By AL KUETTNER
United Press International
Attorneys made a final effort today to block a desegregation order that threatens to turn about 10,000 more Virginia students out of school.
The lawyers, representing the Norfolk City School Board, held out little hope that Chief Judge Simon E. Sobeloff of the U.S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals at Balti-

Little Rock Schools Lose 280 Students

By PRESTON McGRAW
United Press International
LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—School Supt. Virgil Blossom said today transfers from Little Rock's closed high schools are "becoming a significant number."
He reported Central High School has lost 102 students, Hall, 174, Horace Mann (Negro) School, 3, Little Rock Tech, 1. The total of 280 is 70 more than last Friday.
A total of 3,480 students are enrolled in all of Little Rock's high schools, so the total of transfers is approaching 10 percent.
Blossom said most of the transferred students are living with relatives and friends and going to other public schools. The tuition they pay runs around $300 a year, he said.
At Lexington, Ky., Gov. Orval Faubus said Little Rock's schools will be re-opened Monday, or as soon thereafter as possible, regardless of the outcome of a city-wide referendum Saturday.
Faubus said that if the federal government takes action against the re-opening of schools on a private basis, "it will be their responsibility for keeping the schools closed longer." The plan to shift the public schools to private operation would be put into effect if Little Rock votes against integration.
The integration trouble at Van Buren, Ark., apparently was over for good. Eleven Negroes attended the city's high and junior high schools without trouble again today. While students largely ignored them.
They quit the first week of September after an anti-integration strike of 78 white students. They returned to classes Monday.
Eight Negroes are back in the high school. Thirteen started Sept.

Texas Flood Situation Eases During Night Despite Rains

United Press International
The flood situation in Texas eased overnight despite widespread rains. A few showers continued in water-soaked southeast Texas, with considerable cloudiness over all the state.
Barring additional run-off, the weather bureau predicted the Colorado River below Austin will be "back to normal by Thursday."
The crest was expected to pass Wharton during the day at a stage of 16 to 17 feet.
The waters drained off at Orange, Beaumont and surrounding territory. Damage to city streets and other facilities at Beaumont will be at least $50,000, city officials said.
Rice growers sustained the biggest losses in the coastal area. E. T. Fuller, manager of the American Rice Growers Assn., said Jefferson and Orange county growers with 68,000 acres more than still unharvested—took a real beating, Fuller said.
The Trinity River at Liberty stood at 25 feet, one-half foot over flood stage. There was some lowland flooding with more expected but nothing serious, weather forecasters said.
The Neches will reach flood stage of seven feet at Beaumont in about 48 hours, forecasters predicted. It stood at 4.1 feet this morning and spilled into lowlands.
Flash flood warnings were issued late Monday for the area southeast of Fort Worth along Chambers Creek in the Waxahachie area.

GOP Members Welcome Resignation Of Adams

PRESIDENT CHEHAB SPEAKS

New Lebanon Chief Vows He Will Oust Rebel Forces

By LARRY COLLINS
United Press International
BEIRUT (UPI)—President Fouad Chehab, speaking while gunfire echoed in the streets outside, vowed today that he will restore order in Lebanon and arrange the withdrawal of U.S. troops from the country.
At the ceremonies which made him Lebanon's third president, Chehab promised that he will disarm the private factions which are prolonging the revolt—like the rebels who were shooting up the town while he spoke.
The new president rode to the heavily guarded capitol for the inauguration at the head of a military motorcade. Outgoing President Camille Chamoun did not attend the ceremonies.
As Chehab spoke, work had already started on two of his key policies:
—Four U.S. Navy transports dropped anchor in Beirut harbor this week, and military sources said the only Marine battalion remaining in Lebanon will sail Saturday. Some U.S. Army units also were said to be pulling out.
—The army which Chehab commanded before becoming president has begun posting signs demanding that civilians surrender unlicensed arms. So far, no attempt has been made to enforce the order.
Security police said the gunfire from the rebel quarter was a token of rejoicing over the new president's inauguration, but the shooting—whatever its cause—was a reminder of the tension that has gripped this country since May.
Chehab also pledged himself to seek closer ties with the Arab world.
The new president was elected by congress July 31. He was represented as a compromise candidate, but rightist supporters of Chamoun regarded his inauguration as a victory for the rebels.
The end of Chamoun's tenure in office certainly satisfied a major rebel demand—that he be prevented from amending the constitution to give himself a second term.
Chehab's main task is to seek some kind of a settlement of the issues which have divided opposi-

Demos Demand Equal TV Time To Answer Sherman

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Republican congressional campaign chiefs today welcomed Sherman Adams' resignation as President Eisenhower's No. 1 assistant. They said it would prevent worsening of GOP prospects at the polls in November.
Democrats gleefully chortled "too late" and prepared to capitalize on Adams' dramatic TV defense of his activities by demanding equal time to "answer" the departing White House aide.
At least one network—the Columbia Broadcasting System indicated it would grant the equal time, possibly tonight.
A Democratic National Committee spokesman said no decision had been reached on who would make the Democratic reply to Adams but it might be National Chairman Paul M. Butler.

City Budget Accepted By Commission

At a public hearing this morning, the Pampa City Commission accepted the $1,255,204 1958 - 1959 budget and set the tax rate at $1.42 per hundred dollar valuation, which represents a decrease of 48 cents over last year's tax rate.
In other actions, Commissioners passed Ordinance 503 on the third reading, taking a part of the North Crest Addition into the City.
They also set the bidding on the N. Hobart paving contract for Oct. 14.
The City Commissioners authorized payments to Ray B. Oswell Contractors for street construction in the Ward Addition. Said payments amounted to $4,122.67 from property owners and $657.49 from the City. Boswell's estimates on the street paving program were also approved. These were $5,362.01 from property owners and $1,662.27 City.
The City secretary was given authorization to transfer $20,000 from the general fund to the water and sewer fund.
A proposed group insurance plan for City employees also came under discussion at the Tuesday morning meeting. Representatives of the Top O' Texas Underwriters Association conferred with the Commissioners on the City's obligation.

PERSONAL ESCORT

President Eisenhower is shown personally escorting Sherman Adams to a waiting helicopter after a conference at Newport, R. I. Adams returned to Washington by air, accompanied by James C. Hagerty, and announced his resignation over radio and television Tuesday night.

Ike Returns From 25-Day Vacation

By RAYMOND LAHR
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower returned from vacation today and conferred immediately with Sherman Adams on the "orderly transition" to other members of the resigned assistant's duties.
Eisenhower flew back from his 25-day vacation in Newport, R.I., and conferred immediately with Adams, who had showed up as usual at his White House desk at 7:20 a.m. Adams had said his resignation would be effective as soon as an "orderly transition" of his duties could be arranged.
White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President and Adams also went over a variety of routine White House business.
There was no immediate indication when or whether the President would announce a new chief assistant.
Republican National Chairman Meade Alcorn, meanwhile, disclosed in a talk at the National Press Club that Adams' resignation followed a poll of sentiment among members of the GOP National Committee.
Alcorn said he personally never recommended Adams' ouster to President Eisenhower, who Monday night accepted his chief aide's resignation "with sadness."
Survey of Sentiment
But Republican congressional campaign leaders felt disclosure of Adams' relations with New England industrialist Bernard Goldfine had made him a political liability. They were elated by his resignation.
So were the Democrats, who obtained free television and radio time tonight to reply to Adams' resignation speech Monday night in which he accused the House intelligence investigating subcommittee of airing "irresponsible testimony" against him.
Alcorn reported he had received a telephone call from Adams at Chicago Aug. 26 during a Republican National Committee meeting. He said Adams wanted a survey of sentiment among the committee members with the results to be presented both to him and President Eisenhower.
"The survey was made during the two-day session," Alcorn said. "I returned to Washington and gave Governor Adams a complete briefing."
"Then at his insistence I saw the President and gave him the same briefing with an admonition from Governor Adams to make it the plain unvarnished truth."
Adams' Own Decision
Alcorn said he discussed the situation with Adams again a week ago.
"At no time during any of these discussions," Alcorn said, "did he tell whether or not he intended to resign and at no time did I ask him to. Nobody suggested to him such a course of action. The decision was made by the governor on his own information and his own judgment."
"These are the facts, and I have omitted no essential fact. The governor's performance under the vilification to which he was subjected is the mark of his greatness."
"The American public now senses that a terrible injustice has been done to an honest public servant."

GOP Chairman Meade Alcorn was ready to take up the cudgels in defense of Adams and the administrations overall record in an appearance before the National Press Club this afternoon.

Already, however, the official political lines had been drawn over the Adams case, most controversial issue involving a high White House figure in the Eisenhower administration.
Adams, unbending New Englander who ran afoul of a congressional committee's charges of "influence in government," announced his resignation over all major radio and television networks Monday night in as publicized a departure as could be remembered for a high official.
In firm tones he defended his 20 years of public service and his 5 1/2 years as Eisenhower's trusted "chief of staff" and denounced his critics for what he called their "campaign of vilification" aimed at ousting him from public life for their "personal advantage."
He said the evidence "clearly established" he had never influenced or tried to influence any government agency or employee, and he lashed out at a House investigating subcommittee for receiving "irresponsible testimony... rumor, innuendo and even unsubstantiated gossip."
Committee disclosed Gifts
He referred to the Subcommittee on Legislative Oversight, headed by Rep. Owen Harris (D-Ark.), which disclosed expensive gifts to Adams from his millionaire Boston friend, Bernard Goldfine, including a vicuna coat, the "loan" of an oriental rug and expensive stays in lavish hotel suites.
Testimony also showed Adams had obtained information for Goldfine, a prominent textile manufacturer, from federal agencies with which Goldfine's mills and financial company were in trouble.
Democrats on the subcommittee charged, and reiterated after Adams' resignation speech, that the evidence did show Adams used "improperly" the power of his high office in behalf of his gift-giving friend.
Adams rejected any implication his departure constituted "retreating under fire."
President Eisenhower, in a letter of acceptance, said he agreed to the departure of his 59-year-old aide "with sadness... warm regard and highest esteem." He "complete trust, confidence and respect" for Adams.
Figured in Election
The Maine election, in which Adams' affairs played a part and which resulted in an unprecedented Democratic sweep, brought simmering Republican resentment over Adams to the boiling point—particularly from GOP candidates and their party campaign leaders.
Sen. Andrew F. Schoepel of Kansas, chairman of the GOP Senatorial Campaign Committee, said bluntly Adams' resignation was the "prudent and practical" course. He said since the Maine voting he had received "information that if Mr. Adams remained on it would be detrimental in many cases to the Republican cause."

China Wants To Bomb Bases

By AL KAUFF
United Press International
TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and Adm. Harry Felt, commander of U.S. Pacific forces, met in secret for more than six hours today.
There were reports China was seeking U.S. permission to bomb Communist mainland artillery bases opposite Quemoy.
Informed sources said the two men discussed how far the United States will go to defend the besieged Quemoy and a Washington warning that America would unleash Nationalist bombers if the offshore islands were about to fall.
Nationalists thus far have retaliated against the massive four-week bombardment of the Quemoy only with artillery dug in on the island. There were unconfirmed reports the Nationalists had sent in larger artillery pieces but news from Quemoy has been blocked out.
Fear Shooting War
U.S. and Nationalist military officials agree the only way to stop the shelling is to bomb the Communist artillery. But this has not been taken, apparently in belief the Reds would send their bombers over Formosa and directly involve the United States in a shooting war.
Nationalist sources said the wisdom of bombing the mainland is in part a political question rather than a purely military problem. Should Chiang make such a recommendation to Felt, the admiral could only submit it to Washington for consideration by the Pentagon and the State Department.
Felt and Chiang conferred for six hours at the Defense Ministry and then at Chiang's suburban residence on Cool Grass Mountain. It was interrupted by a lunch attended by major U.S. and Nationalist military leaders.
Top Figures Attend
Seriousness of the Formosa crisis was reflected in the list of those conferring Monday and today on new military moves to end the Red blockade of Quemoy and ease the Nationalist position. The conferees were:
Gen. Laurence Kuter, commander of U.S. Pacific Air Forces; Ambassador Everett Drumwright; Vice Adm. Roland Smoot; U.S. Taiwan (Formosa) Defense Commander; Nationalist Premier Chen Cheng; Defense Minister Yu Tai-wei; Chief of Staff Gen. (Tiger) Wang Shu-ming, and the Nationalist Army,

State Traffic Fatalities Run Below '57 Mark

AUSTIN (UPI) — Texas' traffic death toll for 1958 is running about nine per cent lower than last year, the Department of Public Safety said today.

It marked the second straight week the traffic death toll for this year held at about nine per cent lower than last year, after three weeks of sharply higher fatalities in August.

The August death toll showed 220 dead in 164 accidents, including 84 in multiple - death crashes. The DPS also reported Texas motorists drove an estimated 29,345,000,000 miles during the first eight months of 1958, compared with 28,490,000,000 miles during the same period last year, an increase of three per cent.

US, Britain Seek Jet Air Service Monopoly

LONDON (UPI) — Britain and the United States squared off today for a key round in the race to get the first jet airliner into service between New York and London.

The Comet-4 is Britain's entry in the jet-age "battle of the Atlantic." U.S. hopes are riding on the Boeing 707 jetliner.

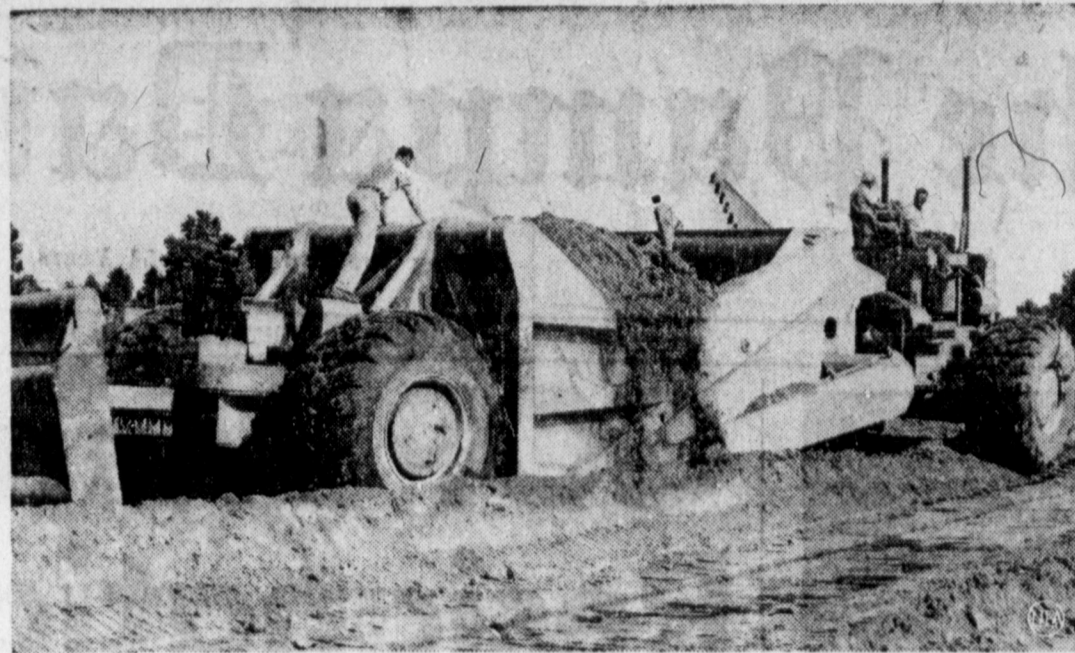

Pan American World Airways plans to start a 707 service from Paris Oct. 26. The British hope to beat that by a week.

So far, neither plane has been approved by the New York Port Authority as quiet enough to be permitted to operate from Idlewild Airport. And neither has been given full government certification, although both expect it this week.

Spokesmen for Boeing and Pan American have insisted there was no actual race to be first across the Atlantic with jets as far as the Americans were concerned. But the British do not see it that way.

The London Daily Herald said today in a banner headline: "Britain wins Atlantic jet race — Comet slips in first."

WILL INTEGRATE AIR FORCES — THE HAGUE, The Netherlands (UPI) — NATO members Belgium and The Netherlands have agreed on a far-reaching integration of their air forces, it was announced today.

Self-propelled, the superscraper features powerful electric motors geared directly to each wheel, electricity being supplied by a 600-horsepower Cummins diesel engine. Resting on wheels over seven feet tall, it can move at 20 miles per hour fully loaded. Price of "Goliath" will be "in the $100,000 class."

UN General Assembly Set To Vote On Seat For Red China

By BRUCE W. MUNN United Press International

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—The General Assembly was expected to vote today on Communist China's claim to a U.N. seat, but once again it appeared Peiping had shot itself out of a membership.

Western diplomats predicted defeat for the move to seat Communist China after one of the bitterest exchanges to date between Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge. Gromyko injected the Formosa crisis into early debate and Lodge demanded in turn that Moscow use its influence to get the Chinese Reds to cease their "violent" and "murderous" attacks against the Quemoyos.

Fireworks Start "The Chinese Communists are rapidly shooting themselves—and the world—out of a chance to settle this question as it should be settled," Lodge said.

India, with Russian backing, had sought to reverse a recommendation of its General (steering) committee to approve the American shelving of a motion to seat Red China. Then the Lodge-Gromyko fireworks started. Assembly President Charles Malik of Lebanon sought to keep the plenary meeting in session until it reached a vote, explaining many foreign ministers had come here only for the annual policy debate—which had been sidetracked by the China discussion — and wanted to go home. Gromyko Denounces Malik At 7 p.m. Indian Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon moved adjournment, declaring: "Foreign ministers are very important people; so are defense ministers, but the General Assembly is more important."

The Assembly voted 51-0 against Malik's effort to force a vote and Gromyko then denounced the Lebanese diplomat, who loses his job as foreign minister in his own country Wednesday when Fuad Chehab's government takes office. But Lodge was even more blunt in giving the Russian a classic diplomatic dressing down after Gromyko had denounced the United States for opposing Red China's claim to a U.N. seat.

Points To Red Slavery Gromyko accused Washington of "direct interference in the affairs of countries" and of "imposing its will" on them. "There is no country on the face of this earth that has ever been enslaved by the United States. It will become the Soviet Union with its record of slavery to make such charges against us," Lodge replied. "He speaks of the 'ruling circles of the United States.' Here again he is confusing our situation with his. In this country the people rule. There is not a little clique that have managed to get up to the top of the slippery pole who are giving orders to execute this brutality or that."

Gromyko said the majority of countries supporting the U.S. position did so because of American pressure. "Isn't that a polite, charming thing to say about members of this body who happen out of their convictions to stand with us?" Lodge retorted. "There again I say to him that he is confusing our position with his, because his government operates by pressure, by putting the screws on people, by intimidating people, by threatening people. He thinks that is the way we operate. Mr. President, we could know that as well as I do."

Weather forecasters said a new typhoon, Ida, was 900 miles east of southeastern Luzon and approaching the Formosa Strait with 140 mile per hour winds. Such a blow would disrupt Nationalist supply lines — and hold any Communist invasion efforts to a minimum.

The Nationalist and U.S. governments lifted a 10-day-old ban and said 20 foreign and 10 Chinese newsmen would be allowed to fly to Quemoy to report the fighting there.

The Defense Ministry announced that Nationalist ships and planes broke through the Communist blockade again Monday and delivered supplies to the Quemoyos. U.S. government sources said 26 cases of medical supplies had been parachuted onto the Quemoyos.

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: You have taken the waitress' part, now how about giving the customers a chance? I am a business woman who eats most of her meals out and I am so tired of having waitresses gush over me and call me "Honey" and "Dear." I am tempted to write the Union. Why are they so familiar? They always greet you with, "How are you?" That is too much for me! The next waitress who asks me how I am, I am going to tell her, "This is not a doctor's office. I came here to eat!" Then you say they should be tipped generously because they stand on their feet all day. Ditch - diggers work harder than waitresses and nobody walks by and tosses them quarters!

A READER

Dear Reader: If you resent being asked how you are and feel a tip is not forthcoming for service, I think you ought to please yourself (and the waitresses) and eat at home.

DEAR ABBY: I play the piano (classical and jazz) and wherever I go I am asked to play the piano. That's not my problem. I enjoy playing. A friend of mine has a piano that hasn't been tuned since World War One and when I have to play that piano I simply die. Should I mention to my friend that his piano needs tuning or should I just send a piano tuner over and pay for it myself? How do I go about handling a delicate situation like this?

PIANIST

Dear Pianist: Since the owner of the piano obviously isn't bothered by it, casually ask him if he has any objection to your sending your piano tuner over to tune his piano (at your expense.) How can he refuse?

Other officers named were Miss Virginia Worrell, vice president, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. T. J. Worrell, 707 Christine, and Miss Tommie Kay Kelly of White Deer, secretary-treasurer.

Following the election, Mrs. Carr outlined the year's program, which will be to enlarge the members' knowledge of the Master's and to prepare a piano ensemble to be presented in the Spring.

The club, which meets the fourth Saturday of each month, also has in its membership Misses Linda Andis, Carolyn Kelly, Carmen Long, Mary Buchanan, Paula Lowe, Glenda Derring and Patricia Marx.

United Church Women Begin 21st Year With Friday Meet In St. Paul Methodist

The meeting of the United Church Women in St. Paul's Methodist Church on Friday past marked the opening of the 21st year of activity for this group. Women from many churches met to share fellowship with one another and to hear a program on the inter-denominational work with migrants which is an outstanding part of the state and national Church Women's program.

Many people have asked questions about who are the United Church Women. The answer is that all women who belong to denominations which are eligible for membership in the national council of Churches of Christ in the United States of America are potential members of the United Church Women. In Pampa the churches active in this group include St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, the Church of the Brethren, First Christian Church, Lamar Christian Church, First Methodist, Central Methodist, St. Mark's Methodist, and St. Paul's Methodist, and the First Presbyterian Church.

The women of these churches enjoy the fellowship of meeting together as Christian women. They feel that certain areas of mutual concern can better be approached by co-operative interdenominational effort than by acting separately. Work with children and families in the migrant labor camps is an integral part of the program. Local projects have included co-operating in the establishment of a Negro Day Nursery, providing a concrete wading pool in a south side park, collecting clothing for Church World Service, and the Halloween Childrens program of Tricks or Treats for Unicef.

There are four regular programs on the United Church Women calendar. All fall on Friday. The first in the fall is the Migrant program which is in September. Then comes World Community Day which is the first Friday in November. This is followed by the best known of all the United Church Women activities, the World Day of Prayer, which comes always the first Friday in Lent. It is truly a world day of prayer with women around the world participating in this serv-

Training Union Feted At Party

Junior Baptist Church entertained recently with a party in the lower auditorium of the church.

Dear Wife: Lay your cards on the table and tell your "joker" that he is overplaying his hand. If he doesn't know when you are having the girls over he can't very well join you.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MARVIN: Your ideas won't work unless you do. Get off your chaise-louche.

French Police Guard Against Rebel Rioting

PARIS (UPI)—Police throughout France were on guard today against a possible all-out offensive by Algerian rebels to sow chaos just before Sunday's referendum on a new constitution.

Algerian saboteurs and gunmen have been striking at oil refineries, factories and police stations for a month to demonstrate opposition to Premier Charles de Gaulle's "strong-man" constitution. The proposed constitution makes no provision for Algerian independence, for which the rebels have been fighting for nearly four years.

The latest victim of the rebel campaign of violence was a non-commissioned French officer who was shot and fatally wounded Monday night at Metz. Police rounded up 50 Algerians for questioning.

COLLISION!—Looks as if the USS Hassayampa is about to get rammed by a twin of herself. But it's just an accidental trick photo. A Navy photographer was taking aerial views of the Pacific Fleet Service Force oiler off Pearl Harbor. When he developed his negatives, he found he had this unusual double exposure, showing two views of the same ship.

German V-2 Head Wants Ton Satellite

DETROIT (UPI)—The creator of the famous German V-2 rocket says clusters of rockets producing million-pound thrust and capable of boosting a one-ton or better satellite into orbit are the answer to the United States catching up with the Soviet Union in space research.

Dr. Wernher von Braun, research director of development for the Army's ballistic missile agency at Huntsville, Ala., told the Detroit Economic Club Monday that development of a single first-stage rocket engine able to produce a million-pound thrust is still several years away.

Space vehicles with clustered rocket engines, he revealed, are under construction.

"The time may come," Von Braun said, "when solid fuels will power intermediate range and intercontinental range ballistic missiles."

He said liquid fuels "will be pushed into outer space to power satellites."

The Russians still are ahead of us in the total amount of knowledge gained from satellites, Von Braun said, and "we must accelerate the momentum of our development program in order to overtake the initial advantage and pull out well in front."

Von Braun also said the United States can put a man on the moon ahead of any other country, but it must abandon all other space projects and give it absolute priority in order to do so. He did not think this would happen.

Two Quakes Recorded

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)—Two earthquakes, probably in the southwest Pacific Ocean, were recorded Monday at the Seismological Laboratory of the California Institute of Technology.

Dr. Charles Richter said the quakes were centered about 6,000 miles distant. He described the tremors as of moderate intensity.

HALL TIRES

Leymond Hall, owner and operator of Hall Tire Co., 700 W. Foster, displays just a few of the 2,000 used tires on the premises. Prices are down to earth and satisfaction guaranteed.

Hall Tire Company Gives You Service Guaranteed

Ride on guaranteed tires and do it at a saving. All that is easy when you deal at Hall Tire Co., 700 W. Foster, formerly Hall & Pinson.

Hall guarantees every one of its 2,000 used tires in stock and features any size, brand and price. You save because Hall tires will give you just about all the service that new tires give.

Hall Tire Co. carries one of the largest stocks of used tires in the Panhandle, and guarantees that you will receive satisfactory service from each tire.

Stop in, inspect these Hall Tires. Note the selection and the large number of hard-to-get sizes. Note that Hall features all sizes of passenger car and truck tires in popular use. Note that this tremendous Hall stock includes many new car take-offs as well as very nearly new tires — at half and less than half the cost of new tires.

Remember that Hall guarantees that you will receive satisfactory service from each tire.

There are tires manufactured by all manufacturers for just about every car. And all tires sold by Hall are safe, clean inspected and guaranteed.

Tire service at Hall Tire Co. includes repairs and tire truing and balancing — the combination of service that increases the life of your tires.

Hall Tire Truimy and Balancing gives you:

1. Longer tire mileage by thousands of miles.
 2. Lower car repair bills because tire truing and wheel balancing eliminate front end damage due to excessive vibration and shimmy.
 3. Less driving fatigue because of easier, smoother driving.
 4. More driving pleasure.
- Research proves that 8 out of 10 tires that have been driven more than 2,000 miles are out-of-round, although the same tires were within 1/25th of an inch of roundness when they left the factory.

Tire irregularities cause immediate, excessive tire wear around the high spots, a condition that increases vibration, causes front end damage, shortens both car and tire life, and increases driver fatigue.

Hall Tire Co. your tire headquarters, is Seat Cover Headquarters with the largest stock of seat covers in this area, and one of the largest in the State of Texas. This stock of famous Arthur Fulmer Seat Covers includes a variety to fit just about all makes and models of automobiles, and in the special order department there are additional hundreds of colors and patterns to choose from.

Seat covers prolong the life and beauty of your car. They protect in true "decorator" fashion with your choice of color coordinates, luxurious plastic trim panels and new patterns.

Arthur Fulmer Seat Covers have the hidden seams, double stitching reinforcement at all points of strain, and are available in all price ranges: stardust, imperial, supreme, colorprene and monarch lines.

Experts at Hall Tire Co. install your seat covers correctly at no extra charge. Leymond Hall, owner and operator insists that all covers be installed expertly so that you will get all the service that the manufacturer built into your seat covers.

Drive in to Hall Tire Co., 700 W. Foster, MO 4-3324, for all your maintenance. Here is complete automotive service.

Jerome Kern tunes were treated rather rudely. Elsewhere on TV: CBS-TV's Jack Benny weighed in for the season with a typical Benny show — funny, funny, funny. Sammy Kaye's new ABC-TV "Music From Manhattan" show on Saturday, a half-hour horror-Lawrence Welk without bubbles, Hula hoops have replaced Elvis Presley as source material for jokes — they were mentioned Sunday night on the Benny and Ed Sullivan shows and for the second week furnished a guest for CBS-TV's "What's My Line."

The Channel Swim: Teresa Brewer, Susan Strasberg, Franck Tone, Farley Granger and Ricardo Montalban have signed in for the premiere of NBC-TV's "Arthur Murray Party" on Sept. 29. Barry Gordon, 9-year-old actor-musician, will join the CBS-TV's "Ann Sothern Show" as a regular starting with the Oct. 13 episode.

The ever-popular Mae Busch sent CBS-TV's Jackie Gleason an autographed photo a few days ago which Gleason now has on his office wall. NBC-TV tentatively has set aside Feb. 6 for the telecast of a proposed Russo-American all-star basketball game.

NBC-TV's "Today" will revamp its format starting Oct. 6. Marilyn Maxwell, Hermione Gingold and William Bendix are linked in for the second CBS-TV "Garry Moore Show" on Oct. 7. The sponsor of CBS-TV's "Bid 'N' Buy" still is looking for a fall time slot — the show folds Tuesday night with Hal March and Garry Moore as guests.

'The Peter Townsend Story' To Be Published Thursday

By FRED DANZIG United Press International NEW YORK (UPI)—A controversial new book about the sensational Princess Margaret-Peter Townsend love affair says their story may yet have a happy ending.

"The Peter Townsend Story," which will be published in this country on Thursday by E.P. Dutton, purports to tell "the true facts" behind the palace romance.

The author, British journalist Norman Barryman, says Margaret, 28, and RAF Group Captain Townsend, 43, are "still deeply in love" and have not given up hope of marrying.

Barryman, a friend of Townsend, also says that in October 1955, before her "no-marriage" announcement, Margaret told the divorced commoner who served as her late father's household aide that she would never marry anyone else. Barryman says the princess still feels this way.

While biding time, he adds, Margaret and Townsend want to go on seeing each other as often as possible.

"I think the princess and Townsend are only anxious that their love and friendship should be established in such a way that it is accepted by the court, the church, parliament and the public," he writes.

Barryman also suggests the couple might even be seen to-

Business Views

United Press International Steel Magazine predicted auto buying of steel will be brisk in the fourth quarter now that labor peace seems to be assured. Meanwhile, U.S. Steel Corp. boosted tin plate prices 3.5 cent, effective Nov. 1. The action extended the latest round of steel price increases, started late July, to the high in 1957 and received more earnings from them than in any previous year, the Commerce Department reported.

U.S. foreign holdings stood at $36,800,000,000 at the end of the year, an increase of $8,000,000,000 over the previous year.

Kent R. Van Horn, director of Aluminum Co. of America's research laboratories, said a lightweight aluminum-fin automobile radiator can be produced at raw material costs averaging 20 per cent less than conventional copper brass units.

Pampa Needs To Put Two Halves Together

By RICK PEZDIRTZ
Daily News Sports Editor

That dull thud you heard from the southeast last Saturday night was the Pampa High Harvesters falling into the basement of the on-conference standings of District 3-AAAA teams, who've only been at this business of football for two weeks now.

The Harvesters, just like a five-year-old with an ice-cream cone, are taking one licking after another, no thanks to shoddy first half play. At Fort Worth, Saturday night, the Big Green of Babe Curfman, gave up touchdowns in each of the first two periods to Arlington Heights, and then set-led back to perform nobly on defense.

Pampa even dominated the second half offensive statistics, gaining the pesky Yellow Jackets, by a handy 127 to 42 yards rushing, and posting nine first downs to only two for the Cowtowners.

But it was in the first half where Pampa was run ragged. The Harvesters couldn't collect a first down until just 1:15 before the intermission horn, and they were shoved backwards more times than they moved forwards, finishing the first two periods with a pitiful minus three rushing yards.

It was almost the same story the previous week at Wichita Falls. The Coyotes, topped themselves, 26-22 by the cream of Class AAA, Breckenridge, last Friday night, ripped Pampa for 26 first half points on the way to an easy 34-2 win in their opener.

In other words, Pampa has been a good second half club thus far in the infant season, and a lousy first half outfit. In their two losses, the Harvesters, while not scoring a touchdown, have been outscored only 8-2 in the third and fourth quarters.

The first quarter hasn't been too bad, either. Pampa has been outscored by 16-0, but in the second period the first two foes, the Coyotes and Jackets have waltzed merrily away with 26 points while the Harvesters were hardly managing any first downs.

Already entrenched in the cellar, with an 0-2 mark, Pampa could pass Monterey of Lubbock, one of the pre-season clubs rated a good chance to displace Amarillo High as conference champ, this week in the warm-up game standings.

Monterey goes to Abilene to square off against an enraged Eagle that had its tail feathers plucked for the first time in 52 games, 19-0, by a fine AAA Sweetwater eleven last Friday night. Monterey, idle last week, dropped its opener to state powerhouse, Paschal of Fort Worth, in a close 22-28 tilt.

Pampa, with one of its few chances to crack the win column already blown away, gets its biggest opportunity to avert a winless season in a Friday night opener at Harvester Stadium, against an equally weak El Paso Bowie outfit. The Bowie Bears were mortified by a rebounding Class AAA Phillips Blackhawk eleven last Friday night, 56-16.

Palo Duro, the team conference coaches rated as the most likely to cop the district title this season, is the only 3-AAAA outfit without a blemish on its record.

The Dons, who host unbeaten Carter-Riverside of Fort Worth Saturday night, laced Midland in a thrilling 28-21 squeaker last Saturday night, overcoming a third period 21-7 deficit to do it.

In other games last weekend, Amarillo lost an 8-0 season opener at Fort Worth to touted Paschal. The Sandies proceeded Pampa into Farrington Field in Fort Worth by 24 hours. Neither club drew over 4,000 fans.

Odessa nicked Lubbock, 6-0. Plainview white-washed Brownfield, 14-0. Tascosa dropped its first game in history, 19-7 to Dallas Sunset, and Berger raised eyebrows all over the Panhandle by exploding past Tulsa Central, 56-6.

In other games set this week, with all eight league clubs in action before launching conference warfare next week, Amarillo will have to fight for dear life to avert another loss at home against a potent San Angelo outfit, while Tascosa goes to El Paso to meet an undefeated Austin High team, and Plainview hits the road for Hereford, and Berger entertains its second Oklahoma school, Lawton.

Aside from the Carter-Riverside vs. Palo Duro game at Amarillo Saturday night, Lubbock goes to Fort Worth to tackle Northside.

BEAR HUNTERS—These three Pampa High Harvesters will be carrying more than a buggy-switch here Friday night when they entertain the Bears of El Paso's Bowie High School. Ready to hit the road back after two straight losses are, left-to-right, Halfback Rex Williams, almost fully recovered from a pulled leg muscle that slowed him in the Harvesters' first two games, Center Dickie Watkins, who looked good on defense in a 14-0 loss to Arlington Heights last week, and Halfback Gary Wills.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ohio State, defending national and Big Ten football champion, topped the first weekly major college ratings of the United Press International Board of Coaches today although it does not open its season until Saturday.

The coaches gave coach Woody Hayes' Buckeyes, 1958 Rose Bowl champions and victors in 24 of their last 26 starts in the powerful Big Ten, 17 first-place votes and a total of 275 points. The Buckeyes open at home against Southern Methodist Saturday.

Ohio State narrowly edged Auburn for the mythical national championship in the final 1957 season of the teams in the top 10 have yet to open their schedules. Besides Ohio State, they are Oklahoma, Michigan State, Notre Dame, Auburn, Navy and Wisconsin.

Coach Bud Wilkinson's Oklahoma team, which rebounded to defeat Duke in the 1948 Orange Bowl game after Notre Dame snapped its 47-game winning streak last season, was second with four first-place votes and 230 points. Notre Dame was third with four first-place votes and 198 points.

Michigan State was next with three first-place votes and 192 points. Texas Christian, which opened with a 42-0 triumph over Kansas last Saturday, was fifth with two first-place votes and 167 points. Auburn was sixth with one first-place vote and 160 points.

Pittsburgh, which opened one of the nation's toughest schedules with an impressive 27-6 victory over UCLA, drew two first-place votes and 97 points in which he rates them. Points are distributed on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis for votes from first through 10th place.

Army, which opens its campaign Saturday against South Carolina, headed the second group with 40 points. Washington State, Louisiana State, Kentucky, Southern California, Clemson, Purdue, Wake Forest, South Carolina, and North Carolina rounded out this group in that order. Wake Forest and West Virginia, which was 21st with 16 points, divided the remaining two first-place votes.

In all, 39 teams received votes in the first ratings.

'Cats-Rattlers In Top Area Clash

Featured attraction for a fourth and full Top O' Texas schoolboy football weekend is the Stinnett invasion of the Canadian Wild-cats' den.

The game has been rated a toss-up. Stinnett would probably have been touted as the favorite, had not they been held to a 14-11 tie by an upstart band of Panhandle Panthers last Friday night.

Panhandle's tie with Stinnett, a team that held rugged White Deer to a 6-6 stalemate the previous week, rates as the "upset" of the week for the past week. Canadian bounced back from a 40-20 trouncing by Perryton to trounce Shamrock, 32-8, last week. Panhandle hosts Sunray this week.

White Deer, a hefty 56-0 winner over a Spearman eleven that was rated only a 1-2 touchdown underdog to the Bucks last week, draws another soft-touch this week, Shamrock.

Undefeated and unscored upon Lefors, rated as the state No. 5 Class A club in the Dallas Morning News poll last week, confronts its toughest assignment of the young season at home against Wellington's Skyrockets, a 30-0 surprise winner of Memphis last week. However, Coach H. W. Callan's Pirates should rate a 3-4 TD edge, after spilling Sunray, 30-0 last week, with quarterback Tommy Johnson hogging the scoring, putting on a one-man show by accounting for all 30 of the Pirates' points.

Perryton, an easy 32-6 victor over a good Canyon club, enjoys an open date this week. The Rangers are the class of District 5-AAA.

In District 1-B (Six-Man) the Miami Warriors rate no less than 116 points better than Morse for their Friday night game on the latter's home field. Booker blasted Morse, 66-0, two weeks ago, and Miami mauled Booker, 56-6 last week, giving you a difference of 116 points between the two.

In the only other 1-B Six Man game, Booker looks for the road back at Channing, a 42-12 loser to pace-setting Mobeetie last week. The front-running Hornets, defending district champs, don't play a conference game this week.

Class AA Has 44 Unbeaten Squads Left

Stamford's clash with mighty Sweetwater and seven other teams providing the punch to a robust Class AA Texas schoolboy football schedule this week.

The Bulldogs, back on the winning track this season as usual, are among 44 undefeated and untied teams left in Class AA after the first three weeks of play and they are shaping up as a possible semifinalist foe for defending state champ Terrell.

They should provide Sweetwater, last week's manufacturer of the season's biggest upset - a 19-0 victory over Abilene - with a third major test in a row although the AAA school should rule the favorite.

In other top games matching perfect record AA teams, unscored-on Dimmitt is at Abilene, Kaufman at Wills Point, and Schulenburg at Hallettsville.

Other Games

In addition, Mineola and Pearsall bump into high-riding Class A unbeaten teams, White Oak and Kennedy.

Mineola appears to be the last major hurdle between White Oak and that defending state co-champ's unbeaten season.

That's figuring that the Roughnecks will wade through their own district where both Hawkins and Hallsville remain unbeaten to date.

Whatever Happened To...

MOE BERG

Moe Berg was a major league catcher for 15 seasons ending in 1939, and while he wasn't a brilliant player he certainly was a "brilliant" Moe spoke nine languages and long was noted as baseball's most erudite figure. He once in his long career but never played for a job. He caught for the White Sox, Senators, Indians and Red Sox from 1925 through 1939 and left baseball in 1941 for secret assignments in World War II which he never discusses.

Whatever happened to Moe Berg? Now 56, Moe still is a bachelor living in Newark, N.J., where he practices law and looks after "some of my interests abroad."

Strikeout Marks Tumble As 38 Whiff; Richie Gets Hot

That was quite a fanning bee in Philly, but no one could buzz the ball by Richie Ashburn, who regained the National League batting lead with a 343 figure.

A total of 38 strikeouts—which set two major league records—were registered Monday night as the Phillies swept a two-night twin-bill from the Pirates. The Phils won the 14-inning opener, 3-2, and the nightcap, 1-0.

Ashburn was one of the few players on both clubs who didn't strike out once. He collected two hits in six trips during the opener and went four-for-four in the finale to boost his average five points and move ahead of San Francisco's Willie Mays, who is second with 342.

Fan 21 Pirates

Three Philadelphia pitchers—Seth Morehead, Dick Farrell and Jack Meyer—contributed to a record in the opener when they struck out 21 Pirate batters. That broke the previous record of 20 strikeouts set by St. Louis Browns' pitchers in a 15-inning game against the Washington Senators July 25, 1913.

Morehead fanned 12 in 9 innings, Farrell 2 in 2 innings and Meyer, the winner, 7 in 3 innings, including the first six men to face him.

Ronnie Kline went the route for Pittsburgh and had five strikeouts himself. He gave up the winning run in the 14th on singles by Bobby Young, Ed Bouchee and Dave Philley.

In the nightcap, Jack Sanford of the Phillies struck out 10 more Pittsburgh batters while pitching a seven-hitter and notching his 10th victory.

Braves Lose Jay For World Series

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — Rookie righthander Joey Jay is lost to the Milwaukee Braves for the World Series and manager Fred Haney must now decide between Bob Rush or Carlton Willey for his third-game starter.

Jay's ring finger on his left hand was operated on Monday night by Dr. Bruce Brewer to repair a double fracture which Jay suffered last week when hit by a batted ball at St. Louis.

Brewer said the finger will be in a cast for at least three weeks. "He's out for the season and the Series," said the physician.

Al Kashey walked off with the main event in Top O' Texas wrestling at the Sportsman Club Monday night while Bolo hammered out a decision over Chico Romero in the semi-final match.

The Big Train battled to a draw with former referee Tommy Phelps in the opening match.

B's, Juniors Prep For 2nd Big Baffles

Three Pampa "underclassmen" football teams face their second games of the young grid season Thursday, two on the road and one at home.

The Pampa High Shockers (B-squad) play host to a rugged Phillips B-team in Harvester Stadium Thursday night, with kickoff time set for 7:30 p.m.

The Shockers of Bird Dog Trice and Deck Woldt skipped past a good Perryton reserve eleven, 19-12, in their season opener two weeks ago. Pampa's Shockers were idle last week.

Pampa Junior High, a 24-8 loser to Fannin Junior High of Amarillo here last Thursday, and new Robert E. Lee Junior High of Pampa both saddle up and ride into Amarillo for Thursday afternoon games.

The Rebels of Robert E. Lee threw up a rock-ribbed defense in Amarillo last Thursday afternoon to blank Bowie Junior High, 8-0.

Fullback Randy Haralson, younger brother of Pampa High's leading ground gainer, Terry Haralson, accounted for the only Rebel touchdown, scoring in the first quarter. Robbie Robinson dashed over for the two-point conversion.

From that 8-0 first quarter score, the young Rebels of Coaches Norman Phillips and Lester Ramsey staved off repeated Bowie assaults to protect their slim advantage and go on to notch the win in their season opener.

The Rebels return to Amarillo Thursday to encounter Sam Houston Junior High.

Pampa's Junior High Reapers jumped to an 8-0 lead in the first quarter of their last Thursday game against Fannin here, as Ronnie Ingle punched the ball downfield on a 33-yard march.

But Fannin bounced back for a pair of second period TD's, and then added insult to injury with a clincher in the third quarter, to post a 24-8 triumph over Coach Gene Chance and David Kelly's chargers.

Ingle, Gerald Been and John Arthur paced the Reaper offense while turning in good defensive showings were Corky Godfrey, Danny Mahaney and Kanny Mathews. Chance was well pleased with all of his boys' play. He and Kelly cleared their 17-man bench, letting every member of the squad get into the game.

This Thursday, the Reapers try to level their record at 1-1 when they tangle with a tough Horace Mann Junior High eleven in Amarillo.

Point Of Orientals

Alfred Kohlberg is one of the better letter writers — maybe because he spends a lot of time at it.

He is a New York importer whose business for years has been in the Orient and his knowledge of the Orient and Orientals is almost monumental.

So when we get a letter from Kohlberg it usually merits attention. And that's what we thought about the following communication received from New York a day or two ago:

Your issue of Sept. 7 reported the White House as "welcoming" the statement of Red Chinese Premier Chou En-Lai proposing negotiations. This, in part, is what he said:

"President Eisenhower... threatening to expand U.S. aggression... and carrying out war provocation... United States support... of the Chiang Kai shek clique... and its direct conflict with Taiwan."

Chiang Kai shek clique... are null and void... The Chinese people's determination to liberate their own territory of Taiwan and the Penghu Islands is unshakable...

...see even more clearly the British features of the U.S. aggressors bent of sabotaging peace and that the U.S. imperialists are the most vicious enemy of all Africa and Latin America...

...Now the U.S. Government again indicates its desire to settle the Sino-American dispute in the Taiwan area through peaceful negotiation... the Chinese Government is prepared to resume the Ambassadorial talks...

...The U.S. has all along tried to confuse these two matters so as to cover its aggression and intervention in China... Should the U.S. Government persist in their aggression and intervention against China and impose war on the Chinese people it must bear the responsibility for all the serious consequences...

If this is what we "welcome," I hate to think of what the White House might consider "unwelcome."

Warning Sounded

About a year ago Donald Richberg wrote a powerful book called Labor Union Monopoly: A Clew and Present Danger.

Now lots of people have written about unions, their monopoly stranglehold on American enterprise, their gangsterism and all the rest of the smelly mess connected with unions.

But when Donald Richberg speaks of unions his words carry weight for he was for many years a bosom companion of the late F. D. Roosevelt, he was one time chairman of the National Recovery Administration and was the co-author of the famous Railway Labor Act of 1926.

So when Donald Richberg speaks it is not as "an enemy of labor," meaning anyone who dares to oppose union bosses.

Today more than a year after his book, Richberg has this to say in a special article in Human Events, a Washington weekly Commentary:

We are facing in this labor problem a new phase of a very old issue. A private monopoly in control of any essential industry is so intolerable that a choice must be made between dissolution and public regulation.

We have accepted the value or inevitability of monopoly in the case of public utilities and adopted regulation instead of dissolution. Usually the solution in private industry has been to insist on the preservation of competition.

That seems the most practical solution in the field of labor relations. Certainly the unions themselves would prefer to be split up to any effective regulation of collective bargaining.

Of course there are many other reforms in the house of labor that must be brought about some day. The undemocratic organization and operation of many small unions and of all large unions demand reformation to protect the interests of the workers as well as of the public.

The helplessness of the individual union members against the racketeers who run many small unions or the adroit labor politicians who manage huge unions is an evil that cries aloud for legal reform.

Cleaning the labor union house by state and Federal lawmaking is a very difficult and complicated job. But it is certain that no such effort will be even vigorously attempted so long as the need for it goes unrecognized or untold by the leading opinion makers of our editorial writers, columnists and unionized news writers continue to spread false hopes and meaningless demands that labor unions be given an indefinite opportunity to clean their own houses — just so long will no house cleaning of any substantial value occur.

On the other hand, when the time comes when the opinion makers of the Nation have enlightened themselves and begin to enlighten the public regarding the imperative need for a legal house cleaning of labor unionism, then we may hope to see effective legislation and law enforcement by state and Federal officials who are not so blindly or timidly neglecting their public duties.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES, Stotism No. 2

In the last issue I was quoting from "U. S. A." magazine from Sen. George W. Malone's book, "Mainline," on how our government should be limited.

Sen. Malone sees how belonging to United Nations is bound to deprive the American people of their control of our government. The Senator puts it this way:

"I reject, most emphatically, the idea that the elected representatives of our people are no longer to be directly responsible to the people for their acts; the idea that our representative government must lose its character and is to be increasingly beholden to executive authority — whether national or international; that either our own executive, or that international executive authorities, can do for our people what they cannot, with representative government, do for themselves; and the idea that our citizens, individually or as associations or as corporations, are to lose the effective right to present their wishes to their elected public servants — for the astounding reason that those who are elected are to be no longer responsible to those who put them into office."

"For that is the situation in cold fact, and we might just as well face it."

"What is at stake is the representative nature of our Union of sovereign States."

"Back in the 1930's it seemed that our entire national structure might collapse. It seemed that, despite the magnificent success of our entirely new theory of self-government and individual self-reliance, the result must be a failure. Perhaps if we had taken more time; had we perhaps not been in such a (characteristically American) hurry, we might have seen that its flaws could with patience be removed — without impairment of our own peculiar concept and belief. We even might have found ways to not experience again such tragic collapse, and yet still adhere to our own new American way. We might have studied that concept of ours more carefully, and found that what was happening was not the result of theory but had come about from errors in its human operation. We might have found those errors, and have proceeded to their correction while retaining the essential base upon which our body social, politic and economic for so long had rested."

"We did not do that. We abandoned our new philosophy and, all unconsciously, we slid backward into the old. It was an ancient concept, and it said: The State can do for me, and must, what I cannot do, or may be unwilling to do, for myself."

"It was a theory, and for centuries it ruled all human life. Politically, economically — and now 'socially' — the State took over, as it always has done, and when it is permitted to do so, it always will, and as gradually the State took over, the ancient theory itself was broadened. Now it said: The International State will do together what none of its single states can do alone..."

"The years through which the theory of peaceful world organization has been applied — with its goal of universal acceptance of one code, one law — have been characterized by worldwide turbulence, intervention and war. How is it that a great and intelligent Nation has not, so far, effectively reappraised its captive theory itself, and offered for mature consideration a concept which might work?"

"In view of the colossal sacrifice involved — in men and in real wealth — the theory required influential acceptance and support from the start. Two courses were adopted to realize it, and they were these: (1) Individuals and organizations, public and private, were found and to them was presented the glittering promise of a new Utopia; and (2) an historical blackmail which amounted almost to continuing censorship was gradually contrived. The first of these courses was open and above-board; the other was quietly done, and it took time..."

"These two courses, together with their score of ramifications, kept people from visualizing the gigantic pinners movement which the theory itself required. First the depression, then wars, and the preparation for wars, diverted people from the gradual impact of the movement itself. Propaganda did the rest..."

"The way out of the situation is an essential and a simple one. The situation has come about through the working of a theory. The theory is that The State can do for a citizen what it determines he cannot do for himself; that The International State can do for our Nation what it determines we as a Nation are incapable of accomplishing ourselves."

"The rest follows. As a state's decisions are feckless without the means to enforce them, clearly The State must find ways to power. This much clear within the theory, there remained the matter of procedure; and this, as well, was clear."

"Power must first be vested in The State, and then it must be transferred to the International State. This presented no problem abroad — The State already had the power. In our Country the sovereign power rested in the people, so this power had first to be taken from them, i.e., from the representatives whom they elected."

"This first step was accomplished when the Congress abdicated... The American executive then progressively transferred that

Robert Allen Reports:

New Approach To Helping Small Business

Robert S. Allen is on vacation. During his absence, his column today is by the co-author of one of the most important pieces of legislation enacted by the 85th Congress. Representative Wright Patman (D., Tex.), tireless and veteran champion of little business, presents a detailed explanation of this far-reaching milestone in boosting that field.

By REPRESENTATIVE WRIGHT PATMAN, Chairman, House Small Business Committee

WASHINGTON — The Johnson-Patman Act is a new approach to helping small business find a solution to one of its most pressing problems — the problem of obtaining adequate financing.

In enacting this legislation, Congress has provided a new system whereby small business concerns will have better access to equity capital and to long-term loans.

This new system is not just another government "loan" program. It is a way to help private enterprise help itself.

Furthermore, the purpose is to help small-business firms obtain the kind of financial assistance which they have not generally been able to obtain, either through government lending or through financial institutions.

For many years, there has been growing public concern over the handicaps which face small and medium-size firms in our business system. One handicap which has long been of major concern is the inability to obtain financing — particularly equity and long-term debt financing — such as the major corporations obtain with relative ease.

The problem arises from the fact that there is no adequate financial machinery which serves the function of gathering together investment capital and making such capital available at places and at costs which make it practical for small firms to bid for it.

During the past 25 years this problem has been met with a variety of federal loan programs. But while these programs have been most helpful to small business — and financially successful for the government — none has offered help of the kind that is most needed, which is help in obtaining equity and long-term debt capital.

The new Act provides a number of ways by which small business will be given better access to both equity capital and long-term debt capital.

The principal method is to encourage the establishment of local, small-business investment companies which will be voluntarily formed by 10 or more stockholders. These privately owned and operated companies will decide which small-business concerns they will invest in, or make loans to, and in these loans and investments they will risk a substantial portion of their own money.

It is this feature of the program which permits a minimum of government regulation and permits investment and loans of a risk nature.

The spirit of the new legislation is perhaps best described by one of its principal authors, Senator Lyndon Johnson, Majority Leader of the Senate, who introduced the bill there, declared during the debate that its purpose is to set up a program "that does no violence to free enterprise, that does not raise the specter of federal control over business. Eventual private power to international bodies, and the thing was done. "The theory could now be applied on a global scale. It eventually would be as all-encompassing as was the total power which formed its base." (To be continued.)

Fair Enough

Pension Can Be A Racket

by WESTBROOK PEGLER

The true purpose of old-age pensions for public officials is to protect faithful, worn-out servants when they have lost their public employment by reason of age or illness, but not by political repudiation at the polls. This purpose always has been professed by the politicians who have not built up an arrogant, devouring racket for their own benefit. Such a racket at present gives Chief Justice Earl Warren more than $1,000 a month on top of his judicial salary of $35,000 a year. As though the sneering impudence of this imposition were not sufficiently offensive, Warren will make matters worse next Jan. 1 by receiving an additional $4,000 a year. This raise will bring to more than $300 a week, a pension on top of the biggest salary he ever drew. If Warren had had the grace to decline the pension when he went on the federal payroll, that would have been an example to shame the whole selfish gang of parasites. It would have heartened millions of almost inconceivable pessimists whose old faith in the moral character of public service is now destroyed.

It is fair to assume that Warren has accepted the pension to date, although his own political machine in California set up secrecy so that the public cannot easily learn whether he does accept it.

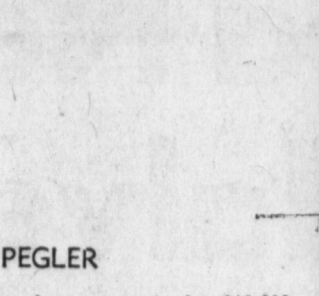

If he had found such acceptance repugnant to his honor and morals he certainly should have said so. This expression would have set an example of honor and dignity by one of the highest civil dignitaries in the world. It would have implied a rebuke to thousands of others who, like Warren, have used their power as politicians in state and federal machines to help themselves, legally, of course, to old-age doles greater than the highest earnings of most of the people who produce national income and taxes.

Warren has never produced national income. He has paid income taxes on his state and federal salaries and on a small portion of his pension from the state of California, but all that income, both salaries and the pensions, "came out of taxes except a small portion of the pension which is supposed to have been "contributed" in dribsels over his 39 years on the payroll.

No public official in Warren's salary bracket deserves any pension at all. A man drawing salary upwards of $7,500 or $15,000 a year, as Warren has for more than 20 years, ought to save for his own old age. In the past, letter carriers, customs inspectors and workers in a few other humdrum, low-bracket groups, were frankly deemed to be so close to pay-day all their working lives that they would not save. That theory has been accepted, even ennobled, by the civil service racket and it cannot be disturbed. Actually, a 11 workers with 20 or more years of uninterrupted employment at wages acceptable to them, should take the responsibility for their own future on their own savings.

But the real outrage in the Warren pension situation is the payment of pensions in addition to lavish current salaries. Like Truman and Roosevelt, Warren is a very thrifty fellow. So, even if $35,000 a year would be just a living wage for some fancy Dan with an expensive wife, the practical fact is that Warren now gets enough actual pay, and with a contract for life, to keep him and his wife in the style that Congress thought appropriate to the Chief Justice. Except in law, he doesn't deserve a nickel from the people of California. His books probably would show that he doesn't have to touch

Hankering

By HENRY McLEMORE

McLemore Writes A 5,000 Page Book

In my new book, "Wrapped Around A Little Finger," or "Look Out, Papa! You'll Run Yourself To Death," I have tried to answer the questions most often raised in a home where an infant daughter is in residence.

The author makes no claim to providing answers to ALL questions. In a volume limited to 5,000 pages, which mine is, this would be impossible. But the book does, I believe, furnish workable answers to most of the pressing questions. Here are a few examples:

Q. How often should a father think about his infant daughter?

A. In most sections of the country there are sixty seconds to a minute, sixty minutes to an hour, and twenty-four hours to a day. By multiplying 60 by 60 by 24 one gets 86,400 seconds, and this, I would say, is about the right amount of time the father should spend. Of course, if he lives in an area where there are more seconds in a day, he will be able to devote even more thought to her.

Q. How many diapers should a father provide?

A. This depends on his circumstances, the amount of storage space in his home, and, to some extent, on the baby daughter. If money is plentiful, and so is storage room, I would advise that 125,000 diapers be on hand at all times, with 85,000 held-in reserve. With this number there will always be a few on hand at the week's end.

A minimum of 75,000 is permissible, but care must be taken that the diapers are not used for a thousand and one other duties to which they lend themselves. Don't use them for shoe cloths, for washing golf balls, etc.

Q. Is it foolish for fathers to think they have the prettiest baby daughter in the world?

A. Having just taken a look at Megan I would say, yes, that all fathers but one are a bit foolish to hold such a belief. It is an understandable belief, however, and no one is going to get mad at a father for feeling the way he does. But, with one exception, it won't get him anywhere.

Q. Should a father poke a pacifier in a baby daughter's mouth when she cries?

A. Two, if he has that many. Either that, or the father should poke some ear-stoppers in his ears, put an ice pack on his head, and retire to his favorite chair deep in the cellar. A husband's ears are more delicately attuned than a wife's ears, and a baby's cry is more terrifying to him than the howl of a timber wolf, or the crash made by a falling market.

Q. Should a father help with the feedings?

A. It is permissible for the father to hold a bottle, but he should never be asked to feed cereal to his baby daughter. Only a mother has the courage to keep shoving the cereal back in the baby's mouth, only a mother has sufficient character to scrape the cereal from cheek, chin, and jaw, and ram it home again. Fathers would rather be whipped than torture their babies this way. Also, fathers will lie, and say they have fed cereal when they haven't.

Q. Should a father take his baby daughter to the office and show her off?

A. Not before she is a week old. After that, certainly!

Are they not a breakthrough from a realm of eternal standards of perfection? Are they not sings or blips from a world of beauty and love that is continually signaling us directions to guide us in the paths of light, life and truth, and to avoid that which would lead us to destruction? Are they not harbingers of glorious eternal life somewhere which is doing its best to attract our attention and focus our efforts on means of ennobling our own lives? Do they not warn us of weaknesses to be strengthened, of unworthy habits, thoughts and actions to be overcome?

How fortunate that we are equipped with built-in radars which pick up the signals that warn us of icebergs, derelicts, rocks and shoals that would destroy us, and help us to navigate safely through a world of temptation and sin to a fair shore beyond, to a place where there is no night, no need of candle or lamp, neither light of the sun; for the Lord God giveth them light; and they shall reign for ever and ever." Why Does One Feel A Glow After Good Deed?

by Howard Kershner L. H. D.

It's Up To You

Why does one feel a glow of satisfaction after doing a good deed, making a sacrifice to help someone, or bearing witness to the truth in the face of temptation to be unfaithful?

Why does one feel badly when he has been unkind, done something wicked, acted selfishly, or suffered a lapse of integrity?

Why does one feel exalted in the presence of great beauty — a rainbow against a retreating storm, with the glorious sunshine in the opposite direction, a great painting by one of the old masters, the superb rendition of one of the immortal symphonies or operas, the smile of a child, the face of a friend when one needs a friend, or the unlimited devotion of a steadfast and loving wife or husband?

Who does one feel depressed in the presence of ugliness — an unkept house, a dirty bathroom, a cluttered barnyard, crabgrass, dandelions and weeds in the lawn, the clash of inharmonious colors, the dissonance of instruments out of tune, poorly played or used for playing music of inferior quality?

Whence come the feelings of well-being and satisfaction that possess us when everything is harmonious and in order? Or the sense of distress and unhappiness that beats upon us in the presence of disorder, disharmony, vulgarity, strife, uncleanliness or unworthiness of any kind? Why do manhood, courage and integrity thrill us, while cowardice, deceitfulness and lack of character depress us? Why do all things that are good, right, true and beautiful lift us upward and the opposite thereof cause a sinking feeling in our hearts?

Are they not a breakthrough from a realm of eternal standards of perfection? Are they not sings or blips from a world of beauty and love that is continually signaling us directions to guide us in the paths of light, life and truth, and to avoid that which would lead us to destruction? Are they not harbingers of glorious eternal life somewhere which is doing its best to attract our attention and focus our efforts on means of ennobling our own lives? Do they not warn us of weaknesses to be strengthened, of unworthy habits, thoughts and actions to be overcome?

How fortunate that we are equipped with built-in radars which pick up the signals that warn us of icebergs, derelicts, rocks and shoals that would destroy us, and help us to navigate safely through a world of temptation and sin to a fair shore beyond, to a place where there is no night, no need of candle or lamp, neither light of the sun; for the Lord God giveth them light; and they shall reign for ever and ever." The Doctor Says:

Dr. Edwin F. Jordan

Trying to fool the doctor is a game in which, fortunately, few people indulge. But once in a while a patient tries to do so by withholding important information about his present illness or past history.

This is pretty silly because the doctor needs to know everything he can if he is to provide maximum help.

The first step which a doctor makes in seeking a diagnosis for an illness is to obtain a complete history. This includes not only the development of the immediate illness, but also information on past illnesses, family history and other circumstances which might have a bearing on diagnosis and treatment. When properly given and recorded, the history alone often gives a clue as to what further steps are necessary.

The taking of a history is followed by the physical examination. This is generally divided into three categories: What the physician can see, what he can feel; what information he can obtain by percussion, or thumping; and what he can learn by hearing.

The latter is usually carried out through the familiar instrument called the stethoscope. Physicians are carefully trained in all these methods of physical examination.

There are also available to the modern physician a wide range of special tests, some new and some old.

One of the oldest and simplest is the measurement of the body temperature taken by a clinical thermometer. Another is the instrument which is used to measure the blood pressure. Among other common tests taken when a patient is examined are those on the blood and urine.

Some of these are done on virtually every patient, but some are complicated chemical tests which are performed only when the other signs point toward the need for doing so.

I can mention only a few other special tests which are now available. The use of X-rays is widespread and, of course, is invaluable in many instances. But it is not a substitute for careful history taking nor physical examination.

There are instruments, too, for measuring the basal metabolism (particularly important in toxic goiter and other disorders of the thyroid gland) and for studying the heart, particularly the electrocardiograph. For studying the brain waves there is an instrument known as the electroencephalograph.

Many of these new methods of testing the human body, while extremely valuable, are by no means a substitute for careful physical examination. This alone may be sufficient on which to make a diagnosis, or at least to furnish clues as to which of the other tests are needed.

It is virtually impossible, (and not necessary) to apply every available test to every patient. So emphasize again the importance of the history and the desirability that every patient tell the doctor all he can about himself and his illness.

Infant Sucked Into Mowers' Blades, Dies

DICKINSON, Tex. (UPI) — Eighteen-month-old Rebecca Lynn Simons was sucked into the churning blades of a 48-inch window fan Monday and chopped to death before the fan hurled her lifeless body through a window and into the yard.

Sheriff's deputies said the little girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Simons, apparently became curious and decided to investigate the whirling blades on the fan in the bedroom where she slept with her parents.

The accident, according to deputies who investigated, occurred after the father had left the bedroom and before the mother awoke.

Rebecca Lynn apparently crawled out of her bed, climbed up to the window and reached out her hands to touch the fan. The big blades caught her body and threw her out into the yard through the window.

The Simons live in the Termini addition on Humble Road near the edge of Dickinson.

LIVING IT UP!
NEW YORK (UPI) — Joseph Harris, who turned a sprightly 100 years of age Monday, said his longevity certainly was not due to clean living.

Harris said he spent his youth as a table man in gambling houses and his middle age working at race tracks.

TODDLER'S NECESSITIES—As every mother knows, it takes a lot of food, diapers and other furnishings to keep a baby healthy and happy. Stockholm researchers collected these items to dramatize the requirements of a Swedish youngster during the first year of life. Cost is equivalent to about $384.

Graham Says Reds Winning

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI) — Evangelist Billy Graham said Monday night modern-day churches have failed to obey God's commandments because they have not spoken with the power and boldness of the early church.

Pacing the platform of the Charlotte Coliseum, Graham told 3,175 attending the second service of his crusade that "a handful of Communists are winning the world while 600 million Christians are losing it."
