Tense Dallasites Still Hunting Rapist-Killer

DALLAS, Oct. 3 (AP)—A helicopter equipped with powerful searchlights was brought in tonight for possible emergency use in the search for the phantom rapist-killer of a pretty dime store clerk.

For the third night, augmented police patrolled a city tense and jittery from a series of sex attacks. Self-appointed vigilantes formed neighborhood protective groups. Police warned against use of firearms in unfamiliar hands.

Police Chief Carl Hansson requested the helicopter from the nearby Bell Aircraft Plant. "We won't use it unless we have a prowler who has escaped into an open area where there are no homes," said Hansson.

Police sought a Dallas Negro who fled from a state hospital's criminal ward at Rusk, Tex., only four days before Mrs. H.C. Parker, 29, was raped and slain Wednesday night. She staggered onto a street near Love Field, the municipal airport, and died in police officers' arms from a stab wound in the throat after gasping that she had been stabbed by a Negro. The Negro who escaped from the state hospital Aug. 30 raped and maimed a Negro woman here in 1948, was adjudged sane at the time of the crime but insane when brought to trial. The sheriff at Rusk, Frank Brunt, told Dallas authorities the man may have come back here and may be responsible for recent sex crimes.

Scores of suspects have been questioned since Mrs. Parker's death.

Her death climaxed a series of attacks on white women in Dallas in recent months.

Thirty suspects remained in jail, but police indicated no big break was in the immediate offing.

Meanwhile, a reward fund increased to more than $8,000. Business firms and individuals, including Negro residents, were contributors.

Some excitement was generated early today when police took charge of a white youth on a bridge under which Mrs. Parker was attacked.

He had slumped into unconsciousness after muttering: "Oh, the body, the body, the body."

He was sent in an ambulance to a hospital and later taken to the city jail.

Of slight build and blue-eyed, the 23-year-old youth told officers he was an ex-Marine knife-fighting instructor, now employed at a Dallas airplane plant.

Officers questioned him closely, but emphasized the strong possibility that the man was in a mentally unbalanced state and might have been trying to attract attention.

At the hospital in the presence of a newsmen, officers asked the youth:

"What were you doing down there?"

"A man was down there," he replied. "I think he may be the one doing all this trouble. He was big—awful big."

"This business is a dirty, rotten mess," he said when asked why he was prowling around the area. "It scares me. I've got two sisters."

Two women told Police Sgt. Stavits Ellis the youth, who played in a dance band at night, offered to take them home from a night spot when it closed.

Instead they drove to Love Field. They quoted the youth as saying he wanted to show them where two rapes had been committed.

They said the man stopped the car near the scene of the Parker crime, jumped out and yelled excitedly for the women to go for help. The women drove to a nearby filling station and police were summoned.

Officers said the youth collapsed as he ran across the bridge as they approached.

Although Mrs. Parker said a Negro attacked her, police said they were checking all possibilities in the brutal slaying.

"This is a case where you can't

HUSBAND CHARGED

14-Year-Old Bride Is Shot To Death

A 14-year-old bride of 15 days was shot and killed on the back seat of a speeding automobile traveling west on Highway 80 between Coahoma and Big Spring about 9 p.m. Friday night, and her 20-year-old husband has been charged with murder.

The husband, Randall Leon Hendrix of Sweetwater, told investigators officers the shooting was an accident.

District Attorney E. Ron Gilliland said the murder charge had been filed "pending a further investigation."

According to the husband, he and his child bride were riding on the back seat of a 1946 Cadillac driven by Junior Coleman Lawhon, also of Sweetwater. Lawhon's 18-year-old bride of two months was on the front seat with him. In statements given Gilliland and County Attorney Hartman Hooser they supported the statement made by Hendrix.

The accused man told officers the gun, which he admitted stealing in a burglary at Abilene Thursday night, was accidentally discharged while he had it in his hand. As soon as he realized his wife had been shot, he said, he told Lawhon to drive as quickly as possible to a hospital. He said they stopped at a filling station as they entered Big Spring to inquire about directions to a hospital and immediately took the injured woman to the Medical Arts where she was found to be dead on arrival.

The bullet entered her left chest and lodged in the upper lobe of the lung from which it was recovered by Chief of Police E. W. York.

The Nalley Funeral Home prepared the body for removal to Sweetwater. She and her husband were married in Juarez.

The pistol with which the woman was killed, and two others, were recovered by Chief York.

Gilliland said custody of Hendrix and Mr. and Mrs. Lawhon will be surrendered to Abilene officers where theft charges are pending against the trio.

Stanton Plans Special Events

STANTON, (SC)—At their regular meeting at the Belyue Hotel on Thursday, the directors of the Martin County Chamber of Commerce completed arrangements for the observance of Cotton Appreciation Day here Monday, and discussed other matters.

Plans were made for a larger Junior Livestock Show to be held here Jan. 22-25, and arrangements may be made for the show-sale program to include a barbecue dinner. It was announced by Cecil Bridges, president.

County Agent Ray Hastings asked the support of the directors in making a further investigation into the matter of encouraging the establishment of more "hens-in-cages" egg-production plants in Martin County. Hastings told the directors he would like to have a group join him in a tour of such plants already in production in Howard County.

Mrs. Ella Weathers, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, reported that material is being gathered which will be included in an industrial directory of Stanton and Martin County, which will be published in mimeographed form and given wide distribution throughout the county.

Stassen Will Be Called On Carpet

By JACK BELL
 WASHINGTON, Oct. 3 (AP)—Chairman Bridges (R-NH) said today the Senate Appropriations Committee plans to call Harold E. Stassen to explain what it says may have been "capricious" firings in the Foreign Operations Administration.

Stassen, who heads the agency, has been engaged in an overturn of personnel which so angered some employees that they hung crepe on FOA filing cases and said they were being "Stassinated."

As chairman of the committee which will have to pass on FOA personnel funds in the next session of Congress, Bridges said in a statement that his group wants to look into "complaints alleging that inept handling of the dismissals had worked inequities on personnel and had impaired the efficiency of the organization."

"The committee has received reports which indicate, if true, that in some cases the dismissals were administered in a capricious fashion," Bridges said.

Democrats have complained about what they called indiscriminate firings of career employees in what are designated as "reduction in force" orders. But Bridges said the first Republican to speak up. Before he ordered dismissals, Stassen arranged for FOA employees to take an aptitude test, although he said grades on the test would not determine whether they were retained.

Bridges noted that Congress gave Stassen broad authority to "disregard the normal civil service procedure in order to effect a reduction of personnel so that a more streamlined and workable organization would result."

A spokesman for FOA said the reduction in staff was required by Congress in three different ways: a percentage personnel reduction, a cut in funds, and a one-third slash in the number of officials earning more than $12,000 a year.

"The Congress provided that the director would make a determination as to which employees should

More Progress Reports Slated For UF Drive

Advance Gifts and the Employee Division, which are expected to provide bulk of the $74,000 budget of the Howard County United Fund, both are scheduled for progress reports this week.

A preliminary report was heard Thursday from R. T. Piner's Advance Gifts solicitors. Indicating the fund campaign was off to a healthy start. The initial report showed $9,685 already pledged, about a fourth of the Advance Gifts quota.

Both Employee and Advance Gifts Divisions will submit reports again Tuesday. The two divisions are due to have completed their solicitations by Oct. 13, date set for the general canvass to start.

Officials of the United Fund Saturday announced lineup of personnel of the division and is to be assisted by District Captains Mrs. Jack Irons, Mrs. Charlie Creighton, Mrs. Clyde Thomas Jr., Mrs. W. C. Foster and Mrs. Lee Rogers.

A meeting of the leaders will be held Monday in Mrs. Read's home to map plans for the work. Truman Jones, who will direct the Business and Industry Division, already has completed arrangements for solicitation of Business and Industry contributions.

The United Fund, succeeding Community Chest, aims at financing activities of nine welfare agencies, including Big Spring Milk and Ice Fund, West Side Recreation Center, Salvation Army, Cancer Society, Red Cross, Servicemen's Club, YMCS, Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts.

Biggest Fall Since 1950

The heaviest rainfall since May 26, 1950 pelted down on Big Spring Saturday as a cool front pushed low, black clouds in from the north and east.

The total gauged at the U. S. Weather Bureau at Webb AFB was 3.28 inches, marking the first time in over three years that two inches or more had been recorded here in a single day.

Rains in varying amounts covered all of Howard County and wide sections of neighboring counties. However, Lamesa reported only light showers mixed with blowing dust.

Apparently Coahoma was one of the wettest spots in the county with an estimated three inches of rain reported, starting about 2 p.m. yesterday and continuing on into the night. Oilfield workers in that area reported some fields too wet for travel by truck.

The rain at Stanton was estimated at about 1.75 inches. It started there about 2 p.m. but lightened in the late afternoon. A good rain was reported over Borden County with estimates running as high as two inches. Garden City received at least .75 inch with good rains over the area between here and there. Most of the draws in Glasscock County were reported running. A hard rain fell in the Midland area last night, according to reports, and Odessa had 1.15 yesterday afternoon. The Texas Electric Service Company station at Morgan Creek registered .37 inch by late afternoon.

It was reported that flood water entered the Jet Tavern in the western edge of town, and high water also was reported on the Lamesa Highway in north Big Spring.

Main and Gregg Streets, which drain the south central portion of the city, were at "flood stage" for awhile. Drainage bottleneck at 11th Place and Young resulted in overflow of pavement. Traffic was slowed on Third, State, Birdwell Lane, Johnson, Gregg, Main and other streets by streams of water.

San Angelo had 1.77 inches, while the heaviest downpour in the state was a deluge estimated between 3.5 and 4 inches at Eldorado.

The cool front swept across the arid Panhandle, leaving only scattered showers before bringing heavy rains farther southeast.

High winds, and blowing dirt and dust were reported at Amarillo, El Paso and Salt Flat during the day.

Street crews face a city-wide job of cleaning up and filling up as a result of the rains.

Virtually every dirt and gravel street in town was washed, with areas reported as high as two inches of pavement. Probably several hundred yards of caliche and rock

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

The biggest news waited until the very last of the week to happen. Two inches of moisture is welcome news in this county at any time, but after more than three years of drought, Saturday's downpour was especially important. It was of the type, stretched over several months, needed to break the tenacious dry spell. There ought to be a lot of prayers of thanksgiving today.

After Friday evening's football game, in which Big Spring won its first victory of the season—and in a most impressive manner—someone observed that "the drought is broken; why it's even liable to rain." We like to see the Steers go right on winning and the weather right on raining.

All this came a little late to affect the cotton harvest, except to add a little dirt and lower grade and possibly to add weight to late bolls. Reports earlier in the week showed Howard County with 427 bales ginned (5,400 estimated yield); Martin 712 ginned (12,900 estimated).

Agent To Start Drive For 4th Street Curbing

Contact man J. W. Pursler is ready to start lining up property owners for curb and gutter on Fourth Street.

Pursler Saturday had just about completed his first assignment which had been to sign up property owners for additional right-of-way on a portion of the street. He is to start the curb-and-gutter contacts this week, H. W. Whitney reported.

The contact man was employed by the city to complete arrangements for improving Fourth Street and making it a part of Highway 80 through Big Spring. The city already had ordered the filing of condemnation suits against property in cases where owners could not be located.

Arrangements must be worked out for the moving of buildings on some property where additional right-of-way is being given, but in most cases where no buildings must be moved property owners already have signed deeds to the extra right-of-way, five feet in most instances.

The city must clear all right-of-way and have curb and gutter funds in escrow before the State Highway Department will start construction of paving and other improvements on the alternate highway route.

HOUSTON, Oct. 3 (AP)—Body of a 2-year-old Jacinto City girl was found in a fish pond near her home today after neighbors and emergency workers had searched over an hour. She was Diane Redford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell P. Redford.

Ike's Board Is Told About Union Rivalry

NEW YORK, Oct. 3 (AP)—President Eisenhower's inquiry board heard evidence today of "tremendous losses" and bitter union rivalry in the East Coast longshoremen's strike.

The three-man board conducted the first of its open hearings to determine whether the walkout of 60,000 dockers menaces the national health and welfare.

It is scheduled to report to Eisenhower by Monday, after which he could seek an anti-strike injunction to get the men back to work for an 80-day cooling off period under the Taft-Hartley law.

The strikers have agreed to comply with such an order, indicating the strike may end early next week. The walkout began at midnight Wednesday.

The Commerce and Industry Association has estimated the strike would cost the port of New York alone 1 1/2 million dollars a day and ultimately affect 800,000 persons whose jobs are directly or indirectly concerned with shipping.

Mayer said the employers had bargained in good faith with the International Longshoremen's Association, with which it has had contracts for 35 years.

But he said the employers "have unfairly been placed in the middle of a situation over which they have no control" and that bargaining had become "increasingly difficult."

One factor, he said, was notice

Young To Seek Extended Support For Farm Prices

By JOHN CHADWICK
 WASHINGTON, Oct. 3 (AP)—Sen. Young (R-ND) said today that when Congress returns in January he will press for prompt action on legislation extending present high-level price supports for basic farm commodities.

He pictured farmers in his area as "worried stiff," saying they are concerned about what kind of price support program they can expect in the future and what the Eisenhower administration's position will be on farm imports.

Young, a member of the Senate Agriculture Committee, long has been a leading advocate of mandatory price supports for basic crops. At the last session of Congress he voted against confirmation of Ezra Taft Benson as secretary of agriculture.

While Young shied away from discussing the political outlook in the farm belt, Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.) said in a separate interview that in his opinion "the biggest defection" from the Republican party since last year's election has been among the farmers.

Jackson also said he had found considerable unrest among businessmen and predicted that, if congressional elections were held today, the Democrats would recapture control of the House.

He said President Eisenhower's popularity "has slipped some, but nothing substantial." On the other hand, he said, the Republican party "has definitely slipped."

Dissatisfaction among farmers, Jackson said, is directed at Benson rather than Eisenhower. He said they want the secretary to lay down a program and are "tired of a lot of talk."

Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) said, however, that the Democrats are off base in their claims that the farm vote is shifting away from the Republicans because of lower agriculture prices. Hickenlooper told a reporter he did not find many of his constituents blaming the administration for current conditions.

THE GRUB LINE

With Franklin Reynolds

The city of Dallas, as this is being written, is rapidly becoming a triple-armed camp—armed with guns, indignation and fear.

Kennels, pet shops and the City Dog Pound have completely sold out of all animals that can in any wise be considered watch dogs. Dealers are watching their stocks of pistols, sawedoff shotguns and ammunition vanish from before their eyes. One gun dealer reported having 30 customers lined up at one time wanting to buy pistols. Dallas gunsmiths say they have never seen such a flood of old guns being brought in for repairs that will put them in shooting shape.

Locksmiths are doing a land office business and apparently every householder wants to buy door bolts or door chains. Back of all this is the fear, apparently increasing rather rapidly in Dallas, that no woman is safe from assault, even death, and even in her own home. Newsboys and men on milk delivery routes are reported to be waiting for daylight before starting out on their rounds. Doubtless the police are doing their best, but at this point their best has been ineffective. The people are afraid. They're indignant at the failure of their law enforcement agencies, and they have concluded that the best way to get a thing done is through that old-fashioned American system of doing it themselves. Therefore, they're acquiring dogs for alarms, and guns for efficiency.

In the meantime the Police Department, as is the custom of police departments, is crying out to: "Let us handle it. It's our job. Let us handle it!"

The Dallas area citizens are doing what they are, simply because their police department has failed. In some areas the city block-by-block vigilante committees are being formed. The Dallas police chief, again as is usual with police chiefs whose departments don't have the answer, is warning the people to be careful and not to shoot some innocent citizen. He might as well be blowing cigarette smoke into the face of a strong west wind.

It's a fine thing that the citizens are showing this sudden and tremendous interest in firearms. That, too, is a great old American custom, and one that deserves revival in many places.

Just like as on the old Texas Frontier every home should be a well-pistolled home, with the women, especially, sufficiently well-trained in the use of the revolver to be able to defend themselves. Moreover, there should be provision in the law for women who must be out on dark streets at night to have the right to carry a pistol if they want to. I don't know of anything that will, quite generally, put all men on their better behavior, and that can be calculated to stop assaults on otherwise defenseless women any quicker.

The Texas women of a generation or so ago were nearly all pretty fair hands with firearms and in those days this was a safer country in which to live, for everybody except those considered fair targets for the lady with the gun.

Unfortunately, the chances are that most of those who are buying pistols in Dallas at this juncture are, because of lack of proper training in the use of the weapon, more dangerous to themselves and to other members of their families than to the marauder against whom they have armed themselves. Some of them probably couldn't hit an outhouse even though they might be inside with the hole covers down and the door closed.

Too many people, even some peace officers, have the idea that all they need is to have a pistol in their possession. Too few of them realize how difficult it actually is to hit anything, even the size of a man, at a distance of 10 or 12 or 15 feet. The chances are greatly in favor of some inoffensive person getting shot in Dallas, but that's just a part of the risk they run in living there just now.

Big Spring has had some prowlers in time there'll be more, but these prowlers will be likely to steer clear of the homes where they know there are wives or mothers armed with a good Smith & Wesson .38 Special and sufficiently well trained in its use to defend themselves, their children and their homes. At the same time, the prowler must take into consideration the fact that some women, even without training, have been known to make some mighty lucky and deadly shots.

Even more effective, in many cases, is a sawedoff shotgun loaded with buckshot. Possession of a shotgun with the barrel sawed off to a length of less than 18 inches is a violation of the Federal Firearms Act and is punishable with a right severe penalty. Anybody sawing off a shotgun, for defense purposes, should keep this in mind.

But on the whole the idea of arming the women with weapons they have been taught to use effectively, appeals to me to be an excellent one. The police can't be everywhere at once, and the prowler has the right to guess that once he has been seen in a particular neighborhood the officers will be called.

Maybe it is high time for husbands and fathers to get out those guns, clean and oil them, and to teach their wives and daughters to use them. Rifles, shotguns and pistols—any of them will get the job done, except that a prowler isn't so likely to run at a woman and try to take a short-barreled pistol out of her hand.

Texas was a much safer place to live back in the days when it was "a country of riflemen." It can be made much safer now by making it "a country of pistol women."

AUSTIN, Oct. 3 (UP)—Liquor tax revenues in Texas continue to increase, the State Liquor Control Board reported today. August income from this source was $1,532,101 compared with $1,432,772 the same month last year.

Mrs. Johnson, At 92, Has Vivid Memory Of Texas Frontier Life

By JOHN BUSER

Mrs. T. H. Johnson of 509 Scurry is celebrating her 92nd birthday today. She has lived here for around forty years and in Texas since she was eight years old.

Despite her age, her memory is still good and she can vividly recall days when life was both simpler and harder.

Her memories about Big Spring 40 years ago are none too flattering, though. The Johnsons decided town would never do to bring their children up in and moved to the country, because of the numerous saloons and the hogs and cows running in the streets. Big Spring had no paved streets but the spring that gave this city its name was still flowing.

The years before coming to Big Spring were spent on isolated farms far from neighbors. She and the late Mr. Johnson were married in Bell County and later moved to Mills County where they farmed for 22 years. When they moved there, Mr. Johnson took her up on a hill and she looked as far as she could see and saw only two neighbors.

There was no school and no church. When a schoolhouse was finally built, the Johnsons boarded the teacher. In those days whenever parents wanted their children to learn anything they always had to board the teacher.

The Johnsons had a log house, eighteen feet square, with a puncheon floor. They farmed 80 acres, raising cotton, corn, and maize. Mr. Johnson also bought and sold cattle.

His cattle business kept him away from home to a certain extent. Mrs. Johnson had many a scare during the times her husband was gone. The previous owner of the farm had been killed by the Indians. Mrs. Johnson recalls only once when the Indians came through near the farm. They didn't stop and make trouble though since they were being chased. Individual Indians were seen around now and then.

Another scare came shortly after a neighbor told her about "poison" polecats. The Johnson's shepard dog barked at something in the darkness and she feared it was one of the polecats. There was only herself and two babies in the house; she got the pistol but didn't use it since it loaded like a shotgun and she was afraid her first shot would miss. The house had settled and there was large gap under the door through which the polecats could come.

In the morning when it was light the "polecats" turned out to be kittens of the ordinary variety. They didn't worry about droughts then though and didn't know what sandstorms were until they moved to Fisher County a couple of years before coming here. Mrs. Johnson recalls she thought the world was on fire when she saw the red from the approaching sand in the distance.

Isolated as they were, trips to town for what few supplies they bought were few and far between. It was eighteen miles to Goldthwaite, county seat of Mills County, from their farm. It was even farther to Lampasas where they went once a year to do their big shopping.

With no Rural Free Delivery in those days, whatever family was going into town got not only the mail for his own family but for all the families along the way home. However, Mrs. Johnson adds that there weren't many neighbors to stop at.

Whatever conveniences she didn't have, she had a stove to cook on almost from the first. Her first venture with cooking at the fireplace turned out so disastrously that her husband was quick to get the stove for her. He didn't like biscuits with ashes in them anymore than she did.

She still feels bad about the meal though since they had company. Other disasters besides the ashes in the biscuits included the coffee pot turning over and the meat burning.

For years she made all of the family's clothing and she didn't have any sewing machine to sew it on either. She carded and spun the thread, too. Even as a bride she made her husband's suits; his first bought suit came as payment from a tailor on what had proved to be a bad debt.

What did they do for recreation? "We worked," Mrs. Johnson says. They did occasionally have dances, though. She would ride to the dances sidesaddle in a hoop skirt. Mr. Johnson would play his fiddle at the dances.

They did work long hours even just before and after such a dance. It was nothing to work a full day before the dance and then return just barely in time to put in another day's work.

Girls didn't use rouge and lipstick in those days; it wasn't considered ladylike. A girl might on the sly pinch her cheeks or rub a red flower against them to try to add a little color.

People didn't see much money in those days. They bought very little and didn't need much. A man would put in a long, hard day to earn a dollar. No one paid over 25 cents a hundred pounds for picking cotton.

When the Johnsons were married all they had was eight Mexican dollars. Mr. Johnson gave them to Mrs. Johnson to have spoons made out of, but she bought a cow and calf instead.

It took Mr. Johnson a year to save up a $100 to buy a farm, and he was a shrewder trader than many.

Mrs. Johnson came to Texas with her parents from Mississippi when she was eight years old at the close of the Civil War. They traveled by ship and by train to reach their new home. Mr. Johnson came from Louisiana; his widowed mother loaded her children in a wagon at the close of the war and drove the team to Texas.

When she was a girl, there were no public schools. Parents paid tuition for what schooling their children got. It wasn't much schooling, either. Mrs. Johnson recalls that half of the time either the teacher was likely to be resting under the shade of a tree while the children were in the schoolhouse or vice versa.

When the Johnsons came to Big Spring, things had changed a lot in people's ways of life already. Big Spring was not a large town by today's standards however and Mrs. Johnson kept a cow in the back. There weren't but a few scattered houses out beyond 509 Scurry either.

Hudson Co. Sets Formal Opening Here On Monday

Formal opening of the Big Spring Hudson Co. at Fifth and Main has been scheduled for Monday, according to Pete Peterson, who heads the new dealership.

Peterson said that Hudson's complete line of 1942 automobiles, including the Hornets, Wasps and Jets will be on display. Personnel will be on hand throughout the day to show visitors through the plant and to exhibit the new automobiles.

The concern maintains a modern service department in connection with the dealership.

Charges Are Lodged Against Three Men

Charges were lodged in Howard County Court this weekend against Troy H. Melton, Joseph Howell Hollis and Armando Lopez. Melton is accused of passing a six hot check at a local business establishment. Hollis is charged with driving while intoxicated, and Lopez allegedly was carrying a concealed weapon (knife). Police arrested Hollis and Lopez, and sheriff's officials apprehended Melton.

Party To Seek Welfare State

By TOM OCHILTREE

MARGATE, England, Oct. 3 (UP)—The Labor party has abandoned its traditional socialist belief that state ownership of all industry would bring on a workers' paradise.

Instead, the dissension-ridden party decided at a conference here this week to work for a welfare state.

Everyone agreed on such things as larger old age pensions and sick benefits and better tax-supported schools. But the manual workers' delegates killed leftist proposals for wholesale nationalization of industry and of land.

If the attitude of the trade union leaders is an accurate reflection of rank-and-file sentiment, great numbers of workers with cloth caps and tool-worn hands have lost their belief in state ownership in the years since World War II.

Leftist Aneurin Bevan thundered that the cautious attitude of the unions constituted "treason to the spirit of socialism."

But the big union leaders and the humble members of the union delegations had an answer for that. A bent little coal miner named Harry Ellison told the leftwingers: "A boss is a boss, no matter whether he gets the job from the state or private owners. Sometimes the bosses of private industry are more reasonable to deal with."

More Labor Needed For Cotton Harvest

Lubbock County with plenty of housing available, a wage scale of $1.50 to $1.75 for pulling and 25 cents for weighing and hauling, and with the cotton now pulling from one-quarter to one-half bale per acre, reported a shortage of 5,000 pullers during the week.

Leon M. Kinney, manager of the Big Spring office of the Texas Employment Commission, estimates worker shortages in this immediate area, which is being served by Bob Toland, as farm labor specialist, as 600 pullers for Mitchell County; 1,000 for Martin County, and 450 for Howard County.

Cecil Leatherwood, president of the Howard County Farm Bureau, went to El Paso Friday to bring more Mexican Nationals back here for work. Kinney said the Farm Bureau has approval for about 250 more workers immediately, but that he doesn't know how many of these will be brought here by Leatherwood on this trip.

The report shows that Mitchell

County farmers are paying from $1.50 to $3 for pulling, and from 25 cents to 35 cents for weighing and hauling. In Martin County pickers are being paid $2.05 and pullers from $1.50 to $2.25 with from 25 to 40 cents for weighing and hauling. In Howard County from $1.50 to $2.50 is being paid for pulling and from 25 to 35 cents for weighing and hauling.

Kinney said Toland is doing a splendid job in getting crews off the highways for farmers in the area.

Other counties reporting a shortage of more than 1,000 pullers were Hockley, 2,000 pullers; Terry and Yoakum, 1,200 pullers; Lynn and Borden, 1,000 pullers; South Lamb and South Bailey, 4,500 pullers; North Bailey and Parmer, 2,500 pullers; North Lamb and Castro, 2,500 pullers; Hale, 1,000 pullers; and the El Paso area approximately 2,760 pullers.

The estimated production and the amount ginned to date by bales, according to the weekly report, is: Lubbock County, 186,000 and 5,500; Hockley County, 100,000 and 1,800; Terry and Yoakum counties, 21,000 and 800; Lynn and Borden counties, 40,000 and 700; Dawson and Gaines counties, 20,000 and 850; North Bailey and Parmer counties, 80,000 and 400; South Lamb and South Bailey counties, 100,000 and 1,500; Castro and North Lamb counties, 120,000 and 2,400; Hale County, 225,000 and 1,500; Swisher County, 110,000 and 100; Tom Green County, 15,000 and 1,357; Mitchell County, 6,000 and 1,123; Howard County, 7,500 and 427; Martin County, 24,000 and 772; Midland and Glasscock counties, 10,000 and 150; Runnels County, 30,000 and 1,900; Taylor and South Jones counties, 30,000 and 845; Nolan County, 10,000 and 500; Scurry County, 10,000 and 300; Fisher County, 12,000 and 900.

The official reports, which are released from Lubbock at the week-end and are made up on the basis of information supplied by the gins about the middle of the week. These reports will be continuous on a weekly basis throughout the ginning season.

New Hurricane Is Discovered

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 3 (AP)—Hurricane "Gail" was discovered far out in the Atlantic by a passing ship today.

The storm was centered about 1,500 miles east southeast of San Juan, Puerto Rico, which placed it about 2,500 miles—or a week's travel time—from the Florida mainland.

Its position as reported by the ship, the SS Thorjorg, was at latitude 14.6 north, longitude 42.9 west. The vessel reported a barometer reading of 29.12 inches.

Walter R. Davis, storm forecaster in the Miami Weather Bureau, said "there's no doubt that a hurricane is winding up."

Of more immediate concern to Davis was an area of suspicion composed of squally weather extending from Abaco Island in the Bahamas across western Cuba to Swan Island in the Bahamas.

"We just have to sit and watch this area to see what will develop," said Davis, who for two days has declared that the pressure pattern set the stage for a possible storm development in the western Caribbean.

Thirty-eight persons filed claims for unemployment compensation during the week, according to Leon M. Kinney, manager of the Big Spring office of the Texas Employment Commission.

Also during the week, Kinney said, 18 new applications for jobs were filed; 36 persons were referred to non-agricultural employment and that of these all but six were placed in jobs.

One hundred and 26 agricultural workers were placed in employment during the week, he said.

Gems Are Sought On Reservation

GALLUP, N.M., Oct. 3 (AP)—A team of four men is searching in the Navajo reservation for the most precious of gems—diamonds.

Working in a two-mile wide area, the men are combing the surface and have dug down as far as ten feet. The search is centered in the Red Lake-Crystal area above Fort Defiance, Ariz.

Under leadership of J. W. Donowick, a Farmington, N.M., professional gem collector for 15 years, the men are searching in a deposit of Kimberlite he found.

The material was identified by the gem specialist after he had its qualities examined by the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, according to Jim Speer of Santa Fe. Speer is secretary-treasurer of Coronado Development Co. Inc., which Donowick heads.

Kimberlite is a greenish-blue clay like substance that has been found to be diamond-bearing not only in South Africa but in Arkansas where the only other deposit in the United States was found.

International Laws Are Urged By Pope

By FRANK BRUTTO
ROME, Oct. 3 (AP)—Pope Pius XII, pointing to the experience of two world wars, today urged the adoption of international laws to deal with war criminals.

The 77-year-old leader of the Roman Catholic Church spoke at Castel Gandolfo, his summer residence, before jurists gathered from many countries for the Sixth International Congress of Penal Law.

In a clear reference to trial methods in Communist-ruled countries, the Pope bitterly criticized the use of "physical and psychic torture and narco-analysis" to obtain confessions.

The need for international penal law between nations holds good in normal times, he said, but "its urgency is particularly evident in time of war or of violent political disturbances."

The pontiff placed at the head of crimes which have international consequences that of "making a modern war which is not required by absolute necessity of self defense and which brings with it, as we can assert without hesitation, unthinkable ruin, suffering and horrors."

"The community of nations," he said, "must reckon with unprinciplined criminals who, in order to realize their ambitious plans, are not afraid to unleash total war."

For this reason, the Pope said, other countries "have no alternative but to get ready for the day when they must defend themselves" if they are to preserve their most precious possessions.

The right to be prepared, however, the Pope said, "does not in any way alter the fact that unjust war is to be accounted as (one) of the very gravest crimes which international law must prescribe, must punish with the heaviest penalties."

He did not say what he believed those penalties should be.

The pontiff said that even in a just war not all means which would lead to victory are defensive "in the eyes of those who have an exact and reasonable concept of justice."

The Pope listed among means that are not defensive: the mass shooting of innocent hostages, racial massacres, mass deportations, violence against women and children, and roundups of workers to be used as slaves.

Repatriation Facing Tough Complications

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
PANMUNJOM, Sunday, Oct. 4 (U.S.)—South Korea's threat to fight Indian custodial troops and Nationalist China's prod of the U.N. Command to get tough added complications today to the task of repatriating nearly 23,000 anti-Red prisoners of war.
 The new developments arose after Indian troops put down two disturbances in the demilitarized zone last week by killing three prisoners and wounding 10.
 More than 14,000 of these men balking at a return to Red rule are Chinese and nearly 8,000 are Koreans.
 Here is a quick rundown of the latest developments:
 1. Cho Chung Whan, South Korea's acting foreign minister, said yesterday the deaths were "criminal acts of murder" by the Indian guards and declared "we shall be forced to take up arms against them" unless there is a swift change in policy.
 2. On Formosa, Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist government—obviously interested in the fate of the Chinese prisoners—announced today it had called attention of the U.N. Command and the United States to the "unneutral, unjust and inhuman actions" of the Indian troops. The announcement said unless the U.N. Command takes steps "other than mere protests" it must assume "along with the Indians the responsibility for the betrayal of these freedom-seeking war prisoners."
 3. In Tokyo, Gen. Mark Clark, the U. N. Far East commander, flatly turned down a request by the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission which would afford the Red teams more time to interview the balking captives. The armistice terms call for such explanations to be ended by Dec. 24. Delays in getting the explanations started on schedule Sept. 29 prompted the Reds to seek an extension.
 The Red teams have the tremendous job of interviewing nearly 23,000 balking prisoners whereas the U. N. Command has to talk only to 23 Americans, a Briton and 355 South Koreans reportedly reluctant to return home.

REV. TITTSWORTH

Mission Service Scheduled Here

The Rev. J. L. Tittsworth, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Cleburne, will conduct a preaching mission at the St. Paul Presbyterian Church Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.
 Services will be held in the church fellowship hall across from the Howard County Junior College at 8 p.m. Rev. Tittsworth has served Eaves Chapel in Austin and the First Presbyterian Church at LaGrange.
 He is a graduate of Texas Tech and received a B. D. degree from Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary. He will preach on "What It Means to Be Saved," "Christian Baptism," and "Why Join the Church."
 Also participating in the services will be the Rev. E. Otis Moore, pastor of the church; Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, the Rev. L. D. Crossman and the Rev. Hervey L. Lazenby Jr.
 The St. Paul church choir will sing "Follow Me" by Lorenz, "Come Unto Me" and "A Pilgrim's Journey." A youth party will be held following the Thursday night service and a general fellowship after the Friday night service.
 The general public is invited to attend all the services.

Court Of Honor Is Set Tuesday Night

The Boy Scout Court of Honor will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the high school cafeteria under the direction of Dan Krausse.
 It has also been announced that the executive board and council board will attend the annual Scouters barbecue banquet at the Scout Ranch in the Davis Mountains next Thursday. Approximately 15 or 20 people from Big Spring are expected to attend.
 Bill Sheppard and Jimmie Hale of the local Scout organization are planning to meet with the American Legion Post in Sterling City next week to discuss the Boy Scout finance drive there.

Treatment For Cancer Seen By Medical Experts

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
WASHINGTON, Oct. 3 (U.S.)—Medical experts told a congressional committee today atomic research holds "great promise" for the treatment of cancer.
 But they said that despite encouraging progress being made, they don't know how far they are from finding the answer to what causes cancer and how it can be cured.
 The doctors testified before the House Commerce Committee, which is studying the progress of research in cancer, heart disease and other major ills.
 The round table discussion was led by Dr. John C. Bugher, director of the Atomic Energy Commission's division of biology and medicine, and Dr. Charles L. Dunham, head of the division's medical branch.
 Bugher said cancer is "a specific industrial hazard" of the atomic age and radioactive materials can be a direct cause of cancer. They also may turn out to be major elements in finding a cure for cancer, he added.
 He gave the committee details of the commission's medical research program, conducted mainly through university hospitals and hospitals and laboratories, and said about one ninth of the total medical budget of 26 million dollars is being spent on cancer research.
 "We cannot expect a single answer to the problem of treatment of cancer," he said. "We do not see any one way... but rather a variety of ways."
 Bugher said he was greatly encouraged by research results, adding that "in a comparatively few years we have made very substantial strides."
 "But most of the road lies ahead," he added.

Stanton Planning For Curbing Work

STANTON (SC)—Meeting in a joint session the Stanton City Council and the Martin County Commissioners have worked out a plan for paying for the curb and gutter along U. S. Highway 80 through Stanton.
 The needed $23,400 was described as the last demand by the State Highway Department before letting a contract for the project which will convert the present route into a four-lane highway through the county.
 Under this plan the city is to pay $15,000 and the county will pay the remaining $8,400.
 It is expected that actual construction of the new highway will be started early next year.
 About 38,000 people were killed in motor vehicle accidents in the United States in 1952.

Second anniversary of Reed Oil Company was celebrated Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Reed.

In addition to associates here, there were representatives present from San Angelo, Midland, Eldorado, Snyder, Lamesa, Colorado City, Andrews, Abilene and Breckenridge. There were more than 80 taking part in the informal affair celebrating the rapid growth of the concern. Reed maintains his headquarters here for the operations.

Warren Leaves A Golden Record As California's Chief Executive

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Oct. 3 (AP)—Earl Warren, flying to Washington Sunday to become Chief Justice of the United States, leaves behind a golden record as California's governor.

It is a record of grappling with the heavy problems of a state which has gained a population of five million since he was first inaugurated in 1943—more people than there are in 40 of the 48 states.

"We're well on our way now toward our 13th million," he noted the other day.

He has always liked to call it the largest peaceful migration of people in modern times—and he has been proud it has taken place without social unrest.

His administration was without major scandal. At his last meeting with department heads he said proudly:

"We've got honesty in our state government from top to bottom."

Warren was the first man to be elected governor of California three times, although a Republican in a heavily Democratic state. He had political foes who disputed some of his liberal views but few could find no fault with Warren as an administrator.

He served 34 years in city, county and state government. Warren reorganized state departments. He won a reputation for picking able men and giving them a free hand.

He extended civil service to all departments and tried to keep the pay of state employees up with what they would make on comparable jobs in business and industry.

Warren made regular radio and television reports to the people and stuck to a policy of two press conferences a week. He had numerous statewide conferences on such problems as employment, water, youth, crime, mental health and traffic safety.

A state water pollution control board was set up. Special classes were established for mentally retarded children. Child care centers were instituted to help working parents.

California offered its veterans its own G. I. Bill of Rights, including lower interest for home and farm buying and educational benefits.

A 10-year-highway building program was inaugurated in 1947 and given a boost this year when the Legislature increased gasoline taxes and other motor levies.

Californians drive almost six million automobiles and other motor vehicles. Since Warren became governor the state has spent 745 million dollars on roads, almost half of it on divided highways costing as much as six million dollars a mile.

In a decade the state government has appropriated 239 million dollars for the University of California and the state colleges and 934 million dollars has been spent for public school housing.

As California moved into its second century of statehood it began writing its first billion dollar budgets, all of which were balanced.

Prowlers Keeping Residents Alert

Prowlers and peepers kept residential areas on the alert Friday night.

Police received five prowler and peeper calls. A prowler was first noticed in the 500 block of Goliad about 8 p.m. At 11:50 an intruder was reported in the 700 block of Main.

A window peeper was seen by a resident of the 1400 block of Scurry at 11:40 p.m.

Shortly after midnight, a prowler disturbed residents of the 1100 block of Nolan and about 2 a.m. Saturday officers were called after an intruder disturbed a household in the 500 block of Runnels.

Prowler in each instance was gone on arrival of officers. Police arrested one man early Saturday morning for investigation after he was noticed loitering at Third and Gregg. He was fined $9 for vagrancy and will be released as soon as he lays out the fine, officers said.

Carrier Of The Year

James Grantham, left, Saturday was awarded a permanent trophy as Big Spring Herald Carrier of the Year. With the trophy, Grantham received a $25 savings bond. He was high man in Circulation Manager Jack Kimble's rating system which considers prompt deliveries, payment of bills, rarity of complaints and collections. James amassed 2,250 merits. Kimble is shown presenting the program during a newsboy program aired Saturday morning over KBST. Herald carriers were treated at a picnic at City Park just before the rains came Saturday afternoon.

Dr. Lurting Is On M & H Staff

Dr. Frederick Wilbur Lurting, who was recently separated from the Army at Fort Benning, Ga., has been added to the staff of Malone and Hogan Clinic-Hospital. Dr. Lurting, a graduate of the University of Maryland Medical School, is a specialist in obstetrics and gynecology. He was called back into the service last February after having served once previously. He was a captain in the Medical Corps on release. The 35-year-old physician had a private practice in Pittsburg, Pa., before going back into the service. And he was on the faculty of the Medical School at the University of Pittsburgh. Dr. Lurting was born in Pittsburg, attended public schools there and was graduated from the University of Pittsburgh in 1940. He graduated from medical school in 1943 and did residency work at St. Joseph Hospital in Baltimore and Magee Hospital in Pittsburg, Pa. He is married and has two children. At present he and his family reside at the Settles Hotel.

Members of the first-aid team are R. H. Cantrell, H. H. Squires, R. H. Miller, Max Pitts, B. E. Winterrowd, L. C. Lawson, J. E. Williams, C. H. Stewart, N. L. Childress, and L. C. McDaniel.

One Killed, 19 Hurt In Collapse Of Tank

By JAMES V. CALOGERO and DAVID A. O'HARA
EVERETT, Mass., Oct. 3 (U.S.)—The wet concrete roof of a nearly complete oil storage tank collapsed today "with a rumble like an earthquake" and killed one worker and injured 19 others. Wooden underpinnings in the immense structure gave way, sending the workers hurtling 30 feet to the floor amid a tangled mass of wet concrete, steel rods and lumber. Other men working below were deluged with concrete and debris. Most of the injured were heavily coated with concrete and rescuers rushed to wipe it from the faces of the victims so they could breathe. The body of Richard Bruno of Medford, 36-year-old father of five, was plucked from the wreckage by firemen. Reports that a second man died en route to a hospital were unconfirmed. Constantino Biorgioli, 37, of Revere, a workman who escaped injury, gave this description: "We were pouring cement on the roof of the second concrete tank from above. Half of the staging began to give way and concrete panels started to collapse one after another. "Just a couple of minutes before, I had been called away from the scaffolding to help carry cement. I was about three feet from the wall when it started to fall. I ran back. I heard a lot of hollering and screaming for help." John Loughlin, who lives near the plant, said the collapse made a "terrible rumble that sounded like an earthquake." "People were running about in the street wondering what happened," Loughlin said. "Some of us got into the yard and tried to help as fast as we could but the tons of concrete had buried most of the men."

SPEEDING STILL HIGH PRICED

Speeding in school zones still comes high. Acting City Judge Mack Rodgers said Saturday he is to continue assessing fines at the rate of $2 per mile for speeds in excess of the limit in school zones. Two persons pleaded guilty to speeding in school zones Saturday. One was fined $28 and the other $20. A 16-year-old charged with the same offense, was transferred to the county juvenile officer. Earlier in the week a $30 fine was assessed for speeding in a school zone. Legal limit in a school zone is 15 miles per hour.

Keese Is Speaker At Gay Hill P-TA

Parents still have the greatest responsibility and opportunity to shape lives of the nation's children, B. M. Keese told the Gay Hill Parents-Teachers Association. Keese, dean-registrar of Howard County Junior College, said that parents faced the challenge of contributing most toward building sound character in children. Schools can do most only with children from home, where parents are doing their utmost. First and second grade pupils presented a special program for the evening. The meeting was in the school building.

Grid Star To Lead Revival Here On Oct. 18

Joe Boyd, an All-American football player at Texas A&M more than a decade ago, is to lead a two-weeks' revival campaign at the Baptist Temple Oct. 18-Nov. 1. Since 1948 he has been in full-time evangelistic work. Assisting in the meeting as director of music will be Bill Harvey, who also has been in special Christian service for the past five years. Harvey attended Southwestern Baptist Seminary in 1949-50. Formerly he was music director at Mineola and Houston. He is 31 years of age and he and Mrs. Harvey have three children. The Rev. Boyd is one of the all-time greats on the Aggie grid-iron, having been a virtual unanimous choice for All-Southwest honors in 1938-39. In 1939 he was selected on most major All-America teams. He was converted in 1940, the year that he graduated with a master of science degree. In 1944, he answered the call to preach and entered the Southwestern Baptist Seminary at Fort Worth. He completed work for his master of theology degree in 1948. Meanwhile he served 3 1/2 years as the pastor of a Baptist church in Dallas. He resigned this post to enter the evangelistic field. The Rev. Boyd, now 35, is married and he and Mrs. Boyd have two children.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Payment Of Subsidies For Mail Service Is Defended

To the Editor: For as long as I have been reading newspapers, I have enjoyed and perhaps have benefited from the editorials with which I do not always agree but which are, on the whole, good guides to the reliability and worthwhileness of the newspaper.

In your issue for Wednesday, September 30, your leading editorial quoted from a recent column published by United States Senator John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, and you concluded the editorial by an illogical and socialist supporting statement in which you compared air mail subsidies to subsidies for support of agricultural prices. I respectfully submit that your analogy is contrary to sound economic principles and socialistic to a degree that could lead to unfortunate consequences.

Our Federal Constitution gives the Federal Government a monopoly on handling mail, and the Federal Government thereby has a grave and great responsibility to its citizens. The light-headed Senator Kennedy, an immature and recently married Democrat, should be impeached on the grounds of ignorance. The sack of mail that he referred to probably contained several hundred letters from humble taxpayers like you and me, who were paying as much as they could afford to pay for transcontinental air mail. If there had been no passengers aboard, the cost would have been materially more than $1.58. The passengers were being charged as much as could be charged them in competition with surface ships, except in the instances of emergencies. The presence of those fare-paying passengers reduced the cost of transporting the mail sack.

You undoubtedly appreciate the fact that a considerable portion of mail must be handled at a loss. I am sure you are aware of the fact that your mail subscribers are receiving your newspaper through the Post Office at less than the actual cost of the transportation to our Government. I think our local Postmaster could tell you that each sack of air mail leaving Big Spring is handled at a loss to the Postal System. I should think that a newspaper editor would be the last person to point up the losses on handling mail.

The economic reasons for maintaining floors under farm products are reasonably sound, as has been proven by experience over the past twenty years. In my opinion, the real producers of farm products should be given reasonable protection against price fluctuations due to speculative purchases and sales. In this country we can use the productive efforts of every able bodied citizen, and there is no reason to keep some of them on the farm by subsidizing their efforts when we might make much better use of them in our factories and commerce. Most of the pressure for support of prices for farm products has come from landlords or gentlemen farmers, who live in the cities and employ cheap labor for planting and harvesting. These landlords and gentlemen farmers are no more entitled to a subsidy to insure a high return on their capital investments than a workman at our refinery is entitled to a guaranteed annual wage.

Over the years that I have read your editorials, I have developed a deep respect for your middle-of-the-road politics. The editorial that prompts this letter was the most socialistic that I have ever read in a daily newspaper. I am sure that you do not intend to become identified with the extreme left wing of any political party or group, and that upon reconsideration you will understand why I have written this letter.

To say that I was startled by your comparison of air mail subsidies to farm price supports would really about describe my reaction, but it would be an understatement of how I feel about your reference to Certificates of Necessity, which provide for the deduction of accelerated depreciation in computing taxable income. You might have logically progressed your thinking to express support for Government construction and ownership of war plants or included another paragraph defending the equity of the landlords' participation in farm product prices to the extent of one third of the grain and one fourth of the cotton, or share and share alike (on the halves) when the landowner is rich enough to also furnish a tractor and upkeep.

Respectfully yours,
R. E. TOLLETT

Family Praying For A Break In Greenlease Kidnaping Case

By AL DOPKING.
KANSAS CITY, Oct. 3 (AP)—An unnatural quiet settled about the big, ivy-fringed home of little Bobby Greenlease tonight as his wealthy family prayed for a week-end break in the six-day-old kidnaping.

The multi-millionaire father, Robert C. Greenlease, appeared to be working quietly in the seclusion of his home in an effort to negotiate the release of his son. Police continued to stand aside at the family's request. Police Chief Bernard Brannon discounted reports that the police felt they had waited long enough and were about to begin a concentrated man-hunt by saying:

"We will not make a move without permission of the parents. We are marking time. Our chief concern is getting this child back alive and we are not in contact with the family because of its request to us."

But tomorrow will be the seventh day since six-year-old Bobby was abducted from a private Catholic school by a woman who passed herself off to a nun as the boy's aunt.

That is the formal time set under the Lindbergh law for the FBI to enter a kidnap case unless it has knowledge the victim is transported across a state line.

The FBI says it has been keeping in touch with the case but declined to say whether it would take over tomorrow. In the past it has been more or less the policy of the FBI to let the family attempt negotiations with the kidnapers without intervention.

The family, through their spokesmen, have denied they have been in contact with the kidnapers. Robert Lederman of Tulsa, business associate of Greenlease, yesterday denied a published report that the family had been in contact with the kidnapers through a newspaper want ad and that a $500,000 ransom had been demanded.

It was unusually quiet at the Greenlease mansion today. The family slept late, a maid said. An adopted son, Paul Greenlease called at the home briefly as he has done every day since the abduction. The mailmen came and a physician called but left in a few minutes.

Later an unidentified man drove up in the circle drive at the home. He rang the bell twice before he was admitted by a maid. He has not been seen at the house before. The front porch light was on again today although the sun was shining brightly. It was on Thursday but it was off yesterday. Spokesmen for the family at that time said servants had just forgotten to turn it off.

But the fact it was on again today caused some speculation it might be a signal to kidnapers if actual negotiations have begun for the boy's release.

This Is Week To Catch Up On Letter Writing Chores

This week, Oct. 4-10, is National Letter Writing Week. Postmaster Nat Shick said yesterday.

The slogan of the week, Shick said, is "Letters Bring Happiness."

The purposes in observing National Letter Writing Week, are, Shick said, to suggest the use of air mail for speed and special delivery for immediate delivery; to

Thanks Friends For Providing Water Service

Granny Keith has retired her little red wagon and with thanks in her heart to a number of friends.

Granny, who is Mrs. Jane Keith, 100 Carey, is blind. She had no water in the house. Her husband, William O. Keith is suffering from a heart condition. So when the water supply for drinking or washing ran low, she put the container in the little red wagon and went three blocks for water.

Friends at the Park Methodist Church, where she is a member, began a year ago working on a remedy, but the financial obstacle was too much. Recently the Cheerio Club made up of blind and near blind, offered to provide the funds still needed for pipe.

Church members pitched in to help, some digging ditches. The city aided, too, and Mr. and Mrs. Keith now have water in their house.

This was why Granny called the Herald to say thanks to J. B. Hollis, G. W. Briggance, J. L. Webb, Clarence Arnold, Marshall Brown, J. C. Collins, A. J. Henderson, Homer Ward, G. W. Dabney, H. W. Whitney, E. C. Armstrong, W. O. Henderson, Mrs. G. C. Graves, Mrs. Walter Willbanks, Mrs. Clyde Thomas Sr., the Cheerio Club and all others who helped bring the water to them.

keep the air parcel post service before the public; to explain that greetings sent first class receive better service and are appreciated more; to feature business reply envelopes and cards for convenience and more replies; to encourage the rental of post office boxes; to suggest the registry service for important or confidential letters; to encourage the use of money orders or the registry service for remittances, and especially to boost first class mail, as the Postal Department's leader, and as the best service for bills, personalized advertising, greetings and other communications.

To help focus attention on National Letter Writing Week posters are being displayed throughout the country which feature the rural mail box, a rural carrier being shown depositing mail in the box.

"Letters Bring Happiness," says Shick repeating the motto, "and we hope the people keep that thought in mind."

Rites Conducted For Mrs. Gordon

Mrs. Ella Gordon, 82, has been laid to final rest beside the grave of her husband, James H. Gordon, in Snyder. She died here Tuesday following a long illness. Mr. Gordon has passed away in 1935.

Services were conducted by the Rev. Clyde Nichols, First Christian pastor, on Thursday. Arrangements were in charge of Eberley-River.

Mrs. Gordon came here eight years ago from Clyde. Before moving to Clyde, she and Mr. Gordon resided many years in Snyder. She left a son and three daughters, among them Mrs. George Bobb, Mrs. A. F. Hill and Mrs. Violet Stine of Big Spring.

Palbearers were Earl Gordon, Tulsa, Okla., Ray T. Clark, Earl Davis, Carl Merrick, Ed Rahten, F. N. McGinnis.

BIG SPRING

One Of Many For Armistead

One of the many times J. C. Armistead, Big Spring's great running back, punctured the Brownwood defense for sizeable gains was caught by The Herald cameraman above. The action occurred near the Lion goal. No. 50 is Norman Dudley, Big Spring. No. 25 is Jesse Soliz, No. 27 Bill Harlow, both of Brownwood. Tiny Ellison, Big Spring, is on the ground at far right, after having thrown a block. Big Spring won, 13-6.

Highly-Rated Brownwood 11 Yields To Longhorns, 13-6

The aroused Big Spring High School Steers exploded for two into-the-wind touchdowns and then put the clamps on Ray Masters and his Brownwood Lions to gain a 13-6 verdict Friday night before the largest crowd to see a football game here since 1946.

The invaders, who bought an undefeated record into town, dominated play through the first ten minutes and awed the turnout of 5,000 or more with a deadly attack from the spread formation.

change of punts, Big Spring set another drive in motion on the 40. Then, in one magnificent run, Armistead—benefitting from good blocking—ramped 60 yards across the double stripes for another score.

Medlin's boot was hurried and went wide but it didn't matter. Big Spring had the lead and the insurance tally it needed to see it through.

Big Spring drove as far as the Brownwood 25 later in the period but appeared content to play it safe and the ball went over.

In the fourth, recovery of a fumble by Paschal Odom and an intercepted pass by Don Swinney helped keep the Lion attack off balance. Still later, Bill Earley intercepted a Masters' aerial and almost went all the way. He was flagged from behind on the Brownwood 15. Big Spring was driving when the game ended.

It would be difficult to single any one performer for his work in the Big Spring forward wall but Earley, Louis Stipp and Odom all proved invaluable hands. In the secondary, Buddy Cosby and Tommy McAdams were defensive bulwarks.

Offensively, Frank Long coolly directed the Big Spring attack and Robinson, Armistead and Martin all performed splendidly. James Hollis, Robert Angel and others also let the opposition know they were around.

In one of the best plays of the night, Don Reynolds drifted behind the Brownwood pass in the fourth period and took a pass from Long that carried 40 yards to the Lion 29. He was finally boxed in on the sidelines.

Using several different kinds of formations the Lions and especially Masters kept the Big Spring fans on the edges of their seats with some great running and passing. Score by quarters: BIG SPRING 0 7 6 0-13 BROWNWOOD 0 6 0 0-6

Duke Snider Leads Bums To 7-3 Win Over Yanks

By JACK HAND

BROOKLYN, Oct. 3 (AP)—Duke Snider, Brooklyn's home run hero of last October, hammered home four big runs to back up Billy Loos' gritty pitching today as Brooklyn squared the World Series with a 7-3 victory over the New York Yankees in the fourth game.

Bouncing back to even matters at home after losing the first two at Yankee Stadium, the Dodgers clobbered Eddie Ford, Tom Gorman, Johnny Sain and Art Schallock for six doubles and a home run in their 12-hit total.

When Loos, a sad failure since the All-Star game in July, faltered in the ninth to load the bases with nobody out, Manager Chuck Dressen called for Clem Labine to choke off the Yanks.

The game closed with a flourish when Billy Martin, trying to score a second run on Mickey Mantle's single, was cut down at the plate by Don Thompson's peg to Roy Campanella.

Campanella tagged Martin on the shoulder as hard as Rocky Marciano tagged Roland LaStarza to make certain of the final out. Martin turned and looked but made no menacing gestures.

Snider, whose four homers helped Brooklyn take the Yanks to the seven-game limit last year, smashed a tremendous 425-foot blast over the right-field screen and against an auto salesroom across the street in the sixth inning.

It was Snider's double high off the right-field screen that drove in two big runs in the first inning when the Dodgers unloaded on left-hander Ford for three runs. Again in the seventh, a Snider double to the left-field corner drove in yet a fourth run.

Junior Gilliam with three doubles, two of the fluke variety, and Loos with a pair of singles were the other big hitters of this Dodger team that tied a record in the regular season by winning 60 games at home.

Loos had won only one complete game since July 8 and wasn't expected to last the route against the Yank team that beat him, 3-2 in last year's sixth game.

But the tall, skinny righthander from the nearby Astoria section kept firing that ball past the Yanks to strike out eight men in a fair replica of the job Carl Erskine did yesterday when he set a new series record of 14 strikeouts.

Not until the fourth inning when Yogi Berra singled with two out did the Yanks have a hit. By that time, Loos was rolling along nonchalantly with a 3-0 bulge. He lost his shutout in the fifth on Martin's triple and Gil McDougald's 370-foot homer into the lower left-field seats.

Although the 25-year-old Long Island boy was being hit hard for long fly balls, he skirted serious trouble until the ninth. After Gene Woodling and Martin opened the ninth with singles and McDougald walked to load the bases, Dressen decided it was enough.

Since the fifth inning, Labine and Jim Hughes had been heating up in the bullpen. Dressen called for Labine, the sinker ball expert.

Little Phil Rizzuto went down swinging and Labine looked up to see Big Johnny Mize striding to the plate. A home run would leave the Yanks only one run behind but Labine worked carefully, finally getting Mize on a fly to Snider in shallow center. The runners were unable to advance.

Mantle, who had been fanned twice by Loos after striking out four times for Erskine yesterday, lined a single over Peewee Reese's head into left, scoring Woodling. Martin, trying to score from second, was out on a fine throw by Thompson, who had just replaced Jackie Robinson in left at the start of the ninth.

All even at 3-2, the clubs wind up their Ebbets Field play tomorrow in the fifth game. Then they'll switch to Yankee Stadium for a sixth and seventh, if necessary.

The bright sunshine and yesterday's excitement brought out another series record crowd for Brooklyn, 36,775.

The receipts sent the player pool to a record $608,341.61, plus an additional $23,000 from a pre-series television show.

The booty to be cut up by the two contesting clubs (70 per cent of the player pool) is $483,939.13. The winners will share $290,363.48 and the losers $193,575.65. Although they haven't announced how they will split their money, it is a record amount for both winners and losers.

Ford was in deep trouble from the very start. The 24-year-old southpaw got a bad break when leadoff man Gilliam lofted a high fly down the right field foul line that Hank Bauer over-ran and then let fall just inside. The ball bounded into the stands for an automatic two-base hit.

After Reese grounded out, Robinson lined a sharp single to center, scoring Gilliam, and Brooklyn took the lead it never yielded. Hodges forced Robinson but Campanella was given an intentional pass after the third successive ball by Ford bounced past Berra for a wild pitch.

Up came Snider to hoist a high fly into the screen, near the right-field line, perhaps held fair by the wind. The ball seemed to run down the screen, entangling itself momentarily in a piece of bunting before it dropped to the ground.

Manager Casey Stengel decided Ford had seen enough action after he got Carl Furillo on a fly to Bauer to end the inning. He brought Gorman from the bullpen to start the second.

The Dodgers reached the spectacular righthander for a run in the fourth after two were out. Loos singled to right and Gilliam hit a double into the right-field screen, scoring the pitcher. Junior, incidentally, had another double in the second when Rizzuto, Woodling and Mantle converged on his high pop fly. Rizzuto made a last second stab but missed.

The Yanks put two hits together for the first time to make it 4-2 in the fifth on McDougald's home run and Martin's triple.

Sain, who came in after Gorman was lifted for a pinch-hitter in the fifth, slid by the fifth in easy style but was bombed in the sixth for Snider's homer, his fifth in series play; a double by Billy Cox, another single by Loos and Gilliam's high scoring left to Bauer. The final run in the seventh came off Art Schallock, a little lefty.

Baylor Batters Miami, 21-13

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Baylor's Bears rolled home unbeset in the young football season today, a 21-13 decision over Miami notched on the record that made them tenth-ranked in the nation.

They didn't have too much to brag about, however. Miami, underdogs by 21 points, made a last-half comeback that almost had the Golden Bears on the ropes last night.

The Bears swirled to 271 yards rushing and passing while Miami romped to 225, most of it in the air in that second-half surge.

Baylor took the opening kickoff on its 32-yard line and skipped blithely to a touchdown with L. G. Dupre making the last yard. The Bears got another touchdown in the second period as Cotton Davidson beat the clock by 20 seconds with a payoff pass to Wayne Hopkins from the Miami six.

It appeared the Texans had the game in the bag. But Don James unfurled his passing arm in the second half and moved 53 yards to a touchdown. James scoring on a quarterback sneak from the Bear one.

Baylor didn't like that very much and the Bears sticking to the ground, raked 63 yards for their third touchdown in the fourth quarter, with Davidson pointing across from the Miami one. But the Hurricanes weren't through. A pass that ate up 58 yards—J. B. Johnston to Bill Smith—got the second Miami touchdown and the Hurricanes moved to the Baylor 18 a little later on James' passing. But the Bears rallied and stopped the threat by throwing James for two losses.

There were heavy rains, before the game and a shower during it, and only 28,042 fans turned out. The terrific speed and power of Baylor gobbled up 185 yards on the ground but Davidson, whose passing was sensational two weeks ago when Baylor won its first game of the season over California, 25-0, wasn't connecting very well last night. Baylor gained only 86 yards passing to 149 for the Hurricanes.

Knott Wins Spirited Bout From Gail Coyotes, 33-25

KNOTT, Oct. 3—The Knott Hill Billies had to go at full speed to skip past the Borden County School Coyotes, 33-25, in a six-man football played here Friday night.

Phillip Stovall put the Billies in the lead early in the game when he skirted end for 11 yards; eliminating a 50-yard drive.

Gail tied the score shortly thereafter when Franklin passed to Farmer, good for 35 yards and a tally.

Knott blew a good scoring opportunity early in the second when the Billies fumbled on the one and Gail recovered.

The Billies, however, took advantage of a poor Gail punt and counted when Stovall raced over from the ten. When Stovall passed to R. Shaw for the extra point, that pushed the score to 13-6 and Knott held the lead thereafter.

Gail scored just before the half ended, however, when Franklin went ten yards across the double stripes. The count at that stage was 13-12, Knott.

In the third, Toby Metcalf of Knott passed to Richard Parker for a score. Stovall booted the conversion try for two points and the Billies led, 21-12. The touchdown play covered 50 yards.

Gail came back to cover 73 yards in one play, Farmer passing to Reddell for a TD. Farmer passed to Farmer for the extra point and it was 21-19.

Knott went further ahead when Stovall flipped a pass to Metcalf, good for 18 yards and a tally. Coach Bill Selin said it was the most perfectly executed pass play he'd ever seen in six-man ball.

In the fourth, Franklin fought back for a Coyote score on a ten-yard run and it was 27-25, and still anybody's game.

Stovall made it certain for Knott, however, when he scored from the one to run the tally to 33-25.

Texas A & M Defeats Georgia, 14 To 12

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF DALLAS, Oct. 3 (AP)—The Texas Aggies scored with less than two minutes to go to beat Georgia 14-12 tonight in a penalty-ridden, break-filled intercollegiate football game.

Sophomore Ellis Wood Kettler's true toe was the difference as the Aggie back booted two extra points while Sam Mrvos and Joe Graf each missed for Georgia.

Zeke Brakowski, heralded Georgia passer, was good but it was a pass by Don Ellis, the Aggie quarterback, that told the story.

The teams struggled through the first half in 85-degree heat with accent on the defense. Only one could Georgia get past midpoint.

It wasn't long, however, before Georgia had another touchdown. Bobby Garrard ran a punt back from the Georgia 14 to the Aggie 7 and in three tries the Bulldogs

Irish Batter Purdue, 37-7

By DALE BURGESS LAFAYETTE, Ind., Oct. 3 (AP)—Notre Dame's neat and nifty football team scored a 37-7 victory over big but befuddled Purdue today.

The Irish scored as they pleased—with fullback Neil Wornen's power, halfback Johnny Latner's speed and quarterback Ralph Guglielmi's lateral passes overwhelming Purdue.

Notre Dame started its point production with a 23-yard goal by guard Menil Mavrides less than seven minutes into the first quarter and Purdue never caught up.

Latner showed the sell-out crowd of 48,135 sweltering fans his All-America caliber in an 86-yard kickoff return in the second quarter. He simply exploded down the sideline and outran everybody in the Purdue backfield for low.

Worden, however, was the main payoff weapon for the Irish, scoring two of Notre Dame's five touchdowns. They were on 11-yard runs in which he smashed through the Purdue line like a ram.

Sub halfback Dick Washington made another almost as pretty as Latner's long run. Washington took a lateral from sub quarterback Tom Carey in a 31-yard scoring play that gave the Irish a 23-7 lead.

Guglielmi scored one Notre Dame touchdown himself on a sneak and completed seven of nine passes for 82 yards. Halfback Joe Heap caught three of them for a total of 57 yards.

The Boiler-makers never were the same after that. Purdue's lone touchdown came in the second period when quarterback Roy Evans hit end John Kerr with a 30-yard pass on the Notre Dame 45 and Kerr ran the rest of the way.

Peter Alliss also blew a three-foot punt on the 18th and was a 1-up loser to Jim Turnesa of Briarcliff, N.Y.

The United States had gone into the second and final day's play with a 3-1 lead gained in the first day's Scotch foursomes.

Lloyd Mangrum of Niles, Ill., and Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., were upset.

Scottiesman Eric Brown surprised Mangrum, 2 up, and a few minutes later long-ball hitter Harry Westman of Britain came in with a 1-up victory over Snead.

In the day's opening match Irishman Fred Daly walloped Ted Kroll of New Hartford, N.Y., 9 and 7.

Jack Burke of Klamath Lake, N.Y., and Cary Middlecott of Memphis, got the American team back on the winning side, Burke downing Dai Rees 2 and 1 and Middlecott-defeating Max Faulkner 3 and 1.

Harry Bradshaw of Ireland pulled England even, defeating Fred Haas Jr. of New Orleans, 3 and 2.

got the six-pointer, Charlie Madison making it with a one-yard climb over right tackle. Graf missed the point.

Then the Aggies went back to work. Ellis' passes rolling to the Georgia 23, but Georgia held and took over. Then Howard Kelly fumbled and Ray Barrett recovered for A&M on the Georgia 28.

Huddleston hit right tackle for eight and Johnny Salyer rode through tackle for a first down on the Georgia

15. Ellis passed to Salyer in the end zone and Kettler again converted.

Ellis intercepted a pass and ran to the Georgia 18 as the game ended.

Georgia scoring: Touchdowns, Clemens, Madison.

Texas A&M scoring: Touchdowns, Ellis, Salyer, Conversions, Kettler 2.

While TCU dominated the second half, it was never able to get down the hard-hitting Arkansas defense.

McLean carried the ball 21 times—three times as often as any other back for either team—for 125 yards and completed seven of 15 passes for another 97 yards.

McKown was TCU's best, rushing for 33 yards in seven tries and finding the mark on six of 12 passes for 44.

It was Arkansas' first victory under new coach Bowden Wyatt, following a 7-6 season-opening loss to Oklahoma A&M, and richly rewarded the Razorbacks' fathers who sat by their sons on the bench for Dad's Day event.

It also was the Razorbacks' first conquest of the Frogs since the 1949 game which resulted in conference censure of Arkansas' "rough tactics." Today's scrap was rough from the opening whistle, with several personal fouls being called and TCU's Malcolm Wallace and Claude Roach being ejected from the game for roughing.

TCU kicked off into the end zone and Arkansas went all the way from their 20 in 11 plays. On his 55-yard breakaway, McHan started wide around left end, cut back and went to the Frog eight.

Fullback Henry Moore and McHan drove to the one and Moore dived over for the score.

McHan's kick for the point was low.

The big Arkansas tailback sparked a 66-yard Razorback march in the second quarter. He connected with Phil Reginnell for 27 yards, ran for five and then pitched to and once in the second quarter, kicked on first down at the 50.

Colorado City counted quickly, scoring on the second play after they came into possession of the ball. Morton took the kickoff, failed to gain and kicked out short to their own 37. Bud Windham ran the punt back to the 21, and picked up two at the middle. Hollis Gainsy took the ball on a handoff from quarterback Billy Williams, burst over right tackle and carried into the end zone. Williams' try, for point was no good.

The Wolves scored again in the first quarter, as Morton took the kick after the Wolf score and netted three yards in three plays. The two was to the Wolves' 29-yard line, with Windham racing the ball back to the forty. Ground plays and a 15-yard pass from Williams to Charles Small ate up 39 yards: Windham took a hand-off on the 21, bounced off two tacklers in the secondary and cleared the doublestuffed standing up. Williams missed the PAT.

As the game entered the second quarter, Colorado City Coach Dillard Adair began to tinker and the next score was tabbed by reserves. Tommy Jameson teed the ball on the Indian 26 and J. D. Chandler, 120-pound back, carried off tackle for the score. Jimmy Shurtieff converted.

In mid quarter, the Wolves captured an Indian fumble and scored in two plays. A knock at the line was good for 3 and Chandler took the ball on a handoff and sped 84 yards for the TD. Shurtieff converted.

After the kickoff, Morton put together 7 yards to work the ball to midfield; failing to make the first down, the ball went over on the fifty. Shurtieff promptly punted on first down—the kick covering 19 yards. A pass from Alfred Coats to Harvey Winder took the ball back to the fifty and Donnie Walker broke thru to the Cee City 40. A penalty moved the bar back to the 45, and four passes were incomplete. Colorado City tried two and scored on the third as Williams hit Don Flippen with the ball on the Morton 35 and Flippen went all the way. Shurtieff converted for a half-time score of 33-0.

After the half, Gainsy scored on the first play from scrimmage, going 55 yards for his second TD. Shurtieff's point try was so good.

Ground plays and a 15-yard pass from Williams to Charles Small ate up 39 yards: Windham took a hand-off on the 21, bounced off two tacklers in the secondary and cleared the doublestuffed standing up. Williams missed the PAT.

As the game entered the second quarter, Colorado City Coach Dillard Adair began to tinker and the next score was tabbed by reserves. Tommy Jameson teed the ball on the Indian 26 and J. D. Chandler, 120-pound back, carried off tackle for the score. Jimmy Shurtieff converted.

In mid quarter, the Wolves captured an Indian fumble and scored in two plays. A knock at the line was good for 3 and Chandler took the ball on a handoff and sped 84 yards for the TD. Shurtieff converted.

After the kickoff, Morton put together 7 yards to work the ball to midfield; failing to make the first down, the ball went over on the fifty. Shurtieff promptly punted on first down—the kick covering 19 yards. A pass from Alfred Coats to Harvey Winder took the ball back to the fifty and Donnie Walker broke thru to the Cee City 40. A penalty moved the bar back to the 45, and four passes were incomplete. Colorado City tried two and scored on the third as Williams hit Don Flippen with the ball on the Morton 35 and Flippen went all the way. Shurtieff converted for a half-time score of 33-0.

After the half, Gainsy scored on the first play from scrimmage, going 55 yards for his second TD. Shurtieff's point try was so good.

In mid quarter, Gainsy made his longest run of the evening, his 71-yarder to place the ball on the Morton 5. Williams tossed to Chandler for 5 yards and the score. Shurtieff converted.

Colorado City plays in Winters next week.

Ponies Outplay Tech But Lose

By MERCER BAILEY ATLANTA, Oct. 3 (AP)—A fast, tough Southern Methodist line stopped Georgia Tech's heralded running game cold today but Georgia Tech used a couple of breaks and a goal line stand to win a 6-4 decision.

The inspired defensive play of the SMU Mustangs kept the Yellow Jackets bottled up in their own half of the field except the one time Tech scored.

SMU Tackle Jack Gunlock blocked a Dave Davis punt and the ball went out of the end zone for a safety, and Tech intentionally gave the Mustangs another two pointer.

The only touchdown came in the third quarter when Davis made a spectacular, leaping, juggling interception of a Duane Nutt pass on Tech's 25. A roughing penalty against the Mustangs helped put the ball on the 5. Three plays later, quarterback Pepper Rodgers sneaked into the end zone.

A few minutes later, a punt into the end zone by Jerry Norton and a penalty pushed Tech back to its 9. Davis went back to kick and fumbled, with SMU's Bill Fox recovering one foot shy of the goal line.

Tech's line was like granite and the Mustangs were repelled. The Jackets took over and Rodgers grounded the ball in the end zone.

SMU's hard-charging line—spearheaded by Gunlock, Fox, Jeffery Clem and Ed Bernet—started a near-capacity crowd of Tech partisans by continually outplaying the Tech line, except for Tech's vallant stand on the one. The statistics prove Tech was lucky to get by this beautiful day with a squeaky victory and its string of unbeatens games extended to 23. SMU got 11 first downs to Tech's 2.

A backfield in motion penalty cost the Mustangs a touchdown early in the first quarter. Eldom recovered a Teas fumble on Tech's 38 and six running plays moved the ball to the 24. From there, Nutt fired a pass to fullback Dale Moore and Moore stepped into the end zone.

After the penalty, a Norton-to-Bernet pass put the ball on the 19 where Tech took over on downs.

The Southwest Conference visitors moved into Tech territory four more times in the first half, going to the nine once on a 45-yard punt return by Norton.

Tech, defending Southeastern Conference champion, and ranked ninth nationally, revived a bit in the second half and allowed only one deep penetration.

Bovines Overcome Jitters To Defeat Houston, 28-7

By BO BYERS AUSTIN, Oct. 3 (AP)—The Texas Longhorns shook off the ill effects of six first-half fumbles today to come from behind the second straight week as it overpowered University of Houston 28-7.

If the first half was one of misery for Texas, the second half was equally as upsetting for Houston. The Cougars fouled up on two punting attempts and saw Texas eventually turn both those miscues into touchdowns.

Houston's fumble of a punt return also set up a tally, a 23-yard pass from quarterback Bunny Andrews to end Gilmer Spring.

A Texas fumble on the Longhorn 10 put Houston in position to grab a 7-0 lead in the second period as the Cougars scored on an eight-yard pass.

A safety against Houston left it 7-2 at the midway point, and the stands buzzed at the prospect of an upset. But the roof fell on Houston in the last 10 minutes and 45 seconds of the third quarter. In that short span, the Longhorns ran and passed for 134 yards and four touchdowns while tossing Houston runners for a minus 24 yards.

A heavy shower in the first period muddled the field, and Texas could not hang on to the slippery ball. The Longhorns dropped it six times and eager Cougars pounced on it for five recoveries.

The third period Texas scoring came on a five-yard ram by fullback Dougal Cameron, Spring's 33-yard pass reception, left half Joe Youngblood's two-yard smash and a one-yarder by Paul Parkerson.

End Carlton Massey, Texas' best All America hope, finally got into action after being sidelined by a leg injury and he was a tiger on defense.

Government Must Retain Some Lands, Says McKay

TYLER, Oct. 3 (AP)—The federal government should take a good look at the whole land program before settling the question of getting out of the land owning business, Interior Secretary McKay said today.

First Graders Going Back On Full Schedule

Half day sessions, except in schools with housing problems, are over the first graders.

The one month period in which all first graders were on half day sessions to allow for teacher-parent conferences ended Friday.

Monday the beginners will report on their regular schedules. For those who will attend the "full" day, school starts at 9 a. m. and will end at 2:30 p. m.

Those who will attend mornings report at 8:30 a. m. and will be out at 12:30 p. m. Those who attend afternoons will start at 1 p. m. and will be out at 5 p. m.

Dean Bennett, supervisor of elementary education, said he believed the one-month adjustment period had proven successful beyond expectations.

"We had 420 conferences between the teacher and parents of first graders," he explained. "When you take out the Kate Morrison factor which is handled of necessity mainly on parent visits to the school, the percentage of visitation stands at about 85."

The supervisor said that parents appeared eager for the visits and that teachers felt they would have a better understanding of the individual problems of the children.

"We have at least laid the foundation for closer parent and teacher cooperation," he added.

The board approved the month's half-day plan for all first graders to stimulate the visitation and to give youngsters a chance to get adjusted to their new experience in school. Teachers also utilized the time in some in-service training and preparation.

Missouri Flattens Colorado, 27-16

BOULDER, Colo., Oct. 3 (AP)—Two airborne touchdowns in the first 10 minutes sent Missouri winging to a 27-16 Big Seven football victory today and dealt Colorado its first loss in 13 games at home.

The Missourians, guided by the passing of Vic Eaton and Tony Scardino, boosted the count to 21-0 before the Buffaloes hammered out their first touchdown midway of the second quarter with the aid of a holding penalty against the Tigers.

Fullback Bob Bauman intercepted a pass on the Missouri 30 and ran back 49 yards to spring the Tigers to their fourth touchdown in the third period.

After picking up two points on an automatic safety, Colorado scored on a 40-yard touchdown pass from Homer Jenkins to halfback Ronnie Johnson on the goal line. The back bounced off the chest of defender Bob Schoonmaker into Johnson's arms.

er ownership. The idea is this: The land must be put to its highest possible use.

Commenting on a proposal by the East Texas Chamber of Commerce that the federal government sell its land to balance the budget, McKay said "it is an interesting approach. I don't believe we can lay down a hard and fast rule."

He said he thought federal parks of national interest should remain in government hands but multi-purpose dams should be built through the co-operation of federal and state governments and private capital.

"On the big dams, the federal government would have to help build them but private industry should share the hydro-electric production. On the other hand, there are many projects that private enterprise can do."

"We don't want a government monopoly, we want a partnership," he said.

"I do not think the federal government should get out of the power business entirely. We want to look at each area separately. We want to put each particular portion of land to the highest possible use," he said.

McKay said Congress would have to write a new water policy. Instead of acquiring large tracts of land around lakes created by dams, he said he thought the government should obtain easement rights.

The secretary said that while on his tour he wanted to have a look at offshore drilling operations. He said it was possible much oil would be found beyond the historic boundaries of the states and the Department of Interior would be in a "terrific oil business."

The secretary today rode horseback to lead the annual Texas Rose Festival parade which included more than 3,000 persons and 36 bands. More than 15,000 jammed the stadium for observation and the downtown area was jammed with Rose Festival visitors.

The festival will end tomorrow.

Funeral service for Gus Harris Jacks, who died in a local hospital Friday night, will be held at 3 p. m. Sunday in the Nalley Funeral chapel.

Jacks, 82, had lived in Big Spring for the past 50 years. He was born in Gonzales in March 1871 and came here in 1923. He was married to Mrs. Jacks in 1927, and his wife preceded him in death in 1922.

Jacks worked for 20 years in the old Wig-Wam Cafe here.

He is survived by four sons and 11 grandchildren. The sons are Harry H. Jacks of Big Spring, Roy D. Jacks of Sand Springs, Ralph R. Jacks of Needles, Calif., and Carl Jacks of Nebraska.

Pallbearers will be Robert Smart, Eric Nance, Bill Best, Gene Crenshaw, J. C. Clinton and H. M. Stewart.

Committee Set To Study Pay Problem

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 3 (AP)—Duke stabbed quickly for three touchdowns in the second period today and then held on to defeat Tennessee 21-7 and remain in football's unbeaten ranks.

After a scoreless first period, Duke got its split-T attack rolling and reeled off its three scores within a 6-minute span. Tennessee punched over its touchdown in the second quarter.

A shirt-sleeved crowd of 30,000 saw the game break wide open after a 15-yard personal foul penalty on guard Frank McCroskey.

Duke got its first down on Tennessee's 2. Halfback Red Smith raced across for the touchdown and then kicked the first of his two extra points.

The Vols, who suffered their second straight setback under the guidance of Coach Harvey Robinson, were baffled by the quarter-back option play as Duke swept 65 yards for its second score.

Quarterback Jerry Barger, substiting for the injured Wad Lutz, called on halfback Bob Pascal for the scoring romp after 11 running plays had worked the ball to Tennessee's 1.

Duke guard Jim Logan pounced on fullback Ted Schwanger's fumble on the kickoff on Tennessee's 29 to set the stage for the Blue Devils' final marker.

A penalty put the ball back on the Vol 41. Then Barger lofted a pass to halfback Lloyd Caudle who raced across from the 18 and touched for the touchdown. Halfback Dale Boye converted.

Tennessee, which misfired on scoring opportunities in the first and final periods, took the next kickoff and marched 55 yards for its lone score. Jimmy Wade, starting his first game at tailback in the Vol single wing attack, skirted left end for four yards and the touchdown. Fullback Tom Tracy converted.

Nittany Lions Lose To Pennsylvania

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 3 (AP)—Walt Hynski, equally adept on the ground as in the air, tossed a touchdown pass to Gary Scott today to give the University of Pennsylvania a 13-7 victory over Penn State before 51,000.

The two scoring plays enabled the unbeaten Quakers to present retiring Coach George Munger with the departing gift he wanted most—his first victory over the intrastate rival in six tries.

Hynski fired the 25-yard winning pass to halfback Scott in the end zone in the final period after Penn had come from behind in the second quarter. Penn's defense stiffened after this second Quaker touchdown and kept Penn State bottled up in its own territory for most of the time.

Virginia Blanked

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Oct. 3 (AP)—Virginia's proud record of scoring in 63 consecutive football games was smashed today as South Carolina packed three touchdowns in a busy second period and coasted home behind its big, stout line to a 19-0 victory.

Committee Set To Study Pay Problem

AUSTIN, Oct. 3 (AP)—A subcommittee digging into the problem of boosting teachers' pay will meet here Wednesday at 10:30 a. m.

The session was announced today by Dr. J. W. Edgar, state commissioner of education. The subcommittee was appointed by Gov. Shivers and R. L. Proffer of Denton, president of the Texas State Teachers Assn. Its appointment was recommended by a 21-member committee working on the problem.

Members of the subpanel are Sens. A. M. Aiken Jr., Paris and Otis Lock, Lufkin; Joseph W. Griggs, Huntsville; H. W. Stillwell, Tarkenton; Mrs. Elsie Parnell, Mineral Wells; and Herbert O. Willborn, Amarillo.

BUSINESS IS CONFUSED HERE

DALLAS, Oct. 3 (AP)—The secretary for a Dallas business man telephoned the Southern Methodist University School of Business one day this week.

"My employer wishes you to send him a brassiere," said the secretary.

"Are you sure you have the right number?" asked Mrs. Virginia Long at the SMU office.

"Well, I wanted the SMU School of Business."

There was a long pause which Mrs. Long filled with thought. "Could it possibly be he wants a brochure?" Mrs. Long finally asked.

Eleven Generals Turn Up Among Freed Prisoners

CAMP FRIEDLAND, Germany, Oct. 3 (AP)—Eleven generals turned up unexpectedly today among German prisoners freed from Soviet camps in a repatriation program Russia started a week ago.

The generals, who estimated 140 of their rank are still held in the Soviet Union, arrived in a special transport from Moscow which was not disclosed beforehand to West German authorities.

The eldest was Maj. Gen. Franz Constantin Frembe, 86, who was seized by the Russians in 1945 although he had lived in retirement since World War I. The youngest was a general of the Reich labor service, Ernst Cabanis, 63.

Seven came to this border camp on the way to freedom in West Germany. The other four headed to homes in Berlin and Soviet-occupied East Germany.

The generals said they had been moved by train in third-class sleepers to Moscow last Monday. From Moscow, buses took them on the long trip to East Germany.

The group told of the death of nine generals in their prison camp. All the generals except Frembe did light work such as peeling potatoes or cutting bread.

West German authorities disclosed that 200 repatriates of lower rank whose homes are in East Germany had chosen to stay in Germany in the West German republic.

They are among 2,621 Germans, described by the Russians as "war criminals," released in the past seven days.

Brazil To Get Oil Monopoly

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 3 (AP)—President Getulio Vargas signed into law tonight a bill creating a Brazilian oil monopoly with exclusive control of oil production, transportation and refining.

Foreigners are excluded from participation in Brazil's oil industry.

The bill creates a government-controlled corporation, "Petrobras Brasileiro S. A.," which will operate under the name of Petrobras.

The measure was debated bitterly by Congress for nearly two years. The big issue was whether foreign participation would be permitted. The final answer was no.

As approved, the corporation will have an initial capitalization of 200 million dollars, which will be increased by 1957 to 500 million dollars.

The government will take the initial issue of 200 million shares of stock but ultimately plans to hold 51 per cent with the remainder to public subscription. Foreigners may not be shareholders.

Sante Fe Employees Granted Injunction

AMARILLO, Oct. 3 (AP)—Fourteen employees of the Santa Fe Railroad today won a temporary injunction preventing the railroad and 16 non-operating unions from signing a union shop agreement.

Dist. Judge E. C. Nelson, who granted the injunction, set a Nov. 16 hearing on a permanent injunction.

The 14 employees said they don't want to belong to a union. They acted under the Texas "right to work" law. It was the first such case, but court attaches said 14 similar court actions are pending in other states.

Higher Costs Loom For Social Security

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3 (AP)—Significant changes—including much higher costs—are mirrored in the long-range picture of the federal security program in new government statistics which became available today.

The new figures indicate that higher tax rates than now scheduled eventually to pay the death and retirement benefits promised to millions of workers.

Here is the updated picture, as estimated by Robert J. Myers and Eugene A. Razor, chief actuaries for the Social Security Administration:

Under present law, costs will run almost a billion dollars or more per year higher than previously expected, starting in a few years and running on past the year 2000.

This would put a drain on the vast social security reserve fund. Under present tax and benefit schedules, and under average or most plausible conditions, the fund would fall far short of the previous expected peak of more than 100 billion dollars.

Then it would drop off much more rapidly than expected, until it is wiped out somewhere between 1965 and 2023. At that point, costs of the program would be exceeding income by from three to six billion dollars annually.

Congress, however, might step in and change the picture before the program reached that point, if it wanted to retain the concept of a big trust or reserve fund. Or could let the fund die out and shift to a pay-as-you-go basis, levying taxes each year to pay for each year's benefits.

The present tax is 3 per cent on payrolls under employment covered by the system—up to a salary of $3,600 a year. Workers pay half, and employers half. The total tax is due to rise to 4 per cent next Jan. 1, to 5 per cent in 1960, 6 per cent in 1965, and 6 1/2 per cent in 1970 and thereafter.

Judges To Vie Rain Or Shine

STANTON, (SC)—Rain or shine, dry track or a muddy one, the cotton pulling contest scheduled for 3:30 p. m. Monday between Howard County Judge R. H. Weaver of Big Spring and Martin County Judge James McMorris is going to be held. A spokesman for the Martin County Chamber of Commerce said Saturday night.

This community received its best rain in a long while Saturday afternoon.

It has also been announced that the band from Webb Air Force Base at Big Spring, which will parade here Monday afternoon and then furnish music during the hour-long cotton pulling contest, will be supper guests of the American Legion here.

Pat Hale Enters Champion Gilt In Martin Pig Show

STANTON, (SC)—The Sears Foundation Duroc gilt exhibited by Pat Hale, Star Route, Tarzan, was first place winner in the Sears County Show here Saturday, according to County Agent Ray Hastings.

William Cave, Route 1, Ackerly, had the second place gilt. The entry of Donnie Hull, Route 1, Stanton, placed third and that of Glen Wren, Route 1, Stanton, was fourth.

The show was judged by Elbert Steele, vocational agriculture teacher in the Stanton High School.

These winning gilts will be taken to Big Spring on Oct. 8 to show against the top Howard County Sears gilts in the Sears Area Show. Dell Hogg, Route 1, Stanton, who won the Martin County Sears Foundation boar will also show this animal at Big Spring in competition with the Sears boar awarded a Howard County 4-H CCIU member.

Senate Group To Survey Drought

VICTORIA, Oct. 3 (AP)—Claude McCan, chairman of the State Drought Committee, said tonight two members of the Senate Agricultural Committee will visit Texas to study drought conditions.

McCan said he had been informed Sen. Anderson (D-N.M.) and Sen. Holland (D-Fla.) will arrive in Odessa Friday and will tour that section of West Texas.

No formal hearings are planned and details of their tour have not been received, McCan said.

McCan said the senators also will visit drought sections of Arkansas, Missouri, Kansas and New Mexico.

Mrs. Ruth Martin and daughter, Jan. of Willis Point, have been weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Canning.

First reports from the United Fund was encouraging—upwards of $10,000 from the advance gifts. This is more than a fourth of this division's goal. Tuesday, the employes division has its initial report and this is being watched closely as one of the campaign keys. This week the eyes of the community will be upon the employes.

Bank figures sagged from a year ago. Deposits stood at $21 million, or $4 1/2 million under a year ago. This was due mostly to unanticipated drought. However, the unprecedented drought. Close to figures in June, indicating a leveling off.

The farm Bureau adopted a resolution at its county convention Thursday asking that land intended for cotton this year but not planted, be considered in future cotton allotments. If this is not adopted in the farm program, our area will be sorely hurt, unduly penalized.

Howard County, Big Spring Independent School District and City of Big Spring all completed their tax rolls last week. Total levy (including state, junior college and common school districts is $1,558,957.

Our National Guard unit, recipient of an excellent rating in state maintenance inspection, got new laurels last week. Gen. James E. Taylor, 36th division artillery commander, said the unit here had made more improvement than any visited since the June encampment. At that encampment, our battery was rated as one of the best.

Water usage has been holding at phenomenally high levels. September averaged out more than 4 million gallons per day. October started out in the same ratio, but Saturday's showers will break that. Unseasonably high temperatures likely will be broken and milder weather is in store.

Completion Logged In Mitchell County

Completion of Sun Oil Company's No. 1-A V. T. McCabe, venture in the North Jameson (Strawn Sand) area of Mitchell County, was reported this weekend. Potential was gauged at 175.50 barrels of oil per day.

Flow was through a 11-64th inch choke from perforations between 5,952 and 5,952 and between 5,982 and 5,994 feet. Zone was fractured with 4,000 gallons.

Gravity of oil was 42.7 degrees and the gas-oil ratio is 1,465-1. Top of pay is 5,941 and elevation is 2,071 feet. Total depth was measured at 6,050 feet, and the 5/4-inch stringer is bottomed at 4,049 feet.

Location of Sun's new well is 600 from east and 1,980 from north lines, section 231, block 1-A, H&TC survey.

Other area ventures were progressing normally this weekend with no spectacular developments.

Pump is being installed on Gulf No. 1-C. C. Cannon in Borden County, however. This wildcat has a plugged back depth of 7,531 feet and on last report swabbed 41 barrels of oil and five barrels of basic sediment and water in eight hours. Drill site is C SW NW, 39-33-5n, T&P survey.

Also in Borden County, Texas Company No. 1-B Clayton is reported at 5,150 feet in lime and going ahead. Location is 2,001 from east and 661 from south lines, 29-32-4n, T&P survey, Texas Company No. 2 Jones, 1,980 from north and 690 from west lines, northwest quarter, 534-97-H&TC survey, hit 8,150 feet in lime.

Hunt No. 1 Nix in Dawson County reached 4,443 feet in anhydrite and lime. This wildcat is 12 miles east of Lamesa, 1,190 from north and 860 from west lines, 41-33-5n, T&P survey.

In Martin County, Gulf No. 2-A Glass, 2,310 from north and 330 from east lines, 12-39-1n, T&P survey, drilled to 4,690 feet in lime. And Humble No. 1 Trulock in Mitchell County, 690 from west and 730 from south lines, 43-25-1n, T&P survey, is reported waiting on cement set for seven inch casing on bottom, 3,032 feet in lime.

Building Totals Get Boost Here

Thanks to issuance of permit for $398,000 enlargement of the water filtration plant, the city wound up September with the largest construction total of any month this year.

Construction, including the filter plant work, valued at $484,053 was authorized in building permits issued in September. The month's aggregate boosted total for the year to $1,903,415, F. W. Bettie, building inspector, reported.

September was $150,000 better than any other month this year. Second in the May total of $329,315. The year's record:

Month	Permits	Amount
JANUARY	65	$ 104,750
FEBRUARY	89	$ 265,300
MARCH	123	$ 249,235
APRIL	83	$ 133,095
MAY	85	$ 329,315
JUNE	59	$ 141,040
JULY	72	$ 210,150
AUGUST	45	$ 86,475
SEPTEMBER	61	$ 484,053
TOTAL	654	$1,903,415

Martin Taxpayers Getting Notices For First Time

STANTON (SC) — Two thousand tax statements have gone out to Martin County property owners, according to Sheriff Dan Saunders.

These notices call their attention to the discounts which may be taken if the taxes are paid between now and the first of the year.

These discounts include three per cent on state taxes and two per cent on county taxes if paid this month; two per cent on county taxes and one per cent on county taxes if paid in November, and one per cent on state taxes if paid during December.

This is the first year such notices have been mailed out.

Saunders, who also serves as tax assessor-collector, also collects taxes for the Flower Grove and Courtney school districts, although the districts make their own assessments and have their own boards of equalization. The Commissioners Court serves as the County Board of Equalization.

Discovery Is Made In Runnels County

Murray Petroleum Company of San Angelo has completed its No. 1 V. B. Briley as a Morris Sand discovery in Northeast Runnels County two and one-quarter miles northwest of the West Sykes (Morris sand) field.

The well was finished for 192.5 barrels of 38-gravity oil per day. Production was through a 14-64 inch choke and perforations above 3,920 feet.

Location of the new opener is 330 feet from south and east lines of section 321, block 65, H&TC survey, five miles north and slightly east of production in the Winters (Caddo) field.

Second Wilberns Producer Is Made

The White Flat field of Northeast Nolan County has gained its second Wilberns producer with the completion of the Margaret Hunt Trust Estate of Dallas No. 1 W. W. McElmurry.

On potential test the well flowed 225 barrels of oil per day through a 21-64 inch choke. The flow was natural with 200 pounds pressure on tubing and 200 pounds pressure on casing.

Production is coming from open hole section between 5,617 feet, seat of 7-inch casing, and total depth of 5,621 feet. Top of the Wilberns is at 5,074 feet. Elevation is not reported.

Location is 1,787 feet from north and 2,173 feet from west lines of section 36, block 20, T&P survey.

More Drilling Noted In State This Week

AUSTIN, Oct. 3 (AP)—Oil well drilling was more active in Texas last week than the week before, the Railroad Commission reported today.

Completions totalled 229 compared with 208 the week before, bringing the total for the year to 8,038. For the same period a year ago, 8,158 wells were brought in.

Gas well completions for the week ended today totalled 46, one under last week's.

Twelve wildcat oil wells were reported, bringing the yearly total to 460 so far compared with 469 in the same period last year.

There was a decrease of 64,022 barrels of oil in the average calendar day allowable as of today compared with a week ago, the commission's weekly report showed.

Oil Show Hostesses

San Angelo Oil Show (Oct. 15-17) visitors will be greeted by San Angelo College Ramettes and members of the San Angelo Desk and Derrick Club. The two Ramettes shown above, Betty Sue Allen of Sonora, left, and Gail Roach of Houston, will be among the array of co-hostesses. Twelve-foot rigs similar to the one shown above have been placed in leading San Angelo hotel lobbies and at strategic street intersections. Approximately 90 exhibitors have booked space at the show. Entertainment will include football games, a parade, banquets and luncheons, name band dances, and a giant barbecue.

SCD Supervisor To Be Selected

The election of a supervisor for Zone 5 of the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District will be held Tuesday evening, at 8 p.m. at the Lomax School.

Mr. Patterson, chairman of the board, is the present supervisor from this zone. Supervisors serve five-year terms and since each soil conservation district is divided into five zones, one of them is elected each year.

Every person owning land in the zone, who is 21 years old, is entitled to vote. The wives of landowners are also eligible voters.

The area included in Zone 5 is bounded on the north by U. S. Highway 80 between Big Spring and Midland; on the west and south by the Midland-Garden City Highway; thence on a northeasterly direction, crossing the Big Spring-Garden City Highway at a point about five miles north of Garden City, continuing three miles; thence north and northeast to the Sterling City-Big Spring Highway at a point seven miles southeast of Big Spring and following the Sterling City-Big Spring Highway back to the junction of Highways 87 and 80 in Big Spring.

A program of entertainment has also been arranged for the evening.

Tidelands Leases Going Up For Auction On Dec. 1

AUSTIN, Oct. 3 (AP)—A whopping 500,000 acres of the much discussed "tidelands" go up for lease on sale bid auction Dec. 1, and Land Commissioner Bascom Giles predicted that the sale would surpass "anything we've ever done before."

Varying slightly from usual policy, Giles requested oil companies and operators to ask which submerged areas they wanted up for lease.

Fourteen oil companies responded in less than two weeks, requesting that 650,000 acres be offered. The School Land Board approved Giles' recommendation that a half million be offered instead. The tracts are in four sizes, respectively, 640, 1,440, 2,880 and 5,760 acres.

To avoid any confusion over the three league or 10 1/4-mile boundary between Texas properties and the continental shelf, which is still held as the property of the federal government, no tracts will be offered over nine miles from shoreline.

As far as the total expected, Giles said there was no way predicting, but that he was willing to say that the figure should pass the record of $16 millions set in one leasing of University of Texas lands.

Some miscellaneous school lands in the interior will also be offered for lease at the Dec. 1 sale, but very small acreage is expected to attract only casual interest.

Bids will be accepted until 10 a.m. Dec. 1 at the General Land Office.

Revenues from the tidelands go into the Texas permanent public school fund, which is now almost $250 millions.

Free World Crude Production Drops

Declines in the United States, Venezuela and Kuwait resulted in a slight over-all drop in crude-oil production of the Free World in July, the Oil and Gas Journal reports in its October 5th issue.

The daily average was 12,935,200 barrels, down 8,500 barrels from the record high output of June. It was the first drop in Free World production since March.

United States production fell back by nearly 25,000 barrels daily. Non-Communist foreign production showed a net gain of about 15,000 daily, with increases in Saudi Arabia and Canada offsetting drops in Venezuela and Kuwait.

The 9,500-barrel drop in total Free World production was relatively minor, but more marked declines are anticipated when figures for succeeding months are reported, the Journal commented.

Petroleum Leaders To Meet In Houston

Leaders in the Texas petroleum industry will meet in Houston this week for a two-day examination of industry problems. The occasion is the 34th annual meeting of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association, which takes up Tuesday.

Oil men, government officials, politicians, and business men will attend. Jerome K. Kuykendall, new head of the Federal Power Commission, will make a major address.

Other speakers include H. S. M. Burns of Shell, Robert F. Windfob of Fort Worth, J. Sayles Leach of Texas Company and Maurice T. Moore of Time, Inc.

The 1933 distinguished service awards will go to Amos G. Carier, Fort Worth, publisher, and Hines E. Baker of Houston, president of Humble Company.

Grayburg Wildcat Is Set In Midland

Blount, Christian and Hoffman spotted location this week end for a Grayburg wildcat in Northeast Midland County about 3 miles southwest of Stanton.

The prospector will be drilled as No. 1 Lay Powell, 1,980 from south and 660 from west lines, 44-36-1s, T&P survey, about 12 miles east of Midland.

Drill site is two miles northeast of Grayburg production in the Germania field. It is to go down to 4,300 feet, starting at once.

Reagan Sprabery Area Gets Location

International Oil Corporation and E. W. Pauley have staked location for No. 13-31 O. F. Boyd in the Sprabery Trend Area of Northwest Reagan County.

Location is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of section 31, block B, L&SV survey and 22 miles northwest of the town of Big Lake.

Projected depth is 8,000 feet. Operations will begin at once.

Test In Fisher Flows On Test

Claude E. Heard, Estill S. Heyser Jr., and Noranda Oil Corporation No. 1 Mattie Key, and others, wildcat in Northeast Fisher County, developed flowing oil in a drillstem test in a lime section from 5,530 to 5,560 feet.

Tool was open three hours. Gas surfaced at once and oil flowed in one hour. No gauge or estimate was reported on the amount of oil flowed.

Recovery was 1,260 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut mud, 2,860 feet of oil and 490 feet of salt water. Flowing pressure was from 215 to 1,044 pounds and shut-in pressure after 15 minutes was 1,260 pounds. More hole was being made this weekend below 5,631 feet.

Location is six miles southeast of Rotan and one and one-quarter miles west of the same operator's Canyon reef lime production on the Bert Rushing lease.

Drill site is in section 2, block 2, H&TC survey.

Rig Activity In Gain Over Same Date Last Year

The latest survey of oil activity in the Permian Basin conducted by the Reed Roller Bit Company shows the number of rigs in operation now is only slightly higher than a year ago.

Total number of rigs now in operation are 510. Last year at this time there were 496 bits turning. This makes a net increase of only 14.

Most active area in the Basin is Lea County, New Mexico, which has 111 rigs. However, this is a slight drop from the mid-September count of 122.

Andrews County is the top county in Texas, with 59 units in operation. Midland, Gaines, and Pecos shared third spot honors with 25 rigs each.

Some 70 rigs were operating in the immediate area—Borden, Dawson, Glasscock, Howard, Martin, Midland, Mitchell and Sterling counties.

Midland leads the area with 25 rigs. This is a jump of 10 since the mid-September poll. An increase was also noted in Borden County, where the rig count rose from eight to 10.

Three counties lost rigs in this area. They were Mitchell, from five to three; Howard, 13 to 12; and Dawson, five to four. Keeping the same number on both counts were Glasscock with 13 and Martin with three. Sterling County was not listed on the poll.

Breakdown of the Permian Basin counties according to the number of rigs in operation on Sept. 25 follows (with mid-Sept. count in parentheses):

Andrews, 59(58); Cochran, 8(7); Coke, 15(19); Chavez, 4(4); Crane, 17(14); Crockett, 10(8); Crosby, 1(1); Dickens, 1(1); Ector, 24(23); Eddy, 6(7); Floyd, 1(1); Gaines, 25(23); Garza, 3(2); Hockley, 9(7); Irion, 1(1); Kent, 4(5); Loving, 3(3); Lubbock, 2(2); Lamb, 1(1); Nolan, 6(6); Presidio, 1(1); Reagan, 5(5); Schleicher, 17(13); Scurry, 9(8); Sutton, 5(6); Terrell, 1(1); Tipton, 7(11); Ward, 7(7); Winkler, 13(10); Yoakum, 14(15); Lea, 111(122); Sprabery, 18(17); Brewster, 1; and Kimble, 1.

Flowing Discovery Made In Eddy Area

Richardson & Bass No. 1 Fidelity Federal, wildcat in Central-East Eddy County, N. M., has been completed as a flowing discovery from the Delaware sand.

Operator reported a daily potential of 34 barrels of oil and nine barrels of water. Gas-oil ratio was 1,165-1. The flow was through a one-quarter-inch tubing choke.

Production is coming through casing perforations at 6,890-6,950 feet. Pay had been fractured with sand oil.

Location is 860 feet from south and west lines of section 27-21s-29n. The project was drilled to total depth of 15,611 feet.

Senior High Levels Off With 650 Pupils

Senior High School enrollment has levelled off near the 650 mark. Roy Worley, principal, said Saturday that the latest figure is 648. This consisted of 261 in the 10th grade, 215 in the 11th grade, and 172 in the 12th grade. The aggregate enrollment since school began is 656, but there have been eight withdrawals.

Natural Gas Industry In Boom, More Growth Seen

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON (AP)—Only a comparatively few years ago natural gas was a nuisance and a drug on the market. This week the booming industry was advised it has become of age.

As a result, two oil officials warned, natural gas must shoulder the responsibilities of its maturity. L. F. McCollum, president of Continental Oil Co., said the industry must stand on its own feet and carry its share of the exploratory and discovery budget.

Lt. Gen. Ernest O. Thompson, chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission, said the nation no longer can depend on accidental discoveries of gas.

They recalled, while speaking before the annual meeting of the Independent Natural Gas Assn. of America, that eleven in former years were disgusted when they found gas while searching for oil.

Neither believes the United States is in danger of running out of natural gas. Each warned, however, that anticipated continuation of the boom in consumer demand necessitates explorations aimed specifically at finding new gas reserves. A very large portion of current reserves originally were used to the search for oil.

Each believes an adequate price for gas is essential for encouraging independent search and wildcat drilling for gas.

McCollum analyzed the problem this way:

In 1925, natural gas supplied 6 per cent of the nation's energy requirements. The figure had climbed to nearly 12 per cent by 1940. Last year it was 22.5 per cent. Between 1940 and 1952, natural gas production more than trebled. All other mineral fuels increased only 53 per cent.

Proved natural gas reserves at the end of 1952 were estimated at 200 trillion cubic feet. At this year's production rate this would be sufficient to last 23 years but consumer demand still is climbing. The President's Materials Policy Commission last year said natural gas residential and commercial demand may more than triple by 1975.

In 1924, McCollum said, 13 major transmission companies produced 30 per cent of their gas requirements, in 1951 only 19 per cent. Five major companies which began operations after 1942, he said, rely entirely on purchased gas.

He placed part of the blame on the Federal Power Commission.

The FPC, he said, follows the practice of using the depreciated net investment in calculating the rates which would permit a company to earn a stated annual return.

"The extension of this principle to include producing properties of gas transmission lines has, for all intents and purposes, driven these companies completely out of the gas producing end of the business," he said.

Thompson said a 5-cents per 1,000 cubic feet increase in the price of wellhead gas would stimulate further search for gas deposits and drilling to develop new discoveries.

"Such development must come from sale of gas," he said. "There is no other way to get the funds for exploring for gas. The consumer gets all the benefit in extended life of his gas supply."

Thompson said proved reserves increased 6 trillion cubic feet last year although national consumption totaled 8.6 trillion. Texas reserves increased from 78 trillion in 1945 to 107 trillion at the close of 1952, a period during which production jumped from 1.7 to 4.3 trillion.

"These are the sort of figures the consumer wants to hear for reassurance and guarantee of his long-range gas supply," Thompson said. "The consumer wants more and more gas discovered to assure adequate supply."

Additional Pay Is Sought In Lamb Wildcat

The Texas Company was swabbing this weekend to test on additional possible pay section at No. 1 Union Compress and Warehouse Company wildcat in the Littlefield townsite of Central-South Lamb County.

The new casing perforations are from 3,952 to 3,984 feet. The set was treated with 500 gallons of mud acid.

After swabbing to pits four hours the project was swabbed to tanks for six hours where it made 33 barrels of fluid. That fluid was 70 per cent fresh water and 30 per cent new oil.

The above fluid came from perforations at 4,000 to 4,020 as well as from the section at 3,952-3,984 feet. Testing is being continued.

Location is 330 feet from south-west and 440 feet from west lines of labor 10, league 664, State Capitol Lands survey.

Pumper Completed In Irion County

Amerada Petroleum Corporation No. 1 L. P. Van Beuren, wildcat in Central Irion County, has been completed as a small pumping discovery from the Clear Fork.

Operator reported a daily potential of 19.30 barrels of 35.1-gravity oil plus six per cent water. Production is coming through casing perforations at 3,540-3,541 feet.

The project was drilled to total depth of 8,171 feet and was plugged back for the completion.

Location of the new field opener is 1,980 feet from east and 660 feet from south lines of section 24, block 1, H&TC survey, five miles northwest of Mertson.

DEPENDABILITY-VALUE-

PRICE-SERVICE-HONESTY-FAIRNESS . . . This is What You Get Every Day In The Year On Our Used Car Lot. Compare Our Prices And Our Finance Rates Before You Buy. Come See For Yourself Our Real Values . . .

- 1949 MERCURY 4-door Sedan. Here's the town bargain. Radio, heater and overdrive. A real rip-roarer that drives just right, looks real sharp and is priced for a today's sale.
- 1952 BUICK Roadmaster 4-door Sedan. This car was one of our 1952 demonstrators—all it needs is your signature on a GMAC contract. Classic two tone green paint.
- 1950 FORD Crestliner. Radio, heater and overdrive. Black and (ug) chartreuse combination. It's actually a pretty deal—Low mileage and clean—For something away from the run of the mill car—Try this one.
- 1950 DODGE Coronet 4-door Sedan. You won't believe it when you see it—The condition is beyond reproach—The price is below fair—Don't wait—This is one car that disproves—"Haste makes Waste"—Now's the time.
- 2-1950 FORD 'W' 3-door Sedans. Yep, we still got 'em. Some day, some where, we'll find a buyer—or two. Truly, if you need good solid transportation, we have it in these two late model, low priced gems.
- 1951 BUICK Super 4-door Sedan. Riding or walking? Some pedestrians walk like they own the streets. Yes, and some motorists drive as though they own their cars.
- 1950 STUDEBAKER Champion Convertible Coupe. We're ready, it's ready. You ready? That's the combination we're looking for. We'll trade, sell or finance this little hussy. Cheap.
- 1951 FORD 4-door Sedan. Here's the buy. We know you'll like this one. It's as nice as we've ever owned. But, like all our other cars, it has to sell. Try it on for size.

More Persecution Charged In Poland

OTTAWA, Oct. 3 (AP)—The Canadian government charged today there is renewed religious persecution in Poland and said it contradicts professed Communist interest in easing international tension.

"The news of the renewal of religious persecution in Poland will deepen sympathy in Canada for the suffering Polish people," the Department of External Affairs said in a statement.

"The arrest of Cardinal Wyszyński without any charge being laid against him outrages all principles of justice."

Bishop Czeslaw Kacmarek of Kielce was sentenced to 12 years' imprisonment for alleged espionage activities. Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski, Roman Catholic primate of Poland, was suspended from his duties on grounds that he had engaged in activities against the state.

Reuter is Mourned

BERLIN, Oct. 3 (AP)—President Eisenhower said in a letter to the West Berlin city government today that the death Tuesday of Lord Mayor Ernst Reuter was a "tragic loss" to the free world.

Oil Week Is Set

AUSTIN, Oct. 3 (AP)—The period of Oct. 12-17 was set aside by Gov. Shivers today as Oil Progress Week. His memorandum called the petroleum industries "an indispensable part of the economy of our state."

Jobs Are Urged For Handicapped People

By WILMOT HERCHER
WASHINGTON, Oct. 3 (AP)—There's a place in the working world for the physically handicapped, high government officials declared today, and they appealed to employers to make the place available.

On the eve of "National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week" George Meany, president of the American Federation of Labor, also issued a statement urging jobs for the disabled.

"America's handicapped workers are entitled to a chance to prove their merit, and our industries and trades should benefit from maximum utilization of their skills," Meany said.

"The problem is how to bridge the gap which separates the large number of unemployed handicapped persons from self-reliant, productive, useful jobs. It is one of the major responsibilities confronting our nation today."

Meany proposed that every AFL union establish a permanent committee to help handicapped persons find work.

Nine members of President Eisenhower's Cabinet joined with other government officials in declaring "it is good business practice to hire physically handicapped workers in jobs suited to their qualifications and desires."

They said the federal government, as the largest single employer in the nation, intended to set an example for the country in the employment of disabled persons in the right places.

A series of statements on the problem, issued by the Defense Department, emphasized that physically handicapped workers have established fine records for dependability and loyalty in the armed services.

Weekly Mystery Theatre To Return On Wednesday

Inspector Mark Saber meets an old flame in "The Case of the Weeping Widow," the last-moving story of murder and a clever cover-up which marks the return to the ABC Radio Network of the weekly Mystery Theatre on Wednesday from 8:30 to 9 p.m. (CST), following Philco Playhouse?

When Saber, played by Les Damon, receives a visit from beautiful Tracy Talbot who tells him she suspects her husband has been murdered by his brother, it looks as though Saber's old romance with Tracy might be revived as he takes a more than routine interest in the case.

But Saber and his tenacious right-hand-man, Sgt. Tim Maloney (Walter Burke), discover that the fratricide is a little more involved than it seems on the surface, and a flying trip to Mexico uncovers evidence that winds up the case that turns out to be a double murder.

"What Makes Prosperity—Man or Machine?" will be the debate topic to be tackled by America's Town Meeting of the Air Tuesday (8 to 8:45 p.m., CST), over the ABC Radio Network.

As one of the two guest speakers, Paul Masur will uphold the importance of the individual in our society. It is his contention that there has been too much emphasis on production in this country—and that it is the tremendous consumer demand that has been responsible for our prosperity. A well known business executive and authority on retailing, Mr. Masur is a senior partner of Lehman Brothers, and author of the forthcoming book, "The Standards We Raise."

An opposing viewpoint will be taken by speaker Robert S. Byfield, who believes our country's great productive capacity an extremely important factor in our welfare. Mr. Byfield is a member of the New York Stock Exchange and a representative of the Stock Exchange at the United Nations. He is also a noted financial writer. James F. Murray, international counsel and lecturer, will serve as moderator on the program, which will originate from the ABC Radio studios in New York City.

United Fund Gifts Help Many Agencies

Big Spring Herald

Sec. II Big Spring, Tex., Sun., Oct. 4, 1953 Society

Remember the fable of the desert chieftain who called his sons together and handed each a small stick. Of course each broke his stick easily. But when the wise old chief took a like number of sticks and bound them together, there was not a son who—try as he might—could break the sticks.

Yes, in unity there is strength. That is one of the fundamentals of the United Fund. There is strength in unity of effort to enlist community-wide support of the agencies which draw all or the major part of their finances.

But there is a greater strength in unity—the strength of a number of charitable, welfare and character-building organizations each laboring in their own vineyards and toward a common goal.

In the United Fund we have the wholesome spectacle of nine groups each pulling together to supply vital needs. The American Red Cross, the Girl Scouts, the YMCA, the Boy Scouts, the Servicemen's Center, the Salvation Army, the Milk and Ice Fund, the West Side Playground, the American Cancer Society—each serves a definite function, a function which makes our community happier, a healthier or a more humane one. Put altogether, however, the good of each is multiplied. It is the strength of unity—the strength which is bound in one package only if you help wrap them together with your time, your effort, your money.

Have a look at some of these agencies in action—
(Photos by Keith McMillin)

YMCA—Training youth in government is one of the advantages accruing from the broad program of YMCA activities. Organized under Y sponsorship are the Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y groups, which are making a special project just now of their governmental study. Just this week, members carried on an informal discussion with Congressman George Mahon. Pictured with him are Peggy Hogan, Lila Turner, Libby Jones, Anna Mae Thorp, Glen Rogers, Wade Simpson, Roger Brown (first row); and Janice Anderson, Anne Gray, Robert Angel, Ken Milling and Davice Read (back row).

SALVATION ARMY—Mrs. Walter Miles tries a pair of shoes from the Salvation Army clothing room on Janet Marie Lancaster. Looking on are Mrs. Hoyt Hallford and Janet Marie's mother, Mrs. Ted Lancaster, right. The clothing room is open every Thursday and Friday from 9 a.m. to noon for residents and at any time for transients and emergency cases.

Beauty From The Old World

Vera Ralston, Czechoslovakia's contribution to Hollywood, was once a champion ice skater. She tells the difficulties she had in adjusting to the life of a glamour girl, and also talks about homespun beauty secrets from the Old World.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Follows A Beauty Plan To Become Movie Star

HOLLYWOOD — Vera Ralston, who reached the top as an Olympic ice skater, has made a remarkable transition from athlete to Hollywood glamour girl.

Last weekend I met Vera at the Lakeside Country Club where she plays golf regularly. We had lunch together, and I noticed that she ignored the array of tempting buffet dishes and asked for a green salad and cottage cheese.

"I'm starting a picture soon at Republic," she told me, "and I have to lose weight."

"Do you have a weight problem?" I asked.

"Yes, I do!" Vera exclaimed with great frankness. "I exercised so hard while I was skating that ever since I've given it up I've had trouble keeping my weight where I want it."

I asked if she had found other difficulties in adopting a new career.

"Being the star of an Ice Follies and being the star of a motion picture are very different," Vera told me in her distinctive voice which has just a trace of an accent. "In skating it's entirely up to you. There is the ice, there is the music and the audience sees what you do on your skates. There is nothing to go wrong like having a stupid script, an untalented director or being badly photographed."

"Making a picture is a cooperative venture and you must learn to work harmoniously with everyone on the set from the electrician to the director."

"You've had two successful careers," I said, asking for a set of rules which helped her climb to the top.

"Courage," she murmured after a thoughtful pause. "You must have courage to do what you want to do, courage to face yourself and admit it if you discover you're not good enough to get to the top."

"Once you are sure you are traveling the right road you must have discipline to accomplish your goal. When I started to skate they soon discovered that I could be a champ," Vera continued. "What I had to do without! In this world you never get anything for nothing but if you love what you are doing your work can be a pleasure."

"I know this is true because my family first wanted me to be a ballet dancer and I didn't enjoy dancing the way I did skating. The two are very similar but ice is faster and more dangerous. I loved the excitement of it. In a spin you go at a rate of sixty miles an hour."

I wanted to know the most difficult thing she'd had to overcome.

Vera replied, "I had to eat less."

"In Czechoslovakia we have breakfast, a mid morning snack, a big dinner in the middle of the day. At four we have coffee and cake, and in the evening another big meal," Vera said.

"How do they keep their figures?" I exclaimed.

Vera laughed. "They don't. But I had to because when you are skating you must maintain your weight or you lose your balance. Think what a tiny edge is carrying your body! I could tell the moment I started to glide if I had gained."

"How did you reduce?"

"I don't believe in taking reducing pills. I think they go against nature," she said.

"What is your favorite way of reducing?" I asked again.

"Cutting down everything I know is fattening and substituting for it filling but low-calorie foods," Vera replied. "I started to glide if I had gained."

HI-TALK
By Libby Jones

The class officer run-offs were held Tuesday. The senior officers, Roger Brown, Kay Bonfield, and Nina Fryar, have been previously announced. Frosty Robinson was chosen junior class president, with Pat Tidwell as vice president, and Lila Jurner as secretary-treasurer. Sophomore class president is La Velle Wasson; vice president, Sally Cowper; and secretary-treasurer, Kenda McGibbon.

Wednesday morning Congressman George Mahon spoke to the Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y delegates who are planning to attend the Lubbock pre-legislative convention October 24. Out of the 36 Lubbock delegates, several will be able to attend a model Youth and Government legislature at Austin in December.

The Majors Club held its initial meeting Thursday afternoon. Officers were elected. Anne Gray will serve as president; Ellouise Carroll, vice president; Alice Martin, secretary-treasurer; and Mary Ella Bigony, reporter. Coaches Arsh Phillips, Anna Smith, and Billie Clyburn will sponsor the club's activities.

The FHA girls had a guest speaker who spoke on some of the basic principles involved in interior decoration. He was Tom Watkins from the Town and Country Home Furnishings store.

Here's a piece of not-so-good news. Six weeks' tests start Wednesday. First and fourth period tests will be given Wednesday; second and fifth period tests will be Thursday; and Friday will be the day for third and sixth period tests.

The senior information blanks for the annual were handed out Friday morning to all seniors. The purpose of the blanks is to find out the achievements and honors the seniors have held while in high school so they can be listed in the annual.

A pep rally was held in the high school gymnasium Friday morning making pictures and now they are plucked thinner."

"What is your favorite cosmetic?"

"I like to take my make-up off with oil and to use a little cream when my face feels dry but my favorite beauty recipes have come from Czechoslovakia. They may be old-fashioned," Vera murmured, "but they work."

Here Is A Clean Sweep For New Baby

If a new baby is coming to live at your house, do try to make his surroundings easy to keep sparkling clean as well as attractive. A couple of coats of paint will give walls and ceiling the fresh, clean look essential for baby's surroundings whether you manage a special room for your cherub or convert a corner of your own bedroom for his occupancy. Rubber tile makes the perfect flooring, for it is easy to keep clean, and muffles noise. Crisp starched white curtains that can be put through the washing machine and enameled furniture that is easily washed, carry out the easy-to-keep-clean theme for baby's room.

Even Our Own Children Can Be Wrong, Speaker Says

Never think your child is always right; everyone is wrong sometimes, Mrs. Carl Benson told members of the Woman's Forum Friday in the home of Mrs. Joe Pickle.

Mrs. Benson spoke on "Understanding Your Children," and Mrs. J. D. Elliott on "Maintenance of Family Solidarity." Mrs. Clarence Percy Jr. was co-hostess for the meeting.

Mrs. Benson emphasized the need of children to be loved. "They need all the love and understanding we can give them," she said.

On the other hand, it is important not to overestimate their abilities. Encourage them to become self-confident, but don't demand too much of the child for his age, she cautioned.

Speaking on family solidarity, Mrs. Elliott said that if children are allowed to give their ideas at home, family life will be strengthened.

The talks were part of the Woman's Forum program for the year

Even Our Own Children Can Be Wrong, Speaker Says

on "Inspiration to Be Better Mothers, Homemakers and Citizens."

Mrs. Clyde Angel will give the book review at the next meeting of the Thursday Review Club, it was announced. Mrs. C. M. Boles was welcomed as a new member. Bouquets of bronze mums were used in decorations.

Past Noble Grand To Meet Monday

The Past Noble Grand Club of the John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge will meet Monday at 8 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Marie Horton, 1300 Tucson.

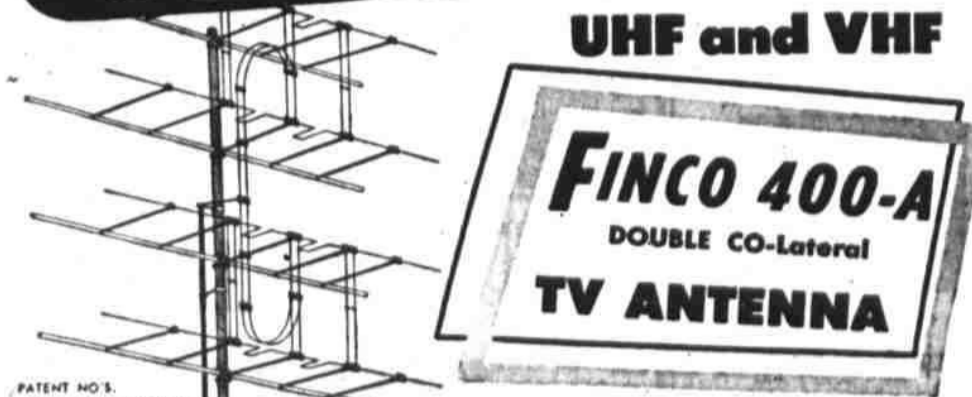

Co-hostess will be Mrs. Lucile Brown. All members are invited to attend.

Lipstick Lizzy

Are you a lipstick Lizzy? Let's face it. In every circle of teenagers there's at least one. She's the consternation of the parents and the embarrassment of the boys.

Excluding the fascinating lure a tube of lipstick has for her, she may be a very nice, charming person—but oh that lipstick! It's her weakness.

Maybe it's because it makes her feel grown-up or pretty—or maybe she thinks it will wake the world up to the fact that she's no longer a child. Whatever the reason, lipstick is something she just can't resist. "If a little helps my appearance, three inches of it really ought to make a glamorous creature," she reasons.

Hence, she begins to hibernate under three inches of grease paint and she deludes herself into thinking that she's really a tempting dish.

Unfortunately what really happens is this: Older girls who have been wearing make-up longer and adjusted to it laugh up their sleeves. To them she is showing just how new to the adult world she is. Some parents, and some boys, will get the idea that she's cheap and will want nothing to do with her. Others will understand it is merely a phase she will pass through and are contented to smile knowingly and wait.

Still other boys who like Lizzy's otherwise charming personality, will hesitate about asking her for a date for fear they'll be taunted of course it takes twice as much nerve to work up the courage to kiss a girl with so much goo on her face. When you're wearing several layers too much, any brand will rub off.

No boy wants to wear lipstick home from the dance, nor does he want to wipe it off on a handkerchief for his mother to wash. Least of all does he want to risk getting it all over his shirt. Things like that are hard to explain, and lots of boys have found that some girls aren't satisfied until they have left their mark.

Why? It makes Lizzy feel so grown-up. On the other hand, it makes her the laughing stock to the older girls and the "girl to beware of" in boys' circles.

If you want to be popular and leave that "older" appearance, wear lipstick, yes, but do it sensibly. Lipstick Lizzy defeats her own purpose.

Southwest Dream Home To Be Shown

Plenty of all-glass walls capture the feeling of spaciousness and informality in the new dream home for the Southwest to be shown at the 1953 State Fair of Texas in Dallas Oct. 10-25.

Charles M. Goodman, who designed the house for National Homes Corp., Lafayette, Ind., also used the device of wood screen enclosures for patio, play yard and porches. The new type of factory-engineered homes has been named "The Ranger."

The home will stand in the heart of the mammoth General Exhibits Building. The State Fair was chosen for "The Ranger's" debut because the exposition is the nation's biggest. The house is extremely well suited to Texas and the Southwest, according to Clifford A. Smith, vice president of National Homes.

Mrs. J. H. Petty Visits Daughter

american designer's pattern

by Alan Graham
MONASTIC LINES

Soft Materials Perfect For Pleated Creation

Alan Graham, who just did the fall collection for the house of Paquin in Paris, (a nice switch on the usual procedure of the French influence in America) designed this dress shortly before he left these shores.

He thinks of it in soft materials—wool or mat jersey, clinging soft crepe. The lines are almost nonastic in concept, the pleats flowing all the way from the yoke in front and in back. Because of these pleats, bulky fabrics are not suggested.

Pattern 1124 is available in Standard Pattern Sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50. Size 12, requires 4 1/2 yds. of 50-inch material.

To order Pattern 1124, address Spadea Syndicate, Inc., P. O. Box 535, Dept. 164, G. P. O., New York 1, N. Y. State size. Send $1.00 Air-mail 25 cents extra. New Pattern Booklet 9, including over 10 designs, available at 15 cents.

4-H Club Officers Elected At Elbow

Elbow 4-H girls elected Jan Fields as their president at a recent meeting. Mary Beth Yates was elected secretary. Sue Dunagan and Kay Leatherwood, song leaders.

The girls planned to make pot holders and aprons in October and finish their work cards.

Eight members and the adult leader, Mrs. Low, attended the meeting.

The next meeting will be Oct. 13 in the Elbow school with Home Demonstration Agent, Sue Milligan.

YWA Council Meets In Garden City

The YWA Council of Big Spring Baptist Association met recently in Garden City and officers for the new year were elected. They are Janice Anderson, president; Sylvia Bentley, vice president; Beverly Edwards, secretary, and Fern Bedell, program chairman.

WAYNE GOUND

For 20 years Wayne Gound, owner of Westerman's Drug, has been a pharmacist. A good part of that time—since Aug. 1, 1933, he has been in Big Spring. Gound is a member of the Texas and the American Pharmaceutical Association and is a fellow in the American College of Apothecaries. He and Mrs. Gound have a daughter and a son.

VERNON KEEN

Vernon Keen, manager of the Waigreen Drug Store, came out of military service with a vocation—that of pharmacist. He completed his training in the U. S. Army Pharmacy School. Keen has been practicing for 15 years. He came here in 1949 and he and Mrs. Keen have one child.

PAUL B. KEELE JR.

Paul B. Keele Jr. has had most of his pharmaceutical career here. He earned his degree in pharmacy from the University of Texas (earlier training at Texas Tech) in 1950 and came here to be associated with Westerman's in 1951. He and Mrs. Keele have two children.

BENNETT BROOKE

Bennett Brooke, a partner in the Big Spring Drug Co., holds a bachelor of science degree in pharmacy from the University of Texas. He has been practicing his profession four years, and came to Big Spring last January. He is married and he and Mrs. Brooke have two children.

MORT DENTON

Mort Denton covered two states in his pharmaceutical training. He studied at Texas Tech and did his pharmacy at the University of New Mexico, where he holds a degree in chemistry. Since 1934 he has been in practice. Denton came to Big Spring in 1941. He and Mrs. Denton have two children.

A. R. COLLINS

Alfred R. Collins, owner of Collins Bros. Drug, has been a pharmacist for 27 years, having earned his degree in pharmacy from the University of Texas. He entered business here in 1928. He and Mrs. Collins have three children.

Pharmacist Carries Much Responsibility

The pharmacist carries a lot of responsibility in his hands. Most drugs hold within them the power to do harm as well as good. The pharmacist must know when to dispense drugs and when not to dispense them. Narcotics can be very harmful if improperly used, but morphine for example, is among the most valuable of drugs when it is properly used in medical practice.

It is his obligation to make certain that the purchaser has a legal and proper purpose in mind, knows the nature of the poison, and is qualified to use it. The pharmacist is licensed by the state after an examination. Before the pharmacist takes the application he has completed at least four years of work at an accredited college. He studied basic science and the cultural subjects and then went on to more specialized scientific work, taking courses in bacteriology, physiology, and extensive work in chemistry.

In college pharmacists learn what drugs are, where they come from and how they are used. They learn how drugs act upon the human body. Students are taught how much of each drug will be safe and helpful in the treating of disease, and why and when dangers may arise from misuse of a drug. They are taught how to put the drugs together in the laboratory to meet the needs of the physician's patients.

But a pharmacist's education doesn't stop with the granting of his license. He must keep up with the latest drugs that are pouring out of the large laboratories in ever increasing numbers. Usually the new drugs are not only more complete than the older remedies, they are also frequently more potent, as well as more effective.

Not the least of the pharmacist's duties is keeping his stock of drugs fresh and potent. The pharmacist must know the drugs with which he works as he knows the personalities of his friends. He must know which drugs may be adversely affected by exposure to heat, light or air. He must know that handling some drugs with a metal instrument may leave traces of metal which might banish healing properties through chemical action. He must take steps to assure that heat-sensitive drugs, such as certain types of antibiotics, vaccines, etc., are stored at the proper temperature. He must also see that certain drugs, whose power is short-lived, are not dispensed after the passage of time may have weakened their medical properties.

As part of his prescription practice, the pharmacist is also often called upon to consult with the physician concerning drugs and formulas. Just as the field of pharmacy and drug development has progressed rapidly, so has the field of medicine. The physician cannot be expected to specialize in both. It is logical that he should turn to the pharmacist for authoritative information concerning the formulation of these drugs on prescription and concerning differences and similarities in the actions of related drugs on the body.

Police Have Stock For Starting Zoo

City police may be thinking about establishing a zoo. They calculate there are enough out-of-the-ordinary animals around town to populate one.

Officers early this week were called to help locate a monkey which had strayed away from home.

Thursday, another resident enlisted the aid of police in search for a pet skunk which also had disappeared from home. And last night, a woman called for help when she found a coon under her car.

The monkey was located okay, having clambered up on a garage. But the skunk, which got away Wednesday night, hadn't been found this morning, said Mrs. Richard Horne, 202 Douglas.

The APOTHECARYS OATH AND PRAYER

"Thy eternal providence has appointed me to watch over the life and health of Thy creatures. May the love for my art acuate me at all times."

These words begin the "Apothecary's Oath and Prayer" written by the eminent scholar and religious philosopher of the 12th century, Maimonides.

Eight centuries old, it is still your pharmacist's code.

Today, the American Pharmaceutical Association, which is sponsoring National Pharmacy Week, counts more than 25,000 members, and looks back on 101 years of achievement in bettering the health services of pharmacy. Better standards for drugs, more stringent inspection at our important centers, better control of dangerous drugs.

Yes, the public health has always been the pharmacist's first concern. As the old oath is continued:

"May I never see in the patient anything but a fellow creature in pain."

We are pleased to subscribe anew to this code in our observance of

SHINE PHILIPS

In a sense Shine Philips figures he has been a druggist for 50 years. He came here in 1898 and two years later he was doing his first work in a drug store. Actually, he got his degree in pharmacy in 1913 from the University of Texas. He has been in business here 35 years under the Cunningham & Philips banner. He and Mrs. Philips have two daughters.

JOE B. HEDLESTON

Joe B. Hedleston, a partner in the firm of Cunningham & Philips, and in charge of the Petroleum Drugs, has been a pharmacist since 1928. He trained at Stubby School of Pharmacy at Macon, Ga. and Danforth Pharmacy School in Fort Worth. Hedleston came here in 1946; he and Mrs. Hedleston have two daughters.

J. C. HURT

J. C. (Cliff) Hurt has been a pharmacist for nearly two score years. He took his training at Texas University School of Pharmacy in Galveston and started practice in 1914. Hurt is a native of Big Spring (1889) and he and Mrs. Hurt have three children. He is associated with Cunningham & Philips.

R. S. YOUNGBLOOD

Practice as a pharmacist goes back 30 years for R. S. Youngblood, who is with Cunningham & Philips. He holds his degree in pharmacy from the University of Texas. He came to Big Spring in 1950 and is married.

WILLARD SULLIVAN

Willard B. Sullivan is one of Big Spring's veteran pharmacists. He received his degree from the University of Texas College of Pharmacy and operated a drug store on Second Street for several years before purchasing the Settles Drug Store in 1941. He is married.

JAMES M. CARVER

A graduate in Pharmacy of Southwestern Oklahoma College, James Milton Carver has been in Big Spring nearly three years. He has been a practicing pharmacist five years, is married and he and Mrs. Carver have two children. Carver is associated with the Settles Drug Store.

Medication Development Leads To Specialization

Specialization is on the increase in pharmacy, as well as medicine, due to the rapid development of new and better medication and medical services. The profession of pharmacy is being subdivided into practitioners of hospital, laboratory and dispensing pharmacy. Pharmacies in hospitals are being enlarged for better, faster service to patient and physician, evidence of this increasing specialization. Pharmacy has long been a recognized profession. Many drugs discovered centuries ago are still in use. Pharmacy in America still is closely allied to traditions first begun in Europe shortly after the Crusades. The start of separation of medicine and pharmacy dates back to the 14th and 15th centuries. It was not until the 19th century, in England, that the separation was clear cut, however. In the boundaries of "then" and "now" in pharmacy, there lies a story of constant effort to eradicate quackery and mysticism in the use of medicine and to supply better drugs for use against disease. Pharmacy has evolved from a profession in ancient civilizations that included the practice of medicine as well as dispensing of drugs, to modern pharmacy, a highly specialized calling. Present day pharmacy also embraces the collection and identification of drugs and medicines, their preservation, analysis and standardization, the synthesis of medicinal chemicals and the preparation of biologicals. In England, before the 12th century, there were no pharmacists or pharmacies. The physician, the monk, the Druid Priest, or an old and supposedly wise woman of the neighborhood practiced medicine. Each one gathered his or her own medicinal herbs from the fields, dried them in bunches tied to the wooden beams of a kitchen and brewed them in a kettle. Even in those times, there were manuscripts containing recipes for remedies. Many such ancient remedies were applied with prayers. A liniment for rheumatism might be rubbed on while repeating two Psalms and a Gloria seven times. The dispensing of medicinal compounds in shops started in the 12th century in England. In 1345, the first apothecary shop opened in England. It was not until 1617 that the apothecaries were given a special charter by the King. King James presented the charter whereby the apothecaries became a restricted guild that admitted to membership only practitioners in pharmacy. In those days, the apothecary was called upon to supply many useless and absurd medications for a medicinal practice that was unscientific by today's standards and was controlled by superstitious beliefs. Can you imagine a pharmacist today engaged in collecting five thousand fly specks to fill a prescription, or scraping the moss from the skull of a convict hung in chains. Pharmacists in that era had to do it. Pharmacy gradually emerged as a profession specializing in the knowledge of the property of drugs and methods of preparing them for use by the physician's patients. Medicine was largely promulgated, for the first 100 years in America, by governors, churchmen and educators. It was also practiced by the housewife. There were not many professed physicians in New England until 1700. The first apothecary to enter New England reached there in 1632. Benjamin Franklin never studied either pharmacy or medicine but kept such things in his general store in Philadelphia as patent medicines and "seneca rattlesnake root with directions how to use it in pleurisy." He set an influential example for the separation of medicine and pharmacy in this country when he appointed an apothecary for the hospital founded on his initiative. Virginia was the first state to pass legislation regulating the dispensing of medicine. The division of functions of medicine and pharmacy, which had common origins, was a child of necessity, as well as one of desire. Pharmacy has reached a high peak of development. The modern pharmacist must not only bring sound scientific knowledge to the compounding of a prescription but must also be prepared to serve as consultant to physicians on matters pertaining to drugs.

Berliners Bid Farewell To Reuter

BERLIN, Oct. 3 (AP)—Sorrowing West Berliners bade farewell today to Ernst Reuter in a vast surge of public grief for their dead mayor.

Hundreds of thousands dropped all else to form a dramatic backdrop for the funeral of the man who fought Communism to a standstill in this crossroads city and instilled in his people the firm belief that the Red tide would be rolled back from German soil some day.

One hundred and twenty thousand stood in stony silence, broken only by an occasional burst of sobbing, as final services were conducted in the open air before city hall. More hundreds of thousands lined a six-mile route to the cemetery in the American sector, near the tiny villa where Reuter worked late into the night and where his overtaxed heart gave way last Tuesday.

The rites opened with Wagner's Gotterdammerung (Twilight of the Gods) and a half hour later the Freedom Bell, epitomizing Reuter's tireless ambition to see his people live in liberty, tolled the dirge.

As the sombre notes rolled across the square, the body was borne on a black carriage through the downtown streets toward the cemetery. The cortege moved at less than 10 miles an hour past a multitude of men, women and children lining the route.

A loudspeaker system sounded the strains of the old German Army song of grief: "I had a Comrade."

The mayor's little, black French beret lay atop the casket and went with him to his grave.

Pharmacy's Growth Parallels Industry

Developments in the field of pharmacy have closely paralleled the revolutionary growth in other phases of the American economy in the last hundred years. Pharmaceutical industry has grown from one-man mortar-and-pestle "factory" to an enterprise comparable to the steel or automotive industry. And it promises to keep growing as new "wonder drugs" and better pharmaceutical compounds of all kinds are discovered. Growth of the business is illustrated by the number of pharmacists active 100 years ago and today. The number of practicing pharmacists has increased from 6,139 to more than 100,000. Functions of the pharmacists have changed, along with their numbers. A century ago, the pharmacist and his apprentice served not only as compounders of prescriptions but also as small-scale manufacturers of the preparations described. Today, they have been transformed into an army of specialists in pharmacy, pharmaceutical chemistry, bacteriology and other allied arts and sciences. Research, never-ending, has been added to the compounding and manufacturing functions as pharmacy has accepted the role of assisting with the discovery of new and better drugs. At the same time, the wholesaler's role in pharmacy has developed to assure druggists of a sufficient supply of stocks to fulfill needs of their areas. Specialization in the field of pharmacy continues to move forward as hospital pharmacy, research, teaching, production, etc., become more and more diversified. The local druggist is allied with a variety of associations formed for the support of their profession. All of these organizations are active in the support of the American Pharmaceutical Association. The APA is to pharmacists what the American Medical Association is to doctors or the National Association of Manufacturers is to industrialists. The APA pushes the educational programs in pharmacy, being con-

Pharmacists Make Lot Of Discoveries

Modern scientific curiosity has led to many epoch-making discoveries by pharmacists.

There is evidence that many prehistoric peoples had extensive knowledge of crude medicines, and they were used for centuries.

However, few people in those days made any attempt to learn why their medicines were effective. As chemical and pharmaceutical science began to develop, persons with a scientific mind became curious about drugs obtained from nature.

Most people, at some time in their lives, experience excruciating pain that can be alleviated only by morphine, or one of its chemical relatives. Friedrich Serturmer, a pharmacist, first isolated morphine from opium, which is a sap or juice from an oriental poppy capsule. It was in 1805 that the brown, crude opium gum first yielded its white crystals to the skill of the pharmacist.

Opium itself is a pain reliever, but the morphine content tends to vary from lot to lot, and impurities make its action all the more uncertain. However, when morphine is taken out as a pure chemical entity, the physician can be offered a drug of uniform, dependable action.

Cocaine is another valuable constituent of opium. It is a chemical and pharmacologic relative of morphine, but is less powerful in its effects. Like morphine, cocaine was discovered by a pharmacist, Robiquet.

A French pharmacist, Bernard Courtois, became curious about purplish colored fumes that rose from vessels while he was experimenting with sea weed. From this accidental observation came the great discovery of iodine, still one of the most widely used of all antiseptics.

A pharmacist named Brandes discovered atropine, used widely among other things, to dilate the pupil of the eye temporarily so that the eye specialist can conduct a proper examination.

Now most "discoveries" result from a teamwork system, in which the pharmacist still plays an important role.

For example, sulfanilamide was first prepared by Gelmo in 1908, but its medical application was completely unappreciated. Domagk, a German research worker, discovered a complex organic dye containing sulfanilamide as part of its molecule, which would cure streptococcal infection. It remained for French workers, under the leadership of Fourneau, to determine that the really active fraction of Domagk's compound was sulfanilamide. And it remained for American workers to modify sulfanilamide, obtaining compounds that are still more active and less toxic.

Chamber Directors Will Hear Reports

Progress reports on arrangements for opening Second and Fourth Streets through Big Spring are to be heard at the Chamber of Commerce directors meeting Monday.

W. C. Foster is to report on Second Street work and H. W. Whitney will give the Fourth Street report. Discussion of the equalization of membership dues, by Champ Rainwater; announcement of plans for the 4-H and FFA pig show Wednesday and Thursday, by R. V. Middleton; and discussion of Oil Progress Week, by Dr. R. B. G. Cowper, also are slated.

Lewis Price will speak on "Value and Importance of Merchants' Reporting to the Business Research Bureau," and Al Dillon is to discuss Newspaper Week. Other announcements and reports will be heard.

More Construction Is Planned At Webb

Plans are expected to be out by the end of the month for more construction at Webb Air Force Base.

Bids may be asked late in October for a hangar maintenance shop and base maintenance shop. The proposed work will consist of one hangar with shop approximately 24 x 238 feet. This would be steel frame and masonry panel construction. There would be a base maintenance building of approximately 120x128 feet of similar construction. Utilities include sewer, water, gas, steam, electrical, compressed air. Bids would also cover concrete sidewalks, paved roads and parking areas.

Many Opportunities In Pharmacy Field

Few professions offer more potential job opportunities today than pharmacy. And local pharmacists say the reason for such broad employment horizons is the rise of specialization in the field.

Although they point out that four out of five student graduates choose retail pharmacy as their field of activity, at least five other paths are open for them to follow. Pharmacists can enter teaching, research, government hospital service, public health service or the sale of new medications.

Whichever path the pharmacist follows, he is almost assured of a place in which to practice his profession. The roughest part is becoming a pharmacist in the first place.

Since the pharmacist's responsibilities are many, standards of the profession are high. It takes a good many years training before a license can be obtained to practice.

A high school diploma is the first stepping stone to the profession, and the next step is a four-year degree from a pharmacy college. Today there are 74 such colleges which have total enrollment of 20,000 students.

The colleges have a number of specialized courses which must be mastered—including bacteriology, physiology and chemistry. Students learn what drugs are, where they come from and how they are used.

A top part of the study is learning how to accurately put drugs together in the laboratory to meet the needs of the physician's patients. Dangers that may arise from misuse of a drug are constantly emphasized.

After graduation from college, the student must spend a period of internship under a licensed pharmacist. Then comes the state examination and a license.

Such high training is justified, local pharmacists say, when one realizes that the life and health of entire communities depend on the pharmacist's abilities.

Responsibility of dispensing drugs correctly is no small thing. And local pharmacists are quick to point out that they must also know when not to dispense drugs.

Ethics of pharmacy require that particular drugs can be dispensed only on the physician's prescription. And these ethics are usu-

Final Plans Due For Yule Event

Final plans for Big Spring's 1953 Christmas program will be made at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Merchants Committee Wednesday morning.

Clin Grigsby, chairman, is urging that all Big Spring merchants attend, regardless of membership in the Chamber. Only opportunity to have a voice in plans for the Yule program will come at the Wednesday meeting.

To be discussed are possibilities of another Christmas Treasure Hunt, arrangements for the annual Yule parade and program, date for the event, and time for installing street and other decorations, Grigsby said.

The meeting will start at 10 a.m. Wednesday in Room No. 1 at the Settles Hotel.

Prices Received By Farmers In Decline

AUSTIN, Oct. 3 (AP)—Prices received by Texas farmers and ranchers declined eight points in mid-September below mid-August, the U.S. Department of Agriculture reported today.

Crops generally dropped 15 points, but this was offset by increases on hogs, dairy products, poultry and eggs. There were decreases in cotton, and sharp declines in potato and sweet potato prices.

Hogs were up $1.20 per 100.

Crash Injury Fatal To Snyder Youth

SNYDER, Oct. 3 (AP)—Odell Moore, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Moore, Snyder, died early today from injuries received yesterday in an automobile accident.

Moore, riding a motorcycle, and a car crashed head-on southwest of Snyder on a county road. The occupants of the car were not injured.

cial training and high ability, rewards are great. And pharmacists in Big Spring say that a great sense of satisfaction is received from the services and contributions to the community welfare.

RESEARCH . . . TRAINING . . . SKILL . . .

All these are combined in the great health-giving values that come from your Pharmacy.

They represent advancements made in our field of endeavor for the past century, since the founding of the American Pharmaceutical Association.

And they will continue to be the goal of future endeavor, as we dedicate our services to better health for all.

Military Movie

Donna Reed, Frank Sinatra and Montgomery Clift are pictured above in a scene from the highly publicized movie, "From Here to Eternity." Based on a prize-winning novel, the production deals with a group of pre-Pearl Harbor professional soldiers—their passions and hates. Burt Lancaster and Deborah Kerr also have top parts. Sinatra and Montgomery play privates in Sgt. Lancaster's company, Miss Reed has the part of a "loose" woman, and Miss Kerr plays a captain's wife with romantic ideas.

Crowds See 'From Here To Eternity'

Crowds flocked to the Ritz Theatre Saturday for the first day's showing of the widely acclaimed movie, "From Here to Eternity." And Ike Hobbs, manager of the local theatres, says he expects heavy crowds today through Tuesday. The production has blasted attendance records all over the country.

Based on James Jones' prize-winning novel, the movie deals with a group of pre-Pearl Harbor professional soldiers—their lives, loves and fights.

The star-studded cast is headed

Arabian Nights Romance Stars Hudson, Laurie

A Technicolor romance set in the days of the Arabian Nights will be shown at the Ritz Theatre Thursday and Friday. It is "The Golden Blade," starring Rock Hudson and Piper Laurie.

Hudson conducts the word play in the production, and Miss Laurie is in charge of the romance department. Gene Evans and Kathleen Hughes have supporting parts.

Action starts when Hudson journeys to Bagdad to find his father's killers. He runs into Miss Laurie, who is a princess in the production. Hudson rescues Miss Laurie from a mob in the market place.

She disappears and Hudson goes about his business. Then he uncovers a magic sword of Damascus covers a magic sword he is almost able to defeat the Arabian outlaws responsible for his father's death.

But he becomes entangled with the Caliph's guards and again meets Miss Laurie. Then several fights ensue between the Caliph's men and Hudson over Miss Laurie's hand.

One scene has Hudson busting into Miss Laurie's bridal chamber to save her from marriage with his rival. And in the end Hudson finds that his rival also heads up the outlaws.

Spy Drama

Evelyn Keyes is gagged while spies make radio contact with a foreign power in the movie, "Shoot First," which shows at the Ritz Theatre Wednesday. Joe McCrea has the top part in the production as an American Lieutenant Colonel in England who innocently gets mixed up with international espionage agents. Miss Keyes has the part of his wife.

Unusual Spy Thriller Stars Joel McCrea, Evelyn Keyes

"Shoot First," an unusual spy thriller dealing with suspense and intrigue, is scheduled Wednesday at the Ritz. Stars are Joel McCrea and Evelyn Keyes.

The story concerns an American who is caught in the midst of international intrigue. Action takes place in the English countryside.

McCrea has the part of an American Lieutenant Colonel who rents a piece of shooting land in Dorset. Miss Keyes has the part of his wife.

McCrea mistakes a stranger on the "shoot" for a poacher and lets him have a round of harmless buckshot. Later he finds the man dead. He believes that he killed the

Applications For Lake Sites Accepted Now

Applications are being received now for shore line cabin sites on Lake J. B. Thomas.

E. V. Spence, general manager, announced that under a policy adopted by the directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, requests for sites would be received until Nov. 1, 1953.

On that date, all applications will be placed in a container and drawn by lot. Each applicant will be assigned a number in the numerical sequence in which his name was drawn. That number will determine the order in which he will be privileged to select a site.

Jack Cook, Big Spring, has been retained to handle the leasing of sites. He may be contacted in regard to details about sites, or about inspecting of the sites in advance of the date of drawing. After the drawing, each applicant will be given a brief time in which to exercise his priority to lease. If not closed in the interval of time, the application goes back into the hopper for action after all other applicants have had an opportunity to select in the order of their numbers.

Under the board's policy, lease fees are for $1 per front foot per annum. Lease dates are from Jan. 1, but if executed during the calendar year, there will be a charge proportionate to time remaining in the year. This applies to recreation-a) (boating) and fishing and hunting permits ($5 per annum, 50 cents per day). Fishing is not permitted until May 1, 1954.

Persons interested in applying for shore line leases or in either recreational or fishing and hunting permits may do so by writing the Colorado River Municipal Water District, P. O. Box 869, Big Spring, Texas.

TV Or Not Is Couple's Question

NEW YORK (AP)—As some people say, TV or not TV was the question this week for Alice Witt, Frank de Chirico, the Guaranty Trust Co., McGregor Sports Wear Co., Reeves Instrument Corp., and a downtown department store.

Miss Witt, 18, worked for Guaranty until Tuesday. Now she's a McGregor employee.

Her fiance, De Chirico, 21, still works for Reeves, because Reeves doesn't take Guaranty's dim view about things.

The department store, Klein's, put on a diamond sale and is happy about the whole thing.

Miss Witt and De Chirico, it turns out, both pleaded sickness Monday to go buy themselves an engagement ring at Klein's.

Newspaper and TV cameramen, drawn to the scene by the throngs, hit on the young couple as likely subjects for their lenses.

Guaranty saw and didn't like. On Tuesday there was talk about setting an example and Miss Witt became an ex-junior clerk.

A friend heard about the situation and got Miss Witt a job yesterday as a key punch operator for McGregor.

Reeves heard and didn't mind. "We have a celebrity with us," De Chirico's boss grinned as he offered congratulations.

The department store, not displeased with the publicity, promptly invited Miss Witt to select her wedding gown there as a gift.

Now all the couple has to do is get up the $449 balance due on the $499 ring they selected.

And it would behoove them to do their future shopping at night.

Stars And Stripes Sets 3-D Edition

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—The Stars and Stripes will distribute a three-dimensional edition and special viewers to 120,000 subscribers in Europe on Sunday, the editor-in-chief, Lt. Col. Arthur L. Jorgenson, announced today.

He said it is believed to be the first 3-D edition by a newspaper on this continent. The U. S. Army daily will include five pages of 3-D pictures, together with an article on various third-dimensional techniques. The paper has a reading public of nearly 50,000 Americans in Europe.

Statue Will Honor Joliet For Kindness

JOLIET, Ill. (AP)—Joliet will be honored with a statue in faraway Iraq because of the friendship and care bestowed on a traffic accident victim.

Its sculptor will be the lone survivor of three Iraq students in the collision nearly a year ago. He is Abdul Mahrous, 27, of Baghdad, who said he will name his statue "Joliet" and have it placed in a prominent art center in Baghdad, capital of Iraq.

Mahrous, head of the arts departments of the Museum of Baghdad, came to the United States three years ago to study American art and industry on behalf of his government.

He suffered crushing leg and internal injuries and has been hospitalized since Nov. 17, 1952.

Killed in the crash on Route 66 near here were Dr. Hashim Zubaidi and Elias D. Joury. The three men were en route to Chicago from the University of Illinois where they had visited friends.

When members of the Joliet Artists League learned a confrere was in St. Joseph's Hospital, they visited him and brought drawing materials. Another visitor was the Rev. William J. Ohan, an interim Presbyterian pastor who lived in the Middle East 50 years ago and has a sister and four nephews in Baghdad.

Mahrous said his statue will contain a slithering, snake-like dragon symbolizing treacherous U. S. 66. The dragon will be reaching out to snatch a human, but a beautiful woman, Joliet, will reach down and save the man.

"I will try to bring into the statue of the woman all the beauty I have found in Joliet through the friendly here," he said.

More Of Old-Aged Are Marrying Now

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—More elderly persons are marrying nowadays but the number still is small, a New York State legislative committee reports.

The Joint Legislative Committee on problems of the Aging yesterday attributed the increase in late marriages to social security.

The committee, of which Sen. Thomas C. Desmond, 65, is chairman said the oldsters preferred to support themselves rather than live in institutions.

THE DAYS OF KING ARTHUR
by Harold R. Fox
Synopsis: PRINCE VALIANT LEAVES IRELAND IN A HURRY, PURSUED BY A GAELIC KING AND HIS ARMY. THE LAND OF THE POET, THE HARPER AND THE SWEET SINGER OF SONGS PROVED SO TURBULENT THAT VAL IS GLAD TO RETURN TO THE COMPARATIVE QUIET OF THE SAXON WARS!

KING RORY WADES INTO THE WATER, BEATING THE WAVES WITH HIS SWORD IN INSANE RAGE AND SCREAMING INSULTS AT HIS ESCAPING VICTIM.

"YOUR FRIEND IS A TRIFLE NOISY, SIR VALIANT," CAPTAIN GUNDAR REMARKS. "YES, INDEED," ANSWERS VAL. "NOW THAT YOU MENTION IT, HE DOES SEEM SLIGHTLY IRRITABLE!"

"OUR SHIP WAS WELL HIDDEN IN THE COVE," GUNDAR SAYS. "HOW DID YOU FIND IT?" "WHEN I SAW THIS DOG (NORWEGIAN ELKHOUND), I KNEW PEOPLE FROM THULE WERE NEARBY. HE LED ME TO YOU," ANSWERS VAL.

THEN THEY ROW DOWN THE COAST TO WHERE VAL'S SHIP HOVERS OFF-SHORE IN HOPE THAT THEIR LEADER MIGHT ESCAPE HIS ENEMIES AND SIGNAL THEM.

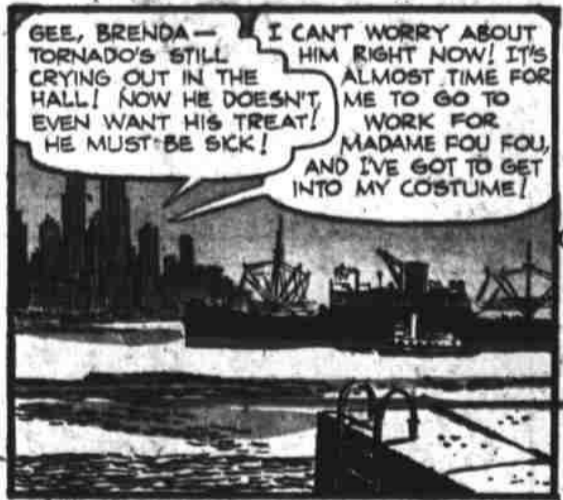

A BOAT PUTS OUT FROM SHORE AND BRIAN O'CURRY THUNDERS ABOARD AND GREET'S VAL PAINFULLY. "I MOURNED YOU FOR DEAD, I DID!" HE BOOMS. "GLAD I AM YOU ESCAPED THE FURY OF RORY MCCOLM!"

"SUCCESS TO YOUR MISSION! THE SAINTLY PATRICK IS ADVOCATE TO YOUR CAUSE AND PREACHES PEACE BETWEEN OUR LANDS... AND RORY IS NO LONGER KING."

FROM THE PERILS OF IRELAND VAL SAILS ACROSS THE SEA TO THE SAXON WARS IN BRITAIN... A FEW BRIEF HOURS OF PEACE IN WHICH TO DREAM OF THE LOVELINESS OF ALETA AND TO WONDER WHAT HIS CHILDREN ARE UP TO NOW.
NEXT WEEK—Dozmary Pool.

Wonderful For

Double-Quick Dishwashing, Too!
 Fab soaks dishes, glasses, pots, pans, shiny clean. If a food speck clings, whisk it off with the dishcloth. No hard scouring—no wiping! Just rinse—dishes drain sparkling clean!

"An occasional professor is expendable... but I hope them Senate committees don't come snooping around our football squad."

"It certainly handing comrade daughter a 'live'... is promising her three square meals a day..."

"...Guess I'm all set for the deer hunting season... got me a new gun... bought a license... made a will..."

"Isn't this desolate enough, Roscoe, without tuning in on that news commentator!..."

A SAGA OF THE WEST

LET ME GET THIS STRAIGHT, JIM! YOU CLAIM YOU DIDN'T KNOW RAPE AND BEN HAD HIDDEN THEIR GOLD IN HERE! ZELLA SAYS IT WAS HERE... WHEN SHE AND BEN LEFT!

I DON'T GIVE A HOOT, WHAT SHE SAYS! I SAY BEN JUDSON TOOK IT!

I CAME BACK HERE, FOR THAT GOLD... TO PUT IT IN SHERIFF'S CUSTODY, UNTIL BEN'S TRIAL IS OVER!

Later, IN THE SIERRA TOWN OF DIABLO CREEK— YOU HEARD 'EM, BEN! DID YOU TAKE THAT GOLD? NO! NOT EVEN MY RIGHTFUL SHARE!

YOU KILLED RAPE... AND STOLE HIS GOLD! YOU MURDERIN'...

BREAK IT UP! THE LAW WILL DECIDE THIS!

HAVE IT YOUR WAY, RUGGLES... I AIN'T QUITTIN', TILL I WATCH JUDSON HANG!

DIDN'T RUGGLES CATCH TH' TWO OF 'EM A-HIDIN' OUT? I SAY JUDSON'S GUILTY!

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

"IN A FEW MINUTES, THE CATS FINISHED THEIR SLAUGHTER AND LEFT AS QUICKLY AS THEY HAD COME," SAID KONA. "A DEATHLY SILENCE PREVAILED--IT WAS THEN THAT I SAW THE DEVIL..."

FIRST, A GLEAMING BLACK PANTHER APPEARED ON A NEARBY HILLOCK, TERRIBLE, AND YET MAGNIFICENT BEYOND DESCRIPTION...

I BLINKED MY EYES, AND ABRUPTLY THE BEAST TRANSFORMED INTO A PROTEGEE HUMAN FIGURE, DRESSED IN GHOSTLY BLACK CLOTHING!

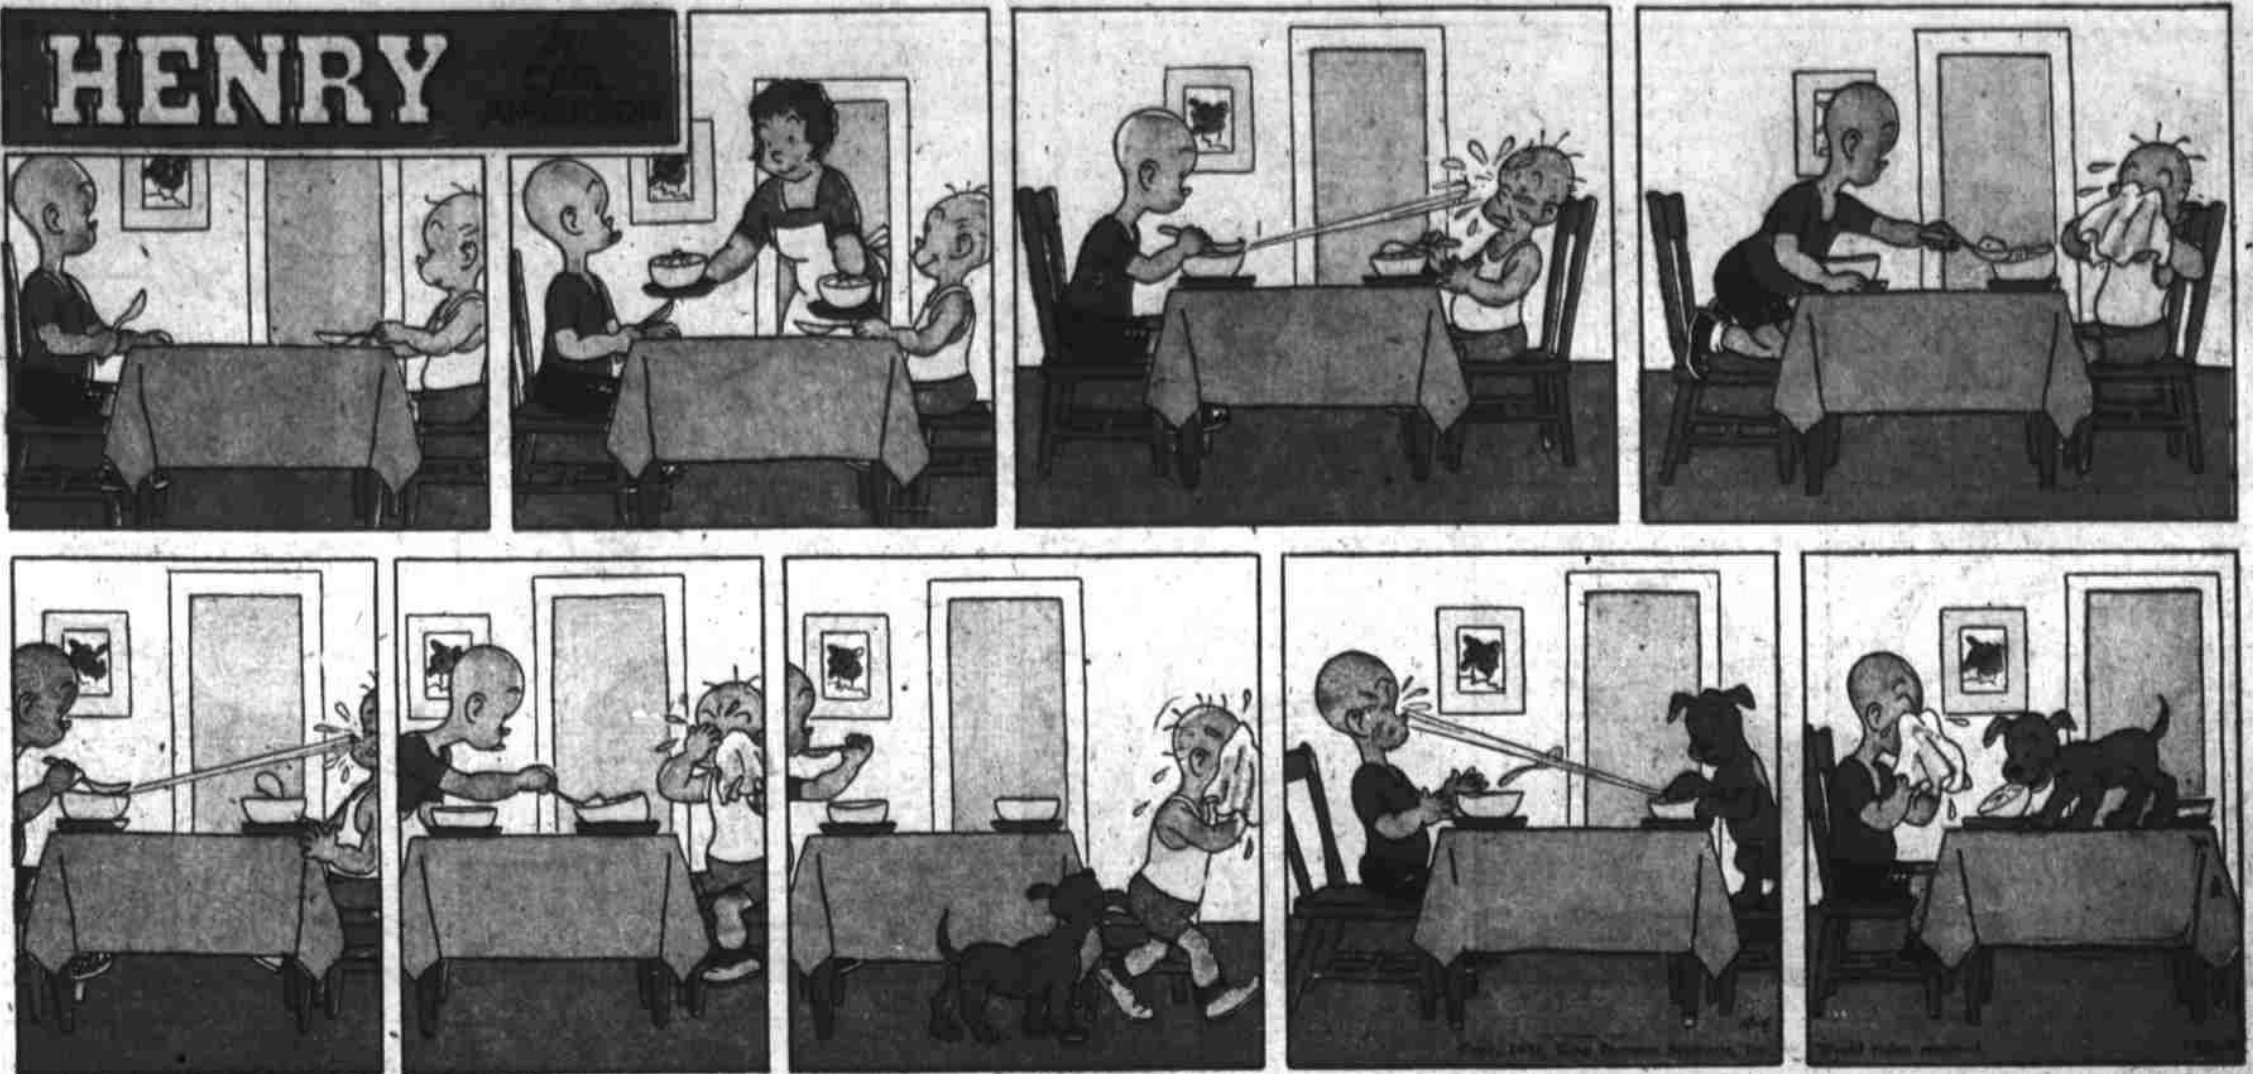

I BURIED MY HEAD AT THE SOUND OF MANIACAL LAUGHTER; THEN, SECONDS LATER, FORCED MYSELF TO LOOK WHEN I HEARD A PANTHER SCREAM. THE DEVIL HAD CHANGED BACK TO A CAT AND THEN BLUNK AWAY INTO THE SHADOWS...

THE THING SHUFFLED THROUGH THE VILLAGE, IN AND OUT OF THE BUILDINGS, UNTIL IT NEARED MY PLATFORM. I SAW NOTHING BUT A MASKED, FEATURELESS FACE...

... I'LL GET IN A BIT O' PRACTICE WITH MY BALL AN' PADDLE !!

H-M !! GETTING SO I CAN SMACK IT FROM ANY ANGLE AN' NEVER MISS A STROKE !!

WELL, FOR CRYIN' OUT LOUD!

NOW, WHILE I HAVE SOME SPARE TIME...

YES, MR. OTIS, YA SEE I'M JUST KEEPING IN TRAINING !!

I'VE BEEN BABY SITTIN' WITH THOSE ROUGH AN' TOUGH TWINS LATELY !!

I UNDERSTAND THEY DRIVE OTHER SITTERS TO HYSTERICS ...

... BUT I DEMONSTRATE TO THEM EACH TIME HOW SKILLFUL I AM WITH THIS ...

... AN' THEY NEVER GIVE ME ONE BIT O' TROUBLE AFTER THEY SEE HOW DEFTLY I CAN SWING THIS PADDLE!

GOOD HEAVENS, CHILD - YOU DON'T MEAN MY DEAR OLD FRIEND LIVES IN THIS HAUNTED HOUSE?!

YES, MA'AM - MR. COBB LIVES HERE BUT IT AIN'T HIS HOUSE!

UGH! THE POOR, DEAR MAN - HAVING HIS LITTLE COTTAGE ON WHEELS WRECKED AND HIS LEG BROKEN WASN'T BAD ENOUGH, BUT TO BE FORCED TO LIVE HERE ----

MR. COBB LIKES IT - HE SAYS IT'S NICE AN' QUIET

NICE AND QUIET, HE SAYS! - SO IS A TOMB - IT MAKES ME SHIVER TO LOOK AT IT IN THE DAYTIME, BUT AT NIGHT... I WOULDN'T LIVE HERE ONE NIGHT FOR ALL THE GOLD IN FORT KNOX!!

GREAT GUNS! MOLLY MODELY!! LOOKING AS YOUNG AN' AS CHARMING AS EVER! - HOW ---

YOU SILLY, LOVABLE MAN --- THIS IS NO TIME TO TALK ABOUT ME AND THE WAY I LOOK - THE QUESTION IS, HOW FAST CAN I DRAG YOU OUT OF THIS MOLDY OLD RUIN ?

BLESS YOUR HEART, MOLLY - JUST SEEING YOU MAKES ME SO HAPPY! IF MY LEG WASN'T BUSTED, I'D GET UP AND DANCE WITH JOY -

HUSH YOUR SILLY TALK - YOU MUST GET OUT OF THIS PLACE NOW - AT ONCE - IMMEDIATELY!

HOLD YOUR HORSES AND YOUR LOVABLE TEMPER - THE HOSPITAL IS CROWDED AND I LIKE IT HERE.

HUMPH! YOU LIKE IT HERE! BUT THINK OF THIS LITTLE CHILD ROAMING AROUND IN THIS GHASTLY, GHOSTLY PLACE!!

BY JINGO - I NEVER THOUGHT OF THAT -

HONEST - I AIN'T VERY SCARED - MR. COBB SEZ ONLY FOOLISH PEOPLE IS SCARED OF GHOSTS AN' GOBLINS - AN' I WOULDN'T WANNA BE SO FOOLISH AS THEM!
