories Friday night, but the No. 2 teams in the two larger divisions, Highland Park and Nederland, were knocked off.

Abilene had to scramble from behind in the last quarter to edge seventh-ranked San Antonio Jefferson 28-26, but Breckenridge smothered Sweetwater 35-20 and held the Mustangs scoreless until the Bucks had piled up all their points.

Terrell, a prime favorite to repeat, blasted AAA Athens 38-8 in its opener, while Mart whitewashed Waco Midway 36-0 for its second in a row. White Oak, the other co-champ, plays at Hemphill tonight.

Highland Park, the defending AAAA titleholder, was nosed out 12-6 by Dallas Jefferson, rated in a tie for No. 8 spot in the AAAA United Press International coaches board ratings, while Nederland was upset by AAAA Orange 14-6.

Galena Park (5th) and Baytown (10th) also suffered blisters in their openers, the former being held to a scoreless tie by Houston 1 Milby and Baytown toppling to Houston Lamar (17th) 6-0.

Third-rated Port Arthur showed plenty of power in battling Louisiana's No. 1 team, Baton Rouge Istrouma, to a 20-20 tie and fourth rated Wichita Falls blasted Pampa 34-2 in other games involving AAAA top 10 teams.

White Deer B's Top Lefors, 22-8

WHITE DEER — The White Deer High B-team came from behind an 8-6 halftime deficit to dump the Lefors' B-squad here Thursday night, 22-8.

Lefors scored in the second period and made good its extra points for an 8-0 lead before the little Bucks sent George Grange racing around left end for 62 yards for a TD.

Don Carter put White Deer in the lead with a 42-yard romp in the third period and it was Carter who rammed over for the two-point conversion for a 14-8 advantage.

White Deer's B's iced it in the fourth when Don Hoskins blasted over tackle from five yards out and Grange struck the middle for the two-point conversion making it 22-8.

END OF THE LINE—Pampa halfback, Jerry Daniels, No. 44 at left with the ball, is stopped after gaining 11 yards in the second quarter of the Harvesters' 34-2 loss at Wichita Falls Friday night. Daniels, had grabbed an 11-yard pass from Gary Wills, before Wichita Falls' No. 79, Leland Allred, pinned Daniels' leg, as Charlie Edgemon, No. 63 in the center of the picture falling, and Norman Harris, No. 62, second from right tried to give an assist. At the far left running to the rescue is No. 57, Mickey Hamilton.

PERRYTON — The prolific Perryton Rangers of Coach Pete Peterson popped a 40-20 defeat on the Canadian Wildcat's here Friday night. The win pushed the Rangers record to 2-0, following a 27-0 romp past Dalhart last week. Canadian is now 1-1.

Yankees Cinch Tie For AL Pennant On McDougald's 3-Ply Blast; Chisox Fall

CHICAGO (UPI) — The New York Yankees clinched a tie for the American League pennant Saturday when Gil McDougald belted a three-run homer in the eighth inning for a 5-4 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Mantle at second, and Bill Skowron, who walked, scored ahead of McDougald in the eighth. The Yankees nicked Wynn for single runs in the first and seventh innings.

Norm Siebern singled in the first, advanced on a walk to Manon Jerry Lumpe's sacrifice fly, and scored on Berra's single. McDougald opened the seventh with a triple against the right field wall and crossed the plate.

Abe Sez Frogs Are One Of His Best 11's

(This is one of a series devoted to prospects of Southwest Conference football teams.)

FORT WORTH (UPI) — Even Coach Abe Martin admits his title-favored Texas Christian football team appears to "hit harder" than most any team he's had on the Horned Frog drill field.

That youthful exuberance combined with the fact Martin apparently also has come up with a dependable passer in senior Hunter Enis stamps this year's TCU outfit as one very definitely of Southwest Conference title potential.

The Horned Frogs are big and rugged up front and the incoming sophomores are so rambunctious that most of the 20 lettermen in the fold are having real scraps trying to hold onto their positions.

Robb Loses Job In fact, one of the two regular returning starters from last fall, tackle Joe Robb, apparently already has lost his starting job to first-year man Bob Lilly and is playing with the No. 2 unit.

That, however, isn't any particular disgrace. Because, Martin's second unit plays as much or sometimes more, as the starters in his two-platoon methods.

The other returning regular, Marvin Lassiter, has been switched from right to left half. But, there seems to be no danger of anyone displacing this hard-running youngster who ate up nearly 500 yards rushing last fall.

His running mate will be Marshall Harris, who leans more toward blocking and pass receiving than ball carrying; while fullback

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Imperturbable Charley Coe, a scrapper all week but an old-pro gambler when the chips were down, won his second National Amateur golf championship Saturday as he crushed upstart Tommy Aaron of Gainesville, Ga., 5-4, in the finals of the national tournament.

At the ends, junior lettermen are four deep, but Martin has three of them running at right end—Bubba Meyer, Paul Peebles and Bobby Murray—and Jimmy Gilmore at left. Gilmore also will be the punter.

There are four exceptionally strong tackles with Donald Floyd, soph Lilly getting the starting another junior letterman, and soph Lilly getting the starting nods and Robb and William Roach the alternate berths.

Ramon Armstrong and Sherrill Headrick, also junior lettermen, give Martin solid guard play and have lettermen to back them up.

At center, Martin has his only senior line starter in Dale Walker with a splendid sophomore, Arvie Martin in reserve.

ROYAL SAYS TEXAS TIED

AUSTIN (UPI) — University of Texas Coach Darrell Royal, who said Friday "we can't afford another scrimmage," sent his charges through a 60-minute scrimmage Saturday.

The Longhorns warmed up with kicking and signal drills before the scrimmage. The squad was described as "tired" and Royal said his scrimmage wasn't a "real good one." He said Friday he couldn't afford to scrimmage his charges again because of injuries.

For Coe the victory was another milestone in a great amateur golfing career. Now 34 yards old, the wealthy shot-maker first hit the big headlines in 1949 when he won his first national crown by trouncing Rufus King of Wichita Falls, Tex., 11-10 in the finals.

That was just 10 years and nine days ago to this day.

Bobcats Nip Panthers, 14-12

CHILDRESS — A two-point conversion pass from Ronnie Leach to Fred Cawthorn after the latter had scored on a 12 yard run netted the Childress Bobcats of District 5-AA a close 14-12 win over the Panhandle Panthers of 1-A here Friday night.

Leach had scored the only first half TD in the game, spinning for six yards and the score.

Trailing 14-0 in the third, Leiland Adcock rolled 21 yards for a Panhandle score and then in the fourth, Jim Richards flew over from one-foot out to make it 14-12.

A run for the conversion after the second Panhandle TD failed to give the Panthers a tie.

Clem Does It Again, This Time Sets Track Record At Atlantic

MAYS LANDING, N. J. (UPI) — Clem, the horse that stopped Round Table's bid for the world money-winning championship in Sept. 1 Washington Park Handicap, did so again Saturday in the $100,000 United Nations Handicap, setting a track record for the Atlantic City course.

Clem, with jockey Willie Shoemaker in the saddle went to the front shortly after the start of the mile and three-sixteenths race over the grass course. He led the rest of the way to haul down the winner's purse of $65,000, which would have skyrocketed Round Table's earnings beyond the all-time high of $1,288,565 earned by Nashua.

Round Table, who made a gallant bid in the stretch but could not catch Clem, picked up only $20,000, raising his earnings to $1,263,114, still $25,451 short of the record.

It was the first time Round Table ever was beaten on a grass course and Clem turned the trick aided by a 17-pound pull in the weights and his track record.

Round Table carried 130 pounds while Clem scampered across the finish line three-quarters of a length in front in 1:54—and three-fifths—one and one-third seconds faster than the track record set by Iceberg II in the inaugural running of the United Nations Handicap in 1953 and only two-fifths of a second over the American record of 1:54 and one-fifth, set by Mister Gus.

RECORDS TUMBLE

Spahn Cops 20th; Stuart Fans Six Straight Times

Braves 8, Cards 2

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — Warren Spahn of the Milwaukee Braves Saturday became, from one standpoint at least, the best left-hander pitcher in baseball history when he defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 8-2 and won 20 games for the ninth season of his career.

The Cardinals almost gave Spahn his 20th win against 10 losses this year, which made him the first southpaw to win 20 or more games for nine years.

The Braves continued their 7½ game lead over the second place Pittsburgh Pirates and dropped the magic number down to "five" in quest of their second straight National League pennant.

The Braves made five unearned runs in the fourth inning on three hits and three Cardinal errors, two of them by second baseman Don Blasingame and one by left-hander Del Ennis. The Cardinals came back to score two runs in the sixth on a double, two singles and Johnny Logan's error.

Spahn's record was achieved in 17 years in the majors, including three years in service and eight years while the Braves' home was at Boston. Spahn, now 37, had his best season in 1953, the first year at Milwaukee, when he won 23 and lost seven.

The victory put Spahn ahead of the two other southpaw pitchers he had tied at eight 20-game seasons. They were Eddie Plank and Lefty Grove of the old Philadelphia Athletics.

Cy Young holds the major league record for most 20-game seasons by right-handers with 16. Christy Mathewson pitched 13 20-game seasons and Walter Johnson 12.

Bucs 9, Dodgers 4

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Pirates went on a hitting binge to beat the Los Angeles Dodgers, 9-4, Saturday in a game which saw two records tied by current players and Dodger Manager Walter Alston thumbed to the showers for the second time this season.

In going from one extreme to the other first, Dick Stuart tied a National League record shared by four other players by striking out six straight times over a two game span. He went down swinging his first two times up to add to his four strikeouts Friday night.

Bill Mazeroski then equalled a Pirate record in the fourth inning with a two-run homer, his 18th of the year and the most hit by any Pittsburgh second baseman in one season since George Grantham in 1930.

A total of 22 hits were recorded as the teams met for the last time in 1958 with Pittsburgh taking a decided edge in the series, 14-8.

The Dodgers sent rookie Ralph Maueriello to the mound in his big league debut but the righthander failed to survive the first inning as the Pirates batted around on four hits and a pair of walks to score three times.

Indians 4, Bosox 1

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Cal McLish picked up his 15th victory of the year by pitching the Cleveland Indians to a 4-1 decision over the Boston Red Sox Saturday.

McLish, who has lost seven games, scattered seven hits and walked one. Boston's only run came on Don Buddin's fourth-inning homer into the lower left field stands. It was Buddin's 11th of the season.

Dave Sliser was as tough as McLish until he walked himself into trouble and the showers in the seventh inning when the Indians scored three times to break a 1-1 tie.

With two out and Russ Nixon on first by way of a single, Sliser walked Billy Harrell, McLish and Bob Avila. Avila's base on balls forced in Nixon and brought in relief pitcher Bud Byerly, who served up a two-run double to Vic Power.

Ted Williams moved ahead of teammate Pete Runnels in the American League batting race by singling in three official trips while Runnels was being blanked in four tries.

DETROIT (UPI) — The Detroit Tigers fell two short of a 57-year-old American League hitting record by having the first eight men hit safely in the third inning Saturday, and jumped off to a 13-2 rout of the Baltimore Orioles.

The lop-sided victory pulled Detroit to within a game of third-place Boston.

Detroit ran the circuit of single, double, triple and homer in the third after leading, 2-1, going into the inning.

The 16-hit Tiger attack was paced by Gail Harris with a pair of homers and a single for four RBI's.

Giants 6, Phils 5

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — A two-run homer in the eighth by Willie Kirkland and Andre Rodgers' first of the season in the ninth brought the San Francisco Giants home with a rush Saturday as they rallied to defeat the Philadelphia Phillies, 6-5.

Kirkland's homer, his 13th, and the third time this season that he brought late-inning devastation to the Phillies, climaxed a five run rally which put the Giants in the lead after they trailed 3-0 going into the inning.

Rodgers' homer proved the winner, for the Phillies countered once in the eighth and then Harry Anderson blasted his 23rd to open the ninth, but Don Johnson, the third Giant relief hurler, got the side out without further difficulty.

Sens 8, A's 5

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Clint Courtney slapped a grand slam homer in the second inning Saturday that carried the Washington Senators to an 8-5 victory over the Kansas City Athletics.

Norm Zauchin also collected his 15th homer for the Senators and Vito Valentinetti picked up his fifth victory after four losses to end a six-game Athletics winning streak.

Reds 9, Cubs 2

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Frank Robinson drove in four runs with a homer and double in the first two innings and Alex Keller scattered 10 hits Saturday as the Cincinnati Redlegs broke a four-game losing streak with a 9-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

One of the hits of Keller was Ernie Banks' 46th home run, and he drove in the other Cub run with a sacrifice fly for his 122nd RBI. He leads the majors in both departments.

Jerry Lynch also had a homer, his 14th, for the Redlegs.

Myers Lauds Dudley's Work

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. — (UPI) — Coach Jim Myers Saturday called off a scheduled game scrimmage fearing his Texas Aggies might incur further injuries, but the team held a regular workout.

"We just couldn't afford to get anybody hurt today," Myers said. And no one was injured in the two-hour drill, which included half speed contact work.

A&M, slowed down the past week by minor injuries and sickness, also drilled on defense against Texas Tech plays and some full-speed offense with no tackling allowed.

Only wingback Randy Sims, of Houston and guard LaDayne Johnson, of Commerce, were out of action Saturday. Other members of the squad, who suffered slight injuries, were in full pads.

Myers was pleased with first teamers Charley Minstead, J. O. Few, Dick Gay and Gordon LeBoeuf in the backfield. The coach singled out Ed Dudley of Pampa and Luther Halj for their offense.

The Aggies open the season next Saturday against Tech.

LOW BACK PAINS MAY INDICATE FEMALE TROUBLE. CORRECT THEM. The adult female without low back aches and attending disorders of the female cycle are rare indeed. Also rare is the sweet feminine thing that can correct the two. Who would think that low backache would indicate female trouble inside? After many hundred of such cases, we, at least, are certainly aware of the intimate relationship between the two. The low back and leg nerves that come out of the spinal Dr. Gordon column at the Miller D.C. belt area just above the hips divide into two main branches. They make a "Y" like a super highway. The irritated nerves forming one leg of the "Y" causes the muscular pains you so frequently suffer in the low back and down in your legs. The irritated nerves in the other part of the "Y" causes the cramps and other more serious disorders of the lower pelvic area. We must remember that cysts tumors and the like must have a cause. Cysts don't just happen. Your "control factor" is your central nervous system. Consider this case from our clinic files — the control factor had a definite hitch in it. But — a repairable hitch for the Miller Chiropractic Clinic, because we knew what to repair. A single working girl, thirty one years old, had been ir-

Panhandle Outdoor Life

Medallion the Second, owned by Dr. Bill Griffin, Berger, and handled by trainer John Gates, won the Border International Junior All-Age Championship in Canada September 4.

The winner was still in the derby age bracket, which is a category for younger dogs, but due to the dog's great ability he was placed in the Junior All-Age stake. Dr. Griffin said this particular contest was the first time the dog had been entered in competition.

Mourning Doves... Long Gone

There may be huge numbers of doves in parts of the Panhandle but in the particular area that I have noticed there are very few. Especially in this so compared to the number on hand a month ago. Two parties of four each that were checked the first day had 40 doves to each party.

That's 80 doves for eight hunters. High winds have hampered the shooters since some of the birds in flight seem to be flying at 40 m.p.h. or more.

On deer and turkey, the season will open November 16 and close November 25. The shooting hours will be from one-half hour before sunrise until sunset. The Panhandle will again have a ten-day hunt on these two species.

The seasonal limit will be as in

Bird Dog Wins Again

Dr. Griffin called and said that John Gates had just called him the second time in two days to say that Madallion the Second had won second place in the Open Derby in the Border International Trials at Frohisher, Saskatchewan, Canada. There were 29 dogs entered in this contest.

These 29 dogs represented the cream of the crop from the professional trainers who trained on the Canadian prairies this summer.

The degree of fishing success in these parts rests largely upon the fish pond managers. How many lakes, tanks, ponds do we have in this part of the state that are managed? Less than one percent would be my guess. If this is correct there can be a whole lot of improvement in the angling success.

the past, one prong-horned buck and two gobblers. Ad Wasson, Dick Coon, Fred Kelly, Pud Odus and almost every rancher encountered comment on the large crop of blue quail. Many blues are seen practically all over the central parts of the Panhandle.

Yesterday I saw three or four coveys that were from three days to ten days old. There will be a few more hatched out this month. Many of the coveys appear to be adult in size. The nesting activity all through the spring and summer has added up to one of the best blue quail crops we have had in many a moon.

It is my guess that the bobwhites have fared the same. The entire Panhandle country should be loaded with birds when December 1 rolls around.

The plot of fishing success lies in feeding fish. Catfish, whether channel cat or bullheads, will eat almost anything a hog or chicken will eat. Now here is the whole idea in a nutshell.

Simply pour feed, maize, corn, grain or cottonseed cake, at regular intervals in any waters that contain catfish and harvest grain-fed or cake-fed fish at the proper time.

In other words, suppose there were 500 catfish in a surface acre of water and these fish were five inches in length.

In all probability, the fish would remain the same length throughout their life span, but if these same fish could fill their stomachs with maize, corn or cottonseed cake as often as they wished they would grow at an alarming pace.

KONTRANY TOPS TL IN WINS, ERA

United Press International

Joe Kontrany, the big right-hander whose 19 victories led the Texas League in that respect and marked the high mark of his career, led the circuit's pitchers in earned run averages.

Final league statistics, official subject to a final check, show the league's All-Star pitcher nosing out Chris Nicolosi of Victoria and Dallas teammate Dave Hoskins for the ERA honor—a barometer of a hurler's efficiency.

Kontrany allowed only 81 earned runs in 244 innings for an average of 2.99 per game, while Nicolosi permitted 84 in 248 innings for 3.04 and Hoskins 87 in 248 innings for 3.19. Kontrany had a 19-10 record, Hoskins 17-8 and Nicolosi 15-13 and their records were even more remarkable in that their clubs were in the depths of the second division much of the year.

Carroll Beringer, the late-starting Victoria ace, boasted the best won-loss percentage, a .509 compiled on a 19-1 record marred only by his defeat on the final night of the season at the hands of Austin. Beringer's ERA was 3.04, but he worked only 100 innings.

Nicolosi led the league in innings pitched with his 248 and shared with Hoskins and Jim Archer of San Antonio the lead in complete games with 19. Jim Tugerson of Dallas led in strikeouts with 199.

Eric Rodin, Corpus Christi, won the batting title with a .320 mark, two points ahead of Art Dunham of Dallas, Lee Maye of Austin and Herbie Adams of Houston, who tied at .318.

Mike Lutz of Austin led the circuit in home runs with 39, runs batted in with 111 and shared the lead in hits with Rodin at 171. Rod Kanehl of Dallas pilfered the most bases, 28; Bill Parsons of Victoria hit the most triples, 14, and Jim Miller of Corpus Christi the most doubles, 38. In team averages, Corpus Christi led in nearly everything with a .272 batting mark, 691 RBIs, 158 home runs, 48 triples, 257 doubles, 1401 hits and 760 runs. Dallas led in stolen bases with 60.

OUTWARD TO THE STARS (18)—Inside the Station

By Don Oakley and Ralph Lane

Years of rocket research, testing, building, successes and failures—and great expense—will precede the building of any permanent manned space station on the scale envisioned above. But if men feel compelled to explore the Moon and planets at first hand, currently available means of propulsion (liquid or possibly solid-fuel rockets) require that some sort of orbiting station be built, although not necessarily this large and complicated.

Today's fuels are not sufficiently powerful to propel a man-carrying vehicle from the surface of the Earth, land it on another member of the solar system and return it to Earth. New discoveries in the field, however, could change that situation completely.

Yet whether or not it is needed for travel to another planet, science will want such a station someday—as an observatory free from atmospheric interference; a global weather plotter; a world-wide television, radio or telephone relay center; a gravity-free hospital where heart diseases may be studied or unfiltered sun rays used in the treatment of cancer.

Cutaway drawing shows some of the details of a station built after the von Braun spinning wheel concept. At an altitude of 1,075 miles, it completes one revolution about the Earth every two hours. Elevator and net ladder, center, lead from central entrance and exit to the main sections. Spinning of the rim provides artificial gravity.

At left is a communications room. At extreme lower left, the Earth is studied on several viewing screens showing details at various distances. Left of center, astronomers study a distant galaxy.

At right of panel a Moon rocket is in the final stages of assembly. Because it will never enter the atmosphere, this vehicle can be of lightweight, streamlined design. Crew quarters are contained in sphere at top. Fuel load is small, since its orbital velocity will give the Moon rocket a "running start" to escape Earth's gravity.

Truck-Car Crash Kills Three

ACKERLY, Tex. (UPI) — A truck-car collision on FM road 1212 two miles south of Ackerly killed three Lamesa men Friday.

The victims were Olen Earl Walton, 21; Kenneth Howard Graham, 32 and Billie Rickman, 24.

They were killed when the car in which they were riding collided with a loaded butane truck driven by Charles Everett of Ackerly who escaped injury.

Testimony In Fraud Case Set

CUERO, Tex. (UPI) — Testimony in the case of C. O. Hagan

Highway patrolman Jim Parks of Big Spring said the car apparently started to pass the truck and swerved into it. The 1-1/2 ton truck was loaded with 3,100 gallons of butane. Parks said no fire or explosion was caused by the crash. But the car and truck were demolished.

of McAllen, charged with conspiracy to defraud the state of $146,816 in connection with alleged Texas veteran land deal frauds, will open in 24th judicial district court here Monday.

Authorities predicted that the case will take from two to three weeks to complete.

A prospective jury panel of 34 men and women was completed Saturday. Two extra jurors were added to the list in a move to forestall any circumstances that might reduce the jury below the required number.

The state will be allowed to strike 10 of the 32 jurors as will the defense. The trial jury will be made up of the first 12 jurors

Miss Theresa Lu Koch Bride Of J. E. Hatfield

AT THIS TIME OF THE YEAR... we observe a curious phenomenon among the people in this area... a split-personality problem... this caused by the mental struggle over sports... the end of the baseball season is fast approaching... and now the football season is beginning... men are foggy trying to keep up with the final standings of the baseball teams preparing for the World Series... and also trying to keep up with how the Harvesters are doing in their practice sessions... and with both of these problems it is no wonder that, when the average man is asked a question of any sort... his answer may be a mumble of figures and words including baseball scores... the words scrimmage... halfback... pitcher... and so on... unintelligibly, for the most part, mingled with his half-answer to the question... with patience, we may all be able to weather the confusion until the World Series is over with, and we can concentrate on football only.

THERE IS ONE THING WHICH THRILLED us this week... and that is the announcement of the showing of the Albert Schweitzer film which is coming up the first of October... hope to see you there... for we have heard it is one of the best films ever made... we realize we mentioned it last week, but dog-gone-it, it is an important event... one of the loveliest weddings we've noted was that of Carolyn Price... beautiful colors... and we thought she made a very beautiful bride... and we would like to make a note of the lovely dress worn by Mary Price... a luscious color... Episcopal women are getting busy this time of year... the Fall brings lots of work... getting ready for the annual Bazaar... it is always an event in our schedule because we just love to go and see the beautiful things made... and get some of our Xmas shopping done... Mrs. James Daily and Mrs. Bruce Scott should have some of the best fun with the thing... they are in charge of yarn toys... and from the things last year... worms and octopi... and so on, it must be a barrel of fun to plan and execute some of the toys... Mrs. John Brown... in charge of the other category... stuffed toys... should also have a pleasant task ahead... of course, we know full well that it is an awful lot of work and frustration involved in seeing to it that everything is made in time, and so on, but at least, it is alayed with humor and a measure of delight in the finished product... Mrs. Jack Florence is the attractive new president of the Rho Eta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi... congratulations from us... Mrs. Jim Terrell vice-president... Mrs. Hart Warren, treasurer... Mrs. R. D. Dunham and Mrs. Wade Court secretaries... looks like a good year for the chapter with that nice group... and speaking of clubs... the Twentieth Century clubs are having their Presidents' Coffee this coming week... and have lined up a wonderful guest... Mrs. Bess Rothman, fashion consultant with Volk Brothers in Dallas... Reba McGuire is going to be toastmistress we hear... that's all for this section... read on and weep.

WELL, NOT WEEP LITERALLY... but you know what we mean... we were amused the other day to read in the Abigail Van Buren column (yes, we admit we read it) she said, in answer to a letter... "Prosperity is just around the corner," and that is almost too true to be amusing... to harp back on the subject we mentioned before... we saw the football boys in that intensive practice session the other day, before the game... and they were surely working hard... of course, as we write this, we don't know the outcome of the game which was played last Friday night... but the boys surely LOOK in fine shape... one of the new teachers at Stephen F. Austin school is Stella Kiser... we heard that Kay Bruce and family (the children) are leaving for Albuquerque... husband Chuck will be left in Pampa to "batch" for himself... nine o'clock on Wednesday morning is fun for those who go out to Garden Lanes bowling alley for a little bowling... it is a coffee-bowl time, in two senses of the word, for the women... and good fun, too... anybody is welcome, and while you get a little exercise, you can also get a good cup of coffee... it is not a League, just open bowling for the ladies... sometimes there's even a small "pot" at stake and all you bowlers will know what we mean... beginning next week, you mothers will lose your first-graders until 2:30, won't you?

THIS WEEK is a sort of never-never-land, before things start popping in clubs and other activities... dinners and parties and coffees and so on... it takes a couple of weeks of September to get organized... Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Johnston visited with the Tex Evans in the "cabin" at Evergreen last week... read in the Amarillo paper the the aspens in the highest altitudes are beginning to turn yellow... we have always wanted to go see this annual wonderland of color... but haven't made it yet... Cecil and Zelma Williams were also in Colorado... and enjoyed seeing Central City and other such places... suppose they include the sights in Denver, also... we have heard that Walter and Mildred Cash have a coffee-and-cream colored miniature poodle puppy to keep their house in an uproar... Mary and Clifford Jones took their daughter, Pat, off to college at Rice... we know something else, too, Dr. Ellis has a new little "bug" type car... a DKW... whatever that is... cute, too... and speaking of football, which we weren't at the moment, but let's, the L. L. Garrens went along to Wichita Falls for the game... their interest is going to be football, now that they have a boy in High School.

DO YOU EVER hear the trains whistle lately?... with the Hobart Street underpass, so they don't have to whistle for that crossing, one doesn't hear many toots any more... but if you do hear them, do you know what they mean?... one toot means stop... two short toots means "I heard your signal"... three short means back up... one long toot means the train is approaching the station... and so on... and if we have given you the wrong information about this, blame the Union Pacific Railroad... for we are just passing on the information they sent out.

BEFORE WE LEAVE YOU FOR THE WEEK... we may be able to dredge up a couple more little items... for instance... Dord Fitz classes in painting are beginning... they're meeting in the downtown Pampa Junior High School... on Mondays... on the second floor, room 224... believe it or not, there are a couple of rooms vacant there... the grade schools this year are popping at the seams... and we would like to give an orchid to school officials for the way they have handled this overcrowding problem... speaking as a parent, it is nice to know they are doing their best they possibly can to give all the children a fair chance at good classroom conditions, and it is a real job, trying to please everyone... and here in the midst of all these problems, Mr. Kinard finds time to release a room for adult art classes... sometimes you realize this is a pretty good old world after all... love, Peg

MRS. J. E. HATFIELD
(Photo, Elaine Ledbetter)

Double-ring vows were pledged last night at eight o'clock by Miss Theresa Lu Koch and J. E. Hatfield in the First Christian Church with Rev. Richard Crews performing the formal service before a background of Jade Palms, candelabra, and pedestal urns of bronze chrysanthemums with the choir rails entwined with huckleberry lighted with 15-inch Bittersweet candles. Amber spotlights were placed under front pews with a white overhead spot on the bridal couple.

Miss Koch is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Koch, 853 E. Kingsmill. Mr. Hatfield's parents are Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Hatfield, 1009 Classen, Norman, Okla.

Mrs. John Gill at the organ played Lohengrin's Wedding March and accompanied Mrs. James Webb as she sang "I Love You Truly," "September Song" and "The Lord's Prayer."

BRIDE

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in white Rose-point lace over white bridal satin fashioned with a deep v-shaped neckline, three-quarter bell puffed sleeves, a full gathered skirt, which swept into a chapel-length train. Her finger-tip Veil of Illusion fell from a satin cloche studded with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of gardenias adorned with stephanotis and white satin streamers.

ATTENDANTS

Carrying out the hues of autumn, Mrs. Jackie Lee McLean of Houston, bride's sister, was matron of honor and Miss Sandra Walsh, maid of honor, wore gowns of bronze crystalline. Miss Mary E. Epton of Wevoka, Okla., Miss Jackie Bourland, Miss Gale Lee Harris of Kellon and Miss Betty Jane Holbert of Pittsburg, Pa. bridesmaids, were attired in antique gold crystalline, as was the junior bridesmaid, Miss Glenda Jean Hatfield of Norman, bridegroom's sister. Each attendant carried a basket ring in colors of bronze and Talisman filled with chrysanthemums.

Eldon B. Hatfield, bridegroom's brother, of Oklahoma City served as best man. Ushers and groomsmen were Willard Hatfield, also the bridegroom's brother, Fred Hazel, Lyndall Hall, Jackie Wilson, all of Norman, Okla., Edd McGuire and Joe Jackson, both of Pampa. All male members of the wedding party wore white tuxedos with black ties.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Koch chose Wedgewood Blue brocade sheath and duster with matching accessories. Her corsage was of pale pink cymbidium orchids. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Hatfield, wore a navy dressmaker suit with matching accessories. Her corsage was of deep pink cymbidium orchids.

RECEPTION

Friends were received in the bride's home, immediately following the ceremony. Yellow roses flanked with Bittersweet candles in crystal candelabras formed the focal point of the bride's table where champagne punch and cake was served to approximately 150 guests. Mrs. Clayton White presided at the cake service with Mrs. Paul McNaul and Mrs. Ben Cox serving punch. Mrs. H. J. McArdle of Abilene was guest registrar.

For a wedding trip to New Mexico and Colorado, the bride traveled in an electric blue and green Paisley Walking Suit.

The bride was graduated from Pampa High School in 1937 as salutatorian her class and voted best Thespian. She was a delegate to Girls' State, a member of the National Honor Society, Quill and Scroll. She attended University of Texas, where she was a member of the U of T freshman honor society and freshman council.

The bridegroom was graduated from Norman High School in 1932, and was class president and captain of the football team. He was graduated from Oklahoma University in 1937, where he was

Junior High, "Important Stepping Stone" Illustrated In Talk By Cameron Marsh

Woodrow Wilson was host-school to the City Council PTA meeting on Tuesday morning the school auditorium.

Standing before a giant bouquet of mums, presented by Dr. and Mrs. Weldon Adair, Cameron Marsh, Pampa Junior High principal, spoke on "Why We Have Junior High Schools."

Mr. Marsh began by saying "Junior High School is one of the stepping stones to maturity and it definitely has a place in the school system. When schools were begun, they consisted of grade schools with grades one through eight."

In his ensuing talk, Mr. Marsh traced the beginning of junior high schools. "It was over one hundred years after the establishment of grade schools before the high school was established and then it was only for students of the ministry and was not supported by state nor city taxes. In 1859, a small town in Michigan made their high school a legal institution supported by state and city taxes. At this time, only about thirty percent of grade school students went on to high school. It seemed a big jump for which they were not ready. This led the National Education Association to take a good look at the students themselves, and they found a need for a bridge between grade school and high school. So, the first junior high school was set up as a wedge with the grades six, seven and eight. This was not completely satisfactory, so between 1910 and 1920, the stepping stone was developed more as the junior high is now set up with seven, eight and ninth grades.

The seventh grader is still treated as a child with the same teachers for most classes; the eighth graders are treated as older children, moving to different teachers for different classes. Then the ninth grade student is treated almost as a high school student but still with the same group. He is scheduled as an individual with half credit courses to be chosen.

From the ninth grade to high school is a slow transition but the student is now prepared. Around 1920, approximately 1500 junior highschools were built."

In conclusion, Mr. Marsh stated, "nearly ninety percent of the students now go to high school; the chance to grow up, the added courses of physical education, shop, music, foreign languages in the junior high school now help the student to be ready for the high school program; consequently more students are finishing high school and going on to college."

L. C. Davis, Sam Houston principal, gave the invocation.

Mrs. R. A. Mack, council president, expressed appreciation to the school for the privilege of meeting there and introduced Alex Swann, acting principal in the absence of H. A. Yoder, who is ill.

Mrs. James Lewis, district president, reported on the District 19 board meeting. She stated that city council president's expenses to state-convention were no longer paid by the state, so local units will be expected to share this expense.

Mrs. Lewis also, announced a Leadership Conference and Training Course will be held in Clarendon on Oct. 14 with the theme "Stepping Stones To Maturity Through Our Town PTA." Local units should elect their delegates to attend this course as soon as possible, according to Mrs. Lewis.

She also announced the district Spring Conference would be held in Pampa in April and the state convention will be in El Paso in November. "District 19 will charter a bus to this convention," Mrs. Lewis stated.

Mrs. K. H. Cambren, Lamar PTA president and Aaron Meek, Lamar principal, extended an invitation to the council to meet in Lamar School for their council meeting on Oct. 7 at 9:30 a.m.

Mrs. J. R. Holloway gave several parliamentary procedures to be used in PTA meetings.

During the social period, coffee and miniature rolls were served from a table covered with an ecru cloth centered with a still life arrangement of fruit, mums, cacti and yucca seed pods. Presiding at the serving table were Meses Buri Graham, Jr., E. L. Henderson, and Norman Sublett.

El Progreso To Soar In 'Outer Space' With Programs Planned Around Theme

A fluffy, pink cloud mounted with a space platform formed the focal point of the buffet table at the one o'clock luncheon given Tuesday by the El Progreso Club in the home of Mrs. W. L. Heskew, 1120 N. Somerville.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mmes. Carlton Nance, V. J. Drew, George Hirdicka who comprise the social committee.

Following luncheon, Mrs. Elmer Fisher, president, said in her greetings to the club that she wanted this to be a rewarding year for the members and that she would do all in her power to make it so.

Roll call was answered with "Where Have You Been And What Did You Do?"

Mrs. Bob Banks, program chairman and vice president, distributed yearbooks to members and outlined the ensuing year's programs. "The theme for the year," Mrs. Banks said, "is 'Exploration of Outer Space' and the theme for the Texas Federation of Clubs is 'Service is the rent we pay for the space we occupy.'"

"The first two programs are entitled, 'In the Beginning, God... and they deal with the great religions of the world. Just before the November election, a political program is planned with the title, 'Around the World.' One meeting in November is entitled, 'Our Next Door Neighbor' with Mrs. Ervin Pursley, guest speaker, presenting a program on crafts. 'The Big Day' is the title for Federation Day with emphasis also given to Texas Day and Traffic Safety. The Christmas Program is called 'Behind a Curtain of Clouds' and is concerned with the 'Challenge of Christmas.'

"El Progreso," Mrs. Banks announced, "will be hostess for the Senior Citizens in January, at which time emphasis will be placed on 'The Many Stars.' To complete the January programs, a glamorous touch will be added with 'Atoms For Beauty.'

"Our Galaxy" will include a report on the Future Nurses Club and the many civic and welfare projects that the various service clubs in Pampa support.

"Luncheon in the Senior High School and a tour through the chemistry department, conducted by Mrs. William Ledbetter, will afford the members a view of 'New Shapes and Sizes' of science today."

"Friendship Day will honor our many 'comets and shooting stars,' our guests.

"Three Discoveries" will be revealed in the fields of education, science and terminology as we attempt to 'Awaken America to the Russian Challenge.' 'How Much Gravity?' referring to the United Nations will be the topic for another program. A program concerned primarily with the home will be entitled, "From the Launching Pad."

Mrs. Banks concluded the program's outline with "the installation of officers will be the final program at which time we will 'Launch a New Satellite.'

New Lee PTA Unit Plans Open House

"Corridors of Higher Education" has been adopted as the motto for the Robert E. Lee Junior High School PTA year book at the executive board meeting held Thursday morning at nine in the cafeteria of the new school.

Plans were also discussed for the first general meeting to be held on Sept. 18 which will be Open House with officers of the student council as hosts, assisted by the PTA.

It was announced that a leadership conference training course will be held in Clarendon on Oct. 14 with Mrs. Robert A. Mack, PTA City Council president, in charge. Members of the executive committee and room representatives were elected delegates to the conference.

Fund-raising projects and plans for Family Night in October were discussed.

Patsy Cook, Larry Ross McWilliams Repeat Nuptial Vows In Chapel Rites

Miss Patsy Lorraine Cooke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Emmitt Cooke of Ennis, and Larry Ross McWilliams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Clyde McWilliams, 1318 Mary Ellen, exchanged wedding vows on Sept. 12 in the Cole Chapel of the Pearl Street Methodist Church in Denton at 8:30 p.m.

Ralph Flanagan, minister of the Welch Street Church of Christ, performed the double-ring service in the chapel decorated with a Jewel foliage tree and Swedish steeple candelabra holding white tapers centered with a sunburst arrangement of white gladioli and white chrysanthemums.

Bob Mizell of Denton, organist, played the traditional wedding marches and accompanied Mrs. R. L. Selby Jr., Denton, as she sang "Because," "Always" and "The Lord's Prayer."

pink and white parasol enhanced with a graceful spray of pink carnations.

Joe Clyde McWilliams Jr. served his brother as best man. Ushers were Jack Ward and Damon Runyon, Pampa.

Candlelighters were Misses Judy and Sharon Carter of Waxahachie, nieces of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Cooke chose a dress of navy lace over taffeta complemented with white accessories and a corsage of white Mystery gardenias and feathered carnations. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. McWilliams selected a sheath dress of mauve lace over satin with matching satin accessories. Her corsage was also of white Mystery gardenias and feathered carnations.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Carole Stanger, Ennis, served as maid of honor, wearing a street-length dress of pink taffeta fashioned along princess lines with a scoop neckline edged with embroidered lace. She carried a

Given in marriage by her fa-

RECEPTION

Guests were received in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Newt B. Wardlaw immediately following the ceremony. Miss Betty Lou McWilliams, sister of the bridegroom, registered guests.

The bride's table was covered with blue net over polished cotton caught up in each corner with a velvet bow with streamers leading to the centerpiece of pink carnations encircling a fantasy umbrella of pink net and satin bows. Mrs. Bill Carrico, Denton, presided at the punch service. Mrs. Hulda Bolivar, also of Denton, served cake. They were assisted by Mrs. George Carter, bride's sister.

For a wedding trip to Colorado Springs, Colo., the bride wore a toast silk shantung suit with black and white accessories. Her corsage was a white orchid.

Mr. and Mrs. McWilliams Sr. were hosts to a rehearsal dinner in Pat Boone's County Inn following rehearsal in the chapel. Guests included the bride and bridegroom, bride's parents, Miss Stagner, Joe McWilliams, Misses Judy and Sharon Carter, Mr. Mizell, Mrs. Selby, Minister and Mrs. Flanagan.

Upon their return from Colorado, Mr. and Mrs. McWilliams will make their home at 618 W. Hickory in Denton.

The bride was graduated from Ennis High School, Draughton's Business College, and attended North Texas State. At present, she is employed at Lone Star Gas Co. in Denton.

The bridegroom took his last two years of high school work in Lexington Military Academy in Lexington, Mo., where he was a graduate. He attended North Texas State College and plans to resume his studies this fall as a sophomore majoring in business administration.

Bette Fern Roles, Richard Fancher Jr. Pledge Vows In Double-Ring Ceremony

MR. and MRS. RICHARD FANCHER JR.

(Special to The News) WHITE DEER — Nuptial vows were exchanged on August 29, in the First Baptist Church, by Miss Bette Fern Roles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Roles, White Deer and Richard Fancher Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fancher Sr., of Beaumont, with Rev. L. V. Ratliff Jr., pastor of the Highland Baptist Church, Amarillo, reading the double-ring ceremony.

An arch entwined with lemon leaves with bouquets of white gladioli decorated the altar. Behind the arch stood two seven-branched candelabra holding tall white candles. On each side were spiral candelabra with white candles, and baskets of white gladioli, and banks of jade palms. Beneath it was a wrought-iron prie dieu, cushioned in white.

Miss Suzanne Bates, organist played a medley of pre-nuptial airs and the traditional wedding marches. Mrs. Harold Delaney, Beaumont, sister of the bridegroom, sang "Whither Thou Goest," "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer."

ATTENDANTS The bride's attendants were Miss LaDoska Brenaman, of Houston, maid of honor; and Mrs. John McIntyre of Anson, Miss Ruth Smith of White Deer, and Miss Jovonne Taylor of Lockney, bridesmaids. All wore dresses of baby-blue silk organza, fashioned with full skirts, fitted bodices with draped collars which extended into long streamers at the back. Their hats were wide ruffles of starched net trimmed with iridescent sequins and attached to seed pearl headbands. They carried heart-shaped bouquets of white chrysanthemums.

The flower girls, Marilyn and Carolyn Ratliff of Amarillo and Barbara Brown of Pampa, wore rose lace dress with matching accessories and a hat of iridescent sequins. Her corsage also was of white carnations.

Mrs. Charles Timmons, White Deer, registered the guests as they entered the church.

Miss Jane Bates, White Deer, played background music during the reception in the church parlor. Miss Imo Jean Noland, Floydada, served the bride's cake, and Mrs. Wallace Birdwell, Skellytown, served punch.

For the wedding trip to Colorado Springs, the bride chose a black two-piece dress with matching accessories and wore the orchids from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Fancher is a graduate of White Deer High School and Hardin-Simons University, having received her bachelor's degree at the close of the summer term.

Mr. Fancher graduated from Beaumont High School, Hardin-Simons University and has attended the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth for one year.

The couple will make their home in Fort Worth, where Mr. Fancher will continue his work at the seminary and also will serve as music director at the First Baptist Church in Celina for his second year.

Mr. and Mrs. Fancher Sr. were hosts at the rehearsal dinner in the Johnson Cafe in Pampa.

Alton Smith of Rotan served as best man; Brantley Laycock of White Deer, Harold Delaney of Beaumont, and Joe Al Bryant of Lubbock were groomsmen; a nephew, George Collis of White Deer and Otis Roles of Pampa, a cousin of the bride, were ushers.

BRIDE Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of net, tulle, lace, and satin. The fitted bodice of imported Chantilly lace was designed with a Sabrina neckline and long sleeves which came to a point over the hands. The yoke was embroidered with iridescent sequins enjoined to a bouffant skirt, which extended into a chapel train, of narrow net ruffles with an overskirt of tulle and paniers of Chantilly lace. The tip of each of the four paniers was caught with a tiny heart of seed pearls. Her finger-tip Veil of Illusion was attached to a heart-shaped hat of lace, sequins, and pearls. She wore a strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. Her bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis tied with white ribbon streamers was carried on a white Bible.

Mrs. Roles, mother of the bride, chose a blue lace dress with black accessories and a corsage of white carnations. Mrs. Fancher, mother of the bridegroom, wore a dusty

Morning and Evening Harrah WSCS Circles Convene For Business, Study

Mrs. H. V. Pigg presided at the meeting of Circle One of the Women's Society of Christian Service of Harrah Methodist Church on Thursday evening.

Mrs. P. D. Gross used "The Opening of New Doors" as the devotion for the program.

Mrs. O. M. Butler discussed "The Missionary Challenge and the Crisis of the Church," by Col. W. Williams. She ended with this quotation: "A man should never be ashamed to own he has been wrong; which is but to say, in other words, he is wiser today than he was yesterday."

"Hawaii, Showplace of Democracy and Christianity," was the title of Mrs. Pigg's topic. "The Methodist story in Hawaii is just beginning. We will hear more about it as we take the Church-wide study on Methodism in Alaska and Hawaii," said Mrs. Pigg.

Following announcements, Mrs. A. Neel gave the benediction and the meeting adjourned.

Mrs. J. D. Sackett and Mrs. D. S. Buckner were other members present.

There will be the regular Circle meeting for this group Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

CIRCLE TWO Circle Two of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of Harrah Methodist Church met Thursday morning in Fellowship Hall with Mrs. Johnnie Pierce, presiding. The devotional was given by Mrs. Ton Price using Matthew 4:16 as her text.

Mrs. Pierce and Mrs. P. D. Gross presented a skit entitled "Thinking and Acting Wisely." The Fifth Assembly of The Women's Society of Christian Service held at St. Louis in May, was a topic for discussion by Mrs. Gross and Mrs. Pierce. Pictures of the Assembly were also shown. "Even though we could not go to Assembly, we can gain some comfort by reading of it and enjoying pictures prepared for us in the Methodist Woman and the World Outlook," said Mrs. Gross.

A short business meeting was informally conducted, as the group sat at a table and enjoyed coffee and cookies served by Mrs. Pierce. All were urged to assist the pastor in getting clothing ready for the United Appeal for overseas.

Announcement was made of the meeting of the United Church Women of Pampa to be in St. Paul Methodist Church on Sept. 19 and the showing of the Albert Schweitzer movie in the LaNora Theater on Oct. 1-2.

The next meeting of the society will be Sept. 18. It will be an all day session and all members are urged to attend, especially all officers.

Members present other than those already mentioned were: Mmes. O. M. Butler, Dale Gross, G. O. Hall, Dallas Hodges, Joe Singleton, W. J. Duncan, and T. H. Alexander.

NEW WAYS TO DEFINE AREAS
The new concept of Modern room planning has actually applied the old axiom of "divide and conquer" to home space—and it works like a charm. One reason why it works is because many of the rooms in today's smaller homes are combination rooms. Entire partitions have been eliminated and a feeling of greater spaciousness and freedom results. Our rooms seem larger even though they may actually have smaller dimensions.
This calls for a furnishing and decorating plan that uses every inch of available space advantageously—and defines areas functionally and attractively.
A commodious storage unit has been used to separate the living and dining areas in the room sketched above. Open shelves have been stacked on a cabinet base. Decorative bric-a-brac and dishes add interest to both areas. Cabinet shelves and closed cupboard space on both sides for specific dining room and living room equipment.

Doube-Ring Vows Are Exchanged By Carolyn Jenice Horner, E. R. Nichols

(Special To The News)
SKELLYTOWN—In a double-ring ceremony, Miss Carolyn Jenice Horner and Elmer Richard Nichols were united in marriage in the first Baptist Church on Aug. 16 at eight o'clock. Rev. Eugene Brand performed the ceremony amid a setting of pedestal urns of pink gladioli, jade palms and candelabra holding pink tapers. Pink satin bows marked the pews of honor.

Miss Horner is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Horner, Skellytown. Mr. Nichols is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert I. Nichols, Healdton, Okla.

BRIDE

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gown in white imported lace over taffeta, fashioned with a fitted bodice, scoop neckline daintily trimmed with tiny seed pearls, and long tapering lace sleeves came to petal points over her hands. Panels of tulle and lace formed the bouffant skirt which fell into a flowing chapel train. Her double-scalloped finger tip veil of illusion cascaded from a crown of iridescent sequins and tiny seed pearls. The bride's only jewelry was a cultured pearl necklace, a gift of the bridegroom. She carried a bouquet of white roses and stephanotis with streamers of white satin.

Mrs. Ramona Hutchins, Lubbock served as matron of honor, wearing a pink embroidered cotton satin sheath dress with an attached cummerbund of pink satin. A large pink picture hat and pink lace gloves completed the ensemble. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink carnations.

Honorary bridesmaids were Miss Amy Jo Durning and Miss Joy Lester. They wore identical pink embroidered cotton satin sheaths complemented with large pink picture hats and lace gloves. They both carried cascade bouquets of pink carnations.

Miss Brenda Wilson, flower girl, wore a frock of white lace touched with silk rosebuds fashioned with a fitted bodice, and full skirt. She carried a basket of white roses.

Ring-bearer was Terry Don Braddock, who carried the rings on a white satin pillow.

Stewart Byram, White Deer, was best man. Ushers were Donald Willis Denham and Jerry Doyle Braddock. Groomsman were Jimmy Horner, brother of the bride and Harold Brand.

Miss Regenia Baker, pianist, played the traditional wedding march and accompanied Alvin Bellows as he sang "The Lord's Prayer." Mrs. Lowell McBroom sang "Oh Promise Me" and "Whither Thou Goest."

Mrs. Horner, bride's mother, chose for her daughter's wedding a pale blue imported linen sheath dress with white beaded neck trim and white accessories. She wore a white split carnation corsage. Mrs. Nichols, bridegroom's mother, chose a brown Irish linen sheath with white accessories. Her corsage was white split carnations.

RECEPTION
 Following the wedding, a reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the First Baptist Church. The serving table was laid with a white organdy cloth, centered with a candelabra epergne of pink aristocrat roses and Amaryllis lillies.

Musical selections were played by Miss Regenia Baker at the piano.

Mrs. Patsy Denham presided at the guest register. Miss Virginia McGee assisted at the punch bowl and Mrs. Denham served the tiered wedding cake.

For traveling, the bride wore a gray and white tweed cotton suit with black accessories and a corsage of white roses.

Following a honeymoon to points of interest in Colorado, the couple will be at home at 1416 E. Browning, Pampa.

The bride graduated from White Deer High School, and attended Wayland college in Plainview for one year. The bridegroom graduated from Mt. Home High School in Healdton, Okla., and is presently employed by the Skelly Oil

MRS. ELMER RICHARD NICHOLS

A post-nuptial shower for Mrs. Elmer Nichols, nee Miss Carolyn Horner, was held recently in the Fellowship hall of the First Baptist Church. Hostesses for the occasion were Meses. Evert Hultines, Lena Moore, Clara Brown, Bob Moore, Lowell, McBroom, Don Denham, H. D. Moran, M. C. Durnin, Howard Farley, Jack Cronwell, Harold Braddock, Lynn West, Billy Cofer, W. N. Adams, Dorothy Horner and W. F. Adams. Mrs. Billy Wade Cofer of Borger presided at the guest register. The honoree was presented with a corsage of pink roses. Her mother, Mrs. C. F. Horner, was presented with a corsage of white carnations.

MATURE PARENT

Right after dinner on Friday night Betty got a telephone call. After completing it, she returned to the living room, turned off the sound of the TV movie her parents were watching and said, "Joan says she can't have the crowd at her house tomorrow night because her grandparents are coming. I can have the kids here, can't I?"

Her father said, "I think Mother has planned something herself for tomorrow night."

Her mother said, "Yes dear. I've invited the Browns for dinner and bridge."

Betty said coldly, "Does that mean I can't have my friends over?"

"It does," her father said amiably.

There was a tense pause. Then Betty exploded. "Gosh, I'll be glad when I have a place of my own!" she cried. "Will I be glad when I can have kids in when I want them instead of asking your permission?"

Which was exactly how an 18-year-old person should feel.

In adolescence the young have to begin to rebel against the disadvantages of living with us in order to seek the advantages of living without us.

If we understand this, we don't feel obliged to soften all the disadvantages but can sustain their rebellion without hurt or apology.

Parents who feel it necessary to grant all adolescent demands deny children opportunities to feel their rebellion is justified.

They are less generous than they think they are. By always submitting to demands for the living room, the car, the extra $10, such parents retain their reputation for "kindness" at a high cost to their youngsters.

For what happens is that Betty and Hank lose their conviction that they have a right to fight them — and begin to reproach themselves for wanting to take leave of such wonderful parents.

No young person can cut his childhood ties to us without struggle. By making Betty's life with us too comfortable, we delay the struggle.

So we are truly generous when we expose her to the realistic disadvantages of dependence on us — and accept her rebellion against them as good for everyone.

Miss Paula Lowe entertained with soft background music. The serving table was laid with a white linen cloth centered with a bouquet of pink roses and carnations. Miss Joy Lester presided at the punch service and Miss Amy Durning served the cake.

Approximately 250 guests attended.

"Speed No. 1 Killer", States Sgt. Albers At Noon Luncheon Meeting Of Altrusans

E. G. Albers Jr., sergeant of the Highway Patrol, Department of Public Safety was guest speaker at the noon luncheon meeting of the Altrusa Club on Monday in the Fellowship Hall of the First Methodist Church. Introduced by Mrs. Clyde Vanderberg, Altrusa chairman of Public Affairs, Sergeant Albers, who is in charge of 8 1/2 counties in the northeast corner of the Panhandle, listed speed as the No. one killer with deaths resulting from 57 percent of highway accidents; driving while drinking claimed 34 percent; disregarding warning signs claimed 24 percent of the fatalities, while driving on wrong side or road killed 16 percent. "51.7 percent fatal accidents involved only one car," Sgt. Albers said, "while 8 per cent involved one car and a pedestrian and a pedestrian." "Share the road," cautioned Sgt. Albers, "and observe the three C's of driving: courtesy, cooperation, and communication." "Defensive driving" was the title of the film projected by Horace Prince training supervisor, Industrial Relations Department of Cabot, who assisted Sgt. Albers in the presentation of the safety program. The Smith System of defensive driving brought out five good points for motorists to observe: 1) Aim high in steering; 2) Get the Big Picture; 3) Keep eyes moving; 4) Make sure they see you; 5) Leave yourself an out.

Mrs. Irvin Cole Guest Speaker For Civic Culture Club

Civic Culture Club met Tuesday for a one o'clock salad luncheon in the country home of Mrs. R. E. Dauer. Following luncheon, Mrs. Irvin Cole presented the program on "Advantages of Federation." In her opening remarks, Mrs. Cole stated, "It all began back in 1868, when Jennie June Croly organized The Sorosis Club, which is called the mother of general federation. The U.S. government in 1901 granted a charter to the young organization in which is defined its purpose: 'to unite women's clubs and like organizations throughout the world for the purpose of mutual benefit and for the promotion of their common interest in education, philanthropy, public welfare, moral values, civics and fine arts.' Mrs. Cole went on to say, "In the 87 years of the life of our organization, our leaders have recognized a certain synthesis... a golden vein running through the interpretation of our federation motto, "Unity in Adversity," thus pointing up clearly our objectives.

"The individual," Mrs. Cole said, "may be powerless to shape events, but the sum of the individuals, organized in high endeavor, may be potent enough through knowledge to lead the world out of the shadow of war into a lasting peace. Knowledge is the first essential for service. Knowledge is power." Mrs. T. G. Newman was welcomed as a guest by the following members present, Mmes. R. E. Dauer, Irvin Cole, Ophelia Morris, R. E. Darsey, W. C. Scott, Stanley Brandt, Katie Vincent, C. F. Pennington, Willis White, J. E. Townsend, A. C. Houchin, C. E. Axelson, Jack Hon and Louise Sewell.

RUTH MILLETT Lancaster-Watson Say August Vows

Not long ago I asked working wives who are convinced that their jobs haven't made them poorer wives, mothers and housekeepers to stand up and be counted.

They stood up, all right—straight and tall and proud, judging from their letters — to let it be known that a woman can hold down a job and not in any way neglect her children, her husband or her home.

Some said that their working had made it possible for the family to buy a home of their own. Some said it was that extra pay check in the family that made it possible for the children to have a college education. Some said the feeling of accomplishment they get from holding down a job and earning a pay check had given them such a lift they knew they were more stimulating companions to their husbands.

But the interesting thing about their letters was that they all said that what made the career - housewife combination work was family cooperation.

In every single "success" letter, there was the boast that "My husband appreciates my helping out," or "We talked it over with the children before I took a job and they have been wonderful about doing their share of the work around the house," or "We all share in the household chores." So, perhaps, the answer to whether or not a wife and mother can successfully hold down an outside job depends on her ability to convince her husband and children that she is going to work for the good of the family and that in return she needs her family's cooperation.

I wish I could share these letters with you for they are remarkable success stories. They show a new kind of pioneer spirit — with families pulling together just as they did in the early days of our country, when every member of the family was expected to pitch in and do whatever had to be done.

First Methodist Church of Mobeetie was the wedding scene for Miss Laura Lancaster and Doyle Ray Watson on August 30 at 8:30 p.m.

Miss Lancaster is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Lancaster. Mr. Watson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Watson, Wheeler.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a street-length white chiffon flared dress with pink accessories. She carried a white Bible arranged with white carnations showered with satin streamers.

Mrs. Ora Swartz, bride's sister, served as matron of honor wearing a navy dress with white accessories.

Don Oglesby, Amarillo, was best man. Mrs. Lancaster, bride's mother, chose a navy dress with white accessories. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Watson, wore a black dress with white accessories.

A reception was given in the basement of the church by the bride's parents immediately following the ceremony.

Mrs. Nathan Lancaster, bride's sister-in-law and Mrs. Berl Loveday, sister of the bride, presided at the punch service. Mrs. Floyd Lynch, bride's sister, served cake. Mrs. Carroll Lackey, bridegroom's sister, registered guests.

Six Weeks In Air For Pair

DALLAS (UPI) — Two Texas endurance flyers Saturday completed six full weeks in the air as their bid to break the world's record for continuous flight by a light plane moved into the last stretch.

Pilots Jim Heth and Bill Burkhardt had only 116 hours, 32 minutes and five seconds to go to shatter the old mark of 1,124 hours, 32 minutes and five seconds, set in 1949 by two Yuma, Ariz., pilots.

They plan to come down Thursday afternoon or later after breaking the old record.

Burkhardt said he hoped to stay up three days past the record and hit the 1,200 mark before landing. The plane named "The Old Scotchman" after Gordon McLendon, Texas radio station owner who is sponsoring the flight, has been refueling at various points in Texas, Louisiana and Oklahoma.

The plane flew low over the runway at Addison Airport here Saturday to start off the North Central Texas Doll Derby, an efficiency race for women pilots.

Stock Market Nears Its All Time High

By ELMER C. WALZER UPI Financial Editor NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market came within a fraction of its all time high in the industrial sector in the past week and then eased slightly on profit-taking. The advance which was substantial in three out of the five sessions carried forward at a daily rate of 3,146,138 shares, well above the previous week's average of 2,950,071 shares. On Thursday at the close, the Dow Jones Industrial average stood at 520.43, off only 0.62 point from the record high of 521.05 set on April 6, 1956, and up 100.64 points from the low of 419.79 set last Oct. 22, the 1957 low. In its upturn the market ignored the adverse news and capitalized on the favorable. It guessed there would be no automobile strike but that won't be decided until next Wednesday. It ignored tightening of money until Friday when it was hit with higher discount rates in four more Federal Reserve banks, a rise in the prime rate of interest in commercial banks and a rise in the rate for broker's loans. Steels, Autos Active Even when the list slipped a point in the industrials on Friday, the experts held that the dip re-

Walter Rogers Reports: Nationalists Could Not Invade Communist China

Chinese: Nationalists Vs Reds The long smoldering Chinese problem appears to be bursting into open flame. If such is the case, and if the Red Chinese do take over the offshore islands of Quemoy, Matsu, etc., and mount a strong invasion effort against the Pescadores and Formosa, it could prove most embarrassing to the present Administration. It will be remembered that one of the first pronouncements of the Eisenhower Administration was a "dynamic new foreign policy" which included the unleashing of Chiang Kai-shek. It was openly indicated, but not clearly stated, that such a policy would permit Chiang Kai-shek to invade China and recover it from the Reds. As most people know, this was nothing short of political claptrap. There was just about the same amount of slack in the leash before it was snapped from Chiang's neck as after. No one was naive enough to believe that the Nationalist Chinese had the forces of the equipment to invade the continent. In order for them to have secured a beachhead, U.S. forces larger than the Nationalist forces would have been required. However, as a gesture to somewhat support the unleashing theory, Chiang Kai-shek reluctantly increased the number of his forces on Quemoy, Matsu and the other islands immediately off the shore of the continent. He did this with reluctance because he realized the very small chance of retaining these islands should the Red Chinese decide to overrun them. They are so close to the shore it would be almost impossible to prevent invasion. And it is entirely possible that the same policy would be followed concerning Quemoy and the Matsus as was followed in evacuating the Tachans. The Secretary of State, John Foster Dulles, has come in for some criticism in some of the metropolitan dailies as the architect of the policy forcing Chiang Kai-shek to increase the forces on these offshore islands. The United States has been placed in a rather embarrassing situation insofar as Oriental philosophy is concerned. The loss of face that could be suffered by the free world would far outweigh the military importance of these islands, should the Communists decide to take them. It might be pointed out that it is generally conceded the Chinese Communists do have the equipment and the men to overrun these offshore islands without too much difficulty when they decide to do so. This is not startling news, because the Chinese Communists could very easily mount a force of over a million men to do this job, if they thought it was of sufficient importance. However, there is much doubt as to whether or not a decision has been made by the Reds on this question. Many feel that the Communists would much prefer to have the issue than the islands. This theory is supported by the general proposition or principle which has been pursued by the Communists for so long. That is, to maintain a constant state of conflict and confusion, which they have done very successfully since World War II. These offshore islands are so located, that it is very easy for the Communists to keep the conflict going with very little chance of suffering any losses of manpower, equipment or material. They furnish a perfect opportunity for the continued agitation that has seen the Berlin Airlift, Korea, Budapest, the Near East crisis, the many vetoes in the U.N., and the other acts of international peace sabotage that has been the policy of the Kremlin for so long. You can expect a continuation of this pattern, because one of the primary objectives of Communism is to keep the free world off balance. The contiguity of the Communist world allows them to conduct such operations over vast areas of the earth's surface without requiring them to cross over enemy territory or international waters in order to maintain such

The regular meeting was held at the civic center at 7:30 p.m. on the same day, with Boyd Beck, boss Lion, presiding; Walter Elliott giving flag salute; and D. T. Pfeil, the invocation. A musical program was given by Jamie Nichols, club sweetheart, and Misses Judy Lane, Linda Poarch, Judy Atkinson, and Sandy Call, followed by group singing led by W. R. Combs. Visitors of the evening were Enks Todd, Herndon Sloan, and H. W. Callan. Members present were Earl Atkinson, Bob Bright, Fred Blackwell, Paul Blankenburg, Boyd Beck, Arlie Carpenter, W. R. Combs, Ray Chastain, Wesley Daniel, Walter Elliott, Jess Graves, Jerry Jacobs, W. D. McBee, D. T. Pfeil, David Robinson, J. R. Sparkman, and Bill Watson. Present for the directors breakfast were Jacobs, Chastain, Elliott, Blackwell, Daniel, Beck, Robinson, McBee, and Sparkman.

Couple Offers New Library To Perryton

(Special To The News) PERRYTON — Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Spicer announced this week they are making plans for the construction of a new $40,000 library building for Perryton. It is to be known as the Perry Memorial Library, the structure will honor the entire Perry family, pioneer settlers of Ochiltree county. George M. Perry, for whom Perryton was named, came here in 1886 before Ochiltree county was formed and served as county judge for two terms. The structure will be located on the northeast corner of the Courthouse block, and will face north toward the new Chamber of Commerce building. In action last Monday the Commissioners Court accepted the gift and agreed to raise the level of the land for the building and to maintain the library after its construction. Work will begin as soon as Spicer completes working plans for the building. The new library will have three times as much floor space as the present location, twice as much shelf space, and room for additional expansion. The building will be 40 feet by 74 feet long and will be one story of modern design. The present plans call for an office and work room, reference room, two reading rooms, children's room, storage room, and a room to be used for art displays and other small meetings. The building will be air conditioned and will have a large parking area. Both Mr. and Mrs. Spicer have served as members of the local library board for several years. They presented their proposed gift to this board last Thursday evening. Mrs. Spicer is a daughter of the late George Perry.

Deer Goes For Golfing Gals

PETOSKEY, Mich. (UPI) — There's a spikehorn on the loose in the Petoskey area and the local golfing gals are more than a bit concerned. The young deer, it seems, has a dislike for women golfers. Petoskey's Winter Sports Council keeps the buck in a pen as a tourist attraction. But the spikehorn has escaped twice in the past two weeks. Both times the deer headed straight for the Bay View Country Club and interrupted ladies at play. The latest escapade involved Mrs. Harry Levinson, of Petoskey, who was lining up a putt when the deer ran up. Mrs. Levinson tried to discourage the unwelcome guest. When she bent down to putt, the spikehorn charged like a billy goat and butted her. Then the deer picked up her ball and started off with it. Four men finally came to the rescue of Mrs. Levinson and chased the deer into a woods. Golf has its hazards. Read The News Classified Ads.

Picture Of Judge Allen Presented

(Special To The News) PERRYTON — A picture of the late Judge Jack Allen was formally presented to Ochiltree County Thursday at a meeting of the Northeast Panhandle Bar Association. The picture was given by Judge Luther Gribble of Wellington, judge of the 100th Judicial District and presiding judge of the 9th Administrative District composed of the 14 District Courts in the Panhandle and South Plains Region. The picture is to hang in the District Courtroom of the Ochiltree County Courthouse. Mrs. Jack Allen was a guest at the bar association dinner held in the Ranch House Cafe dining room. Her two sons Jack M. Allen and Bill Allen were also present. They are attorneys and members of the bar association. Judge Allen was the senior jurist in point of service for the 9th Administrative District, with Judge Gribble second. In presenting the picture, Judge Gribble said "Judge Allen and I were friends of long standing and we worked closely together for many years. It was my wish to do something in his memory, and I could think of nothing more appropriate than a picture to hang in the courtroom where he presided so many years."

Block Markers To Be Sold

(Special To The News) LEFORS — Block Markers of brick are going to be sold, or offered for sale by Members of the Lefors Art and Civic Club, and F.H.A., to all the citizens in the city of Lefors and surrounding community, for use in the Lefors Cemetery. The blocks are to replace wooden stakes which now mark the blocks the survey being made last year, which would soon deteriorate and must be replaced with permanent material. activities. WHY LOOK OLDER? Embarassing Excess Hair Can Be Removed Forever

—by Iona M. Thompson There are, as you have probably already read before, two methods of removing hair permanently: by Electrolysis or by the newer Radiomatic or Short-wave method. Galvanic current used by electrolysis takes from 50 seconds to 3 minutes to remove a single hair. The newer Radiomatic or Short Wave can destroy a hair in 1/10 to 1/20th of a second. The new method is much faster, more gentle and less expensive. That embarrassing mustache or ugly chin whiskers can be permanently removed. Legs and thighs can be satin smooth and hair free to wear with shorts and swimsuits. Ugly arm pit hair need not detract from the appearance of a lovely frock or costume. Gentlemen's postulated or ingrowing whiskers, these too can be removed, eliminating the cause of the trouble. Permanent help for your hair problem is as near as your telephone. SIDE GLANCE — U.S. Navy men are keeping a wary eye on Vladivostok, Soviet Russia's big Far East naval base. It is estimated that the Soviets have from 75 to 125 submarines operating from there. They could damage our Seventh Fleet if war broke out in Formosa Strait. Waters around Quemoy and Matsu Islands are too shallow for submarine warfare.

YOUR FREEDOM NEWSPAPER

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is not license. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule, The Ten Commandments and the Declaration of Independence. This newspaper is dedicated to promoting and preserving YOUR freedom as well as our own. For only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

No Political Solution

Between the years of 1919 and 1922 Americans received a salutary lesson. The lesson related to the consumption of alcohol. Medically recognized more as a depressant than a stimulant, more as a pickler than a pick-me-up, the use of alcohol was banned by the federal government, and the Volstead Act got down to cases and defined the terms and prescribed the areas of enforcement.

In the period from its passage to its ultimate repeal, the ban on liquor probably did more to publicize and make popular the use of alcohol than any other single factor. In the pre-1920's the consumption of alcoholic beverages in this nation was scarcely at a level to cause it to become a national mania. But immediately the juice of the grape and the squeezing from grain became forbidden, there was a concerted rush into alcoholic usage, particularly by our teen aged and youths in their early twenties.

The forbidding measure became so widely disobeyed that a repeal became mandatory. What the American people should have learned was that there are certain things which are not subject to political restraint.

Apparently, however, many of us learned nothing from the historical facts of the case. Today in a much more explosive and dangerous area, politicians are seeking a political solution. We are referring to the race problem, and the efforts of well-meaning politicians to cope with the natural differences of people by means of the force of government. We dislike being pessimistic, but the fact is that no permanent solution will ever be found here as a result of laws.

If laws are employed to prevent colored folks and white folks from getting together, the matter will be resented by most colored people by many white people. They will simply disobey the law and do what they wish to do anyway. But if laws are employed to compel colored folks and white folks to mix, this, too, will be resented by many white people and by some colored people. Again, widespread disobedience will result.

Let's Be Consistent

We have one devout wish respecting our State Department and the foreign policy it promotes. That wish is that whatever the policy taken, that it will be consistent with the actions taken.

Of course, insofar as policy is concerned, we have another wish. That is, that the policy will be in harmony with the basic concepts of liberty and freedom enunciated by our forefathers. It is sheer madness for this nation to continue to swagger about the globe as a sort of heir to British imperialism. Britain gave up the job when the going became too heavy for it to carry. There is no sound reason why our American footsteps must follow the lonely trail across the shifting sands of interventionism.

When this nation was founded, despite its diminutive size and its obvious lack of military strength, it was able to win for itself the undivided respect of most of the civilized nations of the world. That was because at that time, we had adopted a policy of minding our own business. We didn't fool around then, and we shouldn't fool around now.

It was in those long gone days that the word of an American was good almost anywhere. And when the Barbary pirates flirited with war by seeking to hold on American citizens for ransom, one brief note from our then president did the trick. We minded our own business. But we certainly would not permit some power-hungry lord to interfere in our affairs, wherever they were.

Now we are caught in the Formosa straits by our endless vacillations. We have told everyone that we would never permit a red invasion of the Matsu group of islands, much less of the island of Formosa. But when the red guns grew hot in the recent bombardments of the islands, we immediately let everyone know that what we had announced before this event was merely so much window dressing. Now we are going to have to examine what we had said to find out if we had meant what we had said.

Our national character, so long as our philosophy of freedom held, was above reproach. Now that we have adopted an international character, on one, including ourselves, knows exactly what this means.

Peaceful Competition

In Frederic Bastiat's chapter on "Competition," he is always referring to peaceful competition, not competition in destroying. He continues his chapter in this manner:

"I shall add but a few words on the subject of Competition. It is very clear that it has no natural tendency to diminish the amount of the enjoyments which are distributed over society. Does Competition tend to make this distribution unequal? If there be anything evident in the world, it is that after having, if I may so express myself, attached to each service, to each value, a larger proportion of utility, Competition labours incessantly to level the services themselves, to render them proportional to efforts. Is Competition not the spur which urges men into profitable branches of industry, and urges them out of those which are unprofitable? Its proper action, then, is to realize equality more and more, by elevating the social level.

"Let us not misunderstand each other, however, on this word equality. It does not imply that all men are to have the same remuneration, but that they are to have remuneration proportioned to the quantity, and even to the quality of their efforts.

"A multitude of circumstances contribute to render the remuneration of labour unequal (I speak here only of free labour, subject to Competition); but if we look at it more narrowly, we shall find that this fancied inequality, almost always just and necessary, is in reality nothing else than substantial equality.

"Certainly, there are larger profits in those trades which are attended with danger than in those which are not so; in those which require a lengthened apprenticeship, and expensive training long unremunerated — which imply the patient exercise of certain domestic virtues — than in those where mere muscular exertion is sufficient; in professions which demand a cultivated mind and refined taste, than in trades which require mere brute force. Is not this just? Now, Competition establishes necessarily these distinctions — and society has no need of the assistance of Fourier or Louis Blanc (two socialists) in the matter.

"Of all these circumstances, that which operates in the greatest number of cases is the inequality of instruction. Now here, as everywhere else, we find Competition exerting its twofold action, leveling classes, and elevating society.

"If we suppose society to be composed of two layers or strata, placed one above another, in one of which the intelligent principle prevails, and in the other the principle of brute force; and if we study the natural relations of these two layers, we shall easily discover a force of attraction in the one, and a force of aspiration in the other, which co-operate towards their fusion. The very inequality of profits breathes into the inferior ranks an inextinguishable ardour to mount to the region of ease and leisure; and this ardour is seconded by the superior knowledge which distinguishes the higher classes. The methods of teaching are improved; books fall in price; instruction is acquired in less time, and at a smaller cost; science, formerly monopolized by a class or a caste, and veiled in a dead language, or sealed up in hieroglyphics, is written and printed in the vulgar tongue; it pervades the atmosphere, it may use the expression, and is breathed as freely as the air of heaven.

"Nor is this all. At the same time that an education more universal and more equal brings the two classes of society into closer approximation, some very important economic phenomena, which are connected with the great law of Competition, come to aid and accelerate their fusion. The progress of the mechanical arts diminishes continually the proportion of manual labour. The division of labour, by simplifying and separating each of the operations which occur in a productive result, brings within the reach of all branches of industry which could formerly be engaged in only by a few. Moreover, great many employments which required at the outset much knowledge and varied acquirements, fall, by the mere lapse of time, into routine, and come within the sphere of action of classes generally the least instructed, as has happened in the case of agriculture. Agricultural processes, which in ancient times procured to their discoverers the honours of an apotheosis, are now inherited and almost monopolized by the rudest of men; and to such a degree, that this important branch of human industry is so neglected, entirely withdrawn from the well educated classes.

"From the preceding observations it is possible that a false conclusion may be drawn. It may be said — 'We perceive, indeed, that Competition lowers remuneration in all countries, in all departments of industry, in all ranks; and levels, by reducing, it, but in that case the wages of unskilled labour of physical exertion must become the type, the standard of all remuneration.'

"I must have been misunderstood, if you have not perceived that Competition, which labours to bring down all excessive remuneration towards an average more and more uniform, raises necessarily this average. I grant that it pinches men in their capacity of producers, but in so doing it ameliorates the condition of the human race in the only way in which it can reasonably be elevated, namely, by an increase of material prosperity, ease, leisure, moral and intellectual improvement, in a word, by enlarging consumption."

Robert Allen Reports:

Demos Making Concerted Effort At Nebraska Polls

Robert S. Allen is on vacation. During his absence, his column today is on the all-out fight Democrats are making to capture a Senate seat in rock-ribbed Republican Nebraska — which they haven't done since 1934. In a graphic and absorbing column, Joe R. Seacrest relates the highlights of this unusually interesting election battle.

By JOE R. SEACREST
Associate Editor, Lincoln Journal
LINCOLN — The Nebraska senatorial election this fall is distinctive in the effort being made by the Democratic Party to unseat Republican Senator Roman L. Hruska in one of the most solidly Republican states in the nation.

When you realize that Nebraska has the largest congressional delegation in the nation today (eight representatives and one senator) since 1924 (except for one Democratic breach in House of Representatives from 1948-50) and a solid Republican state administration during the same 16 years, you can appreciate how much Nebraska vies in Maine, New Hampshire, and Vermont as the "deep South" of the Republican Party.

Nebraska has not elected a Democratic senator since two were named in 1934. Incumbents usually face a contest in both primary and general election, unlike the deep South.

Senatorial challenger Frank B. Morrison is being guided by the same Democratic strategist who helped William Proxmire to an upset victory over former Governor Walter Kohler Jr. last year in heavily Republican Wisconsin.

The Democratic national party is committing more than a token amount to the campaign. Democrats think they have the man and this might be the year.

Republican state leaders undoubtedly say Hruska will win, probably lead the ticket (the no lower than second), and will poll as high a percentage of the vote as the 60.8 percent in Hruska's first election in 1954.

In the last election Hruska carried Omaha by 44 to 38 ratio. If Morrison is elected from Lincoln, it will be the first time in 91 years that Omaha has not had one of the two Nebraska senators.

In the Democratic primary, Morrison whipped two Omaha opponents on this issue. Who are the men and what are the issues?

Foman Hruska is a lawyer of Bohemian (Czech) descent. He not only has lived in the Democratic stronghold of Omaha, but served as a County Commissioner for eight years and its Congressman in 1952.

Gifted with an easy, precise, melodious conversational expression, Hruska at 53 is affable, gracious, handsome in bearing with somewhat tousled hair. His speech leaves an impression of sincerity. Republicans extend to him a quasi-religious dedication. Politically, he's a conservative and cornerstone of the economy bloc in Congress. Sided in Omaha, stronghold of the opposition, by being an Omahian, and outstate by being a Republican and a Czech.

Down South

Cruel Decision

Despite the obvious will of the majority to have their children educated in peaceful separation, a U. S. Circuit Court composed of non-Southerners has elected to substitute its judgment for the realities in Little Rock, Arkansas.

In a decision permeated with petulance, the Circuit Court brushed aside the evidence developed in lengthy hearings that education and integration cannot be simultaneously achieved in Little Rock — even at bayonet point. Even the Little Rock editor whose infatuation with the Northern intellectual led him to miscalculate the feelings and misunderstand the faith of people in the Southern state of Arkansas realized at long last that an accommodation with reality was necessary.

But the court's cruel decision — alleviated in no respect by its current stay order — topples the plan of delay accepted by the federal judge who knew the temper of the people with whom he was dealing.

The avoidance of abject surrender in the face of a hostile federal government, eager for votes in states with powerful Negro minorities and susceptible to the pressure tactics of a hostile national press imbued with socialist ideals of big government, is and must remain the heart of Southern resistance. The task grows more difficult each month and year. It bristles with thorns created by courts unmindful of realities.

The South, which is continuing to enjoy tremendous economic growth despite unfavorable publicity heaped upon it by writers eager to slant the news, has need of able leaders. The enemies of the South — and these men are enemies of conservatism any place and every place in the United States — are acting from motives we hate and for purposes we abhor as individualists and believers in freedom. They cynically view the grave problems they have created for the people of both races who live in the Southern states. We can expect them to seek to create even more vexing problems for the South.

But these creators of confusion and harassment are not superior to Southern conservatives. They are merely in possession of more press outlets.

Their weaknesses have been demonstrated in that four years after the disruptive Supreme Court decision the constitutional views of the South — its attitudes toward government — have remained essentially unchanged. Indeed in these times that have tried men's souls the Southern region has flourished economically as never before. And it has gained an understanding of the need for limited government such as it did not have in the days of the New Deal.

Out of the trials and tribulations of the present may come a strength that will carry the nation through this dark period of socialist infiltration. No longer does one hear in the South that disruption of Southern society is inevitable and that men such as Walter Reuther and the leaders of the NAACP will be masters of these states. There is today a conviction that we can have the kind of government that we want and know to be best for our communities. There is understanding that resistance to big government is not an easy task. But people are willing to assume arduous tasks and struggle for their rights.

While a Circuit Court strikes a blow at peace and good order in a Southern community, thug-ruled unions ride high and extend their dictatorial power over their subjects. One day, perhaps not distant, thoughtful conservatives in the North and West will realize that the mobilization of independent spirit in the South is what the entire country needs to shake off the vicious realities of boss rule. In cultivating the independent spirit Southerners are doing their fellow citizens a favor of the first magnitude.

Good Phrases To Use When Talking Football

By HENRY McLEMORE

The Nation's Press

BIRDS IN THE BUSH
(The Daily Oklahoman)

Social security owes much of its imposing political buildup to people who haven't thought it through or talk as though they haven't.

The superficial typical discussion glides silently past the bothersome and complicated debt creating aspects of the vast taxing and spending program. Instead there's childlike enchantment with the promised benefits which almost certainly will be redeemed in fraudulently inflated dollars.

Most people understand that the dollar's steady loss of purchasing power is related in some manner to the towering public debt. What isn't so widely understood is that the public debt grows necessarily with every dime the government collects in social security taxes.

Notwithstanding legislative subterfuges the tax money that the federal government collects and spends is all general revenue. Social security tax receipts are spent currently like any other general revenue. They're acknowledged by government bonds or bookkeeping entries to the credit of the so-called social security "trust" fund. But government bonds are nothing more than evidence of public debt. As such they become interest bearing liabilities against the taxpayers. This social security tax collections become a vehicle of inflation like the deficits incurred for defense or pork barrel election year spending.

In still another respect this latter day Mississippi Bubble is having a direct inflationary effect. The steadily rising burden on payrolls is a business operating cost that must be met somehow. If it can't be offset by increased productivity or internal cost cutting it must be passed on to the buying public in higher prices.

A nationally esteemed lady columnist rhapsodizes about the incredible future dollar "security" that social security taxpayers are now putting aside. She notes that a fortune of more than $100,000 invested at 3 percent would be needed to duplicate the $34.10 a month maximum family benefit. She notes that a man and wife would need $78,000 similarly invested to duplicate the $190.50 maximum monthly pension they are entitled to get under the new law.

Such cited gamblers' windfalls are themselves a cogent commentary on the eventual worth of social security promises. The maximum tax provided under the latest increase in benefits would cost the individual "contributor" only $2,400 in the course of 20 years. He and his employer together would pay only $1,800. Yet he and his wife would get the equivalent of income from a $78,000 investment. That's just too good to be true for everybody, everywhere every time. Somebody is bound to come up short in the long run.

If the supermarketers offered peaches at a dime a bushel nearby every shopping housewife would start looking for the worms. So would the lady columnist. Apparently social security isn't as readily suspected.

To be ignorant of football's fine points is natural, but to appear ignorant is inexcusable.

It is entirely possible to "talk" football as if you were an expert, even though you don't know a 5-4-2 defense from a clipping penalty.

Few people know less about football than I do, yet I covered bigtime football for years and chatted about the game with coaches and players on an easy basis.

The judicious use of a few phrases will fool even those who eat, drink, and sleep the game. Try it this season, and before you know it people will be asking you your opinion on how State is going to do against State Teachers, and what you think Notre Dame's chances are against Navy.

One phrase I found useful even in a press box, where only experts are supposed to sit, is, "He's playing his ends too wide." When you say that your listeners pay attention.

I am not sure what it means, and for all I know the coach was playing his ends too close, but it indicates that you know something about end play, which is a highly specialized business. Colleges have coaches who handle nothing but the ends, so when you find fault with how the ends are placed, you show that you are more than a casual student of the game.

Another good phrase, and one which can be used truthfully 90 per cent of the time, is, "That's nothing but a variation of a formation Pop Warner used with the Carlisle Indians half a century ago."

Mere mention of Pop and the Carlisle Indians conjures up pictures of Jim Thorpe, and tells your audience you are no Johnny-Come-Lately to football, but have been around since the days of the Flying Wedge, handlebar mustaches for tackles, nose guards, and helmets that look like those worn by 1920 aviators.

"Wonder when that quarterback is going to get around to the belly series?"

This is a question that always makes a deep impression. It furnishes a strong hint that you know what a "belly series" is, to begin with, and few people do. It also indicates that you are suspect of the quarterback's mental ability, and this is a bold maneuver, because in this day and age football quarterbacks are ranked with geniuses and spoken of in hushed tones.

Another good tip is never, never select a back as the best player on the field, even if he scores a touchdown every time he gets his hands on the ball, kicks field goals from all over the place, and passes beautifully.

To be a critic of football, you must be able to see (whether it is true or not; what line man is making the back's sensational play possible. Choose an obscure guard and say, "Well, in my way of thinking, that right guard was a stand-out. He was on the bottom of every play, diagnosed the offense perfectly, and didn't miss a blocking assignment."

"As 99 per cent of the spectators never see what happens in the line, your selection of some poor guard as the hero will set you up as a man who, like a coach, knows that is where games are won and lost.

When you do speak of a back, always mention that he has "a fine knee action. Good and high." I am not sure what the means, either, but I have been around long enough to know that great backs have it, and the detection of it is a tribute to your keenness.

Other useful phrases are: "That flanker drifts too far." "Those guards ought to submerge more." "What suckers those tackles are for the mousetrap," and "P or sheer power, give me a single wing team."

Try talking this way this fall. You're likely to be asked to pick an All-American.

Apache In Another Discovery

Apache Oil Corp., which has been conducting an intensive drilling program in the Anadarko basin, has made its second important discovery in recent weeks.

Apache's No. 1 Bradford C NE NE, Section 886, Block 43, Lipscombe County, Texas, recovered 846 feet of free oil and surfaced gas in 2 minutes on a drillstem test of the Tonkawa sand from 6,494-6,524 feet. Operator is coring ahead at the projected 10,000-foot Mississippia test.

Apache's previous success in the area was in Hemphill County, where its No. 1 Mathers was successful in the Upper Morrow. The well is producing on temporary discovery allowable, pending hearing in Austin Tuesday.

Both Hemphill County, which had not had oil production prior to this year, and Lipscomb County, where the new gas was found, border northwestern Oklahoma.

El Paso Natural Gas To Ask FPC For Approval Of Merger

United Press International WASHINGTON (UPI)—El Paso (Tex.) Natural Gas Co. goes before a Federal Power Commission examiner next Wednesday to ask for approval of a merger the Justice Department has branded a monopoly.

El Paso wants to formally take over Pacific Northwest Pipeline Corp., which it already owns, and Northwest wants permission to abandon its system so El Paso can legally absorb it and set up one of the biggest wholesale gas transmission networks in the world—8,000 miles.

Together, El Paso and Northwest serve customers in Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, California, Nevada, Colorado, Utah, Wyoming, Idaho, Oregon and Washington. In addition, Northwest is the only American company importing Canadian gas. This would be available to El Paso.

More than 30 protests against the merger will be aired, among them petitions filed by competitors and by state attorneys general on behalf of consumers. Rate increases are involved as side issues.

federal court will start trial of a suit the Justice Department filed on July 22, 1957, to block the consolidation on grounds it would choke off El Paso's competition—provided mainly by Pacific Northwest—and give El Paso what Justice Department trust-buster Victor R. Hansen termed a monopoly grip on millions of western gas consumers, now and into the future.

There is no relation between the suit and the issues before the FPC although the latter made clear that consumer interests will be zealously guarded. The FPC examiner will merely decide whether the merger is in the public interest. His recommendations will go to the full commission which must make the final decision. El Paso acquired 99.8 per cent of Northwest on Nov. 8, 1956.

A major prize in the outcome is the rich California market. El Paso already serves some big customers from installations on the Arizona - California border. With Northwest's Upper Pacific area hookup, plus its import ties with Canada's West Coast Transmission Ltd., El Paso would be assured of sizeable gas supplies. West Coast meantime has applied to Canadian authorities for permission to build a new line—capacity 120 million cubic feet a day— from southwest Alberta across the heel of British Columbia, with a cut into a spur of Pacific Northwest reaching into Upper Idaho. This line would tie in with El Paso lines serving California and the Southwest, and would transport gas produced by Phillips Petroleum, Jefferson Lake Sulphur Co., and other firms with wells in Canada.

The Alberta and Southern Gas Co. organized by Pacific Gas & Electric, San Francisco, wants to build a rival 330 million dollar line extending 1,300 miles from northwest of Edmonton, Alberta, past the upper corners of Montana and Idaho and down into California. This line would ship 460 million cubic feet a day into the California market, and also serve the Montana Power Co. with 30 MFC a day.

The decision on which company builds a line rests with the Alberta Oil and Gas Conservation Board, the Canadian Board of Transport Commissioners in Ottawa, and the FPC. Hence it is expected to figure prominently in the hearing starting Wednesday.

CHARLES E. WILCOX ... foreign aid in Nepal

Wilcox To Speak For Engineers

Charles E. Wilcox, maintenance planning engineer for Phillips Petroleum Company, will talk on U.S. Foreign Aid Program in Nepal at the regular monthly meeting of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, Monday, at Bob Dowells Restaurant, 419 North Fillmore in Amarillo, starting at 6:30 p.m.

Wilcox received his degree in engineering from Iowa State College in 1934 and then attended Iowa State in 1938, studying Agriculture Education.

He worked in the Agriculture Extension Service and Vocational Education in Iowa until 1952. From 1952 to 1956 Wilcox was with the U.S. Foreign Aid Program in Nepal. Since 1956 he has been employed by Phillips Petroleum Company in the Gasoline Department.

The meeting, which includes a social hour, dinner, and the program by Wilcox, promises to be an interesting one. The cost of the meal is $2.50 to members or guests. All Mechanical Engineers and interested technical personnel are urged to make reservations with Frank Hawkins in Berger.

Students Are Knifed After Ball Game

MEMPHIS (UPI)—Several Negro students were knifed, and one youth brandished a pistol aboard a bus here Friday night, police disclosed.

There was nothing inter-racial about the trouble, police said. The free-for-all involving all Negroes came after a night football game here between two Negro high schools.

Bus officials said three special buses used to take football spectators from the stadium to their homes were damaged. About six special buses were at the stadium to take the students home.

Earl Mize, 29, white driver aboard one of the buses said a Negro youth "shook a pistol" in his face.

Mize said before he left the stadium police came aboard apparently looking for someone because of a disturbance in a small sundry store.

Later, Mize said a fight started in the back.

"They were using terrible curse words, screaming and yelling to stop. I stopped the fight."

Mize said when he started off again, the fight started all over.

'Miss Space Of 1958' Chosen

DALLAS (UPI)—A 19-year old black-haired beauty Saturday was chosen "Miss Space of 1958" to represent the Air Force Association's national convention and Airpower Panorama here Sept. 25 to 28.

The winner was Suzanne Adams of Dallas.

Runners-up were Yvonne Price 18, of Houston and Careigan Douglas, 20, of Corpus Christi. The three finalists were picked Saturday morning from a field of 56 contestants from over Texas.

Miss Adams will greet Air National Guard pilots taking part in the AFA-sponsored Rick's Trophy flight at Hensley Field, near Dallas, Sept. 21.

Miss Adams, whose vital statistics are 37-22-36, is a student at Texas University. She weighs 117 pounds and stands five-foot-four and a half inches tall.

Authorities Clear Negro In Stabbings

NEW YORK (UPI)—Authorities Saturday cleared an 18-year-old Negro former mental patient who first confessed he stabbed a Staten Island doctor and his wife to death and then repeatedly denied his story in an all-night session with police.

This left detectives with the couple's 8-year-old son as their only suspect.

The boy told authorities he stabbed his parents Sept. 2. But he also has told his attorney he had nothing to do with the slayings. The district attorney said he did not know which story to believe.

Melvin Dean Nimer Jr. is undergoing psychiatric tests at Bellevue Hospital. Doctors said it could take days, weeks or months to determine whether he actually sneaked up on his sleeping parents and plunged a knife into each of them twice.

Dr. Melvin Nimer died about 30 minutes after he was stabbed. Mrs. Lou Jean Nimer lived about three hours. She tried to describe her assault to police but they were unable to get any definite information from her.

No trace of the murder weapon has been found.

William Fletcher was seized in Farmville, Va., Friday and was brought here for questioning about his activities the night the Nimers were slain. His arrest in Virginia resulted from an anonymous telephone tip to New York police.

He was questioned for 12 hours, then Richmond County Dist. Atty. John M. Braisted announced: "It is my belief he is not implicated." But instead of releasing Fletcher, police took him from Staten Island to Brooklyn and charged him with petty larceny. The charge was not explained.

Four more Federal Reserve banks, including the big New York bank, hiked the discount rate from 1½ to 2 per cent. Immediately afterward the Chase Manhattan Bank boosted its "prime" interest rate from 3½ to 4 per cent and other banks started to follow its lead. All other bank lending rates are scaled upward from the prime rate.

The latest administration estimate placed the deficit this fiscal year at $12,200,000,000, the largest since 1946. It compares with a $500 million surplus predicted in January.

Consumer buying this week ran from 1 per cent below to 3 per cent above a year ago as shoppers showed interest in back-to-school and fall apparel, furniture and food products. Volume in appliances and new passenger cars lagged, according to Dun & Bradstreet. Geographically, buying was the strongest in the south Atlantic area.

The Census Bureau reported a decline from June to July in shipments of seven primary metal products. Shipments of gray iron castings fell 9 per cent, malleable iron castings 8 per cent, steel castings 26 per cent, commercial steel forgings 78 per cent, copper castings 5 per cent and zinc castings 14 per cent.

The Federal Power Commission reported that net income of privately owned electric utilities in July totaled $109,022,000, a gain of 6.9 per cent from July 1957. Gross income was up 7.3 per cent and electric revenues advanced 3.8 per cent.
