Warning Against A

'Last Fling At Summer'

CHICAGO (UPI)—The National Safety Council warned today that a "frantic last fling at summer" may lure 420 persons to their deaths on the nation's highways during the Labor Day weekend. It said "old statistics" indicate that 12,000 other persons may suffer disabling injuries in accidents between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Monday.

The council said "absolutely none" of the predicted fatalities would be recorded "if every driver would observe three simple rules."

Ned H. Dearborn, president of the council, said 45 million cars will take to the streets and highways for summer's last big holiday.

throughout the country will be working around the clock to keep the drivers of these cars from killing themselves," Dearborn said.

"It seems only reasonable to ask the drivers to cooperate," the council recommended that vacationers:

- Cut normal speeds by at least 10 miles per hour to offset the extra holiday danger.
- Put their safe arrival ahead of time of arrival and drive accordingly—"with patience, courtesy and common sense."
- Stay away from the wheel if they've been drinking.
- "The public highway is no place for a fuzzy mind, whether you're driving—or walking," the council said.

The council's estimate of 420 traffic fatalities compared with the record Labor Day weekend toll of 483 in 1951. Last year 443 persons died in the 78-hour period.

Bus Smashes Into Rear Of Truck

COOK, Ind. (UPI)—A Greyhound bus smashed into the rear of a big truck loaded with encyclopedias just before dawn today on a four-lane highway near here.

State police first estimated that perhaps 50 persons were injured, but the estimate proved high, and St. Margaret's Hospital in Hammond reported a total of 22 treated.

The 45-year-old bus driver, from Indianapolis and Bessie Hastings, Decatur, Ala., were the most seriously hurt.

The accident happened about a mile south of Cook on U.S. 41, at 5:30 a.m. c.d.t.

Police said the bus, driven by Carl Raugh, plowed into the rear of a semi-trailer driven by Doris Howell, 46, Chicago, for Pickett Lines, Chicago.

The bus swerved off the highway and rolled into a field. The truck was pushed down the road about 300 feet.

Raugh was pinned behind the steering wheel as the impact caved in the front of the bus. It took 15 minutes to extricate him. But doctors said he appeared to have suffered only face cuts from shattered windshield glass.

Raugh and other injured were taken to St. Margaret's Hospital in nearby Hammond.

Howell said he saw the bus approaching behind him through a rear vision mirror. He said he flashed his lights to indicate to the bus driver that it was safe to pass. He said the bus rammed into the back of the trailer at an estimated speed of about 50 miles per hour. Howell said he was traveling about 45.

The bus did not overturn. Most of the passengers who were hurt sustained cuts.

Public Hearing On Budget Is Set Sept. 23

The Pampa City Commission will hold a public hearing on the proposed City budget at 10 a.m., Sept. 23, commissioners decided this morning.

The Commission approved water and sewer estimates for the Jarvis-Sone West Addition and accepted water and sewer work done on North Crest Section 2. Ordinance 504 was passed on the second reading.

The tax rate will also be set at the Sept. 23 hearing if the budget is approved. Commissioners approved the engineer's estimate on water and sewer lines to serve the Jarvis - Sone West Addition with sewers at $1,809.75 and water at $2,680.

North Crest Section II will receive a refund of $2,760.82 on sewer-lines and $5,414.62 on water-lines of money which was held in trust by the City, now that the work has been accepted as satisfactory to the City.

The passage of Ordinance 504 annexes North Crest Road from Sirocco Place to Cinderella Drive to North Crest Section II.

Crawford Atkinson, John Gikas, Don Cain, Warren Hasse and Calvin Whitley received commissioner's approval to serve on the Pampa Board of City Development. The recommendations were made by the Chamber of Commerce.

Police Ring Refineries In France

By NORMAN RUNNION
United Press International
PARIS (UPI)—Police and troops with "shoot on sight" orders ringed refineries and oil installations in major French cities today to prevent new raids by Algerian rebels.

Terrorists who bombed and burned oil installations and shot up police stations Monday staged no fresh attacks during the early hours today. Seven persons died in Monday's violence.

As dawn broke police and troops tightened security precautions. Guards had orders to shoot armed with submachine guns guarded the industrial suburbs of Paris.

Steel - helmeted police armed with submachine guns guarded the industrial suburbs of Paris.

The rampage by "commandos" of the rebel National Liberation Front was the worst since the start of the Algerian revolt for independence began nearly four years ago.

It was believed the Algerian rebels were seeking to bring home to the French public their hostility toward Premier Charles de Gaulle's proposed new constitution, which makes no provision for Algerian independence. France voted on the constitution in a referendum Sept. 28 and De Gaulle is touring French possessions in Africa to build up support for his pet project.

He Used To Be Good Boy

CHILDRESS, Tex. (UPI)—Johnny Ray Reynolds, about 30 years old, told local police Monday he was a "pretty good boy" until he was 19.

He said he has stolen 88 cars since then.

TB Board Has Meet

Mrs. John Bowers, president of the Gray County Tuberculosis Ass'n, presided during the noon luncheon meeting of the executive board yesterday in Johnson's Cafe.

Mrs. Rufe Jordan, chairman of the Christmas Seal sales, led the discussion for plans to be carried out during the Seal campaign, which will begin in November and continue through January. A selection of the Christmas Seal letter to accompany the sheets of seals was made.

Attending the meeting were Mrs. Flossie Hamilton, executive ass'n. secretary; Sam Begert, chairman of the educational program for clubs and organizations; Mrs. A. L. (Smiley) Henderson, president of the Chamber who presided at the meeting, expressed the Chamber's appreciation to the force for its cooperation during the Rodeo week Tourist of the Day program.

Following a financial report given by Chamber vice - president Calvin Whitley in the absence of Warren Hasse, Chamber finance chairman, Paul Crouch, chairman of the Chamber's nominating committee, reported that his committee is ready to submit a list of ten names to the City Commission for their annual appointments to the Board of City Development. The nominating committee for 1958 - 59 includes Crouch, Charles Cook, Gene Fatheree, Fred Thompson, and Henderson.

Arkansas Legislature Works On Anti-Integration Laws

By RYCE MILLER
United Press International
LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—The Arkansas legislature goes into emergency session today to enact anti - integration laws in a race against time with the United States Supreme Court.

As the lawmakers gathered to hear Gov. Orval Faubus open the extraordinary session with a speech outlining his five - part program, Negroes renewed efforts to smash the racial barriers at the second all - white high school in strife-torn Little Rock.

Faubus was scheduled to address both chambers jointly 30 minutes after 11 a.m. Nathan Gordon, president of the Senate, and Glenn Walther, speaker of the House, ran the legislature into special session.

Others To Try
United Press International learned two Negro students would "definitely" join three others who tried to gain admittance to white schools Monday at the offices of Schools Superintendent Virgil T. Blossom. One, a 15 - year - old girl, wants to go to Hall High, the school that drained approximately 1,000 students from Central High School when Hall opened last year.

The other four seek to join the seven students who remain of the group whose attendance at Central touched off mob violence last year. It was anticipated "several more Negroes" would try to seek admittance to Hall and Central before registration closes late today.

Troubles Elsewhere
The Arkansas Legislature met amid these other integration developments.

—In Norfolk, Va., U. S. District Judge Walter E. Hoffman ordered the Norfolk School Board ordered to reconsider all 151 of the Negro applications to white schools it rejected last week. The order put pressure on the school board to admit 12 to 30 Negroes to white schools next month or run the risk of a contempt citation.

—The Virginia State Pupil Placement Board at Richmond Monday denied the applications of Negroes seeking entry at Arlington and Newport News.

—More than 100 Negro youths in Oklahoma City went into their third day of trying to break the color barrier at a department store luncheonette.

Directors Of CoC Hear Reports

Sixteen Pampa Chamber of Commerce directors met in the banquet room at Poole's Drive Inn Monday noon to hear committee reports and discuss plans for coming Chamber projects.

Jim Conner, Pampa's chief of police, was introduced as a special guest of the directors; and E. L. (Smiley) Henderson, president of the Chamber who presided at the meeting, expressed the Chamber's appreciation to the force for its cooperation during the Rodeo week Tourist of the Day program.

Following a financial report given by Chamber vice - president Calvin Whitley in the absence of Warren Hasse, Chamber finance chairman, Paul Crouch, chairman of the Chamber's nominating committee, reported that his committee is ready to submit a list of ten names to the City Commission for their annual appointments to the Board of City Development. The nominating committee for 1958 - 59 includes Crouch, Charles Cook, Gene Fatheree, Fred Thompson, and Henderson.

Each year the commission appoints five men from a list of ten highest names submitted on the nominating ballot. After the ballots are returned, the five names receiving the most votes will be named as the advisory committee on Oct. 6. The 20 - man board chosen in this fashion serves as both the Chamber's board of directors and the Pampa Board of City Development. All twenty have one vote apiece.

E. O. (Red) Wedgeworth, Chamber manager, announced that the installation of new officers and directors will be held Oct. 23 at the Pampa Country Club followed by the Chamber's annual banquet at the Robert E. Lee Junior High School on Oct. 30. Committees for the banquet appointed by Henderson include: Program, E. L. Henderson, Calvin Whitley, and Warren Hasse (the Chamber's executive committee); Arrangements, Ray Duncan, Gene Holler, and Jake Osborne; Hosts, J. B. Massey, Crawford Atkinson, and Dudley Steele; and Decorations, D. L. Parker, Roy Kay, and J. C. Hopkins.

'Sky-Sweeper' Satellites Proposed

By ROBERT MUSEL
United Press International
AMSTERDAM (UPI)—A U.S. expert said today special "sky-sweeper" satellites might be able to clear away the band of deadly radiation that now threatens to bar man from outer space.

Prof. Fred Singer of Maryland University told the International Astronautical Congress he believes the radiation belt, which took thousands of years to build up, could be cleared away in a matter of months.

Singer emphasized the "sky-sweeper" idea is a corollary of a theory he has developed which requires further confirmation before it can be accepted as fact.

The Maryland space specialist's report was the scientific highlight of a day during which congress delegates speculated about the nature of a secret "top priority" program mentioned Monday by the Russians. Western scientists believe the project involves shooting a man into space.

Russia Injects Politics
The Soviet spokesman who mentioned the secret program would give no details, but an American scientist had reported earlier that Soviet Sputnik expert Peter Kapiza is working on a plan to get a man into space — and bring him back alive.

A Deadly Threat
Singer said Russia's hypothetical spaceman would be in trouble if he ventured more than 250 miles from earth — the lower limit of the radiation belt.

He said data collected by America's satellites, especially Explorer IV, indicate the radiation belt: —Extends from 250 miles to 400-

Spherical Hut Will Simulate Hut On Moon

AMSTERDAM (UPI)—An American scientist is looking for two men and a woman who would be willing to live for eight days as though they were camping out on the moon.

Prof. Tibor Hevey of Kansas University said the volunteers would have to agree to spend most of their time in a circular hut 16 feet in diameter, using special lightweight tools and utensils to create a semblance of the moon's feeble gravity.

Anytime they wanted to leave the hut to stroll in the simulated "moonscapes" outside, they would have to don space suits.

Hevey, who is working on an advanced project for the Radio Corporation of Orlando, Fla., said in an interview that not enough attention is being paid to the problem of preparing humans for the space age.

"Why two men and a woman?" he was asked.

"Well," he smiled, "one man by himself might go psycho. Two men would quarrel—maybe a man and woman would, too. Three people have the best chance of getting along together, and by making one of them a woman we increase the chance."

Fred Thompson, chairman of the Chamber's highway committee, reported to the directors that plans are presently underway for a dedication ceremony upon completion of the Hobart Street underpass. All plans are presently tentative pending definite notice from highway authorities as to the completion date, Thompson said.

Bill Grants Pension To Ex Presidents

By JAMES BAAR
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The world's richest nation has finally made sure that never again will an ex-president have to live off the charity of relatives.

President Eisenhower signed into law Monday a bill granting an annual $25,000 pension to all present and future ex-presidents.

The bill also grants an annual $10,000 pension to the widows of ex-presidents.

Four persons are immediately eligible: former Presidents Herbert Hoover and Harry S. Truman and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson.

Besides the pensions, ex-presidents also get office space, unlimited free mailing privileges and an office staff that could earn up to $50,000.

Pensions for ex - presidents have been a long time coming. Nearly 170 years to be exact.

Congress from the very beginning was perfectly willing to watch ex - presidents scrape along on their past glories.

House Democratic Leader John W. McCormack said in pressing for action on the bill that congressmen kept the public treasury tightly closed while George Washington and Thomas Jefferson lived out their lives as "land - poor country squires."

He said James Monroe had to live off "the charity of relatives" in his old age; James Madison had to mortgage away much of his estate; and Gen. Ulysses S. Grant had to write his memoirs to provide for himself while suffering from cancer.

US May Increase Forces In Area

By AL KAFF
United Press International

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI)—The commander of the U. S. 13th Air Force arrived here today for military talks, and there were reports the United States might increase the air and sea power around Formosa.

Eight units of the U. S. 7th Fleet which took 1,600 Marines to Singapore for shore leave left the British port en route to Okinawa. Reports here said the move was ordered in connection with the Communist activity around the Quemoy Islands.

Communist artillery bombarded the Quemoy Islands for the fourth consecutive day. Nationalist officials estimated 96,000 rounds were fired Saturday, Sunday and Monday, killing or wounding more than 600 persons on the Quemoy.

A London dispatch said Britain was sending two aircraft carriers to reinforce its Far Eastern fleet but an Admiralty spokesman said there was "nothing new and nothing sinister" about the shift. He said it "does not mean the Far Eastern situation has deteriorated or anything like that."

Maj. Gen. Thomas S. Moorman, commander of the 13th Air Force, flew to Taipei today from his Clark Field headquarters in the Philippines and began conferring on "operational matters" with Vice Adm. Roland Smoot, senior American military commander in Nationalist China and commander of the U. S. Taiwan (Formosa) Defense Command.

The U. S. Air Force now has about 10 supersonic F-100D jet fighter planes piloted by Americans on Formosa and under Moorman's command. The Nationalist air force is equipped with older F-86 Sabrejets, said to be no match for the new Russian-built Mig-17s.

Hoffa Stays In Senate Spotlight

By ARNOLD SAWISLAK
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate Rackets Committee keeps an investigative spotlight on activities of James R. Hoffa's Teamsters Union today in opening an inquiry into the forces behind violence-ridden taxicab strikes in St. Louis.

The committee pressed its investigation of Hoffa despite the start of a Hoffa-ordered investigation of the union by a panel he personally named.

Committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy said a St. Louis police captain, a former prize fighter and two one-time St. Louis cab drivers would be among early witnesses. The committee kept to its task despite the fact Congress adjourned Sunday. It scheduled a full week of hearing on the activities of Harold Gibbons, long Hoffa's "man Friday," and other Teamsters leaders in St. Louis.

Gibbons, now executive vice president of the Teamsters Union, may not testify until later in the week, Kennedy said.

In a related development, ex-Sen. George H. Bender, head of Hoffa's new "anti - racketeering commission," told a news conference late Monday the clean - up panel would not hesitate to try to out Hoffa himself if he deserved it.

Bender said he would be in touch with the Rackets Committee and read its reports and hearing transcripts.

Air Reinforcement Of The Formosa Strait Considered

By CHARLES CORDREY
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—U.S. military men today were reported considering swift air reinforcement of Red-menaced Formosa Strait.

Authorities emphasized that so far no movement of reinforcements has been ordered—nor has any been requested by the U.S. Pacific Command.

But they said military men are considering the dispatch of a composite air strike force in the face of Red China's continued menacing moves against the offshore islands. Such a strike force is made up of jet fighters, light bombers, tankers and transports.

Such a force would strengthen the U. S. 7th Fleet, which now has four destroyers and about 300 aircraft including A3D jet bombers and two types of supersonic fighter planes.

Plan War Games
Singapore dispatches said the eight units of the 7th Fleet would return to their home base in Okinawa where the 1,600 Marines of the 3rd Marine Division are based. They are expected to join Nationalist units in war games the first week in September at Fongliang in Southern Formosa.

Few U. S. Motorists Take Advantage Of Seat Belts

By ROBERT J. SERLING
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Would you spend $30 on an insurance policy guaranteed to reduce the chances of your being killed or injured in an automobile accident? Most motorists would jump at a deal like that.

But few of them are taking advantage of an automotive accessory that literally is just an insurance policy—the safety belt.

There are about 57 million cars on the nation's highways today. Not more than one million are equipped with seat belts, although they are offered as optional equipment by every one of the auto manufacturers at an average cost of $30 for a seat.

The Cornell University Medical College's auto crash injury research project, which has studied more than 20,000 accident reports, says this about belt effectiveness: "Widespread use of seat belts would save at least 19,000 lives a year and reduce injuries by at least 50 per cent."

The Cornell findings are backed up by similar studies by the Air Force, the U. S. Public Health Service and other responsible safety experts. California and New York have ordered all official state cars, including police vehicles, equipped with belts.

Yet public indifference to the proven safety advantages has made the belt only a minor weapon on this far in the drive for greater highway safety.

Lack of Knowledge

Why the indifference? The experts cite these reasons:

—Lack of knowledge of what a belt can accomplish. Most drivers balk at belts with the limp explanation: "They're safe, I suppose, but they're too confining and uncomfortable." Tests have shown they are not uncomfortable and actually reduce fatigue on long drives.

—Harmful and misleading propaganda that has appeared in print and on radio.

—Failure of automobile dealers themselves to "push" belt installations. Typical was the experience of a UPI reporter who went to buy a new car and found the salesman trying to talk him out of seat belts. "Spend the money on a better radio," the salesman argued.

Extensive research into thousands of automobile accidents have shown that belts accomplish two things:

—They keep occupants inside cars instead of being thrown out; the Cornell experts say it is five times safer to be inside a car than ejected.

—They keep occupants from being thrown against lethal objects in a car's interior, such as door handles, instrument panels, windshields, radio control knobs and steering wheels.

Alleged Deficiencies

Propaganda against belts—generally or indirect—has centered on these alleged deficiencies:

—Too many belts are inferior and break under stress. Cornell concedes some belts are below acceptable standards, but points out this is no reason to condemn all belts.

—Belts are useless in convertibles; it is safer to be thrown out of a convertible than remain inside during a rollover. Cornell research shows that only a small percentage of accidents involve convertibles that roll over.

—Belts either may trap people in burning or submerged cars, or can cause serious internal injuries. Cornell statistics show that

Down Fido! Say Mailmen

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Mailmen tried today to raise new defenses against their enemy, the biting dog.

Resolutions to be introduced at the 41st biennial convention of the National Association of Letter Carriers included:

—A request that mailmen be given federal law protection if attacked by dogs while on duty.

—A call for free legal aid for the postman-victim of a dog bite.

Life Aboard The Nautilus Relaxed

By WILLIAM SUNDERLAND
For the Combined Press

ABOARD THE USS NAUTILUS (UPI)—Life aboard the atomic-powered submarine Nautilus, whether going under the North Pole or on a routine run, is quiet, relaxed and efficient.

The 12 officers and 97 men who regularly serve on the Nautilus know their job and know it well. But they have a problem that is unique—weeks underwater without seeing daylight.

The Nautilus has been designed to take care of this problem as much as possible. To an almost unbelievable extent it has worked, mainly because it has so much more room, due to its nuclear power plant.

The inside of the ship itself is done in soft colors specially designed to be easy on the eye. Among other things it has:

—A photographic darkroom and enlarging facilities, plus one of the best cameramen in the U.S. forces, John J. Krawczyk, 34, Eaton Rapids, Mich.

—A coke machine and ice cream machine.

—A juke box with its system extending throughout the ship. It has a selection of 100 records and is free.

—A mess room that converts into a movie theater for 50 persons in five minutes.

—A tape recorder and a television set that may be used in port.

—A 600 volume library.

—An automatic washing machine and dryer.

The men serve four hours on duty and then eight hours off. There is a large program to help them pass time during the long underwater voyages, including one

Alaska Goes To The Polls On Statehood

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI)—An estimated 30,000 Alaska voters went to the polls today to put the stamp of statehood on a territory twice the size of Texas.

From Point Barrow to Ketchikan, Nome to Fairbanks, the heaviest balloting in the history of the territory was expected. Political experts predicted the total vote would easily top the highest recorded vote of 28,000.

The possibility of statehood being rejected wasn't even considered.

"We'll win by a 5-1 margin," predicted former Gov. Mike Stepovich who stepped out of the governor's office to run unopposed for the Republican nomination for the short Senate term.

Alaska voters had to approve three propositions to clear the way for admission to the Union. One proposition asked simply, "Shall Alaska be admitted into the Union as a state?" Another set the boundaries of the 49th state as the lines established in the statehood bill signed by President Eisenhower last month. The third fixed the rights and powers of the new state as those set forth in the statehood bill.

Garden Roof Slowly Kills Its' Owner

ROMFORD, England (UPI)—A coroner's jury ruled Monday a man died from accumulated injuries caused by bumping his head on the low roof of his garden shed over a 23-year period.

A verdict of accidental death was returned in the case of Bertie Cunnell, 55, a grocery clerk who died in a hospital from brain hemorrhage.

Relatives testified Cunnell, who was tall, often bumped his head on a low beam when he went into the shed in his garden. Dr. Cyril Raeburn, a pathologist, said the man's condition following repeated blows on the head was "comparable with the condition found in boxers who were punch drunk."

Coroner Louis Beccle said Cunnell apparently caused small injuries to his brain over a 23-year period.

"They were very minor injuries which he would not take notice of at the time," the coroner said. "But they all added up and produced this condition. There is no other explanation than this low beam in the shed which would account for it."

Shamrock Rattler Persistent

(Special To The News)
SHAMROCK — On his way to his farm, east of Shamrock, E. L. Pike, 73, tried to run over several snakes that he saw on the road. As he crossed a bridge, he thought he had hit a snake and got out of the car.

When the snake started toward him, he hit with a stick, picked it up by the tail and threw it up the road. Then the snake came back at him. He tried to stamp it but it bit him in the ankle and wouldn't let go. He stamped it with his other foot and finally shook it loose.

"This was about seven miles east of town. Pike got in his car and drove back to the hospital. He was reported in good condition yesterday.

The rattler is reported dead.

Area Still In Need Of Rain

AUSTIN (UPI)—Rain is needed for dryland cotton and late feed over all of Texas, especially from the cross timbers westward, the U.S. Department of Agriculture said today.

Hot, dry winds hastened maturity of both the cotton and sorghum crops.

Land preparation was underway in a few localities, but many farmers were waiting for rain. Meantime, wheat planting began in the extreme Northern High Plains.

Despite high temperatures and increased fly activity, all classes of livestock remained in good condition. But rain was "urgently needed in all areas" to insure prospects for good fall grazing, the USDA said.

Onions and potatoes were available in good volume from the Texas Panhandle where the harvest was nearing completion. The

Arabs In Up-Surge Of Pro-Nasserism

By ZAKI SALAMA
 United Press International
 CAIRO (UPI)—A major result of the Baghdad coup of July 14 has been an upsurge of pro-Nasserism in the Arab world.

Jay Sleser and his performing dogs will be a featured act of this year's Woodward Elks Rodeo, August 27-30 in Woodward, Oklahoma. With a personality quite their own, these clever dogs perform a variety of tricks that never fail to delight the hearts of young and old. Sleser and his Australian Shepherd dogs have appeared at most major rodeos in the U.S. and Canada, as well as on national television. Performances of the Woodward Elks Rodeo begin at 8:00 p.m. each night.

the Nasser fold. —Yemen speeded up its procedures of federation with the United Arab Republic. —Pressure mounted in the Sudan for an all-party government that would include more pro-Nasser elements. —The deputy ruler of Kuwait and the sultan of Lahej huddled with U. T. R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser, and official sources said something was afoot in southern Arabia. —The biggest development was the Saudi return to Nasser.

Flies To Cairo
 One month after the Iraqi revolution, Crown Prince Feisal, Saudi Arabia's prime minister, flew to Cairo and talked with Nasser. Three days later Feisal announced the "summer cloud" which had darkened relations between the two countries for six months had disappeared. The "summer cloud" referred to included the U.A.R. charge that King Saud had paid money to kill Nasser.

With reconciliation came joint pledges for Arab nationalism, positive neutrality, and non-alignment with foreign pacts. There was as yet no official word of any attempt to federate the two countries.

Two days after the Saudi crown prince had flown from Cairo, the Yemeni crown prince flew in.

Cairo Surprised
 Self-Islam Mahamed el-Badr came here to work with Nasser on the establishment of the Federal Council, the highest body of the United Arab States federating the Yemen with the United Arab Republic. Earlier, Imam Ahmed of the Yemen had appointed his six members to the twelve-man council and had sent them to Cairo. The move took even Cairo by surprise. For seven months both the Yemen and the U.A.R. had been dragging their feet. All of a sudden, after Baghdad, the Yemeni councilmen were in Cairo while the U.A.R. hadn't yet named its members. Under the federal system, President Nasser and Imam Ahmed will have equal status as heads of state. The Federal Council is to weld together the 33,000,000-strong United Arab States comprising the United Arab Republic, Egypt and Syria and Yemen.

Drafting Charter
 In Khartoum, West-leaning Sudanese Premier Abdullah Khalil announced this week his government was drafting a "national charter" which "would be based on the establishment of good relations with the United Arab Republic and consolidation of the Arab League." In the past few days, Nasser met with two leaders from both ends of the British arc of protectorates in southern and eastern Arabia. The two callers were Emir Abdullah Mubarak el-Sabbah, deputy ruler of Kuwait, and Emir Aliy Abdel-Kerim, the ex-patriated, anti-British sultan of Lahej. Kuwaiti spokesmen have been taking pains to deny the rule of Kuwait, Emir Abdullah Salem el-

ABC-TV's Baseball Corner' Is Modest, Entertaining Offering

By WILLIAM EWALD
 United Press International
 NEW YORK (UPI)—Views and reviews:

ABC-TV's "Baseball Corner," a half-hour panel show seen on Wednesdays and Sundays, is a modest but entertaining offering. It's inside, specific, well-managed. In many ways, it shames the more highly touted news panel shows — most of which have become Sunday afternoon ho-hummers — which the questioners have turned into performing seals, more intent on displaying their personalities than in eliciting information. Barbara Nichols, guesting on the Sabbah, had been lending a sympathetic ear to Baghdad Pact courtships before the Iraqi revolution. —The sultan of Lahej also conferred with el-Badr and el-Sabbah in Cairo, and official Yemeni sources said important developments would take place in southern Arabia soon.

on "High Noon" about three seasons back. One thing about Janet Blair on the NBC-TV "Chevy Show" — she's the most attractively dressed woman currently operating in television. Her gowns are chic, clean-lined and she wears them well. NBC-TV's "Noah's Ark" would be a far less irritating series if it weren't for the way the character of the elderly doctor, played by Vic Rodman, was written — he strikes me as the most bumptious old man in the history of television literature.

Morgan Quintet Clicks
 Jaye P. Morgan and her quartet of brothers appeared on the CBS-TV "Jimmy Dean Show" Saturday, and they made an attractive quintet — Jaye P. would be well advised to stick with them rather than striking off on her own. NBC-TV's "Panic" was a step above its customary mediocrity Sunday night with "The Prisoner" — Kenneth Tobey turned in a slick performance as a man trying to break his wife out of stir. Wayne and Shuster made a valiant try at satirizing Westerns on the CBS-TV "Ed Sullivan Show" Sunday night, but missed. I can't think of any satire on Westerns that's ever hit me as really funny except for the one Sid Caesar did AMARILLO — It seems like only yesterday that this daily essay came out of this city and we were running off at the mouth about football. As a matter of fact, that's exactly when it was, by cracky.

For a citizen who ranks up there near the head of the league in the knife-and-fork circuit, we've got to admit the Humble Football kickoff dinner at the Tascosa Country Club here tops three other similar blowouts by Humble we've attended with napkin tucked neatly beneath chin.

And dija realize this is Humble's 25th year to pipe the thrills and spills of Southwest Conference football into your living rooms.

This year, aside from telecasting four regional football games "live," the Humble people have dreamed up a blue-eyed delight for 5 p.m. Sundays. At that time they will show edited game movies of the previous day's top grid struggle as voted by the SWC coaches.

The Saturday afternoon games to be televised are: Oct. 18, Baylor vs. Texas Tech; Oct. 25, SMU vs. Georgia Tech; Nov. 8, Rice vs. Army; and Nov. 15, Texas vs. TCU.

Democracy, By Cracky

You had your choice of nam, turkey, ribs or roast beef at the Humble wing - ding here last night, and most citizens just told the chefs to be democratic about it all and serve up a goodly sized portion of each meat.

There were other extras too, numerous salads, mashed potatoes, an assortment of breads and drinks, strawberry shortcake and so on down the line as growling stomachs were stuffed quiet.

For desert the big turnout had Kern Tips and the 1957 Southwest Conference football highlights. In technicolor, yet!

We were the guest of Doc Cagle, local Humble exec. Standing up for the Pampa High Athletic department were Eural Ramsey and Weldon Trice. Other Humble people from Pampa attending included, A. O. (Buck) Love, Joe Gabriel, Floyd Crow, F. E. Hoffman, Glenn Bruke, Kenneth Kyle and Gerald Harris.

Whoops! Don't neglect to mention Frank Kempa. He won a door prize of two tickets to the Nov. 22 Arkansas at Texas Tech football game, but he was out of the room washing his hands or something when they were awarded and his guest, Garland Pool, pocketed the pasteboards and claims to this minute he ain't giving up, either.

Frank's No Oldtimer!

Kempa, by the way, is slated to return to Amarillo on Sept. 11 (a Thursday) to play in a Gold Sox Oldtimers' Game. Others to play in the baseball game will be Joe Bauman, who plastered an all-time organized baseball homerun high of 72 in 1954 while with Roswell, N.M., in the now defunct Longhorn League. Joe, like Kempa, is currently in the service station business in Roswell.

Bob Cuzze, who walloped 69 homers with the 1948 Gold Sox, plus Len Attyd, Jack Venable and a crew of other stars from yesterday will be in the Oldtimers game.

Now that we've properly confused you with some baseball talk, let's don't forget to mention the cities who were represented here at the Humble Grid Party. There wuz, McLean, Perryton, Groom, Canadian, Spearman, Clarendon, Jericho, B o r g e r, Pampa, Dalhart, Dunas, Texline, Canyon, Tulia, Friona, Hereford, Amarillo and Raton, N.M.

And you heard, of course, of the Russian track team, visiting in the US, leaving their downtown hotel in a huff. Said they thought they'd been staying at the Comrade Hilton.

SHOCK TREATMENT

ED GETS KICKS OUT OF MAKING MOOLA

By MURRAY LDERMAN
NEA Staff Correspondent

LOS ANGELES (NEA) — It took a Broadway press agent, Eddie Jaffe, to kid Irving Kahn into thinking he might pick up a bundle from boxing. And it took Ned Irish, the Madison Square Garden impresario, to pique him into the business.

"New," scoffed Irish, who handles television commitments for the International Boxing Club, "you couldn't possibly do the job for us."

This was when Kahn broached the idea that his Teleprompter company (the president and chief stockholder) might put fights on closed circuit TV into theaters.

"It made me mad," recalls Kahn, a plumpish 40-year-old who once was the 20th Century Fox publicity chief, "this guy telling me we couldn't handle it, with our technical equipment and theater background. Who cared about boxing? I saw one fight in my life. Money? I didn't need it. But I couldn't resist the challenge."

So in one year Kahn has completely revolutionized the boxing business. He made a $300,000 score putting the second Ray Robinson-Carmen Basilio fight into the nation's theaters before a record paying audience of 364,000.

He took a hard-sell attraction like Patterson-Harris, underwrote the entire production, risked a possible loss of $350,000 and brought off an announced million dollar gate. It was incidentally, the fifth fight he ever saw.

Kahn has opened a multi-million dollar avenue of boxing gates and revived the fight spectaculars. Ironically, the IBC, which gives fights away for free on home-TV, gave him the wedge. The IBC moved into the closed TV field through an outfit called Theatre Network Television (TNT), moderately successful in staging the Marciano - Cockell fight. Kahn, aroused by Irish, made a bid for the first Robinson - Basilio fight and was squeezed out by TNT.

"Show you what nice guys we are," said the TNT boys. "We'll let you have four outlets for the fight, too."

There were Medford, Ore.; Amarillo, Tex.; Orlando, Fla., and Duluth, Minn., cities that TNT couldn't service anyhow for lack of facilities.

"On the face of it," shrugs Kahn, "scraps-like telling a guy he could have Siberia."

"More importa," winks Kahn, "having those four outlets gave me the rights to look at and study all the figures."

Theatre sales for the first Robinson-Basilio fight ran 52 per cent of available seats. In his four "obscure" markets, Kahn sold 83 per cent. So when it came around to the re-match, fortified with figures, Kahn upped the bidding. Even this might not have done any good.

Minneapolis Set For The Big Time!

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—The city fathers rushed today to welcome major league baseball with open arms.

The City Council by a vote of 21-1 gave a green light to a $4,317,223 bond issue to virtually double the seating capacity of two-year-old Metropolitan Stadium.

The move would pave the way for the Washington Senators, Cleveland Indians or any other major league baseball club to move here.

Representatives of the Metropolitan Sports Area Commission indicated a "firm commitment" is about to be made with an unidentified major league club.

"At no time have the prospects been brighter for big league baseball in Minneapolis," Mayor P. Kenneth Peterson said. "Minneapolis is the logical next place for a major league baseball club move."

The major league fever swept the city after United Press International learned in Washington that the Senators, apparently trying to beat the Indians to the punch, are preparing to ask permission to move their franchise to Minneapolis.

The bonds would pay for improvements to up the stadium seating capacity from 21,626 to 41,330.

FAMILY SQUABBLE!

George's In The Dog House Now

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—George Dickerson, recently appointed head football coach at UCLA, apparently was deep in the dog house today for publicly airing a "family squabble" with California over alleged recruiting abuses.

California coach Pete Elliott angrily blasted Dickerson for allegedly betraying a trust by airing accusations of illegal recruiting of UCLA - marked football prospects by a Cal alumni group.

Elliott was particularly critical of Dickerson for publicly accusing Herman Weiner, president of the Southern Seas, Cal's Southern California booster organization, for using the funeral of the late Bruin coach, Red Sanders, as an opportunity to approach a junior college transfer already committed to UCLA.

Wilbur Johns, UCLA athletic director and Dickerson's immediate boss, was reported to be "flabbergasted and embarrassed" by Dickerson's actions. Bud Hastings, head of Cal's Associated Students, quoted him as saying the proper way to have handled the complaint was through the heads of the respective athletic departments.

Dickerson, who was Sanders' No. 1 assistant before succeeding him, told a press conference he flew here last Saturday to confront Elliott with the charge of Bill Kilmer, the junior college transfer registered for the fall term at UCLA, that he was approached by Weiner at Sanders' funeral.

Elliott acknowledged he and Dickerson discussed the beef but they agreed to keep it a "family matter" if Weiner was ordered to stop all recruiting "until an investigation could be made in the proper manner."

"This trust was broken," Elliott said. "Using the press as a threat and making public display of practices in recruiting can only hurt college football."

Weiner denied he had tried to lure Kilmer to Cal.

Braves Bury Giants Eight Games Behind, Win 6-1

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press International

Strep throat and all, Warren Spahn of Milwaukee just about put the final chill on San Francisco's pennant fever.

Spahn was confined to his hotel room Sunday with an inflamed throat and there was some question whether he would be able to pitch against the Giants Monday night.

The 37-year-old southpaw promptly eliminated all question when he went out and held the Giants to five hits in a 6-1 victory that stretched Milwaukee's first-place margin to eight games over San Francisco.

It was Spahn's 17th victory of the season and the Braves made his job easy by knocking out Mike McCormick with a five-run burst in the second inning. Six hits, an error and a hit batsman did the damage.

Los Angeles defeated Cincinnati, 4-2, and St. Louis beat third-place Pittsburgh, 7-1, in the other National League games scheduled.

Baltimore topped Chicago, 6-5, and Washington nipped Cleveland, 5-4, in the two American League games played.

The Dodgers' victory over the Redlegs was essentially a two-man job by southpaw Johnny Podres and outfielder Carl Furillo. Podres yielded a two-run homer to Pete Whisenant in the first inning but blanked Cincinnati thereafter to gain his 12th victory, 11 of which have been registered at the Los Angeles Coliseum. Furillo rapped out three of the Dodgers' nine hits off loser Harvey Haddix and drove in two runs.

Wally Moon's three-run homer off loser Ronnie Kline was the blow that assured the Cards their triumph over the Pirates. Larry Jackson held the Pirates to eight hits in boosting his season mark to 11-10.

The Orioles tightened their hold on fourth place in the American League with their victory over the White Sox. Pinch-hitter Al Pilarcik drove in the winning run with a sixth-inning single that scored Brooks Robinson from second base.

Ray Narleski's eighth-inning wild pitch with the bases loaded enabled Clint Courtney to score the run that snapped Washington's five-game losing streak. Rocky Colavito drove in all four Cleveland runs with his 31st homer and a double.

Bill Wants 'Em To Stick It Out

CHICAGO (UPI)—Baseball promoter Bill Veeck said today the Washington Senators and Cleveland Indians should "give the fans something to see" instead of talking of moving to Minneapolis or anywhere else.

Veeck called a news conference here late Monday to air his views on reports one or both of the American League teams would show up at a new city when next season opens.

He said the Cleveland fans have been too good to the Indians for them to leave. He also said he thought "the national game of baseball should be represented in the nation's capital."

Veeck said there was no reason why the National and American Leagues could not expand because "there are several cities, both here and in Canada, that are able and willing to support major league baseball."

Tommy Phelps finally posted a ring triumph here in the opener but he had to pick on a fellow referee to do it, stopping Larry Wright in their one - fall match.

Joe Falls Off His High Horse

Tokyo Joe fell off his high horse maybe it'd be safer to say he was shot out of the saddle at the Top of Texas Sportsman Club Monday night.

After posting five straight wins here, the Jap was decided by Hard Boiled Haggerty who was supposed to fight Iron Mike DeBaise in the first place.

They did some royal card changing, however, and Iron Mike was matched with Frankie Murdoch in the semi-final event and the latter was whipped by the man of Iron.

Tommy Phelps finally posted a ring triumph here in the opener but he had to pick on a fellow referee to do it, stopping Larry Wright in their one - fall match.

President's Address

Most people, we think, will "go along with" the President's plans as outlined before the United Nations General Assembly for the development of the Arab nations of the Middle East.

And if we take the position that the affairs of such nations as Lebanon and Jordan are our affairs, then it is obvious that we ought to be doing and having the things suggested by the President.

Briefly, the address of Eisenhower had six major joints which we feel will stabilize the Middle East situation. They are:

1. Urging the UN to concern itself with "measures to protect" the independence and integrity of Lebanon.

2. A similar action for the UN in Jordan where British forces are quartered.

3. A means of halting the "fomenting from without of civil strife" by the Arab Republic of Syria and Egypt.

4. The creation of a UN "peace force" on a standby basis for prompt military action when needed.

5. A special program of economic aid to improve the living standards of Arab nations, and.

6. Action to avoid a new arms race spiral in the Middle East.

Some of the problems involved in carrying out such a program are not provided for in the President's talk. For instance, he said:

"The United Nations has, of course, a primary responsibility to maintain not only international peace but also 'security.' That is an important fact. But we must not evade a second fact, namely, that in the circumstances of the world since 1945, the United Nations has sometimes been blocked in its attempt to fulfill that function."

Such a view has difficulty standing up in the light of logic and consistency — a problem that the UN has not been able to solve since its inception. The difficulty, of course, is to determine just what is meant by "security" could be provided by assisting the existing gov't against insurrection and revolt. In Egypt it was the US view that "security" would be aided by preventing the French and English from helping the existing gov't from the revolutionary activities of Gen. Nasser and his followers? How can we know when it isn't?

This contradiction was again pointed up when the President said:

"But nothing I have said is to be construed as indicating that I regard the status quo as sacrosanct. Change is indeed the law of life and progress. But when change reflects the will of the people, then change can be brought in peaceful ways."

"In this context, the United States respects the right of every Arab nation of the Near East to live in freedom without domination from any source, far or near."

At almost the same breath Eisenhower then urged that the United Nations take over the domination of Lebanon that has been exercised by the U.S. in sending our Marines into Lebanon "to keep the peace." It is obvious that "the will of the people" is divided in Lebanon as it is in Jordan and still is divided in Egypt where active "revolt" has occurred.

The "great surge" of Arab nationalism is its right, Eisenhower told the Assembly, and "other nations should not interfere so long as this expression (of nationalism) is found in ways compatible with international peace and security."

Again we are faced with the problem of who is going to decide whether the "ways" are compatible or not.

It was to be expected that the President would present some sort of views on the advancing of "economic aid" to the Arab nations — a position that has been dominant in our foreign policy in the last three administrations. And he did. But the terms were so general in nature that any appraisal of the foreign aid plan would be difficult. He urged that private capital as well as government money be dumped into these Arab nations so that the living standards of the Arabs will be advanced.

The difficulty was that he failed to become specific in urging economic aid so "it can only be presumed that once again, the United States will be expected to bear the lion's share of the cost of any economic aid sent to the Arabs. This means that we shall continue pouring our money in an attempt to buy friends — a program that has resulted in a series of failures around the world to accomplish what the program first set out to do."

In suggesting the creation of a UN police force, the President has not puffed up anything new — not did he advance any new reasons for the creation of such a force. The UN has turned down the proposal before and probably will do it again. The dangers of setting up such a police force are grave, indeed, and while we like the idea right now so that we can get our forces out of Lebanon, the situation might be entirely different if the UN sent a bunch of "police" from Russia and elsewhere into, say, Cuba, to straighten out their "problems."

As we said at the start, most people (and certainly most politicians) will go along with the President since he actually spoke in such generalities that it would be difficult to object to what he said. But when those generalities are translated into specific actions, it may be an entirely different matter.

Silly Lawmakers

If you are just standing around waiting for the answer to the old question: How silly can they get? you might as well give up.

Congress can always top the act answer.

Only a few weeks ago the boys and girls on Capitol Hill were worried about the railroads and set out to do something about it. Of course they only took patchwork measures toward solving the "railroads" problems and did nothing about getting the government off the companies' necks, but at least they cut some taxes and made some loans.

Now up jumps Senate Bill 1313. It is double bad luck and appears designed to wipe out all the gains and more too. It has been reported to the floor of the Senate by the Committee on Labor and Public Welfare. Similar legislation is being considered by the House.

S. 1313 proposes large increases in retirement and unemployment benefits for railroad employees operating under the Railroad Retirement Act, with corresponding increases in the taxes upon employers and employees which finance these benefits.

It would increase the Railroad Retirement Tax, paid by both employer and employee, from 6 to 7 1/2 per cent (and eventually to 9 per cent) and would increase the base pay subject to this tax from $50 to $400 per month. It would jump the Unemployment Insurance Tax (paid only by the employer) from 2 1/2 per cent to 4 per cent maximum, again raising the base pay from $50 to $400.

Here's what would happen:

The tax increases, plus wage increases already committed, would increase the cost of doing business for all railroads next year by $50 million. On the basis of this year's revenue, it would require a 5 per cent nation-wide freight rate increase to meet the additional cost.

Railroads already pay three times as much in retirement taxes as do other employers and this bill would increase the railroads' unemployment taxes to more than four times those paid by industries covered by state unemployment systems.

A railroad employee paying the maximum retirement tax is assessed by present law $21.3 monthly, which is matched by his employer. The legislation proposed would hike the payment to approximately $30 per month in June 1959, and $36 per month in 1975. In contrast, an employer and his employee covered by Social Security now pay a maximum of $7.88 each month.

For Southern Pacific alone, the increase would amount to about $7.6 million in 1959. Things being as they are the only out would be a freight rate increase of at least that much.

It would be a grotesque mockery if Congress, after extending a helping hand to the railroad were to snatch away the relief with the passage of this bill. For the costs involved in this proposal are far more than those which the Smathers-Harris legislation was designed to remove.

So if you want to see something silly, just watch Congress for an hour or so.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOTLES

Starting Point to Right, Justice, Prosperity, Peace

I believe most everybody wants right, justice, prosperity and peace to prevail. The reason we do not have more of these good things is that we do not seem to have a starting point that will result in these blessings. And, of course, if we do not start right, the results will not be proper. We cannot pick good fruit from a bad tree, nor can we pick bad fruit from a good tree.

It seems to me the starting point to bring about these blessings is that each and every man gets all he produces, no more, no less.

That he is, in fact, owner of himself and all he produces. That, of course, is the ideology of those who believe in the inalienable rights of each and every individual. It is not the belief of those who do not believe man gets his rights from the Creator but gets from the state.

How to Determine

If we believe in justice, that all men should get all they produce, then we must have some way of measuring what each man produces. I can think of no fairer way, no way that will benefit everybody, than to have jobs interchangeable. That is, let each and every person do any job or create any wealth or perform any service that he believes he can benefit the recipient more than others are benefiting the recipient. In short, a free market for things and services. A market where all people, not just some people, are permitted to help establish values. To the degree that we approach this practice will we help bring about what is right, justice, prosperity, peace and goodwill.

Violations

Now let's look at some of the things we are doing that violate this free market, this idea that all men are equally free and have equal rights and equal duties to serve themselves by serving others better than others are serving.

Limiting apprentices to a violation of these ideologies.

It is setting one class against another class.

It is taking away from an individual his right to develop his faculties and to benefit himself by benefiting others.

Requiring apprentices to remain apprentices for longer time than it is necessary for them to become efficient workers.

Requiring people to join a union in order to earn a living.

Entering into an agreement that all workers in the same line must get the same pay whether they produce different amounts or not without the consent of the majority for a different reward.

Taxation

Taking one group to benefit another group, in other words, making a man help support those who are destroying him.

Making a man pay for an education or a religion that he believes is harmful to mankind.

Interfering with a man trading his services to the world's highest bidder by tariffs and quotas between nations.

Interfering with men moving from one location to another. That is, from one nation to another without the consent of the nation from which he is leaving, as in Russia, and without the consent of the nation to which he is entering.

Not paying enough to get soldiers on a voluntary basis rather than by coercion.

Having the government attempt to regulate the value of money and credit.

In fact, having the government do anything that is not for the purpose of stopping the initiating force to get things on an involuntary basis. In other words, an involuntary government rather than a voluntary government, as set forth in the Declaration of Independence that government derive their just power from the consent of the governed.

These are some of the things that greatly retard bringing about right, justice, prosperity, peace and goodwill. It was pretty well summed up by Jesus when he said: "But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and all these things shall be added unto you."

And anything that is obtained by initiating force is a violation of righteousness. It retards the accumulation of these blessings.

To the degree that we learn that there are natural laws that produce these blessings and that artificial, man-made laws or customs bring about chaos, suffering, ill will and poverty, to that degree will we bring about an ideal society with righteousness, justice, prosperity, peace and goodwill.

Vanguard Project To Get 'Change In Management'

WASHINGTON — The Navy's mishap-plagued VANGUARD satellite project is to undergo a drastic "change in management," the new Aeronautics and Space Administration will take over control of it.

That has been decided by Space Administrator Keith Glennan, following discussions with President Eisenhower, his science adviser, Dr. James Killian, and Pentagon authorities.

They have also agreed to continue and expand the VANGUARD program after the International Administration will take over conclusion December 31.

Plans for that call for spending $50,000,000 annually for three years.

No date has yet been set for the change-over from Navy control to the Aeronautics and Space Administration. At the earliest, this won't happen for several months.

Even then, Navy scientists will continue working on VANGUARD and will handle the satellite launchings.

There are to be five more of these firings between now and January 1.

The next one is slated within a week.

VANGUARD has had hard luck orbiting satellites. Its only one so far is a 5.4 inch-4 lb "moon." Three other launchings failed; the last one a July attempt to orbit a 21.5 lb satellite. The successful "moon" is believed will circle the globe for many years.

A major aim of the proposed expanded VANGUARD program is to develop "lunar research vehicles."

The VANGUARD rocket is deemed particularly suited for that.

These significant plans are detailed in a memorandum prepared for Pentagon officials. Publishable highlights are as follows:

"To develop satellite systems up to 50 lbs payloads using improved VANGUARD launching rockets as carriers. These rockets can be made available starting before the end of this year, provided immediate go-ahead is authorized. The improved VANGUARD is the current VANGUARD with an improved third stage that is under development."

"To make optimum use of VANGUARD capabilities by replacing the first stage booster with more powerful boosters. As earth-satellite carriers these vehicles would provide payload capabilities of several hundred pounds, dependent on inclination and direction of launching with respect to the earth's equator and rotation."

"These model III VANGUARD could serve as lunar research vehicles. It is to be noted that the unique VANGUARD launching facilities at Cape Canaveral, Fla., provide the guidance capabilities required for lunar flights."

This VANGUARD program is a completely functional one containing all the elements necessary for space research. It is especially attractive since the project is the only one in existence which has all of the combined capabilities required under one roof and a single project director."

THE SOVIET SPACE EFFORT

Russia has the world's only specialized institution devoted to continuous and detailed study of outer space.

This Institute of Theoretical Astronomy, near Leningrad, has a large faculty of scientists who use electronic computers to analyze the planets — information that is invaluable for launching earth satellites and firing long-range missiles.

These are highlights of a private report compiled for the Senate Preparedness Investigating Committee, headed by Senator Landon Johnson (D., Tex.).

This special study discloses that all Soviet space activities are now under one agency — the Permanent Commission for Astronautics. It is headed by Leonid Ivanovich Sedov, top official of the ruling

Looking Sideways

By Whitney Bolton

NEW YORK — There was mention here yesterday of Grant's Tomb on Riverside Drive in New York and because like 99 out of 100 persons who live in New York and environs (there's a word for you) I never had gone near the thing, I decided to do so. It isn't much. It's an ugly, over-ornate cylinder of stone of various kinds, and it needs a lot of money spent on it. It's a decaying mess.

Some committee in the federal government is wrangling right now over how much it will cost to spruce up Grant's Tomb and the last figure I read was a rock-bottom price of around half a million dollars, and they were even trying to pare that down.

There was a man at the tomb and he let me in and I walked around in the semi-gloom and it seemed to me there was a voice. It said in good-old-field-warfare bluntness: "What kind of a place is this for a man to wind up in? I'd rather be back out there by the laneway. It didn't smell any worse and would be a lot quieter and more friendly. This is a noisy, self-centered neighborhood. Nobody ever comes here. Why did you get to thinking about it, I said."

"Good reason as any. Funny thing, this is a lonely place. Always was. They've got one-time Presidents buried all over the country but me they had to stick in this foolish cylinder here on the banks of the Hudson, a little knob of rock stuck down among a lot of fancy apartment houses. I was a general and couldn't they have put me in Arlington?"

"There was some talk about it once."

"Yeah, I heard about it. Thought maybe they would do it. Lesser men than I turned out to be there. I guess that insurance mess I got myself into didn't help any."

"Oh, I don't know. It wasn't such a big deal."

"No use to be polite. It was a mess for sure. Should've had better sense. I tried with the book to get even again and clean things up. Tell me, does anybody read the book I did about myself and..."

"Well, sir, to be truthful, they don't. Not much."

"I figured as much," the voice said. "Military men, lightning men, don't turn out the best of books. Come to think about it most former Presidents don't. That fellow Truman, now. He wrote a book?"

"Yes."

"You read it?"

"No."

"You see. It's just not automatic that a man who makes President should be a writer. I hear they may spend a little money on me place here. Anything to that?"

"They may. It's in discussion."

"There was the sound of taut, coarse laughter.

"Wanta bet? That's where it will stay; in discussion. I sort of wish they would, though. The place needs some work. The neighborhood isn't what it used to be. I know, and there's a new class of people moving in. They come here to talk some evenings about how lonely and ignored they feel in New York. They could tell them about loneliness plus. When the carriage-owning people lived around here it was nice, quiet and refined. Now it's a polyglot with those noisy automobiles and buses night and day rumbling past, shaking me up. I hate it. You think, maybe, I could get a transfer out of here into Arlington? Maybe if a little pressure were exerted in the right places? After all, I was a winning general and a President. That ought to count for something."

"Yes, sir."

"Well, it was just a thought. Like as not I'm stuck with this until it falls down."

WHY OUR FOREIGN POLICY IS BANKRUPT

By JOHN T. FLYNN

(EDITOR'S NOTE: John T. Flynn is a noted author, lecturer and radio commentator.)

With the time approaching for the biennial gabfest — otherwise known as the congressional-election campaign — the air is full of charges and counter-charges. The Democrats think they have found in the events of the last few months enough ammunition to blame the GOP for what is being called "the bankruptcy of our foreign policy."

This has its comic aspects, serious as it is. It comes down pretty much to the old adage about the pot calling the kettle black. In other words, the foreign policy of the Eisenhower administration, if examined objectively, is not very different from that of the Roosevelt and Truman regimes. There is no doubt, of course, that it is a bankrupt policy, if it can be called a policy at all. But it didn't suddenly get that way. It's been bankrupt for the past 20 years. The only question is — why?

First of all, so that there can be no doubt about the sorry pass to which so-called "bipartisanship" in foreign affairs has brought us, let's take a look at where we stand. We went into the Second World War presumably to rid the world of the scourge of Naziism and fascism. We spent three hundred billion dollars — most of which we still owe — and, more important, we sacrificed the lives or the health of nearly a million young Americans. We did succeed in defeating Hitler and Mussolini and Tojo. Then in a series of international conferences, our leaders turned over to the tender mercies of Soviet Russia's Stalin and his communist tyranny those parts of the world we had just "liberated" from Naziism.

Today, in an effort to contain or repel the Russian menace — which we made so powerful in the first place — we have American soldiers stationed in every trouble spot in the world, so that no matter where a conflict breaks out, we will be sure to be in it. In addition to what we spend on the war, we are milking the American taxpayers of close to seventy billion dollars — for what? To fling around the world in senseless giveaways. The purpose? To buy "friends" who will be on our side against the Kremlin leaders to whom only a dozen short years ago we handed half of Europe and two-thirds of Asia. Here at home, we have seen our traditional free American system distorted nearly beyond recognition to support a federal military budget for something called "defense." Does this mean defense of something called "the free world," where today we have fewer friends left, despite all our sacrifices and spending, than at any time in our history.

A foreign policy which has had such dire results for Americans is certainly bankrupt. It has been bankrupt since the beginning and will go on being bankrupt so long as we continue in the course we have been following. It is bankrupt because it is not an American foreign policy. It is a policy which is not based on the safety, the security and the freedom of Americans. Instead, each twist and turn of the policy is based on the interests of one or another of our so-called European "allies" — whose interests never have been and never will be the same as ours.

It may be difficult to remember, particularly for the younger citizens, but we once did have a foreign policy for Americans. We said to the world: We have built here something unique — a free society for free men. We intend to make it work. We also intend to defend ourselves here, on this continent, to the death. But we have no designs of any kind on any other part of the world. You — the European and Asiatic powers and empire-builders — do as best you please. Fight your endless wars; roam the world grabbing peoples and colonies. But keep out of this hemisphere, and we'll keep out of yours.

It was as simple as that. The strange part about it was that it worked — and worked at a time when we were not nearly so rich nor so powerful as the powers to whom we made this declaration. Nor was there then, even as now, any lack of those with visions of "world conquest." Russia is not the first power, nor likely to be the last, to nourish dreams of conquering the world. But those who like to scare us with this bogeyman keep silent about the fact that throughout recorded history all others who dreamed the same dream inevitably failed because they carried within them the seeds of their own destruction.

Of course, I know that our modern world busybodies have a screening name for our historic policy. They call it "isolationism" which they have almost made into a dirty word. Well, I would like to know what would be more isolationist than hitching our foreign policy to that of the imperialist European powers who are so hated in great portions of the world? And what could be less isolationist than our traditional policy, for which George Washington set the tone? "Friendly relations with all; entangling alliances with none?"

Is Informative Book 'The Moon And You'

A copy of "The Moon And You" reached my desk last weekend, and I earnestly recommend it to all you who want to know about the only satellite the earth has, and a place where all of us may soon be visiting.

"The Moon And You" is a book, not a song from Tin Pan Alley, and is the work of Dr. Otto Hanzent, the noted Bavarian scientist whose authoritative book, written in a language that laymen can understand, have long been best-sellers.

In his latest book, Dr. Hanzent does for the moon what he already has done for such varied subjects as the Gulf Stream, the tides, Las Vegas, chemistry, genetics, poker, ice skating and music appreciation.

When you put down the book you will have a good, working knowledge of the moon, and not just a headful of meaningless figures.

It's difficult for the average man, for example, to grasp the great distance that the moon is from the earth, but Dr. Hanzent boils it down to understandable terms.

"The moon is about as far away," he writes, "as your home is from the bottleneck at the tunnel or bridge, late of a Sunday afternoon, and after you have been driving all day. Or the railroad station is when you have five minutes to catch a train and your cab is caught in a traffic jam. Maybe not quite as far as the last named, but almost."

The moon is airless, but few of us can visualize a place completely without air. Not so the Bavarian author-scientist.

"If you have ever attended a high noon wedding in a South Georgia church in July or August then you have been to the moon," the Doctor writes. "The moon is airless, and so is the church, especially if the bride and groom are popular young folks, and every seat is taken."

It's pretty hard for us laymen to grasp a soundless world, but that's what we will have to get used to when we spend our vacations on the moon, for there is no sound on it. Not even a TV commercial can reach you which, come to think of it, may be the prime reason so many people have paid in advance for reservations on the first scheduled rocket.

"Have you ever had to cough at a very dramatic moment in the theatre?" asks the Doctor. "If you have, you know what complete silence is, for when your throat begins to tickle, there is never a sound in the theatre."

"The same is true of the moment you clap at the wrong glime at a concert. Your ill-timed applause breaks on a silence every bit as still and deep as that which cloaks the moon. The moon silence is better than the silences I have mentioned, because you won't be embarrassed up there. You won't hear your own cough, and neither will anyone else."

As for the absence of weather as we know it, the moon, Dr. Hanzent says anyone who has ever been to England will have no trouble adjusting to the moon's climate.

"No weather is just the opposite of England's, which is all weather," the Doctor points out. "Think of just the opposite of England's, and you have the moon's."

Dr. Hanzent's book fills a gap that needed filling. If your neighborhood bookstore doesn't have it, then try a book dealer outside of your neighborhood. Sometimes non-neighborhood dealers are friendly too, and don't snap and growl at customers.

THE NATION'S PRESS

OUR DEBT TO SAVERS AND MANAGERS

(Christian Economics)

Writing in the "Outlook," December 1957, Gladstone Murray informs us that profits in the United States fell from nine percent of total national income in 1960 to six per cent in 1956. Over the same period compensation of employees rose by $87 billion increasing from 64 to 70 per cent of the total national income.

Since 1951, he declares that wages have risen about twice as fast as prices of manufactured goods. Since 1951, the price of services has risen 21 per cent while the price of commodities rose only about two per cent. Greater efficiency in management and more capital invested in tools and equipment have kept prices from rising much faster.

We owe much to the savers, who make possible larger investments in better tools and equipment, which lead to increased productivity. We owe much, also, to the able organizers of business, who can successfully manage large resources for increasingly efficient production of wealth. The skill of these men in turning out more goods has greatly retarded the runaway inflation that otherwise would have overtaken us.

"I SOLD IT... and I was confident it would please my customers. I've found from experience that well-known brands always do. I don't have the same confidence when I sell an unknown product that hasn't proved itself. I just don't like to take the risk."

"I BOUGHT IT... because I'm completely sold on brand names. The only real bargain for me is a product that wears best, works best, or tastes best—a product that does the job I expect from it. In other words, a product with a good brand name."

Records In Fat, Oilseeds Due In '59

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. Department of Agriculture has reported that supplies of edible fats, oils and oilseeds will set a new record in the 1958-59 marketing year.

Department estimates put next year's supplies at 10 per cent higher than in the current marketing year. Increases are forecast for lard, food fats, cotton seed oil and soybeans with the supply total expected to reach 11 billion, 706 million pounds.

A forecast of no increase in domestic consumption came with the prediction of record-breaking supplies. This points to greater supplies available for export.

The USDA said soybean supplies during 1958-59 will reach a record-breaking 556 million bushels, 66 million more than in the previous year. Farm prices are expected to average near the national support level of $2.09 cents per bushel, matching the 1957 level.

Cottonseed production is figured for a 4 per cent increase with prices averaging slightly less than the $51 per ton received for the 1957 crop.

Peanut production is forecast at more than one and a half billion pounds—a 15 per cent jump over 1957. The peanut crop will average near the support program loan value or slightly below a year ago.

A campaign to eradicate the worm as a livestock menace is apparently paying off.

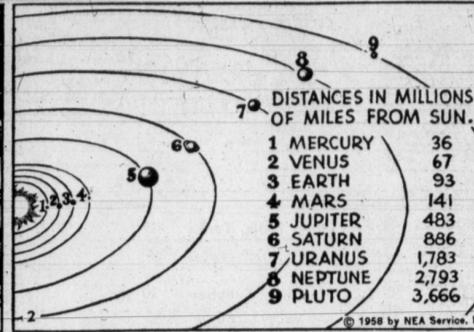

A USDA report says only two cases of screw worms in livestock have been reported this year in the southeastern U.S. Department scientists attribute the low incidence to an early start on the planned 1958 eradication program and a cold winter.

OUTWARD TO THE STARS (3)—Newton

By Don Oakley and Ralph Lane

(1) The giant of his age was Isaac Newton (1642-1727) of England. Inventor of the reflecting telescope, his work on lenses and optics led him to the discovery of the nature of light—the spectrum. This knowledge has enabled modern astronomers to weigh and measure even the distant stars. Proceeding from Galileo's findings, Newton, at the age of 24, began the work which resulted in his famous law of gravitation. At last an age-old dream was fulfilled—the mechanism of the cosmos was explained by a single universal force.

(2) Bit by bit man enlarged and expanded his knowledge of the solar system and the universe. In 1672 Cassini measured the distance to the Sun. In 1675 Roemer measured the speed of light. In 1701 Halley accurately predicted the return of the comet which has been named after him. In 1750 Wright recognized the Milky Way as a star system. Herschel discovered Uranus in 1781 and began the monumental task of counting the stars. Leverrier, in 1846, predicted the existence of Neptune—a noteworthy triumph for science. In 1881 the Sun's temperature was measured. In 1888 Schiaparelli discovered the so-called canals of Mars. In 1916 Einstein brought out his theory of relativity. In 1930 Pluto was discovered.

(3) Today, with the giant 100 and 200-inch telescopes, the horizon of astronomy has expanded even further—into a third order of the cosmos. The first is the solar system. Next, the Milky Way, of which the Sun is a minor and unimportant member. Finally, astronomers have recognized that the Milky Way is only one of an uncountable number of galaxies. Science has caught up with Giordano Bruno's vision of infinity.

Next: The Rocket Pioneers.

Brownwood Lady Lost 30 Pounds with Barcentrate

Here is a sensible, inexpensive way to take off unwanted fat. Just ask any Texas druggist for Barcentrate. Costs $1.69. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear, almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves, and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back.

Lydia Rentz, Box 30, Brownwood, Texas, wrote us that she had lost 30 pounds taking Barcentrate.

—and Mrs. C. McLean, 206 S. Robinson, Cleburne, Texas, states that she lost 16 pounds.

Fire Strikes Celanese Houston Plant

HOUSTON (UPI)—A flash fire swept through a section of the 15 million dollar Celanese Corporation of America plant late Sunday, seriously burning four workers.

An official of the firm said the plant probably would be shut down at least two weeks. Damages were estimated at about $35,000.

The fire started in a reaction section through which all polyethylene products at the plant must flow. Shift Supl. Eric Wiggins said he heard a muffled noise in the area just as the fire broke out.

Four employees were hospitalized with second and third degree burns. They were identified as Jerry Oberste, 29, of Houston; and Wesley Coker, 29; Alva Ray Murphy, 27, and John Dickson, 35, all of Pasadena.

The plant is just west of Houston where numerous refineries and chemical plants are located. The fire broke out at 3 p.m. and was brought under control just over two hours later.

Normal work force at the plant is 130 men, but officials said only 10 employees were on duty at the time.

Johnson 'Most Valuable' Congressman

WASHINGTON — Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson is "outstandingly the most valuable member of Congress."

That is the considered judgment of a group of ace newsmen who have covered Congress for many years. They voiced this exceptional acclaim in a poll on various aspects of the past session.

In addition to unanimously voting the Texan the "most valuable" lawmaker, the veteran reporters, by a large majority, also credited him with:

"Being more responsible than anyone else for the enactment of the Reciprocity Act, saving the foreign aid budget from drastic slashing, federal aid for education, putting some sense of urgency in the Pentagon, and consistently displaying high and exemplary statesmanship and leadership above partisan politics and personalities."

"Doing more than any other man in Washington to put into effect the legislative program of President Eisenhower. Virtually every aspect of it approved by Congress is due primarily to Senator Johnson."

The correspondents also rated Johnson as a "definite 1960 presidential possibility."

Most of them doubted the Texan will actively seek the Democratic nomination. But they were of the view that if he does, he will be the candidate all the others will have to overcome.

All but three of the newsmen participating in poll are from the North, and represent papers there.

On The Business Scene

United Press International Steel production next year will reach 110 million tons or 33 per cent higher than the 82 million expected this year and only slightly under the 112,700,000 last year, Steel magazine reported. The upturn will result from rock-bottom inventories, an anticipated upswing in consumer spending, increased federal spending and world unrest.

State governments collected a record $14,965,000,000 in tax revenues in the year ended June 30, but the sharp rise of recent years slackened, the government reported. The Census Bureau said the 1958 total was an increase of 374 million dollars or 2.6 per cent over the 1957 figure.

Business continued to improve in July with more production and order gains than any month since the summer of 1955, the National Association of Purchasing Agents reported. The report also said that despite higher prices for many commodities companies are continuing to keep a tight control on inventories.

The Commerce Department estimated that second-quarter production of woolen and worsted fabrics increased 17 per cent from January-March levels. But it was still 12 per cent below output for the second quarter of 1957, the department said.
