Biggest Underground Blast Ever, Triggered

By COLIN MCKINLAY
United Press International
ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (UPI)—The most powerful underground explosion in world history violently rocked a lonely desert mesa today as atomic scientists detonated a Hiroshima-sized device 850 feet beneath the earth's surface.
The device, dubbed "Blanca," blasted the core of the mesa from its cavern below ground at the end of a 3,000-foot tunnel. It dislodged millions of tons of rock and dust as scientists raced the clock to meet a proposed test deadline tonight.
Scientists rated Blanca, which relinquished its devastating might through nuclear fission at 9 a.m. c.s.t. as equal to 20,000 tons of TNT.
The AEC officials said it was the largest man-made underground explosion "we know of."
The blast was felt as a rumbling earthquake to observers some 4 1/2 miles from ground zero. A huge, dirty cloud of dust rose from the mesa top an instant after the blast and towered 2,000 feet into the clear morning air. Rocks tumbled down the mesa edge.

An atomic bomb with the same "nominal" rating leveled the city of Hiroshima, Japan, during World War II, leaving 78,150 dead and bringing that country's surrender a week later.
Blanca sent its shock waves rippling under the earth's surface to be picked up on seismographs at such distant points as New York and Alaska. Seismic readings on the Oct. 15 blast of "Logan," with less than half the yield of Blanca, were made on the Atlantic Seaboard.
Atomic Energy Commission scientists said today's underground experiment was made in cooperation with the International Geophysical Year. It was the 19th full-scale shot of the current series.
When detonated in its 9x9x11-foot chamber some two million tons of rock was expected to be broken up and dislodged and an additional five million tons crushed. An estimated two million tons would drop into the detonation chamber, possibly causing a venting action, scientists said.
For Peaceful Purposes
A huge glass ball formed by the intense pressure and heat was seen by scientists to house a huge, man-made and self-contained volcano. The heat from the explosion, however, would be quickly dissipated by underground water that would turn the cavern into a steaming caldron.
The underground tests are made with a manifold peaceful purpose by the AEC. Scientists hope to learn control of the devices for future canal digging, for blasting

Amarillo Hi Coaches Quit Under Fire

AMARILLO, Tex. (UPI)—Two coaches at Amarillo High School resigned Wednesday night, admitting they had a scout with field glasses watch the football practice of cross-town rival Tascosa High School.

Homer Simmons, 37, and his assistant, Jim Ranck, 30, submitted their resignation at a special session of the school board Wednesday night.

Sam Pecchia, Amarillo High's assistant principal and former assistant coach, was named temporary coach for the four games remaining on the Amarillo Sandies' schedule.

Both Simmons and Ranck said they knew a former Sandies player was watching Tascosa practices. Tascosa Coach Bill Ellington notified the Amarillo athletic director after fans had noticed a young man watching practice through field glasses from about a block away. He was disgruntled.

Robert Ashworth, superintendent of schools, said he regretted the incident "very much."
"However," he added, "we expect the highest type of sportsmanship on and off the field from all our coaches."
There is hot rivalry between Amarillo and Tascosa. A new school this year. Many of Amarillo's former students and football players are attending the new school.
Simmons was in the first year of a three-year contract.

Slain Boy's Dad To Testify Against Caril Fugate Today

By MARGUERITE DAVIS
United Press International
LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI)—The father of slain Robert Jensen, 17, was scheduled as the opening witness today in the first degree murder trial of Caril Ann Fugate, 35.

Beginning with the testimony of Jensen's father, the state will try to prove that Caril was a willing and helpful partner to her boy friend, Charles Starkweather, 19, in the slaying.
The defense contends Caril was a terrified hostage, too young to know how to handle the "mad-dog killer," and not physically capable of stopping him.
Starkweather is awaiting a ruling on his appeal to the Nebraska Supreme Court from a death sentence imposed on him for the same murder. The swagging ex-garbage collector also admitted the murders of 10 other persons, and first cleared but later implicated Caril in the last 10 slayings.

Trace Bloody Trail
The bodies of Jensen and his girl friend, Carol King, 18, were found in an abandoned storm cellar last Jan. 27.
Caril displayed her usual apparent composure during opening statements Wednesday afternoon of prosecution and defense attorneys. Her steady gaze focused on the lawyers, then on the five-woman, seven-man jury.
The state traced the starting point of the bloody trail from last Jan. 23, the approximate time when Caril's mother, stepfather and baby half-sister were slain.
Caril returned home from school that day, County Atty. Elmer

Scheele said, and "she knew what happened." She remained there with Starkweather the rest of the week. Scheele said, and "willingly and actively accompanied and assisted Starkweather in the places he went and the things he did."
Defense attorney John McArthur argued that when Caril came home from school she found "a gun stuck in her face."
"When faced with a gun she did what any 14-year-old girl would have done, and her actions for days were conditioned by the promise," that her family, she allegedly did not know was dead, would be safe if she obeyed Starkweather, McArthur said.

The Attorneys Argue
The girl nevertheless managed to alert her grandmother that something was "wrong" in the household, McArthur said, and the older woman twice demanded that police investigate, but authorities failed to follow through.
The county attorney said Caril ignored several chances to escape from Starkweather after they left her home Jan. 27. In his opening remarks, Scheele said they separated once at a filling station and later were helped by a farmer who towed their stalled car. Never, he said, did Caril indicate she was a hostage.
"She became more and more terrified and less and less able to resist," McArthur said in his opening statement.

Scheele said after Starkweather's car bogged down again, he and Caril hailed Jensen and Miss King and asked for a ride into town. Once in the car, Scheele said, Caril held a sawed-off .410 shotgun behind Miss King and Starkweather another firearm behind Jensen.
Scheele argued Caril had "ample opportunity" to escape and to have alerted people. "Instead," he said, "when the opportunities arose, she voluntarily accompanied him."

They Had Cats
IN THE BELFRY
A cat romping in the attic of a home at 1601 Christine apparently caused its owner a sleepless night. Pampa firemen were called at 4:05 this morning to chase the animal to a better resting place. Firemen reported the cat gave them "quite a chase."

ARM BANDED TOGETHER

Mrs. Cletus Mitchell, 1901 Duncan, outfits her daughter Pamela, 4, with an arm band for the Halloween UNICEF (United Nations Children's Fund) Trick or Treat Drive tonight. Pat, 6, is also ready to collect money to buy milk for children overseas. Ten churches of the Pampa Ministerial Alliance are sponsoring the drive this year. All participants will wear arm bands like these. (Daily News Photo)

Dozen Men Saved In 'Miracle Of The Mines'

By DAVE HILTON
United Press International
SPRINGHILL, N.S. (UPI)—Twelve coal miners, trapped for more than six days in a body-strewn cubicle 100 feet long and not high enough to stand up in, were brought to the surface today in good condition.
Wilfred Hunter, 48, one of the men found Wednesday when rescue workers pushed a pipe through the debris that imprisoned them, said 24 miners in his section were killed outright when a "bump" rocked the mine last Thursday night.
"I heard a 'boom' and then there were dead people all around me, including my twin brother Frank," he said from a hospital bed.
"I remember . . . I remember the 13th level (13,000 foot level). Everything went black. I woke up lying on my back in the dark . . . I remember those groans . . . I was beside Frank, my twin brother. I came to and when I reached up I touched a body pinned to the rocks and hanging above me . . . There was nothing I could do."

"God Saved Us"
Hunter said that after the initial shock the living grouped together amid the 24 bodies they had counted. The survivors spent their time praying and singing hymns.
"We prayed. Sometimes altogether. Sometimes alone. We knew God saved us. But I've had enough. I'm through. I won't go back in the mine," Hunter said.
"We had only a two-quart can of water among the 12 of us," he said. "We rationed it, but it lasted only three days . . . We had no food, but we never gave up hope."

Joe McDonald, 38, a survivor whose leg was broken by falling rocks when the mine collapsed, said "The pain was terrific."
"All around me I could hear others in pain," he said. "I knew some of the boys were dying."
McDonald said the miners started calling to each other until they established 12 were alive.
Women and husky mine workers wept with unabashed joy as the men were hauled from the depths of the continent's deepest coal mine on slope-climbing carts called "rakes."
Others Unaccounted For
But mine officials said there was no hope for 56 more miners still unaccounted for today. A total of 174 men were working in the colliery when the earthquake-like bump sent tons of rocks tumbling down the main shaft and side-galleries or tunnels. During the next few hours, 81 were rescued or made their way out of the shaft and 25 bodies were recovered, including one early today.
The men were discovered alive at 1:45 p. m. Wednesday, but it took rescue workers more than 72 hours to break through to the life-saving pocket where the men had been entombed since 7:10 p. m. last Thursday. The pocket kept poisonous gases from the men and trapped with them enough air to keep them alive, rescue workers speculated.

eras but the faces of McDonald, Michniak, the oldest of the trapped miners, and Lowther were uncovered. All were smiling and Michniak waved to the crowd and grasped the hand of one of the ambulance attendants. Lowther was still wearing his miner's helmet. All were put in the same ambulance.
Waves To Crowd
Bowman Madison, 42, the fifth man out, was talking rapidly to his ambulance attendant. The sixth man freed was Levi Milley, 47, who sat up on his stretcher and waved wildly to the crowd.
Caleb Rushton, 35, and Wilfred Hunter, 52, were the 7th and 8th to be brought up. Both were talking and smiling and waved to the crowd while being carried the six feet to a waiting ambulance.
Hugh Guthro, 31, and Harold Brine, 22, were next and the final two were Joseph Holloway Jr., 35, and Harry Leadbetter, 22. It took from 2:40 a.m. when the imprisoning wall was broken, until 4:04 a.m. to bring the men to the surface in relays.
The dramatic sign that the men were alive was discovered at 1:45 p. m. Wednesday, but it took rescue workers more than 72 hours to break through to the life-saving pocket where the men had been entombed since 7:10 p. m. last Thursday. The pocket kept poisonous gases from the men and trapped with them enough air to keep them alive, rescue workers speculated.

Dr. Kenneth McFarland . . . Banquet Speaker

AT LEE CAFETERIA C-C Membership Banquet Tonight Is A Big Sellout

The annual membership banquet of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce will take place tonight in the cafeteria of Robert E. Lee Junior High School. A sellout crowd will hear some of the best speaking and singing in the Southwest.
The program will begin at 7:30 p.m. with E. L. Henderson, immediate past president presiding.
The speaker will be Dr. Kenneth McFarland, educational consultant for the General Motors Corporation, Topeka, Kan. He is considered one of the nation's foremost speakers.
Miss Texas will sing at the annual banquet; she is Miss Mary Nell Hendricks, the youngest teacher ever employed in Arlington, Miss Hendricks will present the special song stylings that raised her to the semi-finals of the Miss-America contest.

Hugh Burdette and Dr. E. Douglas Carver will introduce the recipients of the Chamber's special awards, one for civic accomplishment and the other for work with youth.
An invocation by Rev. Richard Crews, pastor of the Pampa First Christian Church, will precede dinner. Mrs. Maxine Milliron, organist, will play dinner music. President Warren Hesse will introduce the guest and Calvin Whately will introduce Dr. McFarland.
Dr. McFarland received his bachelor's degree from the State Teachers College at Pittsburg, Kan., and his Master's degree from Columbia University, New York City. He attained his Doctor's degree at Stanford University, Palo Alto, Calif.

From his headquarters in Topeka, Dr. McFarland carries on an incredibly wide range of activities. He has consequently been granted a plaque as the "Nation's Number 1 Air Passenger."
Dr. McFarland received a high honor in the following citation: "In a time when the art of communication is clouded by the trite phrase and repeated cliché, Dr. McFarland has spoken from his heart to the hearts of Americans and they have responded to him . . . He has used the spoken word to lift men with new visions of hope . . . He is a leader who has gained the respect of business men, educators and the leaders of the professions as well . . . and for this we honor him."

Trick-O-Treat For UNICEF Set Tonight

"Trick or Treat for UNICEF," will be the cry tonight as young people from eight Pampa churches solicit for the United Nations Children's Fund. The drive is a day early this year because of the Harvesters' home game the night of Halloween.
Everyone out for UNICEF will wear a special arm band, provided by the Pampa Ministerial Alliance. The Alliance advises people in the community to withhold funds from anyone not wearing an arm band.
The participating churches are St. Matthew's Episcopal, First Presbyterian, Brethren, L. A. M. A. Christian, First Christian, Harrah Methodist, St. Paul Methodist and First Methodist.
The drive will begin from each church at 6 p.m. At 7:30 the churches will serve refreshments to the campaigners.

THREE HOBART STREET THEFT SUSPECTS HELD

Sheriff Rufe Jordan began questioning Wednesday morning three young Hobbs, N.M., men for their possible connection with the recent outbreak of N. Hobart St. burglaries.
The men, Pat and Don Stark and Howard Lewis, ages 19 and 20, were arrested by deputies late Tuesday night at Borger.
Sheriff Jordan said two of the men, Pat Stark and Lewis, will be charged with swindling without checks.
The check for $20, was cashed at the Elmer Fite market, 1833 N. Hobart. Three other worthless checks have also been traced back to Stark and Lewis.

The Hobbs trio, rooming in Pampa the past three weeks and apparently also in trouble at Amarillo, were in Borger on their way back to Pampa when stopped.
Sheriff Jordan said they were brought to county jail and closely questioned. They told the sheriff they were living on three-day wages made while shocking peas on a Pampa area farm. Jordan said he was not able to find out which farm.
Checking with New Mexico authorities Jordan found that Pat Stark has a breaking and entering offense against his record. The men are now in county jail.

Nobel Prize For Medicine To US

By R. R. BUCKINGHAM
United Press International
STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UPI)—Three American scientists won the 1958 Nobel Prize for Medicine today for their pioneer work in genetics—studies that could lead the way to a cure for cancer.

One-half of the $41,250 award went to George Wells Beadle, professor at the Kerckhoff Laboratories of Biology, Pasadena, Calif., and Edward Lawrie Tatum, professor at the Rockefeller Institute, New York, for their discovery "that genes act by regulating definite chemical events."
The other half of the prize went to Joshua Lederberg, professor at the University of Wisconsin, for his discoveries concerning "genetic recombination and the organization of the genetic material of bacteria."

The awards were made by the staff of Sweden's medical research center, the Karolinska Institute, which said the American discoveries would have a strong influence on the search for a cure for cancer.

Discuss Pasternak Uproar
Today's announcement completed Stockholm's part in awarding Nobel prizes this year. However, it was overshadowed by the rejection of the Nobel Prize for Literature by Russian writer Boris Pasternak. The Swedish Academy will meet later today to discuss the situation created by his renunciation of the award.

The other prizes awarded here during the past seven days included the physics award, which went to three Russian scientists, and the chemistry award, given to Dr. Frederick Sanger of Cambridge University.
The Nobel Peace Prize, if one is awarded this year, will be announced later in Oslo, Norway.
The experiments that won Beadle and Tatum their award confirmed that genes control enzymes and that enzymes control the chemistry of life.
The discovery gave science its first clue as to how genes—which transmit heredity in plant and animal reproduction—actually work. Their work now forms part of the foundation of modern genetics.

Lederberg and his co-workers at the University of Wisconsin discovered that bits of genetic material, introduced into the body of bacteria, will be accepted by the bacteria and combined with its own into a new type. This process is termed "transduction," one form of recombination.
The importance of Lederberg's discovery lies in the fact that it revealed that sexual fertilization is not the only way for bacteria to be recombined.

Rotary Hears Of Academy

Pampa Rotarians yesterday heard Col. Jene Daugherty, deputy chief of staff of the Air Force Academy, tell of the new educational institution recently established near Colorado Springs, Colo. Comprising 18,500 acres in total area, the campus boasts about 500 acres of area which are actually used as campus.

Col. Daugherty explained that the present enrollment was 1,145 students with facilities eventually to be provided for 2,500 students. The colonel expressed his wish that a qualified Pampa boy be directed to the academy so that the people in this area might better appreciate the school's substance. Col. Daugherty was due to address the Nooks Lions Club here today.
After being introduced to the club by Fred Neslage, Gene Groom was inducted as a member under the classification of accounting.
Visitors and guests for the day were "Pinkie" Lemmon, W. T. Seitz, Ed Rolter, Allen Ritter, Bill Cross, K. I. June, and Claude Harrison.

Each year the First Chair band, composed of 200 high school and college directors, singles out a hundred bands for inclusion in the yearbook, which Consultant Roy M. Martin edits.
Shannon spent his junior year here but graduated from DeQuincy High School. He studied music at McNeice College in Lake Charles, graduating into the Air Force. He taught in Mayville, La., before going back to DeQuincy.

Episcopalians Go To Amarillo For Installation

Members of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church will journey to Amarillo Friday, to take part in an historic event for their church. The Rt. Rev. George H. Quarterman will become the first Bishop of the Diocese of Northwest Texas. The Presiding Bishop of the Episcopal Church, the Rt. Rev. Henry Knox Sherrill will install the Rev. Quarterman as the Bishop of this Diocese. The service will take place in St. Andrew's Episcopal Church in Amarillo and will be televised over KFDD, Channel 10 at 7:30 p.m. Friday.
An area of over 76,000 square miles in the north western part of Texas will now become known as the Diocese of Northwest Texas. The former designation of this area was the Missionary District of North Texas. The event is of great importance to Episcopalians since the new designation means that the Episcopal Church in this area is no longer a missionary area that receives financial aid but one that is completely self-supporting.
The Rev. William E. West, Rector of St. Matthew's will take part in the installation service and six official lay delegates will attend as well as many other church members from Pampa.

Scout Voting Begins Here

Elections are in progress for chairmen of the six operating committees of the Sante Fe District, Boy Scouts of America. This week Scouters selected Bob Curry District chairman and George Snell District commissioners. They returned Dr. Jim Chase as vice District chairman.
E. E. Shelhamer, Nominating Committee chairman, stated that one other vice chairman would be selected this month as well as six operating committee heads.
Plans are to install the officials at the annual District banquet on Nov. 25 at the Pampa First Methodist Church.

Girl Scouts Set Barbecue

"Early Frontiers" will be the theme of the Top o' Texas Girl Scout barbecue, scheduled for Thursday, November 6, in the County Recreation Barn.
The theme will be carried out in skits presented by Girl Scouts in the Council's various neighborhoods on the early frontier period of the Top o' Texas area.
A barbecue supper, prepared by the Shriners, will be served from 6 p.m. until 8:30 p.m., and the program will begin at 7 p.m. Tickets for the event, which is open to anyone interested in Girl Scouting, are $1.25 per person and may be purchased from Girl Scouts, Neighborhood Chairmen, or in the Council office, City Hall.
The Frontier theme is part of the Council's emphasis of the year on Frontiers of the past, present and future, which is also the theme of the National Roundup to be held July 3-13, 1959 in Colorado Springs. During the year Girl Scouts will be studying the frontiers of their communities and picturing them in photographs, paintings and drawings. At an exhibit in April, several entries will be selected to send to the Roundup for display.
Arrangements for the barbecue have been made by the Council's Public Relations Committee, which includes Mrs. J. W. Dugan, Chairman, and Misses Morris Silver, John Gikas, and Ray E. Wilson. The program is under the direction of the Council's Program Committee composed of Mrs. E. J. Griffin Jr., Chairman, and Misses James Barrett and Denver Allen.
Posters for the event have been prepared and distributed by Mrs. John Ramey's Intermediate troop.

Absentee Voting Closes Friday

Thirty-eight Gray County residents have marked absentee ballots for the general election Tuesday. There is a possibility that 14 mailed ballots will come in by deadline Friday night, County Clerk Charlie Thut said today.
No races are left to be decided on a local level and statewide there is little Republican opposition to the candidates named in the Democratic Primary. The Constitution has nine candidates in the running. Republicans have three.
The contested Senate race involves Ralph W. Yarborough, Democrat, Roy Whittenburg, Republican; and Bard A. Logan, Constitution.

UF Total Is $23,254

A rise of $1,918 brings the Pampa-Lefors United Fund total to $23,254.07, General Campaign Chairman Clyde Dickerson reported today.

Today's total includes $6.32 from the colored section and $180 from Lefors.
With returns not in from Carver School, the contribution from the colored section has been relatively small.
The Lions have distributed solicitation in Lefors, according to Boyd Beck, local Lions Club boss.

Church Fund Has No Limit

The Presbyterian Church Building Fund has no dollar goal, J. Kirk Duncan, building committee chairman of the Pampa First Presbyterian Church said today. "While it is true that nearly $90,000 has been pledged, that sum is not our goal," he added.
"Actually the members of our congregation have been challenged to pledge three per cent of their income for three years. After the campaign we will fit the building to the pledges. If a miracle should happen and more than enough were pledged for an adequate building, we could use the excess for much needed repairs and improvements to our other buildings. We are praying for a miracle." Duncan concluded.
The campaign for a new education building began with the church service Sunday. So far $86,000 has been pledged for the construction of a building calculated to double the existing educational facilities.

Were alive came when three "bare-faced" miners inched their way through rockfalls and debris in a tunnel on the 13,000-foot level where about 50 men were believed working when the bump hit the mine.
"Bare-faced" miners are rescue workers who work in areas where there is less gas danger, as opposed to "draughtmen" who wear oxygen masks and use equipment invented by a German named Draeger.
"Come and get us for God's sake," a muffled voice echoed through a broken ventilation pipe. It was the voice of Kempf.
The bare-faced rescue workers stared at the pipe in amazement. "At first we thought it was some of the workers," said Earl Wood, one of the men on the scene. "But the men trapped at the other end must have seen the reflection of the light of a helmet and called for help."
Harold Brine, 22, one of the 12, spoke with his brother-in-law who was in the rescue crew, separated by about 60 feet of rock and rubble.

"We're all right. . . the air has been pretty good, but we're awful damn thirsty," said Brine. Water was pumped through a smaller pipe inserted in the big one and each of the trapped men took turns sucking at the liquid. They were later fed bouillon fortified with vitamins through the pipe, according to a doctor's instructions.
Wood said the trapped men were soon joking with the rescue workers. When George Scott, one of the bare-faced miners, asked in his broad Scottish accent how the men were, Michniak, replied: "Come on George, get the marbles out of your mouth and talk English."
Three of the trapped men had escaped death in the tomb-like mine for the second time. Joseph McDonald, Hugh Guthro, and Joe Hollaway, whose uncle was buried Wednesday, all survived the 1956 explosion in the No. 4 mine where 39 men died and 88 were rescued.

TV's 'Rapunzel' Stronger On Trick Than It Was On Treat

Television in Review
By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — Perhaps in honor of approaching Halloween, NBC-TV's "Shirley Temple Storybook" conjured up a scary tale Monday night. It was called "Rapunzel," but unfortunately, was stronger on trick than it was on treat.

You may remember "Rapunzel." It's a Grimm brothers story about a girl with more hair than Harpo Marx. Monday night Carol Lynley who played Rapunzel and she kept throwing it up and (they really should have done something about that name) weighed in with 25 feet of hair and she kept throwing it up and down a balcony and somehow it all looked very Freudian to me, not to mention hard on the head.

Anyway, Agnes Moorehead was also in the piece and I rather liked her. She played a witch and a beautiful witch she was—maniacally fiendish with just the proper combination of intelligibility and cuckooeness. Miss Moorehead's portrait was aided by some trick photography that permitted her to shrink, appear in a fireplace and ride across the sky and I hope it scared the living daylights out of the kiddies looking in.

The trouble with the show—as with almost all of these Shirley Temple things—is that it is never quite able to decide what sort of audience it is aiming at. The piece obviously was meant to appeal only to youngsters and retarded adults, but for some reason, it contained some lengthy and tedious love scenes that must have made the kids pretty impatient.

Most of the performances were quite solid. Along with Miss Moorehead, I should mention Marian Seldes, Alexander Scourby and Philip Abbott. Over at CBS-TV Monday night "Desilu Playhouse" also unpacked a fairy tale, "Debut." It was all about a young girl who was forced to choose between a career as a ballerina in Paris or a life with her love in California. Of course, there was no reason why she shouldn't have chosen to become a ballerina in California except that it wouldn't have made for much of a play.

Record Earnings Making Bull Fighters Much More Reckless

EL PASO, (UPI)—The sword handler for the late bullfighter Manolete says modern matadors inspired by record earnings are fighting more recklessly than ever before against ferocious bulls made more violent by vitamin supplements.

Roberto Monroy de los Reyes said high wages have made "many bullfighters forget the bull's horns can send them to hospitals as well as open the bank of Mexico to them."

"More and more bullfighters are dying young and this because they are too much inclined to look on fighting bulls as friendly collaborators who can help them become millionaires," he said.

Roberto, assistant manager of the Alberto Balderras bullring in Juarez, said such abuses as sawing down horns of bulls, hammering brads in their hooves and clubbing them groggy before fights begin have been outlawed at most bullrings.

Traces Abuses
"These abuses cropped up when the public demanded that matadors work closer to the horns," he said. "The public insisted on greater danger as well as art and FOR PM's Wednesday Oct. 29 these measures were taken to slow the bull's charge and limit the use of his horns thus helping matadors to live longer lives."

Today's millionaire matadors, Roberto said, look and act like successful businessmen. "They drink costly wines instead of tequila and jog around the rings with a flower instead of a cigar between their teeth," he said.

"They are gentler and don't wrest with tobacco and pulque as the old matadors did but they fight closer and with greater art and danger than at any time in history."

He said the "brave fiesta" has not moved into an era of decadence where danger is overshadowed by art.

"The crowds still like brave bulls with whiskers and flies on their muzzles," he said.

Bulls Still Fierce
Roberto said charges that bull breeders are developing manageable bulls so matadors will run less risk are unjust.

"The bull breeders aren't breeding 'Rich Bon-Bons' or 'Sisters of Charity,'" he said. "The modern bulls are even more savage

HOMECOMING PLANS SET
CANADIAN (Sp) — Tentative plans for a high school homecoming have been made here with the organization of a CHS alumni association.

Officers are Erbin Crowell, '53, chairman; Mrs. Bruce Graham, '54, vice chairman; Mrs. Walter Adams, '54, secretary; and Mrs. Jack King, '41, treasurer.

vidual moments with some crackle, most of them churned out by the actors themselves, notably Susan Strasberg as the girl and Maria Palmer as her mother Henry Daniell, in an icy-bispy part, also turned in a fine job.

The Channel Swim: The first Nielsen "top 10" ratings of the new season places them in this order: "Gunsmoke," "Have Gun, Will Travel," "World Series," "I Love Lucy" (reruns) "G.E. Theater," "Harvey," "Garry Moore Show," "Red Skelton Show."

HARRY MAKES IT CLEAR

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (UPI)—Former President Harry S. Truman has made it clear that he hadn't changed his mind about Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

"He has called me a traitor," said Truman. "And I don't like that."

The remark was in answer to a query whether Truman would accept an invitation from the National Press Club in Washington to play a piano duet with Nixon.

"The answer, of course, is no," said the former chief executive. "I've refused to enter the Senate when he was there, why would I do a thing like this? He has called me a traitor. And I don't like that."

Truman added, "That's all I have to say about it. I think I've made myself clear."

Truman was quoted last week by a United Press International reporter as saying "Well, that was very nice of him" when he was told Nixon had hailed him as a "gallant warrior" of the campaign trail.

In St. Louis Monday during a brief stopover, Truman said he would not consider a piano duet with Nixon. "I'm not going to try doing anything with Nixon except beat him," he said.

Truman also described signs of a sweeping Democratic victory as "almost too good to be true."

He added he is leery of a similar prediction by the Gallup Poll.

"I've Got A Secret," and "Alfred Hitchcock Presents." All of the shows are on CBS-TV except for the NBC-TV World Series telecasts. The highest rated ABC-TV show was "The Real McCoys" which finished in the number 11 spot.

John Payne has returned to work on NBC-TV's "Restless Gun" — he had to lay off work after falling in his shower. Don Knotts, who was knocked off the NBC-TV "Steve Allen Show" by pleurisy and pneumonia, returns to the program this Sunday. Ed Sullivan signed France Nuyen, star of Broadway's "The World of Suzie Wong," for two appearances on his CBS-TV show. NBC-TV's "Omnibus" racked up an 11.8 Trendex Sunday — its highest Trendex for an opening show in its seven year history.

Mitchell Condemns Boycotts, Picketts

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell has strongly condemned secondary boycotts and some forms of picketing as the most fertile sources of union corruption.

Mitchell, in an address to the Hennepin County Bar Assn., said the Eisenhower administration would ask Congress next January to deal with those practices by enacting labor reform legislation. The labor secretary singled out what he called "blackmail" picketing in his attack on two traditional weapons of organized labor.

He said such picketing was an effort to force an employer to bargain with a union which his employees have rejected or do not want to represent them. Secondary boycotts, he said, result when unions threaten or coerce an employer to make him stop doing business with a company whose workers are on strike.

"The 'hot cargo' situation, a prime source of violence, shootings, muggings and other kinds of conflict, is an example of this," Mitchell said. Blackmail picketing also sets the scene for violence, he added.

"Any bill that overlooks practices of this nature is overlooking the source of labor corruption," Mitchell declared.

New Drug May Lower Pressure

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The National Heart Institute has announced "impressive" results with a new drug for lowering blood pressure.

It said research physicians of the institute have found that the drug, known as JB 516, "produces marked and sustained lowering of blood pressure in patients with hypertension." Hypertension is the medical name for the disease commonly known as high blood pressure, one of the nation's leading causes of death.

The research physicians are Drs. Louis Gillespie Jr., Luther L. Terry and Albert Sjoerdsma. They presented a formal paper on their research today before a scientific session of the American Heart Association at San Francisco. The findings were simultaneously made public here by the institute, a branch of the National Institutes of Health at Bethesda, Md.

The physicians reported that JB 516 does not seem to produce some of the undesirable side effects of other blood pressure-lowering drugs now in use. These side effects include sexual impotence, dry mouth and constipation.

In some patients JB 516 has produced a unique side effect of its own — temporary color blindness. This condition has disappeared upon withdrawal of the drug.

It has been administered to date to 21 patients, of whom 19 responded with "significant and sustained lowering" of blood pressure.

The physicians said however that further clinical tests must be made before the drug's lasting value in treatment of hypertension can be known.

Army Has Whirlwind Typewriter

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Army has displayed a teletypewriter that can operate in theory at the rate of a half million words per minute.

Actually, the electronic device was shown running at a speed of 3,000 words a minute — 20 times as fast as most people can talk. The Army intends to use it at 750 words a minute.

The 500,000 words per minute speed would be the equivalent of typing the King James Version of the Bible (774,746 words) in a minute and a half.

The mechanism will go — that fast or faster, but what baffles the experts is how to pass the roll of paper past the printing anvil fast enough. The specification for the machine was prepared by the Signal Corps and it was built by the Burroughs Corp.

MAYDAY, KEEP THE LIP SHUT!

TYNDALL AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (UPI) — Things really began to pop when the word "mayday" was heard on the phone.

"Mayday" is the international aircraft-distress call. The sound of it galvanized the Air Force ground control interception station here into placing all emergency measures into immediate effect.

The control staff had no doubt of the call's authenticity, since it came from the operations office at this Air Force base where a worldwide weapons meet is being held.

A bit of clarification returned the situation to normal. The caller explained that he was Airman IC Jerome Mayday, of operations, and that he was calling on a routine matter.

Mayday was under strict orders today: When he calls, he is to identify himself simply as "Airman IC Jerome."

Cereal Crumbs Teamed With Vegetables Form Winning Results In Taste Appeal

New Kellogg's Corn Flake Crumbs will be highly rated by those who savor vegetables at their very best. In addition to their uses in casseroles and coffee cake toppings, for extending meat loaves, for crumb-pie shells, for breadings meats and fish and for dressing up desserts, Corn Flake Crumbs team with vegetables with winning results.

Milled specially for cooking from top quality Corn Flakes, Crumbs give golden crispness and flavor. In a hearty autumn vegetable casserole, what could be nicer? Mousaka, which stars eggplant, includes ground beef and is more main dish than accompaniment. Corn Flake Crumbs make the meat go further and also combine with sharp cheese for a tempting topping.

Corn Flake Crumbs add a new note to traditional Scalloped Corn, an appetizing table companion to a savory pork roast. Another oven favorite is Swiss Beans, a flavorful combination of green beans and sour cream, topped with Swiss cheese and crunchy Corn Flake Crumbs.

Strict Rules Are Needed To Govern Our Elections In US

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Republican and Democratic senators who want sharper teeth in the corrupt Practices Act governing U.S. elections are referred here with to the Representation of the People Act (RPA) which governs elections in Great Britain.

RPA imposes the strictest kind of rules such as to bewilder an honest American politician and almost surely entrap a crook. British Socialists imposed RPA in 1948 and 1949. British Conservatives and Liberals, however, cheerfully have accepted these campaign restrictions which would make the going hard for almost any American seeking almost any public office, honest though he be.

The Socialist idea was to limit or to abolish any campaign advantage a rich man might have over a poor man. The Socialists enacted laws to limit spending, and they are enforced. Use of automobiles to haul voters to and from the polls is limited, and "treating" by a candidate is positively forbidden. No campaign cigars. It is not against the rules to kiss babies. But don't lend a voter money if you plan to run for Parliament in Britain.

Agent Is Responsible
Even a small loan to a voter made in good faith would be sufficient to disqualify a candidate if, by chance, a national election were called within six months after the loan transaction. Your British neighbor may take members of his household to the polling place in the family automobile. But he must not offer you a lift, nor any other person who is not of his household.

The candidate's campaign manager or agent may register before polling day a limited number of automobiles to transport voters, one car for every 2,500 voters in a city district, one for every 1,500 in the country. If a car breaks down on election day, it may not be replaced.

One of the penalties for breaking some of these campaign and election day rules is disqualification of the candidate if he is elected and punishment for his campaign agent.

The agent is responsible for his candidate's conformity with the election rules. The person he manages and gets elected to the House of Commons probably will need outside work to support his family. The salary is $2,800 a year with $5.60 added for each day the Commons is in session. That usually brings it to around $3,500 before taxes. Members of the U.S. Congress are paid $22,500 a year, plus office space and, secretarial help and some travel and other expense allowance.

Voter Is Protected
The British agent does not make anything like that sum, but he usually does better than his client, the candidate, after absorbing a course in election law and obtaining a certificate of proficiency. The candidate may spend $280 of his personal funds on his personal campaign. The agent is limited to spending between $1,600 and $1,800, depending on the constituency—and that is all. The candidate is disqualified if his agent spends more than that.

Sturdy protection of the voter and assurance that his vote will be counted are entrenched in British election laws and in British tradition, which is considerably more than can be said of the United States. It has been a long, long time since any British ballot boxes have been tampered with or stolen, especially from official premises, all of which, and more, has happened in the United States more recently.

And if a labor goon or a big business goon or any goon showed up around a British polling place, he would be chucked in jail, quick; another switch on U.S. election habits.

Resort Fashions Notable For Ease

By GALE DUGAS
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK (KNEA) — The designed-to-match sweater and skirt take on a new look for resort wear this year. Winter vacationers in the tropics will look chic and trim in sweaters cut with easy lines and trimmed in fresh-looking, crisp linen.

This linen theme is carried out in matching skirts, done in both prints and solid colors.

Fringe is another way of importing freshness to the separates idea. Both pullovers and jackets are fringed and then teamed up with slim, fringed skirts.

The Empire influence makes itself felt in high-banded detailing and wide belts worn just below the bosom. But most sweaters offer a generally easy fit, particularly above the hip.

For late-day wear, the resort sweater turns—scoop-neck and sleeveless, is paired with a cardigan or jacket. Some are worn with summerbunds wrapped high for an Empire look.

Skirts of these new ensembles are done in flannel, linen and worsted and offer four different lines: the slim skirt, the inverted V, the pleated skirt and a high-rise arch. Most of these are shown in lengths below the knee as hems start downward slightly.

Sweaters and skirts take on a costume look in this year's resort wear. Linen-trimmed sweaters have a fresh look, pair up beautifully with linen skirts. Sweaters are notable for eased fit. This cardigan (left) has wide linen collar and double buttons covered in linen. Button detailing is repeated on color-matched skirt. Another use of linen trim (center) for sweaters appears in this pullover and cardigan with polka-dot trim. Slim skirt is polka-dot embroidered linen. The sweater for late day is done (right) as sleeveless pullover with matching collared cardigan. Flannel skirt with cummerbund is dyed-to-match. All designs shown here are from the Talbot collection. They are done in vivid colors as well as pastels for winter vacation wear in the tropics.

Zion's Daughters Plan Yule Bazaar

Zion's Daughters of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints met Tuesday morning in the home of Mrs. Douglas Robbins, 413 Zimmers, for election of officers. To serve during the ensuing term are Mrs. S. B. Malone Jr., leader, Mrs. Albert Stewart, assistant leader, Mrs. M. A. Snapp, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Albert Stewart, reporter.

During a business meeting, it was decided by the members to set as their goal aid for the church's building fund. It was also approved to have a bazaar and bake sale a few weeks before Christmas.

Before adjournment, members paid yearly dues, which will be sent to the district Women's Department and it was announced that new yearbooks and handbooks will be ordered for the coming year.

Members attending were Meses. S. B. Malone Jr., Albert Stewart, Douglas Robbins, M. A. Snapp and Leland Diamond.

Refreshments were served during the social hour by the hostess.

The next meeting will be an all-day workshop in the home of Mrs. Snapp, 412 Zimmers on Nov. 11.

RUTH MILLETT

If he is old enough to date, he is old enough to be made to understand that:

When he takes a girl out in the family car he is actually taking her life in his hands. If he is tempted to show off at the wheel, he is risking not only his own neck but hers, too.

If her parents tell her to be in at a certain time, he is responsible for getting her home on the dot—even if she doesn't press the point.

If he dates her, he shouldn't talk about her in any way that could hurt her reputation.

If he makes a date he has to keep it, no matter what else comes along that he would rather do.

When he makes a date for eight o'clock he shouldn't be early and he shouldn't be late.

He should be perfectly willing to meet her family and should show her parents such little courtesies as rising when they come into the room, telling them good night when he leaves the house, and so on.

If he expects a girl to look her best when she goes out with him, he should go to the trouble of dressing appropriately, too.

When he asks a girl to go to a movie he ought to give her a chance to express a preference for the movie she would like to see.

When he telephones a girl for a date he should have the courage to come right out and ask for it instead of putting her on the spot with, "What are you doing Saturday night?"

Just because he goes steady with a girl, he shouldn't expect to hang out at her house all the time.

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My neighbor across the court is a sly one and she thinks she is getting away with something. She can fool her husband but she can't fool me. When she leaves her window shades half-up, that means, "THE COAST IS CLEAR." When she hangs something upside down on the clothesline it means, "NOT TONIGHT." It took me two years to figure this out. I am 96 and if I could see this in print, I would die a happy man.

DEAR ABBY: (U.S. Navy, Retired) Dear "Happy" —Happy?

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow aged 44 and am about to marry a man 48 years old. I have a married daughter and a son in service and I don't want to start another family. This man says I have nothing to worry about as he had a bad case of the mumps when he was 36. Tell me, do I have anything to worry about?

GLADYS
Dear Gladys: Don't count on it. Ask your fiancé to see a doctor. He will be able to answer your question after a simple laboratory test.

DEAR ABBY: A very nice boy from school asked to take me to a show on Friday night. My folks said all right if I was home by midnight. We were going to double-date with another couple. The two boys picked me up first and when we went to get the other girl, she was not home. The three of us spent the whole evening driving around trying to get a date for me but we got no date. When I got home and told my parents we didn't go to a show they got mad and said, "No more dates!" Do you think this was fair to me?

JUDY
Dear Judy: No! Your parents should give you another chance because when you left the house you didn't know you were going to spend the evening any way other than you had planned. However next time, tell your date that you had permission only to go to a show and a last minute change of plans is out!

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I

Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority members were entertained recently in the home of Mrs. Margaret Dial with Mrs. Bruce Parker as co-hostess.

"Telephone Courtesy" and "Bouncing Off" was the title of the program presented with Tommy Beard of Richard's Drug presenting a film, "The Voice of Your Business," through the courtesy of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company. The film pointed out the importance of a pleasant telephone voice.

"A SUCKER"
Dear Sucker: That's like expecting the fish to pay for the bait he was caught with. If you love her — go ahead and pay them.

DEAR ABBY: Get this. My husband laughed when I said I was going to write to you. In our three and a half years of a happy marriage we were blessed with three lovely babies. But three in 27 months! I am not asking for a medal or sympathy but, believe me, it's been awfully hard on me. The place is messy and there are diapers drying all over (two live in a trailer) and he gives me the dickens because I don't cook his favorite dishes. How can I do anything but take care of these babies? I have nobody to help me. The worst part of it is I think I'm pregnant again.

WORN OUT
Dear Worn: If it is not contrary to your religious principles, you should look up the Planned Parenthood organization in your directory. You do yourself, your husband and the little ones no favors by multiplying at this rate under these conditions.

Confidential to Miserable: Talk to the Hill Director on your campus. He has the answer for you — but you must listen with an open mind.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Frank J.'s parents wanted him to "make something of himself" before marrying and saddling himself with family obligations.

So they were upset when he married soon after getting his first job. However, when they learned his wife was keeping hers, they felt a little better. The relief was short-lived. She became pregnant and had to resign her job. In the bosom of her family, Frank's discouraged mother said over and over, "Poor boy, to be chanced like this before he'd had a chance to make something of himself!"

Today her daughter, Lila, shows intense dislike of Frank's oldest child.

If, at family gatherings, Frank's daughter, Josie, doesn't finish her pudding, Aunt Lila says "Waste not, want not." If Josie cries because another child has called her a bad name, Aunt Lila says, "What a little waterworks you are." If Josie shoves her brother away from her comic book, Aunt Lila says, "Jealousy — like that should be nipped in the bud."

Josie never mentions this persecution by Aunt Lila. For the only time she did her mother said, "Shush, Aunt Lila loves you. It's just her way, dear."

Children always have been the targets of the previous generation's unsolved hates. However, I can't see any reason why it has to continue indefinitely.

Though parents may wish to entertain relatives like Aunt Lila, they are not obligated to present them as trustworthy people to Josie. Family life is a child's preview of life in the world he's come to. It is an important demonstration of the fact that hateful human beings exist as well as kindly ones. To tell Josie that she is loved by Aunt Lila who criticizes and persecutes her is to deprive her of her own awareness of reality — and send her into the world with trustful expectations of the wolves in it. I do not know why parents are so anxious to make children believe that everybody loves them.

Pope John XXIII Pleads For Peace

By DANIEL F. GILMORE
United Press International

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope John XXIII began the first week of his reign Wednesday with an appeal to the leaders of the world to abandon their monstrous arms and ensure peace with justice.

The 78-year-old pontiff, in his first papal address, asked the world leaders to "look at the people, listen to their voices."

"What do they ask? What do they implore? Not new monstrous arms but peace... but justice... but tranquility and concord."

Pope John, his voice firm and at times almost musical, spoke in Latin from the papal throne in the Sistine Chapel where a secret conclave of cardinals elected him Tuesday as the 262nd pontiff.

His speech followed a Solemn Mass that brought the electing conclave to an end and opened the sealed area of St. Peter's to the world for the first time since last Saturday.

Needs Free Peace

He said the world needed a free peace — not a peace existing under conditions of slavery.

Addressing himself to those who "hold in their hands the fate of nations," the Pope asked:

"Why are dissensions and discord not settled? Why are efforts directed at creating harmful instruments of war instead of civil progress?"

"Come, act courageous and confident... the light from above shines on you."

He quoted from St. Augustine: "Pax est tranquillitas domini" — Peace is the tranquility of the Lord, and from St. Thomas: "Between peace and slavery there is a great difference. Peace is tranquil freedom."

Speaks of "Silent Church"

He spoke then of the "silent

church" behind the Iron Curtain, and said:

"Our thoughts go out in a particular way to the bishops, priests and faithful who live where the church's sacred rights are trampled on with daring... pastors are impeded to the point where they cannot carry out their task."

"We share in their sorrows."

Such restrictions against church liberty — are "completely repugnant" to civilized life, he said. He prayed for divine enlightenment of the minds of the persecutors to bring about "freedom for all."

He referred to the Eastern and Western rites of the Catholic Church and said, "we embrace the Eastern Western churches with fatherly charity."

Asks Protestants Return

And "to those who are separated from the Holy See (non-Catholic Christians) we open our most loving soul," he said. "We advocate their return to the father's home."

"So may it come, that all, freely and willingly, may enter into what is not a strange home but their own home."

He began his 12-minute speech with these words:

"In this hour of trepidation in which the heavy burden of the pontificate, imposed on us by the mysterious design of God after the death of our predecessor Pius XII of venerated memory, overwhelms and almost crushes our soul... we pray to God to enlighten our mind and strengthen our will."

Speaks of Cardinals

He spoke with sympathy of the plight of Jozsef Cardinal Mindszenty of Hungary and Alojzys Cardinal Stepinac of Yugoslavia where the Communist governments refused to allow them to attend the conclave. He called them those "whose sufferings touch us so strongly."

Pope John said his thoughts also went out to "those who work in the vineyards of the Lord everywhere in the world" — all priests and especially missionaries who "not sparing themselves of any labor" spread God's word in all lands.

He also gave his embrace to the Catholic action movement, to all those who in any way help the church hierarchy in its task, and "all the children we have in Christ."

He particularly turned his thoughts to the faithful of "the region where we have carried out our pastoral task" and said, "we are always present to them through the charity of Jesus Christ, and will always be." At this point came the reference to the persecuted church behind the Iron Curtain.

The Pontiff ended his 12-minute speech with an apostolic blessing. Then the locked and bricked up doors and corridors of the conclave area were opened or broken through.

53 Super Markets Are Result Of Furr Success

ROY FURR
... president

New Furr's Market Is Beautiful

The new Furr's Super Market in Pampa will be one of the beautiful large super markets with no punches barred. In other words, the Furr's Super Markets have pulled out all stops in bringing the latest in super marketing to Pampa.

The store itself will be a face brick on the exterior, banked with plaster boxes and large windows on the front. It has some 18,700 square feet overall, seven check out stands, colored refrigerated case, wide aisle, spacious shelving and all that will make Mrs. Housewife blink her eyes with wonder.

The fluorescent lighting is a marvel. The parking lot will be spacious with plenty of lighting for 184 cars for night shoppers. The refrigeration, for example, will show Mrs. Housewife 88 feet of frozen food self-service cases, 104 feet for the meats department, 44 feet for fruits and vegetables, 24 feet for ice cream and 20 feet for other dairy products.

One of the innovations is the Kiddie Theater for children, television and all. Another is the magic carpet doors for shoppers, opening and closing. An office for the manager, spacious meat department for refrigeration of meats; large grocery warehouse, a new and complete drugs department for housewares, cosmetics, soft goods, etc.

Construction is by Panhandle Engineers and Construction Co. of Amarillo. R. S. Billingsley is architect and engineer.

LITTLE LIZ

Strapless dresses aren't responsible for as much trouble as strapless woodsheds.

Furr's, Inc., a retail grocery operation which now enhances 53 super markets, two huge warehouses, a creamery, an egg-distribution point and packing plant in West Texas, New Mexico and Colorado, had its humble beginning back in 1904 when C. W. Furr, now deceased, set up in that business in the town of Kirkland, near Childress, Texas.

Where only a few persons, under the leadership of C. W. Furr, managed the original Furr's store, today more than 2500 persons are on the payroll of this chain of super markets.

In 1925, Mr. Furr moved his headquarters of operation to Amarillo. Here he founded the Furr Food Stores. Four years later, in 1929, the M-System stores were purchased. There were six units, three in Lubbock and one each in Littlefield, Dalou and Shallowater. Roy Furr took over the management of this group of stores. Key Furr, then in the meat business, joined C. W. Furr in the management of the Amarillo group of stores.

In 1934, the M-System stores became Furr Food Stores. At that time three units were in Lubbock and six others in Slaton, Tahoka, Hale Center, Littlefield, Clovis and Hobbs, a total of nine stores.

The next major change saw the addition of the seven stores in El Paso, purchased from J. P. Yearwood. This was in September, 1945. From the name of M-System stores, with Lubbock as headquarters, the name of this group became the C. W. Furr's Stores Co. In 1946, some years later it took on Furr's Super Markets, Inc. but not for long for in 1950 the change came which bears the present name, Furr's, Inc.

As of January 1, 1957 Furr's, Inc. of Lubbock assumed the operation of the Amarillo firm, Furr Food Stores, Inc. Acquisition of 51 per cent of the voting stock of the Amarillo chain was made at this time. Since then, with a shifting of personnel, supervision of the Amarillo group of stores has been taken over by Furr's, Inc. of Lubbock.

During 1957, the four stores at Ft. Worth and the single unit at Wichita Falls, Texas were sold to the Wyatt chain with headquarters at Dallas; the units at Tucumcari and Portales, New Mexico were sold to individuals.

In January, 1958 the store at Guymon, Oklahoma was sold and soon later the Hereford, Texas store. In April of this same year, 1958, one of the Pueblo three units was sold to the Arapahoe group while the remaining two were closed.

New stores opened in 1958 include Amarillo's No. 3; Colorado Springs No. 30 and 31; Odessa No. 11; Lamesa No. 18, replacing the completely fire-damaged store in December, 1957; Las Cruces, New Mexico No. 2, on July 31; two in Denver in August, opening simultaneously on August 28, Thursday noon and Pampa, replacing a present store. Remodeling openings during 1958 include Levelland in June and Littlefield, Clovis and Albuquerque No. 24 in early September. A Farm Store, adjoining the newly-opened super market in Lamesa was opened to the public in early August.

Ahead for 1958 are stores under construction at Abilene, Lubbock (2), El Paso and Midland.

A second cafeteria was opened in the New Town & Country Shopping Center in Odessa August 1 while new ones are under construction in Hobbs, Midland and Wheeler.

4-H Awards For Grain Given

COLLEGE STATION (Sp.) — Bobby Schwalk of Ochiltree county and Robert Lee Martin, Wheeler county, have been named winners of the 1958 statewide 4-H awards in grain marketing, the state 4-H club office announced today.

Schwalk and Martin, as winners, will receive all-expense paid trips to Chicago. Donor of the award is the Chicago Board of Trade.

Schwalk, the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Schwalk, Perryton, is a Gold Star boy and a county winner in leadership.

Young Martin, the son of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Martin, Mobeetie, is just completing his sixth year in 4-H work. This year he won blue ribbons for his wheat exhibits at fairs in Perrytown, Shamrock and Wheeler.

Furr's Have Top-Notch Supervisors

Supervision of the Pampa Furr's Super Market is handled from the Amarillo branch office of Furr's Inc., with Donovan Stafford as branch manager. The branch includes eight stores in Amarillo and one each in Borger and Pampa.

Stafford, a 20 - odd year veteran with Furr's in the grocery business, has built about him a staff of supervisors, well-schooled in the business of retail groceries. As his meats department supervisor, he has John Sullivan; for produce, Tom Nichols and for general grocery department, Ray Holbert.

Key Furr, now chairman of the board of Furr's Inc., is now giving

There Was A John XXIII 500 Years Ago

ROME (UPI) — The name Pope John XXIII, chosen by the new supreme Pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church, was used more than 500 years ago.

However, the previous John XXIII is regarded by most Catholic historians as an anti-pope. He reigned from 1410 to 1415 in an era when there was a wide split between church factions.

In 1415, the Pope was deposed by the Council of Constance acting under the authority of Pope Gregory XII. Gregory is recognized as a pope in the official not.

The schism which resulted in the anti-popes started when cardinals who had elected Pope Urban VI in 1378 declared his election invalid and chose another supreme Pontiff. The schism continued until 1417 when Martin V was elected pope.

The last officially accepted Pope John was John XXII who reigned from 1316 to 1334. The first was St. John I who reigned from 523 to 526.

Furr's Will Give Away New Buick

Attractions will be wide and varied at the grand opening of Furr's Super Market in Pampa this week. Heading the list of giveaways is the 1959 LaSalle Buick, the car to be given away after a seven-week period, on December 20, just in time for Christmas for a.o.m.e. lucky person!

Each weekend, a major prize will be awarded some person. The first five weekends, a Hotpoint Portable Television set will be the reward, while the next two weekends, the prizes will be valuable RCA Whirlpool Automatic Dryers. Persons will register for the above prizes free with no purchase necessary. Too, a person need not be present at any drawing to win. Personnel and their immediate families, of Furr's, cannot win a prize.

At the three-day opening, too, there will be attractions for the customer. More than 1,000 orchids will be given to the ladies, first come first served each day, 333 or more to each day. Refreshments will be served to all during these three days while balloons for the children will be plentiful.

One of the biggest attractions will be the giveaway of 600 bags of groceries, valued at $5 or more for each bag, to be given to the first customers each day, purchasing $15 or more. Two hundred will be given daily until they run out. It has been announced.

To top all this, double Frontier Saving Stamps will be given with purchase of $2.50 or more, — all this during the three days of the opening. Regular double stamp day is Wednesday.

Senator Says Demos Will Make Sweep

By RAYMOND LAHR United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. A.S. Mike Monroney (D-Okl.), back from campaigning in several states, has predicted a "democratic sweep reaching the proportions of 1956" if the present trend among voters continues until Nov. 4.

Monroney's view challenged Vice President Richard M. Nixon's statement Monday before a Republican fund-raising meeting in Michigan that a "striking shift of voter opinion" had halted the trend toward a Democratic landslide.

Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler also chipped away at Nixon's statement, declaring the Vice President was "whistling in the dark" with statements the Republicans were gaining in the final days of the campaign.

Both the Republicans and Democrats were beating the confidence drums during a partial lull in the heated campaigning on a national level. But President Eisenhower was still on the political trail today, in New York City.

FDR Carried 46 States Nixon returned to Washington Monday night to rest before launching his final jaunt of the fall campaign Wednesday. Former President Harry Truman, who has traded verbal blows with Nixon most of the past month, also was pausing before the climactic final effort to get out Democratic party votes.

Monroney said "continued Republican fumbling is doing more to insure Democratic victory than even the well-run and streamlined campaigns" of the Democrats.

He said a "definite and identifiable Democratic trend" formed the basis for his hope for a Democratic victory of 1956 stature, when President Franklin D. Roosevelt carried all but two states against Republican candidate Alfred M. Landon and nearly swept Republican candidates out of Congress.

PAMPA'S NEW FURR'S HAS VET MANAGERS

Earl Barnett, manager of Furr's Super Market's new super market in Pampa, brings to his new surroundings a background of experience in the grocery business. Barnett moves over from the old location of Furr's to manage this new unit opening this week.

Earl came to Furr's in 1951, during the month of May. By August of the same year he was named manager of a store in Lubbock, home of Furr's general offices. Here he stayed until termination for service in the Armed Forces. Upon his return to Furr's, Barnett stepped into a grocery job in Lubbock, moved to assistant manager in July, 1956; to Abilene as grocery department head in early January of 1957, and to the management of Pampa in January of 1958. He is married.

Bill Barberousse, market manager, is also a veteran of service with the Armed Forces, having served two and one-half years in the Air Forces. At one time he had his own meat business, but soon became associated as a butcher in Odessa. He joined Furr's there in November, 1956 and came as market manager at Pampa in September of this year.

Produce manager of the new Furr's Super Market is Robert Wright, a Mangum, Oklahoma product who has been with Furr's some six months in the field. So is the tenure with Furr's for John Reese, drugs manager of the Furr's unit. He was in Clovis seven months prior to his service at Pampa with Furr's.

Groom Band Plans Benefit Concert, Nov. 13

GROOM (Sp) — The Groom School Band will present a concert at the High School Auditorium here Thursday night, Nov. 13, for the benefit of the Groom Memorial Hospital Building Fund.

The concert, under direction of Bennie Valentine, band instructor, will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Admission prices will be $1.00 for adults and 50 cents for children. Advance ticket sales are planned and members of the Groom Band will visit surrounding towns to offer tickets for sale on Saturday, Nov. 8. Everyone is invited to attend the band concert.

C. L. Culver, member of the planning board for the proposed Groom Memorial Hospital has offered the following report giving details of the planned hospital in brief: The 16-bed hospital will be built at a cost of $200,000.00. The federal government will make a grant of $100,000.00 if we can raise $100,000.00.

To date, approximately $40,000 has been donated or pledged. A loan of $30,000.00 on a 30-year repayment term has been promised.

We need to secure about $30,000 more in cash and pledges before the December meeting of the State Hospital Board which will approve our application for a federal grant of $10,000.00.

Any family or person donating $2,500 will "buy" a room in the proposed new hospital and the name of the donor will be inscribed on a plaque to be placed above the door of the room.

Any person desiring to make a pledge in lieu of a cash donation may pay it off on a monthly basis over a period of two years, or on terms to suit the giver.

HELPFUL PENTAGON

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—Lenny Koplow had to get in touch with the Pentagon to return a lost wallet.

He found the wallet containing $600 and a card with name and serial number but no address. He contacted the Pentagon, received a six-year-old address and made a telephone call.

Samuel G. Ransom, 43, happened to be visiting his aunt when the call came. He said the money was his re-enlistment pay.

Furr's Offers Frontier Stamps

Frontier Saving Stamps, the trading stamp offered by Furr's Super Markets, are known far and wide in the Southwest.

Today Frontier Stamps are in a seven-state area, the primary coverage extending from Beaumont, Texas on the east to Fresno, California on the west, including Denver, Colorado Springs, Odessa, Phoenix, Amarillo, Abilene and hundreds of western markets.

At present time Frontier is operating 63 major redemption centers. One indication of the system's growth is the recent fall week end when three new major redemption centers were scheduled to be opened at the same time in Galveston, Texas and Las Cruces and Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Frontier Saving Stamps had their beginning in 1949, established in El Paso, Texas — now expanded to serve all of the major cities of the West.

Shortly after the stamps were introduced in El Paso, Frontier expanded to serve the M System Stores in San Angelo, and the Furr's Super Markets in the Lubbock area. Because of its central location, Lubbock was selected as the site of the company's general offices.

Will Wilson Files Suit

AUSTIN (UPI)—Atty. Gen. Will Wilson has filed suit against Texas subsidiaries of three national finance companies testing legality of a loan operation known as the "Certificate Plan."

However, because a law is now on the books allowing such a program, Wilson said he will make no effort to restrain such companies until the validity of the Texas law is finally determined.

Named in the test suits, filed in 98th District Court, were:

Household Finance Corp., of San Antonio, a subsidiary of Household Finance Corp., a Delaware corporation with main offices in Illinois; Pacific Finance Loans, a subsidiary of Pacific Corp., a Delaware corporation with main offices in California, and Community Finance & Thrift Corp., a subsidiary of Family Finance Corp., a Delaware corporation.

Wilson said the particular companies involved in the three suits "are basically not different from all the other companies using the 'certificate plan'." But he "expressed belief" these three cases will give the court the actual facts "regarding the operation" of the plan.

ceived an enthusiastic consumer acceptance. The company has always featured modern, conveniently located redemption centers, well-stocked with an almost unlimited selection of top quality, famous name merchandise.

The remarkable increase in volume of merchants introducing Frontier Stamps reflected the appreciation of shopper's for Frontier's extra-service merchandising policies.

Frontier has initiated many new features in the stamp industry — the latest is the establishment of a complete baby goods department in the larger centers.

In addition to super markets many other types of retail merchants use Frontier Stamps, including service stations, cleaners and laundries, department stores, dairies, car dealers, clothing and variety stores, hardware, jewelry and appliance stores, and many others.

In addition the stamps are used for employee incentives in public utility, insurance, savings and loan, and other service companies.

Preston Johnston who assumed the presidency in 1956 has always stressed the fact that personnel of the redemption centers are doing business with customers of Frontier Stamps merchants rather than with the merchants themselves, and therefore, they must be doubly sure that the stamp saver is satisfied.

To that end, Frontier has specialists in charge of each department such as merchandise, center development and promotion; and area representatives who are familiar with all departments as well as with the particular city or cities within their area.

The staff of three which began the operation in 1949 has grown to a total of 270. Long range plans for development of new areas and new merchants indicate that future growth will match, if not surpass the expansion of the first 10 years.

Dons To Play Here Friday

Red Griggs ★ the pipeline

During the last four weeks of the football season, the Harvesters will be jumping out of the frying pan into the fire.

Three of the last four teams they face, including Friday night's foe, Palo Duro, will be the toughest teams in District 3-4A.

The "easy" part of the schedule is over, and the Harvesters still don't have a district win to their credit. They've been up for all three district games, but they made mistakes which beat them in two of those games.

With Palo Duro, Lubbock, Plainview, and Borger starting in the face, the time has come when the Harvesters can't afford to make mistakes.

Harvesters Work on Pass Defense, Varied Offense

By RED GRIGGS
Daily News Sports Editor

Palo Duro's Dons ride into town Friday night to do battle with the Pampa Harvesters.

The only "horses" the Dons use are workhorses on the line and in the backfield. And while they use that type of horsepower, they also use the most modern means of transportation—air travel.

Directing the Dons' air travel are quarterback Monte Deere and halfback Buddy Miller. So far they've had pretty fair success with their passing, and they can expect more of the same unless the Harvesters improve their pass defense.

The Harvesters, with an open date last week, have had two weeks to get ready for the Don invasion. Coach Babe Curfman says their pass defense has improved somewhat. Actually, Pampa did a pretty good job of pass defense in their last game, against Amarillo, but they were aided by Curfman's line coach Dwaine Lyons who has been working with his players on a defense which should stop most of Palo Duro's running plays.

Also, Curfman added, the Harvesters have changed their offense to a certain extent. "We may open it up some," he said.

Pampa has worked out every day for the past two weeks, and has shown no let-up in their spirit and hustle. In scrimmages, they've hit as hard or harder than ever.

The Harvesters will need their best attack and defense of the year, plus a lot of luck, to beat the Dons. They've lost only two games, and those were to district leader Borger and runnerup Lubbock.

Palo Duro's defense is rated among the best, if not the best, in District 3-4A. They've allowed only 45 points in four games—against Borger, Lubbock, Monterey, and Plainview.

The Palo Duro offense has not been too impressive, as they've outsourced their district opponents by only five points—50 to 45. Over the full season, though, they've outsourced seven opponents by a total of 40 points—130 to 90. Only Borger has a wider total lead, among district teams.

The one thing that looks worst for the Harvesters is that the Dons beat Monterey 21-20. The Harvesters lost to the Plainsmen, 40-7.

McLean Hoping To Treat White Deer To Some Tricks

McLEAN—Frost has already come to most of this season's pumpkins—those that escaped being carved into hideous Halloween scare-skulls—by that ever-smiling citizen who goes by the name of Jack R. Riley, king here for what he's done with this year's McLean High football team, figures to dish out a few special tricks of his own and possibly treat himself to a slice of the District 2-A grid title Friday night.

Riley's big-freeze-out job would add the master stroke to an already masterful season. It would be to upset the highly favored White Deer Bucks who'll roll onto Duncan Field for a 7:30 p.m. kickoff Friday with one of the state's most prolific offensive elevens.

But then this Tiger outfit is no slouch either when it comes to moving the ball, overland or through the skyways.

Here's how the expected house-packer shapes up as tension mounts to fever pitch:

Both clubs are undefeated but once tied, McLean 20-20 by Class AA Wellington and White Deer 6-6 by Class A Stinnett. Both bolt into the crucial contest with 6-0 records and all eyes of the state's Class A followers will be focused smartly upon the freeze-royal.

In 2-A conference competition, both the Bengals and Bucks are 2-0, with the winner here Friday night almost a "shoo-in" for the championship. White Deer (10-2 last year, champs of District 1-A and district conquerors of 2-A victor Lefors, 33-33) hasn't lost to the Tigers since a 19-6 licking in 1955. The Tigers won by fat margins in 1954 and 1953 too.

The Bucks prevailed by a slim 26-20 margin in 1956 and last season could do no wrong in piling up a top heavy 57-0 score over the Tigers, who would up the year with a drab 1-7-1 record.

Little more was expected out of the lightweight Black and Gold this autumn, but under the cool hand of Riley and his two sides, Darrell Christian and Billy Bob Adams, the Bengals have flourished.

White Deer, with Otis Holladay at the helm with assistance from Sam Christie and Bob Moore, have exploded with power last season and with continued improvement could possibly forge deep into the school-boy playoffs, provided of course they sneak past a feared McLean outfit Friday night.

Both squads are in near peak trim with no injuries expected to keep any regulars benched.

Statistically speaking, White Deer has averaged just a shade better than 40 points per game this season, thanks to a whopping 72-12 conquest of AA Shamrock. McLean topped the same Shamrock outfit by only 32-20. The Bucks have given up only a little better than seven points per outing.

McLean has averaged just fractions under 30 points per game this year while letting the opposition have just over ten per game.

Comparing scores, White Deer has had pressed in grabbing a 12-0 win from the same club. The Bucks also rolled over conference brother, Canadian by 38-16 last week; while the Tigers had sprung one of its biggest surprises of the year, tanning Canadian's hide in their own backyard, 36-22.

White Deer trampled Spearman 56-0, and dumped district favorite Lefors with shocking ease, 36-6. In other games while McLean white-washed Wheeler, 33-0, and nipped Panhandle's Panthers, 22-8 in a loop encounter.

Watch out Duncan Field, your turf is due a pounder.

Reapers Here, Others Away

The Pampa Junior High reapers are the only local team playing here today. They take on Phillips at 3:45 p.m. in Harvesters Park.

The Lee Rebels will be playing this afternoon in Borger, and the Shockers will travel to Amarillo to meet Tascosa B team. Pampa Junior High's seventh and eighth graders will close their season this afternoon at Phillips.

Wills Ranks High In 3-4A Rushing

Despite the Harvesters' week off, Gary Wills remains among the District 3-4A leaders in total offense and rushing.

Wills has gained 202 yards, for ninth place in total offense. He made 183 of those yards rushing, for eighth spot in that department.

Buddy Rawls is sixth in passing with six completions on 13 attempts for 87 yards. No Harvesters are among the leaders in pass catching.

Ronnie Smith, despite his official 49.0 average, lost his punting lead to Jimmy Carter of Plainview, who has kicked one time for 53 yards.

Clovis Shipp of the Harvesters is the fourth-ranking kicker, with one punt of 37 yards, and Merrett Cooper ranks tenth with five kicks for 87 yards. No Harvesters are among the leaders in pass catching.

Can Pampa's Offense Jell?

The Harvesters play Palo Duro here Friday night—their first home game in a month. The Dons have lost a couple of district games, but they were to Borger and Lubbock, the loop leader and runnerup.

Palo Duro has evidently hit a "hot streak" again, because they've taken their last two games, 21-20 over Monterey and 21-0 over Plainview. Their defense is rated as excellent.

Pampa's offense, however, is also excellent up to a certain point. The Harvesters gain a lot of yards, but also waste a lot of yardage on fumbles—and are stopped

White Deer, McLean Meet

In the other big game in this area Friday night, White Deer and McLean tangle to decide the probable champion of the "Little Southwest Conference"—District 2-A.

Friday's winner at McLean won't have it made, by any means. If White Deer wins, they still must meet traditional foe Panhandle, which can always give the Bucks a rugged evening.

If the Tigers win, they still must beat Lefors and Panhandle before they can call the title their own. "Sound like a rough district? It is. Six of the seven teams can beat any other district squad on any given night. And Memphis is just giving an off year.

Three of the Panhandle's five too many times near the enemy goal line.

The Pampa gridgers, with last week's open date, have had two full weeks to get ready for the Dons. Maybe that extra week will do the trick.

The Harvesters have had a potentially tremendous offense all season long, but it has never quite jelled. The Pampa footballers showed a little of their potential strength at Amarillo, but they also made too many mistakes.

They've never quite played the best ball game of which they're capable. They could do it Friday night.

Top Class A scoring leaders will bump heads in Friday's game. They are Hershel Powell (tied for second), White Deer tailback; Billy Crockett (tied for second), McLean fullback; and David Crockett (fifth), McLean halfback.

Billy Crockett and Powell have each scored 90 points, and David Crockett has chipped in with 72. Powell has also gained the almost unbelievable total of 1183 yards, in only seven games.

This game is completely unpredictable. Both teams have a tremendous offense and a good defense. Either one could break loose and make it a runaway—or they could stop each other completely.

Whatever happens, it will be worth watching.

Police Investigate Football Gambling

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI)—Authorities today investigated possibilities that a football card gambling pool uncovered at the University of Michigan was connected with similar rackets discovered at Detroit's Wayne State University and Denby High School.

At the same time, police disclosed they were providing bodyguards for Barton Hutwaine, one of two U-M student newspaper reporters who aided them in gathering information on the ring.

Hutwaine, 26, a junior from Detroit, said he had received several threatening telephone calls.

Meanwhile, the seven U-M students allegedly involved in the ring demanded jury trial. Six were arraigned early Wednesday and the seventh, John Miller, U-Mich., was located later.

Tony Rio, Wolverine No. 1 fullback Herrmann, and Jack Lewis, captain of the U-M basketball team were charged with engaging in an illegal occupation in distributing cards for the ring.

Carl Riseman, 21, Detroit, associate sports editor of the Michigan Daily, and three others—Durwood Collins, Houston, Tex.; Nick Mites, Ecorse, Mich.; and Mike Dogson, Grand Rapids, Mich.—also were named as participants. Police said they were checking additional names on a list of suspected card passers.

Detroit vice squad officials said Wednesday a football pool was operated at Wayne State University and Sgt. Bernard Mullins-said the racket is played on a widespread basis in factories during the football season.

Market 'Just Grewed'

One thing can be said with little fear of contradiction — the young people of this country need a better grounding in simple economics, and a wider knowledge of the economic machinery that makes this country tick.

In recognition of this need the American Economic Foundation prepared a number of messages which appeared month by month in Boy's Life, the official publication of The Boy Scouts of America. All consisted of a series of drawings with brief explanatory captions. One was concerned with "The invention" that made big business possible — that is, the stock exchange.

When the country was young, the message points out, the people's needs could be satisfied by individually or family-owned businesses. But as population and demand grew such businesses needed more tools of production — land, buildings, machinery, etc. — than the owners could afford to buy. In other words, money had to be pooled in some way to buy all the required tools.

So, in 1792, the Stock Exchange was "invented", and started operation under a butternut tree on Wall Street. The needed tool money was raised by selling shares of stocks — and that is exactly how it is raised now.

The "inventors" of The Exchange would certainly be astonished at what has happened to their "invention". Today something like 10 million people own shares, and most of them are of average means. Stock ownership in America is the right of the many, not the privileged few.

Income Tax Warning

The only argument that is given for the income tax law is that it works.

"Where else would we get the money?" is the question that is apparently supposed to justify a tax which says that one class of American is different than another although traditionally we are supposed to stand equally before the law.

T. Coleman Andrews used to be one of the top officials in the federal tax collection bureaucracy until he got sick of it and resigned and has been spending his time trying to show the American people that it is a bad tax. He has been warning Americans that the federal government since 1939 has taken the American people for nearly 28 times more income tax and for 10 times more social security.

As he put it: The cost of living has been more than doubled and is still going up. And the value of the dollar has been reduced to well below 50 cents and is still going down.

Andrews has been trying to tell us about inflation and has cited a couple of examples to illustrate his meaning:

"For example, it took $4,806 to provide the same amount of buying power after taxes (1,975) as $2,000 provided in 1939. Why? Because the income tax on the increase of $2,806 was $755 and $2,051 was required to make up for the toll taken by inflation.

"Thus, if in 1957, you received $4,000 salary from a job that paid $2,000 in 1939, your 1957 salary was $806 short of what you needed in order to have as much buying power as the 1939 holder had.

When the scheme was first introduced in the Congress there were some, notably Burke Cochran, who pointed out the dangers inherent in this sort of taxation. At that time, the "take" of the government was three per cent and then only from the very wealthy — about 8000 families in all. And there was a warning that if the government could take three per cent, it could just as easily take even 10 per cent! Those favoring the graduated tax just laughed at the idea. The people would rebel, they said, before they would be which, divided by two would give $6,088.

"Now, if your salary from this job in 1957 was $5,000, it was $1,088 short of what it needed to be in order to have the same buying power that $2,500 had in 1939."

Similar examples of the sort of legalized theft that has been going on can be found over and over again. But the real basic wrong in the income tax is that it sets up different classes of citizens in America. It has adopted the Marxist doctrine of "from each according to his ability and to each according to his need." The joker in this deck is that it is government which has to decide what one's ability is and what one's needs are.

And government, operating in this fashion, not just a faceless nonentity but a person of a group of persons. Thus, the politicians, who are non-producers, spend their time in dividing up the production of those who do achieve. They determine just how much shall be left of the total production of all of us and what portion shall be doled out to others and to themselves.

We need to keep in mind that all of our income tax has within it the authority to determine how much shall be returned to the producer after he has been taken from him by government. It is done through a process known as "deductions." Some people pay upward of 90 per cent of their income to the federal government.

Do you think it not possible that the same government cannot take 90 per cent of the income of everyone? When the scheme was first introduced in the Congress there were some, notably Burke Cochran, who pointed out the dangers inherent in this sort of taxation. At that time, the "take" of the government was three per cent and then only from the very wealthy — about 8000 families in all. And there was a warning that if the government could take three per cent, it could just as easily take even 10 per cent! Those favoring the graduated tax just laughed at the idea. BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

"Unionism Versus Freedom"

Dan Smoot in his "report" has a very interesting discussion on "Unionism Versus Freedom." He explains how the majority leader in the Senate, Lyndon Johnson of Texas, and Sam Rayburn, Speaker of the House, and Sen. John Kennedy, Paul Douglas and Irving Ives wrote the Kennedy-Douglas-Ives Bill on labor that was simply a whitewash; that these legislators seem to be completely under the influence of labor bosses; that Congress didn't do anything to give the worker who loves freedom equal right to the worker who wants to belong to a union that takes away from an individual his right to use his conscience.

Then Smoot takes up the 133-page booklet issued by the AFL-CIO entitled "Union Security: The Case Against The 'Right-to-Work' Laws."

He quotes Cecil B. deMille in a speech before the Rotary Club of Los Angeles as saying:

"The opponents of (right-to-work laws) are living up to the old saying among lawyers, 'When you have a weak case, abuse the plaintiff!' ... They cannot talk about the basic issues of compulsion. They dare not tell the facts to the American people. Their only hope of victory lies in lies — in massive deception."

Then Smoot gives concrete examples of these falsehoods. First, that the union takes credit for prosperity, for increased wages, for a higher standard of living. Yet they never added one penny's worth of wealth to the nation and have prevented billions of dollars' worth of wealth from being created. And yet they have the effrontery to claim that they are responsible for living standards going up.

Then Smoot proceeds to show the smear, smirch, smudge, bedaub, defile, pollute tactics used by the opponents of the right-to-work law. He writes:

"On Page 104, the book quotes Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, president, Council of Bishops of the Methodist Church, as saying:

"Greedy and undemocratic powers are among those who today sponsor these 'right-to-work' laws. The machine is being deceived by the machinations of these stupid men."

"On Page 105, the Rabbinical Council of America is quoted as calling non-union workers 'moral parasites.'"

"On the same page, The Reverend Doctor Walter G. Muelder, Dean, Boston University School of Theology, says:

"The 'right-to-work' laws are a virtual conspiracy of the crafty, the ignorant, or the misguided."

"On Page 101, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt calls right-to-work efforts 'predatory and misleading campaigns.'"

"On Page 103, the Most Reverend Francis Rummel, Archbishop of New Orleans, characterizes right-to-work laws as:

"... insincere, unfair, and unjust class legislation contrary to the common good."

Reinhold Niebuhr, Professor of Philosophy at Union Theological Seminary says:

"The implausibility of the so-called right-to-work laws is so obvious that one must come to the conclusion that their proponents are either stupid or dishonest."

Of course, Bishop Oxnam does not define what he means by "greedy." Nor does he define what he means by "undemocratic." Nor does he define what he means by "stupid."

It would certainly be most interesting to have Bromley Oxnam in a position where he would have to answer questions as he would before a court to ascertain whether or not he is holding his job as compatible with the Golden Rule. But possibly Oxnam has discarded the Decalogue and the Golden Rule as a standard of righteousness and substituted his own opinions.

Mrs. Roosevelt would have a very difficult time in defining what "predatory" is that didn't include the labor bosses as the worst kind of predators.

And, of course, the opponents are the ones who are misleading in their discussion, because "right to work" is just an abbreviation of a man having the right to work without paying tribute to any private organization.

Then, of course, Smoot goes on and explains the right to work does not mean the government or the labor unions or the employer or anybody else is going to furnish everybody a job. It only means, as stated above, that the labor union has no right to intervene to keep an employer and an employee from making a voluntary agreement.

And, of course, no labor union wants any individual ever, under any circumstances, to have a right to make a voluntary contract with an employer. Nor does willing to pay such exorbitant tax. The thought that government might, at some later date, take 90 per cent didn't even occur to them.

Robert Allen Reports:

Key Agencies Asked To Report On Red Spying

WASHINGTON — Three key government agencies are being officially asked to report on what they know about new Russian atomic spying in the U.S.

Representative Carl Durham (D., N.C.), chairman of the Joint Atomic Committee, has sent letters formally requesting that information from Defense Secretary Neil McElroy, Attorney General William Rogers, and Atomic Commission Chairman John McCone.

Reason for this extraordinary backstage inquiry is Russia's recent startling announcement that the U.S. had conducted 32 nuclear tests in the South Pacific. This figure is "nearly correct." Exact number of explosions in that series of tests this summer is still highly classified data. Only 14 detonations were publicly disclosed by the Atomic Commission. But worried authorities privately admit the Soviet virtually pinpointed the exact total.

The all-important question is how and why the Reds were able to do that.

This mystery is especially sinister because of two factors:

Russia's nuclear explosion detection system is not good enough to have recorded all of the South Pacific tests. Through this detection system alone, known to be inferior to that of the U.S., the Soviet could not have spotted all of these detonations.

Even the U.S. detection system did not record all of them. Although it is the most comprehensive and effective in the world with stations relatively close to these tests, not all of them were recorded.

The Joint Atomic Committee, following an unannounced meeting, determined to officially ask the three government agencies if they know what is at the bottom of Russia's alarmingly accurate announcement.

Behind that decision is a plan to summon Secretary McElroy, Attorney General Rogers and Commission Chairman McCone for personal questioning on this grave matter.

Some Committee members are convinced Soviet espionage is involved.

This view has been publicly voiced by Lieutenant General Arthur Trudeau, chief of Army research and development. He did that in several recent speeches, with the following highlights which attracted particular attention at the Joint Committee's meeting:

"The advanced state of Soviet

NEW YORK — CUFF NOTES:

It was 101 in Los Angeles and 79 in New York the other day, and a lot of householders who flinch from paying fuel oil bills in the latter area were feeling cozy and lucky. . . . While sitting around a sumptuous theater alley with some rehearsing folk, we got to talking about climate, extremes of temperature and playing a game. . . . Each was to write down on a piece of paper the coldest he or she ever had endured and the locale. . . . The winner was John Haza with this: Calgary 60 below zero for 10 consecutive days, after which a chinook came along and drove it down to 67 below for 14 hours. . . . Try that kind of weather on your fuel oil bills.

A lot of people lubricate cars and know nothing about them, a lot of people clean ties and know nothing about them. . . . But not Stuart Bart, who turned a hobby into a mushrooming business. . . . Bart was a tie-cleaner, at home. . . . He made a hobby of cleaning his own ties and in so doing perfected certain techniques. . . . He started with a little place and now has more than 130 places, including his own and franchised agencies. . . . And he knows the history of male neckwear. . . . He says the Elizabethan ruff, of 1560, probably was the first real piece of male neckwear. . . . In 1636 a French regiment of soldiers, most of whom were of Croat origin, wrapped cloths around their necks to minimize sabre cuts. . . . These became known as Cravats, from the origins of the Croat soldiers. . . . In the 18th Century the Paris dandies came out wearing jobs, frankfurter (or tripled, rather) as neckwear, napkin and handkerchief. . . . The stock came along about then, a sort of Ivy League variation of the jobot. . . . It was not until the 19th Century that clipon ties came along, and with them came the Ascot, named after the famed British race course. . . . Then came ties, as we know them today, with various knots such as Windsor, half-Windsor, plain four-in-hand and even frankfurter. . . . Do you look back on your flamboyant ties of the late 30's or early 40's as strangely bizarre now? . . . They were a direct result of the dropping of vests from men's attire. . . . When suits came out without vests, men saw that their shirt fronts were very plain, ineffectual and substituted wildly colorful neckties for the departed vests. . . . Eastern men with pride in their attire, soon decided things were getting out of hand and shifted abruptly from wide, hand-painted vivid ties to narrow, dark, often one-color ties. . . . But they fancied up the shirts both in color and trimming. . . . Evening shirts today have lace fronts or embroidered fronts and daily wear shirts have color and design. . . . There is, indeed, one noted shirt manufacturer (the one who popularized the model with the eyepatch) who claims that "the loudest shirt you can wear in town is a plain white shirt." . . . He has a point, but I never agreed with it.

There is a French restaurant on East End Avenue named Le Bouef a La Mode, and while the food in general is excellent the chocolate mousse is special. . . . So much so that the place has bowed to clamorous demand and will let you come in and order this dessert to take out. . . . It happened when a man, bound for a dinner party, dropped in for a drink and begged the privilege of taking eight mousses to his business as a surprise gift. . . . This led to a vogue. . . . In case you are plagued by wonder if this place is a direct descendant of the Paris restaurant of the same name, yes, it is. . . . And the chief bartender (trust this reporter to explore that area) was a former choral singer with Ben Yost and other choirs and decided, as a matter of practical economics, toeschew concerts for making martinis.

Did you know that teachers in schools near rocket bases, such as Alamogordo, White Sands, Cape Canaveral and similar locations, are hard put to it to keep informed well enough to maintain their self-respect in relation to their 6-year-old pupils who know everything about missiles, rockets, orbiting and so on? . . . Fact. Many teachers are taking night courses via lectures by rocket scientists, who realize the plight of the teachers. . . . Which reminds me of the story of the 6-year-old who showed up in an Iowa school and the teacher, after getting his name, asked if he had been in school before. . . . "Yes, ma'am," he said. . . . "What grade had he attended?" "Cape Canaveral, ma'am." "What had he learned?" "Well, to count and upon being asked to count, said: 'Ten-Nine-Eight-Seven-Six-Five-Four-Three-Two-One-Oh, heck!'"

No Siree, Boys Aren't Creative These Days

By HENRY McLEMORE

Oh, to have been a boy before the turn of the century. Around, say, 1880.

The years of that period must have been the Golden Age of Boyhood.

I reached this conclusion when, browsing among the shelves of a second-hand bookstore, I came across a copy of "The American Boys' Handy Book." Published by Scribner in 1882, and edited by Dan C. Beard, it made its purpose clear in the preface.

"The sports, amusements and games embraced in this book are intended to reach the average American boy of any age, not too young to fly a kite or too old to enjoy a day's good fishing."

Boys had to make their own fun in those days. They played cowboys and Indians instead of watching them on a magic box. They organized their own games, for there were no professional instructors to organize them into teams and leagues, to discipline their assembly.

Whole stores were not devoted to toys. To fly a kite a boy had to make one. He made his own swing, his own wagon, and the colors of the woods were in real living color, not the gaudy splash of TV.

Those were the days, I found by reading "The American Boys' Handy Book," when boys built their own fishing tackle, held armed kite fights, jugged for cats in the rivers, spent hours learning the more kinds of knots than are known to the Navy, built traps for rabbits, otter, and moles, and turned out their own sleds and toboggans.

Let the TV set go on the blink today and a boy is lost — or so it seems. If he isn't lined up to play an organized sport, he is lost. The creation of his own fun is the last thing he would think of.

I bought "The American Boys' Handy Book" and was going to give it to my nephew, but he thought it was funny, and read only a few pages before turning back to a Western on TV.

It made him laugh to read of boys his age stuffing and mounting birds and animals, building ice boats, making their own blow guns, slingshots and boomerangs, and taming hawks and owls.

There are boys today who do these things, but they are few and far between. Today a boy's fun is handed to him on a platter, and if he is not too absorbed in a comic book he will take a little of what is offered him.

I don't suppose there's any sense in feeling sorry for the youngsters of today. What you don't know about your don't miss.

But it seems to me that the regimented playground existence the kids lead now, with its harsh, stern leagues of all sorts, is a poor way to spend what should be the happiest days on earth.

What will the flu do this year? No one knows. Influenza varies from year to year. Furthermore, the particular strain or type of virus changes.

This is one of the reasons why controlling the disease by means of vaccines has proved so difficult. Eventually vaccines will have to be developed for strains of influenza virus which are new or appear only at long intervals.

Some of the conclusions coming from a recent meeting of the World Health Organizations Expert Committee on Respiratory Virus Diseases are important.

People who were infected with Asian flu last year are likely to have some resistance to the virus of that strain and therefore may escape infection if another epidemic arises this winter.

Currently available vaccines have proved 60 to 70 per cent effective as a protective agent. Their use may then be continued, particularly for expectant mothers, for people suffering from certain chronic heart or other diseases, and perhaps for doctors, nurses and others who would be particularly exposed.

This is also the advice given by the U. S. Public Health Service, with the stipulation that practicing physicians should be the judges of whether or not to give the influenza shots.

Opportunity may knock only once but temptation keeps banging for years.
