Tanks Clatter Through Beirut Streets As Grim Reminders

By LARRY COLLINS
BEIRUT (UPI)—U. S. tanks clattered through the streets of Beirut Wednesday night, offering tacit warning to pro-government bandits that there must be no further interference with American troops.

QUALITY, NOT QUANTITY

F. Z. Beanblossom, superintendent of the State Fair of Texas' poultry department, weighs a slightly heavier than usual egg laid by a White Leghorn near the start of the egg-laying contest now going on at the fair in Dallas. Beanblossom explains that the winners will not be those that lay the largest number of eggs, but those that lay the biggest. The White Leghorns are leading in the contest. (NEA Telephoto)

"This will let (pro-government leader) Saeb Salem's people know that we have the capacity for effective action if we are forced to it," a U. S. Army spokesman said. Stick-up men identified as followers of Salem halted an American military police jeep on an important supply road outside Beirut late Wednesday and stole the revolvers carried by the three-man crew.

One of the MP's was injured, and the guns were recovered by the Lebanese army. A few hours later, five tanks in column rolled through the center of the city. Armed infantrymen riding atop the tanks covered windows and rooftops with their carbines. As the column passed along the waterfront, the tanks' big guns fired four shots out to sea. Along most of the route, the streets were deserted. A silent crowd gathered outside the St. George Hotel to watch the tanks turn around and start back to base.

The demonstration of armored might started a buzz of rumors in the city, including a hastily denied report that Premier Rashid Karami's cabinet had been replaced by a military regime. Karami himself denied the report. Earlier, however, his cabinet had told President Fuaad Chehab that it is ready to resign at any time if he wishes to seek new means of ending the disorders which have plagued Lebanon for nearly six months.

US Urged To Halt Talk With Reds

By AL KAFF
United Press International
TAIPEI (UPI)—Vice President Chen Cheng declared today that Nationalist China will not negotiate with the Communists, and urged the United States to break off its Warsaw talks with the Reds. Chen told a cabinet meeting that the Communists hope to win at the conference what they have been unable to gain on the "battlefield"—the abandonment of the outpost islands of Quemoy and Matsu to their fate. He rejected the recent Red demand for negotiations with the Nationalists, and told the cabinet he hopes the United States will withdraw Ambassador Jacob Beam from the Warsaw talks. Thirty-six Chinese patriots, organizations—some of them supported by the government—cabled

US Urged To Halt Talk With Reds

President Eisenhower today, urging him to break off the Warsaw talks. "We earnestly hope that you will terminate the Warsaw talks with the Chinese Communists, which can do no good but all harm," the cable said. "In the present crisis in the Taiwan (Formosa) Strait, both the future of the Quemoy and Matsu islands and the prestige and leadership of the United States in... the free world are at stake." The Red call for negotiations with the Nationalists was one of the two main conditions attached to the temporary cease-fire in the Formosa Strait. The United States—ignoring Nationalist protests—has granted the Communists other condition by withdrawing its destroyers from convoy duty in the crisis area. Rear Adm. Liu Hsi-tu, spokesman for the Nationalist Defense Ministry, announced today that Chinese warships will continue to escort convoys to Quemoy, if only to avoid the appearance of kowtow under the Reds.

Violence Outbreak May Retain Troops

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Announced plans to pull all U.S. military forces out of Lebanon by the end of this month appeared threatened today by increased violence and the heightened political crisis in that country. The State Department announced Wednesday that the United States expected to have the last of its troops out of Lebanon by Oct. 31 "barring unforeseen developments." It said today that was still the schedule but acknowledged that events of the past 24 hours had increased the possibility that some U.S. troops might have to remain beyond that date. The State Department early today still had no information as to whether or not premier Rashid Karami, who has been in office only two weeks, had resigned. There were conflicting reports on this from Beirut. Nevertheless, officials said it was clear that the situation, where

Cool Front Heads Into Panhandle

United Press International
A cool front headed for the Texas Panhandle today after heavy rains of more than six inches caused flash flooding and claimed at least two lives in Central Texas. The front will cause more heavy rains as it moves through the state tonight, forecasters said. A violent thunderstorm hit Fort Worth early Wednesday night, and flooded many parts of the city with as much as 15 feet of water when a cloudburst of more than six inches fell in a two-hour period. Two Fort Worth women drowned when trapped in their automobile at a flooded underpass. Downtown Fort Worth reported 4.86 inches of rain, but one rain gauge in the east part of the city overflowed after recording six inches. The Fort Worth Weather Bureau at Amn Carter Field reported only .31 of an inch.

A FEDERAL GOOF!

Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas, right, after receiving a letter from the Internal Revenue Service saying he owes $105,499 in back taxes, said he "feels the government is after him because of his unyielding attitude in the Little Rock integration crisis." Curtis R. Mathis, left, district director of the Internal Revenue Service, took full blame for telling Faubus it appeared he owed the taxes. The total included rent and operating expenses on the executive mansion for two years, campaign expenses and a gift auto that Faubus and his wife received in 1954. Mathis pointed out that anything a state furnishes by law to its governor is not taxable. (NEA Telephoto)

Women Trapped In Autos Killed

FORT WORTH (UPI)—A cloudburst poured more than six inches of rain on Fort Worth early Wednesday night to flood some sections of the city with as much as 15 feet of water and drown two women trapped in their automobiles. The rain fell in less than a two-hour period when a vicious thunderstorm moved in over the city about sunset. One rain gauge in the east part of the city overflowed after six inches. Civil Defense officials said clogged storm sewers backed up water into several thousand homes. Passengers on a city bus that stalled in high water had to climb up on their seats to get out of the water which ran into the vehicle. A policeman wrenched an arm when he dived into 15 feet of water at a Fort Worth intersection to see if any one was in several automobiles covered by flash floods. Mrs. Louise Allen, 43, an independent cattle buyer, and Jessie Mae O'Neal, a Negro, drowned when water trapped their car in an underpass. Authorities said Mrs. Allen offered to drive the Negro woman home after she stopped by Mrs. Allen's home with an armful of groceries during the storm and asked her to call a taxicab. TV Stations Out Police said both women drowned when they apparently tried to wade through swiftly-rising water that trapped their car in an underpass. Police found Mrs. Allen's body wedged in a storm sewer opening. The storm knocked out Fort Worth power (See WOMEN on Page 2)

Faubus Tax Bill Will Be Probed

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—A five-state regional supervisor of the Internal Revenue Service begins today a personal investigation of an income tax bill sent to Gov. Orval E. Faubus "by mistake." The regional superintendent, E. Frank White of Dallas, Tex., said he was making "a trip to Little Rock to see for myself what is going on," said White. Faubus got what is known as a "10-day letter" from the IRS, saying he had 10 days in which to protest the tax request. But most of the items the IRS said the governor owed back taxes on were rent on his executive mansion, servants and a gift automobile. District IRS Director Curtis R. Mathis immediately said "somebody goofed," explaining that nothing which a state lawfully furnishes its governor is subject to such taxes. Meanwhile, W. C. Brashears, the newly appointed superintendent of schools of the Little Rock Private Schools Corp., took a six-man committee on a tour of churches, lodge halls and rumpled rooms Wednesday night. The group talked over where to put in makeshift partitions and sized up places which might be used as emergency classrooms. "Time is getting short," said Brashears, who came out of retirement to take the superintendent's job, "and we've got to get these buildings ready for students." Brashears retired last spring after 11 years as a grade school principal.

MISSOURI TWISTER CLAIMS ONE LIFE

United Press International
A massive rain-laden storm swept through the Midwest Thursday in a powerful follow-up to an off-season tornado which killed at least one person. Another storm system in Texas was blamed for the deaths of two women. The twister gouged northwest Missouri Wednesday night, dipping down along a 25-mile area near Pickering, Parnell and Grant City. Authorities said Mrs. Frank Porter, Grant City, was found in her demolished home. Flash floods were feared in the wake of the heavy rain which was accompanied by hail 1 1/2 inches in diameter. Farm homes and barns were flattened and a damaged throughout the region. Damaging thunderstorms pounded the north central states Wednesday night and Thursday and wind gusts of up to 70 miles an hour ripped down power lines and uprooted trees along the Illinois-Wisconsin border. Hailstones ranging up to 1/2 inch battered Chicago. Near Chemung, Ill., a tree felled by the wind toppled on a moving station wagon, killing Joseph Lindhart, 46, Harvard. Two other passengers were injured. Violent thunderstorms, accompanied by high winds, swept parts of central Iowa, causing extensive damage in farm areas. Virtually all the homes and buildings in Ankeny, Iowa, north of Des Moines, were damaged by large hailstones.

Torrential Rains Do Crop Damage

DALLAS (UPI)—The quality and grade of most row crops such as cotton, grain sorghums and soybeans have been damaged by torrential rains, the Texas & Pacific Railway said Wednesday in its crop report. The rains have not hurt yield so much as they have the quality and grade, the report said. On the other hand, practically all ranges and pastures were helped by the rains. At the end of September, most farm activity was bogged down. Farmers were looking for open, clear weather to finish a bumper harvest, some of which now will be of low grade, the report said. The luncheon will adjourn to the underpass where dedication ceremonies will be held promptly at 2 p.m. Formby will give the dedicatory address and cut the ribbon, officially opening the underpass to traffic. The invocation will come from Dr. Burgin Watkins, pastor of the St. Paul Methodist Church. Also on the program will be Mayor Lynn Boyd, County Judge Bruce Parker and officials of the Santa Fe Railroad. The public is invited and urged to attend the dedication.

Pilot Swerves To Miss AF Planes

DALLAS (UPI)—The pilot of an American Airlines DC-6-B carrying 59 passengers, including hotelman Conrad Hilton, said he had to swerve his plane into a 90 degree turn Wednesday to avoid hitting two military planes near Wink, Tex. Capt. Guy Stratton said the near-miss occurred at 15,000 feet, an altitude the Air Traffic Control at Fort Worth assigned him. None of the passengers were injured. Stratton said he had to turn and bank his plane to avoid colliding with a KC-97 aerial tanker and a B-47 jet bomber which was refueling from it. Hilton said it appeared the DC-6 missed the military planes by about 150 feet.

Balloonist Describes Reactions To Space

ALAMOGORDO, N. M. (UPI)—Lt. Clifton M. McClure huddled in top secret sessions with Air Force officials early today to describe his reactions to conditions on the edge of space during his flight in a giant balloon rig nearly 19 miles above the earth's surface. The 280-foot, helium-filled bag touched down early Wednesday night at the White Sands missile range, about 30 miles northwest of Alamogordo. McClure, 26, of Anderson, N.M., stepped from an instrument-jammed gondola under his own power and then was whisked off in an Air Force helicopter to a top-secret area for a routine physical examination and questioning. A terse report by the Air Force indicated McClure was forced to return to earth earlier than expected apparently because of a failure in refrigeration equipment on the gondola. The flight was scheduled to last for 24 hours. McClure went aloft at dawn and touched earth again at 6:45 p.m. m.s.t. McClure radioed that he could "see the edges between darkness and light" from his highest position of 99,300 feet above the rolling desert floor. He described it as a "very startling sight." Nine experts followed the flight of the balloon in a van on the ground, constantly firing questions at McClure as to what he saw. The premature return of the balloon was another in a series of setbacks in the Air Force project titled "Manhigh III." The launching was switched from Crosby, Minn., last week because of a rush of northern weather. The flight was called off at Alamogordo Monday because of adverse weather conditions. On Tuesday, a sudden wind collapsed the first balloon. The Air Force used its last spare balloon in Wednesday's lift. The data recorded will be coupled with McClure's verbal account to give scientists some answers to questions about what future space travelers will encounter.

World Mourns Death Of Pope

By DANIEL F. GILMORE
United Press International
CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (UPI)—Pope Pius XII died peacefully in his sleep early today. A few hours later, a plenary conference of cardinals elected Benedetto Cardinal Aloisi Masella as camerlengo or papal chamberlain. In that role, he becomes acting temporal leader of the Roman Catholic Church until a new pope is chosen. He wields some of the powers of the Sacred College of Cardinals in its name until that time. The election of a camerlengo was one of the first major moves by sorrowing dignitaries of the church in setting in motion the age-old ritual leading to the successor to Pius XII, the 82-year-old "pope of peace" who reigned for 19 years, 7 months and 7 days.

Church bells tolled and signs of mourning were donned throughout the Catholic world. Messages of condolences poured in from political and religious leaders of all denominations, for the late Pope was not only the spiritual and temporal head of Roman Catholicism but a diplomat and statesman of universal standing. In addition to electing the camerlengo, the cardinals also appointed Magr. Alberto di Iorio as secretary of the Sacred College of Cardinals. This means that Di Iorio will hold the key post of secretary of the conclave of cardinals which must meet between Oct. 24 and 27 to elect a new pope. Cardinal Aloisi Masella is the 79-year-old archpriest of the Roman basilica of St. John in Lateran and prefect of the Sacred Congregation of the Discipline of the Sacraments. It now falls to the new camerlengo to take the responsibility for all the organization of the nine days of events leading up to the funeral of Pope Pius XII, the conclave and the eventual enthronement of the new pope. Will Move Body The camerlengo was chosen by the 12 or so cardinals now here, who had to act immediately under the guidance of Eugene Cardinal Tisserant, dean of the Sacred College. Meanwhile, most of the other of the world's 55 cardinals hastened toward Rome for the solemn conclave. The body of the late Pope Pius XII, austere and kindly of face even in death, still lay in the room where he died at 3:52 a.m. (9:52 p.m. c.d.t. Wednesday) of a second stroke and heart and lung complications. Later in the day, it was to be moved from the plain bedchamber on the second floor of the papal summer palace into the Hall of the Swiss Guards. There Pius XII will lie in state until 2 p.m. (8 a.m. c.d.t.) Friday when the body will be transported to Rome. Vatican embalmers gave the Pope's body injections this morning and prepared it for the nine days of solemn ceremony before it is laid to rest in the grottoes of St. Peter's Basilica close to the tomb of the first pope, St. Peter. Close Italy's Schools In the room where the Pope died, his body lay on a shiny brass bed. It was dressed in flowing white robes, topped by the ermine-lined scarlet cape. The top of the head was covered by a scarlet camauro, also trimmed with white ermine, which fitted closely around the ears and left only the face exposed. In the Pope's hands, clasped on his breast, were the small crucifix and the rosary he held when he died. Church bells throughout the world tolled the death of the Pontiff, spiritual leader of the world's 496 million Catholics. Cardinals of the church put aside their brightly colored vestments. Only the Communists showed no regrets. He had fought them bitterly, and for hours Moscow Radio did not even mention his death. During the final hours of his illness Russia, jammed news bulletins on his condition. The London Daily Worker lambasted him today in death. In Rome where the solemn ceremonies will be held bells tolled in pre-dawn darkness and the altars of the city's many churches were draped in purple, the sign of mourning. Italy declared three days of mourning and closed schools and places of entertainment. Ill For Week The Pope had been unwell for a week and his final illness came at 8:30 a.m. Monday when he suffered a stroke which left him paralyzed and weak. He received the last rites of the church but appeared to be making a recovery. Then Wednesday he was seized by a second stroke and the Vatican announced to the world there was little hope for his recovery. He failed rapidly though still fighting for life. But in mid-afternoon the doctors reported a grave cardio-pulmonary collapse. The Pontiff's heart and lungs began giving in to the strain of two cerebral attacks. At 3 p.m. doctors abandoned hope. Just before sundown pneumonia set in. Doctors brought in oxygen and blood plasma. (See DEATH on Page 2)

WELL WALTZ ME AROUND AGAIN! EL PASO (UPI)—A motel proprietor and a gunman wrestled for five minutes over possession of a pistol Wednesday before agreeing it was a draw. Ted Hanson, 52, the motel proprietor, told police the youthful bandit walked into his office and pulled a gun. When he ordered Hanson to turn over the cash, Hanson grabbed the barrel of the gun. He said they struggled for five minutes, neither gaining an advantage. "We aren't getting any place, are we?" the bandit said. So the two agreed upon Hanson releasing the shells from the pistol, after which he allowed the bandit to leave. If it comes from a Hardware Store, We have it, Lewis Hdw. (adv.)

Former Pampa Citizen Dies

Word has been received by friends in Pampa of the recent death of Alfred Hiller Tinsley, 73, who died in Rideout Memorial Hospital, Marysville, Calif.

Mr. Tinsley had resided in Pampa for a number of years, before moving to Marysville to make his home. His death was preceded by illness lasting several weeks.

While a resident in Pampa, he was active in geological and land leasing; a member of Pampa Lodge 956 F&AM, Royal Arch Masons, Knights of Templars and was a charter member of the Shrine in Amarillo.

Survivors include his wife, Nettie; a son, Warren of Marysville; a daughter, Mrs. Evelyn Knapp of San Jose; two grandchildren and a brother, Roy; another son, Gilbert, was a World War II casualty.

Interment was in Sierra Vie Memorial Park in California.

Meeting Is Cancelled

The regular meeting due to be held by the Board of Directors of the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority, Oct. 13, has been cancelled by President W. Howard Hoffman.

The Committee that was appointed as a result of the resolution adopted by the Board at the meeting held Sept. 3, is now working on the assignment to present back to the Board a water pricing formula or formulas but has not completed its work and needs additional time. Because of the absence of a member of the Committee from the State, it is not likely the Committee will hold another meeting before the latter part of this month. Hence the cancellation of the regular meeting.

President Hoffman has stated that as soon as the Committee has presented its recommendation to the Board, he will call a meeting of the Board. You will be notified in sufficient time to make your arrangements to attend this meeting.

Porter Rites Are Pending

Funeral arrangements are pending at Duengel-Carmichael Funeral Home for Clarence Elmer Porter, 58, who died this morning about 6 a.m. in the Canadian Hospital after suffering a stroke yesterday.

Dauer Elected Supervisor

Roland E. Dauer of Pampa was elected a supervisor of Soil Conservation Zone 5 in this week's election. Dauer will serve a five year term, succeeding Ernest McKnight.

Before the election Tuesday in the Grandview School, County Agent Ralph Thomas and his assistant Cecil Regier showed films. The first of these showed some of the elements that a plant contains and obtains from the soil. Some farm implements used in the soil conservation program were the subject of the second film.

The third film on farm safety pointed out a good many of the common accidents that occur on the farm. Carelessness was stressed as the cause of many of the accidents.

Fire Chief Says Don't Leave Small Ones Unattended

"Don't rely on Lady Luck in place of a good baby sitter. Children left alone at home would be trapped or helpless if fire or some other disaster should strike," Pampa Fire Chief Ernest Winborne warns.

"Never leave your children alone, not even for a few minutes," the Chief urges in a Fire Prevention Week message. "A study by the National Fire Protection Association shows that one out of every three child fire victims was alone and helpless when the fire struck."

Chief Winborne also pleads with parents to take these precautions to protect their children from fire at home and at play:

1. Be sure that baby sitters have specific instructions in case of fire. These include orders to get the children outside the instant smoke or gas is smelled, the location of at least two escape routes, and how to get in touch with the fire department, parents, doctor, and police.

2. Keep young children — two and under — in constant sight and mind.

3. Teach older children how to use and respect fire. Don't forget: they learn best by your example.

4. Keep your home free of fire hazards by regular inspections. The fire department will help in this.

5. Train children of all ages how to get out of the house to safety in case of fire. Have at least two escape routes from every room, and be sure the youngsters know these by heart.

The Pontiff's death came less than three hours after Vatican Radio broadcast a Solemn Mass from a chapel adjoining his bedroom, a mass said by Msgr. Domenico Tardini, assistant pro-secretary of state.

It was a mass "pro infirmo" (for a sick person) and the sobs of the priest could be heard throughout Italy as he spoke these words near the end: "My soul into eternal life... may almighty God bless you."

The end followed swiftly. Prof. Antonio Gasbarrini, one of the four doctors, signalled that death was near. All gathered at the bed—the family and the high papal officers. They recited prayers for the dying. There was a choked, rasping sound from the patient.

Sister Pasqualina, the faithful housekeeper for more than two decades, gently wiped the unconscious Pope's lips with water during the recital of the prayers.

US Tries For Initiative In Nuclear Halt

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—The United States moved to seize the initiative from Russia on U.N. action to halt nuclear weapons tests.

The U.S. delegation was trying to work out with its allies a draft resolution that would express the desire for a ban on test explosions, without restricting the scope of the forthcoming Geneva conference.

A U.S. delegation spokesman said the aim would be to "encourage" the Geneva conference of Britain, the United States and Soviet Russia, scheduled to start Oct. 31.

The Soviet Union and India have proposed resolutions to the main political committee, composed of all 81 U.N. member nations, calling for immediate cessation of nuclear weapons tests.

Some Western diplomats feared the wording of either resolution, if adopted, would have the effect of binding the Geneva conference in advance to test suspension, leaving little room for negotiation on controls and allied matters.

Man Pleads Guilty On Bad Check Count

Willie Young, Harlem St., pleaded guilty in county court Wednesday to a charge of swindling with a worthless check. Young was assessed a $1 fine and costs and sentenced to 30 days in county jail. The check, for $2.50, was delivered Aug. 25 to Kenneth Butler, Pampa.

IF AT FIRST...

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Urban S. Anderson, 47, was reported improving in a hospital today despite five futile attempts to take his own life. Investigators said Anderson plunged a live electrical wire into a bathtub full of water in which he was standing, slashed both his wrists, and drank two cans of household cleaner, a quantity of bleach and a can of lighter fluid.

Leading Questions
 Many think that no court will allow a lawyer to ask leading questions.
 But under some circumstances leading questions are proper, and it may be a lawyer's duty to ask them — to get the truth before the court.
 For example, in examining a "hostile witness or in cross-examining his opponent's witness, a lawyer may be compelled to "lead" the witness to the critical points at issue.
 A leading question is one that suggests the answer. Like: "Isn't it true, Miss Jones, that you saw the defendant beat his wife?

 What makes leading questions sometimes improper?
 To a friendly witness they may well suggest the answer the lawyer was fishing for, instead of getting the witness to tell unaided of the facts as he saw and heard them.

When a lawyer first asks questions of his own witnesses the testimony is given on "direct" examination; when the same witness answers his opponent's questions, the testimony is given on "cross-examination."
 So as a rule a leading question is proper on cross-examination but improper on "direct" examination; when it might lead a witness to testify on material or important facts at issue in the trial.
 On cross-examination the lawyer may be duty bound to test, by leading questions, the witness' memory or credibility, or to remind him of certain things to correct mistaken testimony.
 Of course, to save time the court may also allow leading questions on direct examination to get certain background facts out of the way or to aid a child or certain other witnesses.

 The judge may have to stop improper leading questions. He may let the lawyer ask the question again in non-leading form, or come back to the subject later on.
 The main thing is to allow questions which will get at the truth for the sake of a just verdict.
 (This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Justice Department Awaits Good Case Much Too Long?

By LYLE C. WILSON
 United Press International
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — The word is that the Justice Department awaits a good case before proceeding again under the Corrupt Practices Act against the use of labor money in political campaigns.

The department lost such a case growing out of labor's part in the 1954 election of Sen. Patrick V. McNamara (D-Mich.). It has waited now for a better case much too long so far as this year's election is concerned.

Democratic enchantment and Republican disenchantment with Big Labor in American politics is for cause, including the computation that in the 1956 political campaign all but about $4,000 of slightly more than one million dollars contributed by labor was given to Democratic candidates and their campaign committee.

This distribution of campaign gifts was cited last summer by the staff of the Republican Senate Policy Committee in a detailed report titled: "The Labor Bosses—America's Third Party."

On Explosive Ground
 The Policy Committee staff evidently was attempting to get Republican candidates this year and Republican leaders, in general, on what staff members regard as the beam with respect to Big Labor in American politics. Staff members realized they were treading explosive ground so they opened their report with this statement: "Neither the members of the Republican Policy Committee nor other Republican senators are responsible for the statements here-in contained, except such as they are willing to endorse and make their own."

Republican money, of course, paid for the report and pays the staff members salaries. The end product, however, was an orphan at birth so far as most top party leaders were concerned, a founding statement of fact, belief, accusation and policy awaiting adoption.

The report was quite well documented, being based on testimony before the McClellan Senate subcommittee, on reports by labor to the clerk of the House concerning political expenditures and on some legal proceedings in the federal courts including the Supreme Court.

The report quotes from Sec. 610 of the federal Corrupt Practices Act that: "It is unlawful for any national bank... or for any corporation whatever to make a contribution or expenditure in connection with any election to any political office... or any labor organization to make a contribution or expenditure in connection with any election (for federal office)..."

Cite Legal Cases
 "The labor bosses claim, however," the report adds, "that these political auxiliaries (which make the contributions) do not fall within the Corrupt Practices Act definition of a 'labor organization.' And, furthermore, that their activities are financed by 'voluntary contributions.'"

The Policy Committee staff, doubtless somewhat prejudiced, regards this claim as nonsense. The staff report cites various legal proceedings including the 1958 Hanson Case 351 U.S. 225 in which the Supreme Court indicated, at least, that some justices felt that the use of union dues money for political purposes would render the union shop contract unconstitutional.

A decision on that issue might solve a lot of Republican problems, either by reducing the flow of labor funds into politics or by settling the right-to-work issue in the courts instead of in ballots.

The Justice Department seems disinclined to grasp the thistle firmly.

integrity, industry and a fine American point of view."

For Special Treats On Special Dates Try Using Cereals In Quick Breads

For real treats on special occasions, try using cereals in breakfast quick breads such as these Prune Bran Muffins and Waffles Supreme . . . or serve Creamed Dried Beef on Shredded Wheat Biscuits.

PRUNE BRAN MUFFINS
1 cup whole bran cereal
1/2 cup milk
1 egg
1/4 cup soft shortening
1 cup sifted flour
2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup chopped cooked prunes

Beat egg yolks well; stir in milk and whole bran cereal. Let stand until most of the moisture is taken up. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar; add to cereal mixture, stirring only until combined. Stir in the shortening. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in preheated waffle iron about 8 minutes at medium heat or until no steam is visible.

Yield: 8 waffles.

CREAMED DRIED BEEF ON SHREDDED WHEAT BISCUITS
6 shredded wheat biscuits
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup flour
3 cups milk

Hamburger With Different Flavor

"Hamburgers for Gourmets," filled with blue cheese and marinated in cranberry juice and red wine, fill several other requirements of party fare: most of the preparation is done ahead of time, they're easy on the budget, the recipe expands to accommodate a guest list of almost any length, and they're deliciously different.

Served with new potatoes and English peas, cloverleaf rolls and a congealed salad, this is a party menu calculated to compliment the epicurean taste of the guests. This recipe serves 6.

HAMBURGERS FOR GOURMETS
1 1/2 pounds ground beef
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon Ac'cent (monosodium glutamate)
1/2 pound blue cheese
1 1/2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
Cream or milk to blend

ABOUT JACK-O-LANTERNS—Set the stage for a successful Halloween party by starting with your favorite brand of frankfurters, buns to sandwich them, and a grinning jack-o-lantern centerpiece for the table.

Juicy Franks Add Up To Party Fun

A bowl of frankfurters, a stack of frankfurter buns and a grinning jack-o-lantern pumpkin are all you need to start things "humming" for a Halloween party.

Make sure you've plenty of the juicy frankfurters or weiners, for when folks are through with some of the more popular Halloween activities—scavenger hunts, bobbing for apples, or barn dancing—they're hungry. Two or three and even more of the popular sausages can be gobbled by even those with the most delicate appetites.

Cook the frankfurters in any of a number of ways depending on your time and the wishes of your guests. The frankfurters may be broiled, grilled, roasted, or simmered.

To roast frankfurters, arrange them on sharpened sticks or frankfurter tongs and hold six to eight inches from heat source. Turn the franks to heat evenly, being careful not to let skins burst and juices escape during cooking.

To broil frankfurters, rub the sausages with butter or margarine and place on broiler rack. Broil three inches from heat source, turning to brown uniformly.

To grill frankfurters, melt a little fat in a skillet, then place the sausages in fat. Heat and turn franks to brown slowly, using tongs to avoid piercing meat.

To cook franks in water place in enough boiling water to cover. Cover pan and remove it from heat. Let franks stand in water seven to eight minutes.

milk; let stand until most of moisture is taken up. Add egg and shortening; beat well. Sift together with prunes, stirring only until combined. Fill greased muffin pan 2/3 full. Bake in moderately hot oven (400 degree F.) about 30 minutes. Serve immediately.

Yield: 10 muffins, 2 1/2 inches in diameter.

WAFFLES SUPREME
3 eggs, separated
1 1/2 cups milk
1/2 cup whole bran cereal
1 1/2 cups sifted flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
1/2 cup melted shortening, cooled

1/2 pound dried beef, shredded
1/2 cup shredded wheat biscuits from side to side. Toast halves under broiler. Melt butter; stir in flour. Add milk slowly, stirring constantly. Cook until thickened, stirring occasionally. Stir in dried beef; heat thoroughly. Place toasted biscuits, cut side up, in heated serving dish. Pour on creamed dried beef. Sprinkle with paprika if desired.

Yield: 6 servings.

NEW AND FREE—A revolutionary new idea in coffee making, the exclusive new Instant Maryland Club dispenser-top, shown above, automatically measures out the exact amount of coffee for a perfect cup. Given free with every 6-oz. jar of Instant Maryland Club Coffee, the new dispenser also keeps the coffee fresher, by minimizing exposure to air and prevents spilling and waste.

New Invention Simplifies Making Fine Instant Coffee

Here's a wonderful new invention for everyone who makes instant coffee. . . the first development in coffee packaging since the vacuum can. . . and it's free.

You know how you sometimes wonder whether you've measured out just the right amount of coffee to make good instant coffee? Well, the Maryland Club people have come up with a new invention that prevents the chief cause of faulty coffee making. . . inaccurate measuring.

They have a dispenser built right into the top of the jar. You just turn the jar upside down. . . and presto. . . it automatically measures out exactly the right amount for a perfect cup of instant coffee.

The new Instant Maryland Club dispenser-top has another big advantage. Since you don't have to take the top off the jar, the coffee doesn't get exposed to air over and over. So the dispenser-top helps seal in the rich flavor and aroma of Instant Maryland Club.

It's a neat way to measure coffee, too. . . no muss, no costly coffee waste.

Sauce Delectable

Especially appropriate for the fall season is this tested recipe for Lemon-Apple Sauce to be served hot over Baked Chicken. It's a delectable variation for this favorite dish.

LEMON-APPLE SAUCE
(Makes 8 servings)
1/2 cup lemon juice or
1 (5 1/2-oz.) can frozen lemon juice concentrate
1/2 cup water
2 medium-size apples, cut into small wedges
1 1/2 cups water
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup instant Starlac nonfat dry milk powder
1-3 cup flour

Noon Lunch Can Be Nourishing

Do your youngsters come home for lunch? It's so important to have a nutritious meal ready for them. We suggest baking the egg noodles in individual casseroles as children find the idea of having their very own little casserole intriguing.

HOME-FOR-LUNCH NOODLES
(Makes 8 servings)
1 tablespoon salt
3 quarts boiling water
8 ounces medium egg noodles (about 4 cups)
1 cup sour cream
1 cup grated Swiss cheese (about 1/4 pound)
1/2 cup finely chopped parsley
1/2 teaspoon salt
Pepper to taste

Add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water, gradually add noodles so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander.

Combine noodles and remaining ingredients; mix thoroughly. Pour into greased individual casseroles. Cover and bake in moderate oven (350 degree F.) 15-20 minutes, or until thoroughly heated. Garnish with pimiento and parsley, as desired.

Combine lemon juice and 1/4 cup water in bowl. Add apple wedges; let stand 20 minutes, stirring often. Pour 1 1/2 cups water into top of double boiler. Sprinkle sugar, instant Starlac nonfat dry milk powder and flour over surface of water; beat with rotary beater until blended. Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens (about 10 minutes). Drain apple wedges well. Stir into sauce. Serve hot over Baked Chicken.

Chapter III in the Borden Quality Story

Cindy finds out why Borden's is the best-tasting milk!

"There's a man that doesn't do anything else all day long but taste milk. I went to the Borden plant and there he was tasting every bit of milk that comes in to be sure it tastes just right. (I tasted some too.) That's what I'm going to do when I grow up. Test milk."

Here In Pampa . . .

Borden's has just one idea in mind—to give you the finest, freshest, purest milk possible. That's the reason for Borden's strict quality control program—in constant operation from the farm to your table. And that's why wise mothers serve their families creamy, rich Borden's Milk, the best-tasting milk in town!

THE 1959 DODGE

The tail fins of the 1959 Dodge, like on this Custom Royal four-door Lancer, have softer, more flaring lines. A new high-contour roof provides more headroom and allows easier entry and exit. New engine and advanced torsionaire suspension provide softer ride, plus greater gas and tire economies. The new Dodge can be seen today at Pursley Motor Company, 701 West Brown.

White Deer Youth Wins 4-H Award

COLLEGE STATION (SpI) — Norman Warminski, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Warminski, Route 2, White Deer, has added another achievement award to his list of 4-H winnings. Today the state 4-H club office announced that he has been selected the top 4-H member in Texas in the 1958 farm safety program.

His award, according to the announcement, is an all-expense trip to National 4-H Club Congress, Chicago, November 30-December 4. Donor for the safety awards program is General Motors, Detroit, Michigan. In addition to the state trip, four medals are provided for county winners and eight $400 college scholarships for many national winners. Norman's record will be entered in the national contest.

Norman credits the antics of two baby brothers with getting him interested in farm safety. One of them fell into a stock tank and could have been drowned had Norman not been there to rescue him. That hazard was removed the next day when poultry netting was placed on the yard side of the tank.

Later in the year his four year old brother climbed upon the farm tractor, removed the cap on the available equipment and how to use it. All small tools have been collected and are now kept in cabinets and drawers in the shop. Garden tools are kept in the building which houses the water system and all fuels and machinery have been moved away from buildings and electric wires.

Perhaps a deciding factor in Norman's being named to the top safety spot was the state winning team demonstration which he and his sister have given 30 times to audiences numbering more than a thousand. They have also presented it over television. The subject of the demonstration — "The Use of Volatile Liquids on the Farm" — came from a study the demonstrators made of hazards found on neighboring farms.

Norman is a member of two county committees which are vitally interested in safety, the Red Cross Disaster Committee and the Civil Defense Ground Observer Corps.

The safety winner is a Gold Star boy; last year was a state winner in poultry methods demonstration and junior poultry fact finding and is an active leader in church, community and school affairs. He is a member of the district 4-H council and co-chairman of the county council as well as president of his local club.

Norman gives full credit to his family, his local adult leaders and county extension agents for guiding him along the 4-H trail.

Johnson Asks Low Interest Loans Be Made

DALLAS (UPI) — Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson said today if it is proper for the federal government to make long term, low interest rate loans to foreign nations, similar aid should be made available to local governments in this country.

"And I'm tired of the hypocrisy that says it is not," Johnson said in a speech prepared for delivery at a convention of the county judges and commissioners association.

He cautioned that the mounting cost of local government could "place a lien against the future of a region," and added:

"I don't want this to happen in Texas — and I certainly don't want it to happen outside Texas either. If local governments need help to help themselves, I believe they ought to be able to find that help from their federal government. I think that you ought to be able to look to Washington for something more than a formal letter of introduction referring you to the bond-houses of Wall Street."

Johnson saw in Texas "the place where the American economy of tomorrow will find its home," and said the state is headed for the day when it will "rank No. 1 in the nation in population," and "stand as an industrial and commercial and cultural center of the western hemisphere."

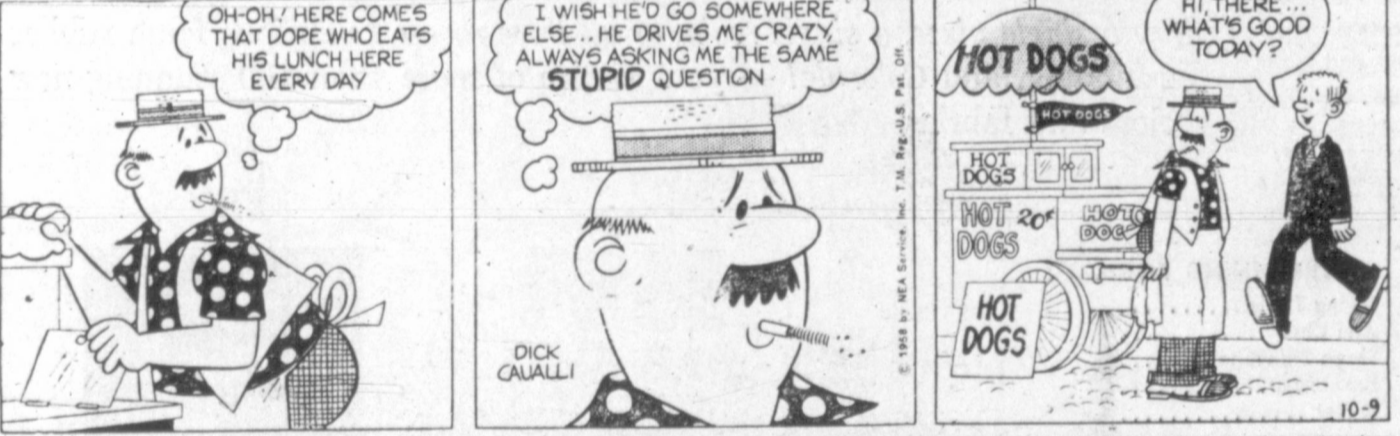

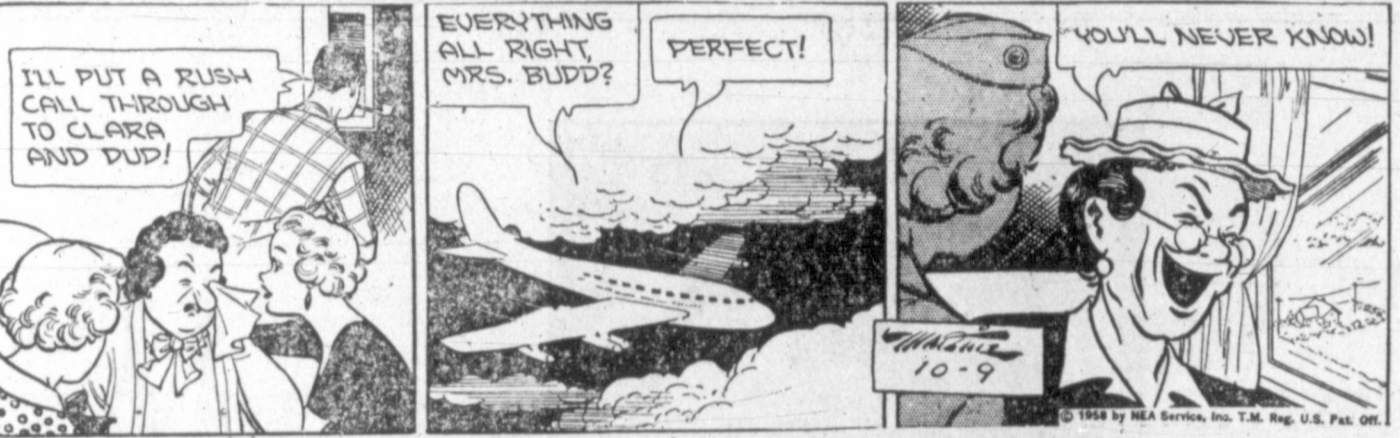

U.S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough, speaking Monday, pointed out that Texas receives more federal highway benefits than any other state, but ranks only 39th in the nation for treatment of elderly persons.

"I personally am not in favor of cutting off this aid to old people," he said.

Yarborough said 28 per cent of the funds spent in 1956 and 1957 by the Texas Highway Department was federal money and out of $143,000,000 spent by Texas on benefits to elderly persons, $100,000,000 was federal money.

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: You amaze me. A smart girl like you not knowing why the wedding ring goes on first! It's an old superstition that once the wedding ring is placed on the finger, it's bad luck to remove it. The engagement ring HAS to be removed for cleaning (and frequently to re-mount the diamond in a more modern setting) so in order to remove the engagement ring without disturbing the wedding ring, the wedding ring must be placed on the finger first.

BRODKEY (OMAHA)
DEAR ABBY: The wedding ring goes on FIRST because it must always be closest to the heart of the wearer. I thought everybody knew that.

O'NEIL (California)
DEAR ABBY: I am sure the reason why married women wear their wedding rings on the inside is because many men can't afford an engagement ring until after they have been married about ten years, so their wives wear their rings in the order in which they got them.

KELLY (MASS.)
DEAR ABBY: You Americans seem to think that because a custom is observed in your country it is correct, and those who do not follow that custom are in error. I wish to state that in Australia the engagement ring is placed FIRST on the finger of the intended as a warning to all hopeful suitors that the young lady is spoken for. That ring is not removed unless the engagement is terminated. THEN, the wedding ring is placed on the finger, and both remain in place as long as the couple is married. Doesn't this make more sense to you?
An "Aussie" (Sydney, Australia)

DEAR ABBY: If you'd like a minister's explanation for the reason the wedding ring is placed on the finger first, it is because when the bride comes to the altar to be wed, she comes with bare hands, free from adornment. If she has been presented with an engagement ring, she does not wear it during the marriage ceremony, but places it on her finger after the wedding band has been placed there. Most brides prefer to leave their wedding rings intact, once placed, hence the order.

Very truly yours,
REV. LARSON (IOWA)

DEAR ABBY: Who said there must be some involved or mysterious reason for wearing the wedding ring on the inside and the engagement ring on the outside? In my case, that's the way my husband put them on, and I've gained so much weight I can't get either of them off. Thank you.

SEGAL (BROOKLYN)
DEAR ABBY: It is a pleasure to be able to give YOU some advice for a change. The engagement ring is strictly ornamental and has no spiritual or ceremonial significance. The wedding ring, being the more important of the two, needs protection against getting lost, so the engagement ring is slipped on the finger to serve as a guard for a woman's most precious possession, her wedding band.

WALTERS (MANHATTAN)
DEAR ABBY: My grandmother told me before I was married many years ago that my wedding ring should go on first and then my engagement ring afterwards to signify that the most important thing in my life would always be my wedding ring. If ever the time came when I decided to break up my marriage and give back my wedding ring, I should be prepared to give up all the material things brought to the marriage by my husband. The engagement ring goes first in the bargain, therefore it should be on the outside.

FERRITI (COLORADO)

MATURE PARENT Halloween Party Planned By Club

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Jerry's mother had just begun to bathe his new brother when he appeared with his storybook of "The Three Bears." He wanted it read at once. Recognizing his jealousy, his mother said nervously, "Later, later — not now." Whereupon he shoved himself in between her and the baby's rubber bath stand, demanding even more urgently, "Read me my book — read me my book!"

Later she remembers how at the baby's baptism Jerry was always discovering scratches that suddenly required band-aids or needs for immediate assistance in the bathroom. And she decided to solve the problem by postponing the baby's bath until Jerry had been retired to his afternoon nap.

This was not a solution. For while it rid Jerry's mother of his jealousy at an inconvenient time, it failed to rid her of her fear of it.

It is our fear of children's jealousy that makes it a problem. They can always feel our fear of it. Concluding that it must be a terrible thing to be able to scare us, they are driven to seek our reassuring attention more frantically. Later, to avoid our anxious disapproval, they may start pretending the jealousy is brotherly devotion.

Usually, those of us who try to "prevent" jealousy in children have not really faced it in ourselves. We should try to. For jealousy is the demand that we should be able to surpass other people in every way.

Obviously we can't. We can't always expect to have more charm, more success, more popularity, better behaved children than our relatives and neighbors any more than Jerry can always expect to have the lion's share of his mother's attention.

Sooner or later we have to stop envying our brother's income and start deriving more joy from our own.

Until this difference is accepted, jealousy's cruel and unreasonable demand that we should excel in everything can keep us miserably discouraged over ourselves — and frightened of the child who is struggling with his need for limitless satisfaction.

Jealousy is the beginning of Jerry's discovery that he is not Superman, an essential step in his acceptance of himself as he is.

So we don't have to fear it. We can say, "Later — not now" with firmness instead of anxiety.

RUTH MILLETT

"My mother is always worrying about what people might think," writes a teen-ager.

"Sometimes she can't give me any good reason for not letting me do something. She just says, 'It doesn't look right,' or 'It just isn't done.'"

"So long as I know I'm not doing anything wrong or anything to be ashamed of, what does it matter what other people think?"

It matters a great deal what other people think and say about a girl. A girl's reputation is a very precious thing. Your mother knows that. That is why she is concerned about not only what you do but about what others might think of your actions.

She doesn't want anyone getting the wrong ideas about you or having grounds for gossip. And probably, also, she is concerned over your getting into situations that you might not be able to handle.

So don't mark your mother down as an old fogey or as a person who cares too much about what other people think.

Any mother of a daughter has to care what people think, and she has to help her daughter avoid getting into situations where people who don't know her well could raise their eyebrows. You probably won't completely understand your mother's concern for your reputation until you have a daughter of your own. But it isn't really necessary that you understand if you will just trust your mother's judgment. She has lived long enough to know that a girl or woman can't afford to leave herself open to criticism, but must reputation, but what other people might say.

For after all, what is a girl's reputation, but what other people think and say about her? And how do outsiders judge, except by appearances?

Makes Friends Manners

If you offer to help your hostess get dinner on the table or wash the dishes afterward and she firmly tells you she doesn't need help, don't insist. Some women find it easier to work alone than to have someone who doesn't know where things belong trying to help out in the kitchen.

And some hostesses believe that a guest shouldn't pitch in and work, but should relax in the living room, no matter how hard the hostess is working in the kitchen.

Pampa Boxers Capture Four Of Ten Matches

DOUBLE CONNECTION—Pampa's Dick James glances a blow off the check of Borger's Joe Johansen in the third round of their Wednesday night bantamweight scrap at the Sports Arena in Amarillo while he takes a shot to the ear at the same time. Coffee, Ward Thrill Fans With Kayoes

By RICK PEZDIRTZ
Daily News Managing Editor

AMARILLO — Pampa Optimist Club boxers managed only four verdicts in ten matches at the Sports Arena here Wednesday night, but two of the triumphs were sure enough eye-brow archers.

Immediately following a mid-card intermission, Pampa's Charles Coffee a lightweight whose fists could double for a jack-hammer, and Glenn Ward, a young citizen whose footwork would bring shades of green to Arthur Murray's cheeks, ignited their fuses and exploded with knockout victories. Coffee's was of the technical type and Ward's was of the lullaby variety.

Only 125 paid admissions nosed their way into the spacious arena here while seven times that number groaned in agony at the city auditorium when rock-and-roller Jerry Lee Lewis failed to show up for a scheduled fight of his own with a poor defenseless baby grand.

Coffee, behind on points to Robert Frances entered the third and final round of his scrap on a 13-match pre-season Golden Gloves Jamboree card, lowered the big boom on his Borger enemy with a series of beautiful but brutal left and right handed hooks. Coffee reopened a gash over the left ear and eye of Frances and with blood splattering the canvas the fight was stopped by referee Ladell Pugh 1:10 deep in the third.

Ward wrapped up his knockout only a minute and a second deep in the eighth match, an abbreviated struggle with Carl Bailey, lanky Negro from Clovis, New Mexico.

Ward caught Bailey with a shattering right cross to the jaw and the Clovis Negro hit the deck with a resounding thud that shook chairs five rows back from ringside. Bailey raised to his elbows at the eight count, rolled his eyes and then slipped back into dreamland. Amarillo came out on top in the five-city Golden Glove Jamboree, winning two fights in as many matches. Dumas and Plainview both chalked up single victories as against no setbacks while Clovis biffers split even in six matches, winning three, losing three.

Pampa posted the most wins and absorbed the most losses, for the simple reason they fought four more matches than either Clovis or Borger, the latter ending up with the night's poorest showing, bowing in four of six scraps.

Pampa's other two wins came from the talented gloves of bantamweight Dickie James who won a split decision over Borger's Joe Johansen, and from middleweight Leslie Crites who didn't let a bad nose bleed for two rounds cramp his style. Crites grabbed a unanimous decision from Don Rose of Borger.

Crites parlayed nifty combinations to the head and body with a slow deliberate style to rack up his lop-sided decision. Rose never had the stuff to win any of the three rounds on the two judges and referee's cards.

In copping his bantamweight match over Johansen, James played a waiting game at the outset, and then converted to a rugged aggressive style of head-pounding.

Two Pampa punchers, featherweight Rabbit Ramirez and bantamweight Kenny Powell dropped split decisions. Ramirez bowed before a squat Clovis Negro, Wally Nelson; and Powell bit the canvas in a weary struggle with Borger's Charles Moore.

Ramirez looked good in throwing several rib-rattling blows in the clinches but he took too many wicked blasts to the mid-section to win. Powell picked up a bleeding break in the opening round and tried to force the fight to close quarters in his losing effort to Moore.

Borger's Donnie Leslie out-foxed Pampa's James Morris in a hit-and-run match to score a unanimous bantamweight decision.

Pampa's Judge Ring, regional open welterweight champion last winter, lost a unanimous decision to Amarillo's Paul Pulley in the only bout of the night which drew boos when the decision was announced. Ring looked sharp with a fast left cross and good body jabs, but he didn't have the gusto to overcome a 150-pound weight advantage Pulley lorded over him. The two middleweights played it cautious in the final round, not mixing it much until just seconds before the final bell, and then the referee had to pull the two off each other's backs.

Pampa's fifth and sixth setbacks came when New Mexico state GG lightweight champ, Al Cummings, a Clovis Negro, landed a knockout blow 56 seconds deep in the third round on the chin of Barney Ward. Cummings had decked Ward with (See COFFEE on Page 13)

Britain Leads Golf Match

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (UPI)—The United States squad, urged by non-playing captain Bobby Jones, hoped for improved weather conditions today as it set out in pursuit of Britain in the world amateur golf team championship. The four-man British team gained a six-stroke lead over Americans in Wednesday's opening round, which was played under horrid conditions.

Royal Believes 'Horns Can Win

United Press International
The hard work of the week is past, and Southwest Conference football teams will start tapering off today in preparing for Saturday's games.

Five intersectional games and one conference game are on tap. Texas, which meets Oklahoma in the Cotton Bowl in Dallas, worked Wednesday in practice against Sooner offensive and defensive plays.

Coach Darrell Royal told a luncheon meeting of the Longhorn Club, a group of University of Texas boosters in Austin, that he believes his Longhorns can upset the Sooners.

Royal Optimistic
"I think we can win—I'm not saying we're going to, but I think we can," the former Oklahoma star quarterback, now on the other side of the fence, told the Longhorn boosters.

"I think the boys feel they can win...We like to keep them as mad as we can get them," Royal added.

Royal said he has "respect" for Oklahoma but that neither he nor his team is afraid of the Sooners. Texas University officials announced that 8,077 student tickets had been sold for the Saturday contest—the highest in history and 503 more than ever had been sold for the Oklahoma game.

Five Aggies Injured

The Texas Aggies came up with five men on the injured list as they practiced for the Maryland game. Three of them—center Gale Oliver, blocking back Bill Cauthorn and wingback Randy Sims—were expected to see only limited action against the Terps.

Coach Darrell Royal held a rugged goal-line scrimmage in its final contact drill before meeting Duke.

Larry Hickman, the Bears' powerful fullback, scored three touchdowns and sprinter Merton Fuquay looked good at an end position.

The SMU Mustangs worked on goal line offense and defense as they drilled for the Missouri game. The Mustangs, seeking their first victory, also worked on punt formation and punt returns.

TCU Drills Secretly
Texas Christian held a secret workout as Coach Abe Martin introduced new drills to his offense for Texas Tech. The Frogs were in good physical shape and Martin said he had not decided yet on any lineup changes.

8th, 7th Grades Here; Shockers, JH's on Road

The Shockers and the varsity junior high school squads are on the road today, but an eighth grade and seventh grade squad will be in action locally.

The Shockers are at Plainview, Lee Junior High at Phillips, and Pampa Junior High at Perryton. Lee's seventh graders play Phillips at 3 p.m. in Harvester Park, and Lee eighth graders, in the second half of a football double-header, play the Phillips eighth graders at 4 p.m. in Harvester Park.

Lew For Braves; Casey Undecided

By LEO H. PETERSEN
UPI Sports Editor
MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—The Milwaukee Braves called on Lew Burdette to do it again today.

The betting was 11 to 10 that he wouldn't.

Three times last year he beat the New York Yankees in an iron man performance which hadn't been accomplished in 37 years of frenzied World Series play. He did it by winning the seventh and deciding game to give the Braves their first world championship.

Now they're asking him again to do the same thing with the classic all squared away at three games each. On the other side of the fence were the comeback Yankees, who had trailed all the way and finally managed to square the series. And they were confident—as well as the betting choices—that they would climax their comeback by turning the tables on the casual man from the West Virginia mountains.

The Yankees weren't certain who they were going to throw against the man who beat them in the second game but who they knocked out in the fifth game. However, Manager Casey Stengel indicated that his chips—down choice would be either Don Larsen, who beat the Braves in the third game to keep the Yankees alive, or another righthander, Johnny Kucks, who has appeared in this series twice in relief without a decision.

Might Use Turley
Back of Stengel's indecision was the prospect that he might shoot with "Bullet Bob" Turley, who won the fifth game and rode to the rescue in the 10th inning Wednesday.

At that explosive moment there were two men out and two men on with the bouncing Braves, one run already across the plate and needing but one more run to tie it up, shooting to close it out.

Hank Aaron strained eagerly on third base and pinch-runner Felix Mantilla waited on first. At that moment, Stengel decided that his fire-balling relief ace, Ryne Duren, had "had it" and called on Turley for the big out.

Del Crandall was slated to bat for the Braves but Manager Fred Haney put in the left-handed hitting Frank Torre to swing for him.

the pipeline

The quarter club is working on its second hundred members now. They went over the century mark Tuesday night, signing up enough new recruits to give them a total of 108.

The membership drive is still going strong. At first the goal was set at a mere 100, but the first recruiting efforts were successful that club officers decided to make the first hundred just a starting point.

The big advantage to being a member is that of Monday morning quarterbacking. Club members have the privilege of criticizing, berating, and second-guessing all coaches in the city.

But who be unto you if, without a quarter club membership card, you stop a coach on the street and say something like this: "Curfman, (Trice, Phillips, Chance, etc.), you blockhead, don't you know better than to use a nine-man line against Amarillo? Why, I wouldn't let you coach my neighborhood sandlot tiddle-dy winks team."

Coaches say they don't mind being assessed and criticized, but they expect you to show your quarter-back club membership card before saying anything.

Ladies' Night Next Tuesday

Taking a cue from the major league baseball teams, who have a ladies' day every so often, the Tuesday night quarterbacks have declared next meeting night "ladies' night." The women are invited to attend the next meeting, Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in Robert E. Lee Junior High School gymnasium.

Some things were brought out at last meeting which could make a true-blue Harvester fan shudder in terror. For instance, it was pointed out in a scout report that Monterey, Pampa's next opponent, held mighty Abilene to only eight points for three quarters.

It's true that Abilene went on to beat the Plainsmen 34-0, but any squad which can hold Abilene that well for three-fourths of a game is doing mighty well.

However, on the bright side, Harvester Coach Babe Curfman said that Harvester team spirit is at its season high, and that the defense is getting better.

Curfman also revealed that his squad is working on some plays which should click around the goal line. The Harvesters' big trouble last week was that they couldn't get that extra needed yard when they got inside the opposing 20. Babe said they just didn't have the kind of power plays it took to do it last Friday.

Pampa Grid Team Tries For More Touchdown Punch

By RED GRIGGS
Daily News Sports Editor

Can the Harvesters' offense through with the big play when the chips are down?

Unfortunately, the answer to that question has been "no" during most of the season. Pampa's ground game has been good enough to outgain, on the average, its four opponents. But that ground attack has been halted too many times inside the enemy 20.

The razzle-dazzle plays that have worked between the 20's just wouldn't do the job down in goal-line territory. Plain old everyday knock-down, drag-out power plays were needed, and the Harvesters couldn't run them successfully near the promised land.

This week, they've been doing something about it. Coach Babe Curtman has been having his grid-guards concentrate in practice on the straight power plays which should shatter a goal-line defense. Pampa should have a good opportunity in Lubbock Friday to test its scoring territory offense, because its opponents, the Monterey Plainsmen of Lubbock, have been none too good at guarding their goal line.

In their first two games of the season, Monterey lost to Paschal of Fort Worth 32-28 and to Abilene 34-0. The Abilene loss, of course, was no disgrace, but in the Paschal game the Plainsmen lost despite leading in first downs 29-10 and in rushing yardage 280 to 128. That would indicate that Monterey's "clutch" defense, like Pampa's clutch offense, isn't the best.

After a light workout Monday, the Harvesters bumped heads in a scrimmage Tuesday. Curtman reported that some of his juniors were looking fine on offensive plays. He mentioned Terry Haralson, Dwain Urbanczyk, Merv Cooper, and Clovis Shipp. Of the four, Shipp has been used mainly on defense.

Pampa's defense, especially against rushing, has improved this week, and team spirit is running higher than ever despite Friday's 13-6 loss to Tascosa in the District 3 4-A opener.

Harvester pass defense is still a little weak because of the same old trouble — the boys are reluctant to abandon the potential receiver and go for the football.

Halfback Jerry Daniels, end Larry Ingram and Dwayne Glover, guard Gary Matlock and tackle Gary Simmons have been in there hitting the ball carriers on defense during practice sessions.

The Harvesters have been remarkably lucky in avoiding the injury jinx which plagues some teams. No Pampa player has yet suffered an injury serious enough to keep him out of action, despite the fact that the Harvesters have played four hard-hitting teams.

Pampa may need every bit of its luck to beat Monterey on its home field. The Plainsmen, though sometimes weak on defense, have twice unleashed a powerful attack.

Monterey, in its last game, was considered an underdog to the Midland Bulldogs. But the Plainsmen came through with a 21-8 win, the first non-conference victory in the history of the school.

And of course the Lubbock grid-ders completely outplayed and outclassed Paschal's Panthers everywhere except where it counted — on the scoreboard.

The Plainsmen play a back-breaking schedule every year. That, rather than poor play, is why they have never won a non-conference game until this year.

The Plainsmen, as Curtman pointed out, have probably learned a few things from the tough ball clubs they've faced.

Monterey has a much more experienced ball club than Pampa. The Plainsmen have one three-letter griddler, three two-letter winners, and five other returning regulars. Only at the tackle position does Monterey lack a returning regular.

Quarterback Arian Flake has been playing since he was a freshman. He is a fair passer, a good runner, and a fine defensive player. He is especially tough on defense near his own goal line.

Assistant coaches who scouted Monterey against Abilene, reported that he juggled the leather more than half the time.

Guard Johnny Shropshire and end Richard Harrison are other two-monogram winners for Monterey. Harrison, along with end Tommy Sessums, is a favorite passing target of Flake.

If the Harvesters can stop these men, they can take their first district win.

a rap to the tummy in the second round. Herman Geise lost the 13th and last brawl of the night to Bill Lunsford of Plainview on a unanimous decision. Geise appeared to be holding back with deep respect for Lunsford's right mitt, and never really carried the fight to his foe until mid-way in the last round.

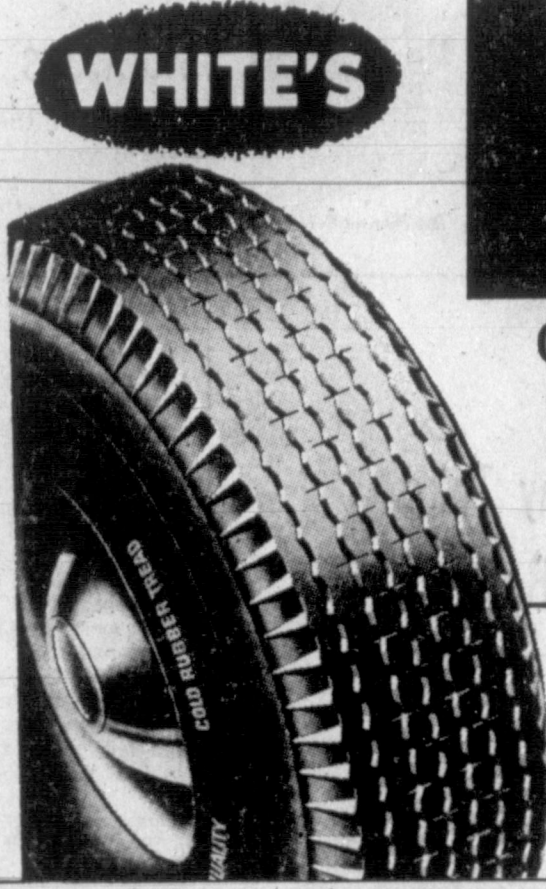

The toughest slugfest of the night came in the 12th match, with Carl McClure of Dumas, former Amarillo region and state runner-up in the GG heavyweight division, battering his way to a unanimous decision over James Stepp, a 6-4 210-pounder from Clovis. Geise took a lot of punishment but dished out plenty of the same too. He cut Stepp's face to crimson ribbons, bringing gurgles of blood from the Negro's mouth.

Amarillo picked up its other win when Manny Perez rebounded from a near-disastrous first round to out-slick Thed Nance, last winter's New Mexico state champ in the GG lightweight division. Perez twice cornered Nance in the second stanza and 'buted' him goofy.

In the opening match of the night, a flyweight fracas, Blaze Garcia of Clovis burned Borger's Jimmy Bryant in a unanimous decision.

O. F. (Ollie) Wilhelm said of his Pampa youngsters showing, "I like to get a few lickings like this early in the season, it makes the kids all knuckle down and work harder. We don't look so hot in the first few matches every year, but always come up with some pretty potent punchers when the district and regional tournaments roll around in January and February."
