BAG O' BULBS!

Mrs. L. S. Riley purchases a bag of light bulbs from members of the Pampa Evening Lions Club. The club is selling bulbs to help the Lions Crippled Children's Camp at Kerrville. The Lions, from left to right, are Dr. Phil Gates, Bob Hamilton, president, and D. V. Biggers. (Daily News Photo)

Lions Club Starts Light Bulb Sale

The Pampa Evening Lions Club Thursday night began its annual light bulb sale to raise money for the Lions Crippled Children's Camp and Rehabilitation Center for the Blind at Kerrville. After a meeting, the men fanned out into assigned areas with bags of light bulbs priced at $1 and $2. A $2 bag contains twice as many bulbs as the $1 assortment in which there are four. Sales Manager B. G. Gordon mapped the campaign at the meeting in Poole's Steak House. Lions stressed that a customer would get his money's worth of bulbs in each bag and that the proceeds would go to help a crippled child to walk or a blind person to see.

City To Bring Law Suits For Unpaid Taxes

Mayor Lynn Boyd this morning proposed to the Pampa City Commission that an attorney be authorized to press for immediate payment of delinquent city property taxes.

Mayor Boyd, in disclosing that about $41,000 in delinquent taxes has not been paid the past three years, urged that the city crack down on even the smallest cases. City Attorney R. F. Gordon informed the commission that the usual practice is to press for payment after three years. Boyd, however, said the city can use the money now and should press for immediate action.

In other tax action the Commission re-appointed four men to the "unofficial" Tax Advisory Board, a body existing until the Tax Equalization Board is appointed next spring.

Men appointed were Vernon Hobbs, George W. Scott, E. J. Lewis and James Poole. Their appointments were urged by City Assessor Aubrey Jones.

The commission also accepted the resignation of Melvin Armstrong from the City Electrical Examining Board, and appointed Wayne Hutchinson to fill the vacancy.

Appearing at today's commission meeting was J. Denny Roan of the Pampa Police department who in a short talk offered to clean up, at his own expense, the recreational park near the rodeo grounds.

Roan asked the commission's authorization to turn the present city lake area into a picnic grounds with facilities for fishing and swimming. He said he would do the job at his own expense if given exclusive rights to a concession stand and bait house.

The commission accepted his idea warmly and offered to look into the legal aspects of his offer. The land is presently owned by the American Legion.

Commissioners said Roan's idea has merit, and agreed the city needs a natural recreation area. (See CITY Page 2)

'TURKEY IN THE MALL'

Pampa Set For Downtown Mall

"Plans have been completed for Pampa's first venture into a downtown shopping mall," B. M. Behrman said today. Behrman is chairman of the Merchants Activities Committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce that met Thursday to block out "Turkey in the Mall Day."

At noon Nov. 20, three blocks of Cuyler will be cleared of traffic and 1959 model autos, trucks and motor boats will be displayed in the center of the blocks. Twenty-four Thanksgiving turkeys will also be given away. Participating stores will remain open until 9 p.m.

"There will be nothing to buy," said Behrman. Registration tables for the turkey drawings will be arranged by the various auto agencies in the showing. Persons 18 and over can register once at each table. Cuyler will be roped off from Atchison to Francis for Turkey in the Mall Day. The official show will begin at 2:30 p.m. and last until 9. Starting at 6:30, 24 turkeys will go to the holders of lucky numbers. The first drawing, at 6:30 p.m., will be held in the middle block, Foster-Kings. Eight more will be given away at 7:30 p.m. in the South block of Cuyler, between Foster and Atchison. The last drawing will be held at 8:30 in the north block, between Kingmill and Francis. A six man subcommittee met with City Manager John Koontz and Police Chief Jim Connor to block out "Turkey in the Mall Day." (See MALL Page 2)

STORES SET XMAS HOURS

Pampa stores will stay open for late Christmas shopping starting Dec. 15, B. M. Behrman, chairman of the Merchants Activities Committee, Pampa Chamber of Commerce, has announced. Through Dec. 23, stores will remain open until 8 p.m.

New overhead street decorations will be installed Nov. 30, according to Behrman. The Pampa Jaycees will hang the ornaments on downtown Cuyler and Foster. The Business and Professional Women's Club will begin solicitation Monday for the Christmas Activities Fund which this year must provide for new ornaments, as well as the Santa Day Parade, Nativity Scene program and Home Decoration Contest.

TWO SLEEPY PEOPLE!

Two weary one-day-old twin boys, in the arms of their mother, Mrs. Ray Armstrong, White Deer, seemed unimpressed Thursday by the fact they were the second set of twins born in Pampa this week, and the third set born at Highland General hospital during the last six months. The boys, born Wednesday morning, are as yet unnamed. The first-born, left, weighed a husky 6 lbs., 14 oz., while his younger brother tipped the scales at 5 lbs., 12 oz. Mrs. Armstrong said the twins will be christened by her husband, Ray, employed by Celanese. The Armstrongs are also parents of a girl, 13 months. (Daily News Photo)

Trouble Erased, Air Force Ready For 3rd Moon Shot

By WILLIAM TUCKER United Press International

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI)—The Air Force corrected the "technical difficulties" that forced postponement in launching its third moon rocket today and began preparing the 88-foot vehicle for another blastoff attempt early Saturday.

Officials declined to pinpoint the cause of the postponement, but non-military sources said the trouble was in the Thor missile, section of the four-stage rocket.

These sources said the trouble was not major, but it could not be corrected in time to fire the rocket within the 15 or 20 minute period during which the launching attempt had to be made. In that period the moon was lined up in just the right position in relation to the earth.

The postponement, which came only 48 minutes before the scheduled firing time at 1:22 a. m., meant that the launch team would have to start almost from the beginning in the countdown checklist, a 94-page document that includes 1,100 items.

Lose Distinguished Visitor It also appeared that the Cape would lose its distinguished visitor of today, Queen Frederika of Greece, who displayed a keen interest in science during a visit to Chicago Thursday, was to watch the shot from a vantage point on the Cape.

But the Air Force said after the postponement that the Queen and her daughter, Princess Sophia, were scheduled to leave soon after dawn today.

A new system of cutting off the second stage engine of the rocket will be used this time to avoid the difficulty that caused the second moon rocket to fall far short of the lunar sphere.

Instead of the "accelerometer" built into the earlier vehicles, the second stage engine of the third rocket will be cut off by radio signals from a ground station when a computer figures the rocket has achieved the proper angle of flight at the desired speed.

Additional Insurance

The last rocket was robbed of the extra kick needed because the first stage Thor missile climbed too high before veering out toward the moon. The new system was designed to assure that the second stage engine does not cut off before the necessary speed and angle of flight have been attained.

There was no doubt that the Air Force was ready to fire the 88-foot, four-stage rocket right down to the moment that the difficulties developed. Liquid oxygen streamed from a vent in the side of the rocket, a sure sign that blastoff was near, and searchlights illuminated the telescope-shaped rocket on its launching stand.

After this shot, the Air Force will give way to the Army, which has two authorized lunar probes. The first Army shot is expected early in December.

ON TEST BAN

US, Britain Say Reds Snap Truce

By JOSEPH WM. GRIGG United Press International

GENEVA (UPI)—The United States and Britain accused the Soviet Union today of breaking a tacit East-West truce on nuclear tests since the current Geneva atom ban talks started.

The charges were made public in statements issued in Washington and London. The announcements said the Soviet violations relieved the United States and Britain of their self-imposed obligation to suspend further nuclear tests for a year dating from the start of the talks Oct. 31. But they added that for the time being, both Washington and London will continue their test suspensions in hopes of reaching agreement here with the Soviets.

The Russian violations, it was charged, came in atomic test blasts Nov. 1 and Nov. 3. Representatives of the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union this morning began the fifth session of their thus-far deadlocked conference called to draw up a pact to outlaw the testing of nuclear weapons.

No Soviet Reaction Publication of the American and British charges was expected to sharpen the tone of the present talks.

There was no immediate Soviet reaction. It was not known whether Semyon Tsarapkin, the Soviet Union's chief delegate here, would reply. It also was not known immediately whether the Western delegations would bring up the charges in the conference itself.

Diplomats said the disclosures—despite the accompanying Western undertaking to refrain from testing for the time being—were certain to increase tension in the conference room and make agreement more difficult to reach.

Both the Soviet Union and the West have maintained secrecy over the talks thus far. But publication of the disclosures today (See REDS Page 2)

STRONG QUAKE ROCKS JAPAN

SAPPORO, Japan (UPI)—A "very strong" ocean-bottom earthquake rocked northern Japan early today, causing considerable panic and some damage but no reported casualties.

The quake was clocked at force 8 on the Richter scale, meaning it was nearly as powerful as the one that wrecked San Francisco in 1906. However, it was centered under the Pacific about 150 miles from land, so that its force was considerably dissipated by the time it hit Japan.

20 Men Rescued From Arctic Ocean Ice Float

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI)—Twenty men stranded since Sunday on an ice floe in the Arctic Ocean were removed safely early today by a C123J plane from Thule, Greenland.

All were reported in good condition following the rescue operation carried out in 20 degree below zero weather about 960 miles northeast of Point Barrow, Alaska.

Station A, an International Geophysical Year station, broke in half Sunday under the pounding of a polar storm. The men were marooned on a camp site on an ice floe roughly 1,000 feet square.

The Alaskan Air Command said the rescue operation went off exactly as planned, the men were separated from the runway on the other half of the island by 1 1/2 miles of open water and crossed the gap when the winds died down.

The men had a boat with them on the floe and used it to get across the gap.

The C123J, using jet assisted takeoff, lifted the men off the runway half of the island at 2:27 a.m. E.S.T. (9:27 p.m. Nov. 6 Alaska time).

Will Return To Alaska They will be flown to the RCAF station alert on the northern tip of Canada where the C123J will refuel and proceed on to Thule. There the men will be transferred to a C54 which will return them to Ladd Air Force Base, Fairbanks, Alaska.

Air Force men marooned on the island were identified as Capt. James F. Smith, commander of the station; Sgt. Richard Van Natta, George Coleman and T. A. Boger and Airman C. Beaupe, C. O. Williams, R. E. Wise, George R. Marcus, John M. Cecil, C. Sprague and another airman identified only as MacNeel. Also found with the expedition was the Rev. Tom Cunningham of Point Barrow.

"My God, it's wonderful," Mrs. Rose Marie Cecil said in Ypsilanti, Mich., when she learned her husband, John, had just been rescued from the floe.

"I haven't been to bed since I found out he was missing. Now I'm going to wait up some more and hope he calls me."

Calls Mother-In-Law

CHARLIE PINCH-HITS

Jack Be Nimble Tumbles On Trick Tee Vee Chair

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Comedian Jack Paar took an unexpected spill on a trick chair and had to leave his nationally televised show Thursday night.

The game performer tried to carry on the tradition of the "show must go on" but he finally gave way to pain in his left arm and made an exit 40 minutes after his hour and 45 minute show began. His injury was not serious and it was believed no bones were broken.

National Broadcasting Company spokesmen said the accident happened about 15 minutes after the daily nighttime show began when Paar was about to go through a skit with a stuntman involving trick props.

A whole set of breakaway tables, chairs and bottles had been set up before the cameras in order to have a stuntman demonstrate to Paar how rough and tumble films are staged on TV and in films.

Paar, who had not rehearsed the skit during the day except to walk through it, apparently didn't realize how easily the set pieces would break, a spokesman said.

One of the breakaway chairs collapsed under his weight, throwing him heavily to the cement floor.

Paar stayed down for several seconds and the stunt brought a wave of laughter from the audience which was unaware he had injured his arm.

Cliff Arquette, who trades jokes with Paar on the show, ably stepped in and carried out the rest of the skit with the stuntman while Paar sat on the sidelines.

The veteran performer continued for another 15 or 20 minutes, going through another skit and getting laughs from the audience before he was overtaken by pain and had to leave the set. Arquette carried on the remaining hour and five minutes of the program.

Ike Announces US Bomb Test Suspension To Be Continued

By STEWART HENSLEY United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower announced today that the United States is continuing suspension of H-bomb tests "for the time being" despite the fact that the Russians have set off at least two blasts since the Oct. 31 deadline.

The Atomic Energy Commission announced that it had detected two fairly low power nuclear weapons tests in Russia, one on Nov. 1 and another Nov. 3. Both were held in southern Russia rather than north of the Arctic Circle where 14 other tests had been staged since Sept. 30.

East-West talks on the possibility of a permanent test ban started at Geneva, Switzerland, on Oct. 31.

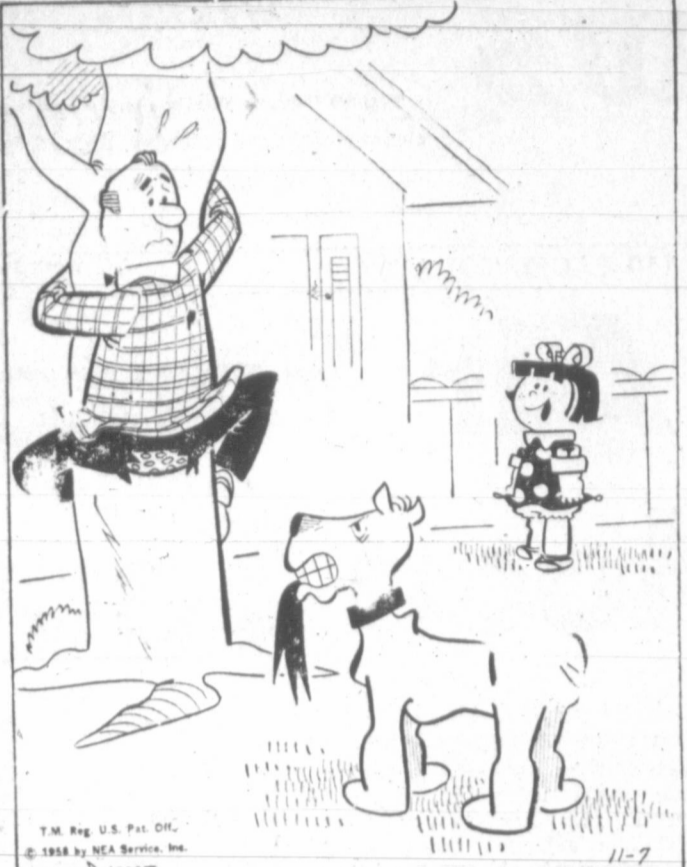

Eisenhower said "this action by the Soviet Union relieves the United States from any obligation under its offer to suspend nuclear weapons tests."

Eisenhower demanded that the Russians formally renounce any further tests "shortly." If they do not, he said, the United States will "be obliged to reconsider its position."

The White House statement noted that Russia's continuance of its nuclear testing flouted a United Nations General Assembly resolution a few days ago urging suspension of nuclear tests while the Geneva negotiations on a possible suspension of such experiments were in progress.

The President recalled that last Aug. 22, the United States and Britain announced they would withhold further testing for one year beginning Oct. 31 and renew the suspension annually if sufficient progress were made in negotiations with the Russians for a workable control and inspection system to enforce the ban.

Russia declined to formally accept the suspension offer but agreed to the negotiations which began Oct. 31 in Geneva. Western officials had hoped that the Kremlin intended to go along with a de facto suspension without formally agreeing to it.

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem in my office. Everyone but myself is either on a diet or is talking about food and weight. It is driving me batty. When I bring a piece of cake with my lunch they make me feel like a criminal. One girl told another girl I brought fattening things on purpose to make her drool. I am inclined toward being slim and can't help it if she is a fat slob. These girls are ruining what was once a pleasant job. Any suggestions?

In his boat a few years back and I tried for two years after my wife died, to find a nice woman, but the result was zero. Finally I advertised in a newspaper for a housekeeper. Did I get answers! About a hundred of them. To make a long story short a nice, single lady, age 40, got the job. She has been here ever since. I married her and no two people have ever been happier.

GUY

THE GIRL AT UNITED Dear Girl: People who are fighting the battle of the bulge need all the help they can get. Slip away and eat the sweets in private like a good girl.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my lazy sister. She married a worthless bum and eight years later she presented my mother with eight children to raise for her. My mother is sickly and old and lives on a widow's pension. She raised her own family and I don't see why she should have to raise my sister's eight. Sometimes I feel so sorry for Mamma I could cry. I'd take the load off her myself but I have seven of my own to raise. Will you please tell me what can be done about this problem?

SAD SISTER

DEAR ABBY: In our school we have a teacher who has gotten away with slapping children across the face, the back and shaking them good and hard. She has taught school for many years and all the children dread going into her class. Parents have gone to the principal about her but nothing ever happens. The children of the parents who complained have been mistreated all the more. She makes no bones in class about not liking children but is smooth as they come when talking to parents. Let me add, the children are only seven years old. We mothers would truthfully like to know what to do about it.

Dear Sad: A sickly grandmother on a widow's pension cannot do justice to raising eight children. If your sister is neither willing nor able to raise her own children, the Family Service should be called in.

Confidential to Confused at the Luncheonette: You are being stepped on by a Cuban heel. Give him the whole boot!

ANGRY PARENTS

Dear Parents: Get up a petition of complaints with as many signatures as you can secure (Don't forget the Dads)... A representative of your group should make an appointment with the Superintendent of Schools and present it personally.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Intermediate GAs Study Forward Steps

DEAR ABBY: This may sound terrible but it is true. I have lost all respect for my mother. She will tell me to do something and I know she won't say anything if I don't do it, so I don't. I have been asked to clean up my room, but I keep on letting it go because my mother will do it if I wait long enough. I am 15 years old and admit I am spoiled because I get just about anything I want, but I am not happy. My girlfriend does the family laundry on week-ends, has to do dishes every night and doesn't even get an allowance and she is much happier than I am. I can't figure it out, Abby, can you?

LEFORS (Spl) - Intermediate GAs of the First Baptist Church met Monday in the home of Mrs. L. M. Berry.

After the GA allegiance, a d hymn, the girls studied on forward steps. Those present were Misses Amy Earhart, Doris Halley, Oweda Jerigan, Sue Phillips, Linda Robinson, Pat Berry, Paula Cumberland, Barbara Halley, and sponsors, Mmes. L. M. Berry, David Robinson, and Jake Leggett.

Dear Unhappy: The child who is given responsibility at home, and is made to do the mark, is always much happier. Children NEED to be disciplined to feel secure.

A good night's sleep still works in keeping us healthy and happy. Doctors point out that when one is rested it is easier to face the myriad little worries of a day. And regular sleeping habits also will benefit the complexion and keep bags and lines from around the eyes.

DEAR ABBY: A few weeks ago a fellow named DANNY wrote to you asking how to meet a nice woman. Object - marriage. I was son of Lubbock, co-chairman; Dr. Marvin Hirsch of Amarillo, secretary; and Nathan Stool of Lubbock, chairman of the Conference Cabinet. Among the communities represented are Amarillo, Big Spring, Borger, Fort Worth, Lubbock, Pampa, Plainview, Snyder and Wichita Falls, all in Texas; Altus, Carnegie, Cordell, El Reno, Erick, Hobart, Lawton, Sentinel and Woodward, in Oklahoma; and Hobbs, New Mexico.

Guest speaker at the Conference will be Yekutiel H. Orgel, Press Attache of the Israel Embassy in Washington. He will give an up-to-the-minute picture of Israel's immigrant absorption crisis.

Issuing a pre-Conference statement on the same urgent subject, Chairman Leon Brachman said: "Since the recent crisis in the Middle East has forced Israel's people to divert all possible resources into imperative safety measures, the Jewish Agency, the philanthropic body charged with the tasks of absorbing and integrating Israel's immigrants, must carry a greatly increased financial responsibility for taking care of the continued flow of newcomers and for coping with the vast backlog of unmet human needs resulting from the mass immigration of the last three years." The Jewish Agency receives most of its funds from the United Israel Appeal, major constituent agency of the UJA.

"Consequently," continued Brachman, "there are more than 100,000 newcomers to Israel crowded into makeshift tin huts and shacks; 30,000 heads of families are either wholly or partially unemployed; out of 480 farm settlements established since the emergency of the State of Israel in 1948, only 56 are completely self sustaining; special institutional care is needed for hundreds of aged, handicapped and dependent newcomers without families, unable to care for themselves."

"Outside Israel," Brachman noted, "vital welfare aid, infant care, medical and clinical service, and educational and vocational training facilities must be maintained for scores of thousands who need help in Europe, North Africa and the Middle East. In Moslem lands alone, some 100,000 persons mostly children could scarcely exist without UJA aid."

In 1958, the United Jewish Appeal is conducting a two-fold drive — its regular campaign to finance the humanitarian operation of its member agencies, and a simultaneous drive for a multi-million dollar UJA Rescue Fund to meet extraordinary needs of transporting and settling in Israel and other North Africa and other areas.

The UJA finances the work of the United Israel Appeal (UIA), the Joint Distribution Committee (JDC), and the New York Association for New Americans (NYANA).

The UIA provides the major funds for the Jewish Agency for Israel, which is responsible for the transfer, reception, resettlement and absorption of immigrants to Israel.

The JDC provides welfare, rehabilitation, educational and vocational training services for Jews in need in 24 countries in Europe, North Africa and the Middle East, and for aged, handicapped and orphaned newcomers to Israel.

In addition, allocations from the UJA 1958 Rescue Fund go to the United Hias Service, which aids Jewish immigrants to countries other than Israel.

Pampa's delegates will be David Finkelman and Leon Gilbert.

Services Deal With Genesis

Man's God - given domination over sin and limitation will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

Scriptural readings in the Lesson-Sermon on the subject "Adam and Fallen Man" will include this verse from Genesis (1:27): "So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be read the following (516:19): "Man, made in His likeness, possesses and reflects God's dominion over all the earth. Man and woman as coexistent and eternal with God forever reflect, in glorified quality, the infinite Father-Mother God."

The Golden Text is from I Corinthians (15:22): "As in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive."

LCC Chorus To Play Pampa Sunday Night

The A Cappella Chorus of Lubbock Christian College will perform at the Mary Ellen at Harvester Church of Christ Sunday, Minister Jon Jones told the Daily News. The chorus will appear at 7 p.m., following the evening service. Admission is free. The public is encouraged to attend. Two-thirds of the 90 member chorus will be here for the concert. The Male Quartet, Girls' Trio, Mixed Octette and Girls' Sextette will perform in conjunction with the chorus.

Students from five states and three foreign countries are represented in the musical organization. The repertoire includes Thompson's "The Paper Reeds by the Brook" and Handel's "Hallelujah Chorus." Then come the Sermons in Song, "He Ledeth Me in the Paths of Righteousness" and "Ask and Ye Shall Receive, Seek and Ye Shall Find," narrated by Virgil Sawyer.

Lynn's arrangement of "Lonely some valley" and Niles arrangement of "Black is the Color of My True Love's Hair" are high spots on the program. Other selections are "Deep Purple" by DeRose, "More I Cannot Wish You" by Loesser and "Falling in Love With Love" by Rodgers.

Lubbock Christian College is only in its second year yet its music department has already produced the 90 voice chorus, a band and string ensemble. This year an opera workshop, stage band and class piano have been added to the class schedule.

The chorus is under the direction of B. Wayne Hinds. Plans are being made to strengthen the department by including a full time band director for next year.

The already established campus tradition of "music for all students" continues to offer many possibilities whether an individual's interest be for diversion or serious study.

CROP Appeal To Climax Sunday

Momentum is gaining, among the churches of the Pampa Ministerial Alliance, for the Community food appeal of the Christian Rural Overseas Program. With Sunday proclaimed CROP Sunday in member churches, pastors of all denominations will explain the aims and needs of the program to their congregations.

Crop Campaign Director Paul Bowers is asking support of the entire community, saying that CROP, through distribution of food, spreads peace and good will around the world.

Sunday in church, members will have a chance to pledge staple food supplies to CROP and the hungry overseas. Charlie Robinson at the Fisher-Fanhandle elevator, MO 4-2541, is accepting contributions of grain and E. B. Robinson at the First National Bank, MO 4-3288, is accepting money contributions.

Ministers, with any questions about Sunday's services, may call Charles Thompson at the First Methodist Church, MO 4-7411.

CROP is endorsed by leading farm organizations and citizen's groups as a community appeal for food relief. The organization solicits farm-grown staple food supplies which are then distributed by missionary and church groups in other lands.

Ex Pastors Return For Celebration

Special services Sunday will commemorate the fifth anniversary of Hobart Street Baptist Church. Rev. John Dyer, pastor, announced. Rev. W. F. Vanderburg, a former pastor, will preach the 11 a. m. service. Another ex-pastor, Rev. L. E. Barrett, will deliver the evening sermon. Dr. E. Douglas Carter, pastor of the Pampa First Baptist Church, will bring a special message in the afternoon.

The Church was first organized as a mission of the First Baptist Church, in Aug., 1946. Building and lots were given by Elmer Barrett, Curtis Brown, a student minister, was first called as pastor. At his resignation, the Mission called Rev. Vanderburg in Sept., 1949. In 1951, it constructed an auditorium with a seating capacity of 200.

On Nov. 8, 1955, the mission was organized into a church and in 1954 purchased property on the 1000 block of West Crawford. An education building was constructed and the new auditorium moved to the new location in Mar., 1955. Vanderburg resigned in July, 1955 and Barrett was called as interim pastor. In Oct., 1955 Claude Harris was called as pastor. A new parsonage was purchased on S. Sumner in Sept., 1956. Dyer, the present pastor, was called in July, 1957.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

The unlucky expert staggered toward the window. For a moment I thought he was going to jump, but it turned out that all he needed was some fresh air to give him breath to tell his latest sad story.

He said, "I know I did too much, but look at the defense they gave me."

West opened the five of trumps and East won with the king. He returned the queen of clubs. I won in dummy and led a diamond to my ace and nonchalantly returned the nine spot. West went into a short trance and eventually produced the king. I ruffed in dummy; discarded my losing spade on the second high club, came back to my hand with the ace of spades; led the jack of diamonds and discarded from dummy.

"East won with the queen and led a club. I ruffed, but West was also out of clubs and overruffed with the ten to set me."

As usual, the unlucky expert had been the victim of inspired play. Without a trump opening he would have been able to ruff out all his three losing diamonds and wind up losing three trump tricks only. Without the king of diamonds play on the second diamond lead he could have let East take his queen before he would have a chance to give his partner the club overruff.

Nevertheless, the unlucky expert had bid too much and really was lucky to find a dummy that would give him any sort of play for his contract.

Shockers Win In Last Minute

SHOCKER EXPRESS—Steve Dobbins, Shocker quarterback, moves around left end on an option play for a short gain, during Thursday's game with Amarillo. Blocking for him is fullback Larry Taylor. Dobbins and Taylor were the Shockers' leading ground gainers.

B Teamers Nip Amarillo, 8-7, On Pass, Run

By RED GRIGGS
Daily News Sports Editor

Finishes like the one the Shockers pulled out of the hat last night are supposed to happen only in fiction.

But it's doubtful if any fiction writer would dare dream up an ending for his story, as unlikely as what actually happened Thursday night in Harvester Park.

In the last minute of the game, the Shockers muffed a touchdown and a conversion — both of which they needed to win — but got second chances on both and made 'em.

With two and a half minutes remaining in the game, and with Amarillo B team leading 7-0, the Shockers took possession of the ball and moved it to the Yannigan 19. Two running tries were stopped, bringing up a third down and 9 to go.

On the next play, Roy Don Stephens broke into the clear on the right sideline, and Steve Dobbins threw him a strike, for what looked like a sure touchdown. But the ball slipped off his fingertips and the Shockers appeared done for.

With fourth down coming up, it was obviously this play or never for the B teamers. Dobbins dropped back for another pass, and this time found John Spotts in the clear on the left sideline. He again heaved a strike, and this time Spotts hung on to the ball and glided into the end zone unmolested.

The Shockers still weren't out of the woods. Trailing 7-6, Dobbins had to decide whether to try for a win or play it safe with a tie. He elected to go for broke.

Dobbins tried to go over the right side, but was stopped short of the goal line, and again the Shocker cause appeared to be lost.

But the Yannigans drew a 1-yard penalty on the play and the Shockers were alive again. The linemen formed a wedge in front of Dobbins and escorted him across the goal line for the winning two points. Final score, Shockers 8, Amarillo 7. Time remaining: 48 seconds.

Eldon Mongold scampered five yards for Amarillo's touchdown early in the third quarter and Dick Hall booted the extra point.

The tally had been set up by the longest run of the night, a 32-yard scamper by Don Fisher. The entire touchdown march carried 49 yards after a recovery of a Shocker fumble.

Amarillo made no other serious threats, and the Shockers only one. Midway in the fourth period, Pampa moved to the Yannigan 12, but was held for downs.

The entire first half was a defensive duel, as neither side was able to penetrate inside the opponent's 35.

Fine defensive play by five Shockers kept the Yannigans contained in their own end of the field for most of the game. The five men, who were often all in on the same tackle, were Orvil Thornburg, Terry Rexroad, Bob Followell, Charlie Giese, and Steven French.

National Grid Loop Possible

By HAL WOOD
United Press International

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The wheels are grinding—but slowly—for the formation of that coast-to-coast college football association and the chances are good now that some sort of a loose organization will be constructed for the 1960 or 1961 seasons.

Eilnut Johns, athletic director at the University of California at Los Angeles, said today he is "optimistic" over the chances for the loop.

"I think it is feasible and I'm optimistic over the chances of such an organization," said Johns. "The fine thing about it is the fact that many of the schools already are on each other's schedule."

Hold Several Meetings
It was revealed here today that "several" meetings have been held during the last few months by representatives of 12 different schools with the idea in mind of setting some kind of an "association."

Some of the representatives have attended several meetings, others just one. The schools involved include UCLA, Oklahoma, Southern California, Miami, California, Air Force Academy, Navy, Stanford, Army, Washington, Pitt and Notre Dame.

Several of these schools have stated "definitely" that they would not be interested in the conference. But a survey of the schedules for the past year and for the next few years shows that many of them meet regularly, anyway.

Rebels Outscore WD Squad, 36-28

By RED GRIGGS
Daily News Sports Editor

Robert E. Lee's Rebels are still in a dead heat with the Shockers as "winningest team in town."

The Rebs padded their record to 5-3 Thursday in Harvester Park by coming from behind to down White Deer B, 36-28.

Lee scored three touchdowns in the third period to wipe out a 20-16 halftime deficit, then hung on for dear life as White Deer scored again in the last quarter.

The Rebels drew first blood in the game when Robby Robison sliced through for five yards on a dive play in the first quarter. Butch Crossland ran the extra points, and the Rebs led 8-0 at the end of the first quarter.

White Deer took the lead in the second quarter with two quick scores. Very early in the second period, Don Carter capped a 65-yard drive by going 4 yards off tackle. Shelby Sharp passed to Joe Grange for the conversion.

Then Grange put White Deer ahead by scampering 62 yards up the middle. Try for point failed.

Moments after, Robison went a yard off tackle to tie the score for the Rebs, and Crossland ran the points after. But White Deer came storming back with four quick passes to set up a tally just as the half ended. Grange went the final yard. The try for extra point failed, and White Deer led 20-16 at halftime.

In the third quarter, Robison ran three yards to put Lee back in the lead, and Crossland passed to Dennis Mills for the conversion.

Later, Curtis Smith blocked a White Deer punt. George Simmons alertly picked it up and ran 31 yards for a touchdown. A passing try for extra point failed.

Lee's final score came late in the third stanza when Robison galloped 10 yards on a pitehout. A passing try for extra point again failed.

Early in the fourth period, White Deer completed the day's scoring by marching 70 yards. Grange circled left end for the final 6 yards, and added the conversion on a run.

Rice-Army Contest to Match Two Successful Grid Coaches

HOUSTON (UPI) — The big inter-collegiate battle between Rice Institute and the Army Cadets Saturday will bring together the products of two of the country's most successful and respected coaches.

Only Holy Cross' Eddie Anderson has been on the job in major college football longer than Jess Neely of Rice and Army's colorful Earl (Red) Blaik.

The trip to Houston will be the first time Army has played the Southwest Conference team. The Southwest's other games will find Texas at Baylor and Texas A&M at Southern Methodist in conference battles, with Hardin-Simmons vs. Arkansas at Little Rock and Marquette at Texas Christian.

Neely, a veteran of 18 seasons at Rice, lacks only one year to match the 32 seasons of Anderson in major college football. Blaik, who has directed the Cadets since 1940, is in the midst of his 25th year.

Football Player Dies in Cleburne

CLEBURNE, Tex. (UPI) — Another high school football player has died during a game in Texas. Ronnie Kirkpatrick, 16, fullback for the Cleburne High School "B" team, collapsed after playing only one offense, at the end of the first quarter in a game here Thursday night.

Another high school player died earlier this week in a game at Phillips, Tex.

Kirkpatrick returned to the bench on a platoon change, sat down, and suddenly slumped over. The boy was dead on arrival at Johnson County Memorial Hospital.

Kirkpatrick carried the ball only once during the game, and appeared to have taken no hard blows.

The tremendous improvement of this season's squad is typical of Neely's showing.

The Owls dropped two of their first three games, but since the opener Neely has made six major lineup changes and won three straight conference games, routing nationally fourth-ranked Texas two weeks ago in their last outing.

Neely said today he thought the Owls definitely were "fired up" for the Army game.

"Our boys certainly were 'up' for Texas, and I think they'll be 'up' Saturday for Army. I think they'll play a good football game," he said.

Injury-Riddled Harvesters To Meet Lubbock Tonight

LUBBOCK — Dwain Urbanczyk and Dickie Watkins have been named to replace ailing Rex Williams and Clovis Shipp in the Pampa Harvester lineup.

Urbanczyk, the Harvesters' second leading ground gainer, will start at right halfback. He made some good yardage for Pampa in early games, but has not seen much action the past month.

Watkins, the regular center on offense, will take over Shipp's inside linebacker position. Watkins was a defensive starter early in the season, but has been used almost strictly on offense during the last few games.

In another change, Coach Babe Curfman moved offensive tackle Larry Heiskell into the defensive middle guard slot, replacing Bailey Clements. Curfman explained that the change was made to put more weight into the defensive lineup.

The Heiskell-for-Clements switch shows the emphasis Curfman places on stopping the Westerner attack. Clements was one of the defensive standouts in last week's game against Palo Duro, and he would not be replaced without urgent reasons.

Lubbock's attack is not particularly powerful, but its defense is so good that one or two touchdowns are often enough for a Westerner win. Five of the seven Lubbock opponents — including powerful Odessa — tallied only one touchdown.

The Harvesters, on the other hand, have scored more than one touchdown in only two games — against the weak Amarillo Sandies and Bowie Bears. The Harvesters have, however, made more yardage in district play than Lubbock.

A Harvester upset would not be too shocking, despite their 1-6 record, compared to Lubbock's 5-2 mark. All Lubbock's victories, except one, have been by a single touchdown. Also, Palo Duro is considered almost as good as Lubbock and the Harvesters played the Dons a very close game last week.

Lubbock, with a 3-1 district record, is the only team with a mathematical chance of stopping Berger. Pampa, after four district games, is still looking for its first win.

The Harvesters would like nothing better than to knock Lubbock completely out of the race, then beat the champ in two weeks. They'll be concentrating on the first part of that problem tonight, in Jones Stadium.

Mobeetie, Booker to Clash In Crucial 1-B Loop Game

A three-day dogfight is underway for the District 1-B (six-man) championship, and things may get more, instead of less, confused tonight.

Mobeetie, trailing Miami by a half-game, travels to Booker for a conference game. Booker is in third place, a game behind Mobeetie.

Mobeetie is the favorite, but only by a slim margin. If the Hornets win, they will again be tied for the district lead, with only weak Channing to beat next week, to clinch at least at tie for the crown.

If Booker wins, there will be a possibility of a three-way tie — providing Booker can also beat Miami next week. A loss in either this week's or next week's game would knock Booker out of the race.

Miami is playing host to Turpin, in a non-conference game. The Warriors close their season next week against Booker, in a game they must win to either take the district title or tie for it — depending on the result of tonight's Mobeetie-Booker game.

Things aren't quite that confusing.

Anyone interested in entering a team or playing should attend the meeting, according to director Jim Corley.

Six teams are expected, but as many teams as wish to enter may play. At the meeting, several things will be decided, including what nights to play, the entrance fee, and how many trophies to award.

Whatever Happened To...
DANNY MACFAYDEN

United Press International

DANNY MacFayden was a major league pitcher for 17 years, much of it in the city of Boston. Danny, known as "The Deacon," came up with the Red Sox in 1926 and stuck until 1932 when the Yankees picked him up for three seasons. He later spent five years with the Braves. Danny's best seasons were 16-12 with the 1931 Red Sox and 17-13 for the 1936 Braves. All told the scholarly right-hander won 132, lost 159.

Whatever happened to Danny MacFayden? Now 55, he is baseball coach at Bowdoin College at Brunswick, Maine.

Prophetic Vision

One hundred years ago on Oct. 27 Theodore Roosevelt was born in New York City. California Feature Service writes: "Courage, determination, tremendous drive, and a very human understanding were his heritage."

There were some things Teddy Roosevelt did with which we are not in agreement. But, no one could say the 26th president of these United States who was not an honest and sincere patriot, who believed his country came first.

Now, thanks to Archibald B. Roosevelt, a worthy bearer of his father's name, we learn further of the insight of the 26th president. In a new booklet, "Color, Communism and Common Sense," Roosevelt's organization "The Alliance" publishes a couple of interesting quotes from Teddy Roosevelt.

Back on Dec. 19, 1917, TR wrote a letter to Felix Frankfurter, one of the first of Franklin Roosevelt's brain trusters, and now a justice of the U. S. Supreme Court. Teddy wrote: "My dear Mr. Frankfurter: I thank you for your frank letter. I answer it at length because you have taken, and are taking, on behalf of the Administration an attitude which seems to me to be fundamentally that of Trotsky and the other Bolshevik leaders in Russia: an attitude which may be fraught with mischief to this country."

"Here again you are engaged in exciting men precisely like the Bolsheviks in Russia, who are murderers and encouragers of murder, who are traitors to their allies, to democracy, and to civilization, as well as to the United States, and whose acts are nevertheless apologized for on grounds, my dear Mr. Frankfurter, substantially like those which you allege."

That letter was prophetic. It is unfortunate that Teddy Roosevelt's cousin, Franklin, did not have the insight, the ability to see to what dangers he was exposing the country by placing such a man as Felix Frankfurter in a position of power in this country.

Will Policies Change

The big question in the minds of many this time: Will the results of the recent election bring a change either to national or domestic policies? It is perfectly safe to reply to this question in the negative.

Essentially, we have had no change in political policies since Hoover was defeated in 1932 by Franklin Roosevelt. At that time, a change was made. Since then, Republicans and Democrats alike, when they are in office, have in the main carried forward the Roosevelt policies.

To be sure, there has been a minor skirmish conducted on the periphery of the entrenchment as a sort of sniping, guerilla war. The full steam ahead - to socialism policy has had its opponents.

These opponents, however, were more out of office than in, more vocal than effective. The reason should be obvious to any astute person surveying the political winds that blow.

First of all, every government that has ever been devised tends to drift toward socialism. This is the natural direction for government to take. It should be remembered that socialism is not the product of some particular type or form of government. Socialism is the product of man's indolence.

For a government to oppose socialism is somewhat parallel to the idea that a person holding a job should work to eliminate his own livelihood. Since this is in contradiction to the normal flow of human energy, in or out of government, we can scarcely expect to see any government, on its own included, actually calling a halt to the drift.

In point of fact, this nation began to move toward socialism shortly after the Constitution was ratified. However, so long as the letter of the Constitution was respected and revered, such moves were of small import. The Constitution itself was a great wall, standing against the universal adoption of the concept of share-the-who-do-not-deserve-them, and the rise of bureaucracy.

The great contribution made by Roosevelt was that he breached that wall. What had been a gradual and piecemeal drift toward a memmoth welfare state, became in a few short years a headlong rush. Roosevelt showed how it was possible to circumvent the Constitution by establishing a bureaucracy unconstitutionally.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES We Must Have Poorly Explained Our Way Of Promoting Happiness

Judging from the opposition we have received on our way of promoting happiness, success, goodwill, peace and security, we must have poorly explained the policies we believe will best promote these blessings.

We get this impression from a letter from one reader who writes, saying: "I feel it is an error on your part to show such lack of sympathy toward those less fortunate." When asked what he had ever written that caused the reader to draw that conclusion, the answer was: "As to specifics, I can't."

Possibly the belief that we lack sympathy is because we believe the best way to show real lasting sympathy and help is to try to bring about understanding of natural laws that will permanently improve the lot of all mankind so that there will be fewer cases needing assistance.

This kind of assistance is not as easily recognized as are immediate gifts. The permanent assistance of getting persons better able to help themselves is so diffused and continuous that it is harder to see.

We do not know of anyone who does not want success, happiness and security. It is common aspiration of all mankind. The disagreement is the means used to bring about these aspirations so they will continue to develop and increase.

Permanent happiness is a result of certain individual actions of being useful to others. And in order to be useful to others, one has first to develop his own faculties. Happiness is the pleasure that comes from being one's brother's helper and not his keeper.

Our critics undoubtedly believe we advocate a "happiness, goodwill and security" that will not produce success, happiness, goodwill and security. They can see that our methods do not get results as quickly as their methods appear to be for the moment.

Two of the most bitter of these backstage Democratic clashes are over the leadership of committees with considerable political impact—the Small Business Investigative Committee, headed by Representative Wright Patman, Tex., and the Judiciary Subcommittee on Immigration, chaired by Representative Francis Walter, Pa.

Patman is being truculently challenged by Representative Abraham Multer (D.N.Y.), with the backing of the six Republicans on the Committee. The other five Democrats are supporting Patman, thus creating a 7 to 6 line-up against him.

Walter is balking at an unannounced plan to transform his Judiciary Subcommittee into a full-fledged committee on immigration.

That would confront Walter with a difficult choice. He is already chairman of one major committee—Un-American Activities. He would have to decide between retaining that or shifting to the proposed Immigration Committee.

To solve this dilemma, Walter has come up with a compromise: Combine Immigration and Un-American Activities into one committee under him.

But this ingenious idea is being vehemently opposed by Representative Emanuel Celler (D.N.Y.), head of the full Judiciary Committee. He has no objection to the Immigration Subcommittee being made a separate group, but is threatening a "last-ditch fight" to prevent its being absorbed by Walter as part of the Un-American Activities Committee.

It seems to us, it is what our Founding Fathers meant when they wrote: "That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed." And no one can give a man's consent but the man himself. This also seems to us to be in perfect harmony with the Decalogue and the Golden Rule.

These principles are spiritual. They are unseen. But to the degree they are followed do persons have happiness, success, peace, goodwill and security.

If our explanation has been clumsy, we would appreciate having anyone point out our statements that are contradictory and do not help in bringing about these most desirable results of peace, happiness, success, goodwill and security. The things we have advocated that the reader believes are just and unfair to any person we hope will be pointed out to us either publicly or privately so that we will not continue to advocate anything that retards the coming about of goodwill among men.

There must be something wrong in our collective actions, judging from the increase in crime, ill will, fear, hatred, debts, taxes, unemployment and almost continuous wars.

Help this newspaper try to discover how to minimize our errors, so that we can see things as they are rather than as they appear at the moment to be, and thus by example help others to see things as they are instead of as they appear.

Speaker Rayburn Has His Work Cut Out

WASHINGTON — Speaker Sam Rayburn has his work cut out for him keeping peace among the victorious House Democrats.

With the election barely over, they are already wrangling among themselves. It would be desirable, I think, to have the heredity traced out in the entire family to find out how many other members had the toes amputated and what the results were.

Looking Sideways

By Whitney Bolton

NEW YORK — There was a brief story in the papers the other day about an accused murderer suffering a further misfortune: his flying license was taken away from him because he had used his airplane to drop scurrilous leaflets over a corporation's acreage.

It brought back to memory the time Clark Gable sent a wreath of vegetables to his wife, Carole Lombard, when a location trip during the making of a film brought her into Culver City, the site of Mr. Gable's MGM triumphs. It is a minor California saga.

Miss Lombard has, to my personal regret, been gone a long time now and the aviator in question has, too. No harm can be done to anyone. I was associated with her professionally in those days and when her ever-loving husband, Mr. G., sent a truck and a crooked fellow actor to give her the vegetable wreath with the placard: "Welcome To Culver City, Home of MGM and Clark Gable," she first laughed long and loud—and then lapsed into a suspicious silence.

Two days of this silence followed, and then she sent for me. "Have you any close friends who can fly airplanes?" she demanded.

I said I could fly one if it were simple enough. Little Piper Cub, or something like that.

"No, that won't do," she said. "I want a skilled aviator who will take a small chance for a quick dollar."

"What do you want him to do?" "Pa sent me that vegetable wreath and I have to top it," she said. "I've wracked my brains and I think I have it. He made a still odorous picture called 'Parnell.' I thought we could get a printer to turn out maybe 10,000 to 15,000 leaflets in various colors and each would say: 'Remember Parnell.' Then you could give them to your aviator friend and he could fly right over the Metro studio right at noon when everybody was coming out of stages and offices for lunch and dump them on the place."

It seemed like a handsome idea and I ordered the leaflets in bilious green, angry red and lurid blue, horrible colors, printed with the big, black words: "Remember Parnell." While he was getting these out, I talked long and earnestly to a friendly flier who seemed to think that he'd like to do that if the price was right.

"I could lose my license," he said. "It's forbidden to strew leaflets over private property."

He and Miss Lombard were brought together and I imagine they arrived at a price, because he undertook the job and chanced the loss of license.

For two days we stacked the leaflets into his plane and he contrived a trap-door device that would loose them on the MGM employes, including Gable. On the third day, a warm, sunny and lovely day with only a light, light wind, he heaved up off the ground from a small airport I shall not identify and within a few minutes was over the MGM studios and dumping his cargo. They fluttered down by the thousands, annoying everyone from Louis B. Mayer down and giving the studio street cleaners a vexing problem. It happened so fast and with such surprise no one thought to look up and write down the plane's wing numbers. My friend scooted out of there and disappeared over the Baldwin Hills.

Just before loading the plane, Miss Lombard asked us to hold out 1,000 leaflets for her own use. It was days before I ever found out that she took them home and stuffed them into everything Gable owned: rolled-up socks, wallets, shirt pockets, trouser pockets, coat pockets, razor boxes and shoes. She even had them cooked inside omelets and served to him wrapped around his coffee cups.

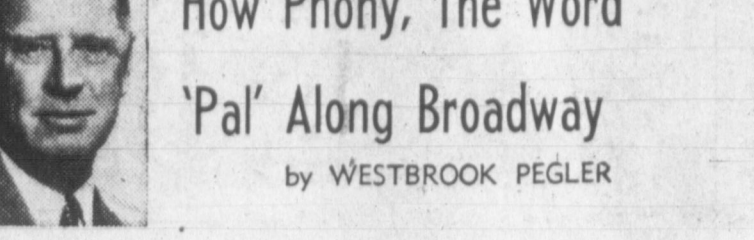

He never said a word, never mentioned the leaflets that blanketed the studio. Days passed and she wondered when the storm would break. It never broke. About two weeks later, one Sunday night, as they sat before the fire in their ranch home he turned suddenly and said: "You want to know what I don't think I'll ever do again?"

"What?" she asked. "Send you a vegetable wreath," he said. "And that was the end of the occasion."

The first one exploded seconds after being launched. A number of important improvements have been made in the new missile; particularly to increase its first-stage speed to 25,000 mph, and to strengthen the master switch of the "payload rocket."

Fair Enough

How Phony, The Word 'Pal' Along Broadway

NEW YORK — The late Wilson Mizner's practical aspirations on the personal loyalty of bums in the Klondike remind a knowing person of the bitter fraud inherent in the term "Pal" and other counterfeits in the sentimentality of the sordid region know of the world as "Broadway."

My case in point in Sherman Billingsley, whose fabulous Stork Club has been picketed for more than a year, mainly by day-wage mercenaries in sandwich-boards who never saw the inside of the place. I would not offend the reader's intelligence by imputing to Mr. Billingsley any high minded loyalty to a moral and constitutional principle. On the contrary, he is a tough man pulled into a dirty fight-by-boas, unionists-typical of the stratum which he learned to know in the period when the Stork was a speakeasy renowned for its glamour and Mr. B. himself was, in the precious word of Henry L. Mencken, a bootlicker.

For years there were no unions in the Stork except that the musicians were hired from the usual compound maintained by the appropriate local of Jimmy Petrillo's unconscionable trust, now happily falling apart. The cooks, waiters, bartenders and all such were or were not union members according to their own desires or their susceptibility to intimidation. Mr. Billingsley maintained his own right-to-work law in his own premises long before any politician had the gumption to make an issue of it.

Suddenly, commotions occurred and the culinary help, the waiters and bartenders went out. Mr. Billingsley had seen Dutch Schultz, an old colleague of prohibition days, organize unions in those phases both here and in Miami, charging $25 per head for initiation and $5 a week for dues. He took all that as rub of the green, being a true man of the world. But when it was put to him to sign contracts under phases of the pernicious laws enacted by political racketeers whereby the bosses of the unions could deny him good waiters and send him hums off skid row, or probable thieves or henchmen of stickups, he stood for his ancient right to hire his own help by hand on personal knowledge and impressions.

The actors and other theatrics, including radio-TV employes, deserted his Stork with little less than unanimity, fearing persecution in their own unions. However, their personal regard for Mr. B. and there is abundant emity in this traffic, owed him moral support for fighting their fight, but, instead, laughed at his occasional explosions often amounting to handmade violence from which he has never flinched.

The Stork will be remembered as the locale of Cafe Society and the innocent revels of a bevy of teen-age belles, some of the m grandmothers by now, who made conspicuous social point of drinking sweetwaters only, with Mr. B.'s captains acting rather as flycops to guard their chastity and the Stork's. Thus when, in a conspicuous divorce case, the mother of the children accused their father of taking them to a night club, the father could reply that the Stork was a genteel restaurant, and offer a roster of eminent sons.

Of late, possibly with sly thanks to the McClellan Committee, Mr. Billingsley has noted that the Sacrosanct picket line of old has become the butt of a social vogue

While feeding the forest, elephants make a great din, with branches cracking like pistol shots and trees crashing to earth, yet the herd can move away almost in silence when danger is scented.

After all, China claims to have 650,000,000 people, as against Russia's paltry 200,000,000, and the Chinese population is growing at a faster rate than the Russian.

Some day, barring famine or other disasters, China's borders seem certain to need more living space than they have now. One logical place for them to bulge into will be eastern Russia. If Sinking at that time is equipped with big steel, oil and power industries, it should make a pretty good base of operations for a Chinese land-grabbing invasion of Russia.

We have some convincing grapevine advice that the Kremlias is already worried about these and kindred possibilities. Well, here's to Khrushchev and Mao; soon may they clash, and bloody.

Lubbock Veterans Set Open House

In commemoration of Veterans Day, the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Lubbock is holding an open house from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday, November 10, with everyone invited. Mr. Robert Sisson, Manager, announces that the VA personnel want this to be a true open house, and they have added special attractions to be of interest to a wide segment of their area's population. The information below will picture the events planned.

All veterans, their families, and their friends are cordially invited. This will be your opportunity to see the VA in action, working on the benefits America offers her veterans and their dependents. There will be a guided tour, special displays will be shown, and refreshments will be served.

PLACE: Veterans Administration Regional Office, 1612 - 19th Street, Lubbock, Texas.

PURPOSE: To acquaint the veteran, his family, survivor dependents, and the public with the mission of the VA. To give all visitors an insight into and understanding of the VA program and how it is carried out. November 10 was selected as the day for this open house as the VA's participation in commemoration of Veterans Day, November 11.

ACTIVITIES: Visitors will be greeted at the door by VA employees who will guide them through the various divisions of the VA and will briefly picture the job handled by each. Visitors will be urged to spend additional time in any division of special interest. They will see the organizations that handle training, compensation and benefits, GI loans, and life insurance premium payments; the huge file room where more than 200,000 veteran's claim and insurance folders are maintained; the mail room where thousands of pieces of mail are sorted and distributed daily; and the office where benefit and dividend checks are certified. At the end of the tour, refreshments will be served by the VA Employees Association.

Pampa Police Rate High In Her Opinion

The consideration of two Pampa police officers, who took time Saturday to explain the workings of radar to a Borger motorist, was applauded in a letter received Wednesday by Pampa Police Chief Jim Conner.

Paula Libbey of Borger wrote: "I want to congratulate you on the consideration of your patrolmen."

"On Saturday, Nov. 1, I had the privilege of meeting two of the men on your force. One of them was kind enough to demonstrate the new radar device recently acquired. I do not know his name, but I would like to thank him for helping me understand, for the first time, what a policeman's real job is."

"From now on you can be sure I will be one of the most careful drivers in Borger. My special thanks to you and to him." Her letter was postmarked Monday.

First taxicab began operation in New York City in 1897 and was an electric auto.

The American Society of Composers, Author and Publishers was organized in 1914.

Barbecue Set In Groom's Hospital Drive

GROOM (Sp) - A Saturday barbecue will benefit the proposed Groom Memorial Hospital, according to workers for the Building Fund. The place of the barbecue will be St. Mary's School Hall; the time, 8-6 p.m.

Tickets for the barbecue are priced at $1.50 for adults, 50 cents for children under 7 and 75 cents for children 7-12.

Barbecued beef and venison, baked beans, potato salad, cole slaw, stewed apricots, homemade pie and coffee will be served buffet style. Meat and other items are being donated by people of the community.

The 16 bed hospital will be built at a cost of $200,000. C. L. Culver, member of the planning board, stated. Sponsored by the city of Groom, the hospital would be under the supervision of a board composed of three members of the City Commission, two doctors and two citizens.

"The federal government will make a grant of $100,000 if we can raise $100,000," Culver said. "To date approximately $43,000 has been donated or pledged. A loan of $30,000 on a 30 year repayment term has been promised. We need to secure about $27,000 more in cash and pledges before the December meeting of the State Hospital Board which will approve our application for a Federal grant of $100,000," he said.

A family or person donating $2-500 will have his name inscribed on a plaque to be placed over the door. Pledges or cash will be accepted.

Society Stales Meeting For Austin Nov. 14

William Fitch, director of the Special Staff on Aging of the United States Department of Health, Education and Welfare in Washington, D.C., will be the featured speaker at the Second Annual Meeting of the Texas Gerontological Society at the Driskill Hotel in Austin, Nov. 14 and 15.

Dr. Hiram J. Friedsam, Denton program chairman, has arranged for sessions on "Community Responsibility in Programs for the Aging: The Local Community and the State"; "Current Research and Training in Gerontology"; "Planning for the Older Worker"; and "Geriatric Rehabilitation."

The vice-chairman of the Texas Legislative Committee on Aging, Rep. James A. Turman, Gober, will address the conference on "Recent Legislative Development and Aging."

At this Annual Conference, a merger of the Texas Gerontological Society and the Texas Geriatric Society will be completed and the new society, the Texas Society on Aging, will continue the important work of both groups. Herbert Shore, Dallas, president of the Texas Gerontological Society, will report on the activities of the past year and outline the goals and objectives for the coming year.

These include a Governor's Conference on Aging; an Interdepartmental Committee made up of state departments, legislators and citizens; organizing local chapters of the Society; sponsoring training sessions for community leaders and limited fact-finding studies on special problem areas.

The Society will continue to offer scholarships for its members to attend outstanding conferences, purchase books for libraries of nursing schools on aged and encourage scholarships for training professional workers for the field.

Mrs. Nina Spoonmore, Pampa, is a director of the Texas Gerontological Society.

Poppy Day Is Saturday

Veterans of Foreign Wars Pampa Ladies Auxiliary to Post No. 1637 will conduct its annual Buddy Poppy sale on Saturday with members of the local Auxiliary in charge of sales.

Excerpts from the VFW Ladies Auxiliary National Bulletin written by Frances Millican states: "The VFW has conducted an annual nationwide 'Buddy Poppy' sale since May, 1924. It is now a tradition, a setting a time of remembrance; a time to remind ourselves and the public of the obligation we owe our departed comrades and their dependents; our symbolic way of saying 'We have not forgotten.' From the revenue we receive each year from the poppy sales, we are able to maintain the national rehabilitation program, our national home of deceased members' children and widows, hospital care and each Post and Auxiliary relief program."

The VFW was the first organization to promote a nationwide sale of poppies made by disabled veterans. The first sale were of poppies made in France; then the VFW Buddy Poppy fashioned by disabled veterans, who were paid for their work, came into use. The name "Buddy Poppy" was registered with the US patent office and the VFW still holds all trademark rights in the name "Buddy" under the classification of artificial flowers.

Poppies will also be sold for the Auxiliary in Miami, Skellytown and Lefors.
