Moscow Radio Warns US On Far East

By HENRY SHAPIRO
United Press International
MOSCOW (UPI)—Moscow radio warned today the United States was "hearing the edge of the precipice" in the Far East, but political observers said Premier Nikita Khrushchev had made it clear he would prefer negotiation to war.

The latest Moscow attack on the United States followed publication of a note from Khrushchev to President Eisenhower declaring there could be no peace in the Far East until the United States withdraws its troops and the 7th Fleet from Formosa.

Moscow radio commentator Nikolai Andreyev, in a broadcast beamed to the United States, declared today:

"Mr. Dulles and certain of his colleagues, who at one time mapped out the policy of non-recognition of People's China... are nearing the edge of the precipice wearing the unconstrained smile of the tight-rope walker for whom there is no way back."

The broadcast said Russia had no respect for President Chiang Kai-shek of Nationalist China. It called him "an American puppet, a traitor to the people of China and a political corpse."

"What have the American ruling quarters lost in China?" the broadcast asked. "What are they looking for? What aim does their intervention pursue? Is it supposed to support their line of non-recognition and blockade of China?"

"Surely that policy does not answer the interests of the American nation."

The Khrushchev message to Eisenhower incorporated all the recent Soviet warnings that the Soviet Union would regard American attacks against China as an attack on itself and that Russia was prepared to aid Peiping with the Soviet arsenal of conventional and nuclear weapons.

Flowers Available Now In Moscow

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Anyone you'd like to send flowers to in Moscow?

Jack Dobson of Glasgow, Scotland, told a meeting of officials of Interflora, an association of 22,000 florists who service customers by cable, that Moscow has a "substantial number" of retail florists.

He said the group hopes to recruit the Soviet florists as members of the organization so its service will be "truly universal."

Air Collision Kills 13 Near Spokane

SPOKANE, Wash. (UPI)—An in-flight collision of two B-52 bombers near Fairchild Air Force Base Monday night claimed the lives of 13 of 16 airmen, the Air Force said today.

Twelve men were killed instantly when the two eight-jet planes crashed and burned in a field three miles from the base.

The other victim, Capt. Ernest C. Marker, Spokane, parachuted from the crash but died at the base hospital today.

Positive identification was lacking on one airman and the next of kin of a second airman has not yet been located, the Air Force announced.

The 10 victims already identified were:

Capt. Homer W. Crump, Monterey, Calif.; Maj. T. W. Held, Fairchild AFB; S. Sgt. Aubrey Moore, Birmingham, Ala.; 1st Lt. Reggie Frazier, Spokane; Maj. Donald R. Staples, Turner, Mont.; 1st Lt. John Cook, Page City, Kan.; Capt. Roy L. George, Cisco, Tex.; Lt. Col. Andrew B. Cree, Fairchild AFB; S. Sgt. David G. Archer, Spokane, and Capt. Russell H. Snow, San Antonio, Tex.

Capt. David D. Birdsall, Spokane, who also parachuted from the crash, was reported in very serious condition but two others who leaped, S. Sgt. Lowell W. Younger, Stockton, Calif., and 2nd Lt. Walter Maguire, Spokane, were reported in very good condition.

Col. Donald Hillman, commander of the 82nd Bomb Wing at Fairchild, said both the sweeping training missions and were practicing landings. He said the collision occurred "during or on their final approach to the base."

An eyewitness, Laren Smith, said:

"If it comes from a hardware store we have it. Lewis Hardware."

Red Firing Defies US Decision

No Oxygen For Baby

Talkative Women Blamed In Death

FRANKLIN LAKES, N.J. (UPI)—Burial services will be held today for a 5-month-old boy whose death was blamed on two talkative women who stubbornly refused to give up a party-line when the child's parents tried to call an ambulance.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Brown said Monday that they pleaded with partyliners four times Saturday morning to let them make a call to Paterson to get an ambulance and oxygen for their son, Robert Jr.

The boy died in the arms of his mother, Beverly, 18, as she carried him into Paterson General Hospital after a wild, 90-mile-an-hour ride, Brown said.

Brown, an employee of the Bergen County road department, said that he made the trip in desperation because Robert had turned "purple from lack of oxygen."

Ironically, Police Chief Arthur W. Pickering, who lives across the street from the Browns, said he had a two-hour emergency supply of oxygen in the borough police car parked near his home. But the Browns didn't know it. Pickering said he "now knows the names" of the other three parties on the Browns' telephone line and was gathering "other information."

Brown said his son was a cardiac case. He said that when Robert Jr. began gasping for breath he pleaded with persons using the telephone party line to hang up.

"I kept hollering 'Please get off the line, this is an emergency,'" Brown said. "I kept telling them my baby was very sick but they kept right on talking." He said one of the women told him she wished he would get off the line.

Four times he pleaded with them to give up the line, he said, and four times the talking women ignored him.

As a last resort, the Browns bundled the gasping child into the family car for the desperation dash to Paterson, 10 miles away. Mrs. Brown breathed into her son's mouth in an effort to keep him alive.

In Paterson, a traffic jam caused by a fire forced them to make a time-consuming detour. But a patrolman learned of their plight and cleared a path for them and escorted them to the hospital.

It was too late. The baby could not be revived with oxygen and adrenalin.

US Cargo Plane Crashes

TOKYO (UPI)—An American cargo plane chartered by the U.S. Air Force crashed and burned in the cloud-shrouded Tanawana Mountains near here early today, killing all of the eight persons aboard.

Search planes sighted the wreckage of the four-engine Super-Constellation at mid-afternoon, some six hours after the crash. They saw no sign of survivors.

"Wreckage was reported scattered over a two-mile-wide area on the northeast slope of Mt. Oyama, west of the Atsugi (U.S.) Naval Air Station," the Air Force announced.

Officials of the Military Air Transport Service said the plane, chartered from the Flying Tiger Airline, was carrying two military couriers, a civilian crew of six and 15½ tons of cargo here from the United States.

"It is presumed there are no survivors," an Air Force spokesman said.

Ramjet Four Times Faster Than Sound

SUNNYVALE, Calif. (UPI)—The Air Force disclosed today that a Lockheed X-7 ramjet missile has been flown in excess of four times the speed of sound to become the fastest air-breathing missile in the free world.

The 37-foot-long X-7 designed and built by the Lockheed Missile Systems Division in Van Nuys, Calif., also holds the altitude record for ramjet birds. Although the exact altitude has not been revealed, it can be said the X-7 has flown to the edge of the upper atmosphere.

The record speed flight was so fast that the heat generated by the supersonic velocity coupled with normal engine heat caused part of the ramjet to burn away.

The X-7 was air-dropped from a specially-modified B-50 high over the desert test range at the Air Force's missile development center at Holloman AFB.

A large booster rocketed the missile to a faster-than-sound speed, where the ramjet took over. Within seconds the bird was accelerated to the fantastic speed, with its flame-tailed engine blasting it far out of human sight.

Commission OK's 2nd Bill Reading

Pampa City Commissioners passed on the second reading today, an ordinance that would take a strip of land on N. Hobart within the City limits.

Paying bills and passing motions, the commissioners also filled vacancies in the Library board and made appointments to the Traffic Commission.

The second reading passage of Ordinance 505 would bring a strip of land on N. Hobart, across from the Catholic Church property into the city. Commissioners discussed the paving on N. Hobart that would result from the extension of the City limits.

A request for annexation of a part of the East Fraser Addition No. 3 also came under consideration.

Commissioners approved payment on monthly bills totalling $21,326.32 and approved the $461.75 Engineers Estimate No. 3 and Final on the 25th and Duncan Contract, submitted by Ray Boswell. In doing this, they authorized the refund of a $330.37 engineering fee for paving to William Fraser.

Two alleys, between 1700 Charles and 1700 Christine and 2000 Christine and 2000 Mary Ellen, will be paved as a result of commissioner's action, each at a cost of $90. And the City secretary was authorized to put $25,000 on water and sewer bonds for the City.

City Manager John Koonitz secured approval of six new men on the Traffic Commission. These were Terry Cully, Bob Hudson, Wiley York, Morris Ramsey, Dale Thut and Bill Arrington. Cully will fill the unexpired, two-year term of Henry Gordon. The rest are three-year terms.

GM, Union In Breakthrough In Talks

DETROIT (UPI)—General Motors and the United Auto Workers Union today attempted to exploit the first major breakthrough in stalemated talks aimed at reaching a new contract.

Both company and union negotiators Monday reported the door was opened to an agreement by an "understanding of the issues" reached in meetings Monday and last Friday.

Ford appeared to be following in GM's footsteps but Chrysler Corp. negotiators continued to report little progress in their talks with the union. Both also were meeting with the union today.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther cancelled a "public jury" meeting, designed to explain the union's position in the talks to public officials from Michigan and Ohio, in order to attend negotiations with GM personally.

The company was represented by GM Vice President Louis G. Seaton, its top negotiator.

Both Reuther and Seaton refused to say whether their new optimism was caused by a specific new offer but both agreed there were "improved prospects of getting off dead center."

Dag Will Wind Up Talks

AMMAN (UPI)—U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold winds up his talks with Jordanian leaders today and files to Lebanon for the closing phase of his Middle Eastern peace mission.

Hammarskjold and Jordanian leaders are scheduled to issue a joint communique before he leaves for Beirut.

Hammarskjold returns to Cairo Wednesday for final talks with United Arab Republic President Gamal Abdel Nasser before returning to New York.

The U.N. chief presented to Jordan's King Hussein and other officials in Amman the peace conditions Nasser outlined on Hammarskjold's previous visit to Cairo, informed sources said.

Hammarskjold is seeking to obtain agreement on ways to put into effect a U.N.-approved Arab resolution to stabilize the Middle East with its dangerous rivalries and enable withdrawal of U.S. troops from Lebanon and of British troops from Jordan.

Unless Nasser's peace conditions include concrete guarantees for Jordan's independence, Jordan will not budget from its demand that British troops remain in the country as a protective measure.

It was understood Hammarskjold's mission would be considered a failure unless Jordan can feel safe with the guarantees given by Nasser, who is pressing for Anglo-American withdrawals.

Son Of Local Woman Dies In Plane Crash

Captain Russell Snow, son of Mrs. Lillian Snow, 423 Crest, died in an airplane crash at Fairchild Air Force Base, Spokane, Wash., yesterday at 6 p.m.

Survivors, besides his mother, are his wife, Kathy, and children, Russell and Carolyn, and also a sister, Mrs. Lillian Rosenfield of New York City.

Burial will be at the National Cemetery, San Antonio.

Peiping Says Forces Are 'Fully Prepared'

By AL KAFF
United Press International
TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI)—Communist artillery bombarded the Quemoy Islands today in defiance of an American decision to maintain its state of battle readiness in the Formosa Straits. Peiping said its land, sea and air forces had taken "full combat preparations."

The Soviet-built guns almost surrounding the Quemoy Islands blasted Big Quemoy, Tatz and Erhtan with 1,236 rounds while the Communist radio hurled new accusations at the United States and said it would repel and Nationalist or American attack on the mainland.

The bombardment was heavy but nothing like the record 53,000 shells poured on the Quemoy within a nine-hour period Monday. That bombardment continued sporadically through the night and into the morning hours. It resumed after a brief lull.

The U. S. Navy was sticking to its guns in spite of Chinese Communist and Russian threats but there was no new report today of American naval vessels conveying Nationalist supply vessels through the Communist blockade of the offshore islands.

Plane Gets Through
A nationalist Chinese air force plane did get through the blockade this morning and landed on an emergency strip on the Quemoy beach during the bombardment, with three American and two Chinese correspondents on board. A first attempt was thwarted when an air raid alert sounded and the plane put back to the Pescadore.

Nationalist military officials meanwhile expressed private but strong dissatisfaction at the American convoy system in operation in the Formosa Straits—especially the refusal thus far to fire at Communist attacks.

"We can try to sneak in at night without American escort and perhaps escape trouble," one officer said. "But with an American escort we sail in daytime in a pompous way and get shot up. It is ridiculous."

He was referring especially to Monday's action in which a Nationalist ammunition ship was blown up on the beach shortly after U. S. Navy vessels had conveyed it to the islands. The Red artillery did not fire on the American ships and the American ships did not fire on the Red gun positions on the Chinese mainland.

Broadcast Warnings
The Peiping radio broadcast new warnings to the United States today it was "playing with fire" and guilty of new provocations. It said use of Navy ships in the area violated Red China's sovereignty.

One Peiping broadcast said the Communists land, sea and air forces opposite Formosa had made "full combat preparations" for any attack.

GOP Has New Ammunition For Adams

By RAYMOND LAHR
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Gov. Edmund S. Muskie's election to the Senate from Maine gave fresh ammunition today to those Republicans urging that Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams be ousted from the White House.

The spectacular Democratic gains in that normally Republican state also indicated the Democrats would retain and enlarge their slender majorities in Congress when the other 47 states vote Nov. 4. The GOP has only eight weeks to come up with something to change the trend.

Muskie's defeat of Republican Sen. Frederick G. Payne was expected to revive the "Adams must go" cries which only recently subsided among Republicans running for office this year. Like Adams, Payne had admitted accepting favors from Bernard Goldfine, the New England businessman involved in the House committee's influence investigation.

There was no way of measuring the impact of the Goldfine issue on the Maine election. As a two-term governor elected as the first Democrat since the early years of the New Deal, Muskie was known to be a strong candidate even if that issue had never developed.

But the GOP knew the issue was not helping them because it damaged the integrity—in government issues which they had effectively used against Democrats. Maine Democrats let the issue ride on its own momentum and ignored it in their public speeches.

Muskie's victory alone virtually killed Republican hopes for regaining control of the Senate. These hopes depended largely on unseating Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.) and holding on to the 21 GOP seats at stake this year. Now they must beat Proxmire and at least one other of six non-southern Democrats, who were (See GOP, Page 3)

Local Red Cross Board In Review Of Swimming Program

The Water Safety program of the summer was reviewed this morning at the Pampa Red Cross Board meeting, with Water Safety Chairman James Hart the main speaker. Most impressive of the facts and figures cited was the fact that Red Cross trained youths saved two lives in this vicinity during the summer.

Meeting for 7 a.m. breakfast in Johnson's Cafe, the Board elected Foy Barrett to fill the term of vice chairman left by Johnny Campbell, gone to Austin. At the next Board meeting Oct. 14, Elmer Wood, representative for Services from the Midwestern office in St. Louis, Mo., will be present.

Hart cited Mary Ann Kelly and Harry Hoyle—III of Pampa for their quick use of training that averted possible drownings. Miss Kelly, while serving as a lifeguard at the Episcopal Conference Center near Amarillo rescued young Cynthia Klotz, bringing her back to consciousness through artificial respiration.

Hoyle was on the spot in a boating mishap that occurred near the Duncan Street Bridge. When Michael Luther, 5, lost control of his toy boat during a heavy storm, and went under, Hoyle plunged into the raging water after him and dragged him to dry land.

Both Miss Kelly and Hoyle have been recommended for Red Cross awards of merit. If Hoyle's comes through, he will be the youngest person ever to receive such a reward.

Before showing this summer's water safety film, Hart gave a statistical rundown of the season, including the Lefors and Marcus Sanders Pools. The courses involved 853 pupils, 50 instructors and 48 aides. A hundred and 43 beginners, 58 intermediates, 10 swimmers, 21 junior lifesavers, 12 senior life savers and 36 adults were certified. Forty-two were certified from the Country Club Pool, 15 from Lefors and seven from Marcus Sanders.

Gene Chance spoke briefly on his work at the Country Club Pool, which began with five year olds.

Other instructors in the Chapter were Lela Pearl Beckham, Virginia Potter, Mary Hills, Jean Jones, Marion George, Marion Fugate, Marion Osborne, Vickie Osborne, Frances Hofstess, Buddy Moore, Yorel Harris, Betty Jackson, James Diehl, Tommy Strawn, Marietta Baird, Marilyn McClure, Martha Skelly, Martha Montgomery and James Darby, making 19 in all.

In conclusion Hart showed the color film that depicts a small part of the 1958 Water Safety program.

Daniel To Keynote Demo's Convention

By LLOYD IARRABEE
United Press International
SAN ANTONIO (UPI)—Gov. Pete Daniel, holding fast to a no-compromise stand against Sen. Ralph Yarborough and liberal foes, delivers the keynote address before the state Democratic convention today.

Veteran political observers said it was the first time they could recall the governor delivering the keynote address himself.

The governor's speech was scheduled after what was expected to provide the first test of his convention control—a battle for the temporary chairmanship between Daniel's choice, Rep. Frank Icard, of Wichita Falls, and Corcoran Dist. Judge Jim Sewell, supported by Yarborough.

"It is always customary for a governor to make recommendations. It is not customary for a governor to look for a compromise," Daniel said Monday in recommending Icard for the key convention post in a speech before the state Democratic Executive Committee (SDEC) which overwhelmingly approved the choice.

Battle lines also were drawn for a possible showdown on the liberal demands that Daniel accept.

Yarborough complicated the temporary chairmanship picture Monday, some four hours after Daniel's recommendation of Icard, by suggesting Speaker Sam Rayburn as the convention gavel-wielder.

"While I think Judge Jim Sewell is one of the greatest Democrats in this state, since he is opposed by the governor, I still think Speaker Sam Rayburn is the one great Democrat all Democrats can support," Yarborough said.

Yarborough also revealed he had previously asked Rayburn to run as "the one great Democrat... who could bring harmony, unity and good will to the Democratic one great Democrat all Democrats can support," Yarborough said.

Opposing Views On New Constitution Of French

By PIERRE MENDES-FRANCE
Former French Premier
Written for UPI

PARIS (UPI)—Political predictions are difficult mainly because you need to resist the temptation of opportunism when you make them.

There is always a strong temptation to let yourself believe that some very trivial event corresponds to a profound, irresistible current of history.

But little intellectual merit was needed two years ago to predict the failure towards which a certain group of republican leaders were heading. This group had just emerged strongly from an election.

However, it was sacrificing its principles and its good name under the pressure of the Algerian "ultras" (rightwing extremists).

De Gaulle the Patriot

The men who were making this mistake were led into the most reactionary policies as a result. The fact could only be covered up by hypocritical slogans.

In this way they set up conditions for military "manifestoes," and under these threats the constitutional revision is being carried out today.

When anyone mentions Gen. De Gaulle's name, a great part of unstained patriotic duty rises unescapably before the mind.

How preferable it would be to avoid seeing a final page added to the story of this life which would make it end badly.

However, there is one basic flaw which condemns his whole enterprise. What is it?

Above all, it is the absence of a democratic foundation for the new constitution. There is nothing shocking in the perhaps temporary endorsement of the Algerian junta's decision to plunge even deeper into a war known to be disastrous and counter to the free will of the French people.

Dissolution of Democracy

There is nothing unlawful about referendum methods which, to be doubly sure, will add the vote of Algerians who have been "conditioned" by well-known methods of persuasion; or the vote of the citizens of overseas territories who have been asked to approve institutions of the republic to which they do not belong in exchange for a chance to separate themselves from it. The Fourth Republic has shown how fraud corrupts democratic procedure of election. It remains for the referendum to undergo a worse distortion. But of course dishonesty exists only in comparison to democratic convictions.

Anything can be done by an authority which does not recognize this law. The only difficulty is to know on what principle such authority is based.

The draft constitution answers this by adopting old formulas, whose aim was to try partly to dissolve the force of democracy by an indirect vote, and to balance it out by the vote of dignitaries and by monarchy as well.

Constitution "Went Last Long"

The principle of dynasty has been abandoned in France. But the idea of monarchy still survives, in favor of a temporary or life-long grant of power to a man who represents "order" and "authority" against the popular will.

Whether it is King Louis Philippe, Napoleon III, MacMahon or Poincaré, there is always a man whose prestige can be exploited to attempt the operation. Reactionaries lack ideas, and they use old precepts.

But this new constitution, unless it is still-born, will not last very long.

Democracy may have been suppressed 30 times in France. It has always regained its strength.

Today, as events move faster, any structure built without it or against it, is constructed of fleeting illusions.

By GEORGES BIDAULT
Former French Premier and Foreign Minister
Written for UPI

PARIS (UPI)—The good or bad fortune of a nation depends on the way the constitution is made to work, and the respect it inspires.

Between the setting up of the 1946 constitution and the events of last May, the French nation passed harsher and harsher judgments on each of these three factors. Finally it lost all its sense of attachment to the constitution and became hopelessly hostile towards it.

To tell the truth, the 1946 constitution was neither better nor worse in 1958 than on the day it became the law of the land.

The gravity of the situation sprang from the incurable paralysis of the constitutional clauses which were meant to reinforce central authority.

The clauses which led to instability worked perfectly.

This is the situation which brought first indifference, then general dissatisfaction about institutions which were not badly constructed, but badly employed.

No Respect for Government

Then came the hour of truth and the dramatic events, which could have been foreseen, but were not. Many people here and abroad were puzzled to see that the regime had no defenders, but that did not seem to be the direct cause of the trouble.

The reason is that legal texts are not respected unless their use inspires respect.

In fact, we saw a parliament which was playing nine-pins with its governments.

Overseas, especially in Algeria, a new period of shrinking threatened the territories over which the flag of France still flies.

This convinced more and more Frenchmen that Paris itself and the weakness of the central power were causing the greatest French defeats.

It is thus that Gen. de Gaulle came back, anticipating a great disaster and without raising a finger, taking by force the authority which he had cast aside without a glance behind him. He returned to power only because he felt duty-bound to do so when the country was in danger.

Moderate Changes Proposed

The constitution he proposes today to the voters of France was attacked even before it was written.

It is significant that the objections raised against the final text are the same ones which were raised when nobody knew what the text would be like. The dog was labelled "mad" before it was born.

The solutions which Gen. de Gaulle proposes today should impress his fair-minded opponents by their moderation.

Nobody with a memory can forget that when Gen. de Gaulle took power in June, he was well-placed to do just exactly what he liked.

If he did not do certain things, it is because he did not want to do them.

It can even be said he did not act the way he was expected to by certain people who had jaunted his name and prepared his returned. By his conduct he deliberately chose not to make concessions to his friends. He preferred to go against the current of opinion, but preserve national unity.

If West had opened his partner's suit South would have quickly gathered in 10 tricks, but West decided to open his fourth best heart.

This was the same thing as money from home. East went up with the ace and returned the suit, whereupon the defense had five tricks to their credit before declarer got in.

North and South complained about their bad luck. West had a struck oil with his blind lead, but as is frequently the case with bad luck at bridge, North and South could have avoided it.

South did not have to bid three no-trump over his partner's three clubs. He could merely have bid three hearts. This would not have been a slam try (after all, South had merely overcalled). Instead it would invite North to bid three no-trump if he could handle the unbid suits. North would have

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The first election test of the damage Bernard Goldfine may have done to Republican candidates in this campaign year takes place today in Maine's traditional jump-the-gun voting for state and federal officials.

This is not a very good test. It is the best, however, which can be had before the Nov. 4 general election in 47 other states. This test is important beyond its real significance because it may set in motion forces which will oust Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams from the White House.

The principal offices up for decision today in Maine are: governor, one U.S. Senate seat, three seats in the House. Goldfine figures in the senatorial contest. The opposing candidates are Edmund Muskie, a Democrat, now completing a second term as governor, and first term Sen. Frederick G. Payne, a Republican.

After the House hearings revealed Goldfine's generosity to Adams, Payne voluntarily told of his own indebtedness to the textile manufacturer. Payne got a vicuna coat, availed himself of hotel accommodations and Goldfine's expense and accepted a 3,500 interest free loan toward the purchase of a home here in Washington.

Muskie Effective Vote-Getter

Democrats are not raising the Goldfine issue against Payne in their formal campaigns, but it is a matter of general knowledge and general conversation in the state. Payne has been hit frequently, however, with questions about his Goldfine connections as he has appeared before Republican audiences during the campaign of this year.

The significance of all this is blurred by the fact that Muskie is an astonishingly effective vote-getter in Republican Maine and seems to have been a satisfactory governor. With or without the Goldfine issue, the odds would favor Muskie in today's election.

His election, nevertheless, would alarm many of most Republican candidates in other states who come up for judgment in November. Politicians, especially good ones, always run scared and this is especially true this year of Republican politicians, good or bad. What used to be the Grand Old Party is likely to take a bad licking this year. Republican candidates are aware of that fact. They have cited it with vigor in urging that they not be saddled with additional and unnecessary weight this year, such as the issue of Sherman Adams' continued presence in the White House when the voters go to the polls.

Lebanon Took Attention

There was a storm of Republican protest during the House hearings, the candidates insisting that Adams must go. President Eisenhower replied simply that he could not spare Adams. "I need him," some others counseled that the Adams-Goldfine issue be permitted to cool before the President's No. 1 man departed. Barring Eisenhower himself, no Republican party leader is on public record that Adams could or should stay.

The landing of U.S. armed forces in Lebanon shifted public attention from Adams. The Maine issue faded July 15-16. The Adams-Goldfine issue has cooled considerably since then. The political climate in which Adams now could retire with a maximum of dignity and a minimum of temporary embarrassment to Eisenhower has been achieved.

Payne's Goldfine associations, however, are re-directing public attention to Adams. The Maine election reminds other Republican candidates of their own campaign problems. Re-election of Payne would ease the pressure for Adams' departure. Muskie's election would turn on the heat.

As Maine goes, so may go Sherman Adams.

Douglass To Practice Law Here

Back from a hitch in the Air Force, Malcolm Douglass, a graduate of the University of Texas Law School, is going into practice with his father, Attorney Curtis Douglass.

Young Douglass served in the Judge Advocate General's Department while in the Air Force. Following his graduation from UT, he had the post of assistant attorney in Austin. His pre-law work he did at Texas A&M College, College Station.

He is married and has two little girls. His new home in Pampa, is now building on Terry Road.

In Pampa High School, Douglass played on Coach Clifton McNeely's first basketball team. He also has played in the City Golf Tournament.

Two Cases In County Court

Belmar Ryan Jr., 435 Elm, was found not guilty in County Court yesterday, on charges of unlawfully carrying a pistol. On the same afternoon, S. L. McClelland, 857 E. Locust, was found guilty of swindling with a worthless check.

Ryan had entered a plea of not guilty and was found innocent of carrying a pistol. McClelland entered a plea of guilty to SWC charges and was assessed a $5 fine and costs and was to make restitution to the check.

The check in the amount of $5 was passed July 14 at the Rex Rose Motor Company.

FCC Seeks Details On Kefauver

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Federal Communications Commission today sought details of alleged behind-the-scenes efforts by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) in the disputed Miami TV Channel 10 case.

An FCC investigation headed by former Pennsylvania Supreme Court Justice Horace Stern summoned Ben. H. Fuqua, vice president of Florida Power & Light Co., for questioning.

He was the second witness in the court-ordered investigation into whether backstage wire-pulling was involved in award of Channel 10. Disclosures at a previous House investigation resulted in the sudden resignation of FCC Commissioner Richard A. Mack.

The FCC sought to learn whether Fuqua, a long-time friend of Mack's, was sent to talk to Mack at the request of McGregor Smith, chairman of the board of the power and light company.

Smith acted after he was approached by Kefauver about Col. Frank A. Katzentine's then-pending application for the channel.

Fuqua testified before the House influence-investigating subcommittee last spring that he only urged Mack to vote on the "merits" of the case.

Check Your Girl's Age By Teeth

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI)—Want to be sure your girl isn't lying about her age? Look at her teeth.

Criminal Court Judge L. A. Grayson recommended this method of Monday during the trial of Vernon Alfred, 36, a truck driver.

Alfred had been charged with contributing to the delinquency of a 15-year-old girl. He explained to the judge that he thought the girl a nurses' aide, was older.

"Didn't you look at her teeth?" the judge inquired. "You can tell her age from her teeth, like a horse."

Alfred drew 90 days in jail.

Charges Of Murder To Be Filed

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (UPI)—Authorities said they would file first degree murder charges today against a mild mannered young cement plant carpenter who confessed the mutilation slaying of a pretty secretary he kidnaped from a lovers' lane near here Sunday.

Floyd J. Robertson, 24, the father of three young children, led authorities to the nearly nude body of the stenographer, Marjorie Schneider, 18, about 33 miles northwest of here Monday.

The body, clad only in a bra, sweater and blouse, was buried in a shallow grave beneath logs and rocks more than 600 feet up the side of an incline overlooking state Highway 14. Nearby was a camp, located on Cacaha la Poudre River in Roosevelt National Park.

"I don't know why I did it," Robertson sobbed when officers uncovered the body.

Dr. Robert J. Schmidt, Larimer County coroner, performed a two-hour autopsy Monday night and said the girl died from "three bullet wounds in the head."

11 Cases Set For Trial Here

Eleven cases are set for trial before jury Sept. 23 in County Court. The docket was called yesterday and is as follows.

1. State v. Alfred William Polard — Driving While Intoxicated
2. State v. Leonard David Blanton — Driving While License Suspended.
3. State v. Casper Fredrick Thompson — DWI
4. State v. Lovie Carter, Jr. — Aggravated Assault
5. State v. Millard Filmore Brewer — DWI
6. State v. Milton R. Smith — DWI
7. State v. Cecil W. Adams — DWI
8. State v. Marvin McKinley Arnold — Unlawfully Carrying Arms
9. State v. Jimmie Lee Christian — DWI
10. State v. Jim Boyd Rose — Aggravated Assault with Motor Vehicle
11. State v. Arly McPherson — DWI

There was evidence of sexual relations before the girl's death," the coroner said.

Judge Takes Case Under Advisement

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (UPI)—A Federal judge today took under advisement the case of an Indiana farmer whose two tractors were seized by the government because he grew too much wheat.

An attorney for farmer Ethan Stangland argued Monday that the federal seizure of two tractors was "unreasonable and vindictive."

Stangland was assessed a $394.24 penalty for growing 30 acres of wheat instead of 14. He refused to pay.

Simon said the government has only the right to place a lien on the wheat under the Agricultural Adjustment Act. The case is considered a test of numerous similar cases pending throughout the country.

U.S. Atty. Charles R. Le Master argued that a U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals decision in the case gave the government the right to take whatever it thought would satisfy the judgment.

Le Master said the attachment of Stangland's tractors was "reasonable" because federal appraisal placed their total value at $720 and usually only two thirds of the appraisal value was received at marshal's sales. That would be about $615 and close to the penalty plus interest.

About 80 spectators, mostly farmers, were in the courtroom for the hearing.

Tunisia Joins Arab League

TUNIS (UPI)—Tunisia formally decided Monday night to join the Arab League.

A Tunisian cabinet meeting under President Habib Bourguiba, took the decision. Tunisia thus lined up with its North African neighbor, Morocco, which has already announced it will join the league.

Ex-Champ Max Baer Is A Poor Man's Oscar Levant

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Ex-

heavyweight champ Max Baer has become a poor man's Oscar Levant, starring in a local television show in which he spars verbally with big and little shots in show biz and politics.

When names fail him, Max simply calls his guest "champ." Thus far he's played host to one legitimate champ, Jack Dempsey. Other visitors have been singers Billy Daniels and Kitty White, actress Marie Windsor, Caesar Romero and Gov. Goodwin Knight.

During lunch in a restaurant near the KJH-TV studios, Baer was greeted by several famous celebrities. "God love ya, champ," he'd call out, then frown and ask, "Who was that?"

Proud of Record

Max is proud of his ring record, 8 losses in 126 fights. "I was lucky," he said. "I was strong and could take a good punch to the head. 'Me, punchy? I'll tell you this, I walk around carefully so I won't bump my head. If I ever knock myself conscious I'll starve to death.'"

Unlike many an ex-pug, Max is wealthy financially. On his 50th birthday next February his insurance policies begin paying off to the tune of $2,500 a month.

"I used to scream like a squire when my manager Ancil Hoffman took my money away from me," the big guy laughed. "After the Schmeling fight I only collected $100. Ancil was putting the dough away in them policies. Now I'm set for life."

Baer lurched out of his chair to wrap his arms around Marilyn Maxwell who was passing by. He planted a rubbery kiss on her cheek and bellowed, "God love ya, honey. Ya look great." Marilyn escaped while Max explained that he could get away with kissing pretty girls because they all thought of him as "Papa Baer," lovable but harmless.

Not Nervous on TV
Max examined his manicured nails and confessed that he was not nervous about being a television star.

"I look at the people on my show and figure that I'm doing a lot better in their business than they could do in the ring," he grinned. "Another thing, everybody calls me 'champ,' and that makes me feel good."

"Sometimes I think they say 'champ' because they can't remember my name. That's better than..." Baer interrupted himself to wave to Edgar Bergen, "God bless ya, champ," he bellowed.

Grain Storage Space Pinch Is Expected

United Press International

The Agriculture Department's grain storage industry advisory committee has called to a meeting at USDA headquarters in Washington Thursday.

The spokesmen for the private grain storage industry will be told that the nation is going to face another pinch for storage space next year and will be advised to begin planning to enlarge commercial elevators and other storage facilities.

Agriculture Department officials said a similar notice last year brought an expansion in private storage operations and as a result the government didn't have to buy any grain bins this year.

Agriculture Department marketing specialists have reported that cotton consumption in most of America's major overseas markets held up strongly this year.

Exports in the marketing year which ended Aug. 1 were down, because most foreign countries had rebuilt their stocks in the previous year. But while exports were down 16 per cent, cotton consumption in America's major customer nations was down only three per cent.

OUTWARD TO THE STARS (14)—Men in Orbit

By Don Oakley and Ralph Lane

(1) The man-carrying rocket has now been lifted beyond the atmosphere. First stage has dropped away and is parachuting into the ocean. With power of second stage exhausted, rocket coasts to height of several hundred miles. At precise moment when it is parallel to Earth's surface, automatic controls ignite third stage and explosive bolts blast it loose from second stage. This second stage shown here is not designed to be recoverable, but will disintegrate from friction or crash into the sea.

More advanced rockets may have all three stages piloted, each a self-contained glider to be flown back to Earth.

(2) Because first stage reached a lower speed and altitude, it probably can be recovered for reuse. When it separated from the assembly, strong, heat-resistant metal mesh parachutes were ejected to slow its fall to the surface of the ocean. With fuel tanks empty, the rocket is buoyant. Its radio transmitter aids picket ships in retrieving it.

(3) Attaining orbital velocity, rockets of the manned section are cut off as the vehicle—now a satellite—begins its silent revolutions about the Earth. It is constantly falling, but Earth's surface curves away from it as it falls. The satellite's centrifugal force just balances the pull of gravity. Severely buffeted by three periods of intense acceleration—first stage, coast; second stage, coast; third stage, coast—the spacemen are now experiencing the phenomenon of weightlessness over a long period of time.

Although they will be wearing spacesuits, the first human "orbiters" probably will not leave the protection of their cabin. They will complete only a few revolutions around the Earth, as instruments record radiation intensity and their body reactions. They will then begin the difficult job of descending from orbit.

But eventually, men will not be able to resist the challenge of emerging from their ship as shown above and becoming, in effect, separate satellites themselves as they float in space. Not until then will man truly be in space.

Next: Return to Earth.

CHINA'S ENVOY—George K. C. Yeh, has been named Nationalist China's ambassador to the United States. Foreign minister for the past nine years, he is noted for his dogged fight to keep China's high seat in the United Nations.

Ezio Pinza was born in Rome, Italy, in 1892.

Automatic transmissions, a novelty in 1946, are found on nearly 75 per cent of 1956 automobiles.

The average London commuter travels 1,939 miles on 479 trains every year.

Average weight of the skin of an adult person is six pounds.

GRAPES OF WRATH—Despite the bombardment of Nationalist China's offshore islands by Communist forces, defiance of the Reds continues. Here, on Kinmen island, is seen a Nationalist balloon device looking like bunches of huge grapes. It bears a Nationalist flag and will carry containers of anti-Communist leaflets and slogans to be released over the mainland.

AVING A BALL—Baseball has an avid fan in the person of Cpl. Ronald Schofield of Lancaster, Pa., who holds a baseball on the beach at Beirut, Lebanon. Schofield discovered three baseballs in a box while unloading equipment during the landing of the second detachment of Marines.

LAND-LOCKED SAILOR—Gustav Pedersen, 13, of Long Island City grimaces as he shoves his sail boat out into the pond in New York's Central Park. Gustav won second place in the pond regatta earlier in the year and he was practicing to take first place the next time out.

BULL'S EYEFUL—Elizabeth Bilboa, a 20-year-old bullfighter, relaxes under a giant sombrero in Toronto, Canada. She and three male Mexican matadors were in Canada to demonstrate their skills at the Lindsay, Ontario, fair. Elizabeth brought the sword along just for show, since the bulls were not killed in the demonstration.

RESERVED SEAT—Warren Scarfe gets treated like a baby by Australian team manager Ron O'Donnell as the Empire Games in Cardiff, Wales. That's no diaper being pinned on the Australian cyclist, but his racing number for the 1,000 meter bicycle sprint. O'Donnell better be careful with those pins or he'll have Scarfe taking off without his bike.

STRONG SHOWING—These youngsters in Detroit put plenty of energy into their work during a mass exercise. They were part of more than 1,000 children who participated in a day-long program to climax a series of planned summertime activities which followed the basic program of President Eisenhower's Council on Youth Fitness.

AROUND THE WORLD

IN WITH A RUN—Umpire John Marino gives the safe sign as Manchester, N. H., second baseman Robert Dutton (9) scores on a passed ball during a game with South Utica, N. Y., in the Little League Eastern Regional Finals at Staten Island, N. Y. Utica won, 5-1.

UNDERWATER BRIDGE—There's a lot of water over the bridge played by this foursome at Miami Beach, Fla. With American Contract Bridge League Champions in town for their tournament, card fever hit these divers, who are using king-size cards.

SEA FUN—As the water swirls around his legs, five-year-old Ted Fitzgerald takes his stand as he prepares to do battle with an on-rushing wave. The youngster was standing up to the rolling waves at Chappaquitt Beach, which is near Cape Cod, Mass. What better way could be found to spend a day?

GETTING IT FROM BOTH SIDES—Learning the perils of leading with his right, Mike Zwerner, 6, gets his face pushed in by his own glove as well as his opponent's in the annual Junior Boxing Tournament held by the Miami Beach Recreation Department. Mike stayed on his feet but lost decision.

COOLING-OFF PERIOD—Australian tennis star Mal Anderson threatens to toss his wife, Daphne, into the pool during some horseplay at South Orange, N. J., after he won and she lost in the opening round play at the Eastern Grass Court Championships. Looking on in amusement is England's Christine Truman, who won her opening round match.

RUNNING STORY—Reporter Hal Knight interviews three marathon runners the hard way as they warm up for the 157.7 mile race at Salt Lake City. From left: Edo Ramagnoli, 37, of New York; Knight; Roy McMurtry, 62, of Arizona; and Paul "Hardrock" Simpson, 52, of North Carolina. The race starts in Salt Lake City and ends in Roosevelt, Utah.

HOOK, LINE AND TINKLER—A new angle on angling lets Ben Evenaff take it easy as he fishes with two rods in Detroit. His fishing poles are equipped with bells which ring whenever he gets a bite. Evenaff then pulls in his catch, casts his line back into the water, and goes back to his reading.

REHABILITATION (upper left) Like Roy Campanella, this young girl was paralyzed in a car accident. To keep her spine in alignment and still permit her to be turned, she was kept on a Stryker frame for six weeks. (Upper right) Pushups build the muscles that will carry this small boy for the rest of his life. He was paralyzed from the waist down in a car accident. (Lower left) Hand splints help an injured industrial worker re-train muscles damaged when an airplane's bomb doors closed on him. (Lower right) This mother of four who suffered memory loss due to brain damage, is learning to read and write again under the guidance of a speech therapist.

day she talks, reads and writes and enjoys her children again. Her story, she would tell you, is the story of rehabilitation. A two-year-old boy's back was broken in an automobile accident. The spinal cord which carries messages from the brain to the lower half of his body was cut in half, leaving him with no normal feeling in his body below his waist. There was a time when he would have faced a life spent in bed, unable to care for himself. Today this youngster has been taught not only to use a wheelchair, but to walk with the aid of crutches and braces. He can take care of himself and will be able to earn a living. His story, his parents will tell you, is the story of rehabilitation. Although the treatments and accomplishments of these two individuals were different, rehabilitation has meant the same thing to both of them. It has meant for them not just life, but a life worth living. Both of them have built a new life by making the most of what they had left. The mother used undamaged brain tissue to relearn what had been blotted out. The boy uses his strong arm muscles to support him as he walks again. And yet, rehabilitation is not just a physical thing. More than crutches are needed to walk if you don't know where your feet are. You have to have courage and a belief in your ability to overcome the handicap. To accomplish both physical and emotional rehabilitation requires the coordinated effort of a large, highly trained team of specialists. According to Time Magazine, only a few places have the team and equipment to carry out this total rehabilitation program. One is the Institute of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation in New York where Roy Campanella is fighting back from paralysis incurred in a car crash. Another is the Texas Rehabilitation Center, the largest and most comprehensive in the Southwest. Begun as a polio center, this nonprofit, non-sectarian hospital has been supported through the dime and dollar Texans have contributed. Here both adults and children are assured complete comprehensive rehabilitation care, regardless of their ability to pay. Today, more than 4,500 can tell their own stories of rehabilitation at Warm Springs.

OUT OF THE PAST—These rare pictures show two events whose 50th anniversary is celebrated by the U.S. Army and Air Force at Ft. Myer, Va. Top picture shows Orville Wright, in a Wright Type A plane making the first flight at a military installation on Sept. 9, 1908. Commemorated also is the first military plane crash (bottom photo), in which Lt. Thomas E. Selfridge died, on Sept. 17, 1908. The same plane is shown wrecked. Orville Wright has been removed from the wreckage and rescuers try to free Lieutenant Selfridge from the debris.

Only three states of the Union showed gains of more than a million at the 1950 census: California, New York and Ohio. The practice of giving girls names to hurricanes originated in 1953.

ALLERGIES CORRECTED AT HOME

The world is full of unhappy people who have given up good jobs, friends, and their homes, to move away in search of a climate that would be easier on their hayfever or asthma.

It's amazing that people would give up so many things they hold dear to their hearts without first trying all available curative methods. You should try all three licensed branches of the Healing Arts.

Chiropractic is next to the largest and growing rapidly against the restrictions of monopoly and the darkness of prejudice. To keep growing in spite of such an unfavorable atmosphere is quite a chore, and is ample testimony that this new licensed branch of the Healing Arts performs a worthwhile health service. Don't go running off to the ends of the earth looking for health. Health may await you at your nearest Chiropractor's office.

A family uprooted itself and left a wonderful farm because the husband and father had tried one branch of the Healing Arts and failed to regain his health. They came to Pampa where an old friend had come ahead of them, guided them to the Miller Chiropractic Clinic. The whole family is regaining its health and are looking into the future full of hope and happiness. They could have found health in their own town, if they had only investigated a different branch of the Healing Arts.

A young husband, twenty-six years old, suffered most of his years with hay fever, dizzy spells, headaches, and frequent colds. He had been under the care of doctors in one branch of the Healing Arts for twenty-six years, and they finally told him he might find a better climate elsewhere. After talking it over with old friends he decided to make a change in doctors and investigate a different, though licensed and recognized, branch of the Healing Arts.

His friends brought him to the Miller Chiropractic Clinic for a spinal analysis and spinal X-Ray examination. We located nerve interferences and misalignment that he could have done when he was thrown from a horse years before.

Adjustments to remove the cause brought about a gradual return to normal health.

Allergies must have a cause just like everything else. Our specialty is to find and remove the cause.

This man kept his job, his home, and his good friends, and found health had been here waiting for him to accept it all the time.

These results are common to our profession, but we wouldn't impose them upon you against your will. We think compulsion creates an un-American monopoly. You should be free to choose any licensed branch of the Healing Arts that can keep you well.

Investigate! You have nothing to lose except bad health.

Cadillac

Even More Wonderful in Fact than Fame!

If you number just one Cadillac owner among your acquaintances, then we would wager that you've heard the wonderful Cadillac story for 1958.

In all probability you've been told of its brilliant performance . . . and of its marvelous Fleetwood luxury . . . and of its great practicality.

And perhaps you've wondered if any motor car could embody so many virtues—in such abundant measure—in a single year.

Well, what an eloquent answer the magnificent new Cadillac could give to that conjecture!

In fact, a single hour at its wheel would tell you, beyond any doubt, that this "car of cars" is even more wonderful in fact than in fame!

Surely, there is no adequate way to describe the way a new Cadillac rides and handles—so smooth and quiet and effortless that even the longest journey is an occasion for rest and relaxation.

And certainly, only the experience itself can reveal the pleasure of commanding a motor car that is so respected by the world's motorists.

Those discoveries are reserved for the man who takes the wheel for himself. And if you have not already done so, then you should delay no longer.

Your Cadillac dealer will be happy to acquaint you with all the facts about the many Cadillac models, including the distinguished Eldorado Brougham.
